DEFINITE PROGRESS MADE FOR BABY'S RETURN

Roosevelt Defeats Al Smith In New Hampshire

NEW ENGLAND STATE'S DEMOS VOTE FOR 'F. D.'

New York Governor Takes Big Lead Early And Maintains It

FIRST TEST OF PAIR

12 Delegates, Combining 8 Convention Votes Are Contest's Prize

CONCORD, N. H., March 9. (Wednesday) (AP)—Robert Jackson, secretary of the Democratic national committee, and leader of the forces supporting Franklin D. Roosevelt's presidential candidacy in this state, claimed the election of a complete slate of Roosevelt pledged delegates shortly after midnight.

"There's nothing to it," Jackson said, "Mr. Roosevelt has won a complete New Hampshire delegation."

Manchester Incomplete

Returns tabulated at the time Mr. Jackson made his statement showed the Roosevelt pledged ticket well ahead of the Smith pledged slate although the count was far from complete in several cities, including Manchester, the principal Smith stronghold.

With only 60 of the state's 294 precincts to be heard from the Roosevelt men had an average vote of 10,838 while the Smith candidates had an average of 6,505.

It was the first test of voting strength between the two men whose names appear at the head of the list of candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination, and it took the form of a statewide election of delegates to the national party convention in Chicago next June.

Twelve Delegates

Twelve delegates, who will cast a combined total of eight votes in the convention, were chosen by the voters. Eight were delegates-at-large, each with a half vote, and the others district delegates, two with a vote each, in each of the two congressional districts.

Republican voters also turned out to ratify an uncontested slate of delegates to the Republican convention all pledged to Herbert Hoover. Eleven delegates were chosen, seven at large and four district delegates, two from each district. Heading the Republican ticket were Senator George H. Moses and Gov. John G. Winant.

Outcome of the primary was awaited by political observers throughout the nation because of its possible effect upon coming primaries in other states, particularly in Massachusetts where a Smith ticket is already assured and followers of Roosevelt are seeking his consent to enter his name.

The generally favorable weather that prevailed throughout the state was looked upon by the Roosevelt forces as helpful to their candidate as the Roosevelt strength was considered greatest in the rural districts. The Smith camp placed their main dependence upon the vote of the larger cities, particularly Manchester, from which a majority of the Smith-pledged candidates came.

Glascock, of Oklahoma, and three other Americans were arrested near Piedras Negras while the authorities checked up on information that they had been searching for treasure buried by Pancho Villa.

The dispatches said the authorities seized 1,200 pounds of what appeared to be bar gold but that the Americans said they were not the owners.

There have been other reports that Americans were looking for the Villa treasure but so far as was recalled here Villa never operated so far east as Piedras Negras.

Terrific Gale Stalls Land And Sea Traffic Along Eastern Coast

NEW YORK, March 8. (UP)—A 50-mile gale lashed the Atlantic coast today, imperiling shipping, crippling a large freighter with 34 men aboard, and, on shore, marooning hundreds of motorists in billows of snow it left in its wake.

While coast guard cutters were attempting to reach the helpless collier F. E. Bardeleben of New Orleans, which had lost a rudder, aviators were dropping food to the passengers of two auto-buses, stalled in drifts near Batavia.

Travelers Reach Town

The travelers, who had been held on the road all night, finally reached Batavia at 1 p. m. The food, including hot coffee, which was dropped near them by a low flying plane piloted by Russell Holderman, "saved their lives," they reported gratefully.

After the great buses had broken through, a procession of at least 50 automobiles, privately owned, followed in their ruts. The passengers in these had spent the night, for the most part, in farm houses along the route.

Pilots of the United Airplanes left Newark airport this afternoon and succeeded in dropping a sack of provisions to Mark Williams, keeper of the marker beacon on Ring mountain, near Sunbury, Pa. Williams had been without food for 24 hours, shut off from the world by huge drifts on the only road leading to his home.

Trains Stalled

Several passenger and freight trains were stalled in Pennsylvania. A Lehigh Valley train, with many women and children aboard, could make no headway against the storm north of Sayre, Pa. Farmers broke through the roads to carry them food.

All through-trains bound for New York were late, some of them 15 hours.

Far out to sea, driven by a biting gale and wallowing in mountainous seas, the F. E. Bardeleben was utterly helpless. Her crew were unable to hold to their posts, and even the great ship Adriatic, standing by, was unable to be of assistance.

The violence of the sea made launching of lifeboats or attempts to put a line aboard the Bardeleben impossible.

Rescue Ship Damaged

Coast guard vessels, attempting to reach the Bardeleben, were battered by the storm. One, the destroyer Conynvham, was so seriously damaged that it had to return to port after getting to within 100 miles of the freighter. Its superstructure and part of the deck were hammered to pieces, the destroyer radioed.

The coast guard destroyer Rogers, 50 miles from the wallowing ship, reported it was able to make only 10 knots an hour, but was still attempting to reach her.

Mercury Returns To Low Figures Following 'Thaw'

At 1 o'clock this morning the temperature in Wichita Falls was 21 degrees. The sky was clear, as it had been during the afternoon Tuesday, and a light north wind was blowing. The temperature had risen above freezing during the day.

At practically every point in Northwest Texas and Southern Oklahoma weather during Monday night and early Tuesday morning set records for the year, with the mercury reaching lowest points.

In Wichita Falls temperature reached 20 degrees, two points lower than any reading registered during the present winter. However, after the sun had risen and as the day progressed the mercury gradually climbed as severity of the freeze abated. At 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the registration was 32 degrees. The highest temperature of the day was 34. Wind here, as elsewhere over the section, decreased in velocity.

Fruit crops were wiped out by freezes that have marked the past four days.

BANQUET ENDS MEDICAL MEET

State President Extolls Profession's Ethics

Ethics inherited by members of the modern medical profession from their predecessors were extolled by Dr. John O. McReynolds of Dallas, president of the State Medical association of Texas, in the closing address before the semi-annual convention of the Northwest Texas District Medical association at the Wichita club Tuesday night.

"In 40 years of practice," said the speaker," I have never yet seen a single individual, poor, semi-poor, or rich, go away from a doctor's office because he could not obtain treatment. We must not depart in the slightest degree from the practice of ethical conduct which we have received from our fathers. There are great difficulties to be encountered, but many times in the history of this country, we have overcome difficulties a thousand times greater than those we now face."

Patients Increase Costs

Declaring that there is extant in America today a type of "nervous apprehension" pervading all classes, Dr. McReynolds cautioned doctors against "stampeding" with reference to state medicine and medical insurance. Ethical standards maintained by doctors in this country, he said, obviate the need for methods adopted by some European countries to provide medical service by the government.

With reference to charges which have been voiced in this country against "the high cost of medical care," the speaker declared that the public itself is in a large measure responsible for such accusations.

"The things which have come to be associated with care of the sick are the things which have increased

Murder Case Defense Based on Ballistics

AMARILLO, Texas, March 8. (AP)—The defense in the trial of E. R. Murr, former Amarillo policeman charged with murder, this afternoon based its contention on testimony of a ballistics expert that the bullet which crashed through the brain of Frank Elston, Panhandle youth, had ricocheted

The city officer, prosecution contends, was pursuing young Elston after the boy broke from Murr and Sid Harper, another officer, when they presented a warrant charging him with assault of a 15-year-old Amarillo girl. The shot was fired, five state witnesses said, during the chase, but none of them saw the actual shooting, they testified. The shooting occurred at a local dance resort here last July.

DIRECT OFFER IS EXPECTED FROM CAPTORS

Police Censorship Removed From Lindbergh Mail And Phone Conversations

CLUES TRACED OUT

Police Continue Scrutiny Of Servant Suspects In Abduction

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 8. (AP)—Definite progress was being made tonight toward returning the kidnaped Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr. to the home of his famous parents.

This news came from the Sourland mountain estate a few hours after a close friend of Colonel Lindbergh had left on a secret mission.

The encouraging word—the first of its kind to come from the hilltop since the child was stolen a week ago tonight—was telephoned to state police at Trenton in response to a question at the night press conference there.

"What are the latest developments in the police investigation? What are the latest developments in Colonel Lindbergh's private, separate investigation?"

"Progress," was the single word answer made over the telephone by Major Charles Schoeffel of the state police.

"Has any progress been made?"

"We have not made any headway in identifying the kidnapers, but we are more hopeful for the return of the baby since the last two letters were received. That is all I can say."

Police Reduced

And finally it was learned there had been a marked reduction in the corps of state police stationed at the Lindbergh estate.

The incoming mail was freed of any suspicion of police censorship. Then, this morning, a press conference question brought the statement that the "hands off" police policy also applied to telegraphic and telephonic communications.

Whether the next step would be complete removal of the authorities themselves was conjectural. Gov. A. Harry Moore has offered to take such action should the colonel request it.

Lumber Identified

Meanwhile, although state police denied there had been any identification of the ladder used by the kidnapers, it was learned the wood of which the ladder was constructed was similar to excess lumber sold by the Skillman New Jersey state home for epileptics.

The ladder is one of the few definite clues police have had. It was used to gain entrance to the nursery when the infant was stolen a week ago tonight and was found about 70 feet west of the house along a trail of footprints. It has been described as a "makeshift affair" by Maj. Charles Schoeffel of the New Jersey state police.

The surplus materals left over after the construction of a cottage at the epileptic home were sold by the institution to a New Jersey contractor.

It was learned in a reliable quarter that an engineer of the institution and two state troopers had been engaged for the past 24 hours in an attempt to identify the ladder.

Report Submitted

The job at the Skillman home was done a year ago. The contractor was understood to have distributed the excess material among his employes, most of them residents of the hilly country in which the institution is located. Skillman is four miles northeast of the Lindbergh home.

The engineer has submitted a report to state police officials, which was not made public.

Officials would not reveal names of the dead until the wreckage had been cleared away and a representative of the company had arrived from Chicago several hours later.

L. H. Atkinson and John F. Kirk of Chicago were killed. Sydney Cleveland, Goldfield, Iowa, and Ira Smalling and Theodore Graff, Chicago, were injured. All were licensed pilots.

Arms Conference May Continue for Two Years

GENEVA, March 8. (US)—The prediction that the general disarmament conference may last two years was ventured by Joseph Paul-Boncour, of France, today.

After Foreign Minister Benes, of Czecho-Slovakia, had submitted his report on the various disarmament proposals of the 54 nations gathered at the conference, Paul Boncour told Universal Service:

"M. Benes' compilation of the propositions before the conference shows that a terrific complication of political difficulties must be overcome before success is achieved. This may take two years."

All France Does Homage To 'Apostle of Peace'

PARIS, March 8. (AP)—More than 10,000 persons—porters, shopkeepers, statesmen and all intermediate ranks—filed today through Aristide Briand's little bedroom to do homage to the dead "apostle of peace."

By nightfall M. Briand's bachelor apartment was filled with flowers. These tributes ran all the way from an imposing piece sent by the German ambassador to single carnations left there by Midinettes and wounded war veterans.

He Looks For His Little Master

He's only a little Scottie, but his doggish heart sensed something wrong when little Charles Lindbergh Jr., wasn't around to play with him any more. And no one—officers, detectives or the grief-stricken family—could answer the question in his eyes.

HERE'S WHY SCOTTIE DIDN'T PROTEST

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 8. (UP)—The Lindberghs' dog, according to the state police, was downstairs with them on the evening of the kidnaping. This explains why there was no bark from the dog when intruders came to take the Lindbergh boy Tuesday evening.

Flurry Of Rumors Brings New Wave Of Expectancy To Lindbergh Estate

Reports Say Baby Being Returned By Circuitous Route; Tension of Couple Noticeably Less

By SEYMOUR BERKSON
Universal Service Correspondent

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 8.—A great wave of hope and expectancy was caused here this evening by unconfirmed reports that the Lindbergh baby was on its way home.

The rumors were to the effect that the child was being borne through a circuitous route that is to lead eventually to a secret spot established by Col. Charles A. Lindberg's two underworld emissaries.

Anticipation Evidenced

A complete mantle of silence thrown over all aspects of the underworld negotiations and $50,000 ransom demand and a high pitch of excited anticipation at the Lindbergh home gave every indication that the baby's return was expected shortly.

Indications were that the Lindbergh baby has been taken many miles from here, possibly as far west as Chicago or as far north as Montreal, but almost certainly outside the zone of the Atlantic seaboard states where the police search for the kidnapers is most intense.

Because to return the child, pocket the $50,000 ransom money, and escape before police can pick up their trail, is considered even more difficult than the actual kidnaping, it was expected that the method of returning the infant will be much more spectacular than the abduction itself.

Assure Kidnapers

Colonel Lindbergh and his personal advisers, who include Col. Henry Breckenridge, his lawyer, and President John Grier Hibben, of Princeton university, a close friend, are endeavoring to give the kidnapers every assurance they will not be trapped, it became evident.

This was said to explain the sudden censorship established over all questions involving the activities of Salvatore Spitale and Irving Bitz, the Lone Eagle's underworld ambassadors, as well as the evident effort to create an atmosphere of impenetrable confusion about whether or not any ransom notes have been received.

Likewise a mysterious series of conferences which followed in rapid succession late last night and lasted until early this morning, when it was reported that Colonel Breckenridge had left the Lindbergh home on some secret mission, increased the apparent tension.

Couple Relaxing

At the Lindbergh home itself, Colonel Lindbergh and his wife were making a valiant effort to keep awake as many hours of the day and night as possible in the evident expectation that their long vigil of hope and fear is about to be ended in a happy reunion.

Buoyed up by the definite assurance they are now said to have received from the kidnapers or their go-betweens that their 20-month-old son will be returned safe and unharmed, both Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh began to show a relaxation from the terrific strain.

SUSPECT HELD FOR BOMB PLOT

Anarchist Arrested in Easton, Pa., Death Blast

CHICAGO, March 8. (AP)—One of the men believed by officials to have perpetrated the widespread bomb plot against prominent Italians last December was arrested here today.

He is Colombo Boeri, 47, fugitive anarchist suspect wanted for deportation.

Two alleged accomplices whose names were not revealed are sought.

Boeri, who officials said had been masquerading as a small grocer, was taken at his home in a raid led by Murray Grasson, special assistant secretary of labor.

"I have evidence positively linking this man with the Easton, Pa., bomb outrage of last December which took three lives, as well as the other mail bomb plots," Grasson said after questioning the suspect.

Boeri was held under $100,000 bond.

Large quantities of explosives—T. N. T., nitroglycerine, percussion caps and other bomb-making paraphernalia were found in the man's home.

Jap Aggression Will Unite Chinese, Army Captain Tells Record News

By MATTYE WILSON WILLIAMS
Record News Correspondent

ALTUS, Okla., March 8.—"Chinese citizens will unite against Japan and a united China will emerge," Capt. Kwang Ming Zau, Chinese officer who is attending the field artillery school at Fort Sill, said Tuesday in Altus in an exclusive interview for The Record News, concerning the conflict between Japan and China.

Captain Zau was in Altus to speak before a joint meeting of Kiwanians and Rotarians of Altus.

"Once united, a stable, central government can be established and China will be made a strong nation," he said.

Leaders of China have been attempting for years to unite various factions and the present conflict will aid much in climaxing this effort, he said.

"Japan's course is dictated in part by the necessity for more land because of a rapidly increasing population.

"Antagonism between the two nations dates back hundreds of years. The Chinese people intensely hate the Japanese.

"Development of industry, compulsory education and free schools as well as universal military training are needed in China for that country to successfully progress," Captain Zau believes.

House Passes Bill Curbing Power Of Courts To Enjoin Union Labor

WASHINGTON, March 8. (US)—Organized labor won a major victory today when the house, by a vote of 363 to 13, passed the Norris-LaGuardia bill to curb the power of federal courts in injunction proceedings involving labor.

The senate previously had passed the bill by a vote of 75 to 5. As there are differences between the senate and house bills, the issue will go to conference for adjustment.

Where the senate bill provides newspaper editors and employes cited for contempt of court may be tried by a judge not issuing the contempt order and the right of trial by jury is assured, the house bill would limit such privileges for the newspaper men to cases arising out of labor disputes.

Besides drastically curtailing the power of federal courts in injunction proceedings, the bill would outlaw "yellow dog" contracts imposed by employers.

Representative James M. Beck, Republican, of Pennsylvania, former solicitor general of the United States, denounced the bill as "enthroning a possible rule of the proletariat in America" and "a long march toward Moscow from the precepts laid down at the constitutional convention in Philadelphia."

The bill was described as "another declaration of independence" by Representative O'Connor, Democrat, of New York.

KIDNAPERS MAY DEAL DIRECTLY

Chance Given for Ransom Demands to Be Made

also developed interesting answers as to police investigation inside the hilltop home of the Lindberghs.

The disclosure that police still are scrutinizing the possibility some member of the household was involved in the theft of the child came in response to the following query:

"The refusal of state police to answer any questions pertaining to a possibility that a servant or employe in the Lindbergh home was involved in the kidnaping has created a general impression that such a theory is the most plausible now held by police. Do police care to say anything that will exonerate any or all members of the household?"

Vague Reply

Col. H. Norman Schwartzkopf, superintendent of state police, replied:

"Investigation incomplete."

The other question disclosed why an alarm was not sounded by the little Scotch terrier, which was a playmate and guard to the Lindbergh baby. The question was:

"Please say exactly where the Lindbergh dog was at the time of the kidnaping? Who had the dog under observation at that time? How many intervening doors were between the dog and the nursery? Were they open or closed? Is the dog in the habit of barking at the approach of strangers on the estate?"

The following reply was made: "Ground floor, kitchen and pantry. Servants. Four doors. Yes, if he heard them."

The increasing interest in the possibility of successful direct and confidential negotiations between the kidnapers and the Lindberghs was attributed in part to information The Associated Press obtained Monday saying two notes from the abductors were received by the parents Sunday.

Desired to Deal Directly

Nothing could be learned of what progress, if any, had been made by "Salvy" Spitale and Irving Bitz, underworld characters designated as the Lindberghs "go-betweens."

It was clearer than ever before that the Lindberghs were desirous of dealing directly with the kidnapers on the basis of their public pleas, promising confidence in and safety for representatives of the kidnapers.

In two press conferences police denied flatly there was any rift between the authorities and Colonel Lindbergh.

While Henry (Red) Johnson, sailor suitor of the Lindbergh baby's nurse, was ending his fourth day in custody, state police announced he would be detained until that phase of the inquiry had been completed.

"By that we mean investigation of his statements," reporters were told.

This included the comparison of Johnson's statements with those of John Fernado, who said Johnson gave him a ride from New York to Connecticut.

Authorities at Hartford, Conn., where Johnson was located and first questioned, said the check also included the accounts of Johnson and Johanssen Junge, husband of a servant in the Dwight Morrow household, as to their whereabouts the night of the kidnaping, a part of which they spent together.

Letter Threatened

A slight similarity was noted during the day in one of the "ransom" letters which was received by the Lindberghs last Thursday and an anonymous threatening note sent several years ago to Constance Morrow, younger sister of Mrs. Lindbergh. The Thursday letter, however, generally was discounted as the work of a "crank."

Two men who thought they could help solve the kidnaping mystery were detained all day at police headquarters in Boston and then released. They were taken into custody while making a telephone call to the Lindbergh home.

One, an unemployed shoe worker, had told the other, a chance acquaintance, that a friend, while telling his fortune, said the missing baby was being held captive by an aged couple eight miles from Hopewell. They were seeking to pass this information on to the Lindberghs when the operator handling the call informed police.

A woman's story she had overheard a conversation between Tony Meslo, a contractor, and two men 10 months ago in which the Lindbergh baby was mentioned resulted in detention of Meslo under $25,000 bond in New Haven, Conn.

Questioned Suspect

The woman said she heard one of the group make the suggestion that one of their number get a job on the Lindbergh estate or in the vicinity. Police reported Meslo refused to say if he had ever worked in New Jersey, but said he had once been employed in Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

The woman who told the story lives in Colchester, Conn., where Saturday night police investigated a report a strange baby had been treated there for a cold.

In making an offer of $50,000 for return of the kidnaped child, Walter Lafferty, New York attorney, said he would contribute "legal defense to the last ditch" to any one who should help him recover the boy.

Lafferty was a colleague in the house of representatives of the late Charles A. Lindbergh, grandfather of the child.

He said he thought the return of the child could best be effected without the aid of police. He received one telephone call after he had made public his offer, but he said it was from a "crank."

News Reporters Assigned To Watch Racketeers' Movement Have Easy Job

By JOHN M. MARTYN

NEW YORK, March 8. (UP)—Out in the sourlands district of New Jersey, newspaper men are having a tough time, what with cold weather, sleet, and a day and night vigil over officials who are, to say the least, not sympathetic toward them.

But in New York, certain reporters assigned to "cover" the comings and goings of Salvatore Spitale, are finding the assignment the softest in their careers.

In the first place, there is nothing to do on this assignment but sit in one of Salvy's speakeasies and wait until he comes in. Nothing to do but sit in a warm place, buy an occasional drink so as to maintain cordial relationships, and chat with the loquacious bartenders.

Bars Visited

Salvy's fame has spread, and the upper classes are finding it delightful to visit his bars and, with one foot on the rail, indulge in shivery speculation about "the chief."

Gentlemen of lowering countenance, with caps over their eyes, and spotted as Spitale. Invariably the visitors are wrong, and they never point out the well-dressed, smooth-talking underworld leaders as the real Spitale.

"The chief" comes and goes as one of the customers. Occasionally he indulges in long conversations with his managers, generally at a table in the rear. If there is a telephone call, four or five men leap to the booth. Spitale himself never answers it.

Kidnaping Talk

Mixing with the crowd of sightseers are groups of small-time racketeers and gangsters, who are loquacious and who enjoy basking in the spotlight of notoriety that has been "the chief's" ever since he was appointed by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh as an intermediary with the kidnapers of his child.

There is little talk of anything else but the kidnaping in any of Salvy's "hot spots." Every one of "the mob" has some pet theory and today their opinions have veered around to the belief that the Lindbergh child is not in the hands of the underworld.

"Salvy would have got some word by now," they said, "if the kid was held by any of the mob."

Salvy himself says little. He will talk if pressed—as he is by all the reporters who know him—but all he says is to reiterate that he is "no cop."

AMARILLO HAS KIDNAPING CLUE

'Crank' Blamed for Crude Message on Card

AMARILLO, Texas, March 8. (AP)—A postal card addressed to "Chas. A. Lindbergh, Hopewell, N. J.," and bearing a threatening message on the reverse side, was mailed at the Amarillo postoffice about 4 p. m., today.

It was intercepted by a postal clerk who turned it over to Postmaster W. C. Kenyon.

On the reverse side was typed: "Baby safe. . . . Do as instructed. . . . Cold weather here. . . ." A crude skull and cross-bones was drawn below in pencil, with the printed word "beware" above it. A thumb print in ink was impressed in one corner.

Although officers who inspected the card believed it to be the work of a crank, Detective Captain Clark Cain said an investigation would be started immediately to learn the identity of the author of the message.

Ed Holloway, fingerprint expert of the Amarillo police department, said the print was that of a right thumb, and that printer's ink had been used. The entire card was smeared with what appeared to be carbon paper or soft indelible lead.

Postmaster Kenyon said the card would be sent under cover by airmail to postal authorities in Hopewell.

Farm Board Wheat Rushed To Needy in Dakota

WASHINGTON, March 8. (US)—More than 1,400 bushels of government wheat was moved out of Omaha, Neb., today and rushed toward South Dakota to feed needy families that suffered from crop failures last summer, the Red Cross announced today.

This was the first shipment of the 40,000,000 bushels turned over to the Red Cross when President Hoover signed the bill last night taking that amount of grain from the stores of the federal farm board so it may go to feed the needy.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

ROCKIES EXPERIENCE WINTER'S COLDEST

DENVER, March 8. (AP)—The coldest weather of the winter enveloped the Rocky mountain region tonight.

While a general snow storm raged from the Canadian border to the Texas Panhandle, the mercury slid down far below zero in many places. High winds and drifting roads along the Montana-Wyoming-South Dakota state lines caused apprehension for the safety of livestock caught in the blizzard. The region just north of Belle Fourche touched a new record low temperature of 28 degrees below zero.

Although 16 inches of snow had fallen today in Berthoud Pass, west of Denver, that mountain highway was kept open by crews that worked all day. Southwestern Colorado, hard hit this winter by continuous snows, experienced another heavy fall. Tennessee pass, near Leadville, although open to traffic late today was expected to be closed tonight, as a blizzard raged there.

Thirty inches of snow fell in North Park, in the Grand Lake, Colo., region. Gresley and other Northern Colorado points had from 10 to 14 inch falls. Laramie, Wyo., was sut off from transportation.

The mercury hit .2 of a degree below zero today in Denver.

A blizzard was raging tonight in Glendive, Mont. Livingston had 24 below zero weather; it was 22 below in Great Falls and other Montana points ranged slightly higher. A heavy blanket of snow covered most of that state. Many automobiles stalled.

Negroes Held In Series of Thefts

Two negro men were being held by city police Tuesday afternoon for investigation in connection with a series of attempted burglaries reported Monday night. At the same time officers were working on a burglary of the Blondy Super Service Filling station operated by M. H. Thomason at Seventh and Broad, which burglars looted of $30 in cash early Tuesday morning.

The filling station was entered by knocking a small glass from the door and turning the night latch. The burglary was discovered by night patrolmen at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Other losses reported Tuesday included a snare drum valued at $35, reported missing from the American Legion drum and bugle corps hall at Seventh and Scott; a chamois jacket reported taken from Lesley Bros. Inc., 806 Lamar, valued at $25; and a tricycle, valued at $10.50, reported by Mrs. Louis J. Byrd, 2103 Garfield.

State investigators have found that colds were responsible for 39 per cent of all absence from work in California.

A retail survey of Illinois shows a state-wide distribution of 97,074 stores, of which 43,625 are located in Chicago.

Armour and Dudley In International Finals

MIAMI, Fla., March 8. (AP)—Tommy Armour, British open champion, and Ed Dudley, Concordville, Pa., advanced to finals of the $5,000 international four-ball golf tournament today by overwhelming Gene Sarzen and Johnny Farrell, 3 and 2, in a hotly contested semifinal match that ended at the 34th hole.

To End a Cough In a Hurry, Mix This at Home

To quickly end stubborn coughs due to colds, it is important to soothe the inflamed membranes, get rid of the germs and also to aid the system inwardly to help throw off the trouble.

For these purposes, here is a home-made medicine, far better than anything you could buy at 3 times the cost. From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to fill up the pint. This takes but a moment, saves money, and makes a remedy so effective that you will never do without, once you have used it. Keeps perfectly, and children like it.

This simple remedy does three necessary things. First, it loosens the germ-laden phlegm. Second, it soothes away the inflammation. Third, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. This explains why it brings such quick relief, even in the obstinate coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest medicinal agents for severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Q. & A.

TRENTON, N. J., March 8. (AP)—The single word "progress" was the police answer tonight to inquiries as to what had developed in the public and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's private investigation of the kidnaping of his baby son a week ago. The response was made at a state police press conference shortly after 9 p. m.

This was the first time such a statement had been made.

1.—Have the state police obtained fingerprints of the Lindbergh baby and can we obtain facsimilies?

A.—No answer.

2.—Do the facts at your command indicate that the kidnapers arrived in the vicinity of the Lindbergh home in a small closed truck similar to a bakery wagon, or does the information you have indicate a passenger car?

A.—There is no positive proof of either of these facts available.

3.—Has the experts' or chemists' examination of the ladder as to possible soil deposits on the end that would be against the house indicated that the ladder came from the vicinity of Hopewell? Did that examination give any indication as to the geographic origin of the ladder?

A.—The ladder was found lying on the ground in soft dirt. No.

4.—Do the footprints show that one of the kidnapers removed his shoes before mounting the ladder? Did that kidnaper replace his shoes before leaving the immediate vicinity of the Lindbergh home? Were the footprints clear enough to indicate what type of shoes were worn, and what were these types?

A.—No. Prints not clear.

5.—What is the exact location of the Jackson-White colony in the vicinity of Hopewell?

A.—Know of none.

6.—Is the ladder similar to those used by public service companies or whoever erected the high tension line?

A.—No. See pictures of the ladder as published.

7.—The lumber used in the construction of the kidnaping ladder has been identified by Squire Johnson, assistant state architect, as having come from lumber left from a construction job at Skillman village of epileptics; are you still questioning Skillman village employes, and what are the results of the investigation so far?

A.—This investigation not completed as yet.

8.—Have the kidnapers made a condition of return of the child an end of newspaper publicity?

A.—No answer.

9.—Have police checked thoroughly Haimu Hattu's actions at the time of the kidnaping, or have they simply used him to check Johnson's alibi?

A.—Refer to Newark police.

10.—Is there any thought that the kidnaping was engineered as a means of helping Capone?

A.—No answer.

1.—The United States immigration records at Washington show that Betty Gow, the Lindbergh nursemaid, entered the United States as the wife of one David Gow; do police still believe after their investigation of her that she is unmarried or was ever married?

A.—Yes.

12.—What is Betty Gow's real name? On what date did she enter the United States and under what name? Are her parents living; what are their names; where do they live?

A.—Betty Gow. Mother living and remarried, Scotland.

13.—Why does Colonel Lindbergh not offer a reward equal to the amount of the ransom asked for the safe return of the child to eliminate possibility of prosecution of any one returning the child?

A.—No answer.

14.—Is it true that a note has been received saying that the Lindbergh baby is in New York City? If so, please give us complete details, or details of any other communication received from the kidnapers.

A.—No answer.

15.—Is it true that Betty Gow is illegally, with respect to the immigration laws, in the United States; if so, has this any bearing on the present investigation?

A.—No knowledge.

16.—What are the latest developments in the police investigation? What are the latest developments in Colonel Lindbergh's private separate investigation?

A.—Progress.

17.—Did an automobile occupied by several negroes enter the Lindbergh estate today? If so, were the occupants men or women? Did they give any information that might implicate the kidnapers of Nell Donnelly of Kansas City in the present crime?

A.—Colored man from Kansas City desired interview with Colonel Lindbergh on basis of letter of introduction he obtained last Saturday, but which actually was dated the early part of February. He had no information to offer and the interview was denied.

SAVANTS STUDY LIGHT'S SPEED

Tedious Tests Occupy Two Scientists

PASADENA, Calif., March 8. (AP)—Two scientists seeking to ascertain the true speed of light are working with the patience of a tourist trying to cross Death Valley at night in an automobile with leaky tires.

"Every time something goes wrong in our mile-long vacuum tube, we have to let the air in so we can get in and fix it," Dr. Francis G. Pease said today. "Then we have to wait 46 hours for the pump to reduce the tube to a near vacuum again."

Dr. Pease, who is attached to Mount Wilson observatory, and Fred Pearson of the University of Chicago hope to complete within four months the work begun nearly two years ago at the Irvine ranch, near Santa Ana, by the late Dr. Albert A. Michelson.

Dr. Michelson, who checked the speed of light at 186,284 miles per second in a mountaintop experiment with mirrors in 1927, built the corrugated iron tube at the Irvine ranch to obtain a more accurate measurement. It is 36 inches in diameter.

Reduced to one-eighth of an inch barometric pressure, light is flashed through it with revolving mirrors.

Dr. Pease and Pearson have completed six observations of about 1,000 readings each since last Thursday. They plan to obtain from 15,000 to 18,000 readings "in an effort to eliminate any possibility of error."

Conditions of Purchase Of Cotton Belt Approved

WASHINGTON, March 8. (INS)—The Southern Pacific railroad today notified the Interstate Commerce commission of its acceptance of conditions imposed by the commission to the proposed acquisition of the St. Louis Southwestern (Cotton Belt) railroad.

One of these conditions was that sufficient shares of Cotton Belt stock be deposited with the Guaranty Trust company of New York, to insure at least an 85 per cent stock control for the Southern Pacific.

Other conditions imposed were:

That the Southern Pacific shall agree to acquire the lines of the Waco, Beaumont, Trinity and Sabine and the Paris and Mt. Pleasant railroads if the commission should so direct.

That it shall maintain and keep open all routes and channels of trade via existing gateways.

That it shall agree to accept any additional minority stock of the Cotton Belt tendered to it for exchange prior to Jan. 1, 1933, on the basis of one share of Southern Pacific for three shares of Cotton Belt common, and three shares of Southern Pacific for five shares of Cotton Belt Preferred.

As soon as the road acquires the amount of Cotton Belt stock sought, it advised the commission, it will immediately notify the commission thereof in writing and the agreement will then become final.

Arguments Heard In Southwestern Oil Tax Dispute

WASHINGTON, March 8. —Arguments on the appeal of F. B. Parriott of Tulsa, Okla., and M. L. Benedum of Pittsburgh, Pa., for a redetermination of a $76,000,000 deficiency in income tax assessed against them by the internal revenue bureau were opened today before the United States board of tax appeals.

The case involves the fair market value of the stock of the dissolved Transcontinental Oil company of which Parriott and Benedum were the principal owners.

Benedum and Parriott, pioneer oil men in the Southwest, dissolved the Tex-Penn Oil company and sold its assets to the Transcontinental Oil company buying out three minor partners and taking 1,007,384 shares of the company's stock in payment for their interest in the other company.

The internal revenue bureau assessed the deficiency on the supposed profit made in the exchange of the stock.

No decision is expected for several months.

PIMPLES? LARGE PORES? BLACKHEADS?

Beware of SEPTIC SKIN

Nurse tells how to get clearer, smoother skin almost OVERNIGHT

THE first sign of any of these disfiguring skin faults is a warning of infection—septic skin. End them quickly ... But you can't do it with ordinary creams. They merely wipe away surface dirt. You need the correct medical treatment to effectively rout out all deep-lodged impurities that cause these unsightly blemishes.

That's the advice of hospital nurses who have treated thousands of serious skin conditions. In countless cases doctors prescribe Noxzema, the famous snow-white, greaseless, medicated cream that purges and heals.

Noxzema contains a remarkable blend of scientific antiseptics and healing medicines. First it penetrates the pores and cleanses away every particle of clogged, germ-breeding matter that erupts in ugly pimples blackheads, blemishes. The pores breathe freely—become scientifically pure and clean. Then Noxzema's mild astringents gently firm the enlarged, coarsened pores and leave the skin far finer and more even-textured—thrillingly smooth and velvety.

No wonder over 6,000,000 women depend on Noxzema for complexion health and loveliness! One woman tells another of this wonderful beauty find. Your very first application of Noxzema will tell you why. In 8 hours—overnight—it begins to work its beauty magic. The improvement is often astonishing. Soreness gone, coarse pores reduced, roughness smoothed away.

To gain and to keep a radiantly healthy, appealing young complexion—use Noxzema regularly.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

PATRICK J. HURLEY

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Big, good-looking, wealthy Pat Hurley, President Hoover's war secretary, reputedly one of his several political right hands, is beginning to be suspected of temperamentalism.

Whatever his justification for walking out on a senate committee hearing more or less thumbing his nose at a house committee which desired to "ride" him about plans to consolidate his office out of business, those have not been the ways of past cabineteers.

Mr. Hurley, of course, is relatively young. He's a year under the half century mark.

Also, he's Irish—a very important factor in any estimate of the psychological elements of the Hurley-congress row. And he has never served in a legislative body. That is another important point.

Politically Ambitious

Then, too, Mr. Hurley is politically ambitious—as he would cheerfully admit.

He may perhaps be disappointed over the fact that his Kansas friend, Vice President Curtis, has decided to stick with the vice presidency rather than attempt to reenter the senate, but you could not prove it by any Hurley utterance.

Yet it is a fact that prior to the Curtis announcement of 1932 plans young Mr. Hurley was much talked of as Mr. Hoover's possible 1932 running mate.

Then again, Mr. Hurley made hay for himself at the time of the somewhat gloomy Republican national committee meeting to pick the convention city.

His stirring, fighting speech, aimed in particular at Chairman Raskob of the Democratic committee, brought him much honor.

Even the Democrats enjoyed that neat little Hurleyism about the Democrats owing John Raskob more than they had ever owed anybody else in the whole calendar of Democratic saints.

Encores

Incidentally, Mr. Hurley himself liked it so much that he used it over again, with variations, in his assault on Mr. Raskob's credibility as a proclaimer of Hoover prohibition views or contemplated actions.

Still and all, as Mr. Hurley's Irish ancestors might have put it, flying off at the handle at congress or its committees has never been regarded as good strategy by Mr. Hurley's cabinet predecessors.

Wouldn't it be great if the politicians would stop talking so much about what they're going to do and tell us "who" instead?

Pat Hurley forgot one thing when he was bawling congressmen out. He didn't accuse them of hoarding.

The dramatic critics called to Washington by the congressional investigators should know how to act. They're used to burlesque.

A Cleveland judge gave a man his choice between marriage and jail. Leaving him between the devil and the deep blue sea?

Short Selling

THE question whether or not a man ought to be permitted to sell stock that he does not own is evidently about to become one of the leading issues of the day.

The administration at Washington wants the right restricted; officials of the New York stock exchange oppose this plan. And the ordinary man, vaguely distrustful of both politicians and stockbrokers, does not always have a very clear notion of what all the shooting is about.

Short-selling is one of those ingenious devices that only a race of very clever traders could ever have thought of. It works like this. You order your broker to sell for you a certain quantity of some stock. You own none of the stock, and on the following day you must deliver the quantity sold to the purchaser. To do this, you simply borrow it from your broker, who is holding it for some unsuspecting third party.

You have now fulfilled your obligation to the purchaser, but you must make good on your borrowing from the broker; so you go into the market and buy stock in order to make delivery to him.

Obviously, the only way in which this is going to be profitable for you is for the price of the stock to decline between the time you make your original sale and the time you have to buy stock to cover your borrowing. If the price does go down, you make money; if, as now and then happens, it goes up, you lose. If it goes up far enough, you lose your shirt.

The short-seller, consequently, is interested in seeing prices decline. He thrives on calamity. Frequently, when he sells in large enough quantities, he brings about the very decline that he is looking for.

Stock market experts insist that this custom has its uses. It tends, they say, to keep prices from rising above a reasonable relationship to real values; it tends to keep declines from going to undue extremes, since the "shorts," sooner or later, must buy heavily. It gives the market a needed flexibility.

But its possible abuses are obvious. Unless a very well-reasoned defense can be set up, the general public will probably agree that a curb is needed.

Death for Kidnapers?

THE atrocious shock of the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby will undoubtedly give tremendous impetus to the movement to establish a federal law to cover crimes of that nature. Such a law would probably be a very good thing to have; but we might do well to pause and think before we write into it the proposed section making kidnaping a capital offense.

The kidnaper, of course, deserves hanging if any criminal ever does. But many police and criminal court lawyers believe that a law providing capital punishment for this crime defeats its own end. The kidnaper knows that, if he is caught, the penalty will be no greater if he has killed his victim than it will be if he has kept his victim alive.

It is quite possible that such a law would considerably increase the percentage of fatalities in kidnaping cases. We ought to stop and examine that point before we take any action.

Planes vs. Infantry

A GLANCE back at the record of the fighting around Shanghai leads one to wonder if the offensive power of the airplane in modern warfare may have been overestimated a little.

Throughout this conflict the Japanese were well equipped with modern airplanes, while the Chinese, to all intents and purposes, had none at all. The Japanese bombers went into action almost daily; before the beginning of this month it was announced that they had dropped more than 900 bombs, most of them large ones.

But the Chinese lines held longer than any military expert had dared predict. Isn't it just possible that the infantryman is still the final arbiter of war, despite modern inventions? Airplanes are exceedingly useful weapons, but they have not yet made the old-fashioned foot-slogger obsolete.

Packers File Brief On Consent Decree Suit

WASHINGTON, March 8. (AP)—Swift & Co. and other packers today filed with the supreme court the brief to be used next week when the government's appeal from the modification of the consent decree is reached.

The District of Columbia supreme court permitted the packers to modify the decree so as to handle products other than those of packing houses.

The packers asserted the court which entered the consent decree had power to modify it and that changed economic conditions warranted the modification.

The Grandest Canyon

The going's rather tough on you
And critics all are rough on you;
They brand you as a lonely street,
The only street that takes
A hardened, rugged test of one,
That tries the very best of one,
And soon discards the toney guys,
The phoney guys—and rakes.

But yet I know the heart of you
Is quite a vital part of you;
And we who keep on fighting back
Are writing back to say
That lads who vent their spite on you
Are yellow as each light on you;
But we who rise above you
Learn to love you—in our way.
—J. P. S.

Stop! My Side Aches!

Representative Sirovich (Democrat), who writes plays that get violent spankings from the critics, got himself on the front pages by charging the reviewers with this and that. As a result, those of us who report the First Nights, have been invited to Washington to debate with Sirovich and help relieve the sitch-ee-ay-shun.

Naturally, the flop-maker was a target for some gay cracks the following morning. But none of them was so amusing, we thought, as the counsel of Franklin P. Adams, who summoned it up with: "To the dramatic critics: Life is just a bowl of cherries. Don't take it Sirovich. It's too mysterovich!"

Reason Enough

One of the better known dramatic critics was being bothered by a heckler on a small-town rag, who had called the critic "a girl chaser" in print.

"Sure I chase them," replied the annoyed reviewer, "they keep running away from me!"

There, Now!

At the tee of the 4th hole on the Stanford university golf course at Palo Alto, California, there reads a sign: "This way to the Fareway."

"Fairway"—A proper course through channel or harbor, you dope!

Nifty

It must be older than that, but it is amusing. The one about Henry Clay, who couldn't win the support of a group of Tennessee mountaineers, until he accepted their challenge that he could shoot at and hit anything.

So he took a chance, picked up a rifle aimed at the target and smacked the bulls-orb right on the first bounce.

"That's not bad," said one of the indifferent mountaineers, "but let's see you do it ag'in!"

"Oh, no," reneged Henry, "it's impossible to beat 100 per cent!"

The Squelch Swelegant

Marc Lachmann was enjoying a torch singer in a dimly-lit hot-spot the other 6 o'clock in the yawning. A six-footer, who was plenty saturated with Laughing Soup, stood up in front of Lachmann and hid his view of the beauty singing the melancholy tunes.

"Hey, you!" groaned Marc in his most caustic tones," how long have you been imitating a cellophane wrapper?"

Haw!

Take it from Jiminy of the Camden, N. J., Courier-Post, who relays the one about the principal of a school near there. He was addressing women teachers at a weekly confab, commending them for this and scolding them for that. Finally, he asserted in all seriousness: "There's another thing I don't want to see in this school again. I've noticed that you ladies are wearing step-ins. Please don't wear them any more."

There was a stunned silence, to which the principal was oblivious. But when he got home he told his wife what he had said, and his face still is red. It appears that what he objected to were the smocks the teachers were wearing, and he though they were christened step-ins, the sapidillo!

Merciless Truth

"And," tee-hees Norman Sullivan, "business is so slow in the movie theaters that now they're dusting the ushers twice a week."

Anecdote

In the early ages, they relate, a certain author of a dictionary was alive and full of zip. It was his theory that dictionaries should not be dull, but crowded with humor, too. So when he defined, "oatmeal" he wrote: "Oatmeal is a cereal, eaten by the Scotch and fed to the horses in England." To which a furious Scotsman, obviously without a sensayuma snapped back with, "That's why Scotch horses are smarter than Englishmen!"

The Hell of It

One of the humor magazines had its ad department check on the circulation recently by advertising a photo of an aged woman, ear trumpet and all, purchasing a copy of their publication. The news dealer in the ad was saying: "I say, lady. You wouldn't care for this magazine!"

According to the N. Y. Sun, her reply was: "How the hell do you know?"

In the same ad the World-Telly had her say: "How the h— do you know?"

But the Philadelphia Bulletin won first prize with: "How the . . . do you know?"

Hehehah

"I see," Izzy Elinson sees, "where the Japs are having great difficulty getting the Chinks to come around their way. You know, Walter, I have the same trouble with the waiters in the chop suey joints."

Add Epitaphs

Estelle Lorenz clicks with Epitaph No. 11, to wit: "Here lies W. W.—The Big Stiff!" No. 12 comes from N. A. S., of St. Albans, Vt. Looka: "Here Lies W. W.—Who Is Doing One of the Better-Known Hot-Spots!"

By Way of Comfort

Take it from the pen of that grand poet, author and reviewer, Richard Le Gallienne: "Gossip is the social reward of personality. Whether it be playful or poison-fanged, it is a recognition, a tribute, one of the most gratifying forms of success.

"So long as one is gossiped about, it is immaterial what shape or color the gossip takes. The ugly kind is perhaps to be preferred as having more vitality, more motive power of circulation. And, of course, has nothing to do with the truth, good or bad. That is why it is gossip.

"Gossip neither means that you are very great, nor even very bad; all it means is that you are very interesting."

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

GREATEST SAILING RACE IN HISTORY—British tea brokers still discuss the grand and exciting race between the two tea clippers Aerial and Taiping in 1866. Five boats originally participated in the race. The Ariel left the harbor of Foochow on May 30, at 10:30 a. m. and the Taiping 20 minutes later. Ninety days later, on Sept. 5, the Ariel passed Deal, England, at 8 a. m., while the Taiping followed eight minutes later. The distance from Foochow to Deal is 16,000 miles. The premium of 10 shillings per ton was divided between the two contestants, as the Taiping contended that she had sailed 20 minutes after her rival, and had therefore beaten her by 12 minutes sailing time.

J. F. DONOHUE—The Donohues of Newburgh, N. Y., constitute the greatest family of skaters in the world, having produced three champions. J. F. Donohue, record holder from 30 miles to 100 miles, skated 100 miles in 7 hours, 11 minutes, 38 1-5 seconds in 1893 at Stamford, Conn.

THE GLASS SNAIL—The carinaire vitree, or glass snail, is an inhabitant of the sea. Its blue body is encased in a conical shell of extraordinary transparency. On account of its great rarity a single specimen on exhibit at the French musee in Paris was valued at 30,000 francs (about $6,000), 1914.

CHESS CHAMPION IN THREE SITTINGS—Alexandre Louis Honore Deschappelles (1780-1847), president of the French Chess club and leading player of his time, learned the game in three sittings. According to his own story he watched Bernard (a famous chess player) for a whole evening and after three sittings reached his full strength as a player. The only man to whom he ever lost a match was W. Lewis. Due to the extraordinary facility with which he mastered this game, he considered the study of opening analysis in chess a waste of time.

CHAPTER XLV

Charles Durand always read his morning paper while he was dressing. Part of it was read and digested while he was in his bath, another section while he was shaving, and often his breakfast would be cold when he finally sat down to the table for he must finish reading the paper prior to beginning his daily activities. And eating was to Charles Durand a part of his daily activities.

He saw the picture of Sybil Morse while he was shaving. He had the paper propped up in front of him on the little shelf near the mirror. Casually he glanced down below the picture to read the announcement of his nephew's engagement. He forgot about shaving. He forgot that he already had his face covered with lather. He only knew that this was something that Eleanore had trumped up and that it was something that would cause serious trouble.

He called to her all the while he was making his way to the dining room. She was eating breakfast, and when she heard him coming she hastily turned over the section of the other morning daily which she was reading. She did it consciously. She knew that he would have to know it eventually but she dreaded facing him.

"What on earth is the matter?" she asked innocently.

Charles came storming up to her with the paper open in his hand and laid it down on the table in front of her.

"Can you explain this, Eleanore?" he asked her angrily.

Eleanore Durand looked at the picture for several moments. Then she said, "Why, yes, I think it's wonderful, don't you?"

"I suppose it is," Charles snorted, "If Bruce approves of it. But I have an idea that he doesn't know anything about it. Am I right?"

Eleanore Durand thought for a moment. She wondered whether or not she should tell Charles the truth and ask him to stand behind her on it or whether she should simply assert herself and ask him what he was going to do about it. She chose the former method.

"I was desperate," she said. "You know, Charles, how much it means to me—to both of us—to have Bruce marry well. I realized that Sybil Morse actually cared for Bruce. Mrs. Morse and I, therefore, arranged the engagement."

Her husband looked at her coldly. Then he said, "People don't do things like that any longer, Eleanore. That is, people like us. That only happens in the cases of kings and queens and even then, sometimes it doesn't work."

Eleanore knew that she would have to fight now. Charles wasn't going to be on her side, she could see that.

"I had no idea that you would do anything like this," he went on. "And furthermore, I won't have it. I don't want you to interfere with Bruce's happiness. I don't believe in it. The boy is of age. He knows what he wants."

Charles was cutting his sentences down to mere words, chopping them off caustically, angrily. "Absurd. Idiotic. Impossible," he was saying, while Eleanore was thinking up ways to bring him to agree with her without "throwing" one of her fainting spells. She didn't feel like fainting this morning.

"Then you're going to stand by and see everybody make a fool out of me, are you?" she asked pointedly.

"If that's what will happen, I suppose I will," her husband returned. "I'm certainly not going to fall in with you on this ridiculous idea of yours."

Mrs. Durand tossed her head carelessly.

"Very well," she said, "I suppose I can suffer alone. I know what will happen. I know exactly. And I'm willing to face it. I might have known, Charles, that you would turn on me one day. You've been growing fonder of Bruce all the time. He means more to you than I do. I'm nothing in your life any more. I've realized that for some time."

Charles Durand would have liked to choke her. (Figuratively, of course.) She knew better than to talk that way. She knew that he loved her more than anything else on earth. Why, how could she compare his love for her with his love for his nephew, he asked her flatly. She was being childish, unreasonable. She needed to be spanked.

But Eleanore did not let up. She knew she was on the right track now. This would win him over if anything would. "You haven't tried to get him away from that girl at all," she sobbed lightly. "It's all had to fall on my shoulders and you know you're just as anxious to see him marreid to the right sort as I am. Why, what would I do, if he married this Lois person? I couldn't go to see him."

Mr. Durand interrupted her. "You could," he said.

"Yes, but I wouldn't. I've never been used to people like that. I shouldn't know how to act with them."

"They're just like other people," Charles Durand replied. "You wouldn't have to entertain the girl all the time. I imagine she would have much more on her mind than being entertained if she married Bruce on the salary he's getting now."

It was the wrong thing to say. "And that's another thing," Eleanore grabbed at her chance quickly, "if he married Sybil he wouldn't have to worry about finances the remainder of his life. Mrs. Morse told me that they would give the couple a home and a car and that Mr. Morse would put plenty of money into Sybil's name."

Mr. Durand winced. "I don't imagine Bruce would care so much for that," he said. "I know I shouldn't if I were a young man just getting married. I should desire to feel that I was making the living for my wife, or else I shouldn't have any respect for myself or her, either."

"That's silly," Eleanor retorted. "All parents who have money are more than willing to help out in a case like this. In fact, I know the Morses would feel hurt if they couldn't give some of their money to Sybil."

Charles Durand stalked the floor, the lather drying on his face, puffing on a black cigar that was rimmed with shaving cream, Eleanore, wonderingly, observed him in silence. She was aware of the fact that she didn't have him wholly on her side yet, but he was toning down in spite of his outwrad protestations. She believed that by the time Bruce had come home from the bank Charles would be standing at her back ready for the attack.

Two American Women Doctors Leave War Hospital For Safety

SHANGHAI, March 8. (AP)—Two American women physicians, Dr. Grace I. Crandall and Dr. Rosa W. Palmborg, both of Milton, Wis., yielded finally today to the entreaties of their friends and returned to Shanghai in safety from the Grace hospital at Liuho where they have been assisting in caring for wounded soldiers.

They were brought in by automobile today, their nerves frayed by the roar of airplanes overhead and the rattle of death-dealing machine guns in the skies, by H. E. Davis, treasurer of the Seventh Day Baptist mission which operates the hospital.

The two women recounted a vivid story of tense hours during the Japanese bombardment and subsequent occupation of Liuho.

"It was the uncertainty," Dr. Pamborg said, explaining the fear that gripped them and their Chinese assistants as the airplanes repeatedly swooped low over hospital on the afternoon of March 1. That was the day the Japanese troops were landed. Streams of lead were poured into the adjacent city.

The first inkling they had of the Japanese attack, she said, was in the morning when a Japanese war vessel in the Yangtze, three miles away, started shelling Liuho. The shells exploded less than 10 yards from the hospital.

That was the signal for the beginning of the withdrawal of the Chinese, which was speeded up by the incessant machine gun strafing and bombing from the planes.

Four Trains Carrying 1,400 Mexicans Depart

LOS ANGELES, March 8. (AP)—Four special trains carrying 1,400 Mexican expatriates left today en route to El Paso and Nogales, where the Mexicans will scatter to various parts of their homeland. Transportation for them was arranged by the county board of supervisors through appropriation.

Six thousand Mexicans have been returned to Mexico from Southern California through efforts of the board in the last few months while other organizations transported more than 50,000 others.

Q.—How much did St. Peter's church in Rome cost?—N. D.

A.—It is impossible even to estimate the cost of St. Peter's church at Rome. This church, which is probably the largest church edifice in the world, has been centuries in the building, and the question of money cost, has not entered into the matter at all. Millions have been spent both for the structure and for the decorations.

Q.—How many Democratic candidates for a presidential nomination have been defeated, after having received a majority of the delegates' votes, because of the two-thirds rule?—M. D.

A.—This has occurred in only two cases. Martin Van Buren had a simple but not a two-thirds majority in 1844, while Champ Clark occupied the same position in 1912. In both cases the historic events took place in Baltimore.

Q.—How many cities in the United States are under the city-manager plan?—W. C.

A.—The St. Louis Post Dispatch has made a recent compilation and states that at present there are some 450 cities using the city-manager plan. They range from Cincinnati now described by some students of municipal government as the best governed large city in the country, whose population is more than 450,000, to Polk City, Fla., with 222. Eighteen, including Kansas City, Mo., have populations larger than 100,000 and more than 40 have populations exceeding 50,000.

Q.—Can an alien, a person with first papers, or a naturalized citizen join the army, navy, or marine corps?—O. S.

A.—It is necessary to be a citizen of the United States to enlist in the navy or marine corps. A naturalized citizen would be eligible. In the army applicants can be accepted who have their first citizenship papers.

Q.—Did parliament change the name of the reigning house to Windsor?—B.

A.—It was changed by royal proclamation. On July 17, 1917, a proclamation was issued to the effect that henceforth the royal house of Great Britain and Ireland would be known, not as the house of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, but as the house of Windsor.

Q.—Please give some illustration that will show the great size of the state of Texas.—E. L. C.

A.—The distance between the two most remote points in Texas is considerably greater than that from Chicago to either the Atlantic ocean or the Gulf of Mexico.

Q.—How is copra made?—J. T.

A.—Copra is the dried meat of the coconut, which is detached from the shell after it is broken and dried. One thousand nuts yield from 440 to 550 pounds of copra, containing approximately 10 per cent of water. The copra is dried either by exposure to the air and sun, or by some artificial drying process, such as kiln drying, or subjection to a current of hot air in a heated tunnel.

Q.—Is William Travers Jerome, the district attorney who prosecuted Thaw, still living?—H. G. R.

A.—Mr. Jerome is living. His residence is in Yonkers and his office in New York City. He no longer practices law, however, but is interested in Technicolor.

Q.—What is the temperature on Mars?—M. O. F.

A.—Radiometric observations made at Lowell and Mount Wilson observatories agree that the temperature on the surface of the planet Mars rises well above freezing at the equatorial regions at noon and may go as high as 50 degrees F., or even a little more. It is, however, below freezing at sunrise and sunset.

Q.—Is light matter?—D. S.

A.—Light is not generally classified as matter since matter is anything that occupies space and has weight. Light is a form of radiant energy.

Q.—How is Baltimore counted in the makeup of the state of Maryland?—O. W. C.

A.—It is simply a political unit by itself. All of the other towns and cities are situated in some county, so that the state consists of 23 counties, plus the municipality of Baltimore.

County Medical Auxiliary Entertains At Luncheon

With members of the Wichita County Medical Woman's auxiliary, wives of visiting physicians who are here attending the district medical association, and a few guests present, the local auxiliary entertained with a delightful luncheon at the Woman's Forum clubhouse Tuesday when the 13th district women's auxiliary to the state medical association was also organized.

Mrs. Q. B. Lee was elected president of the auxiliary; Mrs. T. F. Lauderdale of Ranger, vice president, and Mrs. J. T. McVeigh of Fort Worth, secretary.

It was decided that the auxiliary will meet once a year in the spring, at the same place in which the physicians hold their meeting.

The tables for the luncheon were arranged in the shape of a "U" with the centerpiece formed of a large silver bowl containing spring flowers of all the pretty colorful pastel shades. Silver bud vases held lavendar sweet peas, acacia and calendula and the green and amber glassware was used.

Special music much enjoyed included two violin duets played by Misses Lucille Crouch and Lucille Snyder with Mrs. J. H. Crouch at the piano. The numbers were "Serenata," by Moskowski, and "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life," by Victor Herbert.

Plates were arranged for 26 members of the local auxiliary and for Dr. Fleta Woolsey, Miss Eva K. Wallace, Misses Lucille Crouch, Lucille Snyder, Mrs. J. H. Crouch, and for Mesdames C. K. Arnold of Petrolia, T. F. Lauderdale of Ranger, G. E. Thomasson of Fort Worth and J. T. McVeigh of Fort Worth.

Austin School Education Club Meets for Study

Opening the program with a poem, "Father Talks," given by Mrs. J. R. Kolb, members of the Austin School Parent Education club heard an unusually interesting talk at their regular meeting Tuesday morning when the topic, "How Heredity and Environment Influence the Child," by Mrs. H. M. Campbell.

Terming her subject as "facing the facts," Mrs. Campbell brought out important information concerning the problems of heredity and things we can do to help our children in life's problems by knowing more of our ancestry.

"Inherited characteristics are both physical and mental. Musical ability, and instability are among the mental characteristics that tend to follow the law of inheritance," the speaker said.

Mrs. E. H. Ames, chairman of the study circle, invited the members to attend an all-day sewing for the needy children of the Austin school at her home, 1602 Thirteenth street, Tuesday, March 15.

"The Child in the Home," was announced for the lesson topic for the next meeting on March 22, when Mrs. O. F. Bagwell will be in charge of the lesson.

Members present were Mesdames J. R. Kolb, J. T. Watson, O. F. Bagwell, O. D. Scott, E. H. Ames, W. P. Griffis, H. C. Hoesch, J. B. King, H. M. Campbell and Miss Mary Quinn, executive secretary to the Wichita County Tuberculosis association.

Ben Franklin Study Club Has Health Lesson

Members of the Benjamin Franklin P.-T. A. Study club met at the home of the chairman, Mrs. L. T. Burns on Clarinda, Country Club estates, Tuesday morning when an interesting lesson on "Character Training" by Germane was reviewed. An article entitled "Give Your Child Health, He Can Get Other Things" by Dr. Philip Moen Stimson, was discussed by Mrs. Burns who stressed the fact that if parents want their children to grow up healthy they must think not only of their bodies, but also of their minds, intellect and souls, and especially of their environment, explaining that personality is formed by heredity and environment and urging mothers to protect their homes and their children.

Mrs. Walter Prechel gave an article on "Behind the Scenes of Childhood Problems," showing that a mother must work constantly and always be alert in answering the many questions prompted by a child.

Announcement was made that the subject of the next lesson will be "How to Conduct a Family Quarrel." This is expected to prove exceptionally interesting to all mothers.

Mrs. C. E. McCutchen was enrolled a new member in the club and there were several others present.

Snob Is Called 'Social Parasite,' By Emily Post

By EMILY POST

One letter this morning asks me a question I am very glad to answer.

"Every now and then you speak of best society. Where is best society and of whom is it composed? Its members are all wealthy, I presume?"

Best society is found in every section of the country and composed of countless types of people, some of whom are rich and others not rich at all. Best society is an unlimited association of gentle people who have for the longest period of time known the highest cultivation. There are endless social groups, big ones, little ones, and of all varieties as well as sizes. In fact, everyone in the world, unless he dwells alone in a cave, belongs to some sort of society, social, business, what you will. Water seeks its level always and people who have same tastes, or who live in the same neighborhood, invariably drift together and thus form society. If you are interested in music, you naturally are drawn toward others who also are musical. If you live in the country and love birds and flowers, you find others who like them too. If you care for nothing but dancing, you go with others who have the same tastes.

My next letter is a fitting companion to my first:

"Will you explain the difference (if there is any) between 'exclusive society' and 'a lot of snobs'?"

All the difference between that which is genuine, and that which is imitation. I have given a brief definition of "exclusive society" in the answer above this one, if you define "exclusive" as meaning "well bred." A snob is never well bred. He is a social parasite, vulgar, at heart, who fawns upon those having money or high position, and who is contemptuously rude to those whom he considers unimportant.

Federated Board Visits Children At Day Nursery

Averaging about 57 children a day, 1,413 children were cared for at the day nursery the past month according to a report given by the superintendent, Mrs. F. T. Datson, at the enlarged Federated Missionary society board meeting including presidents, circle leaders and social service chairmen of the various local missionary societies, held at the Lamar Avenue Baptist church Tuesday morning.

Another item of interest brought out in Mrs. Datson's report was that quite a number of influenza patients among the children were taken care of at the nursery and warm food sent to the mothers. She also said that six of the families whose children were taken care of at the nursery have moved away, and that local churches of all denominations are responding generously to the needs of the nursery with food and clothing. The Producers creamery gives enough cottage cheese for the children for one day in each week, and women of the Lamar Avenue Baptist church bring food, clothing or some article to the nursery every day, Mrs. Datson said. She told of the kindergarten work and how it is progressing and gave many other points of interest.

Mrs. M. C. Batey, chairman of the story telling hour, gave an outstanding report telling of a plan she has worked out for having prominent men and women of the city come to the nursery and talk to the children every Saturday morning. Among those who have given talks which proved of unusual value to the children were Mrs. A. H. Carrigan, who told of the early days in Wichita Falls; J. H. Allison, of the Times Publishing company who told of the workings of a newspaper plant; and Voyle Armstrong, advertising manager at the Times, who allowed the children to take part in an illustrated lecture.

President Presides

Mrs. S. E. Trevathan, the president, presided, and the meeting was opened with a hymn followed with prayer by Mrs. Finis Crutchfield. Mrs. O. T. Ailes gave an impressive devotional taking for her subject, "Patience and Tolerance."

Mrs. Jake Conen reported that the jail work has been carried on regularly every Friday morning, and Mrs. J. Lem Keevil reported on the county farm work saying in part that the inmates are taking part in the services and seem to receive much benefit from them. She also announced that the ministerial alliance has promised to cooperate in these services.

Mrs. J. A. Kemp spoke briefly on the kindergarten work being done at the nursery, and the auditor's report on the books of the treasurer, Mrs. O. T. Ailes, was read and approved. A note of appreciation written by the auditor on the splendid way in which the books were kept, was also read.

Mrs. Harry Weeks chairman of the yard committee requested shrubs and rose bushes for the nursery yard, stating that she would call for and have them planted if those wishing to donate them will telephone her.

Harry Hines made a brief talk at the meeting announcing the law enforcement meeting to be held in Wichita Falls March 23 and 24 when Dr. Daniel Poling will be one of the noted speakers on the program. Miss Brown will speak on law enforcement especially pertaining to prohibition at a luncheon to be given at the Woman's Forum March 23. Mrs. W. W. Silk is general chairman for the luncheon, and she was also present and made a few remarks concerning it.

Following the meeting, those present visited the day nursery.

There were 65 members present.

Spring Styles Return To Twentieth Century

Gone are muttonleg sleeves from the street costume forecast for early spring—gone, also, are hoops and bustles, for fashion is at work with the 20th century as its mold and practically as its guide. Colors also have turned practical. There's a hint of the new slim silhouette here.

By BARBARA BEAUFORT
Associated Press Fashion Editor

PARIS, March 8.—Designs for the early spring styles which Paris shows for the modish modern have stripped them of mid-Victorian fripperies.

Hoops, bustles and muttonleg sleeves are gone. Today's street silhouette is slim, moderately short skirted and suited to the active life of the 20th century woman.

Colors, too, reflect the demand for practicality.

Navy blue is the primary color on fashion's palette, while a new bright blue akin to royal, champagne and pinky beiges, grey and black are outstanding in the picture. Bright tints such as red and green are saved for accessory notes.

Belts of the most varied design and construction ever seen in the style world accent early spring models.

Belts seen on spring coats are uniformly narrow and neat, but those worn on frocks vary in size from a finger's width to the breadth of two hands, while materials include fabric and leather.

One design of brown leather, which buttons up the front like a dress, is six inches wide in front and two inches wide in the back, another of black enamel is no thicker than a little finger, and a third of black patent leather stitched in herringbone pattern has a uniform width of six inches.

Children Are Rescued From Burning Nursery

LINCOLN, Neb., March 8. (UP)—Twenty-four children, 12 of them small babies, were rescued today from a burning nursery building at the state home for dependent children.

Mrs. Alice G. While, nurse on duty, discovered the fire after it had burned up through the flooring and was menacing the ward where the children were asleep.

Mrs. While took a baby under each arm and carried them two at a time out of the burning building. Firemen rescued the 12 older children.

The fire started from an overheated furnace pipe.

Week Of Prayer Program Given By Baptist Women

"Healing of the Land for the Italians" was the subject for the week of prayer program at the First Baptist church Tuesday morning when Mrs. J. C. Mytinger was leader, and members of her Sunday school class took the parts. The meeting was opened with a song, followed with prayer offered by Mrs. R. Lee Joiner. Miss Madge Harper gave the devotional reading Scriptural references, giving the reasons for life and this was followed by a prayer by Mrs. Ralph Hines.

Miss Daisy Marie Wratten gave a splendid talk on "What the World Owes to Italy," in which she told how we have received from Italy art, literature, music, architecture, roads, bridges, laws, schools, Columbus, Paul and his writings, and the greatest gift of all, Christ our Savior. She closed her talk by reading the beautiful poem, "Scum of the Earth," by Robert Haven Schauffler.

Following this, Mrs. W. L. Robertson offered a prayer, asking all might be international Christians.

Miss Mary Virginia Barron told an interesting experence of a missionary in the homeland among the Italians in Florida, stating that Mrs. Mytinger's class call themselves the "Joy Christ," "J" meaning Jesus first, "O" others, second, and "Y" yourself.

Miss Clara Carter gave some statistics of work being done among the foreigners in the homeland, and especially interesting were the stories told of the work being done in the local Mexican mission.

The meeting was closed with special musical numbers sung by Mrs. George Smoot, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. O. G. Stephens.

Thursday morning the week of prayer program will be in charge of Mrs. W. C. Reeves, it was announced.

Woman's Forum Will Present John A. Lomax

An event expecting to prove of much interest to members of the Woman's Forum, local teachers and pupils and ex-students of the University of Texas and of Texas A. & M. college is the lecture on "Songs of the Cowboy" to be given by John A. Lomax at the Forum clubhouse Wednesday evening at 8:15 o'clock.

For many years Mr. Lomax has devoted his superior talent to the study and preservation of cowboy songs and ballads, which originated in the great Southwest, where the cattle industry grew to such large proportions and for three years he was in charge of the investigation of American ballads for Harvard university.

He was twice chosen president of the American Folklore society and was one of the two organizers of the Texas Folklore society.

Certainly no lecturer coming to the Woman's Forum in a long time has brought a more interesting subject and a greater wealth of experience and learning or more devotion to the fascinating, amusing history of the cowboy, than Mr. Lomax.

Prof. George Kittredge of Harvard university has said of the Lomax lecture:

"Few lectures delivered at our university have been so successful. The students as you must have seen were delighted and the members of the faculty who were present were equally delighted."

William Lyons Phelps of Yale university was equally pleased as evidenced by the following:

"Every moment of the hour was interesting; he (Mr. Lomax) succeeds to a high degree in combining definite instruction with continuous entertainment."

*The Lux Way to preserve ELASTICITY
How flattering a new foundation garment is! Even if it's the merest wisp of a girdle its elasticity makes it fit smoothly and yet so lightly!
But when this precious elasticity is gone, the most expensive garment is flabby, ill-fitting—actually disfiguring! It's because gentle Lux preserves elasticity that it keeps your foundations as perfect in fit as when they were new.
Wash this 2-minute way: Use lukewarm water—Lux dissolves instantly in it. Squeeze suds through fabric, rinse twice.
Lux every day or so, for foundations absorb perspiration. Perspiration acids discolor and rot fabrics.
Don't rub foundations with cake soap—this destroys elasticity, leaves the garment flabby, ill-fitting.
Avoid ordinary soaps—cakes, powders, chips. These often contain harmful alkali which weakens threads, fades color. Lux has no harmful alkali. Anything safe in water alone is safe in Lux.

Food Minerals

"And Jehovah God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul." Most of us do not realize that this is still true. The elements composing our bodies are actually found in the minerals of the earth and the grasses surrounding it. In other words, the food we eat is the soil from which the body grows. All of our food originates from the crude elements of the earth which were first refined by vegetable life, and perhaps later by animal life, before becoming delicate enough for the human digestion.

All foods are made up of various mixtures of the different elements and what we know as the mineral salts are found to be of great value as food. The human body contains only about seven pounds of different minerals with less than one pound of the minerals appearing in the softer cells and tissues, the rest making up the bony framework. This pound of minerals has far greater importance than its proportionate amount would indicate. The 10 principal minerals found in the body are iron, sodium, calcium, silicon, phosphorus, chlorine, potassium, magnesium, iodine and sulphur. The bones are made up principally of calcium and phosphorous with the remainder of these two minerals and the others being microscopically distributed throughout all the other tissues.

There have been many attempts by doctors in the past to feed the crude elements such as iron, calcium, iodine, etc., to human beings as medicine and food, and, although the reports are somewhat conflicting, it is quite evident that these minerals must first be organized by the vegetable kingdom before they can be converted into a healthy cell structure within the human body.

The millions of small root-like villi of the small intestines are roots for sucking up the nourishment out of the vegetable and animal food, and the blood passing through these villi carries the nutrition to all parts of the body.

The plant must remain in one place and send its roots in search of food, but the human being and most animals are endowed with the ability to move from place to place in search of food. All of the higher animals really carry along their root system internally.

Since the body is built from the food which is eaten, it is necessary that the best be selected. All of the important minerals are found in a mixture of the different foods commonly used in a mixed diet, but, of course, some of these foods are richer in one mineral and others richer in another element.

Each element plays some special part in the growth or function of the body; some build into hair, some nerves, some bone, and some are used to produce energy. If any element is not supplied to the body in sufficient quantity, a disease or weakness is sure to result. The source and necessity of each of the 10 principal mineral elements will be explained in the order of their importance. In tomorrow's article I will discuss the subject of Calcium and in an article each week will take up the subject of the other minerals and their importance to the body. Watch the paper each day and make a scrapbook for future reference.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Stimulation

Question—M. I. asks: "Why is it that I do not feel strengthened or energized after a meal which does not contain starchy food? I am much underweight."

Answer—All highly starchy or sugar foods tend to produce a quite rapid stimulation within a short time after they are eaten. We are uncertain as to whether this comes entirely from the food value contained in these foods or from some influence made upon the digestive organs—possibly the effect upon the secretion of digestive fluids. It is quite certain in any case that the stimulation does not indicate a real increase in strength and that there is no food which actually produces a better muscular tone a short time after it is eaten. Real strength must come from muscular training and the use of foods containing the proteins and the organic minerals.

Pain Under Liver

Question—Mr. Tony Q. writes: "After I eat a meal and stand upright, there is a pain just under my liver, but, if I lie on my left side, this pain disappears. What could be the cause of this?"

Answer—It is possible that you have some adhesions or an inflammatory condition in the neighborhood of the duodenum which are relieved when you lie on your left side by the weight of the stomach pulling on the duodenum. You should have a careful x-ray examination to determine the condition.

X-Rays and Sterility

Question—Mrs. Anna R. writes: "I understand that x-rays produce sterility. Is this danger present when one has x-ray examinations?"

Answer—The amount of x-ray used in making photographs in examinations is not injurious, for a much clonger exposure is necessary to produce sterility.

Cabinet Members Oppose Bill For Farm Financing

WASHINGTON, March 8. (AP)—Two cabinet members today informed the senate agriculture committee of their opposition to a bill by Senator Frazier, Republican, North Dakota, under which the government would refinance the nation's farm mortgage debt at one and one-half per cent.

"It is my judgment that this bill is hostile to the best interests of agriculture," said a letter from Secretary Hyde.

A communication from Secretary Mills said "I am convinced that the adoption of the proposed legislation would be ruinous to the federal land bank system and would imperil the monetary standards of the country."

The committee discussed the measure but did not act upon it.

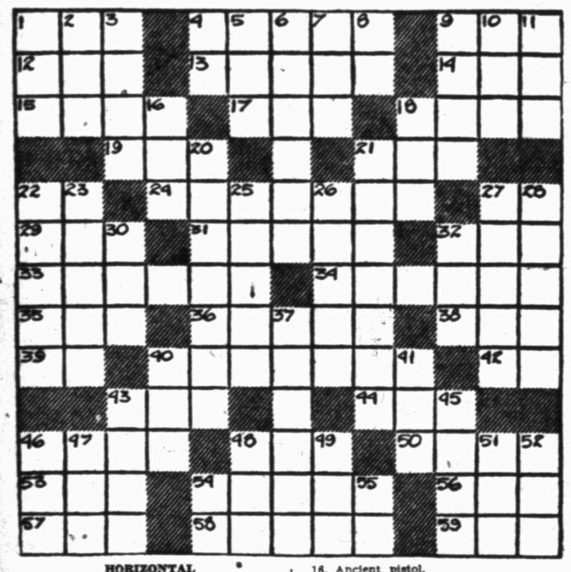

The bill provides for the taking up the existing farm indebtedness by an issue of bonds and refinancing it. Against these bonds the federal reserve banks would be authorized to issue currency.

Farley Case Recessed After Defense Rests

NEW YORK, March 8. (AP)—The defense rested this afternoon in the trial of former Sheriff Thomas M. Farley, charged with second degree larceny, and the case was adjourned until tomorrow, when Judge John J. Freschi will decide whether the case shall be given to the jury.

Farley took the stand as the last witness for the defense and denied that he had any intention taking money that did not belong to him.

CAMP REEKS WITH TALENT

Chain-Store System to Get Test This Year

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

BRADENTON, Fla., March 8.—There is scant opportunity here to avoid the fact that the St. Louis Cardinals are on top of the baseball world and plan, quite frankly, to stay there, thanks to the sport's best and most successful system for production and perfection of the best available player talent.

The town and camp reeks, literally, with baseball players, optimism and confidence. At any moment, it would seem, another Pepper Martin or Dizzy Dean or Paul Derringer is apt to burst out into public and demand a job. There are dozens of good ball players on the premises whose names, let along their antecedents and experience, are difficult to locate. Is it any wonder that in such an atmosphere, the old sergeant, Gabby Street, in the full joy of a belated rise to the heights, remarks:

"This club has yet to reach its fullest possibilities. I do not underestimate our opposition, but barring the breaks, we should have a better club in 1932 than we had a year ago."

Worried Over Holdouts

Privately, of course, the old sergeant will feel much better when the most stubborn of the holdouts, Charley Gelbert and Chick Hafey, rejoin the fold and take their accustomed places in the cast that has won two successive National league pennants. They can not be replaced offhand, by even such capable performers as Eddie Delker and Ernie Orsatti.

The Cardinals shouted their confidence in the celebrated chain-store system when they let Burleigh grimes go to the Cubs. If this veteran's ability is not replaced by the work of such newcomers as Dizzy Dean, Tex Carleton, or Ray Starr, it will be decidedly unfortunate for all concerned.

All three of these promising young pitching stars likely will be kept, at least until Street has passed definitely on their quality. He relies heavily, meanwhile, on the staff of seasoned moundsmen consisting of Bill Hallahan, Paul Derringer, Sylvester Johnson, Flint Rhem and Jesse Haines.

The Hero Returns

Hafey, if and when he swings into line, will be supported in the outfield by George Watkins, a quiet but effective slugger, and Pepper Martin. Much depends on how the Pepper reacts to the pressure of being nationally acclaimed as the world series hero.

There is no question about Martin's gameness, as well as his ability. Yet he has shown an early tendency to "press" at the plate that may handicap him this year. He won't be permitted to forget, for the time being, that much is expected of him.

The infield will remain intact with Bottomley, Frisch, Gelbert and Adams at their regular jobs. Defensively it is one of the best in the league. Jim Collins, first base understudy, looks better than ever. Delker is a good reservist and Lee Cunningham has impressed in trials at third. Horace Ford will start at short if Gelbert is not in shape or in the fold.

Behind the bat Jimmy Wilson, regarded by Street as the best backstop in the majors, will do the bulk of work, assisted by Gus Mancuso and probably Mike Gonzales, at 40 still one of the wisest receivers in the game.

Thomason and Bank Bowling Teams Win

The Blondy Thomason Super-Service and City National bank bowlers were the winners in Tuesday night's Commercial league matches rolled at the Spudder alleys.

The Thomason five won two out of three games from Northwest Motors and the bankers won the same number from DeLuxe Cleaners.

George Burch of the cleaners was high single game with 222 pins and also was high for three games with 544 pins.

American Golfers Lead British-Bermuda Team

CASTLE HARBOUR, Bermuda, March 8. (AP)—The United States took a 16 to 4 lead over the British-Bermuda team in an informal international golf test here today. The remaining foursomes will be played tomorrow.

With George Voigt of New York again defeating Cyrl Tolley, the British-Bermuda captain, the American team won seven matches and halved another in the singles competition.

Although both played erratic golf, Voigt defeated Tolley one up, when the British player lost his ball on the 18th and conceded the match.

P. Miller Jones, Eddie Held, Leonard Martin, Clive Alvord, George Hackl and Charlie Shelton turned in the other American victories while Robert Ley halved his match with H. G. Butterfield.

Tumblers Put On Fancy Routine—Shower Shot Reveals Smooth Muscles of Cubs' Speed Merchant

Crisler Meets Tiger Captain—Stribling Comeback Hits Snag—McCarthy Reveals Yankee Hopes

Crack tumblers the other day in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., put on a routine that would shame the best dance maneuvers Ziegfeld has managed for his celebrated chorus girls. The "leap and fall on your neck boys" were in a workout leading up to the Olympic trials. Photograph shows nine of the boys in the air at one time.

Notice the smooth, flexible muscles of Hazen (Kiki) Cuyler, Chicago Cubs' outfielder, revealed as he takes a shower following a workout at the club's Catalina Island, Calif., spring training camp. The picture helps make it clear why the hard-hitting Kiki is one of the speediest men in the majors.

H. O. "Fritz" Crisler, new Princeton football coach, is shown talking things over with F. Tremaine Billings Jr., Tiger guard and 1932 captain. Crisler, former University of Minnesota director of athletics, will take charge of the Tigers in spring training, starting April 4. Mastery of fundamentals, he believes, will restore Princeton's football prestige to its former high estate.

The comeback hopes of W. L. (Young) Stribling received a hard blow when he was decisively outpointed recently by Ernie Schaaf, Boston battler, in Chicago. Picture shows the Georgian taking a short count at the end of the fourth round. He was a tired boy at the end of the ten rounds of milling.

Alan Gould, Associated Press sports editor, making the rounds of the spring training camps in Dixie, stopped off in St. Petersburg, Fla., to see what Joe McCarthy had to say about the New York Yankees, McCarthy revealed he expected plenty of infield help from Jack Saltzgaver and Frank Crosetti, but he admitted that the pitching problem has him worried.

TIGER TRACK CREW AT WORK

Electrans Prepare for County Meet

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, March 8.—Coach Wilbur Presson has been putting his Tiger track aspirants through their paces during the past several weeks, preparing for the Wichita county track and field meet to be held in Electra March 26. Only nine boys who participated in the district meet last year are back. They are Parr, Cloninger, Parnell, Rodawalt, Ellis, Hogle, Lane, Lambdin, and Byrd. Three of these, Cloninger, Rodawalt and Parnell, entered the state meet last year along with four other Tigers who have graduated since then. Last year, Electra was not entered in the county meet but went into the district meet. Prior to last year, however, the Tiger boys have never lost a county meet. Despite this record, the Tigers are not overconfident and know they will have to work if they carry off top honors.

The boys will be given plenty of practice in several dual meets which are being arranged. The inter-class meet will be held March 15. Each class in the local high school will enter a team in the various field and track events. Tentative meets, according to Coach Presson, are with Vernon, March 19; Wichita Falls, April 2, and the five way meet at Vernon on April 9. The district meet is scheduled for April 16 at Wichita Falls.

Forty-three candidates have reported to Presson. They include F. L. Able, Buford Adams, R. T. Boutwell, Victor Busby, Albert Byrd, Raymond Curfman, Lamar Curry, Robert Cloninger, Curtis Cheaney, George Ellis, Leonard Foy, Frank Fisher, Noel Givens, Valton Hall, Allton Hogle, Cecil Haynes, Gus Hannah, J. W. Hastings, Lloyd Jones, Hall Keltz, Clarence Koerth, Charles Lane, Griffith Lambdin, J. W. LeBus, Howard McDonald, James Magee, Charles Orr, J. N. Owens, Lee Parnell, Herbert Pye, James Parr, Claude Rodawalt, Wichita Sheldon, Thrall Sheldon, Sidney Smith, C. B. Smith, Dwight Stanley, Robert Staton, Manard Stroud, Oren Stroud, W. B. Teel, Oren Waters, and Sanderson Warden.

Mike Caskey, senior at Presbyterian college, Clinton, S. C., won letters this year in football, basket ball, baseball, boxing, tennis and competitive rifle firing.

Washington State college's basket ball team maintained an average of a point a minute in its first 25 games of the season.

Training Camp Chatter

FORT WORTH CATS

FORT WORTH, March 8. (AP)—Seven days of toil.

That's the week's menu for the Fort Worth Panthers during the remainder of spring training. Manager Dick McCabe made this announcement today after his athletes had escaped a workout because of cold weather.

"From now on we'll manage to work a little every day regardless of the weather," said McCabe.

Four more Panthers wandered into camp, leaving only two pitchers missing—George Grant and William C. Roberts. Both are expected within the next few days. Pat Moulton, Milton Armour, Harry White and Lefty Ward, all pitchers, were the new additions.

HOUSTON BUFFS

HOUSTON, March 8. (AP)—It was too cold to do much spring training here today, so Manager Joe Schultz sent the Houston Buffs for a dash around the stadium.

Two rookies were released, Alvin Wicks of Rosenberg and Sam Warrach of Houston.

ST. LOUIS BROWNS

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 8. (AP)—With Oscar Melillo, Fred Schulte and Eddie Grimes in uniform for the first time today the 1932 Browns have approached their war-time strength.

There are still six "official" holdouts however, Goslin, Kress, Stewart, Colins, Ferrell and Bengough. Goose Goslin is here trying to reach an agreement, and Bengough is on his way to camp, expecting to sign upon his arrival.

BROOKLYN ROBINS

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 8. (UP)—Management of the Brooklyn Dodgers warned Outfielder Babe Herman today that unless he agrees to sign his contract within a few days a new contract calling for a salary of less than $15,000 will be drafted. Herman is holding out for $19,000, the amount he received last season.

NEW YORK YANKEES

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 8. (UP)—Jesse Hill, one time football great and now a rookie Yankee outfielder, threatens to rob Ben Chapman of his distinction as fastest man on the club. Hill displayed amazing speed today in robbing Crossetti of a home run with a running catch, and later circling the bases on a ball that went between Byrd and Chapman.

CINCINNATI REDS

TAMPA, Fla., March 8. (UP)—Si Johnson, Al Eckert and Owen Carroll have been named by Manager Dan Howley to pitch for the Cincinnati Reds against the St. Louis Cardinals in an exhibition game at Bradenton, Fla., tomorrow. The Red yannigans defeated the regulars, 4 to 1, in a five-inning game today.

BOSTON BRAVES

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 8. (UP)—Regular pitchers and rookies went through an intensive two-hour workout today during the most strenuous batting session staged this season by the Boston Braves. Batting practice will be the heaviest part of the Braves' work for the remainder of the week.

BOSTON RED SOX

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 8. (UP)—The Boston Red Sox will play their first game of the season tomorrow. The squad will be divided into two teams, with regulars and rookies playing on both to keep the contest even. Only young pitchers will be used.

PHILADELPHIA PHILLIES

WINTERHAVEN, Fla., March 8. (UP)—George Knothe, the Phillies' new infielder, was painfully injured today when hit in the face by a bounding grounder. His right eye was closed completely and his teeth loosened. The injury climaxed a six-inning game between the regulars and reserves, in which honors were even with three runs apiece.

PHILADELPHIA ATHLETICS

FT. MEYERS, Fla., March 8. (UP)—Connie Mack reiterated today that the Philadelphia Athletics would start the season with the same line-up that lost the world's series to the St. Louis Cardinals last fall. Mack's statement was in answer to a widespread impression that the sensational hitting and fielding of recruit First Baseman Ossie Roettger in the exhibition games meant that Jimmy Foxx would be switched to the third base.

CLEVELAND INDIANS

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 8. (UP)—Monte Pearson, youthful right-hander from the Pacific Coast league, continued to impress Manager Roger Peckinpaugh today with his dazzling fast ball. Pearson went to the mound in batting practice and his pitches had many of the Indian regulars swinging wildly.

CHICAGO WHITE SOX

SAN ANTONIO, March 8. (AP)—The Chicago White Sox were forced inside to do their training today when a stiff norther hit San Antonio making outside practice impossible.

The entire squad retired to the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium to pitch the medicine ball around and limber up.

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS

BRADENTON, Fla., March 8. (AP)—Jim Bottomley gave a flash of his batting punch at the Cardinal workout here today, and put so much steam behind his line drives, Manager Gabby Street warned him not to overdo it.

TIGERS 12, SEALS 7

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., March 8. (AP)—A team of Detroit Tigers, mostly recruits, pounded out a 12 to 7 victory over the Seals of the Pacific Coast league today in the opening game of the Tigers' spring training schedule.

Kansans Lead In A. A. U. Tournament

KANSAS CITY, March 8. (AP)—The Midgets representing the New England champion Falco Athletic club at Holyoke, Mass., were overpowered and ousted from the A. A. U. national basket ball tournament here today but only after throwing a scare into the Southern Kansas stage lines team from Wichita. The score was 36 to 23.

The eastern youngsters, averaging 5 feet, 5 inches in height, ran up a 17-10 advantage over the Wichitans in the first half of their first round encounter.

Had the little Falco team won, it would have been matched in the second round with the West Texas Teachers from Canyon, who claim to have the tallest basket ball team in the world, with a center 6 feet 7 inches tall, a substitute three inches shorter, and other regulars measuring well above the 6-foot mark.

Olympic club of San Francisco had difficulty in disposing of Midland college, Fremont, Neb., 31 to 28, although the Westerners led from the start to the end, once by only two points.

The Schuessler Athletic club, Chicago, which includes three former Loyola university stars on its roster, advanced to the second round by overtaking the East Central Teachers of Ada, Okla., and then beating them, 26 to 24, in an overtime period after the second half ended with the score tied at 22.

Led by Weintge, a guard, who scored six field goals, the St. Louis Sugar Creeks eliminated Central college of Pellahn, Iowa, 31 to 29. Tysselling, Central guard, accounted for 17 points with seven field goals and three free throws.

Phillips university, Enid, Okla., overwhelmed the Simone Clothiers of Weir, Kan., with speed and precision that overcame an advantage of size, 51 to 25.

American Bowling Tournament Opens

COLISEUM, State Fair Grounds, Detroit, March 8. (UP)—Sixty-four local booster teams officially inaugurated the 32nd annual tournament of the American Bowling congress tonight before a crowd of 2,000 fans. City Clerk Reading and local officials tossed the first balls and the big classic was on.

This tournament, in spite of conditions, is ranked the fourth largest in congress history. It will see more than 12,000 pinsters in action from now until April 11. The total team entry is 2,356 from 260 cities. They will vie for a cash prize fund of $37,000.

The heavy scoring will come later in the show, none but booster teams engaging in the first few days' rolling.

Petrolle's Stiff Neck Delays Battalino Bout

NEW YORK, March 8. (AP)—The scheduled 12-round bout between Christopher (Bat) Battalino and Billy Petrolle, scheduled for Friday night at Madison Square garden, was called off today by garden officials when it was learned Petrolle was suffering from a stiff neck. They tentatively were rematched for March 23.

CHURCH CAGE RACE CLOSES

First Christians Win Title Over Highlanders

First Christian basketeers hung up their 10th victory in a row in the Sunday School Basket Ball league Tuesday night on the Floral Heights Presbyterian court by ringing up a 23 to 17 victory over the crack Highland Heights five. The Tuesday night win gave the First Christian undisputed rule to the league championship, the team having gone through the entire schedule of 10 games without suffering a single loss. The Highlanders lost only two games in 10, both to First Christian.

The battle was a hard fought one all the way with the Highlanders giving the champions a close run for their money. Both Maynard Creighton, scoring ace for the Highlanders, and Monty Griffin, high point man for the champions in the second half, were covered all the way and both went through the night for the first time this year without scoring a single goal from the court. Both, however, connected for free throws.

First Christian played a slow and careful game against the Highlanders and their fast running battle was conspicuous by its absence. Jim Janeway and Noel Brashear carried the brunt of the scoring for the champions with eight and six points respectively. "Dauntless Dave" Denton was the leading scorer for the Highlanders with seven points. Both teams played wonderful ball on the defense with the guards all coming in for their share of the glory. Time after time "Wrestling Bill" Yeargin, standing guard for the Christians, and Gough, for the Highlanders, broke up the careful passing attack of their opponent.

The score at the end of the first quarter was 7 to 4 in favor of First Christian with "Half Pint" Karr piling up most of the points. First Christian led, 12 to 7, at the half and 18 to 11 at the third quarter

Alvin Goldstucker's Temple Israel five came close to upsetting the dope bucket and led by Isadore Cohen gave the Floral Heights Presbyterians a close race to the finish, the Presbyterians nosing out a 29 to 25 victory. George Birdwell with 15 points led the Presbyterian attack while Goldstucker with the aid of four charity pitches tied Cohen with eight.

Charley Reeves took over the last half, scoring leadership in the second game of the evening and his deadly aim accounted for six field goals and two donation shots for a total of 14 points of the Floral Heights Methodists' 29 to 12 victory over East Side Presbyterian. Grover Dorsey accounted for half the East Side points with six. The Methodists piled up an early lead in the first half and held it throughout the game.

Spudder Crew Remains Idle As Wind Howls; More Batterymen Arrive

Cold weather yesterday continued to make idlers of a rapidly increasing flock of Spudders and candidates for jobs on Manager Hank Severeid's team. Another batch of pitchers and catchers, including Lester White, veteran right-hander, blew in Tuesday exactly on time, for all batterymen were due to report by that date. The current unpleasantness arising in the north, however, made a workout at Athletic park impossible for the second consecutive day.

Imperturable "Les" White, the cool-headed, calculating, California blonde, this year will be the dean of the Spudder pitching staff, the sale of Milt Steengrafe to Shreveport leaving White the oldest player with the club in point of service. This doesn't mean that the tall right-hander is ready to grow a grey beard, however, as was attested when Whitey jumped out of his car Tuesday morning after a four-day drive from the Pacific coast. He appeared in perfect trim, scarcely overweight, and said he hoped for a bigger season this year than he had last. He wants to win 20 games this year, he said. Last year he didn't miss it far. Serving indiscriminately as a starter and as a relief moundster, White won 17 games while losing 14, for a percentage of .548.

Among Tuesday's arrivals was the much discussed and perfectly unpronounceable Aloysius Bejma, who is Ray Cahill's idea of a more than promising second baseman, with more than an even chance of ambulating around the keystone sack regularly for Manager Severeid this season. Cahill being among the more promising scouts for the St. Louis Browns, his word carries much weight. The railbirds were anxious to see Bejma get into action, and Cahill was just as anxious to say "I told you so . . . " but these acts in the spring training drama were nipped in the bud by winter's blaring blasts.

Three other infielders arrived, although only pitchers and catchers were duty bound to report yesterday. They were Harland Clift and Arthur Garbark, shortstop aspirants, and Roy Sabine, who is in line for the first base job.

Five pitchers besides White were included in the bunch of newcomers. They were Donald Bass, Floyd Iseksite, Doyle Taylor, Harry Saller, and John Spencer.

BABE HERMAN GIVEN WARNING

Holdout Advised to Sign In Two Days

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 8. (INS)—Babe Herman's persistent holdout stand today resulted in an ultimatum being despatched to the outfielder warning him that if he does not sign within the next two days, sharp financial reprisals would follow.

Frank B. York, president of the Brooklyn club, is said to have framed the message to the Babe, reiterating that the $15,000 offer is the final word of the club and that unless he signed by March 10, a fine would be levied for each day he delayed in coming into the fold.

CUBS SEEK HAFEY OR BABE HERMAN

LOS ANGELES, March 8. (US)—Negotiations between the Chicago Cubs and the Los Angeles Angels, involving the transfer of players here, hit a snag today when news leaked out that the Cubs are definitely interested in a deal which may bring either Chick Hafey, St. Louis Cardinal outfielder or Babe Herman, Brooklyn flyhawk, to the windy city aggregation.

William Veeck, Cub prexy, emphatically denied that either St. Louis or Brooklyn had approached him on the matter.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, March 8. (AP)—The rapid advance in sterling exchange and fluctuations in differences between the New York and Liverpool markets were reflected by irregularity in cotton today particularly during early trading.

May after selling off from 7.07 to 7.00, advanced to 7.09 on trade buying and covering promoted by the better tone in the stock market, but eased again in late trading under renewed realizing and liquidation or local selling. May closed at 7.02 with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 2 to 4 points.

The attention of the trade seemed to focus on the developments in sterling and adjustment of differences between Liverpool and New York through the medium of arbitrage operations. Liverpool cables said the market there had been influenced by heavy general selling on the advance in sterling but reported a fair demand for cotton cloth from India and China. Exports today 42,536 making 6,184,968 so far this season. Port receipts 47,585. U. S. port stocks 4,688,869.

Futures closed barely steady, ¼ lower. Spot steady, middling 7.05.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 8. (AP)—Each upturn in cotton today found hedging orders coming into play, and as a result the market failed to get very far in either direction. The opening was firm and higher, but soon after prices started a steady downward trend to move nearly a half dollar a bale under the opening figures. Around mid-day, higher stocks encouraged trade buying, but the rise only tended to increase hedging. The close was irregular, March closing three points net up to 6.93 while May was down three points at 6.03. July down three at 6.19 and October down four at 6.37.

Port receipts 43,392 bales; this week 100,349; this season 8,663,363; last season 8,236,554. Exports 42,742; this week 91,-195; this season 6,073,824; last year 5,044,-424. Port stocks 4,732,269; last year 4,-060,413. Stock of cotton on shipboard Tuesday at New Orleans, Houston and Galveston were 236,347 bales against 89,-417 last year.

Futures closed steady 3 points up to 3 points down:

Industrials And Utilities Lead In Strengthening Influence On Market

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, March 8. (US)—A quietly firm market was witnessed on the stock exchange today. Industrial and public utility shares improved sufficiently to carry them to new peaks for the year.

The bond market maintained its bull movement, which embraced the entire United States government list, many of the latter issues going to the best prices of the year. The immediate stimulus to the latter, and in turn to the stock market, was the presidential emphasis on the intrinsic value of balancing the budget through economies in governmental activities.

The market also interpreted in its haste a declaration by the president to mean that all government financing will be consummated by July 1.

As a matter of fact, the president stated: "Nothing is more important than balancing the budget with the least increase in taxes. The federal government should be in such position that it will need issue no security which increases the public debt after the beginning of the next fiscal year, July 1."

A balanced budget would be more welcome to the security markets than possibly any single early development, with of course the exception of genuine upturn in business. This entire column was devoted a few days ago to the necessity for balancing the federal budget as the true commencement of revival.

Of more sensational influence upon the market, but secondary in fundamental importance, was the sharp rise in the pound sterling. This may be accepted as a tribute to the British nation's evident intention to make whatever sacrifices are essential to the return of sanity in the government, with a balanced budget as the initial step. The American political world might learn the value of balanced-budget by observing the world's response to the long queues of Britons reported anxious to pay their taxes. When Britain last week cancelled $150,-000,000 of its American credit six months before maturity, it constituted an outstanding event in post-war international affairs. What finer and more satisfactory start could be desired for world revival than a financially stabilized Britain?

Within the stock market, the prime factor continues to be the removal of whatever "ceiling" has existed from concentrated short-selling. The Washington investigation, if nothing else, is discouraging large-scale bear activities. Therefore, the bull leaders are left fairly free of active bear opposition. The sole question as to their success is whether or not they can induce a skeptical public to re-enter the market while statistics of business remain unfavorable. Of course, there remains considerable liquidation yet to be accomplished, but this can be expected to be orderly unless psychology takes another severe turn for the worse.

Bull groups were maintaining their operations today in the hope of capitalizing the improved sentiment. This was evident in many of the most active stocks. In a few instances, the news of the day was encouraging to buying.

This was particularly true of the oil shares, which enjoyed the most vigorous buying in months. Sinclair, Socony-Vacuum, Ohio Oil and Standard of New Jersey joined the most active group. Socony-Vacuum's management is understood to have effected considerable economies in operating expenses since the merger. Last year's operations are understood not to have covered the $1 dividend basis, but the company closed 1931 in strong liquid financial position. Ohio oil was responding to aggressive group activity. All of the domestic oils, of course, were helped by the Washington information that an oil tariff may be voted.

Only Kreuger & Toll among the most active group yielded in price. It was reported that foreign buying continued today, but on a materially smaller scale than during preceding days. Railroad stocks as a group participated only modestly in the upturn. Car loadings for the last week were reported 37,000 down. The entire market receded from the highs of the day, but the setback was only fractional.

There still are many skeptics who refuse to accept the market at face value, but even they have been impressed by its ability to march steadily forward to new highs. The chief sponsorship, of course, has been speculative, and many new bull pools are in process of formation. This, in itself, barring severely adverse news, would tend to maintain a firm tone to the list—at least until it definitely is ascertained that the public refuses to follow prices upward.

With sterling rising and French francs weak, there is a faint possibility of a return flow of gold here. But events should prove impressive to the French.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 8. (AP)—Sensational flights of the British pound sterling, accompanied by enlarged purchases of North American breadstuffs for shipment overseas, put new backbone into wheat values today.

Exporters were estimated to have bought 700,000 bushels of wheat and 500,000 bushels of rye from Canada and the United States. Persistent severe cold and complaints of insufficient snow protection for domestic winter wheat, were a contributing bullish factor.

Wheat closed unsettled at almost the day's top ⅝@¾c above yesterday's finish, corn ⅛@¾c advanced, oats ¼@⅜c up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 7 cents.

Although disquiet regarding cold wave damage to domestic winter wheat was tempered by assertions that positive knowledge of injury could not be obtained until after a period of growing weather, widespread apprehension was evident, many sections being minus any snow covering, with continued low temperatures forecast.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, May 60⅝@61c, 62@62¼c; July 62¾@⅞c, 63⅞c; Sept. 64⅞c, 65⅝c. Corn, May 39⅞c, 40⅞c; July 42⅝c, 42⅞c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, March 8. (US)—Weather is the chief topic of interest in the wheat trade, but has had little if any effect on prices. After the bulges a month ago which failed to hold, the trade fails to become excited by low temperatures. As always growing weather must be awaited to determine the extent of damage.

Some concern is being expressed over conditions in the soft wheat territory. Severe damage to this type of wheat has resulted when cold weather has occurred in past years when the crop was without sufficient protection. There is considerable debate as to whether or not protection is sufficient at present in the soft wheat states.

Arrivals of wheat on the continent the past week were 3,992,000 bushels, compared with 4,512,000 bushels the previous week and 4,732,000 bushels a year ago.

Liberal sales of cash rye to German importers were reported today, but figures on sales were rather confusing. Of an estimated total of 500,000 bushels sold a good share was said to have gone to exporters rather than to import buyers directly.

CLUB FORMED AGAINST WASTE

East Texas Oil Men Join In New Organization

TYLER, Texas, March 8. (UP)—Formation of the East Texas Oil club, a mutual protective organization to cooperate with the state railroad commission in enforcement of commission anti-waste regulations and to have a voice in drafting the regulations was announced here today.

H. L. Hunt, Tyler, was elected chairman, and Rade Kangerga, Henderson, vice-chairman. A committee of 21 independent operators has been named to administer affairs of the organization until replaced by a regularly elected directing body. Oil men from various sections of the state formed the club.

Members bound themselves to abide by anti-waste regulations and to use their influence throughout the field to the same end, fostering programs for the "best utilization of the gas energy and the water-drive energy to promote the highest possible recovery of oil from the field."

An announcement of organization said:

"The club will not attempt to raise or regulate the price of crude oil in the field, but considers that a price for crude oil so low that the resulting gasoline price will preclude construction and operation of casing-head gasoline plants will cause no more nor less than physical waste."

The announcement blamed low oil prices for the burning of 40-gravity oil in boilers for fuel.

The club has bound its members to "run down thievery, short cuts and sharp practices against the conservation laws and the regularly constituted authorities enforcing them."

Besides Hunt and Kangerga, oil men who formed the club included G. A. McCreicht, F. K. Lathrop and Marvin Kelly, Longview; Roy Laird, Kilgore; W. C. Stroube, Corsicana; Paul Snetcher, Fort Worth; Earl Calloway and F. W. Burford, Dallas.

Communist Leaders Sought For Inciting Fatal Riot At Detroit

DETROIT, March 8. (US)—Communistic leaders, including William Z. Foster, were sought today by state, city and federal officers as instigators of the "hunger riot" at the Dearborn plant of the Ford Motor company yesterday in which four men were killed and more than a score injured.

More than 40 men and women were held by authorities in the round-up of rioters who battled police, sheriff's deputies and Ford guards for an hour. The mob, numbering nearly 3,000 men and women was subdued only when revolvers, tear gas and water were brought into action.

Harry Bennett, chief of the Ford police, was reported near death in Henry Ford hospital where he was taken following the rioting. Detroit police officials said he was shot in the head during the battle. Bennett's men declared his injury was caused by a flying brick.

The "hunger" march on the Ford plant was planned at a meeting Sunday at which Foster and other Communists spoke. The leaders disappeared immediately after the rioting and a wide search here and in other cities has been ordered.

William Reynolds and John Schmies, former Communistic candidates for political office, Albert Goetz and John Pace were others named by authorities with Foster as the leaders in the agitation which brought about the riot.

Charges of criminal syndicalism may be placed against those held. County Prosecutor Harry S. Toy today said murder warrants would be asked against the leaders if evidence justified the charges.

DRILLING IN LIME

The United Producers company No. A-1 L. F. Wilson, located in the northeast corner of block 118, A. T. N. C. L. survey in Archer county, is drilling in a lime formation at 2203 feet Tuesday afternoon. The test is about one quarter mile southwest of the deep production or 2200-foot sand at Chalk Hill and the next few hours of drilling will be watched with the keenest of interest.

SOUTHEAST OF CHALK HILL

Fraser and associates are moving in rig for a deep test to be drilled in the southeast corner of block 9, H. Corzine survey, abstract 56, in the Crawford-Plowman land in Archer county. The test is in wildcat territory, being two and a half miles a little southeast of Chalk Hill, and one-half mile southwest of the Brown-Lickey No. 1 Coleman test.

ARCHER DEEP TEST

The Brown & Lickey No. 1 Coleman, located in block 79, A. T. N. C. L. survey, east of Chalk Hill in Archer county, is drilling at 2240 feet and gives no indication of making a well. The drill topped a sand at 2197 feet and after drilling 20 feet failed to show any traces of oil and the test will be abandoned at 2250 feet unless a show is encountered.

NORTHEAST OF GRAHAM

King Royalty-Bratcher No. 1 Lowe, located in block 15, section 3412, T. E. & L., six miles northeast of the city of Graham in south Young county, is drilling at 1050 feet. The test is 50 feet east of the old Bratcher junked hole and is drilling at the 2700-foot sand.

Central Texas Test Finds Trace of Oil

WACO, Texas, March 8. (AP)—The Groover-Rose oil test 10 miles southeast of Waco today touched Buda lime at 974 feet and showed a trace of oil after the casing had been set and the well cleaned. Drilling was suspended temporarily.

The test is the farthest advanced of five prospects in the McLennan-Falls field. It is six miles northeast of Dixie's Lee Davis No. 1 discovery well.

HOOVER BACKS EXPENSE CUTS

President Pledges Aid To House Committees

WASHINGTON, March 8. (AP)—Holding new slashes in federal expenditures a necessity if the budget is to be balanced, President Hoover today pledged the aid of his administration in this work to three Democratic controlled house committees.

The president accepted from Capitol Hill a statement that $125,000,-000 more must be sliced from a budget already reduced by approximately $477,000,000. Addressing newspaper men gathered at the White House, he reported members of his cabinet were preparing "drastic recommendations" to this end.

"The whole of the administrative officials," he said, "are cooperating with the special economy committee appointed by the house of representatives in the drive to bring about further drastic economies in federal expenditure."

The president referred to a special money-saving committee appointed by Speaker Garner just before Mr. Hoover submitted a message to congress recommending reorganization of the government. The committee is to report upon this and other subjects by April 15. Cooperation was pledged also to the house ways and means and appropriations committees.

Mr. Hoover reiterated his belief that "nothing is more important" than balancing the budget with the least possible increase in taxes, and added a hope that the government would be in a position after July 1 to pay its way without further security issues.

"That is vital to the still further promotion of employment and agriculture," he asserted. "It gives positive assurance to business and industry that the government will keep out of the money market and allow industry and agriculture to borrow the moneys required for the conduct of business."

The reductions must be accomplished, he said, either by reorganization and consolidation of government departments or by changes in the legal requirements of various federal services.

NEW PETITION IN RADIO SUIT

Additional Concerns Are Included in Case

WASHINGTON, March 8. (AP)—An additional petition has been filed by the government in its anti-trust action against the Radio corporation and its associates, and the department of justice is preparing for a hearing in the case this spring.

In the supplemental petition, the scope of the action was increased to include international activities of the group, bringing in as defendants the International General Electric company, Westinghouse Electric International company and RCA Communications, Inc. At the same time the charge was made by the government that the National Broadcasting company was formed to restrain competition in nation-wide broadcasting.

As increased to cover world-wide activities, department of justice officials see this action as one of the widest in scope ever instituted. At the base of the entire proceeding has been the handling of patents through a cross-licensing arrangement.

Originally instituted in May, 1930, the case has yet to be acted upon in the Wilmington, Del., United States district court, where it was filed. Protracted negotiations have been conducted by the government with the defendants, said the department of justice, with a view to creating an open patent pool and obviating trial of some important issues.

Fire Losses In 425 Texas Towns Total $1,321,924 During Month

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, March 8.—Fire losses in 425 Texas cities and towns in January reached the total of $1,321,924, Raymond S. Mauk, fire insurance commissioner announced. His statement was based on the conservative reports of fire marshals and fire chiefs of the town, the loss representing one of the heaviest in any month without a major conflagration.

Mauk issued an appeal to all fire and police officials in the cities and towns to make in immediate and thorough investigation of every fire, in efforts to stamp out those of a criminal nature.

Our Children

THE LAZY ONE

"John is lazy. He could have a much better mark but he is inattentive and lazy."

I imagine that sentence, or one that carries the same meaning, is written more times than any other during the school year. Every class in the schools all over this country has one or more "lazy" children, one or more "inattentive" ones who do not "concentrate."

Laziness, inattention, lack of concentration, are not actual difficulties. They are symptoms of actual difficulty. But that is about as far as my knowledge goes. What the actual difficulties are, what the causes of this laziness and inattention and lack of concentration are, is not easy to say.

> Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

When a child is lazy it does no good to tell him so. He knew it long before you did. He knew that his legs weighed a thousand pounds apiece, that there were weights on his eyelids, that moving about was an affliction scarce to be borne, and that holding his mind on tables and words and problems was impossible. He suffered long before you discovered that he was lazy.

All healthy children love to work. They love to be praised. They delight in standing well in their community on the playground and in the classroom. When they fail they feel bad. They cover this up as best they can but all the while they are suffering. To punish them for laziness and inattention is to be cruel, blindly cruel.

Every child grows weary in well doing-sometime or other. All human beings work and rest in waves. There is a time of rapid rise in power and speed and another resting spell. We are rhythmic in our living. The lazy child is not given to bursts of speed and long spans of growth. He dwells in the slowed down phase too long. But why?

The expert physician, the one attached to the clinic or hospital may be able to help us discover that. He may be able to find the cause and indicate the way to remove it. There are many possible causes. Almost as many as there are children. Any physical defect; any untoward influence in the environment; fear; poor grading; poor teaching; work outside the child's experience and interests; wrong sort of program; lack of proper health habits and daily routine. A gland out of balance. An organ not functioning properly. Fatigue. Causes and more causes are to be investigated until the right one is found and we can set the child right.

It is not enough for us to say he is so and so. We have to be able to say why he is so and lend him a hand when he needs it. To this end we must organize the schools and train the teachers. In most of the schools in the land the teacher has been trained to follow the course of study and use the texts approved by the authorities, and nothing more. The school is equipped for reading and writing and arithmetic, and nothing more.

This will not do. It is not enough. We must have teachers trained to know the nature of children and to indicate something of an understanding of its vagaries and whims, powers and weaknesses. Then the school is to be equipped to meet all emergencies, to help develop all sorts of children. A staff of experts must be on hand to help the teacher when she requires their help. We can no longer deal with symptoms. We must deal with causes.

Garner Endorsed at San Angelo Rally

SAN ANGELO, Texas, March 8. (AP)—In a flag-waving session here last night Tom Green Democrats heard W. A. Wright, for 33 years a friend of John Garner, laud the Texan's honest and fearless leadership in the house as qualifying him for the presidency.

Wright said the country does not need to kow tow to New York democracy for its leadership, that it is time for the South to take the saddle. Wright, San Angelo attorney, heads the Garner for President club. A large crowd was present.

NEGRO MEETS DEMO DEFENSE

L. A. Nixon Files Brief In Exclusion Suit

WASHINGTON, March 8. (AP)—L. A. Nixon, negro, of El Paso, Texas, who is suing Democratic election judges for refusing to permit him to vote at a Democratic primary and whose case is soon to be reargued in the supreme court, today filed a brief in reply to the judges.

In it counsel for Nioxon argued that the Democratic party in Texas had no inherent power to exclude him from the primaries, and that they got their authority through the act of the state legislature in 1927.

"Even if a political party be a voluntary association, it is clear not only that it is subject to the sovereignty of the state," the brief declared, "but that it can become an instrumentality of the state."

The brief also asserted the election laws defined and limited in detail the principal functions of political parties, exercising sovereignty which deprived the political parties of their independence of action.

The brief was aimed to meet the defense presented by the Democratic judges of election who are being sued. They insisted the action of the Democratic party in barring negroes from its primaries, was within the power of a political party to determine its own membership, and was not dependent upon any authority from the state.

New Pilots Replace Century Line Strikers

Insane Rancher Killed By Shots of Officers

DENVER, Colo., March 8. (AP)—A man identified as Robert Edwards, 30, and believed to have been insane, was shot and killed by sheriff's officers at his ranch northwest of Denver yesterday.

Undersheriff Vernon E. Downing said Edwards had been accused by several persons of firing at them with a high-powered rifle and was regarded in his neighborhood as demented. Powerfully built, Edwards attempted to terrorize anyone who approached his place, authorities said.

PUBLIC RAISES MEDICAL COSTS

Patients Demand Luxuries, Says McReynolds

costs," he siad. "There are luxuries which have been considered by patients as necessities, when they were really not necessary. A $10 room at the hospital when a $3 room would do quite as well; several trained nurses when one nurse, or the hall nurse, would suffice—things of that sort have been chosen by many patients."

Dr. McReynolds urged all doctors present to attend the meeting of the state association in May, and announced that about 20 of the leading medical authorities of the western hemisphere will be given two afternoons of the conference period for exposition of their special fields of research.

Speaking on "Nervous Breakdown Precipitated by the Economic Depression," Dr. A. J. Schwenkenberg of Dallas declared the need for more therapathic hospitals for the treatment of mental disturbances. There is a considerable increase in cases of affected mentality during the past three years, he said.

Results of Depression

"The trying conditions of the past three years," said the speaker, "have imposed pressure upon people of all classes. Those groups who are of certain mental dispositions have been seriously affected by the strain. Suicides have increased noticeably. Psychology has advanced so far now that individuals may be classified, with the result that corrective treatment may be applied. Present day doctors should be attentive to such phenomena—particularly family doctors, and promptly diagnose such a case for therapeutic treatment."

Dr. Schwenkenberg outlined the six principal groups into which the psychol-therapist divides individuals under analysis, and gave the characteristics of each type of mentality.

"We have found out since the world war that shell-shock was a kind of hysteria," the speaker said, "and we know now how to treat it successfully.

"The condition of this nation today is largely a mental state. It is a question of human behavior. Fear is the underlying factor. Fear normally is a protective phenomenon; but when it reaches the point of receiving too much attention, it becomes a detriment."

Dr. George T. Caldwell, professor of pathology at Baylor University School of Medicine, gave the opening address Tuesday night. He discussed "The Newer Aspects of Edema." Edema was defined as an excess of water in the tissues of the human body. Dr. Caldwell, mentioning that the body is two-thirds water, quoted a definition of life as "chemical processes which are carried on in a salt solution inside the body."

Recent study of edema—of which "Bright's disease" is the best known example—has shown that injuries or other defects in the kidneys are not necessary prerequisites to occurence of such diseases, Dr. Caldwell said. The capillary system has been found to be the most important part of the entire circulatory system, the speaker said, since it is charged with the actual transfer of blood-food to the tissues, and the absorption of residue moisture from those tissues. Failure of the capillaries to take up salt water from the tissues results in edema, he pointed out.

Tells of Treatment

"Administration of protein to patients suffering from albumenurea is the logical means of building up in the blood a capacity for removing surplus liquid from tissues," he said in conclusion.

Miss Margaret Fisher, reader, and Mrs. Stanley M. Raub, soprano, entertained the gathering with a short program immediately after the banquet, which was served to about 125 persons at 7 o'clock. Miss Fisher read "Returning to the Ranch," by Larry Chittenden; "Maggie McCarty Goes on a Diet," and a versified burlesque on "Hamlet." Mrs. Raub, accompanied by Mrs. Lucille-Brooks Huff, sang "To a Hilltop" (Cox), and "Shepherds by Vary," an old English air.

Dr. J. A. Heyman, president of the Northwest District Medical association, presided during the banquet and the ensuing program.

Next Meeting at Eastland

Eastland was selected as the fall convention city for the semi-annual meeting in September at the morning business session. Dr. C. W. Stevenson, president of the Wichita County Medical society, welcomed the visitors and members on behalf of the society and invited all to attend the banquet. Dr. J. A. Heyman of Wichita Falls, district president, presided at all sessions.

"Almost 100 per cent immunization against diphtheria follows use of diphtheria toxoid," Dr. T. G. Rogers of Decatur said in the opening paper of the meeting. Dr. H. P. Ledford of Wichita Falls conducted a discussion on the subject.

"It is rare to see any reaction following use of the toxoid and only three reactions have been noted in a check of 300 cases handled by physicians in this city. The reactions noted were a slight rash and fever such as might result from a bad cold. Reactions are always mild. Out of the 300 cases checked only one case of diphtheria resulted and that was soon after the toxoid was given, and it is believed the serum was administered too late to give immunization, Dr. Ledford said.

Dr. Will Horn of Fort Worth said observances tended to show all reactions resulted from changes in the blood of the child and if a reaction resulted the blood should be tested at once. The speakers advocated the wide use of diphtheria toxoid.

Papers Attract Interest

Technical papers attracted wide interest among the convention visitors. Papers were presented by W. S. Barcus of Fort Worth, R. S. Nallard of Fort Worth, Dr. T. L. Lauderdale of Ranger, F. S. Schoonover Jr., of Fort Worth, G. M. Underwood of Dallas, W. S. Horn of Fort Worth, J. F. McVeigh of Fort Worth, L. H. Reeves of Fort Worth, and the concluding feature was a motion picture study by Dr. Joseph B. DeLee of Chicago, presented by Dr. J. E. Kanatser of Wichita Falls.

Discussions following each paper were conducted by Dr. Ledford, C. W. Stevenson, S. J. R. Murchison of Fort Worth, C. H. Carter of Eastland, C. R. Enloe of Fort Worth, Austin F. Leach of Wichita Falls, W. B. Whiting of Wichita Falls, C. W. Stevenson of Wichita Falls and J. H. McCracken of Mineral Wells.

The visitors were guests at a buffet luncheon at noon at the Wichita club and doctors' wives were guests of the women's auxiliary of Wichita county.

Miss Melma Smith of Mineral Wells was in charge of registrations as follows: George M. Underwood, Dallas; Austin F. Leach, C. W. Stevenson, F. R. Collard, J. A. Heyman, T. C. Lynch, T. P. Lynch, L. State Medical President Known In Many Countries for Eye Operations

Dr. J. O. McReynolds of Dallas, who delivered the principal address at the Northwest District Medical association convention banquet Tuesday night, is one of the best known eye, nose and throat specialists in the world, according to physicians here. He is president of the Texas Medical association. Dr. McReynolds was guest of the Northwest District Tuesday and visited with Dr. Everett Jones of the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital while in the city.

Dr. McReynolds only recently returned from a tour of the East where he held regional meetings with representatives of medical colleges at Pittsburgh, Jacksonville, Fla., and other cities. The purpose of the trip was to bring to the public and the profession the nature of the work done by the American College of Surgeons in standardizing hospitals.

Interest of the college at present is in Texas and the advancement of the standardization work in this state, Dr. McReynolds said.

Dr. Jones pointed out that Dr. McReynolds was one of the four American physicians he was asked about on a recent trip to European clinics. Dr. McReynolds is a past vice president of the American Medical association, is president of the Medical Veterans of the World War, and is the originator of an eye operation which has made him known in all clinics the world over, Dr. Jones said.

VALLEY BOARD SEEKS MARKET

Auditorium Suggested As Possible Site

An early conference with City Manager V. R. Smitham relative to plans for opening a market in the Memorial auditorium where farmers may bring their produce to offer the public will be held by a special committee of the Valley Development association, it was announced following a board meeting Tuesday afternoon.

A committee also will go to Denison in the near future with a committee representing the Wichita County Dairy association for a survey on plans for securing a market for products of a proposed cheese factory here.

DINNER HONORS CITY OFFICIALS

Visitors Here to Receive Police Courtesies

Assurance that visitors to Wichita Falls will continue to be treated with all courtesy by law enforcement representatives of the city was established at a dinner honoring city officials and police officers Tuesday evening at the Kemp hotel. The dinner was tendered by the retail merchants division of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce.

A keynote of spreading the gospel and good will in the Wichita Falls trade area was evidenced in a number of short talks by both hosts and guests. J. H. Allison as toastmaster declared "good will is what brings the customer back," and every effort to continue courtesy toward visitors is an aid to satisfying customers of Wichita Falls merchants.

In emphasizing the welcome for visitors the retail merchants group will issue courtesy cards by mail to persons living in a wide radius of Wichita Falls. The courtesy cards, similar to cards now distributed by traffic officers and police officers, will carry the signature of Police Chief Dick Morris and will assure the recipient that two-hour parking limits and similar traffic regulations are suspended for their benefit during their stay in Wichita Falls. Jack Barnard, retail merchant chairman, presented the plan which received the approval of City Manager V. R. Smitham.

Guests of the merchants included W. E. McBroom, representing Mayor Walter Nelson Jr., Commissioners J. M. Spoonts, J. S. Bridwell, C. E. McCutchen and J. N. Prothro; City Manager V. R. Smitham, City Judge Edgar Scurry, Police Chief Dick Morris, Traffic Sergeant Earnest Deaton, Traffic Officers John Sewell, Cecil Long, A. Grady, Frank VanPelt; Motorcycle Officers Frank Warfield, John Wildmon, Herbert Pogue and Harry King.

The meeting opened with introductions of the guests, followed by two vocal selections by R. E. Shepherd, accompanied by Mrs. Shepherd. Jack Barnard presided as chairman of the retail division but turned the meeting over to Mr. Allison.

Short talks complimenting cooperation of the city officials and the police department were presented by Ed Crump, Burton Stayton and Mr. Allison. Mr. Smitham, Judge Scurry and Chief Morris expressed appreciation for the compliment of the dinner and discussed various phases of cooperation between merchants and officers to best serve the purpose of fair treatment for visitors.

Jolson To Close Wichita Season

Paris and New York are coming to Wichita Falls Friday—for one evening of entertainment.

Al Jolson is the answer—Al, and his lauded 1932 show, "The Wonder Bar," which is to hold forth at the Memorial auditorium Friday night at 8:15 o'clock as the last road attraction of the current season.

The gay French capital supplies both the setting and title of Jolson's show, for "The Wonder Bar" is a luxuriantly appointed Parisian cabaret. New York has provided a cast of 75 persons, directors, costuming, to produce the play; and for six months rewarded its presentation with capacity houses. The Parisian night club and New York's reproduction of its life are being brought to Wichita Falls exactly as it was produced in the metropolis.

Conspicuous among the plaudits already won by "The Wonder Bar" on its present tour is the repeated declaration that it is decidedly "different." In fact, the novelty of its setting and extravagance of scenic effects have commanded much of the praise given the play thus far.

Chicago has 55 per cent of the Wholesale establishments in Illinois.

It was explained that the chamber is doing without the services of a paid secretary through the cooperation of officers and directors, who have assumed duties of the secretary.

The keynote of Mr. Bourland's address was "hard work makes men and women." The speaker was introduced by B. M. Dinsmore, superintendent of schools here.

The Vernon visitor described the chamber of commerce as a place where citizens come together with the best thoughts and ideas for the best interests of the community. He made a plea that farmers be interested in the work of the chamber of commerce.

"Let us bind ourselves together for Electra, and fight for Electra and make it the town it ought to be," he said in closing.
