Plan To Run Special Train to World's Fair

SANTA FE, N. M.—"Citizens of New Mexico who intend to visit A Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago this year will do well to bear in mind that one or more special trains from New Mexico to Chicago are being planned," said Coe Howard, secretary-manager of the New Mexico Century of Progress commission, today. He did not announce definite dates for the special trains, but said that the dates and schedule would be arranged and announced later.

"The New Mexico Century of Progress commission is negotiating now for special trains to accommodate the citizens of the state who wish to visit a Century of Progress exposition, especially on the occasion of New Mexico Day," said Mr. Howard. "Rates which will be attractive and undoubtedly will enable many to go to Chicago, who otherwise could not, are being arranged."

"We expect to have the governor and many other notables of the state in Chicago on the occasion of New Mexico Day and are arranging special programs in the great open-air amphitheatre in the Court of States on that day and a few other days before and after."

"I would suggest that the citizens of New Mexico who are intending to visit Chicago would delay making any specific plans until we are able to announce the exact details concerning the time set for New Mexico Day and the schedules of the special trains."

Select New Teachers For High School

Three teachers in the Portales Junior high school were elected to positions in the senior high school at a meeting of the school board Tuesday afternoon, according to J. R. Shock, secretary of the board. Jay Thompson was elected to the science department and Burth Compton and G. M. Hunt to the English department.

Ora Davis was elected to junior high; Mr. Davis has been teaching in the grade school. Andrew F. Darr will take the place of Broda McCallister, who has resigned.

Carl Radcliff will be playground supervisor in the grades. Mr. Radcliff has been a teacher of Roosevelt county for several years and for the last few years has been located at Dora.

Miss Eleanor Nelson was elected to a position to be placed by the superintendent and principals.

The vacancies in the high school occurred by the marriage of three teachers, Misses Greenwaldt, Robinson and Van Kirk.

Land Bank Committee Working on Valuations

Lands in Roosevelt Receiving Unfair Consideration

The Federal Land Bank Committee of the Portales Chamber of Commerce met on Monday afternoon and are again taking up the matter of land valuations in Roosevelt county as considered in loans by the Wichita bank.

The bank does not give just consideration to these lands, in comparison of lands in adjoining counties in Texas. They are also causing serious inconvenience by their delay in making loans that have been approved.

The committee is contacting every secretary in the county, to gather data, to bring before the land bank, and when this data is completed a delegation will go to Wichita to have this matter adjusted.

Cooperation of the secretaries and farmers of Roosevelt county will simplify this work for the committee.

Complete Work on New Ball Park for Locals

One of the outstanding improvements of the 1934 Portales Baseball club over the clubs of previous years is the new ball park located near the swimming pool south of town.

The new grand stand will seat 150 fans in the shade and give them the best possible view of the game. Manager Roscoe Creek says there will be no extra charge for these seats.

Another means of providing the spectators with a better view of the game is a 70-foot wire net on each side of the diamond. Besides protecting the parked cars, spectators will not be allowed inside to obstruct the view of the progress of the game.

Manager Creek states that "our aim is to have six or seven hundred who can see the game and enjoy it."

There will be no trouble in finding the park. There will be arrows starting at Howard Hammond's filling station on State street that will direct persons without any trouble whatever. The distance to the field is about one mile from town.

No Change In Local Service At Bank

The story carried by the Associated Press over the state that the banks of New Mexico would charge a service charge of $1.00 on all accounts is erroneous.

At the meeting of Group Five at Portales recently the bankers disapproved of this charge, and J. H. Lee, cashier of the First National Bank of Portales, states that there will be no change in the service charge in this bank that has been in effect for some time.

FORMER RESIDENT GUEST IN J. B. SLEDGE HOME

Rev. W. W. Turner and daughter, Miss Jessie, spent Monday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Sledge.

Rev. Turner was pastor of the First Methodist church about 1910. He now lives in Oklahoma with his daughter. He is now a retired minister.

They visited many of their old friends in Portales Monday evening. They were on their way to Albuquerque to visit two of Rev. Turner's sons.

Junior College Filling Real Need

The record attendance at the opening of the Eastern New Mexico Junior college demonstrates beyond all doubt the great need of a college of this sort in this part of the state.

Instead of attracting from other state institutions, this college will become a feeder for the State university, giving a two-year course, preparing for the upper classes. Students have been pouring in from several of the eastern counties who would not have had the advantage of a college education had this college not been opened.

Critics and press over the state who have been knocking this college should spend a day in Portales and see the work being done. The faculty is as strong as that of any state institution and all are enthusiastic and are doing their part to make this college an outstanding success.

Living conditions here are such that students can attend at a minimum expense, have splendid church and social life, comfortable quarters and pleasant stay during their school life.

The opening of the Eastern New Mexico Junior college has been vindicated, and it is destined to become one of the leading educational institutions of the west.

CCC Well A Good Producer

The water well for the water supply of the CCC camp was completed last week by Wilson & Smith. This firm took the contract to complete a well producing eight gallons a minute or no pay. At 90 feet they struck water, and on testing out the well it produced 15 gallons a minute.

The first well drilled at the camp had trouble with quick sand and this well had to be abandoned which came near causing the loss of the camp for this section. The camp requirements are eight gallons of water per minute.

Camp buildings are complete and everything is ready for the work of building the state park.

Another irrigation well will be sunk for the irrigation of the park and to supply water for the lake.

Portales Presents A Busy Scene to Visiting Students

With the opening of the Eastern New Mexico Junior College, Portales presents a very busy scene daily.

With the large number of students going and coming, visitors to the city are impressed with the scene of activity throughout the town.

Chapman Returns From Kentucky

Rev. J. Griffin Chapman returned Friday from Kentucky where he has been visiting his father, who is seriously ill. During his trip he covered over 3,000 miles and found the driest section of the country between Clovis and Amarillo. Sunday evening at the church hour Rev. Chapman gave a report of his trip and the Southern Baptist convention at Fort Worth, which he attended before going to Kentucky.

Rev. Chapman will deliver both morning and evening sermons next Sunday and is expecting a large crowd.

Portales Beats Texico By Decisive Score 15-2

Give Reception In Honor College Students, Faculty

Monday evening members of the Baptist church gave a reception honoring the faculty and student body of the Eastern New Mexico Junior college. The auditorium of the building was artistically decorated with cut flowers.

The heads of each department of the Sunday school formed the receiving line. Throughout the evening music was furnished by the church orchestra. After the following short program punch was served by Mrs. N. F. Wollard and Mrs. J. C. Compton.

Song, Mr. Fletcher leading.
Invocation, J. J. Phillips.
Address of Welcome, pastor.
Response, Mr. Campbell.
Vocal Solo, Mr. Harry Taylor.
Prayer, Mr. Golden.

The reception was well attended by faculty, students and members of the church.

Russell and Onstatt Lead Scoring for Portales.

The Portales baseball club defeated the Texico club by a decisive score of 15 to 2 when they met on the Texico diamond last Sunday.

In the secondinning of the game there was an indication that the contest would be close. However, Hyatt and Harp, pitchers for the Portales nine kept the Texico hitters pretty well at home base.

Mosagill and Tripplett did the scoring for Texico and Russell and Onstatt lead the scoring for the invaders.

There were several errors slated against both teams.

Indications are that the Portales boys will give a good account of themselves. The new men on the team are showing up in fair shape. This is particularly true of Wood and Heckendorn.

It has been difficult to get the correct box score due to so many changes being made in the line-ups. The following is the best box score obtainable:

Murle Kimmons Died Monday

Miss Murle Kimmons passed to a better land Monday morning about 7:30 at the home of her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kimmons in Portales.

Miss Kimmons had been in ill health for about 13 months. The last month she was very ill and under the solicitous care of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Leonard Kimmons, a registered nurse.

Murle passed her twenty-first birthday in October. She was born at Kenna, New Mexico and lived there on a ranch with her parents until some ten years ago she came to Portales and attended Portales high school, graduating with the class of '31. She was a most consistent member of the Baptist church and an enthusiastic worker with the Rainbow girls.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Baptist church by Rev. J. F. Nix of Clovis and Rev. J. Griffin Chapman, pastor of the local church, assisted by the Rainbow girls.

The remains were laid to rest in Portales cemetery with Ed J. Neer in charge and under a beautiful floral tribute meekly testifying to the love of friends for the lovely young woman.

Murle leaves to mourn her passing a most devoted mother, Mrs. Minnie Kimmons, a sister, Mrs. Nonnie Mae Jones and a brother, Leonard Kimmons, besides two nephews and a niece and other relatives.

College Students Read The News

The students and faculty of the Junior college will read the Portales Valley News each week of the summer term.

On each Thursday, a copy of the News will be placed in the college library for each student and faculty member without charge.

Members of the faculty and students are invited to visit the News office, and make themselves at home.

Dr. Helen Marshall is finishing up her work at Duke university. During her absence, L. Parker of Dexter, is taking her work. Duke university had refused to give her Ph. D. if she was absent.

Tomatoes Reported To Be Blooming

Prospects are good for early to mid-July in the local market. In some gardens tomatoes are reported blooming.

Some home grown tomatoes will be on the local market by the middle of July or sooner.

Other truck crops are coming along nicely, and a number of products are now on the local market. This onion crop is looking good and a heavy yield is predicted for the valley.

SATURDAY A BRIGHT DAY FOR PORTALES

Saturday was a history-building day for Portales.

The Junior College opened for registration and throughout the day the college building was crowded with students from over a number of counties, registering for the various courses offered.

The summer term of the college opened with a great enrollment, and this term will be an epoch making term for the state of New Mexico.

The Eastern New Mexico Junior college is the state's youngest education institution and is filling a long felt need in this section of the state.

The courses offered have the approval of other state institutions and will enable this school to become a valuable feeder for the state university.

Living conditions in Portales are such that the students can obtain good accommodations at a minimum cost.

The Eastern New Mexico Junior College is not a Portales institution, but a statewide institution, and should have the backing of the entire state.

SUDAN PASTURE WILL RELIEVE THE SITUATION

Wherever possible a good acreage of sudan should be planted for summer pasturage.

Sudan makes a rapid growth, and will provide summer pasturage for the dairy herd, keeping them off the weeds which injure the quality of cream produced.

It will also save the native grass for winter pasturage.

A greater acreage to sudan means more prosperity for the farmers of Roosevelt county.

CCC CAMP WELL UNDER WAY

By the time this paper goes to press there will be 200 boys in the CCC camp on the Clovis highway.

This state park will provide a valuable recreational center for this section, and will also be an attractive spot for tourists to stop. Nothing adds more to a community or a state than a good park system.

New Mexico has much land that could be used for this purpose, and which would bring a good return through the tourists route.

Governor A. W. Hockenbush is to be congratulated on this park.

GIVE THE STUDENTS A LIFT

Motorists driving to and from the college will find many students that have no cars.

It is a long walk, and the public can do a good deed by giving these students a ride. A little courtesy will go a long way towards creating a friendly feeling for Portales and the college.

Be courteous and help make the strangers within our gates feel welcome.

THE DROUGHT RELIEF

A telegram from Senator Bronson Cutting last week announced the appropriation of $100,000 for drought relief in New Mexico.

This is not the full appropriation for this work, but only a beginning. Additional appropriations will be made as needed.

The drought situation over the state is becoming serious, and unless a general rain comes soon, farmers and cattlemen will suffer a great loss. Drought conditions have existed for several years, and while rains have been spotted and good crops grown in section of the state, the state, as a whole, has suffered heavily.

In Roosevelt county there are great sections which have not had sufficient rains to start grass, and cattle are still being fed.

In distributing drought relief work, the farmers will receive one-third in commodities and two-thirds in cash. There has been considerable criticism of this method, but when one considers that a farmer who is not willing to accept commodities for his work is not badly in need of relief, the matter will be clarified.

By paying one-third in commodities, the relief committees will be able to put one-third more men to work on the highway.

Public approval is what counts these days.

PORTALES ON THE SPOT

Portales is on the spot.

She is losing trade which she is entitled to. There is an undecurrent of feeling over the county that Portales is not doing her part. While The News does not agree with this sentiment, there is much that Portales can do to create a better spirit of cooperation with the farmers. Portales Chamber of Commerce should concentrate on getting better freight rates, better roads leading into Portales, and better markets for farm products.

Last season Portales lost a good portion of the cotton crop by it going over into Texas for ginning and marketing.

Good farm roads would have saved much of this. Under the public works program, rural road projects should be submitted and every effort made to build roads that will enable farmers to get into town with their farm products at a saving in transportation costs.

Freight rates, equalizing the freight on out-going shipments with that of competitive territory would save the farmers thousands of dollars annually, and make them feel that Portales was their friend.

Unless better roads are built, better freight rates secured, and better markets for farm commodities secured, Portales will grow backward and soon become a ghost town.

The News will receive severe criticism for this editorial, and will be accused of knocking the town, but it is only trying to show what must be done if Portales is to hold her trade territory.

The voice of the people isn't often heard but a good many ambitious fellows have heard the voice that the people sent out, much to their disgust and chagrin. We are referring to those who are willing to suffer, for the salary, on the altar of their country.

THE WEIGHT OF TAXATION

It may be assumed that the whole question of taxation, local, state and national, will be thoroughly reviewed during the coming state and congressional campaigns. The vast sums of money being expended in various governmental activities must be taken eventually from the pocket of the taxpayer. It is not unlikely that he will become more and more interested in the process.

It was said long ago that the power to tax is the power to destroy and a good many authorities have warned that we are approaching the point where taxation will become confiscation. Present public expenditures give weight to the prediction.

It is estimated at the present time that the motorists of the state are paying a per capita of more than $10 per year for every man, woman and child of the state in gasoline taxes which go into road building. What the per capita cost of all taxes is, it is impossible to estimate.

It therefore becomes evident that a great deal of interest in the coming campaigns will center in what the candidates propose to do about it. The single taxers will, as a matter of course, be on hand with a solution. It is understood that the old single tax, in a new dress, will appear on the November ballot. It is, however, not a question of how to raise more taxes but how to avoid raising more taxes that will interest the taxpayers. Those candidates with economy programs are going to have a respectful hearing this year—Daily News, Orange, Cal.

Even the wrong kind of a tree planted in the wrong place is a hundred times better than no tree planted no place.

Reversing the old order, what we need now is labor creating, not labor saving devices.

Be it ever so humble there's no place like home for hearing what people really think of you.

Capital is still hopeful that the day will come when it can sit up and take interest.

Iowa Publishers Suggest Plan for Graphic Arts Code

The MAT in the Tucumcari News, springs the following news-paper code:

Over in Iowa the newspaper men have rewritten a part of the news-paper code and are still adding to it, to be submitted to General Johnson for approval, and they are hoping it will be approved for it will mean millions to every newspaper in the country. Some of the subjects they want okayed are:

For telling the public that a man is a successful citizen when everybody knows he is as lazy as a government mule—$2.70.

Referring to a deceased citizen as one who is mourned by the entire community when we know he will only be missed by the power circle—$10.13.

Referring to some gallivanting scandal monger female as an estimable lady when every business man in town would rather see the devil coming—$8.10.

Sending a hypocritical old reprobate to heaven, when we know that hell is too good for him—$5.09.

Referring to deceased merchants as "progressive citizens," when they never advertised in their life to help draw trade to town—$1.00.

For telling the voters that a man is running for office at the one knows it's a lie—$7.09.

For saying a candidate is capable, competent, thorough and that he will give the people good service while in office, when every one knows he's fitted only for a ditch digger—$15.00.

For referring to a bride as beautiful, accomplished, a favorite of the community and the groom as an outstanding and rising young business man, with wonderful prospects, when everyone knows she has a face that'd sour milk, a disposition worse than a hungry wildcat, that she doesn't have a friend in town, and the groom is known to be a no-good, crap-shooting drunk, headed for the penitentiary—$30.00.

Protection for Drought Regions In Wheat Plan

Drought again in certain regions this year emphasizes the fact that wheat farmers who have signed adjustment contracts have protection against the worst that weather can do. George E. Farrell, chief of the wheat section of the Agricultural Adjustment administration says.

"The wheat plan was shaped primarily to fit average, normal, producing conditions, but it was also shaped to work in unusual conditions such as the drought which occurred last year and which threatens again this year.

"The real tragedy of a drought where there is no planning for agriculture," Mr. Farrell said, "is that it absolutely wipes out and destroys vital producing power of whole regions. The farmers are there, to do their necessary job of helping to feed the nation. They have built their homes, their producing plants, provided their machinery, land, stock and manpower to do this job. And then, because of drought, their ability to produce is blasted. It is not their fault at all. But a blind cruelty of rainless skies and hot winds has struck them.

"The crop insurance feature of the Agricultural Adjustment plan is important. It means better balanced production; a better income from the crop; improved prices; and protection against price ruin through accumulation of great surpluses. It also means a balanced income for farmers as between one year of cruel drought and other years of plenty. It means that the farmers get some income even if they are dried out, hauled out, or rained out in any one year. It means sustaining the purchasing power of the farmers through the years, and since the farmers' buying power is vital to industry and vital to the nation, this is good."

An unsuccessful man is one who has more confidence in the other fellow than he has in himself.

Nothing can constitute good manners that does not have good breeding in the back ground.

The woman with a mission can seldom prepare a meal fit to eat.

New Mexico Farmers Test New Grasses

Crested wheat grass and Russian brome grass are being tried over a wide area in New Mexico this year by the extension service. Farmers in Roosevelt, Curry, Valencia, San Miguel and other counties are setting aside small tracts of land for tests and if weather conditions permit many of them should have good demonstrations to guide other farmers in their communities. These cooperative tests are being conducted over a large area by the extension service in order to help farmers learn something of their forage value.

It is planned, through these tests to establish the best dates and rates of seeding for different elevations and moisture conditions for these domestic pastures, grasses and plants.

Brome grass in the small older plantings in the state started growing earlier this year than native grasses and shows considerable prospect of being adapted to several types of soil and many conditions. The small amount of crested wheat grass also looks good but there is not enough planted to make any definite deductions now.

New Mexico farmers cooperating in the AAA program are finding difficulty in getting perennial pasture plants suited to lands taken out of farm crops. Farmers are not allowed to use the rented lands for harvestable annual crops which may replace their other stock feed. On the other hand, they need a crop which will make a covering, prevent wind and water erosion and improve their soils.

Perennial pasture grasses, alfalfa and clovers would make little feed if planted now so planting them on this year's contracted land is permitted in the adjustment program. The principal problem is to get suited perennials and secure a stand.

The trouble about greeting misfortune with a smile is that it never smiles back.

At The Cross Roads of Life . . .

Perhaps more people are now making an honest effort to determine a course or a goal for the life that is before them than at any time in history.

The recent depression was the most severe than any similar period in generations, and was made more so by the fact that many entered the era of low prices and unemployment heavily in debt. They had pledged their life's savings in mortgages which was also a lien on the future and lost.

Such experiences naturally cause people to stop and think. "Safety First" should be the motto of all when contemplating the necessity of providing for the future.

There is the road to financial security through thrift and industry—by carefully planning and saving at least a part of your income.

There is another road which affords a few momentary pleasures, but which ends in the bitter despair of an unprovided for emergency, or a helpless old age.

Which road will you take?

Congressional Reflections

BY DENNIS CHAVEZ
Congressman From N. M.

On Wednesday, May 30, the house of representatives resolved itself into the committee of the whole house on the state of the union for consideration of H.R. 9745, a bill to authorize the Secretary of the Interior to purchase silver, issue silver certificates, and for other purposes. Section 1 of the bill simply named the act and gave it a title. Section 2 declares the policy of the congress relative to the proportion of silver and gold as the metallic bases in our monetary stock. That will be 25 per cent silver and 75 per cent gold. Section 3 authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to purchase silver at home or abroad for present or future delivery with silver certificates or any other kind of currency or coin of the United States, or with direct obligations of the government. (It is estimated that there is between 150,000,000 and 250,000,000 ounces of silver in the continental United States at the present time).

Section 4 authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to sell silver when it is necessary to maintain the proportion between the silver and the gold stocks. Section 5 provides that the silver stocks in the values of the treasury cannot be reduced below the point where the monetary value of these silver stocks is less than the face value of the silver certificates outstanding.

Section 6 confers the powers that are necessary in order to enable the government to exercise of its sovereign right under the constitution to coin and regulate the value of money. It puts such powers within the control of the executive that he may, if conditions require, prohibit or regulate the importation or the exportation of silver. Section 8 is the taxing provision of the bill and applies to the profits on silver stocks held speculatively.

Consideration of the bill extended over until Thursday, May 31, on which date the vote was taken on the bill and the yeas were 263 and nays 77, with 90 not voting. This being an Administrative measure, leaders in the senate have let it be known that it will be considered by that body as soon as the tariff measure is out of the way.

New Mexico boys and girls now working in various governmental departments here in Washington are doing fine work and are a credit to our state. While the majority of these are filling clerical positions and getting moderate salaries, nevertheless the people of the state should be proud of them and of their efforts to prepare themselves for their future duties in our state. Most of them are taking college work after office hours.

Gene Matteucci, of Albuquerque, is working in the congressional library and will this year finish his third year in law school. The same can be said of Stanley Miller of Belin who will also finish his third year. Marcelino Gutierrez of Santa Fe, connected with the general accounting office; Celerino Trujillo, of Senator Cuttling's staff; and Ruddy Tafoya of Santa Fe, connected with the senate police department, under the sponsorship of Senator Hatch, will all graduate from National law school this year, as will Jim Chacon of Albuquerque.

Wilma McFarland of Logan; Mary Boulware of Silver City; Eloise de la O of Lordsburg; Lillian Gonzales Davies of Albuquerque; Mary Helen Martin and Pauline Werner of Albuquerque; Lillian Mendez of Albuquerque; Margaret Osuna of Albuquerque; Margaret E. * East Valley View *

The farmers of this community are busy since the rain, putting out potatoes and farming in general.

A large crowd attended the program held here Friday evening. We have a program the first Friday night in each month. We invite everybody to attend. We'll do our best to entertain you.

Sunday school was omitted last Sunday when the B. Y. P. U. of Portales gave a program. We all enjoyed it immensely.

Mrs. Marlin Porch and baby spent Friday night with Mrs. Atkins.

The ice cream supper and party which was given at the Miracle Jones residence Saturday night was enjoyed by all present.

A good time was reported by all present at the dance Saturday night at Raymond Digs.

of Albuquerque; Paul Larrozo, of Albuquerque; Oliver Easterwood of Clayton are all doing splendid work in their respective positions in the governmental department, as are many others from New Mexico.

Our well known attorney and citizen of Santa Fe, Honorable Charles A. Fahy, is first assistant solicitor in the interior department and doing special work in the code division of the Oil Code, handling his work in a very dignified and intelligent manner, commanding and receiving the highest respect of all whom come in contact with him. It is the congressman's opinion that all the boys and girls that are here from New Mexico will prove to be of untold value to the welfare of the state in the very near future.

Visitors to my office this week have been Mr. Ramon Huff of the state board of education from Clayton; Mr. and Mrs. James O'Connor of Albuquerque and Mr. H. W. Lyda, Roswell.

PUBLIC HEALTH

Conducted by Dr. J. E. Earp
Director, New Mexico Bureau of Public Health.

CORRECTION

In a recent story entitled "Is Your Child Blind?" I calculated that there were 825 blind children in the schools of New Mexico. The sum was based on the belief that 12 children out of a sample of 1,474 had less than 20-20 vision. Yet the report of Miss Mary Emma Smith, of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, states quite plainly that these 12 children had less than 20-20 vision "in the worse eye." For my inexcusable carelessness in failing to note these last four words I can now do nothing but to apologize. The true conclusion is that in our grade schools there are 825 children who are blind in one eye.

A second table just received from Miss Smith shows what is found in the better eye as well as in the worse eye. This table shows that out of 1,474 children 55 had one eye whose sight is seriously impaired (less than 20-70). Of these 55 only 16 had full vision in the better eye, without the use of glasses. Including three who wore glasses 19 of these children had full vision in the better eye. Perhaps the most striking fact brought out in connection with these 55 handicapped children is that only 10 of them had glasses. "It is probable," writes Miss Smith, "that most of the remaining 45 cases could be at least improved by glasses."

Miss Smith's report states that she observed symptoms of "reading difficulties" either in the classroom or during the vision test in 114 of the children. Eight children out of every hundred in our schools are working under a visual handicap. We ought to help them.

THE CAT AS CARRIER

Cats have their detractors. In addition to their indubitable vices are certain insidious sins of which they have been suspected with justice more or less.

They are known to suffer from whooping cough and will bear watching when whooping cough is around, though they are much less likely than the children to catch it.

Cats will get rabies if bitten by a rabid dog or coyote and they may infect humans with this dread disease. They have been accused of spreading diphtheria. This charge has recently been very thoroughly investigated by E. B. Brooks. Cats can be killed by diphtheria toxin. (It takes about five times as much of this toxin to kill a kitten as to kill a guinea pig). But when the Schick test was given to 70 cats, all proved negative, showing that they are not susceptible to diphtheria infection. This conclusion was confirmed when virulent diphtheria bacilli were planted in the cats' throats—the bacilli would not grow there. After 24 hours they were still in the throat but after

Cheaper Method of Keeping Eggs

The keeping of spring eggs until fall, when egg prices are higher, has always been an interesting farm problem, says W. M. Ginn of the New Mexico State college.

A cheaper method, than any other tried before, has been reported as satisfactory. This method is the paraffin-lard method. Of course, eggs have been successfully stored in water glass during the past several years but that method is more expensive than the paraffin treatment. Probably more eggs are successfully stored in large cold storage plants than any other place, but such plants are not available to the small poultry farmer.

The cheapest method of storing a few farm eggs is as follows:

One pound lard, half pound paraffin; four ounces of dry boric acid (this may be secured from a drug store).

Mix all ingredients well while heating slightly. Allow it to cool. Take a small lump, about the size of a pea, in the palm of the hand and work well over the egg. Wrap each egg in paper and store in a cool place. A basement or cellar makes a good storage place. It is reported by most persons who have tried this method that the eggs kept well for several months. It was also reported that the whites stood up well and no bad odors developed.

Use clean infertile eggs for storing. Eggs keep better if no males are left on the yards. Fertile eggs should not be stored because the germ may begin to develop and spoil the eggs.

This may be a good year to preserve a few eggs for home use next fall and winter, since there will be fewer layers next fall than in many years past. Also, there may be a scarcity of cheap feed for some of the flocks, causing lowered production. Home preservation of some eggs, for home use, should receive the attention of many flock owners.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to our friends for their kindness and help and for the floral offerings during the illness and death of Chock Coleman.

Mrs. Ada Coleman and children. Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Coleman and family.

48 hours they had disappeared. Diphtheria bacilli spread on a cat's fur lived there for as long as three days but no longer.

The experiments show that cats may carry diphtheria infection for two or three days after exposure to a case of the disease, even though they will not catch the disease themselves.

It is probable that other domestic animals will carry living germs about in the same way. All pets should be kept away from cases of infectious disease.

5 Six-Footers... and not a cramp in a Carload!

FIVE big men can relax in utter comfort on the deep cushions of the Ford V-8. Wide seats keep elbows out of ribs. Ample leg room keeps legs from being cramped.

Why? Because Ford measures roominess in terms of usable body room. Not in terms of the distance between bumpers, which means nothing when you come to analyze it.

The Ford V-8's very engine construction gives you more body room, as the diagram explains. Cylinders are "doubled-up" saving space, not strung along in a line to waste it.

FORD V8
"THE CAR WITHOUT A PRICE CLASS"

See how much less space is occupied by the V-8 engine as compared with the ordinary "six" or "eight." Less space for the engine means more space for the passengers.

The Ford V-8 front seat is adjustable. It quickly and easily adapts itself to a six-foot-two husband or a five-foot-two wife. It ends forever that source of strife.

Before you buy any car at any price, drive the Ford V-8.

Rogers Boasts of Strong Ball Club

The News has been unable to get much detail information concerning the Rogers baseball club.
However, indication point to a strong team. They have only lost one game so far this season. That game was lost to Sudan when they met there two weeks ago.

The Rogers team evened things up with Sudan by defeating them by a score of 10 to 9 in an 11-inning game last Sunday on the Rogers diamond.

Rogers has some of their last year's players back among whom are Hudnell and Preston.

How Code Blue Eagle Is Being Distributed

WASHINGTON.—During the first five days following announcement that Blue Eagles are to be distributed by code authorities, 140 such bodies had completed arrangements to supply the insignia to members of their respective trades and industries. In areas where local agencies have not yet been organized by code authorities, the emblem is being distributed by NRA through the State NRA directors.

Detailed instructions to code authorities provide for distribution as follows: To all employers operating under approved codes who have not been reported for violation to NRA in Washington or to Federal District Attorneys; to members of retail trade and local service trades or industries in towns of less than 2,500 population. An exception is made to permit withholding the insignia from employers who, subject to codes whose budgets and assessment plan have been approved by NRA and the assessment were levied prior to April 1, have failed to pay such assessments.

It was emphasized that members of the seven so-called service trades in whose codes the fair trade practices were suspended, will be eligible to display the Blue Eagle for their respective trades if they are complying with the maximum hour, minimum wage, child labor, collective bargaining and other provisions of their codes.

These trades were as follows: Motor vehicle storage and parking trade, bowling and billiard trade, barber shop trade, cleaning and dyeing trade, shoe rebuilding, advertising display installation trade, and advertising distributing trade.

Once issued, the Blue Eagle may be withdrawn only by NRA for violation of code provisions, including nonpayment of an assessment based on a budget and assessment plan which has been approved by the administrator.

No employer will be held liable for assessment by more than one code authority.

Communists of State Demand Job Insurance

ROSSELL, N. M.—Although it contained the following demands, the platform submitted to the state convention of the communist party Sunday was not accepted, because it was declared "too conservative":

Passage of a state unemployment insurance law giving $10 a week to unemployed, plus $3 a week for each dependent; free light, water, fuel and medical care, and no tax sales, foreclosures or evictions against unemployed.

Compulsory education, with free texts and free hot lunches for children of destitute parents.

Six-hour working day and five-day week, with pay of $5 a day on all public works projects; a public works building program and cheap houses for unemployed.

Public ownership of all utilities and industries, administration to be by workers and farmers.

Right of free speech and assembly, blage, striking and picketing.

Wants Militant Platform

Chairman Carl Howe of Gallup, sectional organizer for the communist party, pleaded for a more militant platform, and the one proposed was referred to the state committee for redrafting.

Protest resolutions adopted Sunday afternoon made demands on governors and other authorities for release of Mooney and Billings, the negroes in the Scottsboro case in Alabama, and longshoremen strikers in San Francisco and factory strikers in Toledo, as well as withdrawal of troops there.

Other resolutions called upon Congressman Dennis Chavez to get the workmen's compensation bill out of congressional committee; for Assistant District Attorney Lake E. Frazier, Roswell, to release Margaret D. Rautert from jail on charge of making disturbance at Chavez county welfare office, and for the German ambassador in the United States to request release of Ernest Fieldman, national secretary of the communist party in Germany.

The convention, lasting one day, drew 35 delegates from 13 towns—Gallup, Raton, Madrid, Deming, Portales, Dexter, Clovis, Hagerman, Fort Stanton, Allison, Santa Fe and Roswell.

Ice cream and cooked food sale will be held Saturday, June 9, at the Near building by the Epworth League of the Methodist church. Proceeds is to be used to defray expenses of building materials for the League cabin at Weed.

Eurith Compton was a business visitor in Canyon Saturday.

Along Came Youth

Youth no longer belongs to the young. The joyous is brought by this up-and-coming age to the woman who operates her home on the 1934 plan.

There was a time when you was but a brief interlude between toddling childhood and the honeymoon. Now youth stays a while—it lingers long past middle age, and never completely deserts a woman who lets ELECTRICITY take the work out of housework.

Drudgery, crushing out youth began to vanish as woman's penalty for her sex, when the electric light was first introduced into the home. It marked the beginning of woman's real emancipation when the flick of a switch brought instant light, when and where she wanted it, sealing the doom of the daily task of cleaning and filling long rows of greasy, smelly lamps, polishing soot from their chimneys, etc.

That was only the beginning. Electric service has shown them new and easier ways of doing things; made simple and short scores of tasks that once kept woman busy and tired from early morn, to after night.

Electric refrigerators, ranges, vacuum cleaners, irons, washing machines and many other electric appliances have brought new youth to the woman past 40. They have cast forever aside the old task that made woman old before their time.

Consider the Dependability of Electric Service.
