Snarling And Short-Tempered Young Woman Confesses That She Killed Robbery Victim

(By The United Press)

LAKE CHARLES, La., Feb. 19 — Cooped up in jail today was a snarling, short-tempered young woman who had twice confessed, authorities said, to the brutal and needless slaying of the man she had made the victim of a robbery.

She had identified herself as Tonie Henry and Sheriff Henry A. Reid described her as "fierce." Five feet six inches tall, handsome in a swarthy way, she told Reid about the killing and about having slugged her male accomplice because he had been too "yellow" to rob a bank, but was too bashful to tell her story to a coroner's jury.

The victim was Joseph P. Calloway, 41, of Houston, a tire salesman. Last Wednesday he picked up two hitch-hikers, a man and a woman, near Orange, Tex. Following Mrs. Henry's direction, authorities found his naked body under a haystack 12 miles south of here

Twenty Soviet Airplanes Are Brought Down

Large Quantities Of Supplies Also Captured; Air Activity Is Greatest Of The War

(By The Associated Press)

HELSINKI, Feb. 19.—The red army's 18th division, swollen to 18,000 men by reinforcements, was reported by the Finnish high command today to have been surrounded and "annihilated" near Syskyjarvi, 15 miles from the Russian frontier northeast of Lake Ladoga.

The Finns said about all of 18,000 were killed or taken prisoner.

(No mention was made by the Finnish communique of Russia's announcement of further penetration of the Mannerheim defense line along the Karelian isthmus, and isolation of an important pivotal fort at Koviasto, western terminus of the line).

Reduced Piece By Piece

The Finns said "piece by piece" fighting reduced the red army division—the same one which unofficial reports Feb. 6 said had been wiped out.

A Finnish army headquarters representative at that time denied that the Russian division had been destroyed and said the report arose because the 18th was cut off from its supplies and the Russian advance stalled northeast of Ladoga.

The battle zone is north of Lake Ladoga and about 55 miles from the Mannerheim line fighting south of the lake.

Others Are Wiped Out

Danish and British reports on Feb. 6 had said that the division had been wiped out. It was said then to be one of five red army divisions fighting to thrust around the lake and outflank Finland's strong defense fortifications strung across the isthmus.

Two other Russian divisions—the 163rd and 44th—have been wiped out during the Russian-Finnish war, the Finns declare. Both of them were reported from fronts farther north.

Today's communique, reporting that 20 Russian planes had been shot down, said Soviet attacks along the bitterly contested isthmus front had been thrown back from the Finns' "new position."

This apparently referred to fresh positions taken up after Russian penetrations into the band of for-

Story Of Daring Air Rescue In Snow-Covered Alaska Is Told; Trapped Pilot Found

(By The Associated Press)

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Feb. 19—The story of a daring aerial rescue by pilots who landed their planes in a tiny clearing amid the forests of a snow-covered mountainside was added today to Alaska's record of remarkable aviation feats.

The story began when Capt. Benton W. (Steve) Davis crashed Friday in a civil aeronautics authority plane he was flying from Anchorage to Valdez, Alaska. His vertebrae was fractured, his kidneys injured and one foot pinioned by a crumpled panel of the wrecked ship.

Both of his feet froze as he lay imprisoned in the wreckage. Finally he shot the panel away from his foot with a heavy service pistol, crawled from the plane and built a smoke fire.

Kenneth Neese, one of a squadron of searching pilots, saw the signal Saturday. Unable to land his big plane on the precipitous mountainside, Neese summoned two smaller ships.

Gren Collins piloted his toy-like plane into an open space scarcely 75 feet long. The hillside was so steep he and his companion, Clarence Rhode, had to jump immediately from the cockpit and prop the plane to keep it from sliding down the mountain. Dick Miller repeated Collins' performance with a ski-equipped ship.

A half-mile away they found

Industrial Aid And Balanced Budget Urged

Eleven Guiding Principles Are Offered For Probable Use In Platform During Campaign

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Recommendations for aiding American industry and achieving a balanced budget in 1942 were contained today in 11 "guiding principles" offered the Republican party for possible inclusion in its national platform.

Reporting on a two-year survey, a special program committee of more than 200 Republicans pictured the New Deal as "misunderstanding economic America" and falling into "fatalism of outlook."

Are Merely Advisory

There is no indication whether the proposals actually will be incorporated in the platform, since they are merely advisory and since creation of the program committee—headed by Dr. Glenn Frank—was attended by disagreement among party leaders.

The report, labeled "a program for a dynamic America," outlined these general principles:

1. The United States should keep out of war through a "tight rein on our emotions" and "scrupulous neutrality."

2. Defense forces should be sufficient to protect the western hemisphere from aggression.

Should Approve Pacts

3. Reciprocal trade agreements should be approved by both houses of Congress. (Republican congressmen are seeking to require only Senate ratification).

4. The national labor relations act should be amended and the administrative and judicial functions of the labor board separated.

5. The farm program should try to increase interchange of farm and city goods by better correlation of prices.

6. Private enterprise should be encouraged by "protective" rather than "restrictive" government regulation of business.

Should Reduce Spending

7. A 20 per cent reduction in federal spending "should not be too difficult," and coupled with a higher national income, should bring a balanced budget in 1942.

8. Higher surtax rates on individual incomes should be cut; certain business levies should be abolished; future federal and state bonds should be taxed.

9. The president's emergency monetary powers should be repeal-

Donahey Will Not Enter As Favorite Son

Senator Declares Acceptance Would Be Subterfuge; Way Is Cleared For Garner Drive

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Declaring "acceptance would be subterfuge," Senator Donahey refused today to be Ohio's favorite son candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The senator had been endorsed for the nomination by the state central and executive committees which, however, went on record as favoring renomination of President Roosevelt if Mr. Roosevelt desires it.

Wanted Favorite Son

Some advocates of a third term had been hopeful Donahey would run as a favorite son, and then, if Mr. Roosevelt were a candidate again, that the Ohio delegation would be turned over to the chief executive.

Spokesman for Vice President Garner have indicated he might enter his name in the Ohio primary in May if Donahey were not a candidate.

Garner, it was reported, had promised Donahey he would not go into the primary if the senator were a candidate. Donahey's refusal thus cleared the way for his entrance in the race.

People Should Choose

The vice president consistently has argued the people should be given every opportunity to vote on the aspirants for the Democrat president nomination.

Donahey and the vice president have held several recent conferences regarding the Ohio situation.

While the presidential races quickened following selection of national convention dates, a vigorous policing of 1940 elections by a special Senate committee was promised today by Senator Gillette (D-Ia).

He called an organization meeting of the four other senators ap-

Fire Credit Of 20 Per Cent In City

A good fire record credit of 20 per cent on fire insurance in Lubbock during 1940 was announced this morning by the state fire insurance commission in Austin, according to an Associated Press dispatch to The Evening Journal.

The credit compares with 15 per cent last year.

Saving Of $43,027

The rating, according to estimates in Austin, will mean saving of approximately $43,027 for policyholders here.

The savings is approximately $10,000 more than would have been the case had the credit remained 15 per cent.

The new rating, officials said, restores the credit that Lubbock enjoyed for several years prior to 1939. The credit for that year was reduced because of heavy losses in two fires during 1938.

Maximum 25 Per Cent

The maximum credit which can be allowed by the board is 25 per cent.

Guy Casey, city fire marshal, expressed the opinion that if Lubbock escapes heavy losses this year, the prospect of obtaining the maximum credit for 1941 will be extremely bright.

Ratings for several other towns of the area also were announced by the commissioner in Austin.

They were, with the estimated effect on insurance premium payments in the various localities:

Twenty-five per cent credits—Levelland, $4,293; Lockney, $1,751; Lorenzo, $1,931; Morton, $1,573; Muleshoe, $1,788.

Twenty per cent—Littlefield, $7,441.

Fifteen per cent—Matador, $1,058.

Ten per cent—Meadow, $1,103.

Fifteen per cent charge—Lamesa, $9,876 charge.

Sale Of Bonds Set Tuesday

Inquiries have been received from more than 60 prospective bidders concerning the $550,000 in city bonds scheduled for sale at a special meeting of the city commission Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock, according to information given at the city hall this morning.

The number was described as being by far the largest ever to evidence such interest in a sale of city obligations.

Many Centers Represented

The inquiries, officials said, have come by telegraph, telephone, mail and in person. Represented among them are bond buyers from most of the larger financial centers of the nation.

City officials were without information as to how many actually will submit bids. All of those making inquiry, however, were supplied with blanks on which to submit any proposals they desire. As a usual thing, officials explained, most of the bids are held back until the deadline, which will be 7:30 p. m.

Information likewise was entirely lacking as to the interest rate

Super-Highways To Get House Hearing

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 — Superhighways criss-crossing the nation—with renewed emphasis on their possible use in national defense plans—have become a subject for congressional discussion again.

Representative Snyder (D-Pa.) dropped his highway bill into the House hopper again — then immediately obtained House agreement that he should be permitted to discuss the plan on the House floor next week.

Others Introduced

Presentation of Snyder's bill (HR8503) completed the list of such measures pending before several recent sessions of Congress. Rpresentative Randolph (D-WVa) previously had introduced his trio of highway bills (HR116, 115 and 2754).

All of the measures contemplate construction of north-south and east-west highways on which cars could travel at unlimited speeds. Each would have wide lanes, would eliminate intersections and skirt towns and cities to avoid "local traffic."

Disapproval Voiced

Disapproval of the bureau of public roads was voiced last year in a report on the proposals which held that there was insufficient trans-

President Now Is In Pacific

(By The United Press)

ABOARD THE DESTROYER LANG, Feb. 19.—President Roosevelt moved south into the Pacific aboard the cruiser Tuscaloosa today after an inspection of the Canal Zone's Atlantic defenses and discussing "contemplated improvements" with military and civilian officials.

It was believed he planned to fish near the Pearl islands, 40 miles off Balboa.

The president was impressed with the reinforcement of France field with heavy bombers. His inspection tour started soon after he arrived at the Atlantic entrance yesterday morning. He indicated that he would inspect the Pacific defenses on his return.

New Lock System

The major "contemplated improvement" is the $277,000,000 auxiliary lock system, to provide the nation's "life line" with an emergency passageway in event the present dual locks are damaged.

Soldiers with bayonetted rifles lined strategic roads traversed by the president.

The president drove through lines of army and navy troops in the defense areas and inspected the site of a proposed $362,000,000 defense construction. He did not visit the site of the contemplated auxiliary locks.

New Highway Is Designated

Designation of a new state highway in Gaines, Dawson and Lynn counties was authorized by the state highway commission this morning, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Austin.

The new designation extends from highway 51 at or near Seagraves to highway 87 at or near O'Donnell. The road will serve the most extensively developed area in the new South Plains oil fields.

The dispatch said the state highway engineer was directed to proceed with the location of surveys and the preparation of right-of-way deeds in order that they may be turned over to the counties involved.

Highways 51 and 87 extend north and south. The new highway will extend from the west veering slightly toward the northeast.

Search For Missing Autos Is Conducted Over Area Today

The South Plains public Sunday and today began poking about in search of missing automobiles that had been abandoned in deep snow drifts of countless highways.

Stories began drifting in telling of many machines being located miles from where they had been left.

In some instances persons shoved them ahead of their own cars—in order to get out themselves.

In other instances, trucks, tractors and other road equipment of the highway department moved them.

A bottling company truck was reported found at Cedar Hill. Drivers at first had been reported missing. They obtained assistance and left the truck with ignition keys in it. Someone came along, started the truck and managed to get it "all the way out of the way" to Cedar Hill.

Several other motorists called peace enforcement authorities to inform them their machines had been accounted for.

C. M. Finley of 2303 Eighth street reported different luck.

Smart Woman Gets In Shape Now For Easter Outfit

Checks Up On Figure, Hair

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

It isn't too early to begin thinking about the way you firmly intend to look in your Easter outfit. The smart woman worries about her figure before she buys a spring suit instead of during the shopping spree.

She gets her hands in perfectly lovely condition long before starting to look for new gloves. From now until time to buy an Easter bonnet, she works to make her hair shiny, healthy and beautiful. Then when, with the hat in hand, she goes to her hairdresser to talk about a new coiffure, he'll have pliable, elastic hair to work with — rather than dry, dull, lifeless-looking locks.

She goes on a sane diet now instead of a radical, fad diet to lose weight quickly later. She simply eats a little less of everything on every menu instead of cutting out several items. She knows that if she consumes fewer calories than her body burns up per day that she will lose weight. There's no compromising with that fact unless there is something organically wrong—in which case medical, not beauty advice, is needed.

Rolls Away The Bulges

She does exercises in the spot-reducing category. She rolls to take weight off her hipline. She bends, stretches, twists and turns and bends again to make her waistline small. To make her stomach flat, she lies on the floor and, keeping ankles together, lifts legs slowly upward as far as possible, then lowers them just as slowly, meanwhile keeping hands above head.

She takes a brisk walk every day. She does posture exercises now and then to eliminate the hollow in the center of her backbone, to make stomach flat, chest high and shoulders square but perfectly relaxed.

She scrubs her face with soap and water at least once a day and occasionally uses a half-water and half-lemon juice bleach to remove the grayish tone that winter has left in her complexion. She uses night cream every night, a mask treatment once a week, hand lotions and creams several times a day.

Not until the complexion treatments, the sensible diet, the exercises and the daily walk have had a chance to improve the texture and tone of her skin does she shop for new makeup. She knows that her new powder must match her natural skin tones. She has no intention of having to forego buying one of the new rosy, glowing shades of powder because her complexion is grayish.

FOR INSTANCE, TAKE BEAVER — Dache did and made a big squashy bag and toque to wear with it as midwinter spice to a plain black frock. Notice the veil drape.

Arriving in Lubbock this morning, the company of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo began preparations for presentation of matinee and night programs in Lubbock.

Only city in Texas in which two programs will be presented by the company is Lubbock. The organization appeared three weeks in the Metropolitan opera house in New York and recently presented 10 performances in Los Angeles.

One of the largest, if not the largest, and the highest paid dance organization on tour in this country, the Ballet Russe has attracted large crowds in cities in which it has appeared, said R. A. Mills, Texas Technological college artist course chairman.

Students and town persons with season tickets were to attend the matinee performance at 3:15 o'clock in Senior High school auditorium. Tickets are being sold for tonight's performance at 8 o'clock, to be presented at the high school.

"Ghost Town" Offered

"Ghost Town", an American folk ballet to be presented tonight, had its premiere only three months ago during the company's season at the Metropolitan. As the curtain rises, two young hikers peer wonderingly at the eerie desolation of a "ghost town". They find an old mining prospector and as he tells the town's history, the scene changes to a roaring mining town in the Sierras, with youngsters playing and harmonica music that sets "Old Pancake" dancing. The story will be carried forward to the time the residents flee the town.

"Le Lac Des Cygnes," choregraphic poem in one act, with music by Tschaikowsky, has as principal characters Alexandra Danilova as the queen of the swans, Andre Eglevsky as Prince Siegfried, Roland Guerard as the prince's friend, and Roy Milton as "the evil genius."

"Spectre de la Rose," scheduled tonight with Nini Theilade as the young girl and Igor Youskevitch as the rose, is set to Weber's "Invitation to the Dance."

Dance Becomes General

"Capriccio Espagnol", ballet in one scene by Leonide Massine, with Rimsky-Korsakoff music, will show the peasants, hidalgos and dons out in high spirits for a fair. The crowd watches the fortune-telling gypsies dance a fiery "buleria," which ignites the peasants and "majas" until the dance becomes general and the couples swing into a frenzied "jota."

The matinee program was to include "Les Sylphides" (Chopin), "Bontique Fantasque" (Rossini), "Blue Bird" (Tschaikowsky) and "Gaite Parisienne" (Offenbach).

There are 65 dancers in the company of 125.

Massine is the artistic director, choregrapher, principal dancer and ballet master. Ballerinas include Alexandra Danilova, Alicia Markova and Mia Slavenska.

A 20-piece orchestra is to be directed by Franz Allers.

All seats will be reserved tonight. Prices are $1.25, $1.50 and $2. They may be purchased at the college bookstore, Bowen's drug store at 1021 Broadway, Hilton hotel, and tonight at the auditorium.

RELIGIOUS WEEK

LAMESA, Feb. 19 — Rev. Rodney D. Glasscock, pastor of the First Christian church in Lamesa, and secretary of the Dawson county Ministerial Alliance, announced plans last week for Religious week at the CCC camps in the city from Monday through Friday, Feb. 23.

SAVING YOUR DISHES

Be careful, when stacking your best china and glassware, not to pile them too high. To keep the articles from scratching you had better put soft paper napkins between each. Heavy glass dishes usually are too heavy to be stacked on china dishes. And take care not to break the handles of the cups against the sides of the closet. Careful handling will save the dishes.

TO SOFTEN FLANNELS

If flannels feel rather hard after laundering instead of soft and fluffy as they should, wash them again in a bland soapsuds to which a teaspoonful of glycerine has been added. Then rinse in a mild borax solution of the same temperature as the suds bath and dry without wringing.

Chinese consider reading in the bath unpardonable because "the written language, having been invented by a saint, Chong, Chieh, is sacred, and because it is composed after the style of the Great Sage, Confucius," says a Chinese columnist. Reading in bed, he adds, is also considered improper, though it is not quite so serious an offense as reading in the bath.

Your Eyes Should Be On Time Budget For Daily Beauty Preparations Routine

Five minutes spent like this, with pads soaked in ice water over eyes, is fine for relaxing tired lids.

By BETTY CLARKE
Associated Press Feature Writer

Are your eyes on your time budget for your daily beauty preparations? Artists and beauty authorities, you know, say the eyes have it.

Pads soaked in ice water and placed over the eyes for five minutes, especially before you go out in the evening after a busy day, will have a relaxing effect—that means eyes that are brighter because they are less tired.

If your eyes get tired during the day, give them a break. Take time out to get an eyecup and wash your eyes with salt water (just a little salt, enough to make the water taste like a tear). An eyewash morning and evening is a good habit, too.

At work you may relieve your eyes by turning from your task for a few seconds and blinking rapidly, or just closing your eyes for a few seconds.

Perhaps you feel that the shadows under your eyes are too deep. There's a special eye tissue cream on the market now to help that. Remember that the tissues just beneath the eyes are very sensitive; you can help tissues by regular lubrication skin gets lined more quickly than well-lubricated skin.

Alibi Habit Called Curse For Nation

By HARRY L. FRIDMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Feb. 19—America's greatest curse is a theory advanced by "long-faced economists and long-faced psychiatrists" that its people are victims of circumstance, according to Dr. James Dixon Ryan Fox, Union college president.

High school and college students are likely to develop defeatism attitudes or are tempted to consider lines of least resistance in carving careers when they are confronted with the "as God wills" fatalists, the educator believes.

"Anything that saps the sense of individual responsibility will rot the American character," he said. "With rare exceptions one's individual future is in his own hands. The person who tells a youth he is the creature of circumstances is doing him no favor."

Success Isn't Passive

Success comes of taking the bull by the horns, Dr. Fox said.

"The typical American in times past has manhandled circumstances, and you've got to do it now.

"The greatest curse that has come upon us is a theory that we are all victims of something or other," he said.

"Profanity is stupid and offensive, but I confess I feel a strong temptation to swear when I read the various long catalogues of reasons why young men cannot succeed in these times. You will notice that the remedies, if any can be found, are always external to yourself."

Stripped of excess verbiage and listed tersely, the educator showed the reasons-why-a-young-man-cannot-succeed as ridiculous sedatives.

False Premises Scored

"One is told he can change his situation only by voting in a certain political party—in other words, by having the rules changed," he said, "or by having an operation on one's glands.

"You are told that there are many things that could not be changed, even then, notably, your low intelligence quotient — as if mental power never grew with use."

The single therapy and the one that counts most is quite neglected —application of one's own will, Dr. Fox believes.

"Every man can improve if he really wants to. Every man can succeed if he keeps wanting to hard enough."

He hastened to explain that he did not mean mere velleity, a willingness to improve, but a will to improve "that must express itself."

"Don't waste time thinking up alibis," he concluded.

Two years ago Fair gave up his job teaching elementary school and came here to obtain a B. S. degree to enable him to teach in high school.

Greece Builds New Economy

ATHENS, Feb. 19 (U.P.) — Greece has enjoyed political peace for six months now and thousands of citizens are keeping their fingers crossed lest it end all too soon.

The government has abolished political struggles and strikes. Many leaders of the Communist party are in jail or internment camps. The freedom of many of these prisoners depends on their signing a declaration of allegiance to the new regime. Widespread arrests, it is said, and seizure of secret wireless station and printing shops have disrupted the Communistic organization.

One of the most important diplomatic events in recent months has been the improvement of Greco-Italian relations which assumed a concrete form in the exchange of notes between the two countries last September. Another important development was the guarantee given to Greece by England and France.

Safety In Pacts

These new events added to the already existing Balkan pact and the Greco-Turkish alliance, constitute for Greece a solid frame of safety against the new war in Europe.

The war has had a serious effect on export trade, especially tobacco, currants an dsultanas on which Greek economy relies considerably. Germany, which was Greek's most valuable tobacco customer has ceased buying. Although France has begun to buy some tobacco since the outbreak of war and Britain may become a possible purchaser, large quantities are expected to remain unsold. The government plans to face this problem by restricting tobacco cultivation during 1940.

Ever since the war was declared, the Greek government has taken measures to intensify agricultural production. Cereals, grapes, olives and cotton are the chief products aimed to make Greece even more self-sufficient.

Industry is constantly being advanced, especially textiles, weaving, soap, paper and foodstuffs generally. Greece hopes to increase exports to the Balkan countries. The war has made it difficult for other European nations to supply them.

War also gave fresh impetus to the already prosperous Greek shipping which represents an important branch of the national economy. The Greek merchant marine totals approximately 1,900,000 tons occupying ninth place in world mercantile fleets. What profits will be lost because of the war are hoped to be almost wholly regained by increased revenues in shipping.

GETS JAIL TERM—Once rated among the ten foremost business women of the U. CLOVIS P. O. RECEIPTS

CLOVIS, N. M.—A slight increase in January receipts over 1939 was reported by H. A. Corkern, assistant postmaster, who said they were $4,990.55 compared with $4,986.94 last year. Ray Hungate was promoted from substitute to regular clerk, giving the office 10 clerks in regular duty.

Southern Farmers Are Being Urged To Raise More Poultry

CLEMSON, S. C., Feb. 19 (U.P.)—Poultry is one of the greatest undeveloped industries of the South, according to D. W. Watkins, director of the South Carolina Extension service.

Watkins believes poultry raising should be given much more attention by southern farmers because "thousands of farm families have no poultry whatever, and these are the same families that are in no position to have fresh meat or stored meat regularly."

"Consequently," he says, "their health condition is bad and their efficiency as workers is poor. This group of people, occupying the lower rounds of the economic ladder, are among the poorest livers to be found."

Farm poultry stocks, reasonably cared for, he points out, would improve the situation.

MOVING TO SNYDER

SNYDER.—Snyder gained more than 100 residents during January according to Mrs. Roy Stokes, who has charge of a welcome group here. Nearly 75 were employed by highway contractors, a construction firm working on a REA high line and for the state highway department and several oil companies.

Three patrons are served by the smallest telephone company in the world. The company operates a line in Shasta county, Calif.

Eight Clubs Post Guarantees In West Texas-New Mexico Leagu

Schedule Of 140 Games Given Approval; Slight Change In Player "Class" Rule Is Made

BY JAY HARRIS
Journal Sports Writer

Shrouded in the most serene setting in the circuit's three-year history, moguls of the West Texas-New Mexico baseball league gathered in the city for their annual winter session Sunday.

Items of chief importance which were amicably settled included:

Approval of the 1940 schedule of 140 games on a straight Shaughnessy system . . . No split season . . .

Slight alteration of the manager-player "class" rule to permit four veterans on the 15 player team providing the manager is bench "boss."

Sanction of the same eight clubs which finished the season last year, their posting of $600 guarantees assuring them of a berth in the league . . .

And adoption of a regulation ball for the next three years.

Most important change—in fact, the only one of note—was that permitting a club to have four "class" men on the limited team of 15, provided the manager is a non-player. But should the manager be active the rule providing for only three playing "class" men.

With the exception of Big Spring, whose representatives, Manager Tony Rego and Mrs. Rego were attempting to reach Lubbock late Sunday afternoon, all clubs were present and posted guarantees for berths in the league this year. By telephone, Manager Rego assured the session that he had Big Spring's guarantee ready.

Milton Price of Dallas, president of the league, presided at the day-long session, which attracted high officials of the Chicago White Sox farm system as well as league officials.

In direct contrast to most previous gatherings where the loop's diamond heads have spent hours quibbling over various matters, Sunday's session was characterized by an optimistic outlook for the future, expressed by all present, and by friendly discussion and settlement of any and all problems which arose for consideration.

The regular championship campaign will get under way on four fronts Tuesday, April 23.

Lamesa Opens Here

Opening day games find the following schedule arranged: Borger at Pampa; Lamesa at Lubbock; Clovis at Amarillo, and Midland at Big Spring. On April 25 and 26, the procedure will be reversed.

Sites of holiday games July 4 include Amarillo, Lubbock, Clovis and Big Spring, with the four other towns entertaining visiting nines Sept. 2, Labor day.

Reversing a 6 to 2 vote registered at their annual fall meeting, representatives of the seven clubs present voted unanimously Sunday for a straight Shaughnessy playoff. Previously, the group had planned to conduct another split season like that of last year which was necessitated by transfer of the Abilene franchise to Borger.

Other "Problems" Settled

Other matters settled included:

1. Adoption of a schedule to conform with suggestions made by members at their annual fall meeting.

2. Decision to release the schedules for publication in papers of Sunday, Feb. 25.

3. Awarding of the second annual All-Star "dream" classic between the select of the Northern and Southern halves to Amarillo in keeping with the policy of alternating the site between the two sections. Lubbock was host to the inaugural event played before a record crowd last year. Date of the contest likely will be Saturday, July 20, but that is to be worked out by Price early this week and included in the released schedule next Sunday.

4. Adoption of the official (Spalding) National league ball for a three-year period. Vote was unanimous. The same ball was used last year.

Salary Limit Approved

5. For the first 10 days of the season, each club may carry 16 players, eliminating the extra player as provided under the national rules at the end of that time.

6. Approval of the $1,200 salary limit per month, exclusive of the manager, whether he be playing or not.

7. Henceforth, players shall be referred to as rookies, those of limited service and veterans.

And that completed the actual "business" of the meeting.

Nothing Definite, Yet

From the Lubbock angle, there was little to report concerning the setup of players, other than to say that a majority of those who comprised the 1939 champions are to report along with several other plenty promising prospects soon for spring training, the Lubbock team arriving in the city approximately 10 days before the season opens, Joe Brown, new business manager said.

Notable among visitors here were Billy Webb, chief of the Chicago White Sox farm system, of which the Hubbers are a part, and Doug Minor, one of the most efficient scouts of the Chi-Sox.

"Class" Question Argued

Only matter which came near drawing fire was the vote on the "class" rule increasing the number of veterans to four providing there was a bench manager among them. The final vote was 4 to 3, the following tally being registered: For—Amarillo, Clovis, Lubbock and Lamesa; Against—Borger, Midland and Pampa, Big Spring having no vote. The matter was proposed by Lamesa.

It was strictly specified that should a "class" man become a non-playing manager at any time during the season, he could not return to playing service.

The session was conducted in the Hilton hotel.

Following is a list of those who attended the gathering, their official capacities and the towns or organizations they represented:

Seeds, Rabes Here

Amarillo—Mr. and Mrs. Bob Seeds, president and vice president, respectively of the Amarillo Baseball club; Mr. and Mrs. Neal Rabe, the former being new business manager of the club; and Clarence Jonnard, brother of Claude, who is the new Gold Sox major domo for the coming campaign.

Lubbock—Joe Brown, new business manager of the Hubbers, who succeeds Harry Faulkner, now a member of the Texas A. and M. coaching staff; Charley Engle, new playing manager of the twice-in-a-row titlists, formerly of Rayne, La., in the Evangeline league, who takes Salty Parker's position and duties this year; Arthur Hale, now manager at Waterloo, Iowa, another White Sox farm, who finished the season as business manager here in '39; Tom Miller, league statistician; W. D. Girand, sr., Pete Cawthon and Sled Allen.

Miller Represents Pampa

Pampa—Harold Miller, business manager of the Pampa club.

Midland—C. C. Duffey, president of the club; Bob Myer, business manager; and Sammy Hale, playing manager.

Lamesa—S. P. Collins, president; Olin Wise, one of the directors of the club, and Jodie Tate, manager.

Clovis—W. L. Price, secretary of the club, and J. H. Nail, sports editor of the Clovis News-Journal.

Borger—Vern Underhill, president, and Bob Takewell, business manager of the club.

Hood Is Visitor

Four representatives of sporting goods houses here included: Jimmy Zinn with the Goldsmith company; Cuck Parrish with Worth Baseball company, and Conrad Haase and Zebby Howell of Dallas, with the Spalding company.

Among other visitors was Red Hood, an outfielder of the Lake Charles, La., club in the Evangeline league. He was recently made a free agent and may land with some WT-NM league club, it was hinted by authoritative sources.

Brought up for discussion and remanded to the future for consideration was an idea for a common conveyance, preferably a large stream-lined bus, offered by Miller of Pampa.

The meeting was closed with the league meeting in executive session.

HIGH-SCORING GOALIE

MINNEAPOLIS — Marty Falk, Minnesota goalie, has three scores to his credit this year. All were made on penalty shots.

A new interpretation of the government program as applying to soil conservation is an additional payment up to $30 per farm for planting a farm wood lot. As approved, a farmer can obtain $7.50 an acre for not more than four acres.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—The Louis-Godoy fight films were sharply edited for the South American trade—to make Arturo look his best . . . If the Red Sox wanted to reveal the figures you'd probably find they paid nearer $50,000 than the reported $75,000 for Dominic DiMaggio.

Gridiron's Old "Shift Play" In Use Again

IT'S THE HEIGHT of the season for changes in college football coaching ranks. Here are two figures prominent in recent shifts:

BILL KERN, former Pitt star, resigned his football coaching post at Carnegie Tech to accept a $7,000 job at West Virginia University. Kern, whose 1938 team at Tech won him "coach of the year" honors, chose three assistants to accompany him.

JESS NEELY, who lifted Clemson from the gridiron depths to a place as one of the South's major football powers, left the little Southern school to move to Rice in the Southwest Conference. Rumors said his contract was for 5 years at $7,500.

T. N. T. PERSONIFIED — John Buck, the Morton master of the hempen strands, tonight makes his bid for Golden Gloves fame along with Ed Sutterfield of Wayland college in Plainview when the 1940 state GG tournament is climaxed with semi-final and final bouts. A favorite in the light heavyweight division, John, just one of a trio of brothers represented at the outset of the tournament, faces Sanders Cox, champion of the Dallas district. There's dynamite in them thar fists, brother!

Boston's Bees May Be Tough

BRADENTON, Fla., Feb. 19 (AP)—After getting his rookies off on their first workout, Manager Casey Stengel came up today with the opinion that his 1940 Boston Bees "ought to make it mighty interesting for the folks."

The youngsters are scheduled for twice daily workouts the next two weeks, a course of special tutoring before the regulars take up spring training chores March 1.

Never Can Tell

"You never can tell," said Casey of the baby Bees. "You're liable to turn up a real prospect in these special classes and even if you don't find a big leaguer right off the bat, it's fine thing for the kids and the club."

As for the varsity, Stengel said: "I think we will have a very interesting team. It isn't an old ball club. We have a lot of good material and it is young. I wouldn't say any position has been picked yet, but naturally there are some regulars who will have to be beat out of their jobs."

Optimistic Over Infield

Casey is particularly optimistic over his infield.

He has Buddy Hassett and Les Scarsella for first base and plans to give youthful Sebastian Sisti every opportunity to clinch second base. With Tony Cuccinello slated for third base, Stengel said Henry Majeski would be tried out at second along with Sisti.

Flashy Eddie Miller is ticketed for shortstop, with Bill Weitelmann in competition with him.

As for the pitching staff Stengel said he had high hopes for such additions as Joe Callahan and George Barnicle, who are figured to bolster regulars like Lou Fette, Bill Posedel and Dick Errickson.

Two Indoor Track Feuds Are To Be Renewed In Games

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 19 (AP) — Four pairs of flying feet will renew two current indoor track feuds at Newark armory tonight in the 13th annual Seton Hall college games.

Chuck Penske, bespectacled Wisconsin star, will attempt to make it six triumphs in a row over Glenn Cunningham, the Kansan who until this season ruled as king of the milers, in a special 1,000-yard event.

John Borican, negro standard-bearer of the Shore A. C. of Elberon, will revive his bristling rivalry with John Woodruff, the University of Pittsburgh's Olympic champion, in a special half-mile feature.

State Champs To Be Chosen At Ft. Worth

BY COLLIER PARRIS
Journal Sports Editor

FORT WORTH, Feb. 19 — Only hours from a determined bid for Texas Golden Gloves glory, two Lubbock Avalanche-Journal District champs this afternoon primed themselves for the battles of their ring careers — just two terrific steps to titles in the state tournament.

Light Heavyweight Champion John Buck, the Morton mug-mangler, and Ed Sutterfield, the handsome Wayland collegian of Plainview, fighting in the middleweight class, tonight are the lone representatives of Lubbock's eight glovers who thus far have given a fine account of themselves.

Chances Are Good

The two South Plains leather slingers are only two of a field of 32 semi-finalists, survivors of an original throng of 1,500 contestants, who will participate in the final evening of a four-night program this evening at Will Rogers Memorial coliseum pronounced the most successful in the history of the Golden Gloves in Texas.

After more than eight hours of eliminations Saturday afternoon and Saturday night, the two Lubbock representatives were among those who will battle in the semi-finals then advance, if fortunate enough, to the finals for state championships and the right to represent Texas in the "Tournament of champions" at Chicago.

Sutterfield Makes Hit

Sutterfield, the hit of the middleweight division, looms as a great threat to the crown which sits atop the capable head of Fort Worth's battling Andy Eagleton, the pre-tournament favorite and a former Texas delegate to the Windy City's great tournament.

The two inaugurate the middleweight division semi-finals tonight and a feature scrap that should have the fans biting their nails is in prospect.

Ed's Wins Impressive

The Hale county flash — who dares 'em to come and get, then dishes it out in dynamite encased quantities — first defeated Midland's Earl Pace Saturday night following his easy victory over Owen Smith of San Angelo that afternoon.

Rated by the "boys who know" as having a good chance to cop the light heavyweight honors, John Buck, one of a brother combination of three, puts his mitts up against the double-tough Sanders Cox of Dallas.

Critics Like Them

Both of these boys looked pretty good to the critics and fans in quarter-final triumphs and the fray is being boomed as one of the features among many such star attractions.

Following a first round bye that advanced him to the Saturday afternoon fighting, and receiving victory then by default, Buck's only appearance was in the quarter-final eliminations. He didn't have to put out much to subdue Lindell Harrison of San Antonio.

All the other boys were eliminated by the time the last gong had sounded on the first three nights of competition, Curtis Lebow, the featherweight and Linard Buck, the heavyweight, taking rather severe lickings Saturday night after impressive victories earlier.

The team of eight boxers, coaches and others who accompanied likely will arrive in Lubbock early Tuesday.

Rice And Texas Are On The Spot And Other Teams Are Set To Give Them Licking

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Feb. 19 — Wide open targets, Rice and Texas, the head men of the Southwest conference basketball race, step into trouble this week and all their cunning will be needed to keep everything in order for their classic meeting on Feb. 27.

The thin, half-game lead Rice holds over the field will be risked in a two-game series against Arkansas at Houston tonight and tomorrow night while Texas faces two teams loaded especially for them—the Texas Aggies and Baylor.

Captain Is Last

Nearly three weeks have passed since Rice went into seclusion for mid-term exams that stripped it of its captain, gangling Ike Steakley. The blow of losing Steakley, fine floor man, added to inactivity, may tell when the Porkers start firing.

But Arkansas has had cruel luck also, Johnny Adams, its ace scorer and ball handler, going out with a fractured arm. The Arkansas games will bring Rice's account in the conference ledger right up to the finale-Texas at Austin on Feb. 27.

Texas, clubbed off the top last week by a grand bunch of Southern Methodist youngsters who failed to let a little thing like sixth position in the scramble keep them from trying, must make no mistakes from now on in to retain its title.

Staged One Big Effort

The Steers didn't relax against S. M. U. They were normal in every respect. Southern Methodist just outdid themselves in one big effort to get that 45-42 overtime decision.

The Aggies, with not a half bad basketball team, are in the mood for their Wednesday night game at Austin against Texas. Nine years they have tried to lick Arkansas, and Saturday night they did it, 41-38, at College Station. Of course, they had Friday's night's game, 25-37, but that famine-breaking victory might have given them just a little more sparkle for the important Texas game.

Must Face Bears

After the Aggies, Texas must go to Waco and again face those Baylor Bears, this time in their own lair. Baylor was only three points worse than Texas in their great game of two weekends ago before 7,000 at Austin and could be that much better at Waco without upsetting the dope.

In other games this week, Southern Methodist should be the team to make T. C. U. take its 22nd straight league licking at Fort Worth on Wednesday night and there's little reason to believe that the Aggies won't indulge in beating No. 23 when they arrive at Fort Worth Saturday night.

Three centers scrapping for all-conference honors were leading the scoring race, Frank Bryski of Baylor with 108; Bob Kinney of Rice, 104; and Virgil Wilkerson of S. M. U., 100. Bryski had played in one more game.

Ferrell Cops Golf Tourney

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

TAMPA, Fla., Feb. 19.—Baseball and golf are becoming so closely allied it is difficult to realize that only a few years ago some managers were threatening to slap a fine on the first player they caught wielding a niblic.

The baseballer who doesn't golf now in his spare time is becoming almost a museum piece, and many of them are surprisingly good at it. Their annual tournament, which ended here yesterday, is destined within a very few years to become one of the winter's top sports events.

Wes Ferrell Wins

When Wes Ferrell, now with the Brooklyns, won the title for the second straight time by licking Jack Russell in the 36-hole final, 2 to 1, he had the enthusiastic gallery of nearly 1,000, and three newsreel companies recording the action for posterity.

Several hundreds of dollars worth of prizes were distributed to the winners last night, and six cities have been fighting for the privilege of holding the tournament next winter. St. Petersburg has been made a tentative choice.

Top Players Take Part

This year's event drew several dozen top ball players, coaches and umpires. For instance, Bucky Walters, voted the outstanding player of last season, won the long-driving contest, and slugger Joe Medwick of the St. Louis Cardinals was the medalist. Judge Landis motored over from Belleair to give the tournament his blessing.

Such a tournament affords baseball fans about their only opportunity to see their favorites at close quarters. They get a kick out of seeing a diamond hero flub a two-foot putt and try to throw his club into the next county.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (AP) — Cotton futures worked lower today in sympathy with easier Liverpool markets and moderate selling by Bombay and Liverpool. Hedge sales were light but trade demand was apathetic and outside interest small, reflecting a continued dullness in textiles.

Further covering in March, buying by New Orleans and local professionals imparted a steadier tone to the market in the final half hour and prices finished unchanged to 4 points lower.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Feb. 19 (AP) — Wheat prices rallied to erase early losses today but then reacted again to an unsettled close, with May contracts depressed by increased liquidation of grain held under government loans.

Nervous fluctuations were spread over a range of almost 2 cents as dat times July and September contracts showed net gains of a full cent due to scattered "short" covering and purchases credited to mills.

Wheat closed ⅛ lower to ¼ higher compared with Saturday's finish, May 1.02¾-⅞, July 1.00⅝-¾; corn ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, May 56⅝-¾, July 57; oats unchanged to ¼ down.

Stock Market

RALLIES ARE SEEN

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (AP) — Stocks showed rallying tendencies in an irregular market today.

Early sell-offs in selected issues were balanced throughout the session by gains in other sectors and, toward the close, even the deepest of the fractional dips had been pretty well leveled off by buying orders. Transactions were 700,000 shares.

Lending a modicum of stability to the market outlook was the estimate steel operations this week would be at 67.1 per cent of capacity, less than two points lower than last week.

Market analysts argued the figure indicated a check, for the moment at least, in the ratio of the recently declining rate of industrial production.

New York City transportation securities furnished something of a dazzling white spot in an otherwise dull and cloudy day. Brooklyn-Queens Transit preferred spurted ahead 15 points at one time in anticipation of city traction unification. The action established a high for the year.

Other stocks reaching new year's highs included Brooklyn - Manhattan Transit preferred, Loft, Cluett Peabody and Martin-Parry.

Included in the gainers were Bethlehem, American Airlines, United Airlines, Phillip Morris, Paramount, Kennecott and American Telephone. Equally lower were Eastman, Martin, Boeing, General Electric, Studebaker, Harvester and Texas Corp.

Bonds and commodities were uneven throughout the day.

A tree 34 feet in diameter and estimated to be more than 3,500 years old is said to be the world's oldest tree. It is in Yosemite National Park.

Revolt Plot Is Thwarted

(By The Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 19.—Attorney General Genaro Vazquez announced today that a plot which he said involved a leader of the fascist "gold shirts," to overthrow the Mexican government with an armed rebellion had been thwarted.

Five leaders were taken into custody, the attorney general said, but were released by President Cardenas to signify his "confidence in the support of the Mexican people."

Several Are Named

Among those named as chief conspirators was Alfonso Garmendia Villafana, described as treasurer of the presidential campaign of General Joaquin Amaro, former war minister in the cabinet of ex-President Plutarco Calles.

More than 50 minor political leaders, public officials and army officers also were named by the attorney general as being involved in the proposed rebellion.

Would Strike Swiftly

The conspirators, Vazquez said, had organized an "action group" which was to strike swiftly in an effort to overturn the government in a coup d'etat rather than by a prolonged revolution.

Said to have been prepared by various army leaders, the revolution plan was described as calling for fast encirclement of the capital while small "combat units" fanned throughout the state of Mexico.

With the collapse of the capital and state, the conspirators apparently expected the rest of the republic to fall into line, it was said.

Under Rule Of Clowns

Documents reported found in possession of those charged in the plot asserted there was a need for a rebellion and declared Mexico was under the rule of "clowns."

Various manifestoes attributed to the plotters attacked Cardenas' program of "socialistic education" and described his regime as one of "continuous errors."

Missing Autos

Someone ran across his stalled truck and proceeded to give it a stripping, he told police. It was on the Brownfield highway.

C. Murphrey said his suit and a rifle had been taken from his car.

One missing car turned up with missing girls in the Crosbyton area. It had been believed they left the car in a drift and found refuge in a farmhouse.

When a few flakes of snow began falling early this morning traffic noticeably picked up—motorists of South Plains hamlets and cities not wishing to repeat their experiences of last week, when they were marooned in Lubbock. Officials and business men noted a steady procession of cars out of town.

A 23-year-old Lubbock man probably will be charged with drunk driving as result of reports sworn to Sunday night. He was alleged to have struck cars of G. R. Moseley of Slaton and C. P. Edwards of Lubbock. He was in jail.

Two Mexican juveniles were transferred to county authorities after questioning had brought confessions of theft of $25 from T. E. Armstrong, in 1000-block Avenue G.

Police said a drunk had cracked up in the Broadway underpass and was held in jail.

Driver of an alleged hit-and-run car had been apprehended by his automobile plates and released after he had agreed to pay damages of the car he was charged with having struck, belonging to J. F. Leftwich.

A paint gun was reported stolen from Lubbock Auto Co. No. 1. A shoplifter was nabbed for investigation into theft of a $5.90 jacket from J. C. Penney Co. A man suspected of being an associate of the person held also was arrested by Bill Mabray, assistant chief of police.

Police couldn't laugh at some of the complaints that were telephoned in.

Someone had the cops on the jump to "investigate a car stuck in a snow bank at the rear of my house." The police found it, like hundreds of others, was what the woman said—stuck. But there was "nothing suspicious about that."

Another call said a motorist was stuck in the snow and acted like he was drunk. The cops investigated that one too and found the man acted like he was drunk, all right, "but who wouldn't slip and fall around if he was wet and cold and stood knee deep in snow and pushed at several hundred pounds of stalled automobile?"

A Plainview ranchman came into the police station and "hoped I haven't qualified for an arson charge."

He said he and his wife and another man bogged down in the snow and, when they barely made it by slogging and slipping in the snow to a shack near Slaton they ripped baseboards out of the shack and built a fire in a "bachelor stove" that had one length of pipe.

"We were not thinking of anything except saving our lives," he said.

Before the night was over nine persons had crowded into the shack. Fire was made when it was "absolutely necessary."

Hundreds Of Peasants Flee Homes As Forest Fire Rages

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 19 (AP) — Dispatches from Cardenas, state of San Luis Potosi, reported today that hundreds of peasants were fleeing their homes in nearby Tamasopo where a rapidly spreading forest fire threatened to destroy the countryside.

Unconfirmed reports said that several sick persons were trapped in their homes and burned to death.

The fire started yesterday in the sugar cane fields between Tamasopo and Cafetal.

THEIR VERSION OF NAZI SALUTE—With an unfamiliar 9½-inch snow on the ground in Atlanta, Ga., Southern belles had plenty of fun and plenty of ideas. Mrs. Luther Drennon, left, Misses Nita McClendon and Mildred Graham built a snow man with a Hitler likeness, and gave him their version of what the nazi salute should be. They thumbed their noses at him.

Super-Highways

continental traffic to justify toll highways.

Estimates have been made that the program would require expenditure of several billions of dollars to be regained through collection of toll charges from motorists.

Snyder's bill specifically would provide for an appropriation of $8,000,000,000 to put the plan into effect on three trans-continental and four north-south highways.

Routes Are Designated

The Pennsylvanian's measure which he first offered five years ago, also would designate the general routes for the highways.

As specified in the bill they would be:

Boston, through Albany, Cleveland, Chicago, Rapid City, S. D., Yellowstone National park and Council Bluffs, Idaho, to Salem, Ore.

Baltimore through Cumberland, Md., Uniontown, Pa.; Wheeling, W. Va., Indianapolis, Springfield, Ill., Phillipsburg, Mont., Denver, Huntington, Utah, Duckwater, Nev., and Yosemite national park to San Francisco.

St. Petersburg, Fla., through Mobile, Ala., Baton Rouge, San Antonio and El Paso to Los Angeles.

Fort Myers, Fla., through St. Petersburg, Reidsville, Ga.; Columbia, S. C., Raleigh, N. C., Richmond, Va., Baltimore, New Brunswick, N. J., Hartford, Conn., and Concord, N. H., to Augusta, Me.

Buffalo, N. Y., through Pittsburgh, Uniontown, Charleston, W. V., Jonesboro, Tenn., and Atlanta, to Pensacola.

Baton Rouge through Jackson, Miss., and Memphis to Chicago.

San Antonio through Hobart, Okla.; Ness City, Kan.; Broken Bow, Neb., and Pierre, S. D., to Bismarck, N. D.

El Paso, through El Morro national monument, N. M., and Salt Lake City to Phillipsburg, Mont.

San Diego, Calif., through Los Angeles, Calif., Bakersfield, Calif., Sacramento, Calif., and Klamath Falls, Ore., to Seattle.

Randolph's bills on the other hand, would create a commission to study the general subject of superhighways; authorize the creation of a corporation to carry out construction, and create a highway commission empowered to cooperate with a private corporation in the construction.

Sale Of Bonds

which will be set for the bonds, if they are sold. Officials explained that the basis of the bidding competition is the interest rate, which the bidders are to propose.

To Run For 20 Years

There was no expectation of a sale at an interest rate as low as the 1 1-4 per cent for which $50,000 in city bonds were sold a few weeks ago. One reason for that low rate, bidders explained, was that the $50,000 issue is to be retired within five years. The $550,000 issue will be repaid over a period of 20 years.

The bonds were included among a total issue of $750,000 voted in September, 1938. Of those intended for sale, $300,000 will be for the construction of a storm sewer across the southern part of the city and $280,000 will be for the erection of a sewage disposal plant.

Nineteen Suspects Released After Slaying Of Aged Woman

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Feb. 19 (U.P.)—Police today released the last of 19 suspects questioned in the criminal assault and murder of Mrs. Alice Leihy, a kindly 75-year-old woman who had made scores of friends in her neighborhood and, so far as was known, no enemies.

She had been to a neighborhood movie, purchased a love story magazine and was on her way home when she was dragged into an alley, attacked and choked to death.

Police believed the crime was that of a degenerate but all of those arrested on suspicion were cleared.

"I don't care who it hits or where it hits, it's to the interest of all American citizens to keep elections clean," Gillette said. "I'm sure it's the intention of this committee to do a thorough job."

New Factor This Year

A new factor this year, he pointed out, is the Hatch act prohibiting political activity by the thousands of government employes and barring use of relief and other federal funds for political purposes.

The other Democrats named to the committee are Miller (D-Ark) and Hill (D-Ala) the Republican members are Senators Tobey (R-NH) and Reed (R-Kans).

During the week-end, Postmaster General Farley selected July 15 for the start of the national Democratic convention—three weeks after the Republican meeting opens at Philadelphia.

ed; the gold standard should be restored.

10. All in need should receive adequate relief, administered by the local governments through federal grants-in-aid.

11. Social security legislation should be studied with a view to expansion and better administration.

New Deal Rapped

"The economic program of the New Deal, despite sporadic reversals of policy," the committee said, "has rested essentially on the control of production, the creation of scarcity, and the boosting of prices."

The choice today, the report asserted, lies between a system of free enterprise and a "politically-planned and politically-dominated economy."

Government intervention in business, it said, should be a "limited intervention, confined, under normal circumstances, to the creation and maintenance of a socially protective framework of regulation within which our economy of free enterprise can most effectively operate and be most surely preserved."

Two Persons Are Dead After Severe Storm At Monterrey

MONTERREY, Mexico, Feb. 19 (AP)—The city of Monterrey today was recovering from the effects of a severe wind storm which left in its wake two persons dead, three injured, and several homes and factory buildings damaged.

The casualties occurred as buildings collapsed.

Hundreds of trees were uprooted by the storm and telephone and electric light poles fell to the ground.

A freight train was thrown against a moving locomotive by the force of the wind which began lashing Monterrey early Saturday.

GOT HIS MONEY, ANYWAY

MAYFIELD, Ky. (AP) — When a man walked into the county courthouse to pay his taxes, Deputy Sheriff Dalton Coleman recognized him as one of several men who escaped arrest last year in a raid on a still near Mayfield. The fugitive was locked up in jail — after Deputy Coleman accompanied him to the treasurer's offices to pay his taxes.

tifications which form the Mannerheim line.

Russia's losses there were equal to "about the strength of a battalion"—approximately 1,000 men—the Finns declared, adding that six tanks had been captured in the bitter fighting.

"A great victory" for Finnish forces northeast of Lake Ladoga was reported when the communique reported capture of a strongly defended Russian position and large quantities of war materials.

Twenty tanks, 361 guns of various types, 17 tractors, 32 field kitchens, 25 automobiles, and 200 other vehicles were listed as booty of the battle.

Had Been Surrounded

"After tenacious fighting our troops have thus piece by piece completely annihilated the enemy's 18th division which they had surrounded after it had advanced via Kuoma to Syskyjarvi," the communique said.

Syskyjarvi is about 15 miles from the Russian frontier.

The Russian division had been strongly reinforced, the Finns declared.

Russian bombers raided Viipuri, Lappeenranta, and Kakisalmi during a day in which the Finns saw greater aerial activity than on any previous day.

The Finnish air force carried out scouting and bombing flights over the battlefields and the enemy's rear, resulting in "numerous air battles attended with success for us," the Finns said.

County Chairmen For Alumni Association To Be Named

Decision to create positions of county chairmen in the Alumni and Ex-Students association of Texas Technological college was made at an executive committee meeting Sunday night at Hilton hotel.

Chairmen will be appointed in each county later this spring, according to plans, said Calvin Hazlewood, administrative secretary.

Hazlewood was host at a dinner preceding the business meeting. Attending were J. E. Speer of Amarillo, Joe Webb of Slaton and Arch King of Lubbock, directors; George Zarafonetis of Lubbock, second vice president; Fancher Upshaw of Amarillo and C. W. Ratliff of Lubbock, district committeemen; W. E. Street of Lubbock, alumni representative to the athletic council; Melvin Schumpert of Portales, N. Bad weather prevented attendance of Judge Marshall Formby of Dickens, president, and several members of the committee.

Communications With Finland By Telephone Broken Today

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Feb. 19 (U.P.) — All communications with Finland by telephone were broken today, the telephone center said. Telephone officials were uncertain whether the disruption was due to precautions during air bombardment or was the result of bombing of Turku (Abo) this morning.

Soviets Claim Big Advances

(By The United Press)

MOSCOW, Feb. 19 — Russian troops, pounding at the Mannerheim line, are approaching the suburbs of Viipuri, Finland's second city, and have isolated Koivisto island, anchor of the line on the Gulf of Finland, an army communique indicated today.

Striking through to the coast on the Finnish right wing, Russian troops reached the station of Sommae, only 6 1-4 miles south of Viipuri on the coastal railroad, it was asserted. Inland, the Russians had previously taken the station of Sainio, on a spur of the main Viipuri-Leningrad railroad only four miles from Viipuri, it was said.

Retreating Steadily

By its terms, the communique implied that the Finns had suffered a quick series of disastrous defeats. It was asserted that they were retreating steadily before the Russian steamroller advance.

The communique asserted that the Russians, in taking Sommae station; the important town of Johannes, 8 1-2 miles south of Viipuri and Maksalahti station, four miles south of Johannes, had reached the coast north of the island group of which fortified Koivisto is the principal one—and is the Finns' right wing anchor.

It was indicated that Koivisto was isolated from the land side. Since the early days of the war the Russians had pounded it with airplane bombs, naval guns and long range land artillery. It is particularly valuable to the Finns because its big guns can fire either out to sea or inland to enfilade the Russian line.

According to the Russian communique, the Russians on Saturday and Sunday alone captured 313 Finnish defensive positions including 41 iron and concrete artillery forts. This made a total of 475 Finnish positions captured, according to the Russians, since February 11.

Destruction of 21 Finnish airplanes was claimed in air battles Sunday.

It was indicated that Russian gains were being made all along the Mannerheim line, for the communiqué asserted that the Russians had reached the Salmenkaita, between Lakes Vuoksi and Jaurapaan, toward the east of the Mannerheim line, and the important small town of Mjolaa in the center.

For 10 days the Russian communiques had laid claim to a series of advances which taken together with today's communique would mean that the Finnish Mannerheim line retreat was approaching the degree of a debacle.

Set Fire To Villages

Sunday's communique had reported that the Russians were pushing the Finns back all along the line and that the Finns were setting fire to villages as they fell back.

Today's communique, issued through the official Tass news agency, said:

"February 18:

"Our offensive in the Karelian isthmus is developing successfully. Hard pressed by our troops the enemy keeps retreating.

"Our troops reached the river Salmenkaita, between Lakes Vuoksi and Jaurapaan, and occupied the fortified area and village of Muolas, the station of Sommae on the maritime railroad 10 kilometers south of Viipuri, the town of Johannes, and the station of Maksalahti on the maritime railroad, thus reaching the western coast of the Gulf of Finland north of Bjoerko.

"February 17 and 18 our troops captured 313 defensive fortifications including 92 iron and concrete artillery forts.

"In other sectors there were no important changes.

"Our aviation acted against enemy troops and military objectives. Twenty-one enemy airplanes were brought down in air combats."

Man's Slaying

Saturday afternoon. He had been shot once through the head.

She was arrested in Shreveport Saturday for having participated in the robbery of a hardware store in Beaumont, Tex., in which pistols were stolen. She confessed to having slain Calloway, authorities there said, and was brought here Saturday night. She confessed again, Sheriff Reid said. He wanted her to tell her story to the coroner's jury. She refused and he told it.

Poked Pistol In Ribs

As Calloway approached Lake Charles with his two guests, the woman poked a pistol in his ribs. He was forced to crawl into a rumble seat compartment and the top was closed upon him. The man and woman drove around for some time seeking a suitable place to shoot him. They found a lonely road west of Holmwood finally and Calloway was ordered out of the compartment to his doom.

He was forced to take off his clothes, garment by garment, and at last stood naked in a rice field. While he begged for mercy on his knees, the woman shot him, Sheriff Reid told the jury.

His body was put under the hay stack. The woman and man took his watch and $15, burned his clothes, and drove his car toward Stuttgart, Ark., to rob a bank. North of El Dorado, Ark., the woman slugged her companion with her revolver butt and pushed him out of the car. He had questioned the wisdom of her plans.

Beaumont police remembered Mrs. Henry well. They said they had arrested her several times for vagrancy in the town's red light district. They remembered her as not unattractive, a fiery girl of Italian and Indian blood once passed as a Mexican.

She first appeared in Beaumont six months ago, they said, with Claude (Cowboy) Henry. Henry was then free on bond in San Antonio on a charge of murdering a policeman. He was subsequently convicted and is now serving 50 years in Huntsville prison. Mrs. Henry, Beaumont police said, apparently had found another partner.

That Girl on Broadway says money is so hard to keep it's a wonder that anybody is fool enough to work for the darn stuff.

The kind of person who's always thinking he's got a kick coming—should get it.

BY golly, it was kinda like Christmas!

When that blizzard howled down on us last Friday and Friday night, people forgot all about themselves, their own comfort and welfare, and busied themselves about helping others.

Not only in Lubbock, where naturally the greatest congestion was, but in every town and community in the snow sector, people disported themselves like they ordinarily do only during the two or three days around Christmas time! It was a great demonstration of the humanitarian spirit and it was good for us all!

Literally hundreds of men and women and organizations are worthy of praise for their fine, generous help which ranged all the way from running special rescue trains and wielding shovels, feeding and housing children and to picking up strangers on the streets and transporting them to and from the business district to the residential area. Even if The Plainsman had all the names involved, there wouldn't be room enough in six issues of the paper to list 'em all.

However, the people and the organizations who played "Good Samaritan" during the storm aren't looking for public acclaim. They got a warm feeling inside—the sense of doing a service—and the heart-glow, they feel, is enough reward for them.

RIGHT here and now, however, The Plainsman can't refrain from pointing out the courageous and whole-hearted adherence to service and responsibility displayed by the carrier boys of The Avalanche-Journal.

Those kids—all but one of the 31—made their routes both Friday afternoon and Saturday morning, just as they do under the best of weather conditions. The one boy who didn't deliver his Saturday morning route was a lad who couldn't help it. He lives off the beaten trail of the city's street system and simply couldn't get to town—just as hundreds of other persons couldn't get to and from their homes. The office tried to send a car for him and the car couldn't get through! So he wasn't to blame. But the rest of these young independent merchants did their jobs and while many papers might have been lost in the snowdrifts on people's front porches, the boys got them as far as they could!

Of course, The Avalanche-Journal's trucks couldn't run as they usually do, so trains, wherever possible, were used to get the papers to subscribers in towns over the whole South Plains region.

Some points were missed for hours and hours, but that was due to the complete paralysis of the transportation system.

But the boys here in town, and those in the other towns where the paper could be delivered to them, pushed their way through the snowdrifts and did their jobs.

They're a great bunch and they just wouldn't let their customers down!

THE whole thing was a great experience for Lubbock—one that will not soon be forgotten.

And what's more, the moisture dumped over the country may eventually mean the difference between a good crop and a poor one.

Not only did we get a taste of how our Yankee friends live for months or weeks at a time, but we also had something to take the war, taxes and Dr. Bradfield off our minds!

It was all very much worthwhile.

One of the most horrible examples of reckless driving is a woman at work with a hammer and some tacks!

That Man on Avenue Q says people sometimes bury hatchets, but they never bury axes they have to grind.

Unfortunately for friendship, it is easy to be disagreeable to people we like and to put on our best manners for people we don't care a hoot about!

THE chances are you've never heard of "Buna," but no matter. You'll likely be riding on it before many more years.

American tire manufacturers are known to be very much interested in the synthetic rubber process known as "Buna." Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey recently required exclusive American rights to the process, which is owned by a German concern called I. G. Farbenindustrie, and the rubber companies in this country are perfectly willing to see Standard Oil have it. They prefer to buy "Buna" already made to sinking heavy investments essential to manufacture. Since oil is one of the principal ingredients of "Buna," Standard Oil is a logical outfit to make it.

Some rather extravagant claims have been made for "Buna," among others being that it can be manufactured in quantities for only 20 cents per pound—which is only slightly more than current prices on raw rubber, before refining.

The experts, however, won't yet claim that much for the product. They say the figure may be all right, but they won't claim it until actual practice proves it.

"BUNA" may eventually revolutionize the tire and rubber industry, but its replacement of natural rubber will be both slow and gradual.

The present price of rubber is artificially maintained by British and Dutch control, and could be substantially reduced if necessary to undercut "Buna" competition.

The tire makers, of which U. S. has the world's most and best, will not buy large quantities of the synthetic product if it is much more expensive than rubber. If, however, war should cut off the rubber supply from the Orient, Standard of New Jersey's foresight will quickly prove very valuable to both the country and the national defense.

One nice thing about a heavy snow and bad driving conditions is that during such times husbands, who ordinarily couldn't find their wives with a search warrant, know where the Little Woman is!

Probably more wives stayed at home Saturday than in any other day in the history of Lubbock.

They couldn't get out!

CAST OF CHARACTERS

ARNOLD BENTHORNE—Five persons wished him dead.

HELEN BENTHORNE — His charming young wife.

WILLIAM ALSTON — Benthorne's father-in-law and business associate.

JOEY DI TORIO—Night club owner and gangster.

ARA JOHNSON—The mystery girl.

JOHN DOUGLAS—A young mining engineer, in love with Ara.

CAPTAIN DAWSON—A detective who likes to listen.

Yesterday: Jameson, the butler, shows Captain Dawson a side entrance, which was unlocked at the time of the murder. Later, questioning Alston, Dawson accuses the motor truck magnate of not liking his son-in-law. Alston regains control of Alston Motors through Benthorne's death. Flynn brings in Joey di Torio.

CHAPTER VI

"Hello, Joey." There was no cordiality in Dawson's greeting.

"Listen, Dawson—what's the idea of sending that dumb Flynn down to my place in the middle of the night—just when my party was—"

"I doubt if you've met Mr. Alston, Joey," Dawson interrupted. "Mr. Alston, this Joey di Torio, owner of the Club Chateau. You've probably been there."

Alston rose to acknowledge Joey's nod. Neither man made any move to shake hands.

"If you don't mind, Captain Dawson, I'd like to get some sleep," Alston said. "If I can—"

"Go right ahead, Mr. Alston," Dawson agreed. "You probably need it."

"Would you mind if I ordered some sleeping tablets? I left home hurriedly and forgot to take one."

"Tell Flynn to get you some, Mr. Alston." He waited as Alston moved slowly across the room, out of the door, then called after him, "Good night!" but Alston apparently did not hear. Dawson turned back to di Torio.

"Cigar, Joey?" He offered Benthorne's box of perfectos. Di Torio took one, lighted it, puffed vigorously. For a moment both men sat, smoking, saying nothing, waiting.

Di torio belied the popular conception of a ganster. He was small, and his Italian ancestry evidenced itself in his black, darting eyes, and dark complexion. His clothes were well tailored and he wore them like a model. He looked more like a musician or a gigolo than a killer.

"Listen, Dawson, I've got work to do." Joey began at last. "I was just getting ready to close when Flynn comes in and says you wanted to see me. He said Arnold Benthrone had been killed. I tried to tell him that I haven't been outside of the Chateau all evening but he wouldn't listen. Said you wanted to talk to me and that was that. What do you want, Dawson?"

"You knew Arnold Benthrone pretty well, Joey?" Dawson asked slowly.

"Sure, I knew him. Half the night clubs in town knew Benthorne by his first name. He used to come to the Chateau a lot. But I didn't know he was dead until Flynn told me. Why pick on me?"

"Weren't you and Benthrone associated"—Dawson paused at the word—"in business together once?"

"Yes." Joey's answer came slowly. "But that was back in prohibition days. You can't dig back that far to pin a charge on me."

"What was this business, Joey?"

"Benthrone backed my first speakeasy. You used to get free drinks there yourself. Benthrone bought a yacht cheap, ran the stuff in from the Bahamas and I unloaded it. Benthrone was smart, too. He always stayed outside the limit—made me take all the risks."

"You haven't had much to do with him since then?" Dawson queried.

"Only a customer. When liquor went legal, Benthrone decided there was no quick money in it, and we dissolved our—our partnership." Di Torio pursed his mouth, devoted his attention to smoke rings.

"You're lying, Joey," Dawson said calmly. "You and Benthrone never dissolved your 'partnership.' You and Benthrone have been mixed up in half the rackets in this town.

"You and Benthrone have been running the numbers game here for three years. Last year you branched out into narcotics. You've got agents in Chicago, Kansas City, Denver and San Francisco. Within the last six months you've arranged to smuggle 200 aliens over the Canadian border at $500 a head. You've—"

Di Torio's face was white, his calm, self-assurance shattered. "How did you know?"

"Benthrone had the habit of keeping records—private records, Joey. He had a little book in his desk here. You thought it was in the safe, didn't you, Joey? Benthrone guessed that, and kept it almost out in the open—an innocent looking little diary, but I couldn't miss it."

"You'll never make it stick in court," Joey said, confidence returning. "It's the word of a dead man against mine. That book doesn't prove a thing."

"It may prove a murder charge, 5 WOULD KILL—GALY TWO Cont Joey."

"Listen, Dawson," di Torio said condescendingly, "I told you I was in my club all night. I was with a party of friends. They'll tell you—"

"Are you sure you didn't leave the club last night?"

"I'll take that back," Joey said. "I did leave but only for a few minutes. Dave Watson was having a party. I thought I'd drop by and pick up Marlyn—you know, Marlyn White—but her apartment was dark so I drove on back to the club without stopping. Dave'll remember and so will Pete. Pete's my manager."

"So you just went out for a ride, Joey—all by yourself," Dawson shook his head. "No, Joey, I thought you could think faster than that.

"Listen. You left the Club Chateau, you drove up here to Benthrone's—you could make it in a few minutes—you came in that side entrance you always used and you found Benthrone in the study.

"You've been holding out on Benthorne, blackmailing him, and you knew Benthorne wouldn't let you get away with it. That's why he made out this record. With that book he figured he could keep your mouth closed until he found a way of closing it permanently.

"But you beat him to it, Joey. You shot Arnold Benthrone as he sat in this chair. Then you jammed that straight chair there against the door, rifled the safe, and finally, when you heard Flynn and Krone taking

WE'RE NOT IN BAD SHAPE

Reports to a symposium of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers the other day that the United States is deficient in its production of seven minerals essential in time of war should not cause alarm. On the contrary, the reports are reassuring.

Even if we don't produce enough of these seven metals to supply our own needs, it still is a fact that not another nation on earth comes anywhere as close as that to self-sufficiency. It is a further fact that among all nations on earth, the United States would be the most difficult to cut off from sources of foreign supply. Perhaps the most difficult military feat in the world today would be an effective blockade of the shorelines from which the interior of the United States could be reached.

Furthermore, our deficiencies of supplies of some of the so-called essential metals are more apparent than real. For example, we produce very little nickel. But the world's greatest nickel deposits are just across the line in Canada. We produce less than half of the mercury we require. However, we have immense deposits of that metal. The deposits are not rich, and for that reason, they have been little developed. But if the emergency demanded, we could produce all of the mercury that we would require within our own borders. We produce practically no tin, but Bolivia in South America has limitless supplies.

Thus of all the metals. Although our own production might be short, ample supplies or satisfactory substitutes are not far away. There is no prospect that metals for war time will ever be one of our great problems.

Anti-Reds Seek New Setup In American Y
Congress; Score Organization's Radicalis

BY BRUCE CATTON
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Back of the fight over communism in the American Youth Congress there was an attempt to establish a new American youth movement on a broader and much more conservative basis.

Catton

Murray Plavner, the young New Yorker who came to town and led the fight to drive communists out of the Congress, was really seeking far more than a simple "purge" of the organization.

What he had in mind was a Youth Congress which would contain no communists or "fellow travelers," but which would contain such groups as the Boy Scouts and the Catholic youth groups, and which would enjoy the support of the American Legion and substantial business interests.

Gets Backing

Plavner did not make his fight as an unsupported free lance. For some years he has worked for Victor Ridder, New York publisher and former WPA administrator in New York, as a writer and advertising representative. On his arrival in Washington, he issued a long statement denouncing the Youth Congress's record in regard to communism—a statement signed by Ridder and a number of prominent citizens.

Plavner did not have definite, binding promises of adherence or support from the groups which he hoped to see given dominant places in the Youth Congress; but he was in intimate touch with people who are highly important in those groups.

Ridder, for instance, is a director both of the Boy Scouts and of Catholic Youth, as well as of the Boys' Club of America. Homer L. Chaillaux, another signer of the statement Plavner issued, directs the Legion's National Americanism commission. Another signer was John M. Schiff, a director of the Boy Scouts; another was Gene Tunney, who like Ridder is a director of the Boy Scouts, Catholic Youth, and Boys' Club of America.

Drops Plan

During the fall, Plavner had in mind setting up a rival group to the American Youth Congress. He discarded that plan, however. Now he says:

"There can't be two youth movements. There's only room for one.

"It can continue to a communist front, or it can be truly representative of all American youth and make a real effort to solve youth's problems instead of simply trying to undermine youth's confidence in our institutions. I hope it can be a genuinely representative group."

Shies Away From Subsidies

One often-overlooked item in the Youth Congress argument is the federal youth-aid program demanded by the Congress, and presently which would be introduced by Senator Murray of Montana.

This bill would set up a new National Youth administration, would guarantee public works jobs to all unemployed youth (at minimum wages of $12.50 a week) and would provide for an elaborate system of educational aids — all at a cost of around $500,000,000 a year.

Plavner remarks that this program is just too expensive to be practical right now, and looks forward to a Youth Congress which would [illegible] good graces of [illegible] dustrial leaders to [illegible] industry without [illegible] sidies.

Di Torio was silent, studying the glowing end of his cigar. At last he spoke. "You've missed one thing in your murder case, Dawson. What time was Benthrone killed?"

"The coroner's deputy said it was right around midnight. It took Flynn and Krone a while to get the door down."

"That proves it." Di Torio smiled. "I can prove by half a dozen witnesses that I didn't leave the Club Chateau until after midnight. It was almost 12:15 before I could get away. And you had already found Benthrone's body by that time."

"How does it happen you remember the time so well," Dawson asked.

"In my business, Captain, just as in yours, it's a good idea to keep your eye on the clock. You can never tell when some dumb cop is going to try to hang a murder charge on you."

"I'll let that one pass, Joey," Dawson said, "until I've checked on this alibi of yours. Are you sure your friends will remember the time with equal facility?"

"I hope so," Joey laughed. "They should. Dave was complaining that he wasn't getting any kick out of his drinks, so I bought some champagne for him. Pete'll remember the time, too.

"And there's one thing you've forgotten. I never thought it of you, Dawson. I'm saving your job by telling you this in advance. There's the little item of a gun.

"Your cop, Flynn, lifted my automatic out of this shoulder scabbard on the way out here. Have you found the gun that killed Benthrone yet?

"No," Dawson replied, "but Flynn probably has it in his pocket now."

"Don't be too sure about that, my friend," Joey went on confidently. "I carry a .38 automatic and it hasn't been fired in six months. And when you get that bullet out of Benthorne's head, there's one thing more to remember — ballistics tests. Surely you've heard of them!"

FLYING WING FOR CROWDED SKIES—Flying wings are ahead for civilians in the sky as evolution in aviation robs the airplane of its tail. John D. McKellar, aerodynamics instructor at San Luis Obispo, Calif., developed the plane and his students are now constructing one. Although primarily designed for civilian flying, the wing could be adapted for military use, as diagrammed above. Mass production would make the plane cheap, two motors make it safe, and it should take up less sky space.

Lamesa Is To Hold Banquet

LAMESA, Feb. 19 (Special) — It was announced here that Pat M. Neff, president of Baylor university, Waco, and ex-governor of Texas, will be principal speaker at the annual chamber of commerce banquet to be held in the new school gymnasium Wednesday evening, March 6. The date was originally scheduled as Feb. 23, but Neff could not make arrangements to appear upon that date.

"We hope that many of our friends from neighboring cities will feel welcome to visit with us," said a spokesman of the chamber of commerce, "since we feel it offers a splendid opportunity for West Texas to get better acquainted with one of the state's outstanding orators, who is admired throughout the land for his qualities." Complimentary tickets are being sent chamber of commerce and newspaper men in a number of towns, and staff members of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, Abilene, have been issued invitations to attend.

To Award Checks

Another special feature of the program will be the awarding of checks for $500, for $250, for $150, and for $100, totaling $1000, to farm families who have shown best results according to official placement in a farm and home improvement campaign sponsored in Dawson county during the period from Jan. 1, 1939 through Dec. 31, 1939, by the local branch of the Farm Security administration, Extension service, Soil Conservation service, the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, and various civic organizations, and merchants who are investing the prize money. Seaborn P. Collins, Dawson county FSA supervisor, will have charge of the awarding of prizes.

Eight men were recently named in a special election held by the chamber of commerce among the membership to replace eight other men who are retiring from the organization's board of directors this year. These men will be named at the banquet, as will the new president and vice-president.

War Close To Each Of Us—Even To Sailor On Seas

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 19 (AP)—War is close to each of us these days—even to the sailor on the high seas.

William Manning, 20, just returned from a trip around the world as a member of a freighter crew, found that no matter where he wandered, the conflict was on everyone's tongue.

In South Africa he talked with young British seamen from the Archilles and the Ajax. They then were searching for the Admiral Graf Spee and the Admiral Scheer.

From natives in Indian ports he gained the impression that revolution is brewing, and saw the British fortifications against a Russian attack through the Khyber pass.

At Bombay careful piloting was necessary in entering the harbor in order to avoid the hundreds of mines laid there.

Russian sailors alone knew little of the war, he said, because of strict censorship of reading material by a ship's officer.

German U-Boats Successful In Attac

Several Ships Claimed Sunk

BERLIN, Feb. 19 (U.P.)—German submarines have successfully attacked four enemy convoys, sinking a destroyer and an undisclosed number of freight and tank ships, the high command announced today.

It was the first German blow in retaliation for the British attack in Norwegian waters on the German steamship Altmark.

Several Are Sunk

"In various ocean areas U-boats again successfully attacked enemy convoys," the high command said in a communique. "In three convoys steamships and tankers were sunk. In a fourth convoy a destroyer was sunk which belonged to the protecting forces of this convoy."

The high command announcement was made as the inspired press asserted that the Altmark attack obligated the League of Nations to impose penalties on Great Britain and to take military action against her.

Nine Officers And 148 Men Feared Lost With Destroyer

LONDON, Feb. 19 (U.P.)—The admiralty announced today that the destroyer Daring had been torpedoed and sunk.

One officer and four men were saved and nine officers and 148 men are missing and feared lost, the admiralty said.

Daring was one of the Defender class of destroyers, of 1,375 tons, with four 4.7-inch and six smaller guns, laid down under the 1930 program. Four of the ships of this class were acquired by the Canadian government.

The admiralty's announcement was:

"The admiralty regrets to announce that the destroyer Daring, Commander S. A. Cooper, has been torpedoed and sunk. One officer and four men were picked up and nine officers and 148 men are missing and feared lost. Next of kin have been informed."

Four British Army Deserters Nabbed By Woman Constable

LONDON, Feb. 19 (U.P.) — Police Constable Jane Hendron has an eagle eye and fears no man, as she proved when she arrested four army deserters singlehanded.

She was walking in Ladywell Recreation ground, London, when she saw four men lying on the ground. She noticed that each of them was wearing one or more articles of army clothing, such as socks and boots. When she questioned them, they did not answer, so she called a park-keeper as a witness to the arrests—and marched all four off to the police station.

There they all admitted that they were deserters from the Royal Army Service corps.

Said the Greenwich magistrate to Constable Jane:

"I must congratulate you on getting such a haul in one day."

NEW SPUR CONCERN

SPUR.—E. A. Brashear, formerly of San Saba, announces he is opening an auto parts store here. A building has been leased at the corner of Burlington and Fifth streets.

The historian Herodutus recorded that the ancient Egyptians made cloth from the mineral, asbestos.

CENTER OF CONTROVERSY—Center of a controversy between the Oklahoma State Highway commission and the Grand River Dal Authority is this $369,000 highway bridge near Grove, Okla. Members of the authority declare the bridge was constructed on the basis of an oral agreement with a former commission in lieu of damage to existing highway facilities. The present commission, backed by Gov. Leon C. Phillips, disclaimed the agreement and Phillips has asserted a 48,000-acre lake must not be flooded by the authority until the state's claim of $850,000 for the roads is settled.

Lubbock-Owned Horse, Anacacho Revel, Is Ridden By Leslie Howard In "Gone With The Wind;" Name Changed To "Rebel"

Anacacho Revel, Lubbock-owned three-gaited American bred saddle horse, is one of the principal characters of "Gone With the Wind," which will be screened here a week beginning next Sunday.

The 8-year-old 16-hands golden chestnut gelding owned by L. E. Davis has been in the golden star class, the highest recognition awarded three-gaited show horses, several times because of his performances and earnings in the country's classiest show rings.

Ridden By Leslie Howard

He will be ridden in the picture by Leslie Howard, English actor.

But his name will be "Rebel."

Anacacho Revel, who shows in saddle or in fine harness, was sired by Edna May's King, the world's champion five-gaited horse and who sold for the highest price ever paid for a horse, and his dam was Highland Jane, one of the finest horses ever seen in the ring.

MGM asked permission to use the horse after Clark Gable, star of the picture, had seen Anacacho Revel several times at Pomona, where he was being wintered. He had asked permission to ride him.

Always "In The Money"

A veritable drawerful of ribbons and numerous trophies attest to the winning proclivities of the horse. He has been in show after show—and never has failed to "be in the money."

As a matter of fact, he has won more than any other offspring of his famous sire, of which there are hundreds.

Davis bought the horse as a 4-year-old, on the Anacacho ranch between San Antonio and Del Rio.

Perfect in temperament, the horse never is touched with a whip. Indeed, a whip never is carried by his trainer. When he steps out of his stall he begins preening, recognizing necessity for show form.

Memory Is Unusual

He trains only 20 minutes a day and when taken to his stall he is carefully cooled inside and out, his legs rubbed with liniment and padded with cotton over which tape is strung.

His memory is unusual. Persons who have been around him as many as several times are recognized months later when the horse sees them at other shows.

By three-gaited is meant ability to walk, trot and canter on both leads. To the five-gaited horse is added the slow gait and rack. Anacacho Revel once was five-gaited, but he raised his feet so high he struck the ground with such force it was feared he would injure himself.

A wonder horse—that's what all judges call him.

BUILD A WAREHOUSE

RALLS.—Construction is under way here of a warehouse and office for the state highway department. It will be 40x80 feet and is located north of the old high school building.

The Labrador duck first was made known to science in 1788, and little is known of its nesting habits. Not one egg was saved, and only a few specimens of the bird are in existence today. It is supposed to have been bred in Labrador. Feather hunters are blamed for its extinction.

Family Has Moved 34 Times Within The Past 32 Years

STONINGTON, Conn., Feb. 19 (U.P.)—Charity workers are attempting to determine settlements on a family which recently moved into the town and which is on relief. The apportionments are for an expert to decide.

The family, they say, moved 34 times in 32 years in a tour of the following towns: Jewett City, Fiskdale, Ballouville, Voluntown, Occum, Glasgo, White Rock, Attawaugan, Pachaug, New London, Goodyear, Norwich Falls, Central Village, Moosup, Passaic, N. J., Pawcatuck and Stonington. The moves took the fawily back several times to the same town.

Two years was the longest period in any town. The department declined to reveal the family's name.

The first bank was said to have been established in Italy by the Lombard Jews in 808.

after a cold then what

DOCTORS stress remaining in bed until the body temperature is normal. Sound advice.

You know how weak you feel after a cold. Colds play havoc in weakening the body. The story is well told in the blood picture. It is important to build back body strength right away to carry the load of work, worries, and loss of sleep. A weakened body may be more susceptible to relapse or long drawn out recovery.

So reason sensibly and take the choice of millions by immediately starting on a course of S.S.S. Tonic—taken three times a day immediately before meals. In the absence of a focal infection or organic disease, you should note improvement in the way you feel and look within the first 10 days. The confidence of millions over many years is the best testimonial of this product.

An experience with S.S.S Tonic will cause you to say to your friends, S.S.S. made me "feel and look like myself again."
