Flu Closes Schools

Classes will be dismissed Thursday and Friday for Colorado City school students, with teachers to have an in-service training session Friday.

Colorado City and Loraine schools closed Tuesday and Wednesday because of the high percentages of absences caused by a viral form of flu.

Loraine had dismissed classes last Thursday and Friday for students, although teachers used the days for in-service training. The lay-off did not help Loraine's absences, as 31 per cent were absent on Monday when classes resumed and Supt. Tom Harkey said that he would try to determine the number of absences to expect Thursday, and if too many, then call off school for a few more days.

Absences in Colorado City schools were most numerous in Hutchinson and Junior High, 29 per cent absent at Hutchinson and 66 of 287 students absent from Junior High. Absences in all of the city schools amounted to 22.7 per cent Monday and are given by schools below:

Kelley, 28 per cent; Hutchinson, 29 per cent; Wallace, 24 per cent; High School 48 absent of 416 students and Junior High, 66 absent of 287.

Supt. Lloyd McKee said that Adult classes would be held as usual Thursday night.

Westbrook Supt. L. M. Dawson said that 25 per cent of the Westbrook students were absent Monday and 31 per cent absent Tuesday, but since Westbrook is a budget-balance school and does not receive state aid based on the number of students in daily attendance, that Westbrook would have classes as usual.

Alvarez Files For Election

Anastacio Alvarez has filed for election to the Loraine school board.

Positions held by Raymond Hackfeld and Hubert Meadows are up for election, April 6 and Alvarez is the only candidate to file so far. Hackfeld has said he would not seek reelection to the board and Meadows is undecided.

Alvarez's concern for community-wide education is the reason for his filing for election to the board. He said, "I like for the kids to be educated, as well as everyone else in the community."

He and his wife, Lydia, live on the place where he was born north of Loraine, the Linam place. They have 17 children, from age 2 to age 25, with nine children presently attending Loraine schools.

The five oldest children have graduated from Loraine High School; Anastacio Jr. attended 2 years of college and is presently foreman for Weeks Mobile Homes in Snyder; Daniel finished training in drafting courses at Sweetwater and is presently a draftsman in Houston; Sammy and Mary Ann are attending college at San Angelo State University and studying to be teachers and Dolores is married.

Robert, 18, will finish high school this year and plans to study electronics. The other children and their ages are David, 16; James, 15; Richard, 13; Mike, 12; Rene, 11; Margie, 9; Helen, 7; Pat, 6; Cheryl, 4; Charles, 4 and Joe, 2.

USDA Rules

No Disaster Payments On Leased Allotments

The United States Department of Agriculture has issued a new policy that prohibits disaster payments on leased or other temporarily transferred cotton allotments, the Record has learned.

No local officials have been informed of the ruling, although they have heard of rumors of such a ruling within the past few weeks.

This policy could be a severe blow to Mitchell County farmers who in the past have leased as much as 10,000 acres of cotton allotment from out of county.

This will be an especially hard blow to farmers as far as financing crops and should they not be able to plant due to the current drought situation.

Under conditions where farmers are unable to plant, they are able to receive federal disaster payments of 12.66 cents per pound (one-third of the 38-cent target price of cotton) times his 1974 payment yield, times his allotment acreage.

Under the new ruling, farmers would not be able to get any in the event of continued drought payment on leased allotments.

In addition, those who lease land or rent land could not depend on receiving any money for the use of their land, as most of those who rent or lease base payments for use of their land or allotment on the guaranteed target price.

It has been speculated that many Mitchell County farmers will plant as much or more cotton than ever before, provided there is sufficient moisture, and hope that the market for cotton this fall will be equal to or above the target price.

It has been speculated that the price for cotton this fall will be higher than for this past year which saw cotton prices soar to record highs.

Under the new USDA policy, there would be little advantage for a farmer to lease or transfer allotments. The only advantage would be to receive at least the target price of 38¢ but there is little doubt among those who know that the price of cotton will continue to stay high because of foreign demand for cotton.

This new ruling is also expected to have severe effects on those who have been leasing their allotments for many years. Many of those who lease their allotments are no longer equipped to farm their own allotments themselves.

One authority on the high plains stated that the decision to exclude temporary allotment transfer from disaster coverage reportedly was made to preclude the making of payments on acreage leased or reapportioned to farms where it is known in advance that planting will be prevented by flooding or other natural disaster.

It has been presumed that disaster payments could be made on allotments transferred through permanent, purchase agreements.

Also part of the ruling is that multi-crop farmers who plant cotton on abandoned winter wheat acres could not qualify for a disaster payment on wheat.

For a partial loss on a farmer's own allotment, it appears that the local ASCS office must take a 10-year average yield and compare it with the 1974 county average. Then they must take that amount off the farmer's yield to see if he has a loss.

Water Flows In Morgan Creek

Sandstorms and drought have not stopped Morgan Creek from supplying Lake Colorado City with water—at least not yet and with a little help from TESCO and CRMWD.

The initials stand for Texas Electric Service Company and the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Through a contractual arrangement between the two, 28 acre feet of water are being pumped into Lake Colorado City daily, 1,800 acre feet a year, amounting to 500,086,000 gallons of water a year.

The water is coming from Lake Spence via Moss Creek Lake to Lake Colorado City, flowing into the north end of the lake itself, or what would be the lake if the water level were up to normal.

John Martin, plant superintendent for TESCO at the Morgan Creek Plant, and O. H. Ivie, general manager of the CRMWD, explained the arrangements for delivery of the water.

When Lake Colorado City is down to a certain level, TESCO can ask for delivery of the water through a 21-inch pipeline extending from a salt water diversion reservoir known as Barber Lake. Barber Lake is located about 5 miles northwest of the city on the Colorado River and is used to divert highly mineralized water from the river.

The mineralized water is then pumped through the 21-inch pipeline to be used by three oil companies in secondary recovery operations or water flooding. The three companies are Sun Oil in Mitchell County; Walsh and Watts in west Mitchell and east Howard counties and Chevron Atlantic Richfield in the East Howard Field.

However, when the salt water diversion lake is below half capacity, the pipeline can be flushed to clear it of salt and then used to deliver the fresh water to Lake Colorado City.

The Foster Pump Station in west Mitchell County pumps water from Moss Creek Lake in east Howard County which comes originally from Lake Spence.

Martin and Ivie both explained that any water in the water district could be used, but since Lake Spence is at a high level, the water is coming from there.

Ivie said that 28 acre feet of water daily are being pumped through the line into the meeting point of Morgan Creek and the lake. Delivery at the rate of 28 acre feet per day would take 65 days to deliver the 1,800 required in the contract, said Ivie.

Martin explained that TESCO owns both Lake Colorado City and Lake Champion, sometimes pumping water from Champion into Lake Colorado City to keep the level up. By getting needed water through the water district agreement, water in Lake Champion can be reserved until a later time.

Ivie added, "The purpose of the contract is to insure that Colorado City has a dependable supply of water, as well as to insure that the power company remain in good condition as regards their water supply."

He added, "The present cooperative plan is a fine example of a governmental agency and industry working together for the good of the citizens of the West Texas area and there couldn't be more pleasant working conditions."

Concert To Be Held At Snyder High

The internationally renowned 1 o'clock Lab Band from North Texas State University will be presented in a jazz concert at 8 p.m. Friday, in the Snyder High School auditorium.

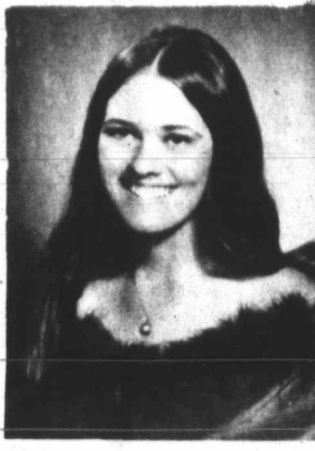

The band is under direction of Leon Breeden, director of the North Texas jazz lab band program since 1959. North Texas was the first school in the United States to offer the bachelor of music degree with a major in dance band, and the school now has 11 lab bands. The 1 o'clock Band is traditionally the touring group.

Lab bands from NTSU have received 38 national awards for bands and individual performers at national jazz festivals, and the quality of the training offered by the NTSU program is praised by professional musicians.

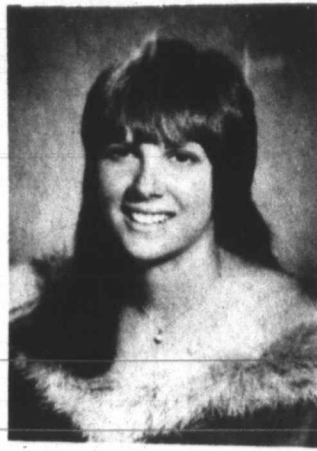

Some single admission tickets for the performance will be available at the door at a cost of $4 for adults and $2 for students. Season members of the Concert Association will be admitted upon presentation of membership cards.

Outstanding Teens Of America Chosen From Westbrook

Westbrook High School students have been selected as Outstanding Teenagers of America for 1974, according to M. F. Crawford, principal.

Selection for the Outstanding Teenagers awards program automatically qualifies these students for further state, regional and national honors and scholarships totaling $7,000. Local nominees are:

Joyce McKenney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex McKenney of Westbrook; Linda Ranne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E.

Ranne of Westbrook and Debbie Webb daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Webb of Westbrook.

Nominated by their principals, the Outstanding Teenagers of America are chosen from individual schools across the country for excellence in academic achievement and community service. The local students will now vie for the Outstanding Teenager of the Year Trophy to be presented by the state's governor. Similar trophies will be presented to the winners in other states. The state winners are selected by the Outstanding Teenager Awards Selection Committee, in cooperation with the Board of Advisors.

The 51 state winners will be eligible for awards totaling $7,000. One boy and one girl will be chosen for national scholarships of $1,000 each to be used at the college or university of their choice. Ten regional winners will also be selected from the remaining state winners to receive $500 regional scholarships.

Telephone Hook-ups

Increase

Despite recession clouds on the horizon, telephone growth in Colorado City is expected to remain healthy following a strong 1973, says Bill Gilliland, manager for Southwestern Bell.

"Telephones in the city total 4,300, a 5 per cent increase over 1972," said Gilliland. "That's part of 300,000 telephones gained statewide in 1973."

Gilliland said if the energy crisis doesn't cause a sharp decline in economic activity, "we may well need an 8 to 10 per cent increase in construction dollars for Texas in 1974 over what we spent in 1973. This year we'll be spending $10 million a week in Texas to expand and improve telephone service, all of which can affect telephone service in Colorado City."

Daily calls in Colorado City in 1973 exceeded 14,000, a 2 per cent increase over the previous year, Gilliland said.

Scouts Selling Tickets

The Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts of Colorado City are now in their annual ticket sales drive for the 1974 Scout Exposition to be held from 1 to 5 p.m. on March 16 in the County Barn just east of the National Guard Armory in Towle Park, Snyder.

Scouts from the Packs and Troops in Colorado City will be going door to door selling tickets. The money from the sales will go for Scouting in Colorado City, and the Pack and Troop will keep a large amount of what they sell for their individual expenses such as supplies, equipment and camp.

The Exposition is a yearly event which the local Scout units put on an exhibition of their interests in Scouting and ask everyone to come to see the displays. Exhibits from home made games and circus to Indians, fire building, and finger-printing will be on display. There will be something for every member of the family.

Tips to help you get more efficiency from your home heating system.

Insulation is important and can pay for itself by lowering your heating (and cooling) costs. You can save as much as 20% or more on energy consumption if your home is insulated to meet FHA standards. Engineers usually recommend a minimum of six inches of insulation for the ceiling, four inches for the outside walls and, if construction is pier-and-beam, two inches under the floor. Keep the filters clean. Dirty filters restrict air flow and cause the equipment to work harder and use more electricity.

A lower thermostat setting will result in less energy use. The setting of 65°-68° has been recommended for energy conservation. If you are going to be away, turn your thermostat down to a lower setting or turn it off unless freezing weather could damage plumbing and appliances.

Weatherstrip doors and windows to help seal in the heat you're paying for. Keep the damper tightly closed when the fireplace is not in use to prevent air leakage.

Rep. Martin's Protest Is Successful

West Texas electric co-operatives are being returned to equal status for gasoline and oil, following a protest by Rep. Elmer Martin of Colorado City.

The new even-handed treatment is revealed in a new report from the Federal Energy Office, which early in February, cut electric co-operatives in Texas back from 100 per cent of current gasoline and distillate needs to 100 percent of 1972 base volume.

This amounts to approximately a 20 per cent decrease in allocations for many of the co-operatives that distributed electricity to the oil fields, farms, ranches and rural industries in Rep. Martin's West Texas area.

However, U. S. Senator John Tower has notified the Colorado City legislator by telegram that the Federal Energy Office in Washington has now backtracked.

The Colorado High School Tennis team defeated Lamesa by a score of 11-3 Saturday in matches held here.

The boys team won 6-1. The girls team score was 5-2.

Players who earned a win in singles play were, Tony Love, Craig Carter, Chop Love, David Brownfield and Cheryl Sawyer.

Doubles play winners were Craig Carter and Chop Love on one team and Alan Marcom and Terry Culbertson on the other team.

The doubles team of Craig Carter and Chop Love are still undefeated after five dual matches.

Tony Love, a sophomore, also had a strong victory, beating Lamesa's number one player who did well in the district tournament last year.

The team will travel to Brownfield this week and next week Sweetwater will come here for matches to determine the winners of the round robin tournament between district teams.

The boys team is tied for first place with Sweetwater and Brownfield.

The team will go to San Angelo to play in a tournament Friday and Saturday, said tennis coach Ken Burnam.

ked, stating that the cutback was "an error" and that FEO allocations policy will be "amended to provide even-handed treatment" for the Texas electric co-operatives.

Rep. Martin aired his protest 10 days ago to the FEO and urged Congressman Omar Burleson and Senators Tower and Bennett to join the protest.

Martin based his protest on the fact that the FEO applied the cutback not to all electric systems but only to those using electricity generated by plants fueled by natural gas and fuel oil. Systems using electricity from hydroelectric and atomic energy powered plants were not ordered to decrease gasoline and oil use and were allowed to continue at 100 per cent of current needs.

All of West Texas electric power comes from natural gas and fuel oil-type generating plants.

The West Texas legislator also pointed out that the cutback, if allowed to stand, could hurt energy production instead of conserving energy because electric co-operatives in Martin's home area devote 60 per cent to business for the production, pumping, storage and transporting of oil.

"These electric co-ops don't have a fleet of limousines running around West Texas," Martin said. "The gasoline they use sends their crews to work to keep the electric systems working and crude oil flowing."
