EIGHTH WEEK

1930 "Devil" Relates Finding Of Thanksgiving Proclamation

From The Devil's River News, read as follows: Thanksgiving 1930.

Few Americans know that the original Presidential Thanksgiving Proclamation was lost for over a hundred years; that it was found at an auction sale in 1921; that it was bought by the Library of Congress for $300; and that it now reposes in the archives of that institution-one of the most valuable documents in the world. The Division of Information and Publication for the George Washington Bicentennial Commission, in a statement issued, relates the story of the lost proclamation.

On September 25, 1789, Elias Boudinot introduced the following resolution in the House of Representatives:

"Resolved, That a joint committee of both Houses be directed to wait upon the President of the United States, to request that he would recommend to the people of the United States a day of public Thanksgiving and prayer, to be observed by acknowledging, with grateful hearts, the many signal favors of Almighty God, especially by affording them an opportunity to establish a form of government for their safety and happiness."

Harmless as the resolution seems, there were objection to it. In reading the Annals of Congress of that period, we find that Representative Aedanus Burke of South Carolina thought we should not mimic Europe "where they made a mere mockery of Thanksgiving."

Representative Thomas Tudor Tucker, also of South Carolina, argued that it was not the business of Congress to ask for a national day of Thanksgiving.

"They (the people) may not be inclined to return thanks for a Constitution until they have experienced that it promotes their safety and happiness."

The objections, however, were overruled; the resolution was passed and sent to the Senate for concurrence. The Senate approved and appointed the committee to wait on the President. The joint committee was made up of Ralph Izard of South Carolina and William S. Johnson of Connecticut, from the Senate; Elias Boudinot of New Jersey, Roger Sherman of Connecticut, and Peter Sylvester of New York, for the House.

Washington complied with the request on Oct. 3, 1789, issued his proclamation, calling for a National day of Thanksgiving on Thursday, November 26.

And then the document dropped out of sight. It apparently was misplaced or attached to some private papers in the process of moving official records from one city to another when the Capital was changed. However, it happened, the original manuscript was not in the official archives until 1921 when Dr. J. C. Fitzpatrick, the Assistant Chief of the Manuscripts Division of Library of Congress, and later editor of the forthcoming George Washington Bicentennial Commission series of Washington's Writings, "found" the proclamation. It was at an auction sale being held in the American Art Galleries of New York City. Dr. Fitzpatrick, an expert in Washingtonia, examined the document and found it to be authentic. It was written in long hand by Wm. Jackson, Secretary to President Washington at the time, and was signed by George Washington's bold hand. Dr. Fitzpatrick purchased the document for $300 for the Library of Congress, where it is now kept as a treasure. And no amount of money could remove it.

The original Proclamation of Thanksgiving, and indeed, the first Presidential Proclamation ever issued in the United States

Claire Jones Leaves Thursday For 4-H Congress

Claire Jones, winner of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raiser Award for 1958, will leave Sonora Thursday to attend the National 4-H Conference to be held in Chicago. Claire, the daughter of Mrs. Celve Jones, Jr., will be sponsored on her trip by the ranchmen's organization.

Claire will return December 6 and will attend the TSGRA convention in Dallas on December 10.

and constitutional laws, discreetly and faithfully executed and obeyed—to protect and guide all Sovereigns and Nations (especially such as have shown kindness to us) and to bless them with good Government, peace, and concord. To promote the knowledge and practice of true religion and virtue, and the increase of science among them and us—and generally to grant unto all mankind such a degree of temporal prosperity as he alone knows to be best.

"Given under my hand at the City of New York the third day of October in the year of our Lord 1789.

Signed George Washington."

Celebration of Thanksgiving Day in America can be traced back to the earliest days of the Massachusetts Bay Colony. From there the custom spread to all parts of the United States.

Langford To Assist In Conducting S. A. Stock Show

San Antonio Stock Show officials expect to have one of the largest sheep and goat shows in the nation during the February 13-22 exposition.

Departments at the 1959 stock show include sheep and goats, wool and mohair, boys fat lambs, open class fat wether lambs, Junior goat show, Junior Rambouillet and Delaine Show. Overall premiums in the above departments will exceed $10,000.

Entries in the wool and mohair show will be judged on length of staple, uniformity of fiber, shrinkage, weight of fleece, character and preparation.

Dr. R. M. Graham was elected chief of the medical staff for the new Val Verde Hospital in a meeting for the staff Tuesday.

Dr. Hi Eastland Newby was elected secretary and treasurer for the medical staff. All eleven of the doctors in Del Rio have applied for admission to the staff for the new 40 bed hospital which will be in operation by February 1959.

DEE TURKEY CivilServicy

The total of deer in the Sonora Food Locker swelled this week to 255 with at least 50 turkeys also on storage, according to M. C. Scott, locker plant owner.

Largest deer brought in so far is a 153-pound buck killed last week on the Edwin Sawyer Ranch.

Mrs. Mack Cauthorn also killed a prize buck during the week, hers being a 16-point buck.

James A. Gray of San Angelo, hunting on the E. S. Mayer and Son Ranch last week bagged a 17-point buck which dressed 104 pounds.

Odds And Ends

Clint Langford came in Monday morning making noises like an Aggie. He wouldn't make any predictions on tomorrow's Turkeyday game but warned us we'd better watch that Aggie winning streak. "After all," he said, "we've won one in a row now."

He did bring us The Ten Commandments of Hunting, though, and we reprint them here:

I. Thou shalt not employ others to kill thy game for thee, nor count game killed by others.
II. Thou shalt speak to the owner of land in a gentle grace, and kindly entreat him to let thee hunt on his premises, lest he boot thy north end from his domin.

III. Point not thy gun toward any living thing thou dost not wish to kill. Lo, there are fools and idiots wandering to and fro on the earth, but he who fails to observe this rule is verily the King Imbecile.

IV. Shoot not thy gun toward any cattle, swine, or livestock within one-fourth mile of thee. If thou shalt disobey this, the rancher will jab thy pants with his pitchfork till thou roarest for help, and thereafter must eat thy meals standing.

V. Unload thy gun before thou enterest an automobile. Then may thy days be long and thy funeral postponed.

VI. Take not thy gun by the muzzle to draw it toward thee. Verily, some foolish human may love thee, and why shouldst thou die?

VII. Look not into the muzzle of thy gun whether it be loaded or empty. An empty gun Continued To Back Page

Lions, C of C To Push Home For The Aged

Directors of the Sonora Lions Club and the Sonora Chamber of Commerce met with representatives of the churches here Tuesday night at the Methodist Church to discuss a proposal to attempt to locate a Methodist Home for Retired Persons in Sonora. Edwin Sawyer, president of the Chamber of Commerce, opened the meeting at which 23 were present.

Hillman D. Brown, Lion Club President, explained the Methodist Board's requirements for locating a home. These are 20 acres of land for a site and 25 percent of construction costs, or approximately $75,000.00.

It was voted that the Lions Club and the Chamber of Commerce would sponsor the project jointly with presidents of the two organizations appointing joint committees to work.

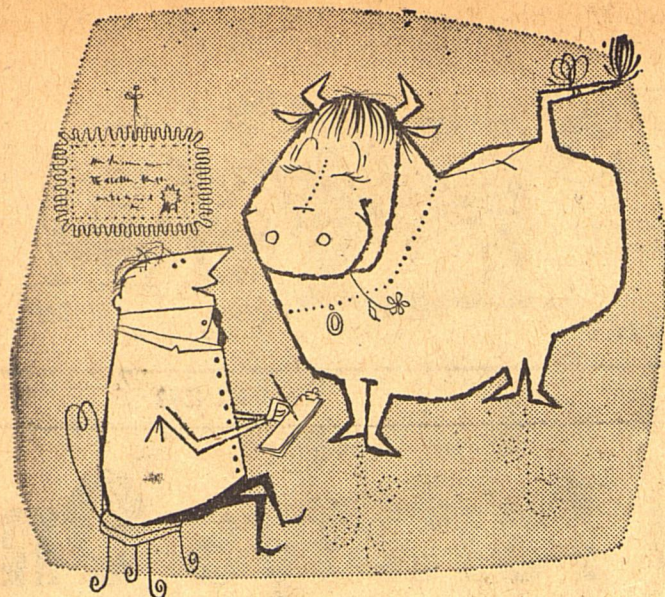

A discussion of means of financing the proposed home was held. It was generally agreed that there were only two feasible plans, one to raise necessary funds by public subscription, the other to vote county bonds. Although the method of raising funds has not been decided upon, A committee is now circulating a petition for county bond election so as to show "good faith" in Sonora proposition to the Methodist Church.

Sawyer and Brown appointed Joseph Vander Stucken, A. E. Prugel and F. L. McKinney to the site committee and Cecil Westerman, E. B. Keng and Edwin Sawyer to a committee to draft and circulate a petition for a county bond election, should this plan be decided upon.

Those attending were Sawyer, Brown, A. E. Prugel, Rev. Allan Guthrie, Jerry Shurley, Rev. Doyle W. Morton, E. B. Keng, Mr. T. R. Chappell, G. C. Allison, Stanton Bundy, Wesley C. Young, James Hunt, Cecil Westerman, Harold Scherz, Rev. W. L. Brown, John Bunnell, Joseph Vander Stucken, Marion Elliott, Dr. Charles F. Browne, H. V. Stockes and Gay Copeland.

BE CHEERFUL- "A Merry heart maketh a cheerful countenance; but by sorrow of the heart the spirit is broken." Proverbs 15:13.

Good cheer is catching. If you feel good, it passes along to the other fellow, and puts you and all your associates at ease. By nature our sympathies are elastic. We grieve, we rejoice, we share our surroundings and at the same time surroundings push themselves on us for the sharing.

Man is a moody creature, and being easily changed from a frown to a smile. A little laughter is a great force in human relationship. Try to cultivate a sunny cheerful disposition,—it is catching. The Devil may be at every turn of the way to battle for his cause and to discourage you in every way possible. "But he that is of a merry heart hath a continual feast". Prov. 15:b-15.

- WASHINGTON Quiz
- Q. Is Federal Regulation of business and Commerce a modern trend? When was the first major piece of federal regulation passed?
 - A. The first major regulation piece of federal regulation passed in the National Currency Act of 1863. Following closely was the National Currency Act of 1864, the Act of March 3, 1865 which ordered taxation of state Bank issues. The Interstate Commerce Act of 1887 was the next regulatory Act, then the Sherman Antitrust Act of 1890, the Clayton Act of 1914, and the Federal Trade Commission Act, also of 1914 were the principal milestones in Federal regulation.
 - Q. Just what is the function of the General Accounting Office and is it an important federal agency?
 - A. The GAO is one of the most important federal agencies and is the auditing agency for all federal agencies. It is headed by the Comptroller General, whose duty is to adjust and settle claims or demands against the Federal Government, and to settle money accounts in which the Government is concerned. GAO audits the books of all federal officers spending and collecting money.
 - Q. What is the function of the Tax Court of the United States?
 - A. The Tax court is mostly what its name implies, having jurisdiction over deficiencies or over-payment of income, profits and certain other taxes, and refunds of processing and excess profits taxes. It also is the appeal court for settlement of renegotiated contracts as between purchasing agencies and business firms on war or defense contracts with the government. In most instances it is a final court, but in some instances its decisions are reviewable by a U. S. Court of Appeals. The Tax Court comprises 18 judges.

PHILSO

Editor's Note: The Devil's River Philosopher on his bitter-weed ranch on Devil's River has his mind on economics this week. Anything to keep it off of farming.

Dear editor:

According to a newspaper I was reading last night, there's going to be a great contest in the next session of Congress over who's going to keep who from spending too much.

The Republicans say the Democrats elected a lot of spenders, and the Democrats say if it hadn't been for them the Republicans would have spent five billion dollars more than they did in the last session.

What puzzles me about this is that in the same newspaper I read a statement by the former president of the National Council of Economic Advisers that "the American consumer could be called the hero of the recent recession. The consumer's sustained and confident spending sparked the upturn."

As I understand this, the public kept on spending money and whipped the recession, if they'd held on to their money we might have had a real depression, and what I want to know is why can't the government be as broadgauged about this as you and me, although it must have been you, not me, who's the hero, as I didn't do much spending, on account of the non-progressive recession-producing credit policies of some stores. In other words, they cut me off.

However, from long experience, I'd like to hasten to say that this question is mostly theoretical, actually the government does believe in spending, but not in admitting it. and while I have never seen an administration that campaigned on more spending, on the other hand I've never seen one that stayed in office on that basis. Leastwise, each administration has spent more than the previous one for the past 30 years, and you can't look at the budget and tell which party drew it up.

The way it looks to me, while the country can't spend itself into prosperity, on the other hand it can't economize itself there either, which still leaves the question of how we ever got any prosperity in the first place. In short, I don't know any more about economics than the experts.

All I know is that while maybe a dollar saved is a dollar earned, still on the other hand a dollar earned these days sure ain't no dollar saved.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

"A whole week — for my very own!" This is Beef Week in Texas, the climax of 1936 Texas Beef Council activities, and the fifth annual tribute to the cattle industry, producers of our most complete protein food.

"I was a 98-pound weakling, until I got on a vitamin-enriched diet!" Texas cattlemen, members of the Texas Beef Council, utilize every modern scientific method which will add pounds to their well-rounded herds, in a continuing effort to produce more tender and better beef.

"It's orders. Since my operation, I don't walk at all any more." Texas cattlemen, sponsors of the Texas Beef Council, pamper their steers with sufficient food and water right in their own pastures to make walking unnecessary — so they can produce more tender, better beef.

"Let 'em dig stock tanks... I'm saving my own!" Mrs. Bovine's owner also remembers the drought years. Texas cattlemen, members of the Texas Beef Council, have built thousands of stock tanks on the ranges to catch rainfall which will help them produce more and better beef.

Edwards Plateau Soil Conservation District News

By E. B. Keng
 Soil Conservation Service

News Want Ads Bring Results!

Ranchmen in the Edwards Plateau SCD have many things for which to be thankful in regard to their rangeland.

Six years of the most severe drought on record were terminated in 1957 and 1958 with the heaviest rainfall ever recorded in two consecutive years in this area. Not only was rain abundant, but most of the moisture fell slowly enough to soak into the drought - parched soil. Only limited areas of the district received torrential rains, and these were not of major flood proportions.

Torrential rains in early 1957, falling on vast areas of naked rangeland, would have produced severe gully erosion, requiring years to heal. Slow, soaking rains fell early, however, and a quick cover of weeds quickly formed to protect the land from the heavy rains of May 1957.

Abundant rainfall continued in 1958 to give grasses an opportunity to cover the land, crowd out many undesirable weeds, and produce the heaviest seed crop of many years. Scars of a severe drought usually last from many years, but with two abundant rainfall years plus moderate stocking, much rangeland has regained its pre-drought level of productivity.

Ranchmen can be thankful, too, that grass vegetation could withstand the severe drought and recover much quicker than could brushy vegetation. Increasing brush—a serious problem before the drought—was set back for several years.

Ranchmen can also be thankful for a heavy increase in turkey, deer and quail. The majestic wild turkey, thinned almost to extinction during the drought, has increased remarkably during 1958. Deer and quail populations have also increased greatly.

Q—Are veterans in prison entitled to pensions?
A—Public Law 85-24 which becomes effective June 1, 1957, denies a veteran his pension for that part of sentence to prison for a felony or misdemeanor which exceeds 60 days. Imprisonment periods of less than 60 days will not stop pensions. The VA however, may pay pension to the eligible wife or children of a veteran who forfeits his own pension during imprisonment. Resumption of the pension may be made after the veteran's release from incarceration.

Q—I applied for an increase of my disability compensation rating, but forgot to report for a physical examination. What do I do now?
A—Your claim for increase has been abandoned. You will have to file another application.

Q—What progress is being made in converting sea water into fresh water?
A—Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton recently told Congress that cost was the main deterrent. However as research has improved method, this cost is coming down. When the project was started in 1952 the cost in de-salting sea water was about $2 per 1,000 gallons. It is down now to about 50¢ per 1,000 gallons, and brackish water is being converted at a cost of about 42 cents. Seaton said if the cost can be lowered to about 35 cents it will be successful for many purposes. In the Washington area, private water users pay about 23 cents per 1,000 gallons, for fresh water, but in many parts of the country cost is considerably higher.

Q—How many radio and television sets are in the USA as compared to the rest of the world?
A—In 1956 the total sets in this country were 185,200,000 as compared to 147,600,000 in the rest of the world.

THIS IS THE ONE FOR WAGONS! 1959 CHEVY

Chevrolet's five stunning new station wagons for '59 are shaped to the new American taste with fresh, fine Slimline design. And they're beautifully practical—with roomier, quieter Bodies by Fisher, an even smoother ride, new ease of handling!

Wagons were never more beautiful or dutiful. From low-set headlights to wing-shaped tailgate, these '59 Chevies are as sweet looking as anything on wheels. They're just about the handiest things on wheels, too—from their overhead-curved windshield to their longer, wider load platform. Besides additional cargo space, you also get added seating room (4 inches more in front, over 3 inches in back). And you'll find such other practical advantages as new easy-ratio steering, Safety Plate Glass all around, bigger, safer brakes, smoother-than-ever Full Coil suspension and a roll-down rear window (electrically operated as standard equipment on the 9-passenger Kingswood). Your dealer's waiting now with all the details on why this year—more than ever—Chevy's the one for wagons.

DPS Plans Special Holiday Details

Special holiday traffic assignments will be in effect during the Thanksgiving holiday weekend in an effort to hold down motor vehicle traffic accidents and to facilitate the movement of traffic on our rural highways during the Thanksgiving holiday period, according to the regional commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

All personnel of the License and Weight, and Motor Vehicle Inspection Service will be assigned traffic duties to augment the manpower of the Highway Patrol during Thanksgiving weekend.

All holiday leaves and days off duty have been canceled and all personnel will work during the peak hours of traffic. Radar will be pressed into use extensively in an attempt to control speed.

Patrolmen of all the enforcement services of the Department will be especially watchful for speed violations and suspects of DWI, the two factors that contribute to most accidents.

SERVING THE CAPITAL OF THE STOCKMEN'S PARADISE

28 YEARS AGO

Sonora Baptists are contemplating the erection of a new Church building, it was revealed Sunday morning by Pastor J. O. McMillon. Rev. McMillon pointed to the need of a new structure, and said that he thought that sufficient funds could be raised to start the project. He also said that it was his opinion that a new building could be erected at a much cheaper figure now that a year ago and perhaps for less money than a year from now. This, he said, would be due to cheaper material and cheaper labor.

Rev. McMillon said that one member of the Baptist Church has promised to donate $1,000, and $500 would be given by a member of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Matilda Barnett of Big Lake spent last weekend here with her sister, Mrs. Ray Baker and Mary Fay.

Adventures in ADVERTISING

Vash Young and the 52 PHONE CALLS

In his book, "The Go Giver", Vash Young tells of making a telephone call to one prospect for 52 consecutive weeks before he got results.

Vash Young is one of the all time great insurance salesmen. He used tact, diplomacy, intelligent presentation and persistence. In this particular instance he telephoned a prospect for an appointment. The prospect put him off until the next week. And then he put him off another week and another and another until the telephone calls got to be sort of a game.

Vash Young kept right on calling every week without ever getting an appointment. On the 52nd call he was startled when the prospect told him of another man who wanted to buy a substantial amount of insurance. Vash Young followed the lead and took an order for the largest policy he had ever sold.

If Vash Young had given up after the second or third call he would never have sold the big order. And so it is with newspaper advertising. It takes more than one or two "calls" to the potential customers to get the best results. It is the consistent, persistent advertiser who eventually gets the "big order."

Former Bronco Coach Hospitalized Following Minnesota Auto Accident

Hit Jackpot- Of Rattlesnakes

John Bell and Ted Bailey Joy, Highway Department employees, had an unpleasant experience this week. While pruning trees on the Menard highway, the pair disturbed a den of rattlesnakes. Bell and Joy managed to kill two of the snakes but at least three others got away.

The two snakes were brought into town where they were measured. The largest was five feet long and three-inches across. Its rattles had been broken off but Boyd Lovelace estimated that a reptile of its size might have as many as 25 rattles.

A. L. Smith, a former Bronco football coach, who was featured in a story in The Devil's River News earlier this year, suffered severe injuries in an automobile accident near Paynesville, Minnesota, on October 19. Smith has been a patient in the Paynesville Community Hospital since that time.

In a letter to Sheriff Wess Hill, Smith told of his accident as follows:
"I guess I will have to renege on our turkey hunt during the holidays. My hunting partner and I were returning from a pheasant hunt when a car forced my partner into the ditch. In the ensuing melee I came out with a broken neck. I am paralyzed from the shoulders down, although I can move my shoulders and arms a little. I have been told it will be at least a year before I will walk again. But, if you'll remember how stubborn I was when I was coaching you boys, you'll know that I'm that stubborn about walking again.

"Tell any of the kids you see they might write to me if they feel like it."

LIONS ROAR

At their regular weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday at the Methodist Church, members of the Sonora Lions Club heard the Rev. Doyle W. Morton explain the retirement home proposition.

Mr. Morton described the proposed home as having a capacity of 60 persons to be located on 20 acres within or adjacent to the city limits. The city desiring to locate a home is requested to furnish one-fourth of the cost of the home, or about $75,000, and the site.

No conclusion has been reached as to how to raise the necessary funds, Mr. Morton reported, and the deadline for presenting a proposal to the district Methodist board of homes is December shooteth out an inquiring eye, and the undertaker groweth rich thereby.

VIII. Thou shalt not carry thy gun cocked. Thou art a mighty hunter but the hides of thy friends will turn shot.

IX. Climb not fences with thy gun in thy hands. Put thy gun through first with the muzzle pointing away from thee and all living things. Better to miss a chance at one crow than to return to thy house with guilt in thy heart and thy friend's hind leg in a basket.

X. All these rules thou shalt obey and live past threescore and ten. If thou failest, thou shalt sleep in thy coffin or in thy prison cell while thy mourners go about the street.
