Texas' "Boys In Grey" Say They Will Remain Rebs To The End

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 13 — Remnants of Texas' "boys in grey" stood behind their commander here today, refusing to join Union veterans at a Gettysburg reunion next summer unless they could march behind the unfurled "Stars and Bars".

"Unless we receive an invitation from the governor of Pennsylvania asking us to appear in uniform with our flag," said General N. B. Harless of Houston, commander of the Texas division and lieutenant-general of the Trans-Mississippi Confederate veterans, "we can't go."

The 92-year-old soldier who fought in the war between the states was not defiant. He said he favored a joint meeting. But, somehow the impression they were not welcome obtained among the dwindling ranks of the men who fought gallantly for a hopeless cause.

"They tell us we can't wear these old uniforms," the snowy-haired commander said, "and that we can't march behind our flag. Unless I hear differently from the governor of the state, we can't go. They know that."

Rebels to the last, the Texans lined up behind their commander and unless they are asked to appear in full regalia to totter proudly behind the "Stars and Bars" there will be no Texans in Gettysburg. And, of course, there'll be no rule against "rebel yells."

Roll call hurt. Many were absent, perhaps permanently. "I'm commander of my camp," said one. "I'm all that's left. As long as I live I'll answer for them."

In a hospital not 100 feet away rested twice as many as could attend. They were weighted too heavily

Volunteers In Italian Ranks Being Asked

(By The Associated Press)

Italian blackshirt leaders today asked for 50,000 volunteer militiamen to meet "emergencies" as the British cabinet considered a new approach in the Spanish intervention impasse.

Fascist officials in Rome denied that any of the volunteers were intended for Spanish service, but the British and French governments were known to be disturbed by recurring reports of further Italian intervention.

Seek To Avoid Clash

The two countries, however, seeking to avoid a direct clash with Italy, have yielded to Premier Mussolini's wish to have the London non-intervention committee handle the question. France agreed to this after stipulating that the negotiations must be swift and that Britain help her "equalize the balance" in Spain should the negotiations fail.

After the cabinet meeting in London, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain took the unusual step of calling the laborite opposition leaders into conference — a step which rarely occurs when parliament is not in session except in times of crisis.

Dispatches To Be Shown

Chamberlain was expected to take the laborite leaders entirely into his confidence and show them secret dispatches on both the Spanish and Sino-Japanese situations.

In Spain fierce fighting continued, especially on the northern front where the insurgents reported advances in their drive on Gijon. Insurgent and government sources reported more than 30 warplanes were brought down in a series of Columbus day sky battles.

Germany announced a non-aggression agreement with Belgium. British officials would not admit it, but it was known that the new Belgian foreign policy which scrapped the old defensive alliance with Britain and France had caused uneasiness in London.

Not In Germany

Informed circles in Berlin said Hitler desired to demonstrate to the world through the treaty that the

Guests Of Hotel Flee As Fire Sweeps Over Structure At Plains

(Special To The Journal)

PLAINS, Oct. 13—This crowded, mushrooming oil town was wholly without hotel facilities today following destruction by fire early last night of the rambling, 27-room Long hotel, central portion of which was one of the oldest structures on the South Plains.

Burned to the ground also was the incomplete but occupied frame and stucco office building of the Petty Geophysical company, situated near the hotel.

Apparently originating from the explosion of an oil stove in a bathroom of the hotel, flames spread so rapidly that practically nothing was saved by the 50 to 60 lodgers, most of whom were left with only the clothing they wore, according to information given this morning by Mayor T. W. Read.

Only heroic measures on the part of the townspeople, working in bucket brigades and using wet blankets and quilts, kept the fire from spreading to other nearby structures and endangering the entire business district. The hotel was situated at the edge and separated by a short open space from buildings on the town square.

While official estimates of property loss were entirely lacking this morning, unofficial opinion of pioneer residents was that it will be somewhere between $12,000 and $20,000. That, however, does not take into account the valuable records belonging to guests at the hotel, nor does it consider the phenomenal earning capacity of property of every type resulting from the oil boom which has gained greater momentum during the last two weeks than at any time since oil was discovered in the nearby Bennett pool two years ago.

Flames Spread Quickly

The hotel was operated by Mrs. Frances Smith and the property belonged to W. T. Trimble.

According to Mayor Read, the flames spread over the entire building within 15 or 20 minutes after the oil stove exploded. The structure was filled to capacity with guests, most of whom were employed on nearby oil operations, many of whom were absent at the time.

So rapid was the spread that few of those in the building had opportunity to save more than a few of their more valuable records and some of their personal belongings. Practically none of the furnishings could be reached.

Within a few minutes, the entire structure was enveloped and the business district seemed destined for destruction before townspeople could respond to the general alarm.

No Modern Equipment

The town is entirely without modern fire-fighting equipment, so bucket brigades first were formed in a futile effort to check the flames. They spread quickly to the Petty company office-building and

Harvesting In Texas Pushed

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 13 — Dry September aided cotton harvesting in Texas but corn felt the moisture deficiency.

The United States crop reporting board said the condition of corn Oct. 1 indicated a yield of 74,300,000 bushels, 2,500,000 less than forecast Sept. 1. The crop was poor in South Texas but better than last year in the north central and eastern districts and the commercial area in the southwest corner of the Panhandle had a good crop for the first time in several years.

Face Varied Prospects

Other crops faced varied prospects, the board said. Grain sorghum harvesting was completed or well advanced by Oct. 1 and production was forecast at 51,216,000 bushels compared with 31,711,000 last year.

Local rains in the rive belt delayed harvesting somewhat but a substantial increase in acreage seeded indicated a yield of 12,200,000 bushels, wel labove the average.

High temperatures and a rain deficiency for two months lowered prospective citrus fruit yields, the board said. Grapefruit was 59 per cent of normal, indicating a production of 8,200,000 boxes, 1,031,000 less than last year, and oranges, 65 per cent of normal, probably will aggregate 1,850,000 boxes, 150,000 less than the year before.

Pecan Harvest Good

Pecans looked to a bumper yield, 24,940,000 pounds, 14,540,000 more than last year.

Tame hay prospects declined slightly and was forecast at 901,000 tons, 47,000 below the Sept. 1 forecast at 901,0etaoin shrdlu shrdlu forecast but 86,000 above last year's yield.

The peanut yield, unchanged from Sept. 1 forecast, was 107,100,000 pounds.

Wounded Survivor Of Gang In Confession Tells Of Murder

BANGOR, Me., Oct. 13 (AP)—Captain Frank Foley of the Bangor police said today James Dalhover, wounded survivor of the G-men's ambush of the dread Al Brady gang, had confessed the band had slain three policemen.

State's Motion For Rehearing In Murder Case Is Overruled

AUSTIN, Oct. 13. (AP)—The court of criminal appeals today overruled the state's motion for rehearing the case of A. C. Ward whose conviction of accomplice to murder and 35-year sentence previously had been reversed and remanded.

Ward had been convicted as an accomplice in the explosion and fire in a Texarkana building which caused the death of J. H. Van Zan but the appellate tribunal said the statute dealing with unlawful burning of buildings resulting in the death of a human made no mention of punishment.

It held the case should have been tried on the general murder statutes to determine whether the murder was committed with or without malice.

Optical Illusions Created To Make Nose Appear Straight

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 13—Ninety-eight per cent of all women have a crooked nose, said Emile F. Martin today—a nose that "lists" slightly either to right or left.

So, explained Martin, who is president of the New York State Hairdressers' association, "an optical illusion" is required to make the feminine nose look straight.

The trick, he said, is to part the hair adeptly. If the nose veers to the right, have the part on the right by all means, sloping back to center.

Asked if men's noses have the same imperfection, Martin pondered, and said he didn't knok.

—"I've never studied men much."

The new styles in women's hairdress?

Martin, presiding at the association's annual convention, brightened.

"False hair!" he exclaimed, "worn as an ornament! a curl, to curls or a braid of false hair dyed to match a woman's gown

Extra Session Is Scheduled For Nov. 15

Swift Congressional Action On Five Measures Is Sought But Hints Of Controversy Heard

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 —President Roosevelt, ordering a special session of congress November 15, instituted a campaign today to enact by Christmas, if possible, the bulk of his legislative program sidetracked in the last session.

Administration officials expressed hope for swift congressional approval of five measures outlined by the chief executive last night in his tenth "fireside chat:"

Program Is Outlined

1. Crop production control legislation.

2. Wage and hour standards to "make millions of our lowest-paid workers actual buyers of billions of dollars of industrial and farm products."

3. Regional planning to conserve natural resources, prevent floods and produce electric power for general use.

4. Government reorganization to provide "twentieth century machinery" to make the "democratic process work more efficiently."

5. Stronger anti-trust laws in furtherance of "a low price policy which encourages the widest possible consumption".

Controversy Is Expected

The proposals foreshadowed bitter and perhaps prolonged controversy. The first four were left-overs from the session which ended in August, but the anti-monopoly recommendation was new.

Mr. Roosevelt characterized the program as one which the American people need immediately to provide prosperity.

"The kind of prosperity we want," he said, "is the sound and permanent kind which is not built up temporarily at the expense of any section or group."

First Since 1933

His speech followed by only five hours his dramatic announcement at a three-minute press conference that he was calling the first special session since the one he sum-

Japs Seek To Kill General

(By The Associated Press)

NANKING, Oct. 13.—High Chinese authorities tonight charged that the airplane machine-gunning of a British embassy automobile yesterday at Minghong was an attempt by Japanese to kill Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

Authorities tonight disclosed that the generalissimo, now is somewhere in the vicinity of Shanghai inspecting defense lines on that front.

On Road To Nanking

(Minghong, where three British embassy automobiles were fired on yesterday, without casualty to any of their occupants, is about 14 miles from Shanghai on the road to Nanking.)

Chiang left Nanking this morning but he originally intended to leave yesterday, the Chinese said, causing the Japanese to patrol the highway from the air in hope of killing the generalissimo.

Nanking, China's capital, was warned four times today, the last time near nightfall, by air raid alarms but no Japanese planes appeared. They were reported instead to have raided numerous towns along the Shanghai-Nanking railway. Details were lacking.

Sixth Woman Juror Is Seated In Murder Trial Of German

CINCINNATI, Oct. 13 (AP)—A sixth woman juror was seated tentatively today after Mrs. Anna Marie Hahn, 31-year-old German blonde, returned to a crowded courtroom for resumption of her trial on a murder charge.

The former housemaid is charged with the fatal poisoning of Jacob Wagner, 78-year-old acquaintance.

Man Facing Charges As Result Of Crashes With Five Parked Autos On Street Last Night

A 47-year-old man who assertedly drove an automobile which crashed into five parked cars in 1300-block Avenue H shortly after 10 o'clock Tuesday night had been transferred to county jail by police officials this morning, and will be charged today with drunken driving, said officials.

Owners of the automobiles, read ends of which were said damaged, were E. W. Pantel of Lubbock, owner of two, N. N. Goebel of Abernathy, A. A. Lindsey of Quanah, and E. McElroy, police reports showed.

O. E. Rush and Melvin Alvey of the police department investigated.

Goebel's car already had been struck once that night, he said. When driving eastward in about 200-block Broadway, his car was struck from the rear by an automobile driven by a 19-year-old boy, he told police.

A complaint charging a 34-year-old man with striking with his fist M. G. Wilson, employed by Lubbock hotel, was sworn to by Wilson and filed in corporation court. The defendant was to appear today.

20-year-old Plainview youth who drove an automobile which figured in an accident near Monroe Monday night was charged in Walter Davies' justice court with speeding in a complaint sworn to by Jack Reeves, highway patrolman. He was to be arraigned as soon as sufficiently recovered from minor in-

AFL Rejects Proposal Of Peace Conference

(By The Associated Press)

DENVER, Oct. 13.—American Federation of Labor leaders, sustained by an overwhelming vote of confidence from member unions, stood committed today to rejection of any proposals for ending organized labor's civil war which, in their opinion, were "dictated" by the rival CO.

A CIO proposal for a large "peace" conference was rejected scornfully as "insincere" by William Green, A. F. of L. president.

Green Makes Reply

Green's declaration came last night after he studied a telegram from the 32 unions of John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization, inviting the federation to send 100 peace negotiators to meet with a like group from the CIO.

The A. F. of L. head said he "assumed" he spoke for his executive council, upon which the duty of transmitting a formal reply rejecting the CIO offer, will fall. The council will meet following the close of the federation's convention, expected tomorrow.

Only a day before the CIO proposed the peace parley, the A. F. of L. convention voted by a majority of nearly 25 to one the authority asked by the council to expel "obstinate" unions which persisted in adhering to the CIO.

Howard Denied Seat

The convention voted to deny a seat to Charles P. Howard, CIO secretary and president of the International Typographical Union.

The vote to deny Howard a seat as a delegate from the printers union came while he was speeding eastward to take his place in the CIO meeting.

Anticipating the action, Howard left Denver while his case was being debated, leaving with reporters a statement labeling the attitude of Green and "his clique in control of the A. F. of L." as "reprehensible and cowardly."

Four-Way Legal Battle Over Green Estate Is Continued

DALLAS, Oct. 13 (AP)—A four-way legal battle for the right to tax the multi-million dollar estate of the late Col. E. H. R. Green resumed here today with former friends and associates of the railroad magnate spicing the testimony with anecdotes of the colonel's eccentricities.

Massachusetts, New York, Florida and Texas are seeking to establish the colonel's legal residence. Texas' claim that he resided at Terrell, if upheld, would net the state more than $5,000,000 in taxes on the $44,000,000 estate.

Middle-Aged Gunman Is Being Sought In Death Of Girl

MISHAWAKA, Ind., Oct. 13 (AP)—A middle-aged gunman, who cursed with a foreign accent, opened fire without warning and shot to death 16-year-old Melba Moore when she and two escorts stopped near here to aid a motorist apparently in trouble, Sheriff William Hosinski said today.

City police and county authorities immediately spread a dragnet for the assailant, but no trace of him had been found early today.

The shooting occurred on a lonely road near here late last night.

Increase Of 20 Per Cent For French Army Budget Asked

PARIS, Oct. 13 (AP)—An increase of nearly 20 per cent in the French army budget for 1938 was asked by Minister of National Defense Edouard Daladier.

The minister, in a tentative combination of the ordinary and extraordinary budget submitted to parliament for study, asked 12,900,000,000 francs (about $425,700,000) for next year, as compared with 10,900,000,000 francs (about $359,700,000) for 1937.

Nearly 10,000 men would be added to the land forces, which already number more than 650,000 in France and her colonies. This total includes mobile guards (militarized police.)

Slippery Pavement Is Blamed In Fatal Weatherford Crash

WEATHERFORD, Oct. 13 (AP) — Slippery pavement was blamed for an automobile collision here yesterday that was fatal to one person and injured two others.

E. J. Searle, 52, of Sacramento, Calif., was killed.

Mrs. Searle, William L. Meuser, also of Sacramento, and R. R. Holloway, of Longview, Tex., were injured slightly. L. F. Davis, of Longview, was unhurt.

Senate Group Sharpens Up Economy Ax

Consideration Of One Part Of Omnibus Bill Is Completed; Other Items Are Debated

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 13 — The proposal to raise approximately $10,000,000 in one bill taxing a number of sources again was the subject today for laudation and denunciation in the Texas house of representatives.

The senate, having approved a $5,000,000 reduction in current appropriations for state departments, sharpened its "economy" knife for additional pruning.

One Section Complete

After furious debate, the house late yesterday completed consideration of one section of the so-called omnibus bill, voting 71 to 67 an increase in the tax on sulphur from the present $1.03 a ton to $1.50.

Then it took up the oil section, which called for an increase in the levy on crude production from 2 3-4 per cent of value to 4 per cent. An amendment which would have fixed the rate at 3 per cent was rejected, 80 to 63.

The author of the amendment, Rep. Roy I. Tennant of Longview charged the issue in the legislature was not "humanity versus dollars," as enunciated by Governor James V. Allred, but "taxpayers versus taxeaters."

Burden Outside State

Advocates of the higher tax on oil replied the burden would be borne chiefly by persons outside the state, including those in warring countries, and Texas should not lose the opportunity to capitalize on its great resources.

The final action on the sulphur section was accompanied by adoption of a provision liberalizing the old age assistance law and allocating two-thirds of the revenue to such assistance.

In fact, since the house previously had rejected the $1.50 rate on sulphur, declaring originally for $1.28, the later reversal in sentiment was reasonably attributed to a coalition of old age pension liberalists and high-taxers.

Consider Each In Turn

Other sections of the bill would boost taxes on natural gas, carbon black and utilities and also place a tax on higher theater admissions. The order of business called for considering each in turn and then voting on the bill as a whole.

There were many of the opinion the bill had little chance of becoming law, regardless of what the house did, because less than two weeks of the special session remained and a powerful element in the senate had time as an ally.

Employes of departments quaked in their boots as the senate rammed through a bill lopping $4,875,932 from departmental appropriations for the biennium, but took heart in several matters which might block the measure.

Opinion Is Asked

One hurdle was upreared by Speaker Robert W. Calvert, who asked the attorney general's department for an opinion on whether the bill came within the governor's call for the session.

Another was the possibility of veto by the governor, who called the session for the sole purpose of raising revenue and had declined to open the matter of reconsidring appropri-

Cotton Grades Are Affected By Rainfall

Mercury Shrinks To 42 Here And Additional Moisture Is Noted; Light Sleet Hits

An elemental assault on two fronts this morning found the South Plains populace alternately shivering in temperatures 10 degrees above freezing—and casting worried glances toward skies ten-tenths clouded.

The mercury had shrunk to 42 degrees, additional rain had fallen and more was indicated by a wavering barometer.

Light sleet fell this morning.

Sharp North Wind

To aggravate conditions, a sharp 18-mile-an-hour wind was blowing out of the north.

Rainfall of .06 inch in the 12 hours after twilight Tuesday was reported by Municipal airport, making the three-day total 3.07 inches, that for the 13 days of October an even four inches.

A third-inch had been gauged at Texas Technological college, making the present rain spell's aggregate 2.48 inches. Experiment sub-station east of the city reported .3 inch over the preceding 12 hours, making for totals of 2.58 and 3.19.

Concern Is Lifted

Concern over the vast outlying sections of cotton and grain sorghums lifted somewhat in the backwash of announcements by farming authorities.

Don L. Jones, superintendent of the sub-station, state operated, was not pessimistic.

"There is a good possibility grade of cotton already opened may have been lowered and that grain sorghum heads may have been darkened and the grade lowered," he said, "but farmers from here and there over the surrounding farming belt indicate the fall has not been so general as first believed. Too, cotton dries out fast, and if sunshine and a bit of wind come farmers in some sections can get back into their cotton by late Friday, others not before Monday. That, of course, is barring further rain."

Most Cotton Not Open

Of concern to numerous farmers, however, is the fact most of the cotton has not opened and they definitely fear there will not be enough hot weather to fully mature the crop before the period when the first killing frost is due, about Nov. 2.

In the meantime, farmers did not neglect to provide themselves with available labor against the time when cotton pickers can be sent into their fields. Texas State Employment service, operating its own novel labor center near the fairgrounds, continued close watch of the situation. Tents and other dormitory facilities were being employed to prevent suffering and, at last check, none had been reported in dire circumstances.

No Flying At Airport

The barometer at 6:30 o'clock stood at 30.16 and the temperature at the airport was 44.5 degrees. Visibility was six miles.

"No flying out here," said an attache. "Even the birds are staying on the ground and walking."

Conditions at Lubbock mirrored those over most of the South Plains. Gray skies dripped and sagged. There was no indicated immediate respite from moisture.

CLOTHES ARE NEEDED

The cold snap brought out a seasonal demand for sleeping accommodations at the Salvation Army headquarters at 1922 Avenue G.

"The place was filled last night," he said, "fourteen persons sleeping here."

He said calls had been made for coats and that "men's shoes always are in demand. We generally have enough women's shoes. Sweaters are needed, and we could use some bed clothing. We will have heavy demands just as soon as the first frosts come."

Salvation Army's Annual Cash Drive Is Opened Here Today

The Salvation Army's annual drive to sustain operating expenses was "touched off" at 3 o'clock this morning at the Hilton hotel. Twenty-three members of the drive personnel began work after hearing an address by former judge Clark M. Mullican.

Mullican, reciting Biblical history, referred to modern times' responsibility to the poor, even as there was occasion for it in the days of John the Baptist and of Christ. He said the hungry were fed then and the poor clothed; and he called on drive workers to recognize the needs of today, just as they were then.

Three captains were promoted to the duties of majors giving them double duty. Those holding two posts are George Langford, Ben Eskridge and Newton Walton.

The object of the drive is $4,000 to be paid by contributors in monthly sums of $1 each, said Capt. John G. Churchill, corps commander.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Smith, who are leaving soon to make their home in San Angelo where Mr. Smith has accepted the pastorate of the Church of Christ, are being honored with a series of parties by members of the Broadway Church of Christ congregation, where he has been elder for several years.

An all-church party will be given within a fortnight.

Friday night Mesdames A. L. Scoggin and Joe Baldridge are entertaining with a dinner party in the Baldridge home at 2105 Seventeenth street as a courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

Entertain At Luncheon

Tuesday afternoon Mesdames W. C. Wood and J. C. Rigney entertained with a luncheon at the Mexican Inn, naming Mrs. Smith, whom they presented with a crystal perfume bottle, as honoree. Later the guests attended a picture show.

Guests were Mesdames Baldridge, Scoggin, S. L. Adams, D. C. Moser, J. J. Graham, Alex McDonald, Russell T. Smith, J. B. McCorkle, F. P. Young and E. L. Banks.

Last week several women of the church met at Mrs. Smith's home for a covered dish luncheon. They presented her with a handkerchief shower.

Miss Stewart Will Wed Hobbs Man

Mrs. Olen Stewart, 2008 Seventeenth street, entertained with an informal tea Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. R. Friend, 2005 Broadway, to announce the approaching marriage of her daughter, Miss Evelyn Stewart, to Holland Stewart of Hobbs, N. M.

Tea guests were met at the door by Mrs. J. Ray Dickey. In the receiving line were the bride-elect and her mother and Mr. Stewart's mother, Mrs. T. H. Stewart of Hobbs, his sister, Mrs. B. E. Yeager of Hobbs, and Mrs. L. O. Garlington of Littlefield. Mrs. James D. Shaw presided at the register.

Piano selections were played during the receiving hours by Mrs. Ivan Fowler of Littlefield and Mrs. M. E. Ware.

The tea table was covered with a lace cloth and set with a centerpiece of pink roses and pink tapers in silver holders. Mrs. G. O. Walker, who presided at the table, was assisted by Misses Marcella and Jean Ware and Addie Lee Terrell. Small scrolls bearing the announcements were plate favors.

Pink and orchid dahlias were other floral decorations in the house.

Books For Children Listed At Meeting Of Circle

Meeting at the home of Mrs. Joe Baldridge, 2105 Seventeenth street, members of the Sunshine circle of the Child Conservation league heard a program on children's books Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. L. C. Montgomery, leader, read an appropriate list of books for children from first grade age to late high school age and announced that copies of the list will be available at the next meeting to all the members.

Biography of the late Sir James Barrie was discussed by Mrs. Lewis Kittrell and the writer's "Peter Pan" was reviewed by Mrs. Ed Martin.

Mesdames Ben Eskridge, W. M. Ryan and D. R. Patterson were received as members. Others attending were Mesdames O. A. Terry, J. H. Brock, C. V. Sandlin, Clyde Tatum, V. H. Moore, C. C. Perryman, G. E. Dawson, J. T. Langford, Clay Anderson, J. C. Sanders and a Mrs. Pepper.

The hostess served an attractive refreshment plate. Pink rosebuds were favors.

Matrons Forty-Two Club Is Entertained Here Tuesday

ANTIOCH, Calif. — An advertisement for "boys to dig" plus a dime apiece to a crew of neighborhood boys netted Mrs. Rose Giovanni $6,000.

Mrs. Giovanni, fearing "bank moratoriums" in 1933, buried the money in a tin can in her basement. Unable to find it in two days' digging, she advertised.

The boys tore up the basement and unearthed the money in short order.

A New One

BUFFALO, N. Y.—George B. Melrod was booked in police court on a reckless driving charge but Patrolman Walter G. Maul said it was a new offense—three-wheeling.

He testified he arrested Melrod for driving a mile and a half through city streets at 30 miles an hour with the right front wheel missing from his car.

"I didn't know it could be done," commented Judge Robert J. Summers as he set the case for trial Thursday.

East Street!

COLUMBUS, O. — They are going to burn up a city street to keep relief clients warm this winter.

City council voted to turn over to relief headquarters for fuel more than 150,000 creosote-impregnated wooden paving blocks torn up from a street where an old bridge was replaced.

Steve Brodie

SAN PEDRO, Calif. — Fye Rogers, 36-year-old truck driver, was knocked 50 feet by an interurban train. He fell 20 feet from a trestle. An emergency hospital reported his injuries as:

First Aid

COVINGTON, Va., — A bread truck, crashing into an electric wire pole in a heavy fog, summoned assistance for its driver, trapped in one crack-up.

The truck snapped a wire and automatically turned in a first aid alarm.

The driver, Roy Beazley, grinned at the fire department ambulance which drove up as he succeeded in extricating himself from the wreckage.

Finders Keepers

McCALL, Idaho—Barber Shirley Innglebretzen led 50 treasure hunters in a search under a 170-foot 19th century hotel boardwalk.

The searchers sifted $35 in quarters, nickels, dimes and pennies.

Extreme Penalty

BLUFFTON, Ind. — Anxious to get a meal underway, Mrs. Rufus Glendenning rang a dinner bell so vigorously she broke her arm.

The wire on the bell parted. She fell over backwards, her arm striking a bucket.

For Art's Sake

MARYVILLE, Mo. — Mary McCormic changed her mind—and almost had to sleep in a hotel lobby.

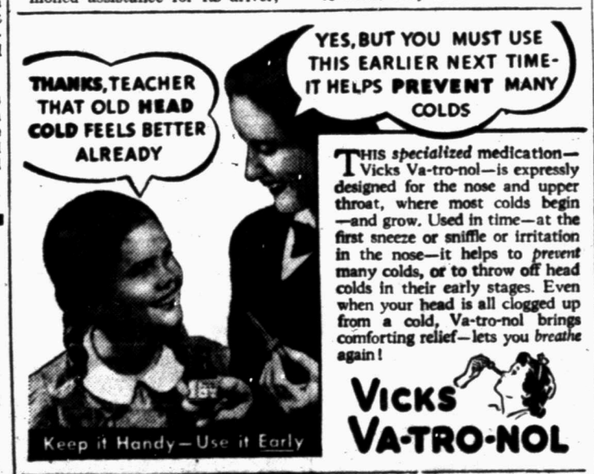

"I'm goose pimply," she moaned when Manager Bo Krofta told her the hotel was full. "Where is your chivalry? Please, a room for art's sake."

Krofta set up a bed in a vacant room for the singer, who decided at the last minute to remain overnight after a concert. But Miss McCormic's manager, Anton Miller, had to sleep in a chair in the lobby.

Their First Million

SAN FRANCISCO — "Step right up, ladies and gents! Grab hold of this million dollars! Feel it, hold it in your hands for only one dime—the tenth part of a dollar!"

That's the kind of concession a group of San Franciscans wants to operate at the 1938 Golden Gate international exposition. It proposes cashing in on the fact that few persons have seen $1,000,000 and the hope that enough would pay a dime to boast they had.

Five Culture Clubs Meet On Tuesday

Despite the inclement weather Tuesday, afternoon meetings of federated study clubs were well attended.

Twenty-five members of the Lubbock Woman's Forum were guests of Mesdames R. W. Badger, Clem Boverie and H. J. Bingham in the home of Mrs. Badger's mother, Mrs. A. W. McKee, 1812 Fourteenth street.

An interesting program on Mexico was presented under leadership of Mrs. Gradie W. Bownds. H. C. Pender, associate professor of government at Texas Technological college, discussed "International Good Will and Politics of Mexico" and A. B. Strehli, assistant professor of foreign languages at the college, talked on "Folk Lore of Mexico." Jack York played a marimba solo.

The hostesses served coffee and cream puffs from a dining room table which was covered with a lace cloth and centered with assorted flowers.

In Needles Home

Seventeen members of the Athenaeum club met in the home of Mrs. B. E. Needles, 1811 Eighth street, for a program on "The New England Tradition" led by Mrs. R. A. Tynes. The president, Mrs. M. L. Shepherd, conducted a short business discussion.

Members answered roll call with names of early American writers. Mrs. Tynes read a paper on "Puritan Traditions and Customs" and Mrs. Needles read a paper on "Colonial Manners and Dress."

The hostess served refreshments.

Twenty-One Attend

Twenty-one Sorosis club members met in the home of Mrs. Allen T. Stewart, 2318 Broadway, to hear Mrs. R. S. Williams review "Family Style" (Baker), a new Texas novel. Roll call was answered with "A Book I Have Enjoyed."

Miss Dysart Talks

Miss Bonnie K. Dysart, associate professor of education and psychology at Tech college, gave the second of a series of four lectures on psychology at a meeting of the Junior Twentieth Century club in room 201 of the college engineering building. She discussed the psychology of personality. Her next two lectures before the club are scheduled for October 26 and November 9. Twenty-five members were present.

Drama Discussed

One of the most interesting programs of the afternoon was Mrs. Allan L. Carter's discussion of "Phases of Modern Drama" at a meeting of the Twentieth Century club Tuesday afternoon at Hotel Lubbock.

Mrs. Carter, a member of the club, briefly discussed the history of drama to show why early drama was idealistic and explained causes of realism in modern drama which, for the current type of readers and theatergoers, is better expressed in prose.

Needle Guild Luncheon Is Served In Harper Home

Mrs. Arch Harper, 2017 Ninth street, entertained for the 1937 Needle Guild, a new sewing club, Tuesday afternoon. A covered dish luncheon was served at a table laid with pottery and lighted with candles.

The club decided to elect officers at the next meeting.

Attending were Mesdames R. U. Robinson, Keith Smith, Carl Killman, Marvin Parr, Charles Hayes, Freeman Shell, Renford Taylor, Louie Shell, Sidney Randals, J. W. Stalcup, H. C. Bruckner and Homan Arnett.

Mrs. Berry Receives Honor From Legion Auxiliary

Mrs. W. L. Ezell, state president of the American Legion auxiliary, has appointed Mrs. George S. Berry, 1803 Twentieth street, as chairman of the emblems, trophies and awards committee in the state organization.

Mothers Club Will Be Host Tonight

Honoring Superintendent and Mrs. W. B. Irvin and the high school faculty, the Senior High Mothers club is entertaining with a reception in the home economics rooms and corridor tonight from 7 until 9 o'clock. All parents of high school students are invited to attend.

Members of the entertainment committee feared today that the cold, damp weather would tend to encourage staying indoors and they stressed the early receiving hours and opportunity for parents to meet the new superintendent and become acquainted with their children's teachers.

In charge of arrangements for the affair are Mesdames H. D. Woods, A. N. Gamble, G. P. Kuykendall, H. L. Allen, C. E. Maedgen, T. R. Prideaux and W. E. Humphries.

The Mary-Emma club will serve refreshments and music will be furnished by the high school orchestra, directed by Miss Beulah Dunn

Pioneer Club Luncheon Held Tuesday Is Annual Affair

Members of the Pioneer club attended an annual luncheon at the home of Mrs. George C. Wolffarth, 2304 Broadway, Tuesday afternoon. The meal was served at attractively appointed foursome tables. An abundance of flowers were used in decorations throughout the house.

A feature of each annual luncheon, old-time reminiscences were the main part of the entertainment.

Special guests were Mesdames Oscar Boyd, Eastin Wolffarth, Sylva Wheelock, Clara Abney, R. Q. Pierce, R. I. Tubbs, W. S. Norton of Portland, Ore., W. A. Bacon, Carl Roberds and Albert Taylor.

Members attending were Mesdames R. A. Barclay, W. J. Harris, F. V. Brown, Lottie B. Hilton, Mary F. Hinton, J. P. Posey, L. A. Posey, L. D. Rankin, Sue McMurry, H. O. Waters, Anna Parks, George R. Bean, Pebble Talley, P. B. Penney, F. B. Barclay and Ed Vaughn.

Jolly Dozen Club Meets In Campbell Home For Party

Jolly Dozen Forty-Two club members were the guests of Mrs. W. W. Campbell when she entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. P. Garvin, 1711-A Fourteenth street. Three tables were in play.

The house was decorated with fall flowers.

Guests were Mesdames H. B. Adams, J. B. McCauley, C. M. Mitchell, R. C. Odom and G. B. Walden. Members attending were Mesdames Solon Clements, E. B. Harris, H. W. Sims, R. Bush Smith, Erle Thompson and W. C. Rylander.

American "Beauty"

Anita Louise, a perfect beauty . . . one of the few women in the world to whom the term "perfect beauty" is truly applicable. Hair like pale golden honey, skin so clear and pink and ivory that it seems transparent, eyes blue, mouth full and red, teeth even and pearly white. In fact, although it's hard to believe that one can be too pretty for the movies, Miss Louise's flawless beauty often keeps casting directors from considering her for dramatic character roles.

Painters' Auxiliary Is To Serve Family Soup Supper

The woman's auxiliary to the painters' union will entertain with a family soup supper Monday, October 18, at 6:30 p. m. at Mackenzie State park.

Plans were made at a meeting of the auxiliary with Mrs. Buel Hall, 2111 Twenty-first street, Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Fay Price as hostess.

Attending were Mesdames H. H. Jons, U. S. Allen, Lloyd Hamilton, Jesse Hall, O. H. Allen and Ed McNeill.

Lewelling-Beeland Wedding Is Being Announced Here

Mrs. Sallie Loveless, 424 Avenue M, is announcing the marriage of her daughter, Miss Muriel Beeland, to J. J. Lewelling, jr., son of John J. Lewelling, 1419 Sixth street, which took place in Clovis, N. M., on September 5. After a brief visit with the bridegroom's mother in Rotan, the couple will be at home in Lubbock.

Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Hall and daughter are spending several days in Midland, where Dr. Hall has business interests.

Cake Show And Tea To Be Held Here

Each home demonstration club in Lubbock county will be represented at a cake show and tea to be held at Hotel Lubbock on October 20. Details for the social will be announced this week-end by Miss Clara Pratt, home demonstration agent.

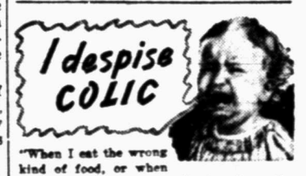

When members of the Monroe club met with Mrs. W. B. Dillard Monday afternoon plans were made for each woman to bring a cake to the home of Mrs. A. L. Faubion by October 19. The cakes will be taken to the hotel by Mrs. John McGuire and Mrs. Dick Norman. Mrs. McGuire demonstrated the making of pudding after the business session.

Attending were Mesdames H. W. Pate, a guest, Ethel Johnson, a new member, and John Harrell, Dick Norman, K. P. Shannon, W. O. Fortenberry, McGuire, Faubion and Raymond McNeely.

Cooper Club To Enter Two Exhibits In Contest

Selection of linens for the bed was the subject discussed by Miss Clara Pratt at a meeting of the Cooper Home Demonstration club Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. A. B. McClure. Each member brought a jar of fruit and of vegetables which were judged by Miss Pratt. The best ones, put up by Mrs. A. B. Allen and Mrs. E. J. Jennings, will be entered in a county-wide contest to be conducted at a monthly council meeting in the district courtroom on October 30.

Refreshments of pudding and coffee were served to 10 members and one visitor, Mrs. Amon Abbott of Oklahoma.

"When I eat the wrong kind of food, or when my stomach turns sour, I often have the worst colic pains. And do I yell! But my mama is a smart mama and she gives me Teethina, because Teethina is a mild, gentle laxative. It cleanses my tiny bowels of irritating waste. This relieves my pain and relaxes me too, and I'm all set to go back to sleep. Teethina tastes good and you get twelve powders for only 30c. All little babies like me also need Teethina for temporary constipation and for loose bowels caused by a faulty diet." TEETHINA.

Valuable Stamps Are Found In Collections In Lubbock; Odd Varieties Have Been Gathered

BY EVA ZOB WATKINS
Journal Staff Writer

It's stamps instead of mitts, gloves or tops that the kids at school trade these days. And the shrewd little traders talk a language all their own when they are driving bargains—"a block with a plate number" for "a revenue stamp with a signature" or a "Capu of Good Hope triangle for a Columbus commemorative issue."

Invariably the youngsters have maps around them galore as they explain values, perforation gauges, methods of bringing out watermarks and other things foreign to the non-collector.

Has Excellent Collection

Billy Jackson, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Jackson of 2515 Twenty-second street, has an excellent collection for a beginner. He says he has bought many of his stamps. They come in packets at a variety store. Then he and a "bunch of other kids at Junior High school" who also save their nickels to buy stamps instead of ice cream cones "swap out".

Billy says he is fortunate in having friends who travel and who ask him, before they leave, what place he wants them to write from. Miss Jonnie McCrery, of Texas Technological college, and who travels extensively, has sent him any number of stamps from Australia and European countries.

Not the most valuable stamps in his collection, but the ones which gave him the biggest thrill to come in possession of, are four Canadian stamps—in a block and with a plate number. When in Canada last summer, Billy went to a postoffice and called for a "block of four stamps". The clerk started to give him the stamps when the postmaster, who had "overheard" waited on Billy. "He knew when I called for a block I was a collector, so he gave me stamps with a plate number."

Valued At $50,000

Along with the device for bringing out watermarks, boys have packets of hinges with which the stamps are properly mounted into albums, and catalogues listing issues. They eagerly show the novice a picture of the most valuable stamp listed in the catalogue—a one-cent British Guiana, magenta, issued in 1856, owned by one Arthur Hines, and valued at $50,000. They also point out that in catalogues no American stamp is pictured in its entirety and stamps from other countries have lines through them. An exception is a catalogue issued by the postoffice department of the government which shows whole stamps. No company may issue such a book, however.

Billy Jackson has a number of stamps from Ethiopia which he expects to increase in value, for stamps no longer are issued in that country. An interesting stamp is that issued by Belgium, a commemorative, which looks very much like a photograph, instead of a stamp, of the late Queen Astrid and in honor of her.

A Genuine Collector

It wasn't an electric train under the Christmas tree that T. C. Root became interested in, but a stamp album he bought for his son for a Christmas present two years ago. The son's interest lagged, but Root has become a genuine collector. He specializes in United States stamps. Recently he traded a youngster 50 stamps for one—a Columbian exposition commemorative—which he did not have. A stamp of interest to collectors now, and which will increase in value, is the coronation issue in England, said Root.

One of the most valuable stamp collections in this area is that owned by Dr. Henrie Mast and his mother, Mrs. Clarence S. Mast. The collection was begun by Dr. Mast's grandfather, Henrie E. Buck of Ohio. It contains stamps from practically every foreign country in the world, many countries that no longer are on the map, stamps issued by Free Cities that no longer are free, stamps issued by private companies before the United States government began issuing them, and all kinds of revenue stamps.

Among the most interesting are stamps from gold mine stock, 24 cent air mail stamps issued recently now worth $1 because of the few issued at the time, stamps issued for a whole wagon load of wine, a Wells Fargo Pony Express stamp (and postage rate for the pony express was 50 cents an ounce), a stamp issued by a private company —Blood's Penny Post of Philadelphia, a $1,000 stamp taken from a deed and canceled by a signature, and alongside it, a 1-8 cent revenue stamp.

Is Practically Complete

The Mast collection of early American stamps, from the first issued in 1847, is practically complete. The commemorative issues also are nearly complete. A special delivery issued in the 90s shows a boy, in a striped suit, riding a bicycle with huge wheels and apparently going at breakneck speed.

An album of the collection is devoted to covers, or envelopes. Civil war covers are highly decorated with poems, slogans, and almost entirely covered with flags or pictures. Others are very lacey and addressed in a highly decorative, flowing, curving, handwriting.

One album in the collection of perhaps a dozen is valued at $5,000. The book is perhaps four inches thick, and 15 inches square.

R. B. Fairly keeps many of the stamps in his collection indexed, in glassene envelopes, and locked in steel boxes. He has done this since mice got into his stamps in 1915 and destroyed many of them while he was away in Alaska. Fairly, whose most valuable stamps are Confederate ones, says the United States sells approximately $800,000 worth of stamps to collectors annually and these stamps are never used.

Among the collectors here are Ralph Doughtie, Clarence Rollo, Ben Eskridge, H. D. Woods, Fred Fairly, Thord Dockray, W. C. Wood, Knox Thomas, Arthur Yaggy, J. C. Reynolds, N. H. Holt, Charley Adams, Howard Hughes, Franklin Brown, Billy Martin, and M. A. Pembers and Klattenhall of Slaton.

Farmers Talk Of Problems

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 13. (AP)—Development of rural leadership is the most important task facing agriculture today, in the opinion of 160 state agricultural leaders who expressed themselves here Tuesday.

Dr. T. O. Walton, president of Texas A. & M. college, had asked for suggestions on the college's agricultural activities.

From a mass of suggestions, Doctor Walton said, the institution hopes to develop a series of general objectives such as the live-at-home policy sponsored during the depression. Walton said that American agriculture would do well to set up general objectives rather than programs.

Chart Is Studied

Assembled here for a one-day conference, the representatives of virtually all agricultural organizations in the state, studied a 10-point chart showing the college's current activities through its extension service.

"Ignorance is the greatest problem of Texas farmers today," said J. T. Maxwell, Lamar county farmer, and his thought was echoed by numerous speakers, including Congressman Marvin Jones of Amarillo, chairman of the house agricultural committee.

"It isn't proper for the government to give people anything except an opportunity," said Jones. "The people must work out their own salvation. But it is fair to make restitution for something taken away from them by a tariff thrust on them during the past 100 years, and helping the farmer is not giving him anything but only restoring something that has been taken away from him."

J. E. McDonald, state commissioner of agriculture, discussed his domestic allotment agricultural plan.

Invisible Glasses Now Being Offered

Hunters, swimmers, actors, automobile drivers, and lecturers wear "invisible" glasses but not in Lubbock.

These contact lens are not the newest thing on the market, having been invented in 1827, but they are lifesavers to women who think wearing glasses add to their age.

The novel lenses are small and saucer-shaped and can be worn in direct contact with the eye, from four to eight hours without being removed. They are most useful in cases of "cone-shaped cornea, scors of the cornea, high degrees of astigmatism and in high refractive errors." Actors and speakers not wishing to appear wearing glasses often wear them.

Lying in a protected position, just beneath the eyelid, they have never been known to give injury to the eye and, in at least one case, served as a protection. The danger of breaking these lenses is practically nonexistent but if dropped on the edge they will break. They do not frost over and can be easily inserted and removed.

TO ATTEND LIVESTOCK SHOW

SUDAN (Special) — Arnold Hardin and Newton Goodwin have been chosen to represent agriculture boys of the Spring Lake chapter at the American Royal livestock show at Kansas City Oct. 18. The chapter also has decided to put two booths in the Halloween carnival, in the Spring Lake gymnasium Oct. 29.

Practical Experience For Tech Students Is Given

Practical experience in institutional management is being given students in that class at Texas Technological college, according to Miss Mozelle Craddock, head of the department of institutional management.

The girls plan menus for the dormitories, study menu costs, learn which cuts of meat to buy, how to save time and money in the preparation of food, and supervise students who work in the kitchens. They discover remedies for the problem of wasted food value and learn which grades of foods are the most economical.

Teas and parties are served by the students for extra work, and Lubbock hospitals cooperate in letting them observe and assist in the operation of the kitchens. Their Laboratory periods of students aggregate six hours each week, and members are paid for over time services.

Central Park, in New York City, is one of the best places in the United States for studying migratory birds.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c. —Adv.

Push-Over For Arizona?

By Collier Parris

FOR SOME MONTHS we have anticipated a main event grappling match between Victor Weber of New York and Buck Lipscomb of Indianapolis. Tonight it comes.

Vic has been looking rather good lately, especially in the finish. He fools around a lot, too much, and he ducks his head when he ought to have it up and looking around to see what's going on. But he has the "staying" power.

Taking a long chance, we'd say that Vic will outsmart the hard-headed Hoosier tonight. Whether he can outlast the Lipscomb is another question, but this is a special pep talk from the fans and from this corner to the New York Dutchman, because neither the fans nor this corner like any part of Lipscomb and they hope he never comes up from the punch they hope Weber delivers.

UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA, for the first time in history, possibly is pondering: "What's the point in making the long, tiresome trip to Lubbock this week? Why take a chance, in a scrimmage with Texas Tech, on getting injured? It's 'in the bag,' so why play the game at all?"

And, looking at it from the standpoint of what has gone on before, one is sorely tempted to side with that possible pondering. Arizona's Wildcats, scheduled to play Texas Tech here Saturday night in a Border conference game, has looked good and has played great guns in its two early games, winning both of them. Texas Tech, on the other hand, looked rather ill in its first game, played fine football against University of Texas and University of Montana, winning the first, losing both the latter. In its fourth game the Techs looked exceedingly bad, going down to its worst defeat in seven years, while Arizona, playing its second game, looked very good indeed.

It is not surprising, then, that Arizona expects rather easy going here Saturday night. The Wildcats are favored, something like 10 to 1, if football odds ever get that one-sided. Tech is decidedly the underdog.

Looking back, and comparing notes, it is indicated that the Tech team played over its head in the Texas and Montana games—also that it played about 75 per cent under its true speed at Detroit last Saturday.

Arizona, on the other hand, has a team that so far has played balanced football, knocking off the Arizona Teachers of Tempe in the opener by a comfortable margin, taking out Oklahoma A. and M. last week by a touchdown.

Line Coach Dutchy Smith and Freshman Coach Berl Huffman scouted the Arizona-Oklahoma Aggie game, and they brought home a lot of dope. Smith was watching Arizona, Huffman was taking notes on Ted Cox's Aggies, who entertain the Techs on Oct. 30 at Stillwater.

We shall consider Smith's scouting notes first:

Leading, 15 to 13, with 90 seconds to play, Arizona watched Broach of Oklahoma Aggies miss a field goal by inches, which would have given the Aggies a 16-15 lead. Broach's try, from the 38-yard line, hit the cross bar and bounced back. Fearing another threat, Arizona poured on the power. "Rattlesnake" Jackson plunging off tackle and running 63 yards to the Aggie 5-yard line, from where, on the next play, he went to a touchdown, winning the game for Arizona, 22-13.

The game was played in Phoenix, and the Arizonas were extremely anxious to make a hit in the capital city. They did. Sports writers credited Tex Oliver with having the best team in Arizona history. Dutchy Smith's notes say the Wildcats are as strong as, but no stronger than, the 1936 Wildcat team which held Tech to a 7-7 tie.

Going into personalities, Smith's notes put particular emphasis upon one Bronko Smilanich, a 171-pound halfback who is being boosted in Arizona for All-America mention. Coach Tex Oliver, who knows football players when he sees them, told Dutch that Smilanich is better than Cotton Warburton of Caalifornia, Bobby Wilson of S. M. U. and Ernie Nevers of Stanford, if such a thing is possible. He is not as powerful a runner as Milt Popovich of Montana, who strutted his stuff here not so long ago, but he is a shiftier runner, more elusive to tackles, a "hip-twister" who challenges the opposition to tackle him.

"Long Tom" Greenfield is Arizona's center, and Dutchy has this person down in second place in his notes. He's a man to be watched, Smith says. He stands 6-feet-3 and weighs 200, and is plenty good. Smith took pains to note a certain left tackle, named Rogers, who was "best in the line."

Moving back to the backfield, the report insists that Rattlesnake Jackson, mentioned above, is a definite threat. Local fans will recall that it was Jackson who, as a sophomore, caught the pass from Quarterback Ted Bland that gave Arizona a victory over Tech in the 1935 game payed here. The "Snake" is a senior now, and full of this and that, plenty good.

The pride and joy of the Arizona backfield, however, is big Walt Neilson, who weighs 225 pounds and who plays fullback, and who is practically always good for a first down when a first down is most desirable. Walt stands 6 feet, 4 inches high, and does his dirty work straight through the line. He's the problem for Center Frank Guzick, Guards Pete Owens and Lou Jones, and if these boys aren't on their toes, Mr. Neilson will go considerably farther than five yards.

Arizona specializes in speed, power and cunning. As a sideline, it seeks to provide color for the fans; color comes in the brilliant blue and white uniforms, and in the manner in which the team conducts itself on the field. Oliver uses the better parts of three systems in his attack, sometimes sending his team from the Notre Dame style, again from the short punt, now and then from a wing back set up. One never knows. He uses a lot of reserves, and he has them on hand. There is a special shift the Arizonas use, called by scribes in Arizona the "Oliver Twist," from which the backfield may assume a standard Rockne formation or a short punt. The attack featurcs spins, single and multiple, and a lot of deception.

Texas Tech may be able to cope with the situation—but from one who saw the debacle at Detroit last Saturday afternoon, it is doubtful.

Let it be said, however, that it should be a good game, well worth watching, because Texas Tech has to move some way, and the only way is forward. It could not go any farther backward than it did last Saturday.

"Interference" Helps Texas

Peterson (27), Texas university end, jumped in a desperate effort to catch a pass in the Texas-Oklahoma 7-7 tie game at Dallas, but his arm was struck by Huddleston of Oklahoma and the referee ruled the 30-yard pass complete.

All-America Ballyhoo Starts For Nebraska's Big Center

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 13—All-America ballyhoo for Charley Brock, Nebraska center, is originating in—of all places—Minneapolis . . . They say he is just what the doctor ordered. . . . Sad faced gent on the left is Cousin Egbert Barrow, business manager of the Yanks, who is just about to begin the painful task of refunding $180,000 in World series reservations . . . Ouch! . . . Speaking of guys who are no slouches out there on that gridiron, how about Crowell Little, North Carolina quarterback? . . . He is just about tops.

Strain of winning two baseball titles in one week was a little too much for Col. Jake Ruppert . . . He'll raise Joe McCarthy's salary until it at least equals Bill Terry's $40,000 per; then hit the grit for French Lick, Ind., to get in shape for winter salary battles with Messrs. Gehrig, DiMaggio, Ruffing, Gomez, et al.

Bob Quinn, president of the Boston Bees, will find plenty of mail on his desk when he gets back from his vacation . . . Beantown fans are steamed up. . . . What they want to know is if Cincinnati can afford to pay a smart old bird like Bill McKechnie $22,500 per; why can't Boston? . . . Believe you us, the pippul are speaking their minds up there. . . . Back in his vacation retreat, Mogul Quinn is trying to decide between Donie Bush and Tony Lazzeri . . . Another possibility is Gabby Hartnett, but the Bees might run into trouble getting him away from the Cubs.

Oklahoma City Spreads Out A Welcome Mat For Golfers

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 13 (AP)—Oklahoma City spread out the "welcome" mat today for 16 top-notch professional golfers who will pair off in two-man teams tomorrow for the opening round of four days of bombardment in the first annual $5,000 four-ball tournament.

Johnny Revolta of Milwaukee, who won the national P. G. A. title here in 1935, was among yesterday's arrivals. So were Tommy Armour, Dick Metz, Bill Burke, Jimmy Thomson, Ed Dudley and Horton Smith.

The field will be completed today with the arrival of Ralph Guldahl, National Open champion; Jimmy Hines, Paul Runyan, Ray Mangrum, Ky Laffoon, Lawson Little and Harry Cooper.

Officials announced each team will share in the prize money. First prize will be $1,200.

Other team prizes will be: second, $900; third, $700; fourth; $600; fifth, $500; sixth, $450; seventh, $300, and eighth $250, with a special prize of $100 going to the team turning in the lowest 18-hole score.

Weather Puts Damper Upon Grid Spirits

Old Man Weather inserted his unwelcome appearance at Texas Tech's athletic campus yesterday, driving the gridders indoors just when they most needed the help of clear, dry weather and an abundance of outdoor practice.

The natural dampness of the situation was in proportion to the beclouded atmosphere that hangs over Tech's gridiron department following last Saturday's tragic episode at Detroit. The Red Raiders, coaches and players, were beginning to shake off that "sick" feeling and shrug off the blues, taking into consideration the job ahead.

Arizona Heavily Favored

University of Arizona's big Wildcats come to the stadium Saturday night for a quite important Border conference contest. The Arizonas, quite naturally, are top dogs in this event. They proved their own power by defeating a very classy Oklahoma A. & M. team last Saturday, and no doubt gained considerable confidence from Tech's monstrous defeat on the shore of Lake Erie.

There is every reason to believe, however, that the Red Raiders will come back with a more spirited and more effective manner of football this week. Certainly they could look no worse. There's only one way for them to go, and that is forward. The attitude, even in cooped-up indoor workout yesterday, indicated a return to something like form.

Their practice field a lake, the playing field a soggy mess, the Red Raiders donned soft shoes and worked out in "civvies" for an hour or two yesterday afternoon in the gymnasium. It was poor substitute for a general, hard workout that should have been the order on the field, but it was better than no workout at all. Coach Cawthon, accepting the circumstances with a grin, seemed more or less restored to his normal attitude when the workout was over. The spirit of the gridders pleased him.

"They can't look that bad again, no matter how lousy they play," he said, recalling the Detroit game, then immediately forgetting it. "They'll do an about face this week, I am sure. I do not think we have the natural ability, however, to play Arizona a real close game."

Line Coach Dutchy Smith scouted Arizona in its victory over the Oklahoma Aggies Saturday, and came home with lots of "dope." He was immeasurably impressed with the Wildcats, saying they are every bit as good as they were last year, and possibly a little better. It's a veteran team, in nearly all positions, that Coach Tex Oliver is bringing here, and a team that specializes in speed, power and dash.

The Tech freshmen, preparing for a game at Roswell Saturday afternoon with New Mexico Military institute, also worked indoors, mainly absorbing offensive plays they'll spring against the Red Raiders in workouts today and tomorrow if they're able to get on the field.

Porkers Blame Faulty Officiating In Their Loss To The Bears

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Oct. 13.—Faulty officiating cost Arkansas the Baylor game last Saturday, raven-thatched Fred Thomsen, coach of the Razorbacks, exclaimed after returning to his Ozark retreat . . . quoting the master of the pass:

"Both the last two touchdowns Baylor scored were the result of bad decisions . . . The forward progress of the Baylor pass receiver had been stopped twice and one of our players was laying on top of him on the ground before he threw the lateral . . . He even had to pitch the ball up with one hand to make the play . . . The other play was even more evident . . . Everyone on the field could see that Sloan was on top of the ball and there wasn't a Baylor with the remotest chance of having possession, and yet, for some reason, the ball was given to Baylor and two plays later they scored."

Philosophically concluded Coach Thomsen:

"I don't see how they missed 'em—but I guess officials have bad days just like everybody else."

Has A New Job

Quick kicks: Bill Wallace, Rice institute's great All-America halfback of two seasons back and now freshman coach, has another occupation . . . Some of that choice Rice publicity you read is journalist Bill's work . . . Three of the mildest and most genial football coachers in the business are Col. Ralph Sasse, Frank Carideo and Capt. John Stokes, brains of the Mississippi State eleven . . . Col. Sasse complimented Texas Christian with "one of the smartest and cleanest teams Mississippi State ever played . . . Dutch Meyer is cagey and a fine gentleman; in fact, we would like to book them on a home-and-home agreement."

Most likely Southwest conference foe for Mississippi State in '38, however, is Arkansas . . . Those '38 and '39 games Texas A. and M. has booked with Manhattan of New York may never be played . . . All isn't well between the schools because of a contract misunderstanding . . . Plans were to bring Manhattan back to Texas next fall.

Fine Duel Is Coming

Who could ask for anything more than the coming duel between Dick Todd of Texas A. and M. and Davey O'Brien of Texas Christian . . . As one wag put it, "all the boys from the forks of the creek will be there."

Not All-America recognition but participation in the 1940 Olympic games is the ambition of gridders Hugh Wolfe and Jud Atchison at Texas . . . Atchison would like to make the trip as a broad jumper while Wolfe, big and speedy, is after the decathlon event . . . Press box critics voted Virgil (Brahma) Jones, the fiery Texas Aggie guard, as one of the best pass defense men the conference has seen in years after the Mississippi State game . . . His running mate, Joe Routt, All-America of '36, who does the oxen work up in the line, rates him "a better guard than I am."

Ace Shooters Remain Busy

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP) — Prize shots rolled in from all sections of the nation, their lengths ranging from 87 to 330 yards, as membership in the Associated Press hole-in-one club reached a total of 664 for the year.

Indiana, reporting 10 of the last batch of 84 to be reported, held a wide lead over the rest of the states with Minnesota second with 65 and New York third at 59.

Favorite At Austin

Favorite ace holes of the year to date include the 143-yard 11th of the Austin, Tex., municipal course.

Among reported aces were:

C. J. Anderson, A. W. Penn, W. R. Long, jr., and Mrs. Harry Gammell, all of Austin, Texas, 11th hole, 143 yards, Austin municipal course. Llewellyn Rose, Austin, 7th hole, 218 yards, Austin C. C. Lloyd Davidson, Austin, 9th hole, 135 yards, Austin C. C. Stokely Caudle, Austin, 11th hole, 165 yards, Austin C. C. R. S. Tedford, Austin, 5th hole, 137 yards, Austin municipal. Ray Slaughter, Elgin, Tex., 7th hole, 160 yards, Elgin C. C. T. W. Haynie, Stanton, Tex., 7th hole, 200 yards, Big Spring C. C. Douglas Jones, Big Spring, Texas., 14th hole, 125 yards, Big Spring C. C.

Father Is To Match Tricks Against Son

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 13 (AP) — The football house of Morrison will be divided against itself when Vanderbilt and Southern Methodist battle in Dallas Saturday.

On the Vanderbilt bench will be Ray Morrison, veteran grid tutor, watching his 21-year-old son, Jack, perform as field general of the Southern Methodist Mustangs, whom he coached for several years before coming here three years ago to succeed the late Dan McGugin.

Out There To Win

"We'll be out there to win just as in any other game," said Morrison, adding, "I'll be satisfied with a one point victory."

Asked if he would like to see his son do well against Vanderbilt, Morrison replied "I wouldn't mind seeing him make a long run, but I don't want him to score a touchdown on my boys."

Scout Henry Frnka returned from watching the Mustangs last week with glowing reports of the prowess of young Morrison. This tickled his father, but at the same time made him apprehensive.

"Jack is a great—yes, great—passer, good runner and fair kicker," Frnka said. "I think Southern Methodist is at least 40 per cent better when he is in the game."

Used As Spot Player

In Dallas, Matty Bell, S. M. U. coach, said he planned to use Morrison as a "spot" player rather than as a starter and full time player. Jack is six feet tall and weighs 170 pounds.

He entered Vanderbilt as a freshman because he didn't want to play football under his father, then mentor of the Mustangs.

When Morrison switched jobs in the fall of 1935, Jack enrolled in S. M. U. He now is a senior, but did not play in the Vandy-Mustang game last year, being out with a broken leg. S. M. U. won that one, 16-0.

Cubs And White Sox Staging Showdown In Series Today

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 (AP) — This was showdown day at Wrigley field for the White Sox and Cubs in Chicago's longest city baseball title battle since 1931.

The White Sox' hopes of winning the autumnal event for the fourth straight time were given a setback yesterday at Comiskey park when they couldn't do much with Southpaw Larry French, while the Cubs belted the American leaguers' ace rightbander, Vernon Kennedy, and their crack rescuer, Clint Brown, for 15 hits and a 6 to 2 victory to square the series at three triumphs apiece. The Sox had to go the seven-game limit to win in 1931, but swept through the 1933 and 1936 series in four straight.

Lipscomb And Weber Battle

Five of the six grapplers who participated in last week's battle royal and in subsequent duels come back to Sled Allen's Auditorium this evening for three scraps. The card calls for Vic Weber and Buck Lipscomb to fight the main go, Sailor Watkins and Bill Cazzell to do the semi-final honors, Frank Wolfe and Bob Cummings to raise the curtain.

Chief attention, of course, will be riveted on the main event.

McSHAIN IS "CHAMP"

Telegraphic announcement of the ascending to the light heavyweight wrestling championship by Danny McShain, wild and wicked villain who has been jeered here so many times in the past, was received yesterday.

McShain, who apparently has outgrown the middleweight ranks, threw Red Berry Monday night before a Hollywood, Calif., congregation of ten thousand fans, "including Buster Keaton and Charlie Chaplin, who were on their feet shouting and cheering for McShain."

Berry had been considered the champion as a result of victory over Leroy McGuirk, who in turn had wrestled the title from Hugh Nichols.

Weber's greater durability may give him the nod tonight, although few have come tougher than Lipscomb, on offense or defense. Weber's chance of quick victory, however, lies in aggressive wrestling tonight. If he takes after Lipscomb and stays after him, he can wear the Hoosier down shortly. Weber, however, draws considerable criticism because of his slowness to follow up advantages.

Hot Supporting Card

The supporting card is not without its merits. Big Bill Cazzell and Sailor Watkins promise a bout almost as interesting as the main go, the time element alone missing. Cazzell will outweigh Watkins, but it is doubtful if he can outsmart the wily sailorman.

Frank Wolfe, another villain, clashes with Bob Cummings, and Bob's light may go out early if he chooses to wrestle instead of fight.

SKINNY? Weak, Rundown?
Without Cost — Test for One Week This New Sea-Plant Iodine!

Hosts of Thin, Sickly, Tired-out Folks Find Kelpamalt, New Mineral Concentrate, Adds Extra Pounds, New Strength and Energy the First Week!
Proved by Professional Model
Don't be fooled by a good appetite, if you are skinny, weak, tired-out, sickly, unable to gain an ounce of flesh or strength, no matter what you eat. You may actually be suffering from "Mal-Nourishment." Doctors now know that unless the food you eat contains certain minerals essential for the body's chemical processes, even a lot of food can fail to yield adequate nourishment. Digestion, in such cases, is incomplete, assimilation poor, and digested food isn't being changed to energy, strength and flesh.
In Kelpamalt, the new mineral concentrate from the sea, minerals essential to these body processes are available in readily assimilable form, such as iron, copper, calcium, phosphorus, and others, all contributing to the supply of vital minerals needed for digestion and assimilation. Most important is Kelpamalt's natural iodine (not the chemical liquid kind). This is a substance, scientists say, that is vitally important to the health and proper functioning of blood, liver and glands. Kelpamalt is richer in iodine than oysters, hitherto considered the best source.
Make This Simple No-Cost Test
Try Kelpamalt for a single week. Thousands report they are amazed at the improvement Kelpamalt has brought them. Gains of 5 to 15 lbs. in a few weeks are not uncommon, new strength, new energy, better digestion and eliminaiton. They eat better, sleep better, and almost invariably say they now feel fine. Kelpamalt costs but little to use and results are guaranteed or money back. Sold at all good drug stores. Beware of cheap substitutes. Insist on the genuine.

Teachers Will Plan Session

Committee meetings at Texas Technological college Saturday will set the date and make other plans for the convention of West Texas Teachers association in March, according to announcement Tuesday.

According to R. E. Garlin, of the Tech education department, who is president of the association and chairman pro tem of the arrangement committee, the executive committee, meeting at 10:30 Saturday morning will select a date for the annual meeting of the association and the program committee will meet Saturday afternoon.

Committee Members Listed

Members of the executive committee are Mrs. Ruth McLaughlin, Lamesa; George Gentry, Big Spring; Hayes Holman, Post; Mrs. J. M. Burleson, Meadow; W. G. Barrett, Tahoka; G. W. McDonald and E. M. Ballinger, Plainview; Floyd Hemphill, Littlefield; J. W. Reed, Dr. A. W. Evans, and Joseph R. Griggs, Lubbock.

On the program committee, which will meet Saturday afternoon, are W. D. Biggers, Sudan; O. T. Thomas, Spur; Evans, and W. B. Irvin of Lubbock, Chairmen of the three divisions of the association, elected last spring, will meet with the program committee. Chairmen are R. W. Matthews, Lubbock, high school division; H. H. Nicholson, Ralls, elementary group; and Miss Bonnie K. Dysart, Lubbock, primary section.

Country Club Now In Good Condition

Secretary C. I. "Stony" Wall's report that Lubbock Country club was in the best financial condition of its history was greeted with enthusiastic applause last night by stockholders and directors of Lubbock Country club, meeting in regular session at the club house.

To fill four vacancies on the board of directors, stockholders re-elected Dr. R. T. Canon, Dr. J. T. Krueger and C. L. Dean, and elected as a new board member Samuel Rosenthal of the Hub Clothiers. "Holdover" board members whose terms haven't expired are George Benson, Sid Thrash, Hubert Allen, Arno Dalby and Wall.

Officers Re-Elected

The board of directors re-elected officers of the club, retaining Cliff Dean as president, Benson as vice president and Wall as secretary-treasurer.

Work of Charles Akey, club professional and manager, was commended by both the board of directors and the stockholders present. Akey, who came here from Big Spring early this year, was especially praised for his work in improving the golf course, the care of new grass greens and general supervision of the layout.

The financial picture of the club, as presented by Wall, was most pleasing to the members present. From an indebtedness of $12,000 as of a year ago has been clipped nearly $5,000, and the club is considered "in fine shape financially."

Actual, bona-fide, paid-up membership rolls now list 100 members in good standing. This is the goal set last spring, and membership is now closed until it is voted to enlarge the stock.

Rhea Funeral Services Are To Be Conducted Thursday

Funeral services for John H. Rhea, 60, former constable and for 20 years a Lubbock resident who died early Tuesday night, will be held at 10 o'clock Thursday morning at Asbury Methodist church with Rev. A. M. Dupree, pastor, and a minister of the Seventh Day Adventist church officiating.

Death occurred at a local hospital after an illness of about two weeks. He resided at 1906 Seventeenth street.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of Sanders Funeral home. Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery.

He is survived by his wife; two children, Jarrell Rhea of Pampa and Miss Regina Rhea of Lubbock; five sisters, Mrs. W. J. Tucker and Miss Tessa Rhea, both of Lubbock, Mrs. Ida Davis of Roby, Mrs. Will Lawson or Lorena, and Mrs. M. W. Rogers of Allison; and two brothers, W. A. Rhea of Liberal, Kas., and J. O. Rhea of Waco.

The 7445 Catholic parish schools in the United States had a total enrollment of 2,170,065 children in 1936.

Today Is Given Over To Sales As Market Week Nears Close

With several dozen sample rooms from which to select innovations similar to those shown in a fashion revue Tuesday night, merchants of this area today are availing themselves of last opportunity to buy merchandise shown by 81 jobbers at the 15th semi-annual four-day Wes-Tex New-Mex Wholesale Clothing market.

A luncheon for jobbers and their representatives at noon today in Lubbock hotel was given by the market association as the highlight of today's program. City Attorney Durwood H. Bradley was to be toastmaster.

Frills and coquettish veils, shorter sleeves and shorter skirts, higher bodices, and gayer color combinations will find their ways from the market into stores and hence to milady's wardrobe.

Fashion has emptied her wardrobe of long severely-cut skirts, mannish lines, and conservative color combinations, and has diminished the number of long sleeves. Skirts are designed to strike the wearer one and one-half inches below the knees.

At least those innovations were indicated, unchallenged, by 28 young women wearing choice selections from racks at the market

Stepping from a huge brown leaf, the models presented latest styles Tuesday night in the Lubbock hotel ballroom, which was crowded with retail merchants.

Indicative of the color trend was a street dress of Alpaca material with chenille embroidered in red, green, and blue, with a red belt and scarf. The dress was modeled by Jean Fagala, Texas Technological college co-ed from Greenville.

Mahogany, of the "brown family," was the color of a street dress with gold zippers and belt, worn by E. Mary Price, coed from Pampa. Gold was predominant in trimming of dresses modeled.

Several dresses were trimmed with fringe.

"Don't Dress for Dinner" frocks, proper for engagements not quite formal enough for evening wear, were of taffeta and velvet, with full-cut short skirts, and net and lace at the top.

Ox-blood, a shade of red, and greens and bright blues, were shown, as well as black and unusual brown shades. Bright bags and gloves are being shown to add a dash of color to a dark ensemble.

And the well-dressed woman now may offer a subtle color combination of gloves and hosiery, in a reddish tinge, tan, and other shades. "Iridescent" shades, new in hosiery, vary in color according to light. Seams may be in black or brown to match heels.

Hats were high crowned and off the face, generally, and veils were emphasized.

Taffeta predominated in materials of evening dresses shown, although velvet and net were worn. Dorothy Lofland, Tech student, modeled a black net dress with black sequins trimming.

Bright colors were shown in every type of dress modeled, and even in house coats, shown in gold, blue, red, and printed.

Other models were Virginia Carlock, Ina Bacon, Dee Kelly, Janet Barnett, Lenora Shaffer, Maxine Fry, Pauline Coe, Edith Stallings, Betty Lee Lindsey, Joyce Craven, Geraldine Gibson, Terry Myrick, Mary Joe Coe, Evelyn Kuykendall, Sophie Alice Hardgrave, Mary Louise Walker, Elaine Wilson, Eva Mae O'Neal, Ella Dee Wilson, Blandina Neathery, Aline McCain, Frances Real, Mary Beth Clark, Lurline Tarleton, and Emma Sue Gunn.

They were announced by Bruce Collier, master of ceremonies.

Offering contrast and giving competition to models of latest in clothing was the red wigged, suspendered "Stuttering Sam" depicted by Cecil Hunter of Amarillo, who imitated animals, fowls, persons, and musical instruments. Gaining generous applause was his imitation of xylophone music.

Ned Bradley's orchestra presented music ranging from a selection taken from the New World symphony to a comic Little Red Riding Hood arrangement. The orchestra played for a dance for merchants after the style revue.

Katrina Brewer presented a ballet dance, and Claudia Sue Mosley a tap dance. Cliff Jackson, orchestra member, sang.

Garments shown in the revue were furnished by H. T. Poindexter and Sons, Kansas City; D. M. Stern Millinery company, Dallas; Penn Allen Garment company, Lubbock; Roos Freedman company, Dallas; M-B Hat Manufacturing company, Waco; R. B. Manufacturing company, Dallas; Butler Brothers, Dallas; Marcy Lee Manufacturing company, Dallas; Chic Lingerie company, Los Angeles; "Vanette" Baker Moise company, Dallas; Gall Novelty company, Dallas.

Merchants were guests of the market association at the revue and dance.

Program Closes Today

Despite handicap of some of the worst weather Lubbock has experienced through the entire year, the annual fall market program has been rated a pronounced success.

Considering the fact that threatening weather prevailed Monday and that rain fell steadily over virtually the whole of the South Plains Tuesday—the big day of the show,—officials were inclined last night to regard the success of the event as remarkable. Given normal weather, they said, it might have bordered on the phenomenal.

Former Resident Of Lubbock Claimed By Death Tuesday

Funeral arrangements were to be made today for Mrs. Eva Outhouse, former resident of Lubbock, who died late Tuesday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. W. A. Curtis, of Dallas.

She lived here approximately 25 years, having moved here in 1890. She once was operator of the Nicholette hotel. She was a charter member of the First Baptist church.

Mrs. Outhouse was a sister of George M. Boles, Joe Boles and the late Mrs. Rollie C. Burns.

Survivors include another daughter, Mrs. Jennings Winn, living in California; seven grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

Dove Hunting Law Is Now In Effect

AUSTIN, Oct. 13 (AP) — Texas received a new dove law today.

Passage by house and senate and approval soon thereafter by Governor James V. Allred converted into statute, effective immediately, a bill removing much conflict between federal and state regulations which had resulted generally in confusion.

The game department explained the new law this way:

Open season is Sept. 15-Nov. 15 in the entire state except:

Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Kent, Stonewall, King, Cottle, Childress and all counties to the north and west of these (the Panhandle) and Cooke, Grayson, Fannin, Hardeman, Foard, Knox, Wilbarger, Baylor, Wichita, Archer, Young and Clay where shooting is permissible from Sept. 1 to Oct. 31.

Those counties south of the Texas-Mexican railroad in the Rio Grande valley have a Sept. 15-Nov. 15 season but shooting is restricted to Saturdays, Sundays, Tuesdays and Thursdays, except in Webb and Zapata counties where daily hunting is legal.

Bag and possession limits are 15 birds.

No gun taking more than three shells at one loading may be used on doves.

Step Out Joan, Step In Simone

Handsome Gene Markey, above, film writer, turned his face just as the cameraman snapped this picture of him with Simone Simon, pouting young French film star, with whom his name has been romantically linked in Hollywood gossip. They were attending a concert in the Hollywood Bowl, and it's a good bet that if lovely Joan Bennett, Markey's divorced wife, also was in the crowd, she was casting glances in that direction. Although divorced, Joan and Gene still go out together occasionally.

Japan has 370,123 trade unionists in her 768 trade unions, 101 of which unions are in the transport industry.

Helen Hicks Cops Medal In Texas Women's Open

FORT WORTH, Oct. 13 (AP) — Links fans who were out to Colonial Club Tuesday morning saw just why Helen Hicks has had her picture in the public prints so often and so long.

The star from New York, now a business woman player, took the course apart in the most approved style as she won the medal of the annual Texas Women's open by seven full blows.

Helen racked up 13 pars, three bogies and two birds for a sensational 35-36—71, a single shot over men's par for the long layout. It was one of the best rounds ever played here by a woman and the card was a cinch to win the test round honors from the last putt.

Bernice Wall, the star from Wisconsin, was the only other shooter to land in the 70's. She had a nifty 78.

Edna Saenger of Shreveport, the defending champion, turned in a fine round. She was out nicely in 39 and came home in 41 for an 80.

Qualifying scores and pairings include:

Championship flight:

Helen Hicks, Long Island, N. Y., 71 vs. Alice Daniels, Fort Worth, 96.

Mrs. Gordon Phillips, Big Spring, 94, vs. Mildred Didrikson, Beaumont, 81.

Elizabeth Dunscomb, Memphis, Tenn., 89, vs. Mrs. C. F. McAuliff, Dallas, 90.

Edna Saenger, Shreveport, 80, vs. Mrs. George Rohrer, Galveston, 92.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 10. (By Mail) — If you've never seen New Orleans' great thoroughfare—Canal street—at night, you've missed a thrill which, in this country, can be surpassed only by New York's Great White Way and duplicated nowhere else.

The Plainsman saw it last night and all but gasped as he trod its central portion while polyiot crowds jostled each other and a million lights turned the dark skies so bright that one can read a newspaper with greater ease than seated in an easy chair, topped by the latest lamp with indirect lighting.

Broader than Gotham's Broadway, wider, even, than Philadelphia's famed Broad street, Canal street is New Orleans' "main stem." And adding to its glamor is the fact that it splits the Crescent city in two, with the old French city on its east and the modern metropolis on its west.

From sidewalk to sidewalk, Canal street is as wide as the average Lubbock residential block is deep. Multi-bulbed light standards line each sidewalk and there are two rows of them running down the middle of the busy thoroughfare. Pedestrians cross the street in two "installments," reaching the middle safety zones in one effort and finishing the job in the next.

Canal street is a lot of street.

ALTHOUGH the elaborate system of city lighting would, in itself, give Canal more light than any other downtown street in the country, enterprising business people have topped that off with a myriad of advertising signs of all forms and descriptions, all sizes and colors.

The result is marvelous.

Aside from Canal street at night, The Plainsman as yet has seen little of New Orleans.

With weather rivaling that of Lubbock in October, your humble servant is tapping out these lines just before taking off on what will be a week's studied effort to see everything worth seeing in this most interesting city in America.

Meanwhile, he has not yet recovered from the allure of the Evangeline country which he traversed yesterday all the way from Lake Charles to New Orleans on the Old Spanish trail.

* * *

FOR 200 miles coming into New Orleans the traveler has a feeling that he's in another country.

If it were not for the profusion of negroes in the stately plantation sections, one might as well be in France.

If there are any Smiths, Browns, Joneses, or McGuires in that area you don't see or hear anything about them.

The Frontenacs, the Broussards and the Fortiers have taken the country. In fact, they've had it for centuries!

* * *

The Plainsman especially was surprised that the section of Louisiana between the Texas border, at Orange, and New Orleans is so thickly settled. Towns are so close together in places that a fast moving car seems to flash from one to another. Even along the big plantations, which carry the flavor of pre-Civil war days, lines of servants quarters press the highway in many places.

There is no race suicide among either the "Cajuns" or the negro field hands.

The area is full of people.

ANOTHER striking thing, aside from the population, the placid villages with their old world seasoning and the broad, black acres of land, is the great number of fine homes, in town and out.

Stately mansions oversee the plantations in the rural areas and in the towns there are literally scores of large, dignified homes of Old South architecture. Vegetation and shrubbery is profuse and help to make of the entire section a storybook fairyland.

Houses of 30 rooms, flanked by upper and lower porches called galleries, are the order of the day everywhere.

Just before reaching the New Orleans city limits, the traveler comes upon one of the marvels of modern engineering — the Huey P. Long bridge across the rolling, levied Mississippi river.

Constructed during the gubernatorial administration of the late Kingfish, the bridge cost 13 millions of dollars—and is worth every penny of it. Opened on December 16, 1935, it marks the elimination of the last factor of isolation of a great metropolis founded 218 years ago in the midst of what then was called an "impenetrable swamp."

* * *

A COMBINATION railroad and highway span, the Huey P. Long bridge has double tracks of the Southern-Pacific lines and, replacing the oldest ferry — largest ever known to man—saves trains between one and two hours time in reaching and leaving New Orleans. As for the motorist, as he hustles in from or out to San Diego, San Augustine, Fla., or Winnipeg, he not only saves time but treats himself to a sight on a par with that of the pyramids.

The bridge is of the cantilever type with eight spans.

Entire length is 4.4 miles and the principal, center span, is 790 feet long.

The roadways—there are two, one going in each direction — are 135 feet above the Mississippi's high water level and from the bottom of the central pier, 170 feet below mean Gulf level, to the top of the steel superstructure is 409 feet, equal to the height of a 36-story building.

Total width of the bridge is 78 feet and the train tracks ride in the center, high above the divided ramps for motor traffic.

If there ever was a triumph of engineering, the Huey P. Long bridge is it.

Extremely civic-minded and conscious of their city's exotic beauty and appeal to the tourist, Orleanians have spent a prince's ransom to make the approach to the city from the bridge a thing of additional beauty. Also they have constructed a series of boulevards to permit the traveler to reach midtown New Orleans with the minimum of traffic discomfort.

One comes past no junkyards, unkept vacant lots, glue factories or stockyards coming from Huey Long bridge to Canal and Barrone in midtown.

He sets his accelerator at 30 miles per hour and if he watches his business he never shifts a gear in the seven mile jaunt.

The traffic lights are scientifically timed here. There's no guesswork to it.

BUT enough of this.

Seven floors above the street and in a bay windowed alcove overlooking Vieux Carre, which to us Franch pipple means "Old Square" or the old French quarter of the town, The Plainsman is rearin' to go places, sop up culture and otherwise get ejjicated.

Be seein' you later!

The DUCHESS—patron of surrealist art.

PROFESSOR BRACEY—Egyptologist.

Yesterday: Bob checks with police on the identity of an Egyptian mummy expert who turned out to be a jewel thief. Can this be Professor Bracey?

CHAPTER X

For the next 10 days, the studio apartment house was buzzing with preparations and excitement. The Duchess' fancy dress ball was the subject of much comment in the papers and among the various art groups of the city. Even the churchmen took occasion to express opinions on the extravagance which gave the affair publicity enough to satisfy even the Duchess herself. Invitations were eagerly sought. The Artists' Ball became the chief subject of conversation.

A steady stream of workmen and decorators filed up and down the stairway, doing marvelous things to the Duchess' big studio, though everyone was sworn to deep secrecy, so that the ball might dazzle all with its unexpected features.

Bob hardly saw Kathleen at all. Her head was always bent over her desk when he glanced in the window, and even Schmatz did not stop so often at her door for the bit of candy or cookie. Pat bustled about with a worried expression on his usual cheery face, wielding his dustpan and broom in a hopeless effort to keep the litter out of the halls, while the shrill temperamental voice of the Duchess could be heard from morning until night directing and complaining.

"It's batty as a loon she is, and all the rest o' us'll be the same, I'm thinkin'," Pat told Bob when he opened his door to discover the reason for an especially loud outburst. "We're all done up with wires and riggin' enough to drive anybody nuts that ain't already that way." Then he came closer and asked softly out of one corner of his mouth, "Ye're goin', ain't ye?"

"She invited me all right," Bob answered, "and I'll be there, though not for the reason she thinks. I suggested she have my friend Steve Carnahan, from Headquarters, and not tell anyone he's coming, if she's stuck to wear her famous emerald."

Pat nodded. "She'll wear the emerald, all right. Always does when she gives a big blowout. We'll likely be murdered in our tracks some day on account o' it. This Steve now?"

"He's a detective, and a good one." Bob pulled him inside the room and closed the door. "Say, you're helping the electrician, aren't you? Think we could fix it so that everyone would pass in front of a big light—to show off their costumes or something?"

Pat thought a minute, then he grinned. "Sure. Some o' thim dames would like nothin' better. I can put it up to the Duchess so she'll fall for it in a big way. Lave it to me. We'll rig up a regular shadow-box like's down at the jail, and give 'em the one-over in foine shape—or for foine shapes rather."

The night of the big ball, Kathleen listlessly put on her Irish peasant costume, and tied a green ribbon around her head. All the pleasure and excitement over the party had gone, because it was Professor Bracey who was to be her partner for the evening. Once or twice she had heard Bob and his dog pass her door and had hoped they would stop. But always they had gone on, while she reluctantly turned back to her desk. Often a tear splattered down on some gay verse of love and summer and happiness. Pat had scowlingly delivered daily gifts of flowers, candy or books from Professor Bracey, but when he would have offered an opinion on the subject, Kathleen made it very plain she wished for no advice, so he had stumped away muttering to himself.

Pittingly enough, Professor Bracey chose to come to the ball dressed as an Egyptian Pharaoh. Kathleen gasped with astonishment when she opened the door to the stately figure, whose black eyes only seemed to be alive. In his hand he carried a tiny statue of an Egyptian god.

"My!" she told him, "You actually gave me a start, you look so regal and—and so sinister."

"While you're so beautiful and young," he replied.

The Duchess' huge studio had been transformed into a tropical garden, where brilliant birds fluttered among the palms and exotic flowers, and little fountains sprayed tinted jets of water. The soft music of stringed instruments drifted dreamily over the whole scene, weaving a magic spell of glamour that suited the fantastic, colorful costumes of the guests.

Never in her wildest dreams had Kathleen ever imagined anything so gorgeous. Gloversville had not prepared her for this. She stopped with a little cry of amazement, and for the moment forgot that she, too, appeared to be something very far removed from the little writer of verses, who had worked for fear the bean soup would not be right.

"Like it, Colleen?" asked the tall clansman coming up behind her.

For a minute she turned to him bewildered, then, "Bob! How wonderful you look! With your kilt and sporran and Glengarry bonnet. You must look exactly like some of your ancestors. What did Schmatz think of you?"

"Not much of the smell of moth balls, which my clothes have been packed in. I knew they had these duds at home, so I sent for them. My family is certain now that I am crazy. Want to walk around and give the place the once-over? Your Pharaoh seems to be busy with the Duchess. She beckoned to him when you came in. Get an eyeful of that big emerald she's wearing. It's tops with jewel connoisseurs, I understand."

Kathleen looked at their hostess, then her eyes widened in astonishment. "Did you ever see anything so amazing? No wonder she came dressed like a queen. She's more beautiful than anyone in the room."

"Yeah. Even seems to be raising 'em from the dead," remarked a swarthy pirate strolling past, resplendent in gold-hooped earrings, gay kerchief and tall boots. He swung a murderous-looking cutlass, and one eye winked knowingly at Bob.

Bob nodded. "She does seem to be knocking your Pharaoh friend cold, doesn't she?"

Kathleen looked again at the Duchess, who was sitting on a marble seat before a bank of roses. Professor Bracey was leaning over her, his smoldering gaze on the beauty of her white neck and shoulders which her elaborate velvet costume displayed to the best advantage. Around her throat was a flashing necklace of diamonds, and lovely gems gleamed from the small tiara on her head. But the famous emerald surpassed them all. It hung from a thin chain low against her breast. Its magnificence was breath-taking.

"Not many men could resist her tonight, could they?" Kathleen asked a little wistfully. "And of course to a man of the world like Professor Bracey, she would be especially interesting."

Before Bob could reply, a swift dart of light came winging across the room from the bow of a huge electric Cupid, which seemed to be hovering above the tall bank of ferns, and fell full on the Duchess and Bracey. This brought a burst of applause, and made the Pharaoh put up his hand as though to shield his eyes from the brightness.

"Pat—that's Pat up there," Bob told Kathleen. "He's working the beam from the Cupid's bow. Can't you imagine how that would appeal to his sentimental Irish soul? He was telling me about it yesterday. Since your other partner seems detained, how about dancing?" He held out his arms and they drifted away to a dreamy waltz, weaving in and out among the crowd of gypsies, nymphs, cowboys, Indians, and harlequins.

For Kathleen all the months of heartbreaking work and worry were swept away and she was conscious only of a feeling of ecstasy that Bob's arms were about her, and his eyes were looking into hers. If they could only go on and on like this forever, in a magical world where misunderstandings and other people were forgotten. Maybe she could say something that would let him know how much she had missed him, make him understand that it was not Professor Bracey but—

"Cutting in, McTavish, and the queen orders you into her presence," said the Egyptologist's voice behind them.

Bob scowled and reluctantly relinquished his partner, made his way to the side of the Duchess, who held out her hand and drew him down beside her.

"I've been waiting all evening to hear you say you love me, Bob dear," she began with regal audacity. "Most of the other men have already told me, but you're the only one who could really make it mean something to me."

"What did the others say when you told them that?" Bob asked, smiling down at her.

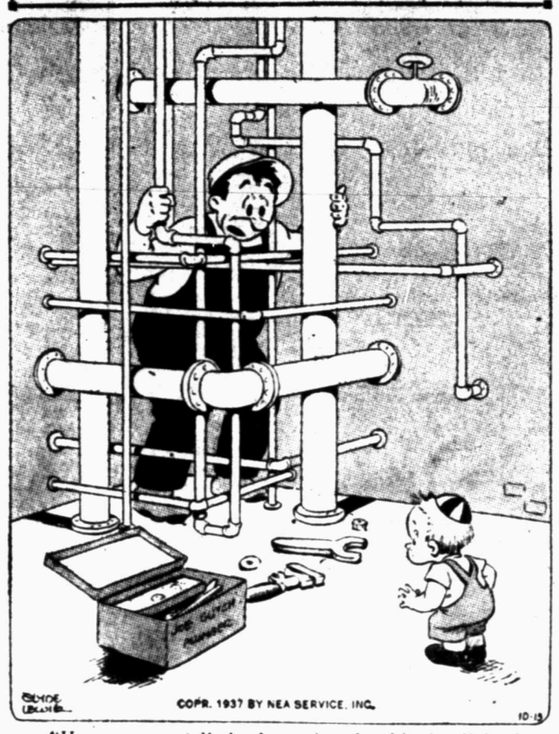

"I didn't tell that to the others—only you, Bob. Won't you believe it?" She clasped his hand and looked at him with an unexpected earnestness which sent a chill over him.

Here was a dangerous woman with wealth and beauty and position, actually making love to him, an unknown writer. It was too ridiculous, too—

"You see I can't possibly believe you, Duchess, because I'm in love with someone else," he said slowly as though just realizing for the first time that this was so. "I'm in love with a girl who doesn't love me," he added.

OUTREADING THE BOSS

The clerk and the stenographer usually do a good deal more reading than the boss does, if a survey conducted by the Progressive Education Association is correct.

Dr. Ralph Tyler of Ohio State University, head of the survey committee, reported that clerk and typist outread their bosses, but that they go in for a different type of literature. The young man clerk is apt to revel in mystery and adventure stories; the feminine stenog goes for romances and "confession" stories. The boss, who gets his nose in a book far less frequently than they do, is more likely to pick up books on social or economic problems.

All of which would seem to prove that the young employe has more spare time on his or her hands than the boss has. Maybe it proves that the boss has a greater intellectual curiosity than his underlings. Or — just possibly — maybe it proves nothing at all.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 13 — Short takes: Clark Gable says he may play the part of Gone in "Gone With the Wind."

Censors objected to a scene showing Buck Jones milking a cow, but in the same picture there were no deletions from the sequence which showed him killing a man.

Ever since Paramount gave a party at the Trocadero to introduce the "Big Apple" as it will be performed in "Once in a Lifetime," Hollywood night-spotters have been having a fling at the dance. It's the old-fashioned square dance adapted to swing-time, truckin' and the Suzy-Q. Good fun at 2 a. m.

Margot Grahame and Fredric March were introduced on the set the other day just before a scene which required them to go into a clinch. There were several takes, then lunch, was called. As March left he said, "Goodby, Miss Grahame. Nice to have kissed you, I'm sure."

The Morgan brothers, Frank and Ralph, introduce each other as "My elder brother." Ted Healy is running a flower shop. Buddy Westmore has been going everywhere, usually with Lana Turner, since his divorce from Martha Raye. Miss Raye goes nowhere, and there's nothing to that talk of a reconciliation—even if he is a make-up artist.

Chameleon's Lunch

Foreign news: Dining at the Troc, a wealthy Rumanian named Gikha, or something like that brought consternation to the waiters by ordering six flies with his meal. When they were brought (on a little silver platter) he fed them to a pet chameleon which he took from his pocket.

Young Vittorio Mussolini almost certainly will figure in an embarrassing incident one of these days. He's here to study American production methods and presumably intends to visit the studios and sets. Several stars and at least one director, however, have served notice that they won't be studied by the Fascist, nor will they even remain on the same lot with him.

And speaking of political enmity, you ought to hear the name-calling contest between the rival organizations of Screen Playwrights and the Writers' Guild. Such men as P. G. Wodehouse, Philip Dunne, Donald Ogden Stewart and Rupert Hughes alternately have been buying pages in the local trade papers and writing long-winded maledictions and charges. It all reminds one of grade-school squabbles: "You did!" . . . "I didn't. You did" . . . "You're another!" . . . "You're seventy million anothers!" . . . "You cross this line an' I'll knock your ol' block off" . . . "No, you cross THIS line an' I'll knock YOUR block off . . ."

I think it would be a good idea if their studios gave these little boys some work to do.

Mr. Eddy's Hair

For the first time in his career Nelson Eddy is starring in a picture without letting his hair grow long. Of all the top stars, Ginger Rogers drives the most modest car. Funniest sight, though, is the 1917 vehicle which A. C. Wookey coaxes about town. He's the cashier at Paramount and handles fantastic sums of money.

They did a great job on "Stage Door" for picture purposes. But the flicker contains only four lines of dialog from the play, for which RKO paid a neat $125,000. Another near-high in amazing adaptation is Paramount's purchase of John Steinbeck's "Tortilla Flat." It will, so help me, be made into a musical, with George Raft in the lead.

Unless it's cut out before it reaches you, there's a funny mistake in "Big City." While the mayor is dashing to the Hudson river pier he passes a large electric sign advertising "The Hollywood Citizen-News."

Farsighted Republicans Casting Glances At Thomas E. Dewey As Good Political Timber

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 — Farsighted Republican politicians, who couldn't keep their minds off 1940 even if they tried, cast frequent sideglances at Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Dewey is famous in the east as the special prosecutor who has broken up vice and other rackets in New York City. He is now running for district attorney of New York on the same ticket with Mayor F. H. La Guardia. A spectacular reform district attorney in the metropolis would be an obvious good Republican bet for the governorship, timber being as scarce as it is, and nearly any Republican governor of New York would be a strong candidate for presidential nomination.

Dutcher

All this would require some fast going, however, and Mr. Dewey is a long shot in an obstacle race. Tammany still has many jobs and privileges and the nightmare of Mr. Dewey making hay for himself by busting up Tammany rackets in district after district is calculated to bring all the bickering groups in that once powerful machine together in an effort to smother him.

Dewey runs only in the Tammany stronghold of Manhattan and not in the adjacent boroughs. Thus he is considered to have a poorer chance than LaGuardia.

Furthermore, the Republicans figure, Postmaster General Jim Farley has his mind set on running for governor next year and can be depended upon to do all he can to keep Tammany from being discredited and Dewey from being built up.

Klan Revival Flops

Any extent to which the Ku Klux Klan has gathered recruits in its reported membership drive of the last few weeks will be disclosed by the LaFollette Civil Liberties committee, according to present plans. Meanwhile, reports on attempts to revive the Klan here and there indicate results have been nothing to get excited about. The most conspicuous attempt, growing out of the rubber strike at Akron, O., was a complete flop.

The committee is especially interested in efforts to use the Klan as a weapon against organized labor and its inquiry in that direction is part of a general study of "vigilante" organizations, their activities and financing. Preliminary check indicates that the Klan only appears occasionally now as a local phenomenon.

The first local investigation will be at Tampa, Fla., where one labor organizer was killed by a tarring and flogging which also was inflicted on two others.

Look For Third Term Race

Subconsciously, at least, there's an obvious tendency among most Democrats and most Republicans to assume the likelihood of a Roosevelt third term candidacy in 1940. But there is absolutely no "dope" on this subject, aside from the fact that Roosevelt deliberately has avoided committing himself on it.

Recent huddles of Republicans here and elsewhere have revealed the fact that most G. O. P. leaders are thinking in terms which indicate assumption of a third term candidacy. Privately, nearly all of juries suffered in the accident.

Car Crashes

Bonds had not been posted this morning by A. C. Went, 43, charged by complaint filed with Davies alleging passage of a forged $12.10 check which bore the name of S. E. Cone of Lubbock; by Joe Murphy, charged in county court with theft of 12 pairs of women's hosiery valued at $11.76 from Sears, Roebuck & Co.; or by Alvia Scott, 22-year-old negro, charged in Davies court with making a false instrument, specifically a $97.15 check with the allegedly forged signature of Earl Elliott, resident of near Shallowater. Went's bond had been set at $750, Murphy's at $250, and Scott's at $750.

Clevus M. (Buster) Eaton, charged with desertion of two children, was released Tuesday on bond of $750.

A 27-year-old man pleaded guilty to a drunkenness charge and was assessed $50 fine in corporation court this morning. Officials had indicated he would be transferred to custody of county officials and charged with drunken driving.

LEGAL NOTICES

39—Legal Notices

NOTICE: My property in Lubbock is withdrawn from the market today, October 13th. Mrs. M. H. Cunningham.

NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue of an Order of Sale issued out of the Honorable 14th Judicial District Court of Texas in and for Dallas county, on the 28th day of August, 1937, in the case of Home Owners' Loan Corporation versus James L. Dow and wife, Lila Dow, the City of Lubbock, and American Mortgage company, No. 24798-A, and to me as Sheriff, directed and delivered, I have levied upon this 5th day of October, A. D., 1937, and will between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. on the first Tuesday in November, A. D., 1937, it being the 2nd day of said month, at the Court House door of Lubbock county, Texas, in the City of Lubbock, proceed to sell at public auction to the highest bidder, for cash in hand, all the right, title and interest which James L. Dow and wife, Lila Dow, had on the 14th day of May, A. D., 1934, or at any time thereafter, of, in and to the following described property, to-wit: Situated in Lubbock, Lubbock county, Texas: All of Lot Number One (1) and Two (2) in Block Number Forty-Two (42) of the Overton Addition to the City of Lubbock, Texas, as shown by map or plat of said Addition, of record in the Deed Records of Lubbock county, Texas.

RAIL PRESIDENT WARNS

DALLAS, Oct. 13 (AP)—Continued public indifference to the welfare of the nation's railroads will lead to federal ownership of carriers L. W. Baldwin, president of the Missouri-Pacific lines, warned delegates to the National Grain and Feeders' convention today.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, up 8 to 10 points on higher Liverpool cables, trade and foreign buying. Oct. 8.27; Dec. 8.05; Jan. 7.93; March 7.92; May 7.95; July 8.02.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 13 (AP) — Cotton opened 6 to 13 points net higher today due to an execution of holiday buying orders and in response to strong cables.

The president's call for an extra session of congress cleared uncertainty regarding crop control.

All positions recrossed the eight cent line on first transactions. Oct. was 8.16, Dec. at 8.17, Jan. at 8.03, March at 8.02, May at 8.06, July 8.09 and Oct. 8.24.

After a flurry of profit taking the market rallied again and towards the end of the first half hour prices were 3 to 6 points above the opening figures.

Extra Session

moned during the 1933 bank holiday.

The broad program outlined by the president immediately raised the question of whether congress would return more in the mood to follow his leadership than it was last summer.

There was no mention in Mr. Roosevelt's speech of his court reorganization program which upset the legislative machinery in the regular 1937 session. He apparently was referring to supreme court reversals, however, when he said the people had been "checked" in efforts to control production and secure wage-hour standards.

Seeks To Allay Criticism

Mr. Roosevelt apparently sought in his speech to allay criticism of his newly aggressive policy toward Japanese invasion of China. He emphasized that American participation in the nine-power treaty conference would be to seek by agreement a solution of the conflict.

Discussing his call for the special session, the president said it would enable congress to avoid a lengthy session next year during the pre-election campaign. Ordinarily congress would not meet until January 3.

In his White House speech, which reviewed his trip to the west coast, the president said that "for most of the country this has been a good year," but that "we have not yet done all that must be done to make this prosperity stable."

The people "out through the country," he said, "want the financial budget balanced, but they want the human budget balanced as well."

Then, speaking in broad terms, the president outlined his five legislative proposals for the special session.

with infirmities. And no one noticed when several nonagenarians failed to stand at the invocation.

One speaker, a "youngster" in his late eighties, begged friends to bring remaining survivors to reunions. "I'm sorry to say," he said, "that in just a little while they might not be . . ." His voice failed.

In the hope more would be present today, the veterans put off electing officers. Some 20 or so were on hand. They were meeting in conjunction with the convention of the Texas division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

But their faltering voices did not fail when they concluded their meeting with the familiar and appropriate "God be with you till we meet again."

Gordon Chosen As President

Dean James M. Gordon of Texas Tech was continued as president of the El Paso Presbytery's Men of the Church organization at the semi-annual meeting in Midland Tuesday, as well as other officers, Dr. W. D. Black, Barstow, vice-president and George Baker, Fort Stockton, secretary-treasurer.

Forty-five laymen and fifteen ministers were present for the afternoon session and seventy-five attended the dinner meeting at which Dr. Henry H. Sweets, Louisville, Ky., spoke.

Favor Annuity Plan

R. W. Matthews, principal of the senior high school, spoke in the afternoon as did V. Z. Rogers, Lamesa school superintendent and Judge W. A. Hadden, Fort Stockton. The group went on record as favoring the annuity plan which the Presbyterian church is adopting, and recommended it to the presbytery and to the several churches.

Dean Gordon is the local church delegate to the annual meeting of presbytery, which opened Tuesday night following the men's meeting. He and Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor, plan to return probably Thursday. J. A. Pressley and R. D. Moxley, who were present, planned to remain over for today's sessions. Others making the trip, returning late Tuesday night, were: L. C. Ellis, B. E. Adair, B. B. Pullen and J. Sam Lewis.

Recreational Hour For Co-Eds Is Scheduled By Tech WAA

A recreational hour sponsored by the Women's Athletic association at Texas Technological college was included among plans for the organization announced Tuesday.

Activities include soccer, bowling at a downtown recreational hall, tumbling, skating at Lubbock rink, tennis, basketball and dancing. Ballroom dancing will be taught on Thursday nights, basketball games are scheduled for Fridays, and on the other days from 5 to 6 o'clock there will be gymnasium activities.

The recreational program will be inaugurated at a meeting at the gymnasium Thursday afternoon. Elise Tucker is WAA president.

Former Seagraves Employe Of Santa Fe Taken By Death

SEAGRAVES, Oct. 13, (Special)—M. A. Patton, former Santa Fe section foreman here, died early today in a Clovis, N. M., hospital where he had been confined for some time. Death was not unexpected, as he had been in poor health.

Joe Webb, local undertaker, was called to take the body to Carbon, Texas, near Cisco, for burial, some time late Wednesday, according to preliminary arrangements.

Plains Fire

embers were blown to the roofs of other structures within a radius of several hundred yards from the fire.

After records and furnishings were saved from the Petty building, the volunteer fighters concentrated their efforts on saving other threatened structures. Buckets of water handed from hand to hand were sloshed over the roofs of some of the buildings. Roofs of others were covered with saturated quilts and blankets. The emergency was comparatively brief, because destruction of the hotel was swift.

Problem Is Solved

The fire left the town with the immediate problem of providing accommodations for the night for the several score guests of the hotel who were left without a place to sleep. That was solved by "parceling" the homeless out among the townspeople for the night. Uncertainty prevailed today as to where they now will find lodging, but expectation is that it will be at Brownfield, which already experienced a shortage of such accommodations.

Mayor Read said, however, that townspeople were making an effort today to cause the immediate provision of temporary accommodations of some sort until more permanent solution of the town's hotel problem is solved.

Built 31 Years Ago

The Long hotel was the evolution of a small, one-story frame residence structure which was built 31 years ago by Les Boyd. Subsequently it was acquired by the late W. T. Gainer, who sold it to the late "Grandma" Hule Long, from whom Trimble acquired it.

It was, perhaps, the most widely known building on this section of the South Plains. During most of the 31 years of its existence it served as a hotel and boarding house, and from time to time additions were built. Gainer built a second floor to the residence, and "Grandma" Long, whose family style meals were famous in this section of the state, enlarged it from time to time. Still other rooms were added following the discovery of oil two years ago until the rambling structure spread over a considerable area of ground.

Mayor Read said no announcement had been made this morning as to whether the building will be replaced, but expectation of townspeople was that a modern structure will be erected when men and materials can be made available.

ROPESVILLE, (Special) — A. E. Richards, editor and publisher of the Ropes Plainsman, weekly newspaper, has purchased the Meadow Star. The two plants will be combined and both papers will be printed at Meadow. Herman Timmons, assistant editor, will remain in Ropesville.

"Be Careful" Is The Weather Warning

The present weather warning is, "Be careful."

This was the suggestion late Tuesday of Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer, and of doctors generally.

They refrained carefully from any suggestion that inclement weather of the last two days has created any alarming or unusual health hazards. As a matter of fact, the particular type of weather must be expected at various times with the approach of winter, they observed.

But the very fact that nights are mild and that progressively cooling weather must be expected now, they explained, demands more health precautions than would be the case during a spring or summer rain.

The city health superintendent suggested particularly that precautions against such simple things as wet feet, wet clothing and undue exposure might easily be the means of preventing colds, influenza or even pneumonia. As he explained, this is particularly a season for "common sense" precautions.

international lawlessness of which President Roosevelt complained last week in Chicago is not to be found in Germany.

In a world-wide broadcast, President Roosevelt made a new plea for peace last night — interpreted by many observers as designed to quiet criticism that his policy of international cooperation might lead to war. He said mere refusal to recognize war in other parts of the world does not guarantee this country's "aloofness" from conflict.

In the far east the Japanese made a desperate attempt to crash the Chinese lines across Wentsaopang creek into Tazang, four miles northwest of the Shanghai international settlement, but, according to a Chinese spokesman, were forced to retire to their original position, leaving 3,000 dead and wounded.

Idalou schools have been dismissed a month to allow students to help gather the cotton crop.

Tax Collections Take Big Jump

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13—President Roosevelt may increase estimates of federal revenues for this fiscal year in a revised budget summary next week.

Secretary Morgenthau and Daniel W. Bell, acting budget director, gave the president latest information on the federal financial situation yesterday. The data will be made public in the revamped budget next Tuesday.

Tax Collections Jump

Discussing possible revisions, officials said tax collections so far this year have totaled $1,775,000,000—a jump of 43 per cent, or more than half a billion dollars, over the corresponding period a year ago.

In a budget issued last April, Mr. Roosevelt forecast a revenue increase of only 30 per cent for the entire fiscal year. The April estimate was $6,906,000,000, and any upward revision might lift it over the $7,000,000,000 level.

One Factor Cited

One factor expected to bolster revenues when the usual heavy income tax payments flow in next March is the administration's new loophole-closing tax law. Some authorities have said the law, enacted after a congressional investigation of alleged tax evasion and avoidance, would increase federal income by $10,000,000 a year.

Against the possibility of greater revenues, however, officials balanced an upturn in spending so far this year.

Meanwhile, regents and presidents of state-supported colleges, sighting senate moves to slash also the educational appropriation bill, converged on the capital to voice opposition.

A bill cutting the appropriations for colleges was in the hands of a sub-committee scheduled to report to the senate finance committee Thursday. Another bill to reduce the judiciary appropriations had been introduced.

In a statement, R. A. Stuart of Fort orth, president of the board of regents of the state teachers colleges, said reduction in the education appropriation bill would cause "endless confusion and uncertainty" and would nullify contracts made in good faith by the regents.

Wisconsin Tavern Keeper Beds Down For The Winter

WATERTOWN, Wis., Oct. 13 (AP)—Arthur E. (Turkey) Gehrke, the hibernating barkeeper, has bedded down for the winter.

Beginning his 27th annual winter retreat today, Turkey locked himself in his bedroom on the second floor of his tavern and denied himself to visitors.

Even tapping on a water pipe from the main floor failed to bring a response.

Gehrke's bartenders said he was out of circulation until spring. Meals will be sent up by dumbwaiter.

Turkey began his strange habit of retiring for the winter when he was stricken with a stomach ailment many years ago. He found that by staying in bed he felt better.

In 1903 New York City received a downpour of nearly 10 inches of rainfall in 24 hours.

Contest Rules Are Planned

Contest rules for teams in the annual Boy Scout sustaining club roundup scheduled Oct. 18 through 30 will be drafted at a dinner meeting at Hilton hotel tonight at 7:30 o'clock of rival "ranch foremen" and their "straw bosses."

The rival "foremen" are Marion Sanford and C. I. (Stoney) Wall, and their competition will be confined to the city of Lubbock. Each will have eight "straw bosses" as his lieutenants, although Wall had not completed his list of assistants Tuesday night. Contest rules will be drawn up, and the foreman of the winning crew will be privileged at some future but very public occasion to clip the shirt-tail of the loser.

Sanford's straw bosses, to whom he issued an urgent appeal to attend the meeting tonight, were announced as being Dr. C. C. Schmidt, Herman Fink, Roger Pierce, Joseph R. Griggs, Cecil Schwalbe, Dr. Marshall Harvey, Hurley Carpenter and J. A. Raley, jr.

Total Of 82 In Work

Wall said he will complete his list today and notify his lieutenants personally to be on hand. Among them will be O. A. Terry and C. H. (Brownie) Hamilton.

Each of the straw bosses is to have four "punchers" as his assistants, bringing into action in the competition a grand total of 82 men.

Meanwhile, according to report of Earl M. McClure, scout executive, plans are going forward throughout the South Plains area for the roundup. Separate drives will be staged in each of the 26 towns and communities where scouting is actually operative, and each drive will be in charge of a local committee which will adopt its own plan of operation.

Russell Horton, Tenor, Is To Be Heard In Amarillo Concert

AMARILLO, Oct. 13. (Special) — Russell Horton, tenor, will give a concert in Amarillo on Thursday night, October 14. He will appear under the sponsorship of the Tri-State Fair Association. Elizabeth Cline, one of the west coast's top ranking players, will be his pianist.

Horton is the first in a series of artists to be brought to the Panhandle for the winter season. He will be recognized by many for his picture roles in several of Grace Moore's films. His latest picture with Miss Moore is "I'll Take Romance."

He has a tenor voice of fine and sympathetic quality, clear enunciation and a winning personality.

The concert will begin at 8.15 in the Municipal Auditorium. There will be no reserved seats. Tickets cost 40 cents each.

Plane With Wings Like Bird Is Given Trial By Italians

ROME, Oct. 13 (AP)—An airplane wing flexible like the wing of a bird and patented five years ago in Washington, is being given a tryout by the Italian air force.

Ugo Antonio

Under the eyes of the inventor, Ugo Antonio, of Pisa, an experimental plane is under construction at the enormous "air city" of Guidonia, near here.

Antonio's airplane is a combination of the flexible wing idea and an invention consisting of an automatically flexible section of the wing which varies its curvature according to the speed of the plane and acts as a stabilizer.

Antonio's plane was given a tryout some years ago in England. It gave excellent performance until one day when it was wrecked. Since then he has refined his plans.

He says the plane will rise 3,000 feet in seven minutes, 6,000 feet in 18 minutes, can change its velocity from 300 to 100 m.p.h. in six seconds by varying the curvature of the wing, can land practically within its own length and can rise almost vertically.

Antonio has been working on his various aeronautical inventions since 1907, when he obtained his first patent in Germany. He is a keen student of the principes of bird flight.

New Mexico has 2915 miles of railways within its borders.

Plans For Artist Course Discussed

Texas Technological college's artist course committee, in session Tuesday afternoon, discussed plans for the artist course attractions and sale of tickets, said R. A. Mills, chairman.

It was announced season tickets to faculty members and other Lubbock residents not in school would cost $3.50. Single admissions will be $1. Tickets will go on sale early next week, officials announced.

Attractions which already have been scheduled are: Jan Kubelik, Czech violinist, Nov. 22; Jooss European ballet, Jan. 17; and Harold Bauer, pianist, March 2. A fourth, whcih has not yet been announced, will be presented later.

Members of the council for this year are: Don Murphy, O. A. St. Clair, Julien Paul Blitz, Miss Vivian Johnson, Miss Ruth Pirtle, and Mills, faculty members; Doris Jobe, Gloriadel Bowen, Linda Treadwell, Joe Stanley, James Forbis, and Van Schied, students. They were appointed by the president of the college and president of the student council.
