Flapper Flier Falls From Sky But Is Unhurt

Elinor Smith, Seeking To Break Record Of Ruth Nichols', Drops 23,000 Feet

(By The Associated Press)

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Mar. 27.—Miss Elinor Smith, Long Island's flapper flier, dropped 23,000 feet while unconscious in an airplane today, but landed the plane with only slight damage and no injury to herself.

Elinor Smith

She was attempting to regain the women's altitude record from Miss Ruth Nichols and had attained a height of 25,000 feet, about 5,000 feet short of her goal. She was over New York City when the motor stalled. By expert maneuvering she brought it down in a field. The plane overturned and the propeller and cowling over the motor were damaged. A severe headache caused by her oxygen tank becoming disconnected in the wild descent was Miss Smith's only ill effect.

"I got to 25,000 feet in just about 30 minutes," she said.

"We were going along like a house on fire, when zowie—it was all over. I though first of the gas. But I found I still had some. I had my safety belt off and as I leaned back I must have slipped a screw in the oxygen tank. The next think I knew my head felt like it was all swelled up.

"I looked at the altimeter and found I had dropped 23,000 feet. "I looked out and saw the reservoir near Rockville Center beneath me. I tried to make Mitchell Field, but saw I couldn't. I was getting closer and closer to the ground when I saw a field beneath me.

"I didn't have time to put my belt on but I threw off my helmet and goggles so I wouldn't get cut from them. Then she went over and there I was. I had on an extra heavy padded flying suit."

Heavy Damage Seen In Blizzard

Fear Felt Over Section For Livestock While Damage To Fruit Is Unestimated

NORTHERLY gales of a late March blizzard marked a trail of snow and ice across the Panhandle and South Plains Thursday severest March weather in many years and leaving an unestimated damage toll to fruit and livestock. The storm apparently broke after noon Thursday.

The storm, according to many old timers here at the calf, pig and meat show Thursday was the worst at this time of the year remembered on the South Plains.

Partially Destroyed

A large anticipated fruit crop most of which was in full bloom on the South Plains and lower territory was partially destroyed and several reports told of loss of livestock in the ranch country to the west of Lubbock.

In Lubbock the temperature dropper to twelve degrees above zero, a mark recorded only one other time this winter. Numerous water pipes were reported frozen throughout the city and scores of cars were brought in with frozen radiators.

Although temperatures almost as low were expected over the area last night, rising temperatures and clear weather were forecast for Saturday.

Six Above Is Lowest

Pampa and Canadian to the north reported the lowest temperatures, that of 6 above zero. Amarillo had a minimum of 7 degrees and other marks over the Panhandle and South Plains ranged from those marks to 18 above Friday night. Littlefield reported 8 above.

Amarillo reported traffic slowed up by snow drifts which were several inches in depth. Highway traf-

Calf Club Judging Results Will Be Announced While Pigs Will Be Judged During The Forenoon

Praise Is Given

Attendants At First Annual Affair Declare That Show Is Largest Event Of Its Kind Held In Section

CLOSING day of Lubbock's first annual Fat Calf, Pig and Cured Meat show, is today at the South Plains fair grounds, with judging of pigs for the morning and the sale of all club animals in the afternoon by Colonel Earl Gartin.

Judging in the calf club will be announced today. Also the winning in the pig show.

There were 141 calves listed in the show up to last night and 101 pigs.

Seats All Filled

Yesterday's attendance in spite of the cold weather, was large. The Hereford sale attracted around 500 or more people, the seats being all filled and a large number standing.

Those in attendance declare the sale was "unusual" both for the high average price and for other conditions at this time. The auctioneer, Col. Earl Gartin, who makes many sales each year, declared last night he was more than well pleased with the results.

"It was a wonderful show," he stated. "The prices were much better than I had expected."

Auction Scheduled

This afternoon the animals will be sold at auction. Many buyers were on hand yesterday afternoon looking over the stock and seeking to decide which ones they would bid for.

The cured meat show attracted many Lubbock women. Lectures on meat cuts were given by Roy Snyder, meat specialist, during the day.

Hundreds of out-of-town people drove through the cold to attend the shows.

A. L. Smith, superintendent of the calf show, said the animals were of exceptional type and well fed out. He complimented the club boys on their splendid work.

Charles Martin, Jr., Tulia, won the grand championship and the senior calf title. Ben Weil, of Plainview, was accorded the junior title. Ben exhibited the only shorthorn animal in the show.

R. M. Regenbrecht, hog show superintendent, reported 101 animals in the pens with several more

Importance Of Better Meats Given Stress

Three Hundred Attend Banquet Friday Evening At Hilton; Improvement Of Industry Is Urged

Three hundred people of Lubbock, the South Plains and Texas gathered around the banquet board at the Hilton hotel Friday night to commemorate the beginning of a movement that is destined to revolutionize the meat and cattle industry of the southwest, that of demanding "quality meats."

The banquet, known as the "Quality Meats Banquet" was one of the features of the first annual fat calf, pig and cured meat show being held here and visitors and honored guests included many who came here to take part in the program.

Improvements Urged

Throughout the entire program, presided over by Mayor J. J. Clements, speakers stressed the importance of creating better meats for the consumer, the standardization of the products and feeder-breeder movement in Texas.

"We want Texas steaks for Texas people. We want Texas to get away from producing raw products alone and start turning out the finished goods," declared Frank P. Holland of Dallas, president of the Texas Feeder-Breeder association and the principal speaker on the program. He told of the organization of the association and the efforts being put forth to turn Texas products back into Texas and the Southwest.

Short Talks Given

Mr. Holland's address was preceded by a number of short talks.

"You're in a wonderful country out here and a new country," Mr. Holland said, as he went on to tell of the possibilities offered in the work of his association. He quoted figures on how much cattle Texas ships out to other states each year to be finished for the market and of the millions of dollars of products

Wife Found In Room Of Chauffeur At 4 a. m.

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—Crazed by jealousy over his wife's actions, a coroner's jury decided today, Lieutenant Commander Emory Winship, U. S. N., retired, followed the time-worn code of honor of fighting men and killed himself rather than to face disgrace.

His story of how he found his attractive young wife in the bedroom of her chauffeur Friday, March 13, after a party in which drinks were freely served was told by two witnesses today.

Takes Own Life

For a week he brooded silently over impending disgrace, during which he was driven by "mad impulses to take two or more lives." Then he shot himself last Saturday as the "only way out."

Both the widow and her chauffeur, Ray McGunigle, denied improper relations existed between them, explaining Mrs. Dorothy Winship had gone to call her chauffeur at 4 o'clock in the morning and they were standing in the doorway to his room when the former naval officer saw them.

Mrs. Winship said she called the chauffeur then because she could "no longer stand his (Winship's) continual drinking" and had decided to leave.

Actress Is Figure

Questioned whether the demands of Miss Helen Thompson, former motion picture actress, and former friend of Winship, might have contributed to the suicide, Joseph W. Preston, jr., testified the former naval officer was not particularly worried over her attitude.

"He considered her demands

Bond Issue Is Carded Monday

All Efforts To Amend State Highway Issue Fail; Vote To Set Measure Special Order Monday

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 27. — All efforts to amend the $200,000,000 state wide highway bond issue resolution were repulsed again today and the senate, still at logger-heads, voted to set the resolution as special order for Monday morning.

Seven amendments were proposed during the day. One of them, by Senator Poage of Waco, was adopted as an amendment to one by Senator Moore of Greenville, left pending. The Poage amendment would place refund bonds on the same basis as original bonds.

Senator Woodruff this afternoon offered an amendment to cut the total of the bond issue to $112,000,000. It was tabled on a vote of 17 to 12.

Senator Small of Wellington proposed in an amendment to spread the payments to counties over a period of 13 years. The amendment also was voted down.

University Probe Witnesses Will Start Testimony Monday

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 27. (AP) The board of regents of Oklahoma university late today studied a sheaf of affidavits and other papers relating to conditions at the school before voting to transfer their investigation to Norman, university seat, and postpone the calling of witnesses until Monday.

The investigation was called by Governor Murray after he had obtained affidavits he said contained evidence of "flagrant immorality" and misuse of funds, from Alva McDonald, former federal officer, in a secret campus inquiry.

Officers Told That Chicago Is "Nice Town"

Fred Burke, America's Most Dangerous Criminal, Jokes With Captors; Refuses To Talk About Crimes

(By The Associated Press)

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 27. — Seven Chicago officers today grilled Fred Burke, regarded as the country's most dangerous criminal, only to learn he considered Chicago a "nice town" and had visited it frequently, but refused to do so again except through extradition.

The man charged with lining up seven Chicago gangsters St. Valentine's day, 1929, and mowing them down with a stream of machine gun fire, assumed an attitude of cool apathy. He admitted his identity but refused to answer questions about a half dozen slayings.

To Interview Wife

Harry Ditchburne, assistant state's attorney, abandoned questioning of the prisoner today and left for Kansas City to interview Burke's 20-year old wife.

To Illinois authorities Mrs. Burke reiterated the story she had told Kansas City police—that she knew nothing of the alleged criminal activities of her husband, whom she married as Richard F. White. She announced her intention of coming to St. Joseph tonight or tomorrow to see him.

Tension Break Brings Moody, Penn Together

Committee Chairman Resents Remarks Made By Speaker; Starts At Moody Fiercely With Fists Doubled

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 27. — Frayed nerves and ruffled tempers engendered by long, hard-fought resistance of a group of East Texans to curtailment of proration in their new found oil field, broke pent up tension today in the hearing before the railroad commission on the proposal to prorate all Texas' oil bearing areas.

Robert R. Penn, chairman of the state central proration committee, whose duty it is to recommend ratable takings for the various fields, resented what he said was an inference of untruthfulness on his part from the lips of Dan Moody, former governor and leading counsel for the anti-prorationists.

Knocks Over Chair

Penn left the stand he had occupied as a witness for many weary hours and knocked over a chair in a rush for Moody, doubled his fists and offered to fight but members of the railroad commission and others interceded.

The Penn-Moody mix-up came after the two had but a minute before had been bantering each other good naturedly, Moody having recalled in his questioning that he and Penn had lived boys together in Taylor.

Moody wanted to know if there was any law to provide for the creation of the local advisory committee that had suggested nominations to the central committee, and Penn had said he was not a lawyer and could not say.

Appeals To Chairman

Moody appealed to Chairman Terrell to force Penn to answer yes

Witness Says Vision Chased

Former Traffic Officer Heard In Lingle Murder Trial On Friday; Declares That He Chased A "Vision"

(By The Associated Press)

CRIMINAL COURTS BUILDING, CHICAGO, March 27. — The Leo Brothers murder trial took an unexpected, fantastic turn today when a South Park police officer, stationed near the place where Lingle was assassinated, testified that at the time he was chasing the supposed slayer of Lingle, he was following a "vision."

Anthony Ruthy, former traffic officer now attached to the state's attorney's office, told a hushed court room he had had "visions" ever since he suffered a head injury in 1924 and that they took the form of "everybody in general — from the good Lord down."

Mentally Unbalanced

Assistant State's Attorney Wayland Brooks warned the attorneys and the court that the man was mentally unbalanced and that the state would not produce him as its own witness because it would not vouch for him.

"Didn't you identify Frankie Foster as the man you chased?" Ruthy was asked by defense attorney Louis Piquett.

"No, he was the vision I saw that day," Ruthy replied. He later said his mind was "absolutely blank" on the day he looked at Foster.

ASPERMONT, March 27. (AP) — Selection of a jury to try Homer Altman, charged with murder for the slaying of Sam Tanner, 58, at the Tanner ranch 18 miles southwest of Aspermont on Feb. 25, was completed late today.

Submission of testimony began after a brief recess.

Tanner was shot to death while standing in a hog pen on his ranch. Altman, a former tenant on the Tanner place, was arrested the next day near Tatum, N. M. His attorneys indicated he would plead defense of his home.

Poor Italian Wagers $2.50; Collects Million And Half On Aintree Race

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, March 27. — The thunder of hoofs at Aintree echoed like golden music in the little Italian village of Isola, where live forty relatives of Emilio Scala, winner of the first prize of $1,772,730 in the Irish hospital sweepstakes at the Grand National today.

Scala, who came to London thirty years ago and wheeled an ice cream barrow until he was able to buy the little coffee shop he owns, managed to purchase at $2.50 ticket in the sweapstakes and then offered to let his home town relatives buy pieces of it.

They all sent Emilo something, although they are poor and a few cents was all they could afford.

Scala sold half of his ticket to a syndicate for $50,000. He retained a small share himself and his wife has a quarter share.

The second prize, amounting to $386,360, was also a family affair, although there were not so many participants.

C. C. Woods, of Buffalo, N. Y., shared the second prize with his wife, his brother and his two brothers-in-law.

The third prize, worth over $500,000, went to George Dyamond, a south African public house keeper, who announced that he would travel around the world.

The favorite in the race, Easter Hero, fell the second time around at Becher's Brook, but the man who held the ticket on the horse wins over $80,000 just the same. He is Robert Berkley, 60-year old colliery weighman, and before the race he sold a fourteen-fifteenths share is his ticket for that amount.

Farmer Not Expected To Live After Accidental Shooting

Mr. Burson, a cripple, had been shooting through the window at sparrows when he fell towards it, dropping the .22 calibre rifle which was discharged. The bullet entered his abdomen and has not been removed. Doubt was expressed that he would recover.

English Teacher Will Be Introduced At Informal Reception Tonight

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

HERE is another note for the Flower Exchange: Mrs. H. W. Diebel, 1938 Avenue E, has johnny jump-ups, pinks and larkspurs which she will give away. She is particularly anxious to get rid of the johnny jump-ups within the next few days as they are "taking her place."

OUR OPPORTUNITY

MOST people are less provincial today than they were in the period before it was as easy to travel as it is today, but there are few of us who are not interested in people from other parts of the world. Tonight we are going to have a visitor in Lubbock whose presence is expected to arouse considerable interest. She is Miss Dorothy Gandine of England, an exchange teachers in the San Antonio schools.

Miss Gandine is spending a year in San Antonio and some teacher from that place is spending a year in England. This is the exchange method which is fostered by the English Speaking Union and the American Association of University Women. Seven foreign teachers are in the United States this year and seven teachers from this country are in other countries teaching.

The benefits of these exchange methods can't be listed because some of them are so intangible and there are so many, but a few of them are obvious. So much of friendship between people is based on acquaintanceship and a teacher who spends a year in a community is going to have a much broader knowledge of a country than a casual tourist who goes about looking at the points of principal interest. And students are going to have much deeper knowledge of a country if their teacher is from that country.

One who sits in a class room with Miss Gandine for nine months surely has a more intimate and lasting knowledge of England in its various phases than one who learns of the country simply from the printed page.

Miss Gandine is making a short visit in Lubbock through the international relations unit of the American Association of University Women, but her presence should hold home interest. Women who attended the state meeting of the A. A. U. W. last fall thought she was one of the most interesting of the conference visitors.

OUR THIEVING

THERE have always been stories about the men who were tortured crazy by constantly dripping water or some other continuous menace. And now I'm getting plenty exasperated over these thieves who are out every night. Something should be done about them, but I don't know what, even though I have a few theories.

A lot of other people are being driven to the point of desperation, also, and some of these nights we're going to hear of some youngster getting shot if things keep on. Such episodes usually end in tragedy and this one probably will be no exception because most people make some effort to defend their property. Of course, the victim may be the thief and again he may be some innocent person who happens to be caught under suspicious circumstances.

During the last week parts have been stolen from my car almost every night and it is no fun to work all day to support a pilferer who can't seem to remember that these things don't belong to him. A lot of other people are losing things, too. There is hardly a day that we do not hear of tires, wheels, various accessories, gasoline being stolen from cars parked in front of houses or in private garages.

This morning Mrs. W. W. Rix, who lives out on 21st street, was telling me that there has been considerable pilfering in that neighborhood recently and there has been some trouble out on 22nd street. Mrs. Hub Jones said that several of her friends had been annoyed by "peeping Toms". In fact, the petty thievery is now usurping the conventional preeminence of the weather as reducing.

FOR LEAKY BOTTLES

THERE are few people who have not at one time or another had a bottle of liquor leak in travelling and have, to say the least, suffered some annoyance. Here is a method that is supposed to prevent this: Wet the finger of an old kid glove slightly over the top of the bottle, after inserting the stopper firmly.

ALTHOUGH not exactly a pessimist, I'm not altogether surprised that the weather turned cold again. This may happen a few more times before summer arrives. That theory is based on the law of averages and not, as I said before, mere pessimism.

Today we've been hearing several reports about the condition of flowers that had such a good start for early spring and someone was explaining to me that "we should have known better as most o fthe directions say to keep them out of the frost until after danger of frost is over." Perhaps we should have, but then there is usually a possibility that it may not turn so cold again and then our plants would have such a good start.

* * *

It would be nice if we could have spring all at once and then spring instead of having such gorgeous days broken up with winter ones. But then another man has different ideas and we might just as well accept them.

Former Republican Leader Is To Plead Guilty To Charges

ATLANTA, Ga., March 27. (AP)—The Atlanta Constitution says John B. Dove, former state Republican central committeeman indicted today by a federal grand jury on charges of bartering and selling two federal offices, stated tonight he would plead guilty to the charges.

Dove was quoted as saying he was "going to protect the interests of those leaders of the party who have faith and confidence in me and in order to avoid bringing their names into this mess am going to go before Judge Underwood and enter my plea. I am still in politics and will continue my activities in behalf of the Republican party."

Even in hard water, dirty dishes are easy to wash

BUT before washing them, you must soften the water with Mel'o. Soap and soft water never make scum. In soft water no dirty ring forms around the dishpan. Dishes sparkle in soft water and grease is cut.

Water softened with Mel'o is a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap. Mel'o makes soap more effective, saving from ⅓ to ½ the amount ordinarily used. Use Mel'o wherever you want soft water. Get it at your grocer's.

PATENTED ROASTING PROCESS CONTROLS FLAVOR OF COFFEE

No Other Roasting Process Can Develop Such Uniform Goodness

Coffee drinking has become a joy forever to the millions who daily fill their cups with Hills Bros. Coffee. Of all coffees sold there are none that can duplicate its delicious, deep-flavored goodness.

This matchless flavor is due to the accuracy of every process from the blending to the packing of the fragrant coffee.

Of special importance is the control of the roasting process. Instead of roasting coffee in bulk—the ordinary way—only a few pounds at a time pass through the roaster in a continuous stream. The flow of coffee, speed of operation and the heat are accurately controlled. Every berry is roasted evenly by this process—Controlled Roasting—invented and patented by Hills Bros. Naturally, the resulting flavor is uniformly delicious, something that is rarely the case in bulk-roasted coffee.

As fast as Hills Bros. Coffee is roasted and ground, it is packed in vacuum. By this process, air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is taken from the can and kept out. Ordinary cans, even if air-tight, do not keep coffee fresh. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can. Sold by grocers everywhere.

It's Good For All Of Us!

LUBBOCK'S position as a Mecca for the South Plains is emphasized today, as it was yesterday, with visitors attending four separate and distinct gatherings held within the city's gates.

A throng of interested persons and exhibitors is on hand for the first annual Quality Meats show.

Club boys, county agents and their friends are here for the sale of fat pigs and fat calves.

Cattlemen and representatives of packing houses came for the Hereford sales of yesterday and are remaining over for today's sales.

Student competitors, their teachers and many friends are on hand for the annual Lubbock County Interscolastic meet—a feature of yesterday and today.

Those four important events have been running in Lubbock—all at one time. It is no wonder that the South Plains turns to Lubbock as its headquarters.

Some time when you're not busy, take down your atlas and inspect the maps of various states of the union. A survey and study of each state map will prove that no where is there a city the size of Lubbock serving a territory as large as the one Lubbock is serving.

Of course, gatherings such as there here today bring some business into town. Atop that, they create a habit of buying in Lubbock those things which the home town stores cannot and do not stock. But there is another angle—one more altruistic, which should not be overlooked.

By sponsoring various features of a territorial scope, by offering places and buildings where such gatherings can be held, Lubbock is contributing to the growth and development of the country for the benefit of every town and hamlet in the section, as well as for its own benefit. Its actions, as we see it, are not sponsored through any effort to profit from a neighbor's loss, but rather to help improve conditions for all hands.

This is a big, new country, It has a long way to go. Concentrated effort will lessen the time necessary for the South Plains to reach its peak.

Lubbock's efforts along this line, while they may engender more business, are, we believe, appreciated by every city and town in the territory.

What's good for one of us is good for all of us.

SURVIVAL OF THE PAST

Partnership in the Morgan banking firm is the great prize of American finance. No one familiar with financial affairs questions the fact that those who have been accepted as a part of its organization have arrived at the forefront of their profession. The institution remains, despite the assaults of rival combinations and the death of its founder, the most powerful banking organization in the United States, if not in the world.

Membership in the firm carries with it no good will value whatever. The amount, running into millions, that others would pay to exchange places with the holder of a membership can not under the rules of the firm be capitalized for one penny. It can not be transferred or passed on, and with the death of a member can not be listed as a material asset to be used for the benefit of the heirs.

Other customs peculiar to this firm give its head full veto power over the board, make the head the sole judge of the value of the interest in the business of a retiring member and provide for the dropping of the Morgan name within 15 years after its membership ceases to include a lineal descendant of the founder.

All of these practices are in sharp contrast to the prevailing theories in which corporate action and responsibility have so largely supplanted private control of business. No other business of comparable size and wealth is still conducted after the ancient manner. Other men may dominate large industries, but they do not have autocratic control.

Originally people were named for their professions or prominent traits, but Mayor Walker, of New York, is being invited to take a walk for another reason.

Preparedness is merely a matter of getting all the vacation letters written before leaving home so as to be free to enjoy one's self.

From all appearances the Democrats haven't lost that old fighting spirit.

Who remembers when the age of discretion was the parentage?

The hardest thing about loafing is buying things on credit.

That's a jolly bunch at Joliet.

Practical Health Problems

CELLULOSE IN DIET

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

A horse and cow eat hay and get some nourishment from it, but a human being cannot. The reason is that the cellulose of hay cannot be digested properly by the human digestive tract, and the substance is therefore passed through the intestines.

Most vegetables and fruits and whole grain cereals contain cellulose which serves to give bulk to the material in the bowel and in that way to give the intestines something to work on.

Cellulose may be sufficiently tender to be partially digested as, for example, in the form of lettuce, fruits and cooked vegetables, but in general it is not digested. Potatoes, beans, nuts and olives have some cellulose which may be utilized to a certain extent in the body, but in the majority of instances the cellulose is not properly utilized, except for roughage.

Cellulose is a complex material built up entirely of carbohydrate. Cellulose is also found in paper obtained from wood, cotton is practically pure cellulose, and the substance is also found in large amounts in bran. When water acts on cellulose, it may swell it up somewhat, increasing its bulk still further.

Few people realize the danger of a diet containing too much cellulose. Such a diet interferes with digestion of the useful materal, and it may irritate a sensitive intestinal tract to the extent of causing an erosion or inflammation.

Bran, rice and wheat contain vitamins which may be of great value to the human body. Hence a certain amount of bran is desirable in order to provide the necessary vitamins. However, nature has seen to it that the vitamins of which we know are available in many forms, and it is not necessary to overload the intestines with roughage to secure a sufficient amount of any one vitamin.

The various Vitamin B components are found in the bran of cereals and in the embrayo of cereals as well. It is safer not to be misled by superlative claims for any one type of food substance, but to eat a widely varied diet which is likely to provide all of the essentials that may be necessary.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

Purpose Considered

(The first of a series of two articles on whether postal rates should be increased.)

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 27.—What is the postoffice's prime purpose? To make money?—or at worst to break even? Or is it a public service—not to be run wastefully, of course, but well worth paying for, even to the tune of some annual millions "in the red," reckoning in dollars and cents and nothing else?

Postmaster General Walter F. Brown holds that his department at least "should be self-sustaining," and recently asked congress for an increase in the first-class letter rate to 2.5 cents an ounce to help him make it so.

He failed to get it. Representative Clyde Kelly of Pennsylvania, a majority member of the postoffice committee and generally recognized as the best-informed legislator on Capitol Hill concerning all questions relative to Uncle Sam's mails, expressed his doubt whether a single one of his fellow lawmakers could be found to sponsor or approve such an increase, and none contradicted him.

Nevertheless, the subject has not been dropped. It was announced through the "White House spokesman" some time prior to adjournment of congress that President Hoover himself is alarmed by "the steadily mounting postal deficit," and wants a congressional committee to decide what rates should be advanced to fatten the department's revenues.

POSTMASTER GENERAL BROWN states the case compactly for the administration.

"It is no more logical," he says, "to expect the government to transport and deliver private mail for less than cost than it would be to ask a telegraph or telephone company to furnish communication service at less than cost. The only practical solution appears to be an increase in the rate on first-class mail."

The postmaster general specifies the first-class for the obvious reason that it is a government monopoly. Second and third-class matter, under a higher postal rate, might be diverted to bus and express companies, or to new private services, organized especially to handle it. Uncle Sam denies to all other than himself the right to transmit letters in the premier classification.

Parcel post rate increases also are strongly urged from administration sources. This service, indeed, always has been a heavy expense to the department, and it is no particular secret that Postmaster General Brown would not be sorry to see it returned to private carriers.

NOW HEAR Congressman Kelly.

"The postal service," says the Pennsylvanian, "is a part of the American educational system far more than it is a part of our business system. A money balance no more decides its true worth than it decides the worth of a public school. It pays dividends not primarily in dollars and cents, but in better citizenship.

"The transmission of messages, governmental information and the dissemination of intelligence are so vital to a highly organized society that it must be in the hands of the government, representing the people themselves. Its value is in the past and the present and the future, as the cementing force which binds a country into a community and a nation into a neighborhood. It pays dividends more vital than money.

"If congress thought it wise to provide a free mail, it has the same power to do so as to build a lighthouse.

"I do not mean to say that financial considerations should be entirely forgotten, but postal charges are made as low as possible, that the service may be as wide as possible. The first consideration is service. The charge is secondary. The true objective is to furnish the most complete and useful postal facilities which can be devised, and to do so whether the postal revenues meet the full cost or whether the general treasury is chargeable with part of the expense."

WITHOUT referring directly to Postmaster General Brown, "Occasionally," continues Congressman Kelly, "we find that a postmaster general has become imbued with the idea of making the postoffice self-sustaining.

"In 1859 Postmaster General Joseph Holt found mail lines to the Pacific operating at a great loss. He sought to do away with them. Congress counteracted his policy—and in the crisis of the 60's those mail lines to the west bound that great empire to the union.

"At that time a letter sent more than 300 miles cost 10 cents. Congress fixed a uniform 3-cent rate, regardless of distance—in the face of a deficit. Within eight years postal revenues had doubled. Low rates multiplied the volume of the mail, and the increasing efficiency of postal employes absorbed it without corresponding increase in cost.

"Since 1885 many and expensive services have been added by the department—rural free delivery, parcel post, collect on delivery. Prices have advanced. Compensation has increased. Yet the unit cost of handling a letter is lower today than in 1885."

"THERE IS a certain fixed overhead," explained the congressman, "in the conduct of the postoffice. That must be met regardless of the volume of the mail. But once it is met, increased volume lowers the unit cost.

"And it also works the other way," he added, commenting on Postmaster General Brown's estimate that 2.5-cent postage stamps will add $55,000,000 to the department's revenues. "On the contrary," said the Pennsylvanian, "higher rates often mean smaller revenues.

"In 1925 the rate on souvenir post cards and private mailing cards was advanced from 1 to 2 cents, officials calculating that the increase would bring in $10,000,000 additional annually. At the first year's end the decrease was $6,000,000 and the old rate was restored in 1928."

CHAPTER XLII

"Why, they're a regular gang, aren't they?" Ginger cried. "Benito's gang. Isn't Iowa getting tough?"

But they explained that it was no gang, that Benito had been freelancing on his own account and to the horror of his countrymen. Little Angelo had taken the first train back to his mother in Chicago. He couldn't think of remaining longer in a place where such horrible crimes were committed; his mother wouldn't like it.

Pietro, on the other hand, did not wish to leave at all. He was waiting to talk it over with Ginger. He said it was a good job, and he liked it, and if Miss Ginger was willing he'd cook her spaghetti for life!

"Oh, Phil," teased Ginger, "however did you get the idea that maybe I was bored?"

Almost with consciousness itself returned the memory that Cotton was the wife of Speed.

"And I hope," she said slyly, settling herself more comfortably within Bard's arm, "that you do not feel so very badly about that."

"I don't feel badly about it at all. The only thing I regret is that my portrait painting has been so interrupted. I'm in a great hurry now to get enough money for us to get married on."

"Perhaps," she suggested brightly, "Phil will be willing to lend us some of the ransom money. It was really you who saved it for her."

But she lapsed presently into troubled thought.

"Bard," she said at last, with a sigh, "I have something to tell you. You're going to be disappointed in me, I know. But you may as well have the truth before you begin saving money."

"It sounds very terrible," he said, smiling.

"It is terrible. You see, it's like this. I'm not really what you think I am at all."

"I think you are the sweetest—"

"Yes, but listen. I'm not really sophisticated and smart and worldly as I've been letting on. Not a bit. I'm—really—I'm just the same old parsonage Ginger that I always was. You know, Bard, you can't outgrow things when you get to be my age. I'm sort of ashamed if it, in a way, but on the while it's comfortable, too."

"What do you mean, Ginger?"

"Why, being old-fashioned like I am. You know, Bard, I still say my prayers. Yes, really. Not before people—but I do. And believe me, when I get in a jam I say them in earnest! Every time I half came-to in that boat I was just praying my head off. Don't tell the others. How Eddy Jackson would laugh."

Bard's eyes were misty. He caressed her hand, presed it to his lips. He did not speak.

"And the way I pan preachers," she continued ruefully. "It's all put on. Really, I still think preachers are quite corking—nice ones, that is, like father. And Bard, don't tell this, but I don't like to see Cotton smoke. I'd much rather she didn't. But don't ever give me away, will you?"

"Is that all of the confession?"

She sighed a little. "It seemed no more than fair to tell you," she said regretfully. "But I knew you would be disappointed in me."

"But Ginger," he said laughing, "you know—to tell you the truth—I suspected it all the time."

Ginger was wordlessly amazed.

"You often gave yourself away," he went on. "Just little things that would crop out now and then."

"Oh, dear," she said. "What a frump I must be!"

Bard stood up. "Guess I'd better get at those portraits," he said. "Every hour I lay off work now is just so many days I haven't got you."

Ginger brightened. "You mean you—you are going to stick to it?" she said. "Parsonage and all?"

"Parsonage and all," he declared firmly.

But when it came to breaking the news to Eddy Jackson—dear, faithful Eddy Jackson!—tried and true friend through the harrowing vicissitudes of so many years—her happiness clouded a little. She sent every one else away and had him come, alone, and sit beside her on the bed.

"Eddy," she said, burrowing her head into the silken cushions and reaching feverishly for his hands—those kind hands that had steadied her troubled steps through so many, many ways! "Eddy, it's like this," she began. "You know how Bard is, don't you?"

"No," said Eddy. "How is he?"

"He's all right," she said, slightly disconcerted. "I mean you know how his disposition is."

"It's pretty rotten sometimes, I think," said Eddy critically.

"I mean, he is careless," said Ginger more firmly. "He's just an artist, and really, in some ways, he hasn't go so very much sense. He would just go on painting portrait after portrait—and pay for the paints and canvases himself and never ask anybody for a cent of money if I wasn't right there to nudge him. He's just got to have somebody to take care of him and remind him of things he forgets—like getting the money. Don't you see how it is?"

"Well, I don't just see it", admitted Eddy. "But if you say he hasn't got much sense, I suppose he hasn't."

"That isn't what I mean. Dear me. What I mean is that—dear, dear Eddy!—I hope you won't think for a minute that I love him or anybody half as much as I do you, who have been my friend for so many years—but if somebody doesn't marry him and take care of him, he's going to get himself into some perfectly terrible jam. And I don't think anyone else—really wants to do it—he's such a responsibility. So—I'm afraid—I'll have to."

To Ginger's utter amazement, Eddy, far from being cast down at the news, burst into hearty laughter.

"Ginger, you sly little devil," he said. "Don't you think you can go on pulling the wool over my eyes the rest of your life! I've seen through you for years! Yes, you love

"Here we are, flitterin' away our time, when we might just as well be sleepin'."

Fear Felt For Safety Of Man Thought Responsible For Death Of Pancho Villa

MEXICO CITY, March 27. (AP)—Friends of Jesus Salas Barraza, often credited with the leadership of the band which shot Pancho Villa from ambush in 1923, feared today he had fallen a victim to the revenge of the bandit leader's followers.

Salas was released several days ago from a jail in Movtezuma, Chihuahua. He wrote friends in Ciudad Juarez that he would proceed there, but he has not arrived and no trace has been found of him after his departure from Moctezuma.

The charges on which he was detained were not clear here, but he is said to have told friends that once set free he would take up his residence in the United States.

Villa, perhaps the most widely known character of Mexico's turbulent revolutionary history, was shot to death by a group of men who ambushed his automobile on the outskirts of Parral, Chihuahua. Members of his famous El Dorado bodyguard later swore a blood oath to avenge their leader's death.

Some time after Vila's assassination his grave was violated and his head was carried away and has not been recovered even yet. Some reports have had it as reposing in a Chicago institution where study of human crania is carried out.

REPORTED SAFE

EL PASO, March 27. (AP)—Jesus Salas Barraza, reputed leader of the band which slew Francisco "Pancho" Villa, is alive and unhurt, near Chihuahua City, Mexico, General Miguel S. Gonzalez, commander of the military garrison at Juarez, Mexico, said today.

Barraza left Chihuahua City a few days ago and is now with friends in a town near the Chihuahua capital, General Gonzalez said, adding he was "absolutely sure" Barraza had not been shot, as friends in Mexico City feared.

General Gonzalez said Barraza had been given a permit to carry three guns and 400 rounds of ammunition to Chihuahua City from Juarez, but that Barraza was told to obtain permission in Chihuahua City if he transported the arms further.

While in Moctezuma, Barraza was detained in connection with possessing arms and ammunition but later was given freedom when he explained he had a permit from General Gonzalez.

Reports that General Luis Medis Barron, consul general in El Paso, had supplied Mexico City officials with information that led to Barraza's arrest were emphatically denied today at the consulate general.

AMENDMENTS LOST

AUSTIN, March 27. (AP)—A proposed constitutional amendment failed of adoption in the house today, lacking 29 votes. It was by Representative Young of Wellington to authorize the legislature to determine the procedure for appointing notaries public. The vote was 71 for, and 40 against.

Candy... whether you make it or buy it... is better when made with Imperial WOMEN like candy... and so does everyone else. Most of the home-made candy is made with Imperial. Most of the Texas-made brands you buy are made with Imperial. The reason?.. a truly better sugar. A test in this recipe will prove it.

Tech May Get Federal Funds

C. L. Davis, In Charge Of Vocational Agriculture Work, Intimates Local School Is In Line For Money

Part of the $27,000 appropriated each year by the Federal government, under the provisions of the Smith-Hughes act, may be given to the Texas Technological college for the instruction given in vocational agriculture, C. L. Davis, in charge of the vocational work in this state, said Friday.

At present a Federal appropriation of $1,500 annually is to be made to the West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon. This money has never been used and is now available for Tech, Mr. Davis said.

The school of agriculture in the Lubbock institution is well equipped for the work. With an increase in the faculty to teach vocational instruction work, the appropriation would probably be made by the state board of education. Certain requirements are set for the work and the money appropriated is matched by the school, Mr. Davis explained.

ated with the Mickey Mouse clan will be admitted immediately upon presenting a nickle each and membership cards. The program will get underway at 9 a. m. with group-singing of "America" and the Mickey Mouse theme song.

Boys and girls at the theater-party will participate in a four-pan-and-dime-contest, in which the child fishing the most dimes out of pans of flour will be named as winner. There also will be a cut-up game in which club members will attempt to fashion a tail corresponding to a card layout of the organization's funny little idol, Mickey Mouse. Readings and special songs will be included on the program.

Screen attractions will be headed, as usual, by the weekly Mickey Mouse reel in which Mickey will be accompanied by Minnie Mouse and their animal friends.

Slim Summerville will play the leading role in a talkie-comedy, "The Bucket Brigade." The principal picture will be "Little Caesar," photoplay version of the novel of the same name, in which the ways of a gangster and the inevitable end of criminals are shown.

COMMISSIONER RESIGNS

Good Record Set

Lamb 4-H Club Boy Feeds Carload

John Hanks, Lamb county 4-H club boy, who has a carload of Hereford calves, sixteen in all, made a good record in feeding his animals at his home near Littlefield.

The animals were on feed for 157 days. They averaged 325 pounds in weight when they went on feed and just before being brought to Lubbock, the animals were weighed.

"Total weight was 10,060 pounds or an average of 629 pounds," John said. "The animals cost me between six and a half and seven cents a pound to buy and feed out."

At the same time John has some pigs here, a litter of nine being his selection. These went on feed November 26 and were on feed just 120 days.

The nine pigs averaged 46 pounds when he began feeding them. Total weight for the show was 2,145 or an average of 238 per animal.

"My feed cost was $78.10," the club boy explained. "I fed them milo and milk, with a little wheat at first. The cost was less than five cents a pound gain."

blackmail," Winship's friend and business asociate said, "but said Miss Thompson would do more for him when he was down and out than Mrs. Winship."

The jury found Winship "came to his death through gunshot wounds, self inflicted because of mental despondency over domestic difficulties and jealousies occasioned on account of the actions of his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Winship."

The two witness were Preston, William Myrick, negro valet, and Mrs. Margaret Thompson, housekeeper.

"The night before he killed himself," Myrick said, "Mr. Winship called me and said, 'William, there are two people I want to kill.'

"'Who's that,' I asked.

"And he said Ray McGunigle and Mrs. Winship. 'Last Friday about 4 o'clock I went into Ray McGunigle's room, and there was Ray lying on the bed and Mrs. Winship sitting on the bed in her night gown,' he said. Mr. Winship said he'd been begging her not to eat breakfast with Ray. That's all he says."

A similar story was told by Mrs. Thompson who said the conversation took place while she was helping him pack Mrs. Winship's things.

Mrs. Winship admitted her husband might have said that the two witnesses had testified, "but he was drunk, he wasn't in his right mind. He didn't know what he was saying."

shipped back into the state. He told of the state of Iowa's feeding activities and how livestock are finished for market there.

Depression Good For Area

He cited the so-called period of depression as one of the greatest things that ever happened to the southwest, it has made its people think over what can be done with their possibilities and opportunities. He predicted a greater period of prosperity for this great agricultural area.

W. B. Mitchell of Marfa was introduced as the first speaker on the program. He told of his great section, pointing out that taxes were paid on 200,000 head of livestock in three counties alone. In his short talk, he announced the field day to be held at Marfa in June and extended an invitation to cattlemen, packers and others to be present.

He was followed by K. F. Warner of Washington, D. C., meats investigator of the department of agriculture, who spoke briefly on the need of standardization of meats and plans being made toward that end.

Sterling Evans, district county agent leader, was introduced and made a few brief remarks regarding the show. W. L. Stangel was introduced and told of the donation of the calf for the banquet.

He was followed by President Paul W. Horn of Texas Tech who spoke briefly on the college's work in agriculture and offered its facilities for the advancement of agriculture at all times. Dr. Horn declared the people of the South Plains country were "just beginning to realize the advantages offered them" and predicted a greater period of progress for the section.

Diet Affects Nation

"The diet of a people not only affects the individual but extends to the nation itself," declared A. L. Ward, president of the Texas Agricultural Workers association, in speaking on "Quality Meats and Quality People." Mr. Ward cited the importance of people being properly fed and declared that if this great western country expects to accomplish more in the future, it should grow more quality meats.

Mrs. Ola Powell Malcom of Washington, D. C., field representative of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, gave a short talk on the by-products of meat in which she exhibited various products manufactured from the by-products of the livestock industry. Notably among these were leather goods. She predicted that in less than five years the manufacture of these products would be done in this territory.

O. B. Martin, director of Extension service in Texas, declared in his short talk that no great agricultural area had ever been developed without livestock and that more work along this line should be done on the South Plains. "This part of the country is fitted for this kind of thing and this kind of thing is fitted for the country," he said. Mr. Martin kept the audience in laughter throughout the major part of his talk.

Study Made Of New Agreement

State Department Seeking To Determine Whether American Manufacturers And Exporters Need Protection

WASHINGTON, March 27. (AP)—The state department is determining whether American manufacturers and exporters would need protection under the proposed Austro-German customs agreement.

Secretary Stimson was conducting this study today but declined to forecast the official attitude until facts involved have been scrutinized.

Primarily, the United States is interested in economic aspects of the accord. Under an existing commercial treaty, America is allowed as low rates as any other nation on imports into Germany. A similar compact with Austria has not been ratified by that country.

Some officials expressed belief that American manufacturers who have plants in Germany might benefit from the projected agreement since it would permit them to ship their goods, duty free, into Austria.

There is, however, a question as to whether German-made products would be admitted to Austria without tariff while stuffs manufactured in America would be subjected to Austrian duties.

Should the accord bring the latter effect, it appears likely the United States would be impelled to move to protect its exporters.

Famous Comedian Tender Hearted

SAINT SAENS, France, Mar. 27. (AP)—If Charlie Chaplin were not so tender hearted he might have killed a boar here and if one of his friends were not so good a shot a boar might have done Charlie considerable damage.

He was hunting on the estate of the Duke of Westminister when a boar broke cover and charged the clown with all the enthusiasm of a mad movie fan. He was with 100 feet of Chaplin when a bullet brought him down.

Chaplin said later he couldn't have shot the brute anyway.

Completion of organization and the election of officers is expected to occupy most of Tuesday's session of the city plan group.

Col. Montgomery said the project is to be handled by himself and associates of Hot Springs, Ark., and New York City. They already own two small hotels there, he said.

Work is to be started within 60 days.

Sectional Conferences To Be Held Throughout Next Month

Golden Text:—Faithful is the saying, and worthy of all acceptation, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners.—I Timothy 1:15.

VIII. Jesus bearing the Good Tidings.—Luke 8:1-15.

Golden Text:—He went about through cities and villages, preaching and bringing the good tidings of the kingdom of God.—Luke 8:1.

IX. Jesus Sending Forth Missionaries.—Luke 9:1 to 10:24.

Golden Text:—The harvest indeed is plenteous, but the laborers are few; pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest that he send forth laborers into his harvest.—Luke 10:2.

X. The Good Samaritan.—Luke 10:25-37.

Golden Text:—Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.—Leviticus 19:18.

XI. Jesus Among Friends and Foes.—Luke 10:38 to 11:54.

Golden Text:—Ye are my friends if ye do the things which I command you.—John 15:15.

XII. The Use and Abuse of God's Gifts.—Luke 12:16-21, 41-48.

Golden Text:—Be not drunken with wine, wherein is riot, but be filled with the Spirit.—Ephesians 5:18.

All of the twelve lessons of the quarter are taken from the first twelve chapters of the Gospel of Luke. As a historian, Luke gives an inspired record of the life of Christ in more definite chronological order than any other writer of the New Testament. However, in common with Matthew and Mark, he omits all reference to Christ's Judean ministry, which occupied a large part of the first year immediately following his baptism and temptation. Only in the Gospel of John do we find any record of this important part of Christ's life. Among the interesting events there recorded, and found nowhere else, we find the first miracle ever performed by Jesus, the changing of water to wine at the marriage feast in Cana of Galilee, John 2:1-11; the first cleansing of the temple, John 2:13-17; the well known interview with Nicodemus, John 3:1-9, and his conversation with the woman of Samaria when she came to Jacob's well to draw water and found Jesus sitting there wearied by his journey, John 4:5-26.

In the first lesson of this quarter, we studied about the birth of John the Baptist, the forerunner of the Messiah, whose coming and mission were prophesied four hundred years before his birth, Mal. 3:1 and 4:5. In the second lesson we learn of the circumstances connected with the miraculous birth of Jesus; the appearance of the angels to the angels to the shepherds and the announcement of the "good tidings of great joy"; their hasty visit to Bethlehem where the found the virgin Mary and the divinely born child; the meeting of Mary and the child with the aged Simeon and Anna in the temple when Jesus was forty days old, and the visit of Jesus with his parents to Jerusalem when he was twelve years old, Luke 2:10-52.

Then we had the account of the baptism of Jesus by John in the river Jordan, the descent of the Spirit in the form of a dove and the voice from heaven saying "Thou art my beloved Son." Soon after the baptism by John, "Jesus was led by the Spirit ...to the wilderness," and there, after fasting forty days, he was tempted of the devil. Unlike the first Adam, Jesus, the second Adam, successfully resisted the devil's enticements and overcame his threefold temptations.

In subsequent lessons, we saw Jesus, the Great Physician, who performed many miracles of healing, giving sight to the blind, hearing to the deaf, cleasing to the leper, freedom to those possessed of devils, and bringing the dead to life. Also, we see Jesus, the world's Great Teacher, who spoke as no other man ever spoke. We studied a brief extract from the greatest sermon ever preached, the Sermon on the Mount.—Luke 6:20-49. A more extended report of the same sermon is found in Matt. 5, 6 and 7.

We studied some of the wise teachings of Jesus in parables, as, for instance, the Parable of the Sower, telling of the four kinds of soil and the four classes of hearers, and the four different results of the seed sowing. Probably the best known and the most interesting of all the parables is that of the Good Samaritan, the story of the man on the "Jerusalem to Jericho" road, who fell among thieves, who beat him, robbed him and left him half dead. Being found in that condition by his countrymen, they passed him by in neglect; but a Samaritan, a foreigner, finding the man in distress, tenderly cared for him at the expense of time, labor and money, and even at the risk of being made the victim himself of robbers. In this parable Jesus gives us a concrete illustration of how we should act towards the needy and distressed; that our "neighbor" is any one that needs our help. We should imitate the example of Jesus himself as set forth in today's Golden Text: "Who went about doing good." Let us obey the Saviour's injunction which gives point to this parole.—"Go thou and do likewise."

Check For $100 Will Come In Handy

CHICAGO, March 27. (AP)—Thirty-eight years ago two boys in their teens sat on a bench in Jackson park, discussing their future.

"I am going to stick to Chicago," S. Joseph Block said to his friend Louise Fine.

"Maybe that's all right," said Louis, "but if I had $3 I'd start for Baltimore. I'm short $3."

Block handed him the $3 and forgot about it until yesterday when the mailman brought him a letter postmarked Baltimore in which Louis said:

"Joe, I've spent a lot more than $3 advertising in the hope of finding you, but never had any luck until last week when just by chance I met a friend of yours who gave me your address. I haven't figured out how much interest I owe you, but I'm enclosing a check for $100 and hope it does you a lot of good."

"It will," said Joe.

Delicious cereal biscuits that supply 10 important mineral salts

President Barnard Of American League Dies Suddenly

Heart Trouble Thought Cause Prexy's Death

Had Cut Short Training Champ Review For Medical Attention At Rochester; Succeeded Ban Johnson In 1927

(By The Associated Press)

ROCHESTER, Minn., March 27.—Ernest S. Barnard, president of the American Baseball League, died unexpectedly late today of heart disease. He had come here yesterday with Mrs. Barnard and had planned to consult physicians at a clinic here.

President Barnard's illness was diagnosed as heart trouble, but he was believed to be in no immediate danger and was ordered to bed pending treatment for his illness.

Mrs. Barnard was at his bedside when he passed away.

Mr. Barnard became president of the American League Nov. 1 1927, succeeding B. B. Johnson, the one time "Czar" of baseball and founder of the league. Strangely enough, Johnson is seriously ill in a hospital at St. Louis and his death has been expected daily.

DETROIT, March 27. (AP) — Frank J. Navin, president of the Detroit club of the American League, said tonight the death of E. S. Barnard, president of the league, in Rochester, Minn., came as "a terrible shock to me and to baseball in general."

Mr. Navin, who is vice president of the American League, becomes acting president.

"The American League certainly has lost an outstanding man with his death, and all baseball men, both of the National and the American Leagues, will agree to this," he said.

"His manner was superb and his last official act, bringing the major league clubs into the draft, won him the admiration of both major and minor league baseball men."

Popular Baseball Offical

Since assuming the presidency of the American League, Barnard has been credited with smoothing over political difficulties among the club owners and has worked in harmony with Commissioner Landis.

At the time Barnard was elected to presidency of the American League, he was connected with the Cleveland club, with which he has served 25 years. He served at Cleveland as secretary, later as president, after the death of James C. Dunn, owner of the club, in 1922.

With his election to the presidency of the American League, Barnard served connections with the Cleveland club. He negotiated for transfer of the stock to a syndicate of Cleveland baseball fans, headed by Alva Bradley, millionaire manufacturer.

Helped Billy Evans

He had a guiding hand in persuading Billy Evans, the American League umpire ,to give up his mask and chest protector to become business manager of the club.

Former Sports Editor

Starting his career as a baseball writer and sports editor, Mr. Barnard's interest always had been centered in baseball and when he was elected president of the American League his experience was backed up in every department of baseball management.

"Barney," as he was known to his intimates, gave the impression of being "hard boiled" because he always worked hard in the interest of the sport. But his intimate friends always regarded him as sincere and kindly, with the welfare of the baseball always in his heart and in his decisions.

Midwest Stars Cop Firsts At Texas Relays

Cold Weather Hurts Crowds At Annual Relay Carnival; Few Records Smashed As Teams Held Back By Norther

BY HARRELL E. LEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, March 27. — Middle-western track and field stars walked off with nearly all the honors in the anuual Texas relays here today but they were unable to take back many records.

A strong, cold north wind cut down the time in all the relay events. It helped Peyton Glass of Oklahoma A. and M. twice tie the recognized world's record of 9 5-10 seconds in the 100 yard dash.

The two relay record breakers were Hugh Rhea of Nebraska in the shot and John Russell, high jumper and the only entrant of Bradley Polytechnic Institute of Peoria, Ill. Rhea, a football and track star for the Corn huskers, heaved the shot 51 feet, 2 1-8 inches. The old record was 48 feet 7 1-4 inches, set last year by big Jim Bausch of Kansas. Russell cleared six feet, 4 5-8 inches in the high jump. The old record was six feet, 4 1-2 inches, made by Tom Poor of Kansas in 1925.

Glass Leads Relay Team

Not only did Glass twice turn the century in 9.5, but he also gave the Oklahoma Aggies a victory in the half mile relay through his great work on the last 220 yard stretch. The muscular 19-year old sophomore thereby topped off a great day.

Perhaps the most thrilling relay race was the medley which was won by Marquette, the favorite, but only by a step. Glenn Dawson, Oklahoma's great miler, and J. Walter, Marquette's anchor man, were almost abreast as they sprinted the last 220 yards.

Kansas, Iowa State, northwestern and the Pittsburgh, Kansas, Teachers divided the top positions in the other relay races. Kansas was first as expected in the 440-yard relay and the same was true of Bob Simpson's Iowa State quartet in the four mile relay. Northwestern finished first in the mile relay in a close battle with Rice, and the Pittsburg Teachers copped the two mile relay.

HOUSTON, March 27. (AP) — Track and field men from all over the country, who competed at Austin today in the seventh annual University of Texas relays, will perform again in the Rice Institute fifth annual carnival here tomorrow.

The morning will be devoted exclusively to high school preliminaries.

Tommy's Finer Fighting Ends With Decision

Featherweight Fighters Offer Interesting Card As Fidel Is Forced To Best Going In Defeating Italian

BULLETIN
(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO STADIUM, Chicago, Mar. 27.—Tommy Loughran defeated Tuffy Griffiths in a ten-round battle in the Chicago Stadium tonight, winning the verdict of the referee and judges. Loughran's superior boxing ability enabled him to outscrambie the rough Iowan.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, March 27.—Cagey Little Fidel Labarba, who seems certain to rule the featherweights eventually as he has the flyweights in days gone by, gingerly manhandled Kid Francis, a bundle of punching dynamite from Italy, just enough to win the decision by a satisfying margin in an interesting ten round bout tonight.

The curly haired Californian had to box his prettiest, think his fastest, and give up entirely the body socking style he has made a specialty in order to turn Francis back. For ten rounds he kept his left popping in the Italian's face, ripped a few punches home as they came to grips, and then held the kid in grips of steel.

Turnesa Breaks Par To Hold Up Pinehurst Lead

PINEHURST, N. C., March 27.(AP) Touring the championship Pinehurst course in a fine 73 despite a drenching rain, Joe Turnesa of Elmsford, one of a famous family of New York golfers, tonight retained his lead in the north and south $5,650 open golf tournament with a 54-hole score of 215.

Although he started when the downpour was at its height and played the entire round under difficult conditions, Turnesa conquered par and the elements. He was out in four under perfect figures, but trouble on three holes coming in pushed him to 38.

Just a stroke behind the leader came Johnny Golden, chubby Norton, Conn., professional, who has been shooting the most consistent golf in the field. Golde today had his third consecutive 72.

Basketball Coaches Hear Reprimands From Masters

NEW YORK, March 27. (AP) — Members of the National Association of Basketbal coaches, in convention here, heard themselves taken severely to task today by Dr. Charles W. Kennedy, chairman of the board of athletic control at Princeton University and president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

In an address, Dr. Kennedy declared the coaches were in a measure to blame for the increasing poor sportsmanship of cage fans. He urged them and their players to be more lenient with officials and to avoid any demonstration that would arouse the crowd.

Dr. Kennedy's address featured the second day's program.

DIZZY REBELS, REMAINS

BRADENTON, Fla., March 27.(AP) Dizzy Dean, the Cardinals' eccentric young right hander who has declared he will win 25 or 30 games for the Red Birds this season, nearly deserted the Cardinals this afternoon because of reprimands from Manager Gabby Street and because of his daily hunt for Secretary Lloyd to obtain his $1 a day allowance.

But at the last moment he decided he ought to say goodbye to Branch Rickey, Cardinal vice president and Rickey persuaded him to stay until October 15.

Dempsey Scores Courtroom Knockout In Fifth Round; May Meet H. Wills

Jury Returns Early Verdict Favoring Old Man Mauler

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, March 27. — Jack Dempsey, the old Manassa Mauler himself, whipped across a legal knockout in the fifth round today in the $500,000 damage suit filed against him for not risking his heavyweight championship against Harry Wills, negro challenger, five years ago.

Beaten in the first four rounds of the court battle on legal technicalities, Dempsey suddenly floored the opposition when Circuit Court Judge T. Sterling Pomeroy directed the jury to return a verdict of dismissal in the case brought by the Chicago Coliseum company, which attempted to promote the Dempsey-Wills title match in 1926.

The verdict, promptly returned by the jury, brought to an end, barring a successful appeal, all legal battles in which Dempsey and his successor to the heavyweight throne, Gene Tunney, became involved. However, there appeared a chance that Dempsey might carry his fight right back to the squared arena by finally meeting Wills.

Dempsey Astounds Court

During a heated court argument yesterday, Dempsey stood up and told the plaintiff attorneys and Paddy Mullins, manager of Wills, that he would fight the negro anytime the Chicago Coliseum company would pay him $1,000,000, the original terms of the contract in question. B. E. Clements, president of the Coliseum company, accepted the challenge and said he would guarantee Dempsey that amount to fight Wills and "lay $1,000,000 on the line."

"Let me see the money and I'll fight Wills any time," Dempsey said after his court victory today.

"All right, we will," said Clements. "All we ask is that you fight Wills and if you do, we will not perfect an appeal from today's decision."

Boxing fans, who jammed the courtroom, doubted that the long disputed match would be staged, however. Anyway, it was left up in the air as Dempsey immediately departed for Rochester, Minn., after court was adjourned, to undergo a physical examination at the Mayo Brothers clinic.

County Meet Due To Begin Today

Delayed by extreme cold weather, the annual Lubbock county interscholastic league track and field meet, carded to begin yesterday morning with tennis events, probably will be held today. Officials of the meet could not be reached yesterday and no announcements were made, but it is thought that the meet will proceed this morning should weather permit.

Today's program is due to start at 9 o'clock this morning with the junior boys' track and field events. Senior girls' volleyball is scheduled for 12 noon today in the gymnasium. Playground ball is to start at 9:30 this morning in the girls' division and continue this afternoon at 1:30 in the 'boys' division.

Senior track and field events in Class A and Class B divisions begin at 1:15 this afternoon with high and low hurdles, 220-yard dashes, 100-yard dashes, 1-mile runs, 440-yard dashes, 880-yard runs and relays held in order and simultaneously with track events, the latter including discus throw, shot put, pole vault, broad jump, high jump and javelin throw.

Out Of One Fight Into Another

Photo shows Jack Dempsey in a Chicago courtroom as the $500,000 suit against the former heavyweight champ for breach of contract opened. Shortly before the case went to the bench Dempsey dramatized the event by offering to fight Harry Wills. With Dempsey are his two attorneys, Arthur Driscoll of New York, right, and William Corboy in rear.

English Steeds Gallop To Win As American Horses Tumble To Death In Grand National Race

Three Hundred Thousand See Grakle, British Bred, Win First Money Over Field Of Eleven American Mounts

BY TOM WILHELM
Associated Press Staff Writer

LIVERPOOL, Eng., March 27. — Grakle, British bred, owned, trained and ridden, today scored a record breaking triumph in the classic Grand National steeplechase, leaving behind him on the punishing field of Aintree the pick of the world's cross country horses. Three hundred thousand persons saw the race.

Close at his heels was the 1929 winner, Gregalach, great Irish jumper of Mrs. Gemmell, and in third place was Lady Glenapp's Annandale, making it a clean sweep for the British lion.

Grakle paid the nice odds of 100 to 6. The time was 9:32 1-5.

U. S. Horse Breaks Neck

Back on the course behind the gallant victors were 11 American owned steeple chasers, one of them dead in Beecher's Brook with a broken neck.

Eastern Hero and Sir Lindsay, owned by the young American sportsman, Joh Hay (Jock) Whitney, the chief hopes of America, both went down, Eastern Hero at Beech's Brook, where Mrs. Chester Beatty's Swift Rowland was destroyed, and Sir Lindsay at one of the other jumps. The latter finished, but far out of the money.

The defeat of Eastern Hero was costly to his backers, 21,000 of the 65,592 win bets placed in the parimutuels being on the hose of the American favorite.

Grakle's victory was richly deserved and Jockey Tom Coulthewaite rode a smart race for Cyril Taylor, Liverpool cotton broker and his owner. It was Coulethwaite's third Grand National victory.

More than 800,000 rainbow trout, hatched by the state this year, will be used to stock Missouri streams.

Fred Walker Told He Will Not Be Recommended For Texas U. Coaching Staff

AUSTIN, March 27. (AP) — Fred M. Walker, University of Texas basketball coach, said today he had received a letter stating that he had not been recommended for reappointment by the university athletic council.

The letter was from W. E. Metzenthin, chairman of the council. Metzenthin told Walker that the council had recommended to the board of regents that Walker not be reappointed, the coach said. The board of regents probably will not take final action for some time.

Virginia Van Wie Mid-South Champ

SOUTHERN PINES, N. C., March 27. (AP)—Virginia Van Wie, caught in the hardest downpour of a rain that descended on the final 18 holes of the Mid-south women's 36-hole medal tournament, overcame the elements today to win the championship.

The Chicago girl found the going rougher than yesterday when she posted a sparkling 73, but nevertheless shot an 84, one over women's par, for a final total of 157.

Her score was seven strokes better than the next best in the field of 80 contenders. Edith Quier, Reading, Pa., could offer. Miss Quier added an 84 today to her 80 of yesterday for a 164.

BUENOS AIRES, March 27. (AP) Victorio Campolo, Argentine's heavyweight hope, sailed for New York today on the liner Southern Cross to resume his campaign for the heavyweight title.

Sophs And Seniors Win In Aggie League Campus Games

The Sophs and Seniors won first round battles last night in the Aggie league as the Texas Tech 54-game intramural cage season continued on its way.

The Sophs defeated the Fish, 13 to 9, in a game much faster than the score indicates. Easley, Howell, Hitchcock and Bean played fine defensive games and did all the scoring for the winners while Sides, center, and M. Davis helped the causes of the Fish.

In another almost strictly defensive game and one that was featured by a showing of poor playing form due to lack of practice, the Senior Aggies took a 9 to 6 victory over the Juniors. Moore, Kirksey and Cook did the scoring for the losers while Williams, Starr and Havis were stars for the victors.

The schedule continues today with first round games in the Independent League, the Bookstore team meeting the Band at 7 and a game at 8 between the Army and Y. M. C. A.

Five letter-men and 10 other candidates weighing 175 pounds or better are backfield aspirants on the Oklahoma grid squad.

"I'll Show Them What I Mean," Says Cards' Young Dizzy Dean

BY JOE O'GOOFTY
Former Big League Pitcher

BRADENTON, Fla., March 27.—On account of having been a former big league pitcher, I thought I would give a little friendly advice on hurling to this recruit "Dizzy" Dean, the Cardinals' loud-speaking pitcher.

The day I tried to interview Dizzy he had just had his tonsills removed, so he couldn't talk very well. I opened the talk by suggesting that if he threw that roundhouse curve ball to those Dodger sluggers some customers in the right field stands would get killed.

"Sluggers?" he replied, "just what do you mean, sluggers? The only batter on the Brooklyn ball club is Lefty O'Doul, and I struck out dozens of men in the Texas League who are better hitters than he is.

"Herman? He won't get a foul off me. Wright? Just another pop fly. Lissonette? Grounder to second, with a nice big hop on it for Frankie Frisch to grab.

"Those other ball teams—do you think they're sluggers? The Phils? Just a breeze!

"The Giants? I'll take 'em in my stride, and if they get me on one of my good days, they will think I came from a remote village in Utah.

"The Cubs? You think they're hitters? Wait till you see Hack Wilson reaching for one of my sinkers. And if Hornsby stands back from the plate on me that way he'll compile a grand batting average of 6 7-8 in 49 times at bat when I start cutting thin slices off that outside corner."

Which isn't such a bad flow of conversation, after all, considering Dizzy had just had his tonsils removed and couldn't say much.

For Ginger's Sake

me all right, after a fashion, the way you love your father, and Ben and Jenky, but the way you love this Bard chap is something else again."

Ginger flushed faintly and burrowed deeper into the cushions.

"I — I hope you aren't surprised—"

"Not only am I not surprised," he said, "but I'm darn glad of it. I'm tired out. To tell you the truth, Pat and I have come to understand each other pretty well, and we have agreed that as soon as we get you off our hands we'll get married ourselves and take a long rest."

"You and Pat! You mean my Pat?"

"Nobody else."

"And will she do it?"

"She says so."

"Will she go and live with you at Pay Dirt?"

"It's the only place I have to live."

"Oh, Eddy!" cried Ginger. "That's just gorgeous! Then Bard and I will switch things around at Mill Rush and chuck out the club and go and live there with Pietro to cook for us. And I'll be right on hand to go on managing father and Phil—and I can sort of keep an eye on you and Pat, too. Tell Bard to come, quick!"

But before he reached the door she called after him, "No, don't interrupt him. He may be working on those portraits."

But it was not necessary to postpone their plans for the painting of portraits.

A few weeks later Marker was in possession of news of such tremendous importance that he took the first train to Red Thrush—at his own expense—to deliver it in person.

It seemed that Mexico had not witnessed the first co-operative effort of Messrs. Giovanni and Benito. They had been allied long before that in a different sort of business, far more sinister, in their native Italy, where they were listed as political offenders and where "there was a place on their heads." Marker and Holt lost not a moment in picking up Giovanni, making one feather in their professional bonnet since they could not attach much credit as concerned Benito.

They had taken the matter up with Italian consuls and representatives of the law in this country, and found that instead of bringing Benito to trial in Iowa—an expensive and unpleasant proceeding at best—he could be reported to Italy as an undersirable alien. And the Italian consul assured them that the government would take care of him at the other end, and would gladly reimburse them for their time and trouble to the extent of that price on their heads, which amounted to no less than $10,000 apiece.

Marker reported the situation in great detail and with evident relish, strongly advising Mrs. Tolliver to relieve herself of the annoyance of prosecution and to accept the consolation of $10,000. He assured her that arrangements had already been made for the bon voyage of Giovanni, who, he was confident, would be deeply grateful for the companionship of his faithful old friend and comrade, Benito.

Phil professed a complete lack of interest.

"It's none of my business, one way or the other," she said. "Ask Bard. It is entirely up to him."

"To me!" ejaculated Bard. "Why, it doesn't make the least difference in the world to me! Whatever you think best, of course."

"Well, would you rather have the fun of sending Benito to the pen for life, or $10,000 cash?" Phil wanted to know.

"It's no fun sending anybody to the pen, as far as I can see. And money is always money! Who would get it?"

"Oh, stupid!" she cried, laughting. "What do you think Mr. Marker came out here for? Wasn't it you who caught him?"

Ginger ran across and nudged him, slowly and with purpose. Her face was rapt and shining.

"Bard," she whispered, "take the money! Art is perfectly wonderful, of course, but—really, it is a little slow—when one's waiting!"

Marfa Men Are City Visitors

Invitations Extended Here To Feeders And Breeders Field Days To Be Held In Marfa June 18, 19

A party of twelve Marfa men, headed by W. B. Mitchell are attending the Fat Calf, Pig and Meat show here, and extending invitations to the feeders and breeders field days to be held at Marfa June 18 and 19. The field days are being sponsored by the Hereford Breeders association of Marfa.

Other Marfa men included in the group here are:

F. A. and Crawford Fitchell, Kenny Smith, Edward Bogel, Jack Ralls, all cattlemen, Earnest Gibbons, county agent, Ancel W. Graham, manager of the El Pasano hotel at Marfa, T. M. Wilson, president of the Marfa State bank, H. L. Hord, auto dealer and Richard Merrell of Fort Davis.

"The field day is held to give breeders and feeders and others interested in cattle an opportunity to tour ranches and see the cattle of the Big Bend section, comprising Presidio, Jeff Davis and Brewster counties," Mr. Mitchell said. "A similar event has never before been undertaken in a range section in the United States. It is being held to give cattlemen a chance to exchange ideas, to observe methods of others, conditions of the ranges, grasses and market work."

"We have nothing to sell and there will be nothing sold during the two days of the field day," he declared. Tours in all directions from Marfa will be made, a barbecue being given the visitors the first night. More tours will be made on the second day with a banquet on the second night in Marfa, at which time speakers will discuss various phases and problems of the livestock industry.

Mr. Mitchell and his party are extending a special invitation to all cattlemen here to attend the event.

The 25 farmers' mutual exchanges now operating in North Calorina had a combined business of more than $1,500,000 in 1930.

STUPID FROM BILIOUSNESS

"Felt 100 Per Cent. Better After Taking Black-Draught," Says This Lady.

Cerulean, Ky.—"About ten years ago, I learned of Black-Draught and the benefits others had gotten from using it, and, needing a good laxative, I decided to try it," writes Mrs. W. M. Poindexter, of this place.

"I had been feeling dull and stupid from biliousness, and after I had taken Black-Draught I thought I felt one hundred per cent. better.

"Black-Draught relieves a headache very quickly. I have also taken it for indigestion and colds, and always felt much better after taking it. I think it is a splendid medicine."

Thedford's Black-Draught is composed of pure botanical ingredients, and contains no chemicals. The roots and herbs of which it is made are finely powdered, which enables the digestive juices of the stomach to extract its medicinal properties in an easy, natural way.

This medicine has been in use since 1835, with constantly increasing popularity because of the good it has done the men, women and children who have taken it. BA-208

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 27. (AP)—The cotton market was rather quiet here today and prices while fluctuating moderately developed no particular trend. Liverpool cables were unfavorable and caused an early decline of 7-8 points, but prices later rallied on prospects for very unfavorable weather, advancing 11-12 points from the earlier lows. The market was supported by some trade buying as well as by fairly favorable weekly statistics particularly mill takings which showed a good gain over the preceding week. In the early afternoon prices eased off 6-8 points from the top on lack of sustained support. The market continued to rule quiet all afternoon despite weakness in stocks and rallied a few points at the end, the general market closing steady showing net gains for the day of 1-4 points.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, March 27. (AP)—An early advance in cotton on continued trade buying and some covering promoted by reports of unfavorable weather for coming crop preparations, was followed by reactions under realizing or liquidation today. May contracts, after selling up from 10.78@10.91 or 10 points net higher, closed at 10.83 with the general market closing steady, net 2 points higher to 1 lower.

Apprehension that the cold wet weather reported in the south would delay crop preparations and that germination of early planted cotton might be delayed, may have been responsible for some buying, but the support was attributed chiefly to continued trade buying, and many considered it too early in the season for delays in farm work to materially influence the market.

fic was also delayed but is expected to be in operation Saturday. Santa Fe trains were running, although behind schedule.

The temperature went down to 15 degrees in the Lamesa area with a large amount of the fruit being killed. The freeze was preceeded there by a half inch rain. Spur reported 15 degrees also with serious damage to fruit and vegetable crops.

Don L. Jones, superintendent of the state experiment station east of the city, declared the freeze more than likely killed some fruit but that some might have escaped owing to the fact that the storm was only of about fifteen to eighteen hours.

Cattlemen here yesterday were of the opinion that there was probable damage on the range.

morning, said she had believed her husband a real estate broker and oil man.

"It's a Nice Town"

When officers asked Burke about his Chicago activities he replied:

"Oh, yes, I've been there frequently. I bought an automobile there last week. It's a nice town."

Turning to a group of photographers Burke said:

"You very likely are a nice bunch of fellows, but I don't see why I should pose for you. You never did anything for me."

Two states, Michigan and Illinois, and the United States government had filed claims this afternoon for custody of Burke.

In confirming previous identification of the prisoner as Burke, Detective Ed Tyrrell, of Chicago, made the discovery today that the gunman's nose had changed shape recently.

Tyrrell accused Burke of having become the patient of a beauty doctor. The prisoner smiled his reply.

The detective said either Burke had undergone an operation on his nose to "life" it, or had been struck on it.

Tyrrell produced pictures to show the gunman once had a long, upturned nose, whereas it now is of the Roman type.

Stocks Decline To End Session With Largest Losses; Bear Drives Cause

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, March 27. (AP)—Stocks declined at a livelier clip today, ending the moderately active session with the largest losses in three weeks.

The market lacked strength to defend prices against a series of bear drives and reappearance of liquidation in important groups.

Chemicals, steel and utilities were soft, while the railroads average went into new low ground for the year. Selling increased in the last hour when the day's worst prices came out. The turnover was 2,900,000 shares, an increase of 300,000 over Thursday.

Two point declines in U. S. Steel, American Can, American Telephone, Union Carbide, Sears Roebuck, Atchison, North American, Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville, United Air Craft, Electric Power and Light and Case measured the scope of the reaction.

Damage Caused By Friday Fire

Fire originating on the grocery shelves caused considerable damage early Friday morning in a grocery store and residence located at 1819 1-2 and 1819 Texas avenue.

Cause for the shelves becoming ignited is undertermined. The fire passed along the shelves to a window and then along a connection framework to the adjacent residence.

The heaviest loss suffered was on stock in the store, though both building and residence were damaged. An estimate of the loss has not yet been computed, firemen stated.

Slaton Takes Debates

Both girl's and boy's debates were won by the Slaton teams—in the county meet. Mildred Rucker and Murrel Wicker constituted the winners of the girl's debates. John and Robert Rayburn, brothers, composed the boy's team.

Teams from Foster and Hardy were the runners up in the debates.

The highest score in the arithmetic contest was made by Idalou, the second by Slaton and the third by Acuff. Floyd Wells, Lillian Kelley and Eli Vickers formed the Idalou arithmetic team.

The teams of Idalou and Hardy tied for first place in the picture memory contest. Each team made a score of 100 per cent. Banners will be presented to both teams, it was announced.

Leverne Bloodworth of Salton won the girl's extemporaneous speaking contest. Ruth Henderson of Idalou received second place, and Ethel Dunavant of Shallowater won third place.

C. E. Mitchell of Slaton won first prize in the boy's extemporaneous speaking contest, Ilo Hurd of Hardy won second prize and Curtis Lee Davis of Acuff won third prize.

Winners in the declamation, music memory and choral contests have not yet been announced.

Entries in the spelling and essay contests are not graded, general director Sam Chatham reported. These results will be available sometime Saturday, he said.

Hundreds Attend Dawson Contests

(Special to the Avalanche)

LAMESA, March 27.—In spite of the low temperature of 15 degrees that overspread the South Plains, 34 schools participated in the Dawson county interscholastic meet that opened here today.

According to V. Z. Rogers, general director of the Dawson county league, approximately 1500 students and parents were in attendance.

Today's events included debates, declamations, music memory, picture memory, extemporaneous speaking and other literary contests.

Athletic events are to take place Saturday, Mr. Rogers stated. Local interest in Dawson county has always run high over the athletic contests, and it is expected that this county will have contestants at both the district and state meets, Mr. Rogers opined.

Livestock

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, March 27. (AP)—Hog trade around the eleven market circuit was rather slow but prices were unevenly steady to higher with a top in Chicago of 8.25. The chief strengthening influence was a curtailed supply. Total offerings were around 70,000, a decrease of 23,000 from a week ago.

Fat lambs were on 9 firm to 25 higher price basis and steady values were maintained on matured killing classes of sheep. The bulk of fed wooled lambs in Chicago cleared from 8.50@8.85. The supply numbered around 44,500 as compared with 62,692 last Friday.

Aggregate receipts of cattle estimated at 9,000 were 3,000 less than a week ago. Further weakness developed in Chicago on most killing classes but at most other markets supplies were too light to make a fair test of market conditions. In view of the lower eastern dressed beef markets this week prospects are not very encouraging for the forthcoming week unless receipts are curtailed.

FORT WORTH, March 27. (AP)—Hogs—500, truck hogs steady to 10 higher; no rail hogs offered truck top 7.80; bulk better grades 170-240 lb. truck hogs 7.60@7.80; few packing sows at 6.00@6.25, steady.

Cattle—500, including 100 calves. Not enough cattle or calves on sale to make a market; sales of various classes about steady; plain killing steers 5.00; cows 3.50; short feds in light weights 6.50; very good fat yearlings 8.25; 3 car shipment 8.00; good fat cows up to 5.00; butcher sorts around 3.25@3.75; some good heavy fat calves 7.00; plainer grades around and under 6.00, including cull sorts from 3.25 @3.75.

Police Search For Ax Slayer

Juarez Store Owner Is Dead After Blows From Ax; Store Looted: Police Expected To Make Early Arrests

EL PASO, March 27. (AP)—Salvador Ysao Sato, 29, Japanese, was found mortally wounded by blows on the head with an ax last night in a grocery and butcher shop he operated in Juarez. He died in a hospital this morning.

Jose Velasquez told police he made a purchase in Sato's store at 9 o'clock last night and as he was leaving, three men entered. Half an hour later, Velarquez again passed the store and saw the door open and the place was dark. Entering, he found Sato lying on the floor in a pool of blood.

Police found the store had been looted. They expected to make arrests today.

Irish Leader Being Mourned

First Governor General Of Free State Dies Following Brief Illness; End Foreseen Several Days

DUBLIN, March 27. (AP)—The Saorstat today mourned Timothy Michael Healy, Irish parliamentarian extraordinary and its first governor general, who died in the night after a three weeks' illness. He was 75 years old.

The end had been foreseen for several days, although he was ill with what was thought to be only a bad cold for some time before seriousness of his malady, a bronchial infection, was appreciated. He took a turn for the worse yesterday morning and his son was summoned to his bedside.

As a member of parliament for what is now the Saorstat, Healy founded a tradition of his own, the "Irish Nights," in which he would sit back with his silk hat tipped over his nose, pretending not to listen to debate. Suddenly he would arise, obtain the floor and make a fiery speech.

He withdrew from the house of commons when the free state got its own parliament and became first Saorstat governor general, serving from 1922 to 1928.

Anton Man Dies Week After Wife

One week after his wife's funeral, W. D. Russell, 66, died at 8 o'clock Friday morning at his residence in Anton.

Mrs. Russell died Thursday, March 19, and was buried the following day. She was only 16 days younger than Mr. Russell.

Mr. Russell had lived in Anton for several years, being engaged in the coal and grain business there. He is survived by two sons. The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock Saturday in the Anton school house. Burial will be in the Anton cemetery. Rix-Sanders are in charge of arrangements.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 27. (AP) — Rising prices for wheat today accompanied increased anxiety about possible crop damage southwest as a result of low temperatures. Bullish ardor was curbed, however, by reports that snowfalls preceding the cold wave had protected winter wheat from any material harm. Officials summaries indicating that United States spring wheat seeding would be reduced 3,000,000 acres this season were largely offset by prospects that winter wheat remaining for harvest would be 2,000,000 acres more than last year.

Wheat closed firm, unchanged to 2 1-4 cents advance, the latter for June, corn 1-8 to 3-4 down, oats at 1-8 decline to 1-8 to 1-4 gain, and provisions varying from 2 cents setback to a rise of 7 cents.

"Does it make any difference to you whether you tell the truth or not," Moody asked.

Penn rose from his chair and literally pounced towards Moody. He jumped down off the rostrum and strode hurriedly to face the former governor, his fists doubled.

"I resent the inference I have not told the truth here, I will not take that from any man, you—," The din of Chairman Terrell's gavel and shuffling feet of spectators who sought to restrain him drowned out words of his uncompleted sentence.

Estes, who was sitting near Moody jumped up and shouted:

"If you want to fight some one, come fight me."

Ruffled feelings evidently were smoothed during the noon recess, shortly after the inciden. Before the afternoon session came to order, Penn and Moody stood talking amiably in full view of the crowd.

Terry County Talking Issue

No Petitions Presented For Election But County Judge Expects Some Action Within Near Future

Terry county probably will vote bonds this summer for the paving of county roads, was the announcement made here Friday by Jay Barrett, Terry county judge.

Although no petitions for the election have been presented to the commissioner's court, Judge Barrett believes that there is a possibility of several in the near future.

There has been considerable agitation in Terry county for the road bond issue since the recent action of Gaines county in voting bonds for $250,000 for the paving of highway 137.

Reports from Terry county indicate there is a desire on the part of a good many residents to vote bonds for paving of all state highways in the county. At present there are three highways with state designation, with 46 miles of state designated and maintained road.

No. 137 from the Hockley county line between Ropesville and Meadow, to Brownfield, the county seat, is one highway. No. 84 from Lynn county line to Brownfield is the second and No. 84 from Brownfield west to the Yoakum county line the third.

The county has built and is maintaining a county highway from Brownfield southwest to the Gaines county line three or four miles from Seagraves. In the event of the bond issue carrying, this will become a state designated road, with state specifications as to width, etc.

Hourly Temperature Reports Taken By Pipeline Company

South Plains Company Official Explains Intricate System Used In Checking Up Of Conditions

Reports of temperatures and main-line pressures at key-points on a thousand-mile pipeline system maintained on the South Plains by the South Plains Pipeline company, are supplemented by detailed accounts during periods of changing weather like that of the last two days.

The South Plains Pipe Line company owns 287 miles of telegraph and telephone lines in this section, there being approximately 75 connections through which the general office in Lubbock can learn of conditions throughout the system, according to C. R. Miner, superintendent.

Another company furnishes the South Plains organization with reports of weather conditions in northern Oklahoma, southeastern Kansas, Colorado, and northern New Mexico.

Temperatures and main-line pressures over the South Plains pipeline network are reported to the office here hourly, day and night. When weather is changeable, details of what has occurred and what is expected, are included. If there has been rain, snow, sleet, hail, or any other occurrence, it is reported. Forecasts are obtained from United States weather bureaus and relayed here.

From 7 o'clock Friday morning to about 1 p. m. weather reports were received at offices of the pipeline company almost constantly, and additional information was received through the remainder of the day.

Men Stationed

"During weather such as that of the last 24 hours, in order to maintain good serice, it is necessary to have our men stationed at strategic points to be on the lookout constantly for breaks, leaks and other troubles which would interfere with service," said Mr. Miner.

Detailed weather reports usually are received every few hours from all principal points in the region occupied by the pipeline system, in addition the usual temperature and pressure readings while the weather remains changeable.

Clearness and rising temperatures were reported by pipeline points of this territory at midafternoon Friday. Particular attention must be paid to conditions during weather as severe as that experienced here Thursday night and Friday, Mr. Miner explained.

Man Wins $800,000 In Sweepstakes And Is Fired From Job With News

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 27. (AP)—Clayton C. Woods didn't have to resign from his factory job when he won more than $800,000 in the Irish sweepstakes today—he was fired as soon as he drew the ticket on Gregalach which placed second in the grand national.

"Nobody in the plant was jealous, they're all fine fellows," Woods explained, "but you know how it is when news like that gets around. Every time I went into the factory, everybody stopped work to talk about my chances. Finally the boss said: 'Will you get out of here and stay out, so we can start work?'"

The five members of the family who share in the ticket are Woods and his wife, a brother, Kenneth, and two brother-in-laws, Clarence and Elmer Batt. Kenneth Woods and Elmer Batt with their wives, watched the news of the race come in over the associated press automatic telegraph printers. When the magic words "Gregalach second" appeared, there was a shrill cry from both women and the next instant both were embracing their husbands while bystanders pounded the men on their shoulders and shouted congratulations.

There will be more family conclaves as to the disposal of the money. About all that has been decided is that the lucky five will travel—somewhere.

"We're going somewhere, that's sure," Woods explained, "but we haven't decided where. First of all, we're going to try and get a few days of quiet rest to get our nerves back in shape."

A Heavy Snow Paralyzes Traffic In The Panhandle

CANYON, Tex., March 27. (AP)—The Panhandle today was fighting its worst blizzard in years. Buried under an 8-inch snow, with a raging wind out of the north whipping it into waistdeep drifts, traffic was paralyzed, fruit and truck gardens had been ruined and grave fears were felt for livestock.

The blizzard sent the mercury to 7 degrees at 7 o'clock this morning and at 10 o'clock it had risen but two degrees. A blinding snow was still falling.

It was the coldest late March weather since 1899 when an all-time record of seven degreen were recorded on March 28.

City Plan Group To Meet Tuesday

The recently appointed city planning commission will meet at the city hall Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. ac-midnight.

Two Persons Are Lost In Snow Storm

AMARILLO, Tex., March 27. (AP)—Swept last night and this morning by a severe blizzard that brought the lowest late March temperatures in 32 years and snowfall that amounted to ten inches in Amarillo, the Panhandle was promised clear skies but still lower temperatures tonight.

Down to a minimum of 7 degrees above zero last night, the mercury climbed to 13 at noon today, but will hover around the zero mark tonight, the weather man announced.

Checking up on the results of the terrific storm, the Panhandle learned that city traffic was paralyzed, highway travel impossible, passenger trains marooned, livestock threatened, and fruit, truck gardens and shrubs killed by the freeze.

Two persons, a girl of 13 and a youth of 21, were reported lost in the storm near the city limits.

BILL CONSTITUTIONAL

At the critical time of the year, when we are planning and planting our flowers and gardens, storing our winter furs, and making every preparation for the coming of spring and summer, the great South Plains is experiencing the worst cold spell, at this time of year, since 1899. We immediately bring out our winter clothing which has been stored for the summer and look with sorrow on our gardens, orchards and crops that have been killed.

Even with the family car, which no doubt has been drained, in storage and all the family sitting around the warm fire in the home, with no thought of any danger from the lack of that clean and economical fuel, "Natural Gas," it might be of great interest to know that fifty to seventy five employes of this company are standing guard and striving to give the best service possible to the city distribution system so that none will suffer from cold, or lack of gas pressure.

SOUTH PLAINS PIPE LINE COMPANY

Transporting that clean and economical fuel, natural gas, through 1,000 miles of pipe Line on the great South Plains.
