Report Will Be Told On 'Queer Attitude' Here

Summons Is Made Just Four Days After Wilson Is Told To Come From Germany

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Nov. 18—Germany today called home her ambassador to Washington for a report on "the queer attitude" of President Roosevelt and other American leaders toward the wave of violence and restrictive measures against Jews in Nazi Germany.

The summons to Ambassador Hans Dieckhoff was sent just four days after announcement that United States Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson had been ordered home by President Roosevelt for report and consultation.

Comes As Surprise

The order for Dieckhoff to return came as a surprise even to many foreign office functionaries. It was interpreted as meaning that Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and other members of the cabinet have found it difficult to believe Dieckhoff's cabled reports concerning American reaction to Germany's anti-semitism.

Officials generally had expected that Dieckhoff would return to Berlin to report only after Wilson had conferred with President Roosevelt.

Next Step Depends

Upon the nature of the American envoy's report, the gist of which Dieckhoff had been expected to learn, would depend the next German step, informed circles believed.

Yesterday, however, it was reliably learned, reports from the United States were considered by

Drive Costing Nazis Orders

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Nov. 18—The anti-Jewish drive is costing Germany orders for her goods from abroad and it appeared today that other economic difficulties may follow.

One exporter said all orders had been cancelled by customers in five leading countries around Germany.

Another asserted ruefully that the steep downward curve of business extended beyond the bottom of his sales graph.

First Effect Noted

The sharp decrease of foreign orders, manufacturers said, was the first effect they noted after the wrecking of Jewish shops, the decrees ordering these shops under aryan proprietorship, and the $400,000,000 fine a consequence of the shooting by a Jewish boy of the Paris embassy secretary, Ernst vom Rath, who was buried yesterday with Nazi honors.

New prohibitions include, the newspaper Angriff said, one against tenant rights for Jews which would permit an aryan wanting a Jew's home to have him evicted overnight. The paper said some 8,000 homes in Berlin would become available shortly for aryans.

Guests To Be Banned

Jewish guests are to be banned from small hotels. The larger hotels are not adhering to the ban, a reliable person said, because of their international clientele.

With new restrictions becoming known daily while Nazi newspapers continue attacks upon the United States and Britain for their expressions of resentment, industrialists have asked that German chambers of commerce abroad examine market possibilities more exhaustively and try to provide counter-stimulants.

Experts of the economics ministry, meanwhile, are studying how the wholesale "aryanization" of Jewish capital may be handled without do-

International Trade Boom Is Also Expected To Improve As Result Of Tariff Cuts

BY ANDRUE BERDING
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—The three greatest merchant nations—Great Britain, Canada and the United States—provided one another far-reaching tariff reductions today in the expressed hope of increasing foreign trade and thereby preserving world peace.

Historic commercial agreements, giving concessions on more than 2,250 products, were signed late yesterday in the mirrored East room of the White House.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada and Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador, joined Secretary of State Hull in predicting that better international understanding and cooperation would result.

View Differs In Quarters

But from some quarters came assertions that the agreements would place certain American producers in an unfair competitive position. Governors Aiken of Vermont and Barrows of Maine, both republicans, declared that the tariff concessions discriminated against New England.

Two Kansas City Patrol Cars Collide, Killing Policeman

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 18 (AP) — Two police patrol cars, their sirens sounding so loudly drivers could not hear each other, collided at a street intersection today, killing Patrolman Henry Shipe, 35. The cars were speeding to give assistance to other officers engaged in a shooting scrape with two negroes.

Shipe's death was the first motor car fatality here in November, during which police have been engaged in an intense campaign to reduce traffic accidents.

Methodist Session Awarded Lubbock

(Special To The Journal)

MEMPHIS, Nov. 18. — Lubbock this morning was awarded the 1939 meeting place of the Northwest Texas conference of the Methodist Episcopal church and the 30th annual session will be held in the Hub city about mid-November of next year.

Following a ballot, in which Haskell and Sweetwater were contestants, Lubbock was accorded the meeting by more than a majority of the delegates voting, said Rev. Cal C. Wright, secretary of the conference, who made the announcement.

Rev. E. B. Bowen of Sweetwater, moved that the selection be made unanimous and it was adopted.

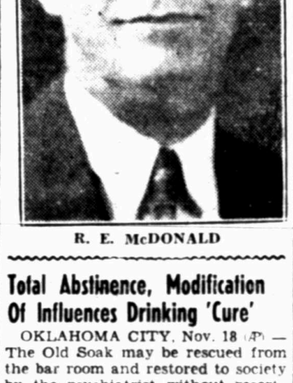

Invitation to meet in Lubbock was given this morning by Rev. L. N. Lipscomb, pastor of the First Lubbock church, who would be host pastor. In an effective, short talk, he set forth the desires of Lubbock, not only of the Methodists of the Hub city, but civic organizations and others as well, to meet there.

Rev. Dr. O. P. Clark, presiding elder of the Lubbock district, made the seconding speech.

Previously formal invitations from the Lubbock chamber of commerce and from the civic clubs of the city had been received by the conference.

Total Abstinence, Modification Of Influences Drinking 'Cure'

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 18 (AP) — The Old Soak may be rescued from the bar room and restored to society by the psychiatrist without resorting to heroic "cures".

The cure of the hard drinker should begin with total abstinence, avoiding all tapering off processes, Dr. Robert C. Seliger of Johns Hopkins, Baltimore, told the Southern Medical association here today.

"A person who has been an excessive drinker," Dr. Seliger said, "can never be a moderate, controlled, or a one-or-two cocktail drinker."

He suggested it often was possible to modify the influences that may have driven the patient to drink in the first place — poor vocational adjustment, family difficulties.

Oil And Gas Boom Excitement Is Felt In Lovington Today

LOVINGTON, N. M., Nov. 18. (AP) —The excitement of an oil and gas boom struck this southeastern New Mexico cowtown today.

Several million cubic feet of gas went skyward late yesterday when drillers on a wildcat well of the Westmount company struck a gas pocket at 2,986 feet.

The well is six miles south of this town, never before affected by the boom that followed the discovery of oil throughout the rest of Lea county.

War Official Says FDR To Ask Increase

Present Air Force Must Be Quadrupled To Meet Pace, Johnson Declares Today

(By The Associated Press)

BOSTON, Nov. 18—Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, predicted today that President Roosevelt would ask congress for an army air force of upwards of 9,280 fighting planes.

Johnson, a key figure in the president's restudy of national defense needs, gave the first official outline of parts of the administration's prospective armament program. He told the New England council that "our air supremacy is threatened" by Europe's advances.

Must Be Best Planes

"To meet the tremendous pace that the rest of the world is setting, we must double, yes, treble and perhaps even quadruple our present air force with the best airplanes that can possibly be produced," Johnson said.

The army's present goal of 2,320 first line planes by mid-1940 he termed "far below our immediate needs."

"Mass production of airplanes we must achieve in this country and we must do so immediately," Johnson continued.

Another Objective Outlined

A six-month supply of weapons and supplies for an army of a million men is another outstanding administration objective, he indicated.

Without referring to President Roosevelt's assertion that national defense involved security of the entire western hemisphere, Johnson declared that "right now we are weak in the sinews of battle to protect even our own shores."

The burly, partly bald assistant secretary gave no estimate of the cost of the far reaching proposals or the dates for attaining the new objectives. War department spokesmen told congress this year however that equipping the projected 1,000,000-man force with "essential" arms and supplies would cost $440,000,000.

Lists Military Needs

Johnson listed these as among outstanding military needs, making it clear he was referring to the army alone and not the navy:

1. Expansion and improvement of aviation research facilities, particularly at Wright field, Dayton, O.

2. Manifold increase of the American aviation industry's productive

Birth Rate Decline In U. S. Is Marked

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—The American birth rate is going down so fast that if everyone up to 45 who died betwewen 1930 and '35, had lived, they could not balance the deficit of unborn babies.

The American Philosophical society was told this today as it opened its fall meeting with a symposium on American population growth. The program was arranged by the Population Association of America.

Like A "Fixed" Budget

The present rate was described by Frank W. Notestein, of Princeton university's school of public affairs, like a budget which has been "fixed." It showed, he explained, that in 1936 the population was increasing at the rate of five for every thousand persons.

But if that 1936 rate continues it will wind up in a loss of two persons per thousand, due to excess deaths over births. The present slight favorable balance of "five" is due to a preponderance of persons at ages of low mortality and high fertility. They are producing the slight margin of extra children.

Not To Last Much Longer

This group is not expected to last much longer. It is a "heritage" from America's past when everyone died younger, a condition now rapidly passing with the rise in life span. This newer balance in the country's "life books," he said, means there soon will be more people at less fertile ages.

When that balance is completed, if the fertile are producing only at

Lewis Elected CIO Leader

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 18.—John L. Lewis was elected first president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations today following a 28-minute tumultuous demonstration by 500 delegates representing some 3,800,000 workers in more than 40 national and international unions.

Tables went down in the tumult. Scotch bagpipers took the head of one parade, while another marched in an opposite direction.

Lewis, smiling and grinning and laughing aloud, sat on the platform beside Mrs. Lewis.

Big and small American flags were waved by the storming delegates. One British flag was seen.

The veteran labor leader was nominated by his long-time friend and righthand lieutenant, Philip Murray, vice-president off the United mine workers and chairman of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee.

Lewis' goal, Murray said, had been the "better distribution of the profits of industry."

Concern Expressed For Safety Of 35 Men In Pathway Of Fire

UPLAND, Calif., Nov. 18 (AP) — Concern was expressed today for the safety of 35 men, employed in a federal forest experiment camp in the path of a timber and brush fire raging along a one-mile front in San Antonio canyon, north of here.

Arthur De Mott, in charge of the experiment station, said the men had been warned but that no word had been heard from them. He described the blaze as moving "at great speed" into 17,000 acres of virgin timber which comprise the government's experimental tract within the Angeles National forest.

Interference In China Denied In Jap Note

'Ideas And Principles Of The Past' No Longer Apply, U. S. Is Informed Today

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Nov. 18—Japan today rejected all major contentions of the United States note of Oct. 6 protesting against "unwarranted interference" with American rights in China and declared that "ideas and principles of the past" no longer applied to the Chinese situation.

The Japanese reply, handed to Ambassador Joseph C. Grew, said in conclusion:

"In the face of the new situation any attempt to apply to the conditions of today and to morrow the inapplicable ideas and principles of the past neither would contribute to the peace of East Asia nor solve the immediate issues."

The Japanese note, which has the approval of the cabinet and the sanction of Emperor Hirohito, declared that Japan was engaged in establishing a new order in East Asia "which is an indispensable condition of Japan's very existence."

The note took up the points of the American protest one by one. On some points the allegations of the United States were denied. On others counter-arguments were offered. Elsewhere pleas of military necessity were made.

The Japanese reply was authoritatively interpreted as notice that Japan considers that the new conditions created by her conquest of a large portion of China have rendered outdated the international agreements concerning China reached immediately after the World war.

Already responsible Japanese spokesmen have indicated a determination that such pacts as the 19

"Murder To Music"—By Nard Jones—Copyright, 1938 NEA Service, Inc.

CHAPTER 1

It was Wednesday night in the Golden Bowl of the Pacific-Plaza, the city's smartest hotel—and leading The Swingateers was Ludden Dombey. Ludden Dombey, acknowledged "tom of the swing cats."

Tall, slender, undeniably charming, Lud Dombey held his baton almost carelessly. His arm seemed to move but little, his wrist only a little more. And yet a rhythm emanated from the figure of Lud Dombey as surely as if he himself were an instrument.

He was leading The Swingateers in what he called "a warm-up number." Nobody was dancing—yet. The tables just below him were crowded with young people. Wednesday night was their night in the Golden Bowl. Wednesday night was when Lud Dombey cut loose with swing for those who appreciated it, when he added such touches as this "warm-up number" and let go of his best wisecracks.

No one watched the attractive Lud Dombey more closely than Myrna Rogers. To Myrna it wasn't just Wednesday night—it was her wedding night. And the man she was going to marry was Ludden Dombey!

To Myrna herself it was fantastic, almost unbelievable. How, she asked herself, for the hunderdth time, had it happened? Here was she, a stenographer— "Miss Rogers" in the firm of Kelly, Clarke and Kelly. And there stood Dombey, idolized by thousands, at the crest of his fame, with looks and money and, seemingly, everything. There were at least a dozen girls in the town who would give much more than Myrna Rogers had given to be Mrs. Ludden Dombey. They were girls of position and wealth, girls who could have really helped him on his way—or retired him until the end of his days.

Yet Myrna believed in his love for her, and in her love for him. It had happened so swiftly, and so completely, that she was certain of its truth. She would never forget the night she sat at a table in the Golden Bowl, and Lud Dombey had looked down at her with that smile. It hadn't been his professional smile. It was a special smile; and Lud Dombey had done something no one had ever seen him do before. He had stepped down from the platform and asked a girl to dance with him. From that moment it was all over for Myrna.

"You're in love with his music," her friend, Anne Lester, had chided. "Like a million other girls. You're a dyed-in-the-wool jitterbug, that's what. When Lud and his outfit are in the groove, and you're shagging it down, it's his music—not Dombey—that gets you."

But Anne Lester loved Myrna too much not to hope it was the real thing. With Myrna's marriage she'd lose a roommate, and possibly, a close friend, but she was all for Myrna's happiness. It was strange that tonight, as she sat at the table with Myrna, waiting to act as her maid of honor, she should have this feeling of something impending. Something queer and strange and awfully wrong.

Wisely, she kept her premonition from Myrna. She tried to stifle it within herself, afraid that somehow it might transfer itself to Myrna. Myrna was too happy, sitting there watching Lud Dombey, and it shouldn't be spoiled.

Myrna had no living relatives, but the jovial Lud had quickly solved the wedding problem. "We'll have it on a Wednesday night in the Blue Room at the Pacific-Plaza," he said. "That's the night when my best fans are in the Bowl. We can have the ceremony during the intermission—and then I'll introduce you as Mrs. Ludden Dombey!"

That was the way it was planned. That was the way things were when you were with Lud Dombey. You whirled along with him. You let him do it his way, even if it was your own wedding.

And it happened smoothly, too, as everything happened where Lud Dombey was concerned. After a few introductory numbers Lud turned The Swingateers over to "Torchy" Stephens and sat at the table with Myrna and Anne. When the intermission was near, the three slid unobtrusively to the Blue Room on the Pacific-Plaza's mezzanine.

It went off so quickly that Anne had to hold herself to keep from crying out. That terrible premonition was swelling larger in her breast. She stood trembling beside Myrna, watched through tear-glazed eyes as Harris Rogers, manager of The Swingateers, found the ring and handed it to Dombey. As in a dream she heard Myrna's "I do" spoken softly, and Dombey's sound out clear and self-assured. Then the pleased murmur in the room as the minister pronounced the final words which made Myrna and Ludden man and wife. . . .

They hurried back to the table almost as soon as the ceremony was over. "You girls stay here a moment with Harris," he whispered. Then he leaned close to Myrna. "I'm going to have them turn the golden spot on you, darling—"

"Sure thing, honey. They'll all want to see you!"

And then he was gone. Myrna watched him, striding towards his band. She felt Harris Rogers rise beside her. "Hello, there, Tait," he

Scouts 'All Set' For Toy Drive

Boy Scouts are "all set" for their annual Christmas toy pickup Saturday, according to announcement this morning by J. Ray Dickey, general chairman.

The pickup will begin immediately after 9 o'clock and will be completed by noon, he said.

The chairman voiced a last appeal to those with toys for which they no longer have use to bundle them and place them on their front porch or steps where they easily can be seen by the scouts.

Anything For A Gift

By the term "toy", he explained, is meant anything which might make a suitable gift for a needy child on Christmas day.

All are to be repaired by Boy Scouts working under skilled supervision and then will be turned over to Lubbock Goodfellows for Christmas distribution. If in doubt as to whether a toy is beyond repair, the chairman suggested, leave for the boys anyway. They get surprising results frequently with seemingly hopeless material, but if the repair job is beyond their ingenuity, it is no trouble to discard what has been given.

Must Be Useful

Everything which might be useful is desired, Dickey emphasized, because all can be put to good purpose and all will be needed. Surveys have established that the Goodfellows' job will be a big-one—bigger than last year when more than 1,000 toys representing a value of approximately $600 were collected. More children are to be remembered this year than last.

The Boy Scouts are to assemble at designated meeting places at 8:45 a. m. to receive final instructions. They then will start coverage of a territory assigned to them. Each group of boys will be trailed by automobiles into which the collected gifts will be loaded.

Assignments Are Given

Assignments for the pickup were announced as being, with the leader in charge of each group:

Troops 2, 5, 8, 13 and 17, Earl Hunt in charge, to meet at Nineteenth street and Avenue N.

Troops 3 and 4, Dr. Marshall Harvey, at Fourteenth and S.

Troops 14 and 15, Boone Horne, Eighth and U.

Troops 7 and 12, Rex Blackburn, Fourth and Q.

Troops 6, 10 and 11, George H. Watkins, Nineteenth and College.

Area Teachers To Attend Meet

Lubbock schools and Texas Technological college and public schools over the entire area will be represented at the Texas State Teachers association meeting in Dallas, Nov. 24-26.

Official delegates from this district of the association are to be W. C. Cox, Muleshoe; Hayes Holman, Post; R. H. Nowlin, Crosbyton, George H. Gentry, Big Spring; Mrs. Ruth McLaughlin, Lamesa; Herman Ford, Plainview; Joe Hutchinson, Sudan; Margaret Cooper, Littlefield; S. G. Anthony, Wilson; Miss Opal Sloan, Miss Dorothy Lomax, of Lubbock public schools and Dr. Doyle D. Jackson of Texas Technological college; Carrie A. Shannon, Levelland.

Those representatives to the house of delegates, body which will elect the new president, were chosen by the West Texas division of the state association.

Supt. W. B. Irvin of Lubbock public schools is to serve as chairman of a section meeting on superintendence. Dr. Jackson is to deliver a paper in a visual education section meeting and Dr. C. B. Qualia, head professor of foreign languages at the college, is scheduled to take part in a discussion in a foreign languages section meeting.

Visual Education Is Making Progress In Area, Survey Shows; Texas Tech Leader

"West Texas is definitely progressive in the field of visual education," Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, associate professor of education at Texas Technological college, pointed out after making an extensive survey.

Dr. Jackson made the survey to obtain information for a paper to be presented in a visual education section meeting Nov. 25 at the Texas State Teachers association convention in Dallas. T. F. Huggins of Slaton, West Texas manager of the Texas Visual Education company, assisted in the survey.

Substantial Investments Made

Several schools of this immediate area were included in a list of 40 West Texas public schools found to have made substantial investments in newer forms of equipment making possible the showing of motion pictures or slides in classroom instruction.

The schools are Lubbock, Crosbyton, Brownfield, El Paso, Breckenridge, San Angelo, Amarillo, Abilene, Pampa, Childress, Sweetwater, Ozona, Sonora, Alpine, Fort Stockton, Marfa, Big Spring, Wink, Grand Falls, Monahans, Garden City, Rotan, Stamford, Fluvanna, Mobeetie, Farwell, Friona, Odessa, Quail, Samnorwood, Booker, Memphis, Panhandle, Allison, Briscoe, Vernon, Hereford, Canyon, Dimmitt and Whitharral.

Tech Offers Course

The report shows that Texas Tech was one of five West Texas colleges that offered audio-visual education courses in the 1938 summer session. It was one of seven in the state. Tech at present is offering an extension course in audio-visual education at Crosbyton, with Dr. Lewis B. Cooper, associate professor of education, as instructor. Twenty-three persons are enrolled. Another field course has been requested for the second semester.

"The right sort and well selected motion pictures offer an excellent media for students to visualize the subjects they are studying in a thoroughly real and objective light; to see them as wholes, as sequences in time and to comprehend more fully their nature. There are but few, if any, educators in West Texas today who doubt that motion pictures both silent and sound, are an efficient educational device," Dr. Jackson wrote in the paper to be presented.

Imagination Is Stirred

"We believe that when a child visualizes a subject, say a motion picture of a historical event, his imagination is stirred, his curiosity is aroused, and the seeds of learning are planted deeper in his mind. He is more eager to study his history text in order to acquire the sense of the different relationships that brought into being the historical event that he witnessed on the screen."

He pointed out that in so far as his paper was concerned, visual education might be defined as "the showing of motion pictures and stereoptican slides and film slides to school children as a part of their school instruction."

Tech this fall established a visual education library, from which films are rented.

Mrs. T. T. Garrard Of Tahoka Comes In With Her Buck Too

TAHOKA, Nov. 18, (special) — First report of a South Plains woman getting her buck this deer-killing season came in with Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Garrard of Tahoka from the Davis mountains.

Mrs. Garrard matched her husband when she dropped a buck with one shot. If there had been another hunter in the party he could have had a buck, too, but the limit did not allow Garrard, employe of the postoffice here, or Mrs. Garrard to kill another.

Garrard's buck had 10 points, Mrs. Garrard's 6.

Mrs. Garrard is a daughter of R. L. Tubbs of Lubbock. She attended high school there.

CHARLESTON GETS SESSION

Dr. O. P. Clark Is Named As One Of Texas Conference Delegates

One Lubbock minister, Rev. Dr. O. P. Clark, presiding elder of the Lubbock district of the Methodist church, and two former ministers, are members of the delegation of six Northwest Texas Conference ministers to attend the uniting conference of all Methodism at Kansas City, Mo., next spring.

Rev. W. M. Pearce, former presiding elder and now pastor at Pampa and Rev. J. O. Haynes, presiding elder at Amarillo and former pastor here, were chosen with Dr. Clark and Rev. C. R. Hooten of Plainview.

At the Kansas City conference, all branches of Methodism will meet to perfect amalgamation and consolidation of the church into one large denomination. Six ministers and six laymen are to represent the conference. Ray H. Nichols, Vernon editor and conference lay leader, was the first layman named. He is also well known in Lubbock and over this area.

The conference today elected four additional lay delegates.

Now is the Time to Figure the WHOLE COST of GUARANTEED All-Winter Protection against BOIL-AWAY, FREEZE-UP and RUST

Find Your Car Here

$2.95 A GALLON

COLD WAVE COMING!

Freezing temperatures within twenty-four hours, says Weather man

You've got to do something about your car at once... one of two things:

1. Take a chance with ordinary boil-away anti-freeze that will need replacement as the weather see-saws back and forth and motor heat brings the radiator solution above its boiling point.

2. Give your car the proper protection from the beginning and free yourself from worry and uncertainty all winter long.

Better be sure, better be happy, better be thrifty with "Eveready" "Prestone" anti-freeze. It's guaranteed in writing.

FIND YOUR CAR ON THIS CHART

IMPORTANT! The price per gallon of an anti-freeze means nothing unless you know how many gallons you will need during the entire winter. You can't get that information on a boil-away anti-freeze. But you can get it for "Prestone" anti-freeze... and here it is. See how reasonably you can get two-way protection all winter long against both freeze-up and rust formations with one shot of "Prestone" anti-freeze—one shot because it won't boil off, no matter how warm the weather gets between the cold snaps. If your car isn't on this chart, your dealer has a chart showing all cars; and amounts needed for temperatures to 60° below zero.

Find your car and read from left to right. The first figure shows the protection you get with one gallon of "Eveready" "Prestone" anti-freeze in the cooling system; the second with one and a half gallons—and so on. "+" means above zero. "−" means below zero. If your car has a hot water heater, add ½ gallon to the quantity called for.

Clean as a Kitten

AS IF IT HAD NINE LIVES, a clean, correctly lubricated motor keeps going mile after mile, and year after year ... with less fuss and noise, and fewer costly visits to the repair shop.

The dictionary says that refine means "to purify, to cleanse"—which gives you an idea of what we do to produce Phillips 66 Motor Oil. Out go destructive impurities and harmful elements. Out goes wax, to insure free, fast flow in winter. Out goes gum which might make piston rings stick.

What remains is a great lubricant ... 100% Paraffin base ... 100% Phillips value, with rich body and high-degree oiliness to provide a tough, friction-reducing film ... resistant to high speed, high pressure, and high heat.

And the big plus is the Phillips name. This makes for peace of mind, because you know that you are getting all the lubrication you pay for, when you drain and refill with Phillips 66 Motor Oil ... at the Orange and Black 66 Shield.

American Textile Industry Makes Greatest Concessions In Pact

Duties Cut On Finer Goods

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 — The American textile industry, employing about 1,300,000 workers, provided the most important concessions in the United States in an agreement which involved nearly one-fifth of our trade with the whole world.

Felt In Northeast

Textile experts indicated that the reductions made, if they affected American industry to any extent, probably would be felt more in the northeastern area than in the South.

They remarked the concessions made were on finer yarns and goods, manufactured principally in New England.

The 40 concessions made on cotton goods covered chiefly yarns of the finer count and cloth in the higher-price range, state department officials said.

Duties Are Reduced

Duties were reduced on cotton yarn finer than 60s, imports of which from the United Kingdom were $1,147,000 in 1937 officials said the bulk of domestic production was coarser than 40s and would not be affected by the reduced duty.

In the new tariff schedule with the United Kingdom, minimum specific rates on grey cloth were reduced 28 per cent and the ad valorem rates were lowered, but only on cloth valued at more than 70 cents a pound.

Other Reductions Made

The duty on bleached cloth, not exceeding a count of 60 and valued at more than 80 cents a pound, was reduced 31 per cent. Other reductions included printed, dyed or colored cloth, not exceeding 60s, 34 per cent reduction, cotton wearing apparel valued at $4 or more, 17 to 57 per cent reduction.

In the Canadian treaty which was renewed with the signing of the British agreement, the United States received 24 concessions on textile goods. They were on exports valued at $4,500,000,000 last year and included denims, cotton bags, cotton thread and yard, woven cotton fabrics, cotton clothing, wearing apparel, household cotton blankets, women's knitted outerwear, knitted garments and socks and stockings other than wool.

Baylor University's Freshmen Make Stabs At Quiz Answer; Gresham's Law Is Defined

WACO, Nov. 18. (AP)—An explanation of Gresham's law was asked in a quiz in a Baylor university economics course.

One student wrote:

"Gresham's law: if the what-you-call-it is balanced in the whats-it, any increase in pressure from the one end will tend to raise the other end and the momentum will encrease in direct proportion to the upswing of the thing-um-bob, causing the barometer to fall presently, succeeded by light hail or rain.

"The moral to this is: when in an elevator, don't poke your elbow into the eye of your best friend while attempting to raise your hat to a lady whom you never saw before, and besides, it isn't worthy of such attention anyway. P. S., forget it!"

Another answer to the question, this one from a freshman, explained that "Gresham's law is an act passed by the legislature to end the depression."

Cotton Still Is On Free List

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—United States cotton will hold its place on the United Kingdom's free-entry list.

This was assured today by provisions of the Anglo-American trade agreement.

In the last season, Great Britain has supplanted Japan as the principal foreign market for American cotton. This product is usually the largest American export to the United Kingdom, although tobacco sometimes ranks first.

"This binding," said the state department, "is important in view of the possibility that preference might otherwise hereafter be given to cotton of empire origin by the imposition of a duty on imports from non-British countries."

The Canadian agreement also bound raw cotton to that dominion's free entry list.

Only Limited Reductions Made On Woolen Goods

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—The trade agreements signed with the United Kingdom provide only limited reductions in tariffs on woolen manufactures imported into this country and do not cover raw wool.

The largest reductions in duty were limited to articles of high quality which, the state department said, were not produced in the United States or which did not compete with the bulk of the domestic output of wool manufactures.

The duties on wool wastes were reduced by varying percentages, ranging from 1 to 10 cents a pound on different classifications.

Fort Worth Woman Apologizes For Commotion And Smell; Skunk Is Caught In Trap

FORT WORTH, Nov. 18. (AP)—Mrs. B. F. Cloud was apologizing to her neighbors today for two things—the commotion and the smell.

The commotion occurred shortly after midnight, when a noise in the cloud attic convinced her a rat trap had caught a victim. Armed with a broom she went to the attic, snapped on a flashlight and found in the trap a half grown skunk gnawing its foot off.

Wylie Frazier, her grandson appeared with a rifle and ended the excitement as the skunk made a bolt for freedom. The smell lingered on.

Bats are animals, not birds. They suckle their young, and are classed by zoologists as flying mammals.

COTTON IS MOVING

WHITEFACE — A considerable amount of cotton ginned at Enochs, in Bailey county, is being shipped from Whiteface to the ports at Galveston.

Experts agree that the maximum population the earth can support is 12,000,000,000 persons.

Tech Band Rehearses For New Mexico Game In Windstorm

Texas Technological college bandsters braved wind and sand Thursday night in the stadium to rehearse formations to be presented between halves of the Tech-New Mexico university football game Saturday in Albuquerque.

A special maneuver featuring a trumpet fanfare will herald the band's appearance on the field. A quickly executed "NMU" formation in which the musicians play the university's alma mater tune and a Double-T pattern accompanied by the Matador song, followed by a "modified goose-step" to the accompaniment of an old German waltz complete the band's performance.

"Eighty-three band members, including two drum majors, will leave for Albuquerque at 11 o'clock tonight on the special train," according to D. O. Wiley, director.

The drum major from Marquette university will be in Lubbock to participate in Tech band maneuvers at the Tech-Marquette game Nov. 26, Wiley added.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Laverty and family, 2016 Eighteenth street, left this morning on a 10-day visit with relatives in Tipton, Me., and Independence, Kan.

A bridge foursome could play 24 hands every day for a period of 6,123,828,480,455,803,565,917 years and never have the same distribution of cards.

Church Socials Are Planned

Plans for entertainment of students at Texas Technological college were announced Thursday by two Lubbock church congregations.

Pioneer theme will be carried out in the three-course turkey dinner.

An informal program, under the chairmanship of Miss Twila Farrell, will include a musical trio and dramatic skits.

Tickets are on sale for 50 cents, and may be obtained from the recreation committee, headed by Waggoner Carr.

First Christian church will entertain at 5:30 tonight with a weiner roast at the city park section of Mackenzie State park for members of the young people's association.

Fifty-Three Teachers In Amarillo Public Schools Graduates Or Exes Of Texas Tech

Fifty-three teachers in Amarillo public schools are either graduates or former students of Texas Technological college.

That information was given by J. H. Smith, president of the Amarillo Texas Tech association.

The association, organized last May, has the largest membership of any ex-students association of the college with exception of the parent association. It represents nearly 300 ex-students.

Smith, in a letter from Amarillo, wrote that Clifford B. Jones of Spur, chairman of the board of directors, had been invited to address the association at its next regular meeting, Dec. 1. "We hope to have a real pep rally of Texas Tech students residing in the Panhandle of Texas," he wrote to Chairman Jones.

Calvin Hazlewood, administrative secretary of the entire alumni and Ex-Students association, said at Tech that motion pictures of the Tech-Loyola of the South football game played Nov. 5 would be shown at the meeting of the Amarillo group.

Inspection Is Made At Ropesville Unit

The Ropesville community project and ranch properties near Levelland were inspected Thursday by L. H. Hauter of Amarillo, regional director of the Farm Security administration, and other officials.

Ralph Wills, assistant director and state director of New Mexico; Wilson Cowan, Texas director; C. M. Evans, regional director at Dallas; Tulane Smith, assistant and Mr. Barr, also of the Dallas office were in the party.

C. B. Baldwin, Washington, D. C., member of the national office staff, was with the party. They were accompanied to Ropesville by Marvin C. Wilson, supervisor. There they met Rex Baxter, manager of the project.

Legion Opens Drive Today

Annual membership drive of Allen Bros. post of the American Legion will get quietly under way today, according to announcement by Dr. G. B. Qualia, chairman of the membership committee.

Assistants have been named, he explained, and names of membership prospects will be distributed among them. They will be responsible for the names assigned to them, Qualia said.

Assigned Quota Is 250

The post's assigned quota is 250, the same as last year, when Allen Bros. became one of a relatively few posts in Texas to exceed its objective.

Lacking, however, he said, is information concerning many of the scores of ex-service men and women eligible to membership who have moved to Lubbock in the last two or three years and who have not become affiliated with the legion.

An especial invitation is extended to them, Dr. Qualia said, to attend meetings of the post and to become members.

Start of the campaign has been delayed, according to George W. Brewer, post commander, because reorganization of the drive committee became necessary when Fred E. Wendt of the Texas state employment service was transferred recently to El Paso.

Wendt had been named chairman of the committee, but received unexpected notice of his transfer and promotion, effective at once.

Those named to assist in the campaign are W. L. Daniel, W. B. Richards, A. J. Delahunty, A. C. Jackson, W. E. Lavender, J. H. Beasley, R. D. McKinney, A. I. Glassman, R. B. Hills, O. B. Conley, W. L. Bradshaw, Lloyd Johnson, Chas. Whitacre, George Meiser, Fred Childress, J. A. Raley, jr., E. C. Kuykendall, W. T. (Tanlac) Strange, George Berry, V. M. Vanzyckle, Jimmy Rondeaux, W. B. Irvin, J. I. Kilpatrick, Hubert Allen, Glen Hess, Riley Huie, R. W. Amick, Ed Wilson, R. J. Allen, Grady West, Amos Howard, W. H. Waln, Louis Murfee and Chester Hubbard.

Police Are Mystified By The Poison Death Of Young Girl

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 18 (AP)—Despite a medical examiner's decision of suicide by poison, police last night were mystified by the death of Elizabeth Door, 23, whose pajama-clad body was found in a corner of her family's garage.

The Junior Leaguer and Smith college graduate went to the theater Wednesday night with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy C. Door. Her absence from the house was not noticed until her mother went to her room at 10 Thursday morning. Later, a maid discovered the body.

Although Medical Examiner C. J. Downey reported the girl died from poison, he said no poison was found in a preliminary autopsy. A further analysis will be made today by State Police Chemist Joseph Walker.

PENALTY FOR LOOTING

NURNBERG, Germany, Nov. 18 (AP)—The first penalty for looting of a Jewish home since the start of Germany's new anti-Semitic campaign was handed down today by the Nuernberg court, which sentenced Wilhelm Johann Klein, 21, to 18 months imprisonment.

Santone Plans Housing Units

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 18—Plans for the construction of a unique housing project for Bexar county which will cost approximately $2,000,000 are now under consideration in Washington, D. C., by the FHA, it became known Wednesday when Col. Lawrence Westbrook, technical advisor for the authority, left San Antonio after stating he would approve the specifications, with exception of a few minor changes.

According to those working on the project Bexar county will not be required to invest city money.

Will Sell Bonds

The plan is for the sponsorship to create a housing authority which will sell approximately $500,000 worth of self retiring bonds. The major portion already has been subscribed, those interested said.

The plan is for work to begin after obtaining a WPA grant of $350,000 for the construction of sidewalks, public parks, playgrounds, public grade school, rock gardens, outdoor fireplaces, kindergarten, tennis courts, swimming pool, wading pool and bath houses.

The specifications call for 400 small, inexpensive homes. The average cost per home will the $2,600 to be paid for during a period of 26 years.

Administration's Support In New Mexico Jubilee Pledged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—Officials of the New Mexico Coronado Cuarto Centennial celebration said today President Roosevelt had pledged the administration's support in the commemoration of the 400th anniversary of the Spanish explorations.

Herbert O. Brayer, director, and Dr. James F. Zimmerman, president of the celebration, visited the president to tell him about the affair in 1940 and to ask $200,000 federal assistance.

They said Mr. Roosevelt suggested congress be asked for the money.

—The News Of The Day Through The Camera's Eye—

NAZIS MATCH MAGINOT

CAMERAS ARE 'VERBOTEN' warns this sign, putting all comers on guard in this area along Germany's western frontier where Nazis are completing their Limes fortifications, sometimes called the Siegfried line. These exclusive pictures give rare views of the defense system.

ANY WAY YOU LOOK AT THIS, you'll find symmetry—and a number of England's fairest and healthiest, who are members of the women's league of health and beauty. The 79 (count 'em) were rehearsing for a physical fitness show in London.

NOT ELIGIBLE—YET for the Brown university squad of which her father, Irving "Shine" Hall, is a shining backfield member, Roberta Hall starts training anyway at home in Providence, Rhode Island.

DEEP UNDERGROUND are two soldiers of the 1938 "Wacht am Rhein." This is a crew room of the Limes fortifications on which 500,000 Germans have labored two years, building massive gun nests and tank traps. These rooms have electricity, telephone, running water.

ALL-AMERICAN talk's been centering on Bill Dwyer (above), high-scoring, elusive halfback at the University of New Mexico.

THE 'GALLOPING GHOST' IS THE REAL THING to these Chicago lads as they learn football tactics from Harold "Red" Grange, whose famous runs wrote his name indelibly in the gridiron annals of Illinois back in the mid-twenties. Red's telling the boys: "On the field you can learn how to take a licking and not cry about it." (A. P.-Paramount News Photo.)

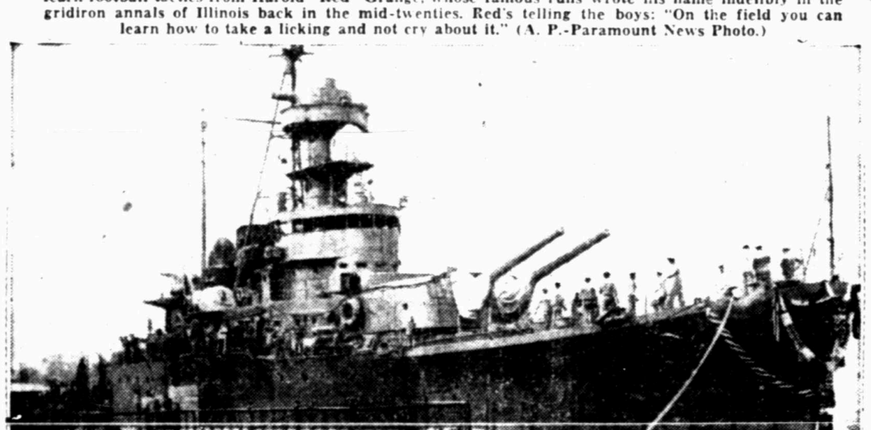

THEY SHALL NOT PASS, decided Germany, thinking of enemy tanks, and so teeth-like concrete blocks designed to rip off tanks' caterpillar treads supplement the Limes steel and stone defenses. The fortifications, built to match France's Maginot line, is to be finished this winter.

PENNY-WISE FILM STARS are buying above penny cards, adorned with a Santa Claus drawn by Shirley Temple, for the amount they usually spend on expensive greetings. The difference goes to the motion picture relief fund, explains Jean Hersholt.

HAIR PULLING was permitted — even encouraged — in Paris when the hairdressers had a speed contest. No prizes were given to the long-suffering women subjects like this girl.

JAPANESE-BUILT GUNBOAT "Dhonburi" (above), completes the 1938 naval program for Siam which includes 7 torpedo boats, 2 mine-layers, 2 convoy ships and a coastguard vessel.

THAT ROYAL LOOK COMES NATURAL to this 15-month-old royal Bengal tiger cub, newly arrived at national zoo in Washington, D. C. It's the zoo's first such tiger in several years.

'STILLMAN GETS RAILROAD INTEREST' has familiar ring, even if it's only the miniature "Rensselaer Central" with its more than 600 foot of trackage at Rensselaer Polytechnic institute in Troy, N. Y. Student officers of the line are Treasurer Guy Stillman (right), 20, whose father, James A. Stillman, sat on many railroad boards, and James Fiske (left), president.

DEATH HAS AN OFFICE in Germany's underground chambers of the Limes fortifications, where boxes of ammunition are stored in business-like cabinets, marked—no doubt—"for future reference."

Scouts To Hear George Mahon

Invitation to address the monthly district Boy Scout court of honor here the night of Dec. 2 has been accepted by Congressman George Mahon, according to announcement Thursday.

This monthly program which is scheduled for a week later than usual in order to avoid conflicting with the Thanksgiving holidays, is the last court of honor of the year and will be featured as Tenderfoot night. Tenderfoot scouts will receive their badges along with the troop members of higher ranking.

Besides Mahon's address and the presentation of awards, the chairman of Lubbock district Boy Scout court of honor committee, J. C. Reynolds, will speak. There also will be a general attendance check-up. Troop having most supporters wins custody of a special banner. The troop having largest number of members' mothers present receives a similar banner.

Chairmen Appointed

Committee also made plans for conducting work of three divisions preliminary to holding the district courts of honor. James G. Allen was appointed chairman of a board of reviews committee. H. L. Kipp was made chairman of the committee for holding a district character court. The third division is the merit badge councilers.

Besides Reynolds, Kipp and Allen, members of the court of honors committee are Tom Everheart, Harvey Austin, Grady West, R. C. Browning, Dan Powers, F. N. Blackwell, Dr. E. L. Reed and Lawrence Magee, secretary.

Earl McClure, executive for the South Plains council met with the group Thursday night.

Texas Masons To Gather At Waco Dec. 7 And 8 To Lay Cornerstone For Baylor

(By The Associated Press)

WACO, Nov. 18.—Texas Masons will gather here Dec. 7 and 8 for the annual communication of the grand lodge of Texas. One feature will be the laying Dec. 7 of the cornerstone of Baylor university's new administration building by the grand lodge with Grand Master John Temple Rice of El Paso presiding.

Preliminary to the grand lodge communication, the Masonic grand royal arch chapter and grand council will convene Nov. 28, the grand chapter committee on work will meet. R. E. Joiner of Wichita Falls is chairman of that committee and other members are George R. Kimbrough of Fort Worth; Clarence Young of Abbot; Hugh McClellan of Lubbock, and W. H. Telfair of Port Arthur.

The committee will be in session one week, examining applicants who seek certificates to teach the esoteric work of the chapter. At the conclusion of the school of instruction certificates will be awarded and renewed to those who qualify.

RELEASED UNDER BOND

DALLAS, Nov. 18. (AP)—Sally Bowlin, 28, rooming-house operator, charged with the fatal shooting of Jack S. Lindsay, 46, electrician, was free under $3,500 bond today.

John Tarleton Co-Ed To Form Society For Abolition Of Nicknames; Cites Injustices

STEPHENVILLE, Nov. 18. (AP) Miss "Tiny" Lanham, co-ed at John Tarleton college here, is planning to organize among fellow students a "Society for the abolition of Nicknames," to be known simply as "S. F. A. N.," Miss Lanham said she got the idea for the club when she saw the girl friend of a stellar back on the Plowboy football team frantically calling his Christian name while the remainder of the student body as encouragingly was shouting for "Jig Head".

"Nicknames often are misleading and cause inferiority complex among bashful persons," said the young organizer.

INSURANCE RATE CUT

SUDAN — The state fire insurance commission has advised Sudan insurance men the rate here was cut from 49 to 44 cents. "Due to improvement in the fire department and passage of an arson reward ordinance," said the report.

Picadors Play Tomorrow

By Collier Parris

BERL HUFFFMAN'S Texas Tech freshmen are assigned the job of furnishing Lubbock with its football entertainment this week, and it's apt to be pretty fair entertainment when the Pink Paralyzers (junior for Red Raiders) clash with Oklahoma's Panhandle Aggies tomorrow afternoon.

While the Tech frosh of 1938 have failed to capture the fancy of the fans, or to roll up as impressive a record against opponents, as the frosh of 1937, there are just about as many hot varsity prospects running with the Picadors now as there were last year.

If it is an off year for freshman football at Tech, it's no more than natural: with a sterling crop of sophomores and junior college transfers this year on the varsity, and other "two-year" sophomores coming up next year, there was little call for Tech agents to do much bush beating last summer. There's enough varsity material in prospect now, including the various sophomore hopefuls, to provide two good varsity teams with winning stuff.

Nevertheless, it's freshman football day at Tech tomorrow, and you're cordially invited, at 40 cents per invitation, to watch Huffman's young hustlers go up against a senior college eleven.

It won't be the first time the Picadors have played against senior college teams; they've been doing it all season, right out there at home. They have worked harder against the varsity, probably, than the varsity has worked against anybody. So go out and see the Tech futures tomorrow.

SEE BY THE PAPERS that Tech is already on the verge of drawing a post-season football invitation. . . . If they beat New Mexico tomorrow, the Techs will be invited to play San Jose State in California. . . . With all due respect to San Jose and California, we trust that Texas Tech does not take the bid seriously. . . . Several years ago, an invitation from San Jose would have meant something to Tech, but the Red Raiders, if you'll pardon us, are a bit removed, forward, from San Jose's class. . . . If Tech can't rate a more prominent post-season foe, the Raiders would do better to stay home and come out for the basketball team. . . .

It's nice to see, also by the papers, where Elmer Tarbox has been named halfback on the All-Southwestern team, as picked for NEA service by Pop Boone, veteran sports observer for the Fort Worth Press. . . . Southwest conference players take the other ten positions on the first team, and it's an honor, no less, for Tarbox to be mentioned. . . . All that's appreciated, but Tech has two more ball players than whom there are none whomer in the Southwest conference. . . . We speak of Line Captain Abe Murphy at tackle, and Dixie White at guard. . . . When better linemen than these two are made, somebody should take out a copyright. . . .

Tickets for the Texas Tech-Marquette game, booked one week from tomorrow, are on sale at the usual downtown ticket agencies. . . . Biggest "name" team on Tech's schedule, the Hilltoppers from Milwaukee probably are not the best football players on Tech's schedule. . . . But it should be an interesting, colorful game. . . . The Marquettes play University of Arizona tomorrow night, in Tucson. . . . They are scheduled to arrive in Lubbock in time for Turkey Day dinner. . . . They'll drill on the Lubbock High field while the Westerners and Sandies are playing a game of ball at Tech Stadium. . . .

Rumors that wagering folk in Albuquerque are taking the Lobos and giving Tech and six points could not be traced down last night. . . . More than one Lubbock citizen and Tech fan tried it. . . . Just off hand, we'd suggest that Tech scores about four touchdowns to New Mexico's none tomorrow. . . . Coach Pete Cawthon has been quite unhappy since the Gonzaga game, and the players figure that the best way to bring him around to his normal self is punch over a lot of touchdowns against the Lobos. . . .

Look up the statistics for a long time back and you'll find, several times out of ten, that the ball team making the most gains forward generally makes the most yardage backward — by penalties. . . . This has been true of the Texas Tech Red Raiders since the Forward March order was given by Cawthon and cohorts back at the turn of the decade. . . . It's also true of nearly every team that wins more than it loses. . . . Texas Christian university is an exception. . . . Through eight games, the Frogs have been assessed 343 yards in penalties, while the opponents have drawn 340. . . . Baylor is another exception; the Bears have drawn 300 yards in penalties while winning most of their games. . . . Texas A. & M., on paper the best offensive team in the Southwest conference, on the other hand, has been assessed 525 yards in its eight games. . . . This figure is about 100 yards more than Texas Tech has drawn. . . . But wasn't it A. & M., or rather its coach at the time, who started all the tom foolery about Tech's big penalty yardage ? ? ?

THE DEPT. CAME UP with some upsets last week, as you probably didn't notice, but it was risky business. Today's selections include a few long shots, but the favorites are named first:

District Titles Are At Stake

(By The Associated Press)

Thirty-one conference games remain on the week-end schedule of Texas schoolboy football with clear-cut issues to be determined in all districts as the race narrows for title play on Thanksgiving day.

The second district champion to be crowned is expected tonight when Masonic Home plays Poly in the decisive game of the Fort Worth sector. The Masons can take the pennant with no more than a tie. Poly must win to earn a tie for the title. Sunset (Dallas) clinched the district 8 pennant last week.

Barring upsets champions will not be definitely determined in the other districts until next week.

Three games were played last night, two of them conference engagements. Paschal defeated Arlington Heights 16-7 in the Fort Worth district and Austin (Houston) crushed Hilby (Houston) 31-6 in district 13. Neither tilt had championship bearing.

San Benito and Donna played to a 6-6 tie in a district 16 non-conference game.

Sports Roundup

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 18. —You can win yourself plenty dough—day around this town betting when Notre Dame played it first football game in New York . . . It was against Rutgers in '21 . . . And this corner was taken for a piece of change against that one (to be brutally frank) . . . The Irish won only 49-0

Golf officials in this country are still hopeful Henry Cotton will come over for next year's campaigning, particularly that world fair tournament around here . . . Incidentally, Henry averaged 72.25 for 20 rounds of competition to lead British pros in '38 . . . Now that Jimmy Adamick is off the active list, the good Doc Kearns is looking for another "white hope" heavy . . . Got one up your sleeve? . . . Any team cut to skin the Yankees might take a gander at Heber (Rock) Stroud, a third-baseman who showed plenty of class at South Carolina . . . This department hears the Boston Red Sox have had an eye or two on him . . .

Is it generally known that Frankie Finch was once turned down for the army because of a "weak heart?" . . . And all he's done since then is play 20 years of major league ball . . . Southwestern Louisiana institute, where Johnny Cain, the old 'Bama boy, has a real small-college ball club, is booming Glyn Abel, a halfback from Mississippi, and Bill Stevenson, a guard, as the best-looking footballers they've seen since Chris Cagle was taking things apart down thataway before moving up to army.

Ever since Gene Sarazen wrote that mag piece saying golf pros lose money around the circuit, the folks in the game are wondering what Ralph Guldahl, Denny Shute and Johnny Revolta used to build those new Florida homes.

Hardin-Simmons Team On Coast For Clash With Loyola Lions

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18. (AP)—The Hardin Simmons university football team, accompanied by the Cowboy band and scores of rooters, arrive here today for a gridiron encounter with Loyola tomorrow afternoon.

Arrangements were made for a breakfast for the party from Abilene, Tex., after which the squad will go into seclusion. A private workout during the afternoon was scheduled.

Loyola, loser of its last three games, promised its supporters a win tomorrow. The Lions were set back by the Cowboys, 7 to 0, a year ago.

State Police Frown On One Custom Of Opening Season

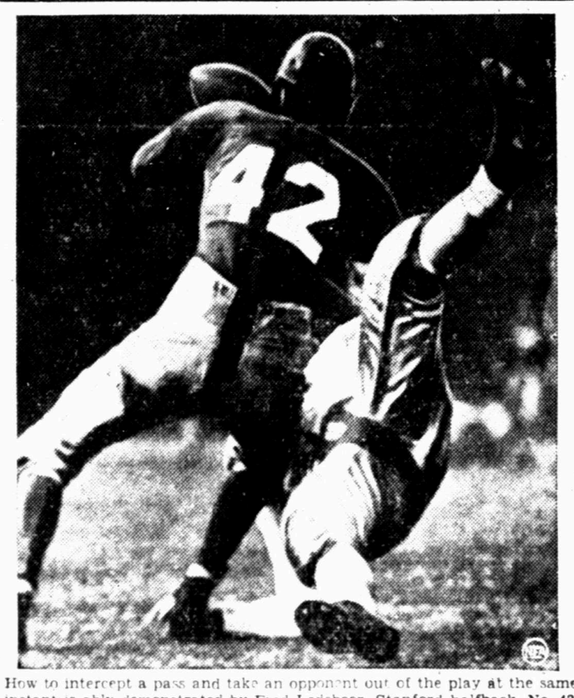

AUSTIN, Nov. 18. (AP)—State police today officially frowned on one custom of the opening of hunting season.

The reason was the arrest of two Travis county earlybird hunters who raced to Austin to win a prize offered for the first deer brought in to a sporting goods store.

Considerably vexed by "police interference," the hunters were escorted into the city by the patrolmen at a reasonable rate of speed.

The police department had no record of whether the hunters won the prizes but there were court records of the speeding charges.

Double Duty In Split Second

How to intercept a pass and take an opponent out of the play at the same instant is ably demonstrated by Fred Ledeboer, Stanford halfback, No. 42, who snares the ball intended for Oliver Day, Southern California quarterback upended on the play. Although the pass boomeranged on the Trojans they went on to win, 13-2, at Palo Alto.

Panhandle A. & M. Here On Saturday

Freshman Coach Berl Huffman's flashy Picador squad were to take a step higher on the ladder of gridiron recognition at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon clashing with a full-fledged senior college—Panhandle A. and M. of Goodwell, Okla.

A large crowd of students and townspeople are expected to attend the game for after seeing the husky crop of beef Huffman boasts of the Sooner state coaches were definitely not confident of any pushover.

Hand-Picked Squad

The present Huffman proteges are a hand-picked group from the approximately 100 would-be grid heroes who asked for a suit at the beginning of this season, and their coach believes he will have some real varsity material as early as 1939.

Several sophomores, advancing from last year's Picador squad, are not failing to win honors for their class by wearing the red and black this season. At least two backs and one lineman will start for the Raiders against New Mexico's Lobos at Albuquerque tomorrow, and several more should get their chances to bay the Wolves before the final gun sounds.

Feldman Gets Even With Lew Jenkins

DALLAS, Nov. 18. (AP)—Lew Feldman, Brooklyn, got even with Lew Jenkins of Sweetwater, Texas lightweight champion, last night by snatching a hair-breadth decision in their ten-round battle. In a previous meeting several months ago, Jenkins was declared the victor over the veteran by split vote of the referee and judges.

Feldman, who weighed 133 pounds to Jenkins' 129, received the vote of Referee Morris Fair and one judge, Willard Morrison. The other judge, Homer Hendrix, called the match a draw.

The Texan hit much the harder and had the cagey Easterner in trouble in three different rounds.

Joe Valdiver, 195, Fort Worth, won a technical knockout over Jim Garza, 192, Albuquerque, N. M., when the latter couldn't recover from a knockdown in time to answer the bell for the second round; Jimmy Scarmcza, 152, San Antonio, decisioned Gub Stewart, 158, Ardmore, Okla.; Jimmy McNeil, 151, New York decisioned Harry Jacobson, 151, in a five-rounder; Bill Price, 167, Ferris, and Joe Flores, 165, won a first-round technical knockout over Jack Cox, 148, Toledo, Ohio.

Wahpeton State Is All For Playing In A Bowl Contest

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP) — Lest there be any misunderstanding, the Wahpeton State School of Science, North Dakota football champion, is ready, willing and eager to accept "any reasonable challenge" to any Bowl, Rose, Sun or Poi, for money, marbles or what have you.

Your agent happened to mention that if the atmosphere didn't clear old Wahpeton would play San Jose State in the Rose bowl. Well, sir, the Wahpetons are all for it and apparently they have more than 11 football suits to back it up.

Wahpeton has just finished its third year of undefeated football. By some strange prank of fate it was tied once in 1937 but all the rest has been gravy.

The scientists ran up 177 points to their opponents 39 this year in winning seven in a row. The future Pasteurs and Einsteins have scored 414 in the past three years, which is better than average football at either Wahpeton or South Bend.

Ralls Jackrabbits Win 26 To 7 Over Lubbock Cowhand Eleven

RALLS, Nov. 18 (Special)—Featuring the light-footedness of Light, Ralls halfback, the Jackrabbits pecked out a victory over the Lubbock Cowhands here yesterday, 26 to 7.

Light skipped out on runs of 40, 18 and 52 yards for three touchdowns. Barton added the other.

Jimmy Williamson, Cowhand half, scuttled 72 yards after taking a short third-period pass from Max Walthall for the visitors' lone score.

Lon Morris Bearcats Wind Up Season By One-Sided Victory

JACKSONVILLE, Nov. 18. (AP) — The Lon Morris Bearcats closed their grid season here last night with a 37-6 victory over the Westminister college Wildcats of Tehuacana.

The Bearcats lead 24-0 at the half and never were threatened.

Johnny Boren and Wallace Johnson scored two touchdowns each; Lonzo Hassell and Byron Gilbreath, one each.

Claud Mills passed 23 yards to Travis Robertson for the Wildcats' only score.

The special will stay in the New Mexico city until midnight Saturday, thus giving the fans a full day in Albuquerque. It will arrive home sometime early Sunday morning. Raider-Lobo game begins at 2:30 o'clock mountain time.

Tickets for the Tech-Marquette game may now be purchased at Hub Clothiers, Hotel Lubbock Drug, Mark Halsey No. 2 and Tech Drug announces Manager Bo Williams. They may also be obtained at William's office in the administration building on the campus.

Raiders To Work Out Today For Tomorrow's Contest

ALBUQUERQUE, Nov. 18 (AP) — The undefeated Red Raiders of Texas Tech, 31 strong, arrived here last night from Lubbock, Tex., for their football game tomorrow with the University of New Mexico.

The Raiders, directed by Coach Pete Cawthon, will work out today.

Apostoli Fights Young Corbett

B GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 18. — Having finished their training without the fracture of a single sacro-iliac, Freddie Apostoli and Young Corbett 3rd clash at Madison Square garden tonight for the "world middleweight championship," as it is understood by the New York State Athletic commission.

Prospects are that the two Californians will settle their argument in semi-privacy, with fewer than 10,000 scattered about the big arena. The fight has failed to catch on, partly because the house has been scaled at championship prices and many fans do not think it is a bona fide championship fight.

Title Is Ephemeral Something

The title for which Apostoli and Corbett fight is an ephemeral something, created by the state boxing commission. The other 160-pound title is held by Solly Krieger or Brooklyn, by virtue of his recent win over Al Hostak in Seattle.

Apostoli beat Solly twice, knocking him out the second time, before Solly "snuck" up on Hostak. In the opinion of impartial critics, Apostoli and Corbett are the two best middleweights in the world today, whatever the status of tonight's scrap.

Corbett, 33 and a southpaw, won a 10-round decision from Apostoli in San Francisco last February, much to the surprise of nearly everybody. The betting is 5 to 9 that there will be a different result tonight, and the probability is that Apostoli will be declared the winner before the 15 rounds are up.

Movie Of Tech-Loyola Game Is Success; To Be Shown At Dallas Ex-Students Session Nov. 25

Success in filming the Tech-Loyola football game has made demands for taking pictures of the Tech-Marquette grid tilt Nov. 26.

The Tech-Loyola pictures were showed Thursday night by Calvin Hazelwood, secretary of the alumni and ex-students association.

Most of the outstanding plays in the tilt were recorded on the 550-foot film which was taken by William F. Tanner, graduate assistant in the geology department, under Hazlewood's supervision.

Band manouvers between the halves were shown in technicolor.

Matador squadmen viewed the pictures Wednesday night in the administration building. Coaches Pete Cawthon and Russell Smith pointed out good and bad points in football technique to the players.

Touchdown club members will see the film at their regular meeting Monday night at the Lubbock hotel. Tentative arrangements have been made for showing the films Thanksgiving day at the Lindsey theater.

The pictures also will be featured at a dinner for ex-students of Tech at the Adolphus hotel in Dallas at 6:15 o'clock the night of Nov. 25. Dr. J. M. Gordon, dean of arts and sciences at the college and master of ceremonies for the dinner, announced Thursday that more than 100 plates, costing $1.50 each, have been reserved.

Dr. Albert Barnett, chairman of the arrangements committee, has called a meeting of the committee at 5 o'clock today in the administration building.

"The Tech-Marquette university game Nov. 26 likewise will be recorded by the telephoto lens from a vantage point either atop the Tech stadium press box or from a special platform," Hazlewood said.

Barker Picks Notre Dame, Harvard, Duke, Wisconsin, Pitt, Army, Oklahoma, S.M.U., L.S.U., Tulane, Centenary And Tech To Win

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—This guesser, however misguided, hazards the following convictions as to this week's football program:

Northwestern-Notre Dame: The temptation is strong to select this as the spot that marks Notre Dame's downfall. Northwestern can match the Irish in man-power, something no other rival has done, and has a habit of playing its best against South Bend outfits. But that's just whistling in the dark. Waiving immunity, Notre Dame.

Yale-Harvard: It's never safe to hold Yale lightly in an objective game but this ballots goes to Harvard.

Rice May Upset Frogs

Duke-North Carolina State: Can't see how Duke can lose this one.

Rice-Texas Christian: Unpredictable Rice may give the unbeaten Horned Frogs some trouble but Christian has proved its right to top-flight ranking and should win safely.

Wisconsin-Minnesota: One faltering vote for Wisconsin.

Pitt-Pen State: With or without Goldberg, Pitt.

Princeton-Army: Hard to figure but Army gets the nod.

Cyclones Surprisingly Tough

Iowa State-Oklahoma: The Cyclones are surprisingly tough but seem to lack undefeated and untied Oklahoma's all-around class, Oklahoma.

Baylor-Southern Methodist: Ouch! From the bottom of an exceedingly deep hole, Southern Methodist.

Louisiana State over Southwestern (La.); Southwestern (Tenn.) over Mississippi State; Tulane over Sewanee; Centenary over DePaul; Texas Tech over New Mexico.

Additional Seats To Be Placed On Field

Stands seating 1,200 will be moved here from Amarillo and as many others as can be obtained here will be placed at Texas Tech field for the Lubbock-Amarillo game Thanksgiving day, officials have announced.

Only a few general admission tickets remained for sale at noon today. All reserved seats had been taken earlier in the week.

One thousand ducats for a section reserved for Texas Tech students will be placed on sale Saturday morning in the lobby of the college administration building. Student activity tickets entitle a price of 50 cents to students.

Kilgore College Rangers Win District Championship Again

KILGORE, Nov. 18. (AP)—The Kilgore college Rangers for the third successive season hold the championship of district No. 1 of the Texas junior college conference. The Rangers defeated Paris Junior college, 28-0, last night to clinch the title.

TEXAN IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Nov. 18 (AP) —Nick Peters, hard-hitting lightweight from San Antonio, Tex., will attempt to halt the winning stride of Ritchie Fontaine of Butte, Mont., in a 10-round main event at Hollywood stadium tonight.

Fontaine has outpointed most of the local crop of 135-pounders during the past few months, and was a favorite to add Peters to the list.

Teammates Of Jack Vestal Bear Him To His Grave Today, A Sad Prelude To Tomorrow's 'Big Game' Between Owls And Frogs

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON, Nov. 18.—Teammates bore the body of Jack Vestal, Rice Institute's scholarly fullback, to his grave today—a sorrowful prelude to tomorrow's clash with undefeated Texas Christian.

The "big game," the bid of down-trodden Rice to shake Texas Christian from its exalted national position, arrived in silence. Vestal, the junior redhead who took the blocks and knocks and made his number "75" a symbol of ruggedness, had whispered he wanted to live for the T. C. U. game.

But he died Wednesday of a cancerous affliction—the four-weeks-old fight of a stout heart at an end.

Expect 30,000 At Game

Tomorrow some 30,000 fans will bulge Rice stadium to watch the wrecked Owls play one of the nation's greatest teams, a Texas Christian eleven that has won eight straight games with ease in a show of power and pass cunning.

Out there as the foe of wee Davey O'Brien in a heralded passing duel will be Ernie Lain, the 1937 gridiron hero who has been benched most of the season with damaging injuries. His ankles are unsteady from hurts, but Lain is expected to be taped up and shot into the game in hopes his old-time magic will return.

Doubtful was the appearance of his prize receiver, Ollie Cordill, favoring a bad knee. The rangy kicker, runner and receiver did not play against the Texas Aggies last week and has been working out in track shorts this week. Observers doubted that his knee would stand the strain of punting—a severe blow to an Owl team that has leaned on his long spirals.

Hines May Be Out

Up in the Rice line, one that must stand the shock of Texas Christian's stormy running game that has netted 1416 yards in eight games, there may be another hole occasioned by the expected absence of Capt. Jess Hines, who re-hurt an ailing knee in scrimmage.

Fair weather still prevailing, Texas Christian planned its usual forward passing game with David O'Brien at the helm—the little, 150-pounder who has pumped across 15 touchdown passes, thrown three laterals for touchdowns, set up seven others inside the six-yard line, rushed across two himself and kicked 23 points after touchdown to account for 185 of Texas Christian's total of 205 points.

Passes of every description had been conceived for the Rice game by Coach Leo Meyer, who opined a week ago the Owls would be gunning for the Christians. To date, the TCU aerial barrage has reaped 1473 yards from 92 completions.

Four regulars who didn't play against Texas last week while giving minor injuries time to heal, Capt. I. B. Hale, beefy tackle; Guard Forrest Kline and Halfbacks Johnny Hall and Earl Clark, the running twins, will start against Rice.

Rice should have its courage up to hilt, but Texas Christian appeared two touchdowns the better team.

CONTEST IS ANNOUNCED

CLARENDON, Nov. 18. (AP) — A farm pest eradication contest has been announced by J. R. Gillham, vocational agriculture professor and sponsor of the local F. F. A. rabbits, owls, hawks, rats, mice, prairie dogs, road runners and crows are listed as pests by the agricultural classes and F.F.A. members will compete in the destruction. Winners will be adjudged on points and prizes will include various grades and styles of F.F.A. emblems. The contest will close Dec. 15.

Gov. Allred Isn't Worried If Some People Think He Is Not Consistent; Quotes Emerson

AUSTIN, Nov. 18. (AP)—Governor James V. Allred isn't worried if some people think he is not consistent.

This he asserted in announcing he would have copies of his message to the legislature bound and indexed for ready reference by future governors.

It was suggested at a press conference he might make himself more subject to allegations of inconsistency.

"Emerson said consistency was the hobgoblin of little minds," the governor cracked. I'm not worried."

Livestock Leader Says Pact Is To Reduce Price Of Cattle

DENVER, Nov. 18. (AP)—F. E. Mollin, secretary of the National Livestock Growers association, declared last night an ultimate effect of the new Canadian trade treaty would be a reduction of American cattle prices by half a cent a pound.

"Opening the American market to 75,000 more head of Canadian cattle means that the American produce will be thwarted in any opportunity he might have to make a better profit during a year when the American supply was short," Mollin continued.

Patterson To Stave Off S. M. U. Threat

WACO, Nov. 18.—Bullet Bill Patterson gave his famed forward passing arm a final workout today as Baylor concocted plans for keeping its ancient jinx over invading Southern Methodist here tomorrow.

Never in the history of football relations between the Southwest conference powers has S.M.U. defeated Baylor on its home ground.

Must Smash Jinx

Tomorrow Southern Methodist will come here not only to smash a jinx but keep apace of the runaway Texas Christians. Three wins and no losses are on the Methodists' books, the only team still with a good chance of overhauling the Christians.

Patterson, the running, kicking and passing sensation who keeps Baylor listed as a dangerous club, has played 13 consecutive full games. His latest escapade occurred last Friday when he passed Loyola of Los Angeles into 35-2 defeat.

Countless passing plays involving Patterson and Sam Boyd, rangy end, have been planned for the Methodists but Coach Matty Bell planned to spring his own aerial show.

Methodist sophomores Johnny Clement and Ray Malloub, who took turns at filling Arkansas last week, will bear the Methodist hurling burden. Baylor has gained 869 yards on passes in seven games while Southern Methodist, over the same stretch, has picked up 847.

Statistics revealed the two clubs would rate just about even at the kickoff. The Methodists' running game was a bit stronger by some 350 yards over the season and its defense had a shade the better of figures, but Patterson's passes have a habit of erasing differences.

Baylor still clung to a mathematical chance of winning the flag.

Intoxicated Driving Charge Is Filed After Highway Collision

Charge of driving when intoxicated was filed against A. D. Chase this morning in the court of Walter Davies, justice of peace.

The complaint, signed by Sgt. C. E. Tabor of the highway patrol, was prepared by Victor H. Lindsey, assistant district attorney.

Chase, 60, remained in West Texas hospital for treatment of injuries of the head, compound comminuted fracture of the left knee, and concussion suffered in a collision on the Lubbock-Plainview highway near Municipal airport late Thursday afternoon. His condition was considered satisfactory.

Willie Land and Nicholas Land, both of Benjamin, received emergency treatment for minor injuries at Lubbock sanitarium as result of the collision. The Benjamin men were accompanied by Alfred Land, also of Knox county, and were going north when their machine met the Chase car head-on about a mile south of the airport.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady here today but quotations were mixed because of hedge selling in distant months and trade and other buying of nearby deliveries.

Initial transactions were 3 points net higher to 2 lower with Dec at 8.78, Jan at 8.69, March at 8.61, May at 8.42, July at 8.20, Oct. at 7.85, Dec. (new) 7.89 and March (1940) 7.90 bid.

Business became active later in the morning. The demand was supplied at net gains of 2 to 5 points and prices reacted partially under profit taking by recent buyers and some hedge selling.

Towards midsession, Dec. contracts traded at 8.75 Jan. at 8.73, March at 8.62, May at 8.42, July at 8.20 and Oct. at 7.87, or unchanged to 4 points higher compared with previous close.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—Cotton futures opened 2 higher to 3 lower. Interest was centered in December liquidation and trade buying. Commission houses sold October, Dec 8.66, Jan 8.56, March 8.50, May 8.29, July 8.09, Oct. 7.76.

The cotton trade found no immediate market influence in the terms of the British-American trade pact. March shortly after the first half hour sold at 8.50 with prices generally unchanged to 2 points net lower.

Trade Pact Is Hailed Today

tion, said the industry's hopes for substantial relief from the Canadian tariff barriers against American coal had not been realized.

On the other hand, Thomas J. Watson, president of the International Chamber of Commerce, called the documents "timely aid to international trade." Kenneth J. Campbell of the National Association of Credit Men asserted that commerce with the United Kingdom should increase both in volume and value.

Federal officials estimated that between $1,500,000,000 and $2,000,000,000 in trade is directly or indirectly affected by the two agreements.

The principal concessions received by the United States from Great Britain were on agricultural products. All customs duties on American wheat, lard, canned grapefruit and some fruit juices were removed; duties on rice, apples, pears and some canned fruits were substantially reduced; the quota on American hams was increased; duties on ham and some other pork products, corn and cotton were "bound," that is, guaranteed to remain at the present rate.

Wheat Duty Removed

The removal of the six-cents-a-bushel duty on American wheat, officials said, should prove a boon to American railroads, ports and shipping. Canadian wheat, which formerly had to move from a Canadian port in order to enjoy preferential treatment, now can go out through American ports.

Experts of the agriculture department said that in general the treaties should broaden the market for American farm products, but would not solve the problem of wheat and cotton surpluses.

The United Kingdom gave the United States concessions on a variety of manufactured products, including office and electrical machinery and appliances, automobiles, chemicals and silk stockings.

In return the United States gave Britain substantial concessions averaging 25 per cent duty reductions on textiles, whether of cotton, flax hemp, jute or wool. The duty on whisky, which is Britain's largest export to the United States, was "bound" at $2.50 a gallon. Britain also got concessions on leather and leather manufactures and pottery.

Concessions Balanced

In some cases, concessions made by or to the United States were balanced by concessions in the agreement with Canada. This was the reason for signing both agreements at the same time.

Canada made her major tariff cuts on American fruits and vegetables, fish, paper, wood, chemicals, heavy iron and steel products, machinery, aircraft and engines, and textiles. She also eliminated the three per cent special import tax hitherto imposed on all the items mentioned in the agreement.

United States concessions to Canada centered in live cattle, hogs and pork products, cheese, eggs, grains, other than wheat, grain by-products, maple sugar, potatoes, fish, acetic acid, brick, nickel, aluminum, zinc, cadmium, cast-iron products, paper and silver-fox furs.

All the tariff concessions made by the United States in the two treaties are extended automatically to all countries enjoying "most-favored-nation treatment" here. Virtually the only country not enjoying it is Germany, owing to her discrimination against American products.

pallbearers.

The body will be taken to Abilene, where burial will be in the afternoon, with Rev. T. S. Knox, pastor of the First Presbyterian church there, conducting the services. Hour of the service is announced as 4 o'clock.

Mr. McDonald and Miss Jessie Morrow were married in Abilene in 1910 and went to Stamford to make their home. They have one daughter, Miss Mary Louise McDonald, of Lubbock.

Mr. McDonald's only brother died a few years ago.

During his years of residence in Stamford Mr. McDonald was active in church work. He was elected an elder of the Presbyterian church there in 1904 and served until his removal to Amarillo. He also was a charter member and first president of the Stamford Rotary club and belonged to the Masonic lodge there. He was a member of the Knights Templar of Stamford also.

When the famous Stamford Cowboy reunion group was organized, he was chosen a director. Every year he has attended the reunion and has been in charge of serving the meals for guests and members for several years.

Director Of Rotary Club

In Lubbock, besides being active in the First Presbyterian church, he was a member of the Rotary club and also an active member of the Goodfellows. Last summer he was elected a director of the Rotary club and was also chairman of its program committee.

Mr. and Mrs. McDonald built a new home at 2617 Nineteenth street about a year ago.

Officials of the company at Abilene were advised by telephone of the death of Mr. McDonald and it was announced here a group of the officers, headed by Omar Radford, president, were to leave there at once for Lubbock. Mr. McDonald was one of the oldest employes of the company in years of service.

Mr. McDonald Thursday night attended a meeting of the session of the church. At that time he appeared to be in his usual health.

Stressing industry's part in military preparedness, Johnson said the president's advisers recalled "an almost disastrous" delay of 14 months in putting an American division on the fighting front in the World war.

"We set out, at the president's direction, to reduce to six months the period within which our supply preparedness will have to be achieved," he related.

Nazis to be so unfavorable that the immediate summons to Dieckhoff was decided upon.

Those statesmen were said to have compared the general attitude during the Czechoslovak-German crisis in September with the present American frame of mind and to have noted a change from approval, because Americans felt Germany's annexation of the Sudeten areas meant the union of Germans with Germans, to one of "95 per cent" indignation over the handling of the Jewish situation.

GUARD IS ORDERED

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—As a precaution against anti-Nazi demonstrations, police headquarters today ordered a 24-hour guard at the North German-Lloyd and the Hamburg American line piers.

Deputy Chief Inspector Louis F. Costuma said the first detail of five sergeants, 50 foot patrolmen, one mounted sergeant and 10 mounted Patrolmen would go on duty at 4 p. m.

Cardenas May Nationalize All Property Unless Warned, Says Former Governor Of Kansas

CLEVELAND, Nov. 18 (AP)—Henry J. Allen, former governor of Kansas, believes that "unless President Cardenas is stopped he may decide to nationalize all property in Mexico."

"And that would mean a communist nation south of the Rio Grande," Allen told the National Industrial conference board last night.

"If Secretary Hull would say to Mexico, 'Unless you return or pay for all confiscated property the United States will apply an economic boycott,' the whole problem would be solved because Mexico could not survive without American trade," Allen said.

Birth Rate Decline

their present ratio, the country's birth rate will read the "minus two."

Negroes in the cities are losing their fertility, Notestein said, having already become less fertile than native whites, who in turn rank behind foreign-born Americans. The reason for the negro birth decline, he added, appears to be a high porportion of childlessness among colored women.

This, he said, does not apply to negroes in the agricultural South. It is most evident in the "large cities of the east, north central states."

In the national birth rate the point has been reached where the country is recruiting its population heavily from the poorer agricultural regions of the South and the West. The rural population in general still shows excess of births over deaths.

Notestein said the number of children tends to decrease with the value of the home they live in. This moreover applies to each community, race and color.

Yet, he pointed out, there are trends which may be the beginning of a change. There is one major exception to the expensive houses—fewer children rule. It is in large cities where those who pay the highest rents have more children than the "Joneses" who pay the next highest rates.

Another pointer toward change is that professional workers are having more children than business classes, and $3,000 incomes more than lower wages.

He said birth control is a factor in the falling rate, but declared that the up-to-date contraceptives of recent science are not the reason.

He explained that contraceptive studies show methods that have been in use 2,000 years have a high degree of effectiveness, and that birth control probably has been going on for a very long time.

He said he favored examinations before licenses would be granted.

Some economists point out that the transfer does not necessarily mean increased or improved employment, since large portions of Jewish capital long have been employed in industry.

The whole upset, they say, may mean no improvement in the general business situation.

Walther Funk, economics minister, likely had this in mind when he urged last Tuesday that "care must be taken that the displacement and tying up of great capital sums in the aryanization process shall not hamper the money market in providing funds for investment in reich loans or other necessary purposes."

Legion To Sell Christmas Trees In Lubbock Again This Season

The American Legion once more will prepare for Christmas trees in carload lots this year, according to announcement this morning by George W. Brewer, commander of Allen Bros. Legion post.

He said that a meeting of the post executive committee had been called for 7 o'clock tonight at the hall in an effort to ascertain about how many and what size trees will be needed.

The information thus obtained will supplement an order which already has been placed with a Washington firm. The order will include at least one of gigantic size to be erected downtown. Others will be placed along sidewalk edges in the business district, according to present plans.

Money realized from the sales will go into the Legion relief fund.

Good Business In Oil Circles

BY ALFRED WALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 18—With most prominent executives off to Chicago for the important American Petroleum institute convention, those who kept to their workaday tasks in the oil centers found today that the oil industry had a good business going on.

From marketers came reports of unusually large shipments of gasoline for November.

In a general way the volume was enough to sustain encouraging predictions of the past fortnight.

May Increase Price

Talk was growing even stronger that a boost or two in the price of tank car gasoline might be expected any time. Fractional local increases, coupled with a reduction in the price for the raw product, crude oil, gave many an independent refiner opportunity to note he was at least breaking even on his operations.

Reports filtering back from the discussions at the API convention generally were of an encouraging nature in regard to prospects for the oil business in 1939.

Crude oil men reported their market was strong because of a steady demand on refineries for gasoline and the low level of crude oil stocks. Isolated instances of crude purchased under posted prices were reported, however, in Kansas, Illinois and Oklahoma.

In the Mid-Continent area considerable improvement was shown in the inquiry for natural gasoline. Heating oils showed more demand during the past week.

Exploratory work kept on at a steady pace. In the week ending Nov. 12 wells completed in all fields totaled 539, which was just four more than the week before. Compared to last year, however, field work was off considerably. In the week ending Nov. 13, 1937 operators in all fields completed 630 wells. So far this year 23,258 have been completed. In the same period last year 27,577 wells had been drilled.

The Illinois drilling play still held the spotlight as production in that state approached 100,000 barrels daily. An Oil and Gas Journal survey noted, however, that the combined productive acreage in Illinois at present, 32,000 acres, is less than one-fourth of the East Texas field and a little more than one third that of the Bradford area in New York.

Map Of Europe Has Been Changed Many Times Since 1918—And Outook Is For More Changes

Europe before the World War

Europe after the war.

Europe today.

By NEA Service

EUROPE'S 20 years since 1918 have meant plenty of work for the map makers. And the prospects are for considerable more re-drawing of frontier lines, re-naming of countries.

Map at left depicts the Europe of 1914 when Adolf Hitler, born Adolf Schicklgruber, an Austiran house painter, stood in the main square of Munich and heard the proclamation of war. There was no Poland, no Czechoslovakia and Germany's eastern frontier was Russie. Alsace and Loraine had been Germany's since the Franco-Prussian war and the Kaiser and Fran Josef of Austria-Hungary dominated central Europe.

Then the assassin of Sarajevo set the Kaiser's war machine in motion, sat down at the treaty table to plant the seeds of revenge, hatred—and inevitably, war. Their handiwork appears in the center map of Europe after the so-called peace treaties.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA, under the irresistible impact of Hitlerian ambition, now little more than a historical combination of difficult syllables, was one of their creations. Alsace-Lorraine went back to France. Poland was created—and the embarrassing Polish Corridor.

Philosophy Given Trial

Woodrow Wilson's political philosophy of "manifest destiny" was being given a trial. Events were to show that, in the long run, his idealism would be laughed at by cynical Europe's realism.

And so today Europe—and the world—reaps the whirlwind after the Versailles sewing.

The map at the right shows Nazi Germany—under the leadership of Fuehrer Hitler, born Schicklgruber—greater than in 1914. The swastika, in fact and by implication, is the new symbol of state in central Europe. Austria is part of Germany. Czechoslovakia, paragon of Wilsonian "manifest destiny," is a memory. Poland, Hungary and the Balkans fawn on the new master of central Europe.

ORE OUTPUT INCREASED

DENVER (AP)—The famed Cripple Creek mining district of Colorado produced 491,157 tons of ore in 1937 worth $5,081,718 a report discloses. It was an increase of $112,607 over the value of the 1936 output.

Migratory Labor Camps May Be Established By FSA Over Texas

Plans Studied By Officials

BY L. T. EASLEY
Associated Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 — The [illegible] Security administration is studying the cost of setting up a number of migatory labor camps in Texas like those maintained in California.

They would be designed primarily for those near-destitute families who follow the crops for employment, but also would benefit the farmer and community in which or near which they would be located.

Would Have Sanitation Facilities

The camps would simply comprise a number of platforms on which tents or other temporary shelters could be placed, so as to provide the best protection possible from weather. Each site would be equipped with modern sanitation facilities. They would rent at approximately 10 cents a day.

The possibility of the camps in Texas appeared as a result of a report by N. Gregory Silvermaster, senior FSA economist, who decided that because of the "striking similarity" of the migratory labor problem in Texas and California labor camps in the Lone Star state would be justified and feasible.

Has Become Permanent

Silvermaster observed that the migatory problem in Texas had become permanent due partly to the "almost phenominal increase of mechanization of farms," which, he said, was accentuating the displacement of tenants and share croppers.

He cited statistics showing that the number of tractors on Texas farms in 1930 was 37,000 and that in 1938 they had increased to 100,000.

The producers in the vicinity of a labor camp would be aided by having a central point where he could be assured of finding help when he needed it. In the harvesting of some crops large numbers of persons are needed almost overnight for brief periods to prevent deterioration.

Would Have Less Worry

The small communities and towns which suddenly find their population seasonally multiplied temporarily by an influx would have less to worry about from the threat of epidemics. Spread of diseases always is likely when large numbers of persons are thrown together in squalid and unsanitary conditions such as those which generally prevail now where those modern nomads meet.

Dwelling on this phase of the problem, Silvermaster described a migrant's family descending on a town "packed like sardines" in a dilapidated automobile overdue at the junk yard. He called the town in crop areas fortunate which did not seasonally have a "jungle arise in its midst."

OLD GUN IS FOUND

CLARENDON, Nov. 18. (AP)—Clyde Gilbert, foreman of the Gilliet ranch of Armstrong county, found an early model cap and ball six-shooter of 45-calibre recently. The old gun measures 14 inches from butt to muzzle. A month ago he picked up a "one-shooter" bearing the date 1832. Both guns it is thought belonged to Indian fighters as they were discovered in what was once Comanche country.

Gandhi, In 70th Year, Sees Life Dream Of Indian Home Rule, Nearer Realization

BY MILTON BRONNER
NEA Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Nov. 18.—He has no place to lay his head save the simple hut which he calls home. He has no clothes save a loin-cloth and a cloak of the simplest rough home-spun material. He might have had riches, but his only possessions are a spinning wheel and a simple bowl which contains his meal of cooked rice.

He is nothing to look at—a brown sprite of a man, who has lost all his teeth and rarely wears his dentures. On his nose is perched a pair of steel-rimmed specs.

He holds no office, but he has millions of followers. His voice is weak and he speaks in monotones, but thousands listen to him with rapt attention. His demeanor is modest, even humble, but even proud British Viceroys of India talk long hours with him, discussing the present and future of India.

Sees End Approaching

For he is Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi, more familiarly known as Mahatma Gandhi, who enters the 70th year of his life this month. And this frail man has predicted that he will not live to see many more birthdays. His words were:

"My days are numbered." I am unlikely to live longer than a year."

He has already lived longer than most Hindus, despite the fact that he barely feeds his body, despite the hardships of many jail sentences inflicted upon him by the British, despite many long, hard fasts that he has imposed upon himself.

When he passes off this earthly scene, India is not apt ever to see his like again. Son of a minor government official, and born at Porbandar Oct. 2, 1869, he went to London, studied law and was called to the bar. He went professionally to South Africa in 1893, and while there soon found his life work. South Africa had immigration laws which tended to restrict Indians from entering the country. They suffered from other restrictions likewise.

He was fined and imprisoned for his work there. He has been fined and imprisoned often for his work in India. For in his home country he was one of the proponents of home rule for India. He was one of the leading figures in the All India congress of natives. He led a boycott of English goods and institutions.

In 1922 he was arrested and sent to prison for six years. But he was released after two years and in 1930 led the revolt against the salt tax. Once again he was imprisoned. Released, he soon found his way back to jail in 1932 for civil disobedience.

Served in Boer War

But, remarkably, his treatment in Africa did not embitter him. To the contrary, when the Boer war broke out, he did notable volunteer hospital work for the British. Again, later, when the British arranged a round-table conference to settle Indian problems, Gandhi attended.

Heeding his preaching of resistance with "non-violence," thousands of his followers have humbly submitted to police charges with clubs without raising a hand in defense.

He has lived to see part of his dream come true. The British parliament has passed laws which give the Indian provinces some measure of home rule. If successful, the British envision a large measure of home rule for the whole of India. The Indian congress adherents won the governments of Bombay, Madras, Bihar, Orissa, the Central provinces, the United provinces and the Northern frontier.

He is nothing to look at . . . a brown sprite of a man . . .

Although Gandhi no longer holds office in the All India congress, they look to him for guidance and advice. Only a few months ago the Indian governments of Bihar and the United provinces resigned. They did so at a nod from Gandhi. They had urged the freedom of certain political prisoners. The British governors refused to sanction this move. The deadlock followed.

Approximately one-half of all the District Court cases filed at Oklahoma City in the past 12 months have been divorce petitions.

Americans Have Experienced A Change In Their Nut Tastes; Cashews Have Come Up Rapidly

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. (AP) — Americans have experienced a change in their taste for nuts.

This was disclosed in a report by the bureau of agricultural economics on a study of tree nut production and consumption in the United States in recent years.

Fifteen years ago the almond was consumed in greater quantities than any other nut except walnuts. Today it trails behind pecans, cashews, Brazil nuts and chestnuts as well as walnuts. The walnut still is by far the most important with respect to volume of consumption.

Cashews were practically unknown in this country before 1928. They rank third among all treenuts. In the three-year period from October, 1935 to September, 1938, they annually accounted for 16.2 per cent of all nuts in this country consumed.

The five year average of cashew imports into this country from 1935 to 1930 was 1,818,000 pounds. Imports arose steadily and in the 1933-1938 period averaged 21,633,000 pounds, an increase of 1,089 per cent.

Fortunately for American treenut producers, the total import of nuts in recent years have decreased substantially. Imports of walnuts in the 1933-38 period dropped 80 per cent from the quantity shipped into the United States in the 1925-30 period.

Importations of filberts dropped 68 per cent, pecans 19 per cent, almonds 67 per cent, and chestnuts 14 per cent. Importation of Brazil nuts increased 21 per cent, and importations of pignolias and pistachios increased 45 per cent.

Among the rules and regulations for guests reported in early American taverns were: No more than five to sleep in one bed; no boots to be worn in bed; organ-grinders to sleep in the wash-house; and no beer allowed in the kitchen.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP) — Christmas savings clubs in the nation will distribute $330,000,000 to about 7,000,000 members, an increase over a year ago both in total funds and number of recipients, Herbert F. Fawll, founder and president of Christmas Club, inc., said today.

The average distribution to members will be $47, compared with $48.55 in 1937.

Poet Neihardt Hammering Out His Epic Of America At Rate Of 3 Lines Per Day

BY JOHN SELBY
Associated Press Arts Editor

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 18.—A poem that may one day be called the great American epic is crawling to completion—three lines a day. When you talk with its creator, John G. Neihardt, you see why the pace is so slow.

Neihardt is a perfectionist, and in the proper sense of the term he is a zealot as well—the sort of man who could give his life to one project. This project is the creation of his five-part epic of the west.

It will be 15,100 lines long when he reaches the end. That is longer than Vergil's Aeneid, and more poetry than the average man reads in a long life.

The poet, who for 12 years was literary editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, is short, rather stocky. In fact, the Omaha Indians called him "Little Bull Buffalo." His hair is light; at 57 it lies in energetic waves when its owner is not running his hands through it. He looks like a man who had taken the hard path to get where he is—and he has.

John Neihardt examines (critically) his poetry

Called A "Song"

Now his life work has shaped up into five sections, each of which he calls a "song." These are the titles in their order: "The Song of Three Friends"; "The Song of Hugh Glass"; "The Song of Judge Smith"; "The Song of the Indian Wars"; "The Song of the Messiah." All are finished and published excepting the middle one, and if nothing goes wrong that will be done next year.

But the idea has been long in Neihardt's mind. The germ was planted when he was a boy of five. Some relatives showed him the Missouri River in flood from a bluff in Kansas City, a sight he never forgot. It may have been responsible for a boat trip he took later from the river's source to its mouth.

As a boy he lived with grandparents in western Kansas. Later his mother, who was a widow and not well off, established a home in Wayne, Neb., when that town was barely out of the frontier stage. Instead of reading about western life and western people, Neihardt knew them. He never has lost connection.

Quit Fiction For Poetry

Even nature does not distract Neihardt when he is riding his hobby. He was explaining how he happened to give up writing short stories when a storm—almost of tornado force—struck downtown St. Louis. He never stopped talking. Incidentally, the reason he quit magazine fiction back in 1909 was that, although he was selling all he could write to the "slicks," he found that it interfered with his poetry. He's never regretted cutting it out of his life, he says.

The urge to express himself in verse began at 12, and the early models were volumes of Tennyson and Robert Browning, bound in paper. This, he says slyly, was not a matter of choice but necessity. He was too poor to buy books, but he got those two poets by saving soap wrappers.

At 15 he was reading Vergil in the original. At 30 he took up Greek all by himself because he had to know Homer and Aeschylus, his favorite among the Greeks, "as they really are."

Was Once A Hobo

In between he held many jobs. He paid for his schooling by ringing the class bells. He was a farm hand, a bookkeeper, a beet-weeder, a marble polisher, a hobo, a school teacher, a janitor, a lecturer. He thinks one of his most valuable gifts has been the habit of knowing people—Indians, whites, explorers, what you will—as people and not as potential "copy."

He's the same way about the United States. Every summer of his life he loads himself, his wife, and perhaps some of his four children into his car, and traces out the movements of the men in his great poem. He knows the country better by divides, he says, than by towns.

That three-line-a-day pace, by the way, does not indicate sloth or super-caution. It just means that Poet John G. Neihardt will put nothing on paper that he doesn't honestly believe is the best he can do. He says he knows in his solar plexus when the creative force has died for the day.

Czechoslovakia, visited by thousands of Americans annually, has a Declaration of Independence which was written in Washington, D. C., in 1918 by Masaryk, the first president, after he had conferred with President Wilson. The Czechs have been called "the Yankees of Europe.

FORMER TERRYITES DEAD

BROWNFIELD—Mr. and Mrs. Barney Craven, former residents here, were killed in a car crash at Inglewood, Calif. recently, according to word received here. Their baby, with them, was uninjured. The bodies were to be brought here for burial.

FIRE DESTROYS COTTON

FLOYDADA—Nine bales of cotton were destroyed by fire at the Q. A. & P. railroad station here. It was thought by firemen a spark had been baled up in the bales and had smouldered for several days before breaking out.

Transforming Wilful Mule Into Docile Helper One Of First Tasks Of Prison Assistant

HUNTSVILLE, Nov. 18. (AP)—Jeff Small, assistant transportation agent of the Texas prison system, had among his first jobs as a prison official the task of transforming a willful mule into a docile helper.

Assigned to the Eastham at Weldon on his 21st birthday in charge of a hoe squad, guards told Small that a certain mule would "make a break for the house at 4 p. m. and take you with him." Small said he "didn't think so."

As the hour approached, however, the mule began working toward the building and Small couldn't hold it with the reins. In desperation he brought his shotgun into play and a couple of whacks across its head appeared to convince the mule it was in the field to work.

"From then onward," Small said, "he and I got along fine."

Small began working for the prison system in 1901 and in 1926 was assigned to his present duties of shuttling convicts around. He has kept no account of the number of men he has transferred over the system or the number of new men he has brought in from Harris, Brazoria and Fort Bend counties. He estimated he travels about 75,000 miles a year.

He said he had lost only one of the thousands of prisoners placed in his care for transportation, but recovered him several months later.

According to a statistical bulletin by an insurance company, the 11th year of a person's life is the safest.

ONE of the most tempestous and hurly-burly sessions of Texas legislative history is going to get under way come January.

At least, that is the opinion of every one of the dozen or so legislators with whom The Plainsman has recently talked, and the opinion of a half dozen or so capital newspapermen with whom he has come in contact.

There's no doubt in the minds of those who have had occasion to look into the matter, that the regular session beginning early in 1939 is going to be a humdinger.

During the campaign of last summer, numerous politically wise citizens asked themselves and each other:

"Suppose O'Daniel is elected. Can he get along with the legislature?"

But that question needn't be answered now. It's passe.

The big question now is, "will the legislature let O'Daniel get along with it?"

Further than that, those in the know at Austin are predicting that the House of Representatives will be the new governor's biggest stumbling block, rather than the Senate, which is usually where chief executives get spanked.

MR. O'DANIEL would have been in good shape to pin back the ears of the legislature had he not come out for that second primary slate; had he not made the colossal "bust" of announcing that he has "an open mind on legalized race track gambling;" and had he not come out with all sorts of promises which, under the law, and the constitution, he is totally unable to fulfill.

But since his smashing victory of July he has lost much strength and even more face in the eyes of the electorate in general and the politicos in particular.

Hence he's "in for it" when the statesmen gather from the forks of the crick the first of next year.

Mark this forecast down on your cuff, or paste it in your hat for ready reference early in '39!

IN the current issue of the State Observer, Editor D. B. Hardeman presents what he calls "The Ten Commandments of a Yoeman Negro Preacher," gathered by Boyd Sinclair, of Wolfe City and appearing first in the Daily Texan, news publication of the University of Texas.

Because of the naive yet thoroughly practicable application of the original Ten Commandments, we reproduce them here. We feel that they not only make a valuable addition to Texas negro lore, but also that they are symbolical of the negro preacher's efforts to place before his flock Biblical admonitions which will immediately be clear to the untrained, if not actually child-like mind.

The interpretation of the Commandments follows:

First Commandment
Dey ain't gonter be no gawds but De Lawd. He gonter be Cap'n. Cain't never be no small fry.

Second Commandment
Dey ain't gonter be no whittlin' er gawds outter wood 'n' dey ain't gonter to no joo-joos.

Third Commandment
Dey ain't gonter be no useless meddlin' eround wid de Lawd's name. No use'er callin' on De Lawd 'lessen it means bus'ness.

Fourth Commandment
Dey ain't gonter be no hoein' 'n' plowin' on de Sabbath. Dey gonter be plenty er church goin'.

Fifth Commandment
Dey ain't gonter be no mismindin' er yo' pappy er mammy. Dat go fer ol' gran-pappy 'n' mammy, too. Dey gorter de fust king 'n' queen bee 'round de place.

Sixth Commandment
Dey ain't gonter be no razoo slashin' er pistol shootin' 'cep'n' on whiskers er brush hawgs.

Seventh Commandment
Dey ain't gonter be no creepin' to de wimmin's back do' by de mens 'n' dey ain't gonter be no unlockin' er de back do' to de creeper by de wimmins.

Eighth Commandment
Dey ain't gonter be no piddlin' 'roun' wid udder fo'k's proputy.

Ninth Commandment
Dey ain't gonter be no lyin' er say-so er big tawk 'bout fo'ks dat live close by. De Lawd sho' don't like a big mout.

Tenth Commandment
Dey ain't gonter be no castin' er greedy eye on yo' neighbor's house 'n' dey ain't gonter be no puttin' er greedy hand on yo' neighbor's wife. De fac' is, De Lawd say let yo' neighbor's stuff alone.

Call those "commandments" crude, if you like. They are.

But to many readers who understand the psychology of the negro field hand, they represent, graphically, the religious philosophy of the cotton patch, the mule corral and the cornfield.

Whoever the back country, camp meetin', negro author of those "commandments" was, he was shrewd and he was practical.

And The Plainsman will wager that his rough and ready interpretation of the original Ten Commandments did a world of good among his parishioners.

BEFORE President Roosevelt are many pressing problems but not the least important of these is the course he will pursue in the coming session of Congress and throughout the balance of his present term.

The President can do one of three things.

He either can make peace with the Old Line Democrats in Congress and work with them to bolster the Democratic party's cause in 1940.

Or he can continue to follow the suggestions of the "left wing" flank of the New Deal and widen the breach between the New Deal and the Old Line Democrats, thus giving aid to the Republican party in its efforts to recapture control of the nation.

Or he can formally renounce connection with the Democratic party and, with the aid of left wing groups form a third party made up of the more radical forces of the nation as headed by such notables as New York's Mayor LaGuardia, Michigan's defeated Governor Frank Murphy, and Wisconsin's defeated Governor Phil LaFollette.

Just which course the President will take, no one knows—probably including himself.

But his decision, whatever it may be, is going to be of great import to the future of the nation.

Here-to-fore, since assuming the presidency, Mr. Roosevelt has not been one to arbitrate, or to make peace in the interests of party harmony.

Yet in the present case, he may do just that because of the very definite indication by voters in the general election that it is time for the nation to swing away from the extreme left.

Whatever he does, 1939 and 1940 are going to be interesting political years to watch.

And the outcome of the 1940 elections, no matter which front they are fought on, will likely chart the country's course for several generations to come.

SINCE March, 1933, when he first took command, Mr. Roosevelt has accomplished much good for the country.

Also—and particularly in recent years—his administration has been harmful in many quarters.

With these facts plainly before us, it is The Plainsman's opinion that it will be much better for the country, for the Democratic party and for the President, himself, if Mr. Roosevelt decides to make peace with the Old Line wing of the party and, in a spirit of give and take on both sides, turns all his ability toward curing our numerous governmental and economic ills.

And we hope he will do just that.

Murder To Music

said. "Myrna, this is a friend of mine. Bob Tait. Thinks he's an expert newspaper photographer." He introduced Anne, invited the young man to sit down. "Don't run away, Bob. You'll have a surprise."

"I need one," Tait said dolefully. "The boss gave me the exit this morning. Thought I'd drift over and get a few candid shots and maybe sell myself to him again."

Anne Lester smiled. "You're a cinch, Mr. Tait. You don't know it, but you're about to get a photographic scoop. Sit tight."

Genuinely intrigued, young Tait leaned toward the platform they were all watching. Between him and Lud Dombey there drifted entranced dancers, caught up in the tide of swing. The band was in the groove, all right. Old Lud was sending it out of the world tonight. And were the boys and girls peeling the apple! Were they shagging it down! Tait unbraced his miniature camera, raised it to his cheek. But he did not snap the shutter, for just then Lud Dombey brought down his baton and the music cut into a silence more surprising than sound.

"Boys and girls," he said, smiling as only Lud Dombey could smile. "Don't move from where you are. The lights are going out for a moment—and then the golden spotlight of this Golden Bowl is going to shine on . . . Mrs. Ludden Dombey!"

The jitterbugs gasped, grew quiet. Even the hardened Tait found himself interested. He sat poised, his miniature camera ready to catch the girl who had won the great Dombey. Excitedly he imagined the shot. A beautiful goddess, bathed in a golden glow, receiving the homage of all these lovers of swing. Because if Lud Dombey was a king of swing, then she would be queen.

The lights went out. Every last light in the glamorous Golden Bowl. But instead of a golden spotlight, instead of a shaft of light, there was a sickening roar of sound. At the shot a woman screamed. A drunk let out a hilarious, baffled yell. Then silence.

Tait stood up, straining, waiting. Suddenly every light in the Golden Bowl flashed on again.

Lud Dombey lay face down in front of his swing band!

CHAPTER II

For almost a minute, it seemed to Tait, no one moved, no one uttered a sound. Then "Torchy" Stephens stepped down from the band and half fearfully lifted Dombey by the shoulders. Tait needed nobody to tell him that the swing leader was dead. Tait could sense it from where he stood.

At that moment the crowd in the Golden Bowl jerked itself into hysterical action. Half a hundred rushed for the exits and were gone before anyone could stop them. Others, morbidly curious, crowded toward the band platform where Lud Dombey had led The Swingateers for the last time.

Suddenly Tait heard Myrna's tiny, stifled cry, and at the same moment he saw Anne Lester's stricken gaze toward the girl beside him. In a flash he realized that the girl who was to have been in the golden spotlight was this slender, dark creature who had risen unsteadily beside him.

His camera forgotten, Tait took her arm firmly. "You must get out of here," he whispered.

She nodded dully, her clenched fist pressed against her teeth. Tait guided her past the table, taking up her bag as he went. As he did so his heart skipped a beat with the shock of exciting discovery. His fingers, clutching the soft silk of the bag, had encountered the outline of a revolver. And the barrel was warm through the silk!

Hurriedly Tait stuffed the bag into his pocket, literally beat out a way for Myrna through the frantic crowd. Fortunately none of them knew who she was. The golden spot had never picked her out. Instead, death had reached down through the momentary darkness and touched her husband.

Wanting to keep clear of the Pacific-Plaza's huge lobby, Tait guided her down the short hallway from the Golden Bowl and into the ladies' lounge. In front of its foyer he ran into Bill Joiner, one of the Pacific-Plaza's staff of detectives.

"What's up in there, Tait?" Joiner wanted to know.

"Dombey's been shot. A lot of the crowd have beat it already. Better figure a way to keep 'em tied until they can get somebody here from headquarters."

Joiner hesitated a moment, looking at Myrna. "Who's she?"

"Friend of mine," said Tait briefly. "The thing upset her, and I'm taking her in here. We'll be around."

Joiner hurried on toward the wide entrance of the Golden Bowl, and Tait led Myrna to a davenport inside the foyer. "Take it easy here for a while," he said gently. "I'll hang around outside." Myrna dropped wearily to the davenport, and he studied the dark head for a moment. "Will you need your bag?" he asked quickly. "I have it in my pocket."

She shook her head, then buried her tear-stained face in the arm of the davenport.

Thoughtfully Bob Tait returned to the hallway. There he stopped, fished for a cigaret and lighted it. What the devil had come over him, he asked himself. Why wasn't he in there in the Bowl, snapping his "minnie" right and left, trying to get his job back? A photographer couldn't stay off the job two or three days and expect to get away with it. Not even a good one. Not even if he'd wanted to watch his college play an opening game of football when Riggs wanted him to be somewhere else. But some candid shots in the Bowl tonight would soften Riggs up.

Yet here he stood, standing guard over a girl he'd never seen before and might never see again. And in his pocket was her bag, and in it, as sure as taxes, was the weapon that had killed Ludden Dombey.

The shot wasn't fired from that table, though. It couldn't have been. Still, she could have slipped away in the darkness, then hurried back to the table before the lights went on.

Disgustedly Tait spun his cigaret into an ash pillar. "She couldn't be the one. Whoever killed Dombey was inside the mob that scrammed out when the lights went up again. The gun had been planted."

Tait reached into his pocket, unzipped the bag and let the revolver fall unseen against the pocket's lining. The bag he brought out and transferred to an inside pocket. He couldn't hold out the gun on the police, he told himself. But he resolved to keep the bag a while—at least until he was more certain of a number of things than he was now.

As he stood there, Anne Lester rushed up to him. "How did you get out of the Bowl?" Tait demanded. "Haven't they got things in hand in there yet?"

"I haven't been in the Bowl for the past five minutes," Anne said desperately. "I've been searching all over the lobby and balcony for

MR. BIBLE AND TEXAS FOOTBALL

Although comments dealing with college football may seem more appropriate for sports or perhaps financial pages, the immediate gridiron situation at the University of Texas can be classified more accurately, we believe, under the heading of general news.

If defeat in football can be termed disaster, then the university is experiencing the tail-end of a disastrous season. Wolves have begun to grumble at the heels of head Coach Dana X. Bible. They aren't grumbling very loudly, of course, because they are the very ones who are responsible for the $15,000, 10-year contract held by the coach.

But we are wondering—without loss of sleep—whether sympathy and abuse for Coach Bible are not premature. The probabilities are that he is exhibiting astute business judgment in big business.

He knows that one brilliant season will make the fickle howlers forget a lot of bad ones. He knows that his success will be measured by results the last few seasons of his contract, not by the first few. He knows it takes time in this day of cut-throat competition to build a good football team, and he is taking that time.

A man of his fine ability can hardly be dogged by failure forever, even though it won't make one whit of difference in the university's worth as an educational institution.

Today's Thought

And he that is courageous among the mighty shall flee away naked in that day, saith the Lord. — Amos 3:16.

THE NEW YORK SCENE

The First Nights: It was a soft chore for the critics last week, with only "Leave It To Me" putting them on the aisles to earn their pay and passes. This new musical is such a click the Republicans have probably listed it among their election triumphs. Victor Moore, Wm. Gaxton, Mme. Sophie Tucker, Tamara and Mary Martin (hats off, men) give vigor to this tale of fun in the Soviet Union, and Cole Porter supplies a score that's almost too good for us common people . . . With no bad shows to pick on, the reviewers took to picking on each other. The Journal's John Anderson gave the icy answer to Florence Parry, a Pittsburgh dissenter, who conducted a Dies inquiry on us critics. Miss Parry called us "Reds" because we don't like what she likes—which is easy name-calling but a little flat as criticism . . . Mr. Atkinson (Times) and Mr. Watts (H-Trib) ganged up on Ivor Brown of the London Observer, who chucked rocks at the U. S. Thitter. Mr. Brown chirped that if "On Borrowed Time" was representative of our kind of show, we should throw in the towel. Our defenders retorted (and it was a pleasure) that the version of "On Borrowed Time" Mr. B saw was not ours, but London's—scissored and devitalized to the milk-and-water taste of the Britons.

The Magic Lanterns: Here's a nutty situation. The recent cinemas have been so superior all the major temples are holding over last week's bills, with bountiful takings. Yet the best of them all is a quickie, made for "peanuts" with nobody in the cast you'd beg for an autograph. Its name is "A Man to Remember," and it's notable for the grown-up direction of Garson Kanin, last seen locally as the haywire lyric-writer in "Boy Meets Girl" . . . And he clicked with his first job because his budget wouldn't support the kind of Hollywood flash flickers are supposed to need! . . . Another creditable item is a furriner, "Professor Mamlock," shipped here by the Soviets.

Broun Clare Boothe wrangle goes into an extra round in College Humor. Heywood arguing the author of "Kiss the Boys Goodbye" is using the late O. O. McIntyre's technique of selling New Yorkers short to the yokels . . . Helen Woodward profiles Bruce Barton in The Nation, and lets him off easy—for a capitalist . . . The Wireless: Election returns were very barrel-house on some of the stations. Some reporters would have been more up-to-the-minute had they listened to their rivals. One smallie, spelling shortly after midnight—a guy enraptured of his own diction—told us lovely people he'd be along in an hour or so with the Dewey-Lehman score which had been given out, 45 minutes earlier, on the AP's compilation that Lehman was in . . . George Kaufman, subbing for Clifton Fadiman on the night school, bore down so hard on the experts that they squandered $20 — a big nut . . . Kate Smith introduced Irving Berlin's new anthem: "God Bless America," a beautiful and stirring hymn. . . . "America's Town Meeting," a new WJZ Thursday night feature, is something not to be missed . . . Sunday night's show on the Silver Theater (with F. Tone and Rita Johnson) certainly panhandled for your belief. It asked you to understand the miseries of a girl fighting off H'wood stardom . . . Ahfter awl!

The Front Pages: The Sun ran a face-saving editorial day after election asking why voters had returned Sen. Wagner to office . . . One answers is because they believed Wagner's record — rather than what they read about him in The New York Sun . . . Civil Liberties Committee And Group Probing Un-American Activities Prepare For Dog-Fight

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—The LaFollette committee investigating violations of civil liberties and the Dies committee investigating un-Americanism have had several skirmishes. But the real clash, apparently, is yet to come.

The battleground will be in California.

Congressman Dies has promised to go to the coast shortly and hear about 150 witnesses said to be ready to tell of Communist activities especially among labor groups.

Dutcher

Senator LaFollette meanwhile has several investigators in California checking up on the Associated Farmers and allegations of terrorism against labor unions by vigilants. His hearings also will be held in California, following those held by Dies.

Generally speaking, the friends of the Dies committee are the foes of the LaFollette committee and vice versa. Dies' witnesses are likely to be put on the pan before the LaFollette committee. One of them is Harper Knowles, former secretary of the Associated Farmers, who made sensational charges of Communism against California labor leaders.

Dies recently charged a LaFollette committee official tried to "plant" an investigator on his staff, and Dies inferentially has attacked LaFollette for "un-American tendencies." One or two Dies witnesses have accused LaFollette investigators of being chummy with Communists.

LaFollette investigators privately have enjoyed discrediting Dies witnesses and investigators.

A Democratic politician returning from the west reports it wasn't easy for a bold candidate to stand out against the $30-per-Thursday and other such pension plans. Previously strongest opponents of the Townsend plan turned tail in the end because of the intense, menacing organization efficiency of the old-age pension folk.

"It's unlike any other political organization because these people over 60 just don't have anything else to do," this man reports. "They put in all their time on it. And when a hostile candidate finds them turning up early and en masse at every one of his meetings he usually begins to wilt."

Marriage Of Convenience

Simon-pure New Dealers who abhor the Roosevelt administration's alliances with some of the country's most notorious political machines held their noses when Jim Farley and President Roosevelt agreed to go down the line with Boss Hague's senatorial candidate in New Jersey, former WPA State Director W. H. J. Ely. Even top men in WPA at Washington privately expressed disgust.

One "little cabinet" member who made a couple of speeches in New Jersey at behest of the Democratic National committee was twitted by friends who asked whether he had endorsed "Hague's stooge."

"Hell, no!" was the reply. "I didn't even mention his name. I made a rousing campaign speech for Roosevelt."

Dewey Strong On S. A.

District Attorney Tom Dewey's appeal to women was one of the factors which kept him close to Lehman in the New York governorship dog fight.

The Dewey campaign photograph was carefully selected from a large assortment and the keen men who picked it did so because, they said, it looked more like a "movie actor with sex appeal" than any of the others. Dewey gagged for a while, preferring other camera portraits, but was persuaded to consent.

The sense of direction displayed by birds in migration still is a puzzle to science. Many authorities believe that birds are able to detect the earth's magnetic force, which affords them a constant directional guide.

The Plainsman Gets Some Mail

(Letters from readers are invited and welcomed. They will be published gladly whenever they do not violate the laws of libel, or the rules of decency, and when they do not exceed 500 words in length. Letters criticizing individuals, firms or organizations must be signed by the true name of their writers.

RAPS RADIO

Dear Plainsman: Thus the racus ones of an announcer's bawling pice goes on and on over the time hat a station should use for obervance of an Armistice Day proram, but instead is being used to roadcast a football game.

Football games are all right in heir place, to be sure. But a football game broadcast over, say one our's time, is far too much. And hen the occasion demands respect o the dead, the patriotic ideals of e American people are thrown to e four winds against the best inrest of the people.

I am not mentioning any particuar radio station. But I am voicing protest from opinions of people hat I have talked with against a ertain station in this district that romised two Armistice Day prorams, but who relinquished that ime for overdoing the issue by roadcasting on and on a football ame.

Radio as it is today is far from ideal; ar from serving the people with the est interest. There is not enough ontrol set upon these stations. Radio station managers broadcast only programs that will bring them in he greatest dividends, never thinking of the real interest of those who want to listen to their programs.

There is far too much slush, as many will agree with me, that is broadcast without any consideration f the people.

It is true that there is a great eed for reform. Particularly in the ase of overdoing one thing. We do eed variety. Those who like sports ill attend them rather than sit ome beside a receiver. Others who emand variety will listen for an our, say, and then turn to someing else. I knew, for I have seen e habits of the different radio liseners. We might classify the modern radio listener as one who utilzes no more than one hour at a ime for broadcast if it is vitally interesting and important. But usually the modern listener takes a ort of grasshopper manner of jumping about from one frequency to another seeking the programs to the best of his interest.

The Golden Rule must be practiced in the field of professional radio just as much as in other fields. Radio is a human service that reaches all types of peoples, regardless of race, class, or creed. Then, too, radio by this cause, should and must co-operate with the church, with the ideals behind all human beings for the best interest of those human beings, and with a neutral stand see that these ideals are carried out.

A station must not promise a broadcast and then not give it if it is not certain that that certain program will not be broadcast. This is not in the best interest of the people. There is the "shut-in", the sick, and those who use the radio to try to obtain the finer things from life.

It is true that they will say the writer was too sweeping, too harsh, in his opinions about radio broadcasting as it is today. But I feel as do many others that I have talked with on this subject, that we need reform. Radio is too fine, too great a thing to stoop so low as to disappoint its listeners. It is great and must stay that way in order to elevate rather than destroy the true values that the men who invented and fathered it to the powerful place it has today, meant for it to be.

Let us, this rising generation taking this field for our time as a service to mankind rather than enter this field for just pecuniary interests.

Respectfully yours,
J. S. Henninger,
Lubbock.

Murder To Music

Myrna. Where is she? I saw her go out with you just after—just after it happened."

Tait jerked a thumb over his shoulder. "She's in there." Anne started for the foyer, but young Tait restrained her. "Just a minute. I'd like to help her if I can. Do you realize she's liable to be in a tough spot?"

The girl stiffened. "You're not saying that she—"

"I'm not saying anything," Tait said quietly. "How long have you known her?"

"We've roomed together for five years. They don't come better than Myrna."

"This romance with Dombey. Wasn't it sort of sudden?"

Anne flushed. "I'm afraid this is none of your business. I understood you were a newspaper photographer, not a detective. I'm going to see Myrna."

"Sorry . . ." Tait grinned sheepishly and let her by.

The kid was right, he thought. What he should do was turn the bag and the gun over to the police and let them fight it out. Yet, if he did that, the girl in there would find herself instantly embroiled in a sticky mess. She was hit hard enough as it was.

He was startled by Anne Lester's voice at his shoulder. "Myrna's not in there!"

"Are you sure?"

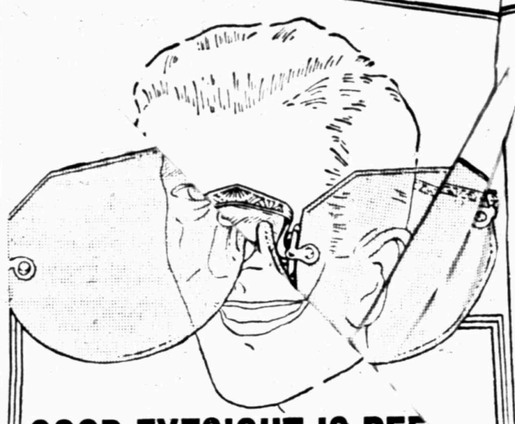

Anne nodded. "There's a fire escape to the alley. She must have gone down that."

Tait hesitated a moment. Then: "Do you think she might have gone to your apartment?"

"I—I can't think where else."

"Then listen. You get over there right now. And give me the address. If she's there, make her stay. Because if she pulls another disappearing act it's going to look bad. They'll want to see the girl Lud Dombey married five minutes before he was murdered—and she'd better be found for them to look at!"

Jewish Refugees Tell How Property, Jobs, Savings Confiscated

Boat Docks At Oakland, Cal.

(By The Associated Press)

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Nov. 18.—Jewish refugees, arriving here Thursday by boat from Germany, told how their property, jobs and savings had been confiscated in Chancellor Adolph Hitler's anti-Semitic drive.

Special police guarded the gangway when the vessel, the German motorship Oakland, docked.

War Veteran Included

Chief among the small group of refugees in the Oakland's 40 passengers was Walter Frost, a German World war veteran and for 15 years head of a textile commission house at Breslau.

Frost said he served in the German army as sharpshooter from 1914 to 1918. Five months ago he was fairly well to do. He landed here penniless.

"The first thing the German government did was to take away my job," Frost said. "They confiscated my business. Then they took away my mother's and my own bank savings, our property and even our household goods, totaling about $80,000. When we sailed from Hamburg I was permitted to leave with just 60 marks, or $24 in American currency."

Several other refugees reported their homes and savings had been confiscated.

Johnson Couple Has Lived Together For Three Score, Twelve

CLEBURNE, Nov. 18. (AP)—Three score and twelve years is considered a ripe age but Johnson county has one couple who have lived as man and wife longer than the Biblical span.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Calvert of Joshua recently celebrated their 72nd wedding anniversary.

The magazine Life published their photographs and this publicity brought letters from the Carolinas to California seeking advice on how to live such an age and requesting information about relatives.

Calvert is 91 and Mrs. Calvert 87, both come from sturdy, longlived stock. Calvert's parents were in their eighties when they died and Mrs. Calvert's mother lived to be 89.

"I have known him 81 years," Mrs. Calvert said, referring to her husband," and we have never had a cross word." The Calverts were born on adjoining farms in Webster county, Mo., they came to Johnson county 55 years ago. The couple has 108 living decendents including eight children, 43 grand children, 52 great grand children and five great great grand children.

The Calverts' most cherished possession is a Bible 108 years old. It contains births, deaths and marriages of the family from the early part of the 19th century. Mrs. Calvert said her husband cannot see well but has read the Bible so often he is able to repeat any passage with a few words of prompting.

Mrs. Calvert said they have always eaten anything they wanted "Properly cooked food won't harm anyone," she said. "We have always had plenty of milk and butter and there are plenty of vegetables in the garden now."

Mrs. Calvert, with sparkling eyes, said she could do plenty of farm work today if she were not taking care of her husband. "He is a good man," she said, "and I shall take care of him long as I live. He never swore or drank and never served on a grand jury."

Better Than Pop Bottles

For once an umpire is presented with something other than cabbages and things as Gabby Hartnett, left, Cub manager, hands Bill Stewart, the National League umpire who manages the Blackhawks, the Stanley Cup before the opening game of the hockey season at the Chicago Stadium. The famous old mug is emblematic of world supremacy, and the Blackhawks picked up where they left off last spring by defeating the New York Americans, 6-1.

Illinois Tenant Farmer Defends Marriage Of 14-Year-Old Daughter To 63-Year-Old Wealthy Man; Claims Farmer Gets $500

(By The Associated Press)

TALLULA, Ill., Nov. 18—Edgar Robinson, tenant farmer with nine children, defended today the marriage of his 14-year-old daughter, Velma, and Jonas Scott Greene, 63, wealthy land owner and member of a pioneer Tallula family.

"I know he's older, but he has money and can take care of her much better than some of these youngsters around here who leave each other right after they're married," said Robinson.

His daughter and Greene were married in Wickliffe, Ky., Nov. 5, Robinson said. He added he accompanied them there for the ceremony.

Greene, arrested last night in Los Angeles, Calif., on a charge of carrying a deadly weapon, said he paid Robinson $500 as a guarantee he would take proper care of Velma. The girl was held in juvenile hall.

Robinson denied he received $500, although, he said, "I sure could use money right now." He declared all he received was $5 and a promise of a "boost" in his farming.

MAKES IT SO JUICY AND FLAVORFUL AN' THE STUFFIN'S JUST GRAND

Try the SPRY way to make STUFFING FOR ROAST TURKEY OR CHICKEN

3 quarts soft bread crumbs
2½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon sage
½ teaspoon thyme
2 tablespoons parsley, chopped
½ cup Spry, melted
½ cup onion, minced
¼ cup butter
½ cup boiling water (about)

Combine bread crumbs, salt, pepper, sage, thyme and parsley and mix thoroughly.

Melt Spry in skillet, add onion, and sauté 2 minutes. (Do not brown.) Add bread crumbs and sauté until lightly browned, stirring constantly from bottom. (Notice how tasty the stuffing is, made this way.) Add and pour over crumbs, adding liquid as necessary to moisten. Add seasonings, and more water if a moister stuffing is needed. Makes enough for one 8 pound bird.

After bird has been cleaned and trussed, put in roasting pan and brush with melted Spry. Cover pan which has been lightly greased with melted Spry. Leave cover on during roasting. Roast in moderate oven (350° F.), allowing 20 to 25 minutes per pound. Try this Spry way and see how juicy your turkey is, how extra-rich and brown your gravy!
