DROUTH AID PLANS READY

ARMISTICE PROGRAM PLANNED

Plans for an Armistice day celebration in Childress Saturday, sponsored by the Cox-Furr post of the American Legion, was announced today by Legion leaders.

A downtown program in the morning, a Legion luncheon at noon, a program at the high school auditorium in the afternoon and a dance in the evening will make up the holiday observance.

The opening event will be a man-on-the-street program, through a loud speaker, on a downtown street at 10 o'clock. George Spear will interview passersby on patriotic questions.

Minute of Silence

This will be followed by a one-minute silence in tribute to war dead at 11 o'clock.

Legionnaires and their families will attend the luncheon at noon.

The program at the high school will open at 1:30 with band music. All Gold Star Mothers will be seated on the stage.

Rev. Orion W. Carter will give the invocation, the audience will sing "America" and Post Commander R. H. Taylor will give a brief address. Mrs. J. O. Hix, auxiliary president, will then introduce Gold Star Mothers and present them Gold Star bouquets.

Following war songs by the audience, the principal speaker, to be selected this week, will deliver an address.

The dance, at the city auditorium Saturday night, will be arranged by O. H. Williams. Hetrick's Rhythm Clowns will furnish the music and it will be open to the public.

The Legion is requesting that all Childress churches have special Armistice sermons Sunday.

Four Killed in Munitions Blast

JOPLIN, Mo. (UP)—Four men were killed today when 1,500 pounds of dynamite exploded at the Dupont powder plant near here.

The men were working in a machine house packing dynamite into shells.

Cause of the blast was not known. All others of the 55 men working at the plant escaped.

The machine house was demolished and windows shattered at Joplin and Carl Junction. Plant officials said this was the first fatal accident since 1923.

Lions Ladies Night Tonight

Members of the Childress Lions club will entertain their ladies tonight at one of the organization's regular Ladies' Nights.

The event will be at the Presbyterian church and will replace today's noon luncheon of the club. It will start at 7 o'clock.

Deskins Wells, Wellington newspaper publisher, will speak and a varied musical program will be presented.

KP'S Attend Paducah Meet

Seven members of the Knights of Pythias lodge here went to Paducah last night as guests at an oyster supper given by the lodge there. In the party were W. M. Hannah, T. P. White, E. V. Fite, B. M. Loter, E. R. Reeves, J. W. Judkins and J. J. Piggott.

Four visitors from the Lubbock lodge, including G. H. Ater, grand prelate, were also present. A cash donation for the Pythian orphanage was made by the group.

Voters Ignore Special City Election Today

Today's special city election in Childress is being ignored by a large majority of the voters.

The purpose of the election is to name a city councilman to fill the unexpired term of C. V. Jones, who resigned recently when he was elected mayor. George Robertson is the only candidate for the post, and as a result, voting is extremely light.

Jail Decision Is Delayed

County commissioners yesterday afternoon decided to defer action on the present jail question at a meeting yesterday afternoon.

The jail will not be needed when the new courthouse and jail building is occupied. Commissioners will decide whether the present building will be torn down, removed from the block or remain on its present site.

Another Drunk Driving Case Is Filed Here

Another drunk driving case was added to the lengthening list filed here recently when Preston Lowrey was charged in a complaint filed yesterday afternoon. He was arrested by highway patrolmen Sunday night on the highway north of Childress.

He waived examining trial and was bound over to action of the district court grand jury under bond of $500.

Two young men yesterday afternoon pleaded guilty to affray charges and were fined $14 each in justice court. One drunk also drew a $14 fine on a guilty plea.

Farm Meeting

Childress farm leaders are in Amarillo today for a district meeting on the 1940 AAA farm program.

Among those attending are County Agent V. E. Hafner, Home Demonstration Agent Reba Curtis and W. J. House, AAA administrator in the county.

CALIFORNIA VOTES ON 'HAM AND EGGS' PLAN

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—A plan to provide a lifetime "dole" for all unemployed citizens over 50 years old was offered California voters for the second time today. A near-record vote was forecast.

The proposition was the "ham and eggs" pension plan which had been branded "fantastic" by President Roosevelt and "unconstitutional" by Gov. Culbert Olson. Theoretically it would pay 30 one-dollar warrants each Thursday for life to all citizens over 50 who are neither employees nor employers.

It was in the form of a constitutional amendment. A less drastic measure received 1,143,000 votes last November, but was defeated. Betting odds were about five to one that the revised amendment would lose today.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)—Kentucky voters select state, county and municipal officials today in an election in which republicans, outnumbered in a democratic stronghold, hope to show a weakening in new deal strength.

CAPROCK PROJECT ADVANCED

Assurance that the Caprock dam project will be included in the 1940 flood control bill submitted at the January session of congress by the house rivers and harbors committee was given two members of the Upper Red River Flood Control and Irrigation district board in Washington last week.

The U. S. army engineers, who have made a detailed survey of the project, are expected to release their report early next year and if it is favorable, early action will be possible.

Assurance that the project will be included in the bill was given Ernest Tunnell of Quitaque, general manager of the project, and Tom Dunbar of Memphis, secretary. They returned yesterday from Washington.

While in Washington, the two men also made arrangements for Childress, Hall and Briscoe counties to be included on the list of counties eligible for special drouth and flood relief funds. They met with Rep. Marvin Jones and Sen. Tom Connally, both members of

Air Battle Is Reported

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (UP)—A fight between war planes was reported today off the west coast of Jutland.

Two bombers, which came from the north, were pursued by 12 planes in a 15 minute combat. Later observers said the bombers dived and escaped to the south.

The 12 pursuing planes were believed to be British. It was believed that they were pursuing two German bombers, which had attempted to bomb the north Scottish coast.

Colder Weather Due Tonight

Colder weather will move into this section again tonight, the United Press forecast today said, and the mercury may again dip below the freezing point.

There is little indication of moisture.

Cloudy skies in Childress yesterday afternoon brought only a few drops of rain.

Stricken Areas Will Get Federal Relief Funds

WASHINGTON (UP)—Four federal agencies cooperated today in a comprehensive program to relieve drouth and flood suffering in more than one-third of the nation.

Too much or too little water in all or parts of 34 states, including Texas and Oklahoma, has caused those places to be designated as "disaster areas." Immediate federal aid is needed by hundreds of thousands of persons.

The plan for federal action was

Childress and surrounding counties are included in the drouth area and will be eligible for the aid. Details of the plan will be announced here within a few days, according to information from Washington.

drafted at the request of President Roosevelt after consultation with government relief agencies and with congressmen from the most seriously stricken states. The agencies participating are the farm security administration, the farm credit administration, the disaster loan corporation, and the federal surplus commodities corporation.

Cash Available
The first three have $33,500,000 in cash available for direct relief and loans. The surplus commodities corporation has ample funds to supply the distressed areas with whatever surplus foods are needed for several months, officials said.

Farm security administration officials said the local agencies have certified more than 93,000 drouth families and 23,000 flood-stricken families as being in "urgent need of federal aid." The number is expected to increase as the winter becomes more severe.

The FSA already is aiding 618,498 families and has applications from 400,000 others. Approximately half of those being aided are in drouth areas.

Present funds available for relief will be exhausted in January, officials estimated. Congress will be asked to appropriate additional money to carry on relief to June 30.

Agriculture department officials said the drouth, which began last July, has extended over a wider area than either the 1934 or 1936 dry periods.

Agriculture Teachers Meet

Fifteen vocational agriculture teachers from high schools of this area met here last night to hear a discussion of the 1940 federal farm program by W. B. Dryden, field representative of the AAA.

O. T. Ryan, area supervisor of the vocational agriculture work, presided at the meeting, which was held at the high school.

Mrs. Kincaid Pictures Lush Island Beauty

Flowers of Hawaii and of California were described as equally beautiful but quite different in type, by Mrs. R. L. Kincaid of Crowell who was presented as the speaker at the Garden club's fall flower show and tea yesterday.

Mrs. Kincaid was one of a party of 37 American women who made a garden tour last May and June. They attended state and regional Garden club conventions in California and saw the landscaping and floral displays on Treasure Island, scene of the Golden Gate exposition, before sailing.

Talking to a large group of guests at the Department club auditorium, Mrs. Kincaid told simply and vividly of the voyage across the Pacific, the welcome in Honolulu, and the tour of the islands where June is eternal and orchids grow wild.

Another guest from Crowell, Miss Dorothy Winningham, played two piano solos, "Tarantella", Heller, and "On the Holy Mount", Dvorak. Songs by Jack Berry, "There Is a Rainbow", and "Desert Song", accompanied by Mrs. W. R. Johnston, completed the program.

Mrs. Walter Smith, flower show chairman, introduced the program and at the close presented sweepstakes prizes to Mrs. W. U. Dannelly and Mrs. Q. S. Barrett, who ranked first and second in the number of blue ribbons won in the show.

Visitors at the club house through the afternoon were greeted by Mrs. Elmer Nelson and Mrs. J. M. Crews, and registered at a table in the foyer where Mrs. Ward Mathis presided. A bowl of goldfish set on a bed of marigolds decorated the table, and the registry was covered with gold cellophane which held a bunch of pressed flowers on the cover.

Mrs. C. P. Sanders and Mrs. C. J. Hargrave served hot punch, sandwiches and cookies from a table centered with yellow flowers and candles.

Committee members who assisted with other phases of the show included Mrs. R. H. Spiller, Mrs. Robert Kilgore, Mrs. W. H. Lee, Mrs. Barrett and Mrs. Dannelly. Judges were Mrs. John Gay, Misses Reba Curtis and Lula Caudell.

Eugene Hurt Is Birthday Honoree

Eugene Hurt was honored with a surprise birthday dinner at the home of his sister, Mrs. J. E. Cheatham, yesterday evening.

A dinner which consisted of baked chicken, dressing, giblet gravy, candied sweet potatoes, cranberry sauce, fruit salad, and coffee, was climaxed with a lighted angel food birthday cake.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Thomas of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hurt and children of Quitaque, Winston Yearly, and Robert Lawrence.

US WOMEN

By Muriel Albertson.

One of the most human of all human traits is that people always want what they haven't got. The grass always looks greener in the other pasture until we reach that pasture, then the next pasture seems positively emerald in comparison with the sickly green spot we are on.

The fact that we sweat and swear about the heat in summer, and then shiver and swear at the cold in winter is expressed in this little thing that isn't exactly a poem:

"As a rule a man's a fool,
When it's hot, he wants it cool;
When it's cool, he wants it hot.
He always wants what it is not."

Kings Observe Anniversary Of Wedding 62 Years Ago

Without making any fuss at all about it, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. King are spending their 62nd wedding anniversary quietly at their home, 408 D. SE, today. They were married Nov. 7, 1877, in the little Mississippi community where both had grown up. Mrs. King was Sarah Elizabeth Campbell before her marriage.

Three years later they came to Texas, lived in Limestone county a few years, then in Waxahachie where Mr. King operated a livery stable, and on Thanksgiving day of 1909 they came to Childress where they have made their home since.

They laughed today as they recalled their wedding, but Mrs. King hastened to add that it was a very nice wedding, with a number of friends and relatives present to witness the ceremony and enjoy a supper afterward.

But there almost wasn't a wedding, because the officiating justice of the peace turned up late. He was an old friend of both the bride and groom, who especially wanted him to perform the ceremony. He had to go several miles through thickly wooded country to reach the scene of the wedding, and he got lost.

"I thought I knew every hog-track in these woods!", he sputtered as he arrived late in the evening to read the service that was to have been solemnized about 7 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. King had known each other since childhood, and grown up together and played together, and they attribute their successful 62 years of marriage to the fact that they knew each other's ideas and habits thoroughly.

"Sixty-two years sounds like an awfully long time to live with one man", Mrs. King smiled, "but then it would be a lot of trouble to get used to another one".

They have eight children living, seven daughters and a son. One daughter, Mrs. Florence Orr of Texarkana, left yesterday after visiting them for several days.

The other daughters are Mrs. Marvin White of Childress, Mrs. Ruby Marrs of Ennis, Mrs. Maude Head of Haskell, Mrs. Madge Allison of Ola, La., Mrs. Sallie Youngblood of Waxahachie, and Mrs. Bess Harrison of Dallas. The son is Marvin King of Amarillo, former Childress resident.

CHILDREN'S Frequent COLDS For relieving discomforts of chest colds and night coughs, rub VapoRub on throat, chest, and back at bedtime. VapoRub's poultice-vapor action relieves congestion of upper air passages—eases soreness of chest and back muscles—helps the youngster relax into healing sleep. For coughing and irritated throat caused by colds, put VapoRub on the child's tongue to relieve the irritation. Then massage VapoRub on throat and chest. For "sniffles" and misery of head colds, melt VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water. Have the child breathe in the steaming vapors. This loosens phlegm, clears air passages, makes breathing easier. Also massage VapoRub on throat and chest. Millions of families use these three time-tested treatments. VICKS VAPORUB

Annual Tuberculin Test in School Is Worthy Goal for PTA Groups

(This is the last of three articles by Dr. J. H. Jernigan, Childress physician, explaining the need and value of the tuberculin tests to be given in schools here under sponsorship of the County Tuberculosis association, the American Legion Auxiliary and the Parent-Teacher associations. In this he discusses the effects of tuberculosis germs on the body, and what the individual can do to check ravages of the dread disease.)

Tuberculosis germs cannot enter a baby's body before birth. When tuberculosis seems to "run in families" it is because the close contacts of home life have made it possible for one member of the family to pass the germs on to other members.

When living tuberculin germs first gain entrance to the body, the body does its best to destroy them before they can find a lodging place. If the body is unable to do this, the germs lodge usually in the lungs, but sometimes in the bones, the kidneys or other organs. Tiny body cells then move to the place where the germs have gained a foothold.

They start at once to build a shell around the germs. This shell with its contents is called a tubercle because it looks like a small tuber, or bulb. The germs in this little jail can do no harm except to destroy the body tissues enclosed with them.

When calcium (lime) takes the place of the destroyed tissue and the little shell becomes hard and stony, the body has won the victory. A doctor who sees in the X-ray picture of a person's lungs one or more of these lime-filled areas will say, "You once had tuberculosis."

If tuberculosis germs enter a body which has lost its fighting power through lack of proper food and rest or for any other reason, or if the germs multiply too rapidly, the body cells may not be able to hem in the germs fast enough. It is then that the body begins to show signs of tuberculosis. A doctor who examines an X-ray picture of the part of the body attacked will say, "This patient has tuberculosis."

Tuberculosis examinations should be conducted by doctors who are guided by tuberculin tests and X-ray pictures where the results of the former indicate the need for the latter.

Many schools already have these checkups annually. But since a great many more do not, we have here a huge field for constructive work on the part of Parent-Teacher groups and other organized groups.

The value of such preventive work need hardly be expounded, yet one glittering example of the benefits of it is afforded by the experience of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, which subjects its 17,000 employees to a yearly tuberculosis test. The majority of these workers are girls in the high hazard age of 20 to 24 years.

This age group now has the highest death record of all classifications, male or female, with an alarming rate of ten and one-half per thousand. In view of that mortality figure it is illuminating to realize that the total tuberculosis deaths among the Metropolitan's 17,000 employees last year was only three!

The principal credit for that fine showing goes, naturally, to early diagnosis, for with early diagnosis, healing is relatively simple.

What can you do about that? A great deal.

First of all, you can immediately set about starting that rumpus which will presently develop into a routine annual tuberculosis examination of every pupil in the schools of your city.

Second, you can lend your moral support to the war on tuberculosis by paying heed to the propaganda dedicated to the search for all tuberculosis and the uncovering of as much as can be found.

Flower arrangements: Blue ribbon to Mrs. Smith, red to Mrs. Dannelly and white to Mrs. Denman for old-fashioned bouquet; blue to Mrs. Crews for informal arrangement; red to Mrs. C. E. Morgan and white to the Garden club for table arrangement.

Judges announced the following points as a basis for judging the arrangements:

Crowding is the most common fault in arranging bouquets. The general rule is to keep them simple and use fewer blossoms. Even in the old-fashioned bouquets, where a riot of color is permissible, too many blooms will choke the container.

Table decorations especially need to be kept simple, and kept low enough not to interfere with the view across the table. A cheerful note is important here, and flowers with heavy odor are not appropriate. The arrangement should not be too stiff and even, as a natural look is wanted. Another consideration is the appearance of the flowers under artificial light.

Highway Through Quanah Widened

QUANAH.—The state highway department is extending the width of highway 370 in the Quanah area for 7.8 miles. The work started October 23. The paving will be made ten feet wider from Eleventh street to the end of the loop west providing a 40-foot slab through the west portion of the loop through Quanah. It will be extended eight feet on each side from Eleventh street east in the city limits providing a 36-foot slab.

West of Quanah the work will continue to Acme, five miles away with six feet added on each side, making a 30-foot highway from Quanah to Acme. Six feet will be added for 1.6 mile on the east of Quanah also, providing a 30-foot entrance to the loop.

Isn't This Why You Are Constipated?

What do you eat for breakfast? Coffee, toast, maybe some eggs? What do you eat for lunch and dinner? Bread, meat, potatoes? No wonder you're constipated; you probably don't eat enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean the amount you eat. It means the kind of food that forms a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines. It's this mass that helps a bowel movement.

The common sense thing to do is to eat a natural laxative food. Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast may give you just the "bulk" you need. And it gives you, in addition, Nature's great intestinal-aid, vitamin B₁. All-Bran is not a drug, not a medicine. Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and life will be brighter for you! All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

DEATH TOLLS MOUNT WHEN CHILDREN WALK IN THE STREET... Build more CONCRETE SIDEWALKS

Every child or adult who walks in the street is taking a definite and unnecessary chance with his life. Motor lanes weren't built for pedestrians. Keep them clear by providing concrete sidewalks.

Why not talk this serious need over with neighbors and take action now. The safety problem is rapidly getting worse. Besides, concrete walks increase property values and would be a source of pride and convenience to your neighborhood. Ask a concrete contractor for an estimate, or discuss the matter with your officials.

Part of Curriculum

The school system in this country has gone a long way since the days of the rawboned, fossilized schoolmaster who ruled with a stern countenance and a hickory stick. Nowadays, the pupils have almost as much to say about the running of the classroom as the teachers themselves—in some things, at least.

For most normal small fry, school will never be quite as much fun as sandlot baseball or hopscotch. But education in the lower grades is a lot easier to take these days than it was 30 or 40 years ago. More important, youngsters in public schools are getting a rough idea of what democracy means. The world is beginning to mean more to them than just something they find in their history books.

To find out how far democracy in education has gone, the Educational Policies Committee of the American Education Association is conducting a survey among public schools in the United States. The results of this study will be used to advance still further the teaching of democracy in a practical, comprehensible way.

There was a time, not very long ago, when the schools' total contribution toward building patriotic citizens was to teach youngsters the American creed, the "Star Spangled Banner" and the Pledge to the Flag. If that didn't make good Americans out of them, it was generally conceded there wasn't much hope.

It has been only with the introduction of streamlined educational systems that children were given a shot at this thing called democracy. They were permitted to organize clubs, elect their own officers, frame their own rules of conduct. Safety cadets were elected and finally student councils were formed. These councils, when they are properly set up, give elementary and high school students about as generous a part in the management of the school as can be safely given without having the pupils vote themselves a permanent vacation.

The Education Association's committee, after it has completed its research, will select a few representative schools and will experiment with even more progressive ideas in the matter of student democracy.

These youngsters, unlike their forbears, are going to grow up with the idea that democracy means more than just casting a vote for president every four years. They are getting so used to having a voice in the affairs about them that they won't be able to get rid of the habit when they become full-fledged citizens. They are learning not only the meaning of democracy but of Communism and Fascism as well—and how to tell all of them apart.

Flag-waving isn't enough, and reciting the American's Creed doesn't necessarily make a good citizen. But getting democracy mixed in with readin', writin', and 'rithmetic will probably show results in the future management of this country.

• BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

By BRUCE CATTON
 WASHINGTON.—The Townsend old age pension organization is about to begin the most thorough and intensive campaign it has ever undertaken—one which aims directly at the election in 1940 of a President and a Congress pledged to enactment of the eldest of the currently popular back-to-wealth plans.

The campaign begins Nov. 9, when 17 Pennsylvania radio stations will begin a series of twice-a-week Townsend broadcasts. It will not end until the 1940 presidential election is over. Between now and then it will likely become the most striking "pressure" campaign in recent political history.

One week after the Pennsylvania broadcast series begins, Dr. Francis E. Townsend and Senator Sheridan Downey of California begin a joint speaking tour of the state. Into 21 cities and towns they will carry their tidings of the coming prosperity for old folks.

Both the meetings and the broadcasts will be directed at the 1940 campaign; both will seek to strengthen and solidify Townsend strength in every quarter of the state.

TOWNSEND, DOWNEY TO STORM NEW YORK

In mid-December this whirlwind campaign will recess for the Christmas holidays. Immediately after the first of the year the scene will shift to New York.

Dr. Townsend and Senator Downey will conduct a similar speaking tour throughout the Empire State, while between 25 and 30 New York radio stations will be signed for twice-a-week broadcasts. These broadcasts, as in Pennsylvania, will last until the presidential election has been held.

Since the Senate will be in session during the winter, the doctor and the senator will hold all of their public meetings on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays.

After the New York campaign is ended, the same thing will be done in Ohio. Next the prosperity publicists will visit Illinois. Plans are not yet definite beyond that, but it is learned that the performance is to be repeated in state after state until the election.

RADIO CODE MAY CURB BROADCASTS

The radio angle of the program, of course, cuts squarely across the recently adopted code of the National Association of Broadcasters. Under its rulings stations may not sell time for the presentation of controversial issues.

It is probable that a way out will be found. The code does permit the selling of time during political campaigns for the discussion of "public proposals subject to ballot"—which certainly covers the Townsend plan—and it is likely that it will be ruled that that clause will permit the selling of time in this instance.

The Townsend people are confident that as a result of this campaign they will be able to build up a bloc of anywhere from 6,000,000 to 12,000,000 voters who will apply to all candidates for every national office one simple test: will he vote for the Townsend plan?

In this, they are following the tried-and-true procedure which once made the Anti-Saloon League such a power in American politics. If they round up anything in the neighborhood of the number of followers they expect to get, they would almost certainly hold the balance of power in Washington.

OPEN ATTACK ON CONGRESSMEN

This new campaign supplements one launched last summer, after the Townsend plan was voted down in the House of Representatives.

NOVEMBER'S MESSAGE

By Mable C. Bogan

November's here with her message,
 Two important dates
 Forever stamped in history
 While the world waits.

War raging, November's message
 Time only can tell;
 She'll sound the horrid voice

But how we long and trust
 As the month glides away,
 We may claim Armistice glory
 On Thanksgiving day.

• BARBS

A civic-minded individual recently donated to his local zoo a monkey which, during his first 10 minutes on Monkey Island, slapped down seven other monkeys, beat up two raccoons and grabbed three fish. That would explain the philanthropy.

Male students at a southern university said they would prefer getting their education without co-eds around. One could scarcely call that education.

Dr. Townsend and his aides kept a careful check on the way the representatives voted. They immediately organized a number of "flying squadrons" to go into the districts of anti-Townsend Congressmen and do some intensive organizing work.

That program has been carried on ever since. Right now, for instance, there are a dozen of the squadrons in the field, carefully building up local clubs in the home districts of the pension plan's leading Congressional foes.

• THE FAMILY DOCTOR

V. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF

Second of three articles on the hunting season.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
 Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine.

Losses of life and permanent injuries resulting from careless gunfire while hunting can be avoided. But there are other hazards of hunting that need some attention.

One of them is freezing. If you are sensitive to cold, it is best to stay indoors in cold weather; but if you must go out, wear woolen socks, long underwear and thick boots or shoes. In that way you may avoid frost bite, chilblains or frozen feet.

Many huntsmen are injured by falls on the ice. You do not need to go hunting, however, to be subject to this hazard. Older people, particularly, should guard against slipping on the ice by installing hand rails on the steps, by keeping the steps clear of snow and ice, and by putting ashes on the steps early in the morning on a freezing day. Broken hips in old people often result in death.

The sportsman pursuing game in winter should remember the dangers connected with walking on thin ice. Ice one inch thick is not safe; ice two inches thick will hold one person; ice three inches thick will hold a small group, and ice four inches thick will hold a large group.

Insufficient care of small wounds, cuts and scratches on the hands is also dangerous. Sometimes such negligence is fatal. Blood poisoning may appear after a trivial injury, such as a wound from a sliver of wood or a nail. Red streaks may appear running up the arm or the leg. There will be a fever and after 24 hours the patient will be seriously ill.

Any cut, scratch or puncture of the skin should be carefully cleaned and treated with tincture of iodine or some other suitable antiseptic immediately after the accident. A gunshot wound should have medical attention at the earliest possible moment.

NEXT: Precautions against tularaemia.

RULES AND CONDITIONS GOVERNING THIS OFFER

To obtain the 10 symphonies and symphonic masterpieces and the electric Record Player to be distributed in this Music Appreciation Plan, proceed as follows:

First, fill in and mail the Reservation Form printed in the lower right corner of this page. The purpose of this form is not to obligate you in any way, but to enable us to estimate the quantity of records and Record Players to have on hand to meet the demand.

Each day during this music appreciation offer, we will publish a reminder coupon setting forth the date on which each symphony will be ready. You can get your first symphony (Franz Schubert's No. 8 in B minor) on November 4. Subsequent symphonies will be released one every two weeks thereafter. Watch the reminder coupon which will be published daily. It is not necessary for you to clip the coupons in order to get your records or Record Player.

You obtain each symphony, which consists of three or four double-faced 12-inch records, for a payment of $1.49. This payment is not for each record, but for all THREE or FOUR records. Symphonies which consist of FIVE double-faced 12-inch records require a payment of $1.98 for the entire symphony of all FIVE records. The Cesar Franck Symphony in D Minor, on account of its great length, is divided into two units, each unit consisting of three double-faced 12-inch records, and the cost of each unit is $1.49, the same as for any other three-record group.

A quantity of de luxe records, known as Philharmonic Transcriptions, enclosed in beautiful record albums which have been designed individually for each particular symphony, are available at a slightly higher price.

NEW YORK (UP)—Monday's grid-iron:

Michigan must have an awful champagne hangover today after the party given by Bob Zuppke and Illinois... Michigan's new "point-a-minute" team played up to its name—but only for 7 minutes... The Illinois victory not only increased Zuppke's reputation as a coach, but added to his prestige as a painter... He is the first worker in oils ever to paint an entire state blue in two and a half hours...

Now that the arms embargo has been lifted we wonder if Minnesota, through its purchasing agent, Bernie Bierman, will be able to buy armaments that will enable it to win a football game... In beating Minnesota the Northwesterns finally shook loose Bill De Correvont and the youngster made his scrapbook come to life... For a few seconds he looked as good as his press clippings read...

Tennessee stuck another rose in its hair by knocking off Louisiana State and the only thing that can keep the Vols out of the Rose Bowl is a discontinuance of transcontinental travel... The Tennessee backs were so fast that had they been in Baton Rouge on the day of THE great disappearance they would have caught Prexy Smith before he got to the city limits...

The Oregon Trail doesn't lead to the Rose Bowl anymore... The Oregon State Beavers bowed out before Howard Jones' Southern California Trojans... The Trojans used only three first-string quarterbacks in the game which would indicate that Jones has finally cut down his squad to a neat, workable unit of 250 or thereabouts... We know the origin of the expression "an army travels on its stomach..." The man who coined the phrase saw the Army play Notre Dame...

The Texas Aggies became the Arkansas Travelers on Saturday and did more to the Razorbacks than Armour or Swift could... The Aggies are tougher than the Alamo defenders and fast as a jackrabbit with floating power... Far above Cayuga's waters loyal Cornellians were picking spots to leap from just as a blocked kick enabled the big red to down Columbia's small but game forces... During most of this game the Big Red was such a pale pink that even the Dies committee wouldn't have been interested...

Oklahoma's burly Sooners continued to stay as hot as a five-alarm fire in a celluloid collar factory... They had an easier time beating Iowa State than Gandhi has dressing... TCU continues to be a scourge... Last year it was the scourge of the Southwest; now it's the scourge of its coach, Dutch Meyer... The Chinese never handled Rice any better than Fordham did on Saturday...

Santa Clara beat Stanford by three touchdowns but won't get much credit, that being par for the Stanford course this year... U. C. L. A. blacked out California and Chicago claimed the football after the game for its moral victory in holding Virginia to 47 points... Long Island University, with one of the best teams that money can buy, continued its winning ways with an easy win over West Virginia Wesleyan... You may be able to stop Pitt but you can't stop Pittsburgh... With three first rate teams to depend on the smoky city is never without a winner... When Pitt bogged down last year Carnegie Tech flared up, and this year when both the Panthers and the Plaid slumped Duquesne took over and now has won six straight... It took Dartmouth 50 years to get one victory over Yale... Now it looks as if it will take the Little-Boy-Blues a hundred years to get one over Dartmouth...

QUANAH.—The Quanah Indians, with only two conference games behind them, travel into the next county Friday night and clash with the Childress Bobcats.

The Bobcats are sitting on the 2AA throne and will be difficult to topple from the top. Though the Indians edged over into the win column last week they will journey to Childress Friday night well aware of what is confronting them.

The Indians have comparatively stopped all attacks and displayed an unlimited amount of fighting courage, defensive play and disrespect for dopesters' predictions. Friday night they will deliver 60 minutes of the hardest fought football ever witnessed in the section in quite a spell.

The Indians have remembered that the deadly forward pass can be effective on both the defensive as well as the offensive and have made a habit of grabbing off opponents' passes much to their own advantage.

Quanah will take on Childress with two regulars still on the injury bench. Tate and Lowery both were used but little against Graham.

On the defensive at Graham, four players played a whale of a game, Z. & B. Henderson, Edmondson and Wells. Wells and Edmondson were strong on the offensive, helped by Foresythe and Epps.

Barring training mishaps this week, the Indians will go into the game Friday night just about as strong as they were against Graham.

Deutschland Is Seen Near Azores

LONDON (UP)—Neutral naval circles reported today that allied naval units had sighted the German pocket battleship Deutschland in the neighborhood of the Azores islands.

The allied naval command has worked out a definite plan to hunt down the Deutschland because its presence in the Atlantic endangers shipments of allied war materials from the United States, a reliable source reported.

It was said that the Deutschland's presence off Newfoundland ten days ago had been confirmed and that an attempt was being made to keep a close check on its movements.

● PERFECT BALANCE Aggies Combine Power, Speed and Deception to Blast Opponents

By Jerry Bronfield
NEA Service Sports Writer.

Word went out that Homer Norton would have his troubles when Dick Todd, finest running back in the Southwest Conference, graduated, but like most good football teams, Texas A&M failed to fall apart because of the loss of a key man.

In fact, the Aggies, currently regarded as the class of the cow country, are a vastly better club than they were a year ago, and a good bet to win their first loop championship since 1927 when only a tie with Texas Christian blighted their record.

The reason might easily be summed up in one word: Balance.

Buck Shaw, whose Santa Clara team—a good Santa Clara team—went down to a 7-3 defeat, considers A&M the best balanced team he has ever seen.

Shaw, Notre Dame lineman of 20 years ago, has seen a few teams. "When they turn on the power they're tremendous," he says. "They're just as dangerous when they go in for the tricky stuff. They've got accurate and deceptive passing and top-notch kicking. Back this up with a whale of a defense and you've got a great team."

A week after beating Santa Clara in the Broncos' own back yard, the Aggies swamped a powerful Villanova outfit, 33-7. Two successive high spots like that were enough to indicate Homer Norton's boys were headed for a seat with the mighty.

Most Feared Fullback
Spark plug of the circuit is John Kimbrough—Jarrin' John, they call him—last of four football playing brothers who have made gridiron history in the southwest.

Brother Bill was a star Aggie back in 1935. Frank coaches Hardin-Simmons. Jack is a reserve end on the present Aggie squad. John plays fullback and is labeled the best in the conference.

Six feet two and weighing 210 pounds, Kimbrough combines terrific line-battering tactics with plenty of speed and cleverness which enables him to skirt the ends like the slipperiest of halfbacks. He leads the conference in scoring.

The steadying influence of the squad is Walemon (Cotton) Price, senior signal caller and plunger.

Derace Moser, a brilliant sophomore, fills the left halfback post and Jim Thomason, 200-pound junior who is the best blocking back in Aggie history, deploys at right half.

Marion Pugh's average as a passer is better than .500. Willie Conaster, most elusive back on the squad with touchdown runs of 95, 64 and 50 yards, spells Moser.

With all this versatility at his command Norton is able to get plenty of variety in his offense.

He uses the single and double wing, box and punt formations. Champion Plays Guard

Tommy Vaughn, 185-pound junior, heads the center corps, ably backed up by Odell Herman, a converted backfielder.

Marshal Foche Robnett, a tough junior who is the Cadet Corps' heavyweight boxing and wrestling champion, does mighty well at one guard and has a good running mate in Charles Henke, still another junior who was converted from tackle.

Joe Boyd, senior tackle, is the standout performer up front. A fierce 200-pounder, he bellows like a maverick steer every time Norton takes him out of the game for a brief rest. Ernie Pannell, another 200-pounder, fills the other tackle slot.

A large and capable corps of ends make an ideal supplement to the Aggies' passing attack. Jim Buchanan is a talented sophomore. Bill (Big Dog) Dawson, biggest man on the squad at 6 feet 5 inches, is a junior who hauls 'em down with one hand.

Three seniors know the tricks—Herb Smith, Joe White and Bill Duncan.

A heads-up ball club, Homer Norton's Aggies make their own breaks.

● HUNTING Duck Season To Open Week From Tomorrow

Duck hunters may oil up their fowling pieces this week for the duck hunting season will open at 7 a. m., one week from tomorrow morning.

Will J. Tucker, game commission secretary, said reports showed a bigger supply of ducks than any fall the past five years would be ready for hunters.

Restrictions Numerous
Major restrictions pointed out by Tucker were:

Limits: (Except Ross' geese and wood ducks on which there are no open seasons) three of one species or not more than three in the aggregate of canvasbacks, redheads, ruddy ducks and buffleheads. Others, limit 10, possession 20.

Geese and brandt, four daily, eight in possession.

Coot, daily and possession limit 25.

Persons over 16 years old must obtain duck stamps and have them attached to the back of their state hunting license which must be procured by all over 17 hunting out of the county of their residence.

No Live Decoys

It is unlawful to shoot waterfowl over baited areas and to use live decoys. The migratory birds cannot be taken from or by the aid of automobiles, sink boxes (battery), power boat, sail boat, any boat under sail, any floating craft or device towed by power or sail boat.

Hunting is limited to between the hours of 7 a. m. and 4 p. m.

Shotguns larger than 10 gauge or holding more than three shells are illegal.

How to Identify

For quick identification: the wood duck makes a whistling sound, has a faltering flight and weaves its head as it flies; the bufflehead is small, stocky, has swift moving wings and, in flight, conspicuous white patches on wings; The canvasback is white on the body and base of wings and a long bill gives it the appearance of a long neck and head—it is large and swift; the redhead generally flies low over the water and has a dishd forehead; the ruddy duck is distinctly small, has a short tail and skims over the water.

As far as Germany's relations with America are concerned, there is no possibility of any difference ever arising between the two countries.—German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop.

Don't walk like a duck. From the knees up our American women are gorgeous, but the way they use their feet is horrible.—Margery Wilson, social etiquet dictator.

● BAD NEWS Bates Still Limping as Cats Start Drills

The possibility that Vic Bates will not be in top shape for Friday night's important game with the Quanah Indians caused considerable worry in Bobcat football circles yesterday afternoon as the squad started work for the game.

Bates suffered a badly bruised leg muscle in the Vernon game over two weeks ago, and was on the bench during the Olney contest the following week. He was expected to be ready to go this week, but he was still limping badly yesterday afternoon and was unable to participate in a scrimmage session.

Unless he improves rapidly during the next two days, he will not be in shape for full-time duty against Quanah.

James Willeford, tiny speedster who worked in Bates' slot against Olney, will again handle the full-back duties if the injured ace isn't ready.

Defensive play was featured in the workout yesterday afternoon, with the reserves running Quanah plays and formations. Quarterback LeRoy Reeves continued in Bates' linebacking position.

The Indians have a tough defensive club, particularly against a ground game. Their line is big and Fullback Wells is one of the best linebackers in the circuit.

Wells is also a triple-threatener on offense.

In the game Friday night, the Bobcats will be out to retain their district 2 lead, while the Indians will attempt to retain their mathematical chance at the flag.

● FOOTBALL Only Eight Grid Teams Are Unbeaten

By Harry Ferguson
United Press Sports Editor.
NEW YORK.—There were only eight hardy survivors in the magic circle of major unbeaten football teams today as the season went into its final month.

Three—Michigan, Nebraska and Oregon State—fell by the wayside over the weekend and stern opposition still is ahead for those who have kept their records clean of defeats.

Southern California is undisputed king of the far West and seems certain to carry the hopes of the West into Pasadena's Rose Bowl. The Trojans' 19-7 victory over Oregon State disposed of their most dangerous opponent to date, and knocked Oregon State from the ranks of the unbeaten.

Dixie Dominates
Notre Dame and Oklahoma bestride the Middle West with powerful, resourceful teams. Notre Dame had an easy time with Army and the great Oklahoma team, one of the real powerhouses of the nation brushed aside Iowa State, 38 to 6. Nebraska caught a tartar in Missouri and suffered its first defeat of the season.

Tennessee, which has to be ranked as the top team of the nation despite a schedule that gives them a breather every other week, remains untied, unbeaten and unscored on. That 20-0 victory over a tough Louisiana State team is a fair indication of Tennessee's power. The South, however, emerges as the strongest section of the country. Behind Tennessee comes Texas A&M, Tulane and North Carolina—all of them undefeated. If this keeps up, Dixie is going to dominate the New Year's bowl games.

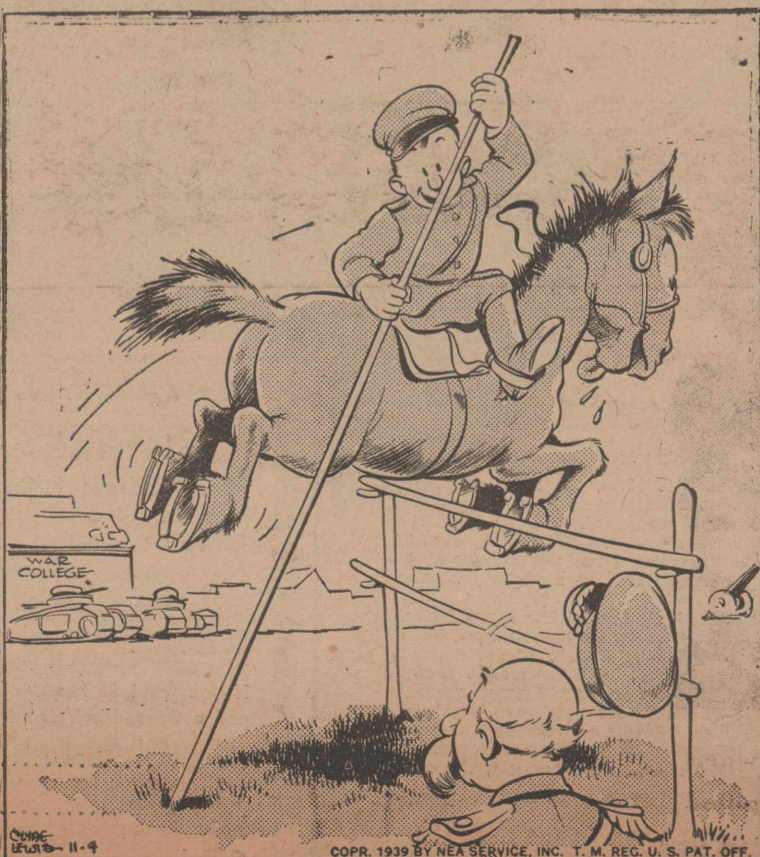

Cornell, despite a close call against a weak Columbia team, remains the best in the East—unbeaten and untied and victor over powerful Ohio State.

There may be trouble ahead for six of the eight leaders. Tennessee will have an easy time against The Citadel this Saturday and North Carolina will steam-roller Davidson. But Oklahoma meets Kansas State, Southern California plays Stanford, Tulane collides with Alabama, Notre Dame goes against Iowa, Texas A&M meets Southern Methodist, and Cornell plays Colgate. There should be at least one upset lurking in those eight games.

According to estimates, in England, one in every five persons over the age of 40 suffers from rheumatism.

AREA SCHOOL NEWS

FRESHMAN IS CROWNED QUEEN OF KIRKLAND HS

KIRKLAND.—For the first time in its history, a freshman girl was elected queen of Kirkland high school. Blond, smiling 13-year-old Algalee Williamson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alga Williamson, was crowned queen of the school last Tuesday night at the annual Hallowe'en carnival. She was escorted by R. H. Salmon, Jr.

If the 6,042 votes cast in the queen's race, Algalee polled 2,208. Olean Barclay, junior candidate, and Juarene Wheeler, senior delegate, each polled 1752; Laura Ruth Snodgrass was the sophomore class nominee.

Algalee, winner of junior girls' declamation of Childress county last year, takes a prominent place in class activities. She is the reporter to the school paper, a member of the Home Economics club and the volleyball team.

She confesses that her pet peeve is to hear someone quarrel. Her hobby is collecting match folders and at present she has amassed a great number. She has ambitions to become a stenographer.

Before the coronation ceremony, the Kirkland elementary grades presented a short program. Numbers included rhythm bands, vocal quartet, musical readings, and a Hallowe'en play, "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Ghost?"

Scott, and to the best-dressed girl, Miss Virginia Hardin.

Afterward, apples and candy were served to Misses Otis and Doris Hayes, Margaree King, Elizabeth Burns, Mary Dell Phillips, Clara Johnson, Virginia Hardin, Kathryn Malloy, Ruth Eaves; and William Murray, R. C. Parrish, Vaughn Hunter, A. D. Scott, Adrian McFather, Jack Lanham, and Shirley Diggs.

PERSONALITIES TODAY'S PROFILE

By The United Press

Dr. Homer Lawrence Morris, 53, who with another American Quaker signed a recent report on hunger-killed dead piled under debris in war-ravaged Warsaw, is the commissioner to Germany of the American Friends Service Committee.

He has a long and distinguished record of achievement in emergency work. In 1921 he was sent to Germany as director of child relief in Berlin, and the following year went to Russia, where he directed family relief at Puzuluk. He also investigated hunger conditions among children of the Ruhr Valley in 1923.

A native of Fairmount, Ind., he lives when not engaged in relief or educational work at Wallingford, Pa., near Philadelphia. He has one son, now a student at Earlham College, Richmond, Ind.

Morris is a rather heavy-set man with thinning gray hair. He is quiet-mannered and has a professional reticence. He is popular with young people, and is noted for his ability to get things done.

His dominant interest is the plight of the negro. He is also author of a book describing the living conditions of soft coal miners.

After graduation from Earlham College, where his wife also studied, Morris won his doctorate at Columbia University in 1921. He taught political science intermittently at Earlham from 1918 to 1928. He also taught at Southland Institute for Negroes in Arkansas, a Quaker school; Fisk University, near Nashville, N. C., and Hunter College in New York.

In 1931, he became permanently attached to the American Friends Service Committee and was made director of child feeding in the bituminous area. About 40,000 children were fed by the committee. Money for food for this project came principally from former President Herbert Hoover.

He also is a director of Penn Craft, a community of coal miners, where they are taught social studies and learn to make themselves self-sufficient in other trades.

Clarence Barley Is President of Highpoint Fish

HIGHPOINT.—Freshmen of Highpoint high school met Friday to organize their class for the year. Clarence Barley was elected president, Dewel Collins vice-president, Imogene Conway secretary-treasurer and Nadine Henley reporter.

Imogene Conway acted as temporary chairman while the election was held. Charles C. Vaughn is sponsor of the group.

Class dues of 10 cents a month were voted, to care for incidental expenses. Meetings will be on the first and third Fridays of each month.

Members present in addition to the officers were Johnny Smith, Nolan Bynum, Bessie Faye Jones, Pennie Jean Smotherman, Margaret West, Nola Dean White and Mr. Vaughn.

Wheat Acreage Is Unchanged

WASHINGTON (UP)—The agriculture department said today that the 1940 wheat acreage will be about the same as this year but that the drought may reduce production considerably below the 1939 crop.

Present indications, the department said, are for the seeding of about 64,600,000 acres in winter and spring wheat. Average yields per acre would produce a crop of 760,000,000 bushels.

Production Drops

TULSA, Okla. (UP)—A slight decrease, 1,437 barrels, in domestic daily average oil production was recorded last week, the Oil & Gas Journal reported today.

Texas averaged 1,285,423 barrels, up 35,000 daily, while Oklahoma fell off more than 4,000 barrels.

PEACE APPEAL IS ISSUED BY BELGIUM AND NETHERLANDS

Plea Goes to Britain, France And Germany

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (UP)—Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands and King Leopold of the Belgians appealed to Britain, France, and Germany today to negotiate peace before the war in western Europe breaks out in its full terror.

The sovereigns formulated the peace appeal after all night conferences with foreign ministers. They announced that they had sent telegrams to Adolf Hitler, President Lebrun of France, and King George of Britain, offering their good offices to bring the belligerent powers together.

The communique stressed that it emphasizes the solidarity between the Netherlands and Belgium.

It was the second move by the sovereigns, the former being on August 23.

The sovereigns' telegrams said that since it was difficult for the belligerents to "contact each other in order to declare precisely their point of view, we are ready to offer them our good offices and facilitate with all means at our disposal contacts to try to find a basis for agreement."

Leopold arrived unheralded last night and was received immediately by the queen. They conferred and then met with their foreign ministers at 2 a. m. and again this morning. They talked until noon.

BERLIN (UP)—Well-informed quarters believed tonight that Germany would welcome the peace move of Queen Wilhelmina and King Leopold but no official comment was available immediately.

LONDON (UP)—The peace appeal of Queen Wilhelmina and King Leopold, is "assured of a sympathetic reception in London" but is not expected to provide a basis for peace, informed quarters said today.

The allies are not willing to abandon the struggle except on terms which undoubtedly would not be agreeable to Adolf Hitler.

Box Supper Will Raise Band Fund

QUANAH.—An enormous community box supper will be held in Quanah November 16. The affair is being sponsored by the Band Parents and Boosters club to raise money for band instruments, according to B. H. Smith, club president.

The supper event is expected to draw a big attendance because Cecil Hunter of Amarillo, better known as Stuttering Sam, widely known radio and stage entertainer and impersonator will make a personal appearance. He will also serve as auctioneer. Every housewife in Quanah is being requested to provide a box.

Woman Falls to Death in Fire

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—A woman, being rescued on the shoulders of a fireman, plunged 100 feet to death from the smoke-shrouded upper floors of a big residential hotel Monday.

Apparently Mrs. Travis Harrison, 45, fainted and relaxed her grasp about the neck of her rescuer as he attempted to transfer from a scaling ladder to an aerial ladder which reached only to the ninth floor of the Netherlands hotel. Another fireman nearly fell to death from his swaying perch on the aerial ladder as he tried to catch Mrs. Travis. Her body struck the ladder truck.

TRANSFER OF AMERICAN VESSELS IS OPPOSED

WASHINGTON (UP)—The state department today objected to the proposed transfer of eight U. S. line ships to Panamanian registry.

The U. S. maritime commission had proposed to give final approval of the transfer today but has now deferred action pending full study of the situation.

Secretary of State Hull informed the maritime commission that he objected to the proposed move. He indicated that he considered the plan contrary to the spirit, if not the letter, of the neutrality law and the establishment of combat areas from which American shipping is barred.

Hull's objection came after it had been first indicated yesterday that there was no problem of foreign policy in the proposed transfer.

Hull explained that yesterday he was not fully acquainted with the full details of the transaction. He said however, that today when he studied the details of the proposed transfer, these did not make a favorable impression upon him.

Senate leaders criticized the proposed transfer as a "subterfuge." According to the commission, no official protest against the transfer has been received.

By the transfer action the vessels could, by employing foreign crews, engage in trade with the belligerent ports, carrying arms and munitions as well as other commodities. U. S. line operators argued that such a move was legitimate and was economically necessary to maintain a profitable level of operation. Otherwise, the ships would be without cargo, they said.

The U. S. line has received more than $2,000,000,000 annually in operating subsidies from the maritime commission. These subsidies were paid to offset the advantages of foreign flag operators over American lines with wages 40 per cent lower than American seaman standard and other costs.

By transferring the ships the company can operate without a subsidy because it will not have to pay American wages and will be able to buy material for repairs and fuel on the world market.

Wherever full liberty is left to the evangelistic doctrine, Christian sentiment will penetrate not only the souls of the citizens, but also the manifold diverse activities of public life.—Pope Pius XII.

Roosevelt Is Mentioned For Nobel Prize

OSLO, Norway (UP)—Discussing Nobel prize awards, the newspaper Tidens Tegn said today that if the peace prize is awarded at all this year, it would go to President Roosevelt.

"From various unimpeachable sources it is learned that there is no reason to doubt that President Roosevelt will be awarded the Nobel peace prize if it is awarded at all," the newspaper said.

"Certain members of the Nobel committee already have started endeavors in behalf of President Roosevelt as a candidate."

Other members of the committee, the newspaper said, do not wish to award the prize this year.

New Scheme To See the Girlyes

TULSA, Okla. (UP)—A new kind of flirt was making the rounds here today.

E. T. Wigg, head of the better business bureau, said young women had complained that a personable youth had called on them, offering jobs at a "new hosiery mill that is going to open here at $15 a week."

The catch; he insisted on measuring them from head to foot with a small tape measure to be sure they would "fit into the cramped space in the intricate machines."

Although the youth's story was a fake, Wigg said, there was nothing the better business bureau could do about it, because he apparently wasn't selling anything.

JOAN OF ARKANSAS

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD
COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Joan's father files to Tech upon receipt of the ransom demands and Joan is revealed as a wealthy heiress. Tommy Peters finally remembers where he saw Rocco's picture. Rocco was mixed up in a St. Louis kidnaping. "I think I've got a clew," Peters shouts as he dashes out.

CHAPTER XXIV

DAN and Joan sat on the dusty sofa dejectedly, their backs against the wall.

"Mind if we talk?" Dan inquired.

"Talk your fool head off," Big Ed told him. "As long as you don't get any ideas like bustin' out here, for instance." He dropped his hand into his coat pocket, casually but significantly.

Sam got up and took off his coat. "It's too tight," he explained. "It chokes me, almost."

Big Ed glanced at Sam's shoulder holster. "Put that coat back on and keep that rod covered. Some day you're gonna get too careless."

Ed took out a deck of cards and started playing casino with Sam. Every two minutes he raised his head and looked at Joan and Dan quickly.

"Scared?" Dan asked her quietly.

"I'd be a liar if I said I wasn't," she replied in a low voice.

"I think you're safe enough," he said. "That is, if your father comes through."

He frowned slightly. "That big guy said your father could raise four times that much in an hour. No one can do that unless . . . unless . . ." He hesitated.

"Unless what?"

"Unless he's rolling in dough."

"Pop thinks I'm worth $50,000, I think," she replied evasively.

"Lucky these guys aren't interested in ransom for one Dan-Webber. There isn't anyone who would raise 5 cents for me," he muttered gloomily.

"Wonder how much Coach Slocum would give for you right about now?"

"Don't remind me of that. Every time I think of rotting around this dump Saturday, I could howl."

He lowered his voice to a mere whisper. "We've got to get out of here."

"You've got to, you mean. Fifty thousand will take care of me. If you get your chance, just forget about me."

She got a kick out of his reply. "Say something like that again and I'll whack you one," he growled.

THEY heard the motor of a car coming down the road. Ed got up and looked out the window.

"It's Rocco," he said, and relaxed.

The sedan crunched up the drive. "Run it into the barn," Big Ed called. "Keep it outa sight."

Rocco came in a minute later, his arms laden with bundles.

"Well?" asked Ed.

"Okay," said Rocco. "I called Alex from a pay station in a drug store . . . didn't go far into town . . ."

"Yeah . . . yeah, go ahead . . ."

"Alex says the old guy climbed right up on his hind legs. Alex had one of the boys tail him . . . he ain't foolin', either . . . and he ain't wastin' time . . . chartered a plane and headed out this way"

"Let 'im come," said Ed. "He's gonna play our rules anyhow. He ain't even gonna come close. But if he does . . ." He focused glittering eyes on Joan.

Dan looked at Big Ed and read the expression on his face. A cold rage flared within him.

"You big gorilla . . . lay a hand on her and I'll take you apart!" Big Ed stared down on him, hands on hips. "Look who's taking who apart, would'ya!"

He walked over and lifted a menacing hand. "Why, you flip punk, you . . . I oughta . . ."

"Cut it, Ed," said Rocco. "He ain't gonna do anything to you. These kids just shoot their mouths off without thinking. Anyway, let's put on the feed bag."

"That's a swell idea," said Sam, moving toward the groceries Rocco had brought back.

"How about letting me help?" Joan asked.

Big Ed showed his surprise. "Sure, sister, but I can't imagine you being very much of a hand at this," he smirked.

"All you've got to do is show me how to operate that coal-oil stove there. That's a new one on me."

SHE and Sam took charge. They had ham, green beans, and coffee. "And we got cherry pie, too," said Rocco, pointing to another package. "We get fancy whenever we have company."

"Haw!" Sam laughed.

Dan didn't think it so funny.

"That town is getting nuts over that football game Saturday," Rocco remarked after supper.

Big Ed turned on him with exasperation in his voice. "Damn it, can't you forget about football for a while? Football, football, football! That's all I hear for the last three months outa you."

"I can pick 'em, can't I?" Rocco grinned. "I'm ahead three grand for the season . . . and I'm gonna pick up a nice chunk Saturday, too."

"Huh?"

"Sure. When I called Alex I told him to get me a grand's worth of that 4 to 3 on this Tech outfit."

"That ain't all," said Rocco. "I picked up a ticket down to the hotel last night before I come out. I'm gonna see that thing Saturday myself."

"You're crazy! You're gonna get us jammed up!"

"Who's gonna jam who up? Why, a guy couldn't spot an elephant in that crowd of 70,000 that'll pack that stadium."

"Say, this crowd has a good kid named Rhodes, ain't they?" Sam put in. "They say he's an All-America cinch. Ain't that right, Rocco? He's the kid wit' th' drums, ain't he, Rocco?"

Rocco sneered. "Rhodes? Hell, no. I can get you guys like him for a dime a dozen. He ain't my idea of a ball player, nohow. Too fancy!"

Dan and Joan were all ears. On a sudden impulse Joan goaded him on.

"Keith Rhodes is the best half-back we've had in years," she interrupted. "He's . . . he's . . ."

Rocco turned on her swiftly. "Girlie, you don't know what the score is. Me, I've been followin' this game for years. Sister, the guy that really makes that ball club click is a kid named Webber."

"He's the boy behind the works. Where would Rhodes get without him? That guy Webber is the most valuable football player in the country. Trouble is not enough people know it."

She felt Dan's muscles grow tense. Inside her there was a singing sensation. Funny, the way everyone else—even Rocco—had known. Everyone but her. Served her right, perhaps. She hadn't given herself much of a chance to believe it.

BIG ED suddenly sat up straight and laughed out loud. "Hey, Rocco, that's a good one!" He pointed to Dan. "Know who that kid is? From what you say, there's th' kid who could protect your grand . . . that's Webber!"

Rocco lifted his head slowly and stared at Dan. There was a funny, almost sickly expression on his face.

Rocco licked his lips. "You're kiddin'."

"He's right," Dan said. "I'm Webber."

"Well, I'll be—" Rocco shifted to Big Ed again.

"Look, Ed . . . this kid's only in the way, ain't he? You said so yourself. Why—why don't we let him go. He can't do us no harm . . . and without him my grand ain't got a chance"

French Claim Decisive Victory In U. S. Planes

PARIS (UP)—French aviators flying American Curtiss pursuit planes and outnumbered three to one Monday won the biggest air battle thus far on the western front and shot down nine German planes, the French high command announced.

French military leaders, elated over the victory, said it definitely proves the superiority of the American-made French planes and the courage and skill of the French air force.

The nine French planes, which clashed with 27 German pursuit ships over the fighting lines, returned to their bases without any losses, the announcement said.

Each of the nine French planes was said to have averaged one German plane shot down while the 18 German planes which escaped fled back to their German bases.

The British air ministry announced that royal air force planes had made another reconnaissance flight over Western Germany, obtaining valuable photographs. It was admitted that one of the British planes failed to return from the mission.

The French communique, 128th of the war, reported "Great activity by both air forces. In the course of a violent air battle nine French pursuit planes attacked a squad of 27 German pursuit planes. Nine of the latter squad were shot down, of which at least seven landed in our territory. Our complete squad returned undamaged."

Aliens to Work On U. S. Ships In Foreign Trade

NEW YORK (UP)—The United States Lines, transferring nine ships to the Panamanian registry for trade in war zones, will hire only alien officers and crews, it was announced today. The announcement drew vigorous protests from the National Maritime Union.

John Franklin, the line's president, said the ships would be manned by foreigners in keeping with the restrictions of the new neutrality law. It was believed that officers and crew would be British and Latin Americans.

President Joseph Curran of NMU demanded that the American seamen made idle by the law's restrictions be taken care of by the maritime commission and threatened to picket the commission if it failed to care for them.

Curran charged the U. S. line with trying to circumvent the neutrality law by switching their ships registry.

The U. S. line's actions was met with surprise in shipping circles here.

Public Forum

Now all you people who come passing through This city of Childress, what a wonderful view Is the grand courthouse all shining and new. But please don't stop and look in at the door; We don't want the public to know we are so poor. There's not a stick of furniture nor a rug on the floor. And oh, my heavens, where will the judge sit? I guess he can stand up til we pay for it. This is the poorest county I ever saw; We spent all our money to protect the law. They have a fine roof over their heads, But the poor old jailbirds won't have beds. The judge can stand up in an empty room And even pronounce the poor WPA's doom. He will close it all down and cut them all off Until he gets himself a fine feeding trough. Now traveling people, as you pass through, If you have any cold bread or food with you, Please, will you just put it in a sack And give it to some poor little Jim or Jack Who will be standing by the road with cold hands and feet, Cold and hungry, with nothing to eat. We would ask this of people from our own home town, But we're too poor to help the out and down. And if you should come to Childress in time of court Remember I warned you right from the start We have no furniture, no chairs to sit in; You'll have to stand up from beginning to end. But just the same we can put on a big show; It's all on the outside, not in, you know. Mrs. H. G. Hartgrove.

of boilers, $3,200 a year, bureau of marine inspection and navigation, department of commerce. Applicants must have had certain experience on either ocean, great lakes, or river vessels, or vessels owned and operated by the government. Applicants must have reached their 25th birthday but must not have passed their 48th birthday. The closing dates for this examination are Dec. 27 and Dec. 30, 1939. Full information may be obtained from the secretary of the United States civil service board of examiners at the post office.
