Solons At Odds Over Agreement

AUSTIN AP)—Leaders of the Senate and House could not agree Monday whether an agreement had been reached over money for state water pollution control in 1968.

Speaker Ben Barnes twice told newsmen Sunday night that an agreement had been worked out among Senate-House conferees to include the $3 million house appropriation in the next state spending bill instead of the Senate's $454,742.

Barnes confirmed his statements Monday morning, adding that he did not consider it a "victory" for the House, but said otherwise the published reports were correct.

However, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith said Monday that no decision had been made on the water pollution money. "It was discussed but no decicsion was made," said Smith, who also attended part of Sunday's sessions of the appropriations conference committee.

Smith said Sen. A. M. Aikin of Paris, chairman of the Senate group, did not consider a decision having been made on the issue.

The speaker told a news conference today he still hopes Comptroller Robert S. Calvert will raise his revenue estimates enough to give the school teachers a pay raise of $40 million to $50 million.

He said that right now, even with changes in the bill, only $35 million would be left. Calvert said late last week he was sticking by his earlier estimates and had not raised any figures.

Barnes said a tax bill to insure the teachers a large salary increase is not now in the cards.

"Right now, at this time, I have no plans to pass a tax bill," he said.

Before House legislators vote on the conference report, "no later than Friday," copies of Calvert's certification of the amount in the appropriation bill, plus a statement of how much is left over, will be placed on members' desks, Barnes said.

"I think the conference committee is in very good shape as far as working things out," he said.

"I don't anticipate anybody is going to try to pull any rabbits out of hats to hurt the teachers."

FIRE DAMAGE — High winds early Monday morning fanned a fire which caused heavy damage to a vacant house at the intersection of Texas Avenue and Avenue N in the Andress Heights Addition. Firemen received the call at 1:25 a.m. and prevented the flames from spreading.

Seventy Jailed In Race Disturbances

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some 70 persons were arrested in four cities Sunday after disturbances at a memorial service for Malcolm X, slain Black Nationalist leader; youths trying to crash a rock 'n' roll show; an Arab-Jewish clash during observance of Israel Freedom Day, and an apparent protest against closing a housing area.

In Chicago, 30 persons were arrested and three policemen injured on the city's South Side in a two-hour fracas after the service for Malcolm X. A spokesman for the affair blamed it on police who, he said, "began harassing" the meeting. For two hours, an angry crowd of 500 tossed rocks and bottles at police.

Carl Ford, one of three Negro undercover policemen who attended the meeting, said the trouble began when two white girls walked toward the area. He said Negro girls leaped upon the white girls, pulling their hair and beating them with their fists. The white girls fled, apparently not seriously harmed.

In San Diego, Calif., 34 Negroes and 4 whites were arrested during a two-hour rampage resulting from a youth being arrested for trying to crash the rock 'n' roll show in a jammed auditorium.

At one point, 500 youths rushed the stage, but use of a hydraulic lift raised it out of reach. Three policemen and two private guards were injured, none seriously.

In San Francisco, a clash erupted in Golden Gate Park between some 100 Arab students and a Jewish gathering of about 1,500.

The Arabs picketed the meeting, carried placards, and heckled a Jewish speaker. Fighting broke out and most of the Arab placards were torn up.

The Arab group left after about an hour. Two men and a woman were treated for bruises. One woman was arrested and charged with disturbing a public meeting.

At Vallejo, Calif., sporadic fighting for three hours, including some sniper fire and bottle throwing, broke out in Floyd Terrace housing, a Negro section ordered closed by the City Council. It was built during World War II.

Police said the disorder, involving about 1,000 persons, diminished rapidly after 70 officers closed off the area. Only one arrest was reported.

A four-year-old girl was hospitalized with an eye injury.

Gore Says China Threat Nothing New

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., says Communist China advised the United States some time ago it would go to war with the United States if American troops invaded North Vietnam or to prevent Hanoi's capitulation in the Vietnam war.

Gore said he and Sen. Hugh Clark, D-Pa., as members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, "have known for a long while that the Red Chinese leaders have advised this country that they would go to war" if the U.S. land invasion or Hanoi's capitulation developed.

Scott referred to a series of widely distributed newspaper interviews written by Simon Malley, in which Chou En-lai, the Red Chinese premier, is quoted as saying China will not permit North Vietnam to negotiate a truce with the United States.

Gore said that what Chou En-lai "seems to be doing now is saying to the American people what he has said through diplomatic channels to the American government a long while ago." Gore did not go into details about the alleged diplomatic contacts.

Blast Kills Two Soldiers In Korea

SEOUL (AP) — Two U.S. soldiers were killed early today by explosions which shattered their Quonset barracks near the Korean demilitarized zone.

The United Nations command blamed the blasts on North Korean infiltrators and called for an Armistice Commission meeting Wednesday to protest "a flagrant violation" of the armistice agreement.

Sixteen American soldiers of the 2nd Infantry Division were injured along with two South Koreans attached to the unit.

Names were withheld.

US Skydiver Dies In Exhibition Jump

ZARAGOZA, Spain (AP) — One member of the U.S. Air Force Blue Masters skydiving team was killed and another suffered several broken ribs today in a 6,500-foot fall after colliding during an exhibition jump.

The two, with eight other jumpers, had started a free fall demonstration at 13,000 feet. They became entangled while passing a baton. One man's parachute opened partly but the two crashed hard.

U.S. authorities withheld the identity of the dead man.

They said the injured jumper, Richard Vassar of the 1945th Communications Squadron in Wiesbaden, Germany, was believed out of danger.

More Arab Forces To Israel's Borders

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — More Arab forces were drawn up along Israel's borders today as U.N. Secretary-General U Thant prepared to fly to Cairo in an attempt to ease the tension in the Middle East.

Egypt moved troops to Sharm el Sheikh, overlooking the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba, Israel's only direct access to the Red Sea, and began sending army reserves to staging camps following total mobilization orders.

Israel has said blocking its access to the Red Sea through its southern port city of Eilat would mean a fight.

Lebanon said it was sending troops to Israel's northern border to guard against "any sudden aggression."

In Cairo, the semi-official newspaper Al Ahram said Iraq was sending military units to support the Egyptian military buildup.

Warnings from Israel that it would retaliate unless guerrilla raids supported by Syria were stopped led earlier to mobilization of Syrian troops on Israel's northeast border and Egyptian troops in the Sinai desert on the southwest. Syria moved a detachment of about 20 Soviet-built tanks to the frontier Sunday.

Despite the massive buildup around the Jewish nation and the possibility that some incident might touch off a war, no violence was reported along the Israeli borders.

In Jordan, though, the Interior Ministry said a Syrian bomb killed seven Jordanians and three Iranians when a civilian automobile was being inspected at a crossing point on the Jordan-Syria border. It termed the explosion a "criminal act" by Syria but said Jordan would maintain unity with the other Arab states in the face of danger from Israel.

Cairo radio reported Sunday that Egypt had called up its reserves. The Israeli government already had ordered partial mobilization, and Syria has moved 40,000 troops up to her border with Israel.

Egypt said its troop mobilization was in accordance with its mutual defense pact with Syria. But Israeli officials believed Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser was trying to bolster both a faltering government in Syria and his own claims to leadership among the Arab nations.

Spokesmen for both Israel and the Arab side have said that if war comes, they are ready.

Planes Continue Raids On Hanoi

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. planes ignored the Communist cease-fire for Buddha's birthday today and raided Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital. Pilots reported shooting down one MIG jet.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the planes subjected northern and southern sections of Hanoi "to massive bombings." The U.S. Air Force did not say what targets were attacked.

The Czechoslovak news agency CTK reported from Hanoi that the North Vietnamese capital was without electricity and water following Sunday's U.S. air raid on a power plant. Most of the plant was damaged, CTK added.

The Communists ushered in their two-day cease-fire with a dozen heavy mortar attacks before the deadline and a later attack on a U.S. force killed 15 Americans and wounded 71.

The Communists also blew the tracks from beneath a South Vietnamese military train nearly three hours after their 48-hour cease-fire was to have become effective at 7 a.m. Saigon time, or 7 p.m. EDT Sunday.

South Vietnamese and allied forces had said they would not begin their 24-hour truce for Buddha's birthday until one minute after midnight tonight, or 12:01 p.m. EDT today. The Communists caught a unit of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division as it was moving out on a sweep mission in the central highlands 33 miles southwest of Pleiku and at 7:02 a.m. opened up with intense mortar and rocket grenade fire.

U.S. headquarters said the American infantry battled an estimated Red battalion of perhaps 500 men for four hours. Thirty-two of the enemy were reported killed.

Under the generally understood ground rules for cease-fires in Vietnam, the Reds could have considered the U.S. sweep as an offensive action and their attack as self-defense.

After hard fighting Sunday just below the demilitarized zone, U.S. military headquarters said no contacts were reported today along the Ben Hai River line in the zone where U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops were consolidating their positions.

About 1,000 Marines overran Communist positions Sunday near the Leatherneck outpost at Con Thien. A U.S. spokesman said 36 North Vietnamese soldiers and 26 Marines were killed and 59 Marines were wounded.

Big Spring Trial Opens

BIG SPRING, Tex. (AP)—A venire of 200 gathered today for the murder trial of Narcisco Joseph Santiago, charged with shooting fellow airman Sgt. Malcolm Gore.

Dist. Atty. Wayne Burns said he will seek the death penalty.

Santiago is accused of secreting himself in the back seat of Sgt. Gore's automobile and as the car rolled out of the gate of Webb Air Force Base here shooting the sergeant and attempting to kill Mrs. Jean Morton.

Santiago was convicted Feb. 24 of assault with intent to murder Mrs. Morton and was assessed a 10-year prison sentence.

Mrs. Morton was the chief witness against Santiago in the assault trial and is on hand to testify at the murder trial.

No motive for the slaying and attack has been determined.

More Florida Homes Lost

BARTOW, Fla. (AP) — "The power lines were falling, there was a rumbling, popping sound, and suddenly the street fell in right in front of us."

Mrs. Buddy Harris was one of several persons who stood by, frightened and uncertain, as a gaping hole opened in the earth Sunday and swallowed two more homes in this Central Florida city.

"If we hadn't stopped because of the rumbling, we would have been at the bottom of that hole, said Mrs. Harris.

"We panicked, I want to tell you. We didn't know what do do. That hole was right there in the street in front of us."

The homes—making three in a month to be gobbled up by sinkholes—were vacant. Owners H. B. King and Howard Ledford and their families moved out last Wednesday after a 300-foot-long sinkhole opened nearby.

A neighbor, J. A. Whitten, also moved Wednesday—for the second time. Whitten's first home fell under him April 20 as he talked on the telephone, begging movers to come for his furniture.

District Attorney Claims Oswald Not The Assaassin

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison asserts that Lee Harvey Oswald did not kill President Kennedy and that the CIA knows who did.

"Purely and simply it's a case of former employes of the CIA, a large number of them Cubans —having a venomous reaction from the 1961 Bay of Pigs episode . . . certain individuals with a fusion of interests in regaining Cuba assassinated the President," Garrison says.

A spokesman for the Central Intelligence Agency said the organization would have no comment on Garrison's utterance.

Garrison said the CIA knows "the name of every man involved and the name of the individuals who pulled the triggers" in Dallas to kill Kennedy.

He says the CIA has "infinitely more power than the Gestapo and the NKVD of Russia combined." He referred to police organizations of Nazi Germany and Russia.

Garrison said it would take only 60 minutes for the CIA to give us the name of every last Cuban involved in this and that's how close we have been to the end for some time, but we are blocked by this glass wall of totalitarian, powerful agency which is worried about its power.

He repeatedly charged the CIA with blocking and attempting to block his investigation, begun last fall, and "as a result I think that in closing out the case the final details of evidence that we want will take us much longer, but we're not going to compromise. We're not going to quit. We're going to get them anyway."

At another point, Garrison said: "I don't believe they can stop us. They can just [illegible] us."

He charged the CIA "through devious ways and through intermediaries is actually paying lawyers to block the completion of the investigation. What it's doing, is a criminal act. And if the director of the CIA and the top officials of the CIA were in the jurisdiction of Louisiana I would charge them without hesitation."

The district attorney told Jones he had located photographs "in which we have found the men behind the grassy knoll and stone wall before they dropped completely out of sight. There were five of them not distinct enough you can make an identification from the faces."

"The point is," Garrison continued, "the Warren Commission said nobody was back there and they had to say nobody was back there because not enough evidence was presented for [illegible] to make a decision."

OIL INDUSTRY THREAT

Langdon Cites Imports Gaps

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Incredible gaps" in the United States' oil program could wreck this country's petroleum industry and threaten national security, the chairman of the Railroad Commission told federal officials today.

Jim Langdon spoke at a Department of Interior meeting considering the administration of the import program.

Langdon said the 1959 mandatory oil imports program "was designed and implemented to serve a single valid and essential purpose—the national security of this country.

"It was not designed for the use of the State Department to support U.S. foreign policy; it was not designed to be used as a weapon in the War on Poverty whether in Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands or Guam. It was not intended to be used as a political tool nor as a club for price control.

"If the gaps from such use are not closed and the program continues to be used to enforce erratic and inconsistent politico-economic decisions, the devastation of the program is inevitable and it will leave in its wake the wreckage of the domestic petroleum industry with its consequent damage to the national security."

Langdon said exceptions to the imports program "have created some incredible gaps" that have "weakened the confidence of those who have a right to rely on the program . . . neither the operator nor an investor is willing to put his money into a venture, even where a discovery of oil is assured, if a reasonable opportunity to market the oil is likely to be denied to him because of an excess of foreign oil and products."

To illustrate, Landon referred to Texas where he said a declining market demand has forced the state to cut back its production four of the last five months. He said crude oil stocks have reached the highest level in the past decade—281,364,000 barrels, and 20 million barrels of that total are from foreign sources.

Future Holds Bright Hope For Mentally Retarded Child

By G. K. HODENFIELD

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)— It was just an ordinary jump rope, held by two teachers standing six feet apart.

But to Carol it was one of the biggest and most frightening challenges faced in a lifetime of 11 lonesome, frustrated years. Slowly the teachers twirled the rope over her head, and as it neared the floor one of them said, "NOW, Carol."

Carol, every muscle taut, literally threw her body six inches into the air. The rope passed beneath her feet, and the gymnasium exploded with applause. Big deal, huh? An 11-year-old girl had finally learned to jump rope.

A big deal indeed for Carol, a mentally retarded child who must carry through life the added burdens of near-total blindness and deafness. In the shadow world of the mentally retarded, even the most commonplace accomplishment may be recorded as a great victory. Learning to jump rope may help Carol learn to read a bit faster, write a bit more legibly, and grasp at least the fundamentals of simple arithmetic.

It is a perverse use of the word, perhaps, to say that Carol, with all her handicaps, is "lucky." But, unlike most youngsters who share her plight, Carol at least has people working to lighten her load.

There are almost six million mentally retarded men, women and children in the United States today. There will be seven million by 1970. About 1.5 million of them are school-age boys and girls. Every 15 minutes a retarded child is born in this country. There will be 126,000 such births this year alone, from any of 100 known causes.

Most of the mentally retarded can be helped. An official of the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation reported recently: "The U.S. Office of Education estimates that 83 per cent of the retarded are educable. They can be taught to read and write, to hold down jobs with little or no supervision, to get along in society wholly or partially by themselves, become tax contributors and not tax takers.

"Another 12 per cent are trainable. Under proper supervision, they can live happily and usefully at home or in a sheltered workshop. Even the remaining 5 per cent of the retarded are capable of performing at higher levels than were imagined five years ago."

The promise is bright. Yet only one of three mentally retarded children is even in school; only one in five is getting the special attention he needs. Carol is one of 34 mentally retarded children who spend one afternoon a week in special physical education classes at the Normal College of the American Gymnastics Union.

The college is a department of Indiana University's School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

"We don't have any scientific proof that what we're doing has really helped these children," says Lola Lohse, director of the college. "But we have seen tremendous changes, in and out of the classroom."

One problem is that most mentally retarded children lack "laterality" and "directionality." Laterality is the inner sense of leftness and rightness; directionality is the way people apply this to keep things straight.

"So many of these children don't seem to have any orientation in space," explained Mrs. Lohse in an interview. "Anything in back of them, for instance, just doesn't exist—it isn't there."

To help the children become "oriented in space," Mrs. Lohse and her staff have invented some simple but effective little games. In one, each child is given a balloon and told to keep it in the air by batting it with his hands.

"This forces the children to keep their eyes moving to watch the balloon, and their bodies moving in all directions to stay under it," Mrs. Lohse said.

As Lola Lohse said, "We don't have any scientific proof that what we're doing here has really helped these children."

But there is unscientific proof a-plenty in the comments of the children's classroom teachers at St. Mary's child center. Sister Gerald and Sister Brendon, St. Mary's, a former Catholic elementary school, became a diagnostic clinic six years ago with special classrooms for the retarded.

"This has been a tremendous help to them in their classroom work," said Sister Gerald. "Their handwriting has improved, because of their better coordination. Their reading has improved, and their arithmetic."

And how do you measure that most important dividend of all—the feeling of accomplishment? When Carol lifted her body over that jump rope, it may have been the first time she had known success in any task.

Just to see them have success in even the smallest thing—oh, it's such a wonderful thing," said Sister Gerald.

Fire Plugs Opened And Glass Broken

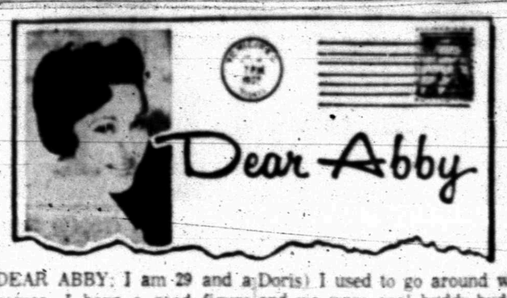

Vandals, apparently hot or thirsty, opened fire plugs in the 3700 block of Denison and north of the high school on Thirty-sixth Street. The incident was reported to City Police at 3:44 a.m. Monday.

Someone also shattered the glass in a camper of a pickup owned by Robert Williams of Ira while the vehicle was parked near the St. Elizabeth Church Sunday.

DEAR ABBY: I am 29 and a divorcee. I have a good figure and spend a lot of time at the beach in the summer. Last year I wore a bikini for the first time, and got lots of compliments on it, but it also gave me a complex because several people asked me what was wrong with my navel.

I never paid much attention to navels before — mine or anybody's else's, but now I am very self conscious about mine. You see, it's not round like other people's, it's more "square." And it doesn't go "in" like a dimple — it pops out! I keep a dime stuck in it to make it look "round" and to keep it from popping out.

Is there anything I can do about getting it fixed at my age? I'd like to have a navel I wouldn't have to be ashamed of.

FUNNY NAVEL

DEAR FUNNY: Take the dime out of your navel and call a plastic surgeon. He round out a solution in no time.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think me a snobby teen-ager, but I don't know what to do. My birthday is coming up and I am throwing a party at home.

There is a girl (I'll call her Doris) I used to go around with and we were real buddy-buddy, but I don't think she'd fit in with my new crowd. Her hair is shaped so she doesn't have to bother with it and she's not very clothes conscious. It's not because of her parents' income because she could have lots more clothes if she wanted to.

My problem is whether to invite her to my party. If I don't and she finds out about it, she may be hurt. If I do, hardly any of my friends would feel comfortable, and Doris may get the impression that she is being snubbed. My friends aren't really snobs, Abby, but they wouldn't be able to talk freely with Doris there.

I'm not afraid of being criticized or laughed at for knowing someone like Doris, I am only thinking of her feelings. Sign me . . .

"UNDECIDED"

DEAR UNDECIDED: Your description of "Doris" covered only hair and her clothes. What can you say about her that is really important? Is she kind? Friendly? Intelligent? Honest? You did say she "could have lots more clothes if she wanted to," which I think shows maturity and unselfishness. If your "new" friends wouldn't be comfortable with Doris around, that's their problem. If Doris is "snubbed" that will be her problem. I say, invite her. She may surprise you and refuse. Doris sounds like the kind of girl who may not have time for you and your crowd.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Regarding a recent article in your column in which a woman was confused as to what to do about a "gift" for a clergyman who had rendered her a service:

As a Baptist minister, I have something to say about this matter. After a wedding or funeral if I am asked, "How much do I owe you" I invariably reply, "Nothing. My life is a ministry, not a job." Many clergymen do not receive adequate monetary compensation for the services they perform, but they would rather do without the money than put a price on it.

If people wish to compensate a clergyman, let them do it with dignity by placing the money in an envelope, and handing it to him with a soft "thank you." (The amount depends upon how much the person can afford and how much he wishes to give. I have yet to hear a clergyman complain about the amount of a gift.) Only one who is seeking the cheap way out will ask a clergyman, "How much do I owe you?"

There is always the danger that after years of indigestion from swallowing his pride, one clergyman will have the gumption to set an hourly rate for "services rendered" and will answer these people accordingly.

Trusty Hunting Knife Also Handy Weapon In Vietnam

By PETER ARNETT

SUOI CAT, Vietnam (AP) — Bulldozer driver Richard Friend lay half stunned on the clay highway. His eyes focused blurrily on the 13-ton armored carrier ahead. Then he saw a figure slip onto the highway and begin running.

Spec. 4 Friend, a sturdy 20-year-old with red hair, pulled himself to his feet. The roar of battle was around him. His jeep, hit moments before, was burning at the roadside.

Gunfire crackled in the air. Men screamed in pain. Friend began running at a crouch toward the armored carrier 300 yards away. The vehicle seemed to be the only island of safety. And the figure dashing toward the carrier — dressed in fatigues with a pistol at his hip, a rifle in hand and carrying a bag — was obviously a Viet Cong.

Friend, from Oakland, Md., was in the middle of a Communist ambush that destroyed an eight-vehicle convoy from the U. S. 11th Armored Regiment in 15 minutes Sunday morning.

The bulldozer driver was attached to an engineer company and was riding with the convoy in the jeep. He heard the shout "Ambush, Ambush!" over the jeep radio as they spun along at 40 miles an hour on Route 1 toward the town of Xuan Loc, 40 miles east of Saigon.

Friend saw snipers in the trees and at the roadside. Shells exploded around the convoy. Then came a direct hit on the jeep's front wheel. It careened into the underbrush, and Friend was thrown out striking his head against a tree.

When he came to, he started running for the armored carrier.

"I ran past three Viet Cong lying in a hole," Friend said a few hours after the battle. "I bent my head down instinctively. I told myself that this was the end. I wasn't armed. All I had was my knife. But incredibly, they didn't fire at me. Maybe they were only ammo bearers."

A few yards farther on, Friend was struck in the chest by a bullet fired from the other side of the road. It pierced his flak vest and lodged against an ammunition clip in his pocket, splintering the bullets, but did not wound him.

Just ahead of him, the Viet Cong was starting to climb on the armored carrier that apparently had been stopped temporarily with a rocket hit.

"As I got nearer," said Friend," I could see he had something in that bag, an explosive, a satchel charge. All I had on me was the knife, a hunting knife with a four-inch blade that I'd used to skin rabbits I'd shot back in Maryland.

"I pulled it out from the sheath. I had to do it."

Friend reached up and grabbed the Viet Cong sapper by the collar.

He raised his arm and drove the knife between the man's shoulder blade.

The Viet Cong slid down from the side of the carrier, his rifle falling from his shoulder, the bag of explosives from his hand. Friend glanced at the handle of his knife and the blood. He did not bother to retrieve it.

As he moved around the carrier, 2nd Lt. Ted Hendrickson of Rock Island, Ill., met him and pulled him aboard. The carrier started up with a roar.

"We picked up a few more wounded," said Friend, his face bruised but otherwise unhurt. "That lieutenant really saved us. He moved out of there fast."

For his part in saving the armored carrier, Friend has been nominated for the Silver Star.

"That's the least we can put him in for," said an 11th Armored officer.

Montagu's Witty Essays

THE AMERICAN WAY OF LIFE. By Ashley Montagu.

There are 65 short essays in this sprightly book, many of them running only two or three pages. It was written by an Englishman who came to this country 40 years ago and has developed an affectionate exasperation over its foibles, as well as an admiration for its better qualities.

As the author explains in a preface, the title doesn't mean he has written an organized, scholarly treatise. (No doubt he could; he is a famous anthropologist.) In this book he is a latter day Montaigne who has adapted his style to the 20th Century's clipped, abbreviated, run-and-read pattern.

There is nothing hesitant about his judgments. He leads off with a piece called "The New Yahoos," in which he registers a political liberal's shock at the strength of the far right. And in one of several items on racism (he is an anthropologist, remember) he asserts bluntly America has no Negro problem, but "a Southern white problem."

Some of his targets are familiar ones, such as the invasion of privacy, the wasteland of television, Hollywood, the destruction of natural resources, and Los Angeles, which he calls an "anti-city."

As an Englishman he rebels, inevitably, at central heating, and deplores the crudity of American tourists abroad, as well as our slovenly diction. But he isn't bitter. Nor condescending, as many of his compatriots have been over the years. And there are many things he likes, including New Englanders.

His ideas about education, medicine, architecture, American fathers and mothers and such topics are full of challenging opinions. He also has some delightfully uncompromising things to say about child-raising, premature adolescence and the teenage menace.

Montagu is one of those very rare birds who possess both erudition and wit — and as Americans say, he communicates beautifully.

Japanese Emperor Film Is A First

By ROBRT LIU

TOKYO (AP) — Since he renounced any claim to divinity after World War II, Emperor Hirohito has been exposed to publicity impossibe for any previous reigning Japanese emperor.

The latest example: A movie about Hirohito's role in ending the war. It will be the first film portrayal of a living emperor by a Japanese film company. Toho Film Co. says it went through years of soul-searching before deciding to make the picture.

"What we're doing is not illegal, but only unusual," explains Sanezumi Fujimoto, Toho's managing director, who will produce the $700,000 picture.

The Imperial Household Agency already has approved the script, which includes a full color, hara-kiri scene by Toshiro Mifune, portraying Gen. Korechika Anami. As war minister, Anami argued against accepting Allied surrender terms, then disembowled himself after Hirohito disagreed.

Hirohito will be portrayed by Koshiro Matsumoto, 56, a veteran actor of Japan's traditional Kabuki theater. Matsumoto was selected more for the respect he commands in Japan than for any resemblance to the 65-year-old emperor.

The film is based on a popular story, "The Longest Day in Japan." It will concentrate on 24 fateful hours — Aug. 14-15, 1945 — when Japan, reeling after atomic bombs fell on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, was debating whether to accept Allied surrender terms.

The Cabinet and high military command were split on the matter. Hirohito resolved the differences, so the story goes, by expressing himself in favor of immediate surrender at a special meeting of officers and ministers Aug. 14 in an air raid shelter in the palace grounds.

Hirohito then recorded a message of surrender for broadcast to the nation Aug. 15. During the night, soldiers attached to the Imperial Guard regiment broke into the imperial offices. They searched unsuccessfully for the record to destroy it.

In Japan, tradition once commanded that ordinary citizens blow their faces to the ground in humility and not gaze at passing emperors. Hirohito changed this by renouncing the ancient claim of divinity attached to the imperial family. Since then, Japanese have seen many pictures of the emperor, even in rubber boots and old felt hats while transplanting rice seedlings, or with Empress Nagako conscientiously adjusting his tie.

Sidewinder Outjumps Frog Cousins

By LYLE W. PRICE

ANGELS CAMP, Calif. (AP) — A bumblebee-fed frog named after an Air Force missile has outjumped 2,000 of his cousins from around the world to become the new "celebrated jumping frog of Calaveras County."

With three mighty leaps before a crowd of 60,000 Sunday, Sidewinder IV showed his flickering webfeet to such also-rans as an Australian entry with a kangaroo jump, an invisible Hawaiian frog that disappeared into the stands and a human "frog."

Sidewinder's leap of 17 feet, 11 inches makes him not only celebrated but with the $300 title money, about the richest frog around.

Owner Mike Voitich, Stockton, Calif., tavern owner and 25-year frog jump veteran, promised his entry such rewards as escape from the Monday morning frying pan, rest and all the bumblebees he can handle.

"I've been jumping frogs for 25 years," Voitich declared after the victory. "I've got my own pond. First you find them, then you feed them bumblebees, then you start training them two weeks ahead of time. I won't tell you the rest. It's a professional secret."

Grandson Mike Guisto, the trainer, offered a hint to success:

"You hit the floor behind him and if he won't jump, you tickle him."

A legal hassle swirls around Victor B. Bonamour of Bordeaux, France, who appeared in an all-green outfit and jumped 19 feet, 10 inches.

"I've got a court writ from San Francisco attorney Melvin Belli that certifies I'm a frog," insisted Bonamour, a 22-year-old student at Hayward, Calif., Junior College.

"The fifth dictionary definition of a frog is a Frenchman — and I want to jump," he declared.

Officicals said he wouldn't qualify unless he could stay under water for 15 minutes and leap from all fours. Bonamour, a scuba diver, offered to do so but his claim was disallowed.

Gibson's Store Robbed

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP)—Two robbers gained entrance to the home of the manager of Gibson's Discount Store early Monday and forced him to open the store safe. They obtained an estimated $15,000 to $20,000, police said.

The robbers then returned the manager, Tracy Webb, to his home unharmed.

Webb said the men came to the door while he watched television about 1:20 a.m. They asked to use the telephone.

Inside, they tied up Mrs. Webb and the children and took Webb to the store and forced him to open the safe.

They returned Webb to his home and tied him up, but he was able to work free and call police.

Webb said the men were well dressed and called him by his first name. However, he said he did not recognize them.

Police said a third man may be involved.

Braves Blank Cards, A's Nudge Sox

The Braves blanked the Cardinals, 2-0, and the Athletics nudged the White Sox, 4-3, in two exciting Little League baseball tilts here Saturday night.

The Braves fashioned their victory behind the 1-hit pitching of Mark Hargrove. Jimmy Dyess smashed a double in the 6th to fuel the victory.

Others hitting safely for the Braves were Mark Hargrove, Ralph Lewis, Tim Jones and Steve Hurst.

Tim Holder singled in the 5th for the only Cardinal hit.

The Braves pushed across two runs in the 6th on Hargrove's single and Dyess' double.

The Athletics, held hitless by Scotty Sullivan and Robert Braziel, nipped the White Sox with a better performance afield. They also benefitted from eight walks, although Sullivan and Braziel were credited with 11 strike outs.

David Jones, the winning pitcher, fanned eight in going the distance. He gave up only three hits. Braziel led the attack for the Sox with a double and a single, and Larry Beard also singled for the losers.

Trailing 3-0, the Sox tied it up, 3-3, in the 4th, but saw their hopes for victory vanish in the 5th when the A's pushed across another unearned tally.

A's, Braves Win In FL

The Athletics bombarded the White Sox, 19-6, and the Braves clipped the Cardinals, 8-3, in Farm League baseball games here Saturday night.

Bobby Thompson twirled a 3-hitter for the Athletics, giving up singles to Robert Toombs, Richard Hernandez and Danny Brumley.

Richard Garcia was the leading hitter for the A's. He knocked a home run in the 4th after cracking singles in the 1st and 3rd frames. Thompson and Wilson also rapped out two hits apiece, and each boy was credited with a double. The other Athletic hit was a single by Ricky Tate.

The A's exploded for 10 runs in the 4th to put the game on ice.

The Braves tallied three runs in each of the first two frames, and added single tallies in the 3rd and 4th innings. The Cards scored once in the 2nd and rallied in the 4th for two additional runs, but the rally fell short.

Cool Dave Collects Top Prize Money

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Dave Stockton says you have to profit from your mistakes, especially in this business of playing golf for money.

After the black-haired young man from San Bernardino, Calif., won the $115,000 Colonial National Invitation Sunday with a closing three-over-par 73 and 278 for 72 holes—a two-stroke triumph—he called to mind what happened to him in the final round at Greensboro, N. C., this year.

"I hit a lot of fine practcice shots and then on the first hole snap hooked my tee shot for a double bogey," he related, furrowing his brow at the memory. "I never could recover."

He and George Archer had entered the final round tied for the lead and boasting a six-stroke bulge over the field. Archer shot a 68 to win the tournament, Stockton skied to a 74.

Stockton said he kept thinking about his mistakes and decided he wouldn't ever do that again. "I had to be relaxed if I won," he related.

He was facing the same situation that he did at Greensboro—he was tied with Tom Weiskopf for first place entering the final round.

Weiskopf passed Stockton on the first hole and increased his lead to two strokes on the second. But Weiskopf then took two straight bogeys and when he double bogeyed five he was a stroke behind although Stockton had lost two strokes.

From there on Weiskopf wasn't a threat. He shot an 81 for 286 and a tie for 11th place.

Charles Coody, Ben Hogan and Archer threatened down the stretch but Stockton didn't let the bad shots and bogeys bother him.

Coody closed with the only sub-part round of the day—a 69—and won second place with 280 for 72 holes.

Hogan, the old master making a great bid for his first tournament victory in eight years, faltered in the final holes for 73 and 281 and a tie with Archer for third place. Archer had a closing 72.

Gay Brewer, the tournament favorite, had 288 and Arnold Palmer, another big name, wound up with 284. Jack Nicklaus could do no better than 285.

Rain Delays Lady Pros

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — With more inclement weather indicated, the Ladies Professional Golf Association waited to decide today whether to cut short the scheduled 54-hole Babe Zaharias Open.

After rain prevented playing the second round Saturday and flooded the back nine of the Bayour Din Golf Club Sunday, the golfers toured the front side twice to get in 18 holes. That made par for the second round 72 instead of the usual 70.

Kathy Whitworth took a one-stroke lead over first-round leader Marilyn Smith by firing a three-under-par 69 despite chilly 20-mile-an-hour winds, 65-degree temperature and generally poor playing conditions. She has 139 for 36 holes.

Miss Smith, three putting four greens, took a 73 after a 67 Friday. Miss Whitworth needed only 29 putts.

Another stroke back with 141 was Sandra Haynie, the leading money winner who has yet to win a tournament this year. Defending champion Shirley Englehorn was fourth with 143.

Jo Ann Prentice, who won her first tournament in three years last week in Dallas, was disqualified Sunday for failing to record her score on the 18th hole.

Austin Nips Albuquerque

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It isn't often that a defensive play saves a baseball game in which 23 runs, 36 hits, 9 bases on balls and 7 errors are accumulated.

It happened in the Texas League Sunday.

Austin's Angel Hermoso made a great stop of a ground ball at deep shortstop and cut down a runner at third base that nipped a budding eighth inning rally by Albuquerque and gained the Braves a 12-11 victory.

Austin collected 23 hits with Clarence Gaston getting four and four other Braves three each. Oddly, of the 36 hits by the two teams only five went for extra bases.

Just two of Albuquerque's 11 runs were earned as Austin committed five of the seven errors. Sonny Kopacz hit two home runs for Austin, his first ones of the season.

El Paso moved into second place with a 7-3 triumph over Dallas-Fort Worth while league-leading Amarillo was rained out at Arkansas for the second straight day.

El Paso's Paul Jaeckel allowed his former teammates two runs in the first inning and then shut them out until they scored another run in the seventh and he was relieved.

Smith Aims At 100 Mark

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Tommie Smith, who broke the 400-meter and 440-yard world records Saturday, has set his sights on about the only sprint mark he doesen't hold — The 100-yard dash.

"I think I can get the 100-yard record in the near future," Smith said after his record-setting race. "But I'm not saying when the exact date will be."

Smith, wearing sunglasses, roared down the stretch of the San Jose State track and was timed in 44.5 for the meters and 44.8 for the yards.

Oil Coaches Are Named

WICHITA FALLS (AP)— Gill Steinke of Texas A&I and Travis Hughes of Stephen F. Austin get another chance this year to beat an Oklahoma all-star team in the 30th Oil Bowl Charity Football Classic.

They will serve as co-coaches of the Texas team in the Aug. 18 game at Midwestern University stadium here. Players are selected from graduated high school seniors in the two states.

Oil Bowl officials announced the coaches Sunday.

W. H. Wilson of Okemah High School will be head coach of the Oklahoma team. He will be assisted by Frank Mobra of Talihima High and Sherman Floyd of Poteau High.

Two of the four times that Oklahoma has defeated Texas, Steinke and Hughes were among the Texas coaches.

Steinke was a coach of the 1960 team which lost 14-13 and two years later Texas lost 7-6 when Hughes was a coach.

Aaron Fuels Atlanta Past Pirates, 7-2

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hank Aaron heard he was only second best so he figured he'd better try harder.

That was the witty explanation Aaron had Sunday for his prolific day at the plate in which he lashed two homers, two singles, drove in four runs and scored three as Atlanta whipped Pittsburgh 7-2.

The Braves' right fielder referred to a controversy touched off by an Atlanta baseball broadcaster involving a comparison between Aaron and the Pirates' right fielder, Roberto Clemente.

Introducing Clemente at a Braves booster club luncheon last Friday, broadcaster Milo Hamilton said:

"We all know how great Hank Aaron is and what he has done, but when it comes to making the All-Star selection, right there is the right fielder."

Hamilton wasn't pointing to Aaron. He was indicating Clemente.

"I played left field in the All-Star Game because Walter Alston asked me if I'd mind playing there," Aaron said upon hearing about Hamilton's words. "I coculd have played right field if I had wanted to because I got more votes than anybody out there."

Going into Sunday's game, Clemente was showing why Hamilton and numerous others think so highly of him. He was batting .402 with seven home runs and 27 runs batted in. However, he went zero-forfour, and his average dipped to .388.

Aaron, on the other hand, soared to .326 with his performance and raised his homer total to 11 and his RBI output to 29.

And to top off his exhibition, Aaron—who doesn't have the great arm Clemente has—threw out the Pirate star as he tried to go from first to third on a single in the fourth inning.

In other NL games Philadelphia edged Cincinnati 2-1 in 18 innings, St. Louis nipped New York 3-2, Houston blanked San Francisco 2-0 and Los Angeles downed Chicago 6-1 before bowing 8-2.

In the American League Kansas City topped Chicago 5-4, Boston swept Cleveland 4-3 and 6-2, Minnesota clobbered California 12-3 and New York nipped Detroit 6-5 after losing 9-4. Rain washed out Baltimore at Washington.

Don Lock's two-out, run-scoring single in the 18th inning ended the four-hour and 38-minute contest between Philadelphia and Cincinnati. Rich Allen scored on the hit after walking and moving to second on a ground out. Dick Hall blanked the Reds on four hits in the last six innings.

Home runs by Roger Maris and Lou Brock powered St. Louis past New York. Cleon Jones homered for the Mets.

Mike Cuellar survived a couple of late-inning threats and preserved his shutout over San Francisco. The Astros got just three hits off Mike McCormick, but they all figured in the scoring, Chuck Harrison doubling in one run and Bob Aspromonte homering for the other.

Willie Davis drove in three runs with an eighth-inning homer and a ninth-inning single as Los Angeles rallied for a first-game victory over Chicago. Davis' homer capped a four-run outburst in the eighth.

Ron Santo and Ferguson Jenkins combined to bring the Cubs back in the nightcap. Santo rapped a homer, a double and a single while Jenkins limited the Dodgers to three hits. Santo's single started a four-run rally in the fourth, and his double ignited a three-run outburst in the fifth.

Tigers, Yankees Split; Sox Fall

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Somewhere in the midst of all the hitting that was going on at Tiger Stadium Sunday, there was Mickey Mantle's 504th career home run. Except to Mickey, it could hardly have mattered less.

But on a doubleheader afternoon during which some eight home runs were hit, it was a mere single, hit by Ruben Amaro, that pulled the Yankees out of a four-game losing streak and gave them one game of solace after three of grief against Detroit.

The Tigers hammered four home runs—two by Dick McAuliffe—in winning the opening game 9-4. When Willie Horton blasted a three-run shot in the first inning of the second game, his second of the afternoon, the 44,862 fans in attendance might have been forgiven for their thoughts of ending the day in first place.

But the Yankees came pecking back, tied the score on a three-run triple by Tom Tresh in the third and added to more in the same inning on singles by Joe Pepitone and Charlie Smith.

But then, boom, Al Kaline hit another one out, tying the score at 1-5 and that's the way it stayed until the eighth. Steve Whitaker and Smith then singled and then Amaro dropped a single into left field, winning the game 6-5.

Detroit stayed in second place, 11 percentage points behind Chicago.

In other American League games, Boston swept a pair from Cleveland 4-3 and 6-2, Minnesota crushed California 12-3 and Kansas City outlasted Chicago 5-4.

In the National League, Philadelphia edged Cincinnati 2-1 in 18 innings, Atlanta beat Pittsburgh 7-2, Houston blanked San Francisco 2-0, St. Louis clipped New York, 3-2, and Los Angeles split a doubleheader with Chicago, winning 6-1, then losing 8-2.

Mantle's fourth homer in as many games came in the seventh inning of the first game and was preceded by a similar two-run shot by Horace Clarke, but Fred Gladding came in to put out the fire and save the victory for Earl Wilson.

George Scott's two-run homer capped a four-run eighth inning in the Red Sox' victory in the first game. Carl Yastrzemski tripled in two runs in the same inning. Darrell Brandon won his first game of the season in the nightcap, giving up the only Indians' runs on pitcher Sam McDowell's two-run homer in the third.

Cesar Tovar hit a pair of home runs and two doubles to drive in four runs for Minnesota. Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison also homered in the Twins' slugfest. Dave Boswell struck out 11, squaring his record at 1-1.

With two out in the third, Kansas City came up with six straight hits and four runs to beat the White Sox. Chicago scored twice in the ninth, but Jack Aker saved the victory for Jim Nash by getting Don Buford to ground into the final out.

Coming Election Promises To Be Quiet, Uninspiring

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson is not the most popular White House tenant within memory, and he doesn't quicken the pulse, but there is nothing exciting about any of the Republicans mentioned as his likely opponent in 1968.

Rank-and-file Republicans and even independents, according to the Gallup Poll, put former Vice President Richard M. Nixon ahead of Michigan's Gov. George Romney as their first choice for president.

This has its own irony. While Romney has been whirling around the country, making speeches to test his chances, Nixon has been out of the country touring the world.

The 1964 race had intense interest, not because of new ideas but because of old ones. Barry Goldwater, although he wound up badly beaten by Johnson, made the campaign an issue between right-wingers and the rest of the country.

Nothing like that is in view for next year. The Vietnamese war figures to be the main talking point but evn that may not stir the country emotionally unless by then some development makes the war a bleeding issue.

Nixon never made any hearts skip in his 1960 contest with John F. Knnedy. But Kennedy didn't, either. That was a race between two personalities. On issues, and there weren't any great ones, they didn't sound far apart.

That Nixon didn't have any special magic was illustrated again in 1962 when he tried, but failed, to take the California governorship away from Edmund G. Brown. Ronald Reagan succeeded in that last year.

In his recent trips around the country Romney didn't light any fires or even show he can. The only political philosophy he has shown so far is caution.

New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller placed third in the same Gallup Poll even though he has already said he wants no part of the White House and has avoided talking like a candidate.

The Republicans could have picked Rockefeller in 1960, when he didn't campaign for the nomination, and again in 1964 when he did—though they even booed him at their convention. They skipped over Nixon in 1964 in favor of Goldwater.

No. 4 in the poll is Gov. Reagan who may indeed have presidential hopes but, like Romney, has been playing it cautious. Because he is such a conservative, Reagan—more than Nixon, Romney or Rockefeller—might be able to heat up the 1968 race if he got the nomination.

But his own party will be able to appraise him and his chances better after he has performed as governor a little longer.

As usual at a time like this—still so far away from the Republican convention—it is too early even for guessing on the chances of any of these men for the nomination.

But one thing is sure: there isn't one of them carrying a box of matches around with him.

Johnson is no fireball, either. If he thinks he's up against a cinch, he will probably do what he did three years ago when he thought Goldwater was a soft touch. He will go through the campaign without geting overheated.

The campaign, looked at this far ahead, will probably be uninspiring, with no big issues except perhaps the war, and the voters trying to decide a personality contest: which of the two men they have more confidence in.

Junior Editors Quiz on SAVINGS BANKS

QUESTION: How did banking start?

* * *

ANSWER: In the ancient world, money was taken on deposit, currencies exchanged and loans made by the temples and private firms. After Rome's fall, this early banking disappeared, but was revived in Renaissance Italy. Money changers sat on benches in Italian streets; from the Italian word for bench, banco, we get our word bank. The Banco di Rialto, founded in Venice in 1587, is said to have been the first modern bank. It took deposits in coin, paid bills of exchange, but it did not make loans. Present day banks use the money deposited in them to loan to other people and businesses, charging interest. From this interest, the banks receive the profit needed to keep operating. In one kind of bank, depositors can write checks to pay bills. In another, the savings bank (lower picture), the depositor does not write checks. He takes his money to a savings bank with a pass book (1). The bank invests the money (2). Getting interest on its investment, the bank keeps some and credits some to the depositor's account. This is why Jerry, drawing some of his money out later, is looking so pleased.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

It may be a man's world, but women get most of the headaches. A survey showed that Americans annually suffer 4½ million headaches severe enough to sideline their victims for the day. Women had an average of six headaches, men fewer than three.

But sniffers had it worse. There are 25 times as many common colds as there are severe headaches.

Red PT Boats Avoiding Conflict

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON AP)— North Vietnam's torpedo boats have avoided battle with the U. S. Navy for nearly a year, it was learned today.

The last time Red PT's made any threatening passes at American warships operating off North Vietnam was in early July last year, the Pentagon said.

On that occasion, three of the high-speed torpedo craft were sunk by carrier-based jet fighter-bombers after the craft were spotted on what the Navy said was an attack course aimed at a U. S. destroyer on patrol.

Since then, the American Navy has become much more active off North Vietnam. U. S. destroyers and cruisers have been prowling close to the North Vietnamese coast, intercepting southbound Communist supply vessels and bombarding shore targets.

Navy sources said the North Vietnamese PT's have made no effort to challenge the destroyers or cruisers on Operation Sea Dragon, or to interfere with any of the three carriers laupching air strikes against North Vietnam from positions farther out in the Gulf of Tonkin.

According to the latest intelligence information there are about 20 torpedo boats in the North Vietnamese fleet, which lacks any major warships.

These boats are based mostly in the Haiphong area. One PT-boat complex just outside that port city was hit by U. S. raiders in March.

The first U. S.-North Vietnamese armed clash in August 1964 was triggered by what the U. S. government claimed were attacks by Red PT's on the destroyers Maddox and C. Turner Joy steaming in the Tonkin Gulf.

As a consequence, President Johnson ordered retaliatory air attacks on PT bases. Four of these bases were bombed and hit with rockets.

The United States said about 25 torpedo boats were destroyed in those first strikes against North Vietnam. That left about 15 PT's in fighting shape. The Soviets reportedly provided some replacements.

The diesel-powered, 50-ton PT boats are capable of speeds in the 45 mile-an hour range. They mount twin torpedo tubes and 37mm guns.

In addition to the aluminum-hulled PT's, the North Vietnamese have about 22 motor gunboats provided by Red China and four Soviet-made subchasers, plus a small number of auxiliary patrol craft.

Miss USA Replies 'Maybe' To Boyfriend's Proposal

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Miss USA's boyfriend admits he's already asked her to marry him but says he's dated better looking girls.

And Miss USA, Sylvia Hitchcock, said her high school chums passed her over twice in choosing homecoming queens. Both times she was just a runner-up.

But the judges and an enthusiastic audience agreed Saturday night that the University of Alabama junior was the fairest of the contestants.

"Well," hedged the boyfriend, when asked if Sylvia was the most beautiful girl he has ever dated, "She's the most natural and down to earth girl I've ever dated."

A tall - dark - and - handsome football player, Herbert (Skip) Hunter of Hastings, Fla., diplomatically declined to discuss the question in any more detail. The proposal, he said, resulted in a "maybe, eventually" answer.

Miss Hitchcock, who represented Alabama in the pageant, was raised on a chicken farm in Miami.

"I used to collect eggs," she said after she awakened Sunday morning surrounded by photographers and red roses. My uncle told me that the rooster laid eggs, too, so I went out to collect them. But they just scratched me."

A striking 35½-24-36½, the 21-year-old art student played tackle football with the neighborhood boys. She stole tomatoes from the fields and loved to fish in the mudbank as a youngster.

Hunter, a 21-year-old student at the University of Miami, said he met Sylvia at a library.

"I just saw her, walked over in front of her and said hello," he said.

"That was in September and it wasn't until December when I called her up," he grinned.

Miss Hitchcock, who wore a ring handed down from her grandmother and carried a carved statue of Buddha for good luck, goes to New York Tuesday.

She was the last of the 15 semifinalists named by the judges. She said she thought she was out of the running after the 13th name was called.

Born in Haverhill, Mass., she has lived in the Miami area for 18 years.

The second youngest of six children, the 5-foot7½ - beauty with light brown hair and dark brown, almost black, eyes wants to become a professor of art. Her older brother Raymond, 31, is a professor of art at the University of Connecticut.

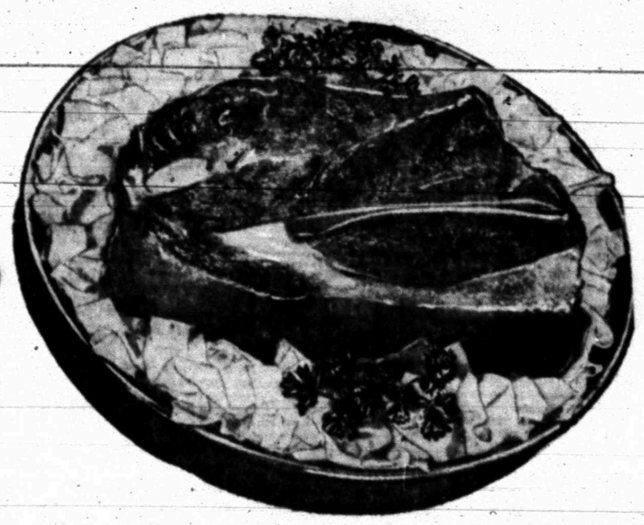

Her roommate during the pageant, Miss California, Susan Bradley, was runner-up. Florida's entrant, Cheryl Patton of North Miami Beach, placed third followed by Wisconsin's Jodi Bonham and Missouri's Karen Hendriz.

Norm Ullman led the Detroit Red Wings in scoring last season with 26 goals and 44 assists for 70 points, third best figure in the National Hockey League.

Ask The American Male What's Wrong With Women

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

American men, they'd have you believe, cherish one ambition in regard to American women: To fall into their arms without falling into their hands.

"They have been pampered, spoiled, given most of the worldly things prior to maturing," says a Kansas City business man, divorced a year ago and given to bitter pronouncements about the opposite sex. "Therefore, they expect more, demand more, than the women of less bountiful societies —although they smell better and bathe oftener."

"They are domineering and outlandishly spoiled. I sometimes think woman suffrage was a mistake," says a young Anchorage, Alaska, newsman, who insists he is happily married.

And so it goes with two-thirds of those questioned in a nationwide Associated Press sampling of male opinion.

A majority of the men agreed that American women's good looks and good grooming are the nicest things about them, that women are entitled to equal legal and civil rights — although a goodly number thought they are just too pushy about it —and that the chief cause of the high divorce rate is too — young marriages.

They vociferously applauded miniskirts, although many a husband added "but not on my wife!"

They rejected the double standard of morality for men and women, often with a reference to "what's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander." Yet they contended that a certain amount of skirt-chasing is normal for the married man.

Are today's women as good wives and mothers and homemakers as those of the last generation? There were takers on both sides of the question.

Perhaps 80 per cent of the husbands said their marriages are happy. Even when they fulminated most vehemently against women they hastened to point out that their wives are an exception.

Sometimes it's difficult to decide if the men were talking tongue in cheek, suffer from an Oedipal hangup or had been mortally wounded by The Woman. Bachelors and particularly the divorced men, could be venomous.

"A woman's place is in the home. She should be allowed to go out with her husband on rare social occasions — baptisms, funerals. And at all times she should walk two steps behind him." A California bachelor lawyer, 36.

"American women should be beaten regularly and made to feel subservient, then they'll feel feminine. Now they have all the sensitivity of a rock." A divorced Detroit lawyer, 29, who says he is newly in love.

Women, though, had a loyal minority following.

A young Kansas farmer: "If you want a woman to be a servant you should marry an Oriental, a Nordic or a southern European. The American woman has it all over them."

A 62-year-old Fairbanks, Alaska, miner who has been married 41 years to the same woman: "As far as American women are concerned, I love 'em all."

"Women round out life and make it full," said a Louisville businessman and widower. "Otherwise, we would just have half a life."

A New York State employe spoke for a lot of men when he said he appreciated most about women "Sex and the American woman's ability to make the most of her looks even when she is downright homely."

Also mentioned were her companionship, sense of humor, frankness, good taste, planning ability, intelligence and education.

"When you're really in need they rise to the occasion to help you," commented an Atlanta bachelor.

What don't they like about women?

"The least appealing thing is their independent, sometimes holier-than-thou attitude and their agonizing ability to make men appear so damn foolish," said a recently divorced man.

Then there was their perfume — "They douse themselves," their chewing gum — "Their jaws are always moving," their conformism, their faddism, their "total preoccupation with appearance," their "over-improvement on nature, they look like painted savages," their gossiping and their insistence on keeping up with the Joneses.

"Most women are out for the dollar," said a Miami office manager, 63 and long married. "They don't have the homemaking capabilities their mothers had, nor do they pursue it."

Some men thought women are good wives and mothers but let the homemaking slip because they're working outside the home. "In these changing times you need two incomes in a family," said one man.

"I think my wife compares more than favorably with my mother," said a Hollywood movie writer-producer who has been married 25 years. "She's a better cook and knows more about child psychology and matters of health and hygiene. She's a great deal more self-sufficient."

Ah, but are they as moral?

"They are completely immoral and always were," said a recently divorced man. "The only difference is that they are a little bolder about it today."

But an Episcopal minister of Overland, Mo., married and the father of five, decided: "In her way the woman in the United States today is more moral than her mother. Today's women are not prudes, but they have done some thinking about what morality is."

Although most men thought a little skirt-chasing is normal for married men, they were skittish about how far it should go.

"Just because you're on a diet doesn't mean you can't look at the menu," a married hopeful said cannily.

But a Buffalo citizen summed it up this way: "I believe most men brag and pretend they are skirt-chasers when they aren't. Skirt-chasing is too time-consuming and costly for the average man. He would rather sit at home, sip a beer and watch a baseball game on TV."

Most men also would give women equal civil and legal rights and equal pay for equal work.

Yet a Kansas City businessman, married and the father of three children, said: "They should be more concerned with being more feminine than worry about equal rights. They should learn to take care of their man instead of worrying whether they are going to get the same pay."

A majority of the men who voted enthusiastically for miniskirts, even for their wives, explained that it depends on their figures, of course.

A West Coast bachelor put it: "I think they enhance a woman's legs. If she has bad legs she shouldn't wear them. On a girl, they are delectable because, like a barbed wire fence, they protect the property but don't obscure the view."

Mindful of the tender sensibilities of women, a 26-year-old unmarried lunchroom proprietor in Springfield, Mass., was indignant:

"In certain situations they (miniskirts) are great. But this topless thing is going too far. There were always places you could go to see a girl stripped. But bringing it out in front of other women, I just don't think that's right!"

Texas Pilots Join Raid

SAIGON (AP) — Two Texas majors took part in separate aerial bombardments of enemy targets Saturday as the U.S. Air Force continued its bombings.

Maj. Roman H. Perez, 38, of San Antonio flew one of three Super Sabres that hit an enemy base camp 25 miles southwest of Saigon.

They triggered two large secondary explosions at the camp and also destroyed or damaged 16 fortified positions with bombs and 20 mm. cannon fire.

Maj. William R. Powers, 37, of West Columbia, Tex., was a pilot in a flight of Air Force F105 jets that bombed a North Vietnamese railroad yard at Vu Chua, 43 miles northeast of Hanoi.

Thick clouds of smoke and dust covered the railroad marshalling yards after the attack. Powers and his fellow jet pilots reported 30 boxcars and two engines caught in the yards.

They knocked out rail lines damaged supplies on sidings and demolished numerous cars.

Olds Earns Title Of Leading Ace

By BARRY KRAMER

SAIGON (AP) — Col. Robin Olds became the leading MIG killer of the Vietnam war over the weekend, shooting down his third and fourth Communist jets in the skies over North Vietnam.

The 44-year-old World War II ace became the first pilot of the war to knock down three MIGs when he got a MIG17 40 miles northeast of Hanoi Saturday.

Olds also was credited with a probable kill, and the Air Force said today the "probable" had been confirmed. Now Olds needs only one more MIG to make him a Vietnamese war ace.

During World War II, Olds, a West Point graduate, was credited with knocking down 24½ enemy planes. The half represented a kill he shared with another pilot.

Olds is married to former actress Ella Raines and is the father of two teen-age girls. His family lives in Washington, D.C. He was a football star at West Point and now commands the 8th Tactical Fighter Wing based in Thailand. The wing is credited with shooting down 22 of the 54 MIGs claimed by Air Force pilots over North Vietnam. Navy and Marine fliers claim 16 more MIGs.

Olds sat out the Korean War with the Air Defense Command and arrived in Southeast Asia last October. On Jan. 2 he made his first kill — a MIG21. U. S. pilots shot down seven MIGs that day in a sweep led by Olds.

On May 4 he shot down another MIG21.

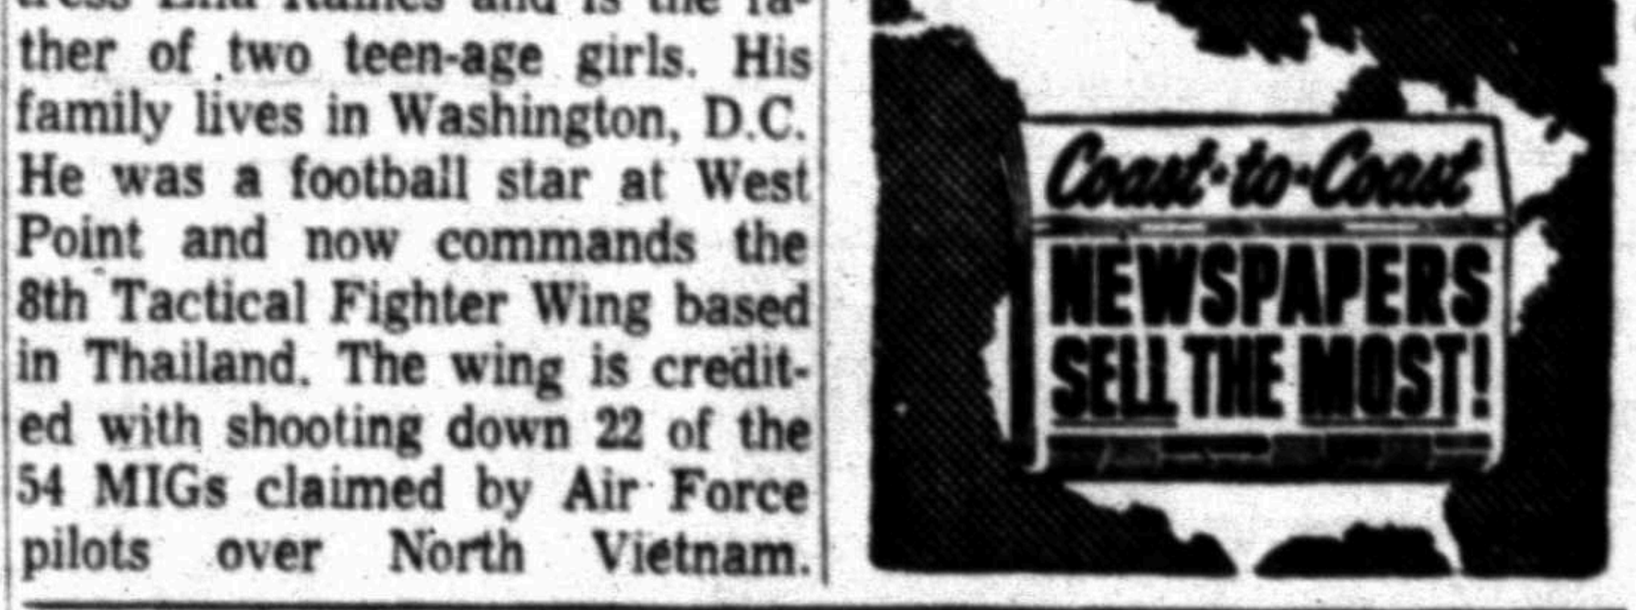

All of Olds' kills have been made with air-to-air rockets.

Seconds after he knocked out the first Red jet on Saturday, Olds reported, he was flying only 100 feet above the ground when he launched another missile at a MIG as it headed over a ridge line.

The plane was hit on the right side of the fuselage but wasn't seen to hit the ground. Later the Air Force said analysis of film made of the second attack showed the rocket hit was fatal.

Flying with Olds Saturday in the F4C Phantom was 1st Lt. Stephen B. Crocker of Middletown, Del.

Olds is the son of Maj. Gen. Robert Olds, commander of the 2nd Air Force during World War II.

A Lot Of Pleasant Changes Are Made Here At 66 Cafe

There's a new look and a new popularity at the 66 Cafe on the East Highway.

And you can credit Robert Howard Mills, the manager, with the many pleasant changes that have been made recently.

The spacious dining room has been repainted, and new draperies have been hung in the room. In addition, some new paintings bedeck the walls. Music piped into the dining room also adds to the generally pleasant atmosphere. Special prices also are offered to large party or banquet groups which use the dining room.

The 66 Cafe also has a new, attractive menu. The daily menu now features a steak special, lunches for 95 cents and $1.10 and a $1.50 deluxe dinner. Lunches include a soup and salad, a starch and one vegetable plus desert and coffee or tea.

Many delicious dishes are available, including Mexican food and sea food. With a good selection of U. S. Choice beef, the steak business has tripled in recent weeks. The new menu affords a delicious choice in steaks.

At the top of the menu is a Quote of the Day, which many patrons find interesting or amusing.

Other improvements have been made in the kitchen, and the overall quality of the food has been upgraded.

A juke box provides music for patrons in the coffee shop.

Many school groups, such as athletic teams, have discovered that 66 Cafe makes every effort to provide a congenial, relaxing atmosphere for large groups. However, you will receive the same prompt and efficient service whether you're dining alone or with a group.

Give yourself a treat. Dine at the 66 — a progressive Cafe that believes satisfied customers is good business.

SPACIOUS FACILITIES — Robert Howard Mills, manager of the Phillips "66" Cafe on the East Highway, sits in the spacious newly refurbished dining room which has become popular with local banquet groups.

Bird Nests In Freezer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A sparrow evidently heard that the thing to do was to come south for the winter. So he came to Miami and built his home in a warehouse freezer.

The warmest temperatures there are 38 to 39 degrees below zero and the bird, who found his new home three weeks ago, won't budge.

"That bird must be from outer space," said Fred Duncombe, who loads and unloads produce at the warehouse.

"When I come in, he looks at me like he knows me," he said. "Sometimes he swoops down to my shoulders, but then he flies off."

Workmen have left the door open for hours so the bird could get out, but nothing doing. He just peeks out curiously and stays where he is.

"He flies up and down the freezer every day" said Jack Westbrook. The bird drinks water from the ice and flies over to the frozen foods department for more nourishing staples, Westbrook said.

Gulf Sites To Be Leased

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall says a sale of federal oil and gas leases on submerged tracts off the Texas coast will be held next spring.

He said Sunday night it was being delayed from late this year, as previously planned, to avoid as much as possible a conflict between the peak of commercial fishing and seismic exploration.

It will be the first sale of Texas offshore leasses since March 16, 1962.

Udall said industry representatives must file requests by Sept. 18 for areas they would like for the government to offer. Tracts on which competitive bids will be taken then will be made public in the Federal Register.

Nominations must be for lands in federal areas north and east of Matagorda Island.

Soviets' Odessa Noted As City Of Sun And Laughter

ODESSA, U.S.S.R. (AP)—The people of Odessa think Moscow is a nice place to visit, but they wouldn't want to live there.

"Odessa is quieter," a scientist says. "We can do more real work here. Do you know what real work means? It means less telephone calls, less big shots, less interference."

"Odessa is sunny," the port official says. "Look, there is another one from Moscow, another paleface."

For the Soviet Union this Black Sea port is part of the sunny south, a resort area with sandy beaches, workers' vacation sanatoria and the busiest all-weather port in the country. There is a Mediterranean air to some of its main streets, due to French and Italian architectural influences.

Odessa has a reputation for laughter and individualism in a nation of somber conformism.

Odessa is second only to Leningrad as a birthplace or residence of great Russian artists and writers. Alexander Pushkin, the poet, lived here from 1823 to 1824 while writing part of "Eugene Onegin." Nikolai Gogol also lived here briefly.

Peter Ilyich Tchaikovsky conducted the first performance of his "Queen of Spades" at the magnificent opera house here, second only to Moscow's Bolshoi among Russian opera houses. The Odessa Opera is now closed for restoration work.

Native Odessans include some of the great artists of the Soviet period—author Issac Babel, violinist David Oistrakh, pianist Emil Gilles, jazz composer Leonid Utyosov, satiric writers Ilya Ilf and Evgeny Petrov, writer Yuri Olesha.

Odessa has a long tradition of liberalism. In tsarist days it was given unusual autonomy in a bid for the city's loyalty, perhaps because of its proximity to Turkey.

Despite the differences, the visitor to Odessa never doubts he is in the Soviet Union. The same drab buildings and streets of most Soviet cities predominate here, as in Moscow.

Odessa is a great seaport but its restaurants have no fresh fish for dinner. Canned fruit and vegetables available here come mostly from Bulgaria. There is a shortage of fresh food, particularly in winter. Lines are common in food stores, as in Moscow.

Foreign shipping officials complain of excessive red tape, slow loading and unloading, and a lack of modern port facilities. A ship captain joked that he can clear the port of Hamburg in 36 hours, but it might take 36 days to clear Odessa.

One foreigner living here says, "Odessa is a horrible place at night. There is nothing here, nothing."

But to Soviet citizens, Odessa is still a magnet. The city has a population of 745,000 and is still growing. Odessa is building new apartment blocks to meet the need.

Foreign tourists may find the Soviet drive to earn dollars disconcerting. Without warning, a restaurant refused to accept meal vouchers already purchased for dollars. The waitresses demanded dollars in cash, in effect doubling the price of the meal.

Then the restaurant had no change. Patrons were forced to accept change in cigarettes or other items on sale for foreign currency.
