Dairy Farm Facts—
A Recent Survey—
Dairying Needs Expert—
Some Facts About Cows.

By H. N. Fitzgerald

DAIRY products offer interesting possibilities to farmers of Texas who desire some money crop in addition to cotton. This is the verdict of G. L. Crawford, chief of the division of economics of the Texas agricultural experiment station.

* * *

HE says that feed crops grown, harvested and sold as a cash crop have not netted a very large return in the past to the average Texas farmer, and that one of the principal reasons has been the fact that the farmer has not completed the operation by feeding the crop to livestock and selling the feed on hoof or as dairy product.

* * *

A RECENT study made by Director Crawford in regard to the dairy situation in Texas, disclosed some interesting facts which he has given to the public.

He says the production and distribution of whole milk to the town and city trade is specialized dairying and as such requires a great deal of farm equipment as well as training on the part of the operator.

* * *

FURTHERMORE, only a small per cent of farms are included in this group but a large percent of farmers cannot take advantage of the whole milk trade but can sell cream every day of the year at a profit.

* * *

THIS for Wichita county farmers who are interested in dairying.

* * *

A FARMER remote from the city demand, according to this experiment station writer, naturally wants to know to what extent there is a demand for cream and how long this demand is likely to last, and whether he can sell the cream for enough to pay a profit.

* * *

THES are some of the facts gleaned by Director Crawford.

* * *

THERE are 4.5 people to each dairy cow in Texas.

The average Texas dairy cow produces 214 gallons of milk each year.

This will furnish about one pint of milk per day per person, which is about one-half the milk each person should consume.

* * *

IT would require one million more dairy cows with the production of the present dairy cow, to supply enough dairy products for the Texas people if they consumed a quart of milk a day.

* * *

THIS does not include the butter, cheese, condensed milk and milk powder which the ice cream manufacturers have to import into the state on account of the scarcity of dairy products.

* * *

THIS should be proof enough, he writes, that there is a shortage in the production of dairy products in this state and that there will be a market in Texas for the farmers' dairy products for a number of years to come.

* * *

HE adds that it is obvious that the Texas farmer is nearer to this demand than are farmers of other states, and this offers a good opportunity to establish a dependable income from butter fat.

* * *

FURTHERMORE, the skimmed milk offers another source of profit to be fed to a limited number of pigs and poultry on this farm.

* * *

I YE volunteered the valuable information that Texas offers favorable opportunities for the products, having a mild climate

TWICE DIVORCED

Fort Worth Woman, 71, Divorces Husband, 74, Twice

FORT WORTH, Dec. 8. (AP)—Mrs. Mary Roedefield, 71, was today granted her second divorce from her 74-year-old husband, William, whom she first married in 1904 and again in 1909 after divorce in 1908.

Roedfield's suit for another divorce in 1912 was not prosecuted to conclusion. The last separation was in August, Mrs. Roedefield charging cruel treatment.

$1,000,000 MAY BE ASKED FOR GAS PIPE LINE

Supply From Electra Oil Field Not Enough To Fill Needs

TEXAS SOLON ADVISED

U. S. Bureau of Mines in Favor of Bill For Financing

FORT WORTH, Dec. 8.—(AP) An appropriation bill of nearly $1,000,000 may be submitted to the present short term congress to provide a new gas supply for the now "underfed" United States helium plant here, federal officials believe.

Reports here from Washington say that officials of the bureau of mines have expressed to Representative Fritz Lanham a desire for the appropriation but there has been no announced decision as to how the bill will be submitted.

A new gas line to Nocona field will be the object of the appropriation. The present line from the Electra field supplies only a fraction of what the plant needs for adequate production.

$65,000 DRIVE ON NEW ANGLE

Workers Disturbed Wednesday Over Failure To Go "Over Top"

With $35,722.55 reported subscribed toward the $65,000 community chest fund for 1927, the budget committee and governing boards of all participating organizations in the fund will meet Thursday afternoon at the chamber of commerce rooms to discuss the next step in the annual drive The meeting will be held at 1:30 o'clock.

Campaign officials last night admitted themselves "disturbed" over the results thus far obtained, although they by no means conceded that the drive was destined to failure. They realized, however, that some drastic and intensive efforts must be put forth to rectify the situation.

Time Extended

Reports made Wednesday noon by team workers at a joint luncheon of the Lions and Optimists clubs revealed that a few thousands were raised in the work Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday. This brought the total to well over the $35,000 mark, but the allotted time planned for the drive had expired, most of the territory had been worked and things, on the whole, looked rather disconcerting.

One development of the meeting was the vigorous avowal of Salvation Army officials that they were in no way dissatisfied with budget apportionments given them and that they were working wholeheartedly in co-operation with campaign officials for the success of the drive.

THE WEATHER

OKLAHOMA: Thursday rain or snow in north, rain in south portion; Friday partly cloudy not much change in temperature.

EAST TEXAS: Thursday partly cloudy, rain in east portion, cooler in east and south portions; Friday cloudy, probably rain in south portion; moderate east to northeast winds on the coast.

WEST TEXAS: Thursday, rain or snow in north, rain in south portion; Friday generally cloudy, not much change in temperature.

Local weather conditions for the past 24-hour eriod reorted by the Wichita Falls Electric company bureau: Maximum temperature 51 degrees; minimum 28 degrees; at 5 p. m. Wednesday 46; pre-cipitation .09 inch; northeast breeze; cloudy; average wind velocity 15 miles per hour; maximum wind velocity 25 miles per hour; barometer 29.52.

A Dirge Or A Paen?

A bell will toll today on the streets of Wichita Falls.

Its boom will start at noon and it will be ceaseless "until you do your part," as the signs will say. It will endure—probably until the city has gone over the top in its 1927 Community Chest campaign. It will ring either as a triumphant paen of rejoicing at the consummation of a needed undertaking, or it will sound a dirge for the dead spirit of generosity and unselfishness. And generosity and unselfishness will, in truth, be dead if Wichita Falls fails in this task to which it has set itself.

This city has never before admitted defeat in any worth while movement. It has gone through campaigns before and it has raised countless thousands of dollars for philanthropy and civic betterment. Sometimes the goal has not been reached in the time alloted, but in the end every dime has been brought in.

Thursday morning, however, Wichita Falls finds itself confronted with an ominous situation. A $65,000 budget for the 1927 Community Chest has been set. Three days have been alloted for the raising of this fund. Teams have scoured the city; most of the territory has been covered—and $35,722.55 has been raised. That's a little over 50 percent.

Community Chest officials are not discouraged but they ARE alarmed. They make no secret of the fact that the outlook is anything but promising. They know that $65,000, when it represents Wichita Falls' financial needs for a year of social service work, is a paltry sum indeed, but at the same time they are wondering how the men and women of the city can be shaken from their lethargy and made to realize the seriousness of it all. These officials have no fear as to the ultimate success of the campaign if proper interest can be stimulated. How to stimulate that interest is the troublesome question at present.

There is no need to recount here the mechanics of the chest campaign or recite in detail the functions of those organizations to be financed by the fund. All this has been drilled into the city for several years past. The results and benefits of it, too, have been demonstrated sufficiently to eliminate the need for much discussion. It is not a question, therefore, of whether provision ought to be made for feeding hungry babes and enfeebled men and women. It is not a question of clothing youngsters in tattered rags or blanketing venerable grandmothers against the icy blasts of winter. Every one will admit that this is a work that must be done. And every one will admit that there is much of it to be done in Wichita Falls.

It is simply a question, then, of arousing a sleeping community and spur it into action. It is inconceivable that the spirit of brotherhood is so far gone in Wichita Falls as to blight it with the stigma of a community chest failure. That spirit certainly cannot be dead. It more than likely is simply sleeping.

The bell today may bring the awakening. At any event it will serve as a reminder that Wichita Falls has its duty to perform; that thus far it has fallen down; that some one has not done his part; that some one has been lax in a duty that common decency requires shall be performed.

The bell tone today and in succeeding days will gauge the extent to which Wichita Falls shakes off its indifference and shows some pep.

A dirge or a paen?

Take your choice!

WINTRY BLAST DUE THURSDAY

Lower Temperature Predicted By Weather Chart For Today

Wintry blasts are expected to hit Wichita Falls today with weather forecasts predicting more rain and a lowered temperature for Thursday. Rainfall in all directions from Wichita Falls has been reported and dispatchers on the M. K. T. brought word of freezing weather on the north end of the line.

Temperature Drops

Early last night the temperature at Forgan was 27 degrees and snow was falling with no wind blowing. A heavy snowfall was expected during the night. Rain and freezing weather was reported at Woodward. Sleet was falling at Leady, Oklahoma. A heavy rainfall was reported in the southern part of the state. At Altus, the termometer was at 37 degrees at 6 o'clock.

On the Fort Worth and Denver rainfall was reported between Amarillo and Fort Worth with a lowered temperature prevailing. The Wichita Falls and Southern line reported rain from here to Breckenridge.

Heavy Rain Total

Since the beginning of the rain Sunday night, almost three and one-half inches had fallen by 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Precipitation totaling 3.36 inches fell Sunday night and Monday, while .09-inch fell during the day Wednesday.

COUNT ADMITS WIFE PAID WAY

Husband of Millicent Rogers Says She Paid For Honeymoon

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.(AP)—Count Ludwig Salm Hoogstraeten did not even pay for the wedding ring with which he was married to Millicent Rogers, Standard Oil heiress, he admitted under cross examination in his separation suit today.

Under a fire of personal questions the count testified he had done no work since the time his wife left him in May, 1924, living on money she gave him before and since that time. After she left him on Jan. 1, 1925, he admitted she had given him between $10,000 and $12,000 for living expenses.

He also acknowledged that most of the bills of their honeymoon had been defrayed by his wife.

ASK MORE PAY

Additional Salary for Judges Aid of Fort Worth Bar.

FORT WORTH, Dec. 8.(AP)—First steps to secure legislation for more pay for Texas district judges will be initiated at an imminent meeting of a crowd of the Fort Worth and Tarrant County Bar association, J. H. Barwise, president, said today.

The committee here will co-operate with similar committees expected to be appointed by other bar associations in the state. Barwise said, however, that he knew of no other association that has endorsed the movement.

MAN ASPHYXIATED.

GALVESTON, Dec. 8.(AP)—A white man identified as Emil Liebers, 29, was found dead in a gas-filled room at a boarding house here Tuesday afternoon. All identification marks in his clothing were torn out, but a seaman's card from the tankship S. M. Spalding, here November 30, was found. A verdict of suicide was returned.

FOUR BILLIONS IN U. S. BUDGET FOR NEXT YEAR

Demos Greet Coolidge Move With Large Tax Cut Plan

GARNER DRAWS BILL

Texas Democrat Files Draft Of Anti-Administration Reduction Plan

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. (AP)—With formal preliminaries of the new session out of the way, congressional leaders signalled today for a clear track in the hope of getting through an assortment of legislative proposals before final adjournment early in March.

Although the senate was in session only a few minutes, adjourning out of respect of Senator McKinley of Illinois, who died yesterday, the house got down to business in earnest.

There President Coolidge's message transmitting the budget was read by the clerk; the democratic $335,000,000 tax reduction bill was shot into the hopper by Representative Garner, of Texas, and consideration was begun of the first supply bill—a mammoth measure carrying nearly one billion dollars for the treasury and postoffice departments.

Big Surplus Forecast

Reading in the senate of the president's budget message which forecast a $383,000,000 treasury surplus for the fiscal year ending June 30, and $200,000,000 for the next year, and reiterated the executive's opposition to permanent tax reduction at this time, was deferred until tomorrow.

The budget bureau recommended total appropriations for the coming fiscal year of $4,014,571,124, or $16,543,728 more than has been provided for this year. Reductions in the expenses of some branches of the government including $20,000,000 in interest on the public debt, were more than offset by increases made necessary by higher civil and Spanish war pensions and mounting costs of operating the veteran bureau and postal service.

In expressing opposition to any immediate slash in tax rates the president, in his message of transmittal, renewed his suggestion that another year's test should be given the president revenue tax and extent of present prosperity sounded before permanent levies are altered.

Issue to Congress

He reiterated the proposal made in his annual message yesterday that the wise course would be to apply this year's surplus to a reduction of the public debt or return it to taxpayers. He left determination of which should be done to congress.

Today's session of the house lasted till mid-afternoon, when adjournment was taken out of respect to the late Senator McKinley who for years served as a representative. A committee was named to attend the funeral.

Selection of a senate funeral committee was announced at the brief session after a resolution of regret had been adopted. That was all the business transacted in the senate, although its elections committee gave to a subcommittee, headed by Senator Goff, republican, West Virginia, the task of investigating the reputed payment by Arthur R. Gould, Maine's new senator, of $100,000 to a Canadian official in connection with a railroad deal. The inquiry was directed yesterday by the senate on the motion of Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana.

Big Fund for Drys

The appropriation bill which got before the house, provides among other things more than $27,000,000 for prohibition enforcement, about $12,000,000 for the prohibition unit and the balance to finance coast guard warfare on rum runners.

Touching on appropriations for the national defense, the president urged congress to postpone construction of three light cruisers authorized at the last session. This, he said, should be done in view of negotiations now in progress looking to further reduction of armaments.

One Dead, Two Dying, $60,000 Damage In Fire Which Destroyed Large Part Of Sagerton At Early Hour Wednesday

Special to The Record News.

RULE, Dec. 8.—With Clarence Tilley dead, crushed in the fall of a burning wall in a fire that destroyed a large part of the little town of Sagerton near here, interest tonight centered on the condition of Tom Clark and Milton Stein who were probably fatally injured in fighting the flames that proved fatal to their companion. They are in the Stamford sanitarium where at 8 o'clock Wednesday night they were reported resting as well as could be expected.

The fire, doing $60,000 worth of damage, originated in the Bell cafe, which had been closed by the owner several hours before the fire was discovered at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. Two dry goods stores, one hardware and one grocery, besides the cafe and barber shop, were completely destroyed. The only store which was not completely wrecked is the drug store, a solid brick building, and fear is felt that it may collapse as a result of the strain.

Fire Cause Unknown.

Cause for the fire is not known, but it is the general theory that it originated in the oil stove in the restaurant kitchen. The blaze was discovered at 2:30 o'clock by Mr. Jones, proprietor of the hotel, who immediately aroused the town. There is no fire department or fire fighting equipment in Sagerton, but practically every able bodied man in the community turned out and bucket brigades formed while others tried to save what they could from the flames.

It was this time that Young Tilley had gone into a building to save something when the wall fell on him, crushing him, and it was said his body was burned almost beyond recognition when it was recovered from its imprisonment.

Clark received a fractured pelvis, a broken right arm, a head injury around the right eye when he was injured by falling walls; and Stein suffered a slight fracture of the skull, lost the little finger of his left hand and probable internal injuries. The two were reported resting as well as could be expected Wednesday night in a Stamford sanitarium.

Tilley Was Single.

Tilley is 26 years old, unmarried, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tilley, who live near Sagerton. He was one of few who could reach the little city in time to help fight the flames, for the roads in the vicinity are almost impassable because of the recent heavy rains.

Fire companies from Stamford and Rule tried to get to the rescue of Sagerton, but the muddy roads prevented them from reaching their destination.

Unable to Talk Except by Signs She Tells Santa

And Little Bellevue Maid Only Asks Him For Box of Candy

Just because she can't walk and though her only method of talking is by sign language, little Sarah Kathryn Hodges, of Bellevue, who describes herself as a "little crippled girl," hasn't lost courage in face of the odds against her.

In the winning letter for the daily $2 prize for the best letter to Santa Claus, little Sarah Kathryn tells old Kris Kringle that she has much to be thankful for. All she asks of Santa in her letter is a box of candy and that jolly old fellow ought to bring her a whole sleigh load.

Here's the winning letter:

BELLEVUE, Texas.

Dear Santa Claus:

Please bring me a box of candy.

I am a little cripple girl six and one-half years old. I cannot walk, nor can I talk, except by sign. But God has blessed me, and I have so many good friends.

I am hoping to see you when you come Christmas.

SARAH KATHRYN HODGES.

Hundreds of letters piled in Wednesday in the Santa Claus letter contest which has but four more days to run.

Lack of space forbids the publication of all the letters deserving of honorable mention in the contest, but on Sunday The Record News will print the names of all the contestants who have submitted letters for the daily $2 prize. The last winning letter in the contest will be published Monday morning, December 13.

There's still plenty of time to send in a letter, kiddies, and maybe you'll win one of the remaining prizes.

War Secretary Davis outlined a plan for continued improvement of harbors and waterways.

Secretary Wilbur told a house committee the budget bureau ignored request for funds to build light cruisers.

FRANTIC FIGHT UNDER WAY TO SAVE HOSPITAL

Flames Envelop Hotel After Razing Eight Other Buildings

ONE MAN BADLY HURT

Dynamite Blast Traps Man As He Stumbles In Race to Safety

BULLETIN, 2:30 A. M.

BORGER, Dec. 9. (AP) Fire starting in the Riggs theater building here at 11:30 Wednesday night, completely destroyed seven buildings. The fire gnawed its way through sheet iron and frame structures three doors south of the theater, being brought under control when it reached the brick walls of the Palace Clothing company building, the fire also completely destroying this structure. Efforts to confine the fire between the American hotel building and the Palace building proved successful.

Loss in the fire which had been raging in the Borger business district since early Wednesday night totaled more than $250,000 with the flames still out of control at 1:20 a. m. Thursday, according to long distance telephone advices to The Wichita Falls Record News.

At that hour the flames were only three buildings away and driving directly toward the Malone emergency hospital in which a large number of patients are confined. The American hotel, directly in the path of the flames had just caught fire at the time of the long distance phone message to The Record News. Just beyond the hotel in the flames' path are two small hamburger stands and then a large garage, the message stated. Immediately back of the garage is the emergency hospital.

Dynamite Used

In an effort to prevent the fire from spreading to the hospital with its bedridden patients, volunteer crews were wrecking all the small buildings in the path of the fire and removing the debris. One hundred and 10 pounds of dynamite had been exploded in fighting the flames.

Racing for safety after he set a charge of dynamite, Dick Russell, volunteer fire fighter, fell and was caught by a blast which tore part of his right leg. Extreme loss of blood made Russell's condition precarious according to word received from the hospital where he was on the operating table while the flames licked their way hungarily towards this building. Minor injuries to other fire fighters were reported.

Eight Buildings Afire

At 1:30 a. m., eight buildings were reported on fire with others already reduced to ashes. Most of the structures were of flimsy construction.

The fire originated in the Riggs theater building and rapidly spread to other buildings in the block, breaking out of control. Buildings leveled by the flames at the last report included the Riggs theater, Wassel house, the North Harvey No. 2, a confectionery, Roller's barber shop adjoining, and several other buildings of which the names were not known.

Another of the heavy losers in the fire was the Palace clothing store, which reported a loss of $25,000 worth of goods and equipment. Thousands of dollars worth of goods were saved from the store when volunteers carried articles out of the building as the flames licked the eaves of the structure. Furniture and equipment in other buildings later demolished by flames was also saved by the fire fighters.

All hope of saving buildings adjoining the scene of the fire had been abandoned the message to The Record News said, discounting an earlier message that the fire had been brought under control.

"SELFISH MOTIVES"

Dallas Editor Assails Cotton Reduction Programs.

DALLAS, Dec. 8.(AP)—William Riley, editor of the Dallas-Craftsman, told the delegates to the Farm Labor Union of America, Texas division, convention here Tuesday that present plans to retire the surplus cotton crop are founded on selfish motives and urged the farmers to devise a plan of their own.

The session of the Texas division will continue for two days, when the national gathering will open.

DEATH TAKES AUTO VICTIM

Weyland Dies as Result Of Injuries Sustained In Accident

John F. Weyland, Pennsylvania oil operator, who was struck by an automobile at Ninth and Lamar Tuesday night at 8:30 o'clock died from his injuries at 3:40 o'clock Wednesday morning at the general hospital, where he was taken for treatment. The body will be forwarded Thursday to Pennsburg, Pa., by the Merkle undertaking company after word had been received from a son, Charles V. Weyland of that city.

Weyland was struck by a car driven by Charley Hawkins, negro. Charges of negligent homicide were filed against Hawkins in the justice court Wednesday by members of the district attorney's office.

Weyland came here about the middle of November to see after oil interests near Petrolia and Burkburnett. While here he had been making his home at the residence of Dr. W. H. Lewis, 1709 Elizabeth. He expected to return to Pennsburg, December 20. He was a Mason, a member of Nativity Commandery No. 71, Pottstown, Pa.; Perkiomen Lodge No. 595, A. F. and A. M., East Greenville, Pa., and Rajah Temple of the Shrine, Reading, Pa.

SUDAN grass and sweet clover make excellent grazing pastures during the summer months. In addition, each section of the state has its natural grasses.

EITHER corn or grain sorghum can be grown in practically every county and Texas produces one-third of the cotton seed meal, one of the most expensive parts of the dairy cow's ration.

THIS means a large amount of the feed for dairy cows may be produced on the farm where the cows are to be milked.

HE suggests the average Texas farmer and especially the land-owner, should study the dairy situation in connection with the present cotton acreage reduction movement with the view of growing more feed and selling it in the form of dairy products.

THIS reflection made by Economist Crawford should not be overlooked:

"A large per cent of farmers cannot take advantage of the whole milk trade, but can sell cream every day in the year at a profit."

CLUBS COLLABORATE

French and Spanish Programs Are Given.

Members of the French and Spanish clubs of the Junior college collaborated Wednesday in a joint program. Mabelle Moore, of the French club was in charge of the meeting and interesting stories of the Christmas customs observed in France were told by Virginia Creath, Mary Catherine Gould, Morine Clark, Ruth Turner and Weldon Carter. Imogine Roberts told a French Christmas story.

A song "O Sole Mio," was sung in Spanish by the Spanish club.

NEGROES CONVICTED

Charges of theft of an automobile casing were filed in county court Wednesday against Eddie Thomas and Anthony Davis, two negroes, after they were apprehended by the city police department and turned over to county authorities. They were arraigned in county court, were found guilty and a fine of $10 and costs and one day in jail assessed against each.

PSYCHOLOGY TO BE DISCUSSED

Colorado Professor Will Give Lecture Before School Teachers Here

A much-discussed subject, "The Psychology of Woman," will be taken up here during the teachers' institute to be held the week preceding Christmas, according to announcement received from the office of the city superintendent of schools. The lecture, which promises to be interesting both in subject matter and in presentation, is to be given on the evening of Monday, December 20, in order to enable the general public to attend. The lecturer will be Dr. Lawrence W. Cole, professor of psychology in the University of Colorado. Dr. Cole will also address the teachers in their sessions, one of the most interesting subjects being "New Facts About Heredity."

Other noted speakers are promised for the meet, one of whom is Dr. J. L. Henderson, University of Texas specialist in junior high work.

ELECTRA HOST TO THOUSANDS

Christmas Party Wednesday Is Big Success Despite Rainy Day

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Dec. 8.—Rainy weather did not dampen the Christmas spirit of the citizens of this community who numbered up in the thousands in attending the annual Christmas party sponsored by merchants and business men of the city. Music by three orchestras and four bands entertained throughout the evening, and stunts planned for the outdoors were held inside. Merchants moved aside their tables of merchandise and the visitors were welcomed within.

The big opening of the Miller store was one of the events of the night.

Crowd Cut Down

Electra's Christmas party was a grand event, although the 20,000 persons expected were not all present due to the almost impassable roads off the graveled and paved highways leading to the city.

Throughout Tuesday night and all day Wednesday the city of Electra was seen to buzz with the arranging for the huge party Wednesday night. Planes could be seen moved across streets, workmen busy with saws and hammers, electricians busy, and the "city dads," in secret meetings in groups over the city, while others busy in giving orders, for this party was to be and was one of the greatest home talent stunts given in the history of the city.

Many Take Part

Among those who took part are Boy Scouts, Indian dances, Rotary club, Lions club, physical training class of high school, six school glee clubs, Rebekah lodge, W. B. A. organization, Eastern Star, Home demonstration clubs from several communities, old fiddlers contest, jiggin contests, Wichita-Electra Famous Saxaphone orchestra, with Cowpasture band, City Municipal band, and three additional bands and three orchestras, Hipps orchestra, the Blue Moon orchestra of Wichita Falls, and many others, with all the talent in a radius of sixty miles.

TOYS SOUGHT

Scouts Ask for Broken Playthings To Mend.

Broken or discarded toys can be remade and remodeled into playthings, and according to a custom inaugurated a year ago, Boy Scouts of the city are mending such toys as are turned over to them and making them into Christmas presents for children who otherwise would have no presents.

Anyone who has broken or discarded toys is asked to call Scout headquarters at 2779 and the toys will be called for. "They will make some child happy for Christmas," Scout Executive Frank B. Creighton said yesterday.

No more Wash Day hands
Savex

Poor abused hands!—red, roughened and coarsened! But it isn't the work that ruins them, it's hard water and ineffective soap.
Savex not only does its work well as a soap, a water softener and a bleach—all in one—but it protects your hands, keeping them firm and white. And of course if Savex won't hurt your hands it won't hurt delicate fabrics.
Use Savex in washing machine without soaking and rubbing. Use it in washtub or basin and soak and rub only badly soiled things. Moreover, boiling and bluing are unnecessary with Savex, for it is a mild, safe bleach. Follow directions and yellowed and stained things become "whitely white;" colored things wash like new, and silks and woolens retain their textile beauty.

CHILDRESS TO GET 'COP BOSS'

Office of Police Commissioner To Be Created By Ordinance

Special to The Record News.

CHILDRESS, Dec. 8.—An ordinance creating the office of a police commissioner chosen from among the members of the city council was read for the first time at the regular session of the council yesterday. The new officer will have unlimited power until final action is taken by the council, it was said. The ordinance also lays down some strict rules.

Policemen will have certain beats; will not be allowed to stop to hold conversations; cannot work in bunches; cannot go beyond the city limits to make arrests or raids; cannot accept commissions as deputy sheriff or other police duties.

It is believed the ordinance will become effective early in 1927. The chief of police under the charter of the city will be known as the city marshal.

OLNEY SOCIETY

Special to the Record News.

OLNEY, Dec. 8.—Miss Loree Streatley was hostess to a pretty party on Friday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Streatley. Progressive "42" furnished the entertainment for several hours, after which the hostess served delicious refreshments of turkey salad sandwiches, cheese wafers, olives and hot chocolate.

Those present to enjoy Miss Streatley's hospitality were Misses Gladys Drum, Helen Sipes, Frances Farmer, Opal Bird, Margaret Lovelace, Maxine Johnson and Lucile Howry, and Messrs. Charles Russell, James O'Brien, Elbra Cosby, Bill Hallman, Carson Wells, Bingo Wells, Buster Anderson, Roy Simmons, J. H. Patrick, Milvin Calvin, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Groves and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Streatley.

MINOR-MITCHELL WEDDING

Miss Estelle Minor and Mr. Jack Mitchell were married Saturday, November 27, the justice of the peace performing the ceremony.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr and Mrs. J. H. Minor, and was attending the local high school at the time of her marriage.

Mr. Mitchell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Mitchell of Byers, Texas. He is connected with the Olney Motor company at present.

The P. T. A. Met at thetfif

The P. T. A. met at the grammar school on Wednesda yafternoon with 85 members present. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. B. C. Schulkey, president. Plans were completed for the drive on the 10th and 11th of this month to secure subscriptions for the Holland's magazine.

Mrs. Jeffery, who recently attended a meeting of the Federated Teachers' association in Wichita Falls, made an inspirational talk.

SEYMOUR SOCIETY

Special to The Record News.

SEYMOUR, Dec. 8.—Another surprise wedding occurred, one that is of interest to a wide circle of friends as both young people are very popular in society here and members of prominent families.

Miss Georgia Britton and Mr. Roscoe Caldwell took their friends completely unaware on Sunday afternoon by driving over to Olney and were there united in marriage by Rev. Finley of the Methodist church. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. Donnell Dickson, whose wedding on September 29 was the social event of the season.

The bride in this happy match is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Britton. Mr. Britton is president of the Farmers National bank. Miss Georgia is truly one of Seymour's fairest daughters, was born and reared here, graduating from the Seymour high school. She is an accomplished violinist, at the same time full of fun and very domestic and will preside with all these graces over her home.

Mr. Caldwell was also reared to young manhood in Seymour and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. L. Caldwell. He graduated from Seymour schools and attended Baylor university for two years and is at present one of the efficient force in the First National bank.

Campfire Girls Will Sing Christmas Carols

Rehearsal of Christmas carols will be begun by Camp Fire Girls Thursday, December 16 at 4 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church, according to an announcement made by the executive.

The Camp Fire Guardians association met at the home of Miss Mary McIlheran, the executive, Tuesday evening, when the house was prettily decorated for the occasion in Christmas colors and motifs. Officers for 1927 were elected as follows: President, Mrs. R. E. Davis; vice-president, Mrs. Anna Barnhill; treasurer, Thelma Bridges. Mrs. A. W. Ayers was elected chairman of the program committee.

During the session, the guardians voted to take over the expense of furnishings for the local headquarters, the money to be raised by the sale of Christmas cards and Christmas trees. The Morgan Floral company has turned the sale of their Christmas trees over to the Camp Fire Girls who will take orders, having a downtown location where those who wish may come and select their trees. Candy sales and that of some articles will be combined with the tree sale, according to the announcement.

Each guardian was reminded to have one representative elected from each group to attend the girls' council for six months and one visiting delegate will attend the council with the regular delegate.

The Christmas issue of the local bulletin which will be out in the next week will become a monthly paper, with regular yearly subscriptions. A city-wide contest to be participated in, both as individuals and as groups, has been worked out and will be made public in the local bulletin. Contest will begin January 1 and continue for two months. Special awards will be made.

On the dining room table, a dainty Christmas tree was lighted and Christmas looking packages bearing the kitchen shower for Mrs. J. F. Hyland, assistant guardian of the Alahi group were laid. Mrs. Hyland's home was burned some weeks ago when the kitchen was completely destroyed.

A dainty plate was served to Mrs. R. E. Davis, Mrs. Frank W. Jones, Mrs. A. A. Brackett, Miss Thelma Bridges, Mrs. Pauline Huffman, Misses Phyllis Creighton, Edna Kay, Cliftine Butler, Jean Fisk, Mary McIlheran. Miss McIlheran was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Wm. McIlheran, and sister, Mrs. Frank W. Jones.

Miss Margaret Walton entertained members of the Eugene Sallee B. Y. P. U. of the First Baptist church at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Reeves, Tuesday evening when games of bunco and "42" were played. The house was decorated in the Christmas colors and motifs, and refreshments were served to Joe Barnhart, Bulah Shipley, Anabel McCord, Gerald Downing, Jessie Mae Smith, Roy Porter, Leiland Miller, Mary Peters, Alfred Bennett, Florence Redwine, Douglas Thompson, Gladys Nelson, D. W. Edwards, Mary Bartlett, Edward French, L. O. Nelson, Lauree Burns, James Youngblood, Adeena Kouri, Ameel Kouri, W. B. Reeves, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Mayers.

Mrs. Burke Honoree At Pretty Luncheon

Mrs. W. D. Burke of Seattle, Wash., sister and house guest of Mrs. P. P. Langford and former resident of this city, has furnished inspiration for several lovely parties during her visit here, and Tuesday, was complimented with a pretty Christmas luncheon at the Country club, when Mrs. T. T. T. Reese was hostess.

Tables were arranged in the form of a square, in the center of which was an artistic snow scene and snow man with cathedral candles on either side. Christmas colors were used in the table decorations of poinsettias, carnations and tinsel. Place cards carried out the Yuletide idea, and favors were red bootees filled with candies.

The gift to the honoree from the hostess was a dainty handkerchief.

Covers were laid for a number of Mrs. Burke's intimate friends.

San Jacinto Mothers Club Will Meet

The San Jacinto Mothers club will meet at the school at 2 o'clock. Refreshments will be served and all mothers are invited to attend.

ATTENDS SCHOOL

Miss Hazel Chamberlain, graduate of the spring class of 1926 of the local high school is a student this winter at Bloomington, Ill., where she is attending the Illinois State Normal university, according to word received by friends here yesterday.

Sure, They're Different.

How many mothers you hear exclaiming over and bemoaning the fact that their child is "different." To them, one of the world's best authorities on children says, "Every child who is born into the world is different from every other child and that difference is precious to his success. Instead of weeping over a trait that makes a child stand out we should be rejoicing at a sign of power. Instead of trying to make all children think and act alike we should strive to discover the power that is the spring of each life and develop it."

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

To break up a cold overnight or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza, sore throat or tonsillitis, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the purified and refined calomel compound tablet that gives you the effects of calomel and salts combined, without the unpleasant effects of either.

One or two Calotabs at bed time with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, work or pleasure. Next morning your cold has vanished, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please—no danger.

Planning the Menu.

An outstanding characteristic among modern Americans is deficient teeth, and the fact has been claiming the attention of food specialists. It is known that refined cereals, pastries and an over-abundance of other rich, starchy food work havoc on teeth. While more "diets" are being followed in the American home than ever before, they are the wrong kind.

The housewife who has the planning of the meals should know the facts about outstanding foods.

Don't eat too much white bread or pastries if you have any heart ailment.

Don't fail to eat plenty of cooked vegetables every day and eat a raw vegetable at least every other day.

Don't fail to eat milk and cheese and don't eat too many potatoes. "The principal need," says Dr. E. V. McCollum, father of the vitamin theory, and nutrition expert at John Hopkins university, "is to eat more vegetables."

COFFEE CONTENTMENT

When winter comes, coffee-contentment means more!

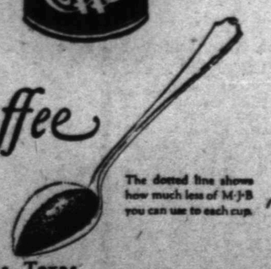

Coffee-contentment means a lot every sun-up day of our lives. But at no time of the year does it mean so much as now! For nothing sends the sunshine-stream surging through your system these raw, blustery days like a bracing, cheerio-cup of coffee.

And no coffee can be counted on for contentment in the same degree as M-J-B. For M-J-B is the coffee of constant flavor. Make it as you will, drink it as you like—strong or go-between—the same rich, characteristic flavor of M-J-B is sure to show up in your cup. A lifetime of coffee experience puts it there.

That's why we say—

M·J·B meets every taste in Coffee

The dotted line shows how much less of M-J-B you can use to each cup.

MODISH MITZI

MITZI DID HER BEST

By J. V. JAY

It was a truly brilliant idea of Mitzi's when Dad refused to increase her allowance for Christmas presents that she should go out and get herself a job and earn the money she wanted. She's all dressed up, here, in a frock of two shades of wool crepe, ready to start on her quest.

Since it was snowing, however, she decided a warmer cosume was necessary and changed her wrap as well as her dress. This coat of broadcloth and nutria is warm enough for a blizzard and she is about to brave the storm when she is halted by the ringing of the telephone.

Of course she will have lunch with the Goofer. She hadn't noticed how late it was. No use trying to see anyone at this hour. The dress she wears is of twill with a bolero effect that is emphasized by bits of embroidery. The underblouse and sleeves are of canton crepe.

A golden dress to go hunting a job in, but not nearly good enough to wear to lunch with the Goofer. He's seen it before. This frock is crepe-back satin with the satin side showing in the bands and bow is much more appropriate—and, for the afternoon, how about a matinee?"

Woman Must Drop Career If She's To Have Happy Life With Husband

Why the Woman Wedded to Her Career Commits Bigamy by Marrying a Man—How Can a Woman Gain Affection of a Man Who Doesn't Love Her? The Husband Torn Between Wife and Mother.

Dear Doorthy Dix — Several years ago I married a young woman and who was a teacher. Of course I naturally thought that she would make the kind of a wife who was a home-maker and who wanted children, but I find out that the only thing that she cares for is her profession. She hates to keep house. She will not have children and she is away from home now, studying so that she can teach next year.

I am amply able to support her in comfort and give her everything she wants, and I want a home and a family. What shall I do?

A Disappointed Husband.

Answer:

The only thing you can do with a career-crazed woman is to let her go and try it.

Sometimes when she finds out that the price she has to pay for a career is husband and home and babies, she realizes what a poor bargain she is making, and turns back to the better worth while things, and is thereafter a contented wife and mother.

Sometimes the career really does mean more to her than everything else in life, and in that case the husband is wise if he just lets her go, for there is no happiness nor peace for a man with a part-time wife whose real interest is given to her outside work and not to her home.

The woman who loves her dear public better than she does her husband, who would rather get the glad hand from the audience than hold her baby's hand, and who is absorbed in schemes for regenerating the world, instead of plans for making her own home happier, is not meant for domesticity, and it is hopeless to try to tie her to her own fireside.

It is one of the tragedies of being a woman that a woman cannot annex matrimony to a career as a man can, and add the joy and delight of family to the joy and delight in doing her life work, as a man does.

Contrary to popular opinion, not every woman is born with a passion for cooking and sewing, and sweeping and mending and babytending, and doing all of the tasks that go to the making of a home any more than every man is born with an inner urge to be a carpenter and build his own house with his own hands.

There are many women to whom nature gave not the talents of domesticity, but talents for teaching, or business, or executive work, or singing, or acting, and so on. These women often spend years of time and thousands of dollars fitting themselves for the work they were destined to do, and that they have a passionate delight in doing. Then they fall in love and get married and the jig is up.

For they find that they cannot serve two masters. They cannot manage a career and a husband and children at the same time. They must sacrifice one or the other.

It is a hard and cruel choice, but an honest woman should make it before marriage and then abide by her decision. She hasn't a right to sacrifice an innocent man and helpless children to her ambition, or to her love of her profession or business.

The woman who has espoused a career should never commit bigamy by marrying a man.

Dorothy Dix.

Dear Miss Dix — Do you think that if I will be patient and try hard enough I can get the man I love, who doesn't love me? What can I do to make him care for me?

Sue.

Answer:

A man who is a patient wooer, and who assiduously pursues a girl in spite of all discouragements, is very apt to win her in the end, but such tactics are not so successful when practiced by a woman.

It flatters a woman for a man to run after her, but it is very apt to disgust a man for a girl to run after him.

Still there are exceptions to the rule, particularly if the man in question happens to be very timid and bashful or very conceited. The timid man always needs some one to help him over the fence, and he marries out of sheer gratitude the girl who does most of the courting and because he hasn't the nerve to say "no." The conceited man marries the woman who lets him see that she loves him, because he thinks she shows her superior taste and intelligence in preferring him.

Some men should be jollied, some said that any women who didn't have an actual hump on her back could marry any man she chose, and certainly we have all seen marriages that confirmed this theory.

Naturally, every hunter of men must lay her own traps to suit her own game. You don't catch lions and rabbits in the same snares, so the only advice I can give you as to methods is to study your quarry, and adopt the tactics best suited to the individual man.

Some men should be jollied, flouted. Some talked to, some listened to. Some men must be appealed to through the eye. Others through the stomach.

Some men can be floated into matrimony on a sea of tears. Others have to be dragged into it by the hair of their heads. But there is generally a way, and the patient worker finds it.

Dorothy Dix.

Dear Dorothy Dix — My wife hates my mother so that she goes into a violent rage even when I receive a letter from her. She abuses me and my mother, applying every sort of vile epithet to us, even going so far as to strike me. My mother has done nothing to injure my wife in any way. On the contrary, it is my wife who has wronged my mother.

Now I love my wife, but I also love my mother dearly, and I do not feel that I should be compelled to give up mother entirely just because my wife hates her. I have a dear little child who is worshiped my my parents. They are anxious to take it to their home for a short visit, but my wife absolutely refuses to let the baby go and is violenty opposed even to my going. What should I do?

Puzzled Husband.

A Wrap to Shine in the Night Is Trimmed With Wide Bands Of Bead Embroidery

The debutante will appreciate the suave lines of this luxurious evening wrap, its gleaming fabric and luxurious fur collar. Her more discriminating elder sister also finds it desirable on account of its daring use of sparkling trimming in connection with shining metal cloth—a luxurious combination in high favor this season.

I have used very supple silver lame for this wrap on account of its sparkle and youthful appearance. And to further accent the note of elegance, the wide collar which reaches to the waist is of fluffy white fox.

These features alone would insure distinction. But in addition, there is an engaging trimming consisting of pale pink and blue beads and spangles, making a decorative flower design. Wide bands of this ornament trim the sleeves and lower portion of the skirt section.

Evening wraps this season are notable for their use of brilliant trimming in combination with lame or metal brocade. Frequently the decoration consists of velvet applique, embroidered in tinsel thread and ornamented with gleaming beads.

The trimming of this silver lame wrap consists of bands of pink and blue beads and spangles.

MUSHROOM LOAF

Prepare a mixture of one tablespoon of dissolved gelatine to every two cups of strained, boiling, hot, vegetable stock. Season well, add a can of button mushrooms, cut in halves when the jelly has set. Pour the jelly into a mold lined with chopped parsley, slices of pickles and pickled walnuts. Serve when ice cold.

MAKING MODERN MENUS

As a substitute for meat or fish loaf, the mushroom loaf finds favor in many a home. Mushrooms prepared in this fashion may be used as a luncheon dish as a salad, or may be served with hot vegetables.

BEST ANGEL FOOD CAKE

Nine whites of eggs, a teaspoon of cream of tartar, a cup of sugar, seven-eighths of a cup of flour, one-eighth of a teaspoon of salt and one teaspoon of vanilla. Work this way: Beat the whites of the eggs to a froth, add the cream of tartar, beat till the eggs are stiff, then gradually add the twice-sifted sugar, beating after each addition. Sift the flour and salt five times and add to the cake mixture. Add the vanilla. Bake in a very moderate oven in an angel cake tin (ungreased, of course), taking care not to jar or disturb the pan while baking. When done, remove from the oven, turn upside down.

The eggs should be cool, but not necessarily cold, when the cake is mixed. They may well be three to four days old. The sugar used should be very fine, indeed, or should be cooked with half a cup of water until it reaches 250 degrees Fahrenheit, then poured over the stiffly-beaten egg whites. Beat the two together until the cake mixture is cool, then continue as above.

Angel cakes should go into a fairly cool oven. Many cooks put theirs in at 320 degrees. Angel cakes should always be baked in ungreased pans, or they will fall and shrink while baking.

FLATTERING, IF ANYTHING

Jinx Tucker, the irrepressible Waco scribe, must have been misbehaving terribly. Notice where Austin sports writer only had room for a column of type on his page the other day and devoted all of it to bawling Jinx out for something or other.

* * *

Perhaps a Difference of Climate

Which reminds Jinx has announced closed season on anonymous letters. Never was open in this section. When the boys want to razz somebody up here they aren't a bit backward about signing their names.

* * * *

Either some of the newspaper lads are exceptionally large liars or this fellow Jr. Dempsey lacks a lot of being a piker when it comes to this business of scientific prevarication.

* * *

Maybe They Can Win Now.

All north Texas fandom with exception of Wichita Falls is tossed into ecstatic glee at announcements the "iron man" is not eligible for another season's drive with the Crimson and Black steam roller.

* * *

Too bad about Coyal Francis, the greatest back turned out in this section since the days of Lee Baldwin. Two years' play at junior high knocks him out of further interscholastic league competition. It was believed for a while Francis would be eligible for the 1927 Coyote gridiron foray.

IF WE WERE DEALING IN MYTHICAL ELEVENS

Were it possible to select a football machine at random from district 1, including all the class B high schools, and send it into gridiron competition Francis would be the first athlete we would sign up. A powerful defense man, cool headed, and a battering ram off the tackles, a fair punter and a good passer and pass receiver, the Coyote "iron man" probably could lead a team of district 1 all-stars to victory over any or many another all-district selection made in Texas.

* * *

KEY OF VERNON

Clois (Shorty) Key of Vernon would serve as a running mate to Francis at a halfback position. Shorty is fast, a hard-tackler, and a tough man to down once he has the oval tucked under an arm and has started off.

* * *

Willie Gelhausen of Vernon would serve at fullback on Francis' team. Gelhausen is another ram, both at the line, off tackle and around the wings. He can pass and kick, also. Is a strong defensive man.

* * *

Then in search for a quarterback we'd jump down to a class B team and pull Black away from Archer City. Black is a comparatively smart field general, a good interference man and, brother, he can pack that oval.

* * *

RESERVE BACKS

Naturally, this mythical club could be expected to go onto the field without reserves even if Francis is an "iron man" and the other three backs named are just about as tough. From Quanah would come little Jack Cox, considering his lack of weight, the greatest fullback in the section. The fleet Dennis of Memphis would see service at a halfback position. The giant Sport of Childress would get a contract and Gillum of Electra would be given a chance to show his wares should any of the regular backfield run afoul of injuries.

* * *

Centers Not of Best

As for the line of this team, the choosing would be difficult. There were no exceptional centers this year. We might start Hickam of Burk or perhaps shift Tiffin of Burk to this mid-position. Offensive centers were not of the best. Depends on how they looked in the warm-up sessions. May be forced to send Hobbs of Wichita Falls in at center. Selection of guards also would be a tough proposition. Pinney of Wichita Falls would be placed at an offensive guard and run at defensive center, playing him back of the line. Probably have to use one of the other centers named at a guard position, too. The season just passed was a backfielder's year. There were few outstanding linemen. Oh yes, Hull of Archer City would receive consideration at center, also.

* * *

DOBSON AND JOHNSON

At tackle positions, Johnson of Vernon would receive first call with Dobson of Wichita Falls at the other flank. Both men loomed high over the field all season. If either faltered, Budley Avens of Electra would be sent into the affray. For other tackle reserves we'd be faced with experimenting again with our galaxy of centers. In fact, any of the athletes who worked at center this year would have looked better, no doubt, at guard or tackle positions. All were strong defensively, but more or less weak offensively.

* * *

EWING AND TED KEY

Red Ewing of Wichita Falls and Ted Key of Vernon would serve at the wings. The lanky Key and the short, chunky Ewing have no peers in the section as terminals. Solomon of Archer City, a classy end himself, and McKinney of Wichita Falls, who made a great showing in the last two games of the race, would be held in reserve.

* * *

Perhaps we've overlooked a bet by not drawing on several of the Panhandle teams. However, in the three leading elevens of the Panhandle, Amarillo, Lubbock and Plainview there were no players who looked as good, much less, better than the squad already chosen. Panhandle clubs were less effective than usual. Vernon sloughed Amarillo, and Wichita Falls after fumbling flagrantly and playing ragged ball throughout the first half returned and wallowed Lubbock in the final two periods. No Panhandle players of exceptional ability stood out in these games. Plainview was the weakest of the trio.

BRUINS SHADE DECATUR, 3-0

Waller's Punting Saves His Team Heavier Defeat In Mud Tilt

FORT WORTH, Dec. 8. (AP)—Burleson college of Greenville fought through some first class pneumonia weather to the Junior college conference football championship of Texas here today, defeating Decatur Baptist college on a field too soggy for anything except straight football and only a lukewarm brand of even that.

The title rode over the Decatur goal post on a soaring, muddy pigskin in the second period when John Ramsey, a substitute, hustled into a breach and executed a perfect placement kick. It was the only score of the game which ended 3 to 0, Burleson college.

Burleson kept the Indians on the defensive most of the game, but thrice failed to deliver the needed punch at golden opportunities to score. Three times the Bears were turned back within a few feet of the Baptist goal line.

Ramsey, who has been nursing a sore knee, and did not place in the starting lineup, grabbed the hero honors with his place-kick, but it was Zarafonetis who ploughed the mud for Burleson's greatest ground gains. Cutting loose in the third period, he slipped off tackle and raced 35 yards to the enemy five-yard line, where his mates failed to deliver in four tries.

The lineup:

Decatur	Pos.	Burleson
Aubrey	Left End	Cole
Petty	Left Tackle	Vance
Maidens	Left Guard	Johnston
Jones	Center	Griffin
Williams	Right Guard	Cameron
Waller	Right Tackle	Click
Porter	Right End	Holliday
Ford	Quarterback	Crabtree
Douglas	Left Half	Sarafonetis
P. Taylor	Right Half	Lee
Watkins	Fullback	Choate

Score by periods:

Burleson	0	3	0	0	3

Yaqui Cops Verdict In Speedy Six-Rounder; Gorman Defeats Checco; Kopeck Beats Woods

Yaqui Joe, Sonora's youthful wrestling phenom, fooled his most optimistic admirers Wednesday night at the Majestic when in his boxing debut, incidentally the fifth time he ever had shoved his hands inside a pair of gloves, he stood toe to toe with Chief Wow Wow, the clever Oklahoma Indian mittstergrappler, in a good old-fashioned slugging match and pounded his way to a referee's decision in six rounds. The bout was the feature event of the boys band athletic program and a heavy turnout of sportsmen who had braved wet weather to see Joe try his hand at a new game were well repaid. In fact, the entire card went across in smashing manner, for there was not an idle moment in the opening mat battle between Joe Kopscky and Jack Burns, and a wind-up, whirlwind grappling encounter between Jack Gorman and Sylvio Checco.

Chief Peeved

Wow Wow was quite perturbed at the verdict handed down by Referee Pug Humphries and asked for a return battle over the 10-round route, declaring the only chance he stood of besting Joe was to knock him out, "because I can't ever get a square deal down here."

Wow Wow had taken the match lightly and did not train very hard, he said.

Yaqui surprised Wow Wow in the first round with a side-step and left counter that although doing no material damage earned him a shade for the round.

Chief bored in furiously from the gong during the second stanza and won the round. He fought in close, working fast and out-stepped Joe.

Both Draw Blood

They came out swinging in the third and before the round was over both were bleeding. It was a good draw with a possible shade going to Joe.

Yaqui seemed baffled by Chief's lunging attack in the fourth frame but after taking a glance at his corner and seeing his second, Barney Morgan, going through the gyrations of a wild man throwing upper cuts, began shooting 'em up himself. Under-hand jolts gave Sonora the round.

Still bringing 'em up in the fifth and mixing it furiously, Joe had much the better of the chapter until Wow Wow rallied with a right cross to the chin that nearly upset his slim opponent and followed with short jolts in close. It was Joe's round, however, by a shade.

Chief Finishes Strong

The pace had begun to tell on Yaqui and Wow Wow had all the better of the sixth canto, not scoring necessarily very effectively, but finishing stronger. Blow for blow Yaqui had the better of the mill, but as the battle drew to a close Wow Wow had matters pretty well in hand. Both men were tired at the final bell.

Gorman beat Checco two falls out of three in a lively melee. Jack copped initial honors in 13 minutes with a clip to the chin and double arm lock. Checco came back rough and ready, pinning Gorman in 15 minutes after putting him almost to sleep with a body slam. On the return, Chec tried to argue with Referee Bill Ward and wrestle Gorman at the same time. He failed. A body slam gave Gorman the match in five minutes.

Kopecky Wins

Woods took the first fall from Kopecky in 14 minutes with a trigger arm-lock, Kopecky conceding the fall. Kopecky beat Woods out on the return in 12 minutes with a merry-go-round and slam, following up by jumping on top with both feet. Woods was unable to return.

A brace of negro welters, Sundown Sam of Amarillo and Lanky Hicks of Memphis staged a boisterous, three-round glove scramble as the curtain raiser.

15 BAYLOR LETTERS

Six "B" Seconds Awarded; Five Athletes Lost By Graduation

WACO, Dec. 8. (AP)—Fifteen members of the 1926 Baylor football team, which finished second in the Southwestern conference, were awarded varsity "B" letters by the Baylor Athletic council at its regular meeting Tuesday night. In addition, the two coaches and the student manager were given the awards.

Six "B" seconds were given to men who participated in games during the year but who failed to play the time necessary to receive a varsity letter.

Those receiving the varsity "B" were Albert Riley, Jack Rowland and Wesley Weed, guards; Charles Taylor, Maynard Porter and Walter Muelhouse, tackles; Sam Coach Morley Jennings, assistant Coach Jim Crow, and Business Manager Ross "War Tax" Hogg.

"B" seconds went to Curtis Burch and Herman Bullock, guards; Kermit Jones, John Naylor, and Charles Noble, backs, and Parker Naylor, assistant business manager.

Only five men will be lost to the Baylor squad by graduation. These are Contes, Porter, Morris, Fall and Muelhouse.

Captain Pope Only Frederick Letter man

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Dec. 8.—With at least some of the jewels of the high school championship title belt stored in their treasure chest, Frederick high school athletes have relegated their football togs to packing boxes and moth balls and have donned lighter paraphernalia for basketball to begin a campaign that fans hope will prove as successful as the Bearcats' grid wins.

Coach Ralph Higgins' caging aspirants hit the floor for the first time Tuesday afternoon and they went through light paces, led by Captain Chicken Pope, only letterman returning from last season's quintet.

RELATIONS SEVERED

Baylor and Aggies Draw Apart On Athletic Field.

WACO, Dec. 8.(AP)—A. and M. and Baylor university have severed all athletic relations.

This was made known tonight following a conference between Pres. S. P. Brooks of Baylor and Pres. T. O. Walton of A. and M. at the home of the former and facts of the conference were contained in the following message:

"In consideration of the strained athletic relations now existing between the students of Baylor university and A. and M. college, we, the presidents of the said two institutions, hereby cancel all existing athletic contracts heretofore made by these schools. This is done without prejudice to either institution."

OFF TO DO BATTLE

Waco Tigers Entrain for Game With Marshall Eleven

WACO, Dec. 8. (AP)—Bent on defeating the Marshall Mavericks in their game at Marshall Friday and thus entering the final round of the state interscholastic championship chase for the sixth time in six years, the Waco Tigers entrained for the East-Texas city Wednesday night.

AFTER LARGE BOYS

Varsity to Open With Chicago, Purdue or Indiana Next Fall

AUSTIN, Dec. 8. (AP)—Either Chicago, Purdue or Indiana will be the opening opponent of the 1927 Texas university football team if proposals made Tuesday by L. Theo Bellmont, athletic director, carry through.

Bellmont has wired the three schools, offering them a game with Texas to be played in the home city of the college accepting the game or at any place suitable to them.

BEATY SHOWS 'EM

Wichita Falls Athlete Displays His Onions With Texas Frosh

Curtis Beaty, Wichita Falls athlete, comes in for a wad of the bouquet stuff at hand of the Associated Press Austin correspondent. Beaty played guard with Clyde Littlefield's frosh eleven at Texas university this fall and, according to A. P. man, developed more during the season than any other lineman. Beaty received a silver football fob at the close of the season. He is doped to make a strong bid for Varsity honors next fall.

MANN CAPTAINS PONIES

DALLAS, Dec. 8. (AP)—Gerald Mann, Southern Methodist University's brilliant quarterback, was elected team captain of the Mustangs for 1927 and Robert "Spud" Tatum was named line captain at a dinner given in honor of the team at the home of Roy Munger, Mustang supporter, here Tuesday night.

LEW'S HOME FOR SALE.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—Two can live more cheaply when one instead of two. Lew Cody and his bride, Mabel Normand, have discontinued separate establishments, Lew's is for sale.

LATZO RALLY WINS DECISION

Simonich Nearly Butts Champ Out in Fourth-Round Collision

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 8. (AP)—Rallying gamely in the last five rounds, Pete Latzo of Scranton, Pa., world's welterweight champion slugged his way to a 10-round victory over Joe Simonich of Butte, Mont., in the Newark armory tonight.

Latzo could not seem to strike his stride after the long lay-off. The battlers smashed head on in the center of the ring in the fourth round, Latzo suffering a gash over his eye that spouted blood but he rallied with a furious two-fisted attack. Simonich ripped into the champion with a fierce body assault in the fifth. Latzo fought back gamely, little hampered by the gash in his forehead. The champion tore into Simonich in the sixth with a volley to the head and body, driving the westerner to cover.

The champion apparently fighting his way back to old-time form scored heavily to the Montana puncher's head and body as the latter tired in the seventh. Simonich rushed again to the attack in the eighth but Latzo scored repeatedly with both hands to the head. Latzo continued the drive in the ninth and tenth.

Monte Munn Wins.

Monte Munn, former Nebraska football star stopped Gordon Munce of New York in the second round of a ten-round heavyweight match preliminary to the Pete Latzo-Joe Simonich fight at the Newark armory tonight.

In the second 10-round match, Benny Bass, Philadelphia featherweight, defeated Benny Gross of Newark. Gross' clinching drew the displeasure of the crowd frequently.

Hot Semi-Final.

The semi-final produced ten rugged rounds of slambang fighting with Phil McGraw of Detroit outpunching Johnny Ceccolo of Scranton, Pa., in the opinion of newspapermen.

Johnny fought back, but was unable to match the punching of the Michigan florist. The Pennsylvanian suffered cuts under his left eye, and mouth.

RED GRANGE COMING

Galloping Ghost Invades Texas For Battle With Wildcats.

BEAUMONT, Dec. 8.(AP)—Red Grange and his New York Yankees will meet George Wilson and the Pacific coast Wildcats here on December 22, according to a contract drawn up today between Champ Pickens, football entrepeneur of Alabama, who is managing the teams while "Cash and Carry" Pyle is bossing Suzanne, and local interests.

Dempsey Caters To Poison Alibi

Ex-Champ Changes Front And Declares He Was Doped

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. (AP)—The New York American today added another chapter to the story of "poison plots" woven about the figure of Jack Dempsey who lost his heavyweight boxing title to Gene Tunney in the Sesqui-Centennial ring at Philadelphia.

Dempsey told its representatives in Los Angeles, the American says, that he believed he was poisoned before the contest and that his suspicions were confirmed by a physician who examined him the day after he lost his championship. The physician was not named.

Didn't Want Alibi

"I don't know what happened nor how it happened," the paper quotes Dempsey as saying. "I do know that I was in such an alarming condition that I called a doctor the day after the fight. I was afraid there must be some organic disorder."

Dempsey then explained, the paper says, that he refused the doctor admission after he arrived, fearing that the public might think the former champion was "trying to frame an alibi" but that another physician who stitched the wound Tunney opened over Dempsey's eye said, "there was strong symptoms of poison."

Tex Worried About Gene

Tex Rickard, promoter, was afraid Tunney would not be able to go through the match, Dempsey is quoted as saying.

"Tunney got sick flying here from Stroudsburg. Do me a favor and don't stop him too fast. Let him stay three or four rounds. This is the greatest crowd we ever had and I want to give them a run for their money," Dempsey said Rickard told him. "I almost had to laugh in his face, he was worrying about the wrong man. I was so weak when I reached the arena that I almost fell getting out of my automobile," Dempsey is quoted as saying.

SIX CAGE QUINTS

Draughon's Cagers Line Up With Commercial Loop

Draughon's Business college Wednesday morning decided to enter a team in the Commercial cage league scramble this year, bringing the loop to a six-team status. The other clubs are Landon-Hill, Panhandle, Continental, Hub clothiers and headquarters company of the national guard. Schedule is to be worked over this week and election of officers is to come off Saturday or the first of next week, according to Chubby Neal, league ramrod.

EXPORTS BUY FRED DORMAN

Gardner On Deals at Minor Meeting For Mound Talent

Freddy Dorman, Wichita Falls third sacker during the season of 1925, was sold to Beaumont by the Spudders Wednesday, according to wire from Jabez Gardner, Wichita Falls club prez who is attending the meeting of minor moguls at Asheville, Gardner did not name the sale price.

Dorman broke an ankle during exhibition play of the 1926 spring practice season but returned toward the end of the summer ready to play again. He is exceptionally fast and has one of the best arms of Texas league infielders.

Gardner said he has several deals pending for pitchers and expects to be in a position soon to announce purchase of at least one sure fire flinger.

IT'S IN YOUR FEET

Duncan Says Correct Golf Depends On Hoof Soles

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. (AP)—What really makes a golf ball go right is the soles of the feet, in the opinion of George Duncan, British master of the game.

"I've at last got the dope," he said, arriving here Tuesday to engage in tournaments and exhibition matches in California. "I've been giving the teaching side of golf a lot of thought for the past 10 years or so, but I've got it all now. I had it down to the legs and hips when I was last here, but now I've got it down to the soles of the feet.

"That's where everything starts and ends in playing golf and in all athletics. Dempsey lost because his feet had gone back on him."

And with that theory Duncan says he can teach anyone the art of hitting a golf ball after a few lessons.

JACK VERSUS JACK?

Fugazy Says Delaney Will Meet Sharkey, but—

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. (AP)—Humbert J. Fugazy announced Wednesday that Jack Delaney, world's light heavyweight champion, had agreed to meet Jack Sharkey of Boston in the match which Sharkey is under contract to fight for Fugazy before next February 1.

"Tex Rickard announced Monday that Sharkey had been signed to a long term contract to appear after February 1 under Rickard's promotion in an elimination tourney to determine a challenger for Gene Tunney.

Dempsey Plans Test Workouts

While Other Heavies Loaf Ex-Champ Trains For Comeback

Jack Dempsey began training again this week. He plans to go through a regular course of work laid out by Jerry Luvaids as if getting ready for a fight. If he finds that he can get back into his best form he will go on fighting. If he finds that speed and punch are lacking, he will drop out of the ring for good. Dempsey will train at his home at the foot of the hills back of Hollywood, Cal. He will do his roadwork over the hills, which are high enough to be called mountains anywhere in the eastern states.

If Dempsey finds himself full of the old fighting pep he will take on two or three fights for ring practice, and if successful in slipping over the old-time "sock" in the manner that made him champion before, he will go after Tunney for a return match. Gene can hardly refuse Dempsey a return match. He promised Dempsey a return chance the day after the fight at Philadelphia.

M'NEELY TO VISIT HOUSTON

HOUSTON, Dec. 8. (AP)—Earl McNeely, Washington American league outfielder whose timely hit in the closing game of the 1924 world series meant $50,000 to the Senators, is coming to visit Houston, according to Kenneth Penner, former Houston baseball club pitcher.

ELEVENTH AND SCOTT

"Honey Lou"

BY BEATRICE BURTON

READ THIS FIRST:

HONEY LOU HUNTLEY is private secretary to old "GRUMPY" WALLACK, head of the Wallack Fabric Mills. Honey Lou likes everyone at the mills except JOE MEADOWS, the shipping clerk, who makes love to her against her will.

JACK WALLACK, who comes to his father's mills to learn the business, falls in love with Honey Lou the minute he sees her. Brought u phy an old-fashioned mother, Honey Lou is a mixture of flapper and clinging vine.

ANGELA ALLEN pretends to be a friend of Honey Lou and tells her not to take Jack seriously. Jack is very jealous of DR. STEVE MAYHEW, a friend of MARGRET, Honey Lou's sister.

Honey Lou's engagement to Jack is announced and plans are made for the wedding.

Jack and Honey Lou have a quiet home wedding and spend their honeymoon camping at Lake Tamay.

Honey Lou stops at the Wallack Mills office to see Ann Ludlow.

Ann tells Honey Lou why she sent for her. Honey Lou sees Joe Meadows and tells him he must marry Ann at once and he agrees to do so.

Honey Lou and Jack settle down in their own flat with Mary Delaney, the cook.

Angela tells Honey Lou she is going to have a party for her adn Jack Saturday night. Honey Lou goes home and finds Jack reading poems about little houses in the country filled with love and happiness. Honey Lou decides to let Mary go in the morning, do her own work, and try to make the kind of home Jack whats.

Tim Donegal tells of the card games he and Honey Lou have together and Jack forbids Honey Lou to have Tim Donegal in their house.

Honey Lou, angered by Jack's objections to Donegal, leaves the flat for her mother's home. Margret tells her she has no reason to be jealous of Jane Ayres, Jack's secretary, but to watch Angela. Honey Lou returns t othe flat, a quarrel follows.

Honey Lou moves into the guest room and further complicates her domestic affairs by her "silent treatment" of Jack.

Honey Lou, on a motor ride with Angela and Donegal, decides to follow Jack's wishes in regard to Donegal.

Donegal's arrest delays Honey Lou's and Angela's return until two i nthe morning.

The published news of Donegal's arrest in connection with the names of Angela and Honey Lou, together with Angela's duplicity, finally culminates in the separation of Jack and Honey Lou.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER LIV.

Honey Lou let herself into the silent flat.

She went straight through it to the kitchen, stopping only a second at the door of Jack's room. Her eyes passed over his brushes and necktie rack to the bed, white and smooth under its snowy cover.

"Looks exactly like a brave with snow on it," Honey Lou said to herself drearly. Then she laughed. "Jimminy crickets, but I'm nice and cheerful today—I'll be seeing ghosts next!"

In the dining room, the fading bride's roses did make her think of little white ghosts—ghosts of a happiness that was dead.

She passed on into the kitchen and washed up the dirty dishes that Maray had left stacked in the sink. Then she swept up Mary's room, and threw all the motion-picture magazines and old hat boxes she had left, into the rubbish barrel down in the yard . . . The bride's roses went in after them.

After that, Honey Lou packed a steamer trunk with her plainest clothes, telephoned for a taxicab, and powdered her face to hide the tear-marks.

As six o'clock she walked into the flat on Arbor street, followed by the taxi driver and the trunk.

"Back home and broke!" shesaid with mock cheerfulness to her mother and Margret, "somebody will have to fish up enough coin to pay the taximan, because I haven't a nickel."

Margret paid and tipped the man

"Married life at an end?" she asked, when the thre ewomen were alone.

Honey Lou nodded. "It looks that way to me,' 'she answered airily, watching her mother's troubled face.

"Are you sorry to have me home?" she asked.

"I'm sorry to have you come home this way, Honey Lou," she replied. "I just felt that there was something going on, all day. I tried to call you about one o'clock, but your phone didn't answer."

"No one was at home, I was over at my mother-in-law's huose, having a row with her," the girl said in that same hard cheerful little voice.

She sat down on the arm of her monther's big easy chair, and told the two of them the whole story, from beginning to end.

"Didn't I tell you all about Angela Allen, months ago?" Margret cried triumphantly when she had finished. "Didn't I tell you she'd never stop until she'd separated you from Jack?"

Honey You had to admit that she had.

"Well, maybe everything will come out all right in the end," Mrs. Huntley remarked with the optimism that had brought her through many bitter troubles. "All we can do is hope for the best. Jack may come to his senses when he finds Honey Lou gone."

"He's done without me for six months," Honey Lou remarked, with a shrug. "He seems to have forgotten I'm alive. Last week he even forget to leave me any money for the housekeeping. I don't know what he thinks I'm going to use for money. Buttons, maybe."

"Perhaps he wanted you to come to him and ask for it." Mrs. Huntley suggested. "Perhaps he was as ready to make up as you were."

Honey Lou thought that over . . . Perhaps her mother was right. After all, Jack had come home early on the night of the wedding anniversary. Was it only last night? It seemed like weeks ago . . .

"Steve and I are going out for dinner somewhere, and to a movie afterward," Margret said to her suddenly. "Wouldn't you like to go along?" But her eyes were troubled when she said it, and Honey Lou could see that she was relieved when she refused her invitation . . . Poor old Margret.

But when Steve came he would not take "No" for an answer.

"You've got to come along," he told Honey Lou. "Margret and I won't go, ourselves, unless you do. Will we, Margret?"

"Of course, not." Margret did her best to make her voice sound heart and happy, but failed miserably.

"I'm not going the way I look—especially with Margret all dolled up like a church bazaar," Honey Lou declared, but at last she did go just as she was. With her eyes and nose swollen, and marks of tears on her cheeks.

All through the dinner at a little Bohemian restaurant on Font street, she was the gayest of the gay to all outward appearances. She drank Steve's health and Margret's health in hot coffee, and she told jokes that Daisy Deane and Suzanne had told to her.

And Margret laughed at them, along with Steve, and prentended that she was having the time of her life.

Margret had learned to pretend a good many things, during the last year. She had pretended to Stephen Mayhew that she did not suspect for a moment that he was in love with Honey Lou . . . She had gone on being his good friend and his pal, when what she wanted to be was his sweetheart and his wife.

She had read the medical books that he brought to her when she wanted to be darning his socks and putting the buttons in his shirts for him.

Most women are pretty good at this sort of pretending, but Margret had become an artist at it.

But Honey Lou saw through her that night, and she made up her mind that she would never join her and Steve again . . . She had made a hodge-podge and a wreck of her own love affair and she was not going to ruin Margret's for her.

She looked up at Steve suddenly from the apple strudel she was tearinb to pieces with her fork.

"I've left Jocko, Steve," she said to him. "Isn't that dreadful?"

Steve just stared at her.

"It's drearful," she went on clearly, "because I'm still in love with him, and I always will be."

A NEW FACE IN THE PICTURE

MAINE has placed a new face in the political picture gallery, that of Alfred R. Gould, who won his election to the senate by a majority of 48,000 over Fulton J. Redmond, democrat. A two-thirds vote was polled. Gould is the successor of Bert M. Fernald, who died in harness. Fernald was sent to the senate two years ago by a majority of 51,000 in the largest vote ever cast in Maine.

Gould is a lumber king, railroad builder and bank president. He began life a farm laborer. His own county gave him 5000 majority. He carried every city in Maine including several democratic strongholds. Androscoggin county, over a democratic Gibraltar, cast a majority of its votes for Gould.

This man from Maine, not only triumphed over the democratic nominee, but he triumphed over Governor Ralph O. Brewster and the Brewster faction of the republican party. He was charged by the klan leaders with spending more money in quest of the primary nomination than the law allows and he was charged by his democratic opponents with having paid a bribe of $100,000 to a Canadian high official in a railroad deal some 16 years ago.

He was vindicated of the first charge but not of the last. It's up to the blue noses to take cognizance of it. Gould was fought by the klan for the primary nomination and fought to a finish until the polls were closed on special election day.

State Senator Frederick W. Hinckley, attorney and manager for Candidate Gould, declared that Governor Brewster and Deforrest H. Perkins, grand dragon of the klan of Maine, had consulted with Imperial Wizard Hiram Evans in Washington concerning the charges against his client and that Fulton J. Redmond had pledged the klan leaders to support klan principles for their support and had also promised to support Governor Brewster for election to the United States senate whenever a vacancy occurs.

It was a merry mix-up all around with the few democratic strongholds in Maine returned majorities for the republican candidate for senator who had been vigorously assailed by the republican governor of Maine and his followers. Senator Gould's term will not expire until 1931 and many things will happen in Maine before the lumber king who began life a farm laborer will be ready to cast aside his toga.

GONE OUT OF BUSINESS

It is announced that the Tremont and Suffolk mills, a cotton manufacturing corporation capitalized for $2,000,000, under the laws of Massachusetts, has decided to wind up its affairs and retire from business. This is one of the oldest concerns in Massachusetts. Its mills are in Lowell and the company, incorporated in 1831, had 3,000 employees.

Old England appears to be walking along in a rocky road and the textile industry in New England is experiencing rough walking and its mills are going elsewhere. They are going where the cotton blossom grows. They are going where they save the long haul in a freight rate sense. They are going where they will be close to the cotton field.

They are going where they will be close to the south Atlantic and Gulf ports, where ships are ever at the docks to carry the products of the mills to the markets of the world.

TOWN TALK—By H. F. J.

STILL A QUESTION

Farmers of Wichita county are apparently sold on the idea of reducing cotton acreage next summer.

The stern lesson of eight and nine-cent cotton this fall has soaked in and stuck—at least for the time being. And the diversification preachments that have swept this section of Texas like a summer sand storm are also having an effect.

Farmers came to town Saturday—as they will do. A number of them were questioned concernjng their plans for next year, and not a one but that emphatically announced an intention to cut down appreciably on cotton production.

"I've learned my lesson," one of them confided. "This year's experience has been hard, but in the end I think it will be profitable. Grain and garden truck will be my meat from now on."

This particular individual, whose attitude was to a great degree reflective of that of most Wichita county farmers, is sincere in his convictions. The debacle of the 1926 banner crop is still a vivid picture before him as it is before thousands of others. It will remain a fresh and sobering recollection for some time to come.

But cotton planting time is a long way ahead. Weeks and weeks will intervene between today's bank deficit and next spring's planting hopes. Accordingly, there will be a modification of good intentions by the time early spring blooms appear and it may be that with the 1926 spectre fading, the inviting mirage of big crops, high prices and good profits will work its way again.

Agriculture is a stable thing. It is not sufficiently pliant to be shunted into new paths, new methods and new ideas over night. Irrigation has come, not with a single leap, but through long years of patient planning and education. New methods of agriculture have been adopted slowly.

Texas has attained its status of banner cotton state of the nation, not alone because of its natural adaptability, but because, down through the years, cotton planting has gone on unrestrained and unchallenged.

Now that the challenge has been issued. How it will be met, remains to be seen.

TIME AND THE TIDE

WOMEN, OXEN AND STABLES

American soldier boys were stunned with surprise when they saw French women harnessed with an ox, to the plow; other peasants hiding three or four francs in a hole in a hole in an old tree, instead of putting the money in the bank.

The present writer has in the course of years known hundreds of European immigrants who, later in life have become rich and influential Americans; but only on rare occasions has he ever heard a word about the real life of the continental peasant. The same applies to the higher classes over there.

Why this strange silence? It is not on account of pride, not lack of interest in self, but for some reason Americans of the second and third generation are densely ignorant of most ordinary social conditions in Europe; whereas it would seem since all Americans stem back to immigrant ancestors, our people should not have to go to Europe to know about the hard life of our ancestors.

We should be the best-posted people in the world, on European conditions, but as a matter of fact we are very poorly posted.

If you saw the misery, rags and poverty, of the masses in Europe, you would no longer wonder that the fortunate emigrant, once he passes Ellis Island, wastes no time, works 12 or 14 hours a day at his fruit stand, boot-blacking shop, quick-lunch, trade or craft. Few foreigners, once America is tried, ever they are willing to return to live in the old world.

The more you know of life, over there, the better Americans you become. The contrast between European misery, hunger and caste, and American independence, equality and opportunity will not surprise even a one-eyed man, once the facts are told.

Let the children and the grandchildren know the truth.

Human Nature Topics

CAWFFEE AND LOTS OF IT!

Sad-eyed moralists who insist that the refinements of modern civilization are sapping the virile fiber are requested to wipe their weeping optics and direct a hopeful glance in the direction of Fergus Falls, Minn., home of Gus Comstock, world's champion coffee drinker.

Gus qualifies as Mocha Monarch with the record consumption of 62 cups of Java juice in 10 hours, kicking Volitaire's record of 50 cups into the discard and sending the free verse architects of Greenwich Village back to their draughty attics, in despair.

And when Gus says "cawffee," he means "cawffee."

"None of your weak, watery, back-stove, boarding house apologies; but the good old, complicated, lumber-camp stuff—b'iled, bubblin' and bitter, gulped out of cups deep as grandpaw's shavin' mug and wide as a winner's smile.

The word going forth, naturally has attracted coffee hounds the country over; and along comes Brother Herndon, managing editor of "The Call," of Corpus Christi, Texas, hurling a defi at the champ on behalf of a lad named Roberts of that city.

On top of the challenge of the blue-eyed moulder of public opinion, comes another from Frank Dwyer of Akron, O., willing to "take on" the Fergus Falls phenomenon at any time or place he cares to mention.

But Gus ain't going to be rushed off'n his feet by no fly-by-nighters. When a feller's gone to all th' trouble o' trainin' to a point where he can climb 'round 62 cups o' cawffee in 10 hours it ain't nature to look him up to tie up with no challengers till he's had a chance o' coppin' a little coin from them vaudeville an' movin' pitcher boys—not to mention crashin' th' Sunday roto sections, along side o' John D. Rockefeller, Bernard Shaw, Bishop Manning an' th' corn cure an' liver pill ads.

"Either of them men may be good," says the Percolator Prince of Fergus Falls. "I ain't disparagin' their styles; if they want a contest let 'em chalk up a record. I ain't got time to waste on a lot o' 30, 40, or 50-cup-a-day men. My speed is 62 cups in 10 hours with one hand tied behind me, an' if I let myself out there ain't no tellin' where I'd stop at."

All of which is fair enough. If the hero of the squared circle, adhering to custom, can lie back for a year or more between battles, reaping the royalties that are his by right of conquest, why should the champion of the coffee urn be denied similar privilege?

Here's wishing Brother Gus Comstock of Fergus Falls, Minn., all the luck he's entitled to. May he hang onto the championship like a pup to a root. May his liver hold out and his right elbow never lose its rythmic swing.

And if he decides to hook up with either "Akron Ike" or the "Corpus Christi Kid," may he have a gellery, 10 rows deep, comprising timid souls who leave their demi-tasse untasted because they don't want to lie awake all night!

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets all the Trains.

KELLYGRAMS . . . . . By Fred C. Kelly

One of the most human touches in the new life story of Bill Nye, showing what a sensible character he must have been, is the account of the time he took his children for their first trip on a train. He bought toy balloons, stick candy or whatever it was, not only for the kids, but for himself also. You see, he didn't let the youngsters feel that they were any different from grownups. He didn't patronize them.

It was all one happy little party of good pals having a good time together. He did the same things they did, with no hint that their pleasures weren't his own kind.

Unlucky is the man who hasn't shared such joys with his children—not merely seemed to share them, I mean, but keenly enjoyed the same things that they do.

Maybe I'm hopelessly immature, but I still find great fun in most of the things that I liked as a child. I have never ceased to enjoy playing marbles, flying kites, or puttering along a brook. When I was a kid my fondest dream was to spend a summer in a Maine camp. Whenever a new book came along dealing with boys campaing in the big woods, the librarian in our town saved it for me, because she knew that it would hit me right where I lived. But I never got to go. A few years back, when my little boy was old enough to be in such a camp I envied him so much that I decided to go along for a day or two and enjoy it as spectator. Mr. Morgan, director of the camp, must have sensed what was going on in my thoughts, for he kindly suggested:

"Why don't you just stick around here and be one of the boys?"

I confessed that that was exactly what I should like to do. For two months I was a privileged character there and, by keeping on my good behavior, I received an invitation for the following summer. Indeed, I was there much of the time for five summers, and I imagine that those days with the youngsters in camp will ever be the best of my life. It's really no hardship to become interested once again in childhood stunts.

My friend, Bill Johnson, told a similar story of how he had always wanted to go to a military school, and finally when his own boy went to one, he himself kept dropping in at every opportunity and had much fun without the discipline. Another friend tells me what a good time he has sharing in the care of his children's shetland pony—just such a little brown and white pony as he used to picture in boynood dreams.

The Bill Nye book mentions that the great humorist's children called him "Tod." Have you ever noticed that in homes where the father is merely one of the bunch and the children nickname him or address him by his first name there is usually better discipline than if the father were too insistent upon being treated as if he were their kaiser?

Happy the family where dad's a kid with the kids.

BO BROADWAY . . . . . By Josef Van Raalte

NEW YORK, (EFS). — Seven years ago a New York business woman took a long term lease on a suite of downtown offices. In the intervening period 32 radio concerns have sprung up in the single block wherein she is located. Their demonstrations and continuous outside concerns have rendered her workaday existence unbearable and her life a burden.

Two of the radio men were haled into court where they rigged up a machine while the magistrate listened in on "When You and I Were Young Maggie."

"I think that's beautiful," said the gent on the bench.

"One radio may be harmonious," replied the plaintiff, "but when you have 32 of them in unison, recording a wide range from football returns to Gems from Parsifal, you reach the point where death begins to lose its sting."

The magistrate smiled wearily and discharged the radio men.

Tragedy will never want encouragement so long as magistrate's robes are trimmed with monkey fur.

The women's smoking room in the new $17,000,000 Paramount building is called the "Chinoiserie."

A lady who started west in the gold rush of '49 but who never got farther than Broadway, mingled with the mob that inspected the new building on the opening night.

She came finally to the "Chinoiserie," and read the sign.

"I regard that as a nasty crack," she said. "The management will hear from me further about this."

Adolph Zukor and Jesse Lasky had prepared a long list of invitations to the opening. A lot of prominent folk were on hand, including Bruce Barton.

Bruce Barton is a New York writing man who pats Business Big Wigs on the back and tells them how good they are. He wrote a life of Christ recently, called "The Man Nobody Knows," or some such title. Mr. Barton's idea is that if Christ were alive today he'd be one of the "go-getters" who late in life develop "kidney pads" under his eyes from leaning up too long against limousine cushions.

The night club proprietors are disappointed in Jimmy Walker. His 3 a. m. curfew law was a distinct shock to their child-like faith and confidence in the mayor.

Dave Stone articulated the grief of the Bretheren when he said at a hearing on the measure the other day:

"We think so much of Jimmy Walker we sing a song about him: 'How do you do, Jimmy Walker.' He's our friend and we ask him not to interfere with our entertainers, 19,000 musicians and 26,000 taxicab drivers whose wages will suffer if we have to close before 5 o'clock in the morning.

The figures are startling. The out-of-town-man-about-town has more dependents than he thought.

Jimmy Churchill whose name used to mean something along Broadway in the Lobster Belt, hit town the other night after a little jaunt down Bermuda way.

It was Jim Churchill who originated the cabaret idea on Mazda Lane.

"I'm glad I quit," he says, "when prohibition came along. The night clubs no longer attract the best people. There are no more cabarets as we used to know them. We were patronized by prominent citizens; but the night clubs are nothing but shake-down joints."

Thus speaks the Hon. Jim, who ought to know.

Pari-Mutuel Machines At Juarez Seized "For Taxes"

EL PASO, Dec. 8. (AP)—Juarez officials raided the pari-mutuel betting machines at the Juarez track immediately after the seventh race today and seized the money wagered before all the winning betters had been paid off. It was reported that the claim was made the money was due as back taxes. The regular scheduled winter meet, under the management of W. P. Kyne, closed Sunday.

Four Prominent In Texas Labor On List Boomed For Labor Commissioner

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, Dec. 8.—Meet the next state labor commissioner. No intimation has been given of Governor-elect Dan Moody's selection, if he has made one, but the four men named here are all known to have received numerous endorsments, and it is believed a safe guess that out of the four the appointment has a pretty strong chance of falling.

Since the efforts being made in behalf of Joseph S. Myers, former commissioner, who is not an active applicant, were reviewed, names of three others who have also been endorsed to Mr. Moody for labor bureau head, have become known.

They represent even a wider range than the "butcher, baker and candlestick maker" for they cover the fields of organized labor in rail brotherhoods, cigarmaking, printing and railroading again.

Gragg Suggested

R. B. Gragg, Austin printer, secretary of the Austin Typographical union, has been endorsed to Mr. Moody for commissioner by numerous printing trades councils. Mr. Gragg, the father of Ernest H. Gragg, said to have been the first Texas soldier who gave his life in the country's cause on the battlefields of France, and for whom the Ernest H. Gragg American Legion post of Corpus Christi was named, has been endorsed by many of the World war veterans who make up the Legion membership. State federation of labor leaders have given their support to the Austin man. Mr. Gragg is not an active applicant for the state office.

C. M. Lee of Fort Worth, memmember of the Cigar-Makers union, has been numerously endorsed by labor leaders and federation members. Mr. Lee is said to have been one of the first to become known as a "possibility" for the appointment.

Ware Fourth Man

The fourth man is Ed Ware, railroader of Palestine. Whether or not he is making a campaign for the appointment is not known, but it is known that many letters and recommendations supporting Mr. Ware have trickled into Moody's office.

Mr. Myers, besides having been supported by branches of organized labor, has also been given voluntary endorsements of employers with whom he came in contact as commissioner in the Neff administration. Among these are known to be the hotel owners and the laundry owners.

Moody Union Man

Dan Moody himself is a union man, holding his card as lineman in the Brotherhood of Electrical Workmen, so that his selection of a commissioner of the important labor department is looked on with particular interest. With at least the four and perhaps more people in the field, having substantial and extensive endorsements, the difficulty of making a selection satisfactory to all branches and divisions of labor is well known.

DENVER MUD Often Prevents Pneumonia

Nearly all pneumonia cases result from neglected chest colds. Chest colds, of themselves, do not seem serious but only a few hours are necessary for dread pneumonia to develop. The best way to be rid of pneumonia is to prevent it—prevent it by breaking up chest colds as soon as they appear. This can be best done by applying heated DENVER MUD to throat and chest. This amazing healing mud maintains a moist heat for many hours and quickly draws out all inflammation and scatters the congestion. Hospitals and physicians every where have used this famous DENVER MUD for over thirty years in treating all kinds of inflammation and congestion. Large package of DENVER MUD 50c at all Drug Stores.

Sunday's Rain Helps Crops At Electra

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Dec. 8.—The rain which began Sunday night at 9:30 continuing through the night and throughout Monday and Monday night falling slowly and steadily, will prove a great value to grain farmers. The first plantings of wheat were suffering from the lack of rain.

REVIVAL CLOSES

Special to The Record News.

SEYMOUR, Dec. 8.—The series of revival meetings held at the Presbyterian church last week, conducted by the pastor, Rev. E. C. Cargill, closed on Sunday evening. A fine spirit of co-operation prevailed throughout each service among the Christian people of the town. Rev. Cargill was assisted wholeheartedly by every pastor.

Rev. C. E. Cogswell begins a series of sermons for this week, on "Stewardship," closing on Thursday evening with the sermon preached by Rev. Floyd Bash, pastor of First Christian church, of Wichita Falls. An invitation is extended to all to hear Rev. Bash.

FARMERS OPTIMISTIC

FREDERICK, Dec. 8.—Farmers of southwestern Oklahoma and northwestern Texas are wearing broad grins after rainfall of over an inch and one-half which fell Sunday and continued through Monday.

The precipitation is invaluable to wheat, feed, alfalfa and other growing crops.

RHEUMATISM! What is it—anyway?

THAT awful agony of swollen joints and inflamed muscles—that miserable pain and torturous suffering, we call rheumatism—what is it?

Here's what it is: It is the result of waste products and impurities in the blood! Impurities that get the upper hand because the system is starving for want of healthy, rich, red blood!

But you just cleanse your blood and build up the red-blood-cells and watch the rheumatism vanish! Why, S. S. S. will aid Nature put so many millions of red-blood-cells in your system that the impurities that cause your rheumatism are driven out—they can't stand pure, healthy blood.

S.S.S. conquers rheumatism! The rich, red, fighting blood that S. S. S. helps Nature build brings ease and comfort to every sore, swollen tissue in your body.

And this great S. S. S. goes right on helping Nature build more and more red cells until your whole body is tingling with life and vibrating with vim, vigor and vitality. You feel like yourself again.

Get S. S. S. right now—build up your blood to where it is pure, red and healthy. S. S. S. is the sure way.

All druggists sell S. S. S. Get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

OIL CHIEFTAINS AT TULSA HOLD MEETING BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

LIMITING OF PRODUCTION IN OIL DISCUSSED

Tenor of Debate Is Carefully Guarded From Ears Of Public

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 8. (AP)—With the attention largely focused tonight on a prolonged meeting of the board of directors, who were understood to be discussing a suggestion of Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, that congress be petitioned for a modification of the anti-trust law in the interest of oil conservation, the American Petroleum Institute tonight continued technical group meetings. The question involves the limiting of production at times when production is excessive.

What was proceeding behind closed doors was carefully guarded from the public. The convention today had reached proportions said never hitherto to have been approached, with nearly 2,000 persons registered.

Although it was expected that the directors today would name the officers their selection was deferred until tomorrow. The choice of a convention city was generally considered to lie between Washington and Chicago, but it was announced that it would not be made here.

No More Cuts

Harry F. Sinclair, chairman of the board of directors of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation could see no reason for any more reductions in the price of Mid-Continent crude oil.

"Several operators," he said, "have suggested the possible chances of other reductions. I see no reason why they should cut oil. The oil industry is in fine shape, and with the Seminole city pool behind us, I know of no danger of over production from any other source.

The Seminole pool, Oklahoma, is one of the most recent large pools brought in and is estimated to be producing now about 125,000 barrels of oil a day.

Mr. Sinclair was of the opinion that the Seminole pool was "well over its peak," and said he feared the industry would have to "find a new gusher area to worry about, as a possible menace to our crude price structure."

The concentration of the oil industry into complete unit companies producing, manufacturing and transporting was held by J. Edgar Pew, president of the Sun company and vice-president of the institute, to be a growing tendency.

Harmony Program

"The complete unit company," he said, "eliminates different departments and, although it stimulates competition, makes for harmony in the end."

The expansion of refineries to include marketing departments is a necessary step and one which all refineries with sufficient capital and strength are seeking to take, according to Pew who sees in this expansion the tendency toward complete unit companies.

FORM BOOK OUT

Legal Form Book For Oil Contains Valuable Information

The Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Forms, a copy of which has been received, is of special interest to oil and gas operators and lawyers in the Mid-Continent field. It is handsomely bound in du Pont Fabrikoid, and contains 352 pages. It has 257 oil and gas forms, ranging from geological contracts to the sale of produced oil and the pulling of casing. It is well indexed and has all the usual leases, assignment and royalty forms, and many special forms not found elsewhere in book form, such as surface leases, pick-up station leases, seismograph leases, dry hole money contracts, the sale of unproduced oil, bottom hole money contracts, options to buy oil interests in properties, division orders, escrow agreements, mortgages, curative title forms, quit claim deeds, leases, bills of sale, and other useful special forms.

PIPING FOR OIL LINE ARRIVES

Childress Receives Materials For Humble Company's New Pipeline

Special to The Record News.

CHILDRESS, Dec. 8.—Materials for the Humble company's plant, including the pipe and telephone lines that are to be put across Childress county began arriving early in the week and is being stored ready for use. To cross Childress county, 750 carloads of pipe will be required, it was said.

Pipe will be unloaded at Memphis, Newlin, Estelline, Carey, Childress, Lazare and Swearingen and be distributed in the territory by motor trucks. An official of the company said 1000 men would be employed to lay the pipe and telephone line and to build the Childress plant, which will consist of a main pumping plant, tank farm, machine shop, motor truck shop, pipe and material yards.

RANDALL WILDCAT

Rigging Up For Second Trial For Oil Near Canyon

Special to The Record News.

CANYON, Texas, Dec. 8.—Construction of the rig of the Patterson test well in Randall county, about 15 miles southwest of Canyon, has begun. The location is on the McIlroy ranch, and is to be the second recent test made in this county. This test will be made about nine or ten miles north of that drilled by the Mystery company. It is being made by Fort Worth and Vernon interests.

QUANAH TEST SPUDS

Humble Starts Second Well On McAdams Ranch

QUANAH, Dec. 8.—The No. 2 well on the McAdams ranch of Humble Oil and Refining company is scheduled to spud in Thursday. Fuel for this test is furnished by No. 1 which came in some time ago as a gasser.

Cunningham Griffin is to make a location for a deep test in southwest Hardeman near the Summers ranch. This is to be a deep test.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 8.(AP)—The cotton market was quite active today owing to the publication of the final government crop report estimating the yield for the season at 18,618,000 bales and the total ginned to December 1, at 14,-944,962 running bales.

Prior to the issue of the report the market first gained nine to 10 points on covering by shorts, but gradually eased off again until just before the official figures were issued December was one point above the previous close and the later months six to seven points below.

Immediately following the government's totals, which were smaller than looked for prices advanced 24 to 35 points on active months, but soon eased off under heavy selling, losing 20 to 25 points of the gain. The market later rallied on trade buying and covering but turned weaker in the late trading, losing practically all the gain and almost duplicating the earlier lows, due to heavy realizing. The close was called steady, showing net losses of two to three points. Trading in the last hour was quite brisk.

Although Liverpool was lower than due the market here opened steady first trades showing no change from yesterday's close. The market then rallied after the start on shorts covering before the bureau. Decmbr trading up to 12.06, January 12.07 and March 12.23, or nine to 10 points above the previous close. This gain was later lost and just before the government report was issued December traded at 11.98, or one point net up and January 11.92 and March 12.06, or six to seven points net down.

Right after the government report was issued the market advanced, December jumping to 12.35, January 12.39 and March 12.46, or 24 to 28 ponts net higher. The later positions gained only 18 to 20 points. Prices soon eased off 20 to 25 points from the highs, but recovered about half of this loss only to weaken again in the last hour on heavy realizing.

The close was near the low.

Exports for the day totaled 46,324 bales.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.(AP)—The government's figures today both the cotton crop and ginnings prior to December 1, seemed below expectations of recent sellers in the cotton market, but an upturn of 20 to 25 points on covering was followed by reactions. January contracts after selling up from 11.88 to 12.17, closed at 11.91, the general market closing easy at net declines of three to eight points.

The market was easier before the report was made public. First prices were steady at a decline of two points to an advance of three points and there was some buying on relatively steady Liverpool cables. Pre-bureau liquidation was in evidence, however, while there also was some sellers by the south. Before trading was suspended to receive the government figures, prices showed net declines of six to 10 points, December selling at 12.37 and May at 12.58.

The official crop estimate of 18,618,000 bales was under some of the recent private estimates while ginnings of 14,-644,962 bales reported prior to December also fell somewhat short of expectations and there was a spurt of covering when business was resumed at the end of the 20 minute interval.

Buying soon ater prices up to 12.50 for December and 12.66 for May, or about 23 to 29 points above the low level of the morning and 15 to 22 points net higher, but demand was soon supplied and prices turned easier during the afternoon.

The remarks of the crop reporting board which accompanied the figures on the indicated crop seemed to receive a bearish interpretation and demand was light after the first flurry of covering subsided. There were also complaints of continued poor spot demand in the south and some southern hedge selling developed here in late trading as well as liquidation by earlier buyers. Prices went back to within a few points of the low levels of the morning with the market rather unsettled in late trading.

Exports today 46,324, making 4,476,057 so far this season. Port receipts 77,466; U. S. port stocks 2,936,127 bales.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.(AP)—Frequent shifts of speculative sentiment gave today's stock market the appearance of irregularity throughout most of the session, with final quotations generally lower on the day. The selling was not influenced by any change in the business situation which, in the main continued favorable, but rather by the failure of the public to respond to recent "melon cutting" and "Christmas dividends" by entering the market on the long side.

While money rates ordinarily stiffen at this season of the year, due to the heavy year-end demand for funds, the fact that the new treasury financing is on a 3½ per cent basis was accepted as evidence that no permanent credit stringency was in sight.

The traditional "selling on the good news" followed the announcement of a 50 per cent, stock dividend by the F. W. Woolworth company, the stock reacting from an early high of 194½ to 188⅝, closing at 189 for a net loss of 2½ points on the day. The stock has fluctuated between 135½ and 222 this year. U. S. Steel closed fractionally lower at 148⅛ after selling as high as 150⅝, despite predictions of a sizeable increase in November unfilled orders to be made public Friday noon.

Independent strength was shown by a few high priced industrials. National Cash Register scored an extreme gains of over nine points, the latter touching a new high record at 196¼.

Eureka Vacuum was bid up to a new peak price at 63 on reports of record breaking holiday sales. Among the score or so other issues to break through their previous 1926 high prices were Coca Cola, Wilson company, Texas company (new), U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Otis Elevator and Vivadou common and preferred.

Rails displayed a firm undertone with the best buying in the northwestern carriers. Atchison preferred, Lehigh Valley anad Great Northern preferred touched new peak prices.

Call money opened at 5 per cent, and held steady at that figure all day. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Another outburst of buying in French francs which carried them above four cents to a new high level for the year, overshadowed all other developments in the foreign exchange market. Demand sterling held steady around 4.84⅛, but most of the continental rates were slightly firmer.

Grain

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.(AP)—Heavy selling out of December holdings of wheat unsettled the wheat market today after values had shown an early upward trend. Much of the selling appeared to be in the nature of profit taking on the part of the principal owners here. Closing quotations for wheat were irregular at 1⅛c net decline to ⅝c advance, with corn up ⅛ to ⅝c up, oats off ⅛ to 1¼c gain, and provisions varying from 5c decline to a rise of 7c.

Corn and oats turned strong on account of active demand from previous speculative sellers.

Provisions averaged higher owing to scattered general buying.

TEXAS CASH GRAIN.

FORT WORTH, Dec. 8.(AP)—Wheat was sharply higher on the Fort Worth cash grain market Wednesday with exporters in the market for all available grain for prompt shipment through Gulf ports. They were bidding $1.51¼ basis delivered Houston and Galveston. While mills were not urgently in need of wheat there was also some demand from that quarter.

Wheat: No. 1 dark hard, milling $1.52@1.54; No. 1 ordinary hard, milling $1.51½@1.52; No. 1 red, $1.64@1.75; No. 1, 75 per cent red, $1.42@1.54.

NO TIME EXTENSIONS TO BE ALLOWED THIS YEAR ON LICENSES

JAN. 1 TO BE LAST DAY OF GRACE HERE

All Motorists Must Have Plates Or Pay Ten Per Cent Penalty

All motorists of Wichita Falls who intend to delay buying new 1927 licenses were served with an ominous warning Wednesday when Judge B. D. Sartin announced that no extension of time would be allowed delinquents. Previously the county commissioners have allowed from 15 to 30 days after January 31, as an extension of time before prosecution of delinquents started. But this year, Judge Sartin stated, the commissioners are unwilling to allow any extensions and will impose the 10 per cent penalty on all delinquents.

Going Slowly.

The new licenses are now ready for issuance by the tax collector. They are going slowly, C. E. Parker, in charge of the bureau, stated Wednesday. Last year there were more than 400 new licenses issued at this date, while this year less than 75 have registered.

"There are more than 25,000 licenses to be issued here and those who delay will find even more crowded conditions than ever before," Mr. Parker stated. A special annex has been built in the hall of the courthouse for this business, and the collector will be glad to issue as many as possible before the big rush of the last days starts.

The actual date set for closing the license bureau is Dec. 31, 1926, but the law provides that the collector cannot exercise the penalty until 30 days after the limit, which accounts for the general idea that the actual date is January 31. County officers can make arrests for operating an automobile without a license at any time after January 1 if they care to.

Law Enforced

The headlight test law will be rigidly enforced and no license will be issued without the presentation of a headlight test certificate which has been issued within 30 days. Everyone seeking a new license must also present this year's license receipt before a new one will be given out.

All transfers and bills of sale must also be recorded before licenses will be issued.

Missing Soldier Claims Drugged

Fort Sam Houston Man Is Kidnaped, He Tells Officers

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 8.(AP)—Private Warner Holzschieter, for whom a search was instituted Monday with the finding of a wrecked automobile which he had borrowed from his cousin, Mrs. Roy Mendlin, appeared Wednesday morning at the sheriff's office. He said he had been drugged, carried to Seguin and robbed of $47. According to his story Private Holzschieter was driving along the Frio City road early Monday morning when an automobile parked across the road blocked his way. As he slowed down and stuck his face out the door, he felt a stinging sensation in the eyes and was completely blinded. From that instant until he awoke in a lumber yard at Seguin he remembered nothing, he told officers.

CARS WRECKED ON WET ROADS

Numerous Accidents Reported as Result of Accidents Wednesday

Slippery streets due to heavy rains have been the cause of numerous automobile accidents and collisions the past three days, city police reported Wednesday night. Numerous accidents in various sections of the city have been made and a follow-up usually reveals that slippery streets were to blame.

Wednesday was a bad day for aaccidents, several of a minor nature were reported and in three considerable damage was done.

A driver of a Ford car was seriously cut about the face and arms when his machine smashed into the curbing at Sixth and Ohio late Wednesday night. Another accident on Denver resulted in two badly wrecked cars, and another maachine was damaged on Seventh and Scott last night.

Stage All Set For City's First Big Radio and Flower Exhibition

Wichita Falls' first radio show, coupled with which will be an elaborate flower show planned by the Woman's Forum, will get under way Friday in the new Fritz building at Eleventh and Scott. It opens at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Radio dealers of the city have arranged a new and novel display—one covering the radio world thoroughly and which will bring on exhibition the newest and most up-to-date radio appliances known to science. These will be displayed attractively and provision will be made to explain the workings of radio mysteries.

Another unique feature will be the flower show to be staged by the Woman's Forum. Some surprises are in store for this, ladies making arrangements declare, and it will be thoroughly in keeping with the high standard to be set in the radio exhibit.

Several interesting entertainnumbers are scheduled for the life of the show.

High School and Junior College Students Set High Goal

A school print shop in which the Wichitan, high school and Junior college weekly paper, would be printed by students, is the newest goal set by progressives at the college, and while it is impossible to accomplish the goal set during this school term, it is hoped that such a shop will have been inaugurated by the beginning of the 1927-1928 session.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—Adv.
