Fears Eased, LBJ Tells Union Men

HOUSTON (AP) — Vice President Lyndon Johnson asserted today that the Kennedy administration has done more than any other to ease fears and destroy prejudice.

'We know this nation can never be strong in its affairs beyond the seas unless we are first strong in the neighborhood within our borders,' Johnson said.

He spoke to the Texas state AFL-CIO and said he is confident labor is supporting this 'unmitigated movement.'

Such a program, he asserted, deserves support from both liberals and conservatives.

Those who would paralyze us politically, those who would try to keep our political system from functioning successfully, are not serving the interest of either conservatism or liberalism,' he said.

No Break In Heat Wave

By The Associated Press Texas saw August summer into its final week with no hint of real break in a parching heat wave.

Skies were cloudless, nearly everywhere in the state early Monday, promising another day of temperatures topping 100 degrees or only a little below in most sections.

Shower clouds, a few thin rainbows in extreme West Texas and along the coast.

Before the showers, a little temporary relief Sunday from scorching weather in parts of Texas Panhandle, eastward in the Red River Valley to Paris and in a few places near the coast.

Top temperatures Sunday ranged from 102 degrees at Austin and Fort Worth down to 84 at Dalhart, Dallas, Lubbock and Presidio recorded 101, and Abilene, College Station, Laredo, Mineral Wells and Waco 100.

Storm Winds Moving Close

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Small craft around Bermuda were warned today to stay in port as hurricane Belma's winds began to move within range.

The hurricane, packing peak winds of 100 miles per hour near the center, was expected to pass well to the east of the British colony. Some freshening of winds and increasing seas would be the only effect of the storm on the islands.

The hurricane was estimated to be 300 miles east-southeast of Bermuda and moving toward the north-northeast at 12 m.p.h.

was taken from the scene to Cogdell Hospital by Bell Ambulance Service.

A hospital spokesman said Buchanan received broken ribs, a broken right shoulder, broken right ankle, a back injury, and numerous lacerations.

He was driving a 1963 Chevrolet. The car, which was going west, struck engine of the train which had just started to cross the highway going south.

The Lamesa youth, injured Sunday afternoon, is Richard R. Sealey. He was a passenger in a car driven by James W. Holman III, 18, of Lamesa which was involved in a collision with a car driven by a Big Spring man, Charles T. Meachum, about 43.

Holman was taken to a Big Spring hospital where his condition is said to be 'satisfactory.' He is suffering from severe cuts of the legs and the loss of some teeth.

Another passenger in the Holman car was Sammy Flad, 16, of Seminole. He was admitted to Cogdell Hospital for observation.

Sealey was believed to be the most seriously injured in the mishap. He suffered severe cuts of the face and head.

Meachum, driver of the other car, is reported to be in 'good' condition in a Big Spring hospital.

He sustained chest injuries. Passengers in the Meachum car were his daughters Charis, 12, Jane, 7, his son, Dan, 8, Bill Tom Hale, 19, of Big Spring and Hale's niece and nephew, Diane Ellison, 8, and Doany Ellison. The Ellison children are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Tiny Ellison of Big Spring.

The Meachum girls were given emergency treatment and released at a Big Spring hospital, as were the Ellison children. Dan Meachum was not injured. Hale was brought to Cogdell Hospital where he received emergency treatment, and was then transferred to a Big Spring hospital. His condition is believed to be good.

Bolger ambulances from Snyder and Valley-Pickle ambulances from Big Spring answered the call. The accident occurred about three miles southwest of the dam on an unimproved road.

Texas Highway Patrolman Rovee Stowe said the collision took place at the top of a small hill.

Also in Big Spring, 14-year-old Luis Hernandez received serious injuries Sunday evening when struck by an auto driven by James G. Bradlock of Odessa as he was walking in the 300 block of East Third Street.

THIS CAR collided with an RS&P train shortly after 8 a.m. this morning at the crossing on Thirty-seventh Street. The driver, Doyle Buchanan, is in 'very serious' condition.

Rescue Is Due Tonight

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP) — The giant drill today reached the plug at the bottom of the escape hole for Henry Thorne and David Fellin.

'Fearing delays,' they will be lifted some time tonight to the surface one at a time in a specially designed steel capsule that is almost as wide as the 18-inch hole.

Fellin, 58, Thorne, 28, and Lou Rova, 42, have been trapped more than 300 feet underground for 13 days—since 9 a.m. Aug. 13. Rova has not been heard from since Thursday. He was trapped some 25 feet from the others and separated by tons of debris.

Churning away steadily, with time out only to attach an extension bit every 30 feet, the 65-ton drilling rig passed the two-thirds mark at dawn and at 10:30 a.m. was at the 100-foot mark.

It was stopped then, while rescue officials discussed the next steps.

The pace will be slowed appreciably in the final stages to forestall any possibility of a cave-in.

Fellin and Thorne remained in good spirits. They could be heard talking to each other through the microphone which provides communications to the surface through the six-inch lifeline hole—and sawing wood.

'Hey, Davey, are you busy down there?' a rescuer asked. 'Yeah,' replied Fellin. 'We're working pretty hard.'

'What are you doing?' 'We're putting up shoring.' Fellin then was asked: 'Are you getting any dirt?'

'Just a little bit.' Rescuers told him it probably was sifting down the six-inch lifeline hole, or perhaps was shaken from the walls by the vibrations of the drill.

He then asked about his wife and was told that she and Thorne's wife were on top of a nearby slope, watching.

Rescuers had asked Fellin and Thorne if there was room in their chamber for a third man to come down if necessary. Thorne said Sunday night he thought there would be space enough.

Fellin and Thorne are in a steep-sloped chamber whose upper portion is 300 feet from the surface and whose lower portion is 311 feet, through which they receive supplies via a six-inch lifeline hole. Their escape hole is at the upper end of the chamber and they are able to crawl back and forth.

At dawn, when workers told Fellin to get some sleep to be prepared for the time ahead, he quipped: 'Nothing doing, I'm playing poker down here with Hank and I'm not quitting till I get even.'

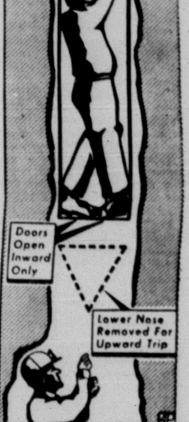

Fellin and Thorne were told that the drill had passed the two-thirds mark and instructed to let rescuers workers know if they hear anything as 'we start to watch for that.'

Both the 58-year-old Fellin and the 28-year-old Thorne and their relatives were optimistic this would be their last day underground.

Arbitration Bill Okayed By Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Interstate Commerce Committee approved today a bill to require arbitration of the work rules dispute that threatens a nationwide railroad strike Thursday.

The bill follows closely the provisions of a measure scheduled for Senate action.

The House group's action clears the way for speedy consideration of the measure, the Senate also may pass.

Congressional leaders are aiming for final action by Wednesday, wanting to get a bill to the President in time to head off a strike.

In a unanimous aimed to expedite action, the House called on the President to sign the bill as drafted.

The bill approved last week by the Senate Commerce Committee would set up a seven-member board to arbitrate the two key issues: a gradual elimination of the job of 32,000 diesel firemen and the breakup of train crews.

A split has developed among the Democrats over treatment of the other issues, such as the wage structure.

The bill would permit the board to impose settlement of these questions if the carriers and the unions did not work out an agreement within 120 days.

The committee chairman, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., and seven Democratic members have attacked this provision as a blow at collective bargaining. They said they favor limiting binding arbitration to the two key issues.

The committee majority said in a report, however, that to rely solely on collective bargaining to settle these issues would be to ignore the basis of the lengthy controversy.

'Such a course could prove to be no settlement at all, but simply an open invitation to one side or the other to stall and to prevent an ultimate resolution of the dispute,' the majority said.

While the Senate is grappling with the legislation, the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee scheduled a meeting to take up an identical resolution.

At dawn, when workers told Fellin to get some sleep to be prepared for the time ahead, he quipped: 'Nothing doing, I'm playing poker down here with Hank and I'm not quitting till I get even.'

Kennedy, Gromyko Slate Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy agreed today to confer next month with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko on follow-up steps to the limited nuclear test ban treaty.

This was announced by Anatoly Dobrynin, the Soviet ambassador, after an hour-long meeting at which he delivered to Kennedy a letter from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev expressing 'thanks and appreciation' for the signing of the limited-test ban agreement.

Dobrynin left open the possibility that Khrushchev may come to the United States next month to attend the General Assembly meeting of the United Nations, the event which will bring Gromyko to this country.

In telling reporters of the plan for the Kennedy-Gromyko session, Dobrynin said the subject would be steps that could be taken 'just to develop relations and ease tensions.'

Llewellyn Thompson, former U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union, took part in most of the conference between Kennedy and Dobrynin.

Dobrynin came to the White House shortly after Kennedy returned to Washington from a

Israel Plans For Defense

Jerusalem (AP) — Defense Minister Levi Eshkol told Parliament today that if peace does not return along the Syrian border Israel 'will be duty-bound and entitled' to take steps to defend itself.

He made only scant and relatively mild mention of the sharp exchange of fire between Israeli and Jordanian border troops in this divided city Sunday.

An Israeli soldier was reported killed in the clash and Jordan claimed Israeli shells fell on densely populated sections of the Holy City.

At least 13 Try To Flee East Germany

BERLIN (AP) — At least 13 East Germans tried to flee to the west over the weekend. Of these, nine are known to have succeeded.

There also was the case of a 2-year-old boy who wandered into a Communist mine field and was found in Bavaria.

In Berlin, a young border guard disarmed his sergeant and escaped over a barbed wire in the western sector, reliable sources said. West Berlin police said two other East German guards also made it safely west.

Mississippi Democrats To Pick Candidate Tomorrow

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Mississippi voters choose Tuesday between two Democratic gubernatorial candidates, each of whom accuses the other of playing footsie with the national Democratic administration.

Former Gov. J. P. Coleman and Lt. Gov. Paul Johnson each promised that, if elected, they would use all their power to maintain segregation.

Democratic nomination must face the Republican nominee, Rube Phillips, former Democrat, in the Nov. 5 general election and a segregationist. Also in the general election is independent Ed Bishop.

The primary polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 6 p.m. Only 17 of the states' 1,800 precincts have voting machines. An estimated 450,000 persons will vote.

Gov. Ross Barnett, who tried to block the admission of James H. Meredith, a Negro, to the all-white University of Mississippi, is not eligible to seek re-election. He took part in the campaign.

John H. Starnes, a Negro, is a federal criminal charges for his part in helping the governor in trying to keep Meredith out of the Miss. Johnson claims he initiated the riot during the riot on the campus last Sept. 30.

Coleman told voters Johnson shook hands with the man who

Group Not Likely To 'See' Capital

EDITOR'S NOTE—The nation's attention focuses Wednesday on Washington when thousands of civil rights advocates mass to dramatize the struggle for Negro rights. The city that awaits them is sketched in the following article.

By STANLEY MEISLER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The civil rights marchers may not see it, but this is a city replete with power, lined with marble, vibrant with areas of beauty and blighted by contrasting areas of squalor.

It is a city of great monuments and shrines, of complex law and petty crime, of history and legend.

To the 100,000 or more civil rights marchers expected here Wednesday, Washington will be a symbol of national power, a national where men and women petition for redress of grievance.

They will gather at the base of the soaring Washington Monument, the center of a vast complex of greenery and marble, a monument that looks east to the Capitol, north to the White House, west to the Lincoln Memorial and south to the Jefferson Memorial and the Tidal Basin rimmed with cherry trees.

Then they will march a few blocks down huge avenues and across parklands to the Lincoln Memorial at a temple in the style of the Parthenon of ancient Greece.

These are the symbols of government and beauty and history that draw almost 5 million tourists to Washington each year, and Washington has other faces, too.

In the last decade, Washington has become the only major city in the nation that has more Negroes than whites. During these years, 200,000 whites have rushed into the nearly all-white suburbs of Virginia and Maryland. Their places have been taken by Negro migrants from the South, many forced into slums.

A rise in crime has come at the same time. Although the crime has received little attention in the city, it differs little from crime rates in other big cities of America. Washington is ninth in size with a population of 764,000 but 13th in crime rate.

Some observers see signs of discontent among the city's Negroes and evidence of rising tension between the races. Last Thanksgiving a riot, spurred with racial overtones, erupted at the high school championship football game. Negroes say there is job discrimination in the city and housing discrimination in its suburbs.

The people who live in Washington do not rule themselves. They have the right to vote for president but, since the 1870s, they have not been allowed to elect their local officials.

The ultimate power lies in the hands of Congress, specifically in the committees that handle the district of Columbia money and problems. Most of these committees are ruled by Southerners. Some have no sympathy for a 57 percent Negro city. Integrated schools and restaurants and stores.

Weight-Recording Equipment Required

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department is going to require mechanical weight-recording equipment on all scales owned by stockyards, livestock dealers, market agencies and meat packers who are subject to the Packers and Stockyards Act.

Officials said this will help in the fight against "hogging" weights, and will make it possible to determine weights on sales tickets.

The amendment to the act requiring a mechanical ticket printer becomes effective Sept. 1. Livestock handlers have until Jan. 1, 1965, to equip their scales with the device.

Identity Of Blast Victims Unknown

BUTTE, Mont. (AP)—The identity of the man or men killed in an explosion of a load of stolen dynamite was unknown today in the continued aftermath of the blast which caused thousands of dollars' damage in the Butte area.

Sheriff Bill Dalling's office has given no detailed account of the incident because of confusion on certain points and official silence on others.

Dalling's deputies, staked out near the blast scene Saturday night, were moving in to make arrests when the explosion occurred. No deputies were injured seriously.

There were indications from officials — but no confirmation — that two or more men first believed to have been killed in the blast may have escaped.

Early reports from officials indicated as many as five persons could have been killed.

Human remains were so fragmented and scattered over such a large area by the blast that authorities found it difficult to determine the number of casualties.

Authorities said the trap for the thieves was arranged by William P. LaVelle, Jr., operator of the LaVelle Powder Co. Officers said they were not aware that LaVelle and his brother, Thomas, were to be present for the ambush.

So many persons with ailing plants began asking Edmund Muirhead of Fall River, Nova Scotia, what to do about them that the 57-year-old sheet metal worker converted his greenhouse to a plant hospital.

Then Muirhead said, people began bringing him plants to examine.

Muirhead, his wife and three children, all with an affection for gardening moved to Canada "on England 19 years ago. They delight in seeking new varieties of flowers and vegetables and have cross-bred begonia seed from Japan, petunias and tulips from Holland, and many subtropical plants.

Other Muirhead developments include an acid-free white tomato being tied by stomach ulcer sufferers, and a cucumber 24 inches long at maturity.

Muirhead is considering a second greenhouse and enlarging his plant hospital.

In many cases, the plant doctor for repeated rotting with proper soil and addition of nutrients, or a trimming were all that was needed to restore plants to health.

Look out for aphid infestations if you find your parked automobile or outdoor furniture spotted with "honeydew" or "tree rain."

Generally what you believe is sap oozing from trees is the result of aphids or perhaps scale insects sucking plant juices from leaves and branches of trees.

Your trees may be stunted by heavy attacks by aphids, which feed on new, tender growth and destroy the plant's vitality. Especially subject to such foraging are maples, lindens, tulip, beech, fruit trees and some pines and fir.

To control aphids, spray with a contact insecticide, such as nicotine sulphate. The solution will be more effective if you add 2 1/2 ounces of soap flakes to a gallon of water and the prescribed insecticide. The soap will aid the spreading action.

Keep Dishwashing Tools Sanitary

It's important to keep your dishwashing "tools" clean and sanitary. After each meal, wash dishes, mop, dishcloths, and wet towels in hot soap or detergent suds and hang to dry in the sun or an airy spot. Then suds-scor the sink and drainboard.

PEONIES, one of our favorites, have departed for another season. Their blooming period is short but the American Peony Society advises that the blooms of cut peonies may be preserved for over a month if, for example, you want to save them for a flower show or home display.

Cut the peonies at the most propitious time and store them at a temperature of 36 degrees. They'll keep quite a while also at temperatures up to 50 degrees.

The blooms should be chilled for several hours before being brought into a show room. This prevents wilting. Peonies are best stored with the stems 2 inches of water.

Singles, semidoubles and Japanese varieties may be cut for storage when the bud is showing color. Full double types should be cut when almost fully open.

Put them in cold storage as soon as possible after cutting, with the buds in paper bags to prevent bruising. The stems should be about 18 inches long and all foliage removed except the top leaf and at least one other leaf.

After removing the peonies from storage remove a half inch of the stem before replacing them in water. Then watch the buds open.

QUITE A STRUGGLE

Many Think Biggest Menace May Be Creeping Concrete

BY INEZ ROBB
LENOX, Mass. — There is a small group in this nation — and I don't know whether we're optimists or pessimists — that is convinced creeping concrete will destroy this nation long before nuclear fission or fusion (whichever it is that Dr. teller has decided is best for us).

Creeping concrete and leaping suburbans, two evils, are evident in the Berkshires. But they are not yet victors in this lovely landscape dominated by wooded and softly rolling green hills and meadows now fragrant with the final cutting of hay.

It is still possible in this Berkshire country, despite the filling stations and the homes, to catch poetic glimpses of the American forebears saw in its untouched, virgin beauty over 200 years ago. Here can still be seen the landscape that inspired in "My Country, 'Tis of Thee" the couplet singing of "thy rocks and rills, thy woods and templed hills."

There are still templed hills, wooded and serene; there are still rocks and rills in the meadows and in the woods along their perimeter. It is amazing how much wooded land remains from our inheritance. It feasts the eye from the concrete highways that will someday be the death of it, as they lead the expanding population into the countryside.

Woodland and cultivated fields are at peace with each other on the last two-thirds of the New York Thruway that leads from New York City to the Massachusetts Turnpike just south of Albany. Rural beauty and quiet lie on each side of the concrete ribbon.

However, the manufacturing plants springing up along this arterial highway are a harbinger of the doom to which this landscape is already sentenced.

Perhaps, with luck, the countryside has another 25 years before it is lost in the progress of concrete, factories and suburbs. Perhaps one more generation can glimpse the beauty that nature built into the glorious Hudson River Valley and into New England.

Near Albany, the Hudson is still a rural river, if a mighty one, flowing between green banks and small towns, often dominated by the white spire of a classic old New England church.

Despite the concrete that grows wider and penetrated deeper into the countryside year by year, there is still a placidity to the landscape that leads the eye on and on to the last rim of pale-blue mountains in the distance.

The Berkshires lack the grandeur of the Rockies. But then, the Rockies lack the peace that passes understanding that is so often part of this gentler landscape. One doesn't feel he has to go out and climb a 13,000-foot hill "just because it's there." The only challenge here is that of beauty, and the challenge to preserve at least a bit of it to calm and delight the souls of future generations.

The hay is down, the corn is in the field and the apples are still to be picked. And the flowers are riotous in every farmyard. This is as things should be during the last week of summer.

There is only one disturbing event. Even as "the swift seasons roll," it is senseless of the maples to rush autumn and repudiate summer. Throughout this area there are maples that are now not only yellow but fiery red.

Not many, granted. Just one every mile or so, but enough to set the rest of the woods on fire and to remind us that no matter how we cling to summer, it is already gone with the gentle breeze riffling the scarlet leaves of that young and inexperienced maple.

QUESTION: Why is "hamburger" called that when it isn't made of ham?

ANSWER: Hamburgers have nothing to do with ham; they are made of ground beef. They are a miniature form of a ground-meat dish which came to be called hamburger steak. Some cooking experts say that hamburger was first heard of around 1900. But the Boston Journal in 1886 gives this recipe: "We take a chicken and boil it, when it is cold we cut it up as they do meat to make hamburger steak."

There is little doubt that the name hamburger steak is connected with the town of Hamburg in Germany. There is a special breed of small domestic chickens with blue legs and rose combs called the Hamburg, from the town where it either originated or was developed. No doubt these chickens were chopped up to make hamburger steak. Hamburg is a great world trading port. Probably because of trade with America and the fact that Americans particularly like meat, hamburger steak began to appear everywhere here. Then came hamburgers.

FOR YOU TO DO: Here is a simple cheeseburger recipe to try on your friends. First pat out the hamburgers and cook them on both sides. Then place on bottom half of bun, lay a slice of tomato on top, and then a slice of cheese. Now put this under the broiler until the cheese melts. Then add top of bun. (Better be prepared for seconds.)

(John Bonsum of Chillicothe, Mo., wins the daily grand prize of a 20-volume set of World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, and you may win a set too.)

Boyle Not Marching On Washington

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—At the risk of being an individual, I've decided not to march on Washington this Wednesday.

When it comes to criticizing the government, I yield to no man. But I'd rather sustain it at a distance than march upon it. The best government is the one you're farthest from. I'd rather send it my money than lend it my presence.

Obviously, many other people don't feel that way. It appears that everybody who doesn't have anything else to do is going to march on Washington Wednesday — too late to see the cherry trees in bloom and too early to admire the frost on Lincoln's metal beard.

"See you at the barricades on Pennsylvania Avenue," my friends have been telling me. I doubt that they will. In fact, I'm sure they won't.

One of the things that puzzles me about the march on Washington is that I can no longer figure out the reason why. It began as a racial protest but it now appears as a walk of sustainment. Everybody who is either for or against whatever government policy we do or don't have seems determined to march for or against it.

This situation leaves me confused. I sense a logical emptiness. When it comes to the expression of free enterprise, I yield to no man. But at the price of considerable soul searching, I have reviewed the government's relations with the federal government and reached my own conclusion.

I have decided that the government's purpose is to run the country and my duty to it is to pay my taxes. It appears to me that my obligation ends there.

I neither dislike nor approve of the government enough to march upon Washington. To me it's a dull place in August, and I'd just as soon be somewhere else like here.

After looking at the whole situation from every angle, I've decided what to do.

I've decided to make a personal sit-down strike against the protest-appraisal march to Washington. I've decided to stay home, open another can of beer, read about it in the newspapers and watch the whole thing on television.

School Closes In Virginia

SURRAY, Va. (AP)—A private, segregated school system will replace Surry County's public school for white children. Seven Negroes have been assigned to the school for the fall term. The county school board decided Saturday to close the school which a year ago had 431 students. The board was told that at least that many white students had registered for the private schools, organized this summer.

Surry County's two Negro public schools will open this fall. There were 1,270 students in the schools last year.

Manila Bandits Kill

MANILA (AP)—Bandits hacked five guards to death today and made off with a half million pesos — about $125,000 — in cash and checks from the government rice and corn administration.

Police said the victims were herded into a room of the administration building in the city, tied up and killed with an axe.

Miller Finds Better Days With Dodgers

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
For a guy who came very near to being a record-breaking loser for baseball's longest team, Bob Miller has come a long way in a year. He's now a bullpen star for a club driving to a pennant.

The 24-year-old right-hander picked up another victory Sunday as the Los Angeles Dodgers boosted their National League lead to six games with a 2-1 decision over Milwaukee.

Miller came on in the ninth inning after the Braves had pulled into a tie against Sandy Koufax, got the third out, and became a winner when Doug Camilli singled in a Dodger run in the last of the inning.

Miller went from starter to full-time reliever two weeks ago and has been a good one. He's allowed just one run in 23 innings over seven games, has run his record to 9-8, and has been credited with two saves with a 2-1 decision over Milwaukee.

Murphy Hits Clutch Homer

By The Associated Press
If you want to win baseball games it's nice to have clutch hitters like Danny Murphy on your side. Murphy belted a two-run homer with two out in the bottom of the 10th inning Sunday night to lead Oklahoma City to a 4-2 Pacific Coast League victory over Salt Lake City's Bees.

In other PCL action, the Hawaii Islanders blanked Northern Division leader Spokane 4-0. Tacoma's Giants split a pair with the San Diego Padres with the Padres taking the opener 3-2 and the Giants the nightcap 5-3. Dallas-Forth Worth took a pair from Denver 6-2 and 2-0, and the Portland Beavers took a doubleheader from Seattle's Rainiers 5-2 and 3-2.

In the opener at Fort Worth, Gary Dotter pitched a five-hitter and Ray Jablonski hit his 24th homer to lead the Rangers to victory. In the nightcap, Cesar Tovar drove in both Ranger runs with a third-inning homer.

Downing Always Seeks No-Hitter

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
"Actually, I try for a no-hitter every game I pitch. That's the way you win, by hot letting them hit."

That's Al Downing's pitching philosophy, and the 22-year-old New York Yankee left-hander lived it religiously. He has flirted with no-hitters, and even perfect games, all season.

Twice Downing had gone to the seventh inning before giving up a hit. Sunday he went to the eighth—an error spoiled a perfect game with two out in the seventh—before Ron Hansen slapped a lead-off single over second base for the first hit.

Downing finished with a two-hit 4-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox in the opener of a doubleheader. White Sox southpaw Gary Peters won the second game, 2-1 in 12 innings, for his 10th straight and second in a row over the Yankees.

The split left the Yanks 11½ games in front in the American League.

Minnesota moved into sole possession of second by whipping the Baltimore Orioles 5-3 in 10 innings. The White Sox are 12 games back, the Orioles 12½.

Cleveland beat the Boston Red Sox 2-1 in 15 innings in the second game, after the Red Sox had won the opener 8-3.

The Detroit Tigers completed the sweep of a five-game series with Kansas City, 11-5 and 4-3. Washington tripped the Los Angeles Angels 4-1.

Texas Loop Heads For Hot Fight

By The Associated Press
The Texas League race rolls into its final two weeks with a hot fight on for first place producing frayed tempers.

Things got warm indeed at Tulsa Sunday night when San Antonio beat off an attempt by the Oilers to move into a tie for the lead. Four Oilers, including manager Grover Resinger, were thumped out and six policemen had to jump around for an hour to keep a mob from getting to the umpires.

San Antonio won 8-5 as Aaron Pointer clubbed a three-run homer in the top of the ninth. Pitcher Leo Vickery and catcher Chris Krug were chased as they violently protested calls on some of the pitches. The umpires were showered with pop bottles and cushions.

San Antonio moved back two games ahead of Tulsa, which was tied for second place by Austin. The latter edged El Paso 3-2.

With little more than a dozen games to go, the playoff clubs appear pretty well set, but not the order in which they may finish. There are only 4½ games between fourth place El Paso and leading San Antonio.

Rico Cart's triple drove in Sonny Kopacz with the winning run as Austin nosed out El Paso, 3-2. A 4-2-1 engineered a double play in the ninth to keep El Paso at bay.

Amarillo beat Albuquerque 3-2 in 10 innings with Ron Campbell slugging a triple to drive in the winning run. Dick Burwell went the route and pitched a fivehitter. Jim Ward also tolled the entire lineup for Albuquerque, giving up nine hits.

Eastern Division champion Giants, the Vikings' third straight triumph. Oakland exploded for 27 points in the final quarter to complete a 43-16 rout of the New York Jets in the only Sunday American Football League exhibition.

The combined attendance of 58,150 at the two NFL games along with 128,341 who watched five Saturday exhibitions boosted the league's attendance to a whopping 694,189 for 20 pre-season dates. There are 13 remaining.

In Saturday's NFL games, rookie Grady Ward kicked a field goal with six seconds left for the difference in Baltimore's 17-14 triumph over Pittsburgh at Atlanta, Ga.; Green Bay's mighty Packers won their third straight, blasting the Chicago Bears 26-7 at Milwaukee; Philadelphia romped over Washington 41-13 at Charlotte, N.C.; Detroit rallied for all its points in the second period and beat St. Louis 22-17 at Omaha and the Los Angeles Rams edged Dallas 20-17 at Portland, Ore.

In the American League, the hopeful Biens beat Boston 2-1 at Buffalo, the Patriots' fourth straight loss.

The Browns, who have been troubled by injuries to their offensive line, held only a 7-0 halftime lead before the bulky Brown popped his surprise on the first play from scrimmage in the second half. He hit the swift Renfro with a shot on the 49er's 20, far behind the nearest San Francisco defender as the defensive unit converged to stop an expected running game.

He also scored on a 2-yard plunge and a nine-yard dash around end.

The Browns pass could become a fixture in coach Blanton Collier's plans. Brown passed only three times last season, completing one of them, but the pass-run option—as developed in the pro ranks by New York's Frank Gifford—is becoming much more popular this season.

The play, which puts enormous pressure on the defensive corner man, also is being tried by Tom Matte of Baltimore, Rome's Bull of Chicago, Tim Brown of Philadelphia, Dick Hook of Pittsburgh, John David Crow of St. Louis, Tom Moore and Jim Taylor of Green Bay and Billy Barnes of Washington, among others.

The toss by big Jim was the highlight of the game.

The season of the 49ers, who lost their third straight, was a mixture of offense and defense. Trier delivered secondary, subject to some criticism in the first couple of games, picked off three passes by John Brodie of the 49ers, who lost their third straight.

Another highlight of tomorrow night's session will be a showing of a color film of the Green Bay Packers' 1962 victory over the Giants game for the National Football League championship.

All men interested in sports have been urged to attend the Tuesday night meeting.

U. S. Pair Hits Stride

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston, America's top tennis players, definitely have cemented their double partnership and declared they're ready for more Davis Cup competition.

"We feel we've found ourselves as a doubles team," McKinley said Sunday after the pair beat top-seeded Mexicans Rafael Osuna and Antonio Palafox 6-4, 6-5, 6-3, 11-9 for the national doubles title.

McKinley and Ralston beat the Mexicans for the doubles crown here two years ago, but lost to the same tandem both in the doubles and the Davis Cup American tennis playoffs in 1962.

Their doubles victory over Wimbledon champions Osuna and Palafox was the key to the recent U.S. triumph in the American Zone Davis Cup semifinals in Los Angeles.

Quarterback Session Set

The Snyder Quarterback Club has scheduled its first meeting of the season for Tuesday night.

The session will get underway at 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

A nominating committee will make its report, after which officers for 1963-64 will be elected. Plans also will be launched for initial activities of the club, such as the watermelon feed the club holds each year for football players.

Another highlight of tomorrow night's session will be a showing of a color film of the Green Bay Packers' 1962 victory over the Giants game for the National Football League championship.

All men interested in sports have been urged to attend the Tuesday night meeting.

Mantle Getting In Shape For Series

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Under the New York Yankees' master plan, Mickey Mantle will do little or no playing the rest of the season—but will devote the last five weeks to getting himself into prime condition for the World Series in October.

Manager Ralph Houk said as much in an interview with The Associated Press today concerning Mantle's future.

"I'd like for Mantle to play a little in September," Houk said, "and there is a possibility that he may. However, I am not going to take any chances with that loose cartilage of his."

"It's there and it can pop at any time—just by getting out of the dugout, even."

"Frankly, I am more interested in getting Mickey in shape for the World Series. This is my prime objective, my master plan."

Mantle, except for several pinch-hit appearances, has been out of the Yankee lineup since June 5, when he broke a bone in his left foot climbing the center field wall in Baltimore's Municipal Stadium.

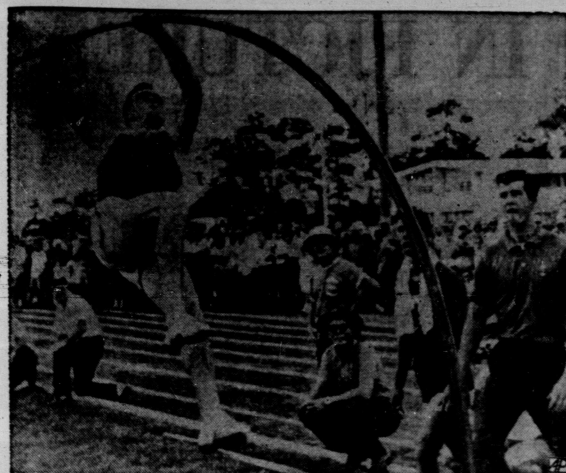

He was hitting .308 at the time. The foot has healed, but another injury in the form of a loose cartilage in his left knee was discovered in the meantime. This is what has kept the Yankees' sizz gun out of the line-up.

"Naturally I'd love to have Mantle in the line-up," said Houk. "But he's simply not ready."

"The foot appears completely healed, and the knee is gradually getting better. But it's slow progress, and there's always a danger that something might happen to set him back."

The loss of Mantle was expected to greatly damage the Yankees' chances of repeating as American League champions. Happily for Houk and his men, it hasn't turned out that way. The Yankees were in first place by a few percentage points but trailed the Orioles by one-half a game when Mickey was sidelined.

Instead of losing ground, the Yankees, in an all-out team effort, have spread-eagled the rest of the field. In 84 games without their No. 1 slugger, the Yankees have won 56 and lost 28, a .667 percentage.

Brown Adds Passing To His Grid Routine

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
It may be the dirtiest trick since the invention of the mousetrap.

As every defensive football player knows, the only thing to do when Jimmy Brown has the ball is for five or six or seven of you to rush up and maybe if enough of you get there you can knock him down. Maybe.

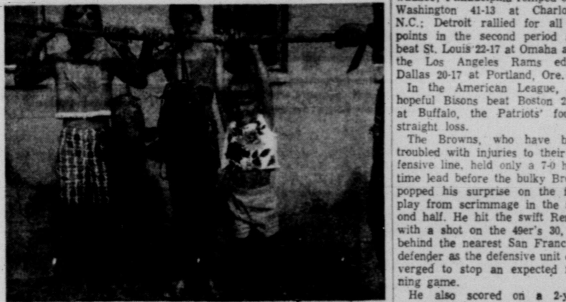

But now, when you start clumping up there by platoon fronts, he's throwing the ball. Absolutely unfair.

The 230-pound bull of a fullback for the Cleveland Browns, probably the most feared runner in the National Football League, picked up 88 yards in 13 rushing attempts and ran for two touchdowns in Sunday's 24-7 exhibition rout of the San Francisco 49er's.

That's just a routine sort of performance for the five-time rushing leader. But he also tossed a pass to fleet Ray Renfro that went for 80 yards and another touchdown. He also caught three passes for another 19 yards.

The passing bit is a little unusual for the hard-running Brown, but follows a general trend in the league which leans more and more to giving the pass-run option to running backs.

A crowd of 28,335 in San Francisco watched the Browns score their first exhibition victory of the season and 29,815 were on hand in Minneapolis to witness Minnesota's impatient young Vikings score a 17-16 upset of New York

Potts Figured It Was Time To Win

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
AKRON, Ohio (AP)—"Arnold's done it to me so many times that I knew it was my turn and I had to win." Johnny Pott said after turning back the challenge of Arnold Palmer, and winning the $50,000 American Golf Classic.

Pott, a drawing, 27-year-old from Cape Girardeau, Mo., said his confidence didn't waver Sunday as he forged a closing round 35-37 for a 276 total and a four-stroke lead over Palmer.

The victory earned him $9,000 and was his first tournament triumph of the year, boosting his earnings to $23,115.

Palmer collected $4,600, which raised his 1963 earnings to $101,555, making him the first golfer to earn more than $100,000 in official money for one year.

Pott started the Classic with a 67 for a first-round tie with U.S. Open champion Julius Boros and Miller Barber. Another sub-par 68 Friday put him on top alone and a 71 Saturday gave him a one-stroke lead over Palmer, who had a sizzling 66 in the third round.

Arnie's army was out en masse Sunday in the crowd of 10,070 which trumped the magnificent 7,165-yard Firestone Country Club course, waiting for Pott to fold under Palmer pressure.

The LSU graduate, who has been on the tour for seven years with only three previous victories, refused to yield. He bogeyed the first hole and fell into a tie with Palmer, but regained his advantage with a birdie on the second hole.

Twice after that Palmer had bogeys on the front nine—like a man trying to prove himself, Pott birdied the same holes to grab a five-stroke lead.

On the ninth, Pott had a double bogey six because of a penalty stroke, leaving Palmer only three strokes behind. Pott bogeyed the 11th and the crowd began murmuring. "Here he goes," but Pott birdied the 12th, bogeyed the 13th and birdied the 14th. When Palmer bogeyed the 16th, Pott was sure of a victory.

To add to the triumph, Pott's four-round total of 276 tied the course record set by Palmer last year. Palmer shot a 37-36—73 for an even par 280.

It was strictly a two-man show on the final day. Bobby Nichols, who was one stroke behind Palmer and two behind Pott going into the fourth round, climbed to a 77 and 285 total.

Boros finished third with a 281 to earn $3,000 and Dave Hill, who was one stroke behind Palmer and two behind Pott going into the fourth round, climbed to a 77 and 285 total.

Little-used quarterback John McCormick directed the winning thrust and passed 33-yards to Gordie Smith for the big gain in the drive that overcame a 16-14 Giant lead.

Don Chandler kicked field goals of 44, 18 and 34 yards for the Giants, New York's Phil King suffered rib injuries in the game and Gifford left with a foot injury.

The Jets and Raiders were tied 16-16 going into the final quarter at Oakland before second-unit Raider quarterback Tom Flores sparked the home team explosion. He passed for two last-period touchdowns and helped set up two field goals by Mike Mercer. Mercer kicked 36 yards for the other Oakland fourth-period score.

In all, Mercer had five field goals for the day, on booms of 15, 28, 20, 18 and 40 yards and converted four touchdowns in the game.

The game attracted only 8,317 after it was shifted to Oakland from Mobile, Ala. at the last minute because of a segregation problem in the southern city.

'Balance Of Payments' Has Effect On Business; Citizens

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—A problem that even the experts differ in evaluating, let alone solving—the deficit in the U.S. balance of payments — has been dominating much of the financial and congressional news in recent days.

And it's no wonder if many ordinary citizens are stumped.

But to varying degrees the balance of payments between this country and the rest of the world is influencing.

—The cost of borrowing at the bank and the interest charges on the federal debt—paid in the long run by the citizen taxpayer.

—The amount of U.S. economic and military aid Congress will vote for other nations.

—The protection of the gold reserves that guarantee the good name of the dollar in world monetary capitals.

—The U.S. tariffs that some American industries say should be raised and those of other nations that the U.S. government is protesting because they keep American products out.

In all of these there are other factors—economic stresses, sectional goals or problems, domestic politics or international conflicts.

But the stubborn balance of payments deficit plays a role in each.

The nation's balance of payments is roughly like your monthly bank statement.

For you it's how your deposits stack up against the checks you write. For your government it's how the receipt of dollars from abroad for American exports, return on investments, repayments of loans, and so on stack up against the dollars that go abroad for imports, foreign aid, military establishments, investments in plants or securities, travel.

Since 1958 each year has seen more dollars going out the country than came back. The deficit was a little lower last year, but it's still above $2 billion, but it has spiked again this year. To combat this building up surplus dollars abroad that could be turned in for U.S. gold if foreigners get worried about the future worth of Yankee dollars, the U.S. government through its various agencies:

—Raised the interest on short-term loans. This tends to keep investment funds at home but also raises the carrying charge on the growing federal debt as well as tending to make business borrowing more expensive—and conceivably could spill over into long-term borrowings such as mortgages and school bond issues.

—Tried to increase the existing surplus of U.S. exports over imports. This flared into the chicken war when the European Common Market boosted the levy on American frozen turkeys—and, on the other side of the coin, led the steel industry to protest that foreign American tariffs led foreign steel flood local markets while American steel export markets have been lost.

—Asked a tax on the purchase by Americans of foreign securities from foreigners—bitterly opposed by many financial interests in hearings before congress.

And the fact that foreign aid usually approximates or exceeds the U.S. deficit in the balance of payments has been a strong talking point for its opponents.

Foreign aid is tied closely to U.S. international and defense policies. But it probably would win few popularity contests with taxpayers. So the balance of payments deficit gives Congress a good excuse for cutting it.

KILLS ROACHES ANTS

3008 8TH AVE. ROADWAY

DON'T REACH FOR THE SPRAY—Do you realize that when you use a spray insecticide in your kitchen you are covering all surfaces . . . food, cabinets, dishes, stove, etc., with a poison? Don't endanger your health when it is so simple to control cockroaches and ants, the modern, clean, and sanitary way . . . with Johnston's No-Roach. Brush No-Roach just where you want it . . . around cabinets, on baseboards, under the sink, across sills, etc. No need to move dishes or food. No-Roach dries quickly to form a colorless, odorless coating that kills all bugs that walk across it, and that stays effective for months to prevent new infestation. No-Roach is economical because one bottle lasts for months. A plastic squirt bottle is free with the pint size of No-Roach. In Snyder No-Roach is available at Furr's, Sunbeam, Piggly Wiggly, B & B, Safeway, Rainbow and all leading grocery stores.
