LUBBOCK'S FIRE FIGHTING MACHINE

CITY SECURES AN ENGINE AND ONE THOUSAND FEET OF HOSE—IT IS FINE

THROWS STREAMS OVER ONE HUNDRED FEET HIGH

The Aldermen and Citizens Co-operate in Purchase—City Paying One-Half—It is Now up to The People to Build Elevated Tanks For Protection

Lubbock has added another chapter to her glory by the purchase of a very efficient fire engine, with a thousand feet of hose and hose cart. It is one of the most perfect engines made, being an assembling of four gasoline engines into one battery. It was thoroughly tested before being accepted and in every way met the requirements of those interested. If the people who have wind mills will now have elevated tanks put in the town will be well equipped to fight fire and will feel less dread from a conflagration. The citizens are to be commended for the spirit of enterprise they have shown to the premises as well as the city council. It was agreed that the city should pay one-half and the citizens paid the rest. Lubbock has a way of doing things that brooks nothing but success. As time passes the many improvements needed all along the line

House Warming

Greenhill Bros, the Cash Grocers, will move into their new commodious store two doors east of their present place of business, next week. It is their intention to give a genuine house warming and everybody in town is invited to be present. They will send out invitations next week and if you should not receive one you must come as all are welcome. Some genuine surprises will be presented. Everybody will have a good time and everybody will be treated to something useful. Be sure and come and bring the little folks to the store of these up to date grocers who have proven that Lubbock could buy good groceries cheap. Keep your eye open for the invitations next week.

Card of Thanks

I desire to thank the people of Lubbock, who have been so kind to me and my children during our recent great bereavement, in the loss of husband and father. The many kind acts of the people of the town and county have been too numerous to attempt to enumerate and I know but few personally who have helped us in time of need, but we thank you one and all for what you have done, and pray God's richest blessings upon you for same. The neat little home that the Lubbock people presented us with is nice and cozy and we are comfortably located in it now, which makes our bereavements much easier to bear.

Mrs. M. M. Steers and Children.

Painful Accident

On last Monday, as John P. Lewis was helping to unload some boxes of dry goods from a freight wagon onto the sidewalk at his store, one of the boxes got away from the men and sliding rapidly down the skids caught Mr. Lewis, breaking his right leg just above the ankle. He was conveyed to the home of his sister, Mrs. J. A. Glenn, where at last accounts he was resting easy. J. A. Glenn will take Mr. Lewis' place at the store for the present. The Avalanche joins with Mr. Lewis' many friends in hoping for him a speedy recovery.

MISS CAMPBELL ENTERTAINS

Miss Lula Campbell opened her doors to a few friends, in honor of her orchestra, last Saturday evening. The house which was tastefully decorated with evergreens presented a charming appearance. The piano solos, rendered by Eva Wheelock and Love Naler, were special features of the evening's enjoyment. At 9 o'clock a contest was entered in which the first prize, which was a lovely box of chocolates, was won by Miss Gertrude Robinson and the booby Japanese doll, by Mr. Greenhill. Dainty refreshments of Ambrosia cake and fancy candies were served to the following guests, all of whom pronounce Miss Campbell a very pleasant hostess: Mesdames Vaughn, Robinson, Norton, Orre, Misses Robinson, Williams, Norton, Messrs Vaughn, Matthews, Greenhill and Butler.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Sanders assisted by Misses Wilkinson and O'Sullivan, entertained a few of Lubbock young men, on October 8th, with a "stag" dinner, given in honor of Miss Nettie Randle, who has been the guest of Mrs. Sanders, for the past few weeks. The interior of the lovely home was made still more beautiful with cut flowers. The dining room, which was a dream of green moss, was illuminated with colored lights. At 6 o'clock the guests assembled and partook of a three course dinner, such as they never enjoyed before. After some hours they returned to the parlor where the time was whiled away with music and '42 until 9:30 when the guests departed, after giving "three cheers and a tiger" for their host and hostess. Those present were, Messrs. Klett, Chapman, Robins and Murphy.

"GET ON TO THE T. U. G.'s"

A very interesting program was rendered in the eighth grade room Friday afternoon, in the schoolhouse. This, being the first meeting of the Society and was an enjoyable occasion to all present. Songs, recitations, reading, and a prophecy proved to be quite an atonement for a month's hard work. The next meeting of the Society will be held October 29th. Everybody come—and look out for those mysterious "T. U. Gs."

Wonder who the T. U. Gs. are?

The ladies of the Presbyterian Aid Society met with Mrs. Will Mayfield Tuesday afternoon and much important business was transacted, also a very interesting program rendered. Those present were: Mesdames Garrison, Hill, P. Ellis, Peeler, L. Ellis, Davidson, Phomas, O'Neil, Brown, Word, Mrs. Ellis of Estacado, and Miss Evelyn Word.

The County clerk issued marriage license to S. A. Montgomery and Miss May Holmes, of Hockley county, Monday. The Avalanche wishes them both a happy voyage down life's stream.

W. P. Stalcup and wife, of Lockney are visiting the family of John G. Hufstetler this week.

W. C. T. U. Notes

On account of the illness of Mayor Wheelock, the W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. Craig just across the street. We feel that our work is fairly launched now and the aims and methods more nearly understood. The president outlined the work, selecting such departments as she deemed most suitable for our present needs adding thereto as the future might demand. The following superintendents were appointed: Franchise, Mrs. Coleman; Press work, Mrs. R. G. Stubbs; Scientific Temperance Institution, Mrs. Norton, (she being unanimously chosen by the members); Contests, Mrs. Lou Stubbs; Literature, Mrs. Richmond; Parlor meetings Mrs. Kimbro; Jail and prison work, Hardy and Mrs. Craig. A letter was read from the District President, informing us that she had received Mrs. Bailey, of Staten Island, N. Y., for work in the 13th district, and asked us to arrange one or two more meetings for her in Lubbock, which the Union decided to do. She is expected to arrive about the 1st of next month in our district and will probably reach us about the 20th. She is one of the National organizers, also a speaker of fine ability. John P. St John, ex-governor of Kansas, says of her: "I know of no one who is a more efficient worker and better organizer in temperance work, than Mrs. J. E. Bailey, she is industrious, faithful and true, and a good speaker. She will do you a splendid service." The Union desires to thank the editor of the Avalanche for courtesies extended toward us for space in their columns, whereby the principles of our organization may be read and studied by their many readers. An Englishman who recently visited America, says: "That prohibition in the United States has become not merely a great issue, but an actual atmosphere that the truth of this is clearly demonstrated through the attitude of the newspapers and magazines. The press to a great extent is preacher, teacher and guide, and we are glad that much, so what is good and will abide, goes through this great avenue of public influence." Again we say thank you for the space accorded the W. C. T. U., and hope that good may only result.

Cattle and Hide Inspector

The election held here last Saturday resulted in thirty-three votes being cast. Thirty-two were in favor of the appointment of a cattle and hide inspector and the Commissioners Court meet in extraordinary session and appointed E. Y. Lee to the place. As only one vote was cast against the proposition it would seem that the office was favorable to the people although the impression prevails throughout a large section of the state that it is not needed at this day. The requirements of the office are such, however, that it is safe to say Mr. Lee will earn all the emoluments of the position.

A BONUS OFFERED TO FARMERS

THE COMMERCIAL CLUB OF LUBBOCK, HAS A UNIQUE PROPOSITION. IT HAS THE RIGHT RING.

TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS IS THE AMOUNT

To Be Paid As An Inducement to Help Develop One of The Best Sections In The State of Texas. All Branches of Farming Are Included.

The following statement, from Don H. Biggers, Secretary, of the Lubbock Commercial Club, puts the matter of a bonus, that is to be paid to farmers of this section, in concise language. The details of the proposition are to be worked out later, but it is safe to say that the matter will receive proper attention and that it will prove one of the strong inducements for settlers here within the next two years. All should read it:

"The purpose of this offer is to encourage agriculture, horticulture, truck growing, dairying poultry, cattle, horse, mule and hog raising, and the money expended for this purpose will be divided into purses and distributed with a view to the most general and uniform results. The matter will in a very large measure, be in the hands of five men, named by the Commercial Club. Necessarily there will be many details which this commission will have to work out, for this is not only a big proposition but a strictly business matter. Concisely put, however, the proposition comprehends the distribution of about one hundred or one hundred and fifty purses, ranging from $100 to $2000, and will be based upon net results. That is, the man who shows the greatest dollars and cents results from a certain number of acres of land will win first prize, and the same will be the case with the cattle, hogs, horses, mules or poultry raiser, the dairyman, etc. These will be subdivided into respective departments, the details of which the commission will work out. From the winning class the commission will have authority to make selections for exhibition purposes. This plan will in a measure, if not altogether, take the place of the premium exhibit system. The awards will be made November 1st, 1911, and as already stated will be based solely upon results, and as a safe guard and to further accomplish the aim of the offer, the winners will be required to produce from three to ten times the amount of the prize offered. The conditions of the offer have nothing to do with the character or method of cultivation. It is results we are after, and the world well knows that it takes practical, scientific work to produce the best results. One man may follow one method another a different, and both be equally successful.

"The offer will be put in the form of a guarantee, the same as a railroad bonus, and the guarantors and contributors reserve the right to distribute one-fourth of this in 1910, or to distribute the entire amount in 1911, as they may hereafter deem most proper and expedient. "There is no philanthropy or charity about it, but it is a cold blooded, and I think, a practical, result producing, business proposition.

"The object is to stimulate the farmers, and all people coming within the specifications of the offer, to put forth their most earnest, intelligent efforts for the accomplishment of the greatest results. The winner of the $2000 prize will certainly have done something to be proud of, and he will not only profit to the extent of winning the prize, but will have the further satisfaction of having enriched himself with the product that won him the prize, and the winners of the other prizes, ranging from $100 to $500, will be equally benefited and well paid in every particular.

"It is calculated to encourage the people to raise the greatest possible quantity, and the best possible quality, not for mere show purpose, but as a practical revenue producing proposition. "On some things, of course, the premium will be awarded upon the amount of stuff raised and marketed during the season and in other instances upon the market value of the stuff on November 1st of the year in which the reward shall be made.

"We couldn't get along without theories, without talk, without constant education and agitation, but incentive is the best way to get results. It certainly seems to me that a bonus for farmers, should be as productive of strenuous efforts, positive results, and in the production of stuff we must have in our daily life and affairs, as railroad bonuses are effective in securing means of transportation.

"If premiums of limited value will encourage farmers and producers to make great displays of specially selected stuff, why will liberal rewards of this kind not encourage them to put forth even greater efforts to make the greatest possible yield of any particular kind of stuff?

"I think I have gone pretty thoroughly into all the details, and have carefully weighed the objectionable as well as the commendable features of this plan. I have thought much on other propositions having the same object in view, and have long since arrived at the firm conclusion that it is one of the very best methods to be adopted. I appreciate the fact that it was, is, and will be, a big undertaking, but no proposition involving as great results would be otherwise. It will take time, thought, and men of experience and ability, to work it out to perfection, but we have given ourselves ample time, and have made all proper provision for this. Raising the money, necessary to make this offer, was an easy matter, and outlining the proposition in a general way is equally easy and we propose to put men to work out the details who know their business and will do the work properly.

"The purpose is to give especial stimulus to the producing class in Lubbock County. On the basis on which the premiums will be offered, the prize winners alone will have to produce above $150,000 worth of stuff, and the stimulating influence of the offer, should be half a dozen times equal to that of the winning contestants. The contest is open to every producer, and whether the contestant does or does not get part of the prize money, he will be winner by reason of the efforts he puts forward to do so.

"I do not claim that this is a wholly original idea, but I do not know of any project of the kind equalling this in magnitude nor very similar to it as to the manner and purposes for which premiums will be distributed."

ONE OF LUBBOCK'S ROADS

Gulf, Texas and Western Has Invited Dallas Business Men to Ride over the New Road.

At different times during the past twelve months mentions have been made of a road from Dallas to Jacksboro, thence west to Lubbock, and to show there is something doing along the line we invite our readers to note the following article, which appeared in the Dallas News of October the 12th:

"At a conference between officials of the Gulf, Texas and Western Railroad and members of the railroad committee of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, arrangements were made for a party of representative Dallas business men to make a trip over the new road Thursday October 14, the day on which will be celebrated the opening of the first forty-one miles of the new road.

"Secretary Babcock of the Chamber of Commerce will today mail invitations to the business men to go on the trip, and thereby show their interest in this new road, which is chartered to run from Lubbock, Texas to Leesville, La., a distance of 500 miles. It will cross in its route all the north and south lines of railway west and northwest of Dallas, and open an extensive new territory to the trade of this city. The road is said to be built with heavy rails and equipped with the best rolling stock."

"For the transportation of the Dallas party, President Jermyn will provide a special train from the Gulf, Texas and Western, which will leave the Santa Fe station at 6:50 a. m., and run over the Rock Island to Jacksboro, thence west over the new road. Business men, especially jobbers and manufacturers, are urged to take advantage of this opportunity to see the new territory, which will shortly be made tributary to Dallas.

"Ben B. Cain, vice president and general manager of the company, announced yesterday that during the State Fair of Texas a special train will be run to Dallas daily from Olney, returning the same day. This service will be inaugurated in connection with the Rock Island from Jacksboro."

South Plains County Fair

During the past two weeks there have been held in a number of the South Plains counties, agricultural and live stock exhibits, all of which have proven quite a success, both in quality of the exhibits and the variety.
This goes to show that there is more farm truck grown on the Plains than many who have not been keeping tab on the situation thought there was.

The county fairs are something new in this section of the state, and this is opening the eyes of the people to the greatness of the South Plains country in many ways.

As a rule the live stock of this section of the country are very fine, and this has been very forcibly demonstrated in the recent county fairs.

Fairs are good things and they are going to do a great deal to promote the farming and stock interests in this country, which is badly needed. We have the country and we want to demonstrate to the out side world that this is true.

Divorce Evil

It is one of the most really alarming conditions of present day propositions. Nearly every paper one reads is filled with divorce proceedings and in nearly every case the partition is granted. Easy divorce finds its double in easy virtue. The extreme of the one leads to the extreme of the other. The advocates of free love offer as their strongest arguments the prevalence of the divorce evil in this country and claim that free love does away with the necessity of so much publicity where people find themselves unsuited for each other.
If our marriage laws would not permit divorce under any circumstances it would prevent people from rushing blindly into the marriage state and in this way lessen the many causes leading to disruption of family ties. It is a pitiable sight to see little children haled to the courts and there compelled to listen to the thrashing out of the home rows and disruptions, when by right of all that is sacred, they should be given the hallowed protection of the home, with all that the term implies. Healthy home life is the one indispensi-ble requisite of healthy morality. Our most illustrious men of affairs had either the influence of a noble father or mother or both to aid them in their battles for advancement and it is a serious handicap for any child to be turned out into the world to make its way without being able to look back on the days of its youth and find cheer from its sacred associations. Give us more stringent divorce laws.

Make them without loop holes.
Make people to know that the marriage tie means a binding contract. Discourage marriage for convenience. Keep the sacredness of the home from being offered on the altar of foolish fancies. Keep up the highest possible conception of morality by discouraging those of low ideas from becoming embroiled in sanctities cherished domain.
Let a real meaning be applied to those things of vital moment.
Harbor the ship of state with the waters of boundless love.
Have a care at all times for the safety of the home.

Lubbock is to have a new establishments in the city, and one other that carries a large stock of hardware with a heavy stock of furniture.

CENTRAL OFFICIALS AT GAIL

Texas Central Officials Go Over Route From Rotan, West Favorably Impressed.

Tuesday morning Messrs. Sharman, Chief Engineer, Cureton, General Attorney, and Morrison, Assistant Engineer, of the Texas Central railroad arrived in the city from Tahoka and after being dined at the Stokes House were taken out by Messrs Brown, Williams and Biffle, over the proposed route of that road west from this place.

The party returned to town late in the afternoon and left yesterday morning for Rotan.

They expressed themselves as being very much pleased with the route out of this place and stated it would be a much better grade than they expected to find.

Nothing definite could be given us by this party, but it is almost a certainty that a favorable report will be made and that the Central will be built by Snyder and Gail and on to the Plains country.

Our railroad prospects are growing brighter every day and it is confidently believed that ere many weeks shall have passed we will be able to announce that the Central is coming, beyond a doubt.

And then an era of great development will dawn and Gail will take her place among the growing towns of the great west —Borden Citizen.

Special Edition

The Williamson County Sun came out with a special edition last week and it shows great care on the part of that paper both in workmanship and general write-up. The Sun is one of the old papers of the state and it is always found at the front fighting for the right. Its "Booster Edition" will do much to help put the good things of old Williamson before the people and as an advertisement it is hard to beat.

Read the ad of Mrs. E. Hulme, in this issue. She is offering some of the most attractive pattern hats ever seen in Lubbock. Her place of business is at the C. A. Raine Company store.

Again, We Say Move It

Our readers will remember that the Avalanche has for a number of years been after the Commissioners Court to move the old jail house out of the street, but from the way they have moved it, they seem to think that this is none of our business, and as a result of the whole thing that old trap of a jail house is still sitting out in the square, and a pretty looking thing it is, right on the main street from the depot too. We think that this is one thing that our County Commissioners should look after and attend to it the earliest possible date. It would not cost much to put up a nice jail house and move the cells from the old shack that they are now in, and make things look a good deal more like civilization to say the least of it. Of course probably when the jail was put in the present location it was all right for few people knew than where the streets were, or where the square extended to, but now it is a different proposition, and it needs attention.

I send for them and return them to you. They must give satisfaction. W. R. Duniven. Phone 22. 15 It

The Critic

As a rule the fellow who is always ready to criticize the labors of another, is the fellow who does nothing that would be worth while in the affairs of men. Shallow plated people are usually the ones who are the most adept in the critic sphere. They have a loud mouth and an empty head. They go about over the earth advertising their lack of sense by trying to discredit the accomplishments of those who do. They are, of course, a nuisance, to a certain extent. They do not have much weight with people of intellect, but they are about on a parity with the fice that nibbles at the heels of a mastiff. Wholesome criticism is always good for one, but those who never see any good in the work of their fellow mortals, are the scurvy, snivelling, snarling, slimy simpletons whose very presence in the world is travesty on the name—man. Which are you?

You can depend on the people who patronize the home paper. They have the welfare of the town at heart and the Avalanche wants to see them patronized by the people who have to buy.

Plains Good Enough

L. R. Grimes has returned from a visit to several states and now declares that the plains are good enough for him. In a talk with the News man, Monday, he said in some portions of Iowa the crops were reasonably good. In some sections fine, while in quite a deal of the area the corn was a complete failure. Speaking of his crops at home, some miles east of town, he felt sure that it was as good from a merchantable standpoint as last year, or any other year. He is an enthusiastic farmer, and a firm believer in the future of this great section.—Plainview News.

The Toilers

Those really deserving of commendation are the toilers. Those who meet each day, with a fixed purpose in view, and keep the faith by doing fully the things in life their hands find to do.
Life is not real to those who do not labor. They only a vague conception of what life means and they are the class who ask—is it worth the living? Life is lovely to those who have a task to perform and who feel that it is duty. To earn ones bread by the sweat of the brow means to keep a healthy physical and mental force. Force is the driving power of life and it is a result of cultivation. The digestive organs cannot perform their functions satisfactorily unless one takes proper exercise and to live an enjoyable life we must have a healthy digestion. Work broadens the perspective. If we labor we become interested in the affairs of men. The toilers are the greatest of all classes.
Labor is not confined to any class, but it is one of the requirements of all classes. All forms of development must look for its advancement to those who are willing workers in the field of endeavor. The toilers are the salt of the earth. The world owes to them a debt of gratitude for all accomplishments known to the world. They should be given full credit for what they have done and are doing, for without them, life would become a dreary waste and the wheels of progress would soon clog. If you are not of the toilers have enough decency to at least grant them their just due.

If you are not sure the title to your land is what it should be let the Rectigraph Abstract Company make an abstract to it and find out.

On with the good work. Lubbock now has that fire engine that the Avalanche has been trying so long to have in tow. We congratulate ourselves on having existed long enough to see quite a number of the enterprises that we have devoted many columns of space to, actually established and in operation. From the time the Avalanche was first started it has been a goer for the town, at first in a very small way, when people paid seemingly very little heed to what we wrote. Let the many good things that this paper has advocated be put to work. We are still on the firing line, and are in a better position to do more effectual work now than ever before. On with the good work.

We will find a buyer for your property if you will list it with us and your prices are reasonable.

We believe the city should decide on the width of the side walks and have them surveyed out, so that people who want to plant trees, can do so with some degree of certainty as to where they are planting them. There is nothing prettier than uniformity of trees, sidewalks, etc. And on the other hand where care is not taken to this end the town has a rough ungainly appearance. Let Lubbock begin right.

Now is the time to buy a lot.

Planting Wheat

Now that good rains have fallen in this section it seems that the time is ripe for the farmers to plant wheat. There is no reason why this country should have to look to foreign markets for its bread-stuffs and if a little care is taken in the selection of the grain planted and a bit of care used in the planting we will have enough wheat raised in this part of the country to justi-fy the building of a flouring mill. Many inquiries have been made with regard to building such a plant here and if the farmers will only plant the crop it will not be long until ene will be built. A good mill has many things to commend its presence and Lubbock cannot afford to lose sight of anything that will help in her development. Lets plant wheat and get a flouring mill. It will pay in many ways.

Setting out an Orchard

As tree planting time is nearly here we clip the following from Campbell's Scientific Farmer:

"In the first place take land that has been cropped at least once, begin as soon as the crop is removed in the autumn by double disking. Keep up this careful cultivation until July. Then plow about 6 inches deep, following with the packer and the harrow, cultivating after each succeeding rain during remainder of the summer and autumn. The object is to store as much rain as possible and to promote the growth of nitrates.

We have had the best success in tree planting by not digging any holes until the tree was on the ground ready to set. If you have carried out a season's summer tillage, the chances are that you will have three to five feet of moist soil. With the kind of soil above referred to it is not necessary to dig the hole any larger than may be needed to spread the roots of the tree when set. The hole, however, should be dug so as to loosen the dirt a little at the bottom, leaving a pointed pile of loose dirt in the bottom of the hole, as most fruit trees have no tap root and you will have to set the tree upon this pile of dirt.

Now begin by filling in the moist dirt that you have shoveled out, which should be well pulverized, and with your hands work the soil about the roots of the tree. Fill in until you have it higher at the outer edge of the hole and slanting toward the edge of the tree. Then put in about a quart of water. Take hold of the tree and vibrate slightly. This will promote the percolation of the water along the line of the roots, which you should previously have taken care to lay straight and separated as near as to the angle at which they grew in the ground. After possible this done, fill the hole up within four of the top, and tramping it firmly, fill the balance with inches loosedirt.

Now, if you have secured good, healthy trees and have taken precaution not to let the little fibrous roots of the tree become dry you are certain of success in their growth. A very nice plan in handling small trees in the spring is to make mud bath, having sufficient amount of dirt in it to make a solution thick enough so that the tree can be slopped about and the mud adhere to all the little fibrous roots, as well as to the main roots of the tree. With this adhering to the roots they can be handled quite leisurely without any possible injury.

In growing a windbreak, we object to the thick setting of trees that we find so commonly practiced. For a lowdown windbreak, say to shut the wind from a height of 10 feet, the Russian mulberry is quite desirable, setting one row of it and putting the trees four feet apart. The most vital feature in the success of tree growing lies in thorough cultivation during the first year. Permit no weeds, whatever, to grow. After a few years' growth, and before the buds begin to start the following year, trim these little trees on both sides, leaving all branches pointing lengthwise of the rows. At the end of each year follow this practice and you will soon have a mass of limbs and leaves to the height of 8 or 10 feet.

Inside of this, and about 30 feet away from the mulberry hedge, plant a row of white elms, putting the trees about 25 feet apart. If these trees are well and carefully cultivated it will be but a little while before the tops will meet and they will tower up about the mulberry hedge.

Do not set any of your fruit trees or shrubbery closer than 30 feet from the row of elms.

This in six or ten years will make a most complete and effective, as well as attractive windbreak.

If you are to set shade trees around the field be sure and give plenty of space between. Trees set too close together will not make the growth and will not put on the attractive appearance that trees will that are set a liberal distance apart.

Do not be so unwise as to set a tree more than two years old. The two year old tree is preferable for either shade, fruit or ornament.

See Guinn for your surveying at Panhandle Land Office. 11 tf

LUBBOCK TEXAS, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1909

E. Weaver has returned from a trip to the south. He reports that Lubbock is all the talk everywhere. Mrs. Weaver and the babies returned with her husband and they are now prepared to remain here. Mr. Weaver has charge of the experiment garden at this point that is being conducted by private parties and as he is a man of long years experience in this class of work the results of his efforts are being closely watched.

Rev. Overton, father of our townsman, Dr. M. C. Overton, accompanied by Mrs. Overton and daughter, arrived here Saturday evening and will make Lubbock their future home. The Avalanche gladly welcomes them to our town. Bro. Overton has been continuously working in the Methodist conference for fifty years as a minister and will now take a rest so far as active pastoral work is concerned.

The Avalanche representative called on the McAdams Lumber Company last week, and found that they were making very extensive improvements in their new location. An immense amount of new sheds were being built, and work has just about been finished on their office building and ware house. Their new yard covers half a block, and is one of the best in the west. They have about 500 feet of double deck twenty feet sheds, seventy-five feet of double deck 36 feet sheds and their office building is 24x50 feet two stories. This company is reaching out for the business in this section of the country and seem to be succeeding nicely in getting a good share of it.

The who expects to make a large success in life must look well to his insurance. If he neglects this one great field of protection he is apt to realize his mistake some sad day. D. J. Wood can fix you.

One of the interesting land openings of recent years will occur November 1st, 1909, in the Spur Farm Lands in Dickens, Kent, Crosby and Garza Counties, Texas the body including in total 673 square miles, and will be sold in quarter sections or more; the size of tract giving it an important ranking with many government land openings and the extent guarantees early purchasers such a wide range for selection that they can secure exactly the farm desired, as to lay of land and character of soil, which is generally deep, rich sandy or chocolate loam, with clay subsoil. See the ad in this issue.

Married

On Friday morning of last week Chas. L. Pickett and Miss Julia Robertson were united in marriage at the residence of Miss Robertson's cousin, Mrs. Joe Penney. They left same day on an auto for Big Springs, at which place they took the train for an extended bridal tour. These young people are among Lubbock's most esteemed citizenship and they count their friends by legion. The Avalanche wishes for them the best of all the good things in life and may their pathway be lined with many pleasant memories. Mr. and Mrs. Pickett will be at home to their friends after November 1st.

When Adam was tempted by Eve to eat the fruit she implanted the first principles of insurance in that she told him it was pleasant and no harm could come. Ever since that day the idea has taken root among mankind until now the world is crazy about it. See D. J. Wood. He carries all kinds. 15 2t

The Care of Farm Machinery

The editor of this paper, we expect would be a complete failure at farming, but we have often thought why it is that farmers as a general rule are so careless or indifferent as to the care of their farm implements and machinery. We have noticed time and again farm implements and machinery to the amount of several hundred and sometimes as many thousand dollars standing out in all kinds of weather on the farm, while with other classes of people a good shed would be built for buggies, wagons or any other piece of machinery or vehicle. The question in our mind has often arose as to the real reason of this and the following article, signed by Wm. H. Underwood, which appeared in the Hale Center Livewire, last week and contains some good thoughts along this line:

"There is so much loss of time during the busy season on the farm by reason of tools giving out on account of improper care, and often new machines to be bought, that I feel too much can not be said regarding the care of them. It is not an uncommon sight to see binders, mowers, rakes, plows, drills and other machinery standing in fence corners, under trees, by the side of the barn and in other places exposed to all kinds of weather. Such implements cost considerable money, and it is up to the owner to give them the best possible care. Possibly some of these farm tools that are seen lying on most farms are regarded as out of date and unserviceable. Even in that case they should be sold or disposed of as junk and gotten out of the way.

"The excuse that is generally made for not properly housing farm tools is that it is too expensive to build a tool-house. Even in that case it is simply a question whether it is not cheaper, even if one has to borrow money, to build a house for this purpose, where room in other buildings is not available, than to wear out a machine inside of two or three years that should last and be serviceable for ten years. It will always be found on investigation that it is a good deal cheaper in the long run to build a house than to allow the wear and tear of machinery, inevitable under exposure to the trying conditions of inclement weather.

"In building a tool house, it should be located some little distance from the other buildings, to be out of danger of fire in case the barn or some of other building should burn. This will avoid the necessity of keeping the machinery insured. If practicable it should be located along the drive to the field so that the tools can be left in it without any special trip for that purpose.

"The roof of the building should be just high enough to allow the highest machine to pass under; the width and length of course, will be determined by the number of tools to be housed. A few loads of gravel or cinders will make a good dry floor.

"If the house is conveniently located, it would be a good plan to establish a department in one end of the building where necessary repairs may be made quickly, or the machines overhauled during mild days in the winter time. It does not require a very great outlay for tools with which to repair the machines, and a handy man can do most anything required in the way of repairs, thus saving quite an item of expense.

"When machines that are not to be used for some time are being stored, they should be thoroughly cleaned and oiled, and if necessary, painted. A good coat of paint goes a long ways in preserving the condition of any implement.

A good tool house will more than pay for itself in a few years besides one has the satisfaction of using tools, which are always in good condition and ready for service. The machinery will last much longer if housed, and the longer the machinery lasts, the more shekels will be found in the purse.

A Huge Success

One of the greatest of successes in the form of a box supper was pulled off at Caldwell school house Saturday night. The purpose of the affair was to secure funds for the purchase of an organ for the school house. All the boxes were auctioned off at a good price, running from $1.25 to $6.70. The most interesting feature of the occasion was the cake contest. A large cake had been prepared for the most popular girl. Two young ladies were run. One candidate received 1810 votes while the other received 1855 votes. The cake by itself brought $36.55. The total amount of the proceeds from the supper was $72.95. Boys Look Out

The Avalanche man has on several occasions of late noticed when the freight trains runs into the yard that from three to a dozen boys ranging in age from 12 to 15 years hangs on to the moving cars. This is of course a pleasure to them and something entirely new in the town, but the practice is dangerous, very much so, and not only that, but it is a violation of the State laws and is punishable by a fine and also imprisonment. The Avalanche does not wish to interfere with the boys' sport, but we would hate to have to chronicle the death of some of them, which will be the result of a continuation of the habit. Look out boys, we give you friendly warning.

Plaintiffs alleging that on or about the first day of September, 1909, that they were lawfully seized and possessed of the following described land and premises, situated in the town of Lubbock, Lubbock county, Texas, holding and claiming the same in fee simple, to wit:

Lots 2, 3 and 4 in block 8, lot 20 in block 104, lot 10 in block 135, lot 16 in block 86, lots 17, 18, 19 and 20 in block 84, and lots 16, 17, 18 and 19 in block 198, as same are shown on the map of said town, recorded in Vol. 5, pages 384-5, Deed Records, Lubbock County Texas.

Plaintiff would here show to the court that there was a mistake on the part of the scrivener in describing lots 16, 17, 18 and 19 as in block 189, when they should have described them as in block 198, and other imperfect descriptions of the above described land and premises, in that it does not designate the town, county or state, in which said land and premises is located, which renders the above described land and premises uncertain as to its exact identity, and thereby casts a cloud on the title.

Wherefore plaintiffs pray judgment of the court the defendants, the unknown heirs of R. M. Whittle and Don Whittle, be cited to appear and answer this petition, and that plaintiffs have judgment reformatory and correcting the mistakes and errors of the scrivener in the deeds constituting the plaintiffs' mesne chain of title, and that plaintiffs be quieted in their title, for cost of suit, and for such other and further relief, special and general, in law and in equity, that they may be entitled to.

Herein fail not, but have before said court, at its afore said next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness, Elizabeth Boyd, Clerk of the District court of Lubbock county.

Given under my hand and seal of said court, at office in Lubbock this the 3rd day of September, A. D. 1909

Sinews of the Nation.

During the fair last week Lubbock was thronged by her neighbors who dwell in the country. They are the sinews of the nation, God bless them, and to the extent they are protected in their rights to that extent will the nation forge to the front. They are the salt of the earth and they make for the best in life. All the burdens of the nations of the earth are placed on the shoulders of its yeomanry and to the extent they respond to the needs of the hour in like proportion will other evnues of endeavor maintain a healthy growth. America is reckoned the home of freedoms birth and it is to be hoped that the ideals underlying this great cause will not perish from the earth but instead may it expand with the years. The form of government vouchsafed us is of a peculiar kind. It is based on the will of the majority and each one of its citizens is as great as the other in voicing its wishes. The peculiarity of this form of government makes for the best possible ideals but it also makes for debauchery and pollution the same as is manifest in monarchical forms of government. It is therefore the duty of each citizen to guard closely their rights in the premises and to keep in touch with conditions that arise. To do this we must have an educated farming element. This is one of the absolute essentials. An educated American means an enduring American. The farmers can only hope to maintain their rights through knowing what these rights embrace. Ignorance leaves one at the mercy of the learned and the inherent greed of mankind causes count less millions to mourn. The farmers have the destiny of the nation in their hands. It is a great responsibility and if they will only give the matter careful consideration all will be well. Organization is necessary and sooner this fact finds root the better it will be. As one fact is proven of worth others will follow, until with proper application, all will soon be working in harmony. Let the farmer claim his just share of the fruits of toil and it cannot be withheld. The life they lead does not call for the great strain of the marts of commercialism and they are the better prepared to give full thought to the needs of the hour. Careful insight into present day conditions will convince them of their full duty and if they have been lax in anything it behooves them to awake to their duty. God bless the farmers of our land. May they spread out in all the avenues of their calling until each one can either travel in an auto or a flying machine, as his fancy may dictate. The Lubbock country needs more of them and it is beckoning to them to come. This is one of the most promising fields left to them to be found in the great state of Texas and those who come this way will never have cause to regret the step. Make inquiries about the bonuses to be given to farmers in this section and get busy and come.

Bishop James A. McFaul

Bishop James A. McFaul, in charge of the Catholic diocese of New Jersey, who caused such a sensation in June by denouncing Harvard, Yale, Princeton and other big Protestant American Universities as underminers of faith and teachers of immorality, has renewed his attacks on the big institutions of learning. In a letter he has sent to all the parishes in the state he pronounces the teachings of the universities ungodly and says they subvert Christian faith and Christian morality. He calls upon every priest and every true Catholic layman to boycott all Protestant schools.

The above shows to what lengths the catholic leaders are reaching in their efforts to discredit our institutions of churches and state and yet when one, of the protestant faith, raises a voice in warning he is at once branded a traitor and scourged from the face of the earth. If we mistake not it was this same "gent" who said a short time ago that all children in America born out of catholic marriages were bastards. This sounds nice to people who are priding themselves with the idea of protestant supremacy. The catholic church was a birth of depravity and it feasts its soul on the ignorance of followers. Where people are allowed to think and see for themselves the catholic church cannot exist. Ignorance is its only hope for perpetuity and ignorance means decay, so you can plainly see that the church to live must of its feed, perish. Away with such rot. The bible alludes to Romanism as a beast going about the earth seeking whom it may devour and the history of the church shows that it has been the cause of the decay of several nations, and America, with all her boasted freedom, is clutched in many quarters by this besotted ceaven of beatiality who are today striving to overthrow our schools and deliver us bodily into the hands of the devil. That Romanism will perish is one of God's promises to his children and it will be fulfilled, but the price will mean the shedding of much blood, for that is the principle instilled into ye catholic from earliest infancy, to fight. Let the day come, though. The sooner the better for it will mean the stamping out of one of the greatest curses mankind has ever known.

W. A. Brisben made a business trip to Plainview Friday, returning the same day.

Green Leaves Are Gone

During the past week killing frosts have visited this section of the country and as result the green leaves and other vegetation is a thing of history for the next few months. The country will now don her winter clothing. The weather is delightful however. It is not too hot and it is not too cool. The climate of the Plains is something to be proud of, and this is one item has won favor with many people who have come to this section seeking relief from the extreme heat or cold of other sections.

Everybody is feeling fine since the rain which fell Sunday night.
It is our belief that the rain was general throughout the country surrounding Lubbock.

The rain stopped cotton picking for a few days, and feed hauling is the order of the day.

Cotton is yielding fairly well in this section of the country.

Messrs Fred Green and Tom Carmichael of Lubbock were visiting the home of Fred's parents Mr. and Mrs. M. Green Sunday.

It looks as though the people of this community are going to have to haul their cotton to Emma for ginning as the gin at Lubbock hasn't started ginning yet.

Smoke Up

Some people think that the first thing to do when business slacks up is to cut out their advertising.
This is one of the biggest mistakes a business man can make. If there is a time when one needs to advertise in earnest it is when business begins to fall off. Make a study of what you have on hand, and select something as a leader. Put this before your customers and get them interested. It will have the effect of bringing them to your place to trade and if you can get them there it will be easy sailing to show them many other things to buy. The successful business man is the one who keeps eternally at it. Just because you have a few dull days now and then you cannot hope to make it up by cutting your advertising expense. For every dollar expended judiciously in this way you will receive ten in return. Every business has its dull seasons but the business getter is the fellow who keeps his wares before the public. Let the people know what you have and show them where it is to their advantage to buy. Smoke up. Do not lay down on the very enterprise that makes you a success.
