

Sec. Rusk Arrives For NATO Talks In Norway

Center Will Eye Cold-War

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department disclosed Saturday the formation of a new cold-war operation center to keep a 24-hour watch on world crisis spots.

The new agency is headed by a veteran foreign service officer and former ambassador, Theodore C. Achilles, 35, who will work directly under Secretary Dean Rusk.

Achilles and his staff, the Department said, are responsible for seeing that recommendations for dealing with crises "are made promptly to the secretary and through him to the president."

The group also is charged with the follow-through duty of making certain that the decisions reached by Rusk and President Kennedy "are promptly implemented."

The new "operation center" with Achilles as Director of Special Operations was first set up about two weeks ago and is still being organized. The first two problems assigned to it are Cuba and South Viet Nam.

Disclosure of the operation center came about in a backhanded way. The department press officer announced the appointment of Stephen E. Smith, 35, a brother-in-law of President Kennedy, as special assistant to Achilles.

Mrs. Neil Spence will be at Central Elementary on Tuesday and Wednesday, and at Lincoln School on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Leah Johnson will be at Northeast Elementary on Tuesday, at Stanfield Elementary on Wednesday and Friday, and at North Elementary on Thursday.

School officials hope that the prospective new students will become better acquainted with the schools and that the schools will be enabled to be helpful to the new students as a result of the conferences with the school nurses.

SHEPARD'S FLIGHT ADDS NEW WORDS TO U. S. LANGUAGE

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Two new terms—"A-okay" and "Freedom 7"—have become part of the American language as a result of the space flight of Alan B. Shepard Jr.

"A-okay" was the way a Project Mercury spokesman, John Powers, reported Shepard's condition and reactions to the press gathered at Cape Canaveral.

"Freedom 7" is the code name given Shepard by his fellow astronauts. Seven is the total number of U. S. astronauts.

The astronauts selected the name several weeks ago for the member of the team who took the first flight.

Powers said "A-okay" means "all-okay" in missile lingo.

Says Joint Effort Vital

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk arrived in Norway Saturday night for a strategy meeting of the Atlantic Alliance which warned that security against tyranny depends on "our joint will and ability to defend our freedom by force if necessary."

The flight of American astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. already had brought hope and cheer for alliance foreign ministers assembling to restore their battered unity.

Rusk called on alliance members to maintain their unity of purpose so that "free societies can flourish."

He expressed hope the conference "will aid in the continuous process of achieving that common outlook on world problems which is vital to the development of the Atlantic community and indeed to peace everywhere."

Rusk, in his debut at a big European conference, also is believed to be bringing President Kennedy's personal word of staunch U. S. support for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The 15-nation NATO Council of Foreign Ministers, opening a three-day political strategy session Monday, will weigh setbacks which, unless swiftly countered, could wreck the unity of the partnership.

Before he returns to Washington, Rusk may also open negotiations with the Communist bloc, including Red China, on the future of Laos. He is ready to attend the first round of the 14-nation Laos conference at Geneva if a cease-fire can be fully secured.

But Rusk's first purpose is making his initial mission to Europe as President Kennedy's foreign policy chief is to attend a meeting of the foreign ministers of the 15-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The ministers will meet at Oslo, Norway, Monday through Wednesday.

Rusk took off from Andrews Air Force base Saturday morning with a party of eight.

Aides said Rusk will not seek any specific decisions from the Allies at Oslo. What he hopes to accomplish is to get the leaders of European countries thinking about an increase in the men and money they can commit to conventional military forces under NATO command.

Kennedy is reported willing to negotiate arrangements for a nuclear striking force for NATO but he wants first priority given to building up conventional forces.

NATO by its own decision of several years ago is supposed to have 30 divisions in Western Europe. It has about 21. Thus the manpower increase needed to bring it up to strength is about 30 per cent. The United States hopes the Europeans also will increase their air and sea units, modernize the weapons of their military programs.

Blast, Fire Rip Building

An explosion and fire early Saturday left a Snyder business building in ruins.

The blast, which was followed by a stubborn blaze, wrecked the building occupied by Clark and Smith Gas Co. and the Star Tire store in the 1600 block of Avenue S.

Snyder firemen fought the blaze for more than an hour, but the blaze was already in command before equipment arrived on the scene.

Fire Chief Warren Boyd said an explosion already had shattered the walls of the building when firemen arrived. The cause had not been definitely determined, but the fire chief theorized that a butane gas truck, which had been loaded late Friday, had developed a leak and had filled the building with gas.

The truck and four other vehicles in the building were charred by the flames.

Flames flared up intermittently as firemen fought the blaze, sometimes shooting high in the air. Chief Boyd said these apparently originated from the fuel tanks on the vehicles in the building and possibly some tractor fuel tanks which were in the building.

City firefighting equipment was supplemented by a dry chemical and foam fire truck of the Western Company, which volunteered its services.

The blaze heavily damaged an unoccupied house just south of the building, but did not spread to other surrounding buildings.

Firemen answered another alarm Friday afternoon outside the city. A haystack burned at the Johnson Ranch, but the flames were kept from spreading to a nearby barn.

Pre-School Visits Set Next Week

Visits to schools have been arranged during the coming week for children who will be starting in the first grade next fall.

The children, along with their parents will attend planning sessions with principals and school nurses at their respective schools.

The schedule mapped for the school nurses are as follows:

Mrs. Neil Spence will be at East Elementary School on Monday and Tuesday, and at Lincoln School on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Leah Johnson will be at Northeast Elementary on Tuesday, at Stanfield Elementary on Wednesday and Friday, and at North Elementary on Thursday.

School officials hope that the prospective new students will become better acquainted with the schools and that the schools will be enabled to be helpful to the new students as a result of the conferences with the school nurses.

Potsdam Papers Are Made Public

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department finally made public Saturday the Potsdam papers.

The two-volume, 2,233-page compilation contained few surprises.

The state papers show President Harry S. Truman and Britain's Prime Minister Winston S. Churchill argued with Soviet Premier Joseph V. Stalin more than they agreed.

The Big Three summit meeting dealt mainly with postwar treatment of Germany and Eastern Europe. But the documents indicate existing control of territory, rather than accord among the allies, shaped Europe in the East-West division which is a dominant feature today.

Dispatches from U. S. Diplomats throughout Eastern Europe told of Soviet obstruction of Western representatives and Communist moves to grab political power in the areas newly liberated from Germany.

The Potsdam papers as part of its continuing program of releasing state documents of historical value, a number of years after the event.

Although newsmen were barred from the conference at the time, the department's book noted many accounts have been published by participants who had access to the documents, including Truman and Churchill.

All were taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Bolger ambulance. They suffered cuts and bruises, but none of the injuries was believed to be serious.

Astronaut's Only Complaint: Flight Wasn't Long Enough

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
GRAND-BAHAMA ISLAND (AP)—Alan B. Shepard Jr. briefed his fellow astronauts Saturday on his 5,000-mile-an-hour journey into space and said "the only complaint I have is that the flight wasn't long enough."

His brief statement came in response to a query from newsmen.

It was passed to them by a press officer who said that Shepard preferred to wait until a massive news conference in Washington Monday before making any further public statement.

Shepard and the other six astronauts will fly in Washington Monday morning. President Kennedy will present Shepard with the Distinguished Service Medal of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and all the astronauts will meet privately for 30 minutes with the President.

Congress will hold a reception for the Navy commander and there is some talk of a Medal of Honor, for which a special Act of Congress would be required.

Shepard, 37, is undergoing intensive physical, medical and psychological tests here to determine if he is suffered any effects from Friday's 15-minute, 115-mile-high ride. Doctors reported Saturday he appeared to be in "excellent health" and very high spirits.

He is staying in a hospital on this island where he was flown after his recovery from the sea.

The other six members of the astronaut team held a long conference with Shepard in the hospital Saturday.

"It was the type of debriefing session that any test pilot holds after a mission," a Project Mercury spokesman reported. "It was a closely detailed discussion of everything that occurred on the flight."

Sitting in on the meeting were Robert Gilruth, Project Mercury director, and Walter Williams, operations director.

Afterwards, astronaut Walter Schirra told newsmen.

"After seeing Al, the best news I can give you is that the training program is going the right way."

John H. Glenn Jr., the "back-up" space pilot for Friday's flight, said that Shepard had undergone five minutes of weightlessness—the longest ever experienced by an

Capital Welcome Set For Shepard

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's capital will roar a hero's welcome Monday to astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. and his party, who will be met by a large crowd of Washingtonians.

The plan is to take about 15 minutes to make the official party, over the mile and a quarter from the executive mansion to the Capitol. The trip will start about 11:30 a. m. and end at 12:30 p. m.

Police are making preparations to handle throngs which may well come close to matching the hundreds of thousands who line the route for inaugural parades.

Scott Carpenter, another of the astronauts, reported Shepard had a view of the earth of 600 miles from horizon to horizon, and repeated Shepard's in-flight comment that it was a "beautiful sight."

Project Mercury engineers Saturday brought tape recordings of the flight from Cape Canaveral so they could talk more intelligently about an engineering viewpoint about what happened.

Ralls Man Is Hurt In Mishap Saturday

Jimmy Rogers, Route 1 Ralls, was brought to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Bell ambulance at about 6:30 p. m. Saturday for treatment of an injury he received in a mishap on the highway.

Sixth Rebel General Gives Up In Algiers; Taken To Paris

ALGERS (AP)—White-haired Gen. Andre Zeller walked wearily into a police station Saturday and surrendered to face trial and possible execution for insurrection in last month's army revolt.

Within three hours, Zeller had been hustled aboard an airplane for Paris to join five other generals imprisoned in Sainte Prison, Gen. Maurice Challe, the ring leader, surrendered when the revolt collapsed. Four other generals in Algiers were arrested for supporting the insurrection and were sent to Paris.

But Challe's chief lieutenants in the uprising, Gen. Raoul Salan and Edmond Jouhaud are still at large.

Armored cars and riot police moved into on tense Algiers Saturday night in an alert for possible weekend trouble. The move was accompanied by mounting Muslim terrorism in the countryside and growing tension in crowded Muslim settlements in Algiers.

Zeller, fourth in command, told police he had been hiding with relatives in Algiers since the night of April 25, when Challe threw in the towel and the revolt ended.

Zeller, 63, said he was in civilian clothes that night and simply drove off in a private car. The other generals, in uniform, boarded trucks taking paratroopers. Zeller was reported worn out from 10 days of hiding.

He told police he had not been in contact with other leaders of the insurrection or with right-wing extremists, who had hoped to prevent President Charles de Gaulle from instituting a self-determination policy for Algeria. Government officials said numerous documents dealing with the insurrection were seized when Zeller surrendered. One document reportedly was a membership list of the rightist secret armed organization which supported the coup.

Snyder citizens enthusiastically accepted responsibility for carrying forward the American Field Service program at a Saturday morning meeting. Groups of work will be complete by setting up a local AFS Chapter.

Representatives of 22 civic organizations and social club groups were in attendance. Several citizens interested in seeing the program continued here were also present.

Members elected for the various posts on the local chapter are Mrs. M. H. Roe, president; J. M. Kayser, high school liaison; Robert R. Patterson, Americans Abroad; Joe F. Cargile, finance; and Mrs. Don Robinson, secretary.

Other interested citizens included Mrs. Daniel R. Martin, foreign student mother for the 1960-61 school year; Mrs. Don Robinson, mother of the foreign exchange student for the 1959-60 school year; the Rev. Jack Dean, pastor of the Northside Baptist church; and Mrs. Dean and Mrs. Hugh C. Lowry, Everett Carlson, foreign exchange student from Sweden attending senior classes in the high school this year, was also present.

Several pledges were made or indicated that they would be forthcoming. A few contributions were actually received. Groups to be rounded up for financial help at this point are the Alvarado Club, Kiwanis Club, Ministerial Alliance, PTA, and the Art Guild.

A personal contribution was made Saturday morning by Mrs. Ruby Anderson, Mr. Cargile, mother of finance for the local AFS chapter, suggested that all further pledges and other contributions be made by mailing them to post office box number 900, Snyder, Texas. American Field Service chapter.

Since financing the program will be one of the chapter's main functions, it is most desirable that all pledges be made as soon as possible. Since the reorganization movement got underway a week ago, many groups have had an opportunity to bring this important community project to the Soil Stewardship Week Is Launched

Without a doubt, city and farm people alike have an interest in the most natural resource, particularly the soil, it was explained. This interest goes beyond the present use of land. Also discussed was the demands that will be placed on land by future generations, as well as the obligation that people today have to those who follow.

"After all, we are only stewards of the land as well as everything we acquire in life," Fowler said. "We come into the world with nothing and leave it the same way." The farmer and rancher see their responsibility to the land through the day-to-day application of good land use practices. The professional soil conservationist recognizes his responsibility as a steward of the soil through his dedication to the cause of conservation.

The city people also have an interest in Soil Stewardship Week. Perhaps they better than any other should grasp the meaning of "The Earth, the Lord's." They see His handiwork in the countryside on their Sunday afternoon drives—in the green grass and in the well-terraced fields. They reap the harvest of the land in food, but moderate cost groceries in the clothes they wear and in the houses they live in. Their very lack of contact with the land should make it more meaningful to them and their livelihood.

"As stewards of the earth, we have set aside Soil Stewardship Week so that these rich blessings may be shared by all," Fowler concluded.

His broad jump showing was especially important in view of the pressurized circumstances under which he was jumping. Each contestant was given three leaps in the preliminary round, with the best of the three being used in advancing into the finals, which were made up of three additional springs.

Johnson found himself mixed in fourth place going into his sixth and final jump with his best spanning up to that time being 22 1/2 ft. He rose to the occasion, however, and cleared the bar by a margin of the important additional second place points.

The importance of those points at the time, he said, were all he needed to gain the Tiger, their second place team showing, as final tabulations showed them to be ahead of third-place Dumas and fourth-place St. Ignace, tallying down 20 big points in the final mile relay event, had a grand total of 64 in coping the title.

weck) was credited with his second victory of the season against one defeat. Jim Brewer, making his first start of the season, was the winner. Brewer and the Cardinals engaged in a pitching battle until the Cardinals found the batting range in the sixth.

It was a close contest in the pitching, as was Joe Schafermann's replacement.

Daryl Spencer singled and Charley Leach doubled for his third straight hit. The Cardinals won the big inning. Don Tausig singled and Spencer scored but James was thrown out at home. Schafermann pitched the seventh, scoring Tausig, and rode home himself on Julian-Javier's single.

Mel Wright replaced Schafermann in the eighth. Tausig led the Cardinals to a run-scoring single to Don Ladd before the Cardinals were retired.

Ernie Balazs pitched in the first inning and scored when Ron Sano hit a home run off the knee of pitcher Sadecki.

Loraine's Bulldogs powdered the Roby Lions, 13-4, at Towle Park here Friday to go 1-up in the best of three series for the District 13-15 baseball title.

The second game of the series has been set for 3 p. m. Monday, also on the Towle Park diamond.

Loraine is winner of the west half of play, while Roby is the east half victor, league rules calling for a playoff series in order to determine a champion.

Carry Back Derby Victor

By JOHN F. CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April—Carry Back, the little Florida-born colt who had defied bloodlines to travel a mile and one-quarter and win the Kentucky Derby last year, was crowned Saturday before a roaring crowd at ancient Louisville's Churchill Downs.

Crozier was three more lengths back and Carry Back, running sixth, about 14 lengths behind its leader.

As they straightened for home, Crozier took the lead with Four-and-Twenty in the runner-up spot and Bass Clef a surprise third. But Carry Back was now alone and headed on to victory.

Sherlock, owned by Jacob Sherer, was fifth, followed by Globemaster, and Four-and-Twenty. Finally, the otherpart of the American Phalarope, the 8-year-old gelding, milent sunshine, was on the sticky side.

It was the slowest time since Calumet Farm's Tim Tam required 2:06 on a muddy strip in winning the 1958 derby.

Carry Back did just as his owner had been telling the Louisville people he'd do as he came home.

However, he turned out a derby winner here this May Saturday. The field broke from the gate at the head of the long Churchill Downs stretch at 4:31 p.m. EST. Alberta Ranches' Four-and-Twenty, ridden by Johnny Longden sprinted into the lead.

Leonard P. Sasso's Globemaster

With Johnny Sellers, the nation's leading rider, in the saddle Carry Back charged from 11th place after the first half-mile to 1st place in the final half-mile. The winner, a brown son of Saggy-Joppy by Star Ellen, returned $7 to win the $100,000 favorite of the crowd estimated at the usual 100,000. Crozier, who was trying to win a second Derby for horses of his own blood, was carried off by Ramon Baena. Bass Clef had Ronnie Baldwin up.

The critics had been saying Carry Back was unfashionable bred principally because of his sire, Saggy. In 1948, Saggy upset the great Citation for his only defeat in 20 starts but did little after that in a race horse.

Carry Back, sporting the blue and silver hoops and sleeves of Mrs. Katherine Price of Miami, became the first favorite to win the Run for the Roses since the quarter-mile had taken over the lead. Crozier was third, Emil A. Dust's Dearborn was fourth, Janet Stable's Light Lark fifth and Robert Lee Mack's Dearborn of the sex. Sellers was hiding his time with Carry Back.

Tigers Garner District Title Tie

By Jerry Jackson
News Sports Editor

A pair of timely squeeze bunts served to propel Snyder's back-to-back Tigers into a district co-championship here at Towle Park yesterday. And score an assist for the Colorado City Wolves, who rose up to blank Lamesa, 3-0, to bring in the title tie.

Lamesa entered the C-City game with a 4-1 district mark, while Snyder stood at 3-2. Thus, a Tornado win would have given them outright possession of the coveted bunting. Southpaw Steve Hillhouse set them down on just three hits, however—two of which were a double and a single by catcher Harvey Everheart—to throw the race into a final deadlock. Hillhouse walked just one and struck out 16 in posting the Wolf win.

A best of three games series for the right to advance into the playoffs will be reeled off this coming week at times and sites as yet undetermined. Tiger coach Speedy Moffett plans to meet with Lamesa officials today, however, in order to arrive at a decision concerning same.

Freddy Miller pitched shutout ball against the visiting Mustangs in yesterday's hard-earned and decisive triumph, but weakened in the seventh to give up two hits, a walk, and the sole Pony run before stepping down in favor of lefty Bennie Greenfield.

Snyder cut the initial scoring ice in the fourth frame. Frank Moore looped a two-bagger into left to ignite things, then took third on a wild pitch as uncorked by catcher-turned-pitcher Rinaldo Sepeda, who went all the way for Sweetwater to be charged with the loss. Then Miller, with two strikes already on him, brazenly laid down a squeeze bunt to platter Moore easily and give the Tigers a shaky 1-0 margin.

The Mustangs came to life in the do-or-die seventh to chase Miller. Ronnie Turnbow singled sharply past third to lead off the inning, after which Miller bore down to whiff centerfielder Beatty for the first out.

Turnbow stole second and Forrest Holloway took over the vacated sack via base on balls, bringing up diminutive shortstop Lance Hall, who doubted deeply to left to score Turnbow and advance Holloway to third.

Confident came on at that point, with Miller shuffling over to first. Mike Perry was the first man to face him, at which point the Mustangs attempted to squeeze Holloway home, but one pitch-out later found him sacked up in front of the plate. Ronnie Wylie making the tag for the second out. Perry was then walked intentionally to bring up Bill Shaw, who got himself called out on strikes to end the inning.

The Tigers wasted no time in wrapping up the game in the home half of the seventh. Miller doubled down the left field line to lead off the eighth, after which he failed to bring on Jerry Franks, who attempted to sacrifice bunt him to third and in the process got on base himself when Sepeda gobbled up the ball, faked a throw to third, and realizing he was too late to nab Miller, by which time it was too late to make a play on Franks.

Franks pilfered second to advance into scoring position himself, and Wylie broke up the game by laying down a bunt as Miller came roaring in on the squeeze from third.

Greenfield, who adequately smothered the Pony uprising in the near-fatal seventh, was credited with the victory. It upped his district record to 3-2 and gave him a season record of 4-3.

On a team basis, the Tigers won 20 and lost 10 for the campaign, with their final district reading being 4-3. Sweetwater, following yesterday's loss, fell to a final 2-10 for the year and the cellar slot in the district at 1-5.

Softballers Start Play

Snyder's City Softball League will blast off tomorrow night, with three teams going to the first night of first.

The games will be played on the field just south of the high school, with the first being slated for 7 p.m. and the second at 9 o'clock. Forfeit time will be observed, and any team ready to field a team by 15 minutes following the scheduled starting time will automatically be disqualified for the night.

Also, the first game of the night in each instance will have a time limit, and no new inning may be started after 8:45 p.m.

Should the first game go over the time limit, the teams playing the second game will be permitted to begin play as soon as both teams are ready, but no later than 9:15.

All postponed games will be played as soon as possible following the postponement on nights calling for a "bye" in the league play. The byes were facilitated due to the league's having only seven instead of eight teams participating.

Postponed games may also be made up on any nights in which there are no other contests scheduled or at any other time as agreed upon by the players and managers of the teams involved.

On postponed games, the forfeit times at Snyder Softball will be in effect unless otherwise agreed upon by the two competing teams.

Plans call for a triple-round robin slate covering some three months of activity. Team sponsors include Von Roeder Seed Farms, Greenhill Baptist Church, Devers' Mobil, Deaton's Gulf, R. E. Smith, Fields' Service Station, and Harlin Oilers.

The entire season schedule follows, with the first game of the night in each instance being listed first. On those dates in which only one game is scheduled, a bye is in evidence.

Abilene Cops AAAA Title

AUSTIN (AP)—Abilene's versatile Eagles won their third state Class AAAA schoolboy track championship in a row and fifth in history Saturday. The Eagles tied Andrews of Class AAA for the most titles, each having won five.

The massive state meet, greatest in the 51 years of its existence, set 1 records and equalled six in two days and one night of running, jumping, and throwing. Three of the records were overall—3:17.5 in the mile relay by Abilene and a 175 feet 1 inch discus throw by Russell Wayt of Whittier in Class A going as overall records and a 9.5 100-yard dash by Billy Foster, the great Dallas Sunset athlete who won three first places in Class AAAA, going as a tie of an overall mark. Abilene rolled up 76 1-3 points to win the title going away. Baytown finished a distant second with 43 points.

Bloomington won the mile relay—last event on the program—to take the Class A championship with 42 points. Sour Lake was second with 30.

Lazbuddie, which won only one first place—the 440-yard relay—took the championship of Class B with 40 points. Lueders was second with 37 points.

Andrews repeated as Class AAA champion Friday night while Taylor won Class A.

Abilene squand up the meet with a great flourish—its 3:17.5 in the mile relay set the team of Tommy Yarbro, who did 40.9; Jerry Newman, 50.4; Chuck Evans, 48.4, and David Winkles, 48.8, coming within 2.3 seconds of the national record held by Andrews.

Andrews set the record in an individual meet at 3:15.2. It is not considered as a state standard because it was not set in a state meet.

Abilene also tied the state record in the 440-yard relay with 42.0 while its Jerl Franklin set a new Class AAAA high jump record of 6 feet 3 3/4 inches.

Thus Abilene figured in three of the four records hung up in Class AAAA, two of which were ties.

Class A produced three records and a tie—Wayt's discus throw, a 6-2 high jump by Mickey Copeland of Gaston, a 4-3.7 mile by Gary Chisholm of Copperas Cove, and a 19.3 180-yard low hurdles by Gary Collins of Sour Lake that equalled the record.

Abilene's record in the mile relay was 3:17.5.

Tigers Clip Chisox, 11-8

CHICAGO (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, struggling from behind after blowing a five-run first-inning lead, collected five of their 17 hits for three runs in the ninth Saturday to hand the Chicago White Sox their fifth straight loss, 11-8.

The Tigers poked away at seven Sox pitchers, disposing of starter Billy Pierce in the first inning—after he had saddled the Sox with a 1-0 lead—and forced in two runs with three straight walks.

The Travis 7th grade girls capped off their volleyball season recently with a 31-0 win over Lamar 7th.

Brenda Dyes sparked the win with 19 points, a season high and Lamar's Paula Foster topped her team's effort with 11.

A picnic was held following the game for those girls who took part in the sport.

Rerun Season On TV Approaching

By Cynthia Lowry
In the first place, repeated samplings by the top TV rating service indicates that fewer people watch television during the evening when the weather is warm.

There is no sharp drop, but the cycle of viewing indicates that TV's biggest audience is in January and February. After that it gradually drops to a low point during July and August. Between the high and the low there is a difference of about 30 per cent.

Secondly, by reusing a TV program, the sponsor is able to save money. If one episode in a series costs $50,000 to make, it becomes less expensive when it can be used again.

The second time a program is used isn't all gravy—performers and others get extra compensation for successive TV repeats—but it doesn't cost anywhere near as much as a brand-new article. Also, networks charge less for time in warm months.

Not all shows, of course, are old hat. Perry Como's hour spot in the NBC schedule will be filled with a series of English mystery movies, tailored down to 60-minute running time. Spike Jones and a musical show will take care of Danny Thomas' slot for the season, and Ray McKinley's Glenn Miller orchestra will perform a similar chore for "Hennessey."

There will even be live shows, usually news or panel programs. The question most viewers ask—plainly—is why the television industry insists on using reruns as a wholesale business from May to September, when the audience grumbles so much about the practice.

The answer is always the same: "the economics of the business." And the economics of television is a complicated thing.

Demand For Water Still Increasing

The water consumption curve turned upwards for the Colorado River Municipal Water District during April, with a 4.0 per cent gain over the same month a year ago.

The member cities of Odesa, Big Spring and Snyder showed a combined draw of 61,341,000 gallons as compared with 59,518,000 a year ago, or up 3.0 per cent.

Oil companies using water for repressuring took 178,745,000 gallons as compared with 183,023,000 for April of 1960, or down 2.8 per cent.

Total sales for the month amounted to $10,385,000 and ran the first four months total to 2,333,901,000 gallons. The corresponding figures for last year were 778,541,000 for April and 2,331,517,000 for the first four months. The average monthly gain for the first four months has been 4.5 per cent, said O. H. Irie, assistant manager-production.

These were the April figures on municipal consumption. Odesa 358,196,000, up 2.3 per cent; Big Spring 319,894,000, up 16.18 per cent; Snyder 53,556,000, down 6.57 per cent.

Oil companies, with the exception of Sharon Ridge unit which dropped 3 1/2 million gallons, were virtually unchanged. They included SACROC 117,453,000; Sharon Ridge 33,464,000; Lion Oil 24,254,000; Texas Gulf 3,992,000.

The April total compared with 641,843,000 gallons in March.

April Fails To Produce Its Showers

April showers were conspicuous by their absence in the Snyder area this year.

In fact, there was only one genuine "shower" during the month, and that came during a boisterous thunderstorm which brought high winds and hail, as well as rain, on April 23. The total moisture production was 71.1 of an inch, and that was all the weather man wrote for the month.

There was a little drizzle early in the month, but not enough to register on the rain gauge.

The April production of moisture made a total of 3.78 inches for the year, slightly below the average for the first four months, but substantially more than the 1.96 inches received during the first four months of 1960.

In April of last year, only 28 of an inch of rain was measured here.

Receiving awards were employees from all over the company's system with 10, 20, 35 and 30 years of service.

Among them were three local men. H. R. Murray, former superintendent of the Snyder plant who retired recently and now lives on the Lamesa Highway, received a year award for 25 years of service.

Carl L. Lister, superintendent of the Snyder plant, with 15 years of service, received a ring, and W. W. Davis, an operator, received a 10-year award at Odesa on May 2.

Wives of the employees, or a honored guests at the banquet.

Firm Honors Its Employees

Receiving awards were employees from all over the company's system with 10, 20, 35 and 30 years of service.

"Average" Americans are so much taller these days than formerly that hotels and motels are raising shower heads and installing longer bathtubs. Here's an idea to copy if you are building or renovating a family home.

Chef's Cap Denotes Rank-Cleanliness

The tall white hat which identifies a fine chef dates all the way back to 1860, when the King of France recognized and franchised the cook's union.

Besides having this traditional meaning, the hat is also functional, since its hand absorbs perspiration and its puffy top allows air to circulate. The choice of washable white denotes cleanliness—an essential attribute of chef and kitchen alike.

Cleat Tuba

How do you keep a tuba clean? With a tub bath, of course! At least, one professional musician in Philadelphia washes his tuba in a bathtub filled with suds.

STORK SHOWER—Mrs. Collett Stewart was honored with a surprise pink and blue shower at her home Tuesday evening. Pictured above with the honoree are hostesses, Mrs. Tommie Conner, Mrs. Mildred Smith, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Bill Dryden and Mrs. Nell Green.

How The Eastern Half Lives

"Gifts Of Passage" By Sophia Rama Rao

Autobiographical without being a formal life story, this is a collection of magazine pieces strung together chronologically to depict the life of the Hindu woman who wrote "This is India," "East of Home," and "Home to India."

The daughter of an Indian diplomat, the author began roaming when she was six. She was educated in England and America and is married to an American writer. For years she has been traveling all over the world—Somewhere she seems to have missed South America—and writing about what she sees.

With that background, with a sharply observing mind and articulate style, she scarcely can fail to keep the reader interested. But she goes far beyond mere entertainment. She is particularly well equipped to interpret the East to the West. The principal thing to be derived from this book is a fresh personal knowledge of how the other half—actually far more than half—lives. And thinks.

She tells you about exotic places, but she has the grace to do it naturally, without the obviousness of a travel writer. To the chapter called "The Missionary," for example, she gives you a picture of a stranded missionary woman, and it is very candid, but it is done with compassion and understanding.

And in "The Laughing Dutchman and the Devil Dancers," you understand how in Ceylon there can be a true and basic link between psychology and native "superstition." But perhaps the most illuminating chapter is the final one, in which the author, having returned to India from a visit in Russia, contrasts the grim single-mindedness of the Russians with the more emotional and childlike nationalism of her native people.

In this book you meet a live and sensitive mind. Short of spending years in the East on your own, there is no better way of learning what that part of the world really is like.

A Romance Blooms In Chaotic Congo Setting

"Pilgrim Strangers" By Charles Mercer

This is an interesting adventure story about a father and three children who meet a certain nurse at a mission station in Africa. It is a romantic story told in a fresh and engaging way.

But there is a second reason to attract the reader to this book. Most of the action is in the Congo, and the climax comes when the missionaries have to flee the lives during the natives' uprising. Hence it contains a vivid description, from the standpoint of a handful of human beings, of a turbulent and confused social change that will be going on.

In that respect, it conveys much more meaning than would a stack of governmental or political reports.

The central figure is Barney Duke, who became an airplane pilot in barnstorming days, fought in the war, and flew for the air force. His estranged wife, a minor actress in Hollywood, has been taking care—nominal, that is—of their three children while Duke, now 37, and a partner run a charter plane service in Africa. The story begins when Mrs. Duke is killed in an auto accident. The father takes the children to Africa and leaves them at the mission for safekeeping. The mission is run by a Dr. Uhl, who proves to be the wisest of the lot when the crisis comes. The nurse is Jane Spear, who gains the children's love and finally their father's.

The narrator is Melissa Burke, 14, eldest of the three children. The others are Michael, 12, and Julia, 10. The story is told through Melissa's eyes, and she is a good storyteller. She is a child who is not afraid to face the elements of comedy in the tragic chaos of the Congo. The message is valid, as you will understand as you read the book.

Some of the characterizations are revealing. Luke Worth, an Americanized Negro who thinks himself a failure, redeems himself in death. Kumbana is portrayed as a sick, scheming African politician with whom some of the natives are foolishly impressed.

Mercer, who was the author of "Rachel Cade," is a writer with a deft touch and he brews in this novel a wonderfully effective blend of melodrama, humor and pathetic sympathy.

He Wears An Apron Proudly

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A little home training will never hurt a prospective husband, advises a 17-year-old high school senior, Richard Lopez.

He is this year's "Boy of the Year," chosen by the Boys' Club of America.

Richard should know. Since his Dad died six years ago, he has been housekeeper, nurse, cook and a father to his twin brothers, age 11. His mother works in a dry cleaning establishment.

Richard isn't a good-looking boy because he wears an apron at times.

The dark-eyed 15-year-old is a top scholar, an all-around athlete, captain of the basketball, basketball and tennis teams of Bowie High School, member of the football squad, sports editor, manager and photographer for the school paper, personality of the year and choir president in 1960. He's also vice-president of the Future Farmers of America.

President's Buddy

The highlight of his life came recently when he attended an opening day ball game with President Kennedy who unexpectedly offered him a invitation.

"We had FBI inspectors and wives and hot dogs," he says beaming, "and the President gave me an autographed ball signed 'The Congressmen' and the Washington Senators ball team."

He is the most genuinely nice person I've ever met. When I told him I wanted to study like at Harvard, he advised me to get the job in the city and then come to Harvard.

Home For The Boys

"But then my sister in Houston offered to have Mom and the boys live with her until I finish college."

Richard's rigorous schedule doesn't leave him much time for dates. He doesn't have much money, although he manages to take a girl to a movie once in a while.

"We start chores at 6:30 on Saturday morning," he explains. "We put laundry in the machine while we clean the living room. The boys get the hang-on-the-line deal while I start the bed room."

"When you have a system, chores are lighter," Richard advises.

After a two-week wedding trip they will make their home in Snyder.

ON THE HOUSE

AP Newfeatures
By ANDY LANG

From various sources come these bits of information of interest to the house owner:

Hardwood flooring manufacturers are disturbed because the word resilient is always applied to certain kinds of flooring materials but seldom to hardwood. They say that hardwood floors are truly resilient, being capable of withstanding shock without permanent deformation, or rupture and being able to absorb shock caused by walking.

A motivation research firm has completed a survey to determine what factors most influence the purchase of a house. Those interviewed were asked to rank five factors according to importance. The factors were: style of house; type of construction and materials; size of rooms; arrangement of rooms; and low price. According to the company, 74 per cent rated construction and materials first. Next came size of rooms, arrangement of rooms; and low price.

Thinking about making a patio or terrace? For a concrete floor that's a little different, you might consider the use of brightly colored pebbles imbedded in the concrete and left exposed. This not only gives a striking finish that blends with the surrounding landscape, but provides a non-skid surface.

A gentleman we know who wanted a second bathroom in his home, but had very little space for it, solved the problem by using up-furished mobile-home fixtures. He discovered that he could get a bathtub only 46 1/2 inches long. Made of fiberglass-reinforced plastic, with molded-in color, the tub fitted neatly into the small space available. He was able to finish the bathroom with other under-sized fixtures weighing considerably less than the conventional types.

Speaking of space—or the lack of it—there's usually more of it in your home than you realize. In closets, for example, there is usually a lot of wasted space over the clothes poles. This area can be outfitted with a series of shelves and a perforated hardboard panel. Fitted with specially-made hooks,

Outstanding Women Of 1960 Is Named By Who's Who

CHICAGO—Awards honoring women of achievement in fourteen professional, social, and cultural fields have been conferred on Outstanding Women of 1960 by Jackson Martindell, publishers of Who's Who of American Women and Who's Who in America.

Recipients were selected by the editors of Who's Who of America, Who's Who in America, in observance of the second edition of the women's biographical dictionary. The book is to be issued late in May.

The fourteen women honored by the publishers, Martindell's Who's Who, are among the more than twenty thousand to be listed in the second edition of this reference book devoted to American women who are outstanding among others of their sex.

While recognizing that many women among the thousands considered might qualify as outstanding, Mr. Martindell said, the editors have selected the fourteen finally cited as outstanding in their opinion because of the particular combinations of circumstances in each case.

Want A Nest Egg?

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newfeatures Writer

To be independent save your money, advises Dick Crenna, once a teen-age radio actor.

Still in the acting business, today he is now enjoying the fruits of his labors.

"You don't need to work at something you don't like because you are desperate. If you have a nest egg," he points out.

You can save part of the tiniest pay check just by pretending that it is even smaller, suggests Dick. He began saving out of 35 cents a week at age 11, his earnings for appearing on radio in "Boy Scout Jamboree."

"My mother opened a bank account for me and I used to take pennies and nickels down to the bank and deposit them myself. When relatives asked what I wanted for my birthday or Christmas, I would ask for a dollar. Then I'd deposit it toward something I wanted."

Every Nickel Helps

Have a goal when you save, he says. Start but for ice skates, school books or tuition. Later on in life it will not be difficult to save for car, home and family.

"I had a nice home, but I don't worry about living up to the public eye as many Hollywood people do."

Dick wouldn't worry if others think his habits are peculiar. His wife and he spend the money on sports they enjoy hunting, fishing and skiing.

He cautions teen-agers not to worry what their friends think if they adopt a saving plan that meets with the approval of others.

Wrong Either Way

Walter Brennan has the perfect answer to that one. "If a fellow has made a lot of money and ends up broke, people say he has thrown his money away. If he saves his money, they say he has the first dime he ever made. So you may as well have it as not," says Dick.

He hopes his children (18 and 16 months) eventually go to college. He doesn't want them in the theater.

Although his parents encouraged him to act, they were not stage struck.

"I'm not in favor of molding children into anything," he says. "I've enjoyed being young."

Tree Scout Goes Far Afield To Dig 'Talent'

There's a group of talent scouts roaming the countryside these days and their business is booming! They're called tree scouts and they're looking for arboreal beauties that can be transplanted to the home site - and to showplace factories and institutions for shade and decorative purposes.
There's no recession the tree scouting business-arboreal "finds" are sought eagerly with the supply never quite catching up with the demand. This primarily because many sources for healthy, handsome specimen trees that can be transplanted are drying up. The best arboreal "finds" occur in old or abandoned nursery blocks, on estates being cut up for real estate development, and on old farms. One of the new sources is on acreage condemned for super-highway construction.
Trees most in demand today are the maple, oak, linden and plane tree, with honey locust and sweet gum close runners-up. Flowering ornamentals, too, for the home grounds and for institutional and industrial plantings are receiving their share of attention with emphasis concentrated on redbud, dogwood, flowering cherry, flowering crab apple, magnolia and other exotic beauties.
Tree scouts are ranging farther and farther afield in their search for desired specimens. These generally are larger than nursery stock but still young enough to respond well, after transplanting. They are transported at times as much as 400 miles to the planting site. Aside from difficulties of distances involved, there are such other problems encountered as limitations on size and age of trees that can be moved. Two modern highways impose limits on weight, height and width of loads that may be legally transported.
In the past decade, the value of drugs produced from plants has risen from about $50 million a year to $250 million.

Hospital 318,000 Women Built

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor
June 6 is moving day. From dawn to dusk strange cars, trucks and cars and ambulances will be seen in Jerusalem and en route to a fair three miles away.
There in the ageless hills of Judea, overlooking the Biblical town of Ein Karem, 500 patients and 1200 medical personnel will be settled into the largest, most modern hospital establishment in the Middle East. It's the new Hadassah-Hebrew University Medical Center which 318,000 American women built.
"To get it done all in one day we'll commandeer every kind of vehicle we can" says Mrs. Nathan Periman, chairman of the Hadassah medical organization committee. "But because we're moving doesn't mean the medical center is finished. The medical school isn't built, and we're still trying to raise funds for the Mother and Child Clinic."

New Radial unit
When it's completed, the center will be a medical city of 21 buildings, combining healing, teaching and research.
Including the operating suite, the hospital will treat 200,000 people a year, with Jews, Christians and Arabs given equal treatment. For maximum care of acute cases, the 500-bed teaching hospital incorporates a new concept. Rooms are on corridors radiating from central nurses' stations. Electronic devices enable the patients to speak to the nurse at her station and receive immediate reply.
The medical school will give special courses for students from African and Asian countries. "Do you realize there is not one native doctor in the whole of the Congo?" asks Mrs. Periman. "In addition, there will be nursing and dental schools."
Had beginning in War
The center's history goes back to 1948. In the Arab-Israeli war, the Hadassah hospital, on Mt. Scopus was cut off from Israeli use—and it still stands unused, under United Nations jurisdiction. The need for hospitals was pressing and Hadassah, an American Jewish organization, took action.

They quickly threw up five makeshift hospitals, one in a former Arab harem.
One of the women was Mrs. Abraham Tulin, now national medical center committee chairman. "I remember one evening," she recalls, "we were still under siege and there was no electricity. By candlelight we met with the doctors and professors. They said 'We will come out of this difficulty and we must go forward. For Jerusalem to get a shot in the arm Hadassah should announce it plans to build a medical school.'"

"By the next year we had established a school—in 28 scattered buildings, none with enough room space. Famous professors were

Biographical Sketches Add To Congressional Directory

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Special Service
WASHINGTON, (AP) — The newest Congressional Directory has just been published. Some of its most interesting and informative pages are the biographical sketches of Senate and House members.

First of all names in the 932-page book is that of the Vice President—Lyndon Baines Johnson, Democrat, of Johnson City, Tex.

The sketch of President Kennedy comes on page 309, as head of the Executive branch of the government. As Vice President, Johnson is President of the Senate.

The description of the average member of the 24-man Texas delegation is about the same as that for the entire Congress.

Age approximately 45, married and father of three children, a veteran and a lawyer, is a church member and belongs to a fraternal order. There are two senators and 22 representatives.

Six of the Texans were born before 1900, three in the 1920s. Two were born at the turn of the century—Rep. Paul Kilday of San Antonio on March 29, 1900, and George Mahon on Sept. 22, 1900.

The Directory lists two women in the Senate and 16 in the House. Texas has never sent a woman to Congress.

Speaker Sam Rayburn, who has represented the Bonham-Sherman district since March 4, 1913, has been in the House longer than any other member. Rayburn, the oldest among Texas members, but not among all House members, will be 80 next Jan. 6. He has been Speaker 16 years, longer than any other man in history.

School Press Awards Told

AUSTIN (AP)—Ninety Texas junior high and high school newspapers won the Interscholastic League press conference's highest award Saturday.

Winners were named at the close of the convention attended by more than 600 student journalists and teachers attending.

In making selections, newspapers were grouped according to region in divisions based on enrollment, except for junior high and local page divisions. These were rated only according to publication method.

Winners of the Award of Distinguished Merit included: Junior high division, mimeographed: Abilene Franklin, Abilene Jefferson, Abilene Lincoln, Electric, Lubbock Sloan and Lubbock Thompson.

High school, mimeographed, Division 2: Waco Connally, White Deer.

High school, mimeographed, Division 4: Orange West Orange.

High school, printed Division 3: Cleburne, Sweetwater Newman, Waco University.

High school, printed Division 4: Amarillo Palo Duro, Amarillo Tascosa, Beaumont South Park, McAllen and Odessa.

High school, printed Division 5: Amarillo, Laredo, Martin, Midland, Port Arthur Jefferson, Waco and Wichita Falls. state's delegation, Clark Thompson of Galveston and Jim Wright of Fort Worth.

Rep. Bob Casey of Houston is still the champion dad in the delegation with nine children, but for the Congress as a whole he trails a New Yorker who has 11.

Members approve their biographical sketches before the book goes to the printer.

Some of the sketches are terse to the point of being of little value as a background source. Clark Fisher notes only that he is a Democrat, from San Angelo, a member of the House Armed Services Committee and was elected to the 78th and succeeding Congresses.

At the other extreme some go into detail, as does the one of Sen. Ralph Yarborough. Among other things it recalls that he "worked passage to Europe on a freighter, spent one year working and studying foreign trade and international relations in Europe, most of this time in Germany (assistant Secretary, American Chamber of Commerce, Berlin); worked as a harvest hand in wheat fields of Oklahoma and as a tank builder in the boom oil town of Borger.

Other data in the Directory includes lists of all top officials in every federal department and independent agency, in the judicial branch and the diplomatic services, and the press, photo, radio and TV people accredited to congressional galleries.

Anyone may purchase the directory at the U.S. Government Printing office for $2.25. Thumb-indexed books cost $4.50.

Oil Demand Disappoints Industry

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON — Demand for oil products the first three months of 1961 was disappointing to the industry.

Demand was 1.2 per cent below the first quarter of 1960. The decline has caused the downward revision of estimates for total 1961 demand, which now is expected to exceed 1960 by only 1 1/4 per cent. This amounts to only 141,000 barrels a day. Earlier forecasts had indicated a 1961 gain of from 2 to 2 1/2 per cent.

The supply and demand committee of the Independent Petroleum Association of America (IPIAA) this week attributed the first quarter decline to warmer than normal weather and to depressed business conditions.

The committee said the general economy now appears to be on the verge of an upturn. The group said the revised estimate on 1961 demand, however, is less than would have been expected during a period of business recovery.

"In part, this development reflects the modest gains forecast in business generally," the committee said.

"More significantly, it is a further indication the annual increases in domestic demand have been tapering off appreciably since 1956."

Prior to 1956 the postwar boom in demand had given the industry an average annual increase in excess of 5 per cent.

The new IPIAA report also included a downward revision for 1961 estimates of domestic crude production. Last October the committee estimated crude output this year would average 7,202,000 barrels a day. This week's report made a forecast of 7,102,000. Actual production last year averaged 7,035,000 barrels a day.

The demand slump and heavier than expected first quarter crude production caused the committee to make downward revisions in its forecasts of crude output for the remainder of 1961.

Actual production the first quarter was 7,285,000 barrels a day, compared to an October forecast of 7,189,000. This week the committee cut its second quarter estimate from 7,094,000 to 7,027,000, reduced its third quarter forecast from 7,147,000 to 6,968,000, and lowered its fourth quarter forecast from 7,370,000 to 7,102,000.

Peak Seen In Red Push

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson says he expects the Communist world of offensive to reach its peak during the next 12 to 18 months.

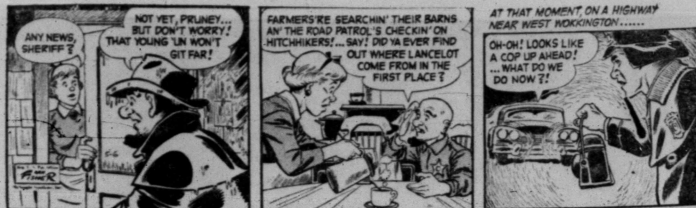

Johnson spoke Thursday night before about 1,500 persons at the annual awards dinner of the Brand Names Foundation in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The means and methods of the Red offensive, Johnson said, "may well depend upon the Communist conclusions about the resolution of the Free World—and especially of the United States."

Warning that we are in for "a long, hard pull," Johnson said the Kennedy administration must have flexibility and freedom of action which could come only from bipartisan support.

Johnson, chairman of the new space council, pledged the eventual superiority of the U. S. in space technology.

5. CHEMICAL POISONING

This may be due to noxious fumes in the air from chemical sprays, auto or industrial waste, salt or leaves, or by chemical weed killers seeping into the soil around roots. Lucid trees are especially susceptible. Wilting, mottling and distortion of foliage are symptoms. After removing the source of injury, aerate and flush the soil with water.

1. DROPSY—Caused by wet feet, or too much water under the root system. Poor drainage generally is responsible. Hemlock and taxus are trees readily affected. Cork-like swellings of irregular shape and size appear on foliage and twigs. The foliage becomes discolored and needles drop off easily. The remedy is trenching, installation of drains or dry wells, to remove excess water.

2. CHLOROSIS—This is common to pin oak, rhododendron and other broadleaf evergreens. Lack of available iron in the soil is a major cause. Trees appear to be anemic. Leaves pale or yellow. Add chelated iron salts to perk up acidity in the soil and pick up the tree.

3. SUFFOCATION—A recent hard hit are new housing developments where fill piled over roots cause shade trees to die back. The heavy layer of soil smothers and retards growth. As branches die, borers and hawk beetles invade and kill. Feed these trees immediately upon spotting symptoms; lower the soil grade, build a well around the tree, then add fine topsoil. If you change the grade, cut back the crown as much as one-third to compensate for loss of root.

4. DISEASED TREES—This is common to many trees, especially maples. Girdling occurs when roots are twisted in planting or if walks or other construction force roots to grow in abnormal directions. In search of food and water, you can detect this trouble by discoloration of foliage or dying branches on one side of the tree. Cut away girdled roots, paint the exposed cuts and feed the tree.

Church Shop

SEATTLE (AP) — When the Robert Hanscoms were looking for a building for their dress shop, they bought an empty church. They turned it into a store with ornate light fixtures from an old theater that was being torn down, painted the inside of the big front door bright pink, moved the pews to the front lot and brought in a stock of dresses. Says Hanscom: "We've never found that people have an objection to church people."

Hanscom and his wife, Dorothy, bought the 30-year-old frame church six years ago after its Methodist congregation had moved to a larger building. They gave the parsonage next door to make a parking lot. One of their regular customers is a woman who lived in the parsonage as a girl while her father was minister.

Close To Heart And Home For Mother's Day

There is little doubt that the most important thing about Mother's Day gift (May 14) is the sentiment behind it, but there is equally small doubt that the well thought-out gift will be the more appreciated one. For one thing, it is a day to give a personal gift, something that is close to heart and home.

Although we are sometimes inclined to forget, Mother likes to be remembered. For example, a new pair of earrings selected to flatter her own particular complexion and hair coloring will probably make her eyes shine in more ways than one. Earrings can contribute real flattery to the eyes and face because of their color and brightness, especially in the case of the not-so-young-face.

One of the more popular Mother's Day gifts is a charm bracelet. Complete with charm or charms which bear some special message for your own Mother. A pleasing feature of this gift is that charms can be added each Mother's Day or on other gift days to complete the story. Local jewelers tell us there has never before been a wider selection of story-telling charms whether you are looking for karat gold, gold filled or silver ones. Pearls are another favorite gift for Mothers of all types and we suggest that in selecting a pearl necklace for your special Mother, you choose its length and size with a thought to her type of features. If she has a long slender neckline then she can wear the choker or collar type to advantage. But if the last few years have added an extra quarter-inch to her chin line, then the longer strand of pearls will be more flattering.

One unusual and thoughtful gift for Mother would be an offer to have some of her old jewelry re-modified—jewelry which, though she may not realize it, is dating her. Perhaps her old diamond set which was a pride and joy fifteen years ago has some beautiful diamonds in colored stones. These could probably be combined with a few additional stones and put in a modern setting to make a truly handsome new ring at a relatively small cost. Your jeweler will be delighted to help you plan the re-modeling of old pieces of jewelry and can even draw up special designs for you if you like.

Of course anybody's Mother will be delighted with one of the good looking new watches which can be seen everywhere these days. The watch portion of anybody's wardrobe is a no-brainer. It is simple, but is just what you need as well. It is a watch which is likely to need or want more, which can be a casual sport watch or for work, hours version of one of the new water- and shock-resistant models.

Biography Dominates Spring Book Scene

By MILES A. SMITH
AP Arts Editor

NEW YORK, (AP) — This April and May the publishing world seems to be concentrating on people—some living, some dead.

Biographies, autobiographies and memoirs will be plentiful this spring. Here is a brief summary of these and other books in prospect during the two-month period.

One biography that likely will be interesting is "Adrienne: The Life of the Marquise de La Fayette," by Andre Maurois, published by McGraw-Hill.

The General's wife will be portrayed with the help of many letters, documents and personal possessions that were found recently in the family chateau near Paris by Count Rene de Chambrun.

The Nobel Peace Prize winner of 1958 is the subject of "The Story of Father Pike," as told by Hugues Vebene, which will be brought out by Dutton.

Harper will publish "Gifts of

"Passage," an autobiography of Santha Rama Rau, author of "Home to India" and "East of Home."

Another autobiography is from the hand of the Shah of Iran, titled "Mission for My Country," and is described by McGraw-Hill as a story of the country as well as the man.

As American figure, William Randolph Hearst, will be depicted in a Scribner book, "Citizen Hearst," by W. A. Swaaberg.

From the world of entertainment and sports are three other subjects—Molly and Me, the Memoirs of Gertrude Berg, McGraw-Hill; "Casey Stengel," by Clay Felker (Walker & Co.), and "Harpo Speaks" (Harcourt Brace) by Harpo Marx.

There is a flood of novels in prospect, as always.

They range from a chronicle of a 14-year-old boy's trip down the Mississippi to the sophisticated Nancy Mitford's "Don't Tell Alfred" (Harper). The boy's story is in a McGraw-Hill publication, "A Journey to Matocumb," by Pulitzer-winner Robert Lewis Taylor.

Howard Fast has gone back to the battles of Lexington and Concord for "April Morning" (Crown). Richard Tregaskis has written "Last Plane to Shanghai" (Bobbs-Merrill) and Viking will present Wallace Stegner's "A Shooting Star."

A new book by James Thurber, titled "Lanterns and Lances," Harper should give a lift to humor. Louis Kronenberger has written "A Month of Sundry" (Viking). On the serious side, there is no lack of new books.

Historian Arloand Zornbee has given the title "Reconsiderations" to Vol. XII of his "A Study in History," (Oxford). Lewis Mumford wrote "The City in History" for Harcourt, Brace, and McGraw-Hill is presenting Maj. Alexander de Seversky's "American, Too Young to Die." John Gunther, who wrote his first book about Europe 15 years ago, is coming out with an entirely new "Inside Europe Today" (Harper) with the emphasis on "Today."

The news in art books is that Skira will present a new series called "Treasures of Asia," and the first volume will be "Palming in Persia." Skira, whose works are distributed by World Publishing, also will present "Baque," by Jean Leymarie. Orion Press will present "Leonardo Da Vinci," edited by Andre Chastel, and Reynal will re-issue the "Leonardo Da Vinci" which was prepared by 37 scholars.
