

Police Chief, Civic Center Manager To Retire

Street Paving Bid
A Low $254,803

Price Construction of Big Spring submitted the low bid of $254,803.40 to repair almost every paved street in Colorado City and to pave streets in the Colorado City Cemetery.

The bid was the lowest of seven opened during the regular monthly meeting of the city council of Colorado City Tuesday night.

City voters approved a bond issue of $425,000 to do the paving work on city streets and in the cemetery. City officials had been expecting some good bids but the low bid was slightly better than expected.

The opening of bids was one of several major items before the council Tuesday night. One item included revision of personnel policies which will result in retirement within the near future of the chief of police and the civic center manager. The revisions, dictating retirement when fulltime city employees reach the age of 65, was necessary in order to comply with federal employment guidelines, city officials noted.

One other revision of city personnel policy was to delete as a city holiday the day of city elections as due to federal law, that date must now be on Saturday. Previously, it fell on Tuesday.

Several members of the council also renewed their concern about efforts of the telephone company to give the best in service locally. "We don't deserve to be treated like this," said Councilman J. Lee Jones Jr., who noted he has let the phone ring as many as 45 times on several occasions in an attempt to get an operator. Jones said that rescinding the rate increase granted Southwestern Bell Telephone earlier this year should be considered by the council.

Mayor Dr. Elton Berkman said he has not had any complaints about telephone service but Councilwoman Jody Neff said she had a complaint from one man who had tried to resolve a problem with the telephone company.

The council also voted to amend a city ordinance on having a parks and recreation board with Larry Hamner casting the only dissenting vote, saying that no monies are available and having such a committee would be useless.

However, other members of the council said such a board could come up with good ideas for park and recreation facilities and could possibly find financing through state and federal sources.

Councilman Jones suggested that the council could submit a bond issue on parks improvement to the people again for another vote, a suggestion to which several council members agreed. This is something a park board could look into, several members of the council noted. A $75,000 bond issue on park improvement failed by 16 votes in March.

The council also heard reports on work at the cemetery from B. B. Hardee, chairman of the cemetery's permanent care committee. Hardee said the hiring of a caretaker at the cemetery is needed immediately and that a fund drive is now underway to create a fund with which to provide maintenance. Goal of the drive is $30,000 with $3,000 now in the fund.

Hardee said there has been much misunderstanding about the work at the cemetery and pointed out that nothing at the cemetery as it now exists will be changed in regards to the graves. Only new graves will be affected by the new regulations of placement of markers. Anyone who wishes to make contributions to the cemetery fund may do so by sending it to Colorado City Cemetery Association, P.O. Box 912, Colorado City, Tex. 79512.

On the street paving, Price Construction is expected to begin work immediately with work to be completed no later than Aug. 14. Work is to begin no later than June 21.

City Manager James Campbell said money from the sale of city bonds is to be received this week.

Because of the good bids, Campbell said there will be more than $100,000 left over in the bond funds to do other work that the city needs to do. Some of that money will be held over until next summer to do street repair work as it becomes necessary.

However, part of the money will be used to pave either 7th or 8th Street or both into Ruddick Park which has been a high priority item of the city council for several years. However, no money has been available for this project previously.

Other bids opened Tuesday included:

- $271,364.98, Jones Brothers Rental Equipment Co., Inc., Odessa.
- $276,402.90, W. D. Turner Construction, Lubbock.
- $278,210.16, Bontke Brothers Construction Co., Abilene.
- $287,978.75, Pioneer Construction Inc., Abilene.
- $358,180.87, Seidel, San Angelo.
- $361,106.40, Circle Construction Co., Abilene.

The change in personnel policy stated: "Any regular full-time employee shall retire from city service at the end of the month in which he has become 65 years of age."

The only two city employees this now affects are civic center manager Margaret Oyler, who is currently on an extension after having reached 65, and Police Chief Jesse Browning who will become 65 Sept. 6.

Under the new ordinance, Mrs. Oyler must retire as soon as a replacement for her can be found and trained. Browning will have to retire Sept. 30, meaning the city will start looking for a new police chief in the near future.

Burned Chicken Caused It

A man who threatened to whip his wife with his belt when she burned his chicken supper Monday ended up in the yard outside his home when his wife took exception to being whipped and used a two-by-four to beat him on the back and arms.

Colorado City police dispatcher received a call from a neighbor that the man was lying in his front yard and needed assistance.

"He thought his back and arm was broken," the police dispatcher said, "but when they took him to the hospital, they found he was all right, only bruised up a little."

Campbell said the city is now seeking applicants for animal warden and for cemetery caretaker.

During the discussion portion of the council meeting, council members let it be known in no uncertain terms that they expect city employees to enforce all city ordinances.

Warnings have been given on a number of matters including delapidated buildings, abandoned cars, dogs and other animals running loose and now it's time to get tough, members of the council told the city manager.

The police chief told the council that tickets are now being printed to give citations to persons in violation of various ordinances, including the livestock law.

A number of old buildings in the city were discussed and the council was emphatic that something be done as soon as possible to clean up health hazards and eye sores.

Campbell said several old buildings will soon be torn down and work is underway to solve other eyesores.

Board Divided On Exemption Policy

The Colorado ISD school board was divided three ways over setting an official policy for exempting high school students from final exams during a discussion of the matter at Monday's meeting and postponed making a decision until the regular meeting Monday evening.

The CISD board meets the second Monday of each month at 7 p.m. in the Colorado Middle School library.

Last Monday's meeting was a special session as the board first met in the old junior high auditorium where surplus equipment is stored. They briefly inspected the things and set prices for the sale which will be held there Monday and Tuesday.

Sample prices include the following: student desks, $10-15; student chairs, $4; heavy wooden tables, $20-$25; other wood and metal tables, $20; metal folding chairs, $3 and $4; P.E. wire baskets, 50c.

The board then met for the business session which was devoted to a review of 26 pages of policies which needed revision and the exemption policy was the final policy to come under scrutiny.

For the past few years, the policy on exemptions has been to allow students with two or less cuts to be exempt from finals at the discretion of each individual teacher.

This had come under fire from some board members and parents who complained it encouraged sick students to attend class and spread germs causing the sickness to spread, especially cold-type germs or viruses.

The high school attendance record is the best in the school system as Principal Bill Everett said the average attendance is about 96 per cent.

"If the exemptions were to be dropped, I think our attendance would drop to about 90 per cent," he told the board when they asked what effect dropping exemptions would have on the attendance. "This would mean losing some state money which pays for teachers' salaries and a loss of two or three teachers."

"I'm not recommending any of the proposals," Everett said. He had supplied the board with a list of seven methods of handling the exemptions ranging from none to continuing the present policy. "But I do think the present policy keeps students motivated and disciplined."

Some of the board members stressed the idea that testing is also an experience helpful to students, especially those planning to attend college. They questioned the emphasis on ADA instead of the quality of education.

Others spoke up to say that teachers use tests as a teaching device but on unit tests instead of a pass-or-fail final exam and thought the present policy or a similar one would be best.

Finally, saying "We're on high center here and need to do something," Board President Tom Rees polled each board member as to their preference on the policy with the following tabulation:

--Drew Ballard, in favor of no exemption or exempting only students with an average of 90 or above in a subject.

--Gene Blassingame, tentatively saying he also favored no exemption or the above 90 exemption.

--S. L. (Mac) Morris, in favor of a weighted scale as follows: A students, exempt with 3 or less cuts; B, 2 or less; C, one or less; D, exempt with perfect attendance.

--Tom Rees, in favor of no exemption or only those above 90.

--Edward Roach, in favor of the same scale as Morris.

--Truman Bodine, favoring the present policy.

--Jimmie Bolin, also in favor of the present policy.

Only one interested parent was present for the meeting and spoke up for more emphasis on testing as a teaching tool, but some of the board members used their students and students they know personally as examples either for or against the policy.

The decision was postponed as some of the board members said they would like to talk the matter over with some of the students and parents.

Other policy changes included those meeting federal guidelines for Title 9, against any discrimination on a

Newton, Dally Lead Locally In Run-Off

In Mitchell County voting in Saturday's run-off election for Democratic party nominees, Jon Newton held a wide margin over opponent Jerry Sadler, a reflection of the state-wide vote but the county's tabulation of votes for unexpired term, Judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals, was different from the state-wide totals.

The county voting was as follows:

--Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals, Dally, 110; Phillips, 52.

--Railroad Commissioner, Newton, 148; Sadler, 20.

Breakdown of the votes by precincts shows the following:

--Newton, P. 1 & 5, 52; P. 2, 16; P. 3 & 7, 48; P. 4, 26; Absentees, 8.

--Sadler, 5, 2, 9, 4, 0.

--Dally, 39, 12, 38, 18, 3.

--Phillips, 15, 6, 18, 10, 3.

basis of sex. This includes job descriptions of all school personnel as well as a policy for married and pregnant students.

The old policy was changed and the new one allows any married student to participate in any school activity.

Yankees Alone At Top

The Yankees are all alone at the top in Little League standings after they defeated former co-leading Rangers Tuesday 4-3.

It was a hard fought contest with home runs for the Yankees by Robert Gomez and Kim McElligott.

In other games this week, the Astros won over the Pirates 15-12, the Indians downed the Tigers 12-4 and the Dodgers won over the Giants 13-4.

Only one game was played in Farm League action Saturday due to rain. In that game, the Cubs won over the Lions 4-2.

Tonight, Tigers play Rangers at 6, and at 8, the Yankees play the Giants.

Friday, the Dodgers play the Astros at 6 and the Pirates play the Indians at 8.

Saturday in the Farm League, Steers play the Mets at 4; Lions vs. Blue Sox at 6 and Cubs vs. Colts at 8 p.m.

Jubilee Planned At Wallace

The Senior Citizens at Wallace Center are planning a full day of Bicentennial Jubilee celebration at Wallace Center, July 3.

They are asking anyone with antiques, arts and crafts items, etc. who would like to exhibit them to contact the Center for more details.

The all-day fun fair starts at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, July 3 and continues until 7 p.m. that evening with a break at 2:30 being planned so that participants may hear the special speaker, attorney William Robert Smith, at the high school auditorium.

Fun events being planned for the Jubilee include a Country Store where craft items will be for sale and free lemonade and cookies will be served, a snack bar of meals served continuously by the Looney Home Demonstration Club, quilting and soapmaking demonstrations, a watercolor exhibit, antiques on display, a flag display featuring a hand-made flag of the original 13 colonies design, and home-grown vegetables for sale from the Center's vegetable garden. In addition, the specially planted red, white and blue flower garden will be open for visitors to see.

Mrs. Margaret Bodine, physical therapy assistant, helps demonstrate the machine which Miss Treadwell uses in her work as the only speech therapist at Root Memorial Hospital. She has been at the hospital about a month, graduating from Howard Payne College with a degree in Speech Therapy in May. She also did her student teaching in Speech Therapy at Sweetwater and Colorado City public schools and will work under Plan A speech therapy for the public schools next year. She is a native of Wink and provides speech therapy for anyone with a hearing or speech difficulty, including children or adults.

Certify Cotton
Before July 15

Mitchell County cotton farmers are reminded that July 15 is the final date to certify cotton acres at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office in the G-Kell Bldg.

The ASCS county committee of Warren Anderson, chairman; Tom Moore, vice chairman, and Tommy Fuller, member, has also chosen to request certification of grain sorghum acres.

ASCS executive director Don Stewart said that disaster payments are often affected by planted acres and production of different allotment crops.

"You can assure correct certification by looking crops over carefully, making mental notes of areas such as gardens and counting terraces from known points if crops change on the terrace," he said. "Certification of crops is voluntary."

Farmers harvesting wheat or going to harvest should report wheat production within 15 days of harvest, he said. "Damaged wheat must be reported and appraised if not for harvest before other use is made of the area."

In other ASCS reminders, Stewart pointed out that beekeepers should report their number of colonies by July 15 to be eligible for payment for bee losses from insecticides and also reminded that producers participating in the ACP program should report practices as soon as the work is completed.

"We're asking that producers report practices as soon as they are completed or cancel the application if plans have changed and the work will not be completed so that someone else can be approved for the conservation work," the ASCS executive director said.

"Assignment Overseas" told how persons, who as lay people have given volunteer service on foreign mission fields. These people receive no salary and in most cases pay their own expenses.

One can volunteer for a short term project or extended service, and work will include repair, renovation and remodeling of buildings; construction; personal evangelism; engineering; appliance and auto repair, etc.

Those telling about individuals who had volunteered for these places of service and the nature of some of their work while there were Mmes. Harvey Leach, Charlie Harris, Frances Porter, L. E. Crutcher and Bernice Hallmark.

Only a Dodge pickup can handle all you're cravin' for.

The lowest price.
The Dodge D100 is the lowest priced pickup made in America. (Based on a comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail prices for six-cylinder half-ton pickups excluding state and local taxes, destination charges, and optional equipment.)

The best gas mileage.
In the latest EPA tests for half-ton pickups, a '76 Dodge D100 powered by a 225 six-cylinder engine with a manual transmission turned in an estimated mileage of 25 miles per gallon on the highway and 18 in the city. Of course, your actual mileage may vary depending on the type of driving you do, your driving habits, your truck's condition and optional equipment.

The biggest standard payload.
The Dodge pickup can haul a load of up to 1,505 pounds. That's more than any other American made pickup. And the more you can carry, the fewer trips you'll have to make.

Pickup shown:
The Dodge D100 Adventurer will be priced higher because of optional equipment.

Introducing the Average Billing Plan from Texas Electric.

AVERAGE BILLING AMOUNT

ACTUAL USE AMOUNT

If you've ever wished the amount of your electric bills could be more consistent every month — instead of changing so much between seasons — here's your chance.

The Average Billing Plan is being provided by Texas Electric to help smooth out the highs and lows that occur in your electric bills. As the name implies, this new plan enables you to pay an "average" rather than the actual amount used each month. It allows you to pay less during high-use months by paying more during low-use months.

Full details about the plan are in a brochure now being mailed with your electric bill. It should answer any questions you may have.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR:

Dear Friends,

Recently the Colorado City Council voted to convert our cemetery to a Permanent Care type Cemetery.

The Council appointed a committee to spearhead this conversion. After three community wide workdays, the cemetery is in fairly good shape, but if you have seen it the last few years, you are aware of the massive amount of work needed for this.

We are earnestly working toward this goal but to accomplish this we need a large amount of money.

The new selling price on lots will be $100.00 for a lot without monument privileges, $120.00 with, and $30 for babyland lots.

The recommended devotion for those already interred is $100 for one grave, $250 for a four grave lot, $400 for eight and $600 for a 16 grave lot.

We feel that most people who have loved ones interred here will donate this so they can be assured of the permanent care of their lots.

We encourage you to participate in this plan to upgrade our cemetery. We want you to understand this is a voluntary thing we are asking you to do.

If you cannot give the recommended amount whatever you give to the support of the cemetery and its beautification will be greatly appreciated.

We have some tax money and some money already donated, but are several thousand dollars short of what we feel like we need to get the permanent care started.

We need to hire a sexton, buy equipment, install water lines, etc.

We are confident that after we get the initial large expense over and the organization established it will be a self supporting operation.

Please consider these things prayerfully when you write your check.

Please make checks payable to Colorado City Cemetery Association, %City Hall, P.O. Box 912, Colorado City, Texas 79612.

Yours Very Truly,

B. B. Hardee
Chairman, Permanent Cemetery Committee
