Santa Claus Parades In 'Our Town'

Today's Santa Claus Parade through downtown Pampa was expected to draw a fairly large crowd from "Our Town" and the surrounding area.

Santa Claus, departing from his usual mode of transportation, reindeer, was planning to come to Pampa via helicopter.

He was to land in Oiler Park and be escorted downtown to join the parade in the city's new fire truck.

The parade was scheduled to start at 3:30 p.m. promptly and move from Craven down Cuyler to Aichison. Six bands planned to take part in the festivities.

After the parade, Santa was to take his place on the south lawn of the Courthouse and distribute gift filled stockings to the children.

Cabot Answers NLRB Recommendation

(Editor's note: A story carried on the United Press wire this morning reported that Lee J. Best, trial examiner for the National Labor Relations Board, had given a recommendation in a case involving Cabot and Cabot employees committees. The recommended order directed the firms (Cabot Carbon Company and Cabot Shops, Inc., Pampa) to "cease and desist" from interfering with a labor organization. Reno Stinson, industrial relations director for the Southwestern Division, Cabot, answered the recommendation in the following story, the result of an interview this morning.)

Reno Stinson, industrial relations director for Cabot, announced today an adverse ruling from trial examiner Lee J. Best of the National Labor Relations Board. The decision recommended disestablishment of employee committees. In this area, this affects employee committees at Cabot Shops, Research & Development Department, Pampa Office, Pampa Warehouse, Pampa Plant, Schafer A and Schafer B Plants.

The employee committee was a part of the NLRB hearing conducted in Franklin, La., and here in Pampa, consuming weeks of testimony. The other part of the case involved a former employee at the Franklin plant who, after being discharged, filed some eight charges of unfair labor practice against the Company. During the hearings six of these charges were dropped. The two that remained charged that the former employee, Edwin W. Wilgus, had been illegally discharged or his discharge was due to his union activity, and that the employee committees were illegal, company-dominated unions.

The discharge part of the case was decided in favor of the company. The examiner ruled that Wilgus had not been illegally discharged and did not recommend his reinstatement.

Stinson said that he had expected an adverse ruling from the trial examiner on the employee committee issue. He stated, "The case will be appealed to the National Labor Relations Board, and if we get an adverse decision there, we will appeal to the Federal Courts."

Stinson also stated, "We do not contemplate disestablishing our employee committees."

Secretary Delivers Own Baby

AMARILLO (UP) — An unmarried secretary told Amarillo police today she delivered her own baby in her apartment early Tuesday and then left it on a bed while she went to work that day. The infant, still alive, was found late Tuesday in a dresser drawer of the 27-year-old secretary's apartment. It was wrapped in a towel.

The baby, a boy, was taken to a hospital where doctors said it was "very healthy" and apparently six-and-a-half pounds when found.

The secretary was being held but no charges have been filed. She told police she delivered the baby without trouble between 2 and 3 a.m. Tuesday. She put the baby on a bed and slept on a sofa the rest of the night.

She said she left the baby on the bed Tuesday and Wednesday while she went back to work. She said she put the baby in a dresser drawer when her boy friend, who knew nothing about it, visited her yesterday.

The couple was sitting in the living room when they heard the baby cry. The secretary said she told her boy friend, who is not the father, that the baby apparently had been abandoned in her apartment.

The young woman told police she wore loose clothing to conceal her pregnancy from friends and her parents.

Officers Arrest Men In Race Riot

By B. F. MIDDLEBROOKS

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—U.S. marshals today arrested the last of 16 segregationists charged with interfering with integration of Clinton High School in violation of a federal court order.

Marion Nell Currier was picked up at Clinton and was to be brought here for arraignment.

Six of the accused segregationists were arraigned Wednesday night. The other 10 faced arraignment later today.

'Insult' Is Charged In Hungary Move

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press Staff Correspondent
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)

Cuban Ambassador Emilio Nuñez-Portuondo accused Hungary today of a two-fold "insult" in rejecting Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's request to visit Budapest Dec. 14.

"First of all they turned down the date after they led the United Nations to believe they would accept it, and then they did not have the courtesy to notify the secretary-general before making it public," the Cuban delegate said.

The rejection of Hammarskjöld's plans to visit Budapest for three days beginning Dec. 16 was announced by radio Budapest. It quoted the Janos Kadar regime as saying such a visit was "not suitable" at this time. No later date was suggested.

Hammarskjöld refused to comment on the reported rejection until he received official word from the Budapest regime.

The secretary-general forwarded an official request for permission to go to Hungary for a first-hand investigation of the situation through Imre Horvath, foreign minister of the Budapest puppet regime. The two met Tuesday night after Horvath said his government was ready to discuss details of Hammarskjöld's visit.

Horvath, a grey-haired middle-aged man who speaks English well, appeared somewhat embarrassed Wednesday when newsmen confronted him with the Budapest report that Kadar had turned down the Hammarskjöld schedule.

"I have not received a reply as yet," he said almost apologetically. He said earlier he recommended to his government acceptance of the dates.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. said it was "an affront to the secretary general and to the whole civilized world, particularly after the attempt to harmonize us last night." He referred to Horvath's announcement of his government's readiness to talk about Hammarskjöld's visit.

The swift roundup of segregationist troublemakers encouraged the Anderson county school board to begin planning the reopening of the high school, which was closed Tuesday to stop a wave of violence. Officials hope to have the school's 700 students, including nine Negroes, back in class Monday.

Intimidation Charged
The federal warrants cited a variety of anti-Negro activities ranging from picketing the school to intimidating, way-laying and beating nine Negroes who enrolled at the previously all-white school in September.

All 16 are charged with violating an injunction issued by U.S. District Judge Robert L. Taylor during integration riots at the school last September prohibiting anti-Negro demonstrations.

U.S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. ordered the crackdown on an appeal from the Anderson County School Board which closed the school two days ago to halt a new wave of violence.

The board Wednesday night announced it hoped to reopen the school Monday.

Marshals brought in the last carload of segregationists Wednesday night from Clinton, 20 miles south of here. They all wore handcuffs.

Judge Taylor told the defendants they could get a speedy trial if they desired or could "take a while to prepare a defense."

U.S. Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford said he was prepared to prove the defendants "instigated acts of violence and created lawlessness" to overthrow the court-ordered integration of the Clinton High School.

Those being arraigned today were Clyde Cook, 35; Christ Foust, 36; J. L. Coley, 43; Thomas R. Saunders, 42; Cleo Nelson, 23; Raymond Woods, 35; John B. Long, 31; Edward H. Nelson, 22; and his wife, Zella Lou Nelson, 19.

Those arraigned Wednesday night were Alonzo Bullock, Clyde Cook, Bill Brakebill, Clifford Carter, and 16-year-old Jimmy Pierce.

They were ordered held in bail ranging from $2,500 to $12,000.

Hungary Faces More Bloodshed

BUDAPEST (UP)—Defiant calls for a "mighty" demonstration and another "total" strike today against the Soviet-backed Janos Kadar regime threaten bloodshed.

Tension reached fever pitch in the wake of two days of near-riotous protest demonstrations by the women of Budapest under the very guns of Russian tanks and armored cars.

Hungarians were urged to demonstrate today — St. Nicholas Day — in leaflets scattered through the streets. The leaflets called also for an armed uprising but set no date.

Other posters and leaflets urged workers to walk out today in a "total" strike. Even workers in such public utilities as gas and electric power plants who remained at their posts during the previous general work stoppages were asked to strike.

Expect Power Cut Off
Shopkeepers urged citizens to buy candles, kerosene and matches in expectation all power would be cut off.

Hungarians are sick of bloodshed. They learned at heavy costs the futility of fighting Soviet tanks and armored cars with rifles, pistols and gasoline-filled bottles.

But no one could foretell future developments now that hopes for assistance from the United Nations were killed by the Budapest government.

Kadar's rejection of the projected visit by U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld could be the final straw. The Hungarians were pinning almost their last hopes on him.

The announcement broadcast by radio Budapest made it clear to Hungarians how little they could expect from the puppet regime.

Kenneth Bland Is Captured In Colorado

Local law enforcement officers were notified this morning by the FBI office in Amarillo that Kenneth Wayne Bland, alias Wayne LaRue, had been captured by FBI agents and a US marshall at Pueblo, Colo.

Upon receiving the report Bill Waters, district attorney, phoned the sheriff's office in Pueblo and learned that Bland was being held there and that positive identification had been made.

It was not known this morning if Bland was going to waive extradition to Texas to face charges against him. He is wanted in Pampa for the burglary of the Panhandle Fisher Grain Co. last August in which he is charged with taking blank checks, cancelled checks and a check protector. He is wanted in several other Panhandle towns for forging checks using the check protector and blank checks obtained in the burglary.

Bland had earlier been apprehended in Marshalltown, Iowa, and had waived extradition to Texas but escaped from the jail there on the night of Nov. 29 before local officers had left to return him to Pampa.

In addition to the felony indictments against Bland have also been returned in Wheeler and Roberts Counties. The FBI also issued a warrant for Bland on a charge of flight to avoid prosecution.

First Contingent Of British Force Leaves War-Torn Canal

By DANIEL F. GILMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON — UP—The Moslem world stepped up its campaign today against the Baghdad Pact, and a high Egyptian official accused Turkey and Iraq of being "indirectly" involved in the Anglo-French assault on Egypt.

The British troopship Dilwata sailed from Port Said today with 1,853 England-bound troops, the first major batch to leave the Suez Canal zone. A second troopship, the liner Ascania, was berthed and ready to pick up the second contingent.

Port Said harbor was full of tank landing ships for transporting military vehicles to Cyprus. Port Said itself was quiet with no anti-Western outbreaks.

Moscow radio accused Israel of planning to hold on to part of the Sinai Peninsula and said the Western campaign of "blackmail and intimidation" of Syria and Jordan had brought new strain to the Middle East.

The Israeli withdrawal from the Sinai Desert came under discussion today at the Israeli town of El Arish on the Mediterranean Sea between Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, head of the U.N. police force, and Maj. Gen. Mothe Dayan, Israeli chief of staff.

Will Demand Guarantees
Israel has not laid permanent claim to the Sinai Desert but has indicated it will demand guarantees the peninsula will not be used for Arab suicide commando operations against Israel before a final withdrawal of Israeli troops is ordered.

The British-French withdrawal from the Port Said area was proceeding smoothly and the Anglo-French commanders there assured Burns Wednesday the withdrawal would be completed within "two to three weeks." They urged no Egyptian troops enter Port Said until the withdrawal is complete.

The new Moslem attacks against the Baghdad Pact followed an announcement in Washington that the ambassadors of Turkey, Pakistan, Iraq and Iran told the United States the recent Soviet-Syrian moves in the Middle East posed a threat to their "security and integrity."

To Ask More Funds
U.S. officials reported that President Eisenhower plans to ask Congress next year for more military funds for the four nations. The four are aligned with Britain in the Baghdad Pact. The United States, though not a member, has supported the pact.

One attack on the Baghdad Pact came from Damascus where Syrian Foreign Minister Salah Bitar said Syria had discussed a move to "try" Iraqi Premier Nouri El-Said before the Arab League for joining the anti-Communist pact.

Retrial Motion Is Made Here

A motion for a new trial was made yesterday afternoon in the case of Harold Garrison, of 500 N. Frost, Pampa, who was sentenced to 30 days in jail yesterday on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, by neglecting and abandoning his 9 year old son for a period of five days.

A long movie was experienced by the boy when his father left him in a movie house here last Thursday, telling him to wait, and then turned up four days later after authorities had taken the boy into custody and had begun preparations for his transfer to Boy's Town.

The father showed up in an effort to regain custody of the boy (See RETRIAL, Page 2)

Whitehead To Be Arraigned This Afternoon

Jim Whitehead, one of the two fugitives sought last Saturday night by over 200 officers and volunteers near Shamrock, was to be arraigned in Wheeler this afternoon on four indictments.

Whitehead was indicted Tuesday on two charges of murder with malice and on two charges of assault with intent to murder by the Wheeler County grand jury.

Bill Waters, district attorney, reported this morning that the arraignment should only take a short time as Whitehead will be given the opportunity to either plead guilty or not guilty to the four charges. Waters expects the trial to be set for the first part of January.

The charges against Whitehead resulted from gun battles with officers and volunteers Saturday afternoon which started near Texola, Okla., and finally centered in an area about two miles east of Shamrock.

Whitehead is charged with killing Victor Lee Stephens, a Shamrock youth who had volunteered to help officers hunt Whitehead and his half-brother, and with the killing of his half-brother, Junior B. Myers, when they became separated during the night.

The two assault with intent to kill charges were filed as a result of the shooting at Luke Henley, Wheeler County deputy sheriff, and M. N. Nix, Shamrock city patrolman, when the two officers spotted them and which resulted in a slight wound to Nix.

Funeral services for Junior B. Myers were held at 5:30 p.m. yesterday with private graveside services in the Shamrock cemetery. Rev. Darrell Taylor, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Wheeler, officiated.

Officers of Wheeler County were pallbearers and the burial was under the direction of the Richerson Funeral Home.

Real Estate, Property Taxes Are Due Dec. 31

Real estate and personal property taxes are due in the city tax collector's office by closing time on Dec. 31, 1956, or they will be delinquent, Aubrey Jones, city tax collector, reported today.

Jones stated that all payments received after closing time on Dec. 31 would be subject to an eight per cent penalty and interest would be added.

He warned those sending their tax payments by mail to be sure to send the payment in the mail in time for them to be in the office before the penalty is assessed. Even if the payment is mailed before the deadline, he stated, and it is not received until after the deadline the penalty will be assessed. The city ordinance provides that the penalty will be assessed on all late payments.

Payments received to date on this year's taxes are running behind those of the two previous years with only 29 per cent of the tax payments received in the tax office. The total amount of tax this year was $459,076.67 and only $178,295.67 has been collected.

At the same time last year a total of 80 per cent had been collected on a levy of $398,057.96 and in 1954 a total of 51 per cent of the total levy of $386,637.17 had been received.

Jones explained that several of the large loan companies have not made payments on the houses and property on which they have mortgages and that is reason the payments are behind previous years.

The city tax office is open from 8:30 to 12 and from 1 to 5 Monday through Friday and from 8:30 to 12 on Saturday.

All Pampa residents that do not pay their city taxes before the Dec. 31 deadline, Jones stated.

Conner asks shoppers to lock autos

With the Christmas season close at hand, many shoppers will be in the downtown area of Pampa each day and Jim Conner, chief of police, warned the shoppers today to be sure and lock their cars when shopping.

In past years, several shoppers have lost packages from unlocked cars, Conner stated, and he urged all persons to lock their cars.

In speaking of shoppers and cars in the downtown area, Conner also warned motorists that double parking is a serious traffic violation. He warned that double parking ties up traffic and causes other motorists to take dangerous chances in attempting to pass the illegally parked car.

Every year, Conner reported, several homes are burglarized during the holiday season when families are out of town. He requested that any family going out of town contact the mailman, milkman and paper boy to have deliveries stopped for the period the family will be gone.

Conner stated the reason for this is that milk, mail or papers piled up on the front porch are a good signal to burglars that the house is empty.

In recent years, he stated, practically every home that has been burglarized during the holiday season has been one where the above items have been left in front of the house for several days.

Local Red Cross Seeks $ For Hungarian Relief

Monday morning signalled the start of a "fifth season" for the Pampa chapter of the American Red Cross.

A telegram received that morning, and read at the chapter's breakfast meeting Tuesday morning, started plans for a campaign to raise $782 as the Pampa office's part of the $5,000,000 to be raised by the entire American Red Cross organization for the aid of some 84,000 Hungarian refugees in Austria, as well as over 200,000 still in Hungary.

The campaign is to be conducted through publicity in newspapers and on radio, designed to solicit voluntary subscriptions from the people of the community. The campaign was announced Tuesday morning, and already $50 have been sent in to the Red Cross office in City Hall, Libby Shotwell, executive secretary announced.

Those attending the meeting from Pampa were Mrs. Sam B. Cook, Mrs. Hugh Morrow, and Mrs. Libby Shotwell.

Aubrey L. Jones, secretary of the board, reports that efforts of the board in the past have been very effective in serving the community in this respect.

Members of the board have been requested not to reveal their identity as it is felt that the work of the board is much more effective if the members remain unknown.

Nehru In Painful Change Of Attitude

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

he has got around to condemning it.

Prime Minister Nehru of India has been forced to make what must have been a painful change in his attitude toward the Hungarian revolt.

It has long been noted that Nehru's policy usually inclines toward approval of Russia's actions and denunciation of the Western democracies when West-East differences arise.

That is what happened when British and French forces invaded the Suez Canal Zone and Russia's Red army crushed the Hungarian revolt.

Nehru spared no words in his criticism of the British-French attack. That was to be expected.

But he shocked even members of his own Indian Congress Party when he defended the bloody Soviet offensive against Hungarian patriots.

It developed that Nehru had accepted, without question, a version of the Hungarian blood-bath which had been sent to him by Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin in a letter.

India Sided With Russia. In the United Nations, India voted along with Russia on resolutions concerning the Hungarian revolt.

But since then, Nehru has been pulling back. It is evident that he realized he had gone too far in his Moscow-slanted neutralism.

In a speech on Nov. 19, Nehru said:

"The fact is that the Soviet army is in Hungary against the wishes of the Hungarian people... the majority of the people want freedom and withdrawal of the Soviet troops. That is a basic fact which 'no one can deny.'"

By Monday, Nehru had made a complete switch. He rejected Communist claims that the Hungarian revolts was a reactionary coup.

Admitting Blunder

"It was undoubtedly a popular upheaval directed against Soviet forces sent there," Nehru told his parliament in New Delhi.

Consensus Is Nixon Helped GOP Win

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—The grass roots consensus is that Vice President Richard M. Nixon did not hurt the Republican ticket in last month's election, but helped it.

The United Press asked Republican state chairmen for their estimate of the vice president's impact on the voters. They reported, generally, that it was good.

There is other evidence that Nixon's presence on the Republican presidential ticket was not the political calamity some politicians predicted or hoped it would be.

Harold E. Stassen, for example, warned President Eisenhower and the Republican Party that Nixon would cost the ticket some 6 per cent of the expected vote.

Maybe so, although Stassen, in the end, was right up there on the platform at the Republican National Convention publicly withdrawing his opposition to Nixon's renomination. If Nixon cost Mr. Eisenhower any votes, it would be difficult to say where and how many.

Republican chairmen in big key states were especially impressed by Nixon's campaign contribution. For example:

Massachusetts Chairman Ralph H. Bonney said Nixon was "definitely an asset in Massachusetts," adding that "the net result of Nixon's appearance was good, and we would have liked to have had him here (in Boston) for the election eve windup—with or without Ike."

Michigan Chairman John H. Edwards said Nixon was "of tremendous assistance in helping to influence the vote and to stir up interest so the voters would go to the polls."

New Jersey Chairman Samuel L. Bodine said the vice president made "a very important contribution to the success of the campaign in New Jersey," explaining that he meant both for the national and congressional candidates.

New York Chairman L. Judson Morehouse rated Nixon "an asset to the ticket on a statewide basis."

Ohio Chairman Ray C. Bliss (also chairman of the Midwest and Rocky Mountain Association of Republican State Chairmen) said Nixon was "tremendously helpful to the entire ticket in Ohio."

Pennsylvania Chairman George I. Bloom called Nixon's early October appearance in the state "a definite turning point."

Texas Chairman John Q. Adams said, "Texas was really doubtful until Nixon came into the state. After he arrived, you could sense the increased support of the Republican ticket."

"Kidnapers" Face Court Martial LAMPERTHEIM, Germany (UP) — Four American soldiers who kidnaped a youth at gunpoint in front of a movie theater and drove off with their hostage's legs hanging out the window, will be court-martialed, German police said today. The "victims" whose four GI friends staged the gang-style kidnapping because they "wanted some excitement for a change," will face the same military court.

How Not So Colorful Stars Get Press Notices

By ALINE MOSSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD (UP) — How do beautiful, bright but not colorful actresses get noticed by the press in Hollywood? Barbara Rush found one way: Leaving those play a "sexy, giddy girl." long-suffering heroine roles to The Zsa Zsa Gabor, Grace Kellys and Gina Lollobrigidas by now cause attention and make news no matter what they do. But Barbara, like many hopeful newcomers, does not attract surges of attention yet. So she decided to switch characterizations by playing a glamour girl floating around in a negligee in the 20th Century Fox movie version of Broadway's "Oh Men, Oh Women."

"I usually play such dramatic, serious roles, such as in 'The Magnificent Obsession', the brunette beauty explained. "So one day I took two vitamin pills and charged into the office of the producer doing 'Oh Men'. I didn't exactly act giddy for him, but awfully happy. I got the part!" Getting the press interested in a personality is a gnawing problem of an ambitious newcomer. Piper Laurie ate flowers. Jayne Mansfield posed for cheesecake. Marilyn Monroe thought up wacky sayings, opera star Elaine Malbin lets reporters stand on her stomach. Marion Brando got columnists to trailing him by sports T-shirts and a motorcycle. "To get the press writing about you is important," Barbara said seriously. "If you have an interesting family background, like Grace Kelly, they do.

"Some girls have beauty. Then there's the actors' studio type that just wants a good part. When I first started acting I was a member of that young players' group at Paramount, The Golden Circle. But that was a mistake. The group itself, not our individual members, got the publicity."

Producer Jerry Wald at Fox Studio is a great booster of Barbara as tomorrow's Barbara Stanwyck or Bette Davis. One day Wald suggested she might make the front pages if she blasted the bossomy Italian actresses — a device successfully used by many a Hollywood newcomer.

But Barbara, an honest girl, admits she can't get publicity that way because "I like Italian actresses." "I can't say anything against them," she sighed. "Anna Magnani is one of the greatest stars on the screen. I think Gina is just darling. Italian actresses are beautiful!"

expressed support for recommendations of the water resources committee. He pointed out the committee "contemplates passing an appropriation, plus an authorization for bonded indebtedness."

Representative-elect John Andrew Huebner, Sr., of Bay City, said, "if possible to pass at all, it looks to me like creation of several districts, separate but under related control" would be the answer but added it "may require a special session to complete."

Water Is Rated As The State's Number 1 Problem

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is another in a series of dispatches dealing with problems facing the Texas Legislature convening in January, according to a United Press survey of legislators.)

By LLOYD LARRABEE
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN (UP) — A hopeful attitude was expressed today by many legislators as they viewed the water problem confronting the 55th legislature convening Jan. 8. Ninety per cent of the lawmakers replying to a United Press survey rated water as the state's number one problem, and more than one-half said they expected at least a start to be made toward a long-range water program.

Rep. Leroy Saul of Kress, a member of the Texas Water Resources committee, said "the water problem in the state will be easier to deal with than last session due to the co-operative efforts of all groups affected." A proposed constitutional amendment aimed at setting up a $100 million fund for water conservation projects over the state bogged down on the last day of the legislative session last year over financing provisions.

Type Tax Is Problem
The main obstacle to passage

came over whether to finance the plan through a state-wide ad valorem tax or a water users tax.

A pessimistic outlook was voiced by Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford. He said the problem must be solved "and quickly," but added this prediction:

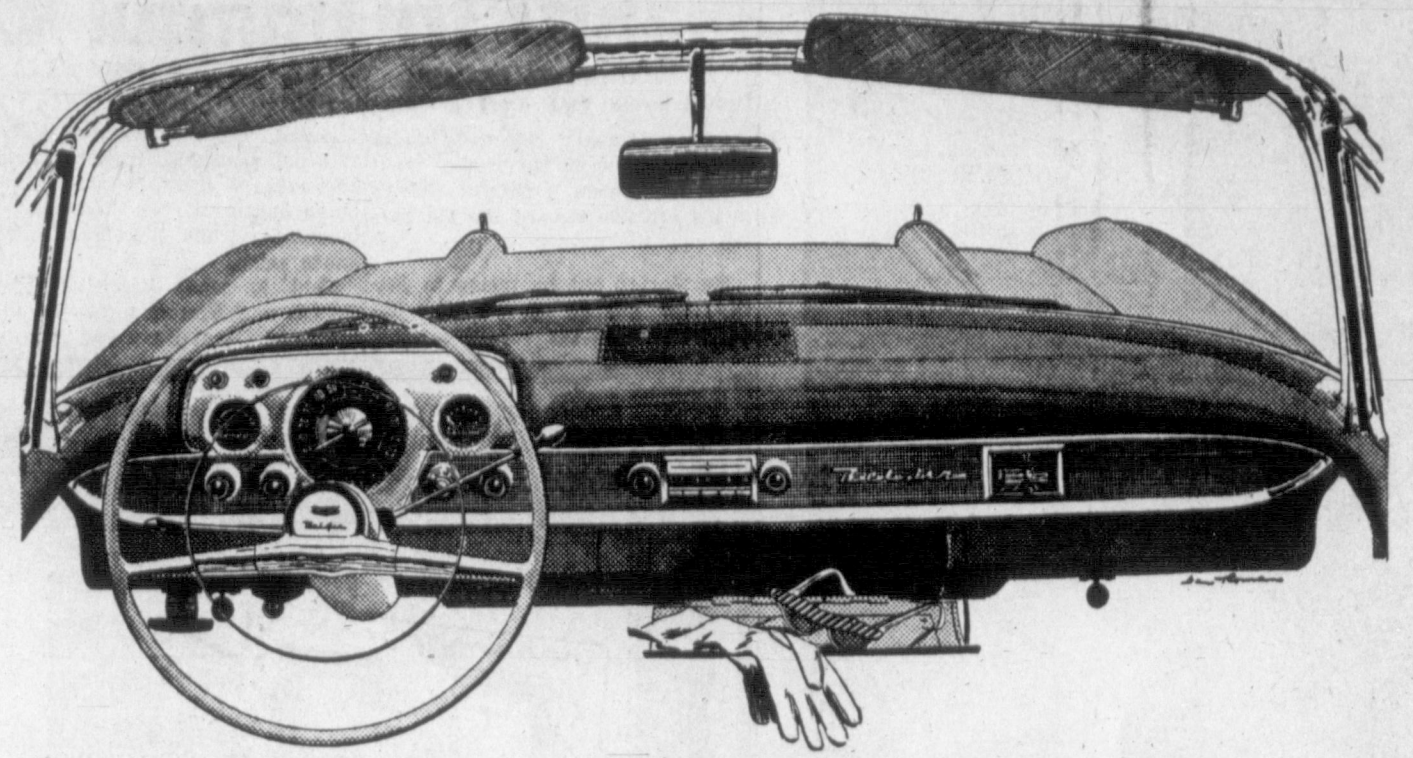

"Selfish interests will again effectively block passage of needed legislation, despite efforts of an unselfish minority."

However, most legislators were hopeful that headway could be made toward solving the water problem, aggravated by a continuing drought which has extended over seven years in some areas.

Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas, chairman of the Texas Water Resources Committee, expressed hope "we can make a start on conservation."

Three-Fold Approach Seen
A three-fold approach to the problem was visualized by Rep. Robert W. Baker of Houston. He said the solution will be found in three elements:

"Method or manner in which a constructive water program could or would be financed. The storage of water so as to prevent its flow into the Gulf of Mexico. And distribution of the stored water so as to give relief to our land and to our economy."
Rep. Louis Anderson of Midland

For Meaning—Skip Adlai's Words About Seeking Office

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) —For the most meaningful words in Adlai E. Stevenson's latest political pronouncement you must skip his statement that he will not again seek the presidency.
Practical politicians were counting Stevenson out of the 1960 presidential picture before half the returns were in election eve. It was evident by then that he was a two-time loser, both by big margins.
The most significant language in Stevenson's statement reveals his intention to have his say in party councils—in the making of party policy.
"In my opinion," he added, "the greatest service the Democratic Party can now render is a strong, searching and constructive opposition."
Poses A Question
The question shortly to come up for decision when Congress meets next month is just what strong, searching and constructive opposition means.
Another question is this: In his role as elder statesman, will Stevenson go along with the Democratic leadership of Congress or team up with the Democratic left wing which has been critical of Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn.

A major problem confronting elder statesman Stevenson was created by the trend toward breakup of the so-called solid South. He and his fellow party leaders probably must decide before 1960 what the Democratic Party must do to maintain its hold on the relatively left-wing, big-city industrial vote without losing support in the relatively conservative South.
Returns Jolted Liberals
Presidential election returns in 1952 and this year considerably jolted left-wing Northern leaders. The Republican Eisenhower-Nixon ticket broke substantially into the South in both years.
President Eisenhower steadily is moving the Republican Party toward what FDR used gently to call the left of center. This is a political maneuver designed to entice from the Democrats large blocs of Northern voters, union men, Negroes and such who rallied years ago to the Roosevelt New Deal.
Democratic leaders must consider now what to do about that. Shall they lead their party further to the left at the risk of losing Southern support?

Soviets Show Alarm At Unrest Situation

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
Soviet Russia is showing signs of acute alarm over the situation in Romania and Bulgaria.
Widespread unrest is reported also in Albania, the tiny Communist satellite country on the Adriatic Sea opposite Italy.
Communist leaders in East Germany and Czechoslovakia seem to be increasingly nervous over the possibility of outbreaks in their countries.
Taken together, dispatches indicate strongly that Russia's grip on its satellite empire is being challenged all over Eastern Europe as the result of the revolts in Poland and Hungary.

It is reported that a large part of the Romanian army is being disarmed as a safeguard against its possible participation in a popular uprising. A Moscow communique announced on Monday that Soviet troops sent to Romania during the Hungarian revolt will remain there "temporarily."
Strong forces of Soviet troops have been moved into Bulgaria. Dispatches say a number of Bulgarian army officers have been dismissed as untrustworthy. There is a split in the Bulgarian Communist leadership.
In all of the chief satellite countries, Red leaders are watching students closely. The revolts in Poland and Hungary started with student demonstrations.
Admit Armies Are Liability
The most significant development in the satellite countries is Russia's open admission that their armies are now more of a liability than an asset.
In Hungary the army joined the rebels against the Soviet forces which turned out to crush the revolt.
It has now been announced officially that Hungary is to have a "new and smaller" army. Dispatches from Western European capitals say the army may be cut to as few as 25,000 men. This means that the Reds will rely in future on carefully screened security troops to keep order.
There seems to be little the Soviet government can do to combat the steady weakening of its authority in its satellites but to depend more and more on oppressive rule.
Insofar as Moscow is concerned, the tolerance of independent-minded Communists which proved so costly in Poland and Hungary seems to be definitely over.
"Stalinist" leaders are being built up in Romania, Bulgaria, East Germany and Czechoslovakia.

EDUCATOR NAMED — Dr. Lawrence Gridley Derhick, above, superintendent of schools at Chattanooga, Tenn., has been named U. S. commissioner of education by President Eisenhower. The 51-year-old educator succeeds Dr. Samuel M. Brownell, who resigned.

'Cinderella Of Las Vegas' An Unknown Two Weeks Ago

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—Today's Cinderella of Las Vegas was an unknown singer in a New York bar two weeks ago, but today 18-year-old Judy Scott of Denver is an exciting find in Jerry Lewis' new nightclub act.

Judy still might be crooning in the lounge of the Copacabana Club in New York if she hadn't started her ten-minute bit a half hour late one night. At that fatal moment Lewis happened to stroll through the lounge and spotted her—possibly because she looks like Jerry's wife, Patti.

"After I finished singing my manager called me over to Jerry's table and Jerry said, 'we have a deal,'" the excited girl said. "He said he'd meet me in Las Vegas at the Sands hotel in 11 days. I was in his act!"

"I rushed out and had some gowns made and learned the arrangements after I got here. I still don't know how much money I'm making. Ever since I met Jerry I've been in a dream. I have to pinch myself."

Judy is a vivacious, tiny brunette who belts a song across in the style of another Judy, Garland. Miss Scott's real name is Gardenschwartz, but Jerry changed that difficult handle to Scott after his eight-months-old baby.

Judy had sung only at high-school shows and benefits in Denver until a year ago. While visiting Denver, Orchestra leader Ralph Flannagan heard about Judy and hired her for the summer.

"I planned to go on to college but I got the show business bug," smiled Judy. "So I went to New York last March, sang with a band at a dance place and then got that Copa job to pay for my singing lessons."

Deny Dillon Will Resign

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)—President Eisenhower scheduled a conference today with C. Douglas Dillon, U.S. ambassador to France. Dillon, who has been in this country recently for conferences at the State Department, arrived in Augusta Wednesday night and was to see the Chief Executive at the Augusta National Golf Club during the morning.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty in response to repeated inquiries, said he knew of no plans for Dillon to resign. He said the envoy was returning to his post.

To Leave For Paris
The White House expected Dillon to leave for Paris Friday.

Reporters pointed out that the same thing happened in the case of Mrs. Clare Booth Luce who came home, resigned, then returned to Rome for a brief period before the resignation as the ambassador to Italy took effect. Asked if this might be the same case with Dillon, Hagerty said, "not that I know of."

Explosive Remnants Sought

NEW YORK (UP)—Authorities

sought remnants of explosives today to determine if tons of detonating fuses stored on a Brooklyn pier caused the $15 million blast Monday which killed 10 persons.

Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr. said a waterlogged bill of lading found Wednesday showed 1,950 cartons containing 37,000 pounds of cordtex, an explosive, had been on the pier.

He said experts believed the high explosive core of the fuses, pentaerythritol trinitrate (PETN), might have caused the explosion.

The detonating fuses, described as the type used in commercial blasting, had been on the pier since Nov. 28. The cargo was en route from the Ensign Bickford Co., of Simsbury, Conn., to the Coast Manufacturing & Supply Co. of Traveno, Calif.

If your family likes beef — and who doesn't — they will love this new design for living. Simply buy a full 6th and 7th rib pot roast, divide it, before cooking, into the several cuts illustrated above and prepare each in your family's favorite way. (1) Have your butcher saw through the rib bones above the eye of fat. Hold firmly to both ends to separate the rib-eye from the outside section. Cut rib bones free and trim lean meat off. Remove thin blade cartilage and backbone. (2) Then roll outside section, fat side out, into a pot roast and skewer or tie. Cook over low temperature with moisture for best results. (3) Slice the rib-eye into 1½ to 2-inch "country club" steaks which are tender enough to broil or, if preferred, swiss. Use bones for beef stock and lean meat for stew. Wrap or cover the cuts loosely if they are to be used within a few days; freeze them if longer storage is desired. At-home fabricating saves time and money, says the Texas Beef Council and provides three or four distinctively different dinners.

Chef In Fort Worth Specializes In Beef

In saluting the beef industry, Texans focus their attention on Fort Worth, birthplace of the Texas Beef Council, and acknowledged capital of the wide-spread Texas cattle kingdom. One of the most ardent boosters is Chef-Steward Reece B. Cozby of River-Crest Country Club, Fort Worth's most august private club. Cozby, an Oklahoma by birth and a "Cow-Towner" by choice, serves and promotes beef specialties all year round in addition to the usual prime ribs and steaks. One recipe which has won him many compliments is beef tenderloin tips a la d'uch with mushrooms. This savory, meaty dish has captivated the Club membership, especially the men, says Cozby.

A combination of wine, worchestershire sauce and mushrooms distinguishes this baked beef dish from its many relatives. For home use and preparation, Chef Cozby recommends the substitution of 1½ pounds cubed economy beef for the tenderloin tips. Yields four to six servings.

- 6 oz. tenderloin tips
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 4 tablespoons shortening
- 1 4-oz. can mushrooms
- 2 cups water

Planning Ahead Provides Two Elegant Beef Dinners From Rolled Rib Roast

Women may dress to please other women (or so it's said), but they cook to please their men. A man's idea of good eating is a hearty beef dinner. Their vote will go for stick-to-the-ribs main dishes like this rolled rib roast of beef. And they love their beef served with oven-browned or baked potatoes, or broiled tomatoes topped with fresh, crisp onion slices and stuffed olives.

Extravagant? Not at all! Not when two simple rules of economy are followed: first, proper preparation; second, efficient utilization of left-overs. A handsome, plump rolled rib beef roast is like a fine woolen dress. Who would consider washing an expensive woolen in hot, scalding water? Nobody — it would shrink too much. Yet, for many years, homemakers inadvertently shrank their expensive roasts, believing it was necessary to cook meat at high temperature to "sear in" juices and preserve flavor. Scientific research proved that quite the contrary is true. High temperatures drain the delicious meat juices into the pan, shrink and dry the meat.

The proper roasting temperature of 325 degrees preserves maximum size of the roast, greatly improves its flavor, retains the natural juiciness of the meat and produces a full, uncharred appearance. A note of caution: do not add water, do not cover and do not baste your rolled rib or beef roast. This succeeds only in producing a stewed rather than a roast flavor. A large piece of roasting meat placed fat side up in a pan bastes itself. If the roast is very

Try Beef Mexicana For Buffet Supper

Informal suppers can be built around one big, satisfying casserole dish that is assembled in advance and stored in the refrigerator. There is a bit of South of the Border influence in this Beef Mexicana, due to the addition of corn, ripe olives and grated process cheese. According to home economists in the Meadow, Gold Test Kitchens, who adapted the recipe, the flavors will have a better chance to blend if the dish is prepared ahead of time.

BEEF MEXICANA (8 Servings)
1 pound ground beef
½ cup butter
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
1 10½-ounce can condensed tomato soup
1 cup milk
3 cups medium noodles, cooked
2 cups whole kernel corn
¼ cup chopped ripe olives
½ cups grated process American cheese
Salt, pepper

Brown meat in butter; add onion and green pepper and cook until tender. Add remaining ingredients, reserving ½ cup cheese. Mix well. Pour mixture into a buttered 2 quart casserole. Cover tightly with foil and place in refrigerator. Just before baking, top dish with remaining ½ cup cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for about 35 minutes. Garnish with parsley and sliced ripe olives.

Bake your pet chocolate cake and frost it generously with this luscious butter cream frosting, speckled with finely chopped Clark candy bars. The candy lends a faint peanut butter flavor which harmonizes well with chocolate. BUTTER CREAM FROSTING (For 2 9-inch cake layers) Combine 2½ tablespoons cake flour and ½ cup milk. Cook over moderate heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Cool. Cream ½ cup butter and ½ cup granulated sugar until fluffy. Stir in flour mixture and beat well. Add 3½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar and ½ teaspoon vanilla; mix well. Fold in 3 finely chopped Clark bars. Spread on cooled cake layers.

Uses Of Leftover Meats Are Varied

Leftover slices of meat can be used for cold plates, cold sandwiches or heated in a barbecue sauce or brown gravy. Use cubed leftover beef in cream sauce over toast or biscuits; in curry sauce over rice; in casseroles with rice or noodles. Or you can serve leftover meat loaf cold or reheated with canned mushroom soup or tomato soup poured over the top. A head bristling with bobby pins or metal clips should never be seen on the street. If you absolutely must go out with your hair in curlers, cover your head with a kerchief tied cap or pirate but not peasant style.

People of the 18th District: CONGRESS UNDER PRESSURE

On the 23rd of January, 1957, the 55th Session of the Congress of the United States of America will convene. Political writers and experts in the East are predicting that, immediately after the Congress convenes, the pressure will be on for the early passage of a legislative program that can be used as a base platform for the much advertised New Republicanism. It seems to be the opinion of the political experts that a speedy and all-out attack will be necessary to force the program through; that if the program is not passed in the first two years of the President's term, much of it will be doomed. The interesting and somewhat amusing feature is the nature of the program predicted by these political fortunetellers. It could easily be mistaken for the Roosevelt-Truman programs that were such hot issues for so many years.

For instance, the political analysts say that the legislative "musts" program will include such items as (1) Civil Rights legislation, (2) A federal health insurance program, (3) Amendment of the Taft-Hartley Act, (4) Federal aid to education, (5) Expansion of Fair Labor Standards Act to include many more workers under minimum-wage and maximum-hour provisions, (6) Expansion of the social security system, (7) Foreign Aid, (8) Expansion of economic aid to under-developed countries, (9) Channelling of government contracts to thickly populated areas to avoid unemployment. (This means the additional expense to the taxpayer, because the determining factor is not the cost of the goods to be purchased, but the economic situation in a particular area.) (This, of course, reduces the chance for industrial expansion of those sections of the country not presently industrialized.) (9) Liberalization of immigration laws. (There has long been a major effort to shift unused quotas from such countries as England, Sweden, etc., to other countries that have many people wanting to migrate to this country.) (10) Increased military spending, (11) Statehood for Alaska and Hawaii, and voting rights for the District of Columbia, (12) Increased aid for hospital construction.

The failure of Roosevelt and Truman to obtain passage of much of this legislation was due to strong opposition from those who were violently opposed to the centralization of our government and a concentration of power in the hands of a few individuals in Washington. If the predictions of these political prognosticators are even partially correct, it would appear that the session of the 85th Congress will be most interesting.

Two items that are noticeable because of their absence in the list of political predictions, are small business legislation and legislation concerning the farmer and rancher. When these two items are mentioned, they usually appear at the bottom of the list and seem to be somewhat of a second thought. The disregard of these two items by many of the writers causes me concern for two reasons. In the first place, these two segments of our economy are in deep trouble and must have some assistance. In the second place, Eisenhower has mentioned both of these items as being of concern to him. The failure of the writers to treat these two matters as serious makes me wonder if they know something that the rest of the country has not been told.

AMERICA ON WHEELS

The hearings that have been held by the Committee on Traffic Safety, of which I am a Member, have certainly proven that America is truly a "nation on wheels". Everyone in this country seems to be going some place or coming back. I guess all Americans have a certain amount of gypsy blood. Several years after World War I, I had occasion to visit with a German Army officer who had come to this country to live. He defined an American as "a person who, regardless of where he was, wanted to go some other place, and when he arrived there wished that he had stayed where he was in the beginning." In other words, he felt that Americans wanted to go some place just for the Fugitive No Masquerader — FRANKFURT, Germany (UP)—Police said today they were certain the man in the striped uniform they arrested for drunk driving was a fugitive from a masquerade party until investigation showed he was a prison fugitive riding a stolen motorcycle.

Observer Post Has An Alert

McLEAN — (Special) — The Ground Observer Corps Post in McLean met Sunday at the football stadium for an Aircraft alert which lasted from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. Thirteen local members participated in the alert, and seventeen aircraft flash messages were sent to the filter center in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Police Nick Freedom

DETROIT (UP)—John Kimmel nicked more than his face when police asked him to demonstrate his proficiency with a razor they found in his pocket. Kimmel, dabbing at his chin, admitted he took the razor from a barber college and the police put a bar on his freedom.

Japanese Movie Heroes Are Slow About Getting Started

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Japan has come a long way in making flickers, but it still takes a half hour for the hero to clobber the villain.

Harry Keith, chief of the U.S. film section, told me a thing or two about Nippon's movie industry.

Harry himself is a flat-nosed, hard-bitten character who grew up in Manhattan, was used to alley rights, and still looks as though he could take care of himself wonderful directors but they "don't seem to get the actors to get off their haunches fast enough." Movie costs run up fast when the actors stall.

"There is a certain code of decency when it comes to womanhood," my new friend told me. "There is very little of the showing above the garters."

A good bit of the movies show an all-male cast, with huskies playing the parts of women. But in a publication of the Japanese industry, which I have at hand, there is a picture of a lovely Japanese actress with a bare calf and somebody balancing a glass of something or other on her knee.

Japs Avid Movie-Goers
Japanese are avid movie goers, now that they have adjusted their eyes to the flickers. There are a lot of films that go back to the knights of old, with the foot soldiers coming in to rescue the fair lady from the old lords.

"The knight always wins," Harry said. "There would be mayhem among the audience if he didn't."

The Japanese also have tried out the out-of-space routine, and have done a pretty good job.

The information agency is there to help out, and Harry has a big roll in the job.

"We do what we can," our man said, "but they don't seem to need a great deal of help."

McLean Factory
Heads Arrive

McLEAN — (Special) — Calven Fraser, president of the Form Oil-Uth Brassiere Factory, flew to Amarillo from California, Saturday and met his production manager, Tom Greenwood, from Waco. They then came on the McLean to complete blue prints for the wiring and setting up of machinery in their new factory in McLean.

Fraser said he hoped to start production in about sixty days.

THERE'LL BE SOME CHANGES MADE—On the basis of new population estimates for 1956 by the Census Bureau, there could be a shift of between 15 and 20 electoral votes resulting from the 1960 census. California will gain the most, with an increase of six to eight electoral votes, while the Northeast—New York, Pennsylvania and part of New England—loses a combined total of eight to 10. Census Bureau cites a movement of people from farms and small towns to cities. Newspaper, above, shows states likely to be affected, and the number of electoral votes before and after the estimated changes.

THE CHRISTMAS SHOPPING RUSH and round of parties are upon us, and people are already beginning to groan over their crowded schedules this month, including me. Right in time, it seems, come this release of an article in the December issue of Family Circle magazine, which I think we all need at this moment.

The author of this article is Dr. Margaret Blair Johnstone, minister of Congregational Churches in Canton and West Gorton, Mass. In my opinion, she has a thought which we should all take time to ponder right now. We all speak about and hear about the "spirit" of Christmas, without realizing what that "spirit" is and from where it comes.

The following paragraphs in this column are from Dr. Johnstone's article, which is entitled, "Christmas Magic Begins at Home."

NOT LONG AGO I was asked to define the magic spirit of Christmas. I found that there was no one answer I could give, for "magic" is many things to many people. But the question at least led me to discover that the important thing for most of us is not defining this spirit but finding it. How, then, do we find the magic of Christmas?

We find it by creating it ourselves. All of us can, in our own homes, not only produce the sparkling excitement of Christmas, but discover together those sources of serenity that create enduring magic.

First, we can build family memories together. There is no other season that offers greater opportunity for creating lasting traditions. Whether you put your tree up on Christmas Eve or the week before, the sharing of preparations means greater pleasure for the whole family. Find out what your children's decorating ideas are, so you can incorporate them in your planning.

I believe that sharing the miracle of true giving is another way of creating the magic of Christmas. And I feel that giving takes on the miraculous when we give something for which there cannot possibly be a return.

Some create this magic by giving money to worthwhile causes. Others send anonymous gifts to people who are in need.

As we set about to create Christmas magic in our homes this year, a wise rule all of us can follow is this: Get enough rest to guarantee that you'll have the necessary nervous and physical energy to see you through your busiest days. By overdoing, you can be undone.

This year, when I catch myself chancing fatigue, I'm going to stop and ask myself two questions: What greater gift can I give my family than the sharing of simple serenity? What things left undone can possibly be more important than being happy together?

As I recall the Christmas Story, there was no room in the crowded inn that night long ago. But in the warmth of a lowly stable family found that being together was all that was needed to make the magic of that first Christmas morn.

Want a recipe for making yourself welcome and completely at ease in the home of your married son or daughter?

Well, you'll find it in this letter from a young wife. She writes:

"I used to wonder why it was that my husband always seems so comfortable and easy around my parents as I do and why he has always seemed just as pleased as I when they came for a visit."

"Now I think I've figured out why. In the seven years that we have been married, my parents have never made a single critical remark about my husband. They have never even hinted that he might have a fault."

"Not only that, but they never miss an opportunity to build him up and make him feel pleased with himself. And they always treat him like the head of his own home."

"I'm sure that is why my husband feels so comfortable around my parents and why I feel so comfortable when we are all together."

"He never has to defend himself, and I know I'll never have to defend him. I know so many marriages where parents are so definitely 'in-laws' to one-half of a couple I just wanted to write and tell you how it works when parents act like 'parents' to a couple, instead of just to their own child."

There's the recipe. If you want to feel at home in your married child's home set the stage for easy companionship by your complete acceptance and approval of your child's marriage partner "as is."

Remember that you are visiting "your children," not just your son or daughter, and you won't make any of the common mistakes of visiting in-laws.

One night my granddaughter called me and was crying and wanted to see us. Her grandpa would have gone off to bed and her mother to supper but her mother wouldn't allow it. I sure would appreciate your answer.

Jerry

Dear Jerry
It's hard for grandparents to learn that disciplining of their grandchildren must be left in the hands of the children's parents. DON'T INTERFERE.

Even when you think your daughter is wrong in the handling of her child, you must not interfere. If you are badly worried about it, the very most you should do is to discuss it with your daughter when the child is not present and try to show her her mistakes. But you must leave the final decision to her and her husband.

I feel sure that she will soon recover from her annoyance at your interference. You might speed the recovery by telling her that in the future you will let her do as she thinks best regarding her child.

And, I am sure, you will be happy if you take up your mind to let the child's parents rear her according to their beliefs and to conform to their wishes. Enjoy your grandchildren but leave the rearing to her parents.

A poem, "The Trees," by S. B. Cole was read by Miss Helen Dunlap, County HD agent, during the installation of officers, whom she compared to the different parts of a tree.

"As the trunk is the mainstay of the branches, so the president must be the mainstay of the other members," she explained. "As the branches add to the beauty and size of the tree, so do other members of the club add to the usefulness, progress and enjoyment of the club."

She closed the installation with the poem, "I Like The Fellowship Of Trees," by Virginia Ely.

Attending were Meses. Douglas Flynn, Jack Prather, L. F. Watt, Bob Brandon, Jack Howard, A. M. Nash, Archie Manness, T. G. Groves; and Miss Helen Dunlap.

Manners Make Friends

Bodies Are Removed After Crash

PICKFORD, Mich. (UP)—The bodies of two Air Force officers were removed Wednesday from the wreckage of their jet fighter which crashed near here.

The F-89 Scorpion Jet carrying Lt. John E. Cunningham, 24, Tulsa, and Lt. Hobart W. Garvin, 22, MI, Hope, W. Va., crashed Tuesday night while on a routine training flight. The officers were members of the 48th Fighter Interceptor Squadron at nearby Kinross Air Force Base.

Rescuers from Kinross were at first unable to find the bodies of the two airmen. More than 100 searchers combed the area near the crash scene in the hope that the two men might have bailed out and landed safely. However, the bodies were found beneath the ship's fuselage when it was removed by bulldozers and heavy cranes.

The ship was returning to Kinross when it crashed. The accident occurred as the plane was attempting a ground-controlled night landing and plowed into a drainage ditch and flipped over on its back.

Each officer was the father of one child. Their families live at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

FORT WORTH (UP) — A 40-year-old Fort Worth man Wednesday night waited in ambush at the home of his estranged wife and wounded her and her male companion, then took his own life.

Dead was James Raley, who surprised his divorced wife and her escort as they stepped from their automobile at 8:45 p.m.

Mrs. Berylne Raley, 40, was shot in the mouth and her companion, Woodrow Tyson, also 40, was hit in the side. Both were hospitalized, but neither was believed seriously wounded.

Homicide Capt. O. R. Brown said Raley waited in some bushes at the side of a garage apartment back of 3501 Race St. where Mrs. Raley lived.

Tyson and Mrs. Raley, who was divorced from Raley last March, drove up and got out of their car. Brown said Tyson told him that Raley jumped up and shouted: "You -----! You're the one I'm after!"

Raley fired, hitting Tyson in the side and Mrs. Raley in the mouth. He then turned the gun on himself and fired once in his right ear.

Court Plan Agreed On By Attorneys

TYLER, Tex. (UP)—Attorneys agreed on a plan late Wednesday to shorten court records and speed up a hearing on the NAACP's plea to have an injunction hearing moved away from Tyler.

Much of Wednesday's hearing was spent in recesses working out the agreement. As a result, the state offered 151 exhibits as one and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People offered blanket objections to all of them.

District Judge Otis T. Dunagan overruled all exceptions to a plea of privilege motion Wednesday and arguments began on the original plea to have the hearing moved.

NAACP Wants Hearing Moved
The NAACP wants to move the hearing to either Austin or Dallas as "a matter of convenience." It has lost two rounds in earlier hearings in the Tyler court.

The state currently has the NAACP under a temporary injunction to prevent it from activity in Texas, and is seeking a permanent injunction.

Courtroom observers expected that if the original plea is turned down, the hearing on the permanent injunction may begin. However, they pointed out that the legal maneuvering on the change of venue action could take up as much as 10 days time.

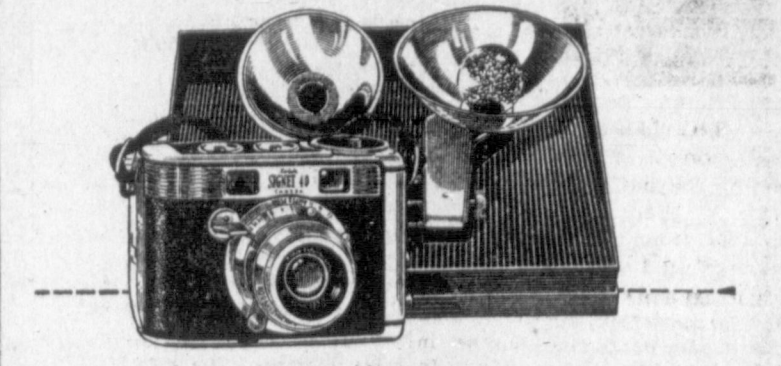

The state presented two witnesses Wednesday who had as-

The witnesses, John H. Minton Jr. and Sterling Fulmore, both assistants to Attorney General John Ben Shepperd, told of making photo copies of records in the Dallas and Houston NAACP offices.

A legal wrangle erupted just before the hearing recessed between Assistant Attorney General Davis Grant and NAACP attorney W. J. Durham of Dallas.

Cubs' Ernie Banks In Trade Talk At Jacksonville Meeting

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UP)—A near-stampede for Ernie Banks was in progress between three National League clubs today but the Chicago Cubs made it plain their slugging shortstop can not be had for love or money.
The Cincinnati Reds already have made what they consider "a real solid offer" for Banks and the Pittsburgh Pirates and Philadelphia Phillies also were known to be interested in the right-handed, long-ball hitting shortstop.

Cincinnati's offer for Banks consisted of outfielder Wally Post and catcher Smoky Burgess, but under pressure, the Cubs probably could get center fielder Gus Bell instead of Post. Along with Banks, the Reds also would insist upon a pitcher, preferably big Bob Rush.

High Regard For Banks
"Sure, a lot of people are talking to us about Banks," admitted Bon Scheffing, the Cubs' new manager, "but he's one boy we're going to hang on to. No one has any higher regard for him than we have."

"The deal would be a good one from Chicago's standpoint," said Cincinnati Manager Birdie Tebbets. "Post and Burgess are good for 60 homers between them, Post 40 and Burgess 20. You figure Banks to hit about 40. So we'd lose 20 homers on the deal and that's why we'd want a pitcher to make up the difference."

The Pirates and Phillies also are interested in acquiring a consistent hitting shortstop like Banks. If Pittsburgh could swing the deal, possibly at the cost of Frank Thomas, it would shift Dick Groat to third base.

Phillies Make Overtures
Philadelphia still is making overtures to Brooklyn for rookie shortstop Bob Lillis but naturally, Banks would be preferred.

General Manager Roy Hamey of the Phils and Vice President E.J. (Buzzy) Bavasi of the Dodgers admitted they are "trying to get together" in a deal but both refused to identify the players involved. The United Press reported Wednesday that Richie Ashburn and Furillo were the central figures under discussion and today Hamey said "we want more than Furillo for Ashburn."

Meanwhile, the Pirates were still trying to do business with the Giants. Like numerous other clubs, the Giants would like Thomas patrolling their outfield and Pittsburgh is after one of the Giants' left-handed pitchers and infielder Foster Castleman.

Pampa's Future In Baseball Appears Doomed To Failure

Pampa's chances for professional baseball in Pampa looked pretty dim today following word from the minor leagues baseball meeting in Jacksonville, Fla.

G. F. Branson and George Cree Sr., are representing the Pampa Baseball Association at the annual meeting which concludes this weekend. Branson, in a telephone conversation with Dr. Malcolm Brown, vice-president of the local baseball group, stated that no firms commitments have been made although the two have been working mightly hard in trying to secure a major league working agreement.

Branson added that there was one more possibility of securing aid today and that the club in mind had not completely turned them down.

Now it appears almost certain that if a working agreement is not obtained there will be no baseball here this summer. Many of the Southwestern League members, of which the Pampa Oilers belong, face the same situation this year. The league has already shown signs of dropping to six members from the 10 that formed the new Class B loop last year.

Irish Eyes Smiling With Easy Cage Win

By TIM MORIARTY
United Press Sports Writer
Notre Dame's Irish eyes were smiling again today.

After suffering through the worst football season in the school's history, the far-flung Notre Dame alumni finally found something to cheer about Wednesday night when the Irish basketball team opened its season with a runaway 98-55 victory over St. Joseph (Ind.) College.

All five members of the Notre Dame starting five broke into double-digit scoring figures against St. Joseph, with Captain John Smyth leading the way with 29 points. The Irish gained a 45-24 lead at halftime and then let the reserves take over for most of the second half.

Flyers Impressive
Dayton and Illinois, both of whom were picked to finish among the nation's top 10 teams in the United Press pre-season ratings, also scored impressive victories Wednesday night.

Dayton won its 200th game under Coach Tommy Blackburn by defeating touring Miami (Fla.), 87-48. Blackburn spent the entire second half experimenting with his reserves after the Flyer regulars opened a 26-point lead at halftime. As a result, sub forward Jack McCarthy emerged as the high scorer with 18 points.

Illinois also built up an early lead in its opening game against Butler and then coasted to a 98-51 of their first 15 field goal attempts, were led by George Bon-salle's 28 points. However, Butler's Ted Guzek wound up as the game's high scorer with 37 points on 14 field goals and nine free throws.

Marquette Edges DePaul
Marquette, led by Jim McCoy and Bob Walczak, battled to a 61-60 overtime squeaker over DePaul. McCoy, who scored 29 points tied the score at 54-all with a basket in the last second of regulation play and Walczak won the game with a field goal just before the end of the five-minute overtime session.

It was a high-scoring night elsewhere around the nation as Pennsylvania whipped Swarthmore, 100-85; Columbia opened its season with a 92-75 victory over CCNY; Alabama blasted Birmingham Southern 110-69, and Duke, led by Bobby Joe Harris' 26 points, trampled South Carolina, 104-76.

Machen Scores Victory Over John Summerlin

By UNITED PRESS
SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UP)—Heavyweight Eddie Machen, an unbeaten but experience-shy newcomer, said today his unanimous decision over Johnny Summerlin proved he was ready for the big-time and serious consideration as a contender for Floyd Patterson's newly-won crown.

"I'll take about two months training to make up for my lack of experience and then I'd like a fight with Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson," the 24-year-old Machen said.

Lack of experience or not, Machen won his 19th straight Wednesday night via a unanimous 10-round decision over Summerlin, who was groggy from combination punches in six of the rounds.

Judges Dick Albino and Riché Fazio agreed Machen won seven rounds and Summerlin three, while Referee Joe Palmer gave it to Machen, 6-4. The United Press card for the TV bout was eight rounds for Machen and one even.

TCU Showing Signs Of Basketball Brilliance

By UNITED PRESS
Texas Christian is showing signs of living up to pre-season talk that Coach Buster Brannon's Horned Frog five was the "dark horse" of the Southwest Conference basketball race.

The Frogs overcame a 34-29 halftime deficit to defeat Texas Tech 73-65 Wednesday night at Lubbock. Tech is the same club that fought well-regarded Kansas State to a standstill earlier in the week and the victory indicated TCU's sophomore outfit must be reckoned with.

Meanwhile, defending champion Southern Methodist pulled away from tall and tough Oklahoma City University for a 78-63 verdict to live up to its fifth ranking nationally and Texas A&M dropped its second game in three starts—this time a 59-58 contest to Sam Houston State.

TCU had to use a semi-stall in the final eight minutes to break up Texas Tech's tight zone defense that held high-scoring Dick O'Neal to 13 points, Derrill Nippert, one of Brannon's two crack sophs, led the scoring with 17 points.

SMU led all the way against the Chiefs, but it was nip-and-tuck until the final few minutes when the Mustangs turned on the heat to widen the gap to 16 points. Four Mustangs scored in double figures with Jim Krebs high with 18, Bobby Mills 16, Larry Showalter with 15 and Rick Herrscher with 14.

Krebs and his understudy Bob McGregor held OCU's 6-10 pivot star, Hubert Lee, to only four field goals out of 18 shots at the basket.

Sam Houston's Carl Davis stole the ball and made a layup shot in the final two seconds to beat the Aggies after the latter had led the entire second half. Davis' 22 points was high for the night with the top Aggie, Stu Heller, getting only 10 points.

Tonight's action sends Arkansas against Tulsa and Tulsa and Rice against Minnesota at Houston.

Pro Grid Giants Expecting Tough Meeting With Browns

By UNITED PRESS
The New York Giants expect the Cleveland Browns to throw everything at them Sunday except a white flag.

Cleveland will fail to win a pro football division title this season for the first time in its 11-year history. The Giants can clinch their first Eastern Division title in the National Football League since 1946 by beating or tying the Browns at Yankee Stadium.

But Jack Lavelle, who has scouted the Browns for years and has seen them half a dozen times this season, warned the Giants they are in for a rough day. "I think Cleveland still has the best defensive unit in the league," Lavelle said. "The Detroit Lions may be a bit better defensively, but I wouldn't bet on it."

has suffered as many injuries and lost as many close games as Cleveland has this year would be down," Lavelle said. "But they gave it everything all the way."

The Browns, who haven't had many "good bounces" from the ball this season, are picked to upset the Giants. The Giants have a 7-2-1 record while the Browns have a 4-4 mark.

Sunday's other selections: Lions (8-2) over Pittsburgh Steelers (4-6) at Detroit; Bears (7-2-1) over Cardinals (6-4) at Chicago; Redskins (5-4) over Philadelphia Eagles (3-6-1) at Washington; Forty Niners (3-4-1) over Green Bay Packers (4-6) at San Francisco; Rams (2-3) over Baltimore Colts (4-5) at Los Angeles.

Solid Gold Economy

Politicians, notably, don't like gold. Except, of course, for their own use.

As a base on which to build a sound economy and establish sound money, gold has no rival. And politicians normally don't like anything so sound that they can't meddle with it. They seem to feel, generally, that sound money is impractical because it is above and beyond their powers of manipulation. This is one of our most serious problems today.

However, despite the fact that there is undoubtedly more gold in our Colorado hills than has ever been taken out to date, it is very doubtful if much will be done about it during the next four years.

The men in power, saving a very few, are quite dedicated to the concept of government ownership, government operation and government control of all mediums of exchange.

Mr. Frederick Hagemann Jr., president of the Rockland-Atlas National Bank of Boston and a member of the advisory board of Massachusetts Investors Trust, recently had a few things to say about the merits of gold as a solid base for our currency. His remarks were delivered in a speech before the Maine Savings Bank Convention. Let's see what he had to say:

"Gold still is the only international currency and the way governments settle debts between themselves.

"Have you noticed that at any time there is an argument over gold, the government always takes the gold and leaves the paper money with the people?"

"Bernard Baruch when asked how he felt about gold replied that as long as people had fought, bled, and died to obtain it for the last 5,000 years or more, he was going to assume that it would continue to hold its value in the world economy.

"I have always been conscious of the fact that gold coins, no matter when they were minted, continue to have value while history is strewn with bores of worthless paper money, of government administrations that have come and gone.

"An interesting sidelight on gold came about in World War II in the invasion of North Africa. Our parachute troops were furnished with gold coins in order that when they landed they could get the co-operation and help of the native population. Our previous investigations had revealed that the natives would not respond to paper money — even dollar bills — as they had been burnt too badly and too often on previous occasions by their own paper money. General Eisenhower was intrigued by this gold incident and as a souvenir of the North African campaign wanted to acquire a $20 gold piece. He was chagrined to find that it took thirty-five American dollars to purchase a $20 American gold piece. This was a dramatic illustration to him that over a period of years the idea that 'a dollar is a dollar' is not so, even though many people seem to believe it.

"I notice . . . that whenever a country wants to devalue its paper money, it has to turn to something of real value against which to cut the stated value of its paper money, so that no matter how much politicians dislike gold, they always have to use it as a means of comparison in cheapening the outstanding paper currency."

These homely and pithy observations contain true wisdom. In all probability, though we continue on our inflationary spiral, and though the politicians will pretend that they wish to curb the spiral, they will veer away from the one remedy which could and would do the job. They will run for cover any time anyone mentions getting back to the gold standard.

It remains a fact that the inflation we are experiencing, with its attendant evils, can be largely traced to our irredeemable paper money. And until such time as we are willing to stabilize our currency by erecting a gold standard, we will continue to experience the devaluation of our currency.

Perhaps, when the printed dollar is worth no more than ten cents we will begin making moves to rectify the situation.

What Are American Conservatives Conserving?

I want to pass on the contents of a newsletter sent out by Ralph Courtney, 318 W. 56th St., New York City 19. After you have read this, if you want to receive these letters gratis, drop him a line.

It seems to me it is sort of a summary of how the nations that have had social centralization have always retarded the blessings that come from a limited government that only attempts to do what each and every individual has an ethical and moral right to do.

From here on I am quoting Mr. Courtney:

"How does it happen that the Conservative Movement in all countries today finds itself out on an ideological limb, at the mercy of socialist axemen, and unable to develop a satisfactory basis for its own defense? The fact is that individual liberty of action which the Conservatives wish to bring back to social life, was never a reality and a 'right' in centralist society. When the onefold aristocratic rule of the European State was replaced by a similar onefold democratic rule, cultural and economic matters were not decentralized from political control. The result is that under the pressure of many different groups, all aspects of social life will eventually be brought under centralized regulation. The weakness of the Conservative position lies in the fact that Conservatives now demand the return of a 'privilege' that had been a mere chance phenomenon belonging to an early stage in the evolution of centralism. Yet many Conservatives are under the illusion today that centralist society can be forced to return to its youth once more, in order to make room for the liberty of the individual."

"It was the belief of the good bourgeois people of Europe in a former era, that God had provided special privileges for those who could make good use of them. They felt some responsibility for their less fortunate brothers. In time, however, as the concept of God grew ever more abstract, this feeling of responsibility waned. When modern science, which recognized only material advantage and power, spread over the world, the bourgeoisie retreated to a position in which God and Science were kept in separate mental compartments. Six days they worked with Science and, on the seventh, paid their respects to the Deity. The lower classes, by contrast, harnessed to the machine which represented to them the paramount reality, developed all in one piece. They possessed no abstract, duplex compartments in which God and Science could live side by side in contradictory co-existence. Science was either true or not, and the conduct of their 'betters' showed them that it was at least six-sevenths true. The bourgeoisie failed to pass on to the proletariat a spiritual concept of the world, from which a new social order might have been born, so the war of the classes for material advantage and power began."

"But in another part of the world, before the time of modern science, in an ex-colony of the British Empire, another group of God-fearing men with social ideals, determined to establish a new kind of society fair to all. These men were de-centralists. The cultural life of their Republic, in the shape of religion, was to be decentralized from political control. Business, too, was on its own. There were to be no special privileges. Government was to have only limited powers. The use of its force was to be restricted to the maintenance of common individual rights. The Gordian Knot of centralism had been cut. No matter how men felt about one another they could all agree that cultural liberty should be a 'right'; they could all agree that citizens should have the 'right' to pursue their happiness in the economic field as they saw fit, provided government was there to see to it that they respected the common and equal rights of all."

"The early magic of this Country lured millions to its shores who longed to share in the liberty of this new Promised Land. The doors of centralism had been unlocked, but the European social orders kept to their old ways, until today they are almost totally regulated. They even succeeded in inducing Americans to follow their example. Yet all these countries will have to repair to the decentralist principle when the bankruptcy of their own centralism has run its course. Meanwhile, a new grass-roots Political Party is struggling to its feet in America under different names. No matter what name it eventually adopts, it will, if it keeps to American tradition, be a Decentralist Party."

That would be a hard question to answer — but in the face of expressed opposition by the ownership and management of the company to a unionized plan, an election was held and by a majority of 8 votes the workers decided to form a union. The stockholders, the owners of the plant, thereupon voted to discontinue operations and sell the plant at auction. This will be done within the next month. Thereafter (and as of now, the plant has practically closed down) the 600 workers will have to look elsewhere for jobs.

President William Pollock of the Textile Workers Union is hollering "unfair labor practice," and complained just the other day that his union "can't organize the South without Government help. Under the Wagner Act we got it. Now we don't." In other words, Mr. Pollock wants the Government to help the union organize the South by issuing an unfair labor practice complaint against the mill owners.

Actually, these labor bosses are not content with having the Government act as umpire in labor bargaining to see that the negotiations are conducted by some reasonable rules; they want the Government to back up their demands by giving the company no choice but to accept. It makes no difference if the demands are so high they will bankrupt the company, perhaps; it must stay in business regardless until the Government decides it is "fair to go out of business."

This seems to add a whole new aspect to the law. Henceforth a man would have to have a labor union's permission to sell what he owns.

Furthermore, it is not enough for the law to give people the right to join unions if they want to, provide a union is agreeable to everybody concerned. The labor bosses must have the help of the Government in forcing a union on everybody concerned.

All this explains pretty clearly why the unions do not like the Taft-Hartley Act and why they do not want a neutral Government. They are satisfied with nothing but having full power of Government to compel people to do what the unions want them to do.

For a long time we have had "killing the goose that lays the golden egg" held up before us as a prime example of foolishness — but people seem to persist in doing it anyway.

They Persist In Killing The Golden Goose

By Thurman Sensing

When those who have good jobs and are making a living for themselves, and their families forget they are under some obligation to those who make these jobs possible, then they are endangering not only their future security but their present welfare.

Speaking generally, jobs are made possible in connection with business and industrial concerns by those who have saved their money and have invested this money in the plant and equipment in the hope of making a profit, also by those who have the initiative and ingenuity and ambition to manage and operate these businesses and these industries efficiently and profitably.

After these two steps are taken, then of course workers must be found to fill the jobs thus made possible. This makes the triumvirate of capital, management and labor which have a joint responsibility to each other. And, of course, above and beyond all this are the customers, who are the real bosses and who must be found or no one will profit from the enterprise.

Now speaking particularly, we come to the textile plant at Darlington, S.C. — the Darlington Manufacturing Company. This plant was made possible by those who saved their money to build it and equip it with machinery. It was also made possible by the management who knew how to build it and operate it and sell the products after they were manufactured.

The Darlington Manufacturing Company employed 600 workers to conduct its manufacturing operations. This meant at least that many good jobs and it also meant that perhaps that many families owed their living to the existence of the Darlington Manufacturing Company. Why would any of these 600 workers want to disrupt their own lives and disrupt the lives of their families by upsetting this arrangement?

PEOPLE, LAND, AND FOOD

Some alarming predictions were made the other day in Salt Lake City, at the 25th annual convention of the National Reclamation Assn., an outfit devoted mainly to more and bigger irrigation projects out West.

Spokesman for Secretary Fred A. Seston's Department of the Interior produced figures which they said foreshadow actual food shortages in this country some day, perhaps as early as 1962.

As we all know, U. S. population is increasing swiftly — hit an estimated 168,921,000 on Oct. 1. At the same time, the nation loses crop land at a rate of about 5 per cent every 15 years. It goes into new suburbs or city additions, factory sites, airports, highways, and such. Considerable acreage, too, is reforested, or eroded by wind or flood, or made useless for farming through waterlogging, salt deposits or other spoilage.

Farming gets more efficient and scientific all the time — meaning one acre of good farm land produces more now than it did 20 years ago, and most likely will make its present production look small 20 years hence.

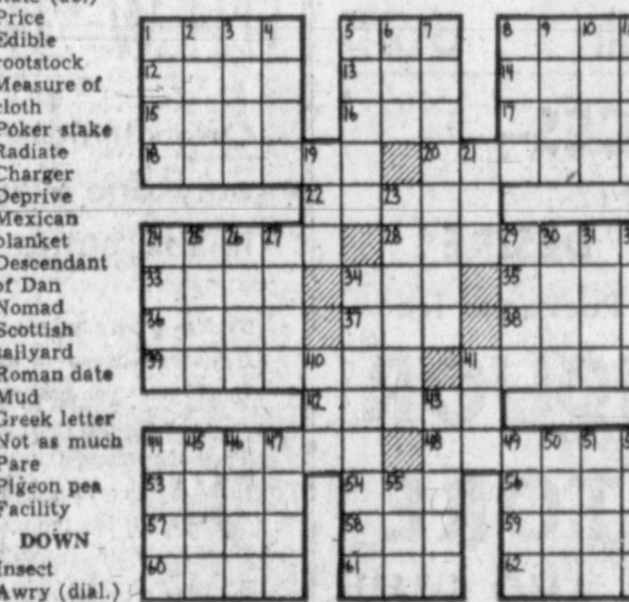

Nevertheless, say the reclamation experts, with the population expected to increase by more than 20 per cent in the next 15 years, we face "a complete balance of supply and demand by 1962."

The boys, as noted above, are interested mainly in more and more irrigation projects — meaning in more and more appropriations to finance them. That would indicate that you can sprinkle a liberal dose of salt on their predictions.

However, let's not discount them too heavily. Population has outrun food supply in other countries from time to time. Which is to say that, despite current stored-up surplus foodstuffs, we'd better encourage scientific progress down on the farm in every feasible way.

Ike Has Issued Warning To Russians On 'Volunteers'

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — In an obvious warning to Russia, President Eisenhower has unobtrusively staged a demonstration of American military might and purpose in the wake of the Suez Canal crisis and Moscow's threat to send "volunteers" into the troubled area. Several seemingly unrelated maneuvers are designed to show the Kremlin that the United States is ready for war, if necessary, and to strengthen Allies and neutrals.

Eisenhower has also acted to ascertain the accuracy of reports from Hungary and Poland that Russia's satellite troops are eager to desert to the West, and that even Red Army units are in a rebellious and discontented mood. There have been newspaper dispatches that invading Communist soldiers and local security forces would not fire on Budapest rebels, forcing the Kremlin to call on brutal Mongolians.

Major General William J. Donovan has been rushed to Vienna by the White House to superintend the handling of Hungarian refugees, but that is regarded as only a "cover" assignment. "Wild Bill's" real task will be to question military and political experts from Hungary, and even from the Soviet itself, who are now in Austria. They can inform him on the satellites attitude, if war should break, and of any morale breakdown among Moscow's occupation forces in Central Europe and the Balkans.

General Donovan is peculiarly equipped for this work. He headed the Office of Strategic Services during World War II, which co-operated with resistance movements in all these puppet countries. He served as a U. S. observer in Southeastern Europe in 1940-1941, helping to organize anti-Nazi underground cells. As an intimate acquaintance of key figures throughout this rebellious area, he is a one-man intelligence agency.

Donovan will report to Ike and the Joint Chiefs of Staff after he has quizzed the most reliable and firsthand informants on the Russian and satellite military potentialities and weaknesses. Besides refugees from the puppet regimes, there are former Moscow officials now in Vienna. They have furnished important data to Allen Dulles' Central Intelligence Agency.

"Wild Bill," however, has sources which even Dulles' agents and our diplomatic attaches cannot tap. The Congressional Medal of Honor winner for bravery on many World War I battlefields is our No. 1 "cloak and dagger" man, although the modest lawyer from Buffalo dislikes that description.

Other Eisenhower gestures are directed at Russia. In an interview with a weekly magazine, General Lauris Norstad, new SHAPE commander, revealed for the first time publicly that his forces would use atomic weapons in a defense of Western Europe, preparatory to a massive retaliatory attack on Russia.

He also admitted — and this is a surprise — that we would supply atomic warheads to SHAPE Allies who do not possess them, and none except Britain does. General Alfred M. Gruenther, retiring SHAPE head, has said that such a bombardment would "destroy" Russia.

Almost simultaneously, Pentagon announced that B-52 bombers had made successful, long-distance flights around Canada and the U. S. The communique noted that these planes, which can carry A and H bombs, could take off from British bases, fly over Russia, and land in Turkey.

A day after this announcement, it was decided that the Strategic Air Command, which developed the B-52, would have the exclusive assignment of long-range bombing of enemy territory. It was considered significant that Defense Secretary Wilson selected this particular time of crisis to settle the bitter, four-year controversy between the Army and Air Force over this problem of bombing priority.

PICTURE NEWS AROUND THE WORLD

MAYBE IT'S COLD DOWN THERE—Passersby have been heard wolf-whistling at this huge billboard, introducing Actress Carroll Baker as "Baby Doll," but the gents in this picture seem to be doll-proof. The controversial movie has been condemned by the Legion of Decency of the Roman Catholic Church as "morally repellent" and banned by Memphis, Tenn., censors as "immoral."

HE'S THE CHAMP OF CHAMPS—"PS (for Pennsylvania State University) Troubador," a 985-pound roan Shorthorn steer, was judged the Grand Champion steer at the International Livestock Exhibition in Chicago. Holding the champ is Richard Sour, assistant instructor in animal husbandry at Penn State.

FLYING PLATFORM—A plaster pilot rides a model of the U.S. Army's latest "Flying Platform" aircraft. Similar in appearance to the original, unveiled last year, the new version has three engines instead of one. This gives added safety to the pilot, who controls the craft by leaning in the appropriate direction.

HE'LL CLIP 'EM—Barber Nicholas Corsino hangs a sign in front of his Rockland, Mass., shop, announcing a 10-dollar price to anyone wanting an Elvis Presley-style haircut. Barbers' code says a customer must be given any sort of haircut he wants. So Corsino jacked up the price from the regular $1.50. So far he's had no takers. He thinks the Presley haircut is the craziest one yet.

ALUMINUM RIFLE—At the Army's Aberdeen, Md., proving ground, Richard Boutelle displays a radically new infantry rifle being tested there. Designated AR-10, and popularly called the "Armalite," it is made of lightweight aluminum alloy and plastics. It weighs only 6.8 pounds against the Garand's 9.5 pounds. Fully automatic, the AR-10 fires a .308-caliber bullet. It was invented by George Sullivan, Lockheed Aircraft Corp. patent attorney of Los Angeles, whose hobby is guns. Test models are being manufactured by Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corp., of which Boutelle is president.

VENETIAN SCENE—Looking like a vista along the Grand Canal in Venice is this picture of a flooded street in Port Said, Egypt. Civilians try to salvage their belongings from wrecked buildings while a British tank stands guard.

ENVOY TO BRITAIN?—John Hay ("Jock") Whitney, of Manhasset, L.I., is reported slated to replace Winthrop Aldrich, U.S. ambassador to Great Britain, early next year. Whitney, a noted financier and sportsman, is a personal friend of President Eisenhower and is said to represent the President's "new Republicanism." In World War II, he served as a colonel in the U.S. Air Force.

SHE LIKES HIS LOOKS—Robert J. Evans, youthful vice president of a New York sportswear-making firm, has suddenly found himself in the movies, having been signed to play the part of the late Irving Thalberg in "The Man of a Thousand Faces." The "discovery" was made by none other than Thalberg's widow, screen star Norma Shearer, who was struck by Evans' remarkable resemblance to her late husband. Evans and she are shown together in Hollywood.

HAPPY DAYS ARE HERE AGAIN—With bitter memories of the terror and flight from revolution-torn Hungary in the background, these young Hungarian refugees have fun in a hand-truck around the grounds of Foxlease, Lyndhurst, England. Foxlease, home of the Girl Guide movement, is used to house some of the many refugee families that sought haven in England.

BARBERSHOP QUARTET—How to give quickest service to a hurried patron is expertly demonstrated by this quartet of barbers in Rome, Italy. One man trims the hair, flanked by two others who give a speeded-up shave. A chiropractor rounds out the teamwork with a pedicure.

POOCH SUIT—Well-prepared for foul weather are four-year-old Teresa Loftus, of Southampton, England, and her toy poodle, "Twinkle - Twinkle Aquilla." The dog has a pair of boots to go with his "pooch suit" but he's saving them for really rough weather.

HE GOT UP TO WIN—The news-camera catches some dramatic moments in Mexico City's bull ring when Chano Ramos, a promising novice matador, had a close brush with death. In top photo, the bull charges just as Ramos attempts a "farol," a difficult cape movement while on his knees. Ramos was tossed and in center photo he crouches underneath the maddened animal as an attendant rushes to the rescue. In bottom photo, Ramos lies motionless in center of the ring. He rose and killed the bull. Judges awarded him one of the bull's ears—token of an exceptionally fine performance.

CHECKING ON THE RIND—Girl clerks in the Fort Worth (Tex.) National Bank help Larry Bomer count the $1,000 he recently got when he cashed a check written on a watermelon. Bomer hitch-hiked from Los Angeles with the melon as a stunt for a TV show.

FEARFUL EARFUL—Gerard Hoffnung, British cartoonist and bassoon player, prepares to push a note through this sub-contrabass tuba, at the risk of blasting his wife, Anita, to the ceiling. The six-foot, wheel-mounted monster is one of the instruments used in Hoffnung's Cartoon Concert in London. The concert blew off with a "Grand, Grand Overture" for orchestra, organ, rifles, three vacuum cleaners and a floor polisher.

IT'S ALL TOO, TOO MUCH—"Oh, my gosh!" shrieks three-year-old Peter Britstone, of New York City. "Do I HAVE to tell all these Santas what I want for Christmas?" Peter just happened to walk in during the annual pre-season briefing of the Volunteers of America Santa Clauses and was considerably confused by all the Kris Kringles he saw.

NURSERY APES—Two Biblically named, seven-month-old gorillas enjoy being comforted by their nursemaid, Mrs. Marian Voorhees, at Cheyenne Mountain Zoo in Colorado Springs, Colo. Rebecca, left, and her pal, Abraham, recently arrived from Africa. The zoo has the largest ape colony in the country.

On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
The suit preference signal should practically never be used on the first trick of a hand. Today's hand shows an exception to the rule.
West led the king of clubs, and dummy won with the ace. It was obvious that West had led a singleton, and it was equally obvious that East could not want to signal either encouragement or discouragement. In other words, East could not want to signal West to lead another club; nor could he want to signal West to refrain from leading another club.
The road was therefore clear for East to use a signal for a different purpose. He could play a higher club than necessary to indicate that his side entry was in a high suit; and he could signal by playing his lowest club in order to indicate that his side entry was in a low suit.

In this case, East played the deuce of clubs, thus signaling that East could gain lead in diamonds rather than in spades.
The signal was important. West got the lead by taking the first trump trick with his ace and then led a diamond. East took it with the ace and returned a club. West was able to ruff, thus defeating the contract. If West had led spades instead of diamonds, South would have won the trick and drawn trumps. The contract of five hearts would then have been fulfilled.
