Wheeler-Briscoe, Mobeetie And Shamrock Are Tied

Both the defeated teams in the Tri-County Baseball League play-offs fought back last Sunday to regain themselves a chance to go into the final play-off for the championship of the league. The Wheeler Legionnaires downed the Briscoe nine by a count of 10 to 5 while Shamrock was winning a slugfest from Mobeetie by a 23 to 17 score.

Wheeler will meet Briscoe again next Sunday on the Briscoe diamond and Shamrock and Mobeetie will clash on the Shamrock diamond. Wheeler and Mobeetie were the loosers in flips to determine the site of Sunday's contests. The winners of Sunday's games will meet in the final play-off.

The Wheeler-Briscoe contest was a close affair until after the seventh inning when Wheeler managed to score 3 on 3 hits and an error and go ahead by the same number. Wheeler scored first, getting 3 runs in the top half of the second inning, but Briscoe came back with a single tally in their half of the same inning. Wheeler scored again in the third and Briscoe scored once in the fourth and twice in the fifth to tie up the score.

Wheeler came back to untie the score in the top half of the seventh with 3 runs then added two more for good measure in the top of the ninth while the best the Briscoe nine could do was a single run in the last half of the seventh.

Bill Cosper pitched six innings and Tom West finished out for the Legionnaires, while Bud Vanpool worked behind the bat. Wells and Fulks twirled for the losers and Cook was behind the bat.

A complete box score for the Wheeler-Briscoe contest follows:

Seven students from Wheeler are candidates for degrees at West Texas State this summer. Commencement ceremonies will be held Wednesday evening, August 23, at 8 o'clock in Buffalo Stadium.

Dr. Floyd Golden, president of Eastern New Mexico University, will be the speaker.

Following is a list of degree candidates: Bachelor of Business Administration; Percy Don Farmer. Bachelor of Science: Edna Farmer Davis, Ida Farmer, Ruth Fassler May. Master of Arts; Beulah Hubbard. Master of Education; Doris Newsome and Bennie Lee Purnell.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gandy and family returned last week from a vacation to points of interest in New Merico. Including Eagle Nest Lake, Red River, Ruidosa and White Sands. While driving along a lonely highway through old lava formations they were happy to run onto a family from the old home town. The Rev. Darris Egger and family were stopped looking at ruins of an old building.

T. D. Holland of Shamrock is receiving medical treatment in the Wheeler Hospital this week.

Wheeler Whisperings

By J. C. Howell

Unless Uncle Sam changes his mind, this will perhaps be the last of Whisperings for a while at least . . . we have been a member of the enlisted reserve ever since we were discharged from the air forces in 1946 and our current enlistment was not up until March 1952; so, your Uncle and mine has decided that he needs our services for the next year. Many people have asked us what we did during the last war and are wondering why we have been called back into service . . . it happens that we were connected with radar as an instructor for better than two years before the end of the last hostilities and it is our guess that within a short length of time we may be doing about the same thing again.

While we are gone Annie Mae will be here to look after the interest of the paper and it is our sincere hope that you will extend her every courtesy during our absence. Of course, she will have some outside help, in the person of Albert Cooper, one of our partners who will be temporarily in charge of advertising and news, . . . before we came to Wheeler she had never had any experience what-so-ever in newspaper work and her duties here have been such that she has not taken much part in the actual operation of the business and consequently she will be quite new at the task. Richard Bradley and Maurice Pettit will remain in our mechanical department and if business is good enough it is possible that they will have to have some outside assistance of some sort, because we have always helped a little in the shop after we got through gathering up the advertising and news.

We are not the first one in this vicinity to have to answer the call to the colors . . . it has been brought to our attention that W. A. (Jiggs) Leonard of Mobeetie, a first lieutenant in the air forces reserve, received a telegram last week and had to report for duty Wednesday of this week.

Several other boys who were not in the reserve corp have already answered the call to service . . . among those who have already gone or will go shortly are Doyle Waters, Corky Robertson, Wayne Holt, Grant Riley and Harold Ray Starkey.

We would like to congratulate Mrs. McIlhany and Grainger on the nice improvements they have made in their store recently . . . they have remodeled their shoe and dress departments and have moved their stock room to a small building at the back of their main store thus giving them a great deal more of display space.

It is quite evident that Wheeler needs some new fire-fighting equipment including a modern fire truck with adequate pumping facilities but the city tax money is not enough to afford such a purchase. If some of you were to have a big fire at your place and the most of the damage could have been avoided with proper fire-fighting equipment; you would immediately begin to holler about the situation . . . why don't you do something about this situation before someone has to do just that?

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Connell left on a two weeks vacation Friday of last week during which time they will visit relatives in Hamilton and also resorts in New Mexico.

Lillie McClain underwent a tonsillectomy at the local hospital Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Burgess and daughters left Wednesday on a vacation trip to points in New Mexico.

83 ABSENTEE BALLOTS HAVE BEEN MAILED

As of today (Thursday) the Wheeler County Clerk's office announced they had mailed out 83 absentee ballots for the August 26 democratic run-off primary election. Fifty-six of the ballots mailed out have been returned.

Tuesday, August 22, is the last date on which anyone may vote absentee in the second primary.

Run-offs in three of the commissioner's races in Wheeler county are causing considerable interest in the second primary.

In precinct one W. L. (Shorty) Erwin is matched against Clifford Walser. They were the two high men in a field of 6 in the first primary with Erwin poling 212 votes and Walser getting 216 votes.

There is no run-off in precinct two where W. E. Mason was re-elected over his opponent, Jess Crowder.

In precinct three, the incumbent, C. W. Wells, is matched against Sam McMurtry and in precinct four John O'Gorman and Loran L. See are matched up.

Both in precincts one and four both the run-off candidates are asking for their first term, since the encumbent did not ask for re-election in either case.

There are run-offs in six state races, and they include:

For Lieutenant Governor: Ben Ramsey of San Augustine County and Pierce P. Brooks of Dallas County.

For Associate Justice of Supreme Court (Place 1): Will Wilson of Dallas County and Fagan Dickson of Bexar County.

For Associate Justice of Supreme Court (Place 3): Geo. W. Harwood of Dallas County and Meade F. Griffin of Hale County.

For Judge of Criminal Court Appeals: W. A. Morrison of Milam County and Robert L. (Bob) Lattimore of Dallas County.

For Commissioner of Agriculture: John C. White of Wichita County and J. E. McDonald of Travis County.

For Congressman, 18th Congressional District: Walter Rogers of Gray County and Altavene Clark of Potter County.

STATE LINE FREE FAIR

It won't be long now until the date for the State Line Free Fair will be here again. September 14, 15 and 16 are the dates set for this event. It is coming a week earlier this year in order to avoid conflicting with other shows. Everyone entering livestock should be getting them ready to show. The various communities that are going to have a booth should also be collecting their products and getting everything ready to go. We are hoping that this fair will be the best one yet.

LATE SUMMER ORCHARD MANAGEMENT

Don't neglect summer orchard cultivation, because the trees need all of the moisture and plant food that is available particularly during the late summer. You should also check for the San Jose scale in orchards. A solution of one pound of dry sulphur in three gallons of water, applied to the trunk and framework branches of the trees with an old paint brush, is a good stop-gap remedy for controlling San Jose scale in orchards during the late summer and fall, but a 3 percent dormant oil spray, applied in the winter when the trees are dormant, is necessary for effective control.

HOGS

When corn or sorghum grain are fed alone to hogs, the gain produced is slow and costly, but when the grain is supplemented with the correct protein and mineral supplements the rate of gain is speeded up and the cost of gain is reduced. So do not try to fatten your hogs on grain alone, even though you have plenty of grain.

Mrs. J. B. Roper left Monday for Hollywood, Calif. where she will visit with her daughter, Mrs. Vernon Lumpkin, and family.

2 MORE SERVICES IN C OF C SERIES

Tonight (Thursday) and Friday evening will mark the close of the five-night series of special services being held at the Church of Christ this week. Minister James Scott of Liberal, Kansas, will speak this evening (Thursday) on the subject "The Growing Church." For two years Minister of the Growing Canadian Church of Christ, he has only recently moved into his new work with the Kansas congregation.

Friday night's speaker will be J. P. Crenshaw, Minister of the Francis Avenue Church of Christ, Pampa, whose topic will be "The Spirit of Worship." His talk will be both inspirational and instructive. His experience of many years of helping guide the worship of thousands has given him a deep understanding of the application of Bible teaching on worship to actual experience, it was stated.

The time of these services is 8:00 p. m., and Minister Ernest Grizzard stated that everyone is cordially invited to attend these remaining services of the series.

Opening services of the series have shown a large interest in talks presented. Monday evening W. R. (Roy) Smith, vice-president of Abilene Christian College, Abilene, Texas, speaking on "Christianity in the Home," said that one third of those who begin married life end in failure. "We study how to raise turkeys if we expect to make a success at turkey raising, but we neglect to give careful study to the more important job of rearing our families," he pointed out. He said that, while it is true that many people make mistakes when they marry, they are acting the part of spoiled, pampered children when they try to run away instead of living with their mistakes and working them out the best they can. Giving a number of points for making the homes stronger, he declared that only Christianity in the home can guarantee a solid, happy home.

Minister Arthur Golden of Amarillo presented an illustrated talk on the topic, "In All Good Conscience." "If we lose our conscience," "If we lose our conscience."

WORK BEGUN ON COMMUNITY BUILDING HERE

George Gandy, general pusher on the project to renovate the surplus army buildings and make them into a community building, announced this week that he has finally found time to get around to getting a crew together and start work on the project.

Twenty-five to thirty men worked on the project all day Wednesday and Thursday and made a nice showing for themselves.

The Wheeler Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the project and is in dire need of donations to help with the project . . . donations of both cash and labor will be greatly appreciated. Many men are donating their labor and it is hoped that many more will see fit to do the same within the next few days, Gandy pointed out.

The building is being fixed up so that it can be used as a show place for livestock shows, community gatherings, fairs, and it will also have some rooms which can be used as gathering places for boy and girl scouts, home demonstration clubs and other organizations.

The building will be quite an asset to the people of this area and it behooves all in this area to pitch in and really help with the improvement of the property.

NEW HOPE FOR UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING

Past utterances of politicians have a way of rising up to plague and embarrass the utterers as unfolding events reveal their speciousness and absurdity. So it must be now with the pronouncement of Senator Johnson of Colorado, made three years ago when he was denouncing proposals for military training of the nation's youth, that "in this age, goose steeping and the manual of arms are pure poppycock which add nothing to our national defense." Or the statement of Congressman Engel of Michigan a year later that the atomic bomb has made the training of large reserves of manpower obsolete.

In fairness to these two officials, it is to be noted that they were far from being alone in their sentiments. Their opposition to universal training was shared widely by members of Congress and my many educators, ministers and other citizens who argued that such training would make American youth the ready tool of militarists. But it is fair to say also that the argument in 1920 that unless our foreign policy was supported by a strong army we would live to see another war was answered by these same theorists with the cry of "Preposterous." Their view prevailed. Then came Pearl Harbor, which caught us pitifully unprepared, and now—Korea.

Like all responsible military leaders, Gen. George C. Marshall was aware that the facts of military life did not square with the myopic views of those who either from timidity or for well-intentioned reasons, shrank from the idea of universal military training. As chief of staff of the U. S. Army he said: "I would say that it (the atomic bomb) has increased the necessity for greater immediacy in the availability of a force to be used at the outset of an emergency, for the reason that we would have to act quickly."

Although the atomic bomb has not figured in it, the emergency is here, and we have been in the position of having to move with tragic, costly slowness. It is now plain that what we should have done was to adopt universal military training at the end of World War II. If we had we might not now be so close to an all-out war and Korea might never have happened.

According to reports from Washington, Congress soon will be given another chance to enact a universal military training law. When this happens, we hope Congress will realize that once an enemy war machine begins to roll, it takes more than ideals and hopes for peace to stop it.

10 base load power plants are operated by your Public Service Company to meet your needs for dependable, low-cost electric service. These 10 power plants are strategically placed approximately 100 miles apart.

These 10 great power plants are tied together by a 2700-mile network of transmission lines. The heart of our system—a 115,000-volt transmission line—makes electric power generated at our Riverview plant available at Carlsbad, New Mexico, if needed.

To further assure you a continuous and economical supply of electricity, your Public Service Company has provided a central load-dispatching center which allocates generation to each plant for most economical operation. In this manner the local area plant is still able to meet increased demand for electric service within its own area when necessary.

To meet your growing needs for electric power, important 1950 plant expansions will be made at Amarillo and Moore County, and a new unit has already gone on the line at Roswell. Yes, your Public Service Company is on the job keeping ahead of the rapid growth of the Panhandle-Plains-Pecos-Valley area.

Scheme hard and furiously to do most of your household jobs sitting down: preparing vegetables and fruits, stirring puddings and sauces as they cook on the stove ironing, packing lunches and mixing batters. Even perch on the sofa as you dust end tables. It's not laziness; it's plain common sense.

When your brown and white spectator shoes are up for polishing, put a coat of ol' shinola on the brown first. Then if you splash some white polish on the brown part, it won't be so stubborn to wipe off the waxed surface. Give the brown a final shinola treatment for finish.

To stitch nylon effectively, use nylon thread. No other will do as well or last as long.

Scrumptious with salads is this garlic-cheese toast. Cream 2 tablespoons vitaminized margarine until soft; add ½ clove garlic, peeled; let stand 5 minutes, then remove. Toast 4 slices bread on one side; spread untoasted sides with garlic mixture and sprinkle with ½ cup grated sharp cheese. Toast under broiler until cheese melts. Serve it cut in thirds.

Avoid sprinkling rayon whenever possible. Instead, iron your rayons as soon as they've dried to the right degree of dampness. You'll then have perfect distribution of moisture which is all but impossible with sprinkling.

Modern Laundry Fits in Kitchen

Modern laundry equipment is designed to blend well with kitchen cabinets and appliances and the laundry itself can be planned as an attractive extension of the kitchen, says American Builder magazine.

The magazine also says, "Laundry equipment properly arranged in sequence with necessary counters can be effectively used in a combination laundry-game room, either on the first floor or in the basement.

"Ideally, the washer, dryer and ironer should be arranged according to the sequence of their use, with ample counter space near for sorting and folding of clothes. For plumbing economy, one-wall installation is recommended."

nts, has your child had a l examination this summer? onth he will be starting to and if he is in good health have a happier, more ble year. It's up to YOU to HIM a healthful send-off, says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

After he has his check-up by the family doctor, be sure to take him to the family dentist. Teeth are mighty important, and decayed ones often cause a heap of trouble. They may start infection in other parts of the body. Strong, healthy teeth add attractiveness to appearance and personality. Help your child to grow up with good teeth . . . see that he has a dental examination twice a year.

Sometimes children need glasses and their parents don't realize it. An examination by an eye specialist is important. A child who needs glasses, if taken to an eye physician now, will have time to get used to them before school starts.

When children are grouped together in a classroom, they expose each other to communicable diseases. Has your child been immunized against diptheria and smallpox? Does he know he should use only his own drinking glass? Does he know he should avoid boys and girls who are victims of colds? Do you keep your child at home when he shows signs of a cold?

Plenty of exercise and recreation, the right kinds of foods daily, and 12 hours of sleep a night, are necessary for a child of elementary school age.

Get your child an appointment for a check-up today . . . the first day of school is not far away!

Don't neglect summer orchard cultivation, because the trees need all of the moisture and plant food that is available, particularly during the late summer.

She claimed he married her for her money . . . and he claimed he earned it.

is a lot of telephone calls!

By spreading 75 billion telephone calls equally over the nation's 40 million telephones, an average of over 120 calls per month will be made on each telephone during this year!

This expected all-time high telephone traffic load is further evidence of the indispensable usefulness of the telephone to the American people.

GOOD HEALTH MAKE MIDDLE LIFE HAPPY

Good health is the biggest single factor in making the middle years of life profitable and happy. Many parents, says Mrs. Eloise Johnson, extension specialist in family life education of Texas A. & M. College, do an excellent job of protecting their children from diseases but often forget about themselves.

During the middle years, certain physicial conditions need attention, especially the adjustments that must be made in connection with the aging process. This process of aging, she points out, is something that usually takes place slowly and the warning signals furnished by nature should be heeded, for your future happiness may well depend upon whether or not you observe these signals.

According to Mrs. Johnson, medical authorities say that the body as a whole functions slower and somewhat differently and that not quite so much food is needed to keep the human machine functioning properly during this period. What folks eat is largely determined by habit, and if habits are followed, overeating usually results and that brings on trouble.

She suggests smaller servings and fewer calories and that foods which are high in vitamins, minerals and the accessory factors be used. Overweight is one of the most common nutritional diseases of this period of life and in most cases, is caused from eating too much.

The middle-aged person usually requires less sleep and this means that adjustments must be made. There is more time for reading, listening to the radio or just for relaxation and rest. This matter of rest is very important and there is a need for balancing rest with the activities that one performs. The best conserver of energy is to stop and rest whenever you feel fatigued. Short rest periods during the working hours make it possible for the older person to accomplish much more and at the same time leaves them feeling much better, Mrs. Johnson points out.

Violent exercise such as participating in active sports and lifting heavy loads should be taken in broken doses. Too much such exercises can be very harmful to the body and its proper functioning. On the other hand, regular exercise, not too strenuous, will help to keep the muscles, bones and joints supple and in good condition.

Regular physical check ups for those in this age group are recommended. This age can become the most profitable and enjoyable period of life if the rules of good health are followed and the advantages that go with experience, judgement, maturity and more leisure time are fully utilized by the individual, according to the specialist.

GRAFTING MAY BE PROFITABLE

Grafting desirable varieties of grapes on native species of rootstocks may be profitable in some cases, according to U. A. Randolph, associate horticulturist of the Montague Fruit Investigations Laboratory, Texas A. & M. College System.

A large number of known grape species are native to Texas. Some show resistance to root rot and insects, and grafting the desirable varieties on them would provide a method of establishing vineyards in disease and insect infested areas. Increased yield and improved quality may be obtained by grafting the commercial varieties on vigorous rootstocks, even in areas where there is little trouble from soil disease and insects.

Experimental work in this direction has been carried on at the Montague Fruit Investigations Laboratory since 1940. The native rootstocks on which results have been obtained include Dog Ridge, Champanel and La Pryor. Carman, Virginia and Delaware were the commercial varieties grafted on the native stocks.

Randolph says that best results in the experiments were obtained from Carman growing on a Dog Ridge root system. An annual increase of 2,376 pounds per acre was obtained from this graft combination over own-rooted Carman vines. Based on a price of three cents per pound, Randolph figures this increase to be worth $71.28 per acre. The native stocks used increased the fruitfulness of Carman, but not enough to be of commercial advantage.

Randolph reports that small increases in production were obtained from Virginia grafted on Dog Ridge and Champanel. Delaware failed to give an increased yield on vigorous stocks.

When a native rootstock increased the yield of the grafted commercial variety, the quality of the fruit, as measured by the size of the clusters and the individual grapes, was usually improved also. Increased vine growth also resulted from grafting on the native stocks.

One of the difficulties encountered was the difficulty in getting successful union of the grafts. Average results for six years ranged from 18 percent successful graft unions with Virginia on Champanel and Dog Ridge to 33 percent with Carman on La Pryor. Randolph says that other methods of grafting may be more practical than the one used, since bud-grafting on rooted vines has been reported highly successful in recent years in California.

When corn or sorghum grain are fed to hogs, the grain produced is slow and costly, but when the grain is supplemented with the correct protein and mineral supplements, the rate of gain is speeded up and the cost of gain is reduced.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of aqua and white organdy. She carried a white Bible belonging to Mrs. Wallace Corse, topped with a bouquet of white carnations with white satin streamers. For something old she wore a watch belonging to her mother and for something borrowed, a strand of pearls belonging to the mother of the groom.

A reception was held following the ceremony. The serving table was laid with a cloth of white crochet, centered by a bouquet of seasonal cut flowers. Miss Mary Carter presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Carl Carter, sister-in-law of the bride, served the cake.

Wedding guests included the parents of the bride and groom, and Mrs. O. C. Murrell, the brides grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Carter and daughter, Lynna Gayle, and Mrs. Ernest Grizzard.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home near Mobeetie, where the groom is engaged in farming with his father.

Local Couple Marry At Silver Springs, Md.

Miss Joann Abernethy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Abernethy of Kelton and James Virgil Simomns, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Killingsworth, also of Kelton, were united in marriage Friday, August 11, 1950 at 8 o'clock in the evening. The ceremony was performed in the parlor of the First Baptist Church of Silver Springs, Maryland. Dr. Wilber F. Ripley, associate pastor, officiated at the single ring service.

Lloyd Hamilton of Austin and San Antonio was best man and the only witness.

The bride was dressed in white with accessories also of white and she wore a corsage of white gardenias. She carried a white prayer book.

The newlyweds are graduates of Kelton High School, the bride a member of the 1948 class and the groom a member of the class of 1946.

Following the ceremony the young couple left for a short wedding trip to points of interest in Virginia and Maryland after which they plan to live in Washington, D. C. where the groom is with the United States Air Force in the Pentagon Building. He was previously stationed at various bases in the San Antonio area.

Mrs. G. Robertson Is Hostess To HD Club

The Good Neighbors Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Glenn Robertson August 8, with five members and three visitors present.

Business discussed at the meeting centered around the club picnic. August 23 was decided upon as a definite date and the place decided upon was the Melton Finsterwald back yard. Each member is to bring enough weiners and etc. for her own family and the eating time was set at 7:30 p. m.

Refreshments of sandwiches, pear salad, lemonade and mints were served to the following members: Mesdames Katie Finsterwald, Essie Finsterwald, Maurine Barnett, and Helen Mixon. Mrs. Ewing and Judy and Mona Finsterwald, visitors, and the hostess, Mrs. Glenn Robertson.

A solution of one pound of dry sulphur in three gallons of water, applied to the trunk and framework branches of the trees with an old paint brush, is a good stopgap remedy for controlling San Jose scale in orchards during the late summer and fall, but a 3 percent dormant oil spray, applied in the winter when the trees are dormant, is necessary for effective control.

FRENCH ACCENT

Jacques Heim, internationally-celebrated Parisian couturier, created this stunning cotton formal from a white cotton fabric printed with an unusual lavender design. The cape buttons at the shoulder. Monsieur Heim calls this chic cotton gown "song of love," the National Cotton Council says.

PEACH TREES NEED CHECKING

The peach season is just about over in most sections of the state but there are jobs in the orchard that needs attention right now. According to John Hutchison, associate extension horticulturist of Texas A. & M. College, one of those jobs is checking each tree for San Jose scale.

He says San Jose scale often spreads throughout the orchard during the late summer and fall. The tiny sucking insect is carried from one tree to another by the wind or on the feet of birds or by insects as they move from tree to tree. It soon becomes established and may do serious damage to the trees. It is first seen as a gray ashy surface over the bark of the tree.

If you find San Jose scale in your orchard, Hutchison says you should take steps to bring it under control or at least check its spread until effective control measures can be applied. He recommends the use of a solution made by mixing one pound of dry lime sulphur in three gallons of water. Apply the solution with an old paint brush to the trunk and framework branches of the tree. Do not, he cautions allow the solution to come in contact with the foliage for it will burn the leaves.

This is only a stop-gap remedy, Hutchison points out. Effective control can be obtained by spraying the trees with a 3 percent dormant oil spray during the winter when the trees are dormant.

Don't neglect the summer cultivation job for trees need all the moisture and plant food that is available, particularly during the late summer, says Hutchison. During this period the fruit buds that will be responsible for next year's fruit crop are being differentiated. Plant food is being stored in the tissues of the plant which will keep the trees healthy and help to insure a good fruit crop next year.

Summer cultivation is especially important this year, because many peach trees are still suffering from the effects of delayed foliation. The trees are especially low in vigor and must be given the best possible care if they are to live and set fruit buds for next year's crop.

Hutchison says the orchard should not be neglected just because the fruit season is over. The productive life of the orchard may well depend upon the treatment and care you give the trees during the late summer and fall months.

DON'T LET THIS GO TO WASTE

All this used to go to waste. Pretty Marjorie Zupner kneels inside a new type kitchen corner cabinet to demonstrate how much storage space used to be wasted where base cabinets met at the corner. The front of this new Youngstown cabinet cuts across the corner and a narrow door gives access to three revolving shelves, being held here by Toni Barash. The shelves, each twenty-two inches in diameter, turn on ball bearings and will hold a pantry full of canned goods or utensils.

Shell color of eggs does not affect the flavor, the food value or the cooking performance. There is no advantage to the homemaker in paying more for brown or white eggs of the same quality and size.

A farm lad who took a job in the big city returned home a few months later to report he was flat broke in spite of the big pay. He said, "Most of my money I spent on women and whiskey. The rest I just wasted."

An optimist is one who sees only the down payment.

Anyone can be brave from a safe distance.

Some men are known for their deeds. Others for their mortgages.

Paint Made in Roof Colors For Better Exterior Styling

Paint manufacturers have begun to make paint in the same colors used for roofing, making possible exact color harmony for the exterior of a home.

Frederic H. Rahr, head of the Rahr Color Clinic, New York, explains that home-owners will be able to select coordinated colors for the exterior in the same way they have been able to choose color-coordinated draperies, rugs, slip covers and other interior furnishings.

Rahr says paint manufacturers have been influenced by the vogue for roofs covered with colored shingles. More than 80 percent of all the roofing being used in the United States is asphalt roofing, in which the greatest variety of solid and blended colors is available.

Roof 'Takes Lead'

"An effective procedure in color styling is to use matching colors for the roof and for smaller parts of the dwelling," the color consultant says. "Depending upon the individual house and the effect desired, it might be desirable to match the roof with paint on the trim, porch or lawn furniture, window shutters or the front door, to name a few possibilities.

"Up to now, this has been difficult to do. Mixing paint to get an exact match with an existing color is beyond the ability of the home handyman unless he has had an exceptional amount of experience, but with matching paints that are factory-mixed there will be nothing to it."

Because of the roof's prominence, it "takes the lead" in any exterior color plan, Rahr says. He makes a practice of choosing the roof color first and then picking other colors to go with it, instead of picking the roof color to suit something else.

The color consultant points out that matching isn't the only way to use color to add attractiveness to a home. Colors also might blend or contrast with the basic hue of the asphalt shingle roof, he says. Small amounts of a bright color serve as accents.

Remodel With Color

Interest in exterior color began before the war, but it did not gain widespread emphasis until the postwar home-building boom. Since the war, color consciousness has been stimulated by the popularity of informal architecture, such as ranch house design, with its lack of traditional restrictions.

Rahr says exterior color often is the easiest and most economical means of fixing up an older house. A new roof of asphalt shingles and intelligently chosen paint frequently are all that is needed, he adds.

For new homes, color can be used to distinguish a house from nearby homes, while, at the same time, keeping it generally in character with the neighborhood.

So this is HOUSEKEEPING

BY ROBERT STUART

For some unknown reason, brides are generally looked upon by the rest of the sisterhood as being a trifle on the stupid side. The fact of the matter is that a bride has to be smartly alert for all kinds of facts for future reference in eventually running a successful home.

Take the other evening when my favorite spouse and I were invited to dinner at the home of friends. I was anxious to see how Marie managed a home, a husband, and a three months old baby.

Digging in after dinner to help with the dishes, the first thing I spied was several Evenflo nursing bottles. Acting very professional, I rinsed the bottles, then asked for a bottle brush to scrub off the milk film. Then I learned some facts on time, money, and drudgery-saving.

It seems Marie had been having too many sessions with broken nursing bottles and finally took her woes to a clerk at a baby counter. When the clerk discovered she had been using a bottle brush he explained that the brush was responsible for much of the trouble. Apparently among hardware men an established trick for breaking glass smoothly is to first score or scratch the surface with a hard instrument. When force is applied the glass breaks cleanly along the score mark. The same principle, the clerk pointed out, applies in using a wire-handled brush when cleaning baby nursing bottles. The metal end of the brush weakens the glass with tiny, almost unnoticeable scratches which are sufficient to break the bottle when it is subjected to a slight jar or to quick heating or cooling.

The clerk gave my friend some Evenflo brushless baby bottle cleanser which solved the whole problem. A tablespoonful in warm water quickly dissolves and removes the milk film in baby bottles and leaves them sparkling clean.

Now there's a bit of information that might come in handy some day!

Grade B eggs are equal in food value to eggs of higher grade, and at this season of the year, they are a few cents less per dozen than grade A eggs.

Fall gardens should be prepared and early plantings made in Aug.

GRADE B EGGS ARE CHEAPER

An egg a day is one step toward being well fed, states Louise Mason, extension foods nutrition specialist of Texas A. and M. College. Grade B eggs are now coming into the markets in-ever increasing amounts, while the supply of Grade AA and A eggs is decreasing. Shying away from Grade B eggs is not good economy, as they are equal in food value to eggs of higher grade, Miss Mason points out. At this season of the year, when they are a few cents less per dozen than Grade A, Grade B eggs are a good buy.

The main reason for this change in supply is that hot weather causes eggs to fall from the peak of freshness in a very short time. The supply of Grade B eggs is also increased because young pullets, which are just coming into production at this time of the year, lay eggs which will not measure up to higher egg grades, particularly in weight.

Eggs are rich in blood building substances, iron, and its helper copper. They are good sources of bone building minerals, calcium and phosphorous. They are rich in Vitamin D which is essential in bone building. They are valuable for their Vitamin A content which helps keep the eyes and the thin layer of skin lining the internal parts of the body in a vigorous and healthy condition.

They supply some Vitamin B which helps keep nerves steady and some niacin which prevents pellagra. They contain fat of a quality that supplies quick energy. Therefore, Miss Mason says, the egg deserves the attention of the homemaker who plans and prepares family meals as well as the individual who eats out.

Shell color does not affect the flavor, the food value or the cooking performance. Neither is it a guide to yolk color. There is no advantage to the homemaker in paying more for brown or white eggs of the same quality and size.

High quality eggs, Grade AA and A, are ideal for poaching, frying and cooking in the shell, but Miss Mason recommends Grade B eggs as an products for general

Picnic Fare For Food And Family Fun

Dining rooms, say many families, are stuffy, especially in the summer. Out-of-the house eating is today's trend. Informality is the keynote of modern living. All of which adds up to picnics. Food tastes better on the terrace, in the back yard, or at the picnic grounds.

Food manufacturers of 1950 have made it easy to plan and fill the picnic basket. Think of the foods you can buy ready-to-eat or requiring a minimum of preparation in the home kitchen. Cans of baked beans, dozens of baked buns, loaves of cold meats and summer sausages, pickles, potato chips. The store offers radishes, green onions, potato salad, fruits of all types.

So it's a picnic for the family and almost a vacation for mother on the next hot summer day.

How does this menu sound? It ought to fill a growing boy's hollow legs, satisfy daughter's eye for color and flavor contrast, and give dad food that will tempt him beyond his capacity.

Casserole of baked beans topped with crisp bacon slices
Potato chips Radishes Pickles
Mustard
Hot dogs in toasted wiener buns
Green onions
Potato salad Sliced cold meats
Hard cooked eggs
Slices of red-ripe tomato
Watermelon Assorted small fruits
Coffee Cream Milk

Baked beans are a picnic favorite. They have been included because any picnic meal should include one hot dish. Empty cans of baked beans into a casserole, add catsup, top with bacon and bake in a 325 degree oven for an hour.

Crunchy potato chips, crisp radishes give texture contrast to the soft beans. Use bunches of washed radishes with leaves left on. Place the bunches, leafy part down, in a glass jar. Stick in a few gleaming white onion bulbs and you have a centerpiece as well as a dish of relishes.

The buns are split, buttered, toasted. A hot wiener is inserted. Balance the part of the hot dog that extends beyond one end of the bun by stems of green onions extending at the other end. Herb flavored mustard is even better than plain mustard.

Put the potato salad in a large bowl. Cut rings of green pepper. Insert the rings down the center of the salad. Peel the hard cooked eggs. Cut the fresh tomatoes in thick slices.

Arrange the sliced meat at the last moment lest the edges of the meat curl. Use water cress or parsley for contrast.

The watermelon should be dead ripe and chilled from center to outermost rind. Add small fresh fruits for color accent and appetite appeal. Don't forget to fill the large enamel coffee pot with amber coffee, hot and clear. Everybody ready? Let's go.

BROOKS OPENS 2ND CAMPAIGN

Pierce Brooks, Dallas insurance executive who led a field of 11 opponents in the first primary, opened his runoff campaign for lieutenant governor with a charge that his opponent did nothing as a legislator to half "the runaway cost of state government."

"My opponent was a member of the Texas senate from 1941 to 1948 when the cost of our state government increased approximately 500 percent and he didn't or couldn't do anything about halting the runaway cost of state government. If he didn't or couldn't do anything about it then, what can the people expect him to do about it now?"

Brooks also charged that his opponent made no effort during his eight years as a senator to comply with the law providing for legislative redistricting after each federal census. The Dallas county candidate said he always has been a staunch advocate of redistricting.

Brooks hailed the result of the first primary which he lead, as convincing proof that the people of the state want a lieutenant governor who is completely free from entangling alliances and political obligations and who won't be dominated by "a certain group of money hungry and power thirsty individuals who are seeking to control the office of lieutenant governor through the election of one of their key men."

Brooks said that "any man who goes into public office with the all-out support of any special group must pay for that help, one way or another, when and if he goes into office."

"My sole allegiance," Brooks said, "is to my God and the people of Texas."

VOTERS ASKED SCRATCH DALLAS

"A "scratch Dallas campaign in the August 26 run-off election has been organized on a statewide basis, Emmette Alexander of Marble Falls announced today.

Alexander, a businessman and civic leader who is sparking the drive, described it as an effort to decentralize the power held by Dallas County in state government and to strengthen representation of other areas in the government.

He noted that four out of five run-offs in the election have candidates from Dallas County.

"As a plain citizen interested in good government, I firmly believe that one big city should not be given that much representation," Alexander said.

The four run-offs which have Dallas condidates are two for the Supreme Court, one for the Court of Criminal Appeals and the lieutenant governor's race. In the lieutenant governor's race are Ben Ramsey of San Augustine County in East Texas and Pierce P. Brooks of Dallas County. W. A. Morrison of Milam County in Central Texas and Robert L. Lattimore County are campaigning for a place on the Court of Criminal Appeals.

In the Supreme Court races are Fagan Dickson of Bexar County in South Texas and Will Wilson of Dallas County, contending for Place 1, and Meade F. Griffin of Hale County in the Panhandle and George W. Harwood of Dallas County, both seeking Place 3.

"There are already five justices on the Supreme Court whose homes are within 128 miles of Dallas," Alexander said. "If the two Supreme Court candidates from Dallas are elected, then seven of the nine justices on the state's highest civil court will be Dallas representatives."

The "scratch Dallas" drive will be conducted through advertising, news releases, word-of-mouth and personal letters, Alexander said.

Exterior Lines Agreeable

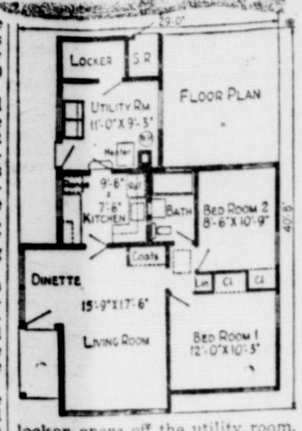
Imaginative treatment of the exterior of this house led to its being selected as Plan No. 202 by American Builder magazine, 30 Church St., New York.

The roof line is the principal distinguishing mark, making the house appear different from most other dwellings in the moderate-price class. The two roof sections differ in height, deliberately increasing the informal atmosphere of the house. The lower section, the ell, covers the entrance way and part of the dinette and living room.

Window area is generous, in keeping with contemporary architectural preferences. However, because most windows are grouped together or placed at corners, the rooms retain ample wall space for furniture.

The two bedrooms and bath are arranged around a small, central hallway. A linen closet opens on the hallway, too. A special coat closet in a corner of the living room is an extra convenience.

The dwelling has no basement. A utility room with more than 100 square feet of floor area is provided for heating plant, water heater and laundry. A storage locker opens off the utility room. A small storage room opening to the outside is intended for lawn mower, hose and garden tools.



(Detailed building plans of this house are available from American Builder, 30 Church St., New York 7, N. Y. Refer to Plan No. 202.)

Men Over 40 Or 50 Need Not Notify Draft Board Of New Address

Some men registered under the World War II draft act, now past 40 and 50 years of age, are attempting to advise old local boards of changes of address and status, although these draft boards have been out of existance for years.

As a result, these cards and letters are flooding present local boards and Selective Service headquarters here.

Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state director of Selective Service, advised today that "these men no longer have to advise of any change of address or status as the law under which they registered was terminated by Congress in 1947."

The only men who are obligated to keep local boards advised are those registered under the Selective Service Act of 1948, which became a law on June 24, 1948, the state director pointed out.

"Any man who has registered with Selective Service in 1948, 1949, or 1950 is obligated to advise his local board of address and status changes." General Wakefield said. "Any man who registered with any local board prior to those years is not required by law to do so."

The state director said that every man should ask himself the question: "Should I be registered under the Selective Service Act of 1948?"

The answer, says General Wakefield, is simple. If the man was born on August 30, 1922, or after, he is required to be registered, provided he is not under 18. If he was born prior to August 30, 1922, he is not required by law to be registered under the Selective Service Act of 1948.

HOME OWNERS QUESTION BOX

Q—What is the best way to clean wicker furniture?

A—First, brush it with a stiff brush. Then dip the brush in lukewarm, soapy water and scrub the furniture. Do a thorough job of rinsing and then wipe the piece as dry as possible with a dry, lintless cloth. Leave the furniture in an airy place until it dries completely.

Q—What is a Fuller faucet?

A—The Fuller faucet is going out of use. It uses a washer shaped somewhat like a bottle cork. To renew the washer, the entire faucet must be unscrewed from the pipe because the only way to reach the washer is through the back opening. The compression faucet, in which the washer is replaced by taking off the handle only, is the newer type.

Q—How many nails should be used to hold down a strip shingle?

A—Six nails are recommended for a three-tab, square butt, asphalt strip shingle. If the tabs are being exposed five inches, all nails should be on a line 5⅝ inches up from the bottom of the butts. There should be a nail one inch in from each side and two nails, three inches apart, centered above each cutout.

Q—Why is lacquer difficult to use?

A—Because it dries so rapidly it tends to retain brush marks. As a rule, only an expert painter or furniture finisher can be expected to do a good lacquering job.

Q—What can be done to keep the corners of a rug from curling up?

A—Rug corners curl because the sizing on the bottom of the rug has worn off. To renew the sizing, stretch the rug upside down on the floor and spray it with a solution of half a pound of chip glue in two quarts of water. Let it dry for about a day.

Males are required to register on their 18th birthdays or within five days thereafter.

"Prayer Changes Things" was the topic of last night's talk by J. Loyd Rice, formerly Minister of the Wheeler church and now of Erick, Okla. Inspirational and instructive, his talk emphasized the power that is available to the Christian through prayer.

Minister Grizzard pointed out that these talks on Christianity in action are designed to help build the spirit of Christian service and worship in the community. An evangelistic meeting is planned by the church for mid-October, it was stated.
