NEWS WATCH

Dynagen deadline

AUSTIN — Texas Attorney General Dan Morales announced Friday that the period for public comment on the settlement negotiated by the state and Dynagen Corp. has been extended by 30 days. The renegotiated settlement allows the company less time before it must cease discharging wastewater into its solar ponds, but extended the time to install other pollution abatement equipment. /4A

Congress frenzy

WASHINGTON — Major bills attacking crime and seeking to upgrade schools fell victim Friday to a congressional calendar-clearing frenzy as lawmakers rushed to adjourn and hit the campaign trail. Another big-ticket item — lifting the ban on abortion counseling at federally funded clinics by staff members except physicians — went by the boards as the House failed to override President Bush's veto. Weekend work was in store for lawmakers anxious to wind up a session dominated by acute election-year partisanship and decimated by scandals surrounding the House bank and post office. The congressional leadership still hoped to adjourn Monday. /6C

Premature firing

ANKARA, Turkey — A U.S. admiral indicated Friday that premature firing may have launched the missile from the carrier Saratoga that blasted a Turkish destroyer and killed five crew, according to the Turkish news agency Anatolia. The destroyer was being towed home through treacherous waters Friday after an air-defense missile wrecked its bridge. The captain was among those killed. President Bush telephoned President Turgut Ozal and Prime Minister Suleyman Demirel to express his sorrow. /4C

Domestic violence

WASHINGTON — There were about 1 million attacks on women by their husbands or lovers last year, a Senate committee said Friday, as 16 women's groups urged more stringent laws to combat domestic violence. Another 3 million violent domestic crimes — murders, rapes and assaults — went unreported, estimated the Senate Judiciary Committee. "Women's lives remain controlled by fear, yet Congress has been slow to respond," said Rosemary Dempsey, vice president of the National Organization for Women. "The incidents recorded in this report are a stark reminder of the misogyny behind the statistics." /6C

Richards fills seat on railroad commission

Report: Perry used state phones for political calls

AUSTIN (AP) — Five Texas Department of Agriculture employees, including Commissioner Rick Perry, made long-distance calls on state telephones to the campaign of GOP Railroad Commission candidate Barry Williamson, a newspaper reported Friday.

Calls also were made to the offices of Republicans Vice President Dan Quayle and Rob Mosbacher Jr., who heads the Texas GOP's campaign arm, the Austin American-Statesman reported.

The calls, which were made between December 1991 and March 1992 to the Williamson campaign, were defended by Perry's spokeswoman, Rossanna Salazar.

She said that department employees were calling Ken Luce, who was a deputy agriculture commissioner before he left to work for the Williamson campaign.

Ms. Salazar said the calls concerned depart-

AUSTIN (AP) — A former Texas Supreme Court justice, James P. Wallace, was sworn in Friday as the newest member of the Texas Railroad Commission.

Wallace replaces Lena Guerrero, who resigned late last month after admitting she falsely claimed a college degree for 12 years.

Wallace, 64, was appointed by Gov. Ann Richards, who said the Austin lawyer would serve out the final three months of the current term. The seat is up for election Nov. 3.

"He has agreed to serve this very brief period at considerable sacrifice to himself and his family for the sake of continuity on the commission," Richards said.

"I assure you I will give it my utmost effort," Wallace said. Asked if he was interested in serving longer, Wallace said quickly: "No. A definite, absolute, unquali-

Tax-credit program aids homebuyers, officials say

Staff report

A major tax credit program for low- and moderate-income first-time homebuyers was announced Friday by county officials and Texas National Mortgage Bankers.

The Mortgage Credit Certificate (MCC) program provides a federal income tax credit equal to 20 percent of a homeowner's interest paid on a mortgage loan.

The new program was outlined at a breakfast meeting between members of the Midland Board of Realtors and county and bank officials.

"The saving is a direct reduction of taxes and applies so long as the homeowner continues to make payments and occupies the home as principal residence," explained Fred Kester, secretary of the Midland County Housing Finance Corp.

In addition to the 20 percent direct tax credit, "normal interest deductions are available for interest over and above the credit amount," said Paul Parkinson, president of Texas National Mortgage, which will originate the loans for the program and issue MCCs on behalf of the county.

In order to qualify for the program,

Candidates' camps iron out details of October debates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top aides to President Bush and Bill Clinton fleshed out the details Friday for a fast-paced trio of presidential debates beginning Oct. 11, and seemed likely to deal Ross Perot a seat at the table for the climax of a tumultuous campaign.

Perot said he'd participate "if they invite me."

The debate scenario unfolded as the president and his Demo-

Andrews man collapses, dies on oil storage tank

By Ed Todd
Staff writer

ANDREWS — A 35-year-old Andrews truck driver, Juan Sanchez, collapsed and died Friday morning on the catwalk of an oil storage tank while he apparently was preparing to load crude oil at a Hunt Oil Co. lease in Andrews County.

Oil produced from Hunt's JM White lease, contains the poisonous hydrogen sulfide (H₂S) gas, according to Temple Pyle, Hunt's district superintendent in Midland.

Hunt provides clean-air breathing apparatus at the tank location and has posted signs that warn of the dangers of H₂S-poisoning, Pyle said.

Sanchez was found on the catwalk by Hunt employee Tommy Hogan, 36, of Andrews at 11:50 a.m. Friday.

Hogan strapped on his breathing mask, climbed the Jury sentences man in rape case

■ Midland man receives 17 years in prison for aggravated sexual assault, 15 years for burglary.

By Michael Kashgarian
Staff writer

A 10-woman, two-man jury sentenced a 27-year-old Midland man on Friday to 17 years in prison for aggravated sexual assault and 15 years for burglary after finding him guilty of the charges the day before.

Blakely Lynn Ford will serve the sentences concurrently and will be eligible for parole in four years and three months.

The jury deliberated about four hours to assess the punishment and about three hours to convict Ford.

After the verdict, one of the jurors, when asked how the decisions were made, replied, "I don't know." The woman declined to comment

For the offenses, Ford faced five to 99 years or life in prison, but was eligible for probation.

During the punishment phase of the trial, Ford testified on his behalf, seeking probation.

During the trial, Ford never testified and with the exception of pleading not guilty, no direct claim of innocence was made during the proceedings.

The trial began Tuesday and testimony concluded Wednesday.

The victim, a 35-year-old hairdresser, testified that she woke up at her southwest Midland home about 2:30 a.m., Jan. 9, 1991, to find a strange man — Ford — standing above her.

The woman described how the man attempted to force her to perform oral sex and have intercourse but was unsuccessful.

The man threatened her with a knife, told her he had watched her in the past and wanted a relationship, the woman testified.

Ford was arrested after being awakened by

Reasoner's body expected to be exhumed, newspaper says

WESTPORT, Conn. (AP) — The body of CBS news veteran Harry Reasoner was expected to be exhumed to determine what caused head injuries he sustained before his death, a published report said Friday.

Dr. Thomas Bennett, the Iowa medical examiner, wants to determine whether Reasoner's head injuries were consistent with a fall down a flight of stairs, the accident that led to his hospitalization on June 11, 1991.

Reasoner, 68, of Westport, underwent surgery the next day at Norwalk Hospital and died Aug. 6 from pneumonia and a blood clot in his brain. He was buried in a cemetery in Humboldt, Iowa.

The Westport News, a twice-weekly newspaper, quoted the doctor as saying an autopsy was possible.

"I have seen injuries in people who have been buried for 31 years, so this is not outside the realm at all," Bennett told the paper.

Staffers who answered the phones at Bennett's Des Moines and Sioux City offices said he wasn't available for comment Friday afternoon. Iowa's deputy medical examiners also were out of their offices Friday afternoon and couldn't be reached for comment.

Reasoner's family has asked for an inquiry into his death though there was no indication of foul play, Westport police said two weeks ago.

Westport police Inspector Donald Brown said he hadn't known about a possible exhumation until learning of the newspaper article.

Security Council votes to use Iraqi assets frozen abroad

UNITED NATIONS (NYT) — The United Nations Security Council voted Friday to take control of hundreds of millions of dollars worth of Iraqi assets frozen outside the country. The seized assets would be used to compensate victims of Iraq's invasion of Kuwait and to pay U.N. expenses in Iraq.

The move means that Iraq will now begin using the proceeds of its huge oil reserves, believed to be the second largest in the world, to meet claims against it and to buy more foreign food and medicine for its people instead of relying on aid.

The resolution was adopted by a vote of 14-0, with China abstaining. The U.S. representative, Edward J. Perkins, called the resolution "a reasonable and proportionate response to problems Iraq itself has created."

But the roughly $800 million that the seizure of assets is expected to bring in will not go far toward meeting either the estimated $100 billion in compensation claims filed against Iraq so far or the country's peacetime bill for imported food and medicine of more than $2 billion a year.

And the seizure will not take place at all if Iraq agrees in the next few weeks to an alternative plan under which the Security Council would let it start selling oil again on a regular basis with the proceeds being used for the same purposes under U.N. supervision.

This would mean a compensation program in which 30 percent of Iraq's oil revenues of some $17 billion a year would be regularly siphoned off over a couple of decades to meet claims.

The seized assets would be used to compensate victims of Iraq's invasion of Kuwait and to pay U.N. expenses in Iraq.

When he addressed the General Assembly earlier this week, Iraq's Foreign Minister, Mohammed Saeed Sahaf, said Baghdad now wanted to reopen talks with the United Nations on such an oil-sale agreement after breaking them off last summer. He said Iraq would seek permission to sell $4 billion worth of oil and was ready to give 5 percent of the proceeds in aid to Somalia and Bosnia and Herzegovina.

Friday, the foreign minister estimated that this would leave Iraq

$2.6 billion to spend on food and medicine after compensation payments and other deductions.

But in his General Assembly speech, the foreign minister made no reference to the United Nations' insistence on monitoring both the oil sales and the distribution of food and medicine inside the country, a demand that Baghdad rejected earlier this year as an insult to its sovereignty.

And Friday he and his aides ended separate talks with the United Nations about a new aid agreement for Iraq on an inconclusive note. Officials said Iraq still appeared reluctant to concede the degree of supervision that the United Nations wanted over distribution.

The resolution adopted Friday was drawn up when it appeared that President Saddam Hussein was determined to reject the Council's original oil-sale plan, despite the relief that it promised ordinary Iraqis, who were living in a world of serious shortages and soaring inflation after two years of sanctions.

The assets to be seized under Friday's resolution include cargoes of unsold Iraqi crude oil stored in Turkey and Saudi Arabia as well as payments for oil deliveries that were blocked in banks when Iraq's foreign assets were frozen. The total value of these assets is still unclear but diplomats put it at $500 million to $1 billion.

If the resolution takes effect, a third of all the money will be put into a special U.N. compensation fund that will start reimbursing victims of the Kuwait invasion.

WEATHER SUMMARY

The Accu-Weather® forecast for noon today.

Temperatures climb to 90

Staff report

Sunny days touched by south winds are on the Midland weather front this weekend.

The weatherman at the National Weather Service at Midland International Airport is calling for high temperatures today in the upper 80s to near 90. Winds are to be southerly at 5 to 15 mph.

The low tonight is to be in the low 50s.

Sunday's high is forecast to be near 90.

The high temperature on Friday was 84, after an overnight low of 45. The record high temperature for Oct. 2 is 97 degrees in 1951. The record low for Oct. 3 is 39 degrees in 1987. The record high for Oct. 3 is 95 degrees in 1951.

STATE

Clear skies and comfortable autumn temperatures dominated Texas weather on Friday, and forecasters expected more of the same through the weekend.

There were a few upper-level clouds over northwestern sections of north Texas, but skies were blue elsewhere in the region. Winds were light and variable throughout the area and temperatures edged into the 80s.

A low-pressure system over the Gulf of Mexico kept skies clear and northerly winds across south Texas. Temperatures ranged from 76 at Galveston to 87 at McAllen.

The forecast calls for fair skies across the south through today with lows dipping into the 30s in the Hill Country and highs in the 80s. In north Texas, fair and cool weather was expected through Sunday with lows in the 40s and 50s and highs in the mid- to upper 80s.

NATION

Chill air and frost gripped the Northeast on Friday. Much of the rest of the nation basked in unseasonably warm weather.

A low-pressure system in the Gulf of Mexico threatened coastal residents from Florida to Louisiana, and Tropical Storm Earl weakened south of Bermuda.

The system pushed gale-force winds of at least 39 mph over parts of the Gulf, said forecaster Max Mayfield at the National Hurricane Center.

Southwest Florida received heavy rain and wind early in the day. Thunderstorms produced winds around Boise, Idaho, downing some trees and power lines. Winds tore the roof off one home and one business, the National Weather Service said.

By midday, thundershowers were scattered over the West, from Washington state to California and Nevada.

After early morning frost, temperatures in the Northeast climbed into the 60s and 70s by afternoon.

Low temperature records for the day were set in Bridgeport, Conn., with 39 degrees; Concord, N.H., with 24 degrees; and Corpus Christi, Texas, 56 degrees.

By midday, temperatures had nudged into the 70s across much of the nation east of the Rockies. Temperatures in the 80s warmed parts of the Great Plains, the Mississippi Valley, Florida and Texas.

The Associated Press contributed to this report.

BORROW: Tax-credit program targets buyers

the borrower must not have owned a home in the past three years. Income limits to participate in the program are $45,100 for single buyers or couples and $51,865 for families of three or more.

Homes financed under the program must have a purchase price of $103,500 or less for new homes and $71,400 or less for existing homes.

Board of Realtors president Pat Paxton expressed enthusiasm for the program. "This innovative new program should benefit first-time home purchasers," she said.

Information on the program is available from Tena Waggoner and Loretta McKissick of Texas National Mortgage, 688-8506.

fied no."

Ms. Guerrero's resignation had left only two people on the three-member panel that regulates oil, gas and transportation in the state.

In joining that panel, Wallace also serves on the Texas High-Speed Rail Authority, which oversees the 200 mph "bullet" train proposed to link Dallas, Houston and San Antonio.

Richards noted that a key decision must be made by that authority by Dec. 31 — whether to extend the deadline for the train's private builders to raise $170 million.

The governor said that even though the Railroad Commission post would have been vacant only three months, she considered it important to make an appointment. She said there were no problems between the other commissioners, Bob Krueger and Jim Nugent.

"It just seemed to me that for a quarter of the year, that position should not be open," Richards said. "I spent a lot of time finding someone who had some acquaintance with oil and gas, who was judicial in temperament, and who had no ties to any of the industry that would be regulated."

A native of Sidon, Ark., Wallace is a graduate of the University of Arkansas and attended law school there and at the University of Houston.

He began practicing law in Houston in 1957, served four years in the Texas Senate, and was elected a Harris County district judge in 1975. He served on the Houston-based 1st Court of Appeals for three years before joining the Supreme Court in January 1981. He served on that bench until 1988, when he returned to practicing law.

"In 14 years I spent on the bench, I tried that type of (oil and gas) case. Really, the commission work is to take fact situations, make opinions as to application of law, and that's what I've been doing for 14 years," Wallace said.

Both Krueger and Ms. Guerrero praised the appointment.

"Judge Jim Wallace brings impeccable credentials in public service and will add esteem to the 100-year tradition of the commission," Krueger said.

"The work currently underway at the Railroad Commission is too important not to have a qualified person like Jim Wallace on board," Ms. Guerrero said.

ment business and almost all the calls were reimbursed.

"Even though this was legitimate business, our folks went the extra mile and paid for the calls themselves to even avoid any appearance of wrongdoing," she said.

Ms. Salazar said employees generally paid for the calls with personal credit cards.

She said the calls to Mosbacher would be reimbursed. As for the call to Quayle's office, Ms. Salazar said that Perry and the vice president frequently confer on topics such as the North American Free Trade Agreement.

with him about department projects, Ms. Salazar said.

Lena Guerrero, Williamson's Democratic opponent on the November ballot, used the disclosure of the phone calls to further her attack on Williamson.

"This is about using government funds for personal use," Ms. Guerrero said.

The six department employees who made the calls were Perry; Barry McBee, deputy commissioner; Coby Shorter, director of agribusiness development; Monica Hearn, special assistant to Perry; and Margaret Spearman, assistant commissioner for intergovernmental affairs.

In a related development, Ms. Guerrero accused Williamson of misrepresenting his business credentials as an independent oilman.

Williamson has said he was in the oil business before taking posts with the U.S. Department of Energy.

tank, removed Sanchez from the catwalk, radioed for an ambulance, removed his mask, and applied cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) in an effort to revive Sanchez, according to company reports.

Hogan, who inhaled some hydrogen sulfide while giving Sanchez CPR, was taken by ambulance to Permian General Hospital, where he was treated and released.

Sanchez worked for the Wichita, Kan.-based Koch Industries, which purchases oil from the Dallas-based Hunt. Koch transports, refines, markets and wholesales oil and oil products.

An autopsy on Sanchez is to be performed today in Odessa Medical Center Hospital to determine the cause of Sanchez's death.

"I express deepest sympathy" to the Sanchez family, Pyle said, "and I commend Tommy Hogan for his valiant efforts to save" Sanchez's life.

Hunt Oil Co. and "appropriate government agencies" will "conduct an investigation in an effort to determine the cause of this tragic accident," Pyle said.

Sanchez had worked for Koch for almost two years, said Donnie Alsobrook, the company's assistant division manager in Midland.

Spokesman Rich Tuttle in Corpus Christi said Friday that Koch has safety systems in place to prevent injuries and death from oil-field gas poisoning.

police in the woman's home. The woman said she earlier gave Ford several tablespoons of over-the-counter cough medicine.

A police detective testified that Ford made statements after his arrest and bond appearance that implied that a criminal act had occurred.

Under defense questioning, other testimony revealed that the victim did not use a rape kit following the incident and no physical evidence of a break-in was found. The woman said she was never instructed to use a rape kit and the suspected point of entry, a window, did not have a lock.

The woman testified that after the sexual attack, she and Ford went to a nearby 7-Eleven store at her request to buy cigarettes. The woman said she did not attempt to escape or seek help in the store because she feared for her life and that Ford was carrying a knife.

Testimony during the punishment phase indicated that Ford had a record of two misdemeanor charges of unlawfully carrying a weapon in 1986, one in Howard County, the other in Taylor County.

Morales extends Dynagen's deadline

Staff report

AUSTIN — Texas Attorney General Dan Morales announced Friday that the period for public comment on the settlement negotiated by the state and Dynagen Corp. has been extended by 30 days.

The renegotiated settlement proposal allows the company less time before it must cease discharging wastewater into its solar ponds, but extended the time to install other pollution abatement equipment.

Morales advised Gov. Ann Richards, the Texas Air Control Board and the Texas Water Commission of his office's decision to extend the deadline.

He said his office was disappointed to learn that the neighborhoods nearest the plant did not have an opportunity to participate in the local decision to ask the state to renegotiate the settlement.

Odessa city and business leaders asked state officials to renegotiate the settlement after company officials indicated it might shut down the plant, directly eliminating 250 jobs, with an estimated economic ripple effect of 1,500 lost jobs.

"We thought a compromise had been developed that was acceptable to all parties. It would save jobs and more quickly remove the foul odor, which was the biggest cause of complaints from residents," Morales said.

"However, we have been informed that the neighborhoods near Dynagen have not been fully advised on the new proposal. They must be informed and have an opportunity to be heard."

Judge drops indictments

The two men, Lee Higgins and Phillip Buch, were arrested by the FBI in mid-June in Dallas and charged with conspiracy to commit computer fraud against Mobil Oil.

DEBATES: Candidates agree to meet, spar over unemployment figures nam era draft status and support for the Persian Gulf War. Clinton's new ad accused the president of running distorted "attack ads" over taxes, and said "George Bush is trying to scare you."

Clinton, trying to end 12 years of Republican control of the White House, commands a double-digit lead in most polls. But the ingredients were coming together for a volatile one-month finale to the campaign — the series of televised debates, combined with Perot's entry into the race on Thursday and the prospect of a three-way advertising campaign costing millions.

Aides to the president and his Democratic rival met privately for the third day to work out the details for the debates, and sources who spoke on condition of anonymity provided some of the details.

Republicans insisted Perot and his running mate, retired Adm. James Stockdale, would be invited. One Clinton adviser, speaking anonymously, agreed. "If he wants to be there, he is." Another Democrat suggested a ruling would be made by the bipartisan Commission on Presidential Debates. Commission officials, speaking anonymously, have said previously that Perot appears to meet their guidelines.

The tentative schedule called for the presidential debates to be held Oct. 11, 15 — a date said to be less firm than the others — and Oct. 19. Vice President Dan Quayle, Democratic candidate Al Gore and presumably Stockdale would square off on Oct. 13.

Each debate would last for 90 minutes.

The formats would be mixed, most likely a panel of reporters for the first presidential debate — the format Bush wanted — a single moderator for the second as Clinton has been asking and a hybrid for the third. There would be a single moderator for the vice presidential debate.

The two sides were discussing whether to permit questions by the audience in at least one debate.

Still to be determined would be whether sponsorship would fall to the commission, the bipartisan group that had to cancel three planned debates after Bush objected to its single-moderator format.

Atlanta, Milwaukee and St. Louis were being considered as sites for the first presidential debate, said a Democratic source, who spoke on condition of anonymity. The second presidential debate will be held in Richmond and the last in East Lansing, Mich., the source said.

The vice presidential debate is likely to be held on the West Coast, possibly in San Diego, the source said.

The campaign grind continued. Bush said in an appearance on ABC's "Good Morning America" that the new unemployment figures, a drop from 7.6 percent in August to 7.5 percent for September, was "very good news." Joblessness dropped in six of the 11 most populous states and rose in five.

But Clinton, campaigning in the industrial heart of the nation, read the numbers differently. "We learned that unemployment remains high, with no end in sight," he said in Toledo, Ohio. "Trickle-down economics has brought a tidal wave of unemployment and reduced incomes."

"The final accounting of the Bush presidency before the election is in," he added. "It says that in the last four years, listen to this, as a nation we have lost 35,000 jobs in the private sector."

Bush set out for Massachusetts and Florida, and his aides released their second new television commercial in as many days. It shows two candidates standing side by side, their faces obscured by gray dots. The announcer says the two stood on different sides of key issues, including Clinton's Vietnam era draft status, the Persian Gulf War and a proposal for term limits for members of Congress.

"One of these candidates is Bill Clinton. Unfortunately, so is the other," says the announcer as the dots disappear.

Clinton released a new commercial of his own, this one a rebuttal to Bush's televised claim that a Democratic administration would mean a tax hike for the middle class. "George Bush is trying to scare you about Bill Clinton," it says. "But nothing could be more frightening than four more years" of the Bush administration.

Perot, who has pledged an unconventional campaign, took a personal jet from Dallas to New York, where he taped an interview with ABC's Barbara Walters. Unlike most presidential candidates, he had neither press corps nor large security detail in tow.

He departed afterward, saying he was heading back to Texas to "have supper."

Asked about the drop in unemployment, he said, "That means somebody got a job, so that's good news."

Bush signs super collider bill

WASHINGTON (AP) President Bush signed legislation Friday giving the super collider another year of life, capping a choppy ride through Congress this session for the much-criticized giant atom smasher.

But Bush's signature, giving $517 million to the collider this year, didn't come without a price.

The president, who lobbied hard for the massive scientific project being built in his adopted home state, was forced to accept a ban on underground nuclear testing.

Both the collider money and the test ban were included in a $22 billion energy and water development package Bush signed into law during a morning White House ceremony. Later, Bush issued a statement calling the ban "highly objectionable" and said he would press Congress to have it reversed.

Texas backers of the $8.25 billion collider, many of whom were present at the signing ceremony, hailed the end of another difficult year for the project.

"This year's fight for funding was long and hard, but I believe that most Americans have come to recognize that the SSC is a wise investment in the race to develop those technologies on which tomorrow's jobs will depend," said Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, who was at the White House.

Asked to recap the year, Rep. Joe Barton said: "It's kind of like it was the best of times, it was the worst of times."

The Ennis Republican, whose district spans the collider site, already is working with other backers on next year's tactics. "We're going to really, really try to be prepared for next year," he said.

Bush, who said the collider "is to science what the All-Star game is to baseball," projected that the program will mean 7,000 construction and engineering jobs across the nation.

"In the longer term, the tangible benefits of the SSC will be felt by every single American," Bush said. "The work done with the SSC will bear fruit in new industries, new jobs, new breakthroughs in medicine, chemicals, transportation, electronics, and the list stretches into fields of knowledge we can only imagine today."

The collider, which has faced a tough battle ever since the project was first funded in 1989, was almost killed this year after critics argued it was too expensive and siphoned money from other research.

To date, over $1.1 billion in federal and Texas funds have been spent on the collider.

Death of the collider would have meant the loss of thousands of jobs in Texas, which is a key battleground in the presidential election. Supporters argued that pulling the plug would set back scientific research and cause a loss of face worldwide for the United States.

The House, in a stunning move, voted in June to strip the project of all but the $34 million needed to shut it down permanently. The Senate voted to keep the collider alive following a strong push by the Texas congressional delegation, scientists, industry and the White House.

House and Senate negotiators eventually agreed to fund $517 million this year — short of the $650 million that Bush had requested but far more than what the House had wanted.

Scientists hope to learn more about the fundamentals of matter by crashing proton beams into each other at near-light speeds in the collider's 54-mile underground tunnel.

Supporters already are plotting their strategy for the funding fight that's sure to resume next year. Several Texas congressmen and key Capitol Hill aides met Thursday to discuss next year's campaign.

Also playing to opponents' strength is the fact that the collider's price tag is likely to swell because of the lessened funding received this year.

"It gives us a little more ammunition," he said, speaking on condition of anonymity.

Parole board searches into murder

HOUSTON (AP) A parole board member has launched his own investigation into a convict's case, saying the inmate may have acted in self-defense.

Instead of sticking to the record, Joe Hubenak of Rosenberg is interviewing witnesses who saw the confrontation between Gary Robert Meyer and Michael James Douglas.

Meyer was fatally stabbed June 1, 1985 outside a Harris County lounge. Meyer, 37, died at a Houston hospital after the attack.

Douglas, 33, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 40 years in prison. He is serving a 20-year sentence for an unrelated lounge stabbing concurrently.

Douglas, who once before was rejected for parole, tentatively is scheduled for parole on Feb. 1 if Hubenak and one other board member handling his case allow it.

But Cindy Meyer, the victim's sister, said Hubenak should not be investigating the case. The Houston Post reported Friday. She also said she doesn't want Douglas released.

"I stand firm on the fact that I do not want this man released," she said. "He has been given 40 years. I respect the judge's decision. I only wish it were longer. I wish they had given him life."

Hubenak told The Post the slay-ing was not thoroughly investigated at the outset and there are enough discrepancies, including conflicting accounts by witnesses, to warrant his probe.

"It will take me at least 30 days because there are so many gray areas. We're dealing with a pretty serious crime," he said. "I've got to decipher what's correct."

Hubenak also said he will advise Ms. Meyer of his findings and let her respond before he rules on whether to parole Douglas.

But even if Hubenak finds Douglas was justified in the killing, he said he will not seek to reopen the case. He said his responsibilities as a board member are confined to reviewing records, rehabilitating felons and determining if eligible parolees are threats to society.

Hubenak also said if Douglas is released Feb. 1, he will wear an electronic monitoring device while he is on parole so officials can track his movements.

Prep district tax may be used this year

AUSTIN (AP) state judge Friday rejected an effort to stop the county education district tax, which the Texas Supreme Court has said is unconstitutional but may be used this school year anyway.

"I have my marching orders ... The Supreme Court is my boss," State District Judge F. Scott McCown said in ruling against the challenge by taxpayer lawyer Jim Keahey.

The Texas Supreme Court in January said the county education district (CED) tax violates the state constitution. But the court gave lawmakers until June 1, 1993, to come up with a new plan, leaving the current tax in place until then.

The CED system was designed to shift millions of dollars in local property tax revenue from wealthier to poorer school districts within the 188 new taxing districts drawn largely along county lines. It was passed in response to a Supreme Court order to equalize school funding.

Keahey indicated he may be ready to give up his battle, in which he has argued that continued collection of the tax violates taxpayers' due process rights.

"The possible next step is to take a direct appeal to the Texas Supreme Court ... The real question is, is there any point in it? And I'm coming to think there's not," Keahey said.

Keahey also had filed a federal lawsuit. But the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in August said the case didn't belong in federal court.

"Our last gasp is to try to get to the U.S. Supreme Court" with a petition from the 5th Circuit's ruling, Keahey said.

Civil trial ordered in molestation

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A federal appeals court refused Friday to grant immunity from being sued to two administrators at a Texas high school where a male teacher-coach was admittedly molesting female students.

The coach, Lynn Stroud, ultimately resigned the job he had held for nearly 20 years at Taylor High School and pleaded guilty to criminal charges, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals said in reviewing the case.

Mike Caplinger, superintendent of the Taylor Independent School District and Principal Eddy Lankford appealed to the 5th Circuit when a U.S. District Court refused to grant them immunity from a civil lawsuit brought by the parents of a 15-year-old girl who was indisputably molested by Stroud.

On Friday, the 5th Circuit agreed that the civil suit should proceed to trial.

"School superintendents and principals have a duty to police the halls of our public schools to insure that schoolchildren, who are obliged to attend, have an opportunity to learn and study in a school environment free from sexual molestation and harassment," the appeals court said in a 30-page opinion.

"We therefore remand this case to the district court for trial so that a jury can decide whether Superintendent Caplinger and Principal Lankford should be granted an 'excused absence' with respect to their response (or lack thereof) to Jane Doe's predicament."

Testimony continues in murder trial of two sisters

CONROE, Texas (AP)—A friend of a man accused of killing two young sisters testified Friday that he was asked to provide an alibi for the night of the slayings.

Donald Ferris, a longtime friend of Dennis Thurl Dowthitt, said Dowthitt wanted an alibi for the night of June 13, 1990, when 9-year-old Tiffany and 16-year-old Gracie Purnhagen were sexually assaulted and killed.

Dowthitt, 47, a used car dealer in Humble, is on trial for the capital murder of the two girls.

His sister, Darlene Dowthitt, testified Friday that her brother told her fingerprints had to be cleaned from a knife used to kill the two girls.

On Thursday, his son, Delton Dowthitt, 19, testified that his father ordered him to kill the younger sister while his father killed the older girl, Delton's girlfriend.

The teen-ager said he and his father had driven to Conroe to possess a vehicle when they met the sisters at a Conroe bowling alley. Delton, then 16, had dated Gracie, who told him the family was moving. The Dowthitts took the girls to a wooded site in Montgomery County, he said.

Delton Dowthitt said he and Gracie were at the back of his father's pickup truck when Tiffany ran up and said his father was trying to scare her. He turned around and found his father holding a knife and saying he had "messed up."

"He said, 'Man, we've got to kill them,'" Delton said.

He said he and Tiffany stood by as his father pushed Gracie to the ground. After hearing some pounding on the ground, he said, his father told him two times to "do it," meaning to kill Tiffany.

Delton Dowthitt said he kissed the younger girl and told her he was sorry, then strangled her. His father, he said, cut Gracie's throat.

"My dad got my beer and poured it out," Delton said, choking back tears. "My dad was leaning over Gracie. Her throat was cut."

Other testimony has indicated the girl was sexually assaulted with the beer bottle.

Delton said his father stood up and told him to have sex with the mortally wounded girl, but Delton said he refused.

"I told him 'No.' I told him, 'Let's go.' He leaned over Gracie and cut her throat again," Delton said. "He gave me the knife and told me to go cut Tiffany's throat. I went over to where she was and knelt and went back to Dad."

The graphic testimony brought tears to the eyes of some jurors.

In his statements to investigators, Dennis Dowthitt claims he walked away from the truck, leaving his son with the girls, and returned a short time later to find them dead.

Delton testified he initially took the blame to protect his father.

"He told me I better not ever snitch on him," Delton said.

But Dennis Dowthitt's lawyer,

Bill Hall, suggested the son accused his father because of a deal with Montgomery County prosecutors.

The youth is serving a 45-year sentence for Tiffany's murder and will be spared a capital-murder charge for his role in Gracie's slaying in exchange for his testimony against his father.

"I ain't doing it for the plea bargain," he said. "I got my time for the crime, man."

EPA permits sludge in West Texas

EL PASO, Texas (AP)—The Environmental Protection Agency gave MERCO Joint Venture its blessing Friday to spread sludge on a West Texas ranch and said it no longer needs a federal permit.

The announcement angered state Attorney General Dan Morales and U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen who have demanded the company go through the federal permitting process, which requires a public hearing.

In a letter Friday to MERCO's attorney Jon Masters, the EPA said there is "no significant possibility that public health or the environment will suffer adverse effects from toxic pollutants" in the sludge.

"We're very pleased and it was a decision that we had anticipated all along," said Marc Sybert, MERCO spokeswoman in El Paso.

The letter, written by EPA Region 6 administrator Buck Wynne, outlined analyses done by the EPA on the sludge. The EPA said its calculations show MERCO could apply sludge for 37.9 years before copper would pose a potential risk to public health and the environment.

It also said zinc would not be a problem for 90.5 years and lead for 496 years. The numbers all were based on the highest reported concentrations of the metals found in sludge taken from MERCO's supplier plants.

The letter did not include an analysis for cadmium, considered the most dangerous pollutant in sludge. The EPA used a New York City Sludge Quality Report from May 1990 to April 1991 for its analysis. During that period copper levels in sludge did not meet New York's own standards.

"The sludge is not toxic," said Roger Meacham, EPA Region 6 spokesman. "It's clean sludge and the state is doing a good job of regulating the project... therefore we see no reason to have duplicate regulations and permitting."

Morales said the decision means the EPA has "arbitrarily decided not only to destroy our air, water and countryside, but also to destroy the heritage of Texas by failing to protect the state's archaeological sites."

Morales has sued MERCO and the EPA, accusing the environmental agency of not assessing the sludge's environmental risks before allowing it to be spread. The Texas Historical Commission joined the suit alleging the EPA violated the National Historic Preservation Act by not protecting archaeological sites on the ranch.

The lawsuit is scheduled to go to trial Nov. 2 in Pecos.

Bentsen demanded an explanation why West Texas have not had a chance to voice their views.

He said the EPA had assured him in a June 9 letter that MERCO would have to submit to the federal "sludge-only" permit process which can require a public hearing.

"Several months have passed since your initial letter during which time concerned citizens could have been given the opportunity to express their views... Now, EPA has reversed its view and its assurance to me that it would take public comment. I am troubled by the handling of this matter. The public and I deserve an explanation," Bentsen said.

MERCO has a six-year, $168 million contract with New York City to transport thousands of train boxcars of sludge to the 128,000-acre Sierra Blanca Ranch, about 70 miles southeast of El Paso.

Opponents have tabbed the project an "experiment" because sludge has never before been applied to rangeland at the volume it is being applied at the ranch.

But MERCO, which is spreading the sludge because New York City is under court order to cease dumping it in the ocean, says it checks the metal levels.

The company says only sludge that meets EPA standards is being spread. Texas Tech University received a $1 million grant from MERCO to determine the effects of the business enterprise.

Brazil gets new president, cabinet

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) — Itamar Franco became Brazil's acting president Friday and immediately created controversy by naming a little-known politician from a poor state to the key post of finance minister.

In a low-key ceremony that lasted four minutes, Franco, formerly vice president, took over from President Fernando Collor de Mello, who was stripped of power by a vote of Congress on Tuesday.

Franco's first appointment was Rep. Gustavo Krause as finance minister, replacing Marcellio Marques Moreira, the architect of Brazil's agreements with the International Monetary Fund and foreign creditors.

Krause, 46, of the far-right Liberal Front Party, is a lawyer and former mayor from the sugar-producing northeastern state of Pernambuco. He also was finance minister there.

He will share management of the world's ninth-largest economy with Planning Minister Paulo Haddad, an economist. Collor had merged the planning and finance ministries into a single economics ministry, a move Franco reversed.

Krause pledged to "impeach

—Luis Antonio metalworkers union inflation and recession," and said Brazil would maintain its debt payment agreement with foreign banks. Inflation in Brazil is 25 percent a month, and an austerity policy has caused widespread unemployment and stagnation.

His selection drew fire from many businessmen, labor leaders and investors.

"The country needed someone well-known as finance minister, someone who could encourage the public, the nation's workers," said Luis Antonio Medeiros, head of the powerful metalworkers union in Sao Paulo, in a TV interview. "This is discouraging."

Carlos Antonio Luque, director of the University of Sao Paulo's Economic Research Foundation, said Brazil's "fragile economic situation" meant ministers should "represent major political parties so they can obtain the necessary support for implementation of economic policies."

But Franco defended the choice, saying Krause was honest, capable and chosen "because of his qualities and knowledge of the area."

Franco will lead Latin America's largest nation while the Senate puts Collor on trial on corruption charges.

Trembling and appearing pale, Collor received notification of his 180-day suspension at his office in the presidential palace. He was accompanied by his wife, Rosane, and a few members of his Cabinet, all of whom have been exonerated of any wrongdoing.

Collor, Brazil's first freely elected leader in 29 years, will be tried by the Senate for lack of decorum, an impeachable offense.

Court bars Gorbachev from travel

MOSCOW (AP) — Former Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev will be prevented from leaving Russia until he agrees to testify in a trial on the banned Communist Party, the Constitutional Court said Friday.

It was the court's most serious action yet in its dispute with Gorbachev over the trial on the legality of Russian President Boris Yeltsin's decree banning the Communist Party last year.

Gorbachev has refused an order to testify about his role in the party and its control over the Soviet government, calling the case a farce. Gorbachev led the former Soviet ruling party from 1985 until last August's coup.

The court informed Russia's foreign and security ministries that Gorbachev was planning to travel abroad Monday and asked them to "take appropriate measures" to block him, according to the ITAR-Tass news agency.

The court's press service said the ministries agreed "to prevent the departure of Gorbachev M.S. from the territory of Russia until his fulfillment of his civil duties," ITAR-Tass said.

Gorbachev reportedly planned a trip to South Korea. An aide, Alexander Likhotal, told The Associated Press that Gorbachev actually intended to leave Tuesday.

"If the state can bar a former president from speaking abroad, what can it do to ordinary citizens?" Likhotal asked.

Gorbachev has taken several foreign trips since resigning as Soviet president last December.

Friday's decision came a day after the court issued its second summons to Gorbachev. He has not responded publicly, but his spokesman, Vladimir Tumarkin, said Gorbachev likely would reject the orders.

Andrei Makarov, a lawyer representing the anti-Communists in the trial, said Thursday he was personally disappointed in Gorbachev's refusal to appear.

"I trusted him when he spoke about building a democratic state based on law. It's a bitter disappointment," Makarov said.

A representative of the Communist side could not be reached to comment Friday night.

Two crashes raise question about airport

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — Two major plane crashes have focused new attention on Katmandu's tiny airport, which handles dozens of flights a day but has only one runway and no radar system.

The government set up a 10-member commission Friday to probe the latest crash, that of a Pakistan International Airlines jetliner that plowed into a mountain near the airport Monday, killing 167 people.

Some 300,000 foreigners come to Katmandu each year, many headed for Mount Everest and national forests.

San Angelo stuns Lee, 44-34

■ The Bobcats end a nine-game losing streak to Midland Lee, and put a hold on the Rebels' playoff plans — for now.

By Terry Williamson

Sports editor

SAN ANGELO — Midland Lee, District 4-5A's only undefeated team heading into Friday night, met up with San Angelo's gimpy-legged quarterback Ben Montgomery and lost, 44-34.

Lee's No. 9 state ranking probably also suffered, but the big fright now is that the Rebels' consecutive string of nine playoff appearances is now in a major holding pattern.

The Bobcats, thought to be in a tight race with Abilene Cooper for third place, are now in position to gain their third consecutive playoff berth after ending a losing streak of nine games to Lee. San Angelo hadn't beaten Lee since 1983.

Montgomery, who was playing on an injured ankle, limped his way through and over the Lee defense that had just given up 19 points in four previous games. The Bobcats had 21 points after one quarter of play.

Montgomery rushed for 98 yards and two touchdowns and threw for 307 yards and four more touchdowns, three going to Elliott Bowman on scoring strikes of 54, 10 and 52 yards.

Lee could get little pressure on Montgomery and it looked strikingly easy when he limped around the Lee defense on the rush.

"I was hurting a bit, but you just try not to think about it," Montgomery said of the ankle injury. "My line just gave me a lot of room to run and throw."

San Angelo coach Dan Gandy was elated with the victory.

"How big was this one? Well, it was the biggest win we've had since we've been here," said Gandy, who is in his fourth year here and who took the Bobcats to the Class 5A Big School semifinals a year ago.

The Bobcats struck early and often as a blocked punt set up a one-yard drive and a bad snap by Lee in its own end zone netted a safety. Then the Bobcats marched 59 yards with Montgomery getting the final 22 for a 15-0 lead with 6:14 still left in the first period.

Angelo then went up 21-0 with an 80-yard march, as Montgomery hit Ryan King with a 12-yard TD toss.

Bulldogs show signs of improvement in homecoming loss

■ The Amarillo High
Sandies defeat Midland High,
33-7, the 'Dogs' 14th straight loss.

By Bill Price

Staff writer

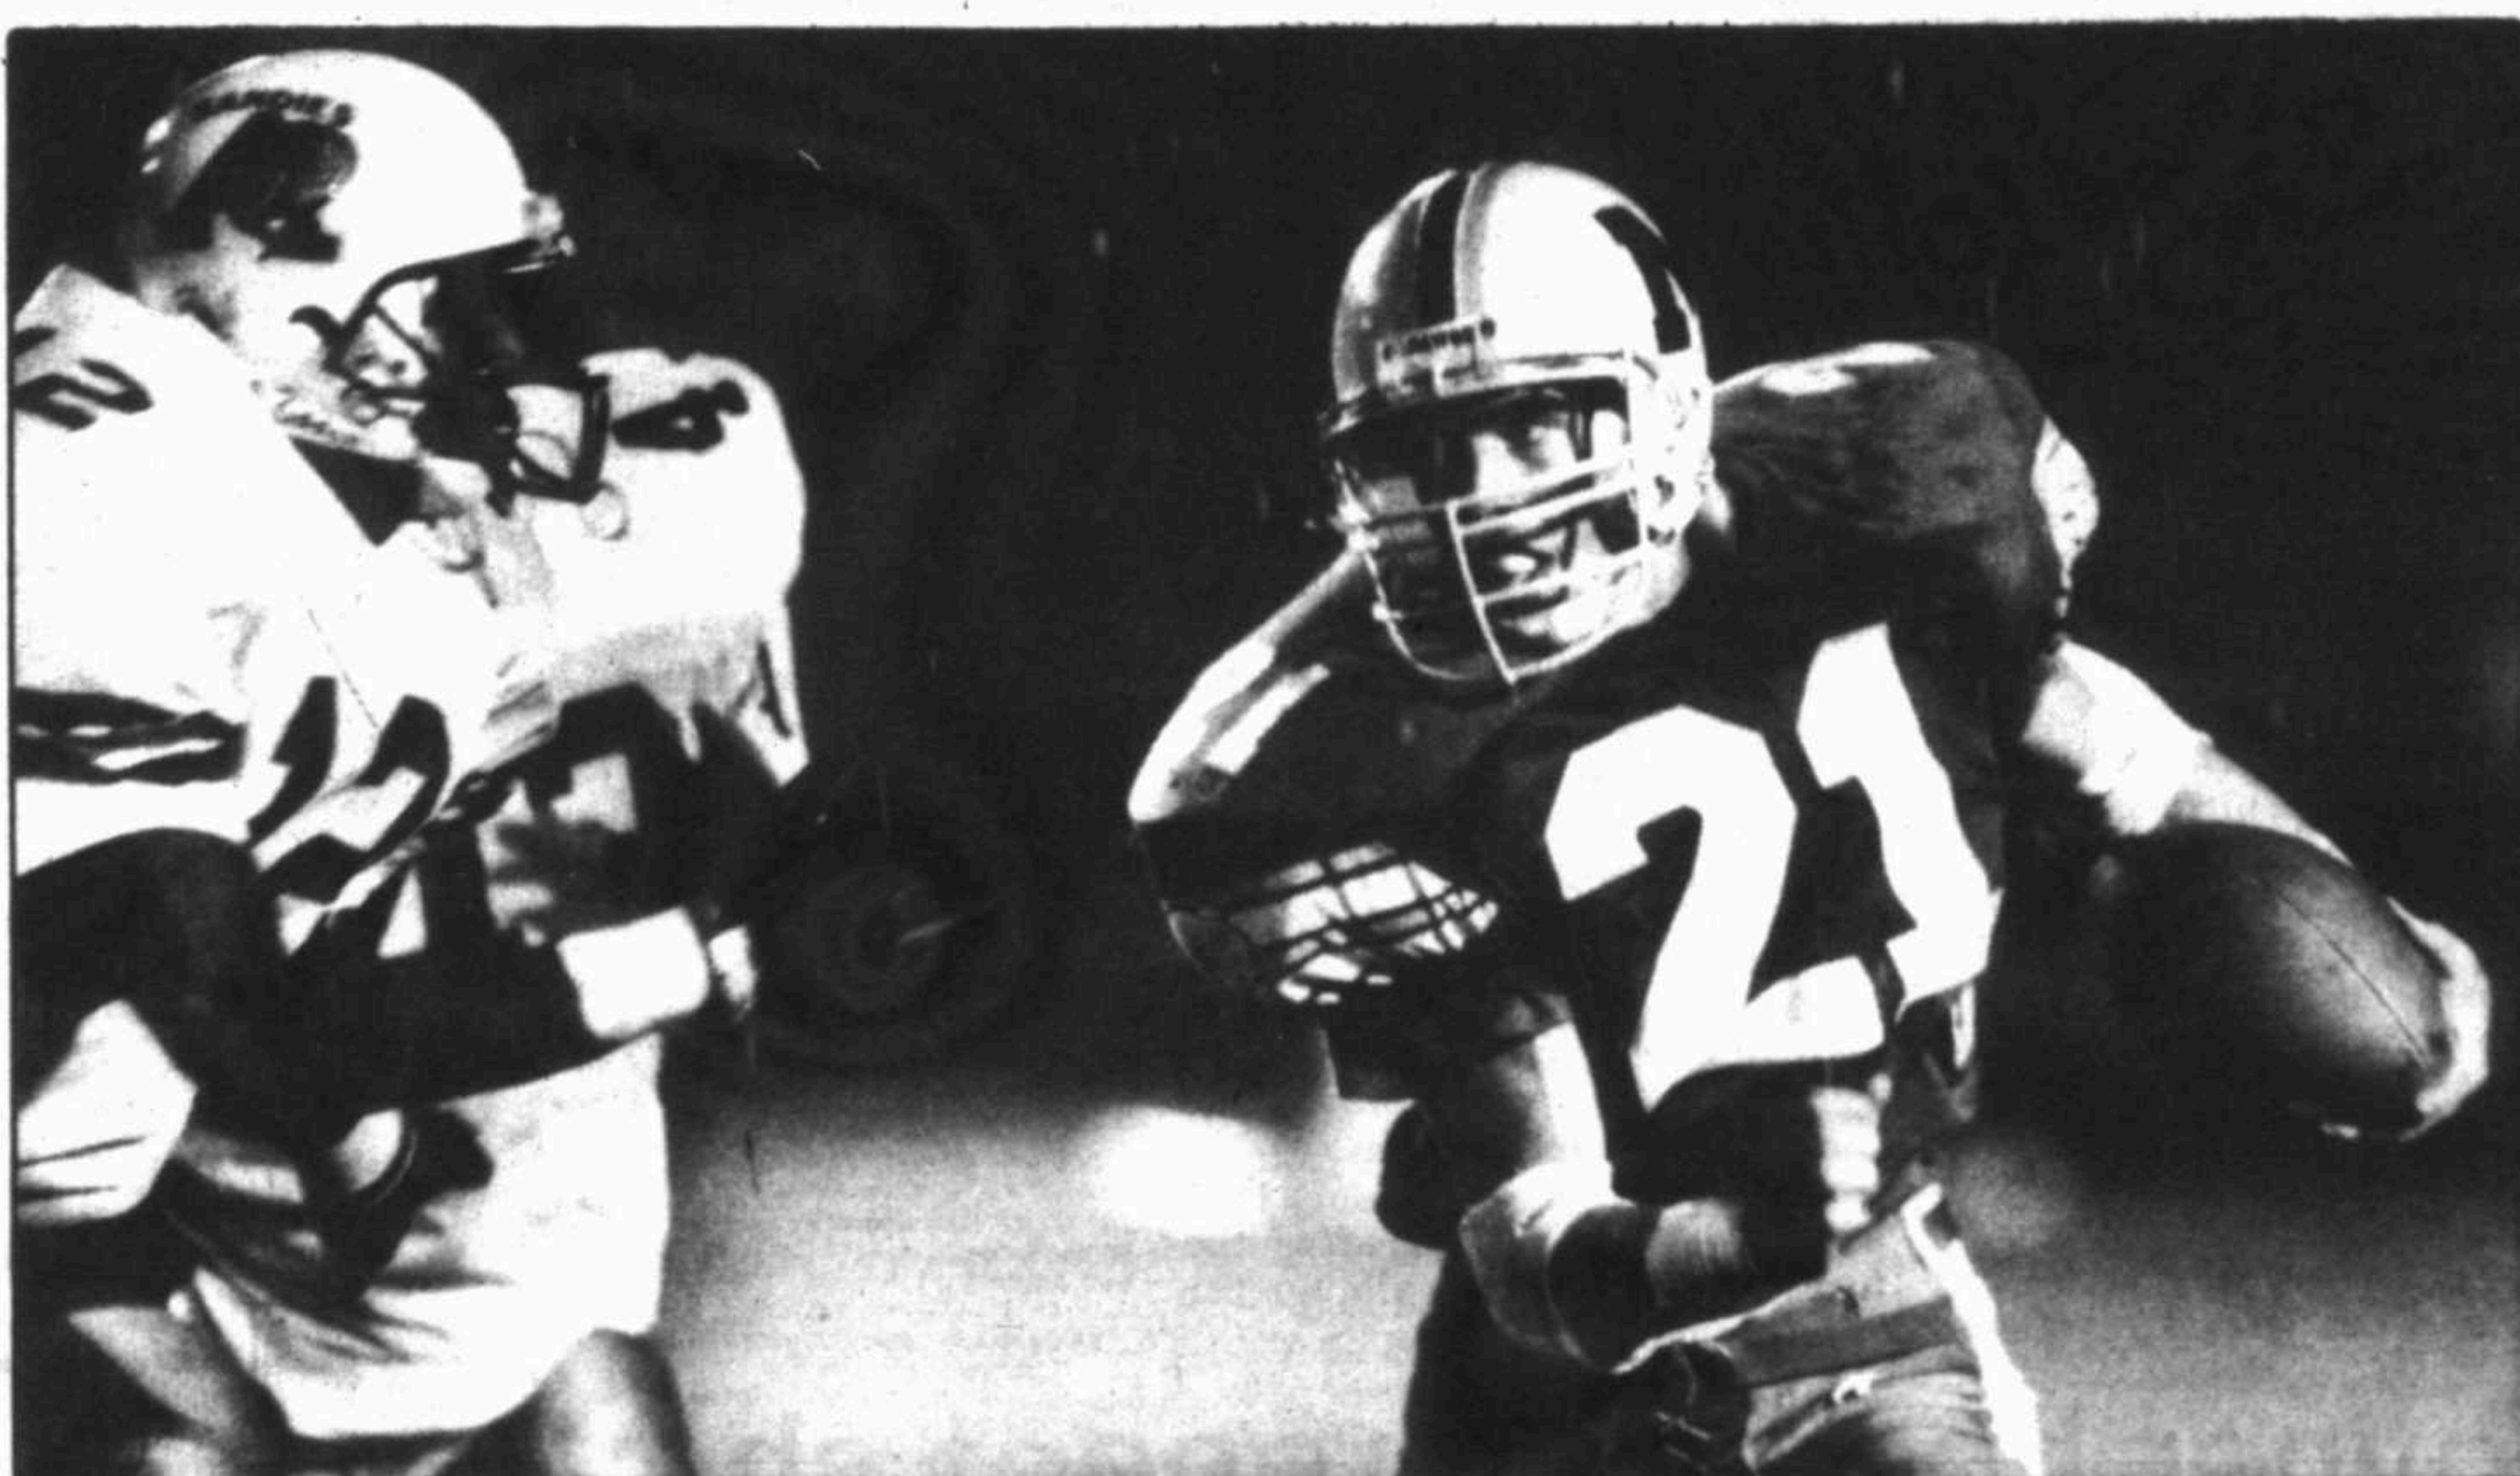

If not for shifty little David Villagomez of Amarillo High, the Midland High Bulldogs could have been looking at their first win of the season Friday night.

As it was, though, Villagomez put together back-to-back long kickoff returns, scoring on a 92-yarder and setting up a touchdown with an 85-yarder, as the Golden Sandstorm defeated the Bulldogs
33-7 at Memorial Stadium.

Villagomez, a 135-pound wide receiver-/return specialist, started a 20-point scoring binge late in the first half, as his four-yard touchdown reception from Stephen Sherrod put AHS on top 14-0 with just 13 seconds left in the half.

The Bulldogs, not to be outdone, came back on their first snap after the kickoff with a 55-yard touchdown pass from Brad Heidelberg to tight end Greg O'- Neil, who caught the ball crossing the middle of the field and carried it from the AHS 35-yard line to the end zone. By

MCS gets revenge on Christoval

By Joe Wyatt

Staff writer

The Midland Christian Mustangs, getting their first crack at the team that separated them from a perfect
1991, made good use of the occasion
Friday night, brushing aside the visiting Christoval Cougars, 66-54 in a non-district six-man football game.

MCS, behind the passing arm of quarterback Andy Awtry, whittled the Cougars down to size in a battle between state finalists from a year ago.

Awtry was good on 16 of 21 passes for 294 yards and six touchdowns — four of them in the first quarter alone — and the Mustangs improved to 5-0 with their 13th consecutive victory since losing last year to the same Cougars.

"We wanted this game," said Awtry, who hit four different receivers with scoring passes and ran 15 yards for another TD.

"I knew I needed to have a big game and I finally had one," he said. "But no quarterback ever has a good game like this without his line."

The line came through on both sides of the ball against Christoval.

Greenwood defeats Pirates, 35-15

By Tom Ruiz

MRT Correspondent

GREENWOOD — They don't play much American football in the country of Laos, but try telling that to the Lubbock Cooper Pirates, who were shang-haied by a Laos native who took the wind out of their sails with an 85-yard kickoff return, helping the Greenwood
Rangers win 35-15 Friday night.

The Rangers were playing before their homecoming crowd in a game that was close until Indavong Phonasa broke it open with a fourth-quarter 85-yard scamper into the end zone.

Phonasa, who was used to escaping from dangerous situations in his home country, muffed a LC kickoff, recovered and picked up the ball and out-ran the coverage down the sidelines for the score.

Just before the touchdown, Greenwood was playing sluggishly and without emotion and the Pirates took advantage of the opportunity.

With Greenwood leading 21-7, the Pirates used most of the third quarter clock and 75 seconds of the fourth period to complete a 73-yard drive, which ended on a 16-yard George Salas scoring run.

The two-point conversion brought them within 21-15.

"I just felt the game slipping away from us until Phonasa's run," said Greenwood head coach Bob Purser.

Purser, however, was forced to use Phonasa, who wasn't even listed on the game program.

"Our two speedsters went down with injuries so I went with whoever was available," Purser added.

Phonasa also added a late 9-yard touchdown run.

Sterling rusher does in Bearkats

By Jeff Wilson

GARDEN CITY — If Bobby Williams doesn't show up in the dreams of the Garden City defenders over the weekend it would be a surprise. He was everywhere else Friday night.

The Sterling City running back rushed for 174 yards and scored once and helped keep the ball away from the Bearkats' potent offense to lead the Eagles to a 26-15 non-district victory. Sterling City improved to 5-0 on the year while Garden City dropped to 3-2.

"They're a good, strong football team," Garden City coach Dennis Bryant said.
"They over-powered us. Bobby Williams did an outstanding job of running the football."

Williams carried the ball 30 times and was a one-man show in the deciding second half. The ball-control offense of the Eagles kept the ball away from Garden City's Jody Bradford long enough to secure the win.

In all, the Eagles controled the ball for 30 minutes of the 48-minute contest, including 15:33 of the second half where Sterling scored twice in the fourth quarter.

But more than anything, it was mistakes that cost the Bearkats the most.

"We felt like we moved the ball well, but that fumble (midway through the third period) and that dropped touchdown pass (in the fourth quarter) hurt us," Bryant said. "I think we grew up a little bit tonight."

The fumble Bryant was referring to didn't hurt too much as the Eagles gave the ball right back but the dropped pass turned out to be the difference in the game.

With Garden City trailing 18-7 with 9:37 left in the game, quarterback Brent Seidenberger drove the Bearkats to the Sterling City 21-yard line but the drive stalled. On fourth and nine, Seiden-

BULLDOGS: MHS travels to play at Permian next week

the time Jeremy Hernandez had added the point-after kick to make the score 14-7, there were still four seconds left in the half.

That's when Villagomez went to work in earnest, grabbing the kickoff at the 8-yard line, then sliding to his right and up the sideline as the clock ran out. Even though Jaret Greaser's PAT kick failed, the Sandies had a much more comfortable 20-7 lead.

"I knew I could put us back up by two touchdowns with a good return, and when I got the ball I could see it and knew I was going to score," Villagomez said. "We really needed it after they scored, and I think our touchdown there hurt them more than theirs hurt us."

"I guess I've been doing that ever since I started playing. It's kind of what I'm known for. It's what I like best."

When MHS had to kick off to start the second half and Villagomez fielded the ball it was trouble from the start, as he again went right, faked two Bulldogs out of their shoes at about midfield, then set AHS up at the Bulldog 11. That led to a four-yard TD run by Shane Ward, who finished the game with 99 yards rushing.

Though the score indicated a lopsided Sandies win, the 0-5 Bulldogs probably played their best game of the season and were in it right up until Villagomez' second return, which took most of the wind out of the MHS sails.

Despite the final touchdown by AHS (4-1), a one-yard dive by Sherrod with 7:33 left in the third quarter, MHS moved the ball better than it has all season, even though 63 yards in sacks hurt its rushing totals.

Midland High's Antwan Goodley (12) prepares to pass on a reverse option against Amarillo High.

O'Neill finished the game with 103 receiving yards on four catches, as the Dogs ended the game with 148 passing yards.

"We had seven new passes this week because of the way their linebackers and safeties were playing. They were mostly out routes and drag patterns," O'Neill said. "We're getting better every game and moving the ball better. We're going to surprise Permian (next week's opponent in Odessa)."

"It was a ball game in the first half. But we had that big momentum swing with the kicking game. If David can get in the open field, he's got a chance. They (the Bulldogs) hung in there, I'll give them credit," AHS head coach Larry Dippel said of the Dogs, who have now lost 14 straight games.

"I think we did better than we have been. Offensively, we were able to move the ball a little bit and were able to throw better. We made a few first downs (nine) against a pretty good team."

"Each week we're having breakdowns, though. This week it was the kickoff team, and we'll do better on that. If we can stop those two plays, we're in the game pretty deep at halftime," said MHS head coach Ronnie Reeger.

REBELS: Two Lee scores called back on penalties

(From 1B)

Lee answered the challenge after falling behind for the first time this year. Special teams put the Rebels back in the game. Under Graves had a 51-yard kickoff return to set up a 20-yard TD pass from Courtney Turner to Corndon Watson and Cory Haynes blocked a San Angelo punt to set up Turner's six-yard pass to Bryan Bippin. Graves then returned a punt 41 yards to set up Phillip Sims for a 12-yard TD run and a 21-21 tie.

The Bobcats went back on top with Montgomery and Bowman teaming up for the first of three touchdowns with just 54 seconds left in the first half.

Lee's first lead came in the third quarter when Graves returned a punt 61 yards for a 28-27 lead and his second punt return for a score this year.

The Bobcats got a 35-yard field goal from Michael Johnston for a 30-28 lead, but Lee led again, coming from behind for the third time when Sims ripped off 20 yards for a score and a 34-30 lead.

But the Bobcats looked to Montgomery and he looked to Bowman for two fourth quarter scores to lock down the victory.

The Rebels had two touchdowns called back on penalties in a second quarter drive and came up empty. That appeared to be a major swing in the contest.

Lee coach Earl Miller had a long talk with his players after the game and was unavailable for comment.

Lee will host Odessa High next week while Abilene Cooper and the Bobcats, both unbeaten in 4-5A play, will meet in Abilene in a key outing.

The Rebels' once proud defense has now shown some major leaks in the passing lanes. Miller felt his team was ripe for an upset and said so this week. The Bobcats have some defensive woes themselves, but they can score with the best of them.

Joyner hopes for repeat show

Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA — It took six years before the Philadelphia Eagles' Seth Joyner got his due.

In fact, Joyner's first real national recognition came last December when Eagles beat Houston in the Oilers' "House of Pain," the Astro dome.

That night Joyner created havoc for the Oilers with eight tackles, two sacks, two forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries. As a result, he was named NFC Defensive Player of the Week.

He's not expecting, but is hoping for a repeat performance Monday night when the Eagles and the Dallas Cowboys, both 3-0, meet in a key early-season NFC East confrontation.

The 27-year-old Joyner, the Eagles' eighth-round pick out of Texas-El Paso in 1986, went on to be runner-up to New Orleans' Pat Swilling as Defensive Player of the Year, selected to the second All-Pro team, and went to his first Pro Bowl game as a starter.

Joyner intimated that the Eagles, so to speak, have Dallas' number.

"We've beaten them seven of the last eight times," he said in an interview this week. "I know that has to stick in their minds."

He understands the importance of the game, even though it's only the fourth of the season.

"It's a division game which makes it important. And there always has been the rivalry. It's always been an intense and high-strung game."

Joyner cautions not to expect the Eagles to repeat their 11-sack performance in beating Dallas in the first game between the two last year. He recalls that in the second meeting the Eagles got none and lost.

"You can't go into a game looking for 11 sacks. Things like that just don't happen too often. ... We have to do the small things right and get the coverage right, try to get a good pass rush. Then, things will fall into place."

Joyner says the Eagles' game plan is to shut down Emmitt Smith, the NFL's leading rusher.

"Our philosophy has always been to shut down the run and create a passing situation. I don't think Monday night is going to be any different," Joyner said.

Joyner is a very serious practitioner of his trade. He hardly ever smiles.

"That's the way you have to approach the game," he said. "I just believe that if you're going to do something, you have to put everything you have into it. Why do it half-heartedly? Our goal is to win. Our objective is to be in the Super Bowl and win in January."

"There are certain things that you have to do throughout the week to prepare yourself to win games. All that matters is winning in this business. And it is a business. I approach it that way. I've always been like that."

But doesn't he have any fun? "I love the game and that makes it fun," he responded. "It's fun but at the same time it's only fun when you're winning. It's only fun when you're performing. When you're not performing, well, it's not fun."

The tough, 235-pound Joyner demurred when it was suggested he might be the best linebacker in the NFL.

"I'm not going to go that far," he said. "There are a lot of linebackers who do different things. Some rush the passer. Some drop into pass coverage. Some are asked to cover tight ends and running backs. So, it's really hard to pick one linebacker as the best in the NFL."

"I guess if you ask who is the best pass-rushing linebacker, who is the best cover linebacker, then you could put a stamp on somebody and say he's the best at that. There are too many in the league to say one is the best."

The Panthers, who raised their record to 4-1 and 2-0 in District 4-5A, racked up 451 yards rushing and added 79 passing yards in dropping the Eagles to 0-2 in league play.

Williams scored on runs of 37, one and 34 yards in the first half as Permian grabbed a 28-yard halftime edge.

The Panthers added a TD on Sam Brooks' 22-yard fumble recovery and return.

Williams yardage came on 19 carries.

Lamesa staves off Littlefield

By Pete Herndon
MRT Correspondent

LAMESA — Lamesa coach Gary Yoder wasn't watching as center Jacob Garza practiced his deep snaps on the sidelines in the final minutes of the non-district football game with Littlefield Friday night.

Almost everyone else in the stadium was, though.

The Golden Tornadoes had survived two blocked punts in the third quarter to hold a 22-16 lead with just under a minute to play. With Lamesa facing third down and 16 yards to go on its own 35-yard line, Garza sailed one of his practice snaps 10 feet over the punter's head.

Close to 3,000 Lamesa fans fell silent.

"I didn't see that," Yoder said after Garza got off a clean snap on fourth-and-18 and the Tornadoes held on to raise their record to 4-1. "It's probably better that I didn't."

There were several things that Yoder readily admits he wished he hadn't seen. The blocked punts topped the list.

"We were lucky as hell," Yoder said referring to Littlefield only being able to come up with a safety on the turnovers.

"That was the H. Ross Perot spread," he said, referring to the presidential candidate who was largely responsible for structuring Texas' no-pass, no-play rule in the mid-1980s. "We lost three kids off the punt team this week — two to grades."

"We will improve on that aspect, you can count on that."

With the game tied at 14, the first blocked punt set up Littlefield on Lamesa's four-yard line. Two plays later, defensive back Louis Addison stripped Littlefield's Anthony Goodson of the ball and Corey Kelly recovered to end the threat.

After Lamesa took two yards on three plays, Littlefield's Darren Fletcher blocked a second punt, this time in the end zone. After a scramble, Lamesa came up with the ball for a safety and the Wildcats had to settle for a 16-14 lead with 6:50 left in the third period.

Neither team was able to mount a drive until the Tornadoes took possession at their own 49 with 9:13 remaining in the game. Behind the running of Kelly and Tony Brown, Lamesa used 15 plays to drive in the eventual game-winner.

Grand Prairie ISD denies charge of discrimination

GRAND PRAIRIE, Texas — A Dallas area school district that does not offer girls' fast-pitch softball is under investigation by federal regulators for possible sex discrimination.

But the Grand Prairie Independent School District contended Thursday it is not offering the sport because it is not in demand — and because the University Interscholastic League has not approved it.

"And there's just not enough teams playing at this time to make an effective schedule," said Superintendent Marvin Crawford. "When the UIL approves it, we'll have it. We're supportive of girls' athletics and girls' softball."

The U.S. Education Department's Office of Civil Rights' investigation is under Title IX, which prohibits discrimination at educational institutions that receive federal money.

A father and coach filed the federal complaint that triggered the inquiry into possible discrimination against female athletes.

Title IX requires schools to fairly accommodate athletic interests

Brown, who finished the night with 70 yards rushing, carried the ball eight times on the drive. He twice converted fourth-and-one plays before scoring from four yards out with 2:30 remaining.

Brown attributed some of his team's mistakes to a letdown following last week's win over Canyon Randall.

"All last week, we were up the whole week," Brown said. "Randall's quarterback is one of the best in the state and we shut him down. We were on cloud nine the whole week."

"Then a team like Littlefield comes in here, they're undefeated, they had nothing to lose."

The senior running back sounded like someone playing for a play-off contender, something Lamesa hasn't had in a while.

"I'm a senior and this is my finest season," he said. "There is so much intensity on this team, I feel like we have a shot to go to the playoffs. I've been on the varsity four years and I've been through the tough losses, but the coaches never got down on us."

"I think that last drive shows the character this team has. It shows that this team can compete with anybody."

Littlefield proved it could compete with Lamesa from the start. After Goodson, who would finish the night with a game-high 134 yards, scored from three yards out on the opening drive, Lamesa responded with a 68-yard touchdown drive.

Littlefield took the lead when quarterback Brian Farmer found split end Michael Wright over the middle for a 94-yard catch-and-run.

Lamesa's Carl Jackson returned the kickoff 62 yards to the Wildcats' 25. On the next play, Kelly, who finished with 90 yards, scored on a sweep left.

Lamesa opens District 2-4A play Friday, traveling to Lubbock to play Estacado.

and abilities of all students, said David Amil, a girls' softball coach whose 15-year-old daughter attends Grand Prairie High School.

"The school district keeps saying it doesn't discriminate on the basis of sex, but I say the data show otherwise," said Amil. "I personally think probably every school district in the state may be discriminating, especially the (Class) 5A schools that run big football programs."

Amil said he filed the complaint at the direction of girls on his team who grew tired of having to raise money to play off campus while tax funds pay for boys to play in school.

"I think it kind of just galls the girls that the boys are just having it all handed to them," he said.

Athletic opportunities for boys far outnumber those for girls because each high school runs a boys' varsity team, two junior varsity teams and one freshman team in football.

Overall, the west Dallas suburb's district offers nine sports for boys and eight for girls.

Adding girls' fast-pitch teams would only cost about $5,000 annually, Amil estimated.

'KATS: Garden City takes week off

(From 1B)

berger found a wide-open Marty Pearce in the back of the end zone, but Pearce was unable to come up with the catch.

The Eagles took the ball and drove 79 yards to put the game out of reach.

Sterling City played ball control from the outset, driving 53-yards on 14 plays and using 8 minutes but came away with no points after the Bearkats held on fourth and 2.

The teams exchanged fumbles before the Bearkat offense got going in the second quarter. Bradford got on track with 30 yards on two consecutive plays before Andy Lopez took a wing-back reverse 39 yards for a touchdown.

But the Eagles needed just three plays to cut the lead to 7-6 when quarterback Gordon Gutierrez hit Cuy Gutierrez for a 47-yard touchdown pass. Garden City fumbled the ball right back and three plays later, Gordon Gutierrez made the score 12-7 with a 23 yard run.

After a scoreless third period, caused mainly by fumbles by both teams, the Eagles put the game away with two late scores in the fourth quarter.

The key drive began in the third quarter and ended 11 plays later with a Williams' score. Williams carried the ball eight times on the drive for 59 yards.

Garden City drove right back but couldn't convert leading to Sterling City's final score. The Bearkats made it close when a Seidenberger pass, intended for Lopez, was tipped by Josh Merrell but fell into Bradford's hands. Bradford outran the Eagle defenders for an 80-yard touchdown.

A loss is always a loss but Garden City did do some things no one has been able to do against the Eagles so far this year. Coming into the game, Sterling City had allowed just 13 points and its defense was giving up about 100 yards a game.

Garden City score three times and rolled up 313 yards of offense. Bradford accounted for 201 of that total, including 121 on the ground on 20 carries. Lopez rushed for 62 yards on four carries and caught four passes for another 40 yards. "We've got a lot of work to do," Bryant said. "At this stage of the season, we need to be better than we are."

The Bearkats have a week off to heal up, including starting full-back Matt Seidenberger who did not suit up for the game. Garden City opens District 8-A play Oct. 16 at home against Fort Davis.

MCS: Awtry's 79 yards leads rushers which lost in last year's University Interscholastic League (UIL) state championship game to Fort Hancock.

The Mustangs, defenders of the Texas Private and Parochial Schools (TAPPS) title, stopped three Cougar drives with fumble recoveries and got TDs from seven players in all, including Brian Fairchild, who broke a multitude of tackles along the way to a 78-yard kickoff return in the third quarter.

"It seemed like every time they (Cougars) scored, we came right back and scored ourselves," MC head coach James Blake said. "And we'd do it with someone different each time. That's a family affair."

"This was an important game for us because we finally moved up to that next level we've been looking for all year long. We just wanted to go on up to that next level of competition, and when you play people like this it will help you improve," Blake said.

And MCS was called upon to improve from the get-go because Christoval responded to the Mustangs initial scoring drive — a 10-play masterpiece which ended on Awtry's 1-yard TD lob to Lathan Houghton — with a TD run on its first play from scrimmage.

Andy Young, who carried 21 times for 153 yards and three Cougar TDs, zoomed 54 yards on the first Christoval snap to tie things up at 8-8.

But Awtry came back with TD passes of 45 yards to Jody Duncan and 26 yards to Houghton and the race to a 54-28 halftime lead was on.

Awtry also found Clay Gunter for TDs of 60 and nine yards, then hit Wes Adams with a 27-yard flip before the half expired. In between those offerings, Awtry scampered 15 yards for another score.

"I thought Andy Awtry played exceptionally well," Blake lauded his QB. "Any time you play the No. 2 team in the state you know you're up against a good outfit."

Awtry also led the Mustangs with 79 yards rushing on 12 totes. But he had plenty of help from the likes of Kyle Jackson, who pounded out 61 yards and scored on a two-yard dive, and from Gunter, who had 66 yards on seven carries.

Neil Truex recovered a fumble for MC, and he was in on two extra-point kick blocks.

Manuel Riojas, who ran for a pair of TDs for the Cougars, had 112 yards in all.

RANGERS: District 6-3A play begins

(From 1B)

So what's a Southeast Asian kid doing in a Greenwood Rangers uniform?

"My parents wanted to make a better life for us kids so we came to America. They didn't make much money up there, and a lot of the time we lived in fear from the government," Phonasa recalled.

According to Indavong, the family sought asylum from their country about seven years ago. After the family arrived in the States, Indavong got a glimpse of American football while watching a National Football League game.

"I was watching the Miami Dolphins play on TV, and I was hooked from that moment on. I said to myself, you know it takes a lot of heart to play that game."

Phonasa showed he had plenty of heart Friday night as his efforts lifted the team. Through three quarters, Greenwood had blown several opportunities to bury the Pirates.

The Rangers continued to have the butter-finger bug this week as they coughed up the ball four times. On the other hand, Lubbock Cooper was giving back the ball through the airways as they were intercepted four times.

"We need to get over hurdle where we keep turning the ball over, it keeps getting us in trouble and we don't need that as we head into district next week," Purser said.

The Rangers open District 6-3A play at Crane next Friday. Greenwood is currently riding a three-game losing streak against the Golden Cougars.

"They get up for us and we get up for them. It's a big rivalry."

Andrew pummels Lake View, 56-7

ANDREWS — The Andrews Mustangs opened up their District 3-4A schedule with a whopping 56-7 triumph here over San Angelo Lake View.

Andrews pounded out 338 rushing yards in moving to 5-0 for the season and 1-0 in league play.

Jonathon McDonald ran for a pair of touchdowns and Eric Langehenning booted three field goals to lead the scoring as the Mustangs dropped Lake View to 1-4, 0-1.

Andrews won the battle of first downs, 19-5, and the Mustang defense held the Chiefs to just 58 total yards. Langehenning nailed field goals of 29 and 25 yards, then Heath McBeth's nine-yard TD run gave the Mustangs a quick 12-0 lead. The Mustangs led 26-0 at halftime.

Andrews makes the trek to Big Spring next week for a key 3-4A battle there.

Bufs power past McCamey, 41-0

McCAMEY — The Stanton Buffaloes ground out 247 rushing yards and overcame a 240-yard passing spree by the host Badgers for a huge 41-0 victory here Friday night.

Ricky Lucas had touchdown runs of 75, 40 and two yards as the Bufs captured their first District 6-2A victory and moved to 3-2 for the overall campaign.

McCamey fell to 1-4 and 0-2 in district play, losing the ball four times on turnovers and wasting a fine night of passing the ball.

J.J. Ortiz hit Eric Martel with a 22-yard TD pass, and Michael Martinez added a one-yard TD dive as the Bufs blanked their second foe in three weeks.

hans were decided by a single point. Friday night, the game was not decided at all, as the Steers and Lobos battled to a 10-10 tie in both teams' district opener.

The tie between two of the traditional powers in District 3-4A sent Big Spring's record to 2-2-1 and Monahans' to 3-1-1. It also sets the stage for perennial league favorite Sweetwater, which was idle Friday, to slip past them should the Steers or Lobos lose another 3-4A game or two.

On Friday, Monahans outgained the Steers 232 to 115 yards but failed to win the points race.

Big Spring took the early lead as Mike Oliva kicked a 27-yard field, then returned an interception 93 yards for a 10-0 advantage.

But the Lobos got even on Reagan Ratcliff's 35-yard TD pass to Darrell Carnegary and a 27-yard field goal by Martin Morales, both in the third quarter.

Tech excited about A&M matchup

Associated Press

The Texas Tech Red Raiders are in position to do further damage to the Southwest Conference's already soiled image.

A victory over No. 5 Texas A&M in College Station on Saturday would make the brightest star of the league. Tech coach Spike Dykes, however, isn't making any bold predictions. "This is one of those games where we could go play a good game and not even come close," Dykes said. "But our guys are excited about getting in there with one of the top four or five teams in the nation and finding out what it's all about."

The Raiders (2-2) beat Baylor last week, but they'll be 15 1/2 point underdogs when they face the Aggies, who have a 14-0-1 streak going at Kyle Field, where they haven't lost since 1989.

Baylor is a 14-point favorite to end Southern Methodist's three-game winning streak; Texas is a six-point favorite over Rice; Texas Christian is a two-point favorite over Oklahoma State and Houston is favored by 23 points over Southwestern Louisiana.

The Raiders need a near-perfect performance against the Aggies, Dykes said. "When they beat our brains out it's usually because we turned the ball over," Dykes said. "We've got to play error-free football against a team that usually forced you to make mistakes."

The Aggies will have to contain multi-talented Raider quarterback Robert Hall, a threat both passing or running the option.

SWC Roundup

"He's a good quarterback," Aggie linebacker Marcus Buckley said. "He flies around and he'll probably break a couple of runs. We just have to play good technique with everybody doing his job."

"You should be able to contain him but he's capable of breaking out."

The Longhorns have a 26-game winning streak over the Owls, the longest in SWC history. It's not something Rice coach Fred Goldsmith likes to discuss.

"I never mention it to our club, we just talk about playing Texas," Goldsmith said.

And he's very complimentary of the Longhorns.

"They could be 3-0 if they had played North Texas first," Goldsmith said. "They would have beaten Mississippi State if they'd played them last week and they took a good Syracuse team down to the wire."

Texas coach John Mackovic says the Owls will have added versatility with Bert Emanuel at quarterback, replacing injured Josh LaRocca.

"They haven't lost much with Bert Emanuel at quarterback," Mackovic said. "He's a different kind of player. With his 4.5 speed you know their option is an important part of their offense."

Houston was thrashed 61-7 by Michigan a week ago. The Cougars should be back on all cylinders by Saturday night's kickoff against Southwestern Louisiana.

"Us older guys stress it every day to the younger ones in practice," linebacker Ryan McCoy said. "We don't want this to be like last year. It's hard, believe me, but you have to put this game out of your mind if you want to get better."

TCU coach Pat Sullivan is still trying to get his first victory as the Frogs' head coach. He's off to an 0-2-1 start.

"Oklahoma State has the best defensive football team we've played," Sullivan said. "Their defense scored 21 points (last week against Tulsa). I like our football team but we're to the point that someone has to step forward and do something."

SMU will play the game with as many as 15 players suspended for the game because they sold their textbooks to other students rather than returning them to the athletic department.

Baylor coach Grant Teaff won't rely on the incident helping the Bears.

"It doesn't have anything to do with our game plan or their preparedness," Teaff said. "Our preparation is for a 3-1 team that beat TCU. That's the way we have to do it because their confidence level is so high."

Washington-Southern Cal, Florida St.-Miami highlight weekend games

Associated Press

There's been some fancy lip service in college football this week. The Southern Cal coach calls Washington the best team he's ever seen, and the air fairly drips with mutual respect in Miami.

Saturday, the polite repartee stops, and one of the biggest days of the young season unfolds.

"I said before the season that I thought Washington would be better, and I believe they are," Southern Cal coach Larry Smith said. "They're a very complete team. I think they deserve to be No. 1."

No. 20 Southern Cal (1-0-1) and top-ranked Washington (3-0) both were off last week but are coming off big victories. Southern Cal beat Oklahoma 20-10, Washington beat Nebraska 29-14.

No. 3 Florida State (4-0), meanwhile, travels to No. 2 Miami (3-0) in a game that annually seems to have national championship implications.

"We respect them, and they respect us," Seminole linebacker Reggie Freeman said. "I hate Florida. I just want to beat Miami."

The rest of Saturday's schedule has Iowa at No. 4 Michigan (2-0-1), Texas Tech at No. 5 Texas A&M (4-0), No. 18 Stanford (3-1) at No. 6 Notre Dame (3-0-1), No. 7 Tennessee (4-0) at Louisiana State, No. 8 Penn State (4-0) at Rutgers, South Carolina at No. 9 Alabama (4-0),

No. 11 UCLA (3-0) at Arizona, No. 12 Ohio State (3-0) at Wisconsin, and No. 14 Virginia (4-0) at Wake Forest.

Also, No. 16 Georgia (3-1) at Arkansas, No. 17 Syracuse (2-1) at Louisville, Iowa State at No. 19 Oklahoma (2-1), No. 21 North Carolina State (4-1) at No. 23 Georgia Tech (2-1), No. 22 Boston College (4-0) at West Virginia, and Tennessee-Chattanooga at No. 25 Clemson (1-2).

The Trojans are 14-point underdogs against Washington at Seattle. Washington has won 17 in a row, the second longest streak in the nation behind Miami's 20. Washington moved into the No. 1 spot past Miami after the Hurricanes struggled in an 8-7 victory over Arizona last Saturday.

The Huskies are without starting tailback Jay Barry, who has a broken toe. Beno Bryant, who has been bothered by a hamstring pull, will start, with sophomore Napoleon Kaufman as the backup.

Florida State-Miami has become one of the biggest rivalries in the nation. Before last year's game, they were ranked 1-2, and Miami knocked the Seminoles out of the top spot with a 17-16 victory at Florida State.

"That was devastating," Seminole lineman Robert Stevenson said. "We wanted the game so bad, and we had them. But we tried to sit on the lead, and you can't do that against Miami."

"They don't usually beat us by much, but they usually beat us," Seminole coach Bobby Bowden said.

Jowa-Michigan is not a big rivalry, but it is the first Big Ten game for both teams.

"The focus now is on the Rose Bowl," Michigan coach Gary Moeller said. "We haven't lost a conference game in a long time, and we have to keep it that way. A single defeat could mean the championship."

The Wolverines, 20-point favorites, have won five straight conference titles. The only blot on their record this year is a 17-17 tie at Notre Dame.

Texas A&M, which starts only two seniors, was off last week, too, after winning three of its first four games on the road. The Aggies are led by Jeff Granger, a sophomore quarterback who returned to football this summer after being cut from the U.S. Olympic baseball team. He's a pitcher, and from the looks of some of his passes, he must be a knuckleballer.

"If I don't grip the ball correctly, it looks ugly," he said. Granger threw only two passes in the second half of the Aggies' 26-13 victory over Missouri two weeks ago, but both were touchdowns.

The Stanford-Notre Dame game is being billed as a sort of meeting of the minds — Cardinal coach Bill Walsh vs. Irish coach Lou Holtz. And that can mean only one thing: more lip service.

"Our players are going to have to play hard, because if this game is won on the sideline, it's not going to be won on the Notre Dame sideline," Holtz said.

Two years ago, an unranked

Stanford team beat Notre Dame 36-31.

You'd think a team that loses three starting linebackers in one season would have some problems defensively. So far, though, red-shirt freshman George Kidd, junior Reggie Ingram and sophomore Ben Talley of Tennessee have made the transition easy.

"Considering their youth and experience I think they've done a reasonable, acceptable job so far, and they've made progress," coach Johnny Majors said.

The linebackers are 1-2-3 in tackles. Ingram leads with 39.

Rutgers' big chance comes Saturday night against Penn State at Giants Stadium. The Scarlet Knights are 3-1 after a 40-0 victory over Navy last week.

"We'll be zeroed in on Rutgers and we'll go down there with the idea that we're going to play our best game of the year and see what happens," Penn State coach Joe Paterno said.

The Nittany Lions have outscored their last three opponents — Temple, Eastern Michigan and Maryland — by a combined score of 150-28.

Alabama is trying to keep pace with Tennessee in the Southeastern Conference and shouldn't find much of an obstacle in South Carolina.

Smoltz sets NL strikeout pace

Associated Press

ATLANTA — John Smoltz struck out three to take the NL strikeout lead and combined with four relievers on a four-hitter as the Atlanta Braves beat the San Diego Padres 4-1 in the first game of a doubleheader Friday night.

Pete Smith won his seventh straight in the second game as the Braves completed the sweep with a 7-2 victory before a sellout crowd of 41,075 that pushed Atlanta's season attendance to 3,019,216. Smith (7-0) allowed seven hits with four walks and six strikeouts in 6-13 innings.

Atlanta, which has won three in a row and six of seven, set a club record with its 96th and 97th victories of the season. The previous franchise mark of 95 was set in 1957 in Milwaukee. Smoltz, who allowed one hit in four innings, raised his strikeout total to 215, one more than David Cone had with New York before being traded to Toronto.

David Justice hit a two-run homer, his 20th of the season, in the opener.

Cubs 3, Expos 1

CHICAGO — Mike Morgan continued his season-long mastery at Wrigley Field, scattering five hits to improve to 9-2 at home.

Morgan (16-8) walked one and struck out four in his sixth complete game and fifth at Wrigley.

Chicago took a 3-1 lead in the fourth inning on Luis Salazar's fifth home run and Descenzo's RBI single. Chicago opened the scoring in the first on Mark Grace's sacrifice fly and Montreal tied it in the fourth on Moises Alou's RBI single.

Giants 4, Reds 1

CINCINNATI — Shortstop Freddie Benavides' throwing error set up a four-run third inning as San Francisco ended Cincinnati starter Jose Rijo's five-game winning streak.

Royce Clayton grounded into a potential inning-ending double-play in the third, but Benavides threw into right field to let two runs score and set up another.

Steve Reed (1-0) got his first victory in the majors with 1-23 innings in relief of starter Dave Burba, who lasted 3-13 innings. The Reds managed just four hits off four pitchers, with Rod Beck finishing with two hitless innings for his 17th save. Rijo (15-10) allowed seven hits in seven innings.

Cardinals 2, Phillies 1

ST. LOUIS — Donovan Osborne pitched a five-hitter over seven innings and Rod Brewer and Stan Royer drove in second-inning runs for St. Louis.

Osborne (11-9), who lost 10-0 to the Phillies last Saturday, struck out three and walked three in his first victory since Sept. 1. Todd Worrell pitched a scoreless eighth and Lee Smith finished for his league-leading 42nd save.

St. Louis scored in the second on Brewer's sacrifice fly and Royer's RBI double.

Phillies starter Curt Schilling (14-11) allowed only four hits in his 10th complete game. Darren Daulton doubled in a run in the third for the Phillies to raise his NL-leading RBI total to 109.

Mets 6, Pirates 3

NEW YORK — Pete Schourek allowed six hits in eight innings and rookie Jeff Kent had two doubles and two singles in four at-bats for New York.

Schourek (6-8), who had lost his last two decisions, struck out five and walked two. Barry Jones finished for his first save.

Doug Drabek (15-11), who lost for the first time in six decisions, allowed three runs on seven hits in five innings. New York broke a 1-1 tie in the fourth on Kevin Bass' RBI single and Bill Pecota's RBI fielder's choice.

Astros 6, Dodgers 1

HOUSTON — Darryl Kile tied his career-high with 11 strikeouts and Steve Finley went 4 for 4 as the Houston Astros beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-1.

After struggling in the first inning, Kile (5-10) struck out Jose Offerman to end the second and retired the next 11 in a row until he walked Tom Gooden in the sixth. He walked one.

Orel Hershiser (10-15) dropped to 0-3 against the Astros this season. He struck out five and walked one over six innings.

Kile was behind 1-0 after his first four pitches of the game. Offerman singled on the first pitch and scored on Eric Young's double to center.

Houston tied it in the bottom of the inning when Finley reached on a bunt, went to second on a grounder, stole third and scored on Jeff Bagwell's single off Hershiser's glove.

The Astros took a 3-1 lead in the third on Luis Gonzalez's two-run double after Craig Biggio had doubled and Finley, 7 for 13 against Hershiser this season, had singled.

Finley hit his fifth homer of the season in the fifth to make it 4-1. He then tripled in the seventh to score Kile and scored on Gonzalez's sacrifice fly.

Baerga has history-making night

Associated Press

CLEVELAND — Carlos Baerga, with three singles, became the first American League second baseman ever to hit .300 with 200 hits, 20 homers and 100 RBIs as the Cleveland Indians beat the Baltimore Orioles, 8-5.

Baerga went 6 for 4, giving him 201 hits and a .310 average. He already has 20 home runs, and he added his 104th and 105th RBIs, most by an AL second baseman since Bobby Doerr had 120 in 1950.

Rogers Hornsby hit over .300 with at least 200 hits, 20 homers and 100 RBIs five times in the 1920s, all in the National League.

Rod Nichols (4-3), who pitched four scoreless innings before a two-run homer by Cal Ripken Jr. in the ninth inning, was the winner.

Nichols relieved Jose Mesa, who nearly blew an early 4-0 lead. The Orioles chased Mesa with three runs in the fifth on an RBI single by Brady Anderson and a two-run double by Ripken, who finished with three hits and four RBIs.

Anderson has 80 RBIs, five away from the major-league record for a leadoff hitter.

Cleveland scored in the first inning against Craig Lefferts (1-3) on

AL Roundup

Thomas Howard's two-run homer, his second.

Baerga singled home a run in the third, continued to second on the throw home and scored on Albert Belle's single.

Kenny Lofton hit a sacrifice fly in the fifth, and Lofton and Baerga hit RBI singles during Cleveland's three-run seventh.

Twins 5, Royals 1

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — John Smiley pitched a four-hitter and stretched his streak of scoreless innings to 27 1-3, while Chili Davis had two homers and four RBIs, leading Minnesota over Kansas City.

Smiley (16-9), who beat the Royals 4-0 last Sunday with a five-hitter, retired the first 13 batters before Mike MacFarlane doubled. He was unscathed upon from the sixth inning of his Sept. 16 start at Oakland until Wally Joyner came home on Gregg Jefferies' double play grounder in the seventh.

Smiley struck out four and did not walk anyone for his eighth complete game.

Mariners 2, White Sox 0
SEATTLE — Rookie Dave Fleming set a Seattle record with his fourth shutout of the season as the Mariners beat the Chicago White Sox.

Fleming (17-10) also tied the club record for victories by a rookie. Mark Langston won 17 in 1991.

Fleming pitched an eight-hitter to notch his seventh complete game of the season. He walked two and struck out three.

Charlie Hough (7-12) lost for the first time since Aug. 31, yielding two runs, only one earned, on five hits in seven innings. Hough walked one and struck out four.

Yankees 6, Red Sox 3

BOSTON — Bob Wickman continued a strong rookie year with his sixth win in seven starts as New York and the Boston Red Sox began their final series of a frustrating season with a Yankees victory.

Aside from the Yankees' push for fourth place, there was little riding on the three games between the long-time rivals.

New York began the day tied with Cleveland and Detroit for fourth place in the AL East, while Boston has clinched its first base finish in 60 years.

Angels 6, Rangers 3
ANAHEIM, Calif. — Reggie Williams, playing in his 13th major league game, went 4 for 4 and scored three runs as the California Angels beat the Texas Rangers. Mark Langston (13-14) pitched a six-hitter for the Angels, retiring 12 of the last 13 Rangers, including seven on strikeouts.

The left-hander, who tied a career high last year with 19 victories, struck out a season-high 13 and walked one en route to his first victory in six starts. He struck out major league home run leader Juan Gonzalez three times.

Allowing no earned runs for the third time this year and the first time since his consecutive shutouts in June against Kansas City and Texas, Langston finished with a 3.66 ERA — his lowest since July 2. His ninth complete game gave him his highest total in four seasons.

Chad Curtis gave California a 3-0 lead with a third-inning sacrifice fly. The Angels regained the lead on Curtis' run-scoring groundout in the fifth after Texas tied the score with three unearned runs in the top of the inning, aided by shortstop Gary DiSarcina's two-base throwing error.

Colbert takes lead at Vantage event; Trevino injured

Associated Press

CLEMMONS, N.C. — The same two holes that put Jim Colbert back in the golf tournament, took Lee Trevino out of it — and possibly out for the season.

Colbert, defending his title in the Vantage Championship, had just made a fat "6" when he played the sixth and seventh holes in 2-2; eagle-birdie.

Seniors

"Two-two, that really got me back in the tournament," Colbert said Friday after he'd used that burst as a springboard to a 7-under-par 65 and a 2-shot first round lead in the $1.35 million event, the richest on the Senior PGA Tour.

Trevino, playing in the same pairing with Colbert, was forced out of the tournament when a nagging thumb injury flared up — also on the sixth and seventh holes.

"I can't play like this," Trevino said. "I'm going to get this fixed as soon as I can, and that looks like surgery."

"I might not play any more this year," said Trevino, who leads the seniors in money-winnings at $789,708, in victories with five and, at this point, is the leading candidate for Player of the Year honors.

"All my ambitions are out the window," he said. "It's been a hell of a year, and now it's probably over."

It may have ended when his tee shot on the sixth "rang my bell. By the time I got on the green, it was swelling."

Threesome shares lead at PGA Southern Open

PINE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (AP) — Jim Gallagher shot a 68 and Gary Hallberg a 69 to join Robert Friend atop the leader board after Friday's second round of the Southern Open.

Friend, among five players who shared the opening-round lead of 67, had a two-day score of 7-under-par 137 after a round of 70 over a Mountain View Golf Course buffeted by swirling winds that dried and quickened the Bermuda greens.

John Daly, among the leading group on Thursday, had a 1-under-par 71, his seventh consecutive sub-70 effort on tour. Joining him at 138 was Ed Humenik, another of Thursday's leaders who followed with a 71 over the 7,057-yard layout at Callaway Gardens resort.

At 5-under were Russ Cochran and Bill Glasson, each after 68s, and Kelly Gibson, who fell to a 72 after an opening 67.

A tropical depression headed north from the Gulf of Mexico has caused PGA Tour officials to alter Saturday's third round.

Anticipating rocky weather, officials said the 74 players who survived the cut of 1-over 145 would start from the first and 10th tees in order to speed play. The usual weekend format for PGA events is to send the entire field off the front side.

"The thing is this is a tropical depression, not a thunderstorm," PGA Tour official Mark Russell said Friday morning as chilly wind swirled under a sunny sky. "We could get seven or eight inches of rain. We just don't know what it's going to do when it hits the coast. Hopefully, it'll kick west."

During the B.C. Open at Endicott, N.Y., last weekend, the PGA employed the same precautions when bad weather was forecast, and the third round was completed after a few rain delays. Daly went on to win the event, his first title since winning the 1991 PGA.

Hallberg, who hasn't won on tour since 1987, and Friend, the son of former major league pitcher Bob Friend, joined Daly in getting to 8-under at various times before falling back with bogeys.

Hallberg bogeyed No. 9, his final hole of the day, after missing the green with a 6-iron and two-putting from 20 feet. Daly bogeyed the par-4 13th, then bogeyed the par-4 18th for the second day in a row. Friend stumbled on the par-5 15th, making bogey when he three-putted from 12 feet.

"The back nine just seemed to be a totally different golf course, the way the wind was blowing," said Daly, who shot 38 on the back. "Some of those pin placements were really tough."

"Overall, I'm pretty happy with the way I played."

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

THE FORGOTTEN ONES

THE STORY OF ABRAHAM'S WIFE, SARAH, AND HIS BELOVED SON ISAAC, IS WELL RECORDED—AS IS THAT OF HAGAR, WHO BORE ABRAHAM'S FIRST SON, ISHMAEL, BUT LITTLE IS SAID OF THE WIFE THAT ABRAHAM TOOK AFTER SARAH'S DEATH, KETURAH. THIS FINE WOMAN GAVE ABRAHAM NOT ONE—NOT TWO—NOT FOUR—BUT SIX SONS!

FOUR TERSE VERSES (GENESIS 25:1-4) GIVE SHORT SHRIFT TO KETURAH AND HER SONS: ZIMRAM, JOKSHAN, MEDAN, MIDIAN (FOUNDER OF THE MIDIANITE NATION) ISHBAK, AND SHUAH.

BUT ABRAHAM, FATHER OF EIGHT SONS, LOVED BEST THE ONE OF WHOM GOD SAID, "I WILL MAKE OF HIM A GREAT NATION," FOR, AS GENESIS 25:5 REPORTS: "ABRAHAM GAVE ALL THAT HE HAD TO ISAAC."

Admiral: Premature firing may have launched missile

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — A U.S. admiral indicated Friday that premature firing may have launched the missile from the carrier Saratoga that blasted a Turkish destroyer and killed five crew, according to the Turkish news agency Anatolia.

The destroyer was being towed home through treacherous waters Friday after an air-defense missile wrecked its bridge. The captain was among those killed.

President Bush telephoned President Turgut Ozal and Prime Minister Suleyman Demirel to express his sorrow.

U.S. officials apologized and said they were investigating how the Saratoga came to fire at the 3,370-ton Muavenet (pronounced Moo-Ah'-Veh-Net) during a NATO exercise Thursday night off Turkey in the Aegean Sea.

The semi-official Anatolia agency quoted Vice Adm. Philip Durr as telling a news conference on the Saratoga that the ship's Sparrow air-defense system had previously fired prematurely.

He suggested, but did not specifically say, that a premature firing of the ship's missiles was the cause of Thursday's tragedy.

The missiles are designed to fire automatically only in combat, after locking on a target identified by radar, Durr was quoted as saying.

During exercises, the weapons system would be in normal, or semi-automatic, mode, Anatolia quoted him as saying. It would be fired manually by pressing a button, but only after the order was given twice by the gunnery-control unit, he said.

The incident came at a time when Turkey and the United States both have a particular interest in remaining friendly, and officials from both countries sought to prevent political fallout from the accident. Defense Minister Nevzat Ayaz said Turkey might seek compensation.

Turkish television ran footage taken from a helicopter Friday showing smoke rising from a black tangle of metal that used to be the bridge — the raised, glass-enclosed command center toward the front of the ship. A large canvas cover had been thrown over the wreckage.

Helicopters from the Saratoga flew the flag-draped coffins of Capt. Kudret Gunor and the other dead to the western Turkish Aegean port of Izmir.

At least 15 other Turkish seamen were injured, three seriously, U.S. officials said. Turkish officials put the figure at 11 and said 340 people were aboard the U.S.-built Muavenet, which was commissioned as the USS Gwin and served during World War II.

Concern arose that the incident could kindle anti-American action by leftists or fundamentalist Muslims who oppose Turkey's membership in NATO and its Western orientation. There appeared to be little immediate reaction.

The United States has supported Turkey in its efforts to fight an armed rebellion of Kurds in the southeast. Turkey, meanwhile, is allowing a Western air force to provide cover for the Iraqi Kurds fighting Saddam Hussein for self-rule.

The United States was the chief provider of military assistance to Turkey during the Cold War. In return, Turkey allowed the United States to use bases on its soil to monitor the missiles of the former Soviet Union.

The Muavenet and the Saratoga, taking part in a NATO exercise of vessels from the alliance's southern region, were about three miles apart at the time of the strike, said Pentagon spokeswoman Maj. Katherine Ingram in Washington.

The incident occurred about 80 miles west of Izmir.

The missile that hit the Turkish ship has a four-mile range.

The NATO operation, called "Display Determination '92," usually involves the United States, Turkey, Greece and Italy.

Hooded judge system comes under criticism

LIMA, Peru (AP) — When guerrilla leader Abimael Guzman is sentenced by military court next week after a speedy trial, he will not see his accusers. The judges and prosecutor wear hoods to protect them from Shining Path rebel threats.

Few doubt that Guzman, whose 12-year insurgency has claimed more than 25,000 lives, is guilty. But Peru's new system of "faceless judges" has drawn protests from legal experts who fear the system will also condemn the innocent.

Guzman, 57, went on trial Monday at a heavily guarded naval base outside Lima, the first by a secret military court since President Alberto Fujimori began a crackdown on the Shining Path last April.

The rebel leader appeared Thursday in court in a 5-foot by 5-foot steel cage, dressed in a black-and-white striped prison uniform, his lawyer Alfredo Crespo said. The lawyer, who was allowed no closer than 13 feet to his client, said it would be Guzman's last appearance in court before the verdict and sentencing.

The trial was scheduled to last 10 days, with a verdict on Wednesday. But Lima newspapers speculated that the verdict could come as early as Monday, the national navy holiday. Authorities have not commented on a possible change.

The government says trials like Guzman's are the only way to put rebels behind bars.

"A military trial... will permit a speedier process," said Daniel Espichan, the government prosecutor for terrorism. "It guarantees secrecy. What terrorists want is scandal, publicity."

But critics say the summary trials by anonymous judges violate Peruvian penal codes and would not be recognized as valid by international law.

"Military justice is not qualified to make these sorts of decisions," said Francisco Eguiguren, of the Andean Jurists Commission, a human rights group.

The decree that the identities of judges in rebel cases would be kept secret was imposed in April, days after Fujimori declared one-man rule. A later decree established that high-ranking guerrilla leaders would be charged with treason and tried in military courts.

Fujimori said the measures were necessary because judges threatened by the Shining Path had freed 200 rebels during his first 20 months in office. A case in point was guerrilla leader Laura Zambrano, paroled last year after serving only seven years in prison and recaptured Sept. 12 along with Guzman. She had threatened judges during her trial.

During many secret trials, judges and witnesses for the prosecution are protected by a one-way mirrored window and by electronic voice distortion. The only people on the other side are the lawyer and the accused. In other secret trials, judges sign documents with code names and issue sentences in some cases within 24 hours.

The defense can present no witnesses, nor cross-examine witnesses for the prosecution.

Under Peru's judicial system, a panel of judges determines guilt. There is no jury. That has not changed.

A lawyer who defended a client accused of terrorism in a secret trial this month — who did not want his name used — said the judges handed down a 10-year prison sentence after only a few days on the basis of police evidence he described as weak.

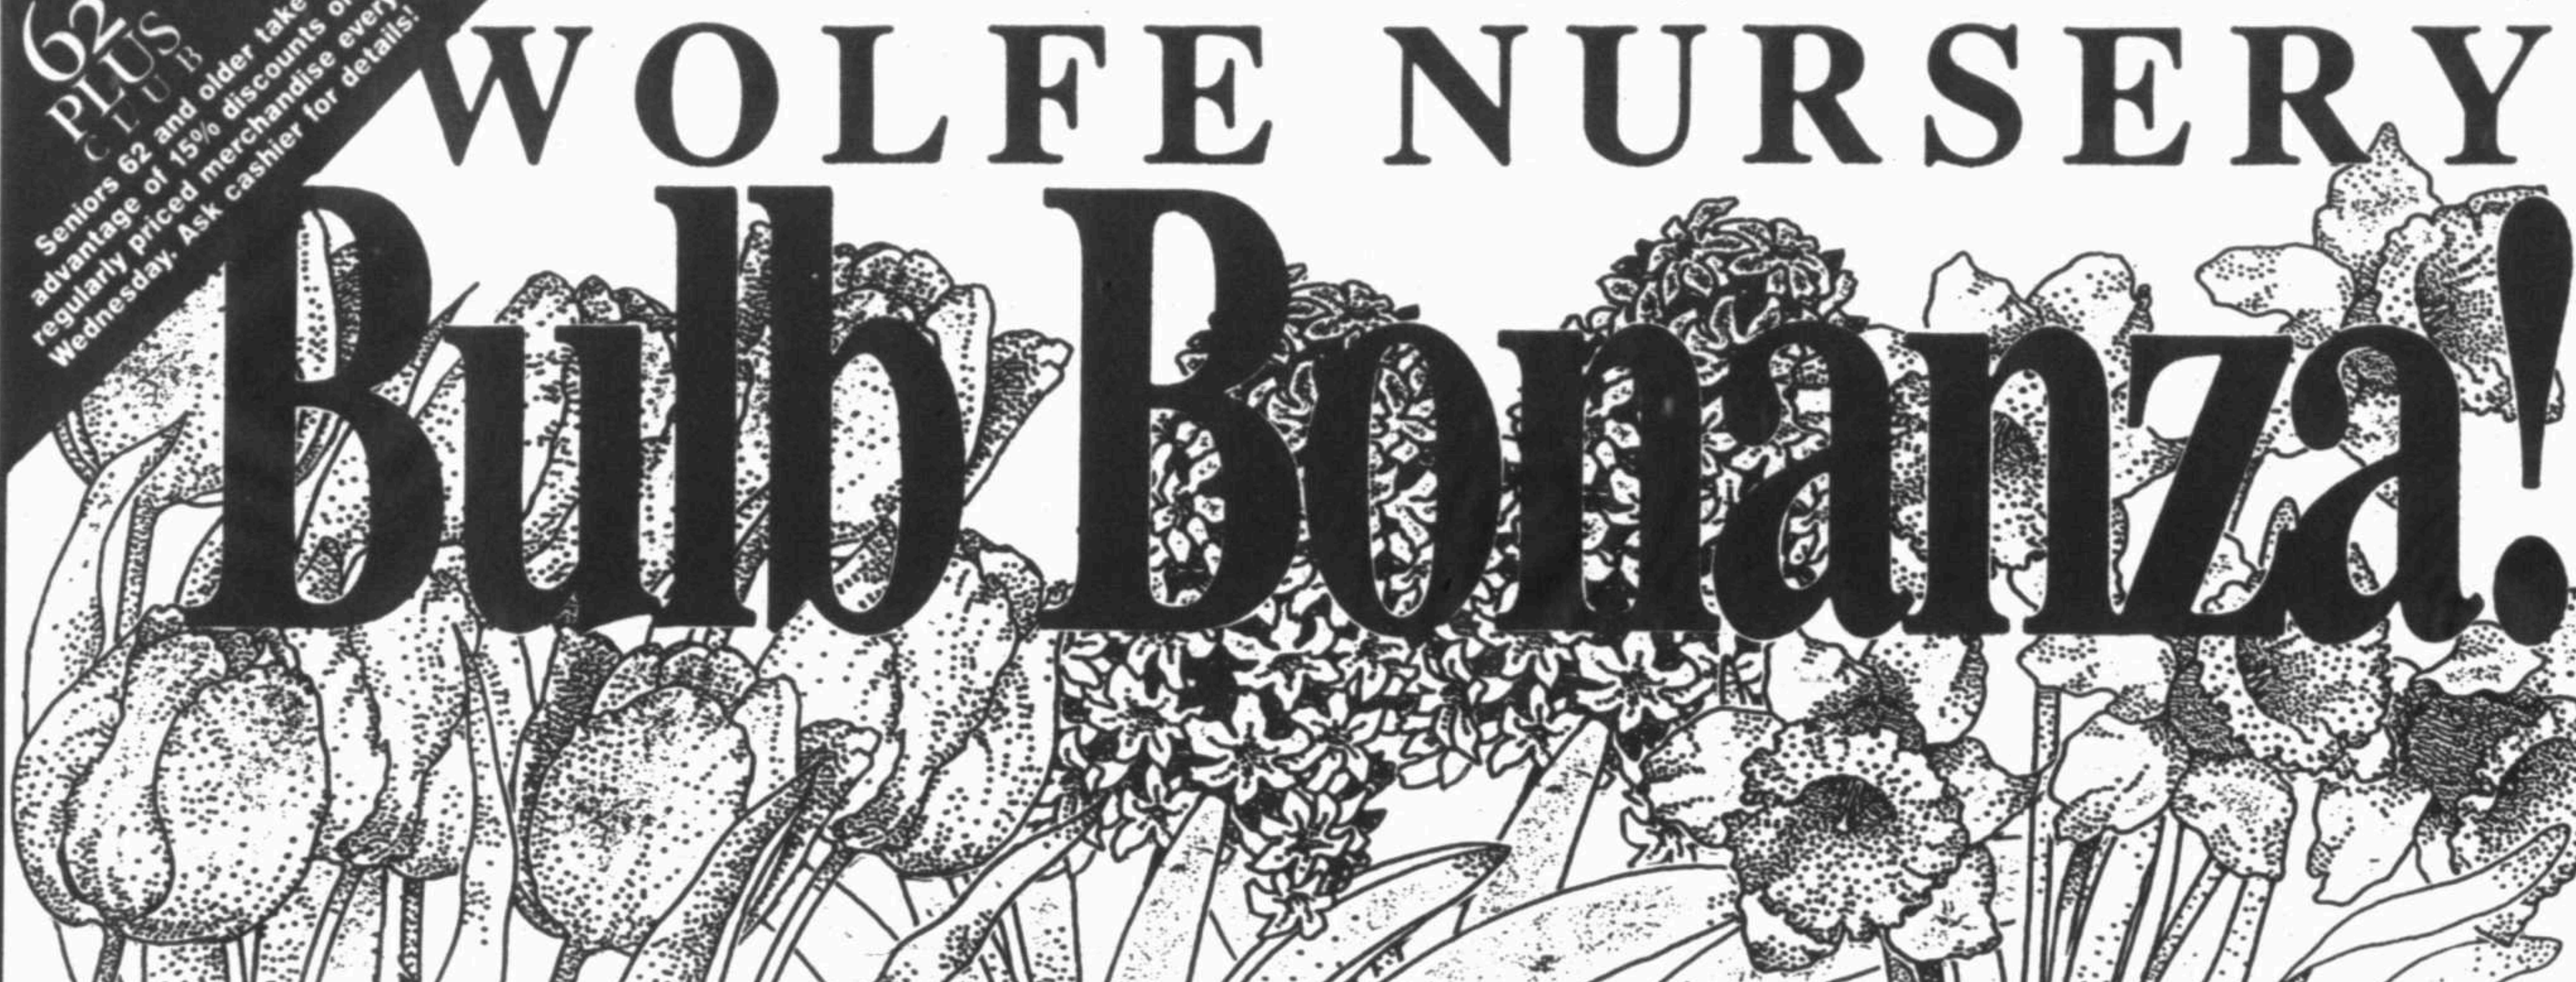

For security, trials take place in the prison where the accused rebel is held. Such trials have been conducted in Lima and several provincial cities.

Guzman and three other Shining Path leaders are held on San Lorenzo Island in the Pacific near Lima. The navy has decreed a 1-mile exclusion zone around the island and gunboats patrol the waters.

Airlift to resume; U.N. agency fears 200,000 will flee Bosnia

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina (AP) — Badly needed U.S. aid flights are expected to reach the Bosnian capital today, a month after the humanitarian airlift was suspended when a relief plane was shot down.

Meanwhile, Serb warplanes Friday raided Jajce and Bogojno, two Muslim-held cities about 50 miles north of Sarajevo, the Bosnian military said. There was no word on casualties.

Such air raids have prompted Western allies to urge the United Nations to set up a "no-fly" zone for combat flights over Bosnia. President Bush said Friday he backed the proposal, and that the United States was ready to enforce it with military action if necessary.

Although peace envoys in Geneva have obtained an agreement from the major warring parties to demilitarize parts of Sarajevo, casualties continue to be high around the republic and the flow of refugees is accelerating.

In the Banja Luka area of northern Bosnia, a U.N. relief agency said it feared 200,000 people would flee in coming weeks because of what it said was an escalating campaign by Serb nationalists to rid the territory of anyone but Serbs. Most of the area's residents are Muslims.

A spokeswoman for the U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees said relief workers accompanying a convoy of 1,500 Muslims freed Thursday from a Bosnian detention camp reported a growing "ethnic cleansing" campaign over the past two weeks around Banja Luka.

"People were coming up and pounding on U.N. cars, saying please get us out of here," Sylvana Foa said.

Sarajevo Mayor Muhamed Krescevic said there may now be 550,000 people in Sarajevo, 3 percent above its prewar population. Refugees from surrounding regions have replaced those who have fled.

Without more help, Krescevic said in an interview, Sarajevo will resemble a "horror movie."

"In these coming days that are going to be freezing, the town is facing catastrophe," he said. About 70 percent of the windows have no glass, and nearly half the roofs won't keep rain and snow out.

Snow already has dotted some of the mountains around Sarajevo, which was host of the 1984 Winter Olympics.

"The UNHCR help is all we're getting and that's about 20 percent of the full need of the town," the mayor said, referring to land convoys operated by the U.N. relief agency.

In Geneva, UNHCR spokesman Ron Redmond said three U.S. Air Force planes would fly to Sarajevo today, resuming the international airlift that was suspended after an Italian plane was hit by a missile Sept. 3. All four crew members were killed.

Redmond said he understood that French planes also might make two flights, but that had yet to be confirmed.

The airlift, which formerly shipped 200 tons daily of food, medicine and other supplies to Sarajevo, was to resume after the warring parties gave assurances the flights would not be harmed.

Bosnia's majority Muslims and Croats voted for independence from Yugoslavia on Feb. 29, and warfare broke out last spring as the republic's Serb minority, backed by the Serb-led Yugoslav army, fought to create an expanded Serbian state.

The Serbs have captured two-thirds of the republic in fighting that has left at least 14,000 dead, according to the Bosnian Health Ministry. The agency reported Friday that fighting in the past 24 hours had killed 32 people and wounded 151, including 15 dead and 101 wounded in Sarajevo.

The international sanctions against Yugoslavia could be fatal for hundreds of thousands of children, the Belgrade-based Tanjug news agency reported, quoting Edith Simmons-Richner, liaison officer for UNICEF, the U.N. children's fund.

Palestinian prisoners stage hunger strike

BETHLEHEM, Israeli-Occupied West Bank (NYT) — In one of the more widespread protests of its kind in recent years, several thousand Palestinian prisoners have been on a hunger strike all this week at eight prisons in Israel and the occupied territories. Human rights groups both inside and outside Israel have often criticized prison conditions here, and their attacks are now being echoed by the protesters and their families. They complain, among other things, about reduced food rations, inadequate health care, beatings and other harsh measures, including what they call an excessive reliance on solitary confinement.

In reply, Israeli officials question the hunger strikers' sincerity, saying they had known for months that a protest would be held at about this time. As for how the Palestinians live, Police Minister Moshe Shahal said Friday that their conditions were "equal to those of all prisoners in Israeli jails and in line with international standards set out by the Red Cross."

The strike has been accompanied by a string of supporting demonstrations in Jerusalem and in Bethlehem and other West Bank towns, the sorts of marches that were routine in past years but that have become less common as the Palestinians' anti-Israel uprising wanes.

For the most part the protests have been peaceful. But a march in Gaza on Thursday turned violent as scores of Palestinian youths threw stones at Israeli soldiers, who responded by firing on the crowd and wounding two people. Although this is hardly the first prison hunger strike, it is taking place on a scale not seen in at least five years, and both Israelis and Palestinians say it could drag on for a while and perhaps spread to other prisoners.

At least 3,000 prisoners are involved — Palestinian leaders say 5,000 — at eight locations under Prison Authority control. Altogether, Israel holds an estimated 12,000 Palestinian prisoners, most of them under army supervision, mainly young men arrested for alleged violence or involvement in outlawed groups resisting Israel's military occupation in the West Bank and Gaza.

While Palestinian leaders insist that the hunger strike has nothing to do with politics, Palestinian academicians and journalists acknowledge that there is a political component to the protest because it cannot be divorced from the Middle East peace talks.

Raising prison conditions and other human rights issues is an important arrow in the Palestinians' quiver of negotiating strategies.

Two Fractured Fairy Tales:

1. COMPUTER CLONES ARE A LOT CHEAPER THAN COMPAQ®

Long ago, throughout the technokingdom, a myth was born among the information service-lords. Many believed the pretender clones to be of great value because it was said they could be had for less gold than the mighty COMPAQ. Such was the myth.

One bright day messengers arrived — dispatched from the house of COMPAQ with news of great cheer. The king in his wisdom had declared: "No one shall have to make do with less for the want of extra goldbudgets. Now to all shall come the noble COMPAQ, with performance equal to its royal legend — but not a farthing nor a hen's egg greater in cost to the people." And the kingdom rejoiced.

Moral: While clones cut corners, COMPAQ cut prices. What are you waiting for?

COMPAQ

The COMPAQ DESKPRO 486/33 is only one of the many COMPAQ products available at ValCom. Features include 4MB of high-speed memory, the QVISION 1024 Graphics Controller, graphics accelerator and three 8-16-bit ISA slots.

VALCOM.

2. ALL RESELLERS ARE THE SAME.

Now in that same kingdom dwelt the technosellers, who gathered in the square crying: "Who will buy my magic boxes?" And like flocks of fowl they shrieked: "cheap cheap cheap", and "trust me, for I shall love you best after the sale."

Alone in the square, apart from the others, stood a sturdy lad. No boxes did he kick, nor did he shout all things to all the people. Yet to the wisest of the servicerlords he was known as ValCom. Raised in the heartland and modest by nature, he spoke softly, but carried mighty solutions. Those who did trade with him paid no more, yet nobly were they serviced. And much did they prosper for the value they sought was duly added and richly did the information flow, and productivity did abound in their houses.

Moral: ValCom — the difference between promises and productivity. Verily.

School-choice, crime bills fall in rush to adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Major bills attacking crime and seeking to upgrade schools fell victim Friday to a congressional calendar-clearing frenzy as lawmakers rushed to adjourn and hit the campaign trail.

Another big-ticket item — lifting the ban on abortion counseling at federally funded clinics by staff members except physicians — went by the boards as the House failed to override President Bush's veto.

Weekend work was in store for lawmakers anxious to wind up a session dominated by acute election-year partisanship and decimated by scandals surrounding the House bank and post office. The congressional leadership still hoped to adjourn Monday.

"This is it," Sen. Joseph Biden, D-Del., declared at the outset of the Senate's climactic debate and vote on the wide-ranging crime bill, which included a provision that would have imposed a five-day waiting period on the purchase of handguns.

"It's been held hostage for 300 days by the opponents," bellowed Biden, chairman of the Judiciary Committee. "This is the final, final moment for us to decide if we're going to do anything about crime this year."

Fifty-five members of the Senate voted to break a parliamentary stalemate entrapping the crime bill. But the 55-43 vote was five short of the number needed to curtail debate.

Not even an appearance on the Senate floor by Democratic vice presidential nominee Al Gore could save the day. Republicans steadfastly fought the measure.

The Democratic-Republican split on the school-choice bill also fell along party lines. The compromise bill that had emerged from House-Senate negotiations excluded Bush's proposal to set up a system of vouchers to help parents send their children to private and parochial schools. An attempt to break a GOP filibuster failed by one vote — 59 to 40.

"This bill is not the right thing to do for education and may, in fact, stifle true efforts to improve learning," said Sen. Nancy Kassebaum, R-Kan.

In another development, the senior Republican on a House investigating panel said the panel has found no evidence that the 1980 Reagan-Bush campaign conspired with Iran to delay the release of American hostages.

The lawmaker, Rep. Henry

Hyde of Illinois, staged a conversation on the House floor with Minority Leader Robert Michel of Illinois to put out the word that the panel has found no substance to the decade-old allegations.

Hyde's comments came as the House was debating whether to provide $1.3 million to pay for the costs of the panel's seven-month investigation and to allow it to finish its work and issue a final report by the end of the year. The funding resolution was passed 221-181.

And the House approved a 6 percent cut in U.S. intelligence spending as part of a bill funding U.S.

spy agencies for the coming year.

While the precise budget for the CIA, the National Security Agency, the National Reconnaissance Office and the military intelligence agencies are secret, they are believed to total about $30 billion annually.

The House vote on abortion counseling was 266-148, well shy of the two-thirds majority necessary to override. Bush won by a 10-vote margin.

The vote came just one day after the administration's long-disputed regulation took effect and a day after the Senate voted to override Bush's veto.

Advocacy groups call for more stringent laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — There were about 1 million attacks on women by their husbands or lovers last year, a Senate committee said Friday, as 16 women's groups urged more stringent laws to combat domestic violence.

Another 3 million violent domestic crimes — murders, rapes and assaults — went unreported, estimated the Senate Judiciary Committee.

"Women's lives remain controlled by fear, yet Congress has been slow to respond," said Rosemary Dempsey, vice president of the National Organization for Women. "The incidents recorded in this report are a stark reminder of the misogyny behind the statistics."

Ms. Dempsey pointed out a 1988 U.S. surgeon general's report that listed violence as the number one health risk among women. The Senate committee noted a June 1992 report from Surgeon General Antonia Novello, which said violence is the leading cause of injury to women aged 15-44.

The statistics demonstrate the need for the proposed Violence Against Women Act he sponsored, said the committee's chairman, Sen. Joseph Biden, D-Del.

The measure awaits action by the full Senate, which is preparing to adjourn.

Biden's legislation calls for allowing women to bring civil cases for attacks committed against them because of their gender; educational programs against domestic violence and stiffer laws against spouse abuse.

He noted the bill could make rape a federal offense, but said that is justifiable if it is proven that the victim was attacked because of gender.

"It is a hate crime. My objective is to give the woman every opportunity under the law to seek redress, not only criminally, but civilly," Biden said. "I want to raise the consciousness of this country that women's civil rights — their right to be left alone — is in jeopardy."

The committee also looked at 200 cases of assault on women during the first week of last month. Twenty-four of the women either were seeking or already had obtained court orders to protect them from past or potential attackers.

The 200 recent examples were gathered from rape crisis centers, emergency rooms, shelters and police stations.

Among the September cases described were:

■ A Texas mother whose husband stabbed her to death and hung himself after she tried to get a protective order and enter a shelter for battered women;

■ A 46-year-old woman in New Mexico whose husband beat her and pushed her from a moving car;

■ A 28-year-old New Hampshire woman whose husband tried to strangle her and break her leg, then refused to allow her to seek medical attention until the next day.

The report said domestic disputes accounted for 16 percent of all sexual assaults and 20 percent of all aggravated assaults reported in 1991. It counted 1.37 million domestic incidents, and estimated that 83 percent of the victims were women, based on reports that Senate staffers collected from 17 states that tally victims by sex.

There also were two instances where attackers made references to doing damage to their victims' faces, so no one will want them, the report said. One 23-year-old Florida woman was beaten and dragged by her husband, who told her he was "smart enough" not to leave bruises behind as evidence.

If the anti-violence measure is not approved this year, Biden said he plans to "make it the single number one priority for me and the judiciary committee" next year.

RELIGION IN BRIEF

(From 3C)

■ McKechnie to guest conduct

D. Linda McKechnie, a well-known composer, arranger and concert pianist, will be the featured conductor of "Bells, Brass & Pipes," a free handbell concert to be presented by three area Presbyterian churches at 3 p.m. Sunday at First Presbyterian Church, 800 W. Texas Ave.

The bell choirs will perform a variety of handbell pieces highlighted by the world premiere performance of Mrs. McKechnie's arrangement of "Amazing Grace," commissioned by the directors for their choirs.

Those choirs and directors are Agape Ringers of First Presbyterian Church, directed by Lester Ackerman, of Odessa's First Presbyterian Church, directed by Linda Hill and Celebration of Grace Presbyterian Church, directed by Jan Mouton.

A piano/organ duet featuring Mrs. McKechnie and Ackerman will be presented as well. Also appearing will be the Lone Star Brass Quintet.

As a pianist, Mrs. McKechnie's recording contract with Brentwood Music, Nashville, includes "Hymnworks," a tapestry of classical themes and beloved hymns accompanied by the Don Marsh Orchestra. Her other recordings include "Classic Gospel-Repertoire" and "Classic Christmas." In addition, she is a prolific publisher of handbell music.

Mrs. McKechnie, who grew up in Cherry Hill, N.J., began playing the piano when she was 4. Her academic background includes a bachelor of sacred music from Nyack College, N.Y.

She has served Presbyterian churches in New York, Oklahoma and Texas for the past 25 years as organist, director of choirs for adults, children and bells.

Mrs. McKechnie served the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers as the 14th president. She has been a clinician and director of many workshops, conferences and seminars throughout the United States, Canada, England and Korea.

She plays an active role in Grace Presbyterian Church, Houston, where her husband is pastor.

■ Midland Life Chain planned

Midland Life Chain '92 is planned for 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. Sunday on North Midkiff Road at Loop 250 stretching south.

"Life Chain '92 is an opportunity to take a prayerful, peaceful, legal stand for life and against the killing of unborn children," said a release from Steve Becker.

Those wishing to participate may join Life Chain '92 on the south parking lot of Midland Park Mall to receive a sign and location assignment.

■ Church hosts fall festival

Calvary Assembly of God, 1001 S. Goode, is hosting its annual fall festival today beginning with team and individual races at 3:30 p.m.

Hamburgers and hot dogs will be available at 5:30 p.m. and game booths as well as other food booths will be open from 6 to 8 p.m.

The theme for this year's festival is patriotic in honor of the presidential election this year. A prize will be awarded for the most original costume worn. An informal poll will be conducted to check the presidential candidate favorite for this year.

Calvary Youth group hosts the annual event to help raise funds for its mission's pledge. The event is open to the public.

■ Discipleship conference set

Members of Alamo Heights Baptist Church will be hosting a discipleship conference for all age groups Sunday through Wednesday.

Leading the adult conference will be the Rev. Billy Hanks Jr., president of the International Evangelical Association. Hank's books, "Spiritual Journal," has been a best seller in evangelical churches for more than a decade.

The adult conference will feature his latest course of study entitled "Closer Walk With God."

Leading the youth conferences will be the Rev. Scott Lane, Minister of Youth at Valley Ranch Baptist Church, and Robbie Boyd, Minister of Youth at Calvary Baptist Church, Lubbock.

Cost of materials for the adult study is $15 per person. There is no charge for youth, children or pre-school conferences. A nursery will be provided.

Conferences will begin at 6 p.m. Sunday and at 7 p.m. Monday through Wednesday. The public is invited to attend.

■ Church to present classes

The Rev. Tommy Potter of First Christian Church will be holding three sessions to discuss the history, beliefs and practices of the Christian Church, Disciples of Christ, for all interested parties.

The classes will be held at First Christian Church, 1301 W. Louisiana Ave., at 7 p.m. Monday, Oct. 15 and 27.

■ World conference to be held

The 163rd Semi-Annual World Conference of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, with more than eight million members, will be held today and Sunday in Salt Lake City, Utah.

The conference can be viewed locally via satellite broadcast in the chapels at 4508 Gateway and 2101 Tarleton.

Broadcasts today will be from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday sessions will begin at 10:30 a.m. with "Music and the Spoken Word" featuring the Mormon Tabernacle Choir. The choir also will provide music during the morning broadcast from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. The afternoon session Sunday will be from 3 to 5 p.m.

Talks will be given by the General Authorities of the church directed by the First Presidency.

All interested parties are invited to attend.

■ Delegates attend assembly

Delegates from the local congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses attended their annual circuit assembly held in Odessa at Ector Junior High School the last weekend in September.

E.C. Woodley, a representative from the World Headquarters Organization of Jehovah's Witnesses in New York, spoke on the subject "What Marks the Bible as Authentic?"

■ George Lloyd visits Midland

Elder George Lloyd, new superintendent of school for West Texas Seventh-day Adventists, made his first visit to Midland and spoke during the worship hour Sunday.

"Along with bringing a strong message, Mr. Lloyd brought greetings from the area conference president, Ralph Orduno, who is in the Ukraine for an extended time," said a release from Evangeline Richman, local church secretary.

The people of the former USSR have been deprived of religious freedom, even Bibles for 70 years and are eager for the gospel, Mrs. Richman said.

"Thousands of Bibles have been provided by Adventists in West Texas, along with rice and other staples to help alleviate the food shortage."

■ Catholic Cub Day to be held

West Texas Boys Ranch, 17 miles southwest of San Angelo, off Highways 67 at Spring Creek, will be the site of the annual Catholic Cub Day to be held from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Oct. 17.

The day will be one of reflection and fun for tiger Cubs, Cub Scouts and Webelos.

This year's theme is "P.O.W.E.R." — "Paving Out Way to Eternal Reward." The theme is centered around a prayer bracelet the Scouts will make called the "Power Band."

There is a $5 fee with lunch and a special patch provided. Lunch is free to parents assisting with the program.

Catholic Day is sponsored by the Diocese of San Angelo Catholic Committee on Scouting. Registrations forms are available at Boy Scout Council offices. For more information call Steve or Teresa Zimmerman, 1-944-9756.

In January, Bishop Michael Pfeifer OMI will present Religious Emblem Awards to all deserving Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts from throughout the diocese. Last year, that number was more than 50.

■ Missionary league honored

Grace Lutheran Evangelical Church will honor the Lutheran Women Missionary League during the church's Sunday service at 10:30 a.m.

A luncheon, hosted by the ladies of the congregation, will follow the service.

LWML is a group of women committed to spreading God's word through mission projects on local, zone, district and international levels.

Grace has two local societies. Parish Workers is an evening group that meets the fourth Tuesday of every month. Grace Guild is a morning group that meets the fourth Wednesday of every month. Terry Schneider is president of Parish Workers. Gail Granat is president of Grace Guild.

■ Synagogues to raise funds

NEW YORK (AP) — Reform Jewish synagogues will be raising funds during the High Holy Days to help Israeli humanitarian Abie Nathan build a tent city in northeast Kenya to house and feed 20,000 starving refugees from Somalia.

Synagogues affiliated with the Union of American Hebrew Congregations will seek support for the project as part of the traditional appeals conducted by congregations during the high holiday season, the union said in a release.

"From Jerusalem with Love" will be inscribed on every tent. Once the tent city is operating, it will be turned over to the United Nations High Commission on Refugees.

Rosh Hashana, the Jewish new year, began at sundown Sept. 27, marking the start of the year 5753. The High Holy Days ends with the conclusion of Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, at sundown Oct. 7.

Spanish hymnal features Texas musician's songs

PALESTINE (AP) — Barney Lara will look a man right in the eye, but when he sings to his Lord he turns his face toward heaven.

And when he writes songs for the Spanish hymnal at Sacred Heart Catholic Church, he turns his heart the same direction.

"When he is sad, or when he is happy, he gets the urge to write something," said his wife of 15 years, Rose. "It's not very often: every once in a while."

"I sometimes start, I pick up my guitar and just..." he said. "And sometimes I hear a melody that I've never heard before. And I start writing the words."

And when worshippers gather for 5 p.m. Saturday Mass, which Sacred Heart devotes to its Hispanic community, they express what they feel toward God with Lara's words. Some eight songs in the hymnal are his work.

The lyrics are not so much simple as they are straightforward statements Lara makes to a God who, to him, is as alive and active as his five children, Maribel, Rosa, Cynthia, Sylvia and B.G.:

"You are, you are; the King of the Sky;

"You are, you are; the King of Love;

"You are the one that brings comfort to the sad;

"You are our savior."

Lara, 38, has lived in the United States since he was 15 when he came here to help his family in San Luis Potosi, Mexico. And though he's worked in several U.S. cities, he chose to settle in Palestine because the town suited his personality, his wife said.

"He's always been a peaceful man," said Rose. "He was never a wild kid and all that. So he looked for a town that was peaceful."

He supplements his pay at Winkle and Sons Oil Co. by playing mariachi music with his brothers, but his first musical love remains devotional.

"The people ask him to go sing at parties and like that," Rose said. "But he doesn't care for it. Always, anything for God. Always."

Lara's talent has carried over. Maribel is responsible for "Ninito Jesus," also in the Spanish Hymnal, a book bought with money raised by the singers in the Spanish youth choir.

Lara still takes his family on trips to Mexico — a 20-hour drive. There, his parents and remaining brothers and sisters live a life different from their American cousins.

"His father still works with a team of oxen," Rose said, adding that her husband learned to work at age 7 when his own father went to America to earn money for his family.

"It's really a relief to get away from all this," she said of the visits to the Mexican hillside ranch that was her husband's home.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE NEXT YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: New opportunities for career advancement present themselves now. Seize the ball and run with it! Higher-ups reward those who show initiative. Family-run businesses should do especially well early in 1993. Children will fill a void in the home. Those of you contemplating matrimony will likely take the plunge next spring. Record financial gains are possible as summer approaches. Do more saving than splurging as the money rolls in.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: slugger Dave Winfield, actress Madlyn Rhue, rock 'n' roller Chubby Checker, author Gore Vidal.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Let a social day be your ticket to happiness. Even if Cupid is not around, you can have lots of fun. All you need is the company of good friends!

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You would be wise to slow down now. It is not clear what lies ahead. Let a new relationship develop at its own pace. Romance and festivities beckon tonight.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): The emphasis is on arrangements that stress long-term benefits and slow-but-sure gains. Educational pursuits and travel are favored. Beware of strident or antagonistic people.

CANCER (June 21-July 22):

Diplomacy will help you win over stubborn people. You get the go-ahead for a work or community project. Continue to keep your business and private life separate.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Lunching with a friend will give you a great idea for making extra money. Enlist the assistance of old pals. Socializing both boosts your spirits and provides the perfect setting for romance.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): An early-morning invitation may come from a friend who lives at a distance. Focus on a money matter before afternoon. Someone intent on making mischief needs to be brought to heel.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): A business situation that looks good will go even better if you pay closer attention to detail. Make allowances for a younger person who means well.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): A mid-afternoon dream could become a specific plan. Be scrupulous about financial matters. Put away your credit cards and pay cash whenever possible.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Talking over business matters with a friend gives you practical insights regarding a financial situation. A last-minute business trip may be necessary.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Take pride in your accomplishments, but do not overlook the contributions of others. A happier atmosphere at work eases tension and boosts productivity.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Do whatever is necessary to get the job done. Travel is inconvenient but could put you in line for a large financial payout. A sense of humor helps you handle any setbacks.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Romance blossoms. Insurance questions can be straightened out if you take the time to sit down with a qualified agent. Be certain your family knows about any loans or credit card balances.

TODAY'S CHILDREN are resourceful, well-mannered and charming. They pride themselves on their good taste and will be repulsed by vulgar language or crude behavior. Cheerful and optimistic, they believe deeply in law and order — and justice for all. A legal career is likely to hold strong appeal. Since these Libras are much more drawn to intellectual matters than to athletics, their interest in sports will probably be minimal. A daily walk or swim will help them stay in shape.

Brooks to testify in court; 'The Boss' to stop in Dallas

TULSA, Okla. — Garth Brooks must testify sometime this month in a federal lawsuit alleging Southwestern Bell let calls for Brooks' concert tickets incapacitate Tulsa's 911 system.

The country star is not named in the lawsuit but has "information we deem vital," lawyer James Weger said. A federal magistrate refused Thursday to quash the subpoena.

Brooks won the Country Music Association's awards for entertainer of the year and album of the year, for "Ropin' the Wind," Wednesday night in Nashville.

A Tulsa doctor, Homer Hardy, filed a $35 million lawsuit against Southwestern Bell last month, alleging that the phone company failed to take adequate precautions to prevent eager fans from swamping the phone system.

Hardy's wife died of a heart attack at home July 18, the day tickets went on sale for a Brooks concert in Tulsa. Hardy said he repeatedly received busy signals when he tried to reach 911 dispatchers.

An lawyer for Brooks, J. Warren Jackman, had filed a motion to quash the subpoena.

TEL AVIV — Tenor Luciano Pavarotti sang to a packed stadium and to thousands more in a city square where the concert was broadcast live after a last-minute decision to beam across town.

The move followed complaints that tickets were too expensive — $90 to $145.

Among those at the stadium was Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin. Many others sat in the Kings of Israel square for a free concert under the stars.

In a concert conducted by Zubin Mehta with the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra, Pavarotti sang operatic excerpts Thursday night and finished with three encores that brought the ecstatic audience to its feet.

One encore was "O Sole Mio," which he said was a birthday present to his manager, Herbert Breslin, "a very nice Jewish boy." Pavarotti switched briefly to Hebrew to wish his audience "Shana Tova" — a happy new year — and finished with "Nessun Dorma."

LONDON — Frank McGuinness's hostage drama "Someone Who'll Watch Over Me" will open Nov. 23 on Broadway, three months earlier than planned.

Producer Noel Pearson said Thursday he was moving up the Broadway opening to ensure use of the intimate Booth Theater. He said he also hoped to benefit from co-star Stephen Rea's exposure in the movie "The Crying Game," which opens in New York the same week.

McGuinness's play casts Rea as an Irishman sharing a Beirut prison cell with an American (James McDaniel) and an Englishman (Alec McCowen). It marks the American stage debut for the Belfast-born Rea, who has won praise for playing an Irish Republican Army gunman trying to put his past behind him in Neil Jordan's new movie.

The play sold out its limited run during the summer at northwest London's Hampstead Theater, but Pearson said the box office "hasn't exactly been jumping" since it transferred to the commercial West End on Sept. 9.

Pearson's Broadway production of Brian Friel's "Dancing At Lughnasa," winner of this year's Tony Award for best play, closes in New York Oct. 25 after a profitable year-long run.

NEW YORK — The final leg of Bruce Springsteen's 1992 North American tour will begin Oct. 26 in Denver and end Dec. 11 in Pittsburgh.

With one show in each city, he also plays St. Louis; Ames, Iowa; Minneapolis; Milwaukee; Toronto; Hempstead and Syracuse, N.Y.; Chapel Hill and Charlotte, N.C.; Lexington, Ky.; Miami and St. Petersburg, Fla.; Atlanta; Dallas; Indianapolis, and Philadelphia.

In the first six months of his 1992 tour, Springsteen played 38 concerts in 13 cities for more than 600,000 fans.

CHICAGO — He's a man with the mob and he expects to come out shooting.

Actor Bill Forsythe is playing Al Capone in a new version of "The Untouchables," and has arrived in Chicago to shoot the Paramount Pictures TV series around the old crime boss' hangouts for eight weeks. "I went back to look at the trail, to see where it started and get a good feel for what this is about," said Forsythe, whose film credits include "The Water Dance" and "American Me."

The actor said in an interview Thursday that a large part of his preparation involved reading thousands of pages of historical accounts and interviewing historians and organized crime buffs.

"I like to surround myself with every piece of material I can find," Forsythe said.

Unemployment rate inches down but layoffs continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate inched down to 7.5 percent in September, its lowest level since May, even though employers laid off another 57,000 workers last month, the Labor Department said Friday.

It marked the third straight month that the jobless rate edged down by 0.1 percentage point after hitting an eight-year high of 7.8 percent in June.

Economists were unimpressed with the slight downturn in the jobless rate because it occurred not because people found more jobs but because the size of the labor force shrank as people went back to school or simply became discouraged and stopped looking for work. A person has to be seeking work to be counted as unemployed.

Many private economists had been forecasting a far bleaker report, worried that the jobless rate would actually go up, not down, because a huge government summer jobs program ended last month.

But the better-than-expected news did not alter their view that the U.S. economy was still mired in the doldrums with little expectation of a quick turn-around. Another report showed orders to factories and demand for non-durable goods plunged in August.

Private economists said they still expected the widespread weakness would force the Federal Reserve to cut interest rates again although the central bank made no move to do so Friday.

Wall Street reacted negatively to Friday's weak economic news and the lack of a response from the central bank, sending the Dow Jones industrial average down by 53.76 points to 3,200.61, its lowest close since April 8.

"The economy is still flat as a pancake," said David Wyss, an economist at DRI-McGraw Inc. in Lexington, Mass. "The good news is the recession ended in April 1991, but the bad news is that the recovery still has not started."

For their part, both President Bush and Democratic challenger Bill Clinton tried to turn the last jobs report before the election to their advantage.

"It's the third straight month of moving in the right direction on unemployment," Bush said on ABC-TV's "Good Morning America."

In a jab at Clinton, Bush said, "It certainly goes against the political grain where some are saying everything is getting worse. It isn't."

Clinton, however, held a rally outside an unemployment office in Toledo, Ohio, where he told the crowd that the "final report card" on the economy before the election was a stark indictment of failed Republican policies.

Noting that 57,000 more jobs were lost last month, Clinton said, "Unemployment remains high with no end in sight. Trickle down economics has brought a tidal wave of unemployment and declining incomes and every month it lays waste to the dreams of more Americans."

The jobless rate remained high last month in many big industrial states viewed as critical for the election. Unemployment was 9.4 percent in California, 9 percent in New Jersey and 8.8 percent in Michigan, all well above the national average.

Emphasizing the economy's problems, a second report Friday said that new orders to American factories plunged 1.9 percent in August, the second straight monthly decline and the biggest drop in eight months.

Demand for non-durable goods, such as clothing, suffered the biggest setback in 17 years.

"The economy is dreadfully weak and seems to be deteriorating rapidly," said Laurence H. Meyer, head of a St. Louis economic forecasting firm.

The various changes left 9.57 million Americans officially listed as unemployed last month.

A separate survey of business payrolls found a job loss of 57,000 last month following an even bigger drop of 128,000 in August.

Document shows Bush knew more of Iran deals

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top-secret Israeli document shows President Bush was told more than he has admitted at a July 1986 briefing about the arms-for-hostages scheme with Iran, two sources who have studied the document said Friday.

The document is the account of the late Amiram Nir, then an adviser to Israel's prime minister. It describes a briefing he provided to then-Vice President Bush in 1986, said the sources who spoke only on condition of anonymity.

The sources, who are familiar with the document, declined to reveal further details.

Bush's account of his involvement in the Iran-Contra affair has surfaced anew in recent weeks as former Reagan administration officials challenged Bush's long-standing assertion that he was "out of the loop."

The Israeli document would support the assertions last week by Richard Secord and Howard Teicher that Bush knew more of the affair than he has publicly admitted, the sources said. They would not further describe the document.

So far, the only public accounting of the briefing was provided by Bush and by Bush's then chief-of-staff Craig Fuller, who also attended the July 29, 1986 meeting at the King David Hotel in Jerusalem.

ABC's Nightline announced plans to reveal the contents of the 1987 document, but declined to provide details in advance of the program being aired late Friday. Nir's memo was written in March 1987, when the congressional Iran-

Contra committee was investigating the scandal.

"Nir's memo says there are many mistakes in Fuller's account," ABC said.

Fuller's memo of the 25-minute meeting, published in 1987, said Nir described how a deal was struck to supply Iran 4,000 "units" in return for all the American hostages held by Iranian-backed extremists in Lebanon.

The memo didn't say what "units," but subsequent information revealed they were TOW anti-tank missiles.

Nir, according to Fuller's memo, said Israel's role in the affair was "we gave a front for the operation, provided a physical base, provided aircraft."
