Regatta to Be On Sunday at Lake McMillan

Biggest Race Program Is Planned, Including Hydro, Racing Runabout Classes—Lions, Pecos Valley Co-sponsors.

Final plans for the big regatta on Lake McMillan Sunday were made Tuesday evening at a meeting of representatives of the Pecos Valley Boat Club and the Artesia Lions Club, co-sponsors.

The regatta, in which there will be thirteen heats in seven races, the largest program ever attempted on the lake, will start at 1:30 o'clock.

Representatives of the organizations said the course has been moved somewhat since the previous regatta this year, made necessary because of low water. The judges' stand will be removed from the dam to the bank adjacent to the Pecos Valley Boat Club dock, or the judges will work from a large boat anchored within the course, as has been in prior years. A new forty-foot dock has been built.

The races have attracted the greatest number of racers ever brought to the Pecos Valley, including Henry Taubert and Clarence Stinson of San Antonio, who took first and third places, respectively, in the 1941 nationals at Austin.

Other noted racers, some who have been seen on Lake McMillan in the past, will include men from El Paso, Amarillo and Pampa.

Spectators will again be permitted on the dam, but not in the vicinity of the gates. The dam and other parts of the lake will be patrolled by members of the State Guard.

Officials for the regatta were named Tuesday evening at the meeting. They are:

Chief judge, H. G. Watson; chief scorer, Dr. Glenn Stone; chief timer, A. L. Bert; chief starter, Al Glasser; pit manager, Jim Ferguson; assistant pit manager, R. M. (Red) Vaughan; chief field judge, W. C. Gray; patrolman, Draper Brantley.

Scheduled hydroplane and racing runabout races will be seen for the first time on Lake McMillan, both classes of racers bidding for the majority of thrills, unless it would be the free-for-all, in which not only those two classes of boats will whiz around, but will be in company with the service 22's and 33's and possibly some of the smaller boats.

Two heats each will be run in the "A", "B", "C" and "E" service runabout, "C" racing runabout and hydroplane classes. The thirteenth heat will be the free-for-all.

Although trophies of War Stamps will be given in most races, $60 in cash is offered in the racing runabout race, $30 in each heat, divided, $15, $10 and $5.

Members of the Pecos Valley Boat Club believe that the races provide good entertainment for a country at war, but they realize that this may have to be the last regatta for the duration and they are hoping for a record crowd, surpassing the 2,500 who saw the regatta in June.

Wayne Hoover, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Hoover of Las Cruces, is here visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hoover and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Warren.

Ballard Seeks Re-election as Justice Peace

Judge W. H. Ballard has announced himself a candidate to succeed himself as justice of the peace of precinct No. 6, which includes Artesia, subject to the Democratic primary Saturday, Sept. 12.

The candidate has served in the capacity of justice of the peace about ten years and is a former Artesia municipal police judge.

The experience of Judge Ballard has been quite extensive on the bench and during his years of service he has had to pass judgement on a wide variety of cases.

His reputation of fairness is well known through decisions made in cases and suits and it is on the basis of this reputation, as well as honesty and mature judgement that Judge Ballard seeks the nomination and re-election as justice of the peace.

Military Rites Conferred Upon Sgt. Hal Hamill

Full military rites were conferred Friday afternoon on Tech. Sgt. Harold (Hal) Hamill, first local soldier of World Wars I and II to die, when funeral services were held at McClay Chapel and burial was made in Woodbine Cemetery.

The rites were in charge of Clarence Kepple Post No. 41, American Legion, with Company 8, 2nd Battalion, New Mexico State Guard, assisting.

A funeral address was delivered by Steve Lanning, past post commander and past district commander of the Legion, and Howard Whitson, commander of the post, served as chaplain.

A firing squad saluted Sgt. Hamill at the grave and "Taps" was played by Paul Cobble, as bugler.

The United States flag, which was drapped over the casket, was presented by Whitson, in behalf of the United States government, to Hal Hamill, Jr., who is in the Navy.

Pallbearers were R. H. Westaway and J. R. Atterbery of Carlsbad, H. G. Watson, Sam Williams and John and Frank Runyan.

Sgt. Hamill died Sunday of last week at Camp Lee, Va., from burns sustained the day prior in an accident.

Big Tank Truck Crashes, Spills Cargo of Petro

An oil transport truck belonging to the Cos-Mex Company of Hobbs was demolished about 3:15 o'clock last Thursday afternoon five miles east of Artesia on the Lovington highway, when it plunged into an eight-foot underpass. Carlton Wade of Hobbs, 21, driver, sustained only minor injuries.

The truck crashed into the underpass 175 yards from where the right front wheel slipped off the highway, dumping its load of 2,788 gallons of crude oil into the arroyo. The truck and load weighed about 35,000 pounds.

The accident was investigated by Bill Lewis, state policeman, who arranged for the oil to be removed, so as to eliminate the fire hazard. Most of it was recovered by pumping it into another tank truck.

Wade's escape was miraculous, as the cab of the truck was badly crushed. He managed to crawl out of the cab, after extricating his foot from under the brake pedal, where it was caught. He was brought to Artesia by a passing motorist for medical attention.

Jim Willington, owner of the company, estimated the loss at $2,500. He was on his way to Fort Worth at the time of the accident, but was located at Big Spring, from where he came to Artesia.

Only One Oil Well Is Completed in Fields of County

Continental Is Producer — No New Locations Made During Week

The expected slowdown in oil activities in Eddy County began to show during the last week, during which no new locations were made and only one completion was reported.

The completion was the Continental, State 1, in SE NW 36-16-30, which flowed twenty-one barrels of oil in two hours, natural, from a total depth of 3,030 feet.

Drilling Reports

Shown here are wells on which progress was reported, those inactive during the week being withheld until activities are resumed:

Barney Cockburn, Leonard-State 2, NE SE 32-16-30.
Total depth 2,701 feet; 5½-inch casing cemented.

Barney Cockburn, State 4, NW NW 2-17-30.
Drilling at 2,860 feet.

Barney Cockburn, State 7, NW SE 36-16-30.
Drilling at 3,050 feet.

Barney Cockburn, State 8, SE SW 36-16-30.
Total depth 2,707 feet; fishing for bit.

Barney Cockburn, Etz 6, SE SW 35-16-30.
Total depth 3,004 feet; shut down for repairs.

Barney Cockburn, Etz 8, SE NW 35-16-30.

Registration Day in Artesia Brings Out 136 Persons Monday

At the four polling places in Artesia 136 persons registered Monday and an equal or greater number changed their addresses.

Persons who failed to register then could have registered at the courthouse in Carlsbad in order to vote at the primaries Saturday, Sept. 12. But anyone not having been registered up to Aug. 11 may not vote at that time.

However, that will not preclude anyone from voting at the general election in November, provided he registers on or before Oct. 3. This may be done any weekday at the county clerk's office. Whether there will be a special day set aside for registering here, without going to Carlsbad, is not known.

Sam Howell of Carlsbad Drowns In Pecos River

Sam Howell of Carlsbad, brother of Will Howell of the Lakewood vicinity, drowned late last Thursday afternoon in the Pecos River, about ten miles south of Carlsbad, where he and 12-year-old Roy Ogle had gone to fish.

Howell, a bachelor, was caught by the current in deep water, as he waded out to test the depth. Ogle, who was swept off his feet, floated down stream to safety. The body of Howell was recovered Friday morning.

Funeral services were from West Chapel in Carlsbad Saturday afternoon and burial was in Carlsbad Cemetery.

Howell, who was employed by the Potash Company of America, was a resident of Carlsbad for 44 years. He was born in Ingram, Texas.

Besides his brother, Howell is survived by his mother, Mrs. L. W. Howell, with whom he lived, and five sisters, Mrs. Bob Riley and Mrs. J. L. Fanning, Carlsbad; Mrs. Homer Suttles, Kerrville, Tex.; Mrs. H. B. Englemann, Mountain Home, Tex., and Mrs. Clarence Stout, Silver City, N. Mex.

ROBINSON, NIGHT COP, RESIGNS FROM FORCE

John Robinson, night police officer here since the first of the year, resigned effective last Saturday.

As yet no successor for him has been named by the city council.

Dempsey Stops In Artesia on Friday Briefly

John J. Dempsey, Democratic candidate for governor, stopped over briefly in Artesia Friday on his swing through Southeast New Mexico, on which he trained his guns on his opponent, Bryan Johnson, and Johnson's backer, Senator Dennis Chavez.

He was accompanied by Gov. John E. Miles, who is supporting Dempsey and of whom he said, "Whenever I want something done in Washington, I always call on Jack Dempsey to get it done."

Dempsey, former congressman from New Mexico and more recently undersecretary of interior, pointed out that Johnson's backer, Chavez, and he had been in Washington when the war clouds were gathering and how Chavez opposed the fortification of Guam and Wake Islands. "He voted the other way," Dempsey said, " and if the Axis had voted too, that is the way it would have been."

The former congressman took issue with Johnson on WPA expenditures, saying, "I notice my opponent takes exception to expenditures of the federal government under what he terms 'the lush days of the WPA.' I suppose his criticism of that expenditure during the depth of the depression is due to ignorance or inexperience. Perhaps he does not know that at the time to which I presume he refers there were from 30,000 to 35,000 unemployed persons in New Mexico, who were without resources of any kind and that except for the work supplied through the WPA, women and children would have gone hungry."

EDMOND RUNYAN, JR., INDIA, MESSAGE TO WIFE SAYS

Mrs. Edmond Runyan, the former Charlotte Woods, has received a cablegram from Mr. Runyan saying he was in Karachi, India.

Mr. Runyan is a twin son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Runyan, ranchers of the Lower Penasco.

Senate Committee Oil Hearing to Be Held Here Aug. 25

Discuss Petroleum Problems of Producers of Southwest United States

Artesia has been chosen definitely for one of two meetings of oil men in the Southwest with the Senate public lands committee on problems confronting the petroleum business.

Information from Washington is that the committee, headed by Senator Carl Hatch of New Mexico, will meet in Artesia Tuesday, Aug. 25, and at Casper, Wyo., Wednesday, Aug. 19.

The field hearings will provide oil producers an opportunity to give their ideas on effective methods of stimulating reserves, it was announced by Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming, chairman of the mineral resources sub-committee.

Local oil producers are drawing up plans for the meeting, preparing breakdowns of their businesses to show that in order to maintain or build up a reserve of oil, a certain amount of drilling must be done and that they must have a profit above current expenses sufficient to take care of depletions.

The investigations are the second phase of the sub-committee's work. The group already has held hearings on other mineral resources.

Governor Urges That Men Join The State Guard

Capt. Oren C. Roberts, commander of the local State Guard company, said that Gov. John E. Miles on Tuesday urged New Mexico men who are not immediately subject to military service to enlist in the State Guard.

The age limit of the organization has been raised to 55 years and lowered to 18 years.

Capt. Roberts quoted the governor as saying, "It is necessary that we keep the State Guard a going organization from the standpoint of safety here at home.

"It is the patriotic duty of everyone to do his bit for his country in this great hour of conflict and I can think of no better way for a man to serve his country than by giving his services to the State Guard."

Men interested in joining may contact Capt. Roberts, who said there is a number of vacancies in the company.

Evidence That Fishin' Is Good

The engraver, in sending back the above picture, labeled it: "Man and Fish." By rights there were two men and two fish, but one of the four was not present when the camera was snapped.

The one in the middle is Pearl Johnson. The other man is T. E. (Dutch) Miller, but he is not in the picture. Those on the left and right of Johnson are the fish.

The larger of the fish weighed twenty-five pounds and the smaller about fifteen pounds. Both were caught in the Pecos the night of July 31. And besides the two honeys, Johnson and Miller also snagged a ten-pounder and some smaller catfish.

As Sgt. Leonard Is Decorated

Sgt. Paul Leonard, brother of Mrs. C. O. (Cap) Fulton of Artesia, is shown at Denver July 18 receiving the Distinguished Flying Cross for his valor in the famous Tokyo raid, on which he served as engineer-gunner on the plane flown by Brig. Gen. Jimmie Doolittle, leader of the attack.

The presentation is being made by Major Woodward, while Sgt. Leonard's wife looks on.

After the Tokyo "visit," Sgt. Leonard flew with the American Volunteer Group (Flying Tigers) and the R. A. F. in the Far East before returning to the United States. It is reported that he has now been permanently assigned to Gen. Doolittle's plane. Before receiving the Distinguished Flying Cross, he was decorated by Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, wife of the Chinese Generalissimo Chiang.

More Than Thirty in List of Men Sent to Fort Bliss This Week

More than thirty young men left the Artesia community for Fort Bliss for final examinations for the Army, the majority to be inducted.

Advance lists of inductees no longer are being released, in order to avoid embarrassment to those men who might be thought to be in the Army, but who have been rejected.

In a recent list of men inducted, the name of Charles Rutledge was inadvertently overlooked.

Joe Lusk Seeks Post of County Commissioner

Joe Lusk, a native of New Mexico and of Eddy County since 1896, places his name before the voters of Eddy County for county commissioner of district No. 1.

Mr. Lusk needs no introduction to the populace of this county, as he filled this position from 1934 to 1938. During that time the bonds were voted to build the very splendid courthouse which is a credit to any and all who labored for its erection.

Also, the commissioners so handled the sale of the bonds as to save ¼ per cent on the sale of them. And the further savings practiced in the construction enabled $50,000 to be retired at once, thereby saving taxpayers a great deal of money in taxes.

All other matters which come before the commissioners were handled just as effectively.

Joe has only one promise, if elected. That is that he will serve all the people just as unpartisan in all matters in these dark days and trying conditions, as is in his power, and his experience should be in his favor to do a good job as commissioner.

ATTEND ROTARY CLUB ASSEMBLY AT CRUCES

A. P. Mahone, president of the Artesia Rotary Club; D. I. Clowe, secretary, and the Rev. I. L. Morgan represented the club at the annual district assembly at Las Cruces Monday and Tuesday.

They reported a splendid series of meeting, with many constructive ideas for the coming year's programs advanced.

WILL FINGERPRINT AWVS MEMBERS NEXT MONDAY

All members of the American Women's Auxiliary Services who have not as yet been fingerprinted are being urged to attend a meeting at the city hall at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening, when there will be someone to take prints.

Harry Woodring And Family Are Sold on State

Harry Woodring of Topeka, Kan., former secretary of war, who first came to New Mexico about a month ago, but who was so impressed with the state he brought his family here a few days later, likes it so well his friends are speculating as to whether he can be weaned from Kansas where he served as governor.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodring and their three youngsters, Marcus Coolidge, Melissa and Cooper, left Monday for El Paso, after having been here and at Cloudcroft and other places in Southeast New Mexico a week and a half.

The former secretary of war, who is president of the New Mexico Eastern Lumber Company, which has just completed a mill at Artesia, said the whole family "has fallen in love" with New Mexico. But the two things which impressed them most were the Carlsbad Caverns and the bat flight there.

AWVS Sells Large Part War Savings Bonds in August

North Eddy County Still Runs Far Behind Quota This Month

In spite of helpful sales of War Savings Bonds by members of the American Women's Auxiliary services Saturday, North Eddy County is running far behind its quota for August, L. B. Feather, chairman, has announced.

Up to Saturday night sales in the north half of the county totaled only $9,207.50 in cash spent, not face value, as against $13,500 for a fourth of the month's quota, which is $54,000.

The AWVS was credited with cash receipts of $6,145 for the day Saturday, about two-thirds of the amount spent for bonds in the area in the first eight days of August, Feather said.

Of the $54,000 quota, North Eddy County still had $44,792:50 to invest during the remainder of the month in order to go over the top.

Feather said this morning there have been some more investments made in War Savings Bonds since Saturday, but he has no later figures. The trend continued slow the first three days of this week, however, he said.

He again stressed the point that everyone having any money he can invest at this time should do so, rather than wait until later, for the government needs the money now.

Letters From Boys in 200th Come Through

Delayed Many Weeks, but Bolster Hopes of Their Parents and Friends — Dated Before Fall of Islands.

A number of letters from local boys in the 200th Coast Artillery, Anti-Aircraft Regiment, who were in the Philippines at the time Bataan fell early in April and Corregidor capitulated early in May have come through this week, delayed many weeks, but raising great hopes in the hearts of relatives and friends.

Two of them were dated March 6; others bore no date. But all were in good condition, just as though they had been mailed a day or two before arrival. Where they have been and by what route they reached Artesia are matters of conjecture.

Although there probably were others, it has been learned letters were received Monday from Charles Mitchell, W. R. Phillips, Sgt. Tony King, John Conner and N. J. Ammons. Three of the letters are reproduced here as received. The first is from W. R. Phillips to his mother, Mrs. Nora Phillips, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Jones. Mrs. Jones died Feb. 10. The letter:

March 6, 1942.

Dearest Mother, Grandfather and Grandmother:

I know you will be glad to hear from me. This is the only chance to get a letter home. Always remember: "No news is good news."

"You're having a good time; wish I were there." Ha! Ha!

I'll bet things have changed a little, haven't they? Believe it or not, I'm in the best of health and (censored) have been eating very well considering conditions.

I'll knock on wood, but I think it will continue. Now listen, try not to worry yourself sick, because nothing is ever as bad as it seems; really it isn't. So when I come home, I don't want to see a bunch of grey hairs and deep lines around your eyes. Do this for me, or at least try not to worry too much.

How are Uncle George and Aunt Jo? Worried, I suppose. Tell Mary hello.

Oh, yes, I have $10,000 insurance now.

One thing we have here is plenty of entertainment. Hamilton, a fellow who used to play with Benley's Chuck Wagon Gang, from Borrows Mills, is here and is really good. Comical as the dickens. He plays guitar and sings Western songs and also some little ditties that wouldn't go well at an ice cream social.

Another fellow, a real up-in-the-air cowboy, plays a harmonica. They can really beat out some of those songs like "Bury Me Not On the Lone Prairie," etc.

Chilicathe has gone wild; he wears shorts like a native of some kind. Brewster, a 6-foot-6'er, has a long, black beard. So has "Doc" Womack.

Well, there are only certain things we can write about and I've written about them, so don't forget to wear your rubbers when it rains.

Howard Is to Speak at Hut Here on Friday

Coe Howard of Portales, a member of the New Mexico State Legislature for twelve years, who is a candidate for Congress on the Democratic ticket, will speak publicly at the American Legion Hut in Artesia at 8:30 o'clock Friday evening on issues of the campaign.

The candidate says he favors legislation to set up new laws for the boys in the service, so they will know when they return home they will be provided for and that the dependents of those who may not return home will be provided for.

His platform includes favor of a pension plan to give the aged and dependent security for all time; legislation to protect interests of agriculture and livestock, development of New Mexico, with protection of water rights, improvement of the irrigation system and grazing land now federally owned; government assistance in the educational systems.

The public is invited to hear Howard discuss these subjects and others of interest in the campaign.

CONCENTRATE ON ONE JOB—WIN THE WAR

In a discussion over a cup of coffee this week we heard some arguments advanced which tend to bring the war effort picture home rather forcefully, if not any too happily.

It is all fine to talk about the peace to come after the war, but we must not lose sight that the immediate and most important thing right now is to win it.

It is all right to pay well for labor in the war industries, in order to get the job done, but we must not inflate that portion of our national economy to the exclusion of other portions.

It may be neccessary to hire men not fully trained in a trade in order to speed up war projects, but they should not be treated and paid as men who really are artisans.

All of these things came out in the discussion and they deserve a little thought.

We must admit that the war effort is bogging down. Until this week we had been fighting a delaying war and a defensive war. Now we are told the first offensive has started.

It has been bogging down because we were not prepared when it came and we have not been able, as yet, to speed up to a winning pitch.

True, we are training thousands and thousands of fine young men.

But the average man on the street has not entered into the war spirit as yet. And, as our coffee conferee pointed out, we are taking the same attitude as did France.

That country, you will recall, was not prepared when the war started. Then France sat tight during that winter of inactivity. Even when the invasion of the Low Countries started, French industry would not speed up. The workmen still wanted their short hours of work and long hours of leisure.

And that is what we are doing in the United States.

Defense job workmen are demanding—and getting—unreasonable wages, as compared with commodity prices, on which ceilings have been placed.

It is not the fault of labor so much as it is of the racketeers at the head of labor. But the practice exists.

And it is souring the remainder of the American people, who are so disgusted they are falling behind in the purchase of War Savings Bonds. The attitude seems to be that the workers in the war industries are receiving the gravy, making in proportion much more than are the others, so why should they put forth any effort—or money?

That, of course, will not win this war, or any war.

Our millions of boys are doing their part and thousands already have given their all—including some from Artesia.

It is time the American people did something about it, now, not on and after Nov. 3.

First, we must forget differences among various groups.

Second, democracy must be made to work better, in order that we have democracy to fight for, by the people insisting on a speeding up of the war effort, no matter who it might hurt.

Third, we must continue to invest in War Savings Bonds and lend every other effort to the prosecution of the war, even while we are trying to straighten out the labor situation.

Fourth, we must not forget for one moment the boys who are in uniform—and the boys who have died or are prisoners.

But above all, win the war.

THE CANDIDATES AGAIN

(Carey Holbrook in The Health City Sun)

From the oil soaked land of Texas,
To the Arizona plain,
Can't you hear that flood of grammar?
That's the candidates again!
It's the same old bunch of hombres
We've listened to for years,
When the issue burns and blazes,
And the time for voting nears.

There's the boy who's merely bending
To a sovereign people's will;
There's the man who ran at twenty
And he's on the ticket still.
There's the boy who views with horror,
And the man who points with pride,
To a record pure and lily white
With nothing (much) to hide.

From the Northern tier of counties
Where the Spanish viva rings,
Can't you hear that bum Castilian?
That's the party claiming things!
In the back-wash of the precincts,
Where the papers seldom reach
Hear the adjectives that crackle
Mixed with other parts of speech.

Hear the verbal sound of battle
In the counties to the North
Where the shot and shell and synonyms
Are bandied back and forth.
From the oil soaked land of Texas
To the Arizona plain,
Can't you hear that flood of grammar?
That's the candidates again.

CLEAN 'EM OUT BEFORE THEY TUMBLE

Now comes that time of year when many corner lots and some backyards take on the appearance of jungles, as the tumbleweeds and other of the native flora clutters up the place.

In the first place, the city would look nicer if all such unsightly places were cleared off.

And in the second place, it won't be so many weeks until the tumbleweeds begin to tumble.

IT'S STILL AN IDEA

For the April 9 editorial column our fertile mind concocted this squib:

"Well, Roswell gets an Army Air Base and Carlsbad and Hobbs get flying schools and here we are, right in the middle.

"Maybe we should offer Artesia for a bombing range!"

Well, we submit it again and still say it's something to think about.

"Soul" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 16.
The Golden Text is: "My soul shall be joyful in the Lord: it shall rejoice in his salvation." (Ps. 35:19)
Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Blessed art thou, O Lord: teach me thy statutes." (Ps. 119:12)
The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "The material senses originate and support all that is material, untrue, selfish, or debased. They would put soul into soil, life into limbo, and doom all things to decay. We must silence this lie of material sense with the truth of spiritual sense."

"Canteen" comes from the French "cantine," which means "a place where food and drink are sold to school children, prisoners or soldiers."

SAFEWAY Homemakers' Guide

NUMBER 56 ★ Hints and suggestions for box lunches ★ Safeway week-end prices now good every day ★ A shopping lesson from a girl named Nora

Is your family really well fed?

If you follow the 3 Golden Rules of Nutrition then your family is well fed. These rules are discussed in lesson No. 1 of the 10-lesson "Kitchen Course in Nutrition"—an easy, workable course-by-mail. Send name and address and 25c for the entire course to Julia Lee Wright, Box 660-CC, Oakland, California.

Looking for ways to make box lunches more interesting?

More than ever, it is imperative that the meals you serve your family be appetizing, filling, and up to nutritional standards. And that goes for a box lunch as well as any other meal of the day. In many cases (war workers on night shifts, for instance) the box lunch is the most important meal of the day. And it must not only be appetizing and nutritious, it must be planned and packed to stay attractive for several hours after it's been prepared.

So don't use less of your menu-planning ingenuity on box lunches—use more.

Here are a few hints and a few menus, planned and tested by the Safeway Homemakers' Bureau, that might help you in your planning.

Use the best equipment available. Be sure the tops to all jars and bottles fit perfectly. Use plenty of wax paper.

Vary the bread for sandwiches. Use the more uncommon types of bread once in a while—pumpernickel, raisin, nut bread, sesame seed, etc.

Use lots of butter. This helps keep sandwiches from drying out.

Don't include sandwiches like tomato and lettuce. They're almost certain to wilt. If he likes tomatoes, put in a whole one instead.

Dorothy Warren Winner Style Revue in North Eddy County

Miss Dorothy Warren of Artesia was chosen to represent the northern part of Eddy County Tuesday afternoon at Artesia High School, when members of the Artesia, Hope, Cottonwood and Atoka 4-H Clubs met for an "Achievement Day" contest and style revue, under the direction of Miss Phyllis White, Eddy County home demonstration agent.

Miss Warren, who is in her fourth year of club work, was given a blue ribbon, or the classification of an "A", in the revue for her work. She competed with the winner of South Eddy County in Carlsbad Wednesday, when one girl was to be selected to enter the state style revue, which will be held for the 4-H girls during the state encampment at Las Cruces next week, Aug. 17-21.

Elected as delegates to attend the state encampment were Louise Hayhurst of Artesia and Mary Alice Cauhope of Hope. The girls will leave with Miss White for Las Cruces Monday morning.

In the food exhibit, the Cottonwood 4-H Club had the only entries. Classifications were: Edna Earl Johnson, "A"; Cleo Johnson, "B"; and Glenda Kelley, "C".

In the dress revue: Fourth year—Dorothy Warren, Artesia, "A"; Kate Conn, Hope, "B"; Mary Elizabeth Cauhope, Hope, "B". Third year—Louise Hayhurst, Artesia, "A"; Connie Harrison, Hope, "C". Second year—Frances Warren, Artesia, "B". First year—Mary Alice Jenkins, Artesia, Betty Zane Teague and Wilma Jo Young, both of Hope, all "A's"; Dorothy Hayhurst, Artesia, "B", and Zona Jones, Hope, "C".

Mrs. Rosemund Grove of Carlsbad was the judge.

After the revue, Miss White showed a movie on "Health and Happiness."

Eloise M'Carty and Bob Barnett Marry In Post City Aug. 4

Miss Eloise McCarty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. McCarty, and Bob Barnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Barnett, both of Artesia, were secretly married at Post City, Tex., Tuesday, Aug. 4, it was announced here this week.

Both the bride and bridegroom attended the Artesia schools. She was a member of the graduating class of '42.

After a short honeymoon in different parts of Texas, the couple will make their home at Hobbs, where he is employed in a defense industry.

Mrs. Ralph Hayes Is Guest Speaker for Auxiliary Meeting

Mrs. Ralph Hayes was guest speaker at the August meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary Monday afternoon at the hut.

Mrs. Hayes, who has given a number of splendid book reviews at different clubs, gave an interesting review of Steinbeck's "The Moon Is Down," one of the popular books today. Mrs. Frank Wilson was in charge of the program.

During the business, it was announced that the Auxiliary would sponsor the courses in home nursing and nutrition. Classes are to begin in September.

An all-day meeting and sewing is planned for the September meeting, Monday, 14. A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon, with all prospective members being invited.

At the close of the current meeting Mrs. Frank Wilson, Mrs. Jesse L. Truett, Mrs. Andy Company, Mrs. J. M. Story and Mrs. C. R. Vandagriff, hostesses, served an iced drink and cookies to a large number of members and guests.

Wardens, Wives and Husbands Have Picnic Supper Whitson Home

Artesia air raid wardens, both men and women, and their wives and husbands, were entertained Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Whitson with a picnic "hot dog" and watermelon supper.

The "dogs" were cooked on the barbecue pit in the spacious backyard of Mr. and Mrs. Whitson and were served from a long table in the yard cafeteria style.

Marshmallows were roasted over the embers during a social hour after the supper.

Miss Egbert Is Wedded to Sam Hall on Sunday

Miss Mary Egbert, daughter of Mrs. Erma Egbert of Alamagordo and a sister of Mrs. Howard Whitson of Artesia, and Sam Hall III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hall II of Gordon, Ala., were married at 10 o'clock Sunday morning at the home of the bride's mother. The Rev. Ed Le Britton, pastor of the Methodist Church, read the double ring ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Mr. Whitson, wore a rose-copper dress with green accessories. Attending the couple were Mrs. Henry Carr, matron of honor, and Harry Egbert, best man, sister and brother of the bride, both of Alamogordo.

Immediately after the wedding, a reception was held at the bride's home for members of the family and friends.

Mrs. Hall, who is a graduate of Alamogordo High School, was an employee of the New Mexico Eastern Gas Company in Artesia in 1935, and is now employed by the Community Public Service Company at Lordsburg.

Mr. Hall attended the Tulane University, New Orleans, La., and was a member of Beta Theta Pi. He now is stationed at the Lordsburg Intern Camp with the Medical Corps.

After a short honeymoon, in which they visited at Ruidoso, the Carlsbad Caverns and Artesia, Mr. and Mrs. Hall returned Tuesday evening to Lordsburg, where they will make their home.

Attending the wedding from Artesia were Mr. and Mrs. Whitson and their daughter, Mary Margaret.

LADIES' GOLF CLUB HAS LAST MEETING WEDNESDAY

Nine members of the Artesia Ladies' Golf Club met Wednesday at the golf course for a covered dish luncheon and for the last meeting of this year.

Trophies for the city tournament were presented at this time. After the rounds of golf, Mrs. Howard Whitson received the prize ball.

Interest in Playday Is Picking Up Again, As Season Nears End

Artesia youngsters again were enjoying their weekly playday session at the municipal swimming pool and high school this morning, with interest picking up, as the final day, Aug. 27, grows nearer, on which they have been promised a special treat.

First informed of a special treat last Thursday, there has been considerable speculation as to what is in store and, like boys and girls the last few weeks before Christmas, with treats in store, they are showing interest in the sessions.

The children last week showed their thanks for the morning treats by singing their ditty, "Thank You, Mr. (Bill) Harriston."

GARDEN CLUB PICNIC ON THURSDAY EVENING

Members of the Artesia Garden Club and their families enjoyed a picnic supper last Thursday evening at Morris Field.

Around thirty persons were present.

The club will meet at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the city hall for the August meeting. Mrs. J. H. Naylor and Mrs. H. A. Jordan will be in charge of the program.

DAUGHTER BORN JULY 31 TO THE HAROLD SHARPS

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sharp of Carlsbad have announced the arrival of a daughter, Virgin Ludean, a Caesarean birth, on July 31 in Carlsbad. Virgin Ludean is the first granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Sharp and the first great-granddaughter of J. S. Sharp of Artesia. Both mother and infant are doing nicely now. Mrs. Glenn Sharp returned Tuesday from Carlsbad, where she had been with her son and family for two weeks.

George Dixon, brother of I. C. Dixon, and Mrs. Dixon and son George Harvey, of Roswell, and Mrs. N. J. Dixon, a sister-in-law, and two daughters, Eleanor and Neloise, of Deming spent Wednesday in the I. C. Dixon home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hoover received a telegram from their son, Paul D., who is stationed at Seattle, Wash., saying he would be home in a few days on a furlough.

Home Methods For Amateur Cleaners

Did you know that many people rush for the milk pitcher the instant ink begins to wend its menacing way through a new dress or the best rug in the house. It is all wrong, the lactic acid in milk is so slight that the effect on ink is negible. Then there you are with the ink spot complicated with a protein stain.

Nail polish is another clothing casualty. The first thought of many is to use the nail polish remover. This may or may not work, and it is harmless to many fabrics, but ruinous to cellulose acetate rayon, of which thousands of dresses are made today. The treatment may promptly dissolve the fabrics and create a discolored, stiff permanent stain.

One should never attempt to banish a grease spot, or grass stain by pressing with a hot iron, not even over a blotter. The effect is usually the opposite to the one wished for. Instead of removing the stain it may set the stain for the life of the garment.

Promptness in caring for stains react to treatment much better than stale ones.

Mrs. Glasser Hostess First Afternoon Club

Mrs. A. G. Glasser was hostess to the First Afternoon Bridge Club Tuesday afternoon.

Those present were Mrs. W. J. Cluney, Mrs. John Lanning, and Mrs. B. E. Kennedy, substituting guests, and Mrs. J. J. Clarke, Sr., Mrs. A. B. Coll, Mrs. M. W. Evans, Mrs. Arba Green, Mrs. Jeff Hightower, Mrs. J. Hise Myers, Mrs. Maude Ployhar, Mrs. S. O. Pottorff and Mrs. J. M. Story, members.

At the close of the rounds of contract Mrs. Ployhar held high score of the afternoon.

Church Activities

METHODIST SOCIETY

The Methodist Society of Christian Service met last Thursday afternoon at the church for the regular monthly meeting.

Mrs. I. L. Morgan was leader of the worship service, which was the one used at an assembly she attended in Columbus, Ohio, last spring.

Mrs. Glenn Stone, president, presided at the meeting. The Laura Bullock and Gladys Dixon Circles made plans for their project to redecorate the kitchen and the Young Woman's Circle to do work in the cradle roll department.

Several prayer books were given to Mrs. J. W. Webb, student worker, to be sent to some of the boys in the armed forces, who have made requests for them. The theme of the new lesson, which will start next month, will be on "Latin America."

Mrs. Donald Butts was leader of the program.

About twenty-five members were present.

CHRISTIAN COUNCIL

The Christian Woman's Council of the First Christian Church met for an all-day meeting last Thursday at the church.

A covered dish luncheon was served at noon. During the afternoon plans were made for coming year. Mrs. Earl Darst, president, presided at the meeting.

About twenty members were present.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN

Mrs. Rex Wheatley was hostess to the Presbyterian Woman's Association last Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. W. E. Kerr, president of the association, presided at the meeting.

Mrs. Kerr also gave an interesting report on the quadrennial meeting, to which she was a delegate, in Atlantic City, N. J., in May.

At the close of the meeting the hostess served refreshments to twenty-four members and two guests.

THE FIDELIS CLASS

The Fidelis Class of the First Baptist Church met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Phillip Kranz. Mrs. V. A. Lane was co-hostess.

Mrs. L. B. Coleman, teacher of the class, led the devotionals. After a short business meeting, at which Mrs. Kranz presided, several games were played.

The hostesses served refreshments to Mrs. Coleman, Mrs. Morrison Livingston, Mrs. Charles Campbell, Mrs. H. L. Wilkerson, Mrs. Lois Smith, Mrs. L. P. Aaron, Mrs. C. C. Grimlan and Mrs. W. S. Hogsett.

Miss Ruth Bigler, who spent the first week of her vacation from her duties for Flynn, Welch & Yates at Cloudcroft last week, left Tuesday for Midland, Tex., to visit Mrs. Nell Welch Brown.

Mrs. L. S. Austin of San Antonio, Tex., arrived Saturday for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Cowan. Mr. Austin will join her later.

HOW ABOUT A WAR BOND BARBECUE?

It's pertinent in these patriotic times to give a party for your old Uncle Sammy. Since the heat's on and the great outdoors can't be beat for a place to eat, why not give a War Bond Barbecue either in your own backyard or at a nearby picnic ground? Choose your meat—beef and lamb's tradition—dig your barbecue pit, man it with amateur chefs, and the party's on!

Details? Nothing to it. Charge each guest admission; about a dollar will do. When the guest forks up, he forks in, but first have him draw a number. Later when the barbecue is blazing and everyone's wolfing a weenie or surrounding a steak, run a raffle. The one who holds the lucky number wins a war bond. Sell your tickets in advance so you'll know how many bonds you can afford to buy ahead of time.

Now for the barbecuing itself. There are two kinds—the classic kind redolent of the West with a deep pit dug in the ground and a large joint of meat roasting slowly on a revolving spit. Then there's the small-scale barbecue to suit those sites where the great open spaces are not so "wide." Thrifty, these small-scale barbecues feature frankfurters, hamburgers, steaks, broiled atop a charcoal grill. Both are fun, so suit your barbecue supper to the site that's available.

PLANNING A BIG BARBECUE

A truly traditional barbecue is a time-taking task but it's all part of the fun so line up your volunteers to help. First, select your meat. Rump roast of beef, about a 12 lb. piece, makes a royal barbecue. Shoulder of lamb is luscious, too. Marinate the meat ahead of time in a barbecue sauce consisting of catsup, chili sauce and water with peppy seasonings. Save sauce for basting. The barbecue pit should be dug deep enough so that meat will rest on the spit 15 inches above fire. Line pit with old bricks and build fire. When it's subsided to glowing coals, run spit through center of meat, place over fire, and turn spit slowly so the meat will be done evenly on all sides. Take a stick, wrap the end in several thicknesses of clean cloth and tie. Use this for dipping into the barbecue sauce and basting the meat while it roasts. The time for cooking is about 3 minutes per pound longer than that needed to cook a similar cut in an oven at moderate temperature.

SMALL SCALE BARBECUES

Quicker to do, fun to eat, and less space-taking are barbecues with smaller cuts of meat. Frankfurters are fine fare. Hamburgers—of course! Small steaks, marinated like the big roast of beef, are delicious. Lamb kabobs, run on a skewer, roasted above the glowing coals, make angelic eating for the smaller barbecue. Suited to backyard barbecuing on charcoal grills are these new recipes with quick-cooking, thrifty meats:—

Barbecued Frankfurters

One-third cup chopped onion, 2 tbsps. salad oil, ⅓ cup lemon juice, 1 tbsp. vinegar, ½ cup catsup, 1 teasp. mustard, 1 teasp. celery salt, ¼ cup honey, ½ cup water, 2 lbs. frankfurters, 1 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce.

Brown onion in salad oil. Add remaining ingredients, except frankfurters; simmer 30 mins. Arrange frankfurters on long metal skewers. Place 6 inches above glowing coals of barbecue pit and broil for 45 minutes, brushing with barbecue sauce and turning every 15 mins. 6 servings.

Veal Chops with Savory Butter

Six shoulder veal chops, 4 teasps. dry mustard, 1 tbsp. finely chopped onion, 1 tbsp. finely chopped parsley, ½ cup soft butter, ½ cup chili sauce, ⅓ cup lemon juice, 1 teasp. salt.

Have veal chops cut 1 inch thick. Thoroughly blend mustard, onion, parsley and butter; shape into a roll and chill until hard. Combine chili sauce, lemon juice and salt. Arrange chops for barbecuing 12 to 14 ins. above glowing coals. Broil for 45 mins., brushing with chili sauce mixture every 15 mins. Turns chops once 20 mins. before they are done. Slice butter roll into 6 pieces. Place 1 slice on top of each hot chop; serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

Barbecued Hamburgers

Form ground beef, chopped onion and seasonings into large, thick patties. Arrange on charcoal grill. Grill for 25 mins., basting with barbecue sauce, and turning after 15 mins. Serve on toasted rolls.

Barbecue Sauce

Three-fourths cup tomato catsup, ¾ cup water, 2 tbsps. vinegar, 2 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce, 1 tbsp. salt, dash cayenne, 1 teasp. paprika, ½ teasp. black pepper, 1 teasp. chili powder.

Combine ingredients. Baste meat while broiling. 1¾ cups.

Topeka, Kan., city detectives nearly solved that old puzzle about what a woman carries in her pocketbook. One feminine victim of burglars listed: "One dollar in change, a driver's license, some envelopes—and the other articles ladies carry in their pocketbooks."

At Elgin, Ill., Cora the elephant, 2½-ton member of Wallace Brothers Circus, was so upset by a cow's sudden bellow that she broke away from her trainer and thundered for several miles through Elgin. Little Known Facts and Sidelights on Oil Industry

Preparedness on Wheels—

Lessons learned in bombed Britain that motor trucks are the only flexible and dependable medium of large-scale transportation in modern warfare, apparently have been studied in this country also. The notorious Texas law, limiting motor trucks to a 7,000 pound cargo unless their destination was a railroad station has been amended to permit a gross weight of 38,000 pounds. The Tennessee truck law also has been amended so that the gross weight is increased to 30,000 pounds from 24,000.

Britain learned the hard way that bombs can do great damage to railroad tracks, trains, and terminals, but that there's always another road the trucks can use. Early in the war Britain tried moving all war goods by rail, Bombing of railroad terminals and shipping ports changed all that, for Britain was forced to transfer its ports to harbors not served by rail and available only by truck.

British women are driving trucks today, and trucks are carrying Britain's war goods with an efficiency of service which only the trucks can render under emergent conditions. The cargoes may not be as large as carried by rail, but they have a habit of arriving, however devious the route, and reasonably on time.

Stories seeping out of Britain tell of the operation of these wartime motor trucks, traveling in darkness and invisible to planes, taking such routes as seem best at the moment, changing routes as changing conditions demand, and delivering the goods right on the spot where they are needed.

Traffic Trouble—

Roman senators rushing to the Forum to hear Caesar give out were never troubled by traffic cops asking, "Where's the fire?" Yet Rome had something just as good—a law which prohibited all chariots, except those on official business, from entering the central area.

During the reign of England's Henry VIII traffic laws hit their stride. A parking regulation issued by the court declared, "The King's Highway is not to be used as a stable yard."

All vehicles were required to maintain a "walking pace," ,in Rhode Island and Massachusetts during Colonial days. In some cases vehicles were "to be preceded by a flagman on foot."

Traffic control as a science dates from the increase in motor vehicles from four in 1895 to more than 30,000,000 in the United States today.

At Last!—

She isn't a housewife; she's a food consultant! That's what the grocers are saying and they're going to prove it. Thousands of housewives acting as food and sales consultants in grocery stores will substitute for clerks who have been drafted.

Grocers believe the ideal woman clerk to be a housewife of 30 years, or more, experienced in planning meals for her family and keenly interested in the nutritional values of foods. She should know how to present products so that when another housewife calls to order an item, the customer can be advised on related items that will enchance the meal. Specialized knowledge, plus experience, will ring up twice as many sales on the register, grocers believe.

Vital Statistics—

Sing a song of social significance—and that's where the service station men come in. Social researchers find them typically American and they spend hours asking questions about a lot of things besides motor fuel.

But it takes more than a researcher to get a service station man down. At a station in Missouri motorists get a printed card from the service station attendant with vital statistics on his age, smoking and drinking habits, religion, club affiliations, family life, size of shoes, collar and hat, favorite food, political candidates and baseball players and his opinions on the war.

Just in case the inquiring motorist might be a customer, the concluding paragraph says firmly but courteously:

"If you want your tank filled, just nod your head. If you don't want anything please move along and give the next fellow a chance. I thank you. Hurry back."

In Eastern rural districts, where local papers appear infrequently, news is dispensed with fuel at the village service station. More often than not, it's seasoned with sound advice on the motorist's business problems.

Dorothy Warren Winner Style Revue in North Eddy County

Miss Dorothy Warren of Artesia was chosen to represent the northern part of Eddy County Tuesday afternoon at Artesia High School, when members of the Artesia, Hope, Cottonwood and Atoka 4-H Clubs met for an "Achievement Day" contest and style revue, under the direction of Miss Phyllis White, Eddy County home demonstration agent.

Miss Warren, who is in her fourth year of club work, was given a blue ribbon, or the classification of an "A", in the revue for her work. She competed with the winner of South Eddy County in Carlsbad Wednesday, when one girl was to be selected to enter the state style revue, which will be held for the 4-H girls during the state encampment at Las Cruces next week, Aug. 17-21.

Elected as delegates to attend the state encampment were Louise Hayhurst of Artesia and Mary Alice Cauhope of Hope. The girls will leave with Miss White for Las Cruces Monday morning.

In the food exhibit, the Cottonwood 4-H Club had the only entries. Classifications were: Edna Earl Johnson, "A"; Cleo Johnson, "B"; and Glenda Kelley, "C".

In the dress revue: Fourth year—Dorothy Warren, Artesia, "A"; Kate Conn, Hope, "B"; Mary Elizabeth Cauhope, Hope, "B". Third year—Louise Hayhurst, Artesia, "A"; Connie Harrison, Hope, "C". Second year—Frances Warren, Artesia, "B". First year—Mary Alice Jenkins, Artesia, Betty Zane Teague and Wilma Jo Young, both of Hope, all "A's"; Dorothy Hayhurst, Artesia, "B", and Zona Jones, Hope, "C".

Mrs. Rosemund Grove of Carlsbad was the judge.

After the revue, Miss White showed a movie on "Health and Happiness."

Eloise M'Carty and Bob Barnett Marry In Post City Aug. 4

Miss Eloise McCarty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. McCarty, and Bob Barnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Barnett, both of Artesia, were secretly married at Post City, Tex., Tuesday, Aug. 4, it was announced here this week.

Both the bride and bridegroom attended the Artesia schools. She was a member of the graduating class of '42.

After a short honeymoon in different parts of Texas, the couple will make their home at Hobbs, where he is employed in a defense industry.

Mrs. Ralph Hayes Is Guest Speaker for Auxiliary Meeting

Mrs. Ralph Hayes was guest speaker at the August meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary Monday afternoon at the hut.

Mrs. Hayes, who has given a number of splendid book reviews at different clubs, gave an interesting review of Steinbeck's "The Moon Is Down," one of the popular books today. Mrs. Frank Wilson was in charge of the program.

During the business, it was announced that the Auxiliary would sponsor the courses in home nursing and nutrition. Classes are to begin in September.

An all-day meeting and sewing is planned for the September meeting, Monday, 14. A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon, with all prospective members being invited.

At the close of the current meeting Mrs. Frank Wilson, Mrs. Jesse L. Truett, Mrs. Andy Company, Mrs. J. M. Story and Mrs. C. R. Vandagriff, hostesses, served an iced drink and cookies to a large number of members and guests.

Wardens, Wives and Husbands Have Picnic Supper Whitson Home

Artesia air raid wardens, both men and women, and their wives and husbands, were entertained Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Whitson with a picnic "hot dog" and watermelon supper.

The "dogs" were cooked on the barbecue pit in the spacious backyard of Mr. and Mrs. Whitson and were served from a long table in the yard cafeteria style.

Marshmallows were roasted over the embers during a social hour after the supper.

Miss Egbert Is Wedded to Sam Hall on Sunday

Miss Mary Egbert, daughter of Mrs. Erma Egbert of Alamagordo and a sister of Mrs. Howard Whitson of Artesia, and Sam Hall III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hall II of Gordon, Ala., were married at 10 o'clock Sunday morning at the home of the bride's mother. The Rev. Ed Le Britton, pastor of the Methodist Church, read the double ring ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Mr. Whitson, wore a rose-copper dress with green accessories. Attending the couple were Mrs. Henry Carr, matron of honor, and Harry Egbert, best man, sister and brother of the bride, both of Alamogordo.

Immediately after the wedding, a reception was held at the bride's home for members of the family and friends.

Mrs. Hall, who is a graduate of Alamogordo High School, was an employee of the New Mexico Eastern Gas Company in Artesia in 1935, and is now employed by the Community Public Service Company at Lordsburg.

Mr. Hall attended the Tulane University, New Orleans, La., and was a member of Beta Theta Pi. He now is stationed at the Lordsburg Intern Camp with the Medical Corps.

After a short honeymoon, in which they visited at Ruidoso, the Carlsbad Caverns and Artesia, Mr. and Mrs. Hall returned Tuesday evening to Lordsburg, where they will make their home.

Attending the wedding from Artesia were Mr. and Mrs. Whitson and their daughter, Mary Margaret.

LADIES' GOLF CLUB HAS LAST MEETING WEDNESDAY

Nine members of the Artesia Ladies' Golf Club met Wednesday at the golf course for a covered dish luncheon and for the last meeting of this year.

Trophies for the city tournament were presented at this time. After the rounds of golf, Mrs. Howard Whitson received the prize ball.

Interest in Playday Is Picking Up Again, As Season Nears End

Artesia youngsters again were enjoying their weekly playday session at the municipal swimming pool and high school this morning, with interest picking up, as the final day, Aug. 27, grows nearer, on which they have been promised a special treat.

First informed of a special treat last Thursday, there has been considerable speculation as to what is in store and, like boys and girls the last few weeks before Christmas, with treats in store, they are showing interest in the sessions.

The children last week showed their thanks for the morning treats by singing their ditty, "Thank You, Mr. (Bill) Harriston."

GARDEN CLUB PICNIC ON THURSDAY EVENING

Members of the Artesia Garden Club and their families enjoyed a picnic supper last Thursday evening at Morris Field.

Around thirty persons were present.

The club will meet at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the city hall for the August meeting. Mrs. J. H. Naylor and Mrs. H. A. Jordan will be in charge of the program.

DAUGHTER BORN JULY 31 TO THE HAROLD SHARPS

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sharp of Carlsbad have announced the arrival of a daughter, Virgin Ludean, a Caesarean birth, on July 31 in Carlsbad. Virgin Ludean is the first granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Sharp and the first great-granddaughter of J. S. Sharp of Artesia. Both mother and infant are doing nicely now. Mrs. Glenn Sharp returned Tuesday from Carlsbad, where she had been with her son and family for two weeks.

George Dixon, brother of I. C. Dixon, and Mrs. Dixon and son George Harvey, of Roswell, and Mrs. N. J. Dixon, a sister-in-law, and two daughters, Eleanor and Neloise, of Deming spent Wednesday in the I. C. Dixon home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hoover received a telegram from their son, Paul D., who is stationed at Seattle, Wash., saying he would be home in a few days on a furlough.

Home Methods For Amateur Cleaners

Did you know that many people rush for the milk pitcher the instant ink begins to wend its menacing way through a new dress or the best rug in the house. It is all wrong, the lactic acid in milk is so slight that the effect on ink is negible. Then there you are with the ink spot complicated with a protein stain.

Nail polish is another clothing casualty. The first thought of many is to use the nail polish remover. This may or may not work, and it is harmless to many fabrics, but ruinous to cellulose acetate rayon, of which thousands of dresses are made today. The treatment may promptly dissolve the fabrics and create a discolored, stiff permanent stain.

One should never attempt to banish a grease spot, or grass stain by pressing with a hot iron, not even over a blotter. The effect is usually the opposite to the one wished for. Instead of removing the stain it may set the stain for the life of the garment.

Promptness in caring for stains react to treatment much better than stale ones.

Mrs. Glasser Hostess First Afternoon Club

Mrs. A. G. Glasser was hostess to the First Afternoon Bridge Club Tuesday afternoon.

Those present were Mrs. W. J. Cluney, Mrs. John Lanning, and Mrs. B. E. Kennedy, substituting guests, and Mrs. J. J. Clarke, Sr., Mrs. A. B. Coll, Mrs. M. W. Evans, Mrs. Arba Green, Mrs. Jeff Hightower, Mrs. J. Hise Myers, Mrs. Maude Ployhar, Mrs. S. O. Pottorff and Mrs. J. M. Story, members.

At the close of the rounds of contract Mrs. Ployhar held high score of the afternoon.

Church Activities

METHODIST SOCIETY

The Methodist Society of Christian Service met last Thursday afternoon at the church for the regular monthly meeting.

Mrs. I. L. Morgan was leader of the worship service, which was the one used at an assembly she attended in Columbus, Ohio, last spring.

Mrs. Glenn Stone, president, presided at the meeting. The Laura Bullock and Gladys Dixon Circles made plans for their project to redecorate the kitchen and the Young Woman's Circle to do work in the cradle roll department.

Several prayer books were given to Mrs. J. W. Webb, student worker, to be sent to some of the boys in the armed forces, who have made requests for them. The theme of the new lesson, which will start next month, will be on "Latin America."

Mrs. Donald Butts was leader of the program.

About twenty-five members were present.

CHRISTIAN COUNCIL

The Christian Woman's Council of the First Christian Church met for an all-day meeting last Thursday at the church.

A covered dish luncheon was served at noon. During the afternoon plans were made for coming year. Mrs. Earl Darst, president, presided at the meeting.

About twenty members were present.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN

Mrs. Rex Wheatley was hostess to the Presbyterian Woman's Association last Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. W. E. Kerr, president of the association, presided at the meeting.

Mrs. Kerr also gave an interesting report on the quadrennial meeting, to which she was a delegate, in Atlantic City, N. J., in May.

At the close of the meeting the hostess served refreshments to twenty-four members and two guests.

THE FIDELIS CLASS

The Fidelis Class of the First Baptist Church met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Phillip Kranz. Mrs. V. A. Lane was co-hostess.

Mrs. L. B. Coleman, teacher of the class, led the devotionals. After a short business meeting, at which Mrs. Kranz presided, several games were played.

The hostesses served refreshments to Mrs. Coleman, Mrs. Morrison Livingston, Mrs. Charles Campbell, Mrs. H. L. Wilkerson, Mrs. Lois Smith, Mrs. L. P. Aaron, Mrs. C. C. Grimlan and Mrs. W. S. Hogsett.

Miss Ruth Bigler, who spent the first week of her vacation from her duties for Flynn, Welch & Yates at Cloudcroft last week, left Tuesday for Midland, Tex., to visit Mrs. Nell Welch Brown.

Mrs. L. S. Austin of San Antonio, Tex., arrived Saturday for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Cowan. Mr. Austin will join her later.

HOW ABOUT A WAR BOND BARBECUE?

It's pertinent in these patriotic times to give a party for your old Uncle Sammy. Since the heat's on and the great outdoors can't be beat for a place to eat, why not give a War Bond Barbecue either in your own backyard or at a nearby picnic ground? Choose your meat—beef and lamb's tradition—dig your barbecue pit, man it with amateur chefs, and the party's on!

Details? Nothing to it. Charge each guest admission; about a dollar will do. When the guest forks up, he forks in, but first have him draw a number. Later when the barbecue is blazing and everyone's wolfing a weenie or surrounding a steak, run a raffle. The one who holds the lucky number wins a war bond. Sell your tickets in advance so you'll know how many bonds you can afford to buy ahead of time.

Now for the barbecuing itself. There are two kinds—the classic kind redolent of the West with a deep pit dug in the ground and a large joint of meat roasting slowly on a revolving spit. Then there's the small-scale barbecue to suit those sites where the great open spaces are not so "wide." Thrifty, these small-scale barbecues feature frankfurters, hamburgers, steaks, broiled atop a charcoal grill. Both are fun, so suit your barbecue supper to the site that's available.

PLANNING A BIG BARBECUE

A truly traditional barbecue is a time-taking task but it's all part of the fun so line up your volunteers to help. First, select your meat. Rump roast of beef, about a 12 lb. piece, makes a royal barbecue. Shoulder of lamb is luscious, too. Marinate the meat ahead of time in a barbecue sauce consisting of catsup, chili sauce and water with peppy seasonings. Save sauce for basting. The barbecue pit should be dug deep enough so that meat will rest on the spit 15 inches above fire. Line pit with old bricks and build fire. When it's subsided to glowing coals, run spit through center of meat, place over fire, and turn spit slowly so the meat will be done evenly on all sides. Take a stick, wrap the end in several thicknesses of clean cloth and tie. Use this for dipping into the barbecue sauce and basting the meat while it roasts. The time for cooking is about 3 minutes per pound longer than that needed to cook a similar cut in an oven at moderate temperature.

SMALL SCALE BARBECUES

Quicker to do, fun to eat, and less space-taking are barbecues with smaller cuts of meat. Frankfurters are fine fare. Hamburgers—of course! Small steaks, marinated like the big roast of beef, are delicious. Lamb kabobs, run on a skewer, roasted above the glowing coals, make angelic eating for the smaller barbecue. Suited to backyard barbecuing on charcoal grills are these new recipes with quick-cooking, thrifty meats:—

Barbecued Frankfurters

One-third cup chopped onion, 2 tbsps. salad oil, ⅓ cup lemon juice, 1 tbsp. vinegar, ½ cup catsup, 1 teasp. mustard, 1 teasp. celery salt, ¼ cup honey, ½ cup water, 2 lbs. frankfurters, 1 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce.

Brown onion in salad oil. Add remaining ingredients, except frankfurters; simmer 30 mins. Arrange frankfurters on long metal skewers. Place 6 inches above glowing coals of barbecue pit and broil for 45 minutes, brushing with barbecue sauce and turning every 15 mins. 6 servings.

Veal Chops with Savory Butter

Six shoulder veal chops, 4 teasps. dry mustard, 1 tbsp. finely chopped onion, 1 tbsp. finely chopped parsley, ½ cup soft butter, ½ cup chili sauce, ⅓ cup lemon juice, 1 teasp. salt.

Have veal chops cut 1 inch thick. Thoroughly blend mustard, onion, parsley and butter; shape into a roll and chill until hard. Combine chili sauce, lemon juice and salt. Arrange chops for barbecuing 12 to 14 ins. above glowing coals. Broil for 45 mins., brushing with chili sauce mixture every 15 mins. Turns chops once 20 mins. before they are done. Slice butter roll into 6 pieces. Place 1 slice on top of each hot chop; serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

Barbecued Hamburgers

Form ground beef, chopped onion and seasonings into large, thick patties. Arrange on charcoal grill. Grill for 25 mins., basting with barbecue sauce, and turning after 15 mins. Serve on toasted rolls.

Barbecue Sauce

Three-fourths cup tomato catsup, ¾ cup water, 2 tbsps. vinegar, 2 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce, 1 tbsp. salt, dash cayenne, 1 teasp. paprika, ½ teasp. black pepper, 1 teasp. chili powder.

Combine ingredients. Baste meat while broiling. 1¾ cups.

Topeka, Kan., city detectives nearly solved that old puzzle about what a woman carries in her pocketbook. One feminine victim of burglars listed: "One dollar in change, a driver's license, some envelopes—and the other articles ladies carry in their pocketbooks."

At Elgin, Ill., Cora the elephant, 2½-ton member of Wallace Brothers Circus, was so upset by a cow's sudden bellow that she broke away from her trainer and thundered for several miles through Elgin. Fences were smashed, grape arbors crumpled and victory gardens squashed before she was recaptured, but no one was hurt.

Capt. Oliver W. Welch, post surgeon of the Redstone, Ala., ordnance plant, opened the doors of the new hospital a few days ago, ready for patient No. 1. Patient No. 1 was the captain. He suffered a fractured arm when his horse slipped and threw him during an early morning cantor.

Little Known Facts and Sidelights on Oil Industry

Preparedness on Wheels—

Lessons learned in bombed Britain that motor trucks are the only flexible and dependable medium of large-scale transportation in modern warfare, apparently have been studied in this country also. The notorious Texas law, limiting motor trucks to a 7,000 pound cargo unless their destination was a railroad station has been amended to permit a gross weight of 38,000 pounds. The Tennessee truck law also has been amended so that the gross weight is increased to 30,000 pounds from 24,000.

Britain learned the hard way that bombs can do great damage to railroad tracks, trains, and terminals, but that there's always another road the trucks can use. Early in the war Britain tried moving all war goods by rail, Bombing of railroad terminals and shipping ports changed all that, for Britain was forced to transfer its ports to harbors not served by rail and available only by truck.

British women are driving trucks today, and trucks are carrying Britain's war goods with an efficiency of service which only the trucks can render under emergent conditions. The cargoes may not be as large as carried by rail, but they have a habit of arriving, however devious the route, and reasonably on time.

Stories seeping out of Britain tell of the operation of these wartime motor trucks, traveling in darkness and invisible to planes, taking such routes as seem best at the moment, changing routes as changing conditions demand, and delivering the goods right on the spot where they are needed.

Traffic Trouble—

Roman senators rushing to the Forum to hear Caesar give out were never troubled by traffic cops asking, "Where's the fire?" Yet Rome had something just as good—a law which prohibited all chariots, except those on official business, from entering the central area.

During the reign of England's Henry VIII traffic laws hit their stride. A parking regulation issued by the court declared, "The King's Highway is not to be used as a stable yard."

All vehicles were required to maintain a "walking pace," ,in Rhode Island and Massachusetts during Colonial days. In some cases vehicles were "to be preceded by a flagman on foot."

Traffic control as a science dates from the increase in motor vehicles from four in 1895 to more than 30,000,000 in the United States today.

At Last!—

She isn't a housewife; she's a food consultant! That's what the grocers are saying and they're going to prove it. Thousands of housewives acting as food and sales consultants in grocery stores will substitute for clerks who have been drafted.

Grocers believe the ideal woman clerk to be a housewife of 30 years, or more, experienced in planning meals for her family and keenly interested in the nutritional values of foods. She should know how to present products so that when another housewife calls to order an item, the customer can be advised on related items that will enchance the meal. Specialized knowledge, plus experience, will ring up twice as many sales on the register, grocers believe.

Vital Statistics—

Sing a song of social significance—and that's where the service station men come in. Social researchers find them typically American and they spend hours asking questions about a lot of things besides motor fuel.

But it takes more than a researcher to get a service station man down. At a station in Missouri motorists get a printed card from the service station attendant with vital statistics on his age, smoking and drinking habits, religion, club affiliations, family life, size of shoes, collar and hat, favorite food, political candidates and baseball players and his opinions on the war.

Just in case the inquiring motorist might be a customer, the concluding paragraph says firmly but courteously:

"If you want your tank filled, just nod your head. If you don't want anything please move along and give the next fellow a chance. I thank you. Hurry back."

In Eastern rural districts, where local papers appear infrequently, news is dispensed with fuel at the village service station. More often than not, it's seasoned with sound advice on the motorist's business problems.

"Over a period of time I found that about 100 nickels in and 12 nickels out is how it goes," Childers testified in describing what he termed "honest machines."

When the final retakes had been made on "The Invaders," Columbia Pictures' exciting drama of the first Nazi U-Boat assault on the Western Hemisphere during the current war, there was a general exodus of actors and technicians from the studio realm into various British and Canadian armed forces.

Laurence Olivier, who shares the starring honors with Leslie Howard and Raymond Massey in the film coming to the Ocotillo Theatre Aug. 23-25, immediately joined the Royal Fleet Air Arm, with which he is now on active duty.

George Brown, production manager, whose arduous job it was to coordinate the movements of the company, arrange for supplies and solve technical problems during the 50,000-mile location tour through Canada, where most of the film was shot, is now serving in the RAF.

Basil Appleby, who portrays one of the Nazi sub crew, is now fighting the Nazis in a Surrey Regiment of the Royal Army.

Tony Onraet, French-Canadian who coached Laurence Olivier in the proper accent and mannerisms for his role of a French-Canadian trapper, is a corporal in the Canadian Army.

Leslie Howard, whose 22-year-old son Ronald, is a lieutenant in the Royal Navy, applied for a combat post as soon as "The Invaders" was finished, but was pursuaded by the British Government to continue his film work with emphasis on photoplays which would tell Democracy's side in the world struggle.

The British government's command to waste no fuel has put an end to all artificial lighting of shop windows and showcases. The West End's still handsomely-dressed windows now must depend upon daylight for illumination. Some stores may close basement departments. Showcases in hotels, restaurants and subway stations also are dark.

Basic Training VOC Enlistees May Be Waived

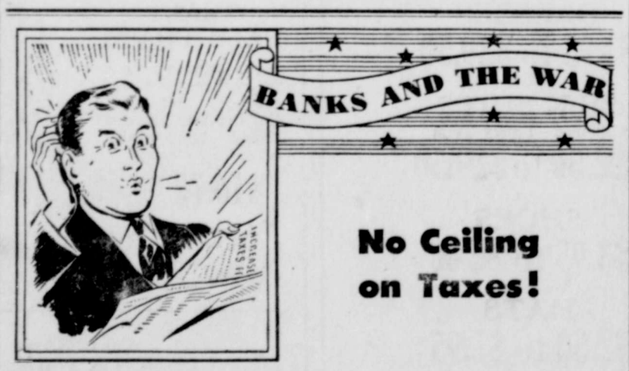

Brig. Gen. R. C. Charlton, state director of Selective Service, announced he has received confirmation of regulations which will allow waiver of basic training for volunteer officer candidates.

He emphasized, however, that such waivers are at the discretion of the appropriate Army training center commander and that such action will be based upon the recommendation of the company or detachment officer.

Under this set up, Selective Service has no voice in waiving basic training for any VOC, he said, and such waivers will be made only when the officer candidate in the army proves that his qualifications are sufficient for such action.

"I cannot emphasize too strongly," he said, "that training waivers are not in the hands of Selective Service. This agency has no authority to tell any enlisted man that he may or may not have to comply with the regular basic training regulations."

The basic training period usually covers three months, during which time the officer candidate serves as an enlisted man. Upon satisfactory completion of training, he is transferred to an Officers' Training School.

No Ceiling on Taxes!

PRICES may be "pegged" but don't expect any ceiling on your Federal income tax. That's one thing that will continue to go up, up, up! Remember the shock you got when you figured your tax last year? Well, this year you might have to pay twice as much. What can you do about it? Here's a suggestion. Make regular deposits in this bank — every pay day from now on — for the express purpose of paying taxes when due.

NOTICE

STATE ENGINEER'S OFFICE
Santa Fe, N. M., July 25, 1942.
Number of Application RA-1343-B

Notice is hereby given that on the 16th day of July, 1942, in accordance with Chapter 131 of the Session Laws of 1931, R. J. Johnston of Artesia, Eddy County, New Mexico, made application to the State Engineer of New Mexico for a Permit to Change Location of Shallow Groundwater Well from Well RA-1343, located in the SW¼ SE¼ SW¼ of Section 11, Township 19 South, Range 26 East, N. M. P. M., to well abandoned under File RA-1462, being located in the NW corner NW¼ SW¼ of Section 9, Township 18 South, Range 26 East, N.M.P.M., it being proposed to deepen said well to approximately 300 feet, and use 14 inch diameter casing, all for the purpose of effecting a change in place of use of shallow groundwater as described hereinafter.

Applicant also desires permit to change place of use of 75 acre-feet of water authorized under Permit RA-1343, from 25 acres of land described as follows:

Subdivision N½ NE¼ NW¼ Section 14, Township 19S., Range 26E. 20 Acres; Subdivision South 82 feet of N½ NE¼, Section 14, Township 19S., Range 26E., 5 Acres; Total 25 Acres.

To 25 acres of land described as west 25 acres of NW¼ SW¼ of Section 9, Township 18 South, Range 26 East, N. M. P. M.

This application does not involve any new appropriation of water as applicant has already acquired all rights under File RA-1343.

Any person, association or corporation deeming that the granting of the above application will be truly detrimental to their rights in the waters of said underground source may file a complete sworn statement of their objections substantiated by affidavits with the State Engineer and file proof of service of a copy thereof upon the applicant with the State Engineer within ten days after the date of the last publication of this notice. The date set for the State Engineer to take this application for final consideration unless protested is the 3rd day of September, 1942.

Dere Folks:

(The following is a condensation of excerpts from two letters written by Pfc. Thomas J. Pollard, who is on foreign duty, one to Mr. and Mrs. Baxter Pollard and one to Miss Onida Jo Anderson.)

Sometimes I have nothing else to do except write a letter, or at least try to write, and as there is nothing of interest to relate I shall probably bore you. This life we lead is a very dull and humdrum existence at the very best and this is not what one would call the very best, though really it is not so bad. If it were not for the dust this would be a nice place. If it were not for the wind, there would be no dust, but then if it were not for the wind, probably it would be hotter than Hell, so it's an ill wind that blows nobody good.

India, they say, is a very interesting country. I hardly think I would call it that. Maybe a better word would be "unique," though I have not seen a great amount of the country as a whole. I dare say I will not be disappointed if I miss the rest of this land entirely.

Perhaps the nicest and most appreciated part of the whole thing is that we can see an American movie once in a while and have American beer and cigarettes.

I've been receiving The Advocate, but the April 26 issue, or thereabouts, was the last and the last letters were about March 5, so you see I'm 'way behind the news, at least the hometown stuff.

Tell me how the gas and sugar rationing have come out. Is it pretty rigid? Also you might tell me all the pertinent facts relative to the situation in the States. I'm plain curious.

Camp Young, Calif.,
Aug. 1, 1942.

To The Advocate:

Reading The Advocate I see where hunting and fishing licenses are ready to be issued. I'm afraid I won't be able to get one this year, but instead I got a "Japanese Hunting License," which I'm sending to The Advocate.

Hope everybody will take this advice. To aim at the stomach since they haven't heart nor brains.

Sincerely,
Pfc. Basilio C. Aguilar,

(In general, here is the substance of the "Japanese Hunting License" referred to by Pfc. Aguilar:)

("This is to certify that Pfc. Basilio C. Aguilar is entitled to hunt the Japanese Rat, and is hereby warned to exercise extreme caution in approaching this savage beast; it is a vicious animal and strikes from behind without warning.

("This animal has the characteristics of a skunk in appearance and odor, but has an appetite for women and children, instead of small fowls. Look for the yellow stripe down it's back. In shootin' this stinkin' skunk, aim at it's stomach, since it has lots of guts, but no heart or brains.

("Season now open, for the duration. Issued Dec. 7, 1941. This license expires soon, we hope. Feel Loyalty to American ideals. Bounty: Gratitude of 130,000,000 true Americans."

HONDURAS — HOME OF TIMBER KING

They fell the mahogany by the light of the waning moon.

The fact that the wood of Timber King of the tropics is best if the tree is felled at night and when the moon is in its last quarter may have come down from an ancient civilization which flourished centuries before Cape Honduras became New World threshold for Columbus.

However and whenever mahogany wood and moon phase first became connected, modern botany supports as fact what once was thought to be no more than native superstitution. It has been found that the mahogany tree is soundest, most free from sap and of richest color if cut at night when the moon is on the wane. Recognition of the curious fact accounts in no small measure for the fame of Honduran mahogany wherever choice woods are in demand. And mahogany, though by no means predominant in an appraisal of the potential wealth of Honduras, is certain to play an increasingly important part in the republic's commerce and prosperity.

True mahogany, the familiar dark-colored wood of solid furniture and fine veneer, is supplied to the world by a tree native to Mexico, Central America, Panama, Columbia, Venezuela and the islands of the Carribbean. With a growing life of 200 years or more, it may reach a height of a hundred feet and attain a girth that five men with joined hands can hardly encircle. There is no such thing as a mahogany grove. True monarch of the forest, the tree grows in splendid isolation, rearing its branches crownlike above surrounding growth. The mahogany huntsman climbs to some limb that will give him view of the forest roof. He marks the mahogany by its yellow-reddish leaves, climbs down and leads the cutters through the jungle, hacking a road to the tree.

If precious woods did not enter into the dreams of Spanish treasure-hunters, precious metals did. And in comparatively recent years Honduras has been giving substance to the dreams. Ten years ago the value of the republic's gold exports was but $4,220. In 1940 the figure stood at $863,975. Honduras today is the second largest Central American producer of gold. Near Tegucigalpa, capital of the republic, is the famous Rosario mine of San Juancito. In other departments are old Spanish mines, still rich, and many underdeveloped deposits of gold, silvers, copper, antimony, mercury, lead and iron.

Home of the Timber King, Honduras also produces the plebian banana, her largest export crop. Bananas grow wild in almost every part of the country up to an elevation of 3,000 feet. Cultivation of the fruit for export is confined to the rich, hot lands along the north coast. Export shipments from Puerto Cortez and other ports run close to thirteen millions of bunches a year, with the United States taking about four-fifths of the total.

Mountainous throughout, Honduras has been handicapped for centuries by lack of land transportation. Denied for this reason normal access to ports and markets, the people pioneered in air freight transport, and established a pattern that has been followed extensively by her neighbors. In Honduras it is not uncommon to find the freight plane carrying to market an amazing variety of — ore, coffee, fruit, and livestock in exchange for manufactured commodities from other lands.

Honduras is a country of remarkable scenic beauty. Between the various branches of the mountains that rise to 10,000 feet are extensive valleys and plateaus, fertile and well watered. The most famous is the highly productive plain of Comayagua, 40 miles long. Careful planning by a forward-looking government, which is giving particular attention to problems of transport peculiarly difficult in so rugged a country, is steadily taking advantage of great natural opportunity for immense crops of cacao, cotton, sugar cane, coffee, tobacco, fruits and other tropical and sub-tropical products. A population now well past the million mark still looks to other countries to meet its needs in cotton goods, food stuffs, chemicals, shoes, machinery, tools, and iron and steel products.

Coe Howard Says, "I Favor—"

1. Legislation setting up proper laws, for our boys in war, so that they may know when they return home they will be provided for, and the dependents, of those who may not return, may be provided for.

2. I will favor any pension plan, that will give our aged and dependent, security for all time.

3. I will favor legislation to protect interest of agriculture and livestock.

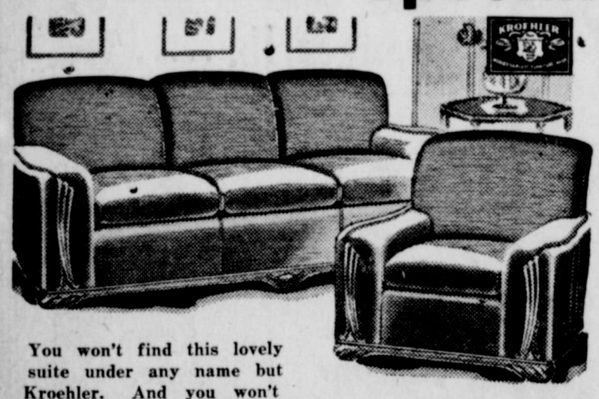

4. I will work for the development of our state, protection of our water rights, improvement of our irrigation system, and our grazing land, now owned by the Federal government.

5. With our floating population increasing, I favor government assistance in our educational systems.

"If this program meets with your approval, I will appreciate your support in our September primary.—Coe Howard."

Winning the war is the number one job for everyone these days—and you as a poultry raiser have an important part to play! For producing food for freedom is a big job—and eggs and poultry meat are needed for our fighting men and for our allies. You can help by putting your laying house on a wartime basis—producing as much as you can from your present set-up.

Come in—ask us about the Purina Balanced Income Plan for getting capacity egg production. This plan includes these three steps:

1. FIGURE LAYING HOUSE CAPACITY — One hen needs 4 square feet of floor space — a good hen in every 4 square feet of laying house space you now have.
2. FEED FOR CAPACITY PRODUCTION — Your next job is to feed those hens for capacity production. We recommend Purina Laying Chows to do the job.
3. RAISE FALL CHICKS — and then start a new batch of chicks every three months thereafter so you'll have good layers to replace layers that should be culled out.

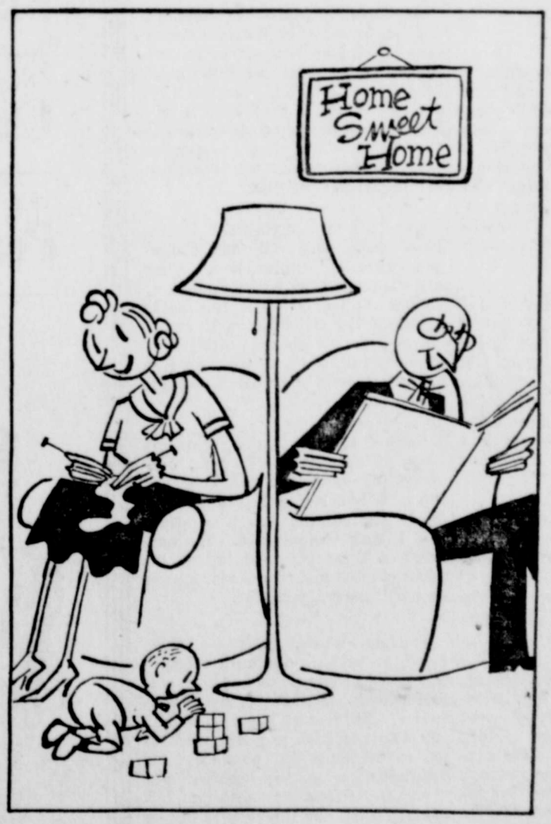

Come in and see us.

WORLD NEWS —in— BRIEF FORM

From Near and Far, Some Timely, Some of Human Interest

The Atlanta police band, Griffin, Ga., were to play at the "Victory Day" War Bond sale celebration. The band leader called for a number and the members took instruments in hand. Then it was discovered the band had forgotten to bring its music sheets. An Atlanta motorcycle policeman sped forty miles with them.

In Phoenix, Ariz., Sgt. McElhinney forgot to remove his prized address book when he sent his shirt to the downtown laundry. Back came the clean shirt, book buttoned neatly in the pocket. In it were a dozen additional girls' names, addresses and phone numbers.

Manager G. V. Robertson heard a noise and found a pair of trousers on the floor under a broken skylight in his store in Spanish Fork, Utah. He called police who found a trouserless man hiding in a lumber pile. Officers said the man tried to break into the store, became stuck in the skylight and lost his pants while squirming back out.

Some people said, "How quaint," and some merely gave an indulgent, "Heh, heh!" when Denver discovered it had a fifty-year-old ordinance against daytime window washing. The city council quickly voted to repeal the old law. But Mayor Benjamin F. Stapleton vetoed the repeal, with the comment: "There should be some way to govern things so sidewalks won't be littered with washed-off advertising material and puddles of water."

Mrs. Ella Barr, 40, hung some clothing on her backyard line for washing but, she told Philadelphia police, it wasn't the clothing that got the cleaning. Shortly after she sold the garments to an itinerant peddler for 15 cents, she remembered one of the pockets contained three diamond rings worth $750.

County grand jurors said the Ferndale, Calif., jail was in deplorable condition, but the Ferndale Chamber of Commerce replied: There were only two prisoners in the last year, and the jail was "more comfortable than the gutters from which they were removed." Anyway, said the Chamber of Commerce, the jail door was left open and when the prisoners found out about it they skipped town.

The critical housing situation didn't worry two men in Palm City, Calif. The sheriff's office reported they stole a whole house, carting it off in a truck.

The Holtsville, N. Y., postmaster is preparing for an examination in order to hold the job that's been his for forty-four years. John Hopes, who runs the postoffice in his general store, says he thinks he will pass a forthcoming civil service test required under proposed regulations changing the office from the appointive to the competitive class.

"Service Station—Repaint Repairs," says the sign in the Capitol Theatre lobby in New York, but it doesn't mean automobiles. It means that for 25 cents, all funds going to the United Service Organization, women having difficulty with their paint job hosiery substitutes may have them touched up by high school girls.

New Britain, Conn., police were raiding a place when the telephone rang. Officer Steve Coffee stepped to the receiver. "This you?" asked a voice. "Better beat it. The cops are going to break in. "We're on our way out," replied Coffee.

The State Selective Service director received a request for the deferment of a New Mexico goat herder from an Oxnard, Calif., owner of a goat ranch. "He cannot be replaced," read the request, "and could you please stay his induction which is imminent?" The director is studying his occpuational deferment data, but admitted he has his doubts.

A Stockton, Mo., automobile agency occupied a building that once had been a blacksmith shop. The agency closed for the duration. Now Frank Ellerman is opening a blacksmith shop in the building.

Oliver S. Livaudais, Jr., and his father both qualified as candidates in the Democratic primary for a district judgeship in St. Bernard and Plaquemines Parishes, La., but they won't oppose each other. "We just wanted to make sure of winning," explained the father. "We're having some meetings with our friends and as soon as we decide which has the better chance of winning, the other will withdraw."

Miss May Rood of the Manhattan, Kan., city clerk's staff suspects sabotage. She reached into a money sack sent over from the city swimming pool and pulled out —a mouse.

Topeka, Kan., city detectives nearly solved that old puzzle about what a woman carries in her pocketbook. One feminine victim of burglars listed: "One dollar in change, a driver's license, some envelopes—and the other articles ladies carry in their pocketbooks."

At Elgin, Ill., Cora the elephant, 2½-ton member of Wallace Brothers Circus, was so upset by a cow's sudden bellow that she broke away from her trainer and thundered for several miles through Elgin. Fences were smashed, grape arbors crumpled and victory gardens squashed before she was recaptured, but no one was hurt.

The fish are getting fat in San Juan Basin and Colorado fishermen have an explanation. They say that when the water backed up behind Vallecito Dam the earth banks of the river began to crumble and thousands of worms were washed into the water. The fish are gorging on the worms, say the fishermen.

Capt. Oliver W. Welch, post surgeon of the Redstone, Ala., ordnance plant, opened the doors of the new hospital a few days ago, ready for patient No. 1. Patient No. 1 was the captain. He suffered a fractured arm when his horse slipped and threw him during an early morning cantor.

Tacoma, Wash. (AP) — Ethics aside, even slugs apparently aren't the golden answer to beating pinball machines. Take it from Wilfred W. Childers of Tacoma, Wash., 22, who received a year's federal prison sentence for possession of counterfeit coins. He testified that even by investing nothing but slugs, profit was impossible. "Over a period of time I found that about 100 nickels in and 12 nickels out is how it goes," Childers testified in describing what he termed "honest machines."

At Girardeau, Mo., Dr. R. G. Boutin decided to sell his bathtub and thirty-seven people answered his advertisement. The reason: Bathtubs make good bomb shelters.

WHAT'S WHAT —in— NEW MEXICO

News Briefs of the "Sunshine State" Gleaned From Many Sources

Practices of the State Department of Game and Fish in handling subsistence and traveling expenses reveals a commendable system, Rupert F. Asplund, director of the New Mexico Taxpayers' Association, said in a report. "The allowance for meals and lodging is limited to $4 a day, although the actual expenditure is usually much lower," the report says. "Each item of expense must be supported by a receipt regardless of the amount. Only actual expenses are allowed." The department is administered by Elliott S. Barker, state game warden under the game commission, consisting of Judge Colin Neblett as chairman, Santa Fe; C. R. Hughes, Deming and Hugh B. Woodward, Albuquerque.

An urgent appeal for second-hand oil tanks and vast quantities of pipe for immediate use in a vital, secret war project was issued by John P. Ginner, state War Department Board director. Ginner said the appeal is being made throughout the nation in an effort to save new materials. Needed are 2,000 tanks of 10,000-barrel capacity; 100 of 25,000-barrel capacity; 100 of 5,000-barrel capacity; 25 of 3,000-barrel capacity; 25 of 2,000-barrel capacity; 25 of 1,000-barrel capacity; 50 of 500-barrel capacity; 50 of 100-barrel capacity and 25 of 10 barrel capacity. Also sought are large quantities of pipe four inches in diameter and larger.

New Mexico teachers will have no general convention this year. In a move to save rubber and automobiles, the executive committee of the New Mexico Education Association limited the meeting at Albuquerque to a two-day gathering of delegates to the NMEA assembly starting Oct. 22. Delegates to the later meeting average about one to each twenty-five teachers. The action was in harmony with a suggestion from the Office of Defense Transportation to hold only those conventions which are essential parts of the war program.

Collections of the New Mexico sales tax have established new records each month this year—a situation that finds Director G. S. Carter pleasantly perplexed. Last year Carter predicted the war would cause a sharp drop in collections. As he expected, the readjustment of civilian economic pursuits brought about a loss of retail business, 1,744 establishments closing their doors since the first of the year. But notwithstanding this apparenot loss, sales tax figures have continued to soar. Carter said he is still at a loss to explain it.

Vacationists at Elephant Butte Lake have exploded the theory that rattlesnakes do not venutre far from land. They related encountering a five-foot rattler in a tree half a mile from land, where they attacked and killed it. They also said they saw a rattlesnake swimming in another part of the lake a year ago, far from land.

Gov. John E. Miles has named Ray Andrew of Santa Fe as assistant adjutant general to fill the vacancy left by Lt. Col. E. L. Safford's recent call to active duty with the Army as a major. Andrew, who has been a major in the colonel's commission with his new State Guard, was given a lieutenant appointment.

The people of Grant county purchased $100,131 worth of War Bonds in July. Average monthly purchase for the last four months has been $100,000, and the total since the campaign started $1,131,000.

A public hearing has been requested on the proposed abandonment of a railroad branch line between Moriarty and Stanley, which is owned by the New Mexico Central and operated by the Santa Fe Railway. Shippers in the area requested the hearing, and the state corporation commission suggested to the interstate commerce commission that it conduct the hearing in Santa Fe. The ICC set for Aug. 31 a hearing on proposed abandonment of a ninety-five mile line between Farley, N. Mex., and Boise City, Okla., which is leased by the Santa Fe from the Elkhart and Santa Fe Railroad.

Justice Department officials, after an inspection of the Japanese detention camp in Santa Fe, have indicated it might be converted to new uses soon. Solicitor General Charles Fahy, former Santa Fe attorney, and E. J. Ennis, director of the Alien Control Board of the Justice Department, said the housing of aliens and their families is not regarded as dangerous as has been suggested.

The State Health Department reported that the Public Health Laboratory in Albuquerque had made 57,235 general disease tests during the second quarter of this year, compared with 32,558 over the same period last year. The figures included Selective Service examinations.

A board of Air Corps officers was appointed by Col. A. C. Kincaid, commanding officer of the Roswell Army Flying School, to investigate an accident in which a wheel dropped off an Army training plane and crashed through the side f a house. Mrs. A. A. Parnell and her year-old daughter, who were in the living room of their home when the wheel came hurtling through the wall, escaped injury, as did the two men in the plane which was landed successfully minus one wheel. It was necessary for the pilot, 2nd Lt. Walter L. Records and Aviation Cadet A. H. Davies either to abondon the plane by parachute or to attempt a landing. The decision to have plane land was made by Col. Kincaid.

The regional office of the Forest Service at Albuquerque has 100 packages of Uncle Sam's new "parachute rations" for trial by fire fighteing crews. The rations, developed by the Quartermaster Subsistence Research Laboratories, were tested in a 14-man expedition which hiked 100 miles through the Jemez division of the Santa Fe National Forest early this year. A full day's rations can be carried in a pocket, officials said, and provide 3,500 calories—about half again as much as required by the average office worker. The rations consist of pemmican biscuit, malted milk, veal, soluble coffee tablets, bouillon extract, dextose tablets, ham spread, chocolate, sucrose, dried milk, sausage and gum.

State Gasoline Tax Director Paul Culver announced that July's collections totaled $453,437.27, up from June's $445,738.81, but down $76,323.94 from the July 1941 recipts.

The state police have discovered the vandals who have been knocking over traffic signs on the Santa Fe-Taos highway. The culprits are horses and cattle, suffering from some kind of an itching infection. Officers said they apparently become over enthusiastic at finding a back-scratcher on the treeless range.

Southwestern Indian braves aren't interested in offering their usual hunting dances and similar rites at the Annual Intertribal Ceremony this week at Gallup. Instead they planned nothing but war dances, victory dances and scalp dances.

Only 1,264 deaths were reported to the vital stastics division of Santa Fe for the second quarter of 1942, while reported births totaled 8,156, the department announced. The births reported, however, were over a period of years. Figures showed 3,331 were during 1942, while 165 took place in 1941 and 4,660 took place in 1940 or earlier years. Of the deaths reported, 1,228 were during the three-month period, 34 took place in 1941 and two in 1940. Death of infants under a year numbered 273. Acute communicable or contagious diseases caused 49 deaths and 78 more were due tuberculosis.

Word has been received that Father Braun, who built the massive stone church at Mescalero, was killed while serving in the Army in the Philippines. The building of this church represented many years of labor by Father Braun, who did most of the work with his own hands. He is said to have sent back his Army pay for the completion of the church.

Housewives in five New Mexico counties will be able to buy more coffee and tea because of quota increases announced by the War Production Board. The increases, granted by the District of Columbia and 204 counties where population has gained more than 10 per cent in the last year, were granted to Bernalillo County, 25 per cent; Chaves, 15; Eddy, 12.5; Hidalgo, 15, and Otero, 10.

Eric the Red was reported hotfooting it homeward to Albuquerque along the winding, mountain-highway from Santa Fe—just another recruit from the "K-9 Corps" gone AWOL. The big, purple-nosed Collie was sent to the state capital several days ago for advance training in Dogs for Defense for sentry duty in the armed forces. His owner, Lawrence Stevens of Albuquerque, started a dogwatch on U. S. Highway 85, when advised that Eric, apparently weary of drill and the lack of canine USO facilities, had broken away and headed for home, sixty-two miles to the southwest. Meanwhile, another rookie,—a German shepherd —was reported bound for his home in Santa Fe, AWOL from preliminary training in Albuquerque. There was much speculation as to whether they would meet and compare their grievances, if any, against the outfit. Great things were expected of Eric when he left the green fields of his surburban home to serve his country. But now it will be the doghouse for him, Stevens said.

Cummins Wins Wings, Rate of Staff Sergeant

Cpl. Gurvis L. Cummins, 22-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Cummins of Lake Arthur, was the only representative of New Mexico in a class at Ellington Field, Tex., to receive his wings Wednesday of last week, while eight other men from this state, in training at other schools also were given wings from five advanced training schools.

The Lake Arthur man, who enlisted Nov. 8, 1941, received the warrant rating of staff sergeant.

Sgt. Cummins was a representative of the latest class of the Army Air Corps for aviation students at Ellington Field, the world's largest multi-motored flying school.

He is a graduate of Lake Arthur High School, where he starred on the basketball court and the diamond. He studied one year at Bradley Institute, Peoria, Ill. Before he enlisted at Flagstaff, Ariz., he was a watchmaker, employed by Otts Jewelry Company in Artesia.

Letters From—

Will be back before you know it. Tell Ethel and Mr. Baish hello. Tell all my buddies who haven't been conscripted hello and also my debtors.

Love and kisses,
Son (W. R. Phillips.)

Letter from Charles Mifchell to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Mitchell:

Bataan,
March 6, 1942.

Surprised, aren't you? Well, I don't know if this will get to you, but I'll write a letter and maybe it will.

I am doing all right and feeling fine. Have had some pretty close calls, but came through them without a scratch. I think we will all make it back OK now, so don't worry too much about me, as I'll be seeing you one of these days. Don't know when, but I'll be there.

Buster (Hunlik) is doing fine too. Tell everyone hello for me.

I love you all,
Charles Mitchell.

Pfc. John Conner writes his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Conner:

Dear Folks:

I am all right and intend to remain so. There isn't much to say, only that I am in very high hopes of seeing you all very soon.

Don't worry about me, for it does no good whatsoever to worry, for it won't and can't get me back any sooner.

We have everything that we want here and can't kick about needing anything.

Has anyone heard from J. C. (a cousin in the Navy) lately? I sure hope he rode through OK.

These islands are still the prettiest place that I have ever seen, even under the present conditions.

Where is Ed Boans now? Is he at home? Also Jack and George (John's brothers) and how is Celeste (George's wife)?

I am very anxious to hear from you, so answer as soon as you receive this letter.

Roy Castleberry sends you his best regards and says that we will be home before long.

Tell everyone hello for me at home. I had better sign off now, for I have to write some more letters today.

Pfc. John A. Conuner.

Whitson Points To War, Rather Than the Peace

Another slant on the war situation, related to Rotary, as well as the nation, was advanced Tuesday noon by Howard Whitson at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club, when he recommended that less thought be given to the peace after the war and more effort be given to winning it.

One of the aims and objects of Rotary has to do with international relations, but Whitson declared it to be all wrong to believe the world can live in peace through the efforts of leading men in the many nations, patting each other on the back and preaching brotherly love.

The peace, he said, will be kept only with the use of guns.

Whitson blamed Rotary for its part in bringing on the present situation, through its preaching of international relations. This attitude, he declared, will cost the lives of many boys.

But, he pointed out, now that the war is on, it behooves the common citizens to get down to winning it. Although Artesia has given liberally of her manpower, the community's effort otherwise is feeble, Whitson said.

The speaker criticized the deplorable labor situation and pointed to the government project at Carlsbad. Part of Rotary's job, he said, should be to interfere in the wage question. And, he added, do not wait until November, but do it now.

Woodring—

Woodring served as assistant secretary of war under Roosevelt from 1933 to 1936 and as secretary from 1936 to 1941. He has been away from Washington the last year and a half. He still keeps his eye on things political, but he said he is not active and would not commit himself as to politics.

Mrs. Woodring, who also enjoyed the state, is a daughter of former Senator Coolidge of Massachusetts.

Woodring said it is contemplated that the new company here will employ about fifteen families as a minimum. Soon, it is hoped, they will be running 100,000 board feet a day. It originally was planned to ship to Kansas City, he said, but all of the mill's output is going into defense.

Drivers of Cars May Be Stopped to Check Tires and Equipment

The courts have provided authority for New Mexico state police to stop any motorist, any time and on any public highway, in granting them power to make traffic checks to examine tires and equipment for safety, Chief Tom Summers has announced, according to Bill Lewis of the force.

In view of this privilege, the state police may stop all vehicles traveling in excess of forty miles an hour and warn the operators they are violating their patriotic duty by wantonly wasting precious rubber, Lewis said.

The policeman said the majority of citizens have demonstrated their willingness to practice conservation.

AWVS—

Some investors having a surplus, which they intend to place in War Bonds sooner or later, ration the amount month to month, Feather said. He advised against this and asked that it all be placed in the bonds at this time.

He again pointed out that anyone having purchased his quota of $5,000 in Series E bonds may purchase bonds in Series F and G.

The AWVS again will sell bonds Saturday, which observers pointed out will be a good thing, the way purchases have been falling down.

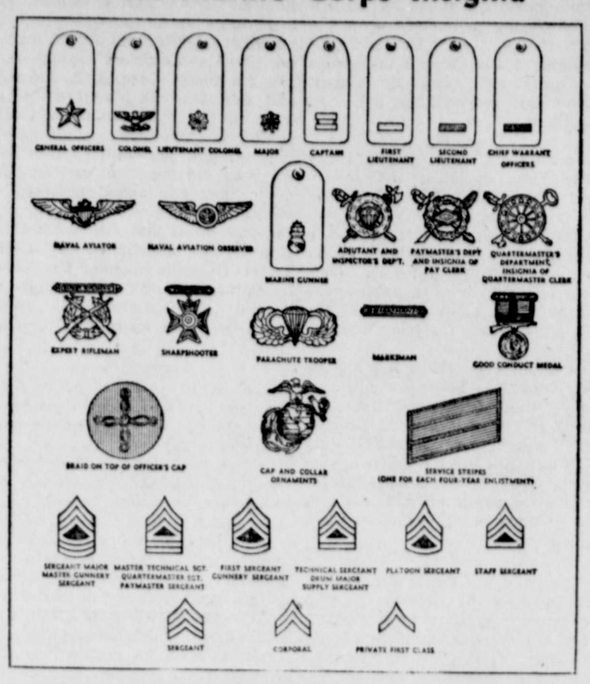

T. H. FLINT RETURNS TO EL PASO FROM MAYO'S

T. H. Flint, who was taken to Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., recently, has returned to El Paso, where he previously had been a patient for several months. He is being cared for at the Gateway Hotel.

Mrs. Flint, who made the trip to Rochester with her husband, is still with him in El Paso. Mr. Flint is reported to be a bit improved.

County grand jurors said the Ferndale, Calif., jail was in deplorable condition, but the Ferndale Chamber of Commerce replied: There were only two prisoners in the last year, and the jail was "more comfortable than the gutters from which they were removed." Anyway, said the Chamber of Commerce, the jail door was left open and when the prisoners found out about it they skipped town.

U. S. Marine Corps Insignia

In Phoenix, Ariz., Sgt. McElhinney forgot to remove his prized address book when he sent his shirt to the downtown laundry. Back came the clean shirt, book buttoned neatly in the pocket. In it were a dozen additional girls' names, addresses and phone numbers.

Some people said, "How quaint," and some merely gave an indulgent, "Heh, heh!" when Denver discovered it had a fifty-year-old ordinance against daytime window washing. The city council quickly voted to repeal the old law. But Mayor Benjamin F. Stapleton vetoed the repeal, with the comment: "There should be some way to govern things so sidewalks won't be littered with washed-off advertising material and puddles of water."

Manager G. V. Robertson heard a noise and found a pair of trousers on the floor under a broken skylight in his store in Spanish Fork, Utah. He called police who found a trouserless man hiding in a lumber pile. Officers said the man tried to break into the store, became stuck in the skylight and lost his pants while squirming back out.

The Atlanta police band, Griffin, Ga., were to play at the "Victory Day" War Bond sale celebration. The band leader called for a number and the members took instruments in hand. Then it was discovered the band had forgotten to bring its music sheets. An Atlanta motorcycle policeman sped forty miles with them.

"Service Station—Repaint Repairs," says the sign in the Capitol Theatre lobby in New York, but it doesn't mean automobiles. It means that for 25 cents, all funds going to the United Service Organization, women having difficulty with their paint job hosiery substitutes may have them touched up by high school girls.

New Britain, Conn., police were raiding a place when the telephone rang. Officer Steve Coffee stepped to the receiver. "This you?" asked a voice. "Better beat it. The cops are going to break in. "We're on our way out," replied Coffee.

A Stockton, Mo., automobile agency occupied a building that once had been a blacksmith shop. The agency closed for the duration. Now Frank Ellerman is opening a blacksmith shop in the building.

Book Reviewed At Lions Club Meet by Booker

Grady Booker, guest speaker of the Artesia Lions Club Wednesday noon, revealed the startling conclusions of the author, Stuart Chase, in his book, "The Road We Are Traveling," one of the series, "When the War Ends."

The speaker, who did not advance his own thoughts but who merely reviewed the book and quoted Chase, said the author reached two conclusions:

After the war there will be no more free enterprise and independent business, that there will be government control of private ownership; probably there will be the "block dollar system of trade," a sort of world barter.

The book deals with the trend of events, economic and social, from 1914 to 1942, Booker said.

W. J. Callan, bookkeeper for Barney Cockburn, was introduced as a new member of the Lions Club. Fred A. Barham of Carlsbad, Eddy County agent, was a visitor.
