Junior high requirements mandated...

Computer expansion at city schools discussed

By DONNY BROWN
SDN Managing Editor

Snyder school trustees Tuesday heard a recommendation to expand "computer literacy" training to all Snyder elementaries — in particular making computer assisted instruction (CAI) available to all students in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

In addition, the board was informed that by next school year the Snyder ISD will be required to add a computer instructor at the junior high to conform with recently approved requirements from the Texas State Board of Education.

The expansion of computer training at the elementary level also follows as yet unspecific requirements set down by House Bill 246 — the 1982 state legislation which was the springboard for reform efforts now underway in Texas education.

Along with the recommendation for an expanded computer program at every grade, cost estimates were provided by the district's specially formed Computer Task Force — a group comprised of teachers and administrators representing all levels of the Snyder system.

These cost projections follow a three-year plan and for 1984-85 alone would equal a more than $330,000 addition to the current school budget if all recommendations were followed.

As present, the only clear state mandate for next school year involves the junior high requirement, however.

The $330,000 cost estimate did not include expenses involved with the addition of this new computer teacher at the junior high level since school officials learned of it after the initial computer study and report was completed.

The junior high mandate will require that all Texas public school students have completed one ½ unit of computer classroom instruction (one class for an entire school semester) before they complete the eighth grade.

To implement this next year at the junior high, it is estimated the system will need to purchase eight more microcomputers. The estimated cost of this was projected at $12,000 plus the addition of one fulltime teacher's salary.

Regarding computer training at the elementary level, the system currently has computer assisted instruction (CAI) at three elementaries — North, Northeast and Central Elementary.

The remaining three — West, East and Stanfield — have no classroom computer training, although each campus has a computer available in the library for limited student use.

The system's current computer training at the Aim is May 21 for cotton crop planting delay

The Scurry County Producers Association has set May 21 as the Uniform Delayed Planting Date for cotton. A similar date has been set for Mitchell County, according to Deanna Myers, entomologist for the two counties.

The uniform planting date is used as a control measure against the cotton boll weevil. By delaying the emergence of the cotton plant's "square," weevils emerging from the winter hibernation will die before they may successfully reproduce.

A weevil egg must be laid in at least a one-third grown square for the egg to develop into an adult weevil.

Weevils emerging from overwintering sites can survive approximately two weeks once emerging.

Myers notes that a May 21 planting date will not produce one-third grown squares until around July 1. Only weevils emerging after June 15 would survive long enough to successfully reproduce.

In the spring of 1981, 97 percent of the weevils came out before June 15, Myers noted.

In 1982, 60 percent emerged before June 15 and in 1981, 67 percent emerged before this date.

Of these dates, she said the 1981 figure — when only 3 percent came out after June 15 — is "probably the closest to normal."

A light emergency of boll weevils is expected this spring. Leaf litter was examined across the county and a 3 percent infestation found. None of these involved live weevils.

"This doesn't mean that the cold, dry winter killed all the weevils, but it did kill a large amount of them," Myers said.

She noted trash and leaf litter samplings in Tom Green-Runnels Counties produced only one live weevil out of 100 samples.

With a light emergence expected, Myers said a uniform delayed planting date can be especially effective since it further decreases the number of weevils.

At Snyder High School...

Changes allow course addition

Changes were approved Tuesday which will allow an expanded course requirement schedule for students graduating from Snyder High School.

The approval came during the April meeting of the Snyder school board.

These changes followed recommendations from local school officials in response to new requirements directed by both House Bill 246; new UIL guidelines; and policy adopted by the Texas State Board of Education.

Proposed changes which will affect Snyder High School entering freshmen next school year include the addition of an optional "advanced" transcript high school program which students may elect to take.

To earn an advanced transcript, some 22 class units must be completed — a schedule that allows only 3 class units classified as "elective" courses.

The basic requirements for graduation — which will apply to all — will be increased slightly also with the addition of another year of math to the course list.

The basic graduation schedule requirement will allow high school students as many as seven elective courses.

To address other statewide mandates for more "basic" education, the school board approved:

—The addition of an optional early morning period for high school students only. It will begin at 7:30 a.m. and will be called a "0" period. Its purpose is to allow students seeking an advanced high school transcript more flexibility with a class schedule — in addition to offering more opportunities for elective classes.

—Eliminating the "off" period now offered seniors in their final year.

—Changing requirements to engage in UIL activities, requiring students to be passing four courses rather than three to participate (a new UIL requirement).

—Upping the cutoff for passing and failing grades from 65 to 70 (a requirement of H.B. 246).

At Tuesday's meeting, the board also welcomed one new member and reorganized the board of-

Sweepstakes to SJHS choirs

The Snyder Junior High School 8th grade boy's choir and mixed chorus were the only junior high sweepstakes winners in UIL Concert and Sightreading competition in Abilene Tuesday.

Both local groups earned first division (superior) ratings in both phases of the competition to capture the sweepstakes titles.

The 8th grade girl's choir also earned the top rating in concert performance but missed the sweepstakes award by taking a second division (excellent) rating in the sightreading portion of the contest.

Other schools represented at the event included Madison, Mann, Lincoln and Jefferson Junior Highs of Abilene and Sweetwater Junior High.

Piano accompanists for the SJHS Choirs, under the direction of Barbara Perkins, are Julie Newbury and Rebecca Vestal. They are assisted by Judy McLarty.

The Snyder High School boy's, girl's and mixed choirs are competing in the high school division of the UIL Concert and Sightreading in Abilene today.

Child welfare unit annual event held

The 21st annual Scurry County Child Welfare Board's annual meeting was conducted Tuesday night at the Senior Citizens Center.

In addition to remarks made by members of the board, Dianne Price, acting treasurer of SCOOP, told the audience about the organization and its goal of establishing a Friendship House for abused and neglected teenage girls.

Since its founding in April of 1963, the Scurry County Child Welfare Unit has served hundreds of abused and neglected children in Scurry County. The Texas State Department of Human Resources administers the unit and develops the policies and procedures that govern the unit's delivery of services to children.

The Scurry County Child Welfare Board is composed of nine members appointed by the Commissioners Court.

During 1983, 256 children were referred to the Scurry County Child Welfare Unit for the first time, averaging about 21 per month.

Foster care was provided for a total of 13 children.

Total expenditures for 1983 included foster care and administrative costs totaling $40,878. Of that Summer olympic officials should beware. An event is brewing in Snyder that may threaten the summer olympics as the year's top sporting event.

The date is yet to be set as participants wrangle over details, but it already promises to attract a large gallery and plenty of side bets. We can't imagine a major network passing this up.

The event is a heads-up golf match between "friends" at Snyder Country Club. It all started when Rex Robinson, SNB vice president, commented how former Jack Crenweldge's game had improved in less than a year since he started playing.

Mickey Nunley, another SNB veep, says he could team up with anyone and beat the Robinson-Crenwelge combination. M. L. Duke of Consolidated Tool was seated nearby and agreed to be Nunley's partner. Duke plays an average of once a year.

Word of the proposed "death match" has spread in the community. It has become a media event, and even Snyder County Club is willing to close the course to other play in order to accomodate the spectators.

Terms of the event are sketchy. Both sides agree that Nunley-Duke have spotted the underdogs a stroke each hole. Robinson is still holding out for two strokes.

Setting the date seems to be the major obstacle. Nunley has agreed to play only when John Reed is out of town. "He's got a hex on me," Nunley complains.

Nunley's weekend golfing buddy, John Henry Boren, has entered the picture. "I have agreed to caddy for Rex, and I can assure you that I can rattle Nunley."

"It's a hype," says Nunley. "I've seen their cars parked behind the pro shop. They've been practicing and I suspect taking some private lessons."

It wouldn't surprise us if the winner isn't determined by a flip of a coin.

Mining of water is halted

WASHINGTON (AP) — A senior Reagan administration offical said today that the CIA halted the mining of Nicaraguan waters before the Senate formally opposed the action but added that Tuesday's non-binding vote may prevent its resumption.

The official, who spoke on condition he not be identified, said that the mining, carried out under CIA supervision, had been completed and that there was no "cause-and-effect" relationship between that move and the escalating criticism of the administration for the mining, widely held to be in violation of international law.

But the official did say that the furor and the 84-12 Senate vote against the mining might prevent its resumption.

Chernenko elected leader

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's 1,500-member Parliament today unanimously elected Konstantin U. Chernenko as the new Soviet president to succeed the late Yuri V. Andropov, Tass announced.

By adding the presidency, Chernenko now has assumed all three of the positions held by his predecessor.

Chernenko immediately took over the country's most powerful post, secretary general of the Communist Party, following Andropov's death Feb. 9. Later, Soviet sources said Chernenko had also taken over as chairman of the Defense Council.

Stolen pickup recovered

Snyder police on routine patrol Tuesday afternoon recovered a Toyota pickup reported stolen from Big Spring and arrested a 47-year-old suspect in the theft.

Local law enforcement agencies were notified of the Big Spring theft around 11:30 a.m. Local officers spotted the stolen vehicle parked in Winston Park around 2:30 p.m.

Police recovered the truck and arrested Ray Smith of Big Spring on a local charge of DWI and the auto theft charge from Howard County.

He is currently being held in the Scurry County Jail pending transfer to Big Spring.

Soviets may have back to back bumper crops

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new look by the Agriculture Department at the Soviet Union's 1984 harvest prospects points to a possibility of back-to-back bumper yields for the first time in six years.

But the department's Foreign Agricultural Service warned Tuesday that "good spring rains are sorely needed" to help wheat and other winter grain that was planted last fall. Most Soviet grain crops are planted in the spring.

Last year, the Soviet Union produced an estimated 195 million metric tons, the most since the record of 237.4 million tons in 1978, the last of three successive bumper grain harvests.

"Overall, prospects for the 1984 winter grain crop remain generally better than a year ago, but potentially serious problems exist in the eastern part of the winter wheat region," the report said.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'd like your opinion on articles that say a vasectomy may be linked to impotence. I'm 56 and have some difficulties with erections. I had a vasectomy in 1957 and had no problems until a few years ago.

Last year I was put on Inderal — 20 milligrams four times a day — for blockage of a small artery in the heart.

Could the impotence be from the medicine or from the vasectomy?

I haven't discussed my impotence with my doctor or a urologist. My wife is 32. I'm eagerly awaiting your response.

DEAR READER — The traditional thinking is that a vasectomy has no influence on a man's ability to have an erection or to enjoy sex. You may be interested to know that years ago a vasectomy was sometimes performed to improve a man's sex drive.

The study you read about is very preliminary and is neither large enough, nor does it involve the right kind of subjects, to support the conclusion that a vasectomy can or does cause impotence.

It was interesting because about one-third of the small group of impotent men studied had had vasectomies as many as 20 years earlier. In a group of clinical patients without impotence, only 10 percent had had vasectomies.

But the 30 impotent men were sick. Four were alcoholics. Another 16 had high blood pressure and were on medication. You can't draw any conclusions. A study with a larger population of men without many illnesses needs to be done to resolve the issue.

Inderal and many other high blood pressure medicines can cause impotence. Your dose isn't large, but you should discuss it with your doctor. He might want to try you on a different medicine.

There are many factors that can cause impotence. It deserves a careful medical evaluation as outlined in the Health Letter 18-6, Help for Impotence, which I'm sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I think I'm becoming a victim of anorexia nervosa, and I'm really worried. I've been vomiting food now for the past year. I eat everything in sight, then vomit. It's really awful. I've tried other ways to lose weight, but they don't work. I want to be skinny, but not scrawny. And I don't want to lose vitamins. Once last year I practically starved myself for two months, but didn't lose any weight.

I'm only 14 and I'd like to know how this is hurting my body. Do you think I should get professional help from a psychiatrist or will I outgrow it?

DEAR READER — Your obsession with thinness is disturbing. You're describing what has become known as bulimia. Whether you vomit the food you've eaten or don't eat it in the first place, it has about the same effect. But the vomiters often don't get as thin as the starvation victims.

Yes, it would be an important step to get professional counseling from a psychiatrist. You need to understand your obsession with excess thinness. You probably have a false image of yourself. Starvation or lack of nutritional requirements due to the vomiting can be quite harmful to a person's health — and even life-threatening.

Theater group stages plays

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP) — The play's the thing, and the quicker the better, according to a fledgling Scottish theater group performing all 37 of William Shakespeare's stage works non-stop in three or four days.

The Stage Dialogue claims its "Shakespearathon," which opened Monday with a production of "Macbeth" at Glasgow's Albany Hotel, is the first-ever continuous performance of all 37 of the Bard's plays.

America needs dreamers who are free to dream big dreams.

But we also need "doers," competent to put rivets in those dreams.

I first spoke on campus at Baylor University 25 years ago.

My notes from that earlier visit remind me that it, too, was a turbulent time.

Some would have considered it a "discouraging time."

Castro had taken over Cuba, confiscated our sugar mills.

There was anti-Semitic rioting in West Germany.

The president of Ceylon was assassinated.

President Eisenhower had invoked federal law to end a 100-day strike by steelworkers — and longshoremen struck.

Yet, against that backdrop of ferment and foreboding and with war looming, many in that audience and since have prospered themselves and us.

Baylor's entrepreneurship education — vocational, industrial, technical — a specific Center for Private Enterprise and Entrepreneurship — has been a launching pad for so many.

Four of Texas' top five elected officials are Baylor graduates — including Gov. Mark White.

But scores of national and international corporations have their roots on that campus.

Mister Businessman, I owe you an opology.

You put up the money to start the business which creates jobs for the rest of us.

You import the raw materials from wherever, devise salable products, advertise them and sell them.

You do all the accounting, pay taxes and all other operating expenses. You pay your employees 90 percent of the dollars that are left.

You assume all the risk, invest most of your profit in additional equipment, additional facilities, new research.

All of which creates more jobs, more productivity.

You pay out in taxes an amount three times what you pay yourself.

You businessmen and businesswomen create, work, provide jobs, goods, services.

You give more generously than anybody to churches, schools, foundations and charities of all sizes.

By any reasonable rationale, you should be the focus of a grateful nation's primary appreciation.

As a real public servant, public provider, you should be on the cover of Time and Newsweek. You should be heralded on CBS, NBC and ABC. You should be esteemed by government, by media and by your fellow man.

You seldom are.

For my part in a non-producing profession which prefers to pillory or ignore you — I apologize. I wish I could promise it's going to be different. I can't.

Parents are suing hospital

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — A couple whose newborn daughter was kidnapped by a woman posing as a nursery worker have sued John Sealy Hospital for $250,000, charging officials there with negligence, says their attorney, Jim Wimberly of Nederland.

Carolyn Haynes Lewis and Tommy Lewis of Beaumont filed the suit Monday in the July 1982 abduction of their daughter, Christina. The child was 4 days old when she was stolen.

Bonita Renee Johnson, 24, pleaded guilty to a kidnapping charge and began serving a four-year sentence in January.

One cure for finessitis

One very interesting squeeze is the kind played in lieu of a finesse. Declarer has no way to find out who has the queen of the key suit, but he can find out whether the player in back of his A-K-J has only two cards in the suit.

West starts proceedings for the defense by leading his partner's suit. East takes his ace and continues with the 10.

South is looking right at 11 tricks: five clubs, two diamonds, two hearts and two spades. There are squeeze possibilities in diamonds and hearts.

There is no hurry. South starts by cashing the ace and king of diamonds. Then he cashes one of dummy's hearts and runs off his five clubs and remaining spades. If he is alert, he will note that East held six spades, four clubs, two hearts and a diamond, and is still holding on to one heart and one spade. West started with seven diamonds, one spade, one club and four hearts. He has to hold one diamond and must come down to one heart.

Hence South knows that each opponent holds exactly one heart. The queen is sure to drop, and the squeeze has eliminated the need to finesse.

Dear Abby

Abused Daughter Fears Her Father's Revenge

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1984 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am a 21-year-old mother of three. My father started to abuse me sexually when I was 8, and he kept on until I was 14. I finally couldn't take it anymore, so I went to the police and my father was sent to prison for five years.

Now that he's out, he wants to see me. He wrote a letter saying that everything that happened was my fault, but now he's changed. I wrote back and told him that everything that happened was not my fault, it was his fault because an 8-year-old girl doesn't know enough about life to throw herself at a man—especially her own father. I also told him he was not welcome here and I never wanted to see him again.

Abby, he knows where I live and I'm afraid he will come after me for revenge. I have no phone, and if he ever came here and broke into my house, I'd be helpless. He's a mean and violent man.

I went to the district attorney and told him my story, and he said there was nothing he could do unless my father made the first move.

What should I do?

SCARED STIFF

DEAR SCARED: Unfortunately, the district attorney is correct. You may feel threatened, but unless your father actually threatens you, there is nothing you can do.

You may be overreacting. If your father really wanted to get revenge, he wouldn't have written to say that he wanted to see you; he would have visited by now.

If you can possibly afford a telephone, get one so that you can call for help in case of an emergency. If you live alone with your children, consider getting a boarder. A dog would also offer protection. You might want to take a course in self-defense.

If there's a women's group in your area, or a family crisis-intervention group, appeal to it for help.

Snyder vocational ag students do well at Canyon judging meet

Eleven Snyder High School vocational ag students placed in the top 10 individuals for their events Saturday in Caynon to pace the local students to two first places and the sweepstakes title in the annual West Texas State University judging contests.

Leading the team effort were grass judging team members Barry Byrd, Jayna Gilbert, Brian Sherrard and Connie Ray. The four member grass team won first place in that event and all four individuals placed in the top ten.

Byrd was high individual for the contest followed by Gilbert, Sherrard, and Ray who finished as 3rd, 4th and 5th high individuals respectively.

The three member SHS crops judging team composed of Robbi Merritt, Craig Kimbler, and Melody Schwarz also brought home a first place trophy with Merritt, Kimbler and Schwarz finishing as the 2nd, 3rd and 4th high individuals of the contest.

The range and pasture judging team of Guy Garrett, Pat Kohl, and Adam Brewster added to the team points for sweepstakes honors by placing third in their event.

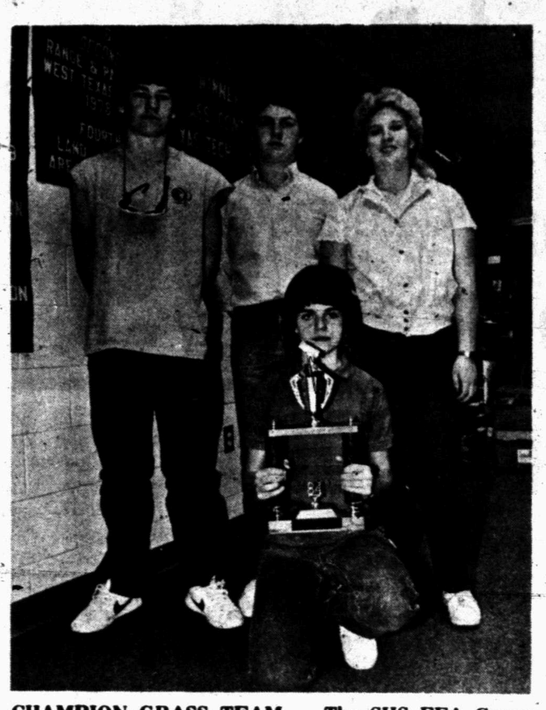
Brewster was the 5th high individual of the competition and Garrett joined him in the top ten finishing the contest as the 7th high individual.

Steve Lee led the SHS livestock team to a fourth place finish in that event. His individual score was good enough to place him as the high individual for the livestock judging.

Other members of the livestock team were Jeff Minor, Brent McFarland, and Mark Doty.

The SHS entry in the meats judging competition placed lowest of the five local teams in the competition but still added to the point totals by finishing fifth in their contest. Todd Pollard paced the meat judging effort finishing as the 8th high individual.

Other members of the meat judging team were Darren Fletcher, Jeff Featherston, and Amy Camp.



CHAMPION GRASS TEAM — The SHS FFA Grass judging team added to their already impressive list of contest wins for the year by taking the first place trophy in the WTSU judging contests Saturday. Team members are (from left) Barry Byrd, high individual for the contest, Brian Sherrard, 4th high individual, Connie Ray, 5th high individual and (kneeling) Jayna Gilbert, 3rd high individual. MEATS JUDGING COMPETITORS — Representing SHS in the meats judging contests at WTSU last weekend were (from left) Todd Pollard, Darren Fletcher, Jeff Featherston and (not pictured) Amy Camp. Pollard was the 8th high individual in the meet and led the squad to a fifth place finish. (SDN Staff Photo)

Mondale again emerges as front runner prospect

WASHINGTON (AP) — Only four weeks ago, Walter F. Mondale was a one-time front-runner reeling from a string of stunning setbacks by "longshot" Gary Hart and was desperately looking for victories to keep his campaign alive.

Today, it is Hart who is looking for victories and Mondale who is once again the front-runner.

With a series of big-state victories in the heartland of the Democratic Party, Mondale has fought his way back into undisputed first place in the race for the Democratic presidential nomination that will be awarded three months from now in San Francisco.

In Michigan, Illinois, New York, and now Pennsylvania, the former vice president soundly defeated Hart. Tuesday in the Keystone State, Mondale beat the Colorado senator with plenty to spare.

Perhaps more importantly for Mondale's financially limited campaign, he is widening his lead over Hart in terms of delegates. It is delegates, after all, who pick the nominee, and Mondale is now talking of perhaps wrapping it up before the convention opens.

"Now I have a chance to ... go into that convention, possibly with enough votes to assure the nomination," Mondale said after his victory.

The Republic of Turkey was proclaimed in 1923.

Four are indicted in conspiracy

LAREDO, Texas (AP) — An alleged conspiracy to smuggle two Mexican children into the United States and place them for adoption in return for money resulted in the indictments of four women, federal officials said.

San Juana "Cuca" Martinez-Lopez, Celestina "Celina" Rios-Rivera, Juanita Melendez-Calderon of Laredo and Nelda Karen Colwell of Salt Lake City, Utah, were indicted on five counts of conspiracy to smuggle undocumented children for purposes of placing them up for adoption, U.S. Attorney David Alvarez said Tuesday.

Seek sentence commutation

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — Prosecutors in Jefferson County have opted to ask a Texas prison agency to commute the death sentence of convicted killer Walter Bell to life in prison rather than retry a 10-year-old capital murder case.

Jury questioning resumes today in trial

SHERMAN, Texas (AP) — Attorneys expect to take two to three weeks to sift through a pool of about 200 prospective jurors in the trial of a man charged with killing four men at an ultralight aircraft hangar last year.

Prospective veniremen in the capital murder trial of Lester Leroy Bower Jr. were let go early Tuesday, the first day of questioning, because the presiding judge received word that his mother was ill.

State District Judge R.C. Vaughan recessed juror questioning shortly before 3 p.m. Tuesday, after being told about the condition of his mother, Anna R. Vaughan, who is suffering from congenital heart disease, a courthouse employee said.

Questioning was expected to resume at 9 a.m. today.

Bower, 36, has remained in the Grayson County Jail in lieu of $400,000 bond since his arrest in January.

Shuttle crew repairs craft

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Working in a repair shop where "the view is a little unreal," Challenger's space-walking astronauts replaced two defective electronic units on the the Solar Max satellite today.

The astronauts awaited word from Earth on whether the observatory is healthy enough to resume its study of the sun.

Astronauts George "Pinky" Nelson and James "Ox" van Hoften took turns working in a "cherry picker" on the end of the shuttle's robot arm to make the replacements while floating in the open cargo bay, 300 miles in space.

They had traveled 2 million miles to make their service call. It marked the first time that repair work was done on a satellite recovered in orbit.

Engineers on the ground began a remote checkout to determine if the fix-it astronauts had repaired Solar Max sufficiently to deposit it back into its own orbit on Thursday. The initial report from the ground: "All is looking optimistic."

The ailing solar satellite was berthed in the cargo bay Tuesday after it was snatched from orbit with one flex of the shuttle's 50-foot mechanical arm.

Astronaut Terry Hart operated the arm for that retrieval from a remote station inside the cabin. He was at the controls again today when the spacewalkers attached a work station, similar to a utility crews's "cherry picker," on the end of the arm.

Hart first maneuvered van Hoften on the end of the crane, positioning him in front of the 18-foot-tall Solar Max so he could remove a 4-foot-by-4-foot module containing a control system intended to point the satellite's instruments precisely at the sun.

"It's kind of tricky," van Hoften said. But he said his tools "really work slick" and in an hour he had removed the faulty module and replaced it with a new one. He used a power tool to extract and replace two large bolts that secure the unit to the satellite.

That completed the primary repair job. The rest was "frosting on the cake," according to the astronauts.

They had the panorama of space, Earth, moon and stars, calling the surroundings "breath-taking," the sunrise "just beautiful."

Van Hoften said the repair job was like working in the simulator on Earth, but "the view is a little unreal." With Challenger flying upside down, Nelson remarked: "I can look down and see the moon."

The second task, though less important, was more difficult. It required cutting through an insulation blanket, removing 36 tiny screws, severing some ties on electrical bundles — and putting the whole thing back together again.

Computer proposal discussed

If approved, at the elementary level the result would be 15 computer stations (12 CAI terminals and 3 microcomputers) at each elementary campus.

At the junior high, the result would be 28 computer stations (20 CAI terminals and 8 micros). The junior high now has 20 CAI terminals.

At Snyder High School, the result would be 22 computer stations (an additional 13 microcomputers over the current nine micros).

Tuesday's presentation was for discussion only.

School trustee Mike Reed asked Dr. Tom Scannicchio — who headed up the Computer Task Force — to come back to the board with additional figures showing "what we have to do and what we'd like to do."

During discussion, it was noted that the microcomputers are considerably more expensive than purchasing individual CAI terminals.

Although the expense involved is greater, Scannicchio said these independent systems were preferable over the purchase of the terminals.

The reason, he said, is that educational computer programs — called "software" — are primarily being designed for the smaller microcomputers. These use a single memory sheet — called a floppy disc — which plugs and unplugs into respective systems.

"For the kind of training we have to have," Scannicchio told the board, "to my knowledge the software doesn't exist which would be compatible to the larger computer systems."

By "larger systems," he referred to the IBM 34 and 36 "K" computers, which entail central memory systems which serve all the auxiliary computer terminals.

Such systems are currently in use here for business operations at the City of Snyder, Cogdell Memorial Hospital and Scurry County courthouse.

When campuses qualify, all students at the campus may use this equipment if they are one or more years behind in either reading or mathematics.

Regarding the overall recommendation made by the computer task force, equipment purchases comprise a large slice of these costs. These reflect the acquisition of both microcomputers — the stand-alone systems commonly called "home" computers — and CAI terminals. Such terminals plug into a larger central computer.

elementary level has been provided by a federal program — a plan that provided the district some $172,000 this school year and is expected to provide a like amount next school year.

These costs are not included in the task force's estimated expense of $330,000 for 1984-85.

Since the federal computer program is aimed primarily at economically disadvantaged students, the equipment has been placed at the only three Snyder campuses where a sufficient number of the student body qualifies under federal guidelines.

Allen Grimmett, who won place 6 on the school board with a write-in campaign, was sworn in, as was J.D. Hinton, who won a new three-year term to the board Saturday.

In addition, Hinton was elected new president of the school board. Mike Reed was named vice president of the board.

In other school business, trustees:

—Heard an initial report regarding core samplings being taken to determine the condition of the earth base under the high school track. Athletic Director David Noble said it appears now that cracks at the track have been caused due to a natural shrinkage in the surface area rather than subsurface problems.

—Discussed but took no action on a request for the board to oversee a scholarship to be established in memory of Alice M. Birdwell.

—Accepted the resignation of Phyllis Johnston, a teacher's aide at the Learning Skills Center.

—Granted a request from the Scurry County Extension Homemakers Clubs for the use of a school bus.

figure the county's share was $13,975. Reimbursement for foster care from the state was $26,903.

Gordon Musick, state child placement specialist, echoed Mrs. Prince's statement that a shelter for abused teenage girls is needed in Scurry County. Funds spent on out-of-county care for county foster children could be spent in county if such a facility were located here, he said.

Foster homes are hard to find for teenagers, said Winona Curfman, who heads the foster care program in this area.

"Most of these children have been hurt by adults so they do not want to be close to their foster parents," she explained. "They actually do better in a group situation such as a home for teenagers," she said.

Problems arise because these teenagers don't want to be nurtured by their foster parents, "they don't want that closeness."

According to Curfman, many couples are willing to take teenagers into their homes but then they very quickly back out when they begin to realize all the difficulties involved.

Of 23 foster homes in seven counties, Curfman said only four families are at present willing to take teenagers. Thus many Scurry teens have to be sent to out-of-county foster homes or facilities.

Price explained that SCOOP's present goal is to raise $100,000 to establish a Friendship House in Scurry County. The organization's long range goals also include a home for abused and neglected teenage boys and a shelter for battered wives.

With the support of the community, she said anything could be accomplished.

Donations to SCOOP may be made to accounts established at First National Bank, West Texas State Bank, Snyder National Bank and Snyder Savings and Loan.

In addition to funds, Price told the audience that they need volunteers as well as donations of materials.

Mickey Mouse is translated into Latin

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Mickey Mouse and Goofy in the official newspaper of the Vatican?

There they were Monday perking up the usually staid pages of the L'Osservatore Romano.

The drawings illustrated a long article about a recently published comic book of Mickey Mouse's adventures translated into Latin.

A figure of Mickey scampering across the L'Osservatore Romano page said in Latin "Now without any delay turn the page."

The newspaper said the figure was taken from the comic book "Michael Musculus," the Latin-language version of the cartoon character who has delighted hundreds of millions worldwide.

The article noted that other Latin-language comic books, including one with the adventures of Walt Disney character Donald Duck, are helping maintain interest in the language of the ancient Romans.

L'Osservatore Romano, in addition to printing church news, also carries general news and reports on culture.

In five innings...

Tigers blast Mustangs, 16-0

ANDREWS – Snyder's Tigers took a major step in the District 2-4A baseball race here Tuesday as they bridled the Mustangs of Andrews in five innings, 16-0.

The win gives the league-leading Tigers a two-run cushion over the highly-touted Mustangs, now 2-2 in district play, who had come into the game with a 17-2 season record.

Snyder, 12-5 and 4-0, will return home to entertain Monahans at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Tuesday's contest was in sharp contrast to Andrews' 3-0 win over Snyder back on March 16 when senior hurler Omar Trevino handcuffed the Tigers to only one hit. Armed with a .329 batting average this time, the Tigers blasted the right-hander off the hill with a six-run third inning.

"We thought we could beat them but not like that," said Coach Albert Lewis, whose Tigers got an unofficial 13 hits in the contest. "We got our (batting) machine set on the curve ball this week and worked hard. It paid off."

The Tigers also got no-error fielding and another fine performance from pitcher Paul Tate, who gave up only two hits.

"Paul gave a super effort. In 15 innings all he's given up has been that two-run homer (against Pecos)," added Lewis.

Snyder got out in front 1-0 in the top of the first inning when Bobby Velasquez singled, stole second, took third on a fielder's choice and was knocked home by Chris Sanders' hit down the third base line.

The game stayed 1-0 until the third when Snyder began to judge Trevino's curve ball with accuracy. First-up Willie Greathouse struck out, but Chad Peterson drew a walk and Velasquez rapped a single. Charles Bollinger then delivered a shot to centerfield that drove in Peterson. Sanders followed with a grounder that appeared to be an out but the throw got away from first-sacker George Ramirez to score Velasquez, and the Tigers were in full stride.

Designated hitter Justin Webb lashed a single that pushed Bollinger across, 4-0, and when Trevino hit Norman Malone with a pitch, the bases were stacked. Next-up Eddie McClure rapped a basehit to bring in Sanders, and that was all for Trevino, who was replaced by Shay Morris.

Morris got William Cotton to fly out but Webb took the opportunity to beat the throw home, adding another Tiger run. Snyder got a seventh score when Greathouse came up for the second time in the inning. He belted a single to drive in Malone. The Mustangs got Greathouse at second base on the play, finally ending - temporarily - the Tiger blitz.

The key to the game may have come in the bottom of the inning when Trevino and Ramirez delivered back-to-back singles with one out. A wild pitch moved the runners to second and third, but Tate struck out Manuel Torres for the next out and got Morris to pop up to third baseman Sanders.

Snyder put itself in a position to win by the 10-run rule in the fourth stanza. Walks to Peterson and Bollinger and a single from Sanders loaded the bases before Webb slapped a two-run shot. Malone then walked to reload the bags and McClure followed with another two-run single.

Snyder scored five more runs before Andrews could quell the uprising. Malone scored when Greathouse walked; errors brought McClure and Cotton home; and Greathouse and Peterson tallied on a two-run single by Bollinger.

Tate gave up four walks in the bottom of the inning, but a double play - Sanders to Bollinger to Malone - took care of two outs. Tate fanned Rene Trevino for the final out.

Unofficially, Snyder got 13 hits and seven walks. Andrews got only two hits and took a base-on-balls five times.

Andrews will try to regroup Friday when they entertain Lamesa at 7:30 p.m.

Monahans edges Fort Stockton, 8-6

Snyder stunned Andrews, Monahans entered the win column and Lamesa and Pecos were blown out - literally - in District 2-4A baseball Tuesday.

Snyder increased its loop mark to 4-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Paul Tate to blank Andrews 16-0 in five innings. The Tigers slammed 13 basehits. Omar Trevino, 7-3, took the loss in only two and one-third innings of work.

The win gives Snyder a seven-game winning string and a 12-5 record. Andrews falls to 17-3 and 2-2 in district play.

Blowing dust caused Lamesa and Pecos to cancel their game in Lamesa Tuesday. They will attempt to square off again at 4 p.m. Thursday. Pecos is 2-1 in 2-4A play while Lamesa is 1-2.

A Lamesa win Thursday would give Snyder a two-game lead on the rest of the district contenders.

In other play Tuesday, Monahans edged Fort Stockton 8-6 to pick up its first district win of the season. Both the Loboes and Eagles are now 1-3 in loop play. Trey Ford was the winning pitcher.

Friday's action will complete the first round of conference play. Snyder hosts Monahans while Lamesa treks to Andrews and Pecos entertains Fort Stockton. All three games are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. starts.

Pearson given okay to play again in 1984

DALLAS (AP) - He was 20 pounds underweight and looked gaunt. He was winded by a mere two block walk.

Drew Pearson, the greatest receiver in Dallas Cowboy history, was back Tuesday from his tragic ordeal, but he was far from being healed physically or mentally.

"In two or three months I should be fully healed, but there is no time limit on how I overcome my mental anguish," said Pearson.

Doctors gave Pearson, an 11-year veteran, the OK to play in 1984 and he announced he will give it his best shot.

Pearson suffered liver damage March 22 in an automobile accident that killed his brother, Carey. Drew was released from a hospital late last week.

"I have lacerations to my liver but the doctors said it should be fully healed in two or three months. The liver is an amazing organ that has the ability regenerate," Pearson said. "My doctor said I'm capable of playing football."

Pearson, tired from a long trip to Oklahoma by the Dallas Basketball Hoopster team, fell asleep at the wheel of a car that slammed into the back of a tractor-trailer rig late at night.

"I remember getting on the freeway but I don't remember much until the impact of the crash," Pearson said.

Pearson said he would dedicate the season to his brother.

"I have a personal committment to carry on for my brothers' (Carey) name," he said. "I believe I can overcome the physical problems by late September. I have to work things out contractually with the club."

Pearson is in the option year of his contract.

He said he was so thin right now "that I'd hate to have to get onto a pair of scales. I've got a birdcage chest to go with my bird legs."

Pearson said he was still going through mental anguish.

"I had tough nights in intensive care and couldn't sleep," Pearson said. "When I did sleep I had nightmares. I've been going through a lot.

"My faith in God and my mother's strength and her faith in God have pulled me through. I survived the wreck for a purpose. It was God's will."

Pearson said he talked to Coach Tom Landry and told him he wanted to come back.

NTSU grabs Larry Banks

Two-time All-Region 5 player Larry Banks has singed a letter of intent with North Texas State University.

The Western Texas College standout inked the pact this morning, witnessed by NTSU assistant Jim Vaszauskas. Tommy Newman is the Eagles' head coach.

"We feel like Larry will be a strong asset to our program," said Vaszauskas. "We're really happy to have him."

Banks, 6-5, was two-time all-conference and all-region for the Westerners. He was the Region V Tournament Most Vaulable Player and took sportsmanship and all-tournament awards at the NJCAA National Tournament this year.

"I feel like I can go to North Texas and have a chance to further my basketball ability and my education," said Banks, who averaged 14.7 points and 7.1 rebounds a game as a sophomore. "I really like the location of the school. It's in a nice area, a nice environment," added Banks, a physical education major who aspires to coach basketball someday.

North Texas State was 9-19 this season. Said Coach Vaszauskas, "We (the present staff) got in there a week after the signing date last year so we didn't get a chance to recruit much and we lost 75 percent of our starters. We've had the opportunity to recruit this year and with people like Larry, we're looking forward to a better future."

Butler to play for St. Louis

Melroy Butler, dubbed "Chocolate Thunder" by his Western Texas College teammates, signed a letter of intent this morning with St. Louis University.

Butler, who became eligible to play at midseason, averaged 8 points and 6 rebounds for the Region 5 champion Westerners who posted a fifth-place finish in the NJCAA National Tournament this season.

"When I visited St. Louis, they stressed education. Their coach (Rich Grawer) is concerned about players graduating and I think that's the most important thing," said the 6-8 communications major from Buffalo, NY. "I also like the caliber of ball they play there. I've always dreamed of playing in a good Division I school and now I've got the opportunity and I want to take advantage of it."

Butler signed before assistant coach Lee Winfield, who said, "We were impressed with Melroy's ability and size. Most definitely he'll be an asset to our program immediately. Our philosophy is not to bring in a junior college player unless we feel he can start. I feel like Melroy can."

St. Louis competes in the Midwestern City Conference along with Oral Roberts, Oklahoma City, Xavier and other schools. The 1983-84 squad was 12-16 after going 5-23 the previous year.

Dribblers will host tournament Thursday

The Boy's Little Dribblers Regional Tournament begins Thursday in the Snyder High School Gym.

Tournaments in both the minor league and major league will be played.

Action begins at 1 p.m. between Levelland minor leaguers and Kermit. It will be followed at 2:15 with a minor league game between Levelland and Lamesa.

Snyder's minor league team will play Brownfield at 4:45 p.m., followed at 6 by a game between the Lamesa minors and the winner of the Levelland-Kermit game.

Snyder's Major League team will play Kermit at 7:15 p.m. Thursday's final game will start at 8:30 and be played between Brownfield majors and winner of the Levelland-Lamesa game.

Should Snyder minors lose Thursday, they will play again at 1 p.m. Friday in the double-elimination tournament. A win Thursday would put them on the floor at 4:45 Friday.

Snyder majors will play at 2:15 Friday if they lose and at 7:15 if they win.

Members of the Snyder Major League All-Stars are Art Casias, Jason West, Joe Martinez, Randy Morris, John Griffin, Toby Goodwin, Marcus Greene, Jay Parker, Brandon Martin, Chad Phillips and Willie Thompson.

Minor league all-stars are Bill Vestal, Grant Jordan, David Hinojos, Kory Clark, Tory Garza, Marc Byerly, Eric West, Eric Braziel, Steven Bollinger, Raymond Ware and Marcus Best.

Millions demonstrate for direct elections

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — An estimated 1 million demonstrators jammed into the city center for a rally demanding direct presidential elections. An opposition leader called it the largest political protest in Brazil's history.

The rally Tuesday in this city of 5 million was the latest and largest in a series of demonstrations across the country pushing for direct election of the president, which was abolished by the military regime that seized power 20 years ago.

Demonstrators packed the final five blocks of the 12-lane President Vargas Avenue leading to a speaker's platform in front of the Candelaria Roman Catholic church.

State police Col. Vidal da Silveira Barros, in charge of crowd control, estimated the crowd at 1 million and called it "a record."

The nation's most important elected opposition figures attended the rally, including Leonel Brizola, governor of Rio de Janeiro state, whose administration helped organize the demonstration. He had appeared on television beforehand to promote the rally and arranged free public transportation to the city center.

Brizola, a member of the socialist-oriented opposition Democratic Labor Party, called the rally "the biggest political demonstration in Brazilian history."
