Details Given For '67 Cotton Program

The 1967 Cotton Program will be similar to the 1966 cotton program under which 3 million dollars in direct payments were made to Hall County producers.

This new cotton program has proved to be effective in reducing the over supply of cotton. The 1966 crop is estimated to be 4.6 million bales less than the 1965 crops.

The government's investment in commodities has been reduced $1.8 billion dollars since September 30, 1965, with a considerable savings to the taxpayer, Lynn L. McKown, Hall County Manager, Hall County ASCS announced today.

The 1967 cotton program will be a voluntary program with the farmer having the choice of diverting any acreage they wish between 12.5 percent and 35 percent of their allotment. The price-support payment will be made on 65 percent of the allotment as in 1966.

The direct payments on the average Hall County farm will increase $500.00 for 1967, but the support loans on cotton produced will be reduced $4.25 per bale to an average of 20.25 cents per lb., McKown said.

The price-support payment rate on 65 percent of the co-operator's cotton allotment will be 11.53 cents per lb. for 1967, an increase of 2.11 cents per lb. over the 1966 rate of 9.42 cents per lb., he said.

The diversion payment rate will be 10.78 cents per pound, (Continued on Page 12)

Boy Scouts Fund Raising Drive Begins

The Comanche District of Boy Scouts of America began the annual fund raising drive here this week under the guidance of the District Finance Chairman Wayne L. Goodrum.

Chairman Goodrum explained that the drive will primarily be conducted by mail this year, however, some individual contacts will be necessary.

"We are asking that those who receive letters in the mail this week will honor them by mailing their contribution. The Boy Scout program will continue to be an outstanding influence on our young men if ample contributions are received," Goodrum said.

Cyclone Cagers Win Shamrock Tourney

The Memphis Cyclone basketball team under Coach Travis Gilliland proved they can hustle on a basketball court in the Shamrock Invitational as the local cagers caught fire in the opening game against Shamrock and swept through for the first tournament championship a Memphis cager team has captured in several years.

The real climax of the tournament came in the opening game when the Cyclone faced the Shamrock Irishmen, probably the tournament favorite considering the Cyclone had not gotten into the winning column in three earlier outings.

The local boys, according to the statistics, hit better than 50 per cent of their shots as they downed the Irishmen 73 to 59. Tony pounds was high scorer in the game for Memphis with 18 points.

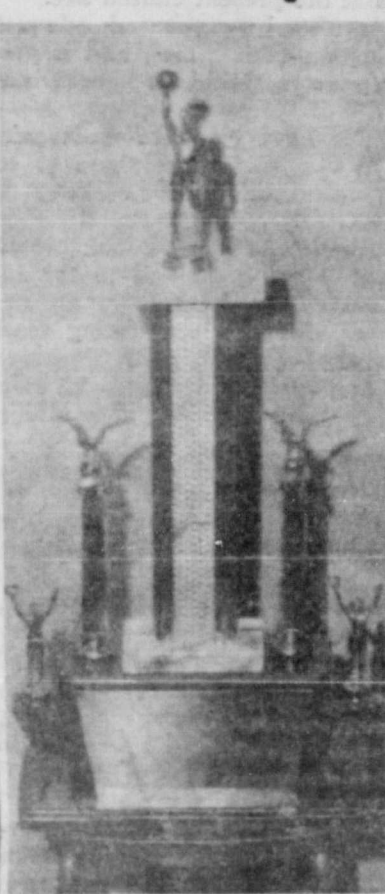

Coach Gilliland said, "We won the game by outshooting and out hustling Shamrock." He cited the hot shooting of Willie Devorce who came in off the bench and hit seven goals out of eight shots which gave the local lads a big edge in the game.

The Cyclone experienced a 16-9 edge the first quarter and a 43 to 31 edge at halftime.

In the second game, the Cyclone took on Kelton and walked away with a 59 to 26, one-sided victory to win the right to play in the finals. Kenneth Cornish led the local lads in scoring with 15 points.

In the finals, the Cyclone took on a former district rival, the McLean Tigers, and won the contest 63 to 45 in an impressive show of strength. The Cyclone took a commanding 17 to 7 first quarter lead and increased it to a 20-point lead at the end of the third quarter. Bobby Carroll was high point man with 18 points.

Coach Gilliland cited Bobby Carroll as the boy who played the most consistent during the tournament for the Cyclone. He did a good job in all the games,"

Although cold temperatures, fog and high winds was the weather picture the past week, mixed with one or two good harvesting days, Hall County farmers were able to get out about 5,000 bales to bring the season ginning total to 30,303 bales as of this morning.

During a telephone survey of the 13 county gins, ginners were asked approximately how many bales remained to be harvested in the fields in their areas. A total of these estimates was about 5,000 bales.

If this figure is accurate, the county will harvest about 35,000 to 36,000 bales of 1966 cotton, which is about 10,000 bales short of what was earlier expected. The Nov. 2 freeze date, the earliest in several years, cut the yield in all areas and especially in fields which were planted late.

Most of the cotton remaining in the fields seems to be in the Memphis and Pliska areas; however, ginners in the other areas of the county indicated there was still harvesting to be done.

On Dec. 9, 1965, the county had harvested 24,741 bales, which indicates that the harvest is about one week earlier than last year.

K. E. Voelkel, officer in charge of the USDA Cotton Classing office in Memphis, reported this morning that the office has classed 70,000 samples, which represents about 70 per cent of estimated receipts for the season. "We carried over about 5,000 samples last night," Voelkel said.

As a comparison, Voelkel said that on Dec. 7, 1965, the office had classed about 53,000 samples which was 27 per cent of the season's final figure.

The receipts the past two days have been cut in half. Voelkel said that "we feel this is due to foggy and windy weather which made harvesting difficult."

The Memphis Classing Office serves a 12-county area in Texas.

County's Cager Teams To Play In Tournaments

All eight Hall County cager teams will be in tournament action this weekend, as Memphis and Lakeview teams are competing in the Samnorwood tournament and the Estelline and Turkey teams are competing in the Silverton tournament.

The Estelline girls team probably has the best chance of winning a tournament championship, since they won the Matador tournament last weekend and have an undefeated season going.

However, the Bearetties will be in tougher competition at Silverton that they were at Matador. Towns represented at Silverton include: the host team, Hedley, Kress, Turkey, Spur, Estelline, Matador, Quitaque and Lockney.

Estelline girls play at 1:40 p. m. today against Matador, and the boys play at 3 p. m. against Matador boys.

Turkey girls played at 11 a. m. this morning against Kress and the boys will play at 6:20 p. m. this afternoon against Hedley.

Samnorwood Meet

Some of the top teams in the Eastern Panhandle will compete in the Samnorwood tournament this weekend with the Wellington girls seated in the No. 1 position. Shamrock boys and girls are seated in the No. 2 spot in the brackets.

The Memphis boys, who defeated Shamrock last weekend and went on to win the Irishmen's tournament, are seated in the No. 3 position and will open tournament action against the Lakeview

Eagles at 2 p. m. this afternoon.

The Memphis girls will take on the Wheeler girls at 3:30 p. m. this afternoon, according to the schedule.

The Lakeview girls will play the Shamrock team at 7 p. m.

Teams entered in the Samnorwood tournament include: Shamrock, Wellington, Memphis, Lakeview, Samnorwood, Quail, Wheel-

CAP Signup Is Now Under Way

The number of producers requesting agreements to divert land under the long range diversion program today exceed last year's requests almost 100 percent. Only 29 requests were approved in of Wednesday noon, Dec. 6, requests had been filed for agreements Lynn L. McKown, Hall County Manager, Hall County ASCS, announced today.

Requests for agreements to divert the funds available by 400 and the State ASCS of has instructed all counties to request on a first-come, first-served basis.

It is regrettable that the Hall County committee has requests for over $145,000 in CAP agreements and a county allocation of only $37,000. We are sure additional funds will be made available and we hope it will be sufficient to approve all requests.

All requests for CAP agreements for which funds are now available will be processed and producers will be notified to call by the county office and sign their agreements within a specified date.

Land to be designated under a CAP agreement may be grazed until the agreement is approved but the approval of the agreement can not be delayed for the purpose of permitting grazing, McKown said.

SANTA'S VISIT—When Santa Claus paid his official visit to Memphis Saturday, he found the weather cold and windy, but he was dressed for the occasion, as were the hundreds of children and their parents, who were on hand. Santa stopped on the courthouse steps and gave a big hello to those waiting for him on the south side of the courthouse. Santa rode into town on the Caprock Trail Riders chuck wagon accompanied by a dozen horsemen. The unpleasantly cold weather reduced the size of the crowd from past years but Santa spent almost all of his two hours of allotted time talking to the children. Many conversations were carried over the loud speaker system which was set up. Candy sugar canes were passed out by Santa's helpers inside the courthouse. Above, Chamber Retailer Committee Chairman J. M. Ferrel, Jr., is shown assisting. He was just one of many helping out with the annual visit.

New Church Homes Being Planned

With the announcement last week by the First Baptist Church of plans to build and remodel a new church home, this brings the total to three major church building projects being undertaken in Memphis.

This is a strong indication that church leaders in our community are confident in the future of Memphis and Hall County and are vitally interested in providing the best facilities for our citizens.

The First Methodist Church is in the process of raising funds to construct new facilities at the present church site.

The Church of Christ has already purchased adequate land for the new church building on 18th Street, and is presently in the process of raising funds to build an entirely new church home.

Public and business facilities have and are undergoing constant changes in our area as our citizens continue to express through their actions an optimistic out-look about the future.

We need, at times, to stop and take a close look around us if we are to understand what is going on and to try and understand why new facilities are being planned.

At the close of the 1950's, Memphis was facing many problems, but the major ones had to do with poor, run down public buildings and an old looking business district, with some exceptions of modernistic stores scattered about. Then, things started to happen.

The new Hall County Hospital was built, followed by the Municipal Building housing the Community Center, the Fire Department, Police Department and city offices. New homes, nursing home and medical clinic began to be built, several stores in Memphis began to remodel. The First State Bank purchased the site of the old city hall building and constructed modern banking facilities.

Then came the school's building and remodeling which should be ready for occupancy next year. The City of Memphis constructed a new sewage treatment plant.

Now being constructed is the new banking home for the First National Bank, which will modernize one-half of the north side of the square.

Now, three of Memphis' churches are making plans to either build or remodel facilities, which is fitting considering the present trend in Memphis. The Travis Baptist has already modernized their church home, as have other church groups.

This is not all of the work and improvements seen in Memphis and this area in the past decade, but it does serve to refresh our memories of what has been accomplished.

Naturally, we are not going to overlook the establishment and growth of our industries such as Postex Cotton Hills, the Memphis Compress Co., General Telephone Co., of the Southwest, and many more for they have been one of the chief factors in bringing the progressive spirit to our area.

We are fortunate to have the spirit of cooperation between the many organizations, governmental agencies and bodies and citizens throughout our area, for nothing can be accomplished without working together for common goals.

There are still many projects to be undertaken, much work to be done, facilities to be improved. The momentum of past projects must be carried forward into new ones if we are to grow and prosper in future years.

We recall a story about a group of men who banded together and took upon themselves to accomplish a project. Money was borrowed to make the project a reality, and the group labored long and hard to pay off the debt with 100 per cent attendance at the meetings and 100 per cent participation in the fund raising projects undertaken. But when the debt was finally paid, someone in the group made a motion that the organization be disbanded, and the motion was seconded. During the discussion, a few of the more progressive thinkers in the organization told of the many, many more projects needing their attention, how much the organization was needed to handle similar projects, but when the vote was taken, the motion carried to disband. Now, 20 years have passed, the beautiful youth center the men labored so hard to build stands vacant, except for the Tuesday night domino and canasta games held by the parents, for the children have left; they live in other places.

We have much to do, many problems to solve, if we are to make for our community a place in the future.

Thoughts For Thursday

Of all human virtues, none is more admirable than the simple attribute of unselfishness. A person may not be blessed with beauty. She may not have inherited an attractive physique or face. He may have been born with buck teeth and no chin. They may have low IQs, obnoxious voices, repelling personalities. There are many defects over which one has little if any control, can do nothing about... but all can acquire the virtue of unselfishness. Anyone can resolve to share with others, to give the other person the benefit of the doubt, to think more of others and less of self, in honor preferring one another.

Persons often worry about things over which they have no control. They blame their physical defects for having few friends. Yet in this cold and unfriendly world the simple virtue of unselfishness is seldom overlooked for long.

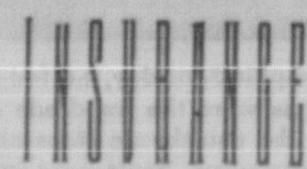

If unselfishness is a virtue, it also follows that selfishness is a vice. No personality is more repelling than the person who thinks only of self. Not much more attractive is he who extends his little circle so as to include only his little family. He would shower his own chicks with gifts from Santa Claus... but he has nothing more tangible than sympathy for the child across the street who will not be visited by Santa Claus this year.

Selfishness is a trait sometimes overlooked in an individual. A man will provide the various material needs of his wife or children. He would never be accused of not bringing home groceries, providing clothing and shelter... yet he may still be extremely selfish. He may bury his face in a book at night when his wife would like to visit or his children would like to play. He'd see his wife in perdition before he would accompany her some place she would like to go. He would be highly insulted, would feel very abused if his wife refused to go with him to see his folks, to attend a ball game, or to go some other place dear to his heart... but if she wants him to accompany her to church or some other place where she'd like to go, nothing doing! His sin is selfishness!

Few virtues are more attractive than the willingness to sacrifice one's own desire for the sake of another. The wife likes seafood, her husband likes steak... so when they go out to eat, she insists that they go to a steak house, not in a spirit of self sacrifice but because she would "prefer steak tonight." Of the husband gives up a fishing trip so his wife can buy the new coat she wants and needs, never revealing his mind, explaining only that he "isn't in the mood to fish."

Running Out Of Food

The wheat farmer's problem for a long time has been that he has produced more wheat than people could eat. For many years the surplus was piled in CCC storage and the cost of this storage plus the administrative costs of the huge government farm program has led to many charges of waste and inefficiency in what some magazines call "the farm scandal."

But it looks like the farmer is going to get a "new image." Instead of being pictured as a greedy agrarian with his hand out greedily grasping for a government check, the farmer is more likely to be seen as a hard worker who is producing something for city people to eat.

There is a mounting concern about declining world food supplies at a time of rapid population growth. Since 1961, world grain stocks have gone down steadily. Consumption has exceeded production by 1.4 per cent for six years and the gap is widening.

Our normal domestic wheat use requires 550 million bushels a year to provide the flour for bread, cereals and other uses. But we have on hand only 169 million bushels, although Commodity Credit Corporation stocks are listed at 330 million, which includes a lot of wheat not fit to eat.

Our generous government has promised to ship India about one-fourth of our U. S. production, which if done will wipe out what storage is on hand.

In view of the low amount of wheat on hand, and the promise to India for future production, government experts have allowed a 32 per cent boost in domestic wheat acreage.

This may cure the shortage. Then again it may not. It takes a lot more than a government edict to grow wheat. Right now in this area, as well as in the great wheat producing areas of Kansas, not all farmers got in on the full 32 per cent boost.

And all that was planted will not necessarily produce a bumper crop.

There is the weather to contend with. While our wheat crop got off to a fine start, it is drying out and needs a good soaking rain to keep it going.

If the weather cooperates like we hope it will, then this great wheat producing area will help pull Uncle Sam out of the hole. If it doesn't then the wheat shortage will get worse, much worse.

When the people of this country get short of food, it will be a shattering experience. It may take more than a whole army of bureaucrats to pull us out. We appear to be entering a new era of farm problems. — Ochiltree County Herald.

Something for Memphis merchants to be thinking about as they shape their course for 1967 is the fact that cities like Amarillo, Wichita Falls and others are staying open six days a week and are advertising that they are open until late hours for the convenience of their customers. A report Amarillo was given on newscast by Bob Izzard on Monday night about two weeks ago. The aim is to make it convenient for customers to shop when they get off from work—to draw more and more people to their stores from towns and cities of the Panhandle.

The problems are different faced by the retail merchant compared to that of industry. One is interested in sales, the other in production. The latter can gear his operation to the five-day week; the merchant must cater to the whims of his customers.

This weight problem is one which has been with us for a long time. Again it was called to our attention last week in the column written by Burl McClellan, editor of The Hansford Newsman up at Spearman. Burl, former editor of the Democrat, is this to say about his problem: "It is sad to lose an old friend. When one has been close to you for many years, there is a little you can say to express how you feel when you learn he is going. Medical science has made many advances and when I tell you there is nothing I can do, you just accept the fact. We are going to really use the old spare tire around the middle, but when you only get a few calories per day, it will go."

mark in shaping thousands of young minds as he guided the Memphis schools for a long time. He and Mrs. Davis decided to move after their retirement, and both will be missed—and long remembered—by the many who have known them during the years.

The smell of burning burs and the cloud of dust and waste lint will be no more in Memphis after another couple of weeks according to prediction. Local ginners estimate the Hall County cotton crop will be finished by the time Santa Claus gladdens the hearts of the youngsters. According to Kermit Voelkel, officer in charge of the local Cotton Classing Office here, samples are becoming

So it goes for the cotton farmers. Production is below expectation, and grade and staple disappointing. But 1967 is another year and plans will be taking shape soon after the holidays to grow the crop which is still upmost in this county's economy.

"ADVERTISING—A notice in public print." That is the definition given by Webster. A newspaper sells advertising space which is its stock in trade. When this space is given away it is like a merchant giving from his shelves. An advertisement, as charged for in The Democrat, is a notice of something that is to be sold or exchanged for money or profit. Any program that is to be rendered for the purpose of raising money, if printed or announced in the paper, is an advertisement and should be paid for. All of which leads to the fact that every newspaper is asked to run something as a news item when it is strictly for the purpose of getting patronage to raise money, and if asked to pay causes those concerned to think we are trying to hold them up. There is a difference in news and advertising. News is the chronicling of events happening or to happen; advertising is giving notice of a way to make money—is about the best way we can define the difference. The above was written by J. Claude Wells and published in the Dec. 9, 1926, issue of The Democrat. The passing of 40 years has made little difference when the issue is faced.

Deer antlers make fine and useful decorations for any sportsman's den. To make antlers even more attractive, clean them with turpentine, then sandpaper, rub with pumice powder, and apply beeswax, or a good commercial auto wax.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"It's called 'Artist's Mother' . . . After she saw it, I wonder what she called him."

Around and About

By HELEN COMBS

We are in the midst of the busiest season of the year . . . those days preceding Christmas. And for a cotton county the days are particularly busy. Seems the seasons get later each year. . . We remember when we were growing up on the farm that we always had our cotton harvested before Christmas! But it's not so any more.

Old Santa Claus paid his official visit to Memphis Saturday. Despite the cool weather many Hall County children met him there . . . and expressed their wishes for Christmas. We are looking forward to publishing their letters in our Christmas edition December 22.

In our mail recently was a letter from Grace Aronofsky, who sent greetings and best wishes to friends here. She was renewing her subscription and stated that she liked to keep up with friends here as she still considered Memphis home.

Another former Memphian, Wilma Davis, writes: "December

12th is Joanna's birthday and she has expressed her greatest wish for The Memphis Democrat for one year. Will kinda brief you on the conversation:

Joanna: Mother, do you know what I had rather have than anything for my birthday?

Mother: No. What?

Joanna: The Memphis Democrat.

Don: Good grief, Joanna, what do you want with the Memphis Democrat? I go to Memphis once a week and bring back all the news.

Joanna: Well, it's the sentimental things like when Jewel Stanford died. We weren't taking the paper and I would love to have the account of her death to keep.

The conversation ended with that. Enclosed is check for one year subscription and if you have the extra copy of the paper with the account of Jewel's death, would you please send it to Joanna?"

Thank you for your letter Wilma and we will certainly see that Joanna receive the paper for a year and also the extra copy that she would like to have. We send the paper to many cities and towns in Texas, as well as other states, to former Memphis residents and we are proud to know that they still consider Memphis HOME and like to keep up with their friends here.

Today's Chuckle:

A tourist in Kentucky called to an old resident, "Hey, Uncle, how far it is to Lexington?" Said he: "I dunno, mister. It used to be about 25 miles, but

YOUR COUNTY AGENT SAYS

Fertilization And Management

Fertilization and management are the keys to a successful pasture program, says County Agent W. B. Hooser. And different treatment is recommended for different pasture crops, he adds.

For example, early planted small grains may be about ready for a top dressing of fertilizer. With the soil moisture situation now on the short side, it might be a good idea to withhold grazing in order for the plants to establish a good root system and some top growth. The county agent said it is well to remember that small grains make little or no growth when the temperature is 40 degrees or lower. But, he adds, forage growth made in warm weather can be grazed during the winter when growth is limited.

Constant grazing during the winter, or letting plants grow too tall and fall over can both result in freeze damage, Hooser adds.

He suggests that special attention be given to sod seeded areas. Often they are seriously damaged by trampling and too heavy grazing before the plants become established.

All frosted grass pastures, such as bermudagrass, should be protected against fire by plowing a fire lane around the pastures. Fire not only destroys the dry grass, a very valuable livestock forage, but also kills a cool season plant growing in the dry grass.

Good Beef Herd Bull Increases Weaning Weight of Calves

A beef herd bull that increases the weaning weight of your calves by 15 pounds may be worth much more in increased income than you realize.

Over a 7-year period, with calves selling at 24 cents per pound, he could up income by $445. With calves selling at 21 cents, a selected sire could add $389 to the beef income, says County Agent W. B. Hooser.

Let's assume that 20 offspring from the selected sire are sold each year and that five daughters are kept for replacements each of the three years the bull is used. Each of the 15 daughters should produce five offspring before they are in turn replaced.

The average weaning weight of the daughter's offspring, beginning when they are three years of age and producing for five the way things have gone up around here lately, it wouldn't surprise me if it ain't about 40 by now."—Tom Burr.

more years, should average about 12½ pounds. Add this to the increased weight of the calves sold and you come up with the $389 or $445 increase for the 7-year period, explains the county agent.

Hooser said this information is contained in a very recent Texas Agricultural Extension Service publication, L-681, "Pay more for a Good Beef Herd Bull." The leaflet was written by Tom Prater, farm management specialist, and L. A. Maddox, animal husbandman.

Copies of the publication are available, Hooser said, at his office.

Farmer's Gas Tax Credit

County Agricultural Agent W. B. Hooser received information December 1, 1966, concerning the Farmers Gas Tax Credit. Attention was called to the following changes:

1. Prior to July 1, 1965, the annual federal gasoline tax refund of four cents per gallon on gasoline used on farms for farming purposes covered a period from July 1 to June 30, and the claim had to be filed by September 30 of each year.

Now, the farmers will not file a separate claim. Instead, he will take the tax as a credit against their income tax on the annual income tax return. The new period will be the same as the income tax year; and, this year only, will also include tax on gasoline used after June 30, 1965, to the beginning of the current tax year.

2. Federal excise tax of six cents per gallon on lubricating oils for non-highway use will now be included. See page 12 of Publication No. 308 for details.

3. Federal tax on diesel and special motor fuels will now be included. See page 15 of Publication No. 308 for details.

A supply of the publication No. 308—"Farmers Gas Tax Credit", has been ordered by the County Agent from the District Director of Internal Revenue Service as a service to Hall County farmers and they may be picked up at the County Agent's office on the first floor of the county courthouse.

Mary Martha Class Meets Thursday For Xmas Party

The home of Mrs. Mona Robertson was the scene of the Christmas Party of the Mary Martha Class of the First Baptist Church which met Dec. 1. Mrs. Robertson's home was beautifully decorated for the festive season. A lovely white tree was decorated with lights and ornaments.

President Edna Merrell welcomed the guests and members. The opening prayer was led by Mrs. Burnett.

During a short business session, minutes of the previous meeting were read and the group leader gave their reports.

An inspiring devotional, "The Light of Christ, The Greatest Gift of All," was presented by V. S. Reynolds.

The teacher, Mrs. Byron Baldwin, then gave some thoughts on the importance of gifts and their meanings. She dedicated the Lot-Moon offering from the class to Foreign Missions.

Mrs. Lida led the dedication prayer. During the social hour, Mrs. L. Rasco performed two numbers, "The Christmas Prelude" and "Christmas Fantasy".

She read an interesting story, "The Angel That Spoke," and a play, "The Rebirth of Christ."

The co-hostesses presided during the exchange of gifts from the tree.

Those present were Laura Peary, Anna Mauck, Gladys Davy, Ruby Howard, Carrie Dennis, Pyeatt, Ann Lee Hartman, Mrs. Merrell, Lida Ellis, Lucille, Ruby Thornton, Dorothy, Ruby, Roberta Burnett, Ruth, Ethel Kilpatrick, Mrs. Pritchett, the teacher, Mrs. Baldwin, and two guests, V. Following the dinner, the president, Mrs. W. F. McElreath, led group in prayer and then introduced Rev. Hamblin, who gave a most interesting message on "God is With Us," using the first chapter of Matthew.

Instead of exchanging gifts, each one gave a donation to the fund for the building fund. They contributed to the fund in honor of their teacher, Miss Neville, and the assistant teacher, Mrs. W. V. Coursey, in grateful recognition for their service and devotion to the class.

Those present were Mes. Net Beach, Ruby Compton, W. V. Coursey, L. G. Cox, Bess Crump, Mrs. Cummings, G. M. Duren, Mrs. Lou Erwin, A. Gerlach, A. Hiden, O. M. Duck Hunters Delight

Duck hunters can take a tip from scuba divers and wear neoprene boots and britches under their regular hunting clothes to keep warm and dry.

Treat Crappie With Care

Crappie fishing can be great fun. But, you will catch more of the tasty critters by following this advice: Don't jerk your line too hard when a crappie strikes. If you do you may tear its soft lips and lose your fish.

Furthermore, once the fish is on, handle your line gently, but firmly.

Caprock Trail Riders Escort Santa Claus On Annual Visit To Memphis Sat.

By VIRGINIA BROWDER
This year of 1966 Santa Claus came to town western style, riding in The Caprock Trail Riders' covered wagon driven by John McCauley. Thirteen riders accompanied this bewhiskered jolly gentleman when he arrived in Memphis last Saturday afternoon.

At their regular monthly meeting Thursday, Dec. 1, new officers of the coming year were elected by the members of this "horsey set" which has been a going organization for a year now and shows promise of continuing with gusto.

Those elected to executive offices for the coming year were as follows: Haskell Howell, president; Paul Smith, first vice-president; Phaeton Alexander, second vice-president; Shirley Johnson, secretary; Thursa Mae Smith, treasurer; Red Ward, parade marshal; Grady Worthington, assistant parade marshal; and Virginia Browder, publicity chairman. Grady Worthington will also be director of the junior riders. Beatrice McCauley and Juannella Maurey will be social directors.

The board of directors: Phaeton Alexander, Pete Shankle, Blackie Johnson, Doc Fowler, and John McCauley were re-elected.

During the first year of The Trail Riders' organization, they have enjoyed several "cook-outs", participated in four out-of-town parades, the Hall County Reunion Parade last September and numerous play-day gatherings at the barn (in a down-pour of rains). The club now boasts some 75 paid members and much enthusiasm for equestrian activities. Congratulations are due the members of this lively organization for the fine spirit in which they have represented Hall County.

The next regular meeting will be at the Riding Barn the first Thursday in January.

Estelline and Quail basketball teams met in Estelline gymnasium Tuesday night. When the final whistle sounded, the Estelline girls and the Quail boys had each won games.

In the first game, beginning at 7 p. m., the Bearettes from Estelline took the court against the Quailettes. It became quite apparent in the first quarter that Estelline would win the game as the first quarter ended with the Bearettes holding a 26 to 2 edge on the scoreboard.

The final score was 94 to 27. Anne Rapp had 39 points for Estelline while Quail's Rita Cummings had 11.

In the boys game, Quail was the favored team but the Bears put up a good battle the first half. The Bears enjoyed a 17 to 14 first quarter lead, only to drop back 27 to 24 at half time. Quail won the contest 50 to 40. Quail's Earl Lynn Meemaster had 22 points to lead in scoring while Estelline's Jimmie Adcock scored 21 points.

Boys Ranch Seeks Suits For Each Boy

A new suit for every boy at Christmas!

That's the goal of the annual Christmas Suit project for the 346 boys now making their home at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch that is now under way. For $25, the Ranch is able to outfit a boy with a new suit or a combination of clothing depending upon each boy's individual needs.

"A new suit is the most useful gift a boy can receive, and one he appreciates so much," Ranch founder Cal Farley said. "Our boys wear the same ones every Sunday at services in our non-sectarian chapel, on their Saturday town trips and on school trips away from the Ranch. By the end of a year, the suits are pretty well worn out and in most cases, fit rather tightly. We are still able to purchase a coat and a pair of slacks for $25, at a special rate to the boys."

Anyone desiring to make this a memorable Christmas for a young man Boys Ranch can do so by mailing their contributions to Cal Farley's Boys Ranch, P. O. Box 1890, Amarillo, Texas 79105, or by taking the gift to the Ranch office at 600 West 11th Street.

ZIP Code To Help Santa In Delivery

ZIP Code will help Santa and his helpers deliver Christmas presents this year.

Postmaster Lindsey today emphasized that the proper ZIP Code in the address will help assure on-time delivery of Christmas presents sent through the mail.

"Every Christmas several millions of Santa's presents travel through the mails. In a great many instances, ZIP Coded parcels travel by shorter routes and are handled fewer times because the five digits help parcel postal clerks choose more direct transportation routes," the Postmaster said. "This means there is less chance for damage to the gifts because they are handled fewer times."

ZIP codes often help deliver a package that otherwise would be sent to the dead parcel office because the address can't be read.

"There is nothing more unpleasant for postal employees than not being able to deliver a Christmas package and knowing that some youngster won't receive the gift because the address was illegible," Postmaster Lindsey said.

"The key to the best possible postal service is ZIP code. If you don't have the ZIP Code for any addresses on your mailing list, they can be obtained through the Post Office," he said.

Citizens are reminded that the earlier packages and Christmas cards could be mailed, the better delivery service the Post Office could give.

Dear Fellow Texan:

During the past two years, while the 89th Congress has been in session, there have been some dramatic chapters written by water itself into the history of the water needs of our State and nation.

In 1965, hurricane-lashed waters brought destruction all along the Gulf Coast while in other western areas streams and rivers shrank in a withering drought. Texas experienced again in 1966 an over-abundance of water in many areas by flooding rains over the state, but many of our farming counties were left dry and parched by nature.

In other parts of the country, such as New York, millions of gallons of water went unused down the rivers, although the entire Northeast was going through the worst dry period in its history, with water rationed in the cities.

New Yorkers could only watch the Hudson River flow by their doors, because the water tank and was too polluted to use.

America and Texas are facing a critical challenge in the growing problems of water supply, water management, and water pollution control. The need for action is immediate, and the 89th Congress just completed has written into law more progressive legislation to solve our water problems on a national level than ever before.

The Congress has demonstrated it is ready to work in every productive way with state, interstate and local groups to solve these problems.

National water needs will be more than doubled in 1980 over the demands of 1960. It is estimated that some 600 billion gallons daily will be required. Since much of our water is polluted, we must clean up our streams and rivers.

The 89th Congress has established five significant programs for water resource planning and research.

These include the Water Resources Planning Act of 1965 which encourages Federal, State and local cooperation; the Saline Water Conservation Act which authorizes up to $185 million between now and 1972 to find an economical way to desalt water; the Federal Water Project Recreation Act which opens up new developments for water-based recreation, fishing and wildlife; and the highly important Federal Water Pollution Control Act amendments.

In the first session of the 89th Congress, we moved to stop pollution of water by authorizing the setting up of standards of water quality for all interstate waters. Federal grants for research and development programs were provided, and the Federal share of costs in the building of good waste treatment plants was increased.

In the second session of the 89th Congress we made it plain that we mean business in this water pollution control field, by strengthening the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration and moving it to the Department of Interior.

Texas must move forward in following the lead of the Federal government in these areas. We cannot simply leap from one crisis to another, but we must have long-range plans to use to the fullest all of our water supplies.

Water is one of our most vital natural resources, with air and land, one of the three indispensable resources. We must work together so that our farms and cities, industries and people do not die of thirst or pollution in the midst of plenty. We should be helped, not hurt by the air we breathe, and refreshed, not poisoned, by the water we drink.

Underhand Casting
Underhand casting is of little use to the average angler. It is more of an exhibition stunt. Better concentrate on usual styles.

Rubber Bands Hold Boots
Cut two thick rubber bands out of an innertube.
Then slip the bands over your socks in a figure eight around your instep and ankle. You'll find this will prevent boots and waders from slipping off while fishing in mud or when duck hunting.

Camping Boots
Don't try to walk mountain trails in the same sort of boots you use when rabbit hunting. Best authorities recommend rugged footwear equipped with vibram lug soles. Ordinary boots are much too soft for such hard wear.

Emergency Gunsight
Now and then even the best of the hunters will accidentally knock off a rear gunsight. This needn't be a catastrophe if you have an old fishing rod handy. Just take off the guide and tape it in position on your gun.

Bore Cleaner
A handy bore cleaner to carry with you can be toted in any small pocket. Take a 4 or 5 foot length of heavy monofilament fishing line, make a knotted loop at one end, insert a rag in the shell, brass side up, overnight to dry.

Clever Shot-Testing Device
A simple way to test velocity and penetration of shot shells is to set up an old telephone or city directory at the proper distance, then note depth of shot penetration by page number.

Conditioning Hulls
After shot shells have been reloaded several times they tend to lose their waterproofing wax. To restore their original finish and make them good for nine or 10 additional reloads, dip the paper section of the shell in self-polishing floor wax. Then stand the shells, brass side up, overnight to dry.

Safety Sunday' proclaimed By Governor Connally

STEN—Governor John Connally today in proclaiming "Safety Sunday" in Texas that "an abuse of God's most precious gift—life itself."

Governor also called attention to the fact that 3,028 persons were killed and 186,062 injured on Texas streets and highways in 1965 "despite an intensive continuing campaign by the official State agencies and support groups."

"Safety Sunday" is sponsored each year by the Texas Safety Council. S. Ross Carr of Dallas, TSA President, said the purpose of the observance is to draw public attention to the obligations and responsibilities of vehicle drivers to protect their own lives and the lives of others. It is observed each year on one Sunday in December to further emphasize to the public the importance of safety for accident prevention during the Christmas-New Year's season.

In his proclamation, Governor Connally said: "It is essential for every Texas driver to realize that for himself, his loved ones, his friends, as well as other motorists and passengers is a matter of moral responsibility, and the needless infliction of human suffering is an abuse of God's most precious gift—life itself."

Governor urged all citizens to join in the effort to awaken the conscience of every driver and urged the pastors of all churches to remind their members of the personal and moral responsibility "to drive carefully, obey the traffic laws and to respect the sanctity of human life."

He reported that the Texas Association of Highway Safety-Campaign begins the first of December and is carried through Year's Day. Approximately 100,000 kits of holiday safety materials have been mailed to various individuals and through Texas planning to participate in the campaign activities. News releases on holiday safety will be furnished to all newspapers, and spot announcements on holiday safety sent to all radio and television stations in the state.

Each year TSA holiday publicity efforts are coordinated with the Governor's Office and state agencies, such as the Texas Department of Public Safety and the Texas Highway Department.

The TSA Holiday Safety Campaign is sponsored by the group's Church Activities Section under the direction of J. O. Musick of Austin, TSA General Manager and Mrs. W. B. Streetman of Fort Worth, TSA Vice President for Church Activities.

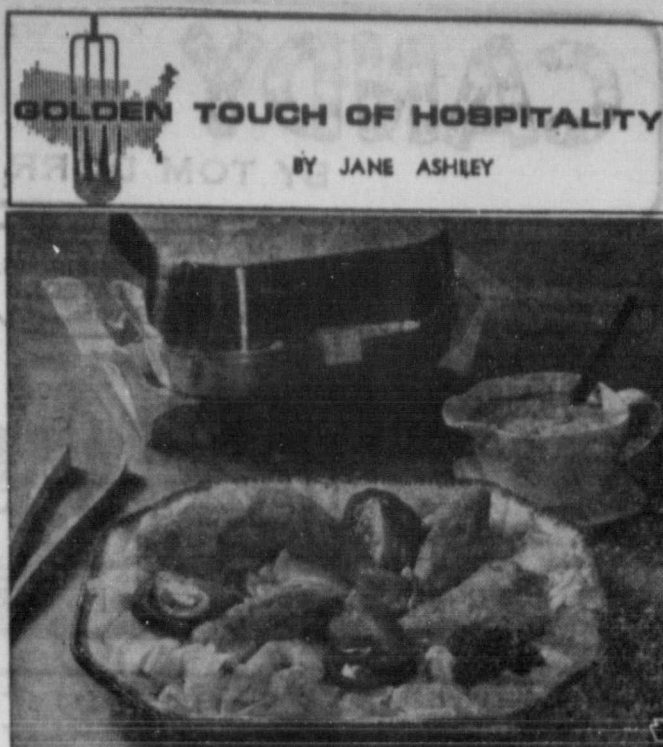

Visiting in the Glynn Thompson home last week were his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Thompson of Gettysburg, Pa. Eldon Thompson is assistant park historian for the Gettysburg Park.

Good Gravy Makes The Difference

A good gravy makes a world of difference when you are serving fried chicken or noodles or many other delicious American dishes. Gravy for roasts, or chops or chicken, for stews and pot roasts use the same proportion of ingredients. Only the method varies.

OUR FAMILY GRAVY
1 tablespoon fat
1 cup liquid (water or stock)
2 tablespoons corn starch
2 tablespoons cold water
Salt and pepper, to taste
Seasonings, to taste

For roast or chicken gravy, pour off and measure fat, return just enough to cooking pan to provide 1 tablespoon fat for each cup of gravy. Add 1 cup liquid for each cup of gravy desired. Place over medium heat and stir; scraping pan with edge of spoon to loosen and dissolve brown juices. Mix the necessary amount of corn starch and cold water together until smooth; gradually stir in hot liquid, stirring constantly, until gravy thickens and comes to a boil. Taste and season, as needed. Add a few drops of gravy coloring, if desired.

For stew and pot roast gravy, remove meat and vegetables. Estimate or measure the amount of stock for gravy. Skim off excess fat. Add water to make 1 cup of liquid for each cup of gravy desired. Place over medium heat. Mix the necessary amount of corn starch and cold water together until smooth; gradually stir in hot liquid, stirring constantly until gravy thickens and comes to a boil. Taste and season. Let gravy simmer a few minutes.

Good Gravy Clues

Use milk for chicken, ham or veal gravy. Use part wine for gravy in stews and pot roasts. Experiment with herbs, spices and seasonings. Use in small amounts. Try paprika, oregano, curry, minced fresh garlic, tomato paste or catsup.

Serve gravy piping hot. Serve in a pitcher to keep hot longer. Gravy thickens on standing. If necessary, stir in a little hot water and reheat.

R. E. Crooks Receives Award By Waples-Platter

R. E. Crooks of Memphis, an employee of Waples Platter Co. for more than 35 years, was one of the employees who was honored at a dinner held in Fort Worth over the past weekend.

The occasion was to honor all 100% club employees and their wives. Crooks, who was assigned a quota for the past year in three divisions, groceries, mercantile and frozen foods, exceeded the quota assigned in all three divisions.

Mr. and Mrs. Crooks, along with other company employees and officers, were guests at the Worth Motel while in Fort Worth.

On Saturday evening, the group enjoyed a banquet at the Shady Oaks Country Club, which was preceded by a cocktail hour.

Mr. Crooks was presented with a 100% membership plaque and awarded 40 books of Top Value stamps for sales above the assigned year's quota. Mrs. Crooks was also given a gift of a billfold.

Sunday at noon the group enjoyed a luncheon at the Cross Keys, a private club, prior to boarding buses for Dallas where they saw the Dallas Cowboys play the St. Louis Cardinals.

Harvest Total—

cotton samples classed the week of Nov. 28-Dec. 2.

As cotton harvesting and ginning accelerated during the week, the quality of Eastern Panhandle cotton classed was lower, except the staple length improved over the previous week, according to the USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service in Memphis.

Voelkel reported that the sample receipts during the week held steady at about 4,000 per day. The seven classes assigned to the local seasonal office classed 24,000 samples during the week ending Thursday, Dec. 1. This brought the total for the season to 51,000 compared with 41,000 samples as of the same date a year ago. It was estimated that the 57 gins in this 12-county area were well over 50 per cent completed. Last season nearly 200,000 samples were classed in this office.

The grades this week were of lower quality compared with the samples classed last week, mainly because of the damage done to the immature cotton by the hard freeze in early November, and the method of harvesting. Based on samples classed this week, White grades decreased from 6 to 3 per cent and Light Spotted decreased from 63 to 50 per cent. However, Spotted grades increased from 29 to 40 per cent, and Tinged grades increased from 2 to 7 per cent. Cotton reduced in grade because of bark increased from 4 to 8 per cent. The predominant grade this week was Strict Low Middling Light Spotted with 28 per cent.

The staple length showed improvement over that of last week. The chief length continued to be 15-16 inch with 75 per cent. The other lengths were distributed as follows: 29-32 inch, 5 per cent; 31-32 inch, 17 per cent; and 1 inch, 3 per cent.

The micronaire readings, which reflect the fineness and maturity of the fiber, were lower than last week due primarily to the increased harvesting of cotton affected by the hard freeze of Nov. 2. Nearly two-thirds or 64 per cent of the cotton classed this week read 3.4 and below. The 20 points medium range of 3.4-4.9 made up 36 per cent of the classing.

Pressley strength tests conducted in cooperation with the Cotton Research Committee of Texas, reflected weaker fiber than last week. Twenty-four (24) per cent tested 80,000 pounds per square inch and above compared with 35 per cent the previous week. Other groupings were: 75,000-79,000, 33 per cent; 70,000-74,000, 25 per cent; and 69,000 and below, 18 per cent.

Cotton was selling more freely this week. Purchasers included Mike Readings of 3.4 and less, which was not the case the week earlier. The average prices for qualities moving into trade channels, with Mike Readings 3.4-4.9 were: Middling Light Spotted, 15-16, 18.45; Strict Low Middling Light Spotted, 15-16, 17.75; and Middling Spotted, 16-16, 17.50. The low Mike reading cotton was bringing from 5 to 55 points over loan rates.

Cottonseed prices continued to range from $63 to $67 per ton at gin points.

Mrs. Lillie Marquez of Durango, Colo., arrived here this week to visit her nephew, Dr. R. R. LaVarta and family. Mrs. LaVarta has been a patient in the local hospital, but is now home.

Cyclone Cagers—

fought game to Lefors, the opening game of the tournament, 23 to 21. Janie Watson scored 12 points for Memphis to be the leading scorer. The local girls rallied at half-time 18 to 13 but led at the end of the third period by one point, 20 to 19.

In the second game, the Canadian girls defeated the local girls by a 36 to 16 score. Cynthia Evans and Janie Watson tied with six points as leading scorers for Memphis.

Wellington Games

Tuesday night in Memphis Gymnasium, the visiting teams from Wellington dealt local cager teams sound defeats.

The Cyclonettes battled hard the first half of the game against the Rockettes of Wellington only to trail at half-time 25 to 15. The Wellington girls took command of the game the second half and won a 61 to 23 victory over Memphis.

Memphis Cynthia Evans scored 14 points while Wellington's Nancy Holton had 26 points.

In the boys game, the Cyclone battled the fired up Skyrockets to an 8 to 8 contest until the closing minute of the first quarter only to see the Rockets hit two quick baskets and capture a 12 to 8 first quarter lead.

The Rockets were able to hold this edge until the closing minute of the first half when they ripped off three more quick baskets, and the teams went to the dressing rooms with the score at 31 to 21.

This 10 point margin held through the third period and much of the fourth period, with the Cyclone unable to get any closer than six points to the Rockets.

The final stages of the game, the local cagers tried to get back into the game and Wellington took advantage of the press and increased their lead to a 60 to 43 margin.

Coach Gilliland had little comment about the game other than to say the local boys just got out hustled.

Bobby Carroll, who played with a taped up right hand, was the top scorer for Memphis with 14 points while Wellington's No. 21 James Smith led the Rockets with 17 points.

Wellington's James Smith and No. 55 Andy Henard, along with No. 11 Kent Clark, had outstanding efforts against Memphis.

Details Given—

an increase of 28 hundredths of a cent per pound over the 1966 rate of 10.50 cents per pound. The maximum that can be diverted will be 35 percent of the 1967 cotton allotment.

The rules in effect for 1966 crop cotton when planted in a skip-row pattern will not be changed for 1967.

As the deadline nears for filing cotton allotment transfers, producers wishing to transfer cotton between farms by sale or lease should make plans to do so as January 3, 1967, will be the last day to make transfers between farms.

Applications for export acreage will be accepted through January 3, 1967. Any producer interested in producing excess cotton for export only should contact the county office for details, McKown said.

many people.

"This year," Goodrum said, "we are writing directly to these contributors for financial assistance."

There are approximately 120 boys enrolled in scouting in Memphis. "To keep this program going, to train leaders, provide camps, and administer the program, it requires that we, in Memphis, raise $2,100 annually. In the past few years we have not met this goal. It is sincerely hoped that this figure can be met by return mail and few follow-up contacts," Chairman Goodrum said.

Signing the personal letters were Clyde Lee Smith, cubmaster, I. H. Sims, scoutmaster, Melvin Jennings, district chairman, Robert Philpot, executive advisor, and Wayne L. Goodrum, finance chairman.

er and McLean.

The boys division appears to be real tough as Wellington, McLean, Memphis and Quail are all top contenders, with Lakeview, Wheeler and Samnorwood all in contention.

In the girls bracket, Wellington and Shamrock have decided advantages over the other teams.

Silverton

There are several unknown qualities about the Silverton tournament which make it hard to predict favorites. Kress, Lockney and Spar teams have not played any of the county teams. The Esteline girls, face tough competition in the Quitaque girls team and some of the other girls teams. The Turkey boys appear to be in contention as they have been showing steady improvement.

Actually, Quitaque is one of the top boys teams in the tournament even though the Class B schools will be competing with Class A and Class AA teams.

Next Tuesday night, the Esteline teams will travel to Samnorwood to games at 7 and 8:30.
