Federal Aviators Inform Loyalists Of Rebel Retreat

Movement Of Troops Toward Torreon Cntinues Unabated; Escobar Said To Be Leaving Area

Victories Conflict

Both Federal And Revolting Commanders Claim Successes In Campaigns; Reports Are Confusing

(By Associated Press)

CAPTURE of revolutionary headquarters at Torreon is imminent and the rebels are reported evacuating the city in the latest government communique from Mexico City.

Federal aviators informed their headquarters that rebel commander Eccobar was moving his troops to the Torreon railroad station and preparing to abandon the stronghold.

The government bulletin added that federal cavalry under General Almazan had reached San Pedro, 30 or 40 minutes by automobile from Torreon.

Reports Confusing.

There still are coflicting claims by federals and rebels which make a little confusing the latest reports of the military campaign.

Rebel leaders at Juarez, in northern Sonora, say their troops have captured Aguas Callentes, far south of General Calles' former headquarters at Canitas, and deny that federals have taken Durango City.

They still insisted yesterday that the federals were really far away

Six Prisoners Go Under Lash

WILMINGTON, Del. Mar. 16 (AP)—Six prisoners went under the lash today in the New Castle county workhouse. Four received forty lashes, and the others twenty lashes each.

Elmer J. Leach, "laid it on well," as the law directs, before a small crowd in the workhouse yard.

Roy Holland, negro, who shot a man in a robbery last week, was the first to be shackled to the whipping post. He was followed by James Priyor, an accomplice in the robbery and shooting, and Grant Brown, both negroes. Daniel Jones, the only white man among the six, was nex. whipped. George D. Butler and John Edwards were next with 20 lashes each.

Moody's Action On Wirtz Political Bill Awaited; Has Perplexing Problem

Monster Turtle Hauled Ashore

PORT ARTHUR, Mar. 16. (AP)—The largest known sea turtle ever caught in the Gulf of Mexico was landed on the beach near here today by A. Wiltze with the aid of four horses. The monster weighs 1,350 pounds, is five and one-half feet wide across the shell and is estimated to be over 200 years old.

The turtle has a large gash in its protective shell, perhaps inflicted by a ship's propeller, and put up a terrific fight before it was brought to shore.

The horses were hitched to the two ends of a seine.

Third Party's Rise Hinges On Move Made By Dan

BY R. W. BARRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Mar. 16.—While a great preponderance of the men and women who go to the polls every two years to choose their public servants are busy plowing, planting, merchandising, banking, teaching, and keeping house with little thought of the political future, Governor Moody is concerned in their party welfare as he ponders the Wirtz bill these days.

Whether to chastise the democrats who kicked out of the traces and voted for Herbert Hoover, instead of voting the ticket straight irrespective of the prohibition issue and others, or letting the political sinners go unpunished, is the vexing problem put up to the governor by the last legislature.

Won't Help Matters

Political students have decided that whatever decision the governor makes will have little soothing effect on the disturbed political situation in Texas.

It is true that while the general run of the voters are little concerned one way or the other about the matter, Pat Dougherty confidential secretary to Governor Moody has to dig himself each day from under a mountainous pile of correspondence all bearing on the Wirtz bill. One section of the correspondents want to tell the chief executive that if he signs the bill he will visit ruination upon the party and the other group would have him understand that unless he permits the anti-bolter measure to become law all revolutions might as well be dispensed with and the organization run on a catch-as-catch-can plan.

May Not Be Ended

Even though Governor Moody should sign the bill, the fuss may not come to an end, because the measure merely empowers the state executive committee to bar as candidates and voters those who voted for Hoover, if it sees fit. Under the present law, the committee has no power to fix qualifications of voters and candidates. Should the Wirtz bill go on the statute books they would be authorized to do so

No one knows what Governor Moody will do about the bill. Former United States Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey and some of the other sticklers for party regularity while hoping he will sign it, do not believe he will do so.

Senator Bailey, here the other day said the Hoover bolters ought to be banished.

If he should sign it and the party executive committee carry out its provisions, there is little doubt but that Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas, supreme mover in last fall's bolt, would step out at the head of an Independent ticket.

Eaker's Flight Is Ended at Managua; Weather Is Delay

Army Flier Forced To Stop Dawn-To-Dusk Attempt To Panama; Will Try Return Hop Monday

(By Associated Press)

MANAGUA, Nic., Mar. 16.—Captain Ira C. Eaker arrived here at 5:21 p. m., from Guatemala City. He abandoned his attempt to make a dawn-to-dusk flight to Panama from Brownsville, Texas, and will leave for the Canal Zone at 6 a. m. tomorrow.

Captain Eaker blamed only weather conditions for his failure to hold to the schedule that he had plotted. He was in fine condition and the motor of his plane was working splendidly. However, he had encountered poor visibility in Southern Mexico and a strong head wind all the day, which reduced his flying speed to 120 miles an hour.

Captain Eaker now plans his return flight from Panama to Brownsville for Monday end will get away at daybreak in another attempt to accomplish it in the daylight hours of one day.

Eaker's Father Watches Flight In San Angelo

SAN ANGELO, Mar. 16.—(AP)—Y. Y. Eaker, aged father of Captain Ira C. Eaker, read avidly every detail of his son's attempted dawn-to-dusk flight from Brownsville to Panama today as Associated Press bulletins were received here announcing his progress.

Torrents Raging Seaward Prevent Work Of Rescue

Death Toll Estimated To Run Into Scores; Thirteen Bodies Recovered As Relief Work Goes On

Supplies Needed

Food, Clothing, Medical Supplies Being Rushed To Stricken Areas; 20,000 Made Homeless

(By Associated Press)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Mar. 16.—Unprecedented torrents which raged seaward between Alabama's two watersheds tonight handicapped relief agencies which concentrated their efforts on aiding approximately 20,000 persons affected by flood waters. Clear weather, however, has aided rescue workers, who had helped thousands to safe ground during the past 24 hours.

While only 13 bodies had been recovered estimates here were that fatalities would run into the scores Property loss in the form of buildings, livestock, household goods farm implements and other materials was so great that no effort was made to give an accurate estimate.

Many Towns In Need

The greatest immediate emergencies tonight appeared to exist in the neighborhood of Geneva and Elba, in the Choctawhatchee-Chattanoochee watershed, but many other towns in that valley, as well as Brewton, Garland, and several other communities, in the Alabama-Tombigbee basin likewise were flooded and in great need of food and medical supplies.

Elba, with water from Pea river Choctawhatchee tributary, 25 feet deep in its main sections, was the scene of a great exodus last night and today. The Alabama national guard established a relief camp on Cemetery Hill, between Elba and Big Creek, and brought out 1,500 persons within 24 hours. There still were several hundred who had had little or no food since Wednesday. Among them were about 100 school children, marooned in a school house.

Evacuation began in Geneva last

Rising Waters Take Heavy Toll In Southland

Central Press telephoto of flood waters in the south. The onrush of the floods is taking a heavy toll both in life and property in Alabama and was sweeping onto Florida last night. Due to the unprecedented torrents, rescue workers are hampered in their work and the death toll will not be known for several days. Residents are forced to stand in the open and many are suffering from cold and illness.

Negro Confesses To Killing White Couple At Moody

Jordon Scott Says He Shot Robert Pedigo Because He Refused Him Water; Killed Wife In Fear

(By Associated Press)

WACO, Mar. 16—Mystery concerning the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Pedigo, farmers residing near Moody, found shot to death in their home on the morning of March 8 was cleared today when Jordan Scott, negro 27, confessed to the killings.

The confession came after hours of questioning by District Attorney

MOB VIOLENCE FEARED

WACO, March 16. (AP)—Jordan Scott, negro, against whom two charges of murder were filed today in the murder of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Pedigo, was removed to another county tonight. Sheriff Leslie Stegall said he decided on this step after hearing threats of mob violence.

Dick Holt and Sheriff Leslie Stegall. Murder charges have been filed and the district attorney said he would ask for a grand jury next week.

Refused To Give Him Water

Scott told officers he killed Pedigo because the farmer had refused him a drink of water two days prior to the shooting and ordered him to keep away from his farm. He said he killed the woman because she had recognized him when he shot her husband.

"I was plowing in my field, which is separated from Pedigo's by the railroad track," the negro said, "and went into Pedigo's field to get a drink of water. It was two days before the murder. The man wouldn't let me have any water and

Thirty-Six Hour Schedule Planned

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 16. (AP) The Sun-Telegraph, in a copyrighted story tomorrow, will say it has learned authoritatively that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh now is working out plans for a coast-to-coast air-rail passenger service with a traveling time of 36 hours between New York and Los Angeles.

Under the plan, which the paper will say is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Railroad and Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc., for which Lindbergh is technical advisor, only one night—from New York to Columbus—would be spent on a train in the coast-to-coast journey.

Only one stop is planned for the planes between Columbus and Los Angeles, and that for refueling, probably at Dodge City, Kan., or Las Vegas, N. M.

WARDEN TO BE OUSTED

John Snook Asked To Resign Atlanta Position

WASHINGTON, March 16. (AP)—Warden John Snook of the Atlanta penitentiary has been given 30 days in which to resign, it was disclosed today at the department of justice. The 30 days expires on April 4.

Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, an assistant to the attorney general, declared Snook's resignation had been asked "Because of utter want of administrative ability."

No charges involving the integrity of Snook have been made.

Snook has refused to cooperate with the department of justice in the use of "under cover," agents in the penitentiary.

Income Tax Receipts For '29 Showing Big Increase Over Period In 1928

Cash Is Pouring Into Coffers Of Government To Give Large Total For Tax Payments; Total Said To Be About Five Million Ahead; Texas Has Increase

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16.—Cash was pouring into the treasury today so rapidly that officials could not even guess as to the total which the March 15 income tax payment, the first in 1929, will reach.

Collecton offices were not attempting to make a tabulation of the current totals, but in response to Washington instructions were rushing their receipts into banks, since the treasury technically is very nearly up to its bank balances with expenditures and needs the money.

By latest available figures, which showed the condition of receipts at the close of business March 13, income tax payments for the month were running about $5,400,000 ahead of receipts to the same date last year. If this rate of increase is maintained the government may receive $50,000,000 more this year than it received last year.

AUSTIN, Mar. 16. (AP)—An increase of $287,231.20 in income tax revenues over the same period of 1928 from the southern district of Texas was reported today by James W. Bass, internal revenue collector for the district.

Total collections reported up to Saturday was $1,545,465.69, Bass said.

Mississippi River Is Three Feet Above Flood Stage At Memphis; Situation Is More Hopeful, However

(By Associated Press)

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 16. — Reports made here by relief workers in the northwest Florida flood zone tonight, said Milligan, Fla., was being swept away by the highest stage ever recorded on the Yellow river.

Inhabitants of the town, warned of the coming floods, had moved out in advance and were safe in a school house out of the inundated area, Salvation Army workers reported.

Highest Stage Remembered.

The workers said residents of the town believed the entire town would be swept away, which although at the highest stage any of them remembers, still was rising tonight.

Only four dwellings were left on the townsite and added that these had been swept from their foundations.

Crest Of 52 Feet Is Predicted For River

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 16. (AP) The Lower Mississippi valley high water situation assumed a more hopeful appearance today with the forecast of a crest stage at Cairo, Ill., by Thursday and the prediction of generally fair weather next week in the Ohio valley and Tennessee.

A contract has been let for the paving of four and one-half blocks in the main business section of Santa Anna. At the time the paving is done the water main will be replaced with an eight inch pipe which will cause the fire insurance rate to be reduced.

The City of Big Spring is preparing to extend the $50,000 storm sewer from East Third Street to the T. & P. drainage ditch. This extension will be made at a cost of $20,000 and will care for the flood waters coming from the south part of the city.

GALVESTON, Mar. 16. (AP)—Bids for employment of a municipal band will be asked by the city commission here.

A special tax levy of 1 cent on the $100 valuation was voted last year for a six-year period to provide public music during the summer months.

The Pecos Mercantile company is to install more than $15,000 worth of new equipment with a mezzanine floor, a new men's shoe department. This store when built twenty years ago was considered one of the most modern in West Texas.

Three Tinymites, far under ground were hoping Clowny could be found. They'd dropped down through a deep-sunk shaft, and now were in the dark. Said Coppy, "Well, I hope that we can shortly set poor Clowny free. No doubt, if he is safe, he thinks this all is quite a lark.

"But we are all scared, there's no doubt. I'll be real glad when we get out. The air is getting stuffy and it's feeling rather hot. This is a coal mine, I'll just bet. I've never seen so much coal yet. Let's start to move around a bit. To stand still's tommy rot."

"You're right," said Carpy, with a sigh. "If Clowny's really right near by, it's up to us to find him, so we can't just idly stand. You see, he may be in a trap, or else just taking quite a nap. We never will find out until this whole big cave is scanned."

So, off they started, by some walls, imaging they heard queer calls. We'll leave them for a moment, and return to Clowny's side. He knew that he was blocked in tight within the cave, but quite all right. He couldn't find an exit place, no matter how he tried.

'Course, looking 'round made him tired out, and now there wasn't any doubt that just a little nap he'd sneaked had done him heaps of good. Thought he, "I wish I had a pick, I know 'twould come in very slick. I'd hack my way out of this cave. I'm pretty sure I could."

Just then a coal car came in sight, right underneath a lantern light. It stood on tiny little tracks. Said Clowny, "This is grand. There's nothing gained, if nothing's tried. I'll hop aboard and take a ride." And then he gave the cart a shove not knowing where he'd land.

(Clowny is still lost in the next story).

Had A Conscience
Youth Admits Theft Of Chickens

PORT ARTHUR, Mar. 16. (AP)—Because his conscience would not permit him to see an innocent man suffer for a crime he had not committed, a young man walked into the police station here and confessed to the theft of a number of chickens, and took the same cell occupied by the innocent man.

"Two years might do me good, anyhow," the man said when asked if he knew the legislature had passed a law recently making chicken theft a felony.

The youth told police he had stolen the car of the innocent man with which to commit the wrong. Feathers in the automobile had been the clue on which the owner had been arrested.

A gang of thieves in Berlin arm themselves with a pepper compound which they squirt in the eyes of any one who tries to capture them.

SPEAKER ANNOUNCED

Dr. Charles Pendleton, Of Peabody, To Sul Ross

ALPINE, Mar. 16.—Dr. Charles S. Pendleton, professor of English and head of that department in George Peabody college for teachers, will be here in the spring term to give a series of lectures to the students and faculty of the Sul Ross State Teachers' college on a variety of subjects of his own selection. Mr. Pendleton will then be engaged in making a tour of the state in which he will appear in like programs at all of the teachers' colleges in Texas, having been engaged for the work by the presidents of the institutions interested.

Debaters To Meet Amarillo Talkers

On March 27-28 the high school debaters will journey to Amarillo with but one purpose in mind—to beat Amarillo and avenge last year's defeat. This debate will be the first of a triangular debate between Lubbock, Amarillo and Plainview.

The girls' team will be composed of Martin Brown and Mary Beth Sheely, alternates Phyllis Pool and Nina Opal Davies. On the boys' team there are four who stand an equal chance to make the team: Joe Bailey Powers, I. J. Thornton, Richard Rockey and Lynn Grey Gordon.

Tennis Workouts Are Progressing

The Tennis Club is progressing rapidly according to the reports of the sponsor, Sam Leifieste. Every afternoon from 3:30 till dark the raqueteers can be seen laboring diligently.

Those who deserve honorable mention are Vivian Doss, Mary Beth Sheely, Eva Tyer, Gilford Scott, Polk Robinson, Charles O'Neall, Floyd Gunn, John Wulfman, T. L. Patterson, Rush Crewes and others.

Try-outs among the girls and boys have been in progress for the last two weeks. All are in good condition for the county meet which will be held soon.

Scribblers Room Gets New Picture

The home room of "Ye Scribblers" received a new picture Thursday morning. Seals saved from Masterpiece school supplies enabled them to get the "Great Divide." It is a very artistic picture and will probably go down to the school in memory of "Ye Scribbler's" club, which is a senior English organization.

Seniors Discuss Business Matters

The Seniors held a class meeting Wednesday afternoon in boys' study hall. President George Pierce called the house to order and R. W. Matthews made an announcement regarding the Senior rings. The last order for them will be sent Saturday, March 16.

Samples of Senior caps and high school pennants were shown and orders will be taken for these any time.

The invitations for graduation time are to be ordered through Watkin's Jewelry store at any time.

The number of Senior Year books sold is over two hundred. The order was sent off a few days ago.

Students Finish Some Of Courses

The following students probably will have finished courses by Friday, March 15. Arithmetic students under Mrs. Bennett finishing are: Houston Hinson, Genevieve Roberts Robert Strickland, Louise Lawson Viola Mae Bollinger, Vera Davis, and Virginia Smallwood. Arithmetic students under Mr. Rees finishing are: Edgar Reavell, Dollie Mae Linn Geneva Daniels, and Tessie Collins

Algebra students that are to finish are: Allie Vista McCoy, Eleanor Tinsley and Ethyl Trammel.

CLASS IS ENTERTAINED

Little Miss Dorothy Sue Standefer entertained Miss Lomax's home room 304, last Tuesday morning with songs and readings. Among the songs she sang were: "Sonny Boy," "On Ye Westerners" and "When I Go to Town." She also gave a reading entitled "Two Dolls."

Mrs. W. M. Garton and daughter, Miss May Garton, and Miss Edna Tumlinson were Amherst visitors in this city Saturday.

Sweater Is Given To 'Skeeter' Doss

Vivian "Skeeter" Doss was given a yellow and black coat-sweater last Monday. Skeeter is the only Senior of the pep leaders. The sweater was given her as a token of appreciation for her wonderful management of the squad this year.

The high school colors, yellow and black were carried out. The sweater is yellow with a black collar and cuffs and a black border around the bottom. On the left side is a black megaphone with L. H. S. in yellow letters and on the sleeve are the letters PEP in black.

The three pep leaders left in high school are Martha Alice Penney, Rob O'Hair and Homer Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Clark of Lorenzo were Saturday shoppers in this city.

Oklahoma Aggies Tie A.C.C. For Honors In Fat Stock Show Meet

IN THE REALM OF SPORT

WITH ALLAN CARNEY
Avalanche Sports Editor

WESTERNER SENSATION

Cy Leland, former Lubbock High school track star, has developed into one of the outstanding sprint aces of the Southwestern conference. In his second year at Texas Christian University, Leland broke into the limelight on the gridiron at the halfback position and is the main cog in Matty Bell's 1929 track team for the Purple institution The Frog mentor is counting strong on his thinly clads this season and especially is he looking to Leland to win points in conference competition.

The former Westerner flash started the record breaking performance of the Southwestern Exposition track and field meet at Fort Worth yesterday in equalling the 100-yard dash record of ten seconds set by Burgess of A. and M. in 1927 Four other records were tied in the college division of the meet Leland was also a member of the record breaking party in the 220 yard dash. He and Hodges of Abilene shattered the old mark set by Burgess at 23 seconds. Leo Best of the Oklahoma Aggies carried off high point honors in the meet, but Leland was tied for second place with eight points.

With two more years of varsity competition left before him, the Lubbock athlete should develop into one of the most outstanding in the conference before he is given his sheepskin. He was a star on the Frog eleven in his first year on the squad. Further development should make of him one of the most dangerous ball toters on the Southwest.

WILDCATS MAY BE TOUGH

The showing of the Abilene Christian College track team in the Cowtown event Saturday stamps the Cats as a powerful aggregation, in tying with the Oklahoma Aggies for the championship, the Abilene tracksters displayed a superiority over some of the strongest teams in the southwest. The Christians jumped into the lead at the outset and were not overtaken until the final relay when Leo Best of Oklahoma ran a perfect race to nose out ahead of the A. C. C. anchor man.

Tech will meet the A. C. C. aggregation first on April 20 when Coach Payne invades Abilene for a quadrangular meet with the three institutions there. Then on May 4 the Wildcats come to Lubbock for a dual meet with the locals. This event will wind up the track season for the Matador thinly clads. Roy Stevens will be the most dangerous threat on the Wildcat team. He took first place in the broad jump at 23 feet, one-half inch and placed second in the 200 low hurdles behind the best of the Oklahoma Aggies. Hodges, A. C. C. sprint star, is another flash the locals will find hard to beat. He was tied alongside Cy Leland for second honors in the college division.

THE CRACK OF THE WILLOW

Equipment will be issued Tuesday to the candidates for the 1929 Tech baseball team. Contrary to previous announcement that E. Y. Freeland, athletic director, would direct the Matador diamond aspirants this season, Coach Grady Higginbotham, newly elected football mentor, is to be the baseball coach. Coach Higginbotham will have practically an entire team of veterans from which to build a team this season. Every position except shortstop will be filled by letter men from last year's team. The place of Dude Lassiter will be filled by one of the recruits who are expected out Tuesday.

The Matadors have a comparative short time in which to round into shape for the baseball schedule arranged by the athletic heads. The pace which will be necessary is likely developed stiff joints and sore arms. Several teams that the locals will meet have been in training for several weeks and will have a decided advantage in condition.

Thoroughbreds In Coffroth Handicap

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Mar. 16. (AP)—Twenty-five of the best thoroughbreds in winter training make up the entries for the tenth renewal of the Coffroth Handicap, richest stake for all age horses in the world, to be run tomorrow at the Tijuana jockey club track in Tijuana, lower California. Of the 25 entered for the big purse, it is expected that five or seven may be scratched, leaving 18 or 20 to face starter Marrs Cassidy, jr., at the barrier.

This year's Coffroth Handicap, as in past years, is to be over a distance of one and one-quarter miles and will be the twelfth race on the day's program.

WARNE SETS RECORD

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Mar. 16. (AP)—Climaxing six record breaking performances, Tommy Warne soared to a new world's indoor pole vault record in the University of Illinois relay carnival tonight.

Warne, competing for Northwestern University, pulled himself over the bar at a height of 13 feet, 7 3-4 inches, eclipsing the performance of Henry Canby of Iowa, who cleared 13 feet, 7 1-2 inches in the western conference indoor championship at Iowa City a week ago.

Records Fall As College And High School Tracksters Compete In 7th Annual Exposition In Fort Worth

San Angelo Grabs Laurels In High School Division; Cy Leland Equals 100 Yard Dash Mark

FORT WORTH, Mar. 16.—(AP)—Eight records fell and three were tied as Oklahoma A. and M. and Abilene Christian college tied for the college division championship with 37 points each, and San Angelo grabbed the high school laurels in the seventh annual Southwestern Exposition track and field meet here today.

The high school and college teams shattered four records each. Two of the tied records were made by college men and the third in the high school class.

Abilene Christian's team jumped into the lead at the start and held first place until the final event, mile relay.

Leo Best, individual high point scorer of the meet, brought the tie to the aggies. The A. C. C. relay team led through the first three laps but Best ran a perfect race to nose ahead in the home stretch. His efforts brought a new meet record for the mile relay, breaking the Sooner's mark set the past year. The new time was 3 minutes, 27 seconds as compared with their old mark of 3 minutes, 29.8 seconds set in 1928.

Texas University, 1928 champions, ran third in the meet, scoring 17 1-2 points. Baylor University followed with 12 1-2 points.

Bob Cats Star

San Angelo grabbed three firsts and one second for 18 points and its victory, nosing out San Jacinto high of Houston, which scored 15 markers. Woodrow Wilson of Dallas was third with 12, Brownwood, runners up in 1928, fourth, with 11. Kaufman, 1928 Champions, and Mineral Wells tied for next position with 10 each.

C. Y. Leland, T. C. U. flash, started the record breaking performances by equalling the 100 yard dash mark of 10 seconds. Burgess of Texas A. and M. set the present mark in 1927. Leland was also a member of the record breaking party in the 220 yard dash. He and Hodges of Abilene Christian college shattered the old mark of 23 seconds also set by Burgess in 1927.

Hodges captured first place in 22.9 seconds with Leland only a split second behind. In fact the finish was so close that there was much doubt as to the winner.

Equals 440 Mark

Edward Dunkin, Daniel Baker, equalled the record of 52.1 seconds in the 440 yard run. Greer of Rice Institute was another of the record breaking performers of the day, running the 880 yard spin in the new times of 2 minutes and one-fifth second as compared with the old mark of 2 minutes, two and four tenths seconds set in 1928 by Jones of Texas University.

Park of Baylor University hurled himself over the bar at 11 feet and 6 inches for a new height in the pole vault. Courter of Texas University held the old mark of 11 feet, 2 1-4 inches made in 1928.

Record breaking performances in the high school division did not begin until the late afternoon. After Bunch of Greenville had broken the high jump record in clearing the standards at 6 feet and two inches, the marks began to fall fast.

Morrison, 120 pounder and member of San Angelo's record breaking relay team, collapsed the first track event in the high school division in the new time of 23.4 seconds.

High School 880 Tied

After Morrison's performance, Archer came in in the next event, 880 yard run, with the time of 2 minutes and 7.1 seconds to tie the record jointly held by Hilliard of Oak Cliff and Dunkin of Brownwood.

Fred Kroschel, San Jacinto High's star, broke the existing time in the 220 yard low hurdles with a 26.4 seconds spin.

San Angelo, holders of the 1928 Kansas relays and 1928 Texas Interscholastic League championship, closed the record breaking of the day with a new time of 3 minutes and 34.7 seconds in the high school relay. Haley, Jones, Morrison and Brothers are the members of the team.

Kroschel of San Jacinto carried off high point honors in the high school division with 15 points, three firsts. He triumphed in the 120 yard high and 220 yard low hurdles and the broad jump. They were the only points scored by his team, which placed second.

Hardman of Grand Prairie was second in scoring honors with nine, while McJunkin of Woodrow Wilson, Dallas, was third with eight.

Leo Best of Oklahoma Aggies was the outstanding performer on the field in the college division with firsts in the 120 yard high and 220 yard low hurdles. He also carried his team to victory in the mile relay.

Leland Scores Eight

Four tracksters, Cy Leland, T. C. U.; Hodges, A. C. C., Schwartz, Oklahoma Aggies and Stevens, A. C. U., tied for the next position with eight each.

C. B. Smith, former Texas University star and now coach of Houston Junior College, won the pentathlon with 3834 points. Jim Reese, holder of the present pentathlon record of 4096, was second with 3623 and H. Higgins of Oklahoma City was third with 3592. Reese, former intercollegiate mile record holder while at Texas University, is now coach at Greenville.

Young Missourian Disturbs Peace Of Veteran Golfers

Horton Smith of Joplin, Mo., whose victories over the winter circuit have left the veterans playing minor and unfamiliar roles.

BY GLENN ALLAN
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

NEW YORK, March 16. (AP)—Down on the dock they call it "15 grand" but not even flippancy can impair the dignity of $15,000 in cash money. In no matter what company, $15,000 has a way of being as prominent as Babe Ruth on a white-washed raft.

So it is surprising to note that entrants for the Miami Beach-La Gorce tournament cannot see the forest for the trees. Their view of the $15,000 purse is ruined by slick-down thatch of blond hair and a lanky figure. They cannot see around nor over nor through the boyish Horton Smith, the Tall Pine of Joplin.

This young Smith and Willie-the-wild Mehlhorn have sewed up so much of the winter circuit's pocket money that a movement is considered to play no more for keeps. What Willie didn't win, Horton did, the difference being that the pride of the Ozarks won more often.

The Tall Pine of Joplin was raised on an old fashioned copy book. He believes implicitly in an early start. He starts his season early and he starts his good scoring early. Not for him the spring from the ruck beloved of Walter Hagen. Not for him the jogging along, waiting for the others to crack, so fine a part of Bob Jones' game. Young Horton, unknown and sung only in a very small voice until this winter, slaps his low score down on the line and goes after another still lower. He is that way; young and daring, cool and confident.

Smith is not yet old enough to vote. Which is probably a blessing, for last November 4 he was a long way from Joplin, Mo. What golf he knows he learned on the excellent courses of Missouri. He won a small tournament or so, failed to hit his stride in the national open and, when he started the fall season by copping the Oklahoma title and all emoluments, he was an unknown.

The mob sat back. "The veterans" they chortled, "will put him in his place as soon as the California sunshine bakes out their rhemuatism.

They were poor prophets. Some of the old timers beat Smith, as some of the old timers are always beating people who stick their heads above the parapet of obscurity. But the Tall Pine of Joplin swept blithely through the field at Catalina Island. MacDonald Smith — they are not related—won the San Diego open but Horton was in fourth place. He climbed up to second place at La Jolla.

The winds and suns of Texas warmed Willie-the-Wild Mehlhorn to feats of derring do. He set a record at San Antonio and won the south central open at Hot Springs within two weeks of each other. Even so, he could not shake off this Smith, this freckled, drawling chap with the loping walk and terrific wallop.

Came Florida with its white beaches and whiter traps. The big guns who took the western trip hooked up with the big guns who patrolled the Florida border Formidable fields teed off amid cheers an played home to the echo of cheers from the Horton Smith galleries.

Pensacola found Mehlhorn with a touch of his Texas madness, but the final day ensconced Smith in the driver's seat. Willie-the-wild started off with a fine 66 but needed a 72 next. Smith took the lead with two 68s. Wild Bill went into a tie with a 68 to Smith's 70, but the final round was his. Horton pulled down another 68 and Bill, with 73, finished second, five strokes behind.

Rt Gort Meyers the race was between Smith and Densmore Shute, once a leading amateur. Shute took a good strong lead but the ambling Smith cut that down with a brace of 67s on get-a-way day. That left him in a tie which, for lack of time, was decided by a brief play-off. Still tied at nine extra holes, they went on to 11 where the Tall Pine of Joplin won the major portion of the $2,000 purse.

So the pride of the Ozarks has beat most of the good ones. They are now concentrating on the La Gorce affair as a sort of last ditch. They want the youngster tamed before the "big shots" of summer come around.

GIBSON SPRINGS SURPRISE

NEW YORK, March 16. (AP) — Johnny Gibson, Bloomfield, N. J., Catholic Lyceum, sprang a big surprise tonight by winning the Casey 600-yard special run at the Knights of Columbus games while the internationalist, Phil Edwards, could do no better than third. Edie Blake of the Boston A. A. was second. Gibson and Blake closed in on Edwards on the last two laps, and nipped him just at the wire.

New Golf Course Near Completion

Grady Higginbotham's golf course on the Plainview highway east of the city will be opened to the public within the next month, the owner said yesterday. Work on the first nine holes is nearing completion and should be ready for use within a short time.

Work will begin Monday on sodding the fairways on the first nine holes, Mr. Higginbotham said. After this is finished and the bridges across the streams are completed, workmen will put the finishing touches on the course by sanding the greens.

The second nine holes have been staked off and workmen have begun grubbing out the fairways. The complete 18 hole course will not be ready for use for some time.

Lubbock Athletes Rank High Among Literary Leaders

Five High School Athletes On Honor Roll With High Scholastic Standing; Efficiency On Field Item

Athletes at Lubbock High school are equally as proficient in the class room as on the gridiron, basketball court and cinder path, a perusal of records for the past term reveals. Contrary to the general opinion that those who are inclined toward athletics are not adept to literary pursuits, Westerner stalwarts have made unusual records in scholastics.

Out of the fifty high school students on the honor roll, with an average of 90 and no grades below 80, four are athletes. This number is eight per cent of the entire honor roll while only 5 per cent of the entire student body are on the honor roll. Thus the candidates for one or more teams rank above the average high school student.

Examination of the scholastic records of 35 athletes, carrying four subjects each, revealed an average near the 85 mark Out of this number there were ten 95s, twenty-eight 90's, thirty-seven 85's; forty-eight 80's, twenty-five 75's and nine 70's. The majority of the group reported for football practice throughout the last season and made trips that in many instances took several days of their school time.

Athletes Excell

The general average for the entire student body of 900 hovers between 80 and 85, according to the chart compiled in the principal's office. Thus again, the athletes excelled their fellow students who gave the majority of their time to "books."

"This is a condition that can be found in few high schools of this size," Coach Henry Frnka believes. "I attribute a large part of the success of our teams to the high grade of intelligence displayed by our athletes. Don't let anyone tell you that brains don't count in football or any other high school sport."

Mina Watkins, Edgar Neal, Curtis Scharnberger and Houston Henson are the athletes included on the high school honor roll. Watkins is at the present time training with Coach Lowry's track team and working with the gridders in spring training.

Unusual Record

Young Scharenberger finished the season with the basketball squad and is now in training with the Westerner gridders. The remarkable part of his record is that in addition to the two sports in which he is entered, he is carrying five subjects and working his way through school. Curtis scored one of the touchdowns against the "Toughs" in the recent intra-squad football contest.

A number of other athletes boast scholastic averages that near the "A" class, but were not placed on the honor roll. George Pierce who competes in football, basketball and track and is president of the senior class, deserves honorable mention as do Lee Regan and Fred Kerr. Raymond (Whacker) Barton captain of the 1928 Westerner eleven is another athlete who stands high among the literary leaders.

Lubbock Gunners Hold Shoot Today

The Lubbock gun club will hold its regular shoot on the grounds east of the city this afternoon, it was announced yesterday by Al Gooden, president of the organization.

In addition to the regulation shoot, the club members will engage in their second "Skeet" shoot. Valuable prizes will be awarded in both events.

A number of out-of-town marksmen are expected to compete in the matches today. Hunters are invited to bring their favorite game gun to try out the new Skeet range.

Ziggy Sears Will Join Umpire Staff

DALLAS, Mar. 16. (AP)—The Texas League umpiring staff for 1929, announced at league headquarters here tonight, includes seven holdovers from last season, one former member who is being brought back and a veteran ball player in the circuit who is taking his first fling as an arbiter.

Ziggy Sears, former favorite at Fort Worth and Shreveport, will be watched with interest when he dons the blue uniform. As a member of Fort Worth teams that won seven straight titles he never was a particular pet of the league's umpires. Jesse Estill is the former ump who is being brought back.

The seven hold-overs are Tom Erwin, Hunter Hill, Mike Donahue, C. H. Donnelly, Cecil Grigg, Harry Kane and George Barr.

BRECKENRIDGE WINS

BRECKENRIDGE, Mar. 16. (AP)—The Breckenridge Buckarettes defeated the Cisco Lobo Queens, 30 to 23, in the final game of the 1929 state girls A. A. U. basketball tournament here tonight before 2,500 fans. The Buckarettes survived a field of 23 teams that entered the tournament four days ago.

Westerners Will Enter Track Meet

Slaton Tigers Will Be Hosts To Quadrangular Meet Friday; Post, Lamesa and Ralls Included

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

SLATON, Mar. 16.—Four towns have been invited to participate in the invitation track and field meet here next Friday, Coach Paul Wright of Slaton high school has announced. The strongest teams of this section are expected, including Lubbock, Post, Lamesa, Ralls and Slaton.

Awards will likely be awarded to the team carrying off first honors as well as the first and second place winners in the various events. Advance dope seems to favor the Slaton tracksters as the Lubbock aggregation has been weakened by the loss of a large number of track letter men from last year's squad.

Lubbock and Lamesa are expected to enter the tennis competition. The meet will start immediately after noon, March 22.

Nine Players Are Made Free Agents

CHICAGO, Mar. 16. (AP)—Nine major and minor league baseball players were declared free agents today by baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis.

The players are Guy Cantrell and Melburn Simons, Washington; Ernest Wingard, Philadelhpia Athletics; Claude Jonnard, St. Louis Browns, Roy Spencer of Indianapolis; Klye Anderson, of Columbia, and Charles Glazner, J. B. Partridge and Ralph Judd of Birmingham

In addition to declaring the players involved free agents Commissioner Landis imposed fines of $500 for each infraction of the rules on Pittsburgh, Indianapolis, Columbia, Baltimore, Washington, Birmingham, Philadelhpia, Milwaukee and St. Louis.

Host Of Veterans Back To Carry On Matador Baseball

Coach Grady Higginbotham Has High Hopes For A Successful Nine; Outfield Remains Intact

Coach Grady Higginbotham has issued the call for all candidates for the 1929 Tech baseball team to report at the Tech field Tuesday afternoon for the first official workout of the training season. Twenty-five diamond hopefuls are expected in camp on the first day.

The Matador mentor will have 12 baseball letter men back around which to build the baseball club this year. In addition to the veterans, a number of promising recruits are anxious to make their bid for the team.

Coach Higginbotham will have veterans back for every position on the nine with the exception of shortstop. "Dude" Lassiter, flashy shortfielder on last year's aggregation, will not be back to fill his position. A number of newcomers have announced their intentions of replacing Lassiter. With this hole in the infield plugged, Coach Higginbotham will have a strong defensive organization.

Pitching Not So Hot

Unless the pitching staff on hand at the present time develops unusual power, the Matadors may be lacking in capable chunkers. A hurling corps built around Red Howell and Volney Hill may turn out to be effective, but there is a possibility that Hill may devote all of his efforts toward first base. Wilburn Eddleman and Red Moore are the other pitchers who have hopes of turning back the fence busters when the season opens. At present, Howell seems to be the only hope.

In case Higginbotham is able to find a capable shortstop to fill the shoes of Lassiter, the Tech crew will have a formidable infield. Hill and Roy Taylor are both experienced first sackers and both can pound the pellet consistently. Topper Rigney is back for his fourth year of baseball on the Matador nine. Shifted from shortstop to second base, Rigney has proven a rangy infielder as well as a sure hitter. Topper will not likely have competition for second base this season.

Vacancy At Short.

Clarence Hodges may give the shortstop position a try this year if he is not needed behind the bat. Dick Green is another shortstopper who may prove a find.

Carl Peterson may have the hot corner to himself unless a newcomer comes in to give him a race for the position.

Arthur Burnett will likely carry most of the catching burden, Hodges is the other experienced receiver on the Matador squad. Glen Coppage, the curly headed Oklahoman, is also expected to do part of the backstopping.

The Tech outfield furnishes the brightest spot on the baseball horizon. Coach Higginbotham will have his entire crew of fly chasers from last season returned, and the trio that packed the punch in the Matador attack last year will be back in their same positions. Chubby Dewitt will roam the center field garden, Raymond Marchall, the left field pasture and the right field position will lie between Buddy Brothers and Little Red Waller.

Although the baseball schedule has not been completed, the Matadors are sure of playing at least 11 games and may play as many as 15. Texas A. & M., St. Edwards, Daniel Baker and N. M. M. I. of Roswell, N. M., are included.

Breckenridge And Cisco Are Winners

BRECKENRIDGE, Mar. 16. (AP)—Cisco and Brecenridge clashed in the finals of the A. A. U. state girls basketball tournament, here tonight.

Cisco reached the finals by eliminating Seagoville this afternoon, 25 to 16. Breckenridge won from Mingus, 59 to 29.

Dalhart and New Castle played for the consolation title as the result of their semi-final played wins Selden and Rankin, respectively.

SOUTH AFRICAN WINS

PALM BEACH, Fla., Mar. 16. (AP)—B. I. C. Norton, South African amateur tennis star, won the second annual southern professional tournament here today by defeating Vincent Richards, title holder, and former doubles champion. The scores were 8-6, 7-5, 6-1.

SPORT REGULARS TRIUMPH

SHREVEPORT, La., March 16. (AP)—The Shreveport regulars bombarded Tiny Owens and Wilkins today to take a 14 to 4 decision over the Yannigans in a practice game for Federated Charities. Ernie Holman of the regulars hit two home runs and Gallagher put one over the palings.

FRENCH STAR IS VICTOR

NEW YORK, Mar. 16. (AP)—Jean Borotha of the French Davis cup forces began his attempt to capture the national indoor tennis championship for the third time today with an easy victory over Arthur S. Crdagin, New York veteran who is nearing 50.

Borotha won, 6-1, 6-1, although his tennis in sports was fagged and careless.

Miller Huggins Will Try To Beat Old Man Percentage

Mite Manager Of New York Yankees Fears Macks, Browns And Senators Will Give His Team A Close Struggle

Huggins Encouraged Over Prospects Of Youngsters In Camp; Injured Arms Still A Question

By BRIAN BELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 16. (AP)—Miller Huggins, manager of the world champions New York Yankees, is trying to beat the percentage.

"Of course the percentage is against us," said the mite master mind, "but we may be able to beat it. Every time we win a championship it makes it just that much harder to win another the next year. That's the percentage.

"The way to beat it is to have good young ball players available before the older stars pass out of the baseball picture. That is the reason I have always urged the Colonel (Jacob Ruppert, owner of Yankees) to grab a promising ball player when possible whether we used him or not. May be some other club that has a man that we want will need the one we have and do not need. But you have to have something to trade with. You can't get a dime for two nickles if one of the nickels has a hole in it.

Just Common Sense

"The boys call me a pessimist

MILLER HUGGINS

when I speak of the difficulties we are facing in adding to our championships. It is not pessimism, it is common sense.

"This year I am encouraged by our prospects. Our young pitchers are very promising, a very good crop indeed, and we have some splendid young fellows in the other positions Byrd and Funk in the outfield, for instance, Lary, the infielder, and Dickey and Jorgens, catchers. All of them look good.

"It will not be easy to win. We had to win 100 games last year and the year before to get in. May be that will be necessary again. I think, however, there will be even more competition this season than was the cast last year. The Athletics, of course, are a constant threat and we have had trouble certainly with St. Louis. Washington has a good club and so has Detroit. They will all be dangerous."

"Hug" was asked about his trio of stars with injured arms, Lazzeri, Pennock and Moore.

"I don't know," was the reply, "and they don't either. They have not tried to throw hard and not until they cut loose will we be able to see the condition of their arms at present. We must wait for before they make a real test any guess would be just that and nothing more."

Manager Huggins felt it unnecessary to say anything of his slugging twins, Ruth and Gehrig.

Smith Takes Open Match In Florida

Young Missourian Shoots A Brilliant 284 To Take 72-Hole Championship By One Stroke Lead

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Mar. 16. (AP)—Horton Smith, youthful Joplin Mo., professional, won the 72-hole Florida open golf championship here today with a brilliant 284 only one stroke ahead of the field.

Frank Walsh, of Appleton, Wis., pressed the young Missourian hard for the championship, but finished one stroke behind with 285.

Johnny Farrell, national open champion, finished third with 286, while Densmore Shute, Youngstown, O., and Tommy Armour, Washington, tied with 288.

Ed Dudley, Los Angeles, took 290; Craig Wood, Bloomfield, N. J., had 291 and Henry Cuici, Bridgeport, Conn., thue defending champion, finished with 293.

Tied with 294 were George Waggaman, Tampa, Fla., and George Christ, Davenport, Florida, while Al Watrous, Detroit, took 295.

HONOR STUDENTS

Nine At CIA Are Enrolled In Honor Courses

DENTON, Mar. 16. (AP)—Nine seniors of the College of Industrial Arts are enrolled in honor courses this year, each of them writing thesis which in reality is by way of preparation for a master's degree. This is the second year of the honor course system at the college under which plan seniors who have made a B average in any one course throughout their first three years are admitted to an honor course in that subject.

HOOKS AND SLIDES
By Henry L. Farrell

Huggins, the Theorist

Found in a rather eloquent mood, after our first talk to him at St. Petersburg, Fla., about his Yankee ball club, Miller Huggins expressed some interesting theories about baseball that might explain his extraordinary success with the New York club.

"There is such a thing as a law of averages in every business, in every profession and in every game," he said. "You will stay good for a certain period of time and then you will turn bad unless, during the period of your prosperity, you have made provisions for the future, changes in your organization purposed to have young men in their prime associated with men past the peak of their perfection and, at the same time, to have real young fellows working up to take the places of the others.

"That's what we have been trying to do with our New York ball club. That's the reason we have released some veteran players who have gone out and given good service to other clubs.

The Immediate Problem

"Considering beyond the immediate future, the law of averages is the problem of our club.

"We are bound to serve that law, but I do not think it is immediately upon us, but some day it is going to arrive and when that time comes the Yankees will have to wait for the law to turn. This sounds like pessimism and everyone says I'm a pessimist, but I could give you proof of my point if I had a couple of hours to spare.

"The immediate problem of the Yankees, as it confronts me this year, is one of disposition on the part of the players. I don't mean heart and I don't mean bad acting. I haven't any bad actors on my ball club and I wouldn't discuss the question of heart.

"There are some players on other ball clubs in our league who are said to lack courage. I have heard my players talk about it, but I never have seen any display of cowardice in those players.

"There have been ball players on my club who were called gutless by other players, but I wouldn't say it. Before the Yankees got going, we were called yellow, but it has been my experience that courage alone will not win a championship. You have to have the ability first and above all before you can beat road teams.

Young Fellows Hustle

"I am not worried about the Babe," Huggins went on. "I am not worried about any of my ball players. I think the Babe ought to be good for four or five years more. He won't be as fast a man, of course. Nobody can beat the effects of age on legs. But the Babe will be a very good ball player on any club as long as he can walk. Any player who can hit at least 25 home runs a season is a very good player for any ball club.

"The point I was trying to make about the disposition of my players is this: You can't eat pie all your life without getting tired of it. If you worked for 10 years and made a pile of money, you would quit scribbling with the pencil, wouldn't you?

"Well, success and too much assurance may injure my ball club. After they have been winning so much they may get the idea that no one can beat them and that's where the young hustlers come in. As long as I can have a couple of young hustlers who are looking to a future on my club the problem will be reduced.

"I think it is going to be a tough pennant race. The team that wins the pennant may win less than 100 games. The Athletics are strong and the Tigers have to be considered. Detroit has a very good ball club."

Get the Dough Ready

It won't be any great surprise if the New York Yankees shift their training base from Florida to California next spring.

Such a move, if it happens, won't be a swell victory for the California brand of sunshine. It will be merely an effort on the part of the owners of the Yankees to further enrich their finances through the exploitation of the Ruth-Gehrig combination while they can.

The Yankees have no kick about St. Petersburg. The weather has been entirely satisfactory the years the Yanks have trained there. The club, in those years, have been champions. Miller Huggins likes the place. Enough to make it his winter home.

But it always has been the policy of the Yankees to take in as much as possible from the cash customers for the chance of seeing Ruth and Gehrig do their home run act at so much per game. That is the reason the Yankees are taking that long training schedule from Florida to Texas and back this season. And the Yankees, knowing Ruth can't go on forever, have an idea that next year is the time to have the Babe and Lou out on the Pacific coast if they are to be taken there.

Prospects of such a trip offer great money-making possibilities to the owners of the Yankees and neither Colonel Ruppert or Ed Barrow ever were known to refuse the chance to pick up some extra dough.

Just for One Year

Bill Wrigley, jr., who owns the Chicago Cubs and who has his Los Angeles club on the market, is very anxious to have the Yankees out there next fall. And they say the city dads at St. Petersburg are searching around for a major league club to train there.

These two reasons, plus the possibilities of making a big profit from a Ruth-Gehrig barnstorming jaunt out west, are good ones to go on that the Yankees will shift.

But the shift, however, is expected to be just a one-year affair, with the Yankees returning to St. Petersburg in 1931.

Close-Up View

One of the stockholders of the Boston Braves, who has a great interest in baseball but doesn't know many of the players personally and little about the game, was the guest of Judge Fuchs, the owner-president-manager of the Braves, at their training camp for a few days. The big stockholder was sitting in the lobby of the hotel one evening, talking about the last world series.

"That last game was the greatest I ever saw," he told a player next to him. "Did you see it?"

"Did I see it?" questioned the player. "I'll say I did, and from a close up view. I caught it!"

The player was Pat Collins, who was acquired from the Yankees by the Braves during the winter.

RALLS NEWS
BY MRS. ROY MOSES

P.-T. A. ELECTS OFFICERS

The Parent-Teachers association met last Thursday afternoon at the high school building. The subject for the meeting was "The Value of Music." Roll call was answered by "Favorite Songs." Mrs. M. E. Ware, head of the music department of the Ralls schools, gave a very instructive discussion on "The Value of Music in the Home and School."

J. W. Hyatt, a senior in high school, made an interesting extemporaneous speech on the subject.

Mrs. P. B. Ralls, president, had charge of the business meeting in which the following officers were elected: Mrs. Leon Noel, president; R. M. Read, vice-president; Mrs. T. H. Richards, second vice-president; Mrs. Roy Cooper, third vice-president; Mrs. Dewey Collier, treasurer; J. M. Rankin, secretary, and Miss Gladys Jasper, reporter.

Mmes. T. H. Richards and Roy Cooper were hostesses in a social hour that followed. Spiced tea and cake was served to about 40 members and visitors.

BASKETBALL GAME

A basketball game will be played in the gymnasium next Tuesday night from teams selected from the ladies of the P.-T. A. and the ladies of the faculty, according to Mrs. P. B. Ralls, president of the P.-T. A. The proceeds will be used toward paying for playground equipment.

STUDY VOICE LESSON

A lesson from the Missionary Voice was ably conducted by Mrs. M. T. Brigham at the regular meeting last Monday of the Methodist Woman's Missionary society.

Mrs. J. W. Schoolcraft and Mrs. Leonard Schoolcraft read splendid papers that were followed by a general discussion on the topic "Daughters and Mothers."

In a business meeting the organization adopted plans toward financing some repairs on the parsonage. Eleven members were present.

BAPTISTS HAVE RALLY

The congregation of the Ralls Baptists had an interesting and instructive meeting here last Thursday when the held an "Educational Rally on the Budget." Morning speakers were Messrs. Evans of Cone and Reed of Crosbbyton. Rev. Dick of Crosbyton was the principal speaker during the afternoon.

The meeting was well attended and a bountiful dinner was served by the ladies of the church at the place of meeting.

Mmes. W. F. Taylor and W. D. Watkins were Lubbock visitors Tuesday.

Trusty Escapes From County Jaul

No trace had been found late yesterday of Mansel Allcorn, trusty in the Lubbock county jail, who made his escape through a window last Thursday afternoon.

Allcorn was serving a six-month's jail sentence of a charge of swindling. Charged with giving a "cold" check, he pleaded guilty to the swindling charges in the Lubbock county court the latter part of January.

Due to the over-crowded conditions of the jail, Allcorn was declared a "trusty" and allowed in the run-around of the jail. It was thought that he had been gone sometime before he was missed.

CONTRACT IS LET

Sewer Extensions Will Be Made At Sweetwater

SWEETWATER, Mar. 16.—Contract for the big sewer extension project on the south side was let this week to W L. Supulver whose bid of approximately $14,400, was considerably lower than the other bid entered for the work. Only two bids were received.

Supulver has already made bond, and work will probably begin immediately.

Seven or eight miles of new sewer lines will be laid under the contract with the lines ranging in size from six to eighteen inches.

WILL ATTEND SHOW

Shamrock C. Of C. To Attend Dairy Exposition

PLAINVIEW, Mar. 16.—Shamrock is planning to attend the Second Annual Texas Panhandle Plains Dairy show with an organized delegation, according to Guy Hill, secretary of the Shamrock Chamber of Commerce.

Hill says there is a great deal of interest in Shamrock in the show, and that if possible he wants to bring a large delegation to Plainview. At his request a large number of catalogs and premium lists have been mailed to farmers of the Shamrock territory.

OLIVE VISITS IN CITY

State Fire Insurance Inspector Lee D. Olive, was a visitor in Lubbock Saturday, passing through on his way from the Panhandle to points east and south before returning to his home in Austin. While in town he called at central fire station for a chat with Fire Chief W. E. Twitty and members of the department.

Tightening Up
Tech Facultyites Hard On Studes

A general "tightening down" on the part of professors is the accusation which students at Tech have been bringing against members of the faculty throughout the week which has just pasted, that of examinations. Surprise was manifested by some last term, when one student made failing grades in every subject he was taking. But conversations with students indicate that there will be little or no surprise if there are not several such students when the grades are recorded for the term which has just closed.

Whether or not there is any conscious effort on the part of the faculty to raise scholarship is not known. A general belief, however, leads to this conclusion.

Old students, those who are about to graduate, are taking the difficulty with glad hearts, thinking that their diplomas will have greater value if th. school establishes a reputation for high scholarship. Some of the freshmen, on the other hand, are not highly elated over the prospects of certain letters which they are expecting from home.

SKELETON FOUND

Remains Of Indian Warrior Uncovered At Colorado

COLORADO, Mar. 16. (AP)—Parts of a skeleton, believed to have been that of an Indian warrior, has been found in a cave on Morgan Creek, in Mitchell county.

The discovery was made by C. C. Dorn, son of Pierce Dorn, who lives seven miles southwest of here.

The belief that the bones were those of a warrior was supported by the finding along with them pieces of metal shaped like early Indian weapons: Beads, copper bracelets and the bowl of a pipe, carved either from rock or hard bone, also were found.

PECANS PLENTIFUL

West Texan Cashes In With Crop This Season

LLANO, Mar. 16. (AP)—The case of Julius C. Seaholm may be cited as an example of the way in which the idea of growing peacans in commercial quantities is gaining a foothold in West Texas.

Seaholm, who lives one and a half miles west of Llano, has 75 acres of five year old pecan trees on his farm. He estimates his pecan orchard at 1,500 trees

Juniors, Helen Applewhite, Frances Carpenter, Mary Weathers, Captolia Carpenter. Sub-Juniors, Lottie Jo Townes, Dottie Turrentine, Valerie Wells.

In violin the following have entered: Seniors, Lucille Slaton. Juniors, Margaret Wetzel and Junior Baze.

In voice these have entered: Girls' solo, Charline Maddox, Lucille Slaton. Boys' solo: Frank Sargent, Boswell Edwards, Coughran Ketner, Jim Jackson, Clifton Janack. Girl's duet: Estelyn and Evelyn Jeffreys. Boys' duet: Clifton Janack and Frank Sargent.

The quartet try-out will also be held Thursday evening.

Competent judges have been selected and the public can be assured an enoyable and interesting evening.

BIG EPWORTH LEAGUE MEETING HERE

Not less than one hundred visitors are expected to be here Saturday night and Sunday to attend the district meeting of the Epworth League of the Lubbock district which will be in session here at that time.

The first meeting will be held Saturday night. Refreshments will be served the visitors at the church about six o'clock Saturday evening, according to the pastor, Rev. R. T. Breedlove. A big dinner will be served at the church at the noon hour Sunday. Everybody is requested to bring a basket well filled and have an old-fashioned basket dinner.

There will be preaching at the 11 o'clock hour as usual. A most excellent program has been prepared, it is understood, and some interesting speakers will be here.

A great crowd is expected to attend all the meetings and a big day for the local Methodist church is anticipated.

LEAGUE MEET IS NEXT WEEK

The entire program of the Interscholastic League meet to be held in Tahoka on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, March 28, 29 and 30, is mapped out.

These programs have been prepared with much care, according to Supt. M. L. H. Baze, so as to give every school and every pupil a fair chance. The three days will be filled with hard-fought athletic contests, declamation contests, story telling contests, spelling contests, debates, etc.

Practically every school in the county will be represented and even greater crowds are expected than were here last year.

The Tahoka Chamber of Commerce is offering various loving cups to stimulate interest in the contests and to spur the contenders on to their very best.

The winners in these contests will represent Lynn county at the district contest to be held in Lubbock later, and the winners there will go to the state meet.

Little Miss Patricia Hill was hostess in her home Friday afternoon to a number of her little friends, celebrating her 2nd birthday.

Various games were played and an Easter egg hunt was enjoyed by the little tots. The hostess received many useful gifts.

The birthday cake, an angel food, ice cream and all day suckers were passed to little Misses Billy Lee Burleson, Shirley Jeanne Shook, Betty Louise Edwards, Betty Sue Roberts, Shelia La Vance Moreland, Birdie Vella Dollins, Dorothy Ann Roberts, Margaret Henderson and Aletha Goodnough. Masters Donald Williams, James Forrest Roberts and Bill Hill.

SELECTION OF TAHOKA DEBATERS IS MADE

Smith Lawson and Vernon Masseggale have been selected to represent the Tahoka high school in the Interscholastic League debate to be held here during the league meet the last of this month.

In the girls' debate, the Tahoka high school will be represented by Lowell Douthit and Myrtle Hill.

These debates last year were very interesting events and will doubtless be hard-contested again this year. It is understood that O'Donnell has selected a couple of strong teams.

NEW HOME FOR GAS COMPANY

The West Texas Gas Company has purchased two lots north of the City Bakery and will begin within the next two or three weeks, the construction of a combined office building and residence on the site.

This building will probably be of frame and stucco construction and will be about 30 by 60 feet in size. The front portion will be used as an office for the company, while M. O. Bridges, the local manager., will have his residence in the rear apartment. The building will be an attractive one, facing Main Street.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Another year has rolled around for Uncle Jimmie Fleming. On last Sunday his eighty-fourth birthday was celebrated with a big dinner. A number of his friends were invited in at the noon hour and a supmtuous feast was enjoyed, which had been prepared by Emmet Fleming, son of the honoree. The menu consisted of fried chicken, baked chicken, pies, salads and a big fine cake, with 84 candles upon it.

Guests present were: Dr. W. K. Johnston, Presbyterian pastor, A. W. White of Los Angeles, Homer Harrison, Van Bates, and I. A. Stevens.

BOARD ELECTS '29-'30 FACULTY

At a meeting of the school board Tuesday night, almost the entire faculty of the Tahoka public schools were re-elected for the ensuing year. Mr. Baze was re-elected as superintendent and most if not all the teachers may have their places for another year if they wish to remain.

Owing to some uncertainty just at this time as to the amount of funds the district will receive from the state this year for the vocational agriculture work, the board deferred the election of a vocational agriculture teacher.

MRS. CROUCH HONORED WITH BIRTHDAY DINNER

A surprise birthday dinner was given Mrs. W. J. Crouch on March 10, it being her sixty-fourth birthday. Just the children and a few other relatives were present.

A bountiful spread, cooked in the old-time way, with the real spice and pound cake served as the good-wish cake. The table was beautifully decorated to suit the occasion, and after being seated at the table, the grand-children clustered near Grandmother's chair and sang "Happy Birthday to You." Tears of gladness trinkled down Grandmother's cheek as she sweetly said in her kind way, "Thank you," and gave each a huge slice of the large birthday cake.

After the dishes were cleared away, a teacher of the sixties, Mrs. Ola Hughes, taught a reading and spelling class. Quite a lot of merriment prevailed throughout the day.

VISITS KIWANIS

W. C. Rylander, lieutenant-governor of the Texas-Oklahoma district of the Kiwanis organization, Dr. Fred Standifer and Presiding Elder D. B. Doak, all of Lubbock, were guests of the local Kiwanis club at its luncheon Wednesday.

Dr. Standifer, Dr. Doak and Mr. Rylander, in the order named, addressed the body and they all made snappy, entertaining speeches.

Following the regular meeting, Mr. Rylander had a conference with the board of directors and the chairmen of the various committees. His purpose was to gather information as to the progress being made by the Tahoka club and to inject a little more pep into the organization.

TAHOKA MUSIC PUPILS IN SOUTH PLAINS CONTEST

On last Saturday Mrs. Jack Jackson took a number of her music pupils to Lubbock to enter the South Plains music contest there.

Mary Jane Weathers, Dottie Turiternne and Lottie Jo Townes entered the contests. All of these pupils did exceedingly well, according to Mrs. Jackson. In a group of seventeen, Dottie Turrentine tied second place and will get to return to Lubbock on the 15th to contest again.

Mrs. Bill Burleson and little daughter, Billy Lee, are visiting on the D-Bar ranch at Tatum, New Mexico with Mrs. Burleson's sister, Mrs. W. K. Dickinson, jr.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Gaignat spent several days in Dallas this week, having gone down Sunday to make purchases of furniture for the McCormack company.

Dr. K. R. Durham returned Tuesday from Alexandria, La., where he spent a couple of weeks visiting his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Graham and daughter of Matador were Tuesday guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Hood.

Mrs. Earl Wilson of Slaton spent Friday here with her mother, Mrs. R. C. Wood.

H. P. Burkhalter, now residing near Lubbock, was a Tahoka visitor Tuesday.

Perry Graham of Post was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Hood Sunday.

W. O. and C. A. Thomas are constructing a four-room residence on Main Street in North Tahoka, for rental purposes. It will be a neat little residence.

Other Good Films Booked For Week At Theaters Here

May McAvoy, Nagel Will Appear At Palace

EITHER one of the short subjects (films, scheduled at the Palace beginning today, are possibly worth anybody's time. "Pusher In The Face," and all-talking short play, written by F. Scott Fitzgerald, with Raymond Hitchcock and Estelle Taylor in the cast, is interesting throughout and clever.

"The Bishop's Candlesticks" is from an incident of Victor Hugo's Miserables, and has as its leading character the Jean Valean of that famous story. This short play is an all-talky and pleasingly dramatic, with human touch seldom reached in any picture play. There's a moral to it, but it does not preach.

Management Praised.

The management of the Palace should receive the thanks of the Lubbock public for their decision not to show "Night Club." It is as they decided, hardly worth showing. And Mr. Cliff Lindsey, although having paid close to $500 for the picture, took it off the bill for today.

Instead there will be "The Battle of the Sex," a D. W. Griffith picture starring Jean Hersholt, Phyllis Haver, Sally O'Neal and others.

Lester Allen Now Tries The Screen

Lester Allen, the inimitable comedian of many Broadway hits, including the "Scandals" and the "Follies" is one of the leading characters in the latest Paramount talking picture, "Pusher-in-the-Face."

Opposite Allen is Estelle Taylor, prominent screen star, who has a delightful part in the picture. Others, equally well known as Broadway stage stars, appearing in the film are: Reginald Owen, Lillian Walker Raymond Hitchcock, Carroll McComas.

Vance Story Is Coming Wednesday

"The Lone Wolf's Daughter," the Columbia "talkie" which opens at the Palace theater Wednesday, is the greatest of the Lone Wolf stories by Louis Joseph Vance. Once more Bert Lytell, who created the role in pictures, comes to the screen as the famous cracksman. This time he is presented in entirely new surroundings and in an entirely different medium than ever before.

Clever prologue in dialogue, between the "Lone Wolf" and the chief inspector of police, introduces the action of the picture proper. At the very outset, the "Lone Wolf" shows his remarkable craftiness by outwitting the inspector, who has set a trap for him. At the moment when we hear Bert Lytell's voice, we almost forget the action of the picture—he reveals one of the greatest talking voices on the screen today—clear, distinctive and beautifully cultivated.

A television apparatus provides a means of securing new thrills and dramatic situations. The sequences show the broadcasting of a radio performance, the reception of the program in a private home and the transmission of a photograph from Europe over the same instrument.

Miss McAvoy Plays Role Of Crook

May McAvoy playing a crook? Yes, my child, that is the newest role of this small patrician beauty in "Caught in the Fog," the Warner Bros.' mystery comedy in which she and Conrad Nagel are co-starred.

After an unbroken succession of portrayals of characters of strict virtue and high social position, dainty May McAvoy steal aboard a millionaire's houseboat off the Florida coast with the intent of aiding Charles Gerrard as a sheik bandit in stealing a famous string of pearls However—

Howard Bretherton directed "Caught in the Fog," which Charles Condon adapted from a story by Jerome Kingston. Mack Swain and Hugh Herbert, popular character comedians, portray a screaming team of amateur detectives, while Ruth Cherrington and Emile Chautard impersonate aged society crooks.

Marionettes Come To Tech Tuesday

Tony Sarg's Marionettes will be seen at the Tech gymnasium next Tuesday afternoon and night under the auspices of Texas Technological College. The presentation here will be the puppet master's newest production, "The Adventures of Christopher Columbus," a fantasy based on Washington Irving's history of Columbus. These magic Marionettes give ten scenes all said to be in every way equal to the previous country wide successes of Treasure Island, Rip Van Winkle, Don Quixote and other Tony Sarg favorites.

Much glue, sawdust, wires, silk and wool, and imagination have gone into the creation of King Ferdinand, Queen Isabella, the courtiers, pirates, Indians, sailors, and sixty-odd characters who appear in this melange of mirth. The clothes were created in Spain, and brought to this country by a company which never got further than New York and are pronounced by all as marvels of costuming.

These sixty puppets are operated by a company of actors and professional musicians, utilizing ten thousand feet of string and wire for the manipulation, carrying a complete stage with reduced footlights, spot lights, borders, and flood lights effects.

Two Outstanding Photoplays Will Appear At Palace

'Red Skin' In Colors Is One; Gilbert-Garbo Coming

Announcement that "Redskin", widely heralded cinema of the scenic southwest, will be seen here during the week ahead is the feature of news from the Palace this week. By this is meant the week following the one starting today.

"Redskin", with the ever popular Richard Dix in the stellar role, is photographed in natural color and has perfect sound synchronization.

Another widely heralded film, to be shown at the Palace following "Redskin" is the screen version of Michael Arlen's famous play, "The Green Hat". The cinema name of this attraction is "A Woman of Affairs" and the feature stars—yes, they are none other than John Gilbert and Greta Garbo. "The Green Hat" is known to thousands as a book and as a play and these will need nothing more than a bare announcement to insure their attendance.

START "MODERN MAIDENS"

"Our Modern Maidens," a story of ultra-modern youths, last week went into production at the Metro-Goldwyn, Mayer studios.

The story, an original by Josephine Lovett, who also wrote "Our Dancing Daughters," one of the past season's greatest box office successes, delves deeply into the superfluities of modern youth and the extent to which they carry their pleasures in this jazz mad age.

'Paratone' To Be Introduced Here By Lyric Theater

Two Day Program of Talkies Slated This Week

ANOTHER variety of talking pictures, styled "Paratone," will be presented Lubbock theatergoers this week at the Lyric on Wednesday and Thursday. It will be the first presentation of the "Paratone" in this part of the country.

A special featured program has been arranged for the Lubbock presentation.

Acts scheduled for the program include Judy King, Les Saylor from the New York Winter Garden, Fritz Fern, of Earl Carroll's Review, Fred Kelsey, Ronnie Rendell and Elinor Glynn, both from "A Night in Paris," and Walter Brennan and Jack Raymond, both vaudeville headliners in the big time.

Starting today and continuing for three days will be "The Road to Ruin," vibrant story of the life of a delinquent girl, in which Helen Foster is starred.

Based upon modern sociological conditions, "The Road to Ruin," proves not only a warning to the younger generation, but is in the form of a preachment to parents.

The picture is very frank in its treatment of its subject. This is necessary to be effective an at the same time it is not overdrawn. The characters on the screen enact a story the parallel of which is published in the newspapers almost every day.

It has the faculty of opening the eyes of parents to modern conditions and the experience of the family, around which the tragic story evolves, should go far to create a better understanding between mother and daughter on matters relative to sex.

Helen Foster does exceedingly well as the leading figure in the story. Tommy Carr, son of Mary Carr, also has a bit in the picture.

Florence Turner, 20 years ago one of the best-known picture actresses returns to the screen as the mother in this photoplay.

"THE WILDCAT" FILMED

"The Wildcat," a colorful story of love and revenge in the Argentine, has been selected as Olive Borden's second vehicle for Columbia. Because of its similarity in name to the Warner Bros. feature, "The Little Wildcat," Columbia will release its new production under a different title, soon to be announced.

BARRYMORE IN TALKIE

John Barrymore's first Vitaphone talking picture for Warner Bros. will be an elaborate production based on the novel, "General Crack," by George Preedy. J. L. Warner announced this week that Warner Bros. had purchased the rights to this romantic story because it affords Mr. Barrymore a perfect vehicle full of colorful background.

OLAND IN NEW PART

Warner Oland, who recently signed a contract as a Paramount featured actor, will make his debut under the new alliance in the role of Director Seibert in the all-talking film, "The Studio Murder Mystery," soon to go into production with Frank Tuttle directing.

Renee Adoree has signed a new contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and an announcement regarding her next screen role is expected soon. Miss Adoree has just returned from the South Seas, where she played a featured part in the new Ramon Novarro starring film, "The Pagan," directed by W. S. VanDyke.

New books and new editions published in England during 1928 totaled 14,399, an increase of 589 over 1927.

Has New Book

SINCLAIR LEWIS

Book By Former Asylum Inmate To Create Stir

"North 3-1" Gives Vivid Story Of Horrors

NEW YORK, March 16.—Those many fleeting hints of nightmare life behind the walls of both public and private institutions for the temporarily unbalanced, or permanently deranged, have suddenly been supplemented by a document of horrible and almost incredible revelations.

Under the title of "Pick Up the Pieces," and signed "North 3-1," this document reveals the story of a man who literally "went through hell."

And because the author is who he is, the warning he has for society it is likely to excite.

Today Emerson D. Owens is a prosperous, happy and healthy business man whose name carries much weight in advertising and publicity circles. Far behind him, like bad dreams, are those years when he was "North 3-1"—which was the number of his room in a state institution. He has fought his way back to success and self-respect.

Owen was a brilliant newspaper man who drank too much. Relatives and friends decided that a private sanitarium might be the means of bringing him back to normal life. And therein lies his first warning to the public. Solemnly Owen will tell you today—"As you love your dear ones, don't send them to such places unless you have given the resorts the most careful investigation. The nation is cluttered with such inhuman places as I found myself in.

A blunt machine needle, or any kind for that matter, can be sharpened by sticking through sandpaper several times.

Lewis Discovers The Other Side Of 'Main Street'

Familiar Attitude Toward Nuptial Vows Aired

SINCLAIR LEWIS has discovered the other side of Main Street.

But he came upon it by a circuitous route. It was necessary to cross the Atlantic and wander through the ritzy salons of London and Paris; it was necessary to meet all sorts and conditions of European peoples and American tourists abroad; it was necessary to find those expatriated Americans who, from their points of European vantage, sneer at their homeland and apologize for it; it was necessary to make a long pilgrimage through the highways and byways of most of the other Main Streets of the world.

Babbitts All Alike.

And when this was done, Lewis returned and found that Main Street was still there, but that it had two sides. And that the Babbitt and Zenith was perhaps no worse nor better than the Babbitt of Vienna or Naples; that around the corner from Babbitt's mansion was another estate where lived people who essentially belong to the year 1929—people who need merely to cut a few wisdom teeth, in an international sense, to get along pretty well anywhere.

And so Lewis has added to his study of peoples and places a book about an automobile millionaire by the name of "Dodsworth"— book which is likely to attract more attention than anything Lewis has done to date.

For Lewis has raised a large number of points and started a vast number of arguments in this work—most of them well barbed for the army of poseurs this nation has been producing.

"Be Yourself," His Advice

So one of the outstanding admonitions of Lewis becomes . . . "Be yourself!" . . . If that self is interesting, honest, kindly and worthwhile, you'll not need to blush for it in any part of the world . . . Don't four-flush and make yourself ridiculous . . . Forget the self-consciousness which so many Americans acquire abroad."

Well, at any rate, "Dodsworth" learned all about these things—as Lewis did. And there is going to be a lot of conjecture about how much fo this book is autobiographical.

For instance . . . Sinclair Lewis, upon returning to America, immediately bought a farm in Vermont and spoke of "returning to the land." And Dodsworth, upon journeying through Italy, found that one of the greatest factors in achieving a solid foundation was the traditional love of the soil. The American farmer, he recalled, was urban-minded and moved to the cities whenever possible.

Then, too, Lewis divorced his wife and was remarried to a writer he met in Austria, making a caravan trek thereafter. Dodsworth has left his wife at the end of the book and is going back to a woman who has been mellowed and made broad-visioned by a long continental experience.

An American Analysis

There are other points of contrast as between author and character.

NORMA TO TALK

Normal Talmadge will talk throughout her next film. This all-talking picture will be based on a Broadway stage play, as yet unselected. It will be a modern story; Miss Talmadge will play a role that will exhibit her fashionably gowned, and the star's voice will be heard for the first time in a talking picture.

The voice of Gilbert Roland, who will be leading man, also will be heard for the first time.

BAKING DISHES

When baking dishes are stained from constant use, soak them in warm suds and borax over night. Then scour and rinse.

Ancient Drama Is With Nazimova In Titular Part

'Be Yourself'! This Is Lesson In New Book

NEW YORK, March 16.—The revival after some 25 years of Andreyev's macabre drama, "Katrina," has revived also the familiar argument concerning the change in attitude toward the sanctity of the marriage vows.

This theory concerning what is and isn't old-fashioned in ethics has practically banned Pinero from the modern stage and has caused a chorus from critics to greet Ibsen's "A Doll's House," with the commentary that in this day and age the heroine would not "walk out into the night" at the final curtain.

Just so, the brave Le Gallene's production of "Katrina," with Nazimova in a tremendously vivid characterization, has drawn the commentary that two people in the positions of Katrina and her husband would behave much differently if projected into the year 1929. The point is that Katrina's husband,

Seafaring Tomboy Writes Story Of Bounding Ocean

"The Cradle of the Deep" Is Uunique, To Say Least

AN ACTRESS who learned about life from a perch before the mast is Joan Lowell, who has written "The Cradle of the Deep," the log of a sea-faring tomboy.

Joan is a captain's daughter and for the first 17 years of her life her father's copra-trading boat was her only nursery and classroom.

Taken to the South Seas when she was less than a year old, Miss Lowell writes, she was reared without a woman's care. A goat was her nurse, a sail-maker her confidante and the Bible her textbok. And instead of a landlubber's second hand thrills, she had all around her adventure such as the movies glorify.

Her childish ambition was to have hair on her chest and tatooed pictures all over her body.

SMALL TOWN LIFE

Edgar Watson Howe, the "Sage of Potato Hill," who won fame and a certain degree of fortune as newspaper editor in a small city, has got around to an autobiography. He calls it "Plain People."

Although he has traveled around the world and been entertained and feted in many lands, it is of the people, the interesting by-plays of human nature, in Atchison, Kas., that he remembers and describes in the story of his life. The book is as much a reflection of the life and times of a middle-western town as it is of the life of the author.

The son of a Methodist circuit rider, Howe went into a print shop when he was 12 years old. There he learned grammar and there he laid the foundations for the faculty of expression which was later to make his paragraphs among the most widely quoted in the land.

Ed Howe is a "homely philosopher," and quite different, therefore, from the late Richard Burdon Haldane, English statesman and man of learning who worked in the field of metaphysics and whose autobiography also has just been published.

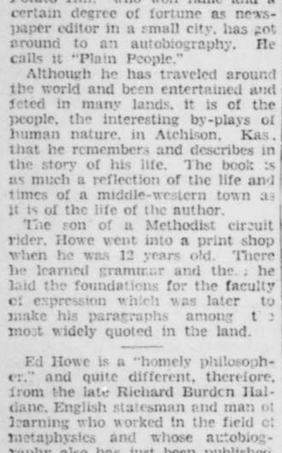

Viscount Haldane early developed inclination to study. As a consequence in his seventeenth and eighteenth years his reading had begun to disturb his faith in what he "then took to be the essential foundations of Christianity." His family was devout and he was much under the influence of religion "of a somewhat emotional type." It was his doubt that sent him to Germany to study. There he became emancipated from religious depression and his attention became concentrated on "a search for light about the meaning of God, freedom and immortality." What he found is summarized thus.

The United States uses over 19 kilowatt hours of electricity per year for each man, woman and child; Germany uses only five and Denmark only a fraction of one.

who is a member of the Russian parliament, suspects her of infidelity and, as the first act curtain rises, is revealed taking a few shots at her. The bullets miss, but the symbolism of the piece asks the audiences to believe that while they missed her body they killed her soul. And so the rest of the play deals with her constantly madder disintegration, a process in which she is joined by her husband who finally becomes a mere outomaton.

There is, to be sure, a great deal about the play which gives the impression, as Heywood Broun remarked, that "it had been left standing too long in the rain." Yet I could not but feel that there was much fresh meat there—and even the creaking devices and speeches and scenes fail to argue me down.

Roy Rogers Loses In Fight For Life

Santa Fe Employe Dies Saturday As Result Of Accident At Slaton Sunday; Buried In Cleburne

A desperate, yet losing, six-day fight for life ended yesterday morning with the death of Roy Rogers, 25-year-old switchman for the Santa Fe, who was critically crushed between two oil cars at Slaton early last Sunday morning.

Rogers held tenaciously to the tiny thread of life for several days after attending physicians had given up all hope for his recovery. His left foot, which was ground beneath the heavy car, was amputated at a local sanitarium, where he was brought after the accident in a Slaton ambulance. His hip and side were badly mashed and bruised and he received serious internal injuries.

Surviving are his wife, father and several sisters and brothers. The body was sent to Cleburne by Bynum Brothers last night and funeral services will be held there today.

Mr. Rogers had been an employe of the Santa Fe railway company for the past two years. He formerly lived at Grand View.

Worthy Roofing Merged By Rogers

Announcement was made here yesterday of the consolidation of the Worthy Roofing company's local office with the Rogers Roofing company of Houston. The company will be known as the Rogers Roofing company, Incorporated. They will maintain offices at 819 Avenue G with E. M. Worthy as local manager.

E. M. Rogers, of Houston, is president of the new company, Ross D. Rogers, of Amarillo is vice-president and B. R. Wadley, of Dallas, treasurer. E. M. Rogers and Mr. Wadley visited Lubbock during the week just past.

Complete service in roofing work is to be offered in the South Plains territory through the offices of the company here.

The American Philosophical Society is the oldest learned society in the United States, tracing its origin to the "Junto' organized in Philadelphia by Benjamin Franklin in 1727.

STUDENTS REGISTER TOMORROW

The first thing scheduled for the week is registration which begins tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock and continues throughout the day. Plans for registration given out from the Registrar's office for students now in school are for all students to report to their respective buildings except those who are changing their boarding places.

All men students of all schools who are changing boarding places must report to Cecil Horne, rotunda east wing Administration building for the approval of their Lubbock addresses—then to their respective buildings for registration.

All women students changing addresses report to Mrs. R. M. Chitwood, rotunda west wing of the Administration building for approval of their Lubbock addresses.

Liberal Arts students should report at the main entrance of the Administration building for instructions, in the following order:

8 to 9—Those whose family names begin with A, B or C.

9 to 10—Those whose family names begin with D, E, F or G.

10 to 11—Names beginning with H, I, J or K.

11 to 12—Names beginning with L or M.

2 to 3—Names beginning with N, O, P, Q or R.

3 to 4—Names beginning with S, T or U.

4 to 5—Those whose names begin with V, W, X, Y or Z.

Classes are to begin Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock for the Spring term.

MANY SOCIALITIES PLANNED

With the examinations for the winter term over and the new term under way clubs are holding meetings again and many socialities are planned for the week.

The Dramatic club is to meet Monday night at 8 o'clock at which time the play, "The Eligible Mr. Bangs," will be presented. Characters are portrayed by Zona Stiles, Hal Lary, Margaret McNabb, and Davie Wallace.

The main attraction for Tuesday evening is to be the Marionette show at the college gymnasium staged by Tony Sarg and his Greenwich Village artists, who make the wooden-headed actors have voices, action, and furnish music. There are to be perfonmances, a matinee and night show.

Wednesday evening the Hall county club is to meet at 7:30 o'clock in room 209; the Press club at 7:30 o'clock in room 214; the Aggie club at 7:30 o'clock in room 109 of the Agricultural building; the Central Texas club at 7 o'clock in room 310, and the Lubbock club at 7:30 o'clock in room 312.

CONVOCATION ON TUESDAY

The first convocation of the spring term will be held in the college gymnasium at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, March 19.

S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of public instruction, will be the principal speaker. Important matters concerning college affairs will also be presented at this time.

Three affairs are scheduled for the gymnasium at night this week. On Thursday evening the Lubbock club is to have a party; on Friday night the "T" club is to have its annual dance, and on Saturday night the Faculty club is to have a party there.

FORM NEW CLASS

Letter Writing Instruction Will Be Given Here

Organization of a new class in business English and letter writing will be made Tuesday night at 7 o'clock at the chamber of commerce rooms in the City hall, Cecil Horne announced yesterday.

The class, under the direction of the Texas Technological college, will be carried on at night throughout the spring term at the college, Mr. Horne stated.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. McArthur and daughters, Misses Alice and Noretta, of Idalou, were visiting and shopping here Saturday.

FARMERS ARE BUSY

BIG SPRING, Mar. 16.—The farmers of Howard county are terracing or contouring their land for moisture conservation. More than 1000 acres have been terraced or contoured during the past fifteen days according to County Agent Bush. This project is being tried in an effort to distribute the moisture equally on all parts which will increase crop yields and improve the soil. Contouring or putting the rows on a level is gaining favor among Howard county farmers each year and more than 90 per cent of the land is being contoured rather than terraced. The surface and subsoils are natural such as permits ready absorption of rainfall and only in extreme cases of rolling land is terracing more practical than contouring.

Wheat Growers To Gather Tomorrow In All Day Meeting

Various Experts Will Address Session Called For Monday At Plainview; Plan More Elevators

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

PLAINVIEW, Mar. 16. — Wheat growers of the Panhandle Plains will meet in Plainview Monday, March 18, for an all day session at which John Manley, general manager of the Oklahoma-Texas Wheat Growers association will be the principal speaker.

The plans for building a series of elevators over Texas to handle the co-operative marketing of wheat will be discussed.

L. T. Mayhugh of Plainview, State Director of the Wheat Growers association, has charge of the arrangements for the meeting, and estimates a large attendance. Henry Ansely, Agricultural Editor of the Amarillo Daily News-Globe will speak. Others on the program are Bill Gouldy, president of the Plainview chamber of commerce for the address of welcome; Dr. J. W. Hunt of Abilene, President of McMurray College, the Plainview band will furnish music for the occasion.

FARM BUREAU MEN TO MEET APRIL 3-4

PLAINVIEW, Mar. 16.—The directors of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation will meet in Plainview on April 3 and 4 during the Second Annual Texas Panhandle Plains Dairy Show.

Their meetings will be held jointly with officers and members of the Association in the 18th district comprising the Panhandle Plains area. Mrs. M. S. Hudson of Hale Center, the first woman to be named a director of the organization is arranging the meeting which will be held in the City Auditorium.

A. B. Honeycutt, president of the Texas Railroad association will be one of the principal speakers. H. B. Lucas of Brownwood, president of the federation will be another. R. A. Underwood, vice president of the First National Bank of Plainview will deliver the address of welcome.

CROSBY FARMERS VIEW DAIRYING

PLAINVIEW, Mar. 16. — Forty farmers of Crosby county around Ralls spent the day in Plainview getting first hand information about dairying in Hale county. The group was headed by A. V. Bullock, secretary of the Ralls chamber of commerce, and the party traveled in eleven automobiles.

The following dairy-farmers were visited near Plainview: Ed Curtis W. H. Harlan W. I. Johnson, S. J. Underwood and W. C. Wilhite. R. M. Milhollin, county agent of Hale county conducted the party over the county.

Every farmer in the party expressed his intention of attending the Second Annual Texas Panhandle Plains Dairy Show in Plainview, April 2-5.

Psychologists Are Too Technical

DALLAS, Mar. 16. (AP)—When Billy is untruthful, he is not when Johnny takes a toy from the home of a playmate next door, he is not stealing.

These are some of the things learned by fathers and mothers in a course of child psychology given by the Dallas Public Evening School.

Billy is unthruthful because he is ignorant of the truth and does not understand the difference between truth and falsehood; and Johnny takes the toy because he has no sense of what is his own and what is not, the psychology course teaches.

"You Just Know She Wears 'Em"

Lubbock Women Display Decided Preference For Hose Of Silk But Cotton Comes To Fore In Spring Styles

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche-Journal Staff

One who is contemplating making a living here selling women's cotton hose might just as well have been drowned as a baby, according to opinions of local hose salesmen. This style is as passe as the chaperone, the two probably having been the principal actors in a permanent demise at about the same date in history.

Long or short hair may be here to stay or not, long or short skirts may come and go, colors and materials may vary in their appeal to the feminine world, but the cotton stocking is to see no rejuvenation. This is the opinion of those "in the know."

Just Try It Once.

Believe it or not, but just try purchasing a pair of good old cotton hose at one of the city's leading ready-to-wear shops.

Last fall some one here advocated cotton hose for the college girl in an effort to lessen one of womhood's greatest expense items. Thinking that it might become a fad, a department store manager sought to find the number of cotton hose in stock and found none at all.

The sequel to this story is that there is no demand for cotton stockings.

Yet, this is to be a cotton season, according to some style advocates, and more cotton probably will be worn than in any season recently. While rayon and silk are yet popular, buyers for local stores have stocked more cotton materials than is usual.

To Extend To Underwear.

The wearing of cotton is to extend particularly to underwear, according to Mrs. C. H. Grollman and Spencer Wells.

Voile, broadcloth and dimity are used extensively for underthings and pajamas this year, according to Mrs. Grollman, as these materials lend themselves to printed patterns more readily than rayon and some lovely fluffy garments have been fashioned from cotton materials.

The fad, particularly among young girls, to wear mannish underwear and pajamas has led to purchasing of these garments in cotton, according to Spencer Wells, who said that cotton materials are also to be used more extensively for dresses this year.

The hot weather comfort of cotton materials as well as the appeal of the beautiful printed cotton materials are contributing to the popularity of cotton, he explained.

However, cotton will never replace silk, according to Harry Meyers, as it cannot rival the rich feel or desirability of silk or rayon and these two latter materials are now available at moderate costs.

In some sections of the country the cotton anklet is being worn by women who affect bare legs, according to Mr. Meyers, who does not believe that this fad will meet with any favor here. This whimsy calls for painted legs and is not intrinsically beautiful and for these two reasons alone will not be popular, he believes.

Other local dealers have not faith enough in this fad to believe that it will be popular here. Bare legs have never been seen in Lubbock to any large extent, although they have met with some favor in other centers. Counteracting this tendency hose manufacturers have created stockings in the sunburn shades and these are very popular this season.

Just a Wise Crack.

Some columnist recently commented on the bare-leg fad by saying that "Some girls, it seems, are now wearing nude legs instead of nude stockings. They must be very young or very foolish. Probably both. A clever woman wears bare legs in two places—the beach and in her bedroom."

Silk hose and underwear probably are here to stay, according to women, the ones who are wearing them. Except for the hose, they are moderately priced and they have a rich feel and lend to the dress ensemble chic lines which are harder to attain with cotton materials. Then, too, rayon and silk things are usually easier to launder than are those of cotton material.

"Almost Anything."

Almost any working girl would be glad to see something done to cut her hose expense account—almost anything, that is, except the wearing of cotton ones, for cotton hose do not contribute smartness to the costume.

Belgrade has recently dispatched a news item to the world telling that Premier Zizkovitch has ordered that Jugoslav girls who wear silk stockings or short skirts or who use lipsticks will be barred from school. And politicians in the United States occasionally attempt some legislation regulating the materials of which women's clothing is made, the height of heels or the length of skirts but to little avail, and styles may come and go, but the silk hose is here to stay, according to those "in the know."

Automobile Theft Frustrated Here

One automobile theft was frustrated here last night, when a youth thought to be between 16 and 17 years of age, attempted to steal the Ford coupe of D. G. Hale's, employee of the First National bank.

The car was parked in front of the Wylie-Jarrett Drug store, on Main street, when the youth was seen to get into it and drive off, by Mrs. Hale. A search for the car resulted in locating in parked in front of the Watkins Jewelry store, on Broadway, a few minutes later, the youth still in it. Mr. Hale reports starting to the police station with the young man, when he jumped from the car.

A chase of several minutes was futile, when the boy ran into a picture show. He was described as being roughly dressed. Police stationed at the picture show were unable to catch him.

Contractors Hold Meeting In City

A meeting of the Association of General Contractors of West Texas was held here last night, featured by a banquet in the private dining room of the Lubbock hotel. A general discussion of business conditions by members of the association was had, the gathering being presided over by C. S. Lambie, of Amarillo, president of this chapter of the organization.

Among prominent attendants were, George Watson, state president, and Frank Watson, state secretary, both of Dallas. Members from Amarillo, Plainview, Abilene, San Angelo and Lubbock were present.

MRS. THOMPSON FETED

Dr. Horn Entertains With Luncheon At Hotel

Mrs. E. O. Thompson, of Amarillo, professionally known as May Peterson, grand opera star and concert singer, together with her accompanist, Mrs. Truelove, and her manager, Arthur L. Carnahan, were in Lubbock yesterday. While here they were guests of Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college, for luncheon at the Lubbock hotel.

Mrs. Thompson and party were returning from Abilene, where they gave a concert Friday evening.

CAR IS RETURNED

Constable J. C. Roberts announced yesterday that a representative of an insurance company arrived in Lubbock Saturday and returned to Shawnee, Okla., with a Hupmobile roadster, which had been recovered in this city last week. The car was found by the constable's department, parked on a downtown street and Shawne authorities notified. A reward of $15 was paid.

Miss Fay Massengale of Tahoka, is the week-end guest of Miss Ernestine Lockhart, 1611 Broadway.

Texans Called

Are Asked to Honor Gen. Sam Houston

HUNTSVILLE, Mar. 16. (AP)—Citizens of Texas have been called upon to donate house furnishings for the home of General Sam Houston here that it might not look so bare during a semi-centennial celebration that will be held in May.

The committee in charge has pointed out that grounds surrounding the house have been transformed into a place of beauty, but because of the lack of funds the house has not been furnished.

Practically everything is needed, the appeal said, and urged that furnishings donated be sent in early so as to be in place when the celebration gets under way.

The donors will receive full recognition of gifts made, the committee said.

BONDS ARE SOLD

Crosby County Continuing Its Paving Plans

CROSBYTON, March 16. — The commissioners court of Crosby county met recently to receive bids for the $40,000 road bonds issued by the consolidated road district No. 1 The bonds were sold to Carrett and company of Dallas for par, accrued interest and a premium of $1700. According to authentic information this is the highest premium that has ever been paid on any bonds sold in Crosby county in recent years, and this in spite of the fact that the bond market is considered in its worse condition in years. This money will be matched by $30,00 state and federal funds to pave Highway 63 from the Dickens county line to the city of Crosbyton This paving, when completed, will close one of the important gaps in the Fort Worth-Lubbock highway.

PLAN COMMITTEES

Three Slaton Men Named To Work For C. Of C.

SLATON, Mar. 16.—The board of directors of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce has appointed W. H. Smith, T. A. Worley, Jr., and Dr. W. E. Payne as a committee on committees to recommend a list of twelve standing committees to serve the organization through the coming year. The report will be received on March 26. Present committees have been serving since March of last year. Some changes in personnel will probably be made for the year ahead.

Catching from a grass fire, a blazing pile of feed, located on the property of A. J. McDaniel, corner of Fourth street and Avenue D, yesterday occasioned a run by the fire department. The feed was destroyed before the department arrived, only about a wagonload of it being stored.

Phillips Plane To Visit City Today

A seven-passenger monoplane belonging to the Phillips Petroleum company is to be at the temporary municipal airport today, according to an announcement made last night by T. E. May, local distributor of the Phillips products. The plane is on a tour of the section, making surveys of the airport conditions and carrying officials of the company.

A. M. Hughes, division manager of Amarillo, is to accompany the plane here.

PHARRS HAVE NEW ARRIVAL

Judge Homer L. Pharr was Saturday telling the glad news to his host of friends and acquaintances that a seven and one-half pound baby girl, Jewel Alice Pharr, arrived in his household Friday night.

The baby was born at the West Texas hospital and both it and the mother are reported doing splendidly.

FOUR LICENSES ISSUED

Four marriage licenses were issued Saturday at the county clerk's office, as listed below:

Carl Wilson and Miss Mabel Brown, E. B. Scott and Miss Mary Lucille Old. Oliver F. Stambaugh and Miss Faith Glennivale Hastings, James A. Stallcup and Miss Ruby Dole Wheat.

CLUB IS ORGANIZED

BIG SPRING, Mar. 16.—The largest 4-H club for boys and girls for the county was organized by County Agent Bush today at Coahoma with 43 members. Six 4-H boy clubs have bee norganized in the county since February 1, with a total enrollment of 88 members. The projects to be conducted are dairy calf, maize, and poultry. The business men will finance the boys entering the calf clubs by lending money with which to buy the calves, taking the boys note for payment this fall. The boys will pledge to plant three acres of cotton with which to pay for the calf and two acres of maize for feed. Arrangements are being made for the selection of these calves to be made at an early date, which will probably be from the Ed C. Lassater farm at Falfurrius, according to Conuty Agent Bush.

PEANUTS PLENTIFUL

BIG SPRING, Mar. 16.—Howard county soil is adaptable to peanuts and several carloads have been marketed in thue city during the past few weeks. Dr. G. S. True and Claude Harland shipped 1300 bushels of peanuts this week to the DeLeon Peanut Company for $1.20 per bushel. At one time Howard county farmers shipped out more than one hundred carloads of Spanish peanuts in a season, however, this acreage has been cut and only a few farmers in this territory still produce peanuts.

A Story About Tech's Handy Man

Night-Watchman At College Becomes One Of Institution's Most Popular And Best Known Individuals

The little old man who carries the nightwatchman's punch clock at Tech has been on the job for near three years—probably a long time for the average nightwatchman. In fact, several men tried the job before Jack took it. But none are likely to get the job for quite awhile. A graduate returning to his Alma Mater ten years from now will not be surprised to find Jack still on the job. For, he has won his way into the hearts of the student body.

That student who does not know Jack simply does not attend many of the night sessions at the library. If he had he would have met Jack and he would probably have talked with him. Jack likes to talk. Between stations, at which he must punch a clock, Jack drops by the rotunda just east of the library. There he meets plenty of students, who come to the college at night for no other reason than to get a little social contact—to talk.

He Scares Love-Sick

The part which Jack contributes to these conversations consists largely of what he has read in the papers at night and the adventures which he encounters while making his way between the various buildings where the punch stations are located. He has his share of stories concerning the ever-present love makers. Through courtesy, however, he leaves out names while telling such stories. Ordinarilly he just gives the couples a big scare and tells them to do their courting elsewhere, and they usually do it—Gladly.

The part which Jack receives from these conversations is little short of an education itself. He questions the students concerning nearly everything under the sun. Although he does not always find them able to answer his questions, he takes advantage of many things which they have dug out of books for themselves.

Helping start stalled autos and opening various rooms for club meetings forms part of the extra tasks which Jack gladly does though it is not connnected with his duty as a watchman. But he gets plenty of pay in student friendship in return for these things. He has simply won his way into the heart of the student body.

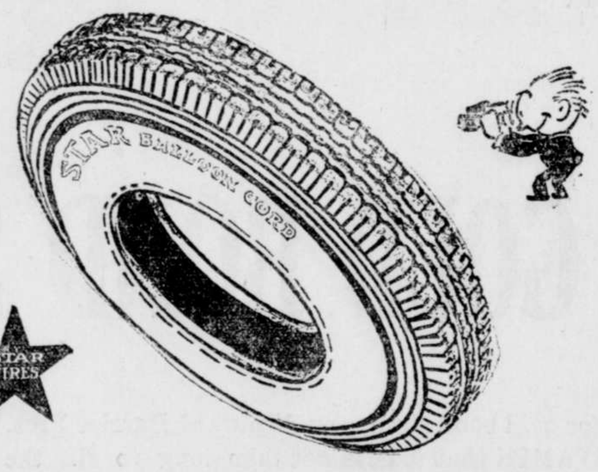

JURY ROOM PREPARED

Permanent Quarters For Grand Jury Made

A permanent grand jury room is being prepared at the court house.. it was learned Saturday, which will be located at the southwest corner of the top floor. Heretofore the grand jury has been compelled to use either the rooms of the Seventy-Second or of the Ninety- Ninth district court, or other smaller rooms in the building.

Work of re-calsimining and redecorating the room is going on and it will be ready for occupancy in about a week.

For Sunday supper salads, a handy way to serve it is to cut iceberg lettuce in circular cross-sections and place individual portions of asparagus, fine string beans, tomatoes or other salad ingredients on top of each slice.

Stock Market Has Heavy Selling In Pool Operations

Trading Is Carried On At Breakneck Speed Saturday; Radio Leads List Of General Highs

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Mar. 16. (AP)—The stock market encountered heavy selling today in anticipation of tighter money next week, but offerings were absorbed with remarkable ease, and vigorous pool operations in the radio and other shares imparted renewed strength to the general list before the close.

Trading was again carried on at breakneck speed, 2,718,260 shares changing hands in the two-hour session, the largest Saturday business since January 5. The Associated Press index of 50 industrials was elevated 1-2 of a point to another new high at 223 1-2 making a gain of over 9 points for the week.

Although Friday's call loan rate of 7 percent held over the week-end bankers pointed out that the government will begin sending in its income tax checks for payment next week, which will cut down bank balances, and at the same time will begin to pay off its overdraft at the reserve banks, which has had the effect of easing credit this week. The fact that time money had reached 8 percent even for longer maturities the highest rate in years, is indicated as a barometer of the credit situation.

The day's business news included still another increase in copper metal prices, carrying the price for domestic shipment to 21 cents, and still higher prices were talked of in the trade. It was pointed out, however, that consumption of the red metal will soon reach its seasonal peak, and much of the recent feverish buying has been regarded as an effort to "beat" price advances rather than for current requirements.

Price Of Cotton Works Lower On Southern Market

NEW ORLEANS, March 16. (AP)—Trading in today's session of the cotton market consisted mainly of evening-up for over the week-end. Prices worked slightly lower under liquidation and realizing, reaching the low points in final trading. July contracts after opening at 20.60 eased off to 20.40 and closed at 20.43, or 14 points net lower. The general market closed steady at net declines of 9 to 14 points.

Liverpool cables were better than due at the start here and first trades showed gains of 2 to 5 points. The initial bulge which carried May to 20.54 and July 20.60, was a poor response to the firmness of the English market. Sealizing and liquidation as well as some selling by ring traders on the better weather in the belt, developed right after the start and although there were slight rallies on covering, the market was on the downgrade practically the remainder of the short session.

The lows of the day were made in late trading when May sold at 2.34, July 20.40, and October 20.25 or 20 points below the high on old crop months but only 10 points down on October. Final prices were a shade above the lowest with May closing at 20.28 and October 20.26.

Saturday Is Clean Up At Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, March 16. (AP)—Saturday's livestock market was strictly a clean-up affair. Quality generally lacking the cattle yards and receipts included a few common stocker steers and two loads yearlings bought in the country Mixed loads made up the bulk of the sale in the cattle yards.

Package lots of steers sold in line with the best prices for the week quality considered. Today's trading included the common and fair kind of slaughter steers that sold at 10.85 and less.

A few odd head of bulls sold at steady values with the week's trading. Better heavy bulls sold .800

Except for two loads of yearlings that sold in the country and weighed up at Fort Worth, the trading here today consisted of a few head that went scaleward at unchanged prices.

Butcher and beef cows sold in line with the week's advance, bulk package lots at 6.50@8.50, canners and cutters at 5.00@6.00.

No calves of any consequence sold today. A few head of fairly good heavy calves sold up to 11.00, bulk of cull calves around 7.00.

Not enough sheep on hand to test market and values considered steady.

No good hogs offered, rail top 10.85, which was considered fifteen cents higher with packing sows showing a little strength in spots The truck top was 9.90. About three loads in the rail section sold at 10.85, packing sows at 8.50@9.50

GILBRETH IS JAILED

Man Is Held On Indictment For Pro Law Charge

Cotton Generally Lower on New York Exchange Saturday

NEW YORK, March 16. (AP)—Reports of better weather in the south counteracted the influence of relatively firm Liverpool cables and cotton was generally lower today, under realizing or liquidation combinded with some local and southern selling. May sold off to 21.06 or 18 points net lower, and closed at that level. The general market closed easy at net declines of 12 to 19 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 3 points to a decline of 3 points. There was some buying promoted by relatively firm Liverpool cables and reports of overflows in eastern belt sections. It was soon supplied, however, and the market eased off later in the morning under renewed liquidation or realizing.

Evidently the trade doubted whether overflows reported in the south had done any damage of consequence to coming crop prospects It seemed to be more influenced by clearing conditions reported in the south by bullish features.

The decline brought in some trade buying and considerable covering, but it was not sufficiently active or aggressive to cause more than momentary bulges. Closing prices were the lowest of the day. March sold off to 21.06 and the new October contract to 20.43 and closed at these figures.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Mar. 16.—(AP)—(United States Department of Agriculture)—Livestock trade around the 11 market circuit during the week under review was marked by sharp price fluctuations on both hogs and fat lambs. Hogs opened the week higher, declined on midweek sessions, and then scored another sharp advance. Meager receipts was the strengthening influence. Closing values are 75@95c higher than a week ago, with the closing top at St. Louis of $12.30 a new high mark for the season. Total offerings were around 390 700, a decrease of 121,700 from last week and a shortage of 318,000 from the same period a year ago.

Fat lambs registered sharp price gains early in the week despite the fact that supplies were liberal, but mid-week a decided lower undertone developed and the river markets closed 25@50c under a week ago, or $1.00 under the high time. The scarcity of aged stock prompted strong to unevenly higher values, several points reporting upturns of 25c@1.00 on fat ewes. Chicago early in the week scored $17.85 on fat lambs but on the close best offerings stopped at $17.60. The supply approximated 276,200, against 1[illegible]334 last week and 218,948 a year ago.

Moderate activity prevailed on most classes of cattle, medium weight and heavy steers proving the exception. Choice steers of weight closed firm to slightly higher, but the less desirable grades are steady to easier. Other killing classes are unevenly higher with light weight steers and yearlings generally showing advances of 25@50c Stockers and feeders continued to meet a broad country demand with further upturns registered. Aggregate receipts were around 163.100, an increase of 5.000 over last week but 1.500 short of a year ago.

Fig Growers Body Fully Organized

GALVESTON, Mar. 16. (AP)—Fig growers of this territory have reorganized as the Gulf Coast Fig Growers' association, with Fred C. Pabst, of Galveston, as president.

Faced with increased production and the possibility that packing plants, which have much of last season's stock on hand, will take only part of the 1929 crop, the growers are setting about to increase the markets and design better arrangements with the packers.

The ultimate success of the industry, it is stated, will depend on the grower-packer co-operation on increased consumption through national advertising and on the protective tariff against Asiatic figs now imported in large quantities. Petition for the tariff is now before the congressional ways and means committee and action is expected at the special session in April.

Garza County Gets Much Oil Interest

G. W. Connell, of Post, owner of the famous O. S. ranch, was a Lubbock business visitor Saturday, while here calling on his old-time friend, W. O. Stevens, vice president of the Citizens National Bank.

According to Mr. Connell the recent impetus to oil development in Garza county has not excited the citizenship of the county, although there is evidence of considerable increase in activity, with the demand for leases growing and a flocking of oil men to be seen.

Saturday the Emerald Oil company began putting in six-inch casing at their Boren No. 4 well, which shot oil over the derrick when it was "shot" about two weeks ago. This company is to make three more locations, one each on the Bargsley, W. V. Roy, and John Reed ranches

The stock judging team of the West [illegible]as State Teachers College attended the thirty-third annual Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth. The team was composed of three students and Professor Frank R. Phillips.

Simpson Warns About Light Cords

City Fire Marshal L. H. Simpson yesterday issued a warning which he asked be broadcast to citizens of Lubbock, to the effect that war has been declared on "promiscuously hanging" lamp cords.

"Folks who hang their electric light cords anywhere and everywhere, anyway and everyway," said Mr. Sinmpson, "are not only creating a very dangerous fire hazard for their own property, but are violating a city ordinance. Besides, if they fail to change these cords within five days after being notified, following an inspection, they will make it necessary for fire insurance companies to add $1.00 to every $1,000 of insurance policies, in premium costs."

Mr. Simpson stated that quite a large number of inspections have resulted in the discovery of dangling lamp cords and that several thousand feet of it has been changed.

The population per square mile in Texas is about 20.9 as compared with 40.4 for the entire United States.

LEGAL NOTICES

SHERIFF'S SALE

The state of Texas, County of Lubbock. Whereas, By virtue of an Order of Sale, issued out of the 72nd District Court of Lubbock County, Texas, on a judgment rendered in said Court on the 12th day of February, A. D. 1929, in favor of C. B. Powell, and against W. L. Stringer and wife, Ora L. Stringer and S. Edgar McMillian, No. 3461 on the Docket of said Court, and to me, as Sheriff, directed and delivered, I did on the 8th day of March, A. D. 2929, at 8 o'clock, a. m., levy upon the following described tracts and parcels of land situated in Lubbock County, Texas, and belonging to W. L. Stringer and wife, Ora L. Stringer and S. Edgar McMillan, to-wit: Lot 17, Block 3, of the Perkins subdivision of Blocks 17, 18, 19, 20 and 21 of the Roberts and McWhorter Addition to the City of Lubbock, Lubbock County, Texas on the 2nd day of April, A. D. 1929, being the first Tuesday of said month, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. on said day, at the Court House door of Lubbock County, Texas, in the town of Lubbock, I will offer for sale and sell at public auction, for cash, all the right, title and interest of the said W. L. Stringer and wife, Ora L. Stringer and S. Edgar McMillan, in and to said property.

Witness my hand, this the 8th day of March, A. D. 1929.

Jelly Bean Lawbreakers Are Worse

Veteran Peace Officers Here Agree That Old Timers Were Easier To Handle And Not Nearly So 'Slick'

AS THE old order changeth and the old-time two-gun train robber and horse thief passes into history as a picturesque figure of the past, a new day lawbreaker is born—the sleek-haired jelly bean type, that lounges about on street corners, peddling liquor from his hip, a pint at a time, to the anti-Volstead youth of the nation.

Lubbock peace officers, who have served in the occupation of enforcing the law for a number of years, view with alarm the shifting of the criminal type from the old to the youth.

Work Is Harder Now.

Chief of Police John Lemond, dean of Lubbock peace officers, has served in different capacities for the past 15 years. He began as a deputy in what is now Cochran county, then under the jurisdiction of Lubbock county. Six years ago the 15th of this month he became a night watchman for the city and has served on the police force since that time. Being an officer is much harder now than it was then, in his opinion. He says that the criminal of today is much younger than a few years ago and much more clever.

Going even farther back, Desk Sergent J. T. Inmon of the city police department recalls 25 years ago when criminals really were "bad men." Serving as sheriff of Deaf Smith county from 1900 to 1906, Mr. Inmon tells many interesting tales of the early cattle thieves and train robbers.

Modern Are Worse.

"All of the law breakers were over 25 years old then, and now we have most of our trouble with youths under 20," he will tell you. And in Mr. Inmon's opinion, "the modern bootlegger is much worse than the old cattle thief or horse thief, because the bootlegger is ruining the American youth.

"A typical criminal of that time," he continues, "was 'Black Jack,' a noted train robber, who was finally hanged in New Mexico. I had a ticket to his hanging but couldn't go because court was in session at that time."

Sheriff Wade Hardy, who became a peace officer about six years ago, feels that one of the most notable changes in the criminal type is toward the modern young woman. "A few years ago practically no women at all were arrested, and now we arrest almost as many women as we do men. They are bootlegging, getting drunk and stealing almost as much as men, and the time will soon come when juries will send them to the penitentiary as quick as they would send a man.

New Ones Are "Slick."

"The criminal has changed from the tough to the jelly bean," he continued, "and in my opinion the youthful law breaker is slicker and much more clever than the old-time offender."

Young boys, also, have given local officers much more trouble recently than in the past. The entire change in the criminal class is blamed on the growth of the city and is thought to be the natural result. "There has never been any really 'bad' men here and there was very little crime of any kind until about five years ago when the city began to grow," according to Chief Lemond.

POSTOFFICE MOVED

Big Spring Office Changes To New Location

BIG SPRING, Mar. 16.—The Big Spring post office was moved this week into its new quarters in the Fisher building directly adjacent to the old building and work of remodeling the building just vacated begun immediately. The building will be thoroughly overhauled, both inside and out and made practically new. The First National bank, owners of the building, needing more room on account of its increased business will occupy this building when completed. The exterior of the building will be finished in brick with stone trimmings to conform to the portion of the building now occupied by the bank and the improvements will be made at a cost of $25,000.

When Death Beat 200 Miles An Hour

Death rode faster than 200 miles an hour to overtake Lee Bible, amateur auto racer, in his 36-cylinder Triplex Special at Daytona Beach, Florida. Whizzing along at the terrific speed that made the powerful machine appear little more than a streak, it swerved in the sand, sailed 100 feet through the air and came to earth a mass of twisted steel with Bible dead in the seat. Charles Traub, a venturesome newspicture cameraman, was struck by the hurtling machine and cut in two, dying instantly. This picture shows the wreckage. The photo was flown from Daytona Beach to Atlanta by airplane and rushed thence by telephoto.

Levee Can Hold.

While F. W. Brist, Memphis meteorologist, has not issued a crest forecast, the Mississippi river should crest here on 40 to 41 feet by next Sunday on the basis of the Cairo forecast. The main levee system South of Cairo can stand this amount of water without danger. The river today reached 38 feet on the Memphis gauge, three feet above flood stage.

Little damage has been done by high water since the greater part of the overflowed area had not been planted. A few families on the fringe of the lowlands have left their homes, but for the most part residents have remained. Seven rural schools in an overflowed section of Dyer county, Tenn., were closed.

Water In Business Section.

Although there was some water in the main business street of Hickman, Ky., business and traffic were not disturbed and Hickman expected no further trouble on this rise. It would require 55 feet on the Cario gauge to cause concern in Hickman.

Word came today from Marked Tree, Ark., that an apparent attempt had been made to dynamite the main St. Francis levee near there. Three sticks of dynamit were found in the dike, and it was believed timely arrival of a guard prevented the explosion from being set off. No motive for an attempt to blast the levee was advanced.

MAKE BIG HAUL

DALLAS, Mar. 16.—(AP)—Prohibition agents made a big haul here tonight.

He was a negro, weighing 437 pounds. He had three gallons of corn whiskey.

Flood

night before the worst of the water from Pea river arrived, and the 3,500 population was removed to nearby towns on high ground during the night and early day hours.

Water which last night covered most of Brewton on Murder and Burnt Corn, tributaries of the Alabama river, subsided somewhat today, but was expected to flood the town again during the night, as Murder Creek began a second rise.

Direction of relief and disease prevention was taken over at Montgomery today, with Enterprise, Troy Dothan and the national guard base at Cemetry Hill designated as refuge and supply concentration centers. Governor Bibb Graves was in temporary command of 17 army airplanes from Mexwell field, which flew over the various flood sections with food, serum and other supplies.

Returning aviators and news correspondents told of desperate situations at Elba and Geneva, particularly.

Graves Broadcasts Appeal

Governor Graves, in broadcasting a second appeal for aid, today said $225,000 would be necessary for immediate relief.

Stories of thrilling rescues and pitiful refugee conditions were plentiful, as correspondents began to return to Montgomery and Birmingham. Apparently most of the refugees escaped the rising flood water without anything but the clothing they wore. Wire communications were so disrupted that reports were lacking from many communities known to be endangered by the high water.

The first train from Flomaton, one of the flooded towns reached Mobile this afternoon.

In the midst of the flood, the crew said lightning struck a store at Flomaton and it was burned to the water level.

Loss Of Life Undetermined

It was impossible to determine according to the trainmen, whether or not there has been any loss of life in Flomaton. They had been told bodies of ten negroes had been recovered at Brewton but they could not verify the report.

J. R. Nelson, baggage master, who lives at Flomaton, said 90 persons had sought refuge in his home, situated a bit higher than some of the other houses. Water kept rising slowly and as it crept higher and higher they retreated to the attic, thinking momentarily the rise would cease. Finally they were compelled to chop a hole in the roof through which they escaped to be rescued by a motorboat.

Another place seriously affected by high water was Caryville, Fla., across the line south of Geneva, Ala., where hurried efforts were necessary to take inhabitants to safety zones. Two hundred persons were rescued this morning. Motor boats took women and children from the second story windows of two hotels and others were saved by clinging to housetops and the tops of trees.

from Torreon and said that outbreak of revolt in various central Mexican states menaced the rear of the Calles army. Their capture of Aguas Calientes had cut the federal line of communications with Mexico City, they claimed, and many federal soldiers had been killed or captured in the battle there.

Rebels Cut Fence.

Six hundred rebels cut through a wire fence on the international boundary line east of Nogales, Ariz., to obtain water from a ranch on the American side. The soldiers returned to Mexican soil and asserted they had not realized they were crossing the border.

The first three of 20 new airplanes ordered in New York by the federals have been completed and will be flown to Mexico City Monday by Mexican army aviators.

A statement by President Portes Gil said that all captured rebels of General Aguirre's Vera Cruz army below the rank of lieutenant colonel had been liberated.

told me he would kill me if I came back on his land again."

The negro told how he had walked past the Pedigo home just after dark on the night of the murder and saw the couple standing in a front door of their house. He then returned to his house and came back, approaching the Pedigo home from the rear.

Fired Twice

The black said he had gained a position behind the railroad dump about 20 feet from Pedigo's woodpile. Pedigo had been chopping wood and was stooping over when the negro fired the first time. He shot again immediately, both shots entering Pedigo's body.

"The woman screamed," the negro told the officers. "She said 'what did you kill him for? I know you.' I told her she didn't know me and she said, 'You are the one my husband had the row with'."

He said the woman slammed the back door and turned out the lamp in the house as he started through the fence separating the Pedigo place from the railroad right of way.

"I went around the west side of the house and walked up on the porch. The woman was standing with the door partly open sticking her head out. I shot her in the head," the negro said.

"We are not satisfied with the negro's motive for the killing," Holt said. "I believe he is holding something back."

Building Records Since 1924 Show Growth Of City

Present Year Will Set New Records Despite High Points Of Past; City Coninues To 'Say It With Building'

Million Mark Passed First Time In 1924; Coming Of College Added Impetus to Expansion Here

TO HAVE predicted ten or even five years ago that Lubbock's building permits would total as much as half a million dollars in a single month in 1929 or that they would total more than three millions of dollars during 1928 would have branded one as an optimistic braggart.

This year's building permit total, up until the present time, $911,075 for 172 permits, is much higher than the entire year ten years ago and almost as large as the total of five years ago.

Pass Million In 1924

Although there can be found no official records of building permits before the year 1924, old timers maintain that the total never reached as high as the $1,000,000 mark until about 1924. That year the building activities here aggregated 1,212,100, which was at that time considered an enormous building program. The next year, however, 1925—the year Texas Technological college was located here—saw all building records broken as the city experienced an unparalleled building boom and the building total soared to $2,307,091, a record that remained unsurpassed until last year.

Following the unusual activity of 1925, the city slowed down somewhat, oficial frecords revealing that the year's total was $1,544,400. There was a substantial increase next year to the $1,651,289 mark, although it was still below the 1925 record. It remained for last year with its total of $3,197,644 to establish a new criterion of building activity.

1929 To Set Record

That the 1929 building total will surpass that of last year is assured, and some predictions have placed this year's total as hight as the $5,000,000 mark. The year got off to a flying start this year, as January's total of $261,728 showed an increase over January, 1928, which was $234,935. February, usually a slow month from the standpoint of building activity, proved the banner months of all times with a total of $502,622, giving the first two month's total an increase of about $150,000 over the first two months of the previous year, and about $300,000 over the January and February total of 1927. The highest building total of a single month previous to February of this year was May, 1928, with $402,158. This was more than $100,000 below last month's mark.

A number of major projects looming for Lubbock in the near future, including the Hotel Lubbock addition and the new Hilton Hotel, promise additional height to this year's total. Last year's building more than doubled that of 1927, every month with the exception of one being larger than the corresponding month of the previous year.

This Month Ahead

Building during the month of March of last year totalled $232,925. Up until the present time permits this month are about $150,000 and there is little doubt but that the complete month's total will be higher than March, 1928.

Most permits last year and msot of the ones issued so far this year have been for the construction of residences. It is predicted both by realtors and contractors that construction of busines buildings will receive the big play for the remainder of the year.

Lubbock was seventh in the entire state last year in building activities and promises to command an even higher rank this year. For 1929 building totals this city has never been below fifth place so far and in the totals compiled by the Associated Press each week, Lubbock has always ranked from second to seventh place for the various week's totals.

VISIT OIL FIELDS

Inspection In Section Near Big Spring Is Held

BIG SPRING, March 16 — The officials of the Kewannie Oil and Gas Company of Oklahoma and Pennsylvania inspected the Howard-Glasscock county fields this week with the probable intention of investing in the field. The companies were represented by Fred Howland, of Titusville, Pennsylvania, and J. B. Steel of Tulsa, in charge of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

The operators in the Howard-Glasscock county fields have practically all agreed to shut down the production operations during Sunday from gauging period form 7 a. m., Sunday to 7 a. m., Monday .The drilling crews running tower will shut down from midnight Saturday to midnight Sunday. Plans are being made to put this practice in effect between now and April 1.

CANARY FOOD

Does your little bird get his spring green regularly? You can grow a little bird garden easily and it will delight your feathered pet. A pinch of mustard seed, bird seed, chickweed or other green will bring little sprigs of green shortly. Remove the bottom of the cage and set the cage over the garden for the bird to scratch around in. He will love it.

Need Of School Building Here Is Stressed

Lubbock's enrollment in its public schools in 1929, being more than a thousand nn number greater than was its total population in 1920, according to Dr. Paul DW. Horn, president of Texas Technological college, is an outstanding fact to consider in viewing the city's present problem of furnishing adequate facilities for taking care of its school children.

"The penalty for rapid growth," Dr. Horn declares, "is that you have to provide for that growth. We can't stand still. Lubbock is faced now with a very acute problem of providing school facilities for its growing thousands of school children. Our public schools are every one crowded. In some of the buildings, so great is the demand, that only half-time work is being carried on. This is unfortunate and must be eliminated."

Bond Issue to Be Called

With the school board's decision to immediately take steps at alleviating present crowded conditions by the erection of a number of additions to new school buildings and by constructing a new ward school or two, the board has placed a firm of architects on the job of drawing plans and specifications for these. As soon as the architects have completed their work, which will be within a few weeks, then it will become necessary that a bond issue election be called to provide funds to pay for the buildings.

"As fast as Lubock is growing, we certainly can not afford to fall down on the school proposition," W. O. Stevens, vice president of the Citizens National bank declared. "We can't afford not to take care of our children's needs, and I am sure that the citizenship of Lubbock will not fail in solving this pressing problem immediately."

Building Needed Now

It will be remembered that the only contention among members of the citizen's committee, appointed recently by the school board to investigate present school needs, a report of which was made about two weeks ago, was as to whether or not a new high school building should be erected as quickly as possible, along with the erection of the additions and new ward schools. This committee recommended that work be started at once in preparing for the ward schools and additions, with further recommendation that the high school building be started next year.

The additions and ward schools are to be built so as to be ready for the opening of next fall's school term.

As Judge George R. Bean said, when making a minority report of the citizen's committee, "We need the high school as badly as we need the ward schools. Both and all are sorely needed and must be provided just as rapidly as can be done."

Committee Plans Its Report Soon

Street Signs Group Nearly Through With Work; Has Made Several Surveys Of City, Williams Says

The street sign committee of the Lubbock Board of City Development will have its final report ready for the board sometime early this week, the Rev. L. G. H. Williams, chairman of the committee, announced yesterday.

Several surveys have been made of the city and the number of signs needed has been decided on. The committee has compared the prices of various types of street markers, and will make recommendations to the board concerning the kind, number and place for the signs.

The committee has been working in cooperation with Postmaster John L. Vaughan, who has advised the committeemen concerning the postal route requirements for street markers and street lights. The committee was selected several months ago, although no report has been made up to this time.

WILL VISIT SCHOOLS

State Inspector Will Look Howard County Over

BIG SPRING, March 16—The rural schools of this county will be inspected by William Eilers, state inspector, and Miss Pauline Contrell, county superintendent. Sixteen rural schools will be visited and the inspector will pass on the schools and make recommendations for state aid. Four days will be used to complete this inspection tour beginning March 15.

Slaton To Stage Free Trades Day For Farm People

Third Auction To Be Held Tomorrow; C. of C. Backs Successful Project; Aids Trade Territory

SLATON, Mar. 16.—Slaton's third free farmers' auction sale and trades day will be held Monday, starting at 10 o'clock. Free auctioneering service is provided for whatever farm equipment or livestock that farmers wish to have sold.

The sale and trades day are being sponsored by the Slaton Chamber of Commerce. The first sale was held in January, another in February, and the popularity of the first two sales prompted the decision to have the third sale. Each sale is held on the third Monday of the month.

Tshousands of dollars' worth of farm equipment changes hands each month when the auction sale is held. Farmers attend these events from many miles in every direction around Slaton. One man came all the wal from central Texas last month and purchased his equipment for one of his Slaton farms while he was here.

CHARTER GRANTED

Big Spring Airport To Be Line Headquarters

BIG SPRING, March 16—The Big Spring Airport, Inc., has been granted a charter by the State of Texas and work on improvements to cost $40,000 or more are to be started as soon as the directors secure the approval of plans submitted to airline officials and government air transport inspectors.

The airport has a capital stock of $50,000. This port has been selected by the officials of the Texas Air Transport company as their West Texas headquarters and division point between El Paso and Dallas and San Antonio and Amarillo. Planes will meet here coming from these different places.

MEETING CANCELLED

Midland Hearing, Set 28th Of March, Called Off

Stamford March 16 — The hearing of the Interstate Commerce Commission set for Midland on March 28, to consider extension of the common point territory from Big Spring to Midland has been cancelled at the request of the traffic department of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. This announcement was made today by Homer D. Wade, manager of the organization.

The request was made because of the decision to file the application for the cancellation of all differentials on Texas lines and the Midland application will be consolidated with that in connection with the differential matters, Wade explained.

Antelope Community Women 'At Home' To Guests As Annual Turkey Feast Is Last Week

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

FLOYDADA, Mar. 16.—Before a mixed crowd of 150 farmers and their wives and Floydada business men and their wives gathered at the Antelope rural school for the annual Antelope Turkey feast last Thursday evening.

Col. Harve H. Haines, vice president and general manager of the Amarillo Board of City Development spoke for 45 minutes on the influence on the future possibilities of Texas, the co-operation of farmer and business man is having and of the plan of the Panhandle of Texas, Inc., to adequately advertise this section. Visitors from neighboring communities and towns took part in the program prepared by the Antelope Home Demonstation clum.

Haines' Speech Quoted

"It is gratifying to note that our statements to farmers in other states to the effect that this section of Texas is rapidly developing into a citizenship all working for the interest of their towns and communities can be substantiated by you as indicated by this splendid spirt of co-operation indicated here," Colonel Haines said. "And that you have realized the necessity of working together for the common good of all." Colonel Haines was well received by the group and was given a standing invitation to return.

The welcome address of the occasion was made by N. C. Purcell, principal of the Antelope school, Mrs. Joe H. Smith, prominent club woman of the community, gave a short address on the work of Miss Blanche Bass, retiring home demonstration agent. O. T. Williams, vocational/ agricultural instructor of the Floydada high school, spoke on "The Farmer—a Community Builder."

The Antelope community is 21 miles southeast of Floydada, and in the heart of the wheat raising section of Floyd county. A school building which cost the community approximately $12,000 serves the entire population. The turkey feast is an annual affair and was sponsored by the Home Demonstration club of that community under the direction of Miss Bass.

Subway Work Is Moving Forward

Storm Sewers Almost Ready At Broadway Intersection With Tracks; Excavating Work Progresses

Storm sewers for the subway at the Broadway intersection of the Santa Fe tracks is virtually completed, officials of the Panhandle Construction company announced yesterday.

Excavation work is progressing rapidly and is about half finished at the present time, engineers in charge of the construction state. The majority of the excavation on the west side of the tracks has been completed. The excavation will reach a depth of about seventeen and a half feet, allowing a fourteen-foot clearance for the subway below the tracks.

Traffic east toward Canyon and Acuff communities is being diverted across the Santa Re tracks on Avenue H during construction of the underpass, which is expected to be open to traffic by July 1.

Student Farms Paying Profit

CHILOCCO, Okla., March 16. (AP) Individual student farms, once considered a foolish experiment, have solved the problem of training youthful Indian farmers.

Nearly 40 Indian boys now cultilate separate tracts, ranging from 63 to 75 acres a piece, at the Chilocco Indian Agricultural school. Four thousand acres are under student cultivation.

Lawrence E. Correll, superintendent, aroused interest by telling the Indians the ground held buried treasurers." Each boy assigned a tract of ground averages $200 profit annually—one quarter of what he produces.

Slaton To Open New Fire Station

Federal Building Decision Now Rests With United States Attorney General

The decision of Lubbock's federal building site is now in the hands of the United States attorney general, according to advices received here yesterday from Federal District Attorney Norman A. Dodge of Fort Worth.

Judge Mullican's decision in the recent friendly injunction suit of J. A. Hodges and other local business men against the county of Lubbock was submitted to Dodge recently by J. E. Vickers, local attorney who handled the case. Dodge advised Mr. Vickers yesterday that he had written his decision on the case and had sent his recommendations and all of the papers to the attorney general at Washington.

Should a favorable decision be obtained from the attorney general, his recommendation to the treasury department will assure the federal government's acceptance of the proposed building site on the southeast corner of the court house square. A decision is expected within the next two weeks.

Although the property in question was originally deeded to the public. Judge Mullican ruled that the county held possession of the land. If this decision proves satisfactory to the attorney general, immediate steps are expected to be taken toward preliminary construction of the $335,000 combined court house and federal court building here.

PAVING FINISHED

Bis Spring Thoroughfare A More Useful One Now

BIG SPRING, March 16—Main street which has recently been paved from Fourth to Twelfth street will be opened for traffic today, the paving connecting with that of the business district. This street is 70 feet wide and is one of the most used streets of the city. Plans are being made to extend the paving program to include Johnson street from Third to Tenth street, and Gregg street from Third to Fourth.

Will Upshaw Will Speak In Lubbock

Heralded as the "Georgia Cyclone" ex-Congressman Will D. Upshaw, one of the outstanding dry leaders of the nation, will speak at the First Baptist church of this city Sunday evening, March 24, under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon League of Texas.

Citizens of this and nearby cities are invited to hear the lecture, which promises to be of much interest to the friends of temperance.

Mr. Upshaw's career has been a remarkable one. Permanently crippled by an accident in his youth, he remained in bed for more than ten years, then was elected to congress in spite of his handicap as a cripple. He is said to be one of the most entertaining speakers on the modern platform.

Plunge hard-boiled eggs in cold water and the shells will come off easily without breaking the whites.

Premier Dance Of Society Attracts Many To Function

Fraternity Men's Club Has Dance On Friday Evenin' At Local Palace; Large Attendance Noted

One of the outstanding affairs of the week-end was a formal dance given Friday evening at the Uptown Dance Palace by the Men's Fraternity club for several hundred guests.

Fraternity letters and vari-colored streamers decked the large hall which was softly lighted for the occasion and the Florida Crackers furnished music.

A specialty for the evening was solo dancing by Miss Lucile Walker.

The Fraternity Club has recently been formed among the men here and this was their first large dance. Several hundred bids were issued for the occasion.

These Are Members

Members of the society are Clarence Rollo, Dr. Edd Smith, J. A. Walker, L. M. Brown, George Soash, Dr. Walter J. Howard, H. S. Thompson, Dr. R. L. McAllister, Louis Barker, Joe Durham, Charles Bacon, Bubba Gardner, Dr. C. H. Pitzer, Ralph Gibson, R. B. Collins, Clyde Williams, Bill Smith, Dr. J. B. McCorkle, D. A. Blair, J. P. Newman, Dr. J. H. Stiles, Leouard Pearson, C. L. Dean, Thord Dockray, Clauriece Harris and Weldon Hanking.

Among the chaperones for the dance were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Read, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sproles, Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Ballenger, Dr. and Mrs. O. W. English, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Roberds, Mr. and Mrs. Guy L. McAfee, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Myrick, jr., Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. Velton Spikes, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Hale, and Mr. and Mrs. Marlin R. Smith, jr.

"Be Yourself," Is Easter Style Decree; New Modes Fashioned For Individuality

A new elegance pervades the mode for this year's Easter costumes. (Left to right): A fawn colored coat has a fitted silhouette, new sleeves and trims itself with black velvet. The purse is self-material and hat and gloves match. French-like in its chic is the black suit with ermine facings and a jabot blouse. The black-white chapeau has a coral feather in it. A navy blue suit has unusual tuckings, a tri-color trim to its blouse and a ballibunt, hat to top it. Royal purple is a flat crepe frock that ties its tunic like a pinafore and ruffles its cuffs and skirt. Its hat frames the face in feathers. The essence of luxury is expressed in a beige and black faille ensemble, with ruff collar and half sleeves of tucked black. Rich accessories include a brocaded purse, beige gloves and a black hat with beige flowers. For formal elegance there is a black broadcloth princess ensemble ermine trimmed. Gardenias trim the hat and white kid gloves add their beauty.

BY JULIA BLANSHARD
NEA Service Writer

Chic sounds a clarion call to a new elegance in dress this Easter.

Mass production and blatant obviousness in styles are things of the past. Subtle beauty, a romantic individualism for every woman of taste and a certain reserved picturesqueness blend now to give us a style atmosphere of formality and richness.

For the woman of means who can afford to buy exactly what she wants, this new elegance is a challenge to her personality and taste.

No collective style can be named as "What They Will Be Wearing." Each type of woman will decide that important question herself.

However, certain lines are new, graceful and receiving approval. The semi-fitted costume coat, the formal afternoon ensemble with princess lines, and slightly more length all around are trends of the fashion times.

You Can Indulge That Low Flare Now

Low flares are extremely good. The flared skirt is better than the straight and much is made of gores and godets. Svelt lines, with subtle curves and flares, are 1929's contribution to the return to feminity of post-war styles.

Whether it is a suit, ensemble or frock and separate coat Milady picks for Easter, her accessories are fully as important as her costume. Hats this year are tremendously diverse in their styles. A woman of taste purchases only the hat that truly complements her costume.

From amongst a wealth of luxurious Easter outfits I have selected six that demonstrate the range of elegance this spring. There is a costume in this group for every part of the country, for every daytime wear Milady might wish and for many different types of women.

For cold climes there is a formal coat and a formal little trotteur. For de luxe wearers there are two Parisian ensembles, one of silk, one of wool that are the epitome of regal beauty and subtle style. For a southern Easter there is a stunning silk suit and a ruffled frock and fur.

A Triple Route to Newness

The separate coat of fawn-colored pomella cloth is new in three ways; it is princess; it has bell sleeves shaped into narrow cuffs; it its trimmed with black velvet. With this coat Milady has her own pouch purse fashioned, of the matching material, with a handsome ebony frame. She wears slip-on French suede gloves, in fawn color and her hat with flaring back brim is of exactly matching felt. Two eyelet black suede dress oxfords add their bit.

An imported trotteur is made of black French serge, with a godet in front of the little yoked skirt, a white satin jabot blouse that tucks into the skirt and a hip-length jacket that does not fasten shut but is fashioned to hang open. This is trimmed with ermine, with a tricky ermine bow for a boutonniere. The hat is very new, a half and half model in black and white felt and with a scarlet feather made of coral right up the front dividing line.

Styles Turn to Little Girl's Frock

A frilled frock in royal purple flat crepe ties its tunic in the back, like a little girl's frock and edges its gored skirt with a little frilled ruffle reminiscent of olden days. A little frill is posed at the top of the cuffs, giving a quaint touch to the sleeves. A purple turban has its entire front made of white feathers that are vastly flattering.

Extremely formal and luxurious is a beige and black faille ensemble straight from Paris. The skirt is black, the overblouse beige and the coat beige with half-sleeves of black tucked faille. Its supreme contribution to chic is its fascinating ruff collar of pleated black faille which continues down to face the coat. A black hat with beige flowers across its back, beige gloves and a brocaded purse are accessories.

Very Parisian is the little princess silhouetted ensemble in black wool with ermine trim. Its elegance is heightened by the down-in-theback hemline and its decidedly fitted waistline. One of its little conciets is its white satin lining which has a long question mark slot-seamed on each side of the front. A little question mark in black is worked out on the white blouse pocket. A black Dutch cap, with gardenias on the ears, tops the ensemble. White kid gloves, a white purse and elegant black shoes complete the outfit.

Club Affairs And Other Events Are Listed For Spring

New Socialities Here For Week-End; Festival And Coming Spring Affairs Fill Calendar

With other affairs claiming the attention of women in the city, there has been few social affairs during the last few days and few are scheduled for the coming week.

Annual club meetings, which are to come during April, are claiming some attention and the annual spring Music Festival filled the latter part of the week.

It also occasioned some specialties as an informal reception was given on Wednesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Douglas for Silvio Scionti, artist-judge of the festival, and Mr. Scionti was honored at several luncheons and dinners.

Clubs in Meetings

Regular club meetings were held last week and bridge was played at small gatherings. There was an attendance of about 200 women at the silver tea given Wednesday afternoon by the First Presbyterian Women's Auxiliary in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Neil H. Wright, 1622 Main street. A silver tea, announced by District 4 of the First Methodist W. M. S. for yesterday, was postponed a week.

Study clubs have been electing delegates to the annual meeting of the seventh district of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs which is to be conducted in Snyder April 25, 26 and 27. Among those who have been elected are Mrs. J. V. Connor and Mrs. J. S. Johnson. Others probably will attend.

Mrs. Smith Speaker

Mrs. Noyes Darling Smith, president of the Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent Teacher Associations has been announced as a speaker for the fourteenth district P. T. A. meeting in Floydada on April 8, 9 and 10. Other speakers are being secured but announcements concerning the program are pending word from the district president Mrs. J. E. Griggs, who is now in the northern Panhandle.

A semi-annual meeting of the County Federation of Women's clubs will be held the last Saturday in April and announcements of committees will be available within a few days, according to the president Mrs. Hub Jones.

Observance of lent continues by some of the women in the city.

Betty Richardson Honored At Dinner

Mrs. H.W. Richardson Fetes Daughter Friday Evening With Dinner Party On Birthday

Mrs. W. H. Richardson entertained Friday evening with a four-course 6 o'clock dinner in her home 1205 Avenue R, complimenting her daughter, Betty, on her birthday. She was assisted by Mrs. Ethridge Eagan, Miss Maragaret Turner and Miss Lizzie Bell Clements.

The green of Saint Patrick season predominated in decorations and in the dinner and jonquils formed a bouquet on the table.

COUPLE IS WED

Miss Thomas Is Bride Of G. Todd On Friday

Miss Naomi Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Thomas at 1921 21st street, and Grady Todd were married Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock by Rev. G. P. McCollum, pastor of the 19th Street Methodist church, at his home, 1919 9th street. The couple is living here and the groom is with the Walker-Smith company.

The bride is a graduate of Lubbock high school and is a former student at Technological college.

Bridge Is Played Yesterday Afternoon At Party Given By Miss Margaret Conner In Her Home

Miss Margaret Conner entertained yesterday afternoon with a bridge party in her home at 2002 Avenue Q. She was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. J. E. Conner, and her sister, Miss Elizabeth Conner.

Saint Patrick appointments were favored and green and white candles were on the tables during the games. Table numbers were in the form of shamrocks and refreshments consisted of limeade, salad, wafers and cake.

Guests included Misses Dorothy Branch, Genevieve Deckert, Evelyn Rutherford, Evelyn Wilson, Patti Hopping, Maxine Bradley, Lillyan Watson, Louise Garrison, Ada Ruth May, Martha Alice Penny, Dorothy Griffith, Frazier Winston, May Tom Simmons, Mildred Price, Johnnie V. Scott, Maxine Clark, Louise Bates, Cecil Horne, John Anna Boyd, Frances Snyder, Mrs. M. C. Bradley, Mrs. Pete Quinlan and Miss Charlene McComb.

CATHOLICS MEET

Get-Together Is Planned At Wayland Farm Today

Members of St. Joseph's Catholic church are to meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Lizzie Wayland, 7 1-2 miles north of Lubbock on College Avenue, according to an announcement made yesterday. The church Altar society is sponsoring this get-together for the membership.

SPEAKS AT MEETING

Methodist Leagues Convene At Tahoka Church

Rev. G. P. McCollum, pastor of the 19th Street Methodist church, was a speaker last evening at the Methodist Epworth league institute which is in session at Tahoka. Among those who are attending the institute from here are Mr. and Mrs. Grady Todd and Miss Addie Bell Fort.

The Woman's Day

By Allene Sumner

Allene Sumner

Aha, one secret is out! Anne calls Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh "Augustus." What's more she tells the world that "Augustus" will do all the family talking for her. These two facts, just about the only intimately personal ones the public has been permitted to know about the engagement of the country's most eligible bachelor, came out when Lindy's plane crashed in Mexico City a few days ago after a three hour air trip with his fiancee, Anne Morrow.

MAYBE IT'S FUNNY

It makes one wonder about this Anne who calls her fiancee "Augustus." If she does it in a spirit of humor because, after all, there is something funny about that name, we rather like it. If she does it in a spirit as solemn as her pronouncement to reporters that "Augustus will speak for me," we rather wonder if this oncoming marriage doesn't need a little leave of humor.

After all, with all his qualities, Lindy has never displayed the slightest sense of humor, and ever his sarcasm to reporters and photographers is not at all subtly good. His yong lady seems to be a chip from the same block of ultra-seriousness.

Oh well. It's Anne's and Augustus' program—not ours!

Just one word: Have you ever noticed that the meek, self-effacing young ladies who take it for granted that "Augustus will speak for them" are the ones who get the Augustuses?

GRANDMA'S SHADE

Shades of our grandmothers! What would those worthies, facing the task of spinning and knitting and bleaching and dyeing and making all the raw materials of field and orchard into food and raiment, have thought of the seriousness and time which their granddaughters give to bridge?

Practically all our department stores have opened special bridge departments where the hostess may select her tallies, favor, decorations and obtain bridge lessons and bridge tea or luncheon menu advice.

WHO'S HAPPIER

First impulse tempts us to react with an "I'm glad of it!" and a longing to throttle all critics of the modern bridge playing woman. Further reflection makes us wonder if grandmother in all her hustle and bustle might not have had the edge on her granddaughter, so far as sheer happiness goes.

THERE is a buxom, retiring young woman of 18 summers attending the Technological college this year as a freshman who probably has received as many prizes and honors as any student in the institution.

This is Elouise Wilke of the New Hope community, a student in the home economics school. Her honors were won in the 4-H home demonstration club work in Lubbock county during four years of her public school training and her interest became so great in this activity that she is now planning to be a club agent at the end of her college career "so that," as she says, "I can help other boys and girls as I have been helped."

Miss Wilke is not as well known on the campus as are many of the other students, because she is instinctively modest and this year her time is absorbed with her work and in making expenses necessary to go to school. Her abilities as a mixer have been proved, however. She served as local leader in her community last fall, directing the work in her home demonstration club; she was a speaker at a state meeting in the interest of club work, and she has appeared on numerous club and social programs and she was president of her club two years.

Tech Honor Student

Her name appears on the honor roll of the Technological college as a tribute to her scholarship.

There are other factors in the record of this young woman, in addition to the honors she has won, for her club work during the four years just passed has been valued

Mrs. Carl George Of Slaton Is Honor Guest When Miss Ruth Pirtle Has Luncheon Yesterday

As a compliment to her sister, Mrs. Carl George of Slaton, Miss Ruth Pirtle was hostess yesterday with a 1 o'clock luncheon at Mrs. Ragsdale's Tea Room.

Mrs. George was Miss Grayce Pirtle before her marriage last Sunday in Slaton.

Covers were laid for Mrs. George Mrs. T. M. George, Miss Maggie George, Mrs. I. M. Brewer, Mrs. W. E. Olive and Miss Tera Baughman of Slaton and the following from Lubbock: Mrs. T. E. Pirtle, Miss Eunice Cox, Miss Annah Jo Pendleton, Mrs. Jerome McCarley, Mrs. Ross Edwards, Miss Billie Nelle Pirtle and Mrs. G. H. Ater.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. J. C. Levens Hostess Friday Afternoon

Mrs. J. C. Levens entertained yesterday afternoon with a birthday party for her daughter, Billy Kathleen, in their home at 2115 15th street.

Easter baskets, rabbits and chickens were used as decorations for the party and favors for the guests. Refreshments of birthday cake, ice cream cones, candies and chewing gum were given the guests and Mrs. Levens was assisted in entertaining by Miss Lila Gay Rodgers.

Guests were Marilyn Riggs, Mary Alice Maedgen, Laura Jean Renner, Bobbie Renner, Jo Dick Hensley, Gloria Conley, Jo Nell Cox, Deane Rogers, Madge Johnston, Bill Trice, Harold Parsons, Shirley Parsons, Charles Hawes and A. L. Hawkins, jr.

Fuller Simpson of Olney, is visiting in the homes of his cousins, Tom and L. H. Simpson. He is planning to move to Lubbock during the summer and enter three of his children in the Tech.

Lubbock P. T. A. Leaders Agree With Plans To Secure A Juvenile Official In City; Believe Campaign Sensible

Women Who Are Experienced In Child Welfare Believe Officer Would Help Boys And Girls Along

IT would seem that the public stamp of approval has been placed on the proposed juvenile officer plan being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs of Lubbock, if one is to feel the pulse of the city through local P. T. A. workers and school executives.

Speaking of the proposition, Mrs. E. M. Smith, who served the old Eighth P. T. A. district, comprising some forty-odd counties, as Juvenile Protection chairman in '27-'28, declared, "With my past experience as chairman of the district, I heartily favor Lubbock's having a juvenile protection officer to look after the adolescent offender. For the adolescent child, who errs or happens to make a mis-step does so generally through some fancied whim of emulating some one of his elders. However, he should not be placed in the class with the criminal, nor placed in the cell alongside with him.

"I feel sure all the P. T. A. members will be glad to cooperate with the Chamber of Commerce and Rotary and Kiwanis clubs in trying to secure for Lubbock a capable and efficient juvenile officer.

Child Welfare Chairman

"When serving the district in the capacity of child welfare chairman, I tried as best I could to organize the work and was especially desirous of helping do what I could for my own home city of Lubbock. I appointed a chairman in each local P. T. A. whose duty it was to help keep "tab" on all juvenile lawbreakers in the school, and to report same at once to me and to the city and county peace officers. Many minors were dealt with during the year for various infractions of the law, while certain investigations revealed several cases were merely problems for parental council. We also did what we could in trying to safeguard the life of the child and protect him from bodily harm by placing "stop signals" about each school to help to curb reckless driving by the speed-maniac.

"Sometime during the year each P. T. A. invited a special speaker for

Two Bills Presented To Legislature By Congress Of Mothers and Parent Associations Pass; Others Presented

Mrs. S. Chamness Who Represented Organization Makes Report On Measures Presented

When the 41st legislature adjourned Thursday, two out of the three bills that the Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations sponsored had been passed, and changes in the third one had been agreed upon so that should Governor Dan Moody include it in the matters for consideration at the special session as he will be asked to do, it will be brought out and probably passed, according to Mrs. Stephen Chamness, executive secretary of the organization who has attended general sessions committee meetings, and private conferences in the interest of the measures.

The two measures successfully passed and sent to the Governor are: The bill to amend the scholastic census law so as to include children six years of age; and the physical education bill. The last one provides that physical education shall be taught in every public school in Texas. It passed in the House just a few hours before the adjournment of the regular session, it having already passed the Senate.

One Failed to Pass

The bill sponsored by the Texas Congress that failed to come up in the House was the county superintendent's bill, which as first proposed was very vigorously opposed by many representatives, Mrs. Chamness stated. However, in various conferences the bill has been so changed that it is assured of passage if Governor Moody includes it in his call. The principle change is that instead of making the selection of a county superintendent by a county board of trustees compulsory, the altered bill leaves the matter to a vote of the people of each county as to whether the superintendent shall be elected by the people at large as it is now done or by the board as first proposed, Mrs. Chamness states that this seems to be acceptable to most of the legislators.

A fourth measure sponsored by the Texas Congress of Mothers was not brought up at this session at all, Mrs. Chamness explained since it is in the nature of an apropriation bill, all of such having been deferred to the special session. This measure is designed to continue the benefits derived from the Shephard-Towner Infancy and Maternity bill which has been in force in the state for five years, and by which Texas received federal monies up to a certain amount which were matched by state appropriation and which enable the State Child Hygiene Bureau to care for the expectant mothers and babies of the state.

The provisions of this bill expire July 31 of this year and unless money is appropriated to carry on this work, mothers and children of Texas will suffer. The measure the Congess is sponsoring, Mrs. Chamness stated, provides for the continuation of this work and calls for the appropriation of 77,901 04 for its up-keep for the next biennium.

To Sing Here

CAMERON McLEAN

Master Singer To Appear Here Soon

One of the world's master singers, Cameron McLean, a man over whom critics in New York Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit and other great cities have exhausted superlatives in commendation, is to appear in concert here on the night of March 26, at 8 o'clock. The concert will be in the high school auditorium.

Some idea of the prestige which Mr. McLean carries among the critics of the country may be derived from the following resume from music critics of the leading newspapers:

New York, "Interpretative Intelligence," Henderson.

Philadelphia, "A Superbly Unique Artist," Mactavish.

Toronto, "Flawless, Flexible, Finished Art," Charlesworth.

Minneapolis, "A Vocal Phenomenon, Another Chaliapin," Nillson.

Detroit, "Uniquely Different, Refreshing," McLauchlin.

AUXILIARY MEETS

Let Your Type Decide Skirt Length

BY MME. LISBETH

What length shall your skirt be this spring? That depends on your type, and, too, on the time of day or night your costume is worn. For morning skirts may show the knees—if you're that kind of a girl. For afternoon they should be slightly longer; and for evening wear still longer.

The three models pictured, by Patou, are sufficiently short to please the most inveterate flapper. The two prints, left and center, illustrate the approved mode for daytime, and the lace evening frock the formal type suitable for the debutante or college co-ed.

Circular cut, rather than pleatings are used for fullness in the skirts, the frock pictured center, having godets of contrasting material for width, and the one at the right tiered ruffles. All three have the V-shaped neckline and the closely fitted hip.

a child welfare program address. These addresses were planned to discuss ways and means for working with the adolescent child—by teaching him to have a greater respect for himself ,his school and the laws of his country."

P. T. A.'s Should Cooperate

Mrs. W. B. Price, president K. Carter P. T. A. said, "I think, that Lubbock would be extremely fortunate in securing the services of a worthwhile juvenile officer to look after the wayward youths who fall in the class of delinquents. It seems to me a perfectly splendid plan and one with which our local P. T. A.'s should gladly cooperate. I shall be happy to include on our programs capable and informed speakers who wish to address the club on any subject pertaining to child welfare and juvenile protection."

Mrs. C. Y. Partain, president of the Junior High P. T. A. said when asked regarding the question of juvenile protection, "I am strongly in favor of anything or any movement that is for the betterment of our children generally, and I'm sure our P. T. A. members all would cooperate with such a plan. I will be glad to fit a child welfare address into our P. T. A. programs this spring, and in every way lend the movement our sympathy and support."

Teacher Speaks on Question

Mrs. Eppie Sowder, visiting teacher, expressed her opinion as favoring the plan of a juvenile officer for Lubbock, since it has grown to be quite a city. "Many parents are so absorbed in their business that they have little time in which to guide and direct their children aright. On the other hand, there are a few parents, we regret to say, who seem not to care or have the inclination to perform such parental duty. Such conditions make the situation indeed a complicated one. I feel this movement sponsored by the men of the city, to secure for Lubbock a juvenile officer, deserves more than mere passing consideration.

"We should use the "ounce of prevention route" and center our attention on this all important subject. In the home, as in the town, we should build up sentiment first of all that the child should be "honest" above all else. It seems to me that the church, the home and the school, which mold the morale in the child's life, have to a great extent fallen down on this question of both teaching and preaching "honesty" at all costs. The criminal seldom, if ever, develops over night, but if the child were taught to see the great importance and value of truth, not to mention the comfort therefrom., it would undoubtedly leave off the habit it has fallen into, of carelessly, or purposely making false statements. Lubbock has many wonderful children, but one dishonest man, woman or child is entirely too many for our city," Mrs. Sowder stated.

What Baby's Ears Do Is Discussed

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series of six authoritative articles on "Your Baby from Week to Week," which Olive Roberts Barton, noted writer on child subjects, has prepared for Avalanche and NEA Service.

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
NEA Service Writer

Can a little baby hear?

These statistics may tell us:

At 1 to 3 days a little baby may react to very loud sounds. He may cry or waken from sleep or show other signs of disturbance. At the end of the first or second week there is often a convulsive reaction to loud or sudden sound.

A baby 4 weeks old pays distinct attention to sound such as a horn or a not or a chord on the piano. A baby 7 or 8 weeks old often shows very apparent interest in musical sounds or chords, so much so that a child this age has been known to stop crying when hungry and listen for as long as ten minutes at a time.

At 7 or 8 weeks a baby will smile if someone talks to him. Soon after this, by 10 or 12 weeks, he will be more quickly responsive to familiar voices such as his mother's, or other children in the family.

At about this time (12 weeks) he will begin to seek the cause of sounds and to turn his head in their direction.

Finding His Voice

Then when he is about 16 weeks old he will begin to do a little experimenting himself and try to produce sounds. His little grunts and gurgles that sound so meaningless to us are really forerunners of the words he is to learn later on. He is learning—well—not his alphabet exactly, but his vowels, and getting those little organs known as vocal chords under control. So far they only have been used to yell with, or to make little involuntary sounds of pleasure. But now he is beginning to tell them to do things, and succeeding. A baby 5 months old usually laughs out loud at a gesture or sound.

By 7 months he may even recognize the name of people in the family. If we say, "Where's Bobby! Bobby! Come here Bobby!" the baby will know that the little boy who comes rushing in is that same Bobby.

This is no more surprising than the fact that by 9 months his Highness will know what you mean when you say "no-no."

At 10 or 11 months he is going to have more of a vocabulary than you realize. To you they may represent his small needs. He'll have one sound for refusal, one for hunger, one for joy, one to call your attention, and very likely several others. It won't be long until he will actually be saying little words that of course you won't recognize until later on. Children know words long before they can actually train their tongues to say them.

Indeed at 11 months, so we are told, something like eighty words are understood.

Sandwiches Solve Problem Of Meals

By SISTER MARY

The hot sandwich is an excellent solution of the luncheon problem on many occasions. Some combinations can be served satisfactorily to an entire family, particularly when toast is the framework. The toasted sandwich, a glass of milk and fresh or stewed fruit makes an ideal spring luncheon for children as well as adults.

Of course there are several types and classes of hot sandwiches besides the regulation toast with filling. There are those in which sauted slices of bread, French toast or fresh slices of bread oven-toasted with the filling are used. The hot baking powder biscuit type seems more like a meat or vegetable shortcake than sandwich.

There are dessert sandwiches and breakfast sandwiches and the novelty of them makes it possible to serve simple., nourishing foods so they will be welcomed by everybody. Open sandwiches are attractive with their garnish of minced parsley, thinly sliced pickle, olive or grated cheese in place of the top slice.

Many of the meat sandwiches are combined with vegetables, making a salad unnecessary. Others require a crisp salad of cabbage, apple, celery or beets to make a complete meal.

Crisp toast is more wholesome than plain untoasted bread since it makes us chew, the process that most of us take too little trouble about. So be sure to serve toasted sandwiches as soon as prepared before the filling has any chance to soften the toast.

MAPLE SANDWICH

Sprinkle slices of bread with shaved maple sugar or maple creams. Use quite a thick layer of maple. Cover with thin slices of bread and toast quickly in a hot oven or under a gas broiler. Serve with thin cream.

The following maple sandwich is ideal for children. It satisfies their sweet tooth in a natural and wholesome fashion.

This is an excellent way to use up left-overs and the opensandwich provides an ideal method of serving delicate spring vegetables in their own juice. For instance an open asparagus sandwich with a garnish of hard cooked egg means that the toast can absorb the moisture clinging to the vegetable. Spinach and bacon sandwich will prove popular where plain spinach would be unwelcome.

Creamed fish and peas on slices of whole wheat toast with a garnish of celery and minced olives makes an open sandwich that can be served to children as young as five years of age.

Creamed sweetbreads and peas on hot French toast makes a good luncheon for adults if served with a salad of crisp cabbage and minced green pepper mixed with French dressing.

There are innumerable combinaions of creamed sandwich fillings that are wholesome and very much worth while since they add milk to the diet.

An excellent breakfast sandwich combines toast, spinach and poached egg. The addition of fruit and a drink makes a whole meal for everyone.

Hot crisp broiled bacon can be combined with sliced tomatoes or crisp lettuce between thin slices of hot buttered toast to make a sandwich acceptable for breakfast, luncheon or supper.

Elouise Wilke

at $1,000, most of this having been due to the poultry she has raised. In addition, she learned to cook and sew, to can, garden, improve the appearance of a home—in short she has the fundamentals necessary for a successful home maker.

Miss Wilke probably has realized the true aim of 4-H club work among the rural boys and girls and this is the key to her enthusiasm for the work.

"Through club work, I felt that I was a part of our farm home because I became owner of things there and I was responsible for many of the improvements and activities," she explained last week in an interview.

In Large Family

She is one girl in a large family of boys and girls and the Wilke family has been identified with club work in Lubbock since it started here a number of years ago. Her older sister was a club girl under Miss Millie Halsey, the first home demonstration agent here brothers and sisters are now members of clubs; when a women's club was formed last year in New Hope the girl's mother, Mrs. L. W. Wilke, became an active member, and she has always encouraged her children in their club activities, allowing them an opportunity to work out the home projects.

Elouise Wilke joined a 4-H club in January, 1924, at the age of 13 years, taking poultry and gardening as projects.

She bought three settings of pure breed eggs at $1 a setting. She sold ten chicks at frier stage at 50 cents each, 15 pullets at $1.25 each and kept 10 pullets for another year.

Had More Chickens

In another year she bought a cockerel for $3, set 13 settings, hatched 146 chicks, sold 25 for market, 44 for breeders, marketed 20 dozen eggs, 3 settings and sold 20 males.

This continued until she has 125 hens and 14 cockerels to begin her fourth year. Her hens laid more than 9,000 eggs in 8 months, 500 eggs were set and 450 chicks hatched. One hundred and sixty-seven chickens were sold at the market along with 341 dozen eggs. A total of 36 dozen eggs were sold for hatchings and five roosters were sold. She kept 200 hens at the end of the year.

In addition to her poultry work, there were other activities. Gardens were cultivated, a cherry orchard was started, flowers and grass were planted around the home, furniture and rooms were redecorated.

Canned First Year

During her first club year she canned 16 quarts of vegetables from her club garden and 10 quarts of fruits and vegetables from the home garden, fancy packing most of the jars.

In her fourth year she cooked breakfast every morning at the farm and supper three or four times a week. She planned meals, packed five school lunches each day during the school term, cared for the milk on the farm and had other home duties.

She canned 83 quarts of fruits and vegetables in spite of the dry year which made these scarce and 26 number 3 jars of beef were canned in the fall. During her third year in the club she canned more than 258 quarts of fruit and vegetables from the home garden and 58 from her club garden.

She likes to can.

Her work was useful in that it helped provide for the family on the farm, made her happy to be a part of the home. But in addition to these things, her work was winning prizes, as a list for the four years will indicate.

She kept a record and history of her work each year and this book won first prize at the Panhandle-South Plains Fair each fall during the time.

First With Poultry

The first year she won, also, first place in poultry, as well as four first places, one second and one third on canning and sewing. She received three first, one second, and one third prizes at the Slaton fair on poultry. Her poultry went to the State Fair at Dallas, winning first, second, third, fourth and fifth prizes. She also had the third best exhibit in the county that year.

The next year she won other honors. Her poultry placed first at the Panhandle-South Plains Fair in addition to two first, one second and one third places in the Slaton Fair. She won three firsts, two second and five third places in canning and sewing at the fair here and the girls in her club placed second in an exhibit at Slaton. Miss Wilke's complete exhibit was judged the best in the county for second year girls.

Five First Places

Not content with her past winnings she placed first on poultry at the Panhandle-South Plains Fair during her third club year and won, in addition, five first, one second and two third places in gardening and sewing. She won first place in her county exhibit and was awarded a trip to the State Fair at Dallas.

The next year she again placed first in poultry exhibits and received eight first and one second prizes on canning and sewing, second place with light bread and biscuits, first place on a jar of pickles and first place on a complete exhibit for the county. For this latter she was awarded a trip to the State Fair where she won second place with her poultry, first on fruit canned four different ways and first on her record book and history.

Her complete exhibit was given third place.

Wins Scholarship

There were also other awards. A trip to the farms short course at A. and M. and a $200 scholarship which she is using in attending the Technological college.

In spite of the work that Miss Wilke has done, she does not carry the marks of the proverbial "farm girl."

Her clear complexion which requires few cosmetics is probably another of the rewards of her active life and her health habits which are formed as a part of the club program. She is plump enough and clear blue eyes are accompanied by short yellow hair which is simply dressed.

She has participated in few of the college social activities this year since she has been carrying such heavy work but this is not because she does not care for companionship.

No more canned suppers for Smith

"THIS cannot be Monday," said Smith as he looked over the fine, luscious roast and a variety of side dishes.
"Oh, yes, it is!" smiled Mrs. Smith.
"Well, what's the idea," said Smith, "have you changed your Wash Day?"
"No," said Mrs. Smith, "I've only changed my Wash Way. There will be no more Wash Days in this house; no more canned suppers for you or steam-reeking rooms to sicken the kiddies. I'm bundling up my Wash Days and sending them to the Family Service Laundry—This is to be a home—not a humidor from now on."

THE COMING OF THE LEGISLATURE COMMITTEE

NEWSPAPER announcements bear the information that some fifty members of the State Senate and the House of Representatives will make a tour of West Texas, and will include Lubbock in their itinerary. Their mission out this way is to look over the situation at Texas Technological college, and all of Lubbock is glad to know that they are coming, for we all know that when they come and see this plant, and the great need for expansion in the school, that the appropriations will be more easily handled.

The main trouble with the Texas legislature on appropriations is the fact that the majority of the representatives do not know the real conditions out here and therefore cannot realize the importance of the large amounts of money that is being asked for the school.

The Texas Technological college is so much larger than anyone who is not in close touch with it, can realize. For that reason few of the appropriation committee can dream of the real need of the school. The delegation will spend the entire day here looking over the college plant and Lubbock, and we are confident that their visit to this city and this part of the country will be very beneficial to the South Plains and will mean much to the future of the Texas Technological college. Lubbock is preparing to entertain this group of visitors in the usual hospitable manner, and we are sure that there is no need for the Avalanche-Journal to urge the Lubbock folks show them every courtesy that they are entitled to.

Two years ago a committee visited this school, and studied the needs of the institution first hand, and the result was very pleasing to the officials of the school, and has meant a great deal in the expansion program of the college.

ROADS

Roads are important things in the development of a country, and they are important in the building of a town. Lubbock is so situated in the center of a fine agricultural section of the Plains country that roads are very necessary to the development of the trade territory, so much so, that Lubbock people are busy getting highways designated in and out of this city. Highways to the west are uppermost in the minds of the people at this time, and it is a very wise thing that these roads be well looked after, for it will mean a great deal in the future to Lubbock as a trade center.

The committee that met with a committee from Cochran county found the Cochran county commissioners enthusiastic about more roads through that county, and it is the hope of the Lubbock committee that we be able to make a straight highway through to Roswell, and in that way connect that city and take care of all of the towns between Lubbock and Roswell.

Lubbock is enthusiastic over better roads and more of them, and we are sure that it will not be long now till there can be worked out a plan of hard-surfacing in Lubbock that will meet with the approval of the voters of the county.

A LOST DESIRE FOR HOMES

There seems to be a prevailing tendency in America to drift from the idea of home ownership to apartment houses or rented homes. There seems to be such an idea, and possibly it is substantiated by conditions in some places. High taxes, high insurance, etc., cause even some of our best business men to refuse to put their money into homes, but prefer to rent, because they figure the burden of taxes and other upkeep expenses are far beyond the price of rents. This is something that the town builders should look well into, and keep the rate of taxes down to the minimum.

There are sufficient facts in this conclusion for serious reflection. In Lubbock many people are of this opinion. There are many people who have tried it out and have found that this argument holds water so far as present conditions are concerned. By actual calculation it has been found cheaper to occupy the other fellow's property, and this is not a favorable omen to our country, and to our town.

A nation of home owners is a nation of patriotic citizens, while a nation of renters is more or less indifferent. They are just naturally that way, because of the fact that there is nothing definite for them to plan for. They do not have the interest in the premises that they should have, and do not have the interest in the yards or the laws. Forty home in a row and all of just alike, are not what one call call homes. An apartment house with a hundred apartments just alike is nothing more than a camping place. Just a temporary place to reside. Just a shelter from the storms. Just a place to eat and sleep, and have perhaps a few of the pleasures of life, but not like a home that is owned by one's self.

We think it is a very unfortunate thing that a child should come into a family, and be brought up without knowing the realities of a home. No nation where the home is not encouraged and home ownership is not stressed has contentment and happiness equal to that where there is everything being done to encourage home ownership. It is no fault of the people of the nation they have figured out that it is chaper to rent than to own a home. It is the fault of the leaders of the nation—the builders of towns and cities. It is a condition that is brought about by taxation, and the system of taxation, that causes this conclusion that cannot be outfigured.

WILBUR, PHYSICIAN, DIAGNOSES ILLS OF INTERIOR DEPARTMENT

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series of interviews with members of Hoover's cabinet.)

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Staff Writer for Central Press and Avalanche-Journal

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur is the easiest cabinet member to get to that I ever encountered.

His desk is just around the corner from the main entrance to his suites in the interior department—invisible from the doorway but within reach of the official usher, who instantly passed my card to the new secretary himself, and already was pointing me to a hatrack as the doctor's voice invited, "Come in."

Such celerity is a government department is almost uncanny, and leaves a visitor rather breathless and unprepared with the questions he had intended to ask.

However, it probably did not greatly matter, for Dr. Wilbur had been in the cabinet barely 24 hours at the time, and frankly explained, "I'm on the receiving end yet." Nevertheless, he added, if anyone called and wanted to see him, as a public servant he considered it his business to be seen, with no undue delay about it.

"The truth is," continued the secretary, who, though elevated to his post in Mr. Hoover's official family from the presidency of Stanford university, primarily is a doctor of medicine, "I am still busy diagnosing my various patients' cases"—meaning his departmental problems.

"I don't want to make the mistake of treating any of them, say, as measles, only to find out too late that the disease really, for instance, is typhoid."

Whether or not the doctor intended to imply by this remark that there appear to him to be things in the interior department which need remedying I am unable to state certainly. I tried to persuade him to amplify, but he only repeated that he was 'on the receiving end yet."

Anyone who meets Dr. Wilbur, after some little acquaintance with his brother, Curtis Dwight Wilbur, the recently retired secretary of the navy, cannot possibly expect to find him anything but an exceptionally fine fellow. There may be a pluality of opinions concerning some of ex-Secretary Wilbur's naval policies, but there can be no two as to his all-around admirable qualities as an individual.

In point of fact, the doctor strongly suggests his elder—he is only 54 and there are eight years between them.

He resembles him facially, even to his gold-bowed glasses. He resembles him in his tremendous stature—6 feet 2 or 3 at least—but is still very spare, though he looks fit and active, whereas Curtis D. has taken on a good deal of embonpoint.

The two are much alike also in kindness and consideration of manner and humor of expression.

Thoroughly nice people!

Dr. Wilbur may be on the "receiving end" of the interior department thus far, but he did drop the observation that he has been interested for a long while in such questions as the department principally deals with, and has given them considerable study.

This might be surmised to include power questions, among others—especially in a Californian, like the doctor.

There seemed to be nothing to gain by asking him for his views, as between public and private development of power projects—after what President Hoover said relative to the government in business," in his inaugural speech—and his appointment of Dr. Wilbur to his cabinet. Nevertheless, the doctor's reputation is rather that of a liberal than a conservative.

Dr. Hubert Work, who preceded Dr. Wilbur as head of the interior department, with only the few months' interval of Secretary Roy O. West's administration separating them, was a medical man, too, but Dr. Work was an alienist, while Dr. Wilbur's earlier professional specialty was plain physiology.

Diet and Health

ENOUGH OF THE PROTEINS NECESSARY
Vegetarianism

"I have a friend who, on account of religious scruples, never eats meat of any kind, not even fish or poultry. To her they are all dead flesh. What I want to know is this: Is is possible for such a person by substituting milk, eggs, cheese, nuts, etc., to be strong, robust and energetic? This particular young woman is very undernourished, but still refuses, in horror, to touch any meat.

LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D.

"If you think it possible to be a strict vegetarian and still be robust, will you suggest a good days menu for this young woman of 25, who lives maker, and is at present quite the life of an average homelow in weight, but refuses to take her doctor's advice that she eat meat?

"MRS. M."

Certainly one can get along without flesh foods and maintain health, Mrs. M., for many do it. But more conscious efforts must be directed towards getting sufficient of the other protein foods. Nuts (with the exception of chestnuts), cheese, eggs, milk, all furnish a good proportion of high grade protein. The legumes and the whole grains also furnish a fair proportion but their proteins are not biologically complete—that is, they lack some of the elements necessary for growth and repair, so they must be supplemented with the complete type.

It not infrequently happens that those who have not studied dietetics and go on a on-flesh diet, take insufficient protein. The average person should have (depending upon the size of the frame) 250 ot 350 calories of protein a day. I'll give you a list of foods with their protein content, and have your friend guide herself by that. If she is undernourished she should take more liberal amounts of these foods for a while, to build up her wasted tissues.

Protein Calories In 100 Calorie Portions of Food

	Calories of Protein
Bread, 1 full slice 1-2 inch thick, whole wheat highest	12 to 16
Cooked cereals, 1 small cup, oatmeal highest	10 to 13

SO THINK WE

We think if parking continue to grow more congested people will grow old hunting a place to park. It is already becoming detrimental to business because of the inability to find parking spaces. Some wise head will have a job figuring out a remedy. Whose head will it be?

—o—

We think if all of the people in Lubbock who should attend some church will attend one every church would have to be enlarged. We have splendid preachers, yet there are few, if any, churches in the city that is uncomfortably filled with people on any ordinary occasion. We do not know the reason, but this is a condition that exists just the same.

—o—

We think if static would not pick out the best program to spoil each night, people would not think so badly about it, but it seems that the better the program the more static here is.

—o—

We think it will be a great educational opportunity for Rotarians to attend the International Rotary convention in Dallas in April. Those who attend will have an opportunity to see representatives from more than 40 different nations and while they will not all be able to talk our language it will be known that they are thinking the same great thoughts the principles of Rotary teaches and that will have much to do with creating good will toward all nations.

—o—

We think when Lubbock sends 50 delegates to the Rotary convention at Ranger next week, it will be the largest delegation that has ever attended from any one club in any previous conventions. Lubbock is holding a record of attendance that is hard to beat, and it is expected that she will receive a bit of favorable publicity at this convention because of this splendid record.

—o—

We think if some day an old gray-haired man is found dead in his car somewhere on the streets of Lubbock it will be found that when he started out he was young and vigorous, but he had been hunting a parking place so long that he had died of old age.

—o—

It is one of the much needed improvements that Lubbock should have to get the streets all marked and the houses properly numbered. It is a rather difficult matter to locate houses just now, with the present system of numbering and the unmarked streets and avenues

—o—

We think that Lubbock needs a new modern high school building worse than anything, and then an airport. This is one of the great needs of the town if we are to be put on the air map.

—o—

Some of these towns that have been claiming such a large population had better begin trimming it down a little, for Uncle Sam is not going to boost for any town. He will count noses within certain boundaries, and if there are not enough noses there he will not step over in the suburbs of some other town and count a bunch there. The cities that have been conservative in their claims will be the ones that will not suffer any disappointment when the time comes for our uncle to count us, which will be next year.

We think the local peace officers are doing a mighty good job of trying to clear the city of undesirables, and if the people of the city will do their part in cooperating with them there will be a great change in the conditions of Lubbock in a very few weeks.

We think that if it were possible for every one to swap jobs, there would be no tired moments for while you were doing the other fellow's job you would be able to rest.

We think that Lubbock should bend every effort toward helping the Santa Fe get the extension of her line from Seagraves to Lovington, it will mean a great deal to Lubbock in years to come, that is Lubbock's rightful territory and we should try to keep it.

We think these new closed cars kinder knocks old dad's excuse for buying a car because the family needs fresh air, into a cocked hat.

We think that possibly pleasure does not cost any more these days, but it costs a lot more to get to it and get home from it.

The Way of the World
-BY GROVE PATTERSON

A WORLD FOR YOUTH

Young men coming out of school into the work of the world ought to be filled with enthusiasm as they look over the wide range of opportunities that this only partly cultivated earth offers. This interior of Brazil, a country as large as the United States, is rich in timber and resources. It must and will be developed. Jungle lands will some day be gardens and farms. In China, with a country larger than the United States and 400 millions of people, most of the freight is moved by man power. N. O. Winter, world traveler and author, says there are fewer miles of railroad in China than in the state of Wisconsin. The wheelbarrow is still considered a first rate means of moving freight.

Today's boys and young men face a wondrous world to work in. There are tasks enough for all. The development of the earth, going on for centuries, is only little more than begun.

DISARMING

It is to be hoped Ambassador Howard, of England, knew what he was talking about when he predicted a conference for the discussion of further naval disarmament. Further word from London is that England will probably be ready to suggest a new parley after the spring elections. It would be a good effect on the nations of Europe if some country other than the United States would propose a disarmament conference.

STARS GET THRILLS

Indictment Returned For Income Tax Work

LOS ANGELES, March 16 (AP).—Stars of the Hollywood film colony today received another real life thrill. The federal grand jury, inquiring into income tax returns of many of the players, voted an indictment against Edward H. Hayden "income tax counsellor," for violation of the revenue act. Miss Marjorie Berger, also a "counsellor" for moving picture people had been indicted previously on a similar charge.

PUBLIC OPINION

PLANTING TREES

The season for tree and shrub planting will soon be over and this short time should be used in planting some kind of fruit and shade trees. Two things should be considered in selecting the kind to plant. First; the probable life of the tree and its usefulness. For shade there are several varieties that do well, grow quick and make good shades: the Chinese Elm, Sycamore, Carolina poplar and greatest of all the pecan, a native of Texas. These latter are well adapted to this section, if the right varieties are selected and properly planted. There are three varieties recommended as special varieties for this western part of Texas. These are the Hobert, Burkett and success. If these are selected and properly planted and carefully tended for the first two years they will soon make good shades and from three to five years will be bearing fine nuts. There are several trees in the city now bearing and will soon be good producers.

The late H. A. Holbert while passing through Lubbock said to the writer: "You people do not realize what a great pecan country you have. You have abundant water and good soil and it is a great pity that you do not plant thousands of pecan trees of the western varieties. Mr. Holbert, in his lifetime, was regarded as one of the foremost growers and developers of the best pecans grown.

Finally the life and usefulness of the pecan should be considered before any other trees for shade or for food. There is one grove in Mississippi with a known record of 400 years that is still bearing. With these facts in mind how can we afford to plant other trees simply because they grow up a little quicker than does the pecan? With so many new homes being erected in this city there should be at least from two to six pecan trees planted at each home.

The Bible says "The Heaven, even the Heavens, are the Lord's but the earth hath He given to the children of men." Accepting this fact we should each plant trees. Useful and ornamental trees that will stand as a monument to our memory and vision.

We should not let this short period slip by without planting trees and more trees.

PRAISES CORN

Terms It As One Of Most Profitable Crops

TAHOKA, March 16.—H. P. Jackson, well-known Lynn county farmer, says that corn is one of the most profitable crops that can be raised on the South Plains. Every year he harvests from 25 to 40 bushels from his land near here. He has just finished gathering an average of 30 bushels per acre from his crop of the past year.

WASHING PETS

When you wash your pets, whether cats or dogs, have warm water and be sure to rinse and dry him thoroughly. Never allow him to lick his coat dry. If possible, keep in a warm room for a couple of hours, unless it is very warm outside.

Water pipes, recently found in use in England, are said to be 500 years old.

THE BLACK PIGEON

THIS HAS HAPPENED

"HANDSOME HARRY" BORDEN, promoter of dubious stock [illegible] is murdered sometime between one and four o'clock on Saturday afternoon. His body is found sprawled beneath the shaft window of his private office Monday morning by his secretary, RUTH LESTER. Ruth is engaged to JACK HAYWARD, whose office is just across the narrow airshaft from Borden's.

Ruth knows Jack hates Borden for his attempted familiarity with her on Saturday morning. Petrified with fear, she recalls Jack's strange behavior of Saturday afternoon.

Fearing Jack shot Borden across the airshaft, Ruth goes to close the window above the body. It is already closed!

McMANN, police detective, learns from the elevator boys that early Saturday afternoon passengers to the seventh floor were BENNY SMITH, Borden's office boy; MRS. BORDEN, his wife and mother of hsitwo children, who called for her monthly alimony check; RITA DUBOIS, night club dancer, and Jack Hayward.

McMann first accuses Mrs. Borden. When he finds footprints of a pigeon in dried blood he says the "job" was done from the inside and turns suspiciously to Ruth.

Jack admits the office across the airshaft is his and explains his return Saturday afternoon by saying he left theater tickets on his desk.

BILL COWAN, real estate man and friend of Jack's, under questioning tells of hearing Jack mutter threats aginst Borden Saturday morning when he saw the promoter in the opposite office attempt familiarity with Ruth. He also tells of telephoning Jack Saturday afternoon and being plugged in on a busy line and of hearing Borden quarreling violently. Jack denies the conversation with Borden but McMann pointblank accuses him of Borden's murder. They are interrupted by the entrance of PHILLIPS, the waiter, who served Ruth and Jack at luncheon Saturday.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIX

"Just a minute, Birdwell," McMann answered, then turned to the real estate man, Bill Cowan, who was obviously eager to escape. "Cowan, I'm inclined to let you go on about your business and not hold you as a material witness, if you give me your promise not to talk with anyone—reporters, your wife, anyone else—about this case, and will promise further not to leave town, but hold yourself available for further questioning."

Cowan gave both promises with almost ludicrous alacrity and bolted, after another apologetic grip of Jack Hayward's hand. The waiter, Phillips, was ushered in—a small neat, middle-aged man in a well-brushed black coat, snugly buttoned over his waiter's uniform.

After preliminary questions as to his name, place of residence and occupation, McMann asked: "Ever see this couple before Phillips?"

Meek brown eyes studied Ruth Lester and Jack Hayward conscientiously. "Yes, sir. They lunched at one of my tables in the Chester dining room Saturday."

"At what time?"

The waiter shrugged slightly and smiled apologetically. "That I could not say, sir. After the 12:30 to 1:30 rush, sir, I should say."

"Did you notice them particularly, Phillips? Anything at all to fix this couple in your mind?" McMann pursued.

"Well, sir, there were several things," the waiter began deprecatingly. "I thought it odd that the young lady wouldn't take her fur coat off, sir, as the dining room is quite warm."

"I didn't take my coat off because I was chilled—felt as if I were taking cold," Ruth explained, taking care to keep defiance out of her voice.

"You seem to have recovered from the cold," McMann reminded her. "Perhaps there was something—heavy in the lining pocket which you didn't want the waiter to feel or see?"

Ruth knew that he was referring to her missing automatic. "There was nothing in the pocket, Mr. McMann!"

McMann smiled, shrugged, then turned to the waiter again. "You said there were several things that impressed this couple on your memory. What else, Phillips?"

"Well, sir, the young lady dropped her pocketbook, and while I was stooping to pick up the scattered contents of the bag, the little lady excused herself, saying she had to telephone—"

"To warn Borden not to let Jack Hayward into his office?" McMann pounced, his glinting, narrowed gray eyes fixed upon Ruth.

The girl's face flamed. "No! I simply made the conventional excuse, and went to the ladies' rest room to—powder my face. I telephoned no one.

"Hmm!" McMann obviously did not believe her. "What elese Phillips?"

"While I was picking up the scattered objects, the young gentleman was studying the menu card," the waiter went on, in his deprecating, hesitant manner. "He put the things back in the young lady's bag and gave me the order, without waiting for the young lady—"

"What was the order?" McMann demanded.

"I wouldn't like to swear to that, sir—"

"I ordered broiled mushrooms on toast for Miss Lester, and sweetbread patties for myself," Jack interrupted. "They were on the ready-to-serve list, and both of us are in the habit of eating light luncheons."

"That's right, sir! I remember now!" the waiter corroborated eagerly. "I brought the orders right out, but first, before the young lady came back, I brought the rolls and butter and gave the young gentleman the key—"

"The key! What key?" McMann demanded, his eyes taking quick note of Ruth's startled surprise.

"Why, sir, the key that had fell out of the young lady's handbag. I kicked against it when I was putting the rolls and butter on the table, or I would never have noticed it. I handed it to the young gentleman, sir."

"And what did he do with it?"

"I didn't notice, sir."

"Did you see him reach for Miss Lester's handbag to put it there?"

"No, sir. I'm quite sure he didn't sir, at the time, at least. Probably he handed it to her when she returned to the table, sir."

"Do you think so?" McMann grinned. "Just what kind of key was it Phillips?"

"An ordinary modern lock key, sir."

"Miss Lester, show Phillips your key to this suite, please!" McMann rapped out.

Ruth obeyed, going to the outer office to get her handbag out of the top drawer. When she returned she silently handed a key to the waiter, who fingered it briefly, then laid it upon the extended palm of the detective.

"Is that the key, Phillips?"

"It looks like it, sir, but of course I couldn't say—"

"Or is this the key your found on the floor?" Ruth asked, with quiet triumph, offering a second key, differing only slightly in size and shape from the first, which she took from a small coin purse.

"Exactly!" Ruth cried. "Mr. McMann, this—" and she handed him the second key—"is the key to the office. You can try it and see for yourself. These keys are so much alike that I was always mistaking my apartment key for my office key, and the other way round. So I solved the difficulty by keeping my office key in my coin purse, and the apartment key loose in my handbag. And the coin purse, which has a firm fastening, and fits snugly into its pocket in my handbag, did not fall out when I dropped the bag. That is correct, isn't it, Phillips?"

"Yes, miss. I didn't pick up a coin purse," the waiter agreed eagerly. "And it must not have come open, for there was only the one key and no small change on the floor."

"All right, Phillips. Anything else to impress this couple on your memory?"

"Well, sir, the gentleman excused himself to the young lady pretty soon after I'd served the entrees, and left the dining room," the waiter resumed his story.

"How soon after? And how long had they been there when the entrees were served?" McMann prodded.

"As I said, sir, the entrees were ready in the kitchen and I brought them right out. I judge they hadn't been in the dining room more than five or six minutes when I served the food, since the gentleman ordered immediately, without waiting for the young lady. I couldn't say exactly how long it was before the gentleman left, but the food was scarcely touched, sir."

"Not hungry, eh?" McMann commented, sweeping Ruth and Jack with his narrowed eyes. "Well Phillip, how long was the young man gone?"

"I couldn't say that, sir, to the minute, but it was quite a while—15 to 25 minutes, I should think, for the young lady was becoming very restless."

"Very restless!" McMann repeated slowly, as he wrote the words down. "Then when the young man returned, how did he behave, Phillips? How did he look?"

"Flustered, sir, and worried, sort of. Wouldn't have any dessert, sir, and seemed to be in a hurry to get away," the waiter answered.

"Remember what they talked about when you came for the dessert order?" McMann demanded sharply.

"I didn't listen, sir, of course," the waiter deprecated, "but I heard the gentleman answer some questions the young lady had asked—something about Mr. Borden, sir."

"About Borden!" McMann triumphed. "You're sure of that, Phillips? Just what was said, and how did you happen to remember the name?"

"Why, sir, Mr. Borden is—or rather, was, sir—a frequent guest for luncheon in our dining room, so naturally when his name was mentional I noticed it."

Y'es'?" McMann smiled at the pale girl with the blazing eyes and at the pale young man whose hands were clenched.

"Yes, sir. He was saying something like, 'What makes you think I saw Borden?' and the young lady answered, or in words to this effect, sir: 'You were gone so long and look so awful I thought you were having a quarrel with Borden.' That's all I heard, sir, for I left the table then to get the check from the cashier, with the amount stamped on it."

"I'm afraid, Miss Lester," McMann turned to Ruth, "that, like most people, you're inclined to forget that waiters have eyes and ears, as well as hands."

Before the flushed, indignant girl could answer, the detective turned to the waiter again. "When did the couple leave, Phillips? Give me the time, as nearly as you can place it."

The waiter shook his head. "I really couldn't say, sir. I go off duty at three, and all I can say is that I worked for some time after the young couple had gone."

"In quite a hurry to get away, weren't they, Phillips?" McMann suggested.

"I couldn't say as to that, sir, except that the young gentleman left his briefcase, and I hurried after him with it."

"His briefcase, eh? Pretty heavy, was it, Phillips? Sides stuffed out?"

"It was a large bag and quite heavy, but I don't remember whether it was bulging or not," the waiter answered conscientiously.

"Did the gentleman leave you a big tip, Phillips?" McMann asked, grinning.

The waiter shrugged and spread his hands. "He left the change from two one dollar bills and a half dollar. The bill came to two forty-five, sir."

McMann roared with sudden laughter. "A nickel tip! No wonder you've got such a good memory where this gentleman is concerned, Phillips!"

Jack Hayward's face flamed with humiliation. With furious haste he thrust his hand into his pocket and drew out a dollar bill. "Here, waiter! I apologize. I don't think I even looked at the amount of the bill. God knows no one has ever before been able to accuse me of being a niggardly tipper. Here!"

But McMann halted the advance of the waiter's eager hand. "Put up your money, Hayward! What would have been a big tip on Saturday might look to the jury like a small bribe to make this man forget some of the things he has—unfortunately for you—so well remembered!"

Birdwell opened the communicating door. "A report on Benny Smith, the office boy, sir."

POPULATION BOOSTED

Littlefield Has More Than 35 Per Cent Increase

LITTLEFIELD, Mar. 16.—Statistics show that Littlefield has increased its population more than 35 per cent during the last twelve months. The excellent feed crops made here during last fall, the increased interest in dairy industries poultry and hog raising, have marked out this section of the South Plains for a rapid and substantial growth.

NEED HAVE NO FEAR

Holders Of Permits Are All Right, Hoover Says

WASHINGTON, March 16 (AP).—Holders of permits for prospecting for oil and gas on the public domain who have complied with the law need have no anxiety as to retrospective action, President Hoover said today in reply to requests for further details of the administration's oil conservation policy.

Some 20,000 permits under the general leasing act, now are outstanding and the president said it was obvious that no large proportion of 20,000 oil wells are being drilled on public lands under these permits.

Radio Engineers Have Evolved Vast Improvement

All Of Changes Might Obsolete Present Radios

New Tubes, New Controls, Changed Speakers, And Improved Integral Parts Among Innovations

By ISRAEL KLEIN
Science Editor, NEA Service

The most up-to-date radio receiver today may become an antique before the year is over, if all the improvements advanced by radio engineers are adopted.

Reports of new developments in this field have been coming thick and fast. New tubes, new loud speakers, new controls, switches and integral parts of receivers promise to raise the level of radio reception manifold.

When the radio manufacturers and dealers get together in Chicago next June, preparatory to plans for the popular radio shows in September, they will discuss, among other things, the following outstanding innovations:

1. Screen-grid tubes of the heater type for A. C. operation.
2. Inductor-dynamic loud speakers and electro-static loud speakers —novelties in reproducer design over even the electro-dynamic reproducer of today.

More Automatic Devices!

3. Automatic volume control.
4. Single tuning control, line voltage control and remote control tuning.
5. Improved amplification design and more selective radio frequency control.
6. New detector and power tubes.
7. Time clock switch for automatic operation of the receiver.

Closer to Reality.

The list, incomplete as it is reveals the amazing possibilities for development still before us in the radio field. The first three items alone will be enough to relegate even the finest set in use today into the realm of back-numbers. For these innovations promise much more faithful reproduction of all tones within ear range, less squeals and whistles, more perfect tuning and less distraction in the process of tuning from sudden ear-bursting noises.

The screen-grid tube has been over a year in use in the battery-operated receivers and has proven its value in increased sensitivity and the prevention of oscillation, with its accompanying howls, in radio frequency stages are said to equal five ordinary tubes now in use. The result of the use of fewer tubes in reception would be smaller and more compact receivers and possibly a reduction in price.

The same tube is now being adapted for AC reception, with the use of a heater element such as is in the 227 tube today.

Two new types of loud speakers have appeared ready for popular adoption since the last radio show. Perhaps the most promising is the condenser type of electro-static reproducer designed by Colin Kyle and tested in the Newcomb-Hawley laboratories of the United Reproducers Corporation in Chicago. This is a flat affair of a substance called "Kylite" sandwiched in between two plates "bathed" in an electric current. Its marvel lies in its utter simplicity. Its designers promise wonders for it.

Less costly, but much more effective as a reproducer than the old magnetic type of speaker, is the new inductor speaker. This incorporates the plunger motion of the better electro-dynamic speaker without the costly use of the voice coil, and at the same time eliminates much of the distortion found in magnetic speakers. It will be found hereafter on the cheaper sets.

From Europe comes an "electrostatic" reproducer which, however, has still to be perfected before it can be adopted popularly. It is similar to the Kyle condenser type speaker and has much promise for it.

Automatic Volume Control

Of perhaps as equal importance as the screen grid tube and the new loud speakers is the automatic volume control by which volume is automatically regulated while stations near or far, of varying intensities, are tuned in. This will do away with the noises that accompany the process of tuning from distant to nearby stations. The same volume of sound is maintained no matter how distant or how lacking in power a station may be.

Possibility of the use of this control with that of the automatic tuning device now being used on the Zenith receiver, presents a picture of utmost pleasure to the radio fan. Perhaps the phenomenon of fading, too, can be controlled by such a device.

These are the major developments in radio reception of late. But even the least of the minor improvements will advance the science and industry to a great degree. Such are further perfection of the circuit design of receivers, readjustment of condenser design so that stations will be an equal distance apart all the way down the dial; improvement of detector and power tubes for more dependable reception and the addition of certain accessories to make the process of tuning much simpler and more convenient.

The cabinets into which radio receivers and speakers will be built will be designed to produce the best acoustical effect possible, as well as present themselves as things of beauty. Radio and phonograph combinations are being improved upon and more of these will be shown to radio dealers next June and to the public in September.

WHO SAID "SILENT CAL?"

Calvin Coolidge, during his terms as president of the United States, made more than 40 radio addresses. In 1928 he made 16 radio addresses.

Sooths Cows
Milking Made Job Through Radio

MILWAUKEE, March 16 (AP).—To transpose the old saw: "Radio music hath charms to sooth the rumi-native cow."

Walter Loth, dairy farmer near here will vouch for that. Loth has rigged up a loud speaker in his dairy barn and the hour and a quarter it takes to milk his cows is one of enjoyment for them and for the milkers.

"As soon as I switch on the music the cows turn their heads toward the loud speaker and stand still," Loth said. "They never seem to get restless while the music is going and I find that milking is not only preasant, but easy."

Women Are More Receptive Than Men To Programs

News High-Lights, As Are Gleaned From Broadcasting Favorites Over The Entire Wave Band

Women are more receptive to radio programs than men, according to Anne Brae, one of the team of Phil and Anne Brae at WOR, Newark. "Both Phil and I have worked on the air at all hours and the count is overwhelmingly in favor of the women," says Anne. "At one time we got 6185 letters and but three of them were from men." The Brae act, incidentally, is a portrayal of married life.

Everyone will probably welcome the announcement that the Seiberling Singers quartet is back on the air again and will hold forth on Thursday nights on the NBC network. While they were away the Seiberling orchestra, under the direction of Erno Rapee, substituted for them.

New series on the air:

"The Political Situation in Washington Tonight," CBS, Tuesdays at 8 eastern time.

Pre-Noon Hour, WNYC, New York, daily at 11 eastern time.

Mastbaum Theater, WIP, Philadelphia, Mondays at 9 eastern time.

Luden's Male Quartet, WBAL, Baltimore, Tuesdays and Fridays at 6:15 eastern time.

"Home Hours," WTAM, Cleveland, Sundays at 2 eastern time.

Van Heusen program, CBS, Wednesdays at 9 eastern time.

Williams' Syncomatics, NBC, Tuesdays at 10 eastern time.

Old Man Donaldson, NBC, Fridays at 8:10 eastern time.

Polson Picturettes, WLW, Cincinnati, Thursdays at 9 eastern time.

Note the "iron hat." That's worn because once he was a movie actor. This gentleman, because of his resemblance to the late Wallace Reid, doubled for him in his last two pictures. But his present love is radio. He chatters amusingly, sings and plays the piano at KGO, San Francisco. Although he's reticent about it, he may be a descendant of America's first night rider, for his name is Paul Revere!

The "one in a million," most likely, is Frances Sellers. "The Hoosier Mocking Bird," as she is known, imitates bird calls at WLW Cincinnati, and transposes musical classics into "whistles." She is on the air every Saturday as part of the R. F. D. programs from that station.

Goitre Not A Disease

Milwaukee Doctor Makes Remarkable Discovery

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—It has been brought to light by scientific research that goitre is not a disease and is not to be treated as such. Dr. A. A. Rock, Dept. E-43, Box 737, Milwaukee, Wis., a prominent goitre specialist for over 24 years, has perfected a different method of treatment for his patients that has proved remarkably successful. This same method is now being used for a home treatment of goitre cases all over the country with astonishing results. The Doctor states that goitre is a condition which grows worse with neglect anad recommends immediate attention no matter how small the growth may appear. He strongly opposes needless operations. Dr. Rock is the author of a book that tells in a simple way about treating goitre at home. He has published this book at his own expense and will send a copy free to anyone interested. Europe Meeting New Puzzles In Wave Allotment

Medley Of Countries And Languages Is Difficult Bar To Continent-Wide Broadcasting Plans

BERLIN, March 16 (AP).—Europe, with its many countries and languages, is having its difficulties in radio broadcasting.

An attempt was made at the international conference recently in Brussels, at which the wavelength assignment Plan de Bruxelles was adopted. But according to German radio experts it has not been favorably accepted everywhere.

Three years ago, at a radio conference in Geneva, something like an international agreement was reached and wavelengths were allotted in a manner calculated to avoid friction. At that time broadcast stations were not so numerous as now. Few if any small countries were represented.

In the three years that followed, stations grew up almost everywhere. The smaller the country the more ambitious it seemed. Usually its broadcaster was located as close to the border as possible and it chose a wagelength near that of a rival neighbor.

Early in January another attempt was made to straighten out the European tangle. New wavelengths were alloted at Brussels. The difficulty, in the opinion of German experts, is that the assignments are too close together.

Germany believes the solution lies in the "Gleichwellenrundfunk," or equal wave broadcaster. All the numerous smaller stations plus one or two of the largest, are to use the same wavelength. Each country, the German proposal contemplates, is to be allotted only three or four wavelengths for its entire net of broadcasting stations. One of these wavelengths is to be used by one powerful and all the smaller stations, and the remaining two or three are to be assigned to one powerful station each.

Only by adopting the equal wave broadcasting principle in each country, say the German experts, can European radio chaos be averted. Germany has made a start by assigning the same wavelength to Berlin, Magdeburg, Stettin and a number of smaller stations.

Three Members Of Family On Radio

KANSAS CITY, March 16 (AP).—Not a day passes but some member of the Taylor family is heard over WDAF.

Rose Taylor appears regularly as the station's staff accompanist. Once a week her sister, Mrs. Lillian Valentine, sings crooning melodies and ballads. The two then are teamed up as Valentine and Taylor.

Their brother, Harry Taylor is a member of the Martin and Taylor team. Popular songs are sung by this pair.

Mrs. Valentine's repertory of songs is so large that she seldom repeats a number unless by request. She was the last of the three to attempt broadcasting, but has been singing regularly ever since.

In ten years, from 1918 to 1928, the amount of American capital in Canada increased from $417,143,220 or 17 per cent of foreign capital invested there, to $3,313,512,000 or 57 per cent.

Radio To Light Air Fields

SERGT. R. H. SNAPP GORDON H. WILLIAMS

Sergt. R. H. Snapp of the One-Hundred-Sixth observation squadron, Roberts field, Birmingham, Ala., and Gordon Williams, civilian radio engineer, have announced successful tests in miniature of a plan to use radio to light air fields.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 16 (AP).—Two Birmingham engineers have announced a successful miniature demonstration of a plan to light air fields by radio.

Sergeant R. H. Snapp of the One-Hundred-Sixth observation squadron, at Roberts field here, and Gordon Williams, power company radio engineer, recently demonstrated their plan with a minature aviation field. By means of radio small lights surounding the set-up were made to glow as a button was pressed in a tiny plane above the field.

A practical test of the plan is to be held March 13 at the local airport. The device includes a transmitter in the plane with a substitute for a receiving set connected so that it will turn on the airport lights when a signal is sent from the plane.

The plan worked out by Williams and Snapp is different in principle from recent sound experiments at the Newark, N. J., airport. In the Newark test the airport was lighted through use of the Televox, which lighted the field when a siren in a plane, attuned to the device at the airport, was sounded.

"So far as I have been able to learn," says Major Sumpter Smith, commanding officer of the field, "the Williams-Snapp plan is new and will mean much toward reducing the hazard of landing made necessary during the night."

RADIO FANS PAY

Last year British radio fans paid the government, in the form of receiver tax, $5,500,000. This amount went to the support of the 21 government stations. If the 600-odd stations in America were operated in this manner, it would cost listeners in this country $192,000,000 annually.

A quart of alcohol in a radiator will generally keep it from freezing because in case of severe weather it freezes "mushy," allowing expansion through the crystals as the last of it freezes.

Radio Will Tell World About New Mexico Beauties

"State Nobody Knows" Is Subject Of Lectures Planned For Broadcast Over Station KOB

LAS CRUCES, N. M., March 16.—In response to numerous requests from school children of the country, asking for information about New Mexico, the Chamber of Commerce of Las Cruces, New Mexico, has arranged for a series of lectures on "The State Nobody Knows."

These will be broadcast every Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock for the next two months from Radio Station KOB, State College, New Mexico. The lecturer is Prof. R. G. Breland, head of the English department of the New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts.

Moody Reticent On Future Work

AUSTIN, Mar. 16. (AP).—Governor Moody has no plans in mind for his activities after he leaves office, he said today, in commenting on a story in a local paper quoting Representative C. Land of Memphis as saying that the Governor had intimated to him he would be a candidate for the legislature when his term expired.

"Only the future can tell what I will do after my present job expires," Governor Moody said.

He laughed when told that he might aspire to a seat in the legislature.

Tech Youngsters Like Their Letters

Many Are 'Regular Customers' For Special Deliveries While One Uses Air Mail; Postmistress Is Patient

"I want a special delivery stamp in a hurry, please," says a student as he sends a dime whirling across the counter to the Tech postmistress. Given the stamp he places it on a fat envelope and with a sigh of relief posts the letter in the slot.

Delivery stamps are in great demand at the last of the week while on ordinary days as many as fifteen are sold. One youth buys a stamp every day to send his girl back home a letter, and each morning when the window is opened, he is there to purchase the stamp. Another student buys an airmail stamp once a week, although he is the only person who has become a regular customer of the speedy delivery plan.

Dozens of students, both boys and girls, get special stamps on Friday or Saturday to place on leters going to their parents. Many such letters are received at the office also, and thees are sent to faculty members and a student is given a notice after cless to call for his letter.

Private Boxes Unpopular.

On some days as many as 500 letters are received at the Tech branch to be put up in the boxes or called for by the students. No students have private boxes, but the majority of the faculty members receive their mail through the Liberal Arts boxes. Mail is distributed to the different schools where boxes are placed for the various departments. Scott Fikes, senior class president, is the mail carrier and makes two trips a day over the campus visiting the Physics building, Schools of Enginering, Home Economics, Agriculture, and the Gymnasium.

The postoffice routine does not differ so vastly from that of ths downtown office. It opens at 9 o'clock in the morning, closing at 10:30 o'clock in order that the morning mail may be assorted and opens at 11 o'clock. After opening in the afternoon at 1 o'clock the office is closed at 2:00 for the afternoon mail's assortment, and reopens at 2:30 o'clock remaining open until 4 o'clock at which time it is closed for the day. C. O. D. packages are registered letters are received and many packages are sent from the Tech station. Last December during the Christmas rush several town people took advantage of the Tech branch's lesser congestion and sent their packages from there.

Patience Essential.

Mrs. Hurley Carpenter, the postmistress declares that patience is one of the greatest traits necessary in order to go about one's work with a serene countenance.

"People come to the window and invariably ask 'is there any mail for me'", she said. "Of course I learn their names in a short time, but it does grow old to have to keep asking them who Me is?" Oothers upon being told that there is no letter for them will frequently remain at the window and give vent to their disappointment with a grumble or a 'well heck'."

One student yells "Mam," and it makes no difference to him if one person is ahead of him or two dozen because Mrs. Carpenter knows his voice and looks up and gives a smiling assent or negative shake of her head. There are a few co-eds who seem to believe that mail is received every few seconds at the station instead of twice a day and make frequent trips to the window to see if there is anything for them.

One married woman, who is a student at the college, gets a letter from her husband every day and several students receive letters from th same people day after day. Dr. Paul W. Horn, the college president, receives the greatest amount of mail of a private nature, although of course in the late summer and early fall the registrar's office is filled with letters from students applying for credit recognition.

GUN IS UNCOVERED

Negro Suspect Leads Officer To Where Pistol Is

WACO, Mar. 16 (AP).—Sheriff Leslie Stegall today recovered a gun believed to have been used to murder Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Pedigo near Moody a week ago.

A negro suspect accompanied Stegall to the former's farm near the Pedigo home today and uncovered the gun. The negro admitted he at one time had owned the pistol but said he sold it to another negro the day before the shooting and that this latter returned and buried it on his farm the day after the killings.

Panhandle-Plains Area Shows Dairy Cow Increase

Great Development In Dairy Business, Aided By Two Regional Fairs And By Other Media, Is Becoming One Of Things To Which Territory May Point With Pride

Figures Showing Numbers Of Cows In Section Are Given; Survey Made Is Complete, Accurate

By AL HILL
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Figures don't lie. Plain figures are easily read, and Plains figures, of which this is a story, tell an inspiring tale.

This chronicle pertains to live figures, however. You may see them every day, on practicaly every farm, throughout the entire Panhandle-Plains area of Texas. There are, altogether, 54 counties of them. The beautiful part about it all is the fact that wherever you see such figures, grazing on the green fields; lolling in the shade, what little there be; or standing in the barn, the ultimate sight is the cream cans filled with products of the dairy cow, because it happens to be the figures of a hundred thousand dairy cattle, of which we are to talk.

While the number of dairy cattle in the state of Texas, one year old and over, decreased 14 per cent, from 1920 to 1925, (the last two government census years) in the 54 counties of the Panhandle-Plains section there was an increase of 54 per cent.

Production Increased

And, while improvement of type was responsible for an increase in production for the state, of 57 per cent, the Panhandle-Plains area showed an increased production of 133 per cent.

Topping this list of 54 counties in number of dairy cows, Lubbock county leads with a total of 5,929, according to the 1925 government figures. As to the standing for 1928, the census has not yet become available, but the increase has been more marked than the period between 1920 and 1925.

As the development in agriculture, during the past nine years, has taken on rapid speed, so has the dairy industry kept pace. Two definite factors have made this possible.

Many New Settlers

This section has had thousands upon thousands of new farm settlers come in each year to settle on virgin agricultural land. These new farmers have either brought dairy cows with them, or they have purchased cows after their arrival. In Lubbock county the number of farms doubled between the years of 1920 and 1925 and the increase in number of farms in other Plains counties increased in proportion.

The success that farmers have had in making profits from their dairy cattle, and the consequent purchase of more cows, is the second factor. Realization has come that no section is more ideally situated for the development of dairying, with our mild climate, making expensive housing equipment unnecessary, and our soil's adaptability to the raising of feed crops being unsurpassed anywhere in the world. The high, dry air is invigorating and particularl healthful to dairy cattle. Native grass, supplemented with Sudan grass pasture in summer and small grain in winter, furnishes ideal grazing, and grain sorghums, cotton seed meal and other protein feeds, including alfalfa hay, are available at minimum costs here. The farmers can produce their own feed at a 25 per cent less production cost than anywhere else in Texas.

Sweet Sorghums Help

Sweet sorghums, yielding from five to seven tons of green forage to the acre, make another good dairy feed, whether fed in the cured or green stage. There have been numerous other factors contributing to the increased activities in the dairy industry on the Plains.

Assisting materially in building up the type of cattle and increasing production, has been the establishment of bull circles. P. C. Bennett, former county agent of Swisher county, and at present agricultural agent of the Amarillo Board of City Development, organized the first bull circle in Swisher county several years ago. Since that time the bull circles have organized them, purchasing pure bred bulls with production pedigree records that have bred up stock and enabled a much higher average production from the present Plains dairy cow.

Fairs Boost Campaign

The attention given to dairy cows in the annual fairs at Amarillo and Lubbock has encouraged more and better dairy cattle. The organization of the Panhandle-Plains Dairy association, in the fall of 1927, with the first show given at Plainview in the spring of 1928 and now the erection of its own group of exposition buildings as permanent quarters, at Plainview, has given even greater momentum.

The next few years will undoubtedly show a greater development, in spite of the remarkable development of the past several years. The dairy industry here on the Plains is only in its infancy, in spite of the fact that thousands of dollars worth of dairy products are being marketed each month. There is yet more virgin land to be put to the plow than being cultivated at this time and this land is being rapidly settled, with every ne wfarmer a potential dairyman.

The total figures

A word here about total figures: In 1920 there were 90,314 dairy cows, one year and older, on the Plains of these 54 counties, which grew to 94,694 in 1925.

Gallons of milk produced in these counties in 1920 amounted to 13,633,042, increasing to 31,781,790 in 1925.

Value of these dairy products in 1920 was $2,231,348, and in 1925, it was $3,543,815.

Average production per cow also showed a big increase, with that of 1920 being 13,703 for the area and that of 1925 being 18,375.

The prevailing dairy cow breed is the Jersey, but there is an increasing number of Holsteins to be found in this section, and the Guernsey breed has been established.

Five Creameries in Section

Five creameries are located in this territory, offering a market for the surplus dairy products, the larger per cent of it being consumed on the farms or marketed to the people in the towns of the section. At present these creameries are confining their plants to the manufacture of butter, and in almost every Plains town are found ice cream manufacturing plants, serving also as a market for the surplus dairy products.

Lubbock is the location of two of the creameries, these being Swift and company and McIlhaney's. Another plant is operating at Spur, which has been in operation a few years. The Mistletoe Creamery company has a plant at Amarillo, established in 1916, and one established at Plainview, and is to put in another in the near future.

From an analysis of all figures available from the government census report, it is to be seen that the 54 counties that comprise the Panhandle, in 1920 possessed 90,314 dairy cows, as compared to 94,698 in 1925. Of these totals, the North Plains in 1920 had 24,181 cows, while the South Plains had a total of 37,326.

South Plains Lead

The South Plains led back in 1920 and in 1925, and from indications it will be ahead of the North Plains when the 1928 census report is available. Not only in number of dairy cows, has this lead been retained by the South Plains, but in gallons of milk produced and value of dairy products.

In 1920, the entire Panhandle produced 13,633,042 gallons of milk, which increased 31,781,790 in 1925. North Plains counties are credited with 6,004,485 gallons in 1920 as compared to 7,474,335 gallons for the South Plains. In 1925 the North Plains production was 14,862,950, while that of the South Plains was 15,784,665 gallons of milk.

The value of dairy products produced in all 54 counties of the Panhandle, for 1920, totalled $2,281,348, increasing to the figures of $3,543,815 in 1925. Of these, in 1920 the North Plains had a credit of $1,035,361, with the southern area given $1,254,016; in 1925 the north group of counties had $1,702,769 as compared to $1,834,034 in the South Plains.

Shows Farmers How

Banker Leads Toward Better Methods

CHARLES W. WATSON

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to The Morning Avalanche

STILLWATER, Okla., March 16. (AP)—Charles W. Watson, who operate a number of banks in northwest Oklahoma, is using a number of unique methods to help farmers. In each case the methods he uses are safe and sound, and are beginning to show results.

Watson was for a number of years manager of the Kansas City clearing house at Kansas City, Mo., but for the last few years he has been a banker, operating, among others, the banks at Carmen and Drummond.

Upsetting the tradition set bay other bankers all over the country he spends very little of his time in his banks. He can usually be found on the road or visiting with farmers, urging them to adopt improved farm practices. He strongly believes that if farmers can be encouraged to adopt better agricultural and production and marketing practices that the prosperity of the whole country can be improved.

Follows Own Suggestions.

Not only does this banker advocate better farm practices, but he follows out his own suggestions. For instance, he has started a "sweet clover farm," located east of Carmen. On this farm Watson set out sweet clover a number of years ago. Farmers laughed at him, and said it was foolish for a banker to try and teach them anything about farming.

But when it soon became apparent that the sweet clover farm was increasing the fertility of the soil and that it was, moreover, a paying proposition, farmers and business men, alike, paid more attention to it and began to realize that Watson knew what he was talking about.

Having demonstrated that sweet clover is a crop that was profitable, the banker terraced the farm. This also has created considerable favorable comment. The banks purchased two latest model terracing machines and offered to loan them out to any farmer free of charge with this slogan: "We can afford to have them worn out, but we can't afford to let them rust out." Scores of farmers have borrowed these terracing machines, some of them coming from miles away.

The monthly bulletin issued by the First National bank of Carmen carries all sorts of interesting information. For instance, in one issue Watson advertised that he would loan any woman desiring to get a start in turkeys sufficient money to purchase three turkey hens and a gobbler. Every one of the farm women who took advantage of this offer is now in the profitabl business of raising turkeys.

Believing that more good dairy cows would be an asset to the community. Watson purchased two purebred Holstein bulls and offered to let any of the banks' customers borrow them free of charge. Scores of scrub or grade cows have been bred to these bulls, with a very evident increase in the quality of the dairy cattle of the community.

In introducing cotton into the community, the banks offered to give a bushel of seed free to the first hundred farmers who requested it. The only qualification to the offer was that the farmer must be recommended by a business or professional man in the town in which the farmer did most of his trading All farmers who wanted more than a bushel of seed were furnished it at cost.

Hog Raising Big Industry In Lynn

One Tahoka Citizen Has Shipped Fourteen Cars Of Swine, Valued At $25,000 Since January 1

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

TAHOKA, March 16.—Hog raising is rapidly becoming one of the major industries in Lynn county. Already, it has become a very profitable side-line to many farmers.

One Tahoka citizen, E. A. Parks, has bought and shipped fourteen car loads of hogs since January 1st, or about 1120 hogs, at a total value of approximately $25,600. Four car loads are being shipped out this week. Last year forty car loads were shipped from Tahoka, the 3,200 hogs bringing the farmers $72,000; and the shipments this year are expected to be much heavier than that of last.

Since large feed crops are produced in Lynn county practically every year ,farmers are finding hog raising to be profitable and easy, although hogs have been lower recently than [illegible] Many farmers are raising as many as twenty to forty hogs at a time.

Six per cent of the world's population lives in the United States.

Gorman Banker Has Terracing As Main Recreation

Ben F. Read Terracing Land While Others Play Golf; Has Seen Interest in The Work Grow In Section

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

GORMAN, March 16—Some bankers may play golf for recreation, but not Ben F. Reed, president of the First National Bank of Gorman. He gets out and terraces a farm.

Although he has lived in Eastland county 16 years, Reed had no practical knowledge of terracing until 13 years ago when he purchased a run down, gully washed, worn out farm in the south part of the county. He secured the assistance of Eastland County's first County Agent, Ed T. Cox, now with the Prairie Oil and Gas company, and made the farm profitable.

Since then he has purchased several farms and terraced all of them as soon as possible after buying them. He depended upon the services of county agents for terracing until six years ago when he learned the technical part of running terrace grades at which time he purchased a farm level. Also in cooperation with other interested land owners, he purchased a terracing machine and has since devoted a large portion of his time to this work whenever called upon. If the services of the county agent or any local vocational is unobtainable, he is ready and willing, in addition to his duties as banker, help out on the farm.

Reed is gratified to find interest in terracing increasing more every year. He tells of a young farmer whom he induced to buy a tract of worn out land for $1000.00 a short time ago. The place was in about as low state of cultivation as could be not to be completely abandoned Ditches that a horse could be completely hidden in ran through the cultivated portion. After the ditches had been filled up and terraces built the land produced 22 bales of cotton while an adjoining farm of equal size but not terraced produced only 7 bales. This land was purchased for $10.00 per acre and today its value is well over $50.00 per acre.

BUSY THRESHING

New Home Farmer, Near Tahoka, At Work

(Special to The Avalanche-Journal)

TAHOKA, Mar. 16—C. C. Barnes, who is operating a threshing machine, has threshed 9,552 bushels of feed for farmers of the New Home community near here and is only a little more than half done. Farmers report that they have found feed to be the best paying crop of all. Besides feeding their work stock dairy cows, poultry and hogs, most of them this year have been able to sell enough feed to total a neat sum

DAIRY PROFITS BOOSTED

BEAUMONT, March 16. (AP)—V. A. Smart, dairyman, says a winter oats pasture has increased the income from his herd of 43 dairy cows by $12 a day. One hour a day on this pasture, he explains, adds 20 gallons to the day's production of milk.

New Agriculture Chief Sticks With Home Town Ways, Says Lubbock Men Who Knew Him In Childhood Days

Farm Facts

Interesting Things To Ponder Over

Corn sileage for fattening lambs saves hay and grain and reduces the cost of grain. Give the lambs only a small quantity of silage at the b[illegible]ng and gradually increase the daily allowance until they are on ful feed. Lambs weighing from 50 to 60 pounds should get about 1.5 lbs. of silease a day when receiving hay and grain in addition.

Skinning an animal is most easily done before the carcass has cooled Avoid cutting or scoring the skin, but at the same time remove all the flesh from it. Defects from scores and flesh lower the quality of many country hides.

It is important to use good-sized eggs for hatching to get large chicks Choose eggs weighing at least two ounces. Continued use of small eggs for hatching results in lowered vigor of the laying or breeding stock and a decrease in the size of eggs for market.

Temporary lambing sheds, built of light frame material and covered with canvas, are excellent for sheep in sections of the country where the snowfall is not excessive. This type of shed is ideal from a sanitary standpoint a the canvas can be removed to let plenty of sunshine inside, and if necessary the shed can be easily moved.

Low or medium producing cows that are in good flesh should be dry from 4 to 6 weeks. Thin cows may need a somewhat longer period. High producers should be dry for two months or more to get into good condition for calving.

Modern Cattle Rustlers Best

HELENA, Mont., March 16. (AP)Efficiency and invention have put cattle rustling on a production basis.

Charles [illegible] Dowlin, president of the Montana Livestock association says losses from stolen cattle are twice as great as when the range was open and rustlers depended upon the night and fast horse. The modern cattle theif butchers the animals where he finds them in the pasture and hauls the beef away in motor trucks. Has no trouble in disposing of is loot among street peddlers and established dealers.

Dowlin, also a state senator from Rosebud, recommends closer inspection of hides, heavier penalties for stock theft and a tax on stockmen to finance investiagtion and prosecution of rustlers.

Arthur M. Hyde Is Known Back In Trenton, Missouri As "Curb Stone Lawyer", W. R. Steckman Asserts

'A'rt" Hyde, new secretary of agriculture, is a man of simple tastes, according to W. R. Steckman of Lubbock, who was a good "chum" of the new farm chief.

Intensely active, inclined to nervousness, Hyde has few hobbies. He smokes cigars considerably and has a pronounced fondness for buttermilk. He fishes some, and is adept at playing pitch. It is not uncommon to find him perched on the stool of a lunch counter, late at night, eating bread and milk with a friend He has a rare vein of humor, blended with biting sarcasm. He refers to himself as a "curb stone lawyer."

His friends have seen him as a successful attorney, as the governor of their state, as a distributor of automobiles and as the head of a life insurance company. He owns and operates three farms.

Although born at Princeton, 20 miles from here, in 1877, Hyde was a citizen of Trenton when elected governor. He received 919 of the 998 votes cast in the primary by republican voters of the town. He attended Ohio Wesleyan (Ohio) academy, received the degree of bachelor of art from the University of Michigan and, later, the degree of bachelor of law from the University of Iowa. He was admitted to the bar at Princeton, Mo., in 1900. In Trenton he conducted a men's Bible class at the Methodist church.

In 1912 he was the choice of the progressive party for attorney general, according to Steckman. He had led the Roosevelt forces of the third congressional district through a stormy fight that ended with the convention at Hot Springs

Of that campaign he remarked. "I got a worm's eye view of every steam roller that ran that year," Mr. Steckman recalls.

Congratulations poured in on his selection by Mr. Hoover, the Trenton chamber of commerce once said:

"Your whole life gives you a background for the great work in behalf of American agriculture."

New Models To Grace Auto Show

Spirit Of Modern Industry Keynote Of Motor Display

All Types Of Cars And All Kinds Of Price Ranges To Be Seen At Show Planned Here This Month

THE spirt of modern industry will prevail over the Lubbock Automobile show March 28 and 29 when fourteen local dealers open the doors of the Up Town Dance Palace to what promises to be the greatest event of this kind ever staged in West Texas. Motorists and prospective motorists of Lubbock and the entire South Plains are promised two days of attraction and amusement such as has never before offered in this section.

Modern in every detail, from the latest automobile designs to the artistic setting of the amusement hall and the ultra-modern jazz orchestra, the auto show will breathe the spirit of the skilled artisan whose handiwork is the last word in the perfect mechanism that only modern day methods can produce.

Artistry Reigns Supreme

Artistry in design and the latest in transportation conveniences will be the keynote of the 1929 show. Large roomy cars for the well-to-do family, sport designs for the younger set, business machines for traveling men, high-priced cars, middle priced cars and the cheaper models will be on display, each with an appeal to a distinct class.

Manufacturers are co-operating with Lubbock dealers in every way possible that will make of the coming show a success in all respects. Special designs are even now en route to this city for the occasion. The variety of automobile designs and models which will be shown on the afternoon and night of March 28 and 29 will be a revelation to the folk of Lubbock and the surrounding county. Included among the special designs and stock models will be sedans, coupes, roadsters, cabriolets, broughams, phaetons and touring cars.

Models To Be Varied.

There will be automobiles on the floor to match the pocketbook of all, from the lowest-salaried worker to the prosperous man-of-affairs who demands the best. All of these will be there along with the respective dealers who will stand ready to demonstrate to each prospective buyer.

The doors of the dance hall will be thrown open to the public on the afternoon of March 28. Entertainment furnished by the dance orchestra will continue until late that night. On the following day, the show will open at the same time and will remain open until the crowds have thinned out. Vaudeville skits have been arranged as special features of the entertainment.

The following automobile dealers fo Lubbock will have their designs on display at the show:

Royalty Motor company, Dodge; Kuykendall Chevrolet company; West Texas Motor company, Hupmobile; South Plains Motor company, Whippett and Willys Knight; Davis Oldsmobile company; Caprock Motor company, De Soto; Hub Motor company, Hudson and Essex; Cough Motor company, Studebaker and Erskine; Graham-Paige company; Royalty Motor company, Buick; Ragland Motor company, Marmon and Nash; Lubbock Auto company, Ford and Lincoln; Joe Hilton company, Chrysler and Plymouth; and Travis Bailey, Packard.

Backed by an organized advertising campaign, the Lubbock dealers sponsoring the Automobile Show believe that fifty thousand people will visit the show during the two days that the event is in full sway. In case the weather man is favorable the attendance may exceed even the fondest expectations of those in charge.

If a single supply of fruits and vegetables furnished New York City were on one train, the train would be more than 60 miles long.

Lamesa Physicians To Build Hospital Plant In Turkey

TURKEY, Mar. 16.—Dr. T. E. Sandefer and H. C. Allen of Lamesa were in Turkey this week in interest of the $30,000 sanitarium which they are to build. Dr. Sandefer stated that the material was enroute and that work would be started immediately on this modern structure which will be 32 feet wide, 80 feet deep, two stories high, consisting of 23 modern rooms thoroughly equipped for sanitarium purposes.

Gilbert Swan

In New York

By Swan

NEW YORK, March 16.—They generally appear a half-hour or so before midnight, when all the ash pails and garbage cans have been distributed in unsightly rows along the curbstone.

And, somehow, I always seem to encounter one or more of them on a rainy night—the sort of night when a diffusing half-fog clings close to the earth, and seems to hold a goodly portion of the noxious smells and particles of dirt blown up from the streets.

They are the real spectres of the city—the incredible ghosts that walk by night, mumbling to themselves as they scan the butters and linger through the city's refuse. They are men and women, with flesh on their bones and clothes over their flesh. One avoids them with a sense of fear, with a shiver of dread.

Only last night, returning from the theater, I passed the slumping figure of a man; a man with the lumbering walk and bent back of an Emil Jannings character. He was making his way along the sidewalk, a barbed stick in his hand and as he walked he talked to something in the street that was not there. Perhaps he thought it was a dog, or a cat. And as he ambled on, he kept up this mad, undertoned conversation. It was interrupted only when he came to refuse cans, when like some mangy cat he would paw in it with his stick, rescuing scraps of this and that and putting them in a sack hung over his left arm.

Almost daily, there appears in the neighborhood of the Jefferson Market prison, a frowsled haired woman of uncertain years. Her dresses are of the vintage of 1912 and a rummage sale hat perches on hair that has seldom known a comb. She babbles to herself as she walks, intermittently breaking into a shrill cry. Usually she is met by another woman, who might be either a double or a sister, and they disappear around the corner, each mumbling to herself.

These moon-touched crones and men invariably arouse the sympathy of newcomers to Manhattan—a sympathy touched with horror and unbelief. Yet there seems little that can be done for them. Were you to approach them, they probably would snarl you away. The passing policeman shrugs his shoulder and smiles. He passes a whole army of them in his night's round.

Yet, now and then the madness breaks its innocent bonds and becomes a menace to life and limb. Just the other day, one of the mumbling army ran amuck in a Times Square subway station, slashing wildly about with a butcher knife and wounded seven commuters.

Since announcement went across the land that the Waldorf-Astoria would be razed this spring pilgrims of another day have come from a wide variety of states on sentimental journeys. They come to recapture fading memories of years agone. They are, for the most part, elderly men and women in whose youth the old hostelry played a romantic part.

Thus, just the other day a guest wrote for a room he had occupied when on his honeymoon in 1890.

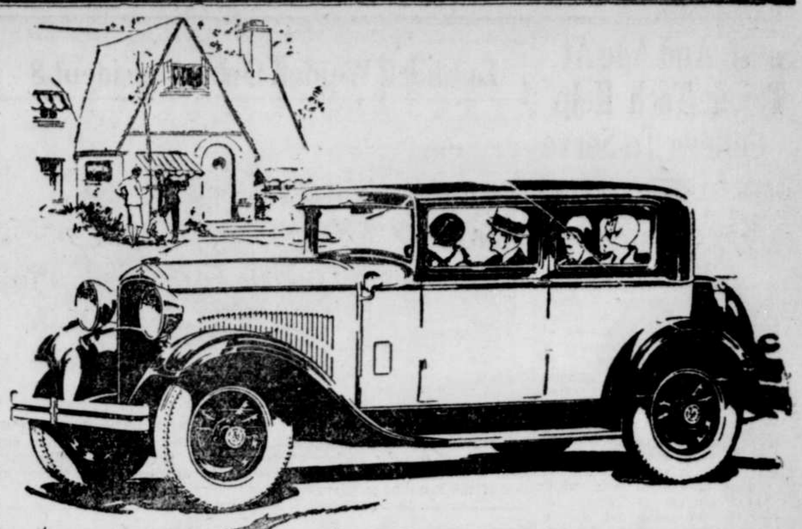

Chatting with the clerk about these pilgrimages, I was told that at the moment Seymour van Santvoord of Troy, N. Y., had returned to the hotel where his silver wedding was celebrated. For 35 years he has been a transient guest—perhaps the oldest patron of the Waldorf.

The league in advertising circles to secure the signatures of well-known celebrated personages for testimonials of various products, from cigarets to motors, grow daily. They tell me that Manhattan is over-run with high-pressure young men with new schemes for obtaining difficult signatures.

One of the most amusing of recent tales in this connection, concerns a solicitor who approached William Howard Taft, asking for the recommendation of a certain auto.

"My young friend," gently began Taft, "don't you think it would be just a bit absurd for the chief justice of the United States, whose opinions are presumed to be respected in weighty matters, to hand down a verdict on an automobile?"

Youth And Age At Texas Tech Help College To Serve

Sixteen States And Texas Counties Numbering 161 Contribute To Youngest State College Here

Youth and age—from far flung boundaries of the nation — mingle daily upon the campus of Texas Technological college, a survey of figures in the office of Registrar E. L. Dohoney revealed this week. In its fourth year the state's youngest educational institution of the first rank has proved a drawing card unexcelled for a school of its age.

Tech's youngest student is a little girl 14 years old named Doris Dolores Sayer, who is enrolled in the School of Liberal Arts, while the oldest student is Thomas A. Lisenby Sr., 57 years old, and a freshman in the School of Agriculture.

A coincident about the two individuals is that Doris' mother, Mrs. Bess Sayer, is also enrolled in the college as a freshman and Lisenby senior has a son, Thomas Jr., who is a freshman in the School of Liberal Arts.

Doris From Hamlin.

Doris graduated from the Hamlin high school last spring and moved to Lubbock with her parents in the fall. She entered Tech with 15 accepted credits.

Mr. Lisenby, who is a former minister in the Methodist church, was admitted to the conference in 1906. A few years ago he was granted a leave from active ministry and became a diversified farmer. Believing that a college education would be a valuable asset he decided to come to Tech and take courses in animal husbandry, farming, etc. He is enrolled for the same work that all freshmen students in the Agricultural school are required to take.

No Limits Sets

The age of Tech students run the gauntlet between the ages of these two people. There is no ruling against a student entering because of age. If a sufifcient number of credits are presented admission may be made, or if individual is over twenty-one years of age he may enroll on individual approval.

There are fifteen states represented in Texas Tech, in addition to the state of Texas. They are Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Minnesota, Missouri, New Mexico, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Carolina and Tennessee.

161 Counties Represented

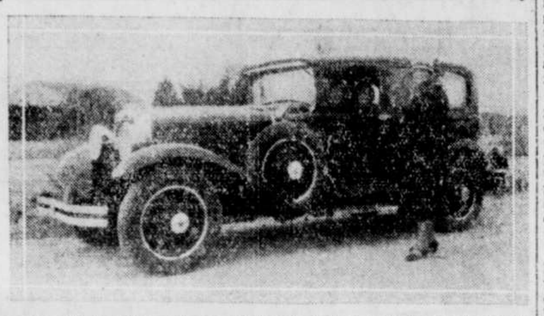

One hundred and sixty-one counties are included in Tech's scholastic enrollment. Lubbock county leads with 817 students; while Hale county comes next with 61 students enrolled.

The courses drawing the greatest number of students are history and education. There are over 600 students enrolled in both.

George Eaton, a Liberal Arts student is enrolled in a foods class in the School of Home Economics and H. Y. Price, jr., tok a course in floriculture during the winter term.

Several girls are planning to major in mathematics which is always thought of as being primarily a subject for boys, and Maurine Henderson shares with Edna Houghton the privilege of being a student in the school of engineering.

Some Folks Just Have 'Taking Ways'

Management Of Hotel Lubbock Discovers Towels, Spoons And Other Articles Just 'Walk Away'

Wise-cracks long have been made about folks "taking" towels and linen and tableware from hotels and Pullman cars, and many a laugh has resulted from the telling of them. To the modern hotel manager, however, the loss of these various articles is no laughing matter.

In truth, of course, the big majority of hotel guests are honest folks, but there remain a sufficient number of others who forget the meaning of honesty, to say the least, when it come to appropriating property that does not belong to them.

W. E. LaFon, manager of Hotel Lubbock, tells many interesting incidents that reveal queer traits of human character—or lack of character. Consciences sometimes get in a good piece of work, however, as witness a recent experience Mr. LaFon relates:

One Takes Nine Towels

"One fellow took nine of our towels with him, when he left several weeks ago. The other day he returned here and inquired if the Bluebonnet hotel at Sweetwater had sent us a package containing these nine towels," said Mr. LaFon. "When we told him they had not, he said that he had taken the towels, in which he had wrapped several bottles, and that at Sweetwater he had them laundered and asked the hotel clerk there to return to us when ready. As we had not received these towels from Sweetwater the man said he would pay for them, if they did not show up."

Hotel Lubbock, when opening for business, purchased a supply of towels, including 100 dozen face towels and 50 dozen bath towels. In less than six months the entire supply of face towels had to be replaced with new ones, because of losses by "appropriation." At the time the hotel opened, there were only 121 rooms. The same ratio of loss has been continued since the first six months. Approximately 200 dozen towels a year are necessary of purcrase for replacement stock.

Spoons Walk Away

"Oh, yes," continues Mr. LaFon, "we are compelled to buy about 10 or 15 dozen teaspoons every six months. Somehow or other these articles walk out of the hotel, too. We have lost over four dozen silver coffee pots, which we sent to rooms with meals, but as we have stopped that practice, this loss is now negligible. These coffee pots cost about $7.50 each. Some folks steal water pitchers, blankets, sheets, almost anything that is loose."

Since the hotel opened for business every reading lamp has been more than replaced, because of guests forgetting to leave them in the hotel rooms. The other day a porter saw one man put two bed sheets in his trunk, while packing in preparation to leave.

This guest was a traveling salesman, with several trunks and cases of sample goods. "If the hotel porters over the country should appropriate samples from this fellow's trunk," FaFon suggested, "he would raise a howl that could be heard all over the nation when he discovered his losses."

She Learns a Lesson

A woman, who had been a guest here on a number of accasions, traveling for some wholesale concern, upon leaving the hotel not long ago, left a package in care of a porter with the request that he mail it to an address given. When the porter took the package to the postoffice, it would not be accepted there because of the manner in which it was wrapped. Taking it back to Mr. LaFon the porter asked what to do next. Mr. LaFon suggested that the package be undone and another box obtained.

This was undone and the porter discovered 24 of the hotel's bath and face towels inclosed, with a few other articles. The worth of all the other articles would not equal in dollars and cents what any two of the towels cost. Mr. LaFon did not send the package, but kept it in his office, leaving instructions with his clerks that the next time this lady called for a room to tell her there were none available and send her to him. In a few days she returned. When she was confronted with the package, she denied placing the towels therein, but later returned and admitted that she had learned a good lesson.

Folks forget many valuable articles that belong to them, in checking out of hotels. Almost every day any number of these articles, which include house slippers, pajamas, overcoats, shoes, clothing, razors, razor straps, pocketbooks with hundreds of dollars in them sometimes, are forwarded by the hotel management to their owners.

Turkey Gets New School Building

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

TURKEY, Mar. 15.—Turkey's new $50,000 school building has been completed and turned over to the school authorities. The equipment and high school department moved into it this week to the delight of all concerned.

The heretofore crowded conditions of the schools has been eliminated by the completion of this splendid structure which solves the congested hazards at least for the time being. Only a short time, however, with the rapid strides of progress being made by Turkey, it will be necessary to consider plans for additional room.

The coming of new families into Turkey, occasioned from the good fortune of obtaining plenty of good, wholesome water, the extension of the sewer system, the increase in the number of substantial homes, the establishment of industrial enterprises, the coming of the Rock Island railroad and many other attractions will bring about a large increase in the number of school children, which is a wonderful asset to any thriving territory.

SPRING SOUP

Use up your next roast bone by making the family a spring soup. This is a cross between a regular vegetable soup and a stew. Add every vegetable you have, season with curry and cook slowly. It makes an excellent and satisfying supper dish.

"It Has Certainly Proven A Blessing"

Snyder, Tex., Farmer's Wife Gives Orgatone Praise—"I'm Now In Perfect Health," She Says

Among the many Texas people who have recently expressed their hearty and sincere approval of Orgatone after putting the medicine to practical tests and deriving convincing results from it, none are more genuinely enthusiastic than Mrs. Virgil Coabart, of Snyder, Texas, living on rural route 1, while in Bowens Drg Store recently for more Orgatone.

"I certainly do give Orgatone credit for my great improvement," she continued, "for it has helped me over a nervous, run-down condition that has honestly been with me for three years, and the last year I had been going from bad to worse until I simply felt like I had no life left in me at all. I got to where I couldn't do my work.

"My stomach just seemed to go back on me entirely, for almost everything I tried to eat would ferment and form sour gas and give me a puffed up miserable feeling that sometimes I felt as if I couldn't get my breath.

"I couldn't sleep at all well at night and I became so badly run down I was simply not equal to anything and nearly had to give up trying to do my work. My kidneys and liver were bother troubled and I had intense pains in my stomach nearly all the time. I was constipated and had severe sick headaches all the time.

"I have just taken one bottle of this Orgatone and can saypositively that I have never felt better or stronger in all my life. I've gained in strength and energy and all my troubles have completely left me. I feel just as if I was made over again.

"My food agrees with me perfectly and I'm not bothered with gas or nervousness in the least. I sleep just fine and my liver and kidney troubles are gone, and nothing ever bothers me in the least. If there's any reason to believe I'm not in perfect health I don't know what it is. I want to recommend Orgatone to my friends for it has surely proven a blessing to me."

THE fine and final touch of modern motoring —straight eight power—now lends its liquid fluency to Studebaker's famous Commander!

The new Commander, now available as either an eight or a six, worthily succeeds to the renown of its illustrious predecessor, which sped 25,000 miles in 22,968 minutes.

The Commander's potent appeal of tireless speed is admirably matched by youthful, vivid style. Lines are lower and longer because of Studebaker's costly double-drop frame. Even in repose, you sense The Commander's fleetness, its power, and its brilliant deportment.

Restful riding, such as motoring never knew until Studebaker introduced ball bearing spring shackles, is still further enhanced by hydraulic shock absorbers.

A cozy coupe or a rocy roadster—quickly and at will

LEE of Conshohocken Tires

THE

Super de Luxe

Is the Climax of LEE of Conshohocken's Engineer Skill

FOR as many miles as you will drive any car, a set of these tires will carry you the whole distance, leaving plenty to spare.

With all cars going 60 miles (88 feet per second) or more and holding this speed, no safety element is more important than the tires.

This Super De Luxe is for the up-to-date motorist, who, besides playing the safest game with his tires, wants to eliminate to the utmost, tre troubles and renewals for the life of his car.

It is unlikely that this tire will ever puncture, and long before it wears out your dollar investment will return to you dividends in safety and lack of worry, which you never before have received.

They ride more smoothly and easily than any other balloon tire we know.

Prices on this new Lee Super De Luxe Tire are high, probably higher than any tire on the market, and yet it sells for considerably less than those old fabric tires which satisfied you if they rendered 5000 miles.

Ford, Chevrolet Leading New Car Sales In County

Total Of 510 New Cars and Trucks Registered Here Since January First—49 Percent Of Total, Fords

PRODUCTS by Ford Motor Company, General Motors and Willys Overland in the lower priced car range are leading the various other makes of automobbiles by a comfortable margin in Lubbock county sales, according to a report given out from the tax collector's office. A survey of the new car and truck registration during 1929 gives the Ford and Chevrolet 59 per cent of the total volume while the Whippet comes next in line with a commanding lead over their nearest rivals.

A total of 510 new cars and trucks have been registered in this county in 1929. Forty per cent of this number, or 201, have been Fords. One hundred nineteen of this number have been sold by the Lubbock Auto Company which gives the local agency 23 per cent of the total cars sold in the county. The remaining 77 of the 40 per cent was distributed by Ford dealers outside of Lubbock.

Chevrolet Is Next

Somewhat behind the Ford but considerably ahead of its nearest rival is the new Chevrolet Six. Ninety-five new Chevrolets have been sold in Lubbock county since the first of the year, giving the General Motors product 19 per cent of the total sales. The majority of these machines were sold by the Kuykendall Chevrolet company of this city.

Whippet ranks third in the new car registration with 33 sales. The South Plains Motor Company, local agency, led the other Lubbock county dealers by a wide margin.

Other automobile sales and the respective ranks follow in order: Dodge, 19; De Soto, 18; Buick, 14; Oldsmobile, 14; Essex, 13; Chrysler, 13; Nash, 12; Pontiac, 12; Studebaker, 9; Durant, 8; Plymouth, 7; Oakland, 7; Hudson, 5; Graham-Paige, 5; Erskine, 4; Packard, 3; Willys Knight, 3; Reo, 2; G. M. C. Truck, 2; Reo Truck, 2; Graham Truck, 2; International Truck, 2; Hupmobile, 1.

While some of these cars were bought in Decembber and registered in January, the largest per cent of them have been purchased since Jan. 1. The figures above include registration through March 3.

Graham-Paige Is Popular Abroad

Graham-Paige, which in its first year attained a record-breaking sales volume of more than $20,000,000 worth of automobiles, is rapidly gaining a place close to the leaders in export business. Not only has the new product of the three Graham brothers taken hold rapidly in foreign countries, but a great increase in the dealer organization abroad assures the company the benefits of worldwide distribution. Graham-Paige cars are now on sale in virtually every country of the world, handled by dealers operating under 115 overseas distributors, of which 11 have been obtained this year.

The remarkable gain in popularity of the Graham-Paige abroad is evidenced by the fact that in the first two months of 1929, export shipment (not including Hawaii, Canada, and Cuba) totaled 2224, or nearly eight times as many as in the same period last year.

TIRE TESTS MADE

Miller Tire Men Take Test Fleets Over All Roads

Driving test fleets continuously, 22 out of 24 hours a day, for weeks and months, until millions of tire miles have been run, has been a big factor in today's improved tire mileages.

According to Miller tire men, the test fleets always follow the weather, going into sections of the country where heat and road conditions are hardest on tires. The one now in Florida for their company, will drive 750,000 car miles or 3,000,000 tire miles on its present trip. Or considering the tire mileage in a more understandable way, this figure would represent approximately 500 round trips from New York to San Francisco.

The fastest living thing on legs is said to be the whippet, racing dog. This dog can cover 200 yards in from 10 to 12 seconds, or half the time a man would require.

Big Increase In Dodge Shipments

Thousands Of Cars Built Each Week In Preparation For Unprecedented Spring Demand

In anticipation of unprecedented spring sales and deliveries, reaching their peak in April and May, shipments of cars by rail from the Dodge Brothers plants in Detroit are totaling many thousands weekly. This total, when combined with "drive-aways" and export shipments is placing the company on one of the heaviest seasonal production schedules in its history. Five loading docks are in constant use in carrying out this program.

Spring days that call motorists outdoors, and on long drives over country highways create the urge a new car with vivid color combinations, unmatched mechanical performance, and smooth riding qualities. The desire to break away from the motoring restrictions imposed by winter weather is reflected by a seasonal sales volume in the months of March, April, May and June that represents more than 40 per cent of the annual sales, according to Dodge Brothers officials.

Shipments Are Heavy

"Many localities will quickly deplete their stocks with the opening of the spring buying season," said Charles W. Matheson, general sales manager. "Cars on dealers' hands are greatly under the total of a year ago. Shipments are continuing unusually heavy to meet present demands and care for future orders, as forecast by the unusual interest centered on Dodge Brothers cars at the automobile shows throughout the country.

SEEK LOWER RATE

I. C. C. Hearing Is Held In Kansas On Livestock

KANSAS CITY, March 16 (AP).—Testimony of Kansas livestock producers and statisticians was heard today by an interstate commerce commission examiner here, in the attempt of the Kansas livestock association and others to secure from railroads extension of a lower freight scale on feeder cattle.

The cattlemen declared they are forced to pay rates approximately 20 per cent higher than if they were inclunded in a scale available to points from Texas north as far as the lower fringe of Kansas counties. They seek inclusion in that scale, recently approved by the commission, which they say amounts to about $20 less per car.

Motor accidents have increased 500 per cent in England during the last decade.

Winter Gales Fail To Halt Fishermen In Quest Of Hauls

BOSTON, March 16 (AP).—While wintry gales lash the North Atlantic and landsmen hesitate before setting foot aboard the greatest liners, business goes on as usual for the New England fishermen.

Here adventure and monetary reward at once beckon the restless youth as they did his fathers before him. Now and again some brave craft sails away to the port o' missing ships, as did the steam trawler Seiner and her crew of 20 this winter. But that does n ' de'er others from heeding the call of the sea.

Have One Meal.

"We have only one meal a day," explained the cook of one trawler to a visitor aboard.

"Yes," the skipper chimed in, "it lasts from 5 in the morning till 5 the next morning."

It is a task for men, this fishing, and the only dieting they need is the providing of sufficient nourishing food to replace the wear and tear of the vigorous physical effort required.

Some of the vessels, mostly the trawlers, carry wireless equipment. But there are scores of schooners that ply their trade without aid of this modern communication system.

Storms delay activity, but as the storm abates somewhat nets are lowered. The men work like demons on decks on which a landsman could not keep his feet. Drenched by flying spray, they haul the icy nets with bare hands or hands protected by cotton gloves. The pace is furious. Sleep is snatched in two or four hour intervals. Meals are curtailed to a few minutes.

See Peak Prices.

With thousands upon thousands of pounds of fish packed in their holds, the fishermen start shoreward. It is often a race with many other craft to catch peak prices of a profitable market. At one time this winter scores of craft, carrying altogether nearly 2,000,000 pounds of fish, engaged in a furious race to port.

If the market is right the reward is generous. Operating on almost communistic basis, the crews split the proceeds according to prearranged plan. With good breaks the members of the crew may receive between $200 and $300 each for a week's work. If the breaks are against them the reward will be far less for the same amount of work.

Unloading quickly, they push the task of refueling and restocking so they may return to the banks with the slightest possible delay.

If all the rain that fell on the earth during the course of a year could be gathered together at one time, it would cover the entire globe to an average depth of 29.13 inches.

World's Easiest Driving Control

NO OTHER CAR in all the world controls quite so easily—with such complete lack of effort—as the new Nash "400".

Nash engineers have developed a new steering mechanism to achieve this result. An ingenious arrangement of roller bearings and a roller-tooth traveling in a worm gear, reduces friction to a minimum hitherto thought impossible.

Women drivers find new help and gain new confidence in parking. Little effort is needed to bring the "400" up to, or away from, the curb.

Gear shifting is just as easy. The "400" clutch pedal depresses at a touch, scarcely resisting the weight of your foot. The conveniently placed shifting lever moves smoothly, easily, from one speed to another.

If you ever find that driving a car tires you, try driving a Nash "400". It will give you an entirely new conception of how effortless, how pleasurable, motoring can be!

Chrysler Shows New "75" Coupe

Beauty, Roominess, Style And Luxury Feature New Creation, Says Frazer, Chrysler Salesmanager

Following a considerable demand from the public for such a car, Chrysler announces a new four-passenger coupe on its "75" chassis. The same authoritatvie beauty and style, and the same spacious body engineering that distinguish other "75" body models, are built into this newest creation, says J. W. Frazier, Chrysler general sales manager.

"The '75's' prestige among all fine cars has made it the most successful car at or near its price that Chrysler has ever produced," he added.

The new coupe, already on display in the larger cities throughout the country, gives Chrysler ten "75" body styles. Its factory price is $1655.

Has Ten Body Styles.

"The popularity of the four-passenger coupe among fine car buyers, together with the great number of requests that we build this body type, leads us to believe it will be one of the most popular cars in the entire '75' series," reads the company announcement. "The dominant appeal of any four-passenger coupe lies in the successful fusion of beauty and utility. This new '75' coupe is one of the smartest and most beautiful cars, both inside and out, that Chrysler has ever built. Its style, luxury and atmosphere of refinement add to the prestige of every other body model on the "75" chassis.

Spring Demand Of DeSoto Optimistic

With spring comes the call of the open road and the driver's urge to leave behind the congested traffic of the city street for the country highway.

So far as the automobile is concerned, the line dividing the seasons disappeared with the advent of the "all year round" car, yet every industry, and the automobile industry is no exception, feels the impetus of spring buying and spring optimism.

It is a new season. Optimism; prevails; newness is everywhere. New houses spring up on vacant lots—old homes are freshly painted —new models replace the old automobiles. To those who have none comes the desire to own a car as thousands and more thousands every year discover the unique and varied attractions to be found outdoors.

Economist Reveals Secret Of Low Cost And Quantity Production Of Autos

By ISRAEL KLEIN
Science Editor NEA Service

The secret of mass production at low cost, as practiced in the automotive business, is the secret of strict adherence to a series of "laws of production" laid down by economists only a few years ago.

These laws and how they have been observed in such plants as Ford, Chevrolet and others were reviewed by Prof. John Younger, professor of industrial engineering at Ohio State university, at a recent meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers. Professor Younger has made a study of these laws, especially as they applied to Ford production, but they can be found working in just as efficient a manner in the plants of Chevrolet and other manufacturers who produce their automobiles on an extensive scale.

1. Concentration upon the manufacture of a single product.
2. Keeping each article distinct.
3. Extensive use of conveyor systems.

One Job Per Man

4. Subdividing work so that each worker has only one or very operations to perform.
5. Providing the required quantity of material of the specified quality at the required time and place.
6. Assigning a definite amount of work to each man to be done in a given time.
7. Wage payment on the straight day rate.
7. Acquirement of sources of raw materials.

Reduction of inventories of ma-

9. Reduction of inventories of materials in stock and in process.

Everything Kept Moving

10. Declining intermediate profits on processes between raw materials and finished product.
11. Keeping materials and parts in rapid motion to assure quick turnover.
12. Using machine tools that give the lowest production cost and require the least human control.
13. Employment of machines that perform several operations at the same time with the same amount of labor as for one operation.
14. Sending machines to the ovrhaul shops at regular periods.
15. Recognition of the fact that obsolescence of a product is more powerful a factor than depreciation by wear of the producing machinery.

Every Move Determined

The importance of each of these steps in mass production Professor Younger points out by a few examples. For instance, he relates the manufacture of electric flatirons in a factory at Mansfield, O., and the care taken in placing the base of the iron in an exact position on the conveyor. If the base were placed in any way other than the one marked out for it, an extra operation in handling would be necessary.

Along the same line, in the factories where our mass production automobiles are made, a worker must not do his assigned operation any faster or slower than is provided by the conveyor system.

"Both results," concludes Younger, "are inimical to decreased costs of production."

By keeping things moving quickly and at the same time having only that material in the factory that is actually in the making, the producers of cheap automobiles are able to obtain a quick material turnover. From a study of the Ford plant, Younger observes that there is a fresh turnover of materials about once a week. A few years back the turnover was 15 times a year, against the present 50.

The result is a much greater margin of profit, or on the other hand, greater reduction in factory costs.

Machines Replace Men

A similar principle is applied to machine tool operation. Only those machines are used that help reduce cost of production and that can do away with manual labor as much as possible.

"If one machine can do several operations simultaneously in the same floor space that is occupied by several machines and with but one attendant, the purchase of the machine is indicated because it saves ultimate cost of the product," says Younger.

The machines aren't "babied" during use. They're run their limit from the start, for, adds Younger, "the factor of obsolescence is today more potent than that of depreciation of wear."

At the same time, machines are so designed that they will work on a product while preparation for feeding the next piece into it is made by the attendant. Thus two, three or more things are done on a single product by the same machine without human attention except that of feeding the raw material and taking out the finished product.

The result of all this is quantity production of quality products, at the lowest possible cost—all of which redounds to the benefit of the motorist in the low cost of the car he buys.

These two views of processes in Ford manufacture are typical of mass production methods in other factories as well. Top photo shows how machines in rows concentrate on one operation, seam welding of gas tanks in this case. Lower photo reveals one of a few remaining hand operations, finishing the body.

Joseph Wilson Swan, an English man, took out the first patent for making artificial silk in 1883, by squirting a pulp of wood and cotton through small holes.

Ford Saves All Factory Surplus

DETROIT, March 14.—What Henry Ford has accomplished in manufacturing economy by the saving of factory surpluses is disclosed in a report on the sale of by-products made public by the Ford Motor Company today.

Supplementing a recent statement on the volume of by-products obtained from the Ford organization in 1928, the report given out today show an increase in value of $3,758,132.91 over 1927 sales. Total by-product sales for 1928 aggregated $16,774,672.59 while the total for 1927 was $13,016,539.68.

Officials of the company pointed out that the careful attention given to the disposition of Ford by-products and their utilization for the development of commodities having the greatest market val have become important factors in the economical production of the Ford automobile. Nothing was thrown away at the Ford plants. Everything that could not be used in motor car building was sold or devoted to the manufacture of marketable products. Investigations were conducted to determine new uses for Ford by-products.

New Methods In Olds Factories

New and improved methods of plating have been installed at the Oldsmobile factories which will result in an even more brilliant and lasting chromium finish on the exterior plated parts. These improvements have been made just two years after Oldsmobile pioneered chromium plating and introduced it to the automobile industry.

The plating department has been materially increased in size, as have practically all manufacturing divisions at the Oldsmobile factories, through the erection of many new buildings during the past year. With the completion of the enlargement of this department new machinery and equipment of the latest type have been installed.

Chromium plating requires the same preparation as for nickel plating. That is, it is first plated with copper, then with nickel and given a final chromium plating bath.

With Super-Six owners by tens of thousands, repeating on Essex, the most spontaneous welcome ever extended a 6-cylinder car has brought hosts of car owners from every price and size field to Essex the Challenger.

Its acceptance is the talk everywhere. Again and again the largest production ever planned by Essex has had to be increased to meet this remarkable demand.

The results of Challenger Week by nation-wide proofs—in performance, reliability and economy—have extended the advantages of this big, fine car with the force of universal appeal.

With its open challenge, that excepts no car—

—with its 24% greater power and 70-mile-an-hour performance

—with its greater beauty, adult-size capacity, riding ease and economy

—and with its brilliant chassis quality and fine, large bodies—Essex establishes also an outstanding leadership in obvious VALUE. It offers an ensemble of fine car equipment identified only with costly cars, and available, when at all, only as "extras," at extra cost on cars of Essex price. In Essex the Challenger—a complete, fine, big "Six"—these items of course are standard.

They represent several hundred visible dollars' worth of additional value, and are another reason for the enormous success which Essex the Challenger has enjoyed from the outset.

Motor Services Development Is Aim Of AAA Meet

Millions Of Car Owners To Tour This Year Are Expected To Benefit From Conference

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Intensified development of motoring services for the millions of car owners who will tour by motor this year wil be undertaken at the fifth Annual Conference of Executives of A. A. A. motor clubs and stat associations to be held in Washington, March 20-21-22.

Advance acceptances for this year's gathering of motordom indicates a record attendance, including outstanding motor club leaders from all parts of the United States, from Canada and from Uncle Sam's Insular Possessions.

Club Service Stressed.

While the major portion of the program will be devoted to the further development of the reciprocal, standardized services of the 1,063 A. A. A. clubs in the United States and Canada, the needs of Americans touring abroad will come in for a great deal of attention, it is declared.

"The time has come when A. A. A. clubs are devoting serious attention to their position as agencies of world-wide travel," the statement from headquarters of the national motoring body said.

Although the three-day conference wil center around the interchange of ideas among club executives and with A. A. A. national officials, prominent figures will be heard in timely addresses, and the sessions will be far-reaching in their importance to the motorists of the nation.

Good roads, sign-posting, motoring facilities, fair taxation and numerous other matters of importance to every individual car owner will be completely covered, while at the same time, marked attention will be given to the problem of national safety.

Plymouth Plant Open To Public

The new Plymouth auto manufacturing plant at Lynch Road and Mt. Elliot Ave., Detroit, has been thrown open to inspection of visitors interested in the most modern methods of motor car production.

This huge manufactory, only recently placed in operation, is one of the most modern and completely equipped in the country. It occupies twenty-three acres of floor space and is the largest single floor structure of its kind in the country. The plant itself is 2,490 feet long and with the foryt acre plot on which it stands represents an investment of over $10,000,000.00.

Due to this single foor plan, it has been made possible, through the use of twelve miles of conveyor machinery to produce 1,000 cars a day, when operations are on a single shift basis and 2,000 cars on a two-shift.

Pertinent Facts About Automobiles By Israel Klein, Science Editor For NEA Service

BY ISRAEL KLEIN
Science Editor, NEA Service

With the decline of winter comes retrospect over the operation of the motor and other working parts of the automobile during this trying season. If the motorist has watched his crankcase oil and has taken account of his gasoline usage, he will find that his expenses for this service have been higher than the year-round average.

The cause of this may be a mystery until he recalls the conditions under which he drove and the method by which he operated his car.

No car gives as high a mileage per gallon of gasoline in winter as it does in summer. The reason is obvious. Even before the machine was backed out of the garage, the motor had to be run for some time to warm up and operate efficiently. That used up gasoline before a tenth of a mile is turned up on the speedometer.

Until the motor was warm enough, the choke had to be applied now and then to keep it running. That meant injection of gasoline into the cylinders in far greater proportions than is ordinarily needed. And that caused the use of more gasoline to the mile than is needed in summer, when the choke is not used.

Use of the choke in winter is detrimental to the proper lubrication of the motor. The excess gasoline that is forced into the cylinders by this method isn't all burned up. What remains unburned finds its way past the pistons into the crankcase and dilutes the lubricating oil there.

The effect is a thinned lubricant which becomes less and less effective as an anti-friction film with the addition of this deleterious gasoline. If the oil hasn't been tested all winter, under the belief that the oil filter assures its cleanliness and effectiveness for two or three thousand miles, the driver will be surprised to discover the amount of gasoline in it when it is finally inspected. The filter may keep the lubricant clean, but it can't prevent dilution with gasoline.

With proper filtration, on the average, a car may go 2000 or 3000 miles without change of crankcase oil. But not while the choke is being used, as in winter. Then only inspection of the oil can tell when it is ready for change.

Take a little of it between your thumb and forefinger, work them back and forth to get the "feel" of the oil and you will then know whether it should be changed. If there is a smooth film between the fingers, the oil is still good. But if there is the least rubbing of thumb and finger, and the liquid feels thin and watery, fresh oil should be obtained.

Many a good car which ordinarily could run 3000 miles without change of oil, thanks to use of the filter, might need changing of oil every 750 or 1000 miles, because of the dilution of this oil with gasoline.

If this hasn't been watched and no change of oil has been made over the winter, it should be done immediately. Diluted oil not only fails to lubricate but it actually is harmful to all moving parts. Gasoline tends to break up whatever oil film may exist between two moving parts. What is left permits metal to rub against metal and causes undue wear on the motor.

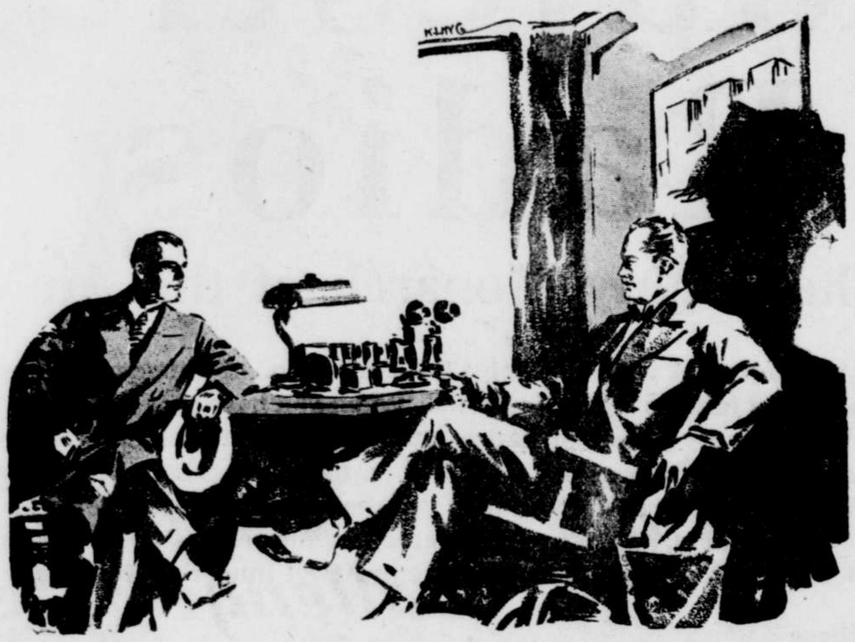

More liable to thinning is the lubricant that is used in winter. That is usually a thinner oil than the lubricant for summer use, in order to prevent its freezing and hardening under winter temperatures. A thinner oil is bad enough and of itself requires more frequent changing. Mix it with gasoline and more detrimental results follow.

When spring comes along, the winteroil should be changed to a slightly thicker lubricant for warm weather motoring. The heat of the motor added to that of the season, further thins the oil in the crankcase. Light oil thinned by such heat is practically useless in any motor.

Story Of Nicaraguan Politics Reads Almost Like Fairy Tale As Triumphs Of Sacasa And Moncada Are Seen

After Being Kicked Around Dr. Juan Sacasa Is Now Enroute To U. S. Capital As New Minister

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16. — The story of Nicaragua politics is not exactly like a fairy tale, perhaps, but it does go to show that sometimes everything comes out all right for some people and that even in real life the ogres and the big bad giants occasionally get it in the neck.

Dr. Sacasa

Dr. Juan B. Sacasa is now on the high seas, bound for Washington. He is the new Nicaraguan minister to the United States. In Nicaragua that post is second only to the presidency, and many Nicaraguan political leaders would as soon have one job as the other.

A year or two ago Dr. Sacasa was being more or less kicked around, finally being forced into exile after our state and navy departments had disarmed his liberal army. Dr. Sacasa four years ago was Nicaragua's vice-president. The president abdicated under pressure and fled.

Dr. Sacasa fled, too, preferring life to death, but he set up shop on the Atlantic coast as constitutional president and organized an army. The army was successful until President Coolidge sent Henry M. Stinson down to tell it to quit, whereupon Dr. Sacasa left the country again.

Gets New Quarters

Dr. Sacasa will step right into one of the nicest little legations in Washington, a handsome new building at the top of Fifteenth street, opposite Meridian Hill Park, just vacated by the Egyptian minister. It is one of a string of embassies and legations in the immediate vicinity, including the French, Dutch, Italian and Mexican.

That's one success story. Another is that of General Jose Moncada, who gave Dr. Sacasa his fine new job. General Moncada, of course, is the new Nicaraguan president. He was the chief of Sacasa's army and so distinguished himself in the face of the conservative trops and the "neutral zones" and other obstacles set up by American marines that he became the national hero.

Moncada licked the conservatives on the Atlantic coast and made a terrific march through jungles and swamps into the interior toward Managua, the capitol. It was a great military feat and success appeared in his grasp when Stimson appeared on the scene and told him he must disarm or he disarmed by the marines.

At the time this seemed very tough on the poor Nicaraguan liberals and certainly it must have seemed so to them. In the face of all other kinds of opposition from Washington they had put up a brave fight against odds only to be robbed of the fruits of victory by a military force which it would have been suicide to oppose.

Uncle Samy Helped.

As it turned out, dear old Uncle Sam himself put things right by insisting upon "free and fair elections. Nicaraguan voters kicked out the old conservative crowd and elected Moncada, who certainly did the graceful thing by appointing his former boss to Washington.

The pleasant things that have happened to Moncada and Sacasa have happened to lesser Nicaraguan liberals who last year were either in exile or in a state of complete quiescence.

During the days the revolution was active, for instance, the very young Senor Evarista Carazo Morales was up here, parked ina tiny hotel room, pushing out pro?liberal propaganda on his typewriter, short of funds and altogether short of sympathy from our government. He appeared to be fightig a losing fight also; it seemed as if he might become an old man before he could dare return to his own country.

But now he is secretary of the legation and pending Sacasa's arrival has been charge d'affaires and minister ad interim, dealing with the same State Department at which he was hurling publicity broadcasts so recently.

Everything Lovely

Meanwhile everything seems to be going with reasonable serenity in Nicaragua. The Quadra faction of the conservative party is working with the liberals and General Emiliano Chamorro, the big coup d'etat man, has retired to his estate with apparently few hopes of regaining power.

The new Congress has just approved the bill which will make the national guard, with about 2000 men, the only armed force in the republic. The guard will be trained and supervised by American officers until further notice.

Moncada is arranging for public works commissions in each of the departments, or provinces, of Nicaragua, which wil raise taxes especially for schools and highways. He plans to develop the Atlantic coast of his country, and believes it may prove economical to run a railroad from coast to coast.

The foghorn on a first-class lightship requires an engine of 72 horsepower to work it. It can be heard for 20 miles.
