In the meantime, Havana, Cuba, was threatened as clouds hovered closer over the harbor there and reports of ships in distress began to come in.

Federal Reserve Governor Says Conditions Good Here

Human Side Of Southwest's Chief Of Finance Comes To Fore As Lynn P. Tally Visits Lubbock Bankers Enroute to Coast Today

While business conditions, as reflected from the year's apparent crop yield, are rather disappointing in the Southwest generally the situation in this particular section is satisfactory, Lynn P. Tally, governor of the Eleventh District Federal Reserve Banking system, said here this morning.

Mr. Tally, with W. A. Philpott, Dallas, secretary-manager of the Texas Bankers association, spent part of today in Lubbock enroute to San Francisco where they will attend the annual convention of the National Bankers' association opening Monday. They planned to leave by train this afternoon after being joined here by A. A. "Buck" Horn, of Galveston, president of the Texas Bankers' association.

Quiet, unobtrusive and easily met, the man who has served as governor of the Eleventh district for the past five years commented freely upon financial matters in an interview with the Daily Journal. Impressed with West Texas and its potentialities, Mr. Tally showed by his conversation that he is in close touch with conditions throughout the area embraced by the Eleventh district, which comprises 770 member banks in Texas, southeastern Oklahoma, northern Louisiana, southeastern Arizona and part of New Mexico.

"The need of West Texas and the South Plains is to specialize in a particular avenue of production," Mr. Tally said. "To say that you specialize in agriculture is not enough. You must pick out some one phase of agriculture and give the major part of thought and labor to that specialty."

Conferring with A. B. Davis, manager of the Board of City Development, Mr. Tally advised that in advertising and boosting Lubbock and the South Plains we should not forget unfavorable angles in pushing those more favorable. "The trouble with many sections," the governor commented, "is that not enough attention is paid to conditions which react against prosperity and business stability. The good points will largely care for themselves. Business men should know the bad points and guard against them for the good of everybody concerned."

Taking the Eleventh district as a whole, Mr. Tally estimated that crop yields would total about two-thirds of what they made in 1928. Last year, however, was an unusually good one throughout the district, he said.

The governor is of the opinion that the financial structure underlying South Plains business today is entirely satisfactory. "We have no wild and woolly conditions prevailing here," he asserted. Mr. Tally further stated that he was impressed with Lubbock and the surrounding country.

While pointing out that the Federal Reserve system has nothing to do with the setting of rates on call money, he said he was in closer accord with the new high rate than it was a few months ago. Regarding the widespread speculation in stocks throughout the past year particularly, Governor Tally said he looked for little change soon.

Hawaii Awaits Three Eruptions

POPULACE IN SUSPENSE AFTER TREMORS ARE FELT LAST NIGHT

(By Associated Press)

HILO, Island of Hawaii, Sept. 26 (AP)—Suspense and excitement gripped the populace of western Hawaii today after residents had been frightened from their homes by a violent earthquake, believed to be the forerunner of eruptions from three big volcanoes nearby.

The most violent quake of a series of about 150 tremors that had kept the western half of the island aflutter for more than 34 hours came shortly after 6 o'clock last night. Walls and buildings in the area fell, and residents rushed from their homes.

Seismograph Ruined

So violent was the quake the seismograph at Kilauea was ruined. It was the most severe shaking the island has received within the memory of its oldest residents.

Dr. Thomas A. Jaggar, government volcanologist, a few hours before the most violent shock was felt, asserted the frequent quakes portended an eruption of one or more of the three large volcanoes on the western half of Hawaii. He declared all three, Kilauea, Mauna Loa and Hualalai, might erupt simultaneously.

Are in Straight Line

The three volcanoes stand in an almost straight line running across the island from southeast to northwest. At one end stands Hualalai, with Kilauea at the other. Between them is Mauna Loa.

Kona, the district in which Hualalai is located, appeared to have been shaken more frequently than any other. Jaggar, who has studied Hawaii's volcanoes for many years, said an eruption, possibly on the west flank of Hualalai, might be expected within a month, but that the lava might reach the surface from Mauna Loa or Kilauea. He asserted it was possible lava would pour from all three craters.

Following the naming of the steering committee, E. J. Parsons made a brief talk in the interest of the ticket campaign for the Panhandle-South Plains Fair, urging the wholehearted support of all the business men in the city in the enterprise. He was followed by Prof. W. L. Stangel who further emphasized the importance of the fair here next week.

The challenge of the Rotary club for a golf tournament with the Kiwanians was also presented by Mr. Parsons, who is a Rotarian.

HUNDREDS FLOCKING TO LOCATION TO SEE SHOOTING

(Special To The Journal)

LEHMAN, Sept. 26.—Hundreds of persons are flocking today to the scene of the Mariscal Oil company's No. 1 slougher test well, five miles southwest of this city, following a current rumor that the well will be "shot" some time this afternoon.

No official statement could be obtained here early this afternoon, since there is no telephone connection with the location, but discussion of persons returning from the well strengthens common belief that the wildcat test will be shot within the next few hours.

Hole Is Plugged

The hole was plugged eight days ago, after a strata of sulphur water had been encountered and the test had been drilled to the contracted depth of 5,000 feet.

SAN MARCIAL IS FLOODED

NEW MEXICO TOWN IS AGAIN VICTIM OF HIGH WATERS

(By Associated Press)

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 26.—Muddy waters of the Rio Grande today sloshed about three buildings, all that remained of San Marcial, N. M., once a town of 1,400. In the foot hills, across a broad expanse of flood waters which broke through dikes at San Marcial, were refugees, some of whom had left before the flood and 54 who were rescued yesterday by boats.

The 54 were marooned in the three remaining buildings — the Santa Fe depot, Harvey house and a bank. The buildings were standing in from five to eight feet of water. A phone line to the Harvey house was working until 3 p. m., yesterday, after which no one answered. The presumption was that all had been taken from the flooded area by a powerboat sent to their rescue.

Refugees in Hills

In the hills west of the new town, there are probably 200 refugees. Most of them were without food or shelter. The older Indians in the original San Marcial, nestled on high ground, and safe from the Rio Grande were giving their life for the future. The Red Cross, with the help of numerous Socorro residents, planned to make an effort to reach the refugees with tents and supplies by way of Magdalena and Rosedale down Mulligan Gulch.

PETITION FOR ELECTION OUT IN CITY TODAY

GOOD ROADS GROUP TO ASK $1,025,000 ISSUE SATURDAY

(By Associated Press)

Resumption of efforts to create a paving program for principal highways in district No. 2 of Lubbock county took form here today with circulation of a petition asking an election to vote on proposal for a $1,025,000 road bond issue.

The campaign is being sponsored by the Lubbock County Good Roads Association, of which Charles F. O'Neill is chairman.

The petition will be presented Saturday at a meeting of the Lubbock county commissioners' court. Mr. O'Neill expects to have an ample number of signers by Friday afternoon, he indicated late today.

The petition designates that the specified fund would be used for hard-surfacing of Highway 7 from the boundary line of district No. 1, Slaton division, through Lubbock to the Hockley county line, and highways 9, running north and south from Lynn to Hockley county lines; 53 from Hockley to Crosby county lines; and 134 from the City of Lubbock to the Hockley county line.

A petition formed here in June for a $1,000,000 bond issue election has been held in abeyance, due to the State highway department's action June 7 in rescinding the original designation of Highway 53.

Proponents of the current petition are acting at present upon the hope that the exact routing of Highway 53 between this city and Idaho will not interfere with the district-wide schedule.

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

False modesty is a relic of an ancient prejudice. AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE has cut it away and, in behalf of better health and pure enjoyment, sponsors the fashion of sensible swimming attire.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

ARRAY OF EXHIBITS FEATURE LYNN COUNTY FAIR

MUCH ENTHUSIASM IS BEING SHOWN IN ANNUAL EVENT

(Special to The Journal)

TAHOKA, Sept. 26.—The most successful county fair ever held in Lynn county in its final day here today.

Never before has there been such excellent livestock and poultry exhibit, or as many.

The two days of festivity were officially begun Wednesday morning at eleven o'clock when a street parade passed through the business section, and out to the fair grounds, five blocks northeast of the square. The parade was led by the Tahoka fire department and followed by Prof. Harry LeMaire's 30-piece Texas Tech Band and the Tahoka and Wilson Boy Scouts. School floats were entered by Betty, New Lynn, Draw, Lakeview, Midway, New Home, T-Bar, Dixie, the senior, junior, freshman, seventh grade and grammar grades of Tahoka public schools, by the high school pep squad and by the football team. Other floats were entered by numerous business firms.

Much Livestock Displayed
Livestock on exhibition includes 252 head of poultry, 129 head of hogs, 45 Jerseys, and 16 horses and mules, and judges declare the exhibits to be among the highest grade ever seen at any county fair of like size. These exhibits are indicative of increased interest in the raising of high grade cattle, poultry, and other livestock which has been taking place in recent years. Lynn county is rapidly becoming one of the leading dairy cow and poultry raising counties of the plains, although intensive interest was not taken until about two years ago.

The most interesting feature of the fair is the community and farm exhibits, which are as good as any ever shown here. In spite of the fact that crops are poorer than usual, due to the dry summer, thirteen Lynn county communities are represented with community exhibits. They are: Midway, Edith, Wilson, Dixie, Betty, Lakeview, Draw, New Home, T-Bar, New Lynn, Wells, South Ward, O'Donnell. Of especial interest is the individual group exhibit of M. L. Taylor of the Wells community. Women's home demonstration clubs, boys and girls 4-H clubs are represented with many exhibits.

Judges Are Experts
Judges for the fair are: community exhibits, Mr. Miller, agronomist A. and M. college; poultry, W. J. Gourley, vocational agriculture teacher, Silverton; livestock, Ray Lowery, Texas Tech; women's work, Miss Beas Edwards, state home demonstration agent; and Miss Myrtle Murray, district home demonstration agent. Boy Scouts are especially active in patrolling the grounds and making themselves useful in other lines.

The feature entertainment attraction Wednesday was the football game on the high school gridiron. This afternoon the Fort Worth State will meet the Tahoka All-Stars on the local diamond. Tahoka has gathered a team of league and ex-league stars with which to contest the much-heralded game.

The All-American Shows are furnishing the carnival attractions.

LYNN P. TALLY

"The speculation will continue," he said, "until the American public reaches the point where it is ready to quit—and not before."

Mr. Tally and Mr. Philpott were honor guests at a luncheon at Hotel Lubbock at noon today, a courtesy extended by the Lubbock Clearing House association, an organization operated by the three local banks. The visit of the two men here today was characterized as incidental to their trip to San Francisco and conferences with officials of all three banks here were purely social.

Although he probably has more widespread problems of finance than any individual in the Southwest, the human side of Governor Tally quickly came to the fore when football season was mentioned. As a citizen of Dallas he showed interest particularly in the prospects of a winning season at Southern Methodist university and his comments upon football showed that he was keeping in close touch with the Pony griders.

he said, "We lost eleven stars through graduation and what the team will do is a matter for speculation. I intend to stop off in Lincoln, Nebraska, on the way back from San Francisco and will see S. M. U. play the University of Nebraska Cornhuskers early next month."

The Federal Reserve chief recalled the days when he worked for the Temple Tribune as a carrier boy and took pride in reminding along that era of his life. "I was carrying a route during the blizzard of 1899," he said, "and left the newspaper office on horseback at four o'clock on the morning of the great storm. I completed my route and there was not a single complaint registered by a subscriber."

The governor is a man of average physical build, apparently in his middle forties and dresses conservatively but neatly. He thinks quickly, keeps up readily with changes in conversation and is pleasant to meet.

CHARTERS GRANTED

AUSTIN, Sept. 26 (AP)—Chartered: City Investment company, Wichita Falls; capital stock $25,000. Incorporators: L. E. Cowling, L. E. Cowling, Jr., George W. Truitt. The Thrift Corporation, Burkburnett, increasing capital stock from $42,500 to $50,000.

DAWSON FAIR

era, and poultry for diarrhoea would require several days, and due to the schedule for opening of the fair today the livestock and poultry departments were abandoned.

A host of agricultural exhibits, an automobile show, mercantile displays, side shows and carnival attractions offer amusements for the two days. Lamesa high school football team is scheduled to play O'Donnell high school tomorrow afternoon as one of the fair entertainment features.

Other Fairs Unmolested
Long distance calls to other county fair officials, whose fairs are now open or have already closed, revealed that no interruptions or advice from the state livestock sanitary commission had been received. Dawson county has 32 registers of merit bulls in bull circles and much testing has been done with practically no reactions found.

Claim Unfairness
"We believe in law enforcement, and shall abide by the commission's demands," said W. B. Collins, president of the fair. "It seems more sensible to disperse with the livestock show, which is scheduled for 2 days, rather than ask farmers to subject themselves to the confusion of a period of quarantine."

"We think it harmful to the best interests of the state to impose a rule on this community when there are scores of other communities who are permitted to enjoy an unrestrained community fair. The fair here is supported by public subscription, owns no property, but we have heretofore had the cooperation of the entire county."

stood in the hole, but the showing subsided when water pushed up. Varying degrees of gas, ranging from 300,000 to 750,000 cubic feet, have been reported periodically since pressure was encountered three weeks ago.

Substantiating the report that the Marland Oil company's No. 1 Slaughter test, near Lehman, will be shot this afternoon, W. T. Soash, general manager of the Lone Star

Land company of this city, received the following telegraphic message at 1:45 o'clock this afternoon from Alvin O'Pry, Lehman postmaster: "Expect to shoot oil well by sunset."

City Commission In Session Today

Session of the Lubbock City Commission this afternoon will center around routine matters, according to indications at 2 o'clock, when nothing of major importance had been docketed for discussion of the officials.

A review of present status of parking projects, plans for storm sewer drainage, and the Avenue H underpass will be made probably by the commissioners.

New Lynn School Building Complete

TAHOKA, Sept. 26 (Special)—New Lynn, twelve miles east of here, has just completed a new $18,000 brick school building, making a total of twenty brick school buildings in Lynn county. This latest brick replaces one of the oldest school buildings in the county. It has five rooms and a large auditorium. Joe Stokes district, northwest of here, has just completed an addition to their brick building at a cost of over $3,000.

Miss Murfee Will Make Addresses

Miss Mae Murfee, Lubbock county superintendent of education, is scheduled to address meetings of two home demonstration clubs of the county this afternoon on the subject of "The Progressive Farm Woman."

She will speak early this afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. W. Price before a meeting of the Union club, and will later address the City Line club at Slaton.

Jones Loses Car Here Last Night

License number of the car is 712-018, and engine number is 3722988.

Crosby Grand Jury Returns 14 Bills

The grand jury of 72nd district court of Crosby county, which convened Monday, was recessed late Wednesday, after returning 14 felony indictments, according to District Judge Homer L. Pharr.

First two weeks of the court are devoted to civil cases, and the latter will be devoted to criminal matters.

ceived at midnight Tuesday night when he and two other agents were ambushed on the Pleasanton road. Stevens was shot in the first volley.

Two Wounded

A second agent, Pat Murphy, sprang from the car which he was driving and single handedly dispersed the attackers. He was believed to have wounded at least two of them.

The story of how the trap was laid for the dry agents was told in a written statement made by Luisa Guajardo, who was at the scene and who acted as a decoy. Her husband, Pedro, also at the shooting, was treated for a bullet wound in the abdomen.

Police, detectives, immigration, prohibition, federal district attorney, county attorney and sheriff's department combined resources in the search for the killers.

Cattlemen To Make Tour Into Mexico

The cattlemen from Odessa, Midland, Big Spring, Amarillo, and Marfa are making the tour in the interest of the Marfa fair of the Texas Hereford Breeders association.

BASEBALL WORLD MOURNS LOSS OF DIMINUTIVE MILLER HUGGINS

IN THE REALM OF SPORTS
WITH ALLAN CARNEY
Journal Sports Editor

The first conference game of the 1929 season is slated for Friday afternoon on the Vernon grounds, as the Lions entertain the Quahogs. Although the Indians are not considered contenders in the race for District One honors, fans throughout the district will watch with interest the performance of the team in their first championship tilt.

Quahogs has been defeated consistently by Class B eleven this season, and may not furnish much of a test for the Lions. However, it is certain that the Vernon will put her best foot forward in its first conference battle. Against Chillicothe the Lions showed little of their 1928 strength, losing 6 to 0, but came back last week to down Frederick, Okla. 8 to 6 with considerably more punch. We pick Vernon to trim Quahogs by several touchdowns, unless the Indians show more than heretofore this season.

Over at Wichita Falls Coach Harry Holton will trot his 1929 team of the Coyote aggregation out on the field to make their season's bow against Lawton Friday afternoon. Wichita scribes have given out little information concerning the prospective strength of the Coyotes other than the fact that the club will be big and husky. The Wichita aggregation comes to Lubbock on Nov. 1 and by that time will have reached the peak of their playing condition. Local high school coaches are expecting one of their hardest games from the Coyote marauders.

Comes a letter from Volney Hill, former Tech fullback who is improving his knowledge of the gridiron game to Chillicothe high school coach. "Satch," recently came from the Vernon and has been leading two Class A eleven of this district. Vernon and then Quahogs, with a handful of undersized footballers and now demands that his club be given credit for their early season performance. Under his coaching the Eagles have accumulated what is considered a fairly successful season—defeating Vernon and Quahogs on successive days.

But it seems that Hill has pointed his charges to these games with a little too much emphasis. A hard schedule with "B" clubs yet remains for Chillicothe to conquer and it remains to be seen whether or not his boys can keep up again as they start the Vernon and Quahogs games. Satch Park, Arthur City, Olney or Burkburnett are liable to slip up on the blind side of the Chillicothe warriors and make the home town folks forget about the victories over Vernon and Quahogs.

The football population of the Cross-timberland is expected to be somewhat excited Friday when Coach Phil Vaughn invades Lubbock with his crew of Indian Chiefs for their battle with the Lubbock Westerners. Vaughn's Eagles have started off this season as if they mean business, bowing over their early season opponents and are certain to be strong contenders, along with Post, Ralls and Slaton for the Class B crown of District Two. Head Coach Henry Franks plans to send the Westerners to the field Friday with instructions to open up the works and hold the ball as long as possible. This means local fans will get their first opportunity to see the Lubbock eleven doing its stuff.

Baseball lost one of its most colorful and powerful figures Wednesday when Miller Huggins, who has directed the New York Yankees to six American League pennants and three world championships in the past years, died at the age of 48. The club is in a losing battle for life. Diminutive in stature but powerful in personality and leadership, the mite manager was one of the most beloved figures in the game. Replacement of Huggins furnishes a problem of major importance for the club owner, Colonel Jacob Ruppert.

AGGIES HOLDING EDGE IN TITLES

DALLAS, Sept. 25. (P)—No matter what eleven was this year's Southwest conference gridiron crown, the Texas Aggies still will outstrip the field in number of championships won since the conference was organized in 1915. Of the 14 titles officially awarded the Aggies have won five. Baylor three, and Texas University two. Southern Methodist University two, Texas Christian and Rice have not won a title since the modern conference was formed.

A full schedule was not played either in 1915 or 1916 and no title was declared. Although Baylor was considered the strongest team in 1916, Chapter members of the reorganized conference in 1914 included Rice, Texas A. & M., Texas University, Arkansas, Baylor, Oklahoma University, Southwestern University and Oklahoma Aggies. The Oklahoma schools and Southwestern since have dropped out and S. M. U. and T. C. U. been added.

GLAZNER LIKELY CHOICE FOR STEERS COME-BACK

YANKEE PILOT PUTS UP GAME FIGHT TO END

FUNERAL SERVICES WILL BE HELD TOMORROW IN NEW YORK

BY WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Sept. 25. (P)—It was a game fight to the end, we should see one this morning reading something like this: "Killed in action—Miller J. Huggins." The mighty midget of the Yankees died when, on the word of Dr. Edward King, his physician, he might be alive if the stamina he devoted to the losing pennant battle of his ball team had been hoarded for the benefit of his own well-being. Taxed more and more by each succeeding baseball campaign, the miniature commander of the Ruppert rifics was drained of strength when he entered St. Vincent's hospital last Friday, and was easy prey for the toxins which ended his life at 3:15 p. m. yesterday.

All baseball will pay tribute to him at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon when his funeral will be held at the Church of the Transfiguration. The limited space will be far over-taxed by the baseball host which will be present.

The body will be placed aboard a train for Cincinnati where Huggins will be buried on Sunday beside his father and his mother. The services in New York will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. J. E. F. Conner, pastor of the Washington Heights Methodist Episcopal church, and those in Cincinnati by a minister from the Walnut Hills Presbyterian church.

Schedule Cancelled
E. S. Barnard, president of the American League, cancelled the schedule of that circuit for tomorrow as soon as he learned of plans for the funeral. The National League probably will pay its respect to the man who won eight straight games from its clubs in the last two world series by observing a minute of prayer before the start of the game tomorrow.

These are at Philadelphia and St. Louis.
After playing in Washington today, the Yankees will entrain for New York and will return to the capital to resume the series on Saturday. The players will attend the funeral in a body.

Caused by Complications
Huggins' death was caused by complications after erysipelas and influenza. Today and Huggins was unable to recognize his sister, Myrtle Huggins, with whom he made his home here and in St. Petersburg, his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Huggins of St. Petersburg, Robert J. Conner, a long-time friend of Huggins, Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, and Edward G. Barrow, business manager.

The baseball wizard was 49 years old. He had been surprisingly successful in Florida real estate, and was reputed to be worth about $250,000.

VAST ARRAY OF FRESHMEN TURN OUT FOR FOOTBALL AT TECH WEDNESDAY; INGERTON HAS PLENTY OF MATERIAL

A distant rumble growing into a distinct roar as the thundering horde approaches and then a tremendous crash as pandemonium breaks loose—in this effect, was the scene at Tech athletic headquarters Wednesday when a veritable army of ambitious gridders from all sections of the southwest swopped down on the Matador gymnasium at the call of Coach Rhodes Ingerton for Freshman football candidates.

From distant points in Texas, Oklahoma, Mexico and even Central America they came, all seeking recognition on the 1929 Tech Fresh eleven and the ultimate glory of a place on the varsity. So great were the numbers that college athletic officials were doubtful as to whether or not the entire squad could be fitted out for the beginning of training today.

Fifty Issued Equipment
Fifty gridders were issued equipment yesterday and when night came, a long line of likely-looking youngsters still remained to be fitted out. Coach Ingerton said last night that approximately 25 more uniforms would be issued today.

Coach Ingerton was all smiles last night as a long line of likely-looking gridders were turned away with instructions to report again today for equipment. Although the majority of the Fresh are inexperienced, the appearance of the crew gives indications of a strong grid machine.

Two full-blooded Spaniards were among those who were issued uniforms yesterday. Melendez, a guard, tips the scales at 180 and Navarro, a quarterback, weighs 170. Both played football at the San Antonio Wesleyan College, a prep school. Melendez hails from Mexico City and Navarro from Guatemala City (Central America).

A host of husky gridders from east, south and west Texas made their debut today. Melendez and Navarro are expected out tomorrow. Among the most promising candidates who have reported are: Dennis, 185 pound guard from Memphis; James, 200 pound guard from Paris; McWilliams, 190 pound tackle from San Benito; Gannon, 190 pound from Maude, Okla.; Wallace, 175 pound end from San Benito; Bartholomew, 185 pound end from John Tarleton college; Atchey, 185 pound tackle from Hubbard; Crabtree, 175 pound halfback from Paris; McWilliams, 190 pound tackle from San Benito; THE LIFE STORY OF DR. ECKENER

WRITTEN BY HUGH ALLEN FOR NEA SERVICE
Copyright 1929, By NEA Service, Inc.

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters

Dr. Hugo Eckener and Count Ferdinand Zeppelin first met as a result of criticism by Eckener of Zeppelin's theories regarding the practicability of Motor-propelled rigid balloons. Zeppelin invited Dr. Eckener to play chess with him, and between games they discussed dirigibles. Eckener, a student and writer, became more and more interested in Zeppelin's work, and when the latter lost most of his fortune and it appeared that experimentation might have to cease, owing to lack of funds, Dr. Eckener volunteered to endeavor to interest the public in his project through articles he would write for the Frankfurter Zeitung.

CHAPTER V

Dr. Eckener was the world's first "backseat driver" in an airship. In the summer of 1928, following his meeting with Count Zeppelin, he made his first flight in what he had formerly regarded as a cavalry officer's crazy machine. This initial flight left Dr. Eckener convinced that the airship had possibilities. Once convinced, he wanted to help with all his might, in every way he could. If writing articles were the means in which he could be of assistance he would do that. He wrote with the vigor and conviction of a crusader. He wrote articles after articles. The main gist of his articles was to interest the public in a forgotten corner of the world. He was constantly about the Zeppelin plant, and went on more and more trial flights. Then he started "back-seat driving."

Young Ludwig Duerr, a ship man, and a builder, was then piloting the Zeppelin ship which crept hesitatingly through the sky over Lake Constance from time to time. He was a practical dirigible man. To him Dr. Eckener was merely a professor and writer. But from his place back of the controls, where he sat with Count Zeppelin, the doctor was forever making suggestions. Perhaps he saw himself a day again on the waters of the north. It was there that he learned the story of the ends of the earth, the things they carry to those who listen, and of the word of distance that they bring to those who can understand. And as the practical balloon man stepped his craft, he would hear the voice of Dr. Eckener:

"Fly to the right of that cloud," he glumpled a squally spot, "beware of that. It will be equally smooth."

Finally young Duerr became a bit irritated one day over the criticisms and suggestions of his recently acquired passenger. He protested to Count Zeppelin, adding that he was not this writing fellow knows so much about it, let him take the ship next time. That will stop his tongue.

"Herrlich," said Eckener when the word came back to him. "Splendid. He would like nothing better."

The new skipper established his reputation on his first flight. When he had made suggestions he knew what he was talking about. None thereafter questioned his right or his ability to command. The good people of Fiesburg would not have been surprised. For they knew Hugo Eckener as a sailor to whom the winds whispered of their ways.

But Eckener was not one to be satisfied with merely writing about ships and plotting trial flights. A more practical way of helping presented itself shortly.

The first hangar was built on pontoons on Lake Constance, on the theory that no matter in what direction the wind blew, the hangar so that a ship could enter or leave at any time.

What wasn't fully taken into account was the fact that winds are capricious, changing direction and velocity without warning and that a landing crew in boats did not have the leverage in holding the ship that one would have on solid ground.

The floating hangar idea was presently to be given up as its difficulties were better understood.

That the ships were taken in and out of the hangar successfully despite decidedly adverse conditions at times was largely due to Eckener. For he knew all about boats. The practical suggestions that he offered from time to time, his own skill and resourcefulness in directing the tugboats which serviced the ship brought him his first practical task. He was put in charge of this phase of operations.

The scholar was coming out of his study, back into the world of action.

Further expansion of his duties came with establishment of his ability as a pilot. There were no pilots, strictly speaking, in the early days. Different people directed various flights—engineers, sea captains.

One of the first engineers employed by Zeppelin had flatly refused to take command of one of the early ships. He had done his part when he built the ship, he said. Zeppelin dismissed him on the spot.

You are certain that your designs are correct, that your calculations are right, that the ship will fly; and yet you are unwilling to trust yourself to it," he summed up the situation sternly. "How can you ever convince anyone else if you yourself are in doubt?"

Ludwig Duerr, who succeeded a little later, had no such hesitation. He had no special liking for command of a ship. But if no one better offered himself, he would fly it. Several men were tried out as ship captains, balloon fliers, men of varied training and experience, and then came Eckener.

If there were any doubt in Count Zeppelin's mind as to the usefulness of his new associate, they were dissolved after he had justified his back seat driving. For a new art had to be created, a new technique in navigation; and this blue eyed blond giant out of the north with his sailor's heritage and sailor's instinct was the man ideally fitted for the task.

It was a critical time for Count Zeppelin's project. Under favorable conditions the ships had shown good lift, controllability, and speed, but there would be plenty of bad weather sailing to be done. And the loss of a ship in a storm might finally destroy a renewed public confidence in airships. The hour had come when the project must go forward. The ship had been built. They waited to be flown.

The significance of the meeting in the garden was revealing itself. The scholar had left his study forever. The book would never be written. The hour called for a man, and the one man that Zeppelin might have searched the continent of Europe for was at hand, his tremendous energy, courage and imagination fully unleashed. The ship had found its skipper.

Tomorrow: Organizing the commercial operating branch of the Zeppelin company with Dr. Eckener at its head.

TRADES IN ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 26 (P)—

The cotton market had a steady opening and cables were better than

due. First trades here showed gains of 5 to 7 points, and prices advanced slightly owing to the hurricane. Octobers traded at 18.40, December at 18.64 and January at 18.74. The market eased off about 6 points on hedging and realizing but near the end of the first half hour prices faltered again almost to the high.

The market held comparatively quiet all morning. The tropical storm seemed to act as a support and prices eased off under pressure of hedge selling. October traded down to 18.30, or 10 points

under the early high. December dropped to 18.51 and January to 18.61, or 13 points under the high.

At the middle of the session the market was very quiet and at the close.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (P)—The raising of the Bank of England discount rate from 5-1/2 to 6-1/2 per counted by the stock market, which opened irregularly higher. Houston

Oil and Underwood Elliott Fisher initial gains of a point or two were registered by Union Carbide, Mexico Petroleum, International

Business Machines and Republic

Steel. New York Central fell back

1-1/4 and Montgomery Ward 1.

Wide fluctuations again took place in some high priced specialties. Col-

There were a few soft spots. Safe-and Radio, Atchison and North American yielded a point or so.

Foreign exchanges opened firm which cables moving up nearly half

MARKET TO SLUMP;
RISES LATER

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (P)—Cotton opened steady at an advance of

2 to 3 points on the weather news and relatively steady cables. Trade buying and further covering was reported but the advance was checked off to 18.55 right after the call, or 9 points net lower, and weakness of this position had an unsettling effect on later months. December sold off to 18.73 and March to 19.04.

or within 8 points of yesterday's close, but trade interests bought

October and the general market was steady at the end of the first half hour with prices showing net gain of 1 to 7 points.

The market became less active after early demand had been supplied with prices sagging off under

Southern selling and liquidation.

HEY! HEY! BOYS ARE TAKING HOME ECONOMICS WORK IN ODESSA SCHOOL

(Special to The Journal)

ODESSA, Sept. 26—Learning the art of happy and healthy bachelorhood or of being a helpful hubby is the latest thing for the boys at the Odessa high school. In the boys' class in Home Economics, one of the few now being taught in the United States, the huskies who boot the ball and bust the line on the gridiron are learning under the direction of Miss Sibyl Thomas, how to prepare and serve balanced as well as tasty meals, what to eat to make one's cheeks rosy and one's hair curly, and even how to design and sew, when such a thing becomes necessary.

Etiquette Is Taught

One of the most popular phases of the course is that of dealing with etiquette and after a careful study of Miss Post's famous work these huskies will have no fears for the "what should he do now" situations.

With an enrollment of fourteen most of whom are football players, the class is proving very enthusiastic over this new course, according to the instructor. The work here is an experiment which is being watched carefully by the State department and it will be on the basis of the results of three such courses offered over the State that the department will determine this stress to be put on such work in the future.

Left To Initiate Here the boys are being taught only such things in the field of Home Economics as they care to learn and the course of study is left to the initiative of the class. Thus it is hoped, a course can be worked out that will be suitable for presentation to similar classes of boys in other schools.

It is found that most of the boys are interested in cooking, in dishes, in proper service, in etiquette, in color combinations in clothes. The only decidedly unpopular phase of the course so far has been the practice work in dishwashing.

Start On Breakfast The boys will learn to prepare and serve correctly regular meals, having started already on breakfasts and with the girls' class in foods, will alternate preparing and serving meals to the visitors.

Miss Thomas, the instructor of this unusual class, studied this particular phase of Home Economics in Iowa State College this summer under some of the pioneers in the new field and she is collecting data here for her Master's thesis, which will be based on some phase of this work. Although still in the experimental stage this type of work for boys is taking hold in the colleges in the East, and is spreading to the high schools. It is believed that in a few years it will not be an uncommon course in the high schools of the State.

VERMILION, S. D., Sept. 26 (AP)—Jim Tomlinson has not spoken a word for 56 years. He is one of the few mutes who cannot use the sign alphabet. Neither can he hear, read or write.

But Jim is a fisherman of repute and he has his own way of telling about the fish "that got away."

Using his own system of picturesque gestures, Jim's friends declare that he can tell the biggest fish story of any man on the Missouri river.
