$20.1-BILLION TAX CUT BILL GAINING GROUND

All Taxpayers Due To Get 'Break'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tax rebates of up to $200 on 1974 income taxes would be in the mail late this spring under an emergency tax-cut bill swiftly gaining ground in Congress.

The rebate of 10 per cent of 1974 taxes up to the $200 maximum are part of the $20.1-billion tax-cut bill approved Thursday night by a bipartisan 28 to 5 vote of the House Ways and Means Committee.

The bill also provides lower taxes on this year's income and some tax incentives to help businesses.

The tax package, which will go to the full House after it concludes its 10-day recess on Feb. 18, provides $4 billion more in tax cuts than President Ford has proposed. Ford has said he is withholding a decision on the Democratic-sponsored antirecession measure until after it had gone through both the House and the Senate.

Meanwhile, the Senate Finance Committee begins work today on a bill to suspend Ford's $3-per-barrel tariff hike on imported oil. The House earlier this week approved the suspension by a 209 to 114 margin and Senate action is expected within the next two weeks.

The first two witnesses before the Senate panel, Democratic Gov. Thomas P. Salmon of Vermont and former federal energy chief John C. Sawhill, opposed the tariff hike, which Ford claims would encourage energy conservation by driving up prices.

The House rejection of the tariff followed by the start of the 10-day recess Thursday prompted Ford to claim that Congress "really has done basically nothing" to face up to the nation's energy problems.

Under the tax-cut bill approved by the Ways and Means panel, all taxpayers would get a rebate. For those with gross income up to $20,000, the rebate would be 10 per cent of their taxes, to $200.

However, above that income level, the rebate would be phased back down to $100 for those with $30,000 or more in gross income.

Ford has urged a 12 per cent rebate of 1974 tax liability, with a top refund of $1,000.

The committee also approved lower taxes on this year's income by:

—Hiking the minimum standard deduction, which benefits lower-income persons, from $1,300 to $1,900 for single taxpayers and to $2,500 for couples' joint tax returns;

—Increasing the traditional standard deduction, used by taxpayers who do not itemize on their returns, from 15 per cent of gross income to 16 per cent, and boosting the maximum amount from $2,000 to $2,500 for singles and $3,000 for couples.

—Granting a special new 5 per cent credit on earned income, meaning a person's wages plus any self-employment income, up to a maximum credit of $200.

The committee also approved a $3.8 billion corporate tax cut package that includes:

—Increasing the investment tax credit to a general 10 per cent.

—Boosting the small business relief corporate surtax exemption level to $50,000, from its present $25,000 level.

—Fixing a $100 million lid on the amount which American Telephone & Telegraph Co. can gain from the higher level investment tax credit.

—Hiking from $50,000 to $75,000 the used property investment eligible for investment credit.

YOUNG ROCKET VICTIM — A Cambodian youngster screams in pain while being led from schoolhouse in Phnom Penh after a Khmer Rouge rocket attack Thursday. The rocket exploded in a tree shading a private elementary school and force of blast sent lethal shower of jagged metal, pieces of construction material and glass through classroom beneath the tree. Police said nine children were killed instantly and more than 30 were wounded.

Kissinger Criticized By Bentsen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., has criticized Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger for spreading himself too thin and said the secretary should drop his "roving ambassador" activities and his post as presidential adviser.

He also criticized the Ford administration's foreign policy decision-making procedure and called for a more bipartisan policy.

"That policy-making process has become dangerously constricted and convoluted, with an undemocratic emphasis on secret diplomacy, personal negotiations and one-man authoritarianism," Bentsen said Thursday night.

Bentsen, expected to announce on Feb. 17 his candidacy for the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination, made his comments in a speech at Georgetown University.

He said Kissinger was wearing "three hats," those of secretary of state, presidential adviser, and "roving ambassador," concentrating foreign policy decision-making in the hands of one person to a greater extent than ever before.

"It's time for Secretary Kissinger to check two of those hats," Bentsen said.

"Running the State Department is a full-time job for any man, even a Superman, and it can't be done from a jet plane circling over a Middle East airport," Bentsen said.

"It's time for Secretary Kissinger to come in from the cold, and turn his attention to overhauling, modernizing and reactivating the rusty machinery of our foreign policy decision-making apparatus," he said.

He said 1974 international events demanded that Kissinger focus at one point on Cyprus, the Middle East, the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks, China, Japan, Russia and Korea, as well as foreign aid and trade legislation pending in Congress.

ARISTOTLE ONASSIS
'Good Evening'

Onassis Enters Paris Hospital

PARIS (AP) — Aristotle Onassis entered the American Hospital in suburban Neuilly today for treatment of a debilitating muscular disease complicated by flu. He went in through a rear door to avoid photographers gathered at the main entrance.

The 69-year-old Greek multimillionaire and husband of the former Jacqueline Kennedy flew to Paris from Athens on Thursday night in a private executive jet. Family sources said Mrs. Onassis had insisted that her husband be moved from Athens for treatment abroad.

From the airport Onassis was driven in a limousine to his apartment on exclusive Avenue Foch near the Arc de Triomphe. Onassis' wife and his 24-year-old daughter Christina followed in a second car.

On arrival at Avenue Foch, Onassis walked unaided into the apartment and said "good evening" to newsmen.

Onassis' doctors and associates traveled to Paris in a Boeing 707 outfitted with beds and medical equipment, prompting speculation Onassis ultimately was headed across the Atlantic to New York.

The director of the American Hospital, Jean-Yves Perchat, inadvertently added to the speculation by saying Thursday that Onassis wanted "to make as discreet an entry as possible" into the hospital, adding, "perhaps he won't come tonight."

Onassis is suffering from myasthenia gravis, a progressive weakening of the muscles, and was treated for the disease in New York several months ago.

His doctor, Isadore Rosenfeld, was summoned to Athens several days ago but returned to New York on Wednesday, prompting speculation Onassis would soon follow.

However, one Paris newspaper said that after examining Onassis in Athens, Rosenfeld decided he was not strong enough for the trip to New York and should be taken to Paris.

Rosenfeld was not immediately available for comment.

SISTERS ARRESTED

'Arson And Old Lace'

NEW YORK (AP) — Two elderly sisters have been arrested on an arson charge and are suspected in an "Arson and Old Lace" scheme involving more than 400 fires and millions of dollars in insurance claims, authorities say.

The 12-year pattern of suspicious fires suggests the work of "one of the biggest arson rings" ever encountered by the Fire Department, said the department's secretary, Robert Perez.

Rose Shiffman, 63, and Sylvia Goldberg, 66, were arrested on charges of hiring a "torch" — a professional arsonist — to burn a vacant $50,000 house in Far Rockaway, Queens. The house belonged to Mrs. Shiffman's 46-year-old son, Abraham J. Shiffman, a real estate man, who was also arrested.

The silver-haired sisters showed up in state Supreme Court on Thursday bundled in fur coats and well-tanned from a vacation in Miami Beach, Fla. They and Shiffman were released in their own custody.

Indictments for conspiracy to commit arson and soliciting to commit arson came after the three allegedly hired and paid a "torch" who turned out to be Fire Marshal Thomas Russo, working undercover.

The sisters, who live near each other in Rockaway, Queens, were charged in only the one case. But Queens Dist. Atty. Nicholas Ferraro said they were believed to have been the go-betweens for building owners and arsonists hired to set fires for insurance money.

Ferraro said the operation began 12 years ago when the three allegedly began to buy up houses in Queens, obtain high insurance on them and then pay to have them burned to the ground. None of the fires under investigation led to death or injury, authorities said.

TAIL IN THE WIND

Cows Predict Weather Much Better Than Men

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — John McAdams says a cow with her tail in the wind, or a hog buried to his jowls in mud, is a better forecaster than an army of weathermen and its electronic gadgetry.

John could be right.

He is holding an edge over the nearby Houston office of the National Weather Service.

John, 66, challenged meteorologist Irwin Bolbrecht to an 80-day test period on weather forecasting beginning Jan. 19.

The pair decided to forecast weather three times a week at a specific field in Huntsville where the weather service's rain gauge is located.

Irwin said okay, but he warned that "no one can tell Farmer Brown if it's going to rain on his field."

Phooey, said John, who claimed that simply by watching his cows and hogs he could predict not only where but when it would rain.

The contest was on. City utility director Boyd Wilder said he'd keep score.

Wilder says John has missed correctly forecasting rain only once in eight times. Irwin has missed four out of eight times.

How John does it may remain his secret.

"Well, I don't want to give away my secret," he said. "You just have to kinda watch 'em and notice things. I've been doing this for about 20 years. Just picked it up."

Pressed harder, however, John conceded that the direction in which a cow faces early in the mornings, or how deep into the mire a hog may burrow, tells an alert observer a lot about what the weather will do for the next day or so.

John also admitted that he counts on his arthritis a little.

"Well, my whole body is a weather vane. I don't go down there and look at the cows every morning."

PICKETS REMOVED

Nederland Refinery Lockout Charged

By The Associated Press

Officials of the Oil Chemical and Atomic Workers (OCAW) local at the Union 76 plant in Nederland claimed they were barred from the plant today.

P. A. Baham, secretary of OCAW Local 4-228, said late Thursday night, "The company is locking out the OCAW."

This followed ratification of a new two-year contract Thursday night with Union 76 by members of the International Association of Machinists (IAM) and International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW).

WILLING TO WORK

Those crafts removed their pickets at the start of the 11 p.m. shift Thursday. OCAW members, who represent most of the 700 hourly employes there, have been honoring the pickets.

"We wanted to show the company we were willing to go to work if they let us," Baham said.

Company officials had no comment.

In Orange, the Firestone Tire & Rubber plant OCAW local voted to ratify agreement, said Marvin Funchess of the union local. About 400 union personnel have been working day to day without a contract since Jan. 7.

In Port Arthur, federal mediator Ed Koenig said talks between OCAW locals and the Gulf and Texaco refineries still were deadlocked.

"At this point it appears the parties are still pretty well locked in their positions," Koenig said.

OCAW leaders in Port Arthur went to court Thursday seeking to have an injunctive suit brought against them by Texaco moved from state to federal court. Texaco wants to halt mass picketing.

Gulf filed a suit Wednesday seeking to halt illegal mass picketing at the Port Arthur refinery.

The World At-A-Glance

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — The flu outbreak that besieged this retirement city for two months and caused 49 deaths seems to be over, says the health official who caused an uproar last month when he warned visitors to stay away. Almost all the victims were people over 65 who already suffered chronic diseases, mainly heart and lung ailments, Dr. George Dame said Thursday. Dame, Pinellas County's health director, ran into trouble with tourist-minded sectors last month when he warned potential winter visitors to stay away.

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Other Arab nations are going to give Lebanon $62 million worth of Soviet arms to strengthen its defenses against Israel and $28 million to rebuild villages in southern Lebanon destroyed by the Israelis, sources in Cairo reported today. Informed sources in Cairo said the arms would be supplied by Syria and Iraq, which are armed by the Soviet Union, and other countries.

ROCKWELL CHAIRMAN SAYS:

Consumer Confidence Can Whip Recession

DALLAS (AP) — The United States can bounce out of its recession if the consumer has confidence, says the board chairman of Rockwell International.

W.F. Rockwell Jr. told stockholders Thursday, "We can recover and recover quickly. We must act to make it happen.

"I believe that recovery can be summed up in two words— consumer confidence. Without consumer confidence, business and industry lose consumer buying.

Rockwell pointed out that "Texas has a stake in Rockwell International" in that the firm owns Collins Radio Group in Dallas and operates other facilities at McGregor, Texarkana, Tyler, Sulphur Springs and facilities at the Houston space center.

These plants employ about 6,000 persons with a payroll of more than $70 million annually, he said.

Rockwell came out for some tax relief "not only for individuals but for businesses as well."

"And there should be tax incentives to encourage businesses to meet the production demands of this country," he said.

"We should continue our energy research into a multitude of channels — coal, oil shale recovery, solar energy, and so on. But in the fast breeder nuclear reactor we have the quickest the most assured answer to energy self sufficiency and also a source which is safe and environmentally acceptable."

"The government must get on with Project Independence," Rockwell said. "We cannot be dependent on any foreign country for our energy needs."

He said last fiscal year the company turned profits of more than $130 million on sales of $4.4 million, representing real growth from the year before.

Law Comes To Forsan

FORSAN — There's a new law west of Signal Mountain, or at least inside the city limits of Forsan.

The Forsan Council in its January meeting heard a suggestion that a marshal be named for the city on a part-time basis.

The council named Jerry Cannon, who holds a job at a Big Spring grocery store and lives in Forsan. "We pay him a small part-time salary — just enough to keep him legal," according to Mayor Jack Lamb. "He drives his own car," Lamb added.

Cannon, in turn, has a volunteer deputy named Hugh Hale. Mayor Lamb said, "We've been having a few traffic problems . . . hot-rodders and such. It's not our local kids, but we get some out of Big Spring and around. We just wanted somebody to slow it down."

Forsan does not have a jail, but falls under the jurisdiction of the Howard County sheriff's office.

MALE NURSE ARRESTED

Wife Of Retired Exec Bludgeoned To Death

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The wife of a retired Wrigley executive was bludgeoned to death and her body stuffed into a steel drum filled with cement, police say. A male nurse was arrested in the case.

Nancy Fuller Atwater's body, clad in a nightgown and robe, was found Thursday trussed and wrapped in the barrel at a suburban wrecking yard about 50 miles north of her $300,000 home in Corona Del Mar.

Investigators said they were led to the body of Mrs. Atwater, 50, by a male nurse who cared for A.G. Atwater Sr., a wealthy invalid.

Atwater Sr., 67, is a brother-in-law of chewing gum magnate P.K. Wrigley and an uncle of William Wrigley, the company's president.

Police said the 40-year-old nurse, Daniel Garbis Bedelian of Glendale, was booked for investigation of murder.

Newport Beach Police Capt. Richard Hamilton said he was under a "gag order" and could not discuss any motives.

Hamilton said earlier it was believed Mrs. Atwater was killed early Wednesday in her bedroom at her home. The body had been in the barrel about 8 to 12 hours before it was opened by Hamilton.

Officers were called to the home by a second male nurse who said he was unable to find Mrs. Atwater after arriving Wednesday morning.

Police said the second nurse told of seeing Bedelian putting yellow paint on dark red blotches on the wall of Mrs. Atwater's bedroom.

Hamilton said investigators also found black paint sprayed over blood stains on yellow wall paper in the entryway of the home along with splattered blood and signs of a struggle.

An autopsy by the Los Angeles County coroner's office indicated the woman died following a "blunt force" blow to the head.

VA Hospital To Salute Confined Vets Monday

The Big Spring Veteran's Hospital will take part in a nationwide salute to hospitalized veterans Monday as Lt. Col. Arthur W. Burer, a former prisoner of war, will visit with the local patients.

Celebrities from all over the nation will be visiting VA hospitals on Monday, on the day set aside by Congress to honor hospitalized veterans.

Last year, No Greater Love, a national non-profit organization, in cooperation with the POW returnees sponsored the first salute. It was so successful that the organization moved to make it an annual event. Athletes, entertainers, government leaders and astronauts will be among those visiting veterans around the nation.

No Greater Love's National Advisory Council includes such public figures as "Wilt Chamberlain, Joe Frazier, Bill Cosby, Joe Namath, O. J. Simpson, Ted Williams and Arnold Palmer. Officers of the group are Hank Aaron, president, and Roger Staubach, vice president.

LT. COL. ARTHUR BURER

In addition to the programs of care and friendship for hospitalized veterans, the organization also has programs for children of servicemen missing or killed in action in Southeast Asia.

The group is inspired by Bible passage, "Greater love has no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends."

Lt. Col. Burer, presently assigned as a Section Commander in the 83rd Flying Training Squadron at Webb Air Force Base, was flying a reconnaissance mission over North Vietnam on March 21, 1966 when ground fire forced his plane down. Minutes after reaching the ground, he was captured and taken prisoner.

He spent six years and 11 months as a prisoner before he was released Feb. 12, 1973.

Colonel Burer's military decorations include the Silver Star, the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star, the Distinguished Flying Cross, three Air Medals, the Purple Heart and two Air Force Commendation Medals. He is a regular officer holding the aeronautical rating of Command Pilot.

County Bi-Centennial Organization Gears Up

The Howard County Bi-Centennial organization is working up a full head of steam and is about ready to burst across the starting line in mid-March.

While no date has been fixed, this is the target for the Bicentennial designation ceremonies formally recognizing the official sanction accorded the Howard County set-up recently. Mrs. Margaret Lloyd heads this event.

These and other plans were aired at a meeting of the steering committee Thursday. Mrs. Janell Davis, co-chairman with Mrs. Jerry Avery, said that a meeting was planned for all representatives from the several hundred groups, clubs and institutions who will serve as bi- centennial chairmen.

Activities and ideas came popping from the reports of the three major divisions — Horizons, Festival and Heritage.

The horizons committee, said Julie Shirey and Mrs. Carol Hunter, is planning on organizing to paint city fire plugs as Continental soldiers, and has a dozen other programs in mind, including a structure at the "big spring" which will house or serve as a mount for various historical plaques.

Already plans are shaping for the "Let Freedom Ring" celebration July 4, said Mrs. Mamie Lee Dodds. Howard College has mapped a comprehensive bicentennial plans, and Big Spring schools are developing one, she added.

George Zachariah for the Heritage committee, said all groups will be urged to include in their programs of the year, starting in July, something reflecting the heritage of the nation or area.

Mrs. Davis appealed for volunteers to served as speakers. This is necessary to complete a catalogue of speakers and topics available to clubs and other groups.

Charles Beil, treasurer, said so far the commission has been frugal with the $5,000 provided by the city, but consensus was that the operation will, as it moves into high gear, require a headquarters and additional financing. One immediate project will be a monthly newsletter to be circulated among the more than 400 individuals and groups which responded to the initial interest querry, said Mrs. Avery.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Six of ♣.

The perfect time for a bit of deception on defense is when it doesn't matter if partner is fooled by your play. Consider this example from the recent European Championships in Herzliya, Israel. Sitting West was Sven Olov Flodqvist of Sweden.

The bidding was perfectly natural. South opened in the suit below his shortness, then showed his second suit. North's hand improved tremendously once South bid spades, but not quite enough to contract for game. He made an invitational jump raise to three spades, and South had the values to continue on to game.

The defenders started with three rounds of clubs, declarer discarding a heart from dummy on the third. Looking at all the hands, it seems that declarer must come to eleven tricks. Indeed, that is exactly what happened when the board was replayed at the other table of the match. Here, however, Flodqvist succeeded in creating a false picture of the hand. When declarer led the king of spades, Flodqvist dropped the queen!

Declarer was so mesmerized by this card that he unwisely decided that he better test the heart situation before drawing any more trumps. He cashed the ace of hearts, crossed to the king and ruffed a heart. Much to his surprise, West overruffed!

To complete South's discomfiture, West returned a club. No matter what declarer did, East was bound to score his ten of trumps for the setting trick.

Had declarer considered the hand more carefully, he would have realized that he could have afforded to play another round of trumps before tackling hearts, but this does not detract from West's fine effort. Note that the falsecard of the queen of spades could not possibly cost. From the play of the king, it was obvious that declarer intended leading another trump toward dummy to finesse the jack if West followed with a low trump. Thus, the queen of trumps, like some other royal ladies in different times, was headed for the executioner's axe. By playing the queen one round before he had to, Flodqvist produced a most unexpected result.

Two Suspected Bank Robbers In Houston Jail

HOUSTON (AP) — Two men were in jail today on charges growing out of a holdup at the Cypress Bank in northwest Harris County.

Authorities said a third person was being sought.

Lawrence Allen Bain Sr., 36, and William E. Reeves, 18, were charged Thursday night with aggravated robbery and attempted murder.

They were arrested by Harris County sheriff's officers and FBI agents at a trailer house about three hours after the bank was robbed Thursday afternoon of $40,000 to $60,000.

Authorities said the money was recovered near the trailer home where the two were seized. A white van which police said was used in the robbery was found in a grove of trees nearby, deputies said.

Hayne Bailey, bank vice president, said two men staged the holdup about closing time. He followed them in his pickup truck and was fired at several times, with one shotgun blast smashing the truck front window, he said. Bailey was not injured.

Student Loan Agency Placed In Receivership

DALLAS (AP) — A student loan collection agency which contracts with more than 50 colleges in at least three states was placed in receivership Thursday following a suit filed by the Dallas County district attorney and the Texas attorney general.

State District Court Judge Dee Brown Walker also ordered the company, Collegiate Recovery and Credit Assistance Program Inc., to halt alleged illegal practices including failing to reported all the funds it had collected.

The charges against the firm are similar to those being investigated by officials of the federal guaranteed student loan program of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The petition filed with Judge Walker said that company agents have used aliases to collect delinquent loans and have failed to forward money collected to the appropriate creditor. The petition said also that some of the funds have been misappropriated for corporate use. It added that funds have been comingled and the company is "insolvent or in imminent danger of insolvency."

Named in the petition were Arnold G. Tate and Carolyn Tate, officers of the company.

The Dallas Morning News said that earlier in the week it had been told by Tate that his company had contracts with colleges to collect delinquent loans totaling $2 million.

Government investigators said they did not know the exact amount of money involved.

Dallas County Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said his office is looking into the possibility that there "might have been some collusion with some schools."

Among the colleges that have past or current contracts with the firm are the University of Texas at Austin and Arlington, Dallas Baptist College, Bishop College, Texas Christian University, the University of New Mexico and two universities in Louisiana.

Meanwhile HEW officials held a long meeting here Thursday afternoon and a spokesman said a statement would be issued Friday concerning the investigation of the federal student loan program.

ENERGY CONSERVATION

Briscoe To Offer 'Alternate Plan'

AUSTIN, TEX. (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe says he will have an "alternate plan" when he talks with President Ford Monday about the president's proposals on energy conservation.

Briscoe told a news conference Thursday that he and a group of Southwestern governors have a dinner date Monday night in Houston with Ford, similar to the Atlanta session with Southern governors and a future meet with Midwest governors in Kansas City.

Briscoe would not reveal his plan but he gave several broad hints.

"Specifically it will be aimed at not affecting adversely the economy of Texas as an energy producing state . . . It is no major change from my previous stands."

'VERY REASONABLE'

"This will be my first time to talk with the president personally," Briscoe said. "I intend to tell him that I think we need an energy program and that we should have a program less dependent on foreign sources of energy.

He said his "alternate" plan would point out that Texas has been ' 'very reasonable" in developing his resources in an effort to ease the energy shortage while some other states have been "very unreasonable"--an obvious reference to his repeated charges about Northeastern states failing to develope their offshore oil reserves.

Briscoe said he did not think the nation should abandon its cleaner air standards but he thought a "easing of standards is justified" during the energy crisis.

RATE REGULATIONS

He said he was definitely against gasoline or oil rationing because it would have "a very adverse affect on Texas."

On other subjects Briscoe said:

--He thinks the utility regulation plan supported by the Texas Municipal League was "very similar to what I have discussed in the past." The TML said Wednesday that it would support creation of a state agency to help local governments with research on utility rates and for appeals, but not for statewide rate regulation.

--He said he has not discussed the proposed intrastate long distance rate increase by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. with the attorney general but "I think I would be in a position to join him in any request he makes." Atty. Gen. John Hill has threatenen to stop the rate increases by court order.

--He is still not ready to make a definite recommendation on public school financing for the next two years, but hopes to send the legislature his message within the next two weeks. He said teachers' salaries are the "main stumbling block." He said that his public school financing program has $650 million for the next two years as the "upper limit"while other proposals seek as much as $2 billion. He stressed again that he wanted no increase in state taxes and "under my plan very few if any school districts would have to raise taxes."

Foreign Trade Tonnage Record

HOUSTON (AP) — Foreign trade tonnage at the Port of Houston last year was a record 35 million tons, compared with 34.2 million in 1973.

In all, the port handled 83.9 million tons for the 12 months, figures released by the Port Authority showed Wednesday.

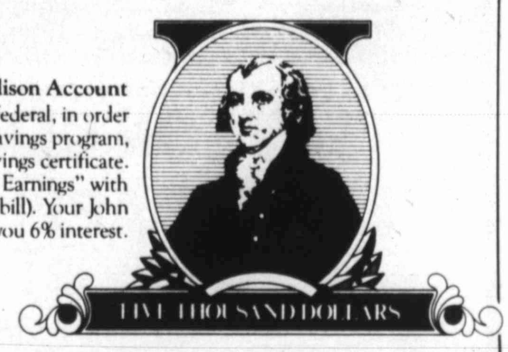
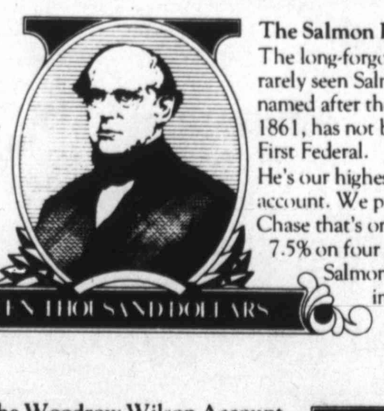
The Abraham Lincoln Account
It takes only one Abraham Lincoln ($5 bill) to open a First Federal passbook savings account paying 5.25% interest. The passbook is the sensible, flexible way to save. The savings account of the People, for the People, by the People. Ask Honest Abe.

The James Madison Account
We the Association of First Federal, in order to form a more perfect savings program, establish the one-year savings certificate. Sign your "Constitution of Earnings" with one James Madison ($5,000 bill). Your John Hancock will earn you 6% interest.





The Salmon P. Chase Account
The long-forgotten, seldom-recognized, rarely seen Salmon P. Chase ($10,000 bill) named after the Secretary of Treasury in 1861, has not been forgotten at First Federal.
He's our highest paying savings certificate account. We pay 6.5% interest on every Chase that's on deposit for 2 years. We pay 7.5% on four years. For 2½ years, and a Salmon P. Chase we guarantee 6.75% interest. Interest on savings is paid quarterly.

The Woodrow Wilson Account
A Woodrow Wilson ($100,000 bill) will not open a Woodrow Wilson savings account. Because Woodrow Wilsons are used only in transactions between the Federal Reserve System and the U.S. Treasury Department. But bring in your William McKinleys, James Madisons, Grover Clevelands, and the like. We'll open you a savings certificate account paying a higher, nogotiated rate of interest, depending on maturity. Girls And Guys Share Expenses, Friendship

DEAR ABBY: I am writing about the number of girls who have written to you saying: "How can I get a guy interested in me without having it look like I'm chasing him?"

First off, I am a 21-year-old college man who would like some reasonable answers to the following questions:

1. Why can't a girl ask a guy out for a date? As a male, I would welcome girls who find me attractive enough to ask me out. Believe me, Abby, I'm fairly attractive myself and get my share of dates, but I see nothing wrong with girls being on an equal basis with men when it comes to the dating game.

2. Why can't a girl be the aggressive one if she so chooses?

3. Why is it "wrong" for a girl to pursue guys?

I.W.: BRONX, N.Y.

DEAR I.W.: Where have you been? Plenty of girls ask guys out. More girls ask guys "over," however, because there is no tab to pick up, which takes the pressure off both of them.

And many girls are aggressors. They don't apologize for it. Nor should they. All relationships should be based on honesty. And what's more disarming than having someone say "I like you"? It doesn't matter who says it first. Girls are people, and people shouldn't play games. They should express themselves honestly, naturally and without embarrassment.

DEAR ABBY: In a courtship between a woman 65, and a man 67, who should offer the first kiss?

Please don't think this is a joke. It isn't. I am a widow and he is a widower and we are getting very close to where I will need the answer to the above question.

If he should make the first move in that direction I want to know if I should act coy, or should I respond? Or am I the one who should make the advances to let him know I am not adverse to a romantic relationship? (I am not, but I don't want to push for it.)

Women used to sit back and let the men make all the overtures, but perhpas women's lib has changed all that. Or has it?

PROPER BUT PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: If you feel like kissing him, go ahead and kiss him. He'll probably meet you halfway and beat you to the finish line.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20 cents) envelope.

Texas PTA Does Not Oppose Equal Rights

"The Texas Parent-Teacher Association convention did not resolve to oppose the Equal Rights Amendment, and it is unfortunate that special interest groups are using our name in their battle against ERA."

That statement by Mrs. A. T. Leveridge, Texas PTA president, was read by Mrs. Vonda Townsend, local PTA City Council president, during a council meeting Tuesday at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

In other business, Mrs. Glenda Bartee, safety committee chairman, presented guidelines for schools to use in setting up a "Helping Hands" program. The project involves the designation of neighborhood homes as places where children may obtain help in emergencies.

For the 1974-75 school year, PTA membership has shown an increase in seven local schools, while decreasing in two schools. A recent tally showed Kentwood, 345; Moss, 143; Marcy, 413; Washington, 137; College Heights, 191; Parkhill, 108; Airport, 189; Lakeview, 24; and Boydston, 133.

John Burgess, local attorney, was guest speaker for the council.

"Lawyers are in the same business as parents and teachers, that of trying to help our children through the problems and struggles of life and ease the pains whenever possible. Lawyers and courts have to deal with the problems when they become too big. However, if we, as parents and teachers, could recognize these problem areas and get assistance early enough, hopefully, we could eliminate the need for lawyers and courts."

Mrs. Vonda Townsend presided, and prayer was led by the Rev. Carroll Kohl.

There will be an executive committee meeting March 4, prior to the regular meeting.

Jaycee-Ettes Are Eligible To Compete At Midland

The Big Spring Jaycee-Ettes have received their state charter according to an announcement made at a meeting in the Webb AFB Officers Club.

Having received the charter, the group will join in competition at the area convention in Midland Feb. 7-8.

Election of officers will be held in April, and installation will be in May. The nominating committee is composed of Mrs. Charlotte Culwell, Mrs. Diane Clinton, Mrs. Margie McKinney and Mrs. Donna Tonn.

The meeting March 3 in the Reddy Room will be a salad supper. Area Jaycee-Ettes will be invited to the program.

The Rattlesnake Roundup was announced for March 21-22. The women will assist the Jaycees in the concession booths at that time.

Lodge Starts Study Course

A study course for new members was announced Tuesday evening by John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge 153.

The course will begin Feb. 6, 7:30 p.m., at the IOOF Hall with Mrs. Irene Maxwell, lodge deputy, instructing. It will be held the first and third Thursdays.

Mrs. A. E. Fiveash, noble grand, heard of contesting teams, W. C. Cole and Mrs. Mable Morrison. Sixty-four visits to the sick were made.

The birthday of Mrs. Mary Lee was observed.

Speaker Explains Credit Procedure

"Credit" was the program topic for the 1955 Hyperion Club when members met at the ranch home of Mrs. Bill Wilson Tuesday. Cohostesses were Mrs. C. W. Mahoney and Mrs. H. C. Ernsting.

Mrs. Ruth Apple, manager of Big Spring Credit Bureau, said the bureau is a clearing house of information for credit granters, who decide which individuals to accept as credit customers. The bureau maintains selective information about individual credit, which is available only to members of the bureau.

Members, who are legitimate credit granters, receive upon request, the information which is kept updated.

"The bureau, said the speaker, should not be confused with other organizations that engage in more direct interviews such as insurance companies," said the speaker.

The bureau does not rate credit, determine who gets credit, interview friends and neighbors, question social or personal life or report information about a person's health.

The Fair Credit Rating Reporting Act is one of the most important acts passed in years, according to the speaker. This federal law allows one to review his credit record with the bureau to help find out why he has been denied credit, and to have entered in his credit record his version of complaints by the credit granter.

The March 4 meeting will be in the home of Mrs. W. A. Moore, 528 Scott.

Practicing For Olympic Meet

The children are being practiced in track, short and long jump and bowling for the meet in Austin May. Provisions have been made for the children to bowl on a regular schedule.

The TARs are planning a Valentine Day party Feb. 14, 7:30 p.m., at the TAR house.

Kenneth Green presided as the group discussed numerous fund-raising plans.

PASS UP CHANCE TO FINISH WORK ON $80 MILLION BILL

Texas Legislators Knock Off For Weekend

USTIN, Tex. (AP) — as legislators have ed up shop for their e-day weekend after ing up a chance to finish on an $80 million rgency relief bill for ic schools.

though senators had sent an almost identical measure, the House leadership chose to lay out the House's version, which passed 136-4.

Had the Senate measure been rushed through committee and laid out instead, it probably would have been on Gov. Dolph Briscoe's desk today. As it stands, the Senate is expected to pass the House bill Tuesday.

Rep. Herman Adams, D-Silsbee, the House sponsor, said the House bill was taken up because "the Senate might can operate a little quicker than we can."

Legislators did finish work on a proposed constitutional amendment that will permit a transfer of money from general revenue to the state employes and school teachers' retirement funds necessary for pending increases of 5 to 18 per cent in retired teachers pensions and 12 per cent for retired government workers.

The voters will make the final decision at an April 22 special election.

House members approved, 112-23, and sent to the Senate another constitutional amendment for the April 22 ballot, raising legislative salaries from $400 to $600 a month and boosting their living expense allowances during sessions from $12 to $30 a day.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe told his weekly news conference Thursday he would "actively support" the proposal.

"We just need a little bit of relief," said Rep. Ben Munson, D-Denison, sponsor of the measure.

Legislative salaries and expense allowances have gone unchanged since 1960, and voters have turned down several attempts to raise them.

In other action Thursday:

—The House tentatively approved a bill making an $18 million emergency appropriation to help the public junior colleges catch up with inflation and unexpected enrollment increases.

—Senators passed to the House a bill standardizing procedures for state administrative agency hearings.

Scout Sunday Launches Commemorative Week

Today begins the annual observance of Scout Anniversary week, commemorating the beginning of the Boy Scout (later the Cub and Explorer) movement in the United States.

Sunday will be observed as Scout Sunday, and every unit is being urged to attend a church (many are sponsored by churches) in a group for the morning worship. Several churches are using special Scout Sunday bulletin covers.

The week also will mark the beginning of ticket sales for the Scout Exposition March 8.

Sam Hunnicutt, chairman of the Lone Star District which includes Howard, Sterling and Glasscock Counties, called attention to many other special events during the year, including the Buffalo Trail Council Camporee here April 25-26. Upwards of 1,000 boys and men are expected to gather at the Roundup Grounds south of town for competition and fun un camping, Scoutcraft, athletic and fun skills. W. T. McRee, now retired as district executive, will head up this big gathering.

Webb AFB will host the Council Explorer Olympics May 16-17, which climaxes a round of Spring Explorer activities such as the swim meet Feb. 8 in Midland, road rally in Odessa, March 1, a camping and hiking weekend at the Scout Ranch in July, plus special events such as a Philmont Scout Ranch trek, various wilderness and canoe tours.

Right after the camporee, emphasis will be placed — as indeed it is now — on Scout Ranch attendance starting with the first week June 8-14 and continuing through July 6-12, and climaxed by the Mountain Man camp July 18-29.

Hunnicutt, urged the widest possible participation in the Scout week, and all other events of the year. The benefits of Scouting are directly proportional to participation, he reminded.

Assisting him on the district committee are J. Arnold Marshall, manpower resources; Rev. Lester Utz, Cubbin; Clem Jones, Scouting; Lee Mulkey, Exploring; Joe Pickle, public relations; Frosty Robison, finance. The district is operating under a different organizational format now, and many functions such as organization, extension, camping health and safety will be carried out by task force committees. Hunnicutt pleaded with adults to contact him to serve as volunteers in Scouting. "Nothing could be more important at this critical moment in our nation's history," he said.

Explorer Program Beckons Boys, Girls 14 And Older

Young men and women 14 years and up have an opportunity to participate in the Explorer program of the Lone Star District.

Usually, Explorer posts are organized along specific interest lines — either for hobby or career exploration — but there are several posts which are formed on a general interest basis and choose their activities and projects as they go along.

For young men and women — Exploring now is co-ed — who want to become a part, it is suggested that they contact these leaders:

Post 2, — Bill Fryrear (3-5517), sponsored by Sid Richardson Carbon, general interest.

Post 16 — Bill Mims (7-6669), sponsored by Forsan Service Club, emergency service.

Post 49 — Austin Ferguson (7-6275), sponsored by St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Indian dance team.

Post 136 — Jimmy Wright (3-6889), sponsored by Cosden Oil & Chemical Co., rescue work.

Post 146 — Joe Cody (3-7557), sponsored by 78th Pilot Training Wing, sports.

Post 175 — Jack Irish (3-4278), sponsored by House of Suzuki, motorcycling.

Post 236 — Pam Weldele (3-0486), sponsored by Veterans Administration Hospital, medical.

Post 300 — Paul Van Sheedy (7-6272), sponsored by St. Paul's Presbyterian and Caldwell Electric, general interest.

Post 305 — Bill Bradford (7-6729), sponsored by First Baptist Church, high adventure.

Scout Exposition Is Highlight Event

One of the next major activities in the Lone Star District will be the annual Scout Exposition, set for March 8 in the Howard County Fair Barns.

Bill Priebe and Maj. Mickey Willett, co-chairman of the event, are hoping for some two dozen units participating in the display of Scouting skills, craft and adventure.

Tickets ($1 for individuals 13 years and above) were distributed to the units for sale at the monthly Roundtable Thursday. Unit leaders also then began listing the themes which their booths will depict or demonstrate.

They start assembling and setting up their booths (10x10 space, or double) at 5 p.m. March 7 and work may continue starting 8 a.m. March 8 with a deadline of 12 noon.

Show hours are 1 p.m.-5 p.m., and anonymous judges will be circulating among the crowd grading the displays on being ready by deadline, boys working actively and enthusiastically in the booths, proper uniform or costume, attitude of boys and leaders toward catching spectator interest, evidence of boy initiative and participation, originality of theme and presentation, adult help in assembling booth framework, application turned in on time (March 1 or before).

Priebe stressed that this is a boy show, although adults assist in planning and execution. In the case of the Cub booths, an adult is to be present at all times.

Booths are to contain a sign telling about the theme, the unit leader, sponsors, etc.

Boys may earn individual awards for excelling in ticket sales.

For instance, boys selling five or more tickets will receive an Exposition Patch. Those selling 20 or more may earn Scout or Cub equipment prizes, or take alternate credit on Summer camp. High ticket salesmen in each district (who sell 100 or more tickets) may elect to take himself and his father on an expense-paid trip to see the Dallas Cowboys play (last year it was the Washington Redskin game). Finally, over town there are mystery houses and if a boy in full uniform calls and makes a good presentation at these places, he receives credit for 10 tickets.

While units share in the proceeds (40 per cent goes to the troop or pack if turned in ahead of the Exposition), one of the prime reasons for ticket sales is that it gives boys a valuable experience in meeting the public and in actual selling.

Young Governor Jaycee Speaker

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma Gov. David L. Boren, who at 34 is the nation's youngest governor, will be the principal speaker at the annual U.S. Jaycees' Top 10 Young Men awards dinner.

President Ford and Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller have been invited to speak at the Feb. 22 meeting, but no reply has been received, a spokesman for the Jaycees said.

Boren was once nominated for the award but failed to win it. He was named by the Oklahoma Jaycees as one of the state's three outstanding young men in 1969.

TIA, Union Halt Talks

HOUSTON (AP) — Contract negotiation between officials of Texas International Airlines and the striking Air Line Employes Association have been broken off and no date for resuming them has been set.

TIA officials said negotiations halted Wednesday after the union refused to accept a package offered by the company.

Union officials were not available for comment here.

The National Mediation Board, which has been acting as a referee in the bargaining, said no date for resumption of the Washington talks to end the two-month-old strike had been set.

The company said negotiations ended when the union refused to accept the pay and working conditions package and instead intensified demands.

The airline said the latest package offer granted full retroactive pay to Aug. 1, 1974, the date its last contract with the union expired.

The company said the package included an offer to "phase in over 12 months the previously agreed-to part-time employes" and to waive use of the voluntary split shifts applied to more than half the union's total membership.

The airline asked in return that the union drop a request for a 7½-hour work day for 15 per cent of the membership.

The company said the union responded that the proposal was unacceptable.

"They wanted the work day reduced for all 1,100 of their members and not the previously demanded 15 per cent figure," a company spokesman said.

TIA was struck Dec. 1 by the Air Line Employees Association. The airline continued to serve most of its routes until Dec. 5 when the Airline Pilots Association began honoring the picket lines. Flights were then halted.

TIME CHANGE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clocks across the country will be set forward one hour on Feb. 23 as the nation ends four months on standard time.

Beginning at 2 a.m. on Feb. 23, Daylight Saving Time will be in effect for eight months. Then unless Congress intervenes the regular alternating pattern of standard time six months and daylight time six months a year will be resumed in October.

Congress put the nation on 10 straight months of daylight time last year in an energy conservation step. The nation switched to standard time for the four winter months last Oct. 27.

PRESERVING INDIAN LORE — Members of Explorer Post 49 concentrate on preserving the striking color and excitement of the Indian dance. Here Eddie Young and Gary Gillihan exhibit costumes of different tribes. Each young man assembles and makes his own costume, then learns dances of different tribes and dances for different occasions. They appear on many Scouting and other programs.

Scouts Do Part To Help Nature

SOAR is more than a lofty word for Scouting, because it is the heart of a renewed emphasis upon conservation and environmental improvement.

SOAR (Save Our American Resources) has been going for several years and will continue through the bicentennial.

Last year over 4 million Scouts and adults cleaned up 470,000 miles of highways and shorelines, 1,300,000 acres of parks and public lands. They also planted over 300,000 trees.

They are continuing this year with renewed efforts at tree planting and water cleanliness.

RUGGED BEAUTY — The Scout Ranch, where the Buffalo Trail Council maintains its main camping facility, is the chief object of a development campaign now under way. The central campsite at the forks of two massive canyons at the entrance is to be urgraded to handle more boys. But a second camp is to be constructed far up one of the canyons near the summit of the Davis Mountains. Still, the camp is to retain its wilderness effect, so that boys 50 years from now will know the country as it was a hundred or more years ago.

Be Prepared, Physically

The theme of physical fitness is being woven into the bicentennial slogan of "Be Prepared for Life — Be Safe, Be fit."

Cub are developing themes for various months including muscle builders, bicycle safety, cub pack safety and fitness, and sports carnival, learn to swim programs.

In Scouting, there will be public speaking on fitness and safety themes, learn to swim programs, merit badge work on personal physical fitness, the presidential sports awards, fitness-safety merit badge, cycling merit badges, emergency preparedness merit badge.

Explorers also will deal with this theme in their speaking contests, President's fitness and sports awards, the Explorer Olympics, national defensive driving courses, Explorer emergency preparedness.

Participants can earn emblem and medal featuring the historical Bunker Hill flag.

Camp Development Fund Is Moving Toward Goal

Although not accompanied by fanfare, the Buffalo Trail Camp Development Fund is making good progress toward its half-million dollar goal. It has accomplished about 60 per cents so far.

This is the first capital campaign by the council in a quarter of a century, or since it acquired the rugged spread in the Davis Mountains and made it the Scout Ranch. There have been numerous improvements including a chapel-activities building, swimming pool and enlarged dining hall, but all of these have been accomplished out of special gifts and frugal operation.

The main camp near the entrance to the Scout Ranch has become too small to accomodate all the troops that want to camp there. The dining hall has been rebuilt and about doubled in size, along with its kitchen and storage facilities. But if additional campsites for troops are added in the area as planned, the new facility will just be utilized to capacity.

SECOND CAMP

So a second camp, further up the canyons and nearing the highlands area, is contemplated in what Scouts and Scouters call "the park." This is timbered with a large variety of trees. Improvements and campsites will be constructed so as not to disturb the natural beauty and to be as unobtrusive as possible.

Although other plans call for an inter-faith chapel, an activities field; more roads and parking area, storage and water system and enlarging of the swimming pool, it is contemplated that the camp will remain essentially a wilderness camp, as near unspoiled as is possible.

CAMP COLORADO

Nor will all the improvements be at the Scout Ranch. Well over $100,000 is contemplated for development of the new camp at Colorado City, the site given by the Cosden Oil & Chemical employes from their former camp. Items on the books here are boat piers, storage sheds, Cub picnic areas, Webelos overnight campsites, electric system, canoe system, tents and camping equipment, aquatic and fishing gear, road grading, pickup truck.

Another $75,000 is earmarked for miscellaneous camps such as Camp Murphy on Lake J. B. Thomas, Camp Pegasus in Upton County. Camp Tejas near Kermit, and a camping park at Terminal between Midland and Odessa.

The development fund also included the possibility of enlarging the Scout Service Center at Texas and D in Midland so that it will have a complete Scout literature and merit badge library, trading post and room for Scouter conference and training.

Gifts are being pledged over a three-year period — or longer if necessary. The campaign was led off with a $50,000 pace-setter contribution, and several other $25,000 gifts have been made, but most of it is coming from the rank and file of small and medium givers.

Liz Taylor Is Down In Back

LONDON (AP) — Film star Elizabeth Taylor complained of severe back pains when she arrived at London's Heathrow Airport.

Miss Taylor was helped off the plane by its captain Friday, then walked unaided to a car. She was driven to London where she is staying with friends before going on to Moscow where she is to appear in a movie.

There was no immediate explanation of what caused the pains.

Bullfighter Can't Fight Police

CORDOBA, Spain (AP) — Former matador Manuel "El Cordobes" Benitez has been sentenced to five days in prison for drunken driving and attacking a police officer last July. In addition, he was fined $650 Friday and had his driver's license suspended for nine months.

Mobilizing For Crisis

Cubs, Scouts and Explorers are mobilizing to meet the energy crisis.

Information is being circulated to every unit in the Lone Star District and the Buffalo Trails Council area to alert boys and leaders to the reality of the energy crunch. At the same time, they are asked to find ways how they can promote projects to save energy.

Some of them are such things as holding energy conservation meetings with other organization; promoting formats of Tips for Energy Savers; continue collecting aluminum, other metals and glass for recyling (where a market can be found for these products, since recyling calls for much less energy than using raw materials.

Units also are asked to post Energy Conservation Honor Rolls to spotlight those who are doing a good job of stretching energy supplies.

Another program objective is to encourage as many boys as possible to raise home gardens, and thus reduce the amount of energy needed to produce food.

Number Of Cub Packs Is Likely To Grow

There are currently a dozen possibilities for boys (8-9-10 years) to join the Cub Scouts, and before the year is out, Lone Star District officials hope to have still more packs to serve these youngster.

These are the Packs, their cubmasters, and sponsors and meeting places. Boys and parents interested in this adventure, are urge to call the cubmaster, on how to become a part of the fun:

Pack 12, currently no cubmaster, but sponsored by the Sterling City United Methodist Church, meeting at the church.

Public Speaking Contest Planned

In cojunction with Reader's Digest Association, Boy Scouts of America is sponsoring a public speaking contest on the bicentennial theme of "Be Prepared for Life."

Units may name champions, who can take part in district eliminations, with those champions going to the council contests. The next step is area regional and then regional contests, climaxed this year by the national finals.

Jobless Benefits Dip Noted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Initial claims for unemployment insurance benefits eased somewhat during the week ending Jan. 25 but still remained well above normal, the Labor Department reported today.

The department said 731,600 workers filed initial claims for jobless benefits during the week ending Jan. 25, a decrease of 118,900 from the previous week and down substantially from the peak of 920,000 during the first full week of 1975.

However, the number of new claims was still high by normal standards. The same week a year ago, 373,700 initial claims were recorded.

In a separate report, the department said 4,733,000 persons collected unemployments checks during the week ending Jan. 18, an increase of 169,400 over the previous week. Thirty-four states reported increases in the number of recipients.

The surge in unemployment insurance claims in January indicates a sharp increase in the nation's unemployment rate for January, which will be announced Friday by the Labor Department.

HANDICAPS DON'T COUNT — Scouting doesn't rule out boys who might have physical handicaps. Ways are found for them to participate in the program, even to recreational activities. Units often are formed to involve the retarded so that they too can enjoy the fun of Scouting.

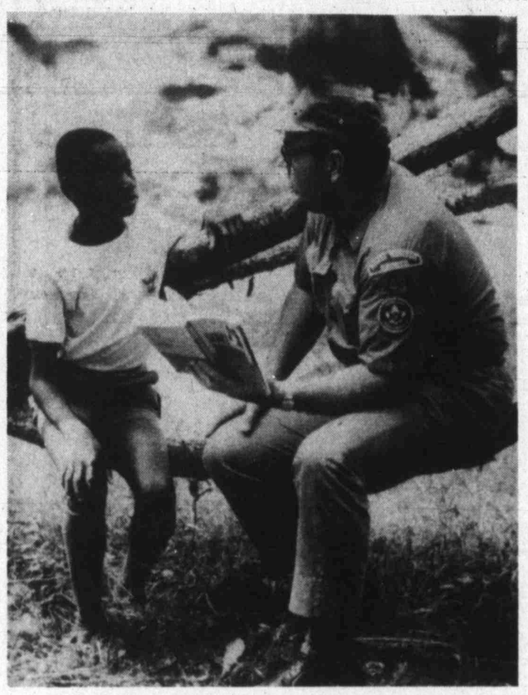
ONE OF THE FINEST INLAND MARINAS IN WEST TEXAS

SATURDAY 10 AM

YOUNG PATRIOTS — The tenets of citizenship training and character building, a Scouting objective from the beginning, starts with the Cubs (8-9-10 years of age). One of the basic lessons is the history of the flag, the nation's heritage of liberty and freedom, respect for the rights of others, pride in personal responsibility.



ONE ON ONE — One of the best jobs of teaching is one on one, and much of that is done in Scouting. The secret of 65 years of Scouting success is putting a good man with a boy. Here a Scoutmaster takes time to sit down in camp with a lad to qualify the boy for Scout advancement.

Learn To Swim Program Pushed

Cubbing is putting emphasis this year on young boys learning to swim.

Details of this will be contained in the March issue of Scouting, in cooperation with national organizations. Emphasis is being put on boys learning early to swim — and swim safely, not waiting until they are Scout age.

High Adventure Programs Loom

One of the activities being pushed during the bicentennial season for Scouts and leaders is the High Adventure programs.

Its purpose is to provide a "smorgasboard of Programs" for the 800,000 plus young men and young women and their leaders between the ages of 14-18 who are Explorers, Leadership Corps and older Scouts.

Much of this will be accomplished by organizing High Adventure teams, which includes adult Scouters, who will plan on spending a week to 10 days on an adventure outing such as to Philmont Scout Ranch and Explorer base in northern New Mexico's towering mountains, the Maine National High Adventure area, The Sommers Wilderness Canoe Base, northern Wisconsin Canoe Base, Land between the Lakes, and other special areas. Costs are held to minimum, usually about $8 to $10 a day.

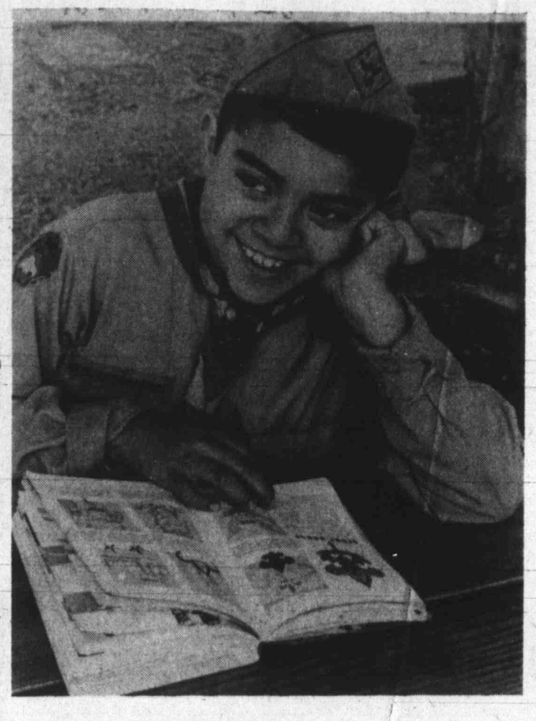
Own Costumes Made By Boys

One of the most colorful groups in the Lone Star District is the Indian Dance team, an activity of Post 49, led by Austin Ferguson.

Young men who take part in this make their own costumes, which must be authentic in carrying out the colors and trappings of specific Indian tribes.

These costumes, complete with war bonnets, often are simply gorgeous.

Having made his costume, the young man then learns a variety of dances in concert with other boys in the post. They perform at special occasions such as district and council banquets, etc.



A GOOD SCOUT IS PREPARED — This boy scout thumbs through a handbook, knowing well there is limitless information contained within which will help him in his study for advanced rank and for merit badges.

Fundamental Tenets Of Scouting Same

After three score and five years, the fundamental tenets of the Boy Scout movement are unchanged.

Programs, activities, approach to boy involvement have evolved over the years, but the commitment to the Scout Oath and Law still remain the cornerstone of Scouting.

When a Scout takes the oath, he pledges:

"On my honor, I will do my duty to God and my country; to obey the Scout law; to help other people at all times; to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight."

The Scout law referred to dedicates the boy to be trustworthy, loyal, helpful friendly, courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean and reverent.

The Scout motto always has been, "Be Prepared," and the whole of the program is aimed at preparing the boy (and now girls) to be individuals of strong character and good, participating citizens.

The Scout slogan, from the start, has been "Do a good turn daily." This means doing something helpful without any thought of remuneration except the satisfaction of having helped someone. Fittingly, Scouting came to this country from England, where Lord Baden Powell founded the movement, because an unknown British Scout directed William Boyce, a Chicago publisher, through a dense fog to his destination, then resolutely but politely refused a tip because it was his "good turn." Boyce insisted on learning more about Scouting, brought it back to America where it became one of the few institutions to be chartered by Congress.

$100 Added To Auto Rebates

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Mooney Aircraft Corp. said today it will pay $100 to any employe who buys a new car or truck manufactured in the United States or Canada.

This is in addition to the recently announced rebates by major auto manufacturers ranging from $200 to $500. The offer is good through February.

Jerome C. Vaverek, Mooney president, said, "New car sales clearly benefit our national economy.

Mooney mostly makes fourplace general aviation planes. It has about 400 employes.

Demetrio Corralez reported theft of tools out of pickup. Value: $30.

Filitel Nelson reported theft of a purse at the Webb Bowling Alley. Juvenile turned over to authorities in connection with the incident.

Sandra Jean Heffington reported theft from B&C apartments at Ranch Inn with a pair of black boots and a portable television missing.

Appropriations Bill Means Much To School

House and Senate approval of an Emergency appropriation of $7 million for junior colleges could mean as much as $100,000 to Howard College.

Dr. Charles Hays says this would result largely because of the sharp increase in enrollment at the college since the base year for the current biennium. The measure still must be adopted by the House and Senate and signed by the governor before the supplemental aid is available to the colleges.

Dr. Hays said he feels that legislators are sympathetic to the junior colleges because they are educating 40 per cent of the state's post secondary students but getting only 13 per cent of the state's college level appropriatioins.

Howard College's enrollment gains not only put it in a good position for the supplemental financial help, but what is equally important is that this comes in this school year, which will be the base for the bienniel line appropriations.

EARN ADVANCED CERTIFICATES — State Trooper Jack White, on behalf of the Texas Department of Public Safety, presents advanced law enforcement certificates to deputy sheriffs Rachel Shaffer (left) and Bernice Nail. In order to qualify for the certificates, they had to complete a minimum of 800 classroom hours by a certified or college instructor and have 12 years of law enforcement experience. Sheriff A. N. Standard said Mrs. Nail and Mrs. Shaffer are among the few female officers in Texas with the advanced certificate.

Nation's Jobless Rate Zips To 8.2 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate jumped to 8.2 per cent in January, its highest level in 33 years as 7.5 million Americans were unable to find jobs last month, the government reported today.

The January rate was a full percentage point above December's 7.2 per cent level, the single biggest monthly increase since December 1953 when it also rose 1 per cent — from 3.5 per cent to 4.5 per cent.

Heavy layoffs were spread across the economy last month, the Labor Department said, affecting blue- and white-collar workers, teen-agers, women and men.

The sharp increase in unemployment since the fall is evidence of the speed with which the recession has spread through the economy and apparently is much more severe than the Ford administration has forecast. The administration's latest prediction is that joblessness will peak at 8.5 per cent this year but continuing layoffs since the January data was collected now indicates it could rise even higher.

Unemployment has not risen above 8 per cent since 1941 when it averaged 8.8 per cent for the entire year. There were 55.9 million persons in the work force that year. The government did not begin keeping monthly statistics until 1948.

In the post-World War II period, joblessness approached 8 per cent only once, in October 1949 when it hit 7.9 per cent of 62.1 million persons, and that was only for one month because of a coal miners strike.

During the 1957-58 recession, which at that time was regarded as the worst since the Great Depression, joblessness hit a peak of 7.5 per cent in May 1958. There were 67.8 million persons in the work force that month.

More people are out of work today than at any time since the Depression years, but the work force now is much larger, having grown from 52 million to about 91 million.

VANDALISM

Father Leo J. F. St. John reported a tire punctured while parked at St. Thomas Catholic Church. Damage: $50.

24 Pleas Heard By Judge Tune

In his first month as county judge, Bill Tune heard 24 guilty or no contest pleas and dismissed 22 cases.

The county court criminal docket contained 90 cases on Jan. 1 and 94 on Jan. 31. Although a jury panel was summoned, no jury trials were held.

County Attorney W. H. (Bill) Eyssen Jr. filed 30 new cases and saw 20 appealed from municipal and justice courts.

Criminal case fines and court costs assessed in county court totaled $2,290 in January, 1975, compared to $1,358 in January, 1974, County Clerk Margaret Ray said.

The total for December, 1974, was $956.

Tune entered four default or agreed judgments in county court civil action, and attorneys filed four new suits, leaving the total on the docket at 162.

During January, 24 probate cases were filed.

Dogs Are Found Shot To Death

The two black and white huskies reported missing from 2708 Cindy were found shot to death and lying near the road eight miles east of Coahoma.

A truck driver spotted the dead dogs and called the owner. Mrs. Robin Dye thanked persons who had tried to help them find the animals.

Memo Given On Animals

All police officers were issued a memo on the subject of dead animals and dog bites by Police Chief Vance Chisum Thursday.

The policy states, on dead animals, "If we receive a complaint or view a dead carcass on the streets of Big Spring, we will remove the animal to the curb if at all possible and then notify Code Enforcement of its location."

"On dog bites, if we receive a complaint, we will attempt to contact owner of the animal, determine through proof if the animal has been vaccinated and advise the owner of steps to take to care for the animal for the next 14 days.

"We will then notify Code Enforcement of the location, and other pertinent facts of the incident and they will make the follow-up investigation.

"After 5 p.m. and on weekends, there is a Code Enforcement officer on standby to be used if the incident is serious enough to warrant calling him out. The sergeant in charge will be the one to make this decision."

Teen Arrested

COAHOMA — Deputy sheriff Paul Silva arrested a 16-year-old boy Thursday and took a statement about the Jan. 30 burglary of the Ted Fowler Texaco service station here.

The case has been turned over to the juvenile probation officer.

About $100 was stolen and some damage done, Sheriff A. N. Standard said. A few dollars were recovered.

Pool Needed, Jaycees Learn

STANTON — According to a survey by the Stanton Jaycees, the majority of Stanton's citizens believe a swimming pool should be top priority in improving the city parks.

The Jaycees are preparing the preliminary papers for a grant application for park improvements from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

A representative from the department toured the city parks and agreed that work was needed. He also agreed to a proposal that Stanton's Mike Black, a landscape architect, work up a plan for revamping the park system.

Board To Meet Four Times Year

Quarterly meetings of the juvenile probation board were planned Thursday afternoon.

And the board planned to invite District Judge Ralph W. Caton, juvenile court judge, and Lt. Jim McCain of the police juvenile division to future meetings.

Ed Cherry, juvenile probation officer presented reports on the number of cases referred and handled during 1974 and January, 1975.

Representatives of the city, school system and county, which jointly fund Cherry's office, attended the meeting.

County Clerk's Office Has Work Volume Gain

Fees of office, which indicate the volume of work handled by the county clerk's office, totaled $4,374 in January, 1975, County Clerk Margaret Ray said.

This index was up from the $3,359 recorded for January, 1974.

County court criminal and civil cases, probate and lunacy hearings brought $3,101 in fines and court costs assessed. For the previous January, $2,041 is the total.

The county clerk's office filed 443 legal documents during January, 1975.

Mrs. Ray, noting 486 legal instruments filed the same month last year, felt this indicated this type of activity had not declined much. These legal papers include warranty deeds, deeds of trust, and oil and gas leases.

More persons are buying items on installment loans, Mrs. Ray observed. She reported 272 financing statements for items ranging from furniture to appliances and farm implements but not vehicles.

During the first month of 1974, she said 190 financing statements were filed.

There were 37 marriage licenses issued while 32 marriage licenses were issued the previous January.

Hawks Withstand 'Dogs Challenge

By CLARK LESHER

Howard College built up a 12-point lead midway in the second half and held on to nip Clarendon College, 80-78, here Thursday night in the Hawk gym.

Observed close to a packed house, the Hawks kept in step with Western front runner and runner-up, Western Texas and Amarillo, increasing their conference achievement to 7-3 and 17-7 over-all.

The Bulldogs slipped further down to 2-9 and 9-14 concerning WJCAC and yearly figures.

Howard College remained in title contention as the Hawks withstood all pressure Clarendon threw at them.

Utilizing its ball control technique, Clarendon trailing 79-72 with 1:22 left, made a run for it to the final wire.

The Bulldogs held HC to one point, Ron May's free toss, while slipping in six. Over a period of 48 seconds, the Bulldogs floor production netted them three points.

The Bulldogs still saw daylight with only 19 seconds on the clock, but CC was called traveling. Clarendon's Harrison Andrews sliced the final deficit to two points, banking in a field goal as the buzzer was sounded.

Howard College's Marvin Johnson and Larry Erves moved the Hawks out in front to a electrifying 6-0 lead. But Clarendon quickly responded and played HC on even terms the first half.

The score was tied nine times. Howard College took the lead six times and Clarendon held the advantage point five times.

Howard College took the lead for good at 2:44 of the first half. Alfred Lawrence tossed in a free throw to make it, 33-32. Johnson and Erves chipped in to help send the Hawks to their dressing room at half-time, ahead 39-35.

Team work by Howard College was the contributing factor in muzzling CC. Four Hawks collected points in the double figures.

Erves proved to be HC's top shooter, tearing the nets for 24 points. He was followed by team's leading scorer, Johnson, who made 18. Johnny Harris and Alfred Gladden sacked 11 points apiece.

Johnson moved into the all-time No. 19 Hawk position regarding the Top 25 single season scorers. The 6-4 freshman has pumped in 564 points.

Four Clarendon cagers hit the double mark. Donald Warrior led off with 23 points, trailed closely by Archie Andrews' 21.

Gladden was the lone performer fouling out, leaving the game at 1:22 of the final half.

Harris was at his usual self, consistently setting up Hawk floor plays and showing off his slick pro-type fast break ball tactics.

Hc hit a fine 54 per cent from the floor, 34 of 63 attempts and Clarendon, 41, 31 of 74. At the free throw line, the Hawks came up with 12 off 22 tries and the Bulldogs, 16 of 27.

The Hawks' next game is with New Mexico Junior College at Hobbs, Monday.

HOWARD COLLEGE (80) — Harris, 5-1-11; Gladden, 4-3-11; Giles, 2-1-5; Erves, 11-2-24; Johnson, 8-2-18; May, 0-1-1; Davis, D., 1-0-2; Lawrence, 3-1-7; Davis, A., 0-1-1. Totals 34-12-80.

CLARENDON (78) — Evans, 8-1-17; Andrews, 1-0-2; Hughes, 7-7-21; Warrior, 10-3-23; Graham, 5-2-12; Quisenberry, 0-2-2; Mitchell, 0-1-1; Evans, 0-0-0. Totals 31-16-78.

Terps Walk By Fordham

By The Associated Press

Fordham's basketball team couldn't run with Maryland, so the game plan was to slow down the offense.

The game plan worked to perfection — but it turned out that the Rams couldn't walk with Maryland, either.

The fourth-ranked Terrapins played Fordham's game most of the way but it was their game at the end, an embarrassingly easy 65-46 victory at Madison Square Garden Thursday night.

"They are the best fast-break team I've seen since I've been coaching," said Fordham Coach Hal Wissel. "With their three guards, they are super.

"Take away their fast break and take away their penetration and you have a chance. But we didn't."

Coach Lefty Driessel has installed a three-guard offense at Maryland for obvious reasons. John Lucas, Moe Howard and Brad Davis give the Terps three king-size backcourt men who never run out of gas and supply alarming scoring power.

Lucas, as he has been doing most of the season, put the Terps in motion at the start of the second half.the 6-foot-3 sharpshooter kicked off a 12-4 scoring streak in the first 10 minutes of the second half as Maryland ran away to an insurmountable 46-30 lead.

"We didn't want to play their style, but we were forced to after a while," said Wissel, content with a patient offense in the first half that kept his Rams within shooting distance of the strong Maryland team. "But they got some fast-break baskets and started to open it up and we had to quicken our offense after that."

With Howard sitting out most of the second half because of a broken nose suffered in an earlier game, Driessel went to his multi-talented bench and came up with Steve Sheppard. The 66 forward took up some of the scoring burden for Maryland and finished with 14 points to rank behind Lucas' game-high 16.

The game was the first of a doubleheader at Madison Square Garden. Lafayette whipped Colgate 66-65 in the opener as Jim Lundy drove in for the winning basket with 11 seconds left.

Third-ranked Louisville and No. 19 Rutgers, the only other ranked teams in action Thursday night, each won games more exciting than the Maryland-Fordham affair.

Employing an effective stall in the final five minutes, Louisville hung on to defeat Wichita State 62-57 in their Missouri Valley Conference contest Thursday night. Louisville, despite shooting a cool 37 per cent, improved its record to 161 and 7-1 in the conference. The loss dropped Wichita State, 8-10 and 4-3, out of a second place tie in the MVC with New Mexico State behind the league-leading Cardinals.

Mike Dabney sank two free throws with 42 seconds remaining to lift Rutgers past Syracuse 76-75. The loss snapped a 15-game home winning streak for the Orangemen, 13-5, and was only the second in Syracuse's last 53 games at Manley Field House.

Boycott Favored

CLEVELAND (AP) — A united front is the key to success, according to members of the Women's Tennis Association, who are threatening to boycott Wimbledon in an effort to equalize their prize money with the men.

"We all have to stick together in order for this to work," said Francoise Durr, a member of the WTA's board of directors. "If one doesn't play then we all have to stay away."

Miss Durr and 32 other WTA members are in Cleveland for the women's tennis circuit tournament stop at the Coliseum.

"For the last two years in Forest Hills we've been getting the same money as the men," said Miss Durr. "If we don't get it in Wimbledon, they might change their minds at Forest Hills.

"I'm in favor of the boycott," she added. "It is a shame, but it seems to be the only way to force the issue."

Mayor David Mills, secretary of Wimbledon, said Thursday that the women's prize money would not be increased to match the men's. The women now get about 70 per cent of the men's prize money.

Chris Evert, a vice president of the WTA, said she would not comment on the situation until all the votes are received.

"About 80 per cent of the votes are in and it will probably be a couple of weeks before all the members have voted," Miss Evert said.

Group Ready To Buy Orioles

BALTIMORE (AP) — The chairman of Baltimore's Committee to Save the Orioles said Thursday the city's efforts to keep the American League ball club in town may have been too little, too late.

F. Barton Harvey, Jr., the chairman of the mayor's blue ribbon committee, told the city finance commissioners there is no local group actively seeking to provide the private portion of the money needed to purchase the team from current owner Jerold C. Hoffberger.

Harvey also said that a group in another city is preparing to offer Hoffberger $14 million for the Orioles.

Harvey's committee has been seeking ways since last fall to purchase the Orioles through a combined public and private agreement which would insure the Birds' continued presence in the city.

The city Board of Finance has agreed to float a $6-million bond issue, to be repaid by the new team owners from gross receipts of the baseball club, as its half of the purchase agreement. The bond issue now requires approval of the Board of Estimates and city council before it can be enacted.

The chairman of the committee also said that private investors could be attracted to purchasing the bonds through a 10 per cent waiver on the city admissions tax, rebates on the city's share of parking and cocession revenues, and forgiveness of the stadium rental fee.

Harvey indicated, however, that efforts to raise the $12 million price tag asked by Hoffberger may be futile since the major private investor group headed by real estate developer Ralph DeChiaro has ceased negotiations.

"Frankly, I think we're whistling in the dark," said Harvey, "because I think Hoffberger got a higher offer from outside." Harvey refused to specify where the offer had come from, and Hoffberger denied comment on the report.

Reports have circulated for months that a private investment group representing the New Orleans Superdome has offered Hoffberger $14 million dollars for the Orioles.

Coffey, Kennedy Paired In '40'

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Defending champion Billy Bob Coffey of Fort Worth will meet Dr. John Kennedy of Mount Pleasant in the finals today of the 23rd annual Life Begins at 40 golf tournament.

Coffey defeated Henry Richards 2-1 Thursday in a biting wind and 49-degree temperature.

Kennedy gained the final slot with a one-up victory over Jack Williams of Plainview.

Coffey has made the finals once before in 17 previous years, and Kennedy was a runner-up in 1972 and 1969.

Coffey is a former Texas Open and Texas amateur champion.

Kennedy's victory was considered a mild upset. He led all the way in defeating Williams and finished his round at one over par 73.

Coffey covered the 6,600 yard Harlingen Country Club course in a par 72 in beating Richards, a Jacksboro rancher who has made the finals three times.

Payton, Bell Pace Western

SNYDER — Marilyn Payton and Theresa Bell shot through 21 and 18 points respectively to lead the Western Texas girls to a 70-55 win over South Plains here Thursday night.

WTC shows a 4-0 conference total and 12-3 for the season.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Tim Barrett, a running back from John Carroll who was picked by the Cleveland Browns in the 14th round of the National Football League player draft, has signed a contract with the team.

Barrett is the first of the draftees to do so, a Browns spokesman said Thursday.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — All but three of the 18 rookies invited to this weekend's San Francisco 49ers orientation camp have indicated they'll attend, Coach Dick Nolan said Thursday.

The players, selected in the National Football League draft last week, will take physical examinations Saturday morning and work out at the 49ers' Redwood City training headquarters Saturday afternoon and Sunday.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Operations director Joe Sullivan of the St. Louis Cardinals was removed Thursday from a coronary care unit at Barnes Hospital, where he was taken following a mild heart attack Jan. 28, the National Football League team said.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates have signed two more players to 1975 contracts, including slugging leftfielder Willie Stargell, who batted .301 last year and hit 25 home runs.

Also signed Thursday was Jim Ray, a pitcher acquired in the off-season from Detroit, where he had a 1-3 record and a 4.50 earned run average. The Pirates have now signed five players.

Miller Finds Ray Of Hope

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The spectacular successes, the phenomenal scores, the total domination of pro golf by Johnny Miller is getting to be an old story, one that's repeated almost daily.

But his fellow tourists held no malice, no ill will, no resentment of the gaudy numbers Miller has spread over a flick of sun-warmed scoreboards in the West and Southwest.

"I know it's getting old," said John Mahaffey, the young man who finished second to Miller in the Dean Martin-Tucson Open.

"I know people may be getting tired of it. But what he's doing is good for golf. And it's good for us, for the rest of us. He's proved that shooting those kind of scores, those fantastically low scores, is really possible.

"He's set his standards, his goals so high, that the rest of us are putting our goals up higher, too.

"For example, I was out there today trying to shoot 62."

It didn't happen. He did shoot 67, however, and the front-running Miller followed his opening 64 with a 69 and stretched his lead to three strokes Thursday in the second round of the $160,000 Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic.

Miller, a total of 49 under par in his sweep of the Tucson and Phoenix Opens, had to scramble for his 69.

Tom Shaw, who has had nothing but troubles and struggles since winning the 1971 Hawaiian Open, shot the best round of the warm, sunny day — a six-under-par 66 — and moved into a tie for second with Mac McLendon at 136. McLendon had another 68.

Mahaffey, along with rookie Bill Rogers, Australian Bruce Crampton, Miller Barber and Tom Jenkins followed at 137. Rogers had a 68, Crampton and Barber 69 and Jenkins a 71. All of the leaders but Shaw, McLendon and Crampton played at Tamarisk, one of four desert courses being used for the first four days of this unique, 90-hole, five-day tournament. Shaw was at Bermuda Dunes, which will be the site of the final round Sunday. McLendon at Indian Wells and Crampton at La Quinta.

HOST PERMIAN

Steers Desire Breakthrough

Faced with a hard to absorb eight-game skid mark, Big Spring needs a good night, maybe t-o-n-i-g-h-t to combat Permian forces here at 8 in the Steer gym.

The Steers are endowed with a 5-22 seasonal total and 0-2 in second half 5-4A go-round.

Tuesday night, Big Spring lost a ragged contest to first-round co-champion, Midland. Permian took it on chin against Abilene, 47-46.

Big Spring was besieged with 23 turnovers and Midland, 18. On the boards, Midland held the upper hand, 31-19. The Bulldogs were 35 of 52 from the field.

Permian, with a 1-1 mark in the second half, is considered all but mathematically eliminated from the district race. The Steers could enhance the odds by downing Mojo.

For the second straight game, Permian made only two free throws, with Abilene. Against Midland, last Friday, Mojo made two of 12. Against Abilene, Permian dropped in only two of nine.

Permian almost plucked the win from the Eagles with the successful installation of a full-court press. Both teams shot 42 per cent from the floor.

Permian will no doubt stick with its same starting five, 6-4 junior post and team-leading scorer James Hunter, 6-2 senior Mike Walton, senior 5-11 Brad Van Cleave, senior 5-9, David Stell and either 6-0 John dawson or 6-0 Craig Johnson, both juniors.

Rom Plumlee, Steer head coach has seen Bubba Stripling and Robert Aldridge flash into prominence in the last two games.

Against Abilene, last Friday, the 6-0 sophomore Stripling sacked 20 points and Aldridge, 6-2 junior, netted 18.

Plumlee will probably send on the floor alongside Stripling and Aldridge, 6-1 junior Jim Ray, 5-6 sophomore Elroy Green and 6-3 Mark Moore.

Moore showed his shooting capability against Midland, banging in 10 points.

Preliminary games will pitt Steer and Permian junior varsity and sophomore squads.

Other contests listed tonight besides Permian at Big Spring, finds Midland at Abilene, Cooper at Lee and San Angelo at Odessa High.

Player's Value Argued Over

ATLANTA (AP) — A federal court case with important implications for professional team sports has ended as it began, with lawyers arguing over how much a football player is worth.

U.S. District Court Judge Frank Hooper heard final arguments Thursday in the suit filed by E. Cody Laird, a minority stockholder of the Atlanta Falcons, against the Internal Revenue Service.

Laird seeks an order requiring the IRS to permit depreciation of a player's value as a tax deduction. Player depreciation has provided an important tax writeoff for team owners in all major sports, and an IRS victory could have wide impact.

Hooper said he hopes to issue a decision "within a week or two" but complained the case is "not only difficult, there is no precedent."

Lawyers for the IRS argued that team owners should not be allowed to take tax writeoffs for player depreciation — the way a businessman writes off wear and tear on his equipment — because the value of an athlete cannot be accurately determined.

But Steve Clay, representing Laird, argued Thursday that bonuses paid to rookies in 1966 provide a good yardstick for the value of the 42 veteran players obtained by the Atlanta Falcons when they entered the National Football League that same year.

Clay concluded that the "minimum, bedrock, absolutely lowest value" of the 42 players was $3,035,000. The team originally had valued the players at $7.7 million and sought to take that much in depreciation.

The IRS first valued the players at $1,050,000 and later argued that no depreciation should be allowed.

Jay Weill, representing the federal agency, disputed Clay's reasoning on the value of the players. He said a rookie's bonus could be affected by many factors, including tax considerations, and would not necessarily represent his true worth.

Judge Hooper said he had hoped to be able to establish a guideline which would be useful in future cases but added, "Frankly, I don't know of any way to prove the value" of football players.

Badgers Handled By South Plains

LEVELLAND — South Plains College found its 10-point lead sliced in the final two minutes of play, but the Texans managed to score a 107-105 Western Conference win over Amarillo College here Thursday night.

SPC is now 4-7 in the conference and 14-10 for the year. Amarillo tumbles to a 7-4 WJCAC mark and 14-5 over-all.

SPC's Terry Hodges was the game's high scorer with 24 points. Alonzo Campbell of Amarillo hit for 26.

Put Up Or Shut Up

Today marks the beginning of the annual observance of Scout Week, which marks the beginning of the movement in America 65 years ago.

From a simple philosophy of developing sound character in boys and training them for participating citizenship, the movement caught on and flourished until it has several million boys (and girls) and adults sharing in it today.

Scouting caught on partly because it moved into a vacuum at the precise time of its beginning, but much more because it addressed itself to a practical application of the basic concepts which made this nation both unique and great.

It stressed — and still stresses — the personal commitment to duty (which someone has said is the most sacred word outside of diety to God and to country. It emphasized over and over the goal of developing self-reliance and "to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight." It made a part of its basic tenet the ideal of concern for others — "to help other people at all times." It pledged its members to obey the Scout law, which lays out 12 virtues that are bedrock American.

If America is troubled today, a good part of that difficulty is because its men and women have had self-centered priorities and have neglected to give ample time to their sons and daughters in programs with ideals such as Scouting.

Few people have the right to bemoan the state of youth unless they have taken time to work with boys and girls in dens, packs, patrols, posts; or have taught a Sunday School class or worked with a church group of young people; have worked with Little League teams, the YMCA groups; Boys Club, and many, many other worthy organizations.

Sof if you're really serious about America, it's time to put up or shut up. It's time to replace self-interest with boys and girls as the prime concern of life. Remember that when next you are asked to volunteer your help.

Halting A Bad Practice

There is a tendency in some quarters to pedal backwards when the name of Common Cause is mentioned. There are those who regard the group as liberal-minded meddlers and as flies in the ointment.

But Common Cause is correct in singling out a practice that ought to be stopped, namely the acceptance of honorariums by legislators appearing before various special-interest groups. After seven legislators received $100 each for appearing at a program by the Texas Osteopathic Association, which is backing a bill for a school of osteopathy in Fort Worth, Attorney General John Hill was asked to seek to stop acceptance of such fees.

Legislators ought to have a stronger, more ethical sense about such practices, but for those who don't, perhaps legal restrictions and guidelines wouldn't be amiss.

Barefoot General

Around The Rim

John Edwards

We were zooming through cold, black, windy plains somewhere near Eunice, N.M., at 1 a.m. Thursday, and she said: "What kind of mileage do you get."

"ABOUT 30 MILES to the gallon," I bragged. "I can get (from Big Spring) to Dallas on one tank."

"Of course, you can't drive 80 miles an hour on the interstate unless you want to get a ticket," I added. "Why?" I asked.

"I was just wondering if you had enough gas to get us to Big Spring," the young friend of a friend said.

"Oh, I think we've got just about the right amount to make it," I guessed. "We can check out Eunice for a station, though, if you want to."

"No, not if you think we have enough," the barefoot lady said.

Charlie Pride was lamenting on the tape deck about lousy weather for a hitchhiker being better than sleeping with his wife in a king-sized bed, barefoot's choice of music.

At 5 p.m. Wednesday, I was piecing together a story about reversal of a murder trial when I lifted the phone and heard a young, candy-flavored voice say: "What have you been doing, darling?" Or some such greeting.

A friend in need is a friend indeed, Bullwinkle the Moose used to say. And my New Mexican friend was quick to suggest what darling could be doing: Getting some medical papers from sisters of her friend, Barefoot, and rushing them to Hobbs via bus so Barefoot could be operated on there.

CANDY WAS supposed to call me back at home at 9:30 p.m. Texas time and learn what I'd done. At 10:45 p.m., I called Barefoot's sister to tell her Candy probably wasn't calling.

"Oh, they called me about 8 p.m. and I was supposed to call you and ask you to bring her back to Big Spring," the local sister said. "We got busy. I'm sorry."

Several hours later, I had relinquished the reins of the horses under the hood to Barefoot. I was lost in sleep. It was then, 30 miles from Big Spring, that Barefoot said she first noticed the gas gauge on empty.

We were almost there when she woke me up by stopping out of gas altogether.

The big city was glittering just over the next ridge. So she told me to get out and push to the slightly sloped crest and watch her coast to fuel.

As I pushed, the ridge retreated behind the headlights.

I couldn't remember when I had worked so hard since high school football. When I took too many breaks, Barefoot embarrassed my male ego by treading the cold asphalt with me.

"Go over there to that farm house and get them to give us a push," Barefoot ordered.

"It's 3 oclock in the morning," I said. "Do it," she said.

"I'll push some more," I moaned.

THE BAREFOOT general told me to flag down an approaching vehicle. I was almost blown down as it passed.

Inside the car again, I was falling asleep. This time, she sent me walking through 19 degree winds for help.

Three miles and a frost bitten face later, I walked breathlessly into the Rip Griffin Big Spring Truck Terminal. The cashier told me I'd have to talk to the boss for a big decision like that.

"Well, we'd like to help you, but we are running a truck stop here," he said. "There will be a service charge."

"How much?"

"Five dollars," he said. He should have asked for $50 and I would have stolen it.

When we roared into Big Spring at 5 a.m., I was glad I left the house heater on.

My Answer

Billy Graham

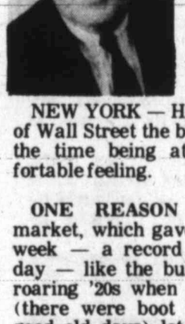
I have a question. Why does God separate happy people? My husband and I enjoyed 41 years of happiness. Then just as we were starting to feel comfortable, he passed away. He attended church and tithed. Physically and spiritually we could not have done more. I am really bitter. Why? R.M.M.

One of the common, and I might add, tragic misunderstandings today is the idea that if we are an active Christian, we'll have no trouble and a long life. It's simply not true.

Some of the greatest servants of God have had momentous problems and their lives have been extremely brief. I think of David Brainerd for example, who died of consumption at age 29 after a missionary career of only three or four years. You cannot make Christian service eventuate into a long and idyllic existence.

Here's a verse for you from Hebrews 12:15: "See to it that . . . no bitter root grows up to cause trouble." You're in danger right now of this root growing into a tall stalk of discontent, griping, and total ineffectiveness in God's service. You had no guarantee of those 41 years. That's many more than most couples have. Why not be grateful for what you had, and pray daily for a positive attitude.

You know, of course, that God doesn't separate people. He's the cohesive force drawing man and man, and man and God together. Separations come from the fallen state of mankind — a condition more regretted by God than us.



Ray Of Sunshine

Marquis Childs

NEW YORK — High in the towers of Wall Street the bankers have, for the time being at least, a comfortable feeling.

ONE REASON is the stock market, which gave off sounds last week — a record 31,000,000-share day — like the bull market of the roaring '20s when your boot black (there were boot blacks in those good old days) let you know what stocks he was in and what his paper profits added up to.

While with characteristic caution the bankers will not talk for attribution, they see this continuing in the short term. Unlike the monthly news letters which their economists put out, phrased in language as full of double-talk as a general's dispatch from a wavering front, they are privately optimistic.

THE GREAT CHUNKS of money in institutions, such as pension funds, had to go somewhere and, with lowered interest rates, went into the stock market for bargains paying 10 per cent or more in dividends.

Like hungry sheep the small investor began to follow this happy lead.

The banker-economists I talked with do not measure this phenomenon in weeks or months. But it suggests a paradox even more remarkable than that of a deepening recession paced by a swelling inflation.

That is a stock market boom in the face of warning signs such as an unemployment rate of 8 per cent.

ON A MORE rational plane it could foretell a turn-around in the economy in the latter part of this year. That is the wishful prediction of the conservative forecasters dominating the Ford Administration and those who read the economic tea leaves in the great banking institutions.

But certain clouds in the not-far-off horizon chill the optimism that the dramatic upturn in the market would otherwise inspire.

One is President Ford's budget for the next fiscal year with a $5 billion jump in the expected deficit to a total of $52 billion.

Added to the deficit for the current year the bankers believe it will be $100 billion rather than the previous estimate of $80 to $90 billion, far and away a peacetime record.

THE DEFICIT WILL be financed by institution money out of the Federal Reserve System, by the banks. Or, says a solemn banker solemnly, it could come down to printing-press money. that is the specter perhaps two years distant.

A threat still in the political stage is viewed with growing alarm in the banking community. It is government allocation of credit giving the Federal Reserve Board power to say where loans should go; to productive enterprise providing employment rather than to luxury-oriented businesses.

The push for credit allocation comes from the new chairman of the House Banking Committee, Rep. Henry Reuss. Reuss is rapidly, in the eyes of the bankers, taking on the sinister look of his predecessor, Wright Patman. The suspicion is that the chairman of the FED, Arthur Burns, may embrace credit allocation.

At a recent meeting with Burns bank presidents were discussing the loan situation. One of those present reported that a bank in Vermont had made a sizeable loan for a new ski lift.

BURNS EXPRESSED stern disapproval only to be rebuked by a participant in the conference who said if he had been in the Vermont banker's place he would have made the same loan.

Russia, as one banker put it, tried that kind of government dictation and it has never worked. It would certainly not work here. But on the whole the financial men approve the President's tax and energy program. They see the forces of the free market pushing up the price of gasoline and fuel oil with the former going as high as 75 cents or $1 a gallon.

Restraint Removed

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite slackening demand for many products, prices remain high — high enough for the Council on Wage and Price Stability to get a bit suspicious.

The council said it intends to examine the pricing structure of metal cans, rubber tires and industrial chemicals in an effort to determine why the law of supply and demand seems not to be working.

Without any further investigation, however, a handful of obvious reasons can be offered in explanation of why the market place doesn't react to a pull on the reins.

REBATES — Unable to forecast what twists and turns the economy might take even a few weeks ahead, sellers are reluctant to lower their prices. Instead, they offer rebates for temporary periods of time.

The beauty of the rebate is that it is presented as a gift. In effect, it is nothing more than recognition of the reality that goods can't be sold at the stated price.

The impact of this is to keep prices higher than the market can support. In a sense, it is a market subsidy provided by the seller who, for various reasons, prefers it that way.

One reason is that a price cut might prove to be only temporary. The seller's own costs could force him to raise prices later, if government price restraints aren's applied in the meantime.

DISCOUNT FROM LIST — Very much like a rebate. Many manufacturers have been practicing this technique for decades. You quote an official price and, if necessary, bargain down from it.

If conditions improve the seller isn't in the position of having to announce a price increase. He merely eliminates the discount. Ask the steel companies about this.

COST-PLUS PRICING — When a contractor quotes a certain price to produce a product he generally assumes the risk of keeping his costs low enough to leave him a profit. But with cost-plus contracts his risk is reduced greatly.

The cost-plus contract has long been popular in producing defense products, especially those in which huge sums are involved, as well as design changes and delays.

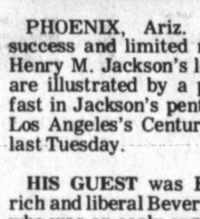
One result is that a governor on prices is removed. Spend what you want to spend so long as you can defend it. You'll still make your profit because you'll merely charge a higher price for the job.

FLOATING INTEREST RATES — In more normal times banks lend money at a specified rate of interest, assuming the risk if rates subsequently rise in the market generally.

But that inflation monitor is removed by the floating interest rate. It permits a bank to lend money to a company that otherwise might not get a loan. It reduces the bank's risk, and permits it to make riskier loans.

Whereas in a fixed-rate loan the bank cannot collect any more than the agreed upon rate, it can do so with the floating rate. If rates rise 1 per cent, then the bank just sends the borrower a bigger bill.

Banks flooded the market with such loans. If they had been restricted to fixed-rate loans they wouldn't have.



Scoop's New Base

Robert Novak

PHOENIX, Ariz. — Both the success and limited nature of Sen. Henry M. Jackson's leftward thrust are illustrated by a private breakfast in Jackson's penthouse suite in Los Angeles's Century Plaza Hotel last Tuesday.

HIS GUEST was Ed Sanders, a rich and liberal Beverly Hills lawyer who was an early organizer for Sen. George McGovern's 1972 presidential campaign. Sanders privately committed himself to Richard Kline, Jackson's fund-raiser, several weeks ago. Now, over morning coffee, Sanders formalized his journey across the Democratic party spectrum to endorse Jackson.

But the significance of Sanders's conversion is mitigated by the fact he is really less a liberal activist and Democratic politician than he is a Jewish community leader and Zionist. Since the October 1973 war, such Jewish liberals have given Scoop Jackson's uncompromising advocacy of Israel a higher priority than George McGovern's uncompromising liberalism.

THAT PREFERENCE lends Jackson's 1976 campaign a wholly different flavor from his forlorn effort of 1972, when scattered party regulars and labor functionaries comprised a woefully narrow base. Now he has the financing and dedicated followers which make a serious candidacy. Nevertheless, his wooing of the left is widely spurned among liberals who do not list Israel as top priority.

JACKSON'S NEW base was visible Tuesday night at the Arizona Biltmore in Phoenix at a $250-a-plate dinner (netting over $70,000). A paying guest was state senate president Robert Stump, a moderate who was among the lonely Jacksonites here in 1972. Stump recognized few of his fellow diners — mostly well-heeled Jewish businessmen new to politics.

Jackson's Los Angeles fund-raiser two nights earlier at the Century Plaza was much the same on a larger scale (netting $275,000). The chairman was merchant Hersey Gold, inactive politically until he met Jackson through Israeli fund-raising. Israel led Jackson to other new supporters such as television producer Bruce Geller ("Mannix" and "Mission Impossible"), who invited Hollywood intellectual figures to meet Jackson at his home Monday night.

TO MAKE his new liberals feel more comfortable, Jackson has subdued his old rhetoric. He says nothing in defense of the embattled defense budget or CIA. His 1972 denunciations of the radical left have been shelved. Most striking is his about-face on Vietnam, writing off South Vietnamese independence as a virtually lost cause in his Los Angeles speech (those remarks leading off extracts distributed to the press).

This has pleased Morris Dees, the brilliant young Montgomery, Ala., liberal who ran McGovern's spectacular direct-mail fund-raising in 1972. Personally and privately reassured by Jackson about defense and Vietnam, Dees thinks enough of him to have flown to Los Angeles last Sunday for consultation about direct mail.

DEES IS no single-issue Zionist willing to back Jackson no matter what his non-Israel views. That is even truer of movie actor Warren Beatty, veteran anti-war activist and McGovernite who met privately with Jackson for 45 minutes Sunday to discuss defense policy.

But such extraordinary personal attention cannot remove this reality: Jackson still believes in strong national defense (including U.S. troops in Europe) and opposes meataxe McGovernite cuts. Ultimately, that will prove unacceptable to Warren Beatty and perhaps to Morris Dees as well.

Nor are all rich Jewish liberals enchanted by Jackson's hard line on Jewish migration from Russia.

But the doubters are heavily outnumbered in the Jewish community, and that assures Jackson an indispensible base for 1976, even if he fails to disarm the left.

Strange Results Of Stroke

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My sister had a slight heart attack followed by a slight stoke which affected her left hand and right side of her mouth.

She seems to be getting better although she can't control her laughing regardless of how serious the subject of conversation.

She doesn't like to talk to anyone for this reason. She thinks maybe her brain was damaged, although they ran a brain scan on her and the doctors say no.

Could you help me to understand this problem? — P.C.

The brain is invariably damaged to some extent by a stroke.

The brain scan was taken, not so much to determine injury, but to detect any tumor that might be present. Apparently the scan showed a negative result.

Such a scan would not show brain damage in an isolated area having to do with speech, for example.

A variety of aberrations can occur in a stroke, particularly with regard to communication. The patient might grope for words, unable to utter them. Some patients will involuntarily respond in conversation with meaningless repetition of such phrases as "Boy, oh boy, oh boy," or My, on my, on my."

In your sister's case, the fact that improvement has been noted is a good sign for the future. It would be wise to have her checked by a speech therapist to see if further improvement in speech is possible.

Meanwhile, your conversation with your sister should stress short sentences. And quite obviously, you should not chide her for her laughing.

A stroke entails many months of painstaking effort in the rehabilitation stage. You don't say how old you sister is. This would be a factor in her further improvement. But, as I say, the improvement in her hand and facial muscles is a good sign.

Whether she can get beyond the laughing would depend on the therapist's examination.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been considering having a vasectomy, or maybe letting my wife have her tubes tied, but we have been told this can cause a man to have a greater desire for sex and maybe run after other women, and also the woman, too.

We have a happy marriage and would not want to do anything to disrupt this. My wife talked to a doctor about it and he told her, she would have to be very understanding. What did he mean by this? — T.D.C.

I have no idea what he meant.

But the notion that a vasectomy or a tubal ligation either increases or diminishes sexual appetite is entirely false.

If your marriage is a happy one now, nothing should change. In fact, it is not uncommon for husband and wife to actually take greater enjoyment in sex after such operations, being relieved from concerns over undesired pregnancies.

But it can work both ways, and that is what you are probably speaking about. Partners of an unstable marriage might well find that their newfound sterility allows them opportunity for extracurricular sex minus the fear of conception. That is another story.

At any rate, sterilization of this kind should be done with the understanding that it is usually permanent.

SIRS:

Our sincere thanks go to all the people of Big Spring for their help in looking for our Basset Hound for the past two weeks. My husband was able to locate her and brought her back to Grapevine in remarkably good shape.

We have never seen such concern and such willingness to help as we did from everyone we spoke to in Big Spring about "Doa." The police, the newspaper, the Holiday Inn, and the residents of College park area were all outstanding, also Bob Baker and Walton Morrison.

On The Brink Of 'Cheese War'

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The European Common Market, on the brink of a "cheese war" with the United States, said today it would start subsidizing cheese exports again in apparent defiance of U.S. Agriculture Department wishes.

Richard Bell, a senior U.S. agriculture official, reportedly threatened retaliatory action by Washington against the Europeans during talks in Brussels last week on the cheese scheme.

An American source said U.S. reaction to the Common Market move was still awaited. "It may be swallowable, maybe not," he said.

A Common Market offical said the subsidies would not be paid on cheddar cheese, of which U.S. firms are major producers, and that European cheese would remain more expensive in U.S. supermarkets than the domestic product.

The official described the move as modest and said Bell had left the impression in Brussels that he had understood the need for the Common Market action. U.S. sources hinted strongly, however, that the Americans were displeased and did not rule out countermeasure.

The United States is the Common Market's biggest export market for cheese, which makes the industry sensitive to American views.

Previous cheese export subsidies were stopped last July in response to an American threat to impose countervailing duties and while details of the U.S. trade bill were still under discussion in Congress.

Common Market sources said cheese exports slowed down significantly in recent months, and stocks were said unofficially to amount now to about 100,000 tons.

The Europeans are fearful that unless they can boost exports cheese stocks will rise to much less managable proportions soon when spring milk production increases.

Drill 22 Wildcats

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Twenty-two wildcat oil wells, including seven in the Abilene district, were drilled in Texas during the last half of January, the Railroad Commission reported Wednesday.

Only two wildcat oil wells were drilled the first two weeks for a yearly total of 24, or one fewer than at this time last year.

The new oil wildcats included four in the Houston district; three in the Corpus Christi district; two each in the San Angelo, Midland and San Antonio No. 1 districts; and one each in the Lubbock and Wichita Falls districts.

A total of 29 wildcat gas wells were drilled from Jan. 15 through Jan. 31 for a yearly total of 47, or 25 more than at this time last year.

The new gas wildcats included 12 in the San Antonio No. 2 district; four each in the San Antonio No. 1 and Corpus Christi districts; two each in the Kilgore No. 5, Kilgore No. 6 and San Angelo districts; and one each in the Abilene, Wichita Falls and Pampa districts.

The commission reported that 318 oil wells were completed in the two-week period for a yearly total of 515, or 77 more than at this time in 1974. A total of 290 gas wells were completed for a yearly total of 482, also 77 more than a year ago.

The commission said 654 wells were plugged, including 199 dry holes.

Texas' average calendar day oil allowable as of Feb. 1 was 3,923,823 barrels, a decrease of 26,751 from Jan. 15, the commission said.

No Jurisdiction To Order New City Election

HOUSTON (AP) — The 14th Court of Civil Appeals has ruled that a lower court has no jurisdiction to order a new city election at Prairie View.

The appeals court decision Wednesday stated the lower court lacked jurisdiction because the disputed election was not certified.

The suit originally was filed by unsuccessful mayoral candidate Donald Sowell, 36. He contended incumbent Mayor Eristus Sams, 62, used his power as the city's chief executive to control the election held last April 6.

A count of ballots the night of the disputed election showed Sams the winner 208 to 192.

"The trial court in this case was without authority to act on the election until such time as the election process had been completed," Associate Justice Edward D. Coulson said in a written opinion. "That end will not be reached until the city council ... has canvassed the votes cast ... and certified the results thereof, including the election of one of the candidates as mayor."

The lower court had ordered a new election.

Association Meet Slated

The Big Spring Baptist Association will have its annual Evangelism Conference Monday February 10 at Baptist Temple, 11th Place and Goliad. Sessions will be at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Baptists point out that this meeting will feature good music and inspirational messages. Featured speakers are Dr. Winfred Moore, Lt. Col. A. W. Burer and Monroe Teeters. Music will be directed by Jerry Newman and James Kinman.

Dr. Winfred Moore will speak in both the morning and evening sessions. He is pastor of the First Baptist Church in Amarillo, Texas. He has led that church to give more through the missionary program of Southern Baptists than any other church.

He has led them to build a Sunday School that is in the top 20 churches in the nation in attendance. His church regularly participates in crusades around the world. An evangelistic pastor, he regularly baptizes over 200 people yearly.

Lt. Col. Arthur Burer is stationed at Webb A.F.B. as an instructor pilot. He spent seven years as a prisoner of war in North Viet Nam. He has spoken to many church groups and civic clubs since coming to Big Spring. He will speak in the evening session.

Monroe Teeters is pastor of the First Baptist Church in Coahoma. He is well-known as a gospel preacher who has preached many evangelistic meetings in West Texas. He will be speaking in the morning session.

James Kinman, music director at Hillcrest Baptist Church, and Jerry Newman, music director at East Fourth St. Baptist Church, will direct the music. A choir composed of all who want to sing in the evening service will meet at 6:30 p.m. All interested singers are invited to come.

Big Spring Baptist Association is a cooperative effort of 31 Southern Baptist Churches in Big Spring and the surrounding area. Collyns Moore, Jr. is evangelism chairman. All are invited to this inspirational meeting, according to the Rev. Moore.

Alumni Day Luncheon Set

ABILENE — Dr. Batsell Barrett Baxter, Nashville, Tenn., chairman of the department of bible at David Lipscomb College in Nashville and a television and radio speaker for the "Herald of Truth" religious programs, will be the featured speaker at the annual Alumni Day luncheon Monday, Feb. 24, in rooms 300-301 of Gibson Health and Physical Education Center on the ACC campus.

The luncheon, part of ACC's 57th annual Bible Lectureship activities, will honor Dr. Ira North of Nashville, Tenn., ACC's 1974 "Outstanding Alumnus of the Year." Dr. North will also be honored Sunday (Feb. 23) at an 8:30 p.m. reception in the main room of McGlothlin Campus Center. He is minister for the Madison (Tenn.) Church of Christ and television and radio speaker for the "Amazing Grace Bible Class" program, and is the 17th recipient of the annual alumni honor. Dr. Baxter was the fourth recipient of the alumni honor in 1961.

RUSS RAINEY, BEVERLY CRISWELL, RANDY BURCHELL

College Baptists Host 'His' Group

"His," a musical group from the University of Texas at Arlington, will be in concert at College Baptist Church, Saturday, February 8, at 7:30 p.m. This Christian singing group has been termed "Christian entertainment with a touch of Gospel Boogey."

The group is made up of three college students including Russ Rainey, Beverly Criswell, and Randy Burchell. Russ and Randy are from Big Spring and are former members of College Baptist Church. They have sung for various youth retreats and Christian concerts throughout the state. All three are active members of the Baptist Student Union at UTA.

This concert is co-sponsored by the Youth Council of College Baptist Church, and the Baptist Student Union of Howard College. All youth and interested adults are cordially invited to hear this fine group. Admission is free.

Spiritual Singers Due Here

Two singing groups that have appeared at several West Texas concerts will sing in Big Spring at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Lake View YMCA on NW 4th Street.

The New Hope Baptist Church is sponsor and their pastor, the Rev. L. Hunt, invites the public to attend.

The United Spiritual Singers from Midland as well as the Jones and Woodard Sisters will appear. Directress is Sis Hunt; pianist is Odell Niblett; and guitarist is Tommie Dedrick.

Trinity Slates Scout Sunday

On Sunday morning at the morning worship service at 11 a.m., Scout Sunday will be observed by a message by the pastor, the Rev. Lester M. Utz, entitled "A Man Youth Can Follow" and by the attendance in uniform of those who are participating in the scouting program for both boys and girls.

Adult members and youth who are participants in the two scouting programs at Trinity are Mrs. Lin Bell, executive for the Girl Scout Council in Big Spring, Mrs. Sally Sparks and Mrs. Paulette Schafer, Girl Scout Troop Leaders, Cindy Sparks, Wendy Wildt and Susan Bell troop members; Captain Terry Lizotte Scoutmaster of Troop 1776, the Rev. Utz, Lone Star District Cub Scout leader, and Michael Wildt, Elton Sparks and Mark Silen troop or pack members. This marks the 37th year of active scouting service for the Rev. Utz.

The public is cordially invited to attend the service.

Immaculate Heart Sets Catholic School Week

Catholic School Week (February 2-9) spotlighted an old idea which has been dusted off and enthusiastically employed by two teachers at Immaculate Heart of Mary School — Willa Arnold, first grade teacher, and Renee Rizzo, sixth grade teacher — and equally well received by the first and sixth graders involved.

The program which has been developed by the teachers over the last four months utilizes the talents of first and sixth graders in a helper (tutor)-learner situation. The sixth grade helpers are assigned first graders. Each helper and his particular group of two or three first graders work on a specific activity designed by Mrs. Anold, the first grade teacher.

The activity may be math of reading oriented. Initially, though, the sixth graders are instructed in the activity before working with his first graders.

Highlights of the program have been two puppet and variety shows presented to the first grade at Christmas and Halloween. In addition to the shows, the first graders are treated to a story hour once or twice a week for which a sixth grader practices reading a Caldecott Medal book and designs a poster depicting a scene from his particular book.

Caldecott books are books which have been awarded the Randolph Caldecott Medal by the American Library Association for their distinguished and original illustrations. These books are highly successful with children, and that is why the sixth graders choose from a list of these books for the first grade story hour. Once all work is completed, and the sixth grader feels confident in his oral reading of the Caldecott book, he is ready for story hour.

The first graders truly enjoy the book which is read to them, and show their appreciation with a thank you note to the sixth grader who read that day. And don't you think that sixth grader isn't anxious for that note to be delivered by one of the first graders! It all points to what a touch of tender loving care can do, according to the instructors.

From these experiences the sixth graders have learned patience and some knowledge of the learning process. The first graders have grown to look forward to and to enjoy the visits of their sixth grade helpers, but equally important they are learning — which is the purpose of the program.

Fed Grand Jury Looking At Cops

HOUSTON (AP) — Several policemen have been subpoenaed to appear Monday before a federal grand jury looking into alleged police misconduct.

Those due to appear include former Police Chief Herman Short and four officers formerly assigned to the police department's criminal intelligence division.

Southwest Airlines Wins Fight With Larger Rivals

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Southwest Airlines—the four-plane intrastate air carrier—has chalked up another victory in its battle against big interstate airlines.

The Texas Aeronautics Commission approved unanimously Thursday a commission examiner's recommendation that Southwest be allowed to operate flights connecting Harlingen in the Lower Rio Grande Valley with Dallas, Houston and San Antonio.

Texas International Airlines, which opposed Southwest's application, said it would not seek an injunction to prevent the flights.

TO TEST POLICY

Francisco Lorenzo, TI president, said his company does plan legal action "to test the policies of the TAC on which this decision was made."

Lorenzo said the TAC cannot be allowed "to continue their bias in favor of the growth and development of Southwest Airlines."

M. Lamar Muse, president of Southwest, said his company might have flights into Harlingen as early as next week.

James W. Wilson of Austin, a TI lawyer, told the commission that approval of Southwest flights would destroy service now provided by TI for passengers who must connect with other flights and also its air freight service.

Herbert Kelleher, Southwest's general counsel, said interconnecting passengers would still use TI because Southwest does not offer that service.

Kelleher also said freight service to the Valley would not be affected because Southwest can carry packages weighing up to 100 pounds.

BAD MISTAKE

Lorenzo said his firm will continue to seek permission from the Civil Aeronautics Board to stop flights to Harlingen. He said TI faces an estimated $3 million loss in the first year both airlines serve the area.

Kelleher said, "The Valley market should grow faster than Dallas-Houston and Dallas-San Antonio if Southwest is permitted to serve it. If TI wants to run away from this market, it is making a terrible mistake."

Southwest successfully fought attempts last year by major airlines to force it to stop using Dallas' Love Field and to move to the new Dallas-Fort Worth airport.

Ezzell Appears On TV Program

Rep. Mike Ezzell of Snyder, who represents this legislative district in Austin, will appear on the WFAA panel program, Capitol Gallery, at 12:30 p.m., Saturday.

Others on the panel include Rep. John Hoestenbach, Odessa; Rep. Dave Phinney, Fort Worth; and State Sen. Grant Jones, Abilene. Ezzell and Hoestenbach teamed to oppose the compulsory unitization bill.

Cindy Miller will moderate the program.

West Is Named Museum Officer

S. R. (Bob) West was elected treasurer of Heritage Museum at a board meeting called Thursday by George Zachariah, president.

Work will be started soon for the next exhibit, and Zachariah said he hops the museum will set up an exhibit on American Heritage to parallel other exhibits during the bicentennial.

Also due for early planning is the second annual Chuck Wagon membership party, probably in May.

Dietary Study Is Required

Howard College and Big Spring Veteran Administration Hospital are involved in a cooperative effort to make future nurses aware of procedures and methods involved in dietary services in hospitals, as each of the 21 LVN students at the College spend a day in the VA Hospital's Dietary Services section.

The students observe how food is prepared, how special diets are determined and prepared, how special eating utensils are used by the disabled and how diets are evaluated.

Lisetta Brickman, RD, Chief of Dietetic Services and Sibyl Spielman, RD, Therapeutic and Clinic Dietician are in charge of the instruction.

The students are instructed two at a time and each student gets a full day of instruction.
