Lardy Draft Registrants Face Penalty

SWEETWATER — Texas State Draft Board No. 96, which has jurisdiction over Nolan, Fisher and Scurry counties, today announced a tougher policy regarding young men who register late for the draft.

The policy was established after a board survey which determined that young men had registered late in the past six months.

Federal law requires that young men register with the nearest draft board on their 18th birthday, or within five days thereafter.

Under the new policy, all young men who register a week or more late will be asked in writing to appear before the local board in person to explain their tardiness.

Decorate With Long-Lasting Economical Green Foliages

If you're yearning for fresh flowers to perk up rooms seeming barren now that gay holiday decorations are gone, but you're temporarily budget-bound because of Santa's recent over-generosity, here's a solution: Decorate your home or apartment with arrangements of cut green foliage. They're versatile, long-lasting—and economical!

For a greenery touch that will delight everyone's eye—and is quick and easy to accomplish—bunch cut green foliage into a large container so it overflows. Or better still use a simple basic arrangement for your foliage display—such as a side triangle, S or Hogarth line or perpendicular arrangement—that will look good by itself, but just superb with the addition of fresh flowers. Since most green foliage are long-lasting you can add different kinds of cut flowers for exciting color interest when your pocket-book permits.

For instance the bold leaves of the potos plant combined with handsome, dark green ivy leaves will produce a very attractive foliage arrangement. Fresh flowers may be added at any time, using stalks of gladiolus, clusters of yellow pompons or any other flower desired.

A simple design of pandanus and papirus foliage will look lovely alone, but inserting a few bright red carnations will give it dramatic excitement. The same is true of an arrangement of croton leaves and clipped komador fern. While it would be complete in itself, the addition of a few bright yellow mums would give it a sunny and most-eye-pleasing effect.

Your foliage arrangement should never be less than 1 1/4 times the height of the container used. For a table centerpiece, both the container and arrangement should be low. The width may be 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 times the container's diameter. In all arrangements, it's easier to start with the tallest foliage and then fill in. Fresh flowers should always be inserted at the focal point of the arrangement used.

While a wide variety of foliage is available nationally, with leaves ranging from small to large, bold shapes, some varieties may not be obtainable locally. Huckleberry and salal are the most readily available. However, you may find that some of the other foliage listed below are available locally:

Croton, rhododendron, green and variegated pittosporum, komador fern, coccolus, melaleuca, palmetto, wholeback palm, eucalyptus, magnolia, dracaena sanderiana, dracaena, podocarpus, camellia, aspidistra and Scotch broom.

Cut green foliage will stay bright for a long time with little care. Either mash "woody" stem ends of the foliage with a hammer, or cut long slits in the thick stem ends to permit their absorption of water.

We suggest that the so-treated foliage be rolled in wet newspaper and stems inserted in a pail or other container of hot water for several hours, or overnight, before the foliage is arranged in water-filled display containers. When fresh flowers are added, their stem ends should be cut diagonally with a sharp knife so they will absorb moisture.

ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Houston, 2711 Avenue F celebrated their 64th wedding anniversary Tuesday. The couple were married on January 29, 1899, in Franklin County. They came to Scurry County in 1920 and have lived here except for five years spent in Cisco. Mr. Houston retired from farming in 1957. Children of the couple are: Mrs. Winnie Vanderhurst of Bakersfield, Tex., Mrs. Fred Green of Decatur; Mrs. R. I. Greer, Cisco, and Sam Houston of Snyder. The couple also have nine grand children and 11 great grand children.

Warm Quilts With Dorrn Add Decor.

There's always a need for a quilt or warm throw to toss over the body while taking that catnap, sunning it in the "chilly" outdoors, or as a favorite "extra" layer of warmth on your bed. In the summer, use this same quilt as a beach or picnic blanket for real comfort-with-style.

Don't make the mistake of using fabrics that shed down to the floor; they're obsolete. The unusual one suggested below really hugs the body because of its incredible "inside secret."

For HRS room, nothing could be more decorative than a visible outside panel made in antique-car print (one available is by Indian Head cotton), or an exotic floral-abstract print, for HER bodior.

You can really have the most substantial-type quilt if you use—the amazing 100 per cent wool merlintering, that's as soft as cashmere, and warmer than a thick wool blanket. It's a new scientific fabric that contains two layers of sterilized wool that have been bonded together by an ingenious patented process.

The technique to follow is to buy 2-yards of the Dorrn wool merlintering, plus cuts of colorful printed and solid cotton. Try the mill-end tables for bargains. Stitch all three together, and you'll have one of the handsomest additions for your den, HIS bedroom, or HER boudoir. Reserve a couple of evenings for making it, and you'll be thrilled with the results.

A Mild Diversion In Thebes

THE SCROLLS OF LYSIS by Barnaby Ross.

The hero and narrator of this costume drama set in the fourth century before Christ in Thamus, protege of an old seer named Lysis.

Lysis had been a prophet (with a "good" batting average) for Epaminondas, the ruler of the Greek city-state of Thebes. Exiled for some fancied wrong, old Lysis had remained faithful to his ruler, continuing to write on his scrolls the omens and tactics that would enable Epaminondas to hold his power.

But the scrolls are in a language which only young Thamus has been taught. And when a band of raiders kills off the old seer, it is up to Thamus to get the prophetic scrolls to Thebes, where he soon becomes a favorite of the ruler. Things get complicated when Thamus falls in love with Epaminondas' daughter, Camilla, and is rebuffed by the father.

So there is a motive for revenge and Thamus tries to take it by deliberately insinuating the scrolls off Lysis. Unfortunately Thamus is only a translator, not a seer, and his attempts to tinker with the future are a sticky endeavor.

There is a good deal of huffing and puffing in the plot, plus a sardonic picture of Alexander the Great. Naturally, the villains of the piece are a dastardly lot. The book is a mildly diverting entertainment, rather quaint.

Give Your Evergreens A Winter Overcoat

Your evergreens will come through the winter in better condition if you give them a mulch overcoat. Spread organic material such as peat moss, corn cobs, wood chips, salt hay, oak leaves, about five inches deep around the base of your boxwood, araleas, fire thorn or other tender evergreens, extending out roughly as far as the branch spread if possible.

If you haven't done so already, protect the tree trunk with a wire fence against ravages of hungry mice and other animals. And either build a windbreak or use one of the readily available sprays to protect the shrubs from being dried out by cold winds.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Harty, Arah Route, have announced the engagement and are approaching marriage of their daughter, Carolyn Ann, to Cecil Emer, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Morris, Lamesa Highway.

The wedding date has been set for March 2.

A Legal Consideration

More and more cities are banning outside trash burners because of smoke and smog. In fact, the only kind of trash removal that is legal in many communities today is the smokeless, odorless incinerator. It traps odor and smoke in the burning chamber of the appliance before it can escape to the outside atmosphere. This inexpensive household appliance offers an effective solution to air-pollution problems in addition to eliminating a disagreeable household chore.

Good gift for a cook: a set of four covered onion-soup dishes plus a package of, or your own recipe for French onion soup.

Onion Soup Bread

Serve this interesting bread on a dull bleak day. Sprinkle 2 packages of active dry yeast over 1 1/2 cup of very warm water. Stir until dissolved. Add a 1 1/2 ounce can of condensed onion soup, 4 cups-biscuit mix and stir until blended. Put into a greased 8-inch square pan; spreading the batter evenly. Sprinkle a tablespoon of sesame seeds and 1-3 cup grated cheese over the top. Let rise for 1 1/2-hour in a warm place. Bake in a preheated oven (400 degrees) for 25 minutes. Serves 4 to 6.

U. S. Girls Should Call For Embargo On Guerrilla Raids

BY INEZ ROBB

There are days when every middle-aged woman must feel that she was born 30 or 40 years too soon — days when she finds it more difficult than usual to maintain the myth tangle to herself that she is 35 — days when she knows she no longer has what it takes for a bikini and must admit that her bustle is home-grown.

But even though it takes a little longer to get into a size-18 now than five years ago, nonetheless, I am strangely content. I wouldn't swap places with teen-age girls now in high school for all the milk in Milwaukee.

Why? Because American abundance no longer includes men. The United States, the land of fabled surpluses, can no longer boast one in males as it did for so many happy decades. Gone are the days when an American woman could go out on the back stoop and pick off a husband or a buffalo-with-equal ease.

The buffalo has not quite disappeared and neither has the American man. The letter is still around in quantity, but not in the old-time abundance. Sylvia Parter has recently quoted some chilling statistics to show that by 1965 a good man will be harder to find than ever.

"In that year, only two animals away, the nation's crop of war-babies will be of marrying age. That is, the girls will be 19 years of age, the median at which American girls marry today. And the young men will be 22 to 23, the median at which they now leap into double harness.

But says Miss Parter, who has been happily married for some years, in 1965 marriageable girls will outnumber possible partners by about 30,500. As if this were not serious enough, by 1966 the girls will outnumber the boys by 316,629 — or enough to make women predatory!

These alarming — for women — statistics include the cold fact that 1960 was the last year in which the number of boy babies exceeded that of girl babies. What is boils down to is that modern girls are presented with Hobson's choice.

My sex can no longer shop around in the marriage mart as it did during the days of the Old Frontier when men were not only men but there were lots of them. One of the biggest problems of the New Frontier, which it has completely ignored to date, is a return to these good old days and conditions. They were good enough for Grandma and Mama and me, and the present crop of marriageable mounds would jump at them, too. If given the chance —

Once the American woman really understands this scarcity, she will even regard the dispatch of a man to the moon as an unnecessary expenditure of manpower. Obviously what this country needs is not men on the moon, but men right here and now. Men are a national resource that Washington ought to protect and expand. If something isn't done about this situation soon, there isn't a right-thinking woman alive who won't swap all the equal rights in Christendom for a hunting license.

There isn't one woman in ten thousand who doesn't prefer marriage to a career (any job that pays more than $35 a week, and never mind the take-home pay). Let the government restore the balance of nature so that every girl has a chance! Also, there ought to be some kind of extraterritorial rights to protect the American girl's inherent dower interest in the American man.

As long as the United States has to send young men overseas to the armed forces, it should protect the American girl's stake in the future by putting an embargo on guerrilla raids such as the British are now planning. English travel agencies are arranging low-cost vacations for British girls. They will travel to European countries only a few miles from big U. S. Army encampments full of lonely boys dying to talk with someone who can chatter in English. Tain't fair, McGee!

Girls! Unite! You have nothing to lose — but a wedding band! Write your Congressmen; scare the sex off him! Or, heaven forbid, you may be that pitiful creature — always a bridesmaid but never a bride.

Guess Which Young Man Made Fortune

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The menu for today, dear reader, is a true-life success story with a puzzle at the end.

The puzzle is whether you can guess which — but first, read on: Once upon a time — about 30 years ago — two young fellows roomed in the same boarding house at a Midwest university. America was still in the stubborn grip of the greatest depression of the 20th century.

"Times were really rough. You could eat on 35 cents a day if you had to. You never bought a new pair of shoes until the ones you were wearing had been broken and knotted together in at least four places.

When the two young fellows graduated, one said:

"There's nothing in the way of opportunity out here. I'm going to seek fame and fortune in the big city. I hear there's a dollar to be made there for every light on Broadway."

The other fellow said:

"I think I'll go back and settle down in my home town where people know me. Something'll turn up soon for me again."

Well, both these young men — let's call one Mr. Home Town and the other Mr. Metropolis — carried out their decisions. Thirty years later Mr. Home Town visited Mr. Metropolis and said, "I'll be in Manhattan next Friday. How about us getting together for dinner?"

He and Mr. Home Town reminisced about old times on the campus as they gulped and chewed — their way — through two highballs, steaks, and dinner bread — Mr. Home Town really seemed to want to live it up, and Mr. Metropolis felt rather sorry for him — and coffee.

"How have things been going with you?" asked Mr. Home Town.

"Covering the bills in his pocket and wondering whether they'd forget the tab, Mr. Metropolis said he had one child, lived in a small but comfortable apartment in an area where there hadn't been a single stabbing in six months. He said he didn't drive a car, rode the subway, and hoped it could hold it to 66 to be able to save enough to retire an move back to his own old home town.

"And what about you?" he then asked.

"I've got seven kids," said Mr. Home Town. "I invested in a transportation company that did $20 million last year. But, of course, that's not my main interest."

"What is your main interest?" asked Mr. Metropolis.

"Oh, I'd say it probably was banking."

"How big is your bank?"

"Which one? I've got four."

"As he reached for the restaurant check and opened a wallet stuffed with $50 bills, Mr. Home Town remarked:

"You know, I envy you the cultural advantages you've gained by living in a place like New York in these years. I'm still a country bumpkin. My wife and I get to take in the shows and concerts only when we pass through here each summer on our way to Europe to pick up a few modern paintings."

The two men arose, shook hands and parted.

That is the story, dear reader. Now comes the puzzle: Can you guess which of these two young men was the one who came to the big city 30 years ago to make his fortune and enjoy the finer life — me or the other fellow?

Junior Editors Quiz on SEEDS

QUESTION: What's in a seed and how can it travel?

ANSWER: Soak some dried lima beans in water for a few days. You will find that the outer shell will then come off easily. You will find two flat halves, called 'cotyledons'. (1) Look closely and you'll find a tiny plant; at its top end you can just see a suggestion of leaves (1) and there is a pointed end which will become a root (2). When a bean is planted in warm moist earth it swells so it bursts its coat and the minute plant begins to grow, using the material in the cotyledons as food. The root grows first and anchors the plant so the stem can develop. Besides these parts needed in a seed so it can turn into a plant, there must be some arrangement to scatter them around so they won't crowd each other out. Some seeds, like the beautiful milkweed of our main picture, have parachutes which develop so they can sail away on the wind. Others are popped or shot out of the mother plant (2). A great many are excited in attractive fruits or nuts which birds and squirrels carry around (1, 4). Others, like the burdock, are just waiting for you to push by so they can grab on and hitch a ride (3).

FOR YOU TO DO: Winter is the time for traveling seeds and the marvelous ways they have developed to travel around. Take a walk outside and look for them. A magnifying glass will make your walk much more interesting.

(Casey Lamb of Altus, Okla., wins $10 for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper and you may win $10 or a set of Britannica Junior Encyclopedia.)

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The playing rules and a holdover title dispute from 1962 occupied the National Football League today after Commissioner Pete Rozelle reported there would be no further investigation.

was the first time the NFL had gone over 4 million paid attendance, almost doubling the figure of 10 years ago.

Halfbacks Bill Barnes of Washington, Ollie Matson of Los Angeles and John Adams of Chicago will receive free agents May 1. They did not sign for 1962 but played out the one-year option contained in their 1961 contract.

Tigers Mow Ponies Down In 3-AAA Battle, 69-65

By Jerry Jackson
News Sports Editor

In a team effort designed to top all team efforts, Snyder's Tigers Tuesday night laid low the Sweetwater Mustangs here, 69-65, to move into a tie for third in the District 3-AAA race along with the Brownfield Cubs.

to the visitors' 13 of 17.

The performance had to be the most outstanding team effort of the year—even of the past several years—all five Bengal starters had made it into the twin figure bracket at conclusion of third quarter play.

boards, chipped in, with 13 to be next in line, and senior forward Stuart Long added 19 to the cause to be the fifth and final Bengal contributor to the winning total.

Snyder was never behind after the first quarter. Bullard pushed through a free throw early in the game to give Snyder a brief 1-0 lead, and from there the Tigers trailed throughout the quarter until a goal by Brown squared things at 12-12 to cap off scoring in the stanza. Snyder was never behind more than 3 points at any time, however.

CITED AS "MOST COURAGEOUS" — Mickey Mantle, New York Yankee star, is reflected in the polished plaque which he won in Philadelphia as "most courageous" athlete of the year. He was cited by Philadelphia Sportswriters association for his defeat of a series of injuries since he arrived in the big leagues in 1951. Latest of these was his return from a crippling thigh muscle. Mantle also won an award as the associations top choice for best all around athlete. (AP Wirephoto)

Lamesa, Lake View Score Loop Wins.

Lamesa and Lake View retained their co-triangulation on the top rung of the District 3-AAA ladder Tuesday night by carding a pair of easy conference victories over Colorado City and Brownfield, respectively.

Between You And Me

BY JERRY JACKSON
You all is treading on mighty thin ice, sub, with you-sh-downright radical suggestion to divide the sovereign state of (smile when you say it) TEXAS into a "North" and a "South."

Both are now 4-0 on the district scramble, and are slated to square off in San Angelo Friday in a game that will no doubt have a direct bearing on the eventual title picture.

Lamesa's Tornados warmed up to the occasion by disposing of the Colorado City Wolves in Lamesa, 63-37, as Wallace Franklin boosted his district scoring lead with 21 points and Bubba Robertson chipped in 15 to ward off the winning total.

Charles Houston, with a 10-point surge in the final period, led the Wolves with 14 for the night.

Lake View's Chiefs jumped out to a 49-16 halftime lead in Brownfield against the Cubs, and from then it was no more than a matter of time until they emerged with a 73-50 triumph. Roy Probst bucketed 30 points to show the way home, while Pat Stewart and Joe Hartman contributed with 14 and 12 to the cause. Teddy Howell topped the Cab effort with 12.

In B games preceding the two varsity encounters, Brownfield nudged Lake View 48-47 and Lamesa won handily over Colorado City, 44-23.

Complaint Up For Airing

CHICAGO (AP)—George Ireland, coach of the Loyola Ramblers who are the nation's No. 2 basketball team, plans to take the case of the shoeless basketball players before the National Rules Committee this year.

"It's a minor point," said Ireland, who also is the representative of the Fourth District for the U.S. and Canada, "but it just isn't fair."

Ireland contends that several times this season rival players have had play halted by officials because of the loss of the shoe.

"Funny thing," says Ireland, "it always happens when we have a fast break going and a three-on-one situation. In one game this year, it happened four times. Same player, same situation. Three of four men going for the basket against one defender."

Ireland blames it on the enforcer sneaker which can be kicked off easily. When a player loses his shoe, an official time is called until the shoe is tied on again.

Ireland said he will mention his complaint to the rules committee which meets two days after the NCAA tournament ends in March.

Indoor Meet Set Saturday In Coliseum

LUBBOCK—Two Texas Track & Field teams will be on the road, but the Red Raiders' athletic facilities will be busy places just the same Saturday.

Home of the basketballers, the Lubbock Coliseum will be turned into an indoor track for the second annual Lubbock Indoor Track and Field meet Saturday night.

Although the sponsoring agency for the track meet is the Lubbock Amateur Athletic Federation, Tech Track Coach Don Sparks will be operating in a dual capacity as that of meet director as well as Red Raider coach.

Proposals to increase the player limit from 36 to 38 and establish an injured reserve list, patterned after baseball, were tabled until the spring meeting.

The Minnesota Vikings traded veteran fullback Mel Triplett to Cleveland for offensive end Leon Clark in the only player transaction.

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Arnold Palmer, the defending champion, and his fellow professionals, began the last storm in California's 1963 winter golfing gold rush today as play opened in the $50,000 Palm Springs Classic.

The tournament had its unique character in that it goes by five rounds and 90 holes of golf.

Palmer, who won most everything in the sport except the National Open last year, led off the year by winning the Los Angeles Open. ## Sugar-Ray Eyes Dupas

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson meets Ralph Dupas in a 10-round middleweight fight tonight where a defeat could mean boxing obscurity.

Robinson, six times a world champion, was an underdog despite a 10-pound weight advantage over 25-year-old Dupas. Sugar Ray, 43, turned pro in 1940, the year Dupas celebrated his sixth birthday.

"He's been around longer, but he hasn't had that many more fights than I have," said Dupas, who dropped a 15-round title decision to welterweight champion Emile Griffith last June.

Frost Changed Little, But Was Master Of His Realm

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert Frost once cracked that writing free verse is like playing tennis with the net down. It tells a lot about him. He stayed within limits, both in the forms of poetry and in his vision of the world.

If it had been all, he would have remained an obscure, regional poet. But his poetry was never universal than that. People everywhere could read their own meanings into what he wrote, which is the test of any good poet.

Airman Is Freed; Probe Requested

MOUNTAIN HOME, Idaho (AP) — Airman Gerald M. Anderson is a free man today after almost 10 months of confinement on charges of murder.

Now he wants out of the Air Force. His attorney has called for an investigation of the Air Force's treatment of Anderson, who was accused of killing a wife and son of a fellow airman.

When he died Tuesday at 88 he had lived longer than any major poet in American history. But the lavish adulation he got in his late years looks overdone. He wasn't that consistently good. He was at his best early.

Another man confessed to the murders in November. Civil authorities accepted the confession and released Anderson but the Air Force promptly arrested him and announced it would try him for the crimes.

As one critic said, he had become a kind of folk myth. It was as if Americans, through deep guilt or self-consciousness for long ignoring their artists who heaped honors on a successful politician, a businessman or movie actor, tried to make up for lost time.

Rockefeller Raps Information Policy

By CHARLES STORER

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller attacked the public information policies of the Kennedy administration Tuesday night, demanding to know what the American people will be told what he called the true situation in Cuba.

The Republican governor told the New York State Publishers Association there is a philosophy "all too popular in high places, that the public cannot be told the whole truth about the international situation" because the people might panic.

Your family's silent partner

Let there be no doubt. It's a fact. Or Move. Or Hear. But open it in your hands and it becomes a living, powerful partner in daily living. In the decisions you make, the opinions you form.

It takes you to the highest chambers of government. It takes you to the bloodiest streets of warring countries. It takes you to the heart of history in the making. In short, it tells you what in the world is happening and why.

But people depend on it for needs beyond the need to know. It's where families turn when something's to be bought or sold. It's where hints on health, cooking, religion, amusements, dressmaking, etiquette, marriage are found.

It's where charities first turn for help, and a place where a letter to the editor is published. It's where campaigns are fought and lost dogs are found. It's where criminals are exposed and newly-weds applauded. Where birth and death meet on the same page.

Future of Alliance Is In Danger

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
PARIS (AP)—The future of the Western Alliance may hinge on the question of who is tougher—President Kennedy or the aging but durable enigma of Europe, President Charles de Gaulle.

The world likely will be witnessing two cold wars within the big one—in the East between the Soviet Union and Red China, the West between the United States and de Gaulle's France.

Britain's lost battle to win the European Common Market will have repercussions around the world. It is a setback, though not necessarily fatal, to the Western unity for which statesmen labored patiently over the past dozen years.

There will be cheering in the Kremlin and probably a Soviet attempt to take quick advantage of the breach in the Western front.

The Soviet response may take the form of an aggressive new peace offensive, with seemingly genuine gestures on ranking problems, to make it appear that Europe can do business safely with the Communists.

De Gaulle has made clear that he believes Europe should be a force standing between the United States and the Soviet Union, independently wielding its own nuclear weapons, even though it has no nuclear weapons to wield yet.

He has made France into a poor partner in NATO—hardly a partner at all. Since France is an important piece of European real estate, de Gaulle's policies already have weakened the Atlantic Alliance.

De Gaulle also has declared Britain unfit to be considered part of Europe. He champions "continentalism," a continent looking inward, paternally guided and directed by its powerful heart—France and Germany.

A spokesman reflecting the French president's views says British Prime Minister Macmillan chose the United States instead of Europe by agreeing to President Kennedy's proposal to arm Britain and France with Polaris missiles.

DeGaulle's Next Move Is Awaited

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The crucial question being debated in Washington today is whether French President Charles de Gaulle will follow up his Common Market defeat of Great Britain with a campaign to break Western Europe's close ties with the United States.

De Gaulle's veto Tuesday of Britain's bid for membership in the market is regarded here as a severe setback to the U.S. campaign for increasing unity within the North Atlantic alliance.

A de Gaulle drive to split Europe apart from the United States—or as one authority put it "to get the United States out of Europe"—could be little short of disastrous.

The question of what De Gaulle will do next is one of several vexing U.S. leaders in the aftermath of the Brussels showdown.

The official policy line taken by administration informants is that the United States intends to proceed with a broad program of reducing trade barriers, including tariff negotiations with the six-nation Common Market.

But officials said today that until the dust settles it is difficult for them to see exactly the best way to proceed.

Administrative officials rule out for the time being at least any sort of de Gaulle-embargo action against France.

Another question is what will British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan do? It will be up to him primarily to chart Britain's economic relations with the Western Europe allies.

British relations with France are now strained than at any time since the Western alliance was formed 15 years ago.

The five nations within the market which opposed De Gaulle's black-balling of Britain—Italy, West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—also must sort out their policies. Should they decide under French pressure to go along with De Gaulle's so-called third force policy in Europe, the position of the United States on the continent would become difficult.

However, the Kennedy administration doesn't expect that to happen in view of the stand taken in the free so far.

There is uncertainty also over the future policies of the British

Ev & Charlie Add New Characters

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—The "Ev and Charlie show" is about to go into production again with some new characters added to the cast.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said today he and House GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana will be back in the business of peddling their party's viewpoint at weekly news conferences as soon as Congress gets down to work on legislation.

Dirksen conceded there will be some changes in the script and some new faces in the television lights.

The general understanding among Republicans is that the two old pros, Dirksen and Halleck, will continue as the stars, but the format of the act may be changed.

Instead of presenting only Dirksen and Halleck each week, top Republicans on Senate and House committees which are dealing with specific subjects may be brought in to air their views.

To keep the stage from becoming too crowded, Dirksen and Halleck may alternate their appearances.

To give the whole thing more of an atmosphere of a party endeavor—rather than strictly a leadership undertaking—any Republican governor in town is likely to be drafted for an appearance.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller plans a visit next week. However, Dirksen thought that would be a little early to try to get the show on the boards.

Missionary Ship Ruled Unseaworthy

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Coast Guard has halted a missionary band's plan to sail to Haiti by declaring its 101-foot homemade boat unseaworthy.

But the Rev. Howard A. Smith, leader of the crew of nine adults and three children, said he'll appeal Tuesday's ruling to higher Coast Guard authorities.

Smith, 51, a pastor of the Calvary Church of the Full Gospel, a 20-member offshoot of the late Aimee Semple McPherson's Four-square Gospel organization, at Wilmington, Calif.

"I made a trip to Haiti on a missionary venture," he told a reporter, and the outcome was a plan to build a boat and load it with beds, clothing, machinery, etc., to establish training centers.

Smith and members of his congregation, starting 21 months ago, built the vessel. Cash donations of $23,000 were for redraft planking, marine plywood, two diesel engines, and other materials and equipment.

Smith said it looks like a government inspection and detention board Coast Guard officers went aboard Tuesday and cited Smith "for inadequate and unsatisfactory lifesaving and fire-fighting equipment."

Delivery To Cuba To End March 31

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—A Red Cross official said Tuesday night that movement of the $53,000,000 worth of medical supplies and other commodities to Cuba pledged in exchange for the Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners will have been completed by March 31.

Ramona S. Eaton, vice president of the American National Red Cross in charge of international relations, said $25,000,000 in supplies already have been delivered, including 500,000 worth last week. Last week's deliveries, he said, included 2,500 tons of powdered milk.

JFK's Education Aid Plan Sparks Wave Of Disunity

By JOHN BECKLER
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's attempt to unite supporters of aid to education has already touched off a bitter division among them in Congress.

Kennedy wrapped 24 separate proposals dealing with everything from elementary to graduate school (see one big bill and sent it to Congress Tuesday, urging "high priority action."

The package carries an estimated price tag of $4.6 billion for three years but cuts back sharply previous administration proposals for aid to public elementary and secondary schools.

The idea of lumping everything together was apparently to entice friends of different proposals into making common cause for the whole package, but the first effect has been to alienate influential House Republicans who support some items but oppose others.

Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen Jr., R-N.J., ranking GOP member of the House Education and Labor Committee, called the catchall bill "the height of political-civilism," and said Republicans will offer bills aimed at specific targets.

Rep. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, said hearings on the whole package would be held in the House, but he added "I do not know what the final shape of the legislation will be."

The most likely change is the elimination of aid to public elementary and secondary schools. Although Kennedy's big proposal for the $850 million a year be asked for two years ago to $750 million a year, it still is weighed with the religious issue of aid to private and parochial schools that has kept it dormant since mid-1961.

Kennedy's view is that such aid would be unconstitutional under the separation of church and state. The Roman Catholic hierarchy of the nation contends such aid would not be unconstitutional and noting that Kennedy's education proposals for the third straight year did not ask such aid, a Roman Catholic spokesman termed the program disappointing.

Rep. Adam C. Powell, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, said hearings on the whole package would be held in the House, but he added "I do not know what the final shape of the legislation will be."

Although Kennedy's big proposal for the $850 million a year be asked for two years ago to $750 million a year, it still is weighed with the religious issue of aid to private and parochial schools that has kept it dormant since mid-1961.

Kennedy's view is that such aid would be unconstitutional under the separation of church and state. The Roman Catholic hierarchy of the nation contends such aid would not be unconstitutional and noting that Kennedy's education proposals for the third straight year did not ask such aid, a Roman Catholic spokesman termed the program disappointing.

Ev & Charlie Add New Characters

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—The "Ev and Charlie show" is about to go into production again with some new characters added to the cast.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said today he and House GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana will be back in the business of peddling their party's viewpoint at weekly news conferences as soon as Congress gets down to work on legislation.

Dirksen conceded there will be some changes in the script and some new faces in the television lights.

The general understanding among Republicans is that the two old pros, Dirksen and Halleck, will continue as the stars, but the format of the act may be changed.

Instead of presenting only Dirksen and Halleck each week, top Republicans on Senate and House committees which are dealing with specific subjects may be brought in to air their views.

To keep the stage from becoming too crowded, Dirksen and Halleck may alternate their appearances.

To give the whole thing more of an atmosphere of a party endeavor—rather than strictly a leadership undertaking—any Republican governor in town is likely to be drafted for an appearance.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller plans a visit next week. However, Dirksen thought that would be a little early to try to get the show on the boards.

Missionary Ship Ruled Unseaworthy

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Coast Guard has halted a missionary band's plan to sail to Haiti by declaring its 101-foot homemade boat unseaworthy.

But the Rev. Howard A. Smith, leader of the crew of nine adults and three children, said he'll appeal Tuesday's ruling to higher Coast Guard authorities.

Smith, 51, a pastor of the Calvary Church of the Full Gospel, a 20-member offshoot of the late Aimee Semple McPherson's Four-square Gospel organization, at Wilmington, Calif.

"I made a trip to Haiti on a missionary venture," he told a reporter, and the outcome was a plan to build a boat and load it with beds, clothing, machinery, etc., to establish training centers.

Smith and members of his congregation, starting 21 months ago, built the vessel. Cash donations of $23,000 were for redraft planking, marine plywood, two diesel engines, and other materials and equipment.

Smith said it looks like a government inspection and detention board Coast Guard officers went aboard Tuesday and cited Smith "for inadequate and unsatisfactory lifesaving and fire-fighting equipment."

Delivery To Cuba To End March 31

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—A Red Cross official said Tuesday night that movement of the $53,000,000 worth of medical supplies and other commodities to Cuba pledged in exchange for the Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners will have been completed by March 31.

Ramona S. Eaton, vice president of the American National Red Cross in charge of international relations, said $25,000,000 in supplies already have been delivered, including 500,000 worth last week. Last week's deliveries, he said, included 2,500 tons of powdered milk.

Brother Of Estes Ruled Bankrupt

EL PASO (AP)—A Federal bankruptcy referee has judged Bobby Frank Estes, brother of Billie Sol Estes, bankrupt after the brother dropped objection to an involuntary action.

Referee J. C. Brooke made the ruling after a petition was received on behalf of the younger Estes brother agreeing that he, individually, and the firm of Estes Brothers, be ruled bankrupt.

Bobby Frank Estes had at first objected to an involuntary action brought against him last July.

Harry Moore, Billie Sol's receiver in bankruptcy, was named by Brooke to serve the same role for Bobby Frank Estes and Brothers' partnership.

Three creditors had filed a petition in Pecos asking for a ruling of involuntary bankruptcy when the Estes financial collapse occurred. They were Godden Petroleum Corp. of Big Spring, Pecos Growers Gas Co., and National Oil and Butane Inc. of Plainview.

Everything piles up handsomely in a Chevy II including savings

Imagine a low-loading wagon roomy enough to handle most anything you can lift—and still trim enough to slip into cramped parking spots. We imagined it, built it and called it Chevy II. Made it as dependable as a wagon can get. And made it so it'll keep piling up savings for you over the years. Those show up in the way the engines (you have your choice of a 6 or 4 in most models) put the squeeze on gas. They grow with upkeep-cutters like the brakes that adjust themselves. An exhaust system that has new ways and means of lasting longer. A Delco-Rom generator that keeps reserve power built up in your battery, helping it to reach a vigorous old age. And a wash-and-dry ventilating system that helps guard against rusting of sheet metal under the doors. Want to hear more? How about a palatable price, nifty interiors, the fitness of Body by Fisher craftsmanship—and a talk with your Chevrolet dealer right soon!
