American Fliers Die When U-Boat Torpedoes Ship

Seven U. S. Recruits Of Vessel Laid At British Port; Report 2 Injured

By The Associated Press
GLASGOW—Four American airmen en route to England for service with the RAF perished in the torpedoing of their ship by a submarine whose commander, one Irish survivor said, came to the surface and shamefacedly asked "what caused the explosion?"

Seven others among the eleven American flying recruits aboard were landed at a British port Friday. Two of them were injured.

The names of the dead were not available immediately. The survivors were announced as: Tom Griffin, Mississippi; Norman Echord, Kansas City, whose mother lives in Seattle, Wash. He left Kansas City Aug. 19 to join the American Eagle Squadron in Britain. Jack Gilliland, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Gilliland of Pittsburgh, Kas. James Jordan, San Francisco. B. F. Mayes, Texas, who sustained arm injuries.

Robert Peshin, California, whose leg was broken. Echord, Gilliland, Grove, Mayes and Griffin trained with the British air unit at Tulsa, Okla. All eleven fliers received additional training in Canada.

Refuses To Give Water

William Beattie, Belfast seaman aboard the torpedoed ship, said that after the attack the submarine came to the surface amidst the survivor-laden lifeboats and rafts.

In a conversation with the U-boat commander, described by Beattie as a German in his early twenties, the Irish seaman related the latter disclaimed that his craft had fired a torpedo.

"He seemed ashamed of what he had done and asked us what caused the explosion," Beattie related.

Beattie said he asked the submarine commander for water and that he replied he had none to spare but did hand over four tins of meat and two bottles of rum.

For 12 hours the survivors clung to lifeboats and rafts before being rescued by a Polish warship, Beattie related.

Mrs. C. A. McClintic will donate a site in the city on which the Midland Civic Theatre will build a workshop and community center if the city grants adjoining space. The theatre group plans to start construction at once on a 50 by 90 foot workshop and community center building.

It will contain rehearsal rooms, a small play room, a stage, and dressing rooms. Junior and senior civic theatre members will use the playhouse where only small plays will be presented.

The theatre group already owns two acres of land in south Midland, donated by John M. Gist.

Building Starts On 105 Structures At Midland Air Corps School And Rock Crusher Will Operate Monday

Construction of practically all buildings at the Sloan Field Advanced Twin Engine and Bombardier Training Center will be completed within five weeks, O. K. Johnson, project manager for the general contractors, Cage Brothers and F. M. Reeves and Sons, said Saturday.

Work has started on 105 of the 204 buildings for the big Army Air Corps school. White asbestos siding is being installed on some of the buildings, including a large warehouse, and the other structures are in various stages of construction.

The 105 are located in twelve blocks and include the chapel, theatre and recreation structures. A large rock crusher, moved to the field by the contractors will go into action Monday to grind out gravel for roads and streets. Streets will have 12-inch rock base. Johnson said plenty of rock is available at the field.

More Lumber Arrives
More than 6,000,000 feet of lumber has arrived at the Military Reservation and thirteen cars of building materials were received Saturday.

The asbestos siding is in two-foot sheets and quickly installed on the structures. Workmen Monday will start putting asphalt roofing on several buildings.

Common labor and building labor in Midland practically has been exhausted, Bill Orr, personnel director for the contractors said. The Texas State Employment Office at the Midland Baseball Park still is anxious to enlist Midland workers, but it now is necessary for the contractors to employ men from other sections of West Texas.

More than 2,100 persons were at work at Sloan Field Saturday on the C. & R. payroll.

Approximately 200 more carpenters will be ordered to work next Wednesday if windows, doors and other mill work arrives as scheduled. More than 4,700 pieces of lumber went through the four saws at the Military Reservation Friday.

Approximately 40 men will be busy on emergency work at the field Sunday.

White House Conceals Nature Of Speech But Nation Awaits Reply To German Attack On Destroyer

Chief Executive Ignores Charge Hurlled By Nazis

By Douglas B. Cornell
Of The Associated Press

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—President Roosevelt ignored for Saturday night a Nazi declaration he had given the Navy shooting orders and wanted to incite the American people to war, but he will broadcast an address of "major importance" Monday night to the American people and to the world.

Speculate Declaration

A matter of immediate speculation was the possibility that Mr. Roosevelt would discuss the full implications of a naval action in the North Atlantic Thursday between a German submarine and the United States destroyer Greer. While neither vessel was hit, apparently, the incident brought strong repercussions both in Germany and the United States.

Reporters relayed a summary of the communique to the President through William D. Hassett, a presidential secretary.

Conjectures on the possible range of the address went so far as to cover the chances that the President might be getting ready to ask his countrymen to take up arms against Hitler and his allies but there was absolutely no basis for putting such a step in any category but pure speculation and guesswork.

The address will be delivered from the White House in Washington at 8 p. m. C. S. T. and will be carried by all major radio companies.

Red Army And Fliers Drive Germans Away From Strategic City

MOSCOW, Sunday (AP)—The Red Army claimed Saturday to have driven the Germans out of vital approaches to Leningrad with fierce counter-attacks while the Red Air force gave full backing with "massed blows" upon invading panzer troops, infantry and artillery.

The Soviet midnight communique again declared the battle raged on all fronts. But the fight in the Leningrad sector was the greatest and the most vital of the Russian-German war which entered its 12th week today.

Reds In Counter-Attacks.
The giant rival armies fought in the northwest over battlefields darkened by rain and fog.

Dispatches to the army newspaper Red Star declared the troops of Marshal Klementi Voroshilov, defending Russia's second city, mopped up one occupied zone south of Leningrad, pinched off another German armored wedge, penetrated the German lines at several points and crushed one major Nazi air base in never-ceasing counter-thrusts.

The Russians also were employing the counter-attacks at Kiev and Odessa, the other great cities to which the Germans have approached closely. They were said to be repulsing or holding the besiegers.

Cotton To The Front

With predictions of agricultural leaders for a million dollar cotton crop in Midland County this fall, cotton comes to the front as a major factor in the prosperity of our community.

Few persons realized the importance of this crop to Midland until farmers gathered the other night to discuss the problem of harvesting this bumper crop. Business men met with them.

In Midland County 23,000 acres are planted in cotton. Agricultural leaders estimated the crop will produce more than a half bale to the acre.

Campaigns have been made for several years to get more cotton goods into circulation and as the crop in this area increases in importance, Midland will take a more active part in the cotton promotion.

Cotton is the South's largest cash crop. It provides employment for millions of people. It's an American industry.

Midland gins are ready to handle the bumper crop. Some means undoubtedly will be found to provide cotton pickers to gather the crop and Midland cotton will go into the trade marts of the world.

An Army To Be Proud Of

The summer maneuvers of the various American army units give every reason for Americans to be proud of their army.

Some of the conditions of the problems worked out have come about as close to actual warfare as that can be done in time of peace, and some of the hardships undergone have approximated those of an actual war. War Secretary Stimson probably was right when he said that troops participating in the maneuvers are far, far ahead of the divisions sent to France during World War I. Yet those divisions, thrown in against crack German divisions with four years of experience back of them did very well indeed. They broke the German lines, at a cost greater than they would have had to pay had their experience been greater, but they broke them.

So today, There is no reason to be discouraged. The armies in training today are good soldiers, and, given a little more specialized training for the specialized warfare of today, they will be quite capable of meeting any emergency the country may have to meet.

Jaycees Will Get Memberships For Texas Good Roads

The Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce had plans well underway Saturday for conducting the annual membership campaign of the Texas Good Roads Association in Midland. The drive here will be headed by Edwin Garland and R. J. Doe Graham who are arranging details for the whirlwind campaign.

A liberal percentage of the membership fees will go to the Jaycees to be used in carrying on an enlarged civic program of that organization. The drive will be made next week.

A committee composed of 20 or 30 volunteer Jaycee workers will confer with Midland citizens in the interest of the highway organization. The town will be divided into sections with workers assigned to each district. The annual membership fee in the Texas Good Roads Association is $1 a year, which covers annual subscription to "Texas Parade," monthly magazine of the association.

Midland, for the last two years, has been credited with about 200 members in the association, which works closely with the Texas Highway Commission. A goal of 250 members has been set by the Jaycees this year.

Opposes Tax Division

The Texas Good Roads Association, organized in 1932, is a state-wide voluntary, non-political, non-profit association of highway users joined together for the purpose of protecting the motorists' interest so as to assure the use of motorists' tax revenues for the construction and maintenance of an adequate and safe road system.

The association has carried forward a continual educational campaign in behalf of the good roads program and rights of motorists to modern safe roads in return for taxes paid. It opposes all legislative efforts to divert motorists' taxes to non-highway purposes and has been successful many times in stopping such efforts. It also opposes unfair taxation of motorists and cooperates with all governmental agencies in behalf of a sound long-range road program for Texas.

A constitutional amendment against diversion of motorists' taxes is advocated by the association. The association has taken a leading part in the bond assumption proposition which will be before the special session of the Texas legislature next week.

The program of the association of interest to the entire state, is of especial interest to Midland and West Texas.

The association was responsible for bringing Brady Gentry, chairman of the highway commission, to Midland last year for a speaking engagement.

Britain Reports Submarine Lost

LONDON (AP)—A British submarine, apparently of a new class, was given up for lost Saturday night by the admiralty, the 30th undersea craft acknowledged lost by the British during the war.

The vessel, the P 33, is "overdue and must be considered lost," a communique said. Details were not given.

It was generally assumed that the P 33 represented a new class, since the latest edition of Jane's fighting ships, the authoritative manual on the world's navies, carries no mention of any such designation.

ARTIST COMPLETES FOLIO OF HARVARD ATHLETES

ROCKPORT, Mass. (UP)—It's a long stretch from first violin to third base but Donald C. Greason artist, has successfully bridged the gap.

Greason, whose studies of the Boston Symphony Orchestra won him fame, has concluded a folio of paintings and drawings made on the "playing fields of Harvard."

Greason sees no incongruity between his choice of subjects. Grace and rhythm, he says, are as characteristic of football as they are of playing the viola.

His athletic series are described as catching the "staccato tension of football, the adagio grace of baseball, the smooth rhythm of the oarsman, the classical movements of the track meet—weaving them into a unified body of painting which would constitute a major work of art."

Expects Appointment Of Worker To Help Soldiers Obtain Jobs

The Midland County draft board expects a re-employment committee-man to be appointed soon to assist soldiers in obtaining employment when they are discharged from the service.

According to selective service headquarters, the re-employment committee-man will contact former employers before the soldier returns and see if his job is available.

In cases where the State Employment Service is unable to find a job for a returning soldier, the committee-man must look for home employment opportunities. He may call on service clubs and others for assistance.

The War Department is co-operating with the Selective Service system in helping the government obtain civilian jobs for returning soldiers. Data about occupational and educational history and military experience is being compiled at camps.

Senator Weinert Acts In Place Of Governor On Trip To Oklahoma

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas had its third governor for the year Saturday as Senator R. A. Weinert of Seguin occupied the executive offices in the absence of Governor Coke R. Stevenson.

Amid a flood of congratulatory telegrams and visitors, and a banquet in his honor Saturday night, Acting Governor Weinert found time for a few official acts, the first of which was signing a commission for former State Senator Morris Roberts of Pettus as a member of the Texas A. & T. College board of regents.

He also revived a long discontinued custom of naming honorary members of his military staff. These honors fell to Mrs. Fay Stevenson, the governor's wife, Senate Secretary Bob Barker, and Dr. A. M. Snell of Rochester, Minn., whom Weinert credited with curing a recurring headache that had distressed the senator for 15 years or more. All were made lieutenant-colonels.

Governor Stevenson was visiting Governor Leon C. Phillips in Oklahoma and planned to reenter Texas Monday. He listed a Houston visit that day and a speedy return to Austin for the convening of a special session of the Legislature beginning Tuesday.

Admiralty Enters Third Year Under Greatest Tension

LONDON (UP)—The British navy enters the third year of the war under the greatest strain in its history, but holding a comfortable edge in the Battle of the Atlantic and still dominating the Mediterranean and other ocean battle zones.

The steady widening of the zone of military operations during the second year of the war stretched the navy's front until now it extends from the Arctic throughout the North and South Atlantic, through the Mediterranean and around the Cape of Good Hope to the Indian Ocean and South Pacific.

With virtually every strategic expanse of water in the world, except the Pacific to watch, the navy still is compelled to concentrate its main strength along the Atlantic "lifeline" to bring to Britain the American supplies and food without which Britain would be helpless against the military, industrial and agricultural might of Germany and German-occupied Europe.

The toll of Allied and British shipping taken in the North Atlantic by German submarines, surface raiders and long-range bombers, is decreasing steadily. This may be due largely to President Roosevelt's order to the U. S. Atlantic Fleet to patrol the vital ocean lanes, reporting the presence of German air and sea craft to British warships and warplanes.

The combined action of the British and American fleets in the Atlantic, together with the steady improvement in armament of merchant vessels and the gradual increase in the number of escorting warships for convoys also have forced the German navy to extend its zone of operations.

The U-boats, charged with the task of smashing the larger and more valuable convoys plying across the North Atlantic, were forced to alter their strategy and prowl in packs of four and five, bobbing up in the midst of convoys and discharging their torpedoes.

Anti-Tank Unit Displays Value In Big Maneuvers

By Rice Yahner

WITH THE THIRD ARMY IN LOUISIANA (AP)—Intense training of anti-tank organizations is making it more difficult for armored divisions to catch infantry and artillery unaware, Major General George S. Patton said Saturday, although a sudden stab by his men in steel brought an unexpected week-end armistice to Third Army maneuvers.

Before the halt was called the second armored division, commanded by General Patton, rammed its way into the Kisatchie National Forest northwest of Alexandria, but its advance was slowed by anti-tank defenses of 37 and 75 millimeter guns and land mines.

Alexandria itself was startled as it has never been since becoming a center of army training when a dawn attack on the city, defended by "Red" troops, brought Blue columns pouring through the streets in such force that a major traffic snarl was averted only by prompt action of maneuver units in calling a halt to the proceedings.

The mechanized division's striking power was so forceful that it captured the entire 61st Field Artillery Battalion of the First Cavalry divisions which included anti-tank guns placed to protect the mounted troops' withdrawal.

Previously the principal anti-tank defense of the army had been companies or battalions acting as an organic part of regiments or divisions.

But great groups of specially trained artillerymen with truck-drawn guns are being welded into quick-striking tank-destroyers that seek out the mechanized divisions before they get set to lift. These groups of about 2,000 men each are to operate with the field armies.

While the destroyer groups are being trained the army is producing self-propelled, front-firing tank chasers that can go into action as soon as they sight targets instead of having to unlimber towed guns and wheel them around.

After resting through Sunday the 250,000 men in the Third Army games will resume activity Monday in the final preliminaries before the giant maneuvers against the Second Army's 250,000 men, starting Sept. 15 and continuing two weeks.

Roberts Rides Fifth Horse At Colorado City

CIVIL WAR VETERAN, 96, WON'T GIVE UP TOBACCO

VINELAND, N. J. (UP)—John H. Winder, Civil War Veteran, is 96, been chewing tobacco most of his life, and, in reply to a physician's warning, said "It's too late to stop now."

Attributing his longevity to "good luck," Winder arises at 7:30 a. m. and retires at 7:30 p. m. He takes long walks to keep his good health and youthful appearance.

Winder was never injured in the Civil War although he served 14 months in Virginia and North Carolina with the Union army.

Predict National Feeling As Result Of Legion Meeting

MILWAUKEE (UP)—A sobering sense of responsibility promises to cast its influence over traditional fun and gaiety of the 23rd national convention of the American Legion here, Sept. 14 to 18.

Legion leaders believe world events have justified their long campaign for strong national defenses, adding to their organization's influence. They feel certain that policies outlined at the Milwaukee convention will be considered a touchstone of public sentiment and may help guide the government's future course.

The legion national executive committee already has endorsed conveying by the navy to "insure the delivery of war materials, food and medical supplies to Great Britain to the end that the battle of the Atlantic may be won."

To the convention resolutions committee will go the job of sitting from an expected 800 resolutions those best suited to draw an expression of views on the convey issue from the delegates. Also scheduled for thorough discussion are the administration's foreign policies.

President May Attend
Because of the legion's leadership in the defense movement, officials of the American Legion Convention Corporation of Milwaukee are hopeful that President Roosevelt may visit the convention. The President has indicated that he will attend if possible. It would be his first legion convention appearance since the 1933 meeting at Chicago.

Wendell L. Willkie also has announced plans to attend. However, he says he will come as an individual legionnaire, not as a guest. A majority of the 147 representatives, 22 governors and 23 senators who belong to the legion also are expected to be present.

National headquarters announce that the convention will be the largest in legion history because the 1941 membership exceeds that of other years by several thousands. A total of 1,550 delegates

Reykjavik Becomes Iceland's War City

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (UP)—This city, in the year of British occupation, has become a wartime capital, with many of its buildings sandbagged, its streets jammed with army lorries and its limited harbor facilities strained to the utmost.

Docks, formerly used only by fishermen and small vessels plying between Iceland and Europe, are piled high with food stocks and other war supplies.

Adding to the obvious signs of war are the wrecks of numerous vessels pulled up on the beach or lying on their sides in shallow water. Some were wrecked in the tremendous gales which sweep Iceland. Of one, only the forward half remained. It had been torpedoed a few miles off Iceland, sheared cleanly in two. Watertight bulkheads kept part of the hull afloat and it had been towed in for salvage.

War Makes Changes In Articles Of Home

CHAMPAIGN-URBANA, ILL. (UP)—The defense program is beginning to make changes in everyday household articles through America. One of the latest to be affected is the ordinary shaving cream tube.

The requisitioning of tin for defense production means that shaving cream and other toilet and medical preparations sold in tin tubes will be distributed in new containers, according to the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply.

Tube manufacturers are developing substitute alloys for tin used in their products, and they expect to save 1,000 tons annually. Federal experts are experimenting with potential substitutes also.

will represent 11,777 posts and 1,100,000 members of the legion's 58 departments. The record legion auxiliary membership of 550,000 will be represented by 750 delegates.

Midland Merchant Invites Customers To Visit Attractive New Store On North Main; Trammell Is Manager

With Midland experiencing rapid property improvement as a result of government construction, one of the outstanding business developments here is the establishment of Smith's Men's Shop at 105 North Main Street.

J. C. Smith, a successful merchant here the last five and a half years, opened the new business two weeks ago the first door south of Smith's Ladies' Shop. Formal opening of the new store will be all day Monday, between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Ray Trammell, with Smith for more than 10 years, is managing the men's shop, and James J. Moreland, who became associated with the business a week ago, will assist in operation. Smith personally will be at the new store Monday to greet his West Texas customers and L. J. Burdine, also associated with him a number of years, will assist. The opening is planned to familiarize customers and visitors with the large selection of national-line merchandise, and give them a general idea of what the store offers—general because, although the store now is equipped to adequately serve its patrons, it yet is to be enhanced with larger stock and conveniences for the public.

The new store, in the Crawford Hotel building, has been modernly designed with attractive front and display windows and interior fixtures. The interior is 21 by 70 feet and well lighted with fluorescent fixtures. Air-conditioning will be provided next summer, and a balcony built soon in the rear of the store over the shoe department for office, storage and display space.

Shop Well Staffed
"This is the first time in my experience as a merchant that Smith's has an exclusive men's store," the proprietor said. He and Mrs. Smith hark back to approximately 40 years as merchants in Texas and Oklahoma.

With opening and operation of the men's store, Mr. and Mrs. Smith plan to remodel the former J. C. Smith's Store, 107 North Main, before Jan. 1. That business now is Smith's Ladies' Shop.
The men's shop is well staffed

CHAPTER I

JUDY ALLEN met Sandy Ammerman quite by accident at LaGuardia Airport that night. It was damp and the beacon lights shone through a mist that dimmed the radiance of the incoming planes.

One minute Judy's bright eyes were focused on the jettable in her hands. A famous couturier, an exile, was due on the Clipper, and she had come to interview the refugee. The next minute a tall young aviator, gray-eyed and laughing, swung Judy around.

"Going somewhere tonight, Judy?" he asked, strong brown fingers closing over hers. "If you aren't, how about tagging along with me?"

Because Sandy Ammerman's touch always made Judy's heart swing like a pendulum whose beat was a growing wild, Judy covered her confusion with gaiety.

"No, darling, I stay places. But you're in uniform. That means up. Where?"

as it left the field, starting westward. Judy waved though she knew he could not see her.

SHE was silent for a moment, leaning against the wind, looking high. Under the green flowers on her sailor, russet curls, glistening in the shining night, took on a new-penny luster.

But her eyes were somber. When you loved a man you might as well admit it, at least to yourself, she was thinking. No fun keeping a secret there. Anyway, Sandy knew her heart did acrobatics when he came around.

Not always—just nearly always. But marriage was something else. How could a girl marry a man who wandered . . . to Spain . . . to China . . . any place that shoulders were broader than other shoulders, and his rough, bright hair wouldn't stay combed? What if he had come through Harvard with honors in science?

If she could transfer her feeling for Sandy to someone else, Philip Rogers, for instance. And why couldn't she, she wondered, as she came back to the waiting room. Philip was good-looking, too. Not carelessly attractive as Sandy was. More polished, though.

There were at least 14 girls around the office who would buy a new perfume and a dinner frock worth five times its price in silk or lace, for the sake of a date with Phil.

The couturier was not on the ship. With a small, weary sigh Judy realized that she would have to hunt up another designer for her column's interview. She had half a dozen names of stylists who swung the fashion pendulum. She would make an appointment with one of them tomorrow.

She turned her low gray roadster toward the spires of Manhattan. As usual she caught her breath at the shining turrets that marched so high. Sandy was far above them. Free from columns and interviews and not caring that there was a patterned world below him—a world where people moved on green lights, stopped for red, and earned their daily bread by regular routine. Sandy was flying high with his dreams—and his new parachute.

"Judy sweet, I'll send you a card from the Municipal Airport, but I'll probably get back before it does," he said. "And by the way, my darling, you are in love with me, even if you won't admit it. Otherwise why would you draw a perfectly nice pair of eyebrows together? See you one week from today. Is it a date?"

"Of course it's a date, silly. I'll bring a folding chair and sit by the runway and everybody will say, 'Oh, that's a foolish maiden who put her stock in oil.'"

"You won't lose, Judy." His arms were strong around her, his kiss was cool, hard, swift. "I love you," he murmured.

Then he was gone, a fleet ship running down the apron, circling

Clark's Bulldogs To Open Season Friday Night Against Ysleta And Then Enter Tough District Combat

By Tanner Laine.

The Midland high Bulldogs will open the 1941 football season Friday night against Ysleta there in a night fracas.

Then comes a series of week-end encounters that will send the grid-ters through a tough District 3-AA seven-game schedule and one "inter-sectional" tilt.

Semi-secret practices were conducted last week, and Stanton was engaged in a no-decision scrimmage.

Once-a-day workouts start Monday with the opening of school. Citizens will get a look-see of the team at a "Pigskin Preview" Thursday night Sept. 18. Coaches and players will be introduced.

Coach Earle Clark put the stress on learning plays in the first week of drills. Twenty-five team candidates are performing daily in workouts.

Clark Wants Passer.

No first-string jobs are sewed up, according to the coaches but the top eleven looks like Davidson and Lester ends; Sevier and Cooke, tackles; Welsh and Whitmire or Leftwich, guards; Noves, center; and Hall, Wheeler, Foster, and Kelly in the backfield.

Others likely to see service and capable of nudging a starter off the first eleven are: Billy Richards, Junior Byrd, Hershel Parks, Keith Graham, Jimmy Watson, Gene Estes, Jack Taylor, Bill Chancellor, Tom Tisdale.

Clark is looking for a passer, punter, and some blockers. All backfield men have been drilled in those phases and nobody is certain of assignments except Foster as a blocking back and Ivan Hall a tailback.

Keith Graham's speed raised the eyebrows of coaches. The lad has been out of football a couple of years but looks ready to go. Sevier, a new comer, is a stocky, blonde light heavyweight, and stacks up well in the line. Noves has the edge over Taylor in blocking an centering the ball.

Schedule Announced.

Ticket orders were placed last week and the ducats go on sale immediately after being printed. The corrected and official schedule was announced. It includes five home tilts and four abroad. Midland will play three night and two day tilts at home. Holiday games will be played on Lackey Field in the daylight. Nov. 11 and Nov. 27.

Second tilt of the season is the Austin high of El Paso game here the night of Sept. 26. San Angelo will be invaded Oct. 3 and Sweetwater comes here Oct. 10 at night to defend the pre-season favorite sign tacked on them by district mentors.

A game with Breckenridge was cancelled when the Buckaroos reported a conflict with a district game. Midland beat the Bucks here last season.

The Canines go to Big Spring Oct. 23 and its at night. The Abilene Eagles pay Midland a visit the night of Oct. 31.

Lamesa, a district favorite, has to prove that against the Bulldogs here Nov. 11.

The annual Odessa encounter is at Fly Field here Nov. 20.

Colorado City Wolves howl into town for the final game of the season Nov. 27.

Softball Series To Start Monday

Midland's "city championship series" in softball starts at 8 p.m. Monday at the Southside park. Principals are Mackey Motors, winner of the first half season, and the Independents, second half titlists.

The winner of two games out of three will be declared city champion. Other tilts are carded Wednesday and Friday night.

Chicago White Sox And Browns Divide

CHICAGO. (AP)—After dropping to third place when Bob Muncrief shut them out, 3 to 0, in the first game, the Chicago White Sox drove George Caster from the mound with six runs in the first inning of the second game Saturday to split a double-header with the St. Louis Browns, 7 to 1. The split left the White Sox a half-game behind the Boston Red Sox for second.

First game: St. Louis110 001 000—3 12 0 Chicago000 000 000—0 5 2 Muncrief and Ferrell; Tresh and Lee.

Second game: St. Louis000 000 001—1 7 0 Chicago800 010 000—7 12 1 Caster, Ostermuller Jott and Ferrell; Rigney and Turner.

Down SPORTSLANE

By Tanner Laine

(Editor's Note: Tanner Laine, sports writer of The Reporter-Telegram who for the last 10 months has covered West Texas sports events, will write a regular sports column on Thursdays and Sundays, touching on interesting bits of news that would not come under the headlines. His first column follows.)

Groomed for a center position on the TCU 1941 grid team, Dave Wafford ex-Midland high plunger, surprised Coach Dutch Meyer and became a bridegroom instead. The big athlete married Thursday in McCamey and will live at Crane, where he is employed by an oil company. Wafford here earlier in the summer did not jingle out any wedding bell notes and said he was getting in shape for a big season with the Horned Rovers.

men have played big time football but it looks like Wafford went all-out for the matrimonial business and chose a cottage instead of a college.

Midland's school system could have more coaches than football players, almost. The array of athletic tutoring talent includes: Head Man Earle Clark, a halfback on the famous TCU national champ team of 1938 and a three-year letterman; First Assistant Lwood Dow, hot shot of the Canyon Buffaloes three seasons and one of the nation's leading scorers, also a professional football player with the Philadelphia Eagles; Murl Preels, Baylor track and football ace, who mentors the junior high; Earl Kilgough, an athlete of no mean shakes at West Texas State; and Dewey Johnson, at Junior High, co-captain and basketball and football player at West Texas State. And now comes word that G. B. Rush, science teacher at the high school, is a successful coach. Frank Monroe, principal, lettered on Canyon's "tallest team in America" as a basketball player.

Mackey Motors (darlings of the city softball league) pouted when they heard the Independents were importing pitching talent for the big softball "City Series" three nights this week. Then the Mighty Macks got bold and declared the Independents could pitch Bobby Feller if they wanted to "wet a take 'em", quoting Porky Willis, a Mack.

ROUNDING UP THE STRAYS: Vic Montgomery, who competed in the Midland rodeo, was a former TCU football player. Stanton had a 230-pound tackle in scrimmage with Midland the other day and opportunistic Earle Clark declares he saw five Bulldogs crawl out from under the hefty Buffalo after one line play.

ACC Dean Will Preach Here

Walter Adams, dean of Abilene Christian College, will preach at the morning and evening services Sunday at the Church of Christ at A and Tennessee Streets. He has been associated with the college for several years.

Brooklyn Takes No Chances And Beats New York

BROOKLYN. (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers, who underrated the New York Giants last Saturday and dropped a double-header to their cross-town rivals, made no mistake Saturday—blasting out a 4 to 1 victory that kept them on top of the National League.

Curt Davis produced another fine pitching performance to add to his recent string, holding the Giants to nine scattered hits, and received potent support from Dolph Camilli and Pete Reiser.

Brooklyn made only seven safeties off three New York pitchers, but Camilli collected his 30th home run of the season to start the Dodgers in the right direction and Reiser supplied a double and a triple.

The game will start at the Midland Fair, Inc. polo field at 3 p.m. Jay Floyd, captain of Midland's team, said his squad would be composed of Clarence Scharbauer, Jr., John Dublin, Jr., James Franklin Cowden, Courtney Cowden, and himself.

The Big Spring team, recent winner in the West Texas championship tourney at Lamesa, will have Bennett, Floyd Wasson, Lewis Rix, and Gus White, Jr.

Oklahoma City Takes Victory From Sports

OKLAHOMA CITY. (AP)—Shreveport seemed more concerned with saving its regulars and exercising its pitchers Saturday afternoon than with winning the game with Oklahoma City, so the Indians managed to take the contest, 4 to 3, to even the series at one apiece.

Also a track performer, Clinton will be a candidate for a line position.

Red Sox Cinch Second In Loop

NEW YORK. (AP)—The New York Yankees made their first appearance as the new champions of the American League Saturday and were defeated without much effort by the Boston Red Sox, 8 to 1.

Jaycees Will Present 'Pigskin Parade' At Lackey Field Sept. 18

The Jaycee-sponsored "Pigskin Parade" will be presented the night of Sept. 18 on Lackey Field.

The program was set back one night to allow coaches to scout district games of Bulldog opponents.

At the night prelude to the football season program, coaches, players, majorettes, and the Midland high school band will be introduced. The band will play numbers, and coaches will put the Bulldogs through formations and explain phases of football such as blocking, tackling, and side-stepping.

New rules of football also are expected to be explained by competent officials.

The program may be broadcast.

School Officials Study Eligibility

MONAHANS. (Special)—Coaches and superintendents of District 7-A schools met here Saturday to discuss eligibility regulations and other rules for the football season. No players were declared ineligible.

Members of 7-A are: Pecos, Wink, Monahans, Kermit, McCamey, Crane and Fort Stockton.
Supt. R. H. Blackwell of Pecos is chairman of the district executive committee.

Kovacs Brilliant In Tennis Victory

NEW YORK. (AP)—Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Calif., played brilliant tennis to defeat defending champion Don McNeill of Oklahoma City, 6-4, 6-2, 10-8, in the semifinals of the National Tennis Championships at Forest Hills Saturday before a crowd of 12,000.

Kovacs' opponent in the men's final Sunday will be Bobby Riggs, the 1939 champion, who battled for five sets before he subdued 20-year-old Ted Schroeder of Glendale, Calif., 6-4, 6-4, 1-6, 9-11, 7-5, in the other semi-final.

The women's finalists are Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke of New York, who beat the veteran Helen Jacobs, 6-3, 2-6, 6-1, and Pauline Betz, of Los Angeles, winner over Margaret Osborne of San Francisco by scores of 6-4, 6-3.

Kermit Captures Football Battle From Buffaloes

KERMIT. (Special)—The Kermit Yellow Jackets and Stanton Buffaloes ushered in the football season in West Texas here Saturday night as the former won handily from the visitors, 20 to 0.

Using a T-formation, the Yellow Jackets scored in the second, third, and fourth quarters.

McKee, McKiver and Neely figured in the Yellow Jacket scoring, while Brown and Henson were outstanding for Stanton.

Vander Meer Is Brilliant In Win Against Cardinals

ST. LOUIS. (AP)—The Cardinals didn't have a chance against Johnny Vander Meer's two-hit pitching Saturday as they dropped a 2 to 0 decision to Cincinnati and fell two full games behind Brooklyn.

The shutout burned a big hole in the Cardinal pennant hopes as the Dodgers sailed further into the lead with a 4-1 victory over the Giants.

Only a single by Johnny Hopp in the first inning and a double by Martin Marion in the fifth robbed Vander Meer, the one major league pitcher ever to hurl two successive hitless games, of his third no-hit performance.

He struck out 14 Cardinal batters with his blazing fast ball and crackling curves, only three short of the National League record set by Dizzy Dean against the Chicago Cubs in 1933. The Major League strikeout record is 18 set by Bobby Feller.

The score:
Cincinnati000 100 001—2 7 0
St. Louis000 000 000—0 2 1
Vander Meer and Lombardi; White and W. Cooper.

DiMaggio's Home Run Helps Pirates To Win

PITTSBURGH. (AP)—Vince DiMaggio's nineteenth homer of the season with two out and Elbie Fletcher on second base in the second inning gave the Pittsburgh Pirates an early lead Saturday as they defeated the Cubs 6 to 4.

The score:

Pittsburgh021 102 00x—6 9 0

Watlington To Enter New Boat In Regatta

Tot Watlington, Midland speedboat racer, will enter his new boat in the 38-horsepower races at Abilene Sunday.

Other Midland sportsmen are expected to attend the regatta.

CHICAGO. (AP)—Three sharpshooters of big-money golf—Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson and Sam Snead—closed in Saturday on that surprising fairways sniper from the Ozarks, Leonard Dodson, laying the groundwork for a wide open final round engagement Sunday in the $11,000 Tam O'Shanter championship.

Dodson, whose marksmanship picked off scoring honors for the first two days, still was out in front with a 54-hole total of 206 strokes. But his one over par 73 Saturday was just enough off his furious 38-hole pace of 133 to enable a number of pursuers to pull into position for what loomed as a rousing finish to the season's biggest golf money skirmish.

Had Four Bogies. For right behind the 29-year-old leader from Kansas City were Nelson, at 208, Hogan at 209 and Snead at 210, three great money players who've demonstrated their ability to drive from behind.

Dodson, out in 35, one under par, had four bogies on the back nine as his tee and putting game wavered, winding up with a 38. A great gallery of 12,000 fans had plenty of action in Saturday's program, which ended with Nelson's bid for a third round tie with Dodson crumbling before the furious home nine bogies as his usually fine iron game let him down. His card was 36-36-72.

Hogan, one shot back, had a third round 70, clipping par two strokes, going out and equalling regulation 36 on the home trip.

Livingston's Single Gives Phils Victory

BOSTON. (AP)—Pinch hitter Tom Livingston's single in the ninth scoring Bob Bragan gave the Philadelphia Phillies a 4 to 3 victory over the Boston Braves. Max West of Boston had tied the game in the eighth with his 11th homer.

The score:

Six-Room Manse To Await Family

A brand new six-room manse, built to their liking, will await the Rev. and Mrs. Hubert Hopper when they arrive in Midland early in November where he will take over the pastorate of the First Presbyterian Church.

A contract for the six-room, brick-veneer house is expected to be let next week, with construction to get underway immediately. Plans for the structure were submitted by the new pastor and met with the approval of church officials.

Two lots on the 1200 block of West Missouri Street last week were acquired by the church from Chas. A. and Harry McClintic as the site for the manse.

The Rev. Mr. Hopper, assistant pastor of the Highland Park Presbyterian Church in Dallas, was called to the Midland pastorate several weeks ago to succeed the Rev. W. J. Coleman who took a pastorate in Bonham.

The Rev. Ben Moore of Brownwood is serving as supply pastor at the church until the arrival of the new pastor.

The old church manse, in the 900 block of West Missouri Street, recently was sold by the church.

An Ordovician test in Eastern Upton County, Plymouth Oil Company No. 1 D. L. Alford et al, had reached 3,404 feet in black shale.

Stanford No. 1 Standard Oil Company of Texas, second test and one-quarter mile north offset to the discovery well in the Spencer pool three miles west of the Estes pool in Ward County, is drilling past 1,558 feet in hard shale and sandy lime.

In the Estes pool, Gulf No. 149 E. W. Estes was shot with 320 quarts in pay between 2,542 and 2,640 feet, total depth, and flowed at the rate of 397.04 barrels daily.

Fred Turner Jr. of Midland No. 1 W. W. Turner, Brewster County wildcat, is drilling in lime below 900 feet.

Abell Pool

Stanford No. 2 Conry-Davis-Graham, in the Abell Permian pool of Northern Pecos County, is swabbing 30 barrels of oil per hour through 2-inch tubing after acidizing with 2,000 gallons through perforations in 5½-inch casing. Pipe was perforated with four shots per foot from 3,935-46 feet. The well is bottomed at 3,984 feet in Clear Fork lime and casing is cemented one foot up from total depth. It is an east offset to Stanford No. 1 Conry-Davis unit, the pool opener.

In the Abell Ordovician pool several miles farther west, Stanford No. 1 William Rixse unit logged base of Permian at 4,900 feet and topped the Tulip Creek formation of the Simpson, middle Ordovician, at 5,070 feet. It is drilling ahead past 5,225 feet in shale and lime.

"This spirit of assassination, disregard for the rights of other nations and arrogant contempt for the United States dragged us into the last war.

"We do not want to become involved in the present war, but if our ships or citizens are attacked we are going to defend them."

Senator Capper (R-Kas.), a member of the Senate foreign relations committee and one who has not voted consistently for administration foreign measures, directly challenged the truth of the Nazi statement.

"My opinion is that the Germans have made some misstatements in their communique," he said. "I can hardly believe that the President would order our warships to attack in an effort to incite the people into war. Beyond that, there is little that can be said until all the facts are known."

North Chaves County Gets Wildcat Location

HOBBS, N. M.—North Central Chaves County gained location for a wildcat test Saturday as J. O. Wood staked No. 1 J. L. Greene 1-930 feet from the south and west lines of section 7-7s-29s. The test lies over 30 miles northeast of Roswell and is two and one-half miles northeast of Elkins, on the Santa Fe line.

Uscan Oil Company and Marshall No. 1 Joe Cunningham, Lea County wildcat seven miles west of the Monument pool, is drilling below 4,128 feet in solid lime topped at 3,850 feet. The well topped brown lime at 3,340 feet. It is located 660 feet out of the southwest corner of section 22-19s-35s.

Hopes of production from Richmond Drilling Company of Midland, Texas No. 1 Shell Oil Company-State, Western Lea wildcat, four and one-half miles equidistant between the Maljamar and Vacuum pools, were dim as it failed to log any increases in oil in deepening to 4,634 feet. The test is drilling ahead below that point in hard lime formation. It is making one and one-third barrels of fluid, practically all water, every eight hours. At total depth of 4,589 feet the well was acidized with 1,000 gallons and for a while swabbed one and one-half barrels of oil per hour. It was put on pump and yield declined to one barrel of fluid, 40 per cent oil and the rest salt water, every six to eight hours.

Location For Salt Lake

The Richmond try is located 660 feet from the south and 1,980 from the east line of section 22-17s-33s, in an area generally accepted as structurally high.

The new Salt Lake pool of Western Lea, opened recently by Harry Leonard and Van Welch No. 1 State, a 500-barrel well, received a new location in Continental Oil Company No. 1-A-7 Brooks, 660 feet out of the southwest corner of section 7-20s-33s. It is a north offset to the pool opener.

Leonard and Welch No. 2 State, south offset to the discovery, last was reported fishing for tools, bottomed at 940 feet in red rock. It is in section 18-20s-33s.

On the west edge of the South Lovington pool of Lea, Stanford Oil & Gas Company No. 7-E State, Tract 18, was completed for natural flow of 55 barrels in eight hours through an 18/64-inch choke on 2-inch tubing set at 4,973 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 500-1. The well topped pay at 4,635 feet and is bottomed at 4,990 feet in lime. It is 1,980 feet from the north, 660 from the east line of section 2-17s-33s.

Two Red Lake Producers

In Western Lea's Maljamar district, Phillips Petroleum Company has spudded and is drilling with slim-hole rotary below 780 feet in red rock in its No. 2 Maljamar-State. The test is 1,980 feet from the south and west lines of section 16-17s-32s.

Two new producers have been completed in the shallow Red Lakes pool of Eddy County, Ployhar & Cunningham No. 1 State, the larger, was gauged on pump for natural production of 126 barrels of oil per day. It topped pay at 400 feet and is bottomed at 420 feet, plugged back from total depth of 495 feet in lime. The well is in section 30-17s-28s.

O. A. Roberts No. 3 State, Red Lakes well in section 25-17s-27s, pumped eight barrels of oil and 30 barrels of water per day on completion at 483 feet, plugged back from 498 feet in lime. It was acidized with 2,000 gallons in pay section entered at 480 feet.

Pair For Grayburg

Bryant & Sudderth No. 1 Nell H. Wills, Eddy gas discovery six miles west of the Getty pool, was completed for gauged flow of 3,000-4,000 cubic feet of gas per day through casing. It topped the gas zone at 830 feet and is bottomed at 930 feet, plugged back from 965 feet in lime to shut off bottom-hole water. The strike is 1,980 feet from the south and east lines of section 14-20s-28s.

In the Grayburg district of Eddy, Burch flowed 22 barrels per day through open 2-inch tubing set at 3,210 feet, with packer at 2,557 feet. Pay zone between 3,028 feet and 3,277 feet, total depth, was acidized with 1,000 and 3,000 gallons in successive stages.

Premier Petroleum Corporation No. 8-F Beeson, in the same area, responded to a 100-quart nitro shot from 3,078 feet to 3,099 feet, the total depth, by flowing 178 barrels per day through open 2-inch tubing set at 3,036 feet. Top of pay was called at 3,082 feet.

Behind The Headlines

By Edward E. Bomar.

Young King Peter's suggestion that the British invade Italy promised to keep until he reaches his nineteenth birthday a year hence.

"The time is ripe," as the royal Yugoslav youth told an interviewer, but rather for continuation of the long range aerial hammering of Sicily which has been in progress for weeks and the telling attacks on Libya-bound Axis convoys being made by British submarines.

Chances are plans for anything more serious than hit-run raids on Italy, or anywhere else in Europe, are on the high command's future spike just now.

As summer wanes in the desert country, making decisive military operations feasible, what seems immediately ahead of the British is a renewed struggle to hold on in the Mediterranean.

Expect Axis Attack.

Successful invasion of Italy would demand expulsion of German and Italian forces from North Africa and a British advance 800 miles westward to Tripoli, opposite Sicily. The avenue of Axis attack on Suez via Asia Minor would have to be blocked meanwhile, Crete either retaken or made harmless as a base for flanking air raids, and the remnants of the Italian navy scattered or destroyed. It's not a program for a week-end.

What neutral military authorities confidently look for first, as winter approaches in Russia, is a determined Axis rather than a British offensive in the Mediterranean. This time Nazi rather than Italian forces are expected to lead the way.

Newspaper Declares Pipe Line Doubtful

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas News says immediate construction of a proposed 1,600-mile pipe line from Texas to the New York-Philadelphia area at a cost of $100,000,000 is now doubtful.

The News said that opposition to the carrier developed before a special Senate committee investigating the East Coast oil shortage "seems definitely to have put a crimp" in the building plans.

"So much so," it adds, "that the National Defense Pipe Lines, Inc. corporate organization of the eleven oil companies associated in the project, has notified contractors of indefinite postponement of acceptance of bids."

U. S. Cruisers Atlanta And San Juan Slide Down Ways Marking Great Navy Expansion Of 251 Vessels This Year

By The Associated Press
Two swift and deadly cruisers slid down the ways Saturday, bringing the Navy a long step closer to its goal of a two-ocean fleet.

Speaking of one of the launching ceremonies—at a time when new tension was developing over a skirmish between the United States destroyer Greer and a German submarine—Undersecretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal asserted: "The events in the North Atlantic make this a significant day for the American Navy."

The launching of the light cruisers Atlanta at Kearny, N. J., and San Juan at Quincy, Mass., brought to 251 the total of all types of new fighting ships to go into the water thus far this year.

The rapid expansion brought the fleet up to a strength of 338 combatant vessels on August 1. The fleet at that time was made up of 15 battleships, six aircraft carriers, 37 cruisers, 168 destroyers, 112 submarines. That figure did not include several ships afloat but not actually in service, such as the new battleships North Carolina and Washington and other smaller craft. Atlanta Has Great Speed

Between the first of the year and Saturday the Navy launched 249 ships, put down 436 keels and put into service or made ready for service 213 more craft.

In addition to the building, launching and commissioning of the fighting ships, the navy has pushed a construction program for auxiliary vessels. Among such vessels was a 97-foot mine sweeper, launched at Millville, N. Y., Saturday.

Details of the two cruisers launched Saturday were naval secrets, but some information was made public. The Atlanta is so speedy, navy officers said, that only the darting Mosquito boats can outrun her. She is partly streamlined, with the deck partly enclosing the forward funnel. The San Juan has similar characteristics and speed. Her builders said she was armed with torpedo tubes and driven by twin-screw geared turbine machinery.

Senior Sub-Debs Are Entertained With Bridge Party As Farewell Honor Before Leaving For College

Club-Class Colors
Of Red And White
Featured Motif

As a farewell courtesy for the senior Sub-Debs, Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Schlosser, entertained with a bridge party, Friday afternoon, at their home, 1714 W. Holloway.

The Sub-Deb colors, red and white, which were also the colors of the class of 1941, were featured in party appointments.

Rooms were decorated with arrangements of red and white verbenas.

As guests arrived they signed a register giving their names, the college they will attend this year, what they plan to major in, and their birthdays.

Bridge games and informal entertainment filled the party hours.

The going-away theme was emphasized in the tallies which showed the figure of a girl sitting on her luggage. High score in play went to Montez Downey and cut to Helen Armstrong.

Elsie Nora Schlosser, younger daughter of the hosts, and a Sub-Deb pledge, presided at the tea table, which was laid with an heirloom linen cloth. The red-and-white theme was repeated in the mints on the party plate and in the favors which were red and white high top hats.

Sub-Debs present were: Sue Miles, Edith Wemple, Maxine Hughes, Marthann Theis, Mary Sue Cowden, Betty Burnett, Gene Ann Cowden, Liza Jane Lawrence, Mary Helen Walker, Jane Hill, Helen Armstrong, Montez Downey, Mary Lou Hoskins, Kathryn Collins, and Melba Schlosser.

Texas Schools Head List Of Those Preferred By Midland Students In Pursuit Of Further Knowledge

September is a magic month—with its cooler mornings and dewy evenings, heartening breezes, and cloud-swept blue skies.

But for the eager teen-agers who still cherish that months-old diploma from high school and are poised for entrance into a bigger world it is magic for other reasons also—the thrill of actually being on a campus, the thrill of new clothes, gay and sporty, of meeting new friends, of speaking glibly of dorms, and cuts, and the dean, the thrill of being a part of a town and life that seem so different from the old home town.

The month holds magic, too, for those who are less jubilant, perhaps, but more confident—those envied upper-classmen returning to school as to a familiar and loved environment and to a circle of friends already made.

Midland has its full quota of both classes, most of them making last-minute preparations and rushing to last-minute farewell parties, with their attention mostly on the imminent moment of departure. Others have already set foot upon the campus and are beginning to adjust themselves to the college scene.

Of the senior class of 1941, which numbered well over a hundred, by far the largest number of those interviewed plan to attend college.

Some are going to business college, at least one is in the army, some are working, and three have married.

Some are leaving the state to attend school but the largest number have elected to further their education at Texas schools and colleges.

Jim Turpin will return this week to New York to study under Grace Moore. He was one of a small group studying under the prima donna last year.

Of this group, all but two were eliminated, the Midland boy and a girl from Beaumont. These are to continue their work this winter. Jim will study voice and other musical courses, and foreign languages.

Electing to be freshmen at the University of Texas are Cletas Hines, Jane Hill, and Gloria Corvett, along with Dorothy Sue Miles, Payton Anderson, Montez Downey, and Russell Lloyd.

Trio of career girls in the making at a business college in Lubbock are Iva Grace Collier, Marguerite McCracken, and Minnie Merrell.

Jerry Alsobrook has not decided definitely but wants to enter Abilene Christian College.

Three students are going to Texas State College for Women at Denton, will surely hear about Midland for Melba Schlosser will study there along with Louise Cox, Maxine Hughes, and Liza Jane Lawrence.

Stephens College in Missouri is the choice of Hilda Vogel, Helen Armstrong, and Mary Sue Cowden. Gene Ann Cowden and Jack Hurt will be freshmen at Southern Methodist University.

Going to A&M at College Station are Gerald Graham, Roger Sidwell, Kenneth Williams, James Mims, and Marion Flynn, Jr., all of whom leave Sunday. Tad Crane will also go to A&M, joining his older brother, Bob, who is a student there.

Moselle Brooks is doing stenographic work at the airport and plans to enter college after January 1. Charles Hyatt is working for his father, R. W. Hyatt, here, and Carroll Hyatt is with the Shell Oil Company, Inc.

Clayton Upham is with a communications squadron with the Air Corps at Kelly Field.

Marthann Theis will attend Mary Hardin-Baylor College for Women at Belton.

Carolyn Oates will be in McMurry College at Abilene.

Doris Evelyn Wozencraft is already pursuing her studies at a business college in Abilene.

Doris Lynn Pemberton has chosen Texas Christian University to continue her education.

J. M. White Jr. is in Kemper Military School at Boonville, Missouri. Hugh Corrigan will also be in Kemper as will Leon York whose older brother Bobby returned there to study.

Edith Wemple will attend Hockaday School at Dallas.

Windell Williams will study at Rice Institute. So will Foster Hedrick.

Joe Midkiff has decided to stay at home this year and conduct his own ranching business.

Betty Burnett and Mary Helen Walker will matriculate at North Texas Agricultural College at Arlington.

At El Paso, Kathryn Collins will study at the School of Mines.

Working at the telephone office are Doris Alkire, Laverne Spratt, and Jo Dozier.

Lois Spencer and Buster Cole will enroll at Texas Technological College.

Bob Eldson will attend East Texas State Teachers College at Commerce.

Fred Arnett is working with the air corps in San Antonio.

Joe Conkling is in Norman, Oklahoma to attend the University of Oklahoma.

Maurice Bratton will be a student at Paris Junior College.

Francis Mickey has not definitely decided but will probably attend North Texas Agricultural College at Arlington.

Bert Allen Streeter plans to work with the civil engineers at the airport.

Sara Sue Roberts is working in a department store.

TWO RECLAIM ODD PENNY CACHED HALF CENTURY AGO

GORHAM, Me. (UP.)—Fifty years ago two boys earned 15 cents digging dandelion greens for a neighbor. They split their booty, 7 cents apiece, and then, not knowing what to do with the odd penny, they buried it.

The boys grew up and left Gorham. This summer they returned to the yard of the old Kinkley house, since destroyed by fire, and found the penny in the original cache. But the odd problem of how to share it popped up again.

So they matched for it.

Midland County Pantries Better Filled Than Ever

Midland County pantries are better filled for a winter food supply this year than they have ever been, according to Miss Alpha Lynn, home demonstration agent, in describing a "good neighbor" policy of canning and putting up foodstuffs.

Miss Lynn attributes the full pantries to abundance of foodstuffs produced after a good season and to participation in an emergency program by club women.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Graham of Cotton Flat community had an extensive garden that produced all year. They kept two pressure cookers going during the canning season and put up 500 or more jars of pickles, beets, squash, tomatoes, peas, okra, and other fruits and vegetables. They also sold garden truck for a six month period.

Westside Club women, most of them living in the city secured garden plots from friends, merchants, or others and 16 put up products. The two pressure cookers, property of the county have been constantly in demand and a "help-your-neighbor-policy" was utilized.

FEMININE FANCIES

By Kathleen Eiland

The acme of elegance in our opinion is a crystal dinner bell. Small and delicate with even the clapper a ball of crystal swung by a wee golden chain, such a bell seems to be the symbol of a life that has been over-refined—wrapped in cotton batting, as it were, buried in a thousand small forms, rituals, and gentilities which smother the individual in minutiae and in the end result things of living.

Not that we object to forms and rituals—they are good in limited amount—and certainly we applaud gentilities—they are necessary to the good life. But even the best of things are not good in excess—like too much jam on one's bread.

Somewhat, in our mind, a little crystal dinner bell sums up the over-use of fragility and restraint in living. We'll admit the idea may be far-fetched. But it's our idea, anyway.

We notice that in a recent survey bacon and eggs wins first place in the food affections of the average American.

We'll have to admire the sterling taste of our countrymen and women, at least. Bacon and eggs form a dish deserving of honor.

This survey revealed that meat is still an important factor in American meals. That is not to be wondered at. Anybody who lives at the tempo demanded of the average American in these days has to have meat or something equally strong

TARDY BRIDES WARNED BY AUSTRALIAN RECTOR

SYDNEY, Australia (UP)—In future, brides arriving late at St. John's Church of England, Balmain, Sydney, may find the minister, bridegroom and best man gone—temporarily at any rate.

The rector of St. John's, the Rev. A. G. Rix, gave this warning in his parish magazine:

"Brides stick to the silly tradition that they should be late, apparently for the purpose of not appearing too eager to rush into marriage," he said. "Late brides should be given a lesson. The clergyman, groom and his friends should retire, shall we say, to the rectory, and turn up again 10 minutes after the bride arrives. You would probably find the bride in a faint in the arms of her bridesmaids."

in order to make the pace.

Somewhere we read that too little leisure and love of luxury are what ails Americans, in the opinion of visitors from abroad who have lived here several years. There might be a deal of truth in the opinion, too.

We all know there's too little leisure. No time for visiting old friends, no time for doing dozens of kindly and gracious little acts, no time for that so-essential communion to decide just what kind of person one wants to be and how to be it and whether one is making progress toward being it.

We don't know about the love of luxury indictment, that's probably correct, but we are sure that American needs and needs badly more leisure in living.

Foreign-Born Persons Are More Law-Abiding

EVANSTON, Ill. (UP)—Foreign-born persons are much more law-abiding than native Americans and Americans should not alienate their loyalties during the national emergency by "suspecting them of plotting to blow up the local power plant," according to C. C. Van Vechten, chief of the institutional section of the federal bureau of census.

Writing in the Northwestern University's Journal of Criminal Law and Criminology, Van Vechten argued for "tolerance in the time of stress" by citing statistics to explore the "myth" of the foreign-born criminal.

"Natives are committed to prison at the rate of 11 per 10,000 population, while the foreign-born rate is only 5 per 10,000 population," Van Vechten said.

The disparity is even more impressive, he added, when it is remembered that the foreign-born are more likely to be apprehended for any crimes they commit.

Romance Engulfs Private.

CAMP CLAIBORNE, La. (UP)—Amazed comrades noted that Pvt. Howard Davis of St. Louis received 100 letters and many packages in his first two months at camp. One day he got seven, all addressed in the same feminine hand. When Davis returned from his first furlough he was a married man.

Professor Advocates Special Math Courses

BOULDER, Colo. (UP)—Special courses in mathematics to make easier in later years the chore of figuring the family budget and the cost of a tankful of gasoline for the car are advocated by a Colorado professor for high school students who do not plan to go on to college.

Two separate curricula in mathematics are the plan of Dr. Earl R. Douglass, college of education director for the University of Colorado and author of several mathematical texts.

We, the Women

By Ruth Millett

Instead of deciding "I'm a social flop," the girl of twenty who realizes she hasn't what it takes to shine in a crowd her own age should make up her mind to be a success at twenty-five.

That gives her five years in which to develop the traits and qualities that will make her an interesting, attractive young woman — even though she wasn't a nowling success as a girl.

In five years an intelligent girl who puts her mind to it can turn herself into just about the kind of mature adult she wants to be. If she hasn't beauty she can learn in five years how to be chic. If she hasn't the pretty, soft type of femininity that gets labeled sex appeal, she can make the most of the assets she has and make them count in her friendships.

A young woman can have as many friends of both sexes as she wants, whether she is beautiful or not, if she has the warm kind of personality that makes others instinctively trust her, has a pleasant and ready laugh, has the poise that comes from a healthy self-respect, knows how to be kind in little ways and makes the most of what looks she does have.

FORMULA FOR FUTURE SUCCESS

So those are the things the girl of twenty who looks on herself as a social flop should start thinking about. If she can get into her mind a concrete idea of what she wants to be like in another five years — and forgets about not being what she wants to be right now — she can succeed.

It will encourage her if she will look around at some of the attractive young women of 25 and 30 who are just doing dandy — and think about what they were like five years ago.

She'll find a reassuring number of them weren't nearly as attractive as girls as they are as young women.

• MCKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By William E. McKenney
America's Card Authority

At St. Louis our motor trip came to an end. I found it necessary to rush back to New York, so Waldemar von Zedwitz, Mrs. McKenney and I returned by train. Mrs. Albert Rockwell continued on to Warren, Pa., in her automobile.

During the train ride back, a discussion arose between us as to where we had found the best bridge played. We agreed good bridge is played throughout the United States. There are Master players in every territory. So while I cannot say where the best bridge is played, I am going to give you what I think was the best bridge hand of the entire trip.

South took the first trick with the spade ace and West won the second with the king.

A low diamond lead was won in dummy and a heart lead brought out the ten and queen. Another low diamond lead was pounced upon by North, who led a third spade. South came through with a brilliant coup by discarding the king of hearts.

This discard left declarer unable to establish the hearts without letting North in the lead. But declared now proved equal to the occasion. He cashed the remaining diamonds and then led the jack of clubs.

South won with the queen, and as declarer had hoped, the blank ten dropped from the North hand. South's forced club lead gave dummy two tricks in the suit and made the contract.

MUSTANG BOYS' CLUB COLUMN

Monday is an exciting and important day. School begins. The Mustangs salute the occasion. We hope the club's watchword "Tejas" (meaning friendly) will be enthusiastically observed and that every boy will go out of his way to give every new boy a broad smile and a friendly hand. There will be many new boys in Midland this year. Let's make them feel that Midland is the happiest and most friendly town they ever were in.

We also greet Supt. George Heath and his fine staff of teachers. We hope our club may cooperate with them to help make their dreams come true for the finest selection of progressive youth in the state.

Parks Attends Rites For Wealthy Rancher

Roy Parks, Midland rancher, attended funeral rites for L. C. Brite, wealthy rancher, in Marfa Friday.

Many boys have been thinking out loud as to what subjects they should take and which ones were considered the most important. The writer is convinced that arithmetic, English and spelling are the most important and also that most students do not seem to realize this. It is also the opinion of the Army and Navy, believe it or not. You cannot afford to be sloppy in these subjects.

Also we consider Spanish the most useful foreign language and typing a fine subject.

Manning States Officers Won't Tolerate Fixing

"There is no ticket fixing in Midland. We are doing our very best to give the city a trained and courteous corps of officers as Midland deserves," Frank Manning, acting chief, said Saturday.

There will be no traffic enforcement drives, as such. We want the public to know all rules and laws are in effect and will be enforced at all times.

Ninety persons were jailed in August, according to the monthly police report. Thirteen were held for investigation. The court assessed $1150.50 in fines, $816.50 was paid, and the remainder worked or served.

Dozen Rattlesnakes Have Been Killed By Sloan Field Workers

"And some of them were big fellows," one construction executive, commented.

The city's motorcycle officers traveled 1,388 miles during August and patrol cars traveled 4,759 miles. Twelve persons were arrested for violation of the law of the road. Forty-seven were arrested for drunkenness.

McCamey To Take Over Operations Of Utilities Firm

McCamey (Special)—A transfer of the ownership of the waterworks, sewer system, pipe-lines, houses, office equipment and other physical properties from the Texas Public Service Company to the city of McCamey will be made Monday after the reading of water meters.

John G. McCall, of Dallas, attorney for the city will meet the attorneys of the water company in Dallas Monday, and a legal transfer made.

A bond election was held in February of 1940 when property owners of the city voted to issue revenue bonds of $250,000 to bear 4 per cent interest. Two hundred thousand dollars will be used to buy the waterworks and sewer systems, and the other $50,000 will be used in additions and repairs.

A loan of $250,000 has been obtained from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The properties will be operated by a water board, appointed by the city council. The present board will be composed of Dr. J. L. Cooper, Lee Roy Grigsby, E. P. Halamick and A. B. Holley, Sr.

U. S. Could Improve On Federal Agencies Initials, Edson Says

By Peter Edson
The Midland Reporter-Telegram
Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON.—The fellow who picks out the names of new government agencies should give more consideration to their alphabetical initials so they could be more easily remembered. Take the new Economic Defense Board, the policy making group headed by Vice-President Henry A. Wallace. The letters E-D-B don't spell anything that can be pronounced by a linguist less versatile than a tongue-twisting Turk.

If the outfit could have been named Defense Economic Board, DEB would have meant something and had a certain amount of significance, now that Brenda Kelly is a sedate matron. Board of Economic Defense would have made a good BED to lie in, but that might be too significant a name for the bundling of cabinet officers in waging their pillow fights, mattress-jumping and cover-kicking escapades for all-out economic war.

However—EDB has been meeting every Wednesday morning in the vice-president's office since the board was created by President Roosevelt a few weeks ago. Just what the board has done in these gab fests it has kept to itself. And while all the cabinet-member members except Frank Walker and Madame Perkins have been fairly regular attendants, the real work of the board won't get going till its executive director, Milo Perkins, fully recovers from his appendectomy and is able to start swinging.

Already Digging.

Indications are that the board will let the executive director do all the work. Perkins is still confined to his house by doctor's orders, but his exceedingly active young mind has been racing all over the globe and of late he has been calling his henchmen in the Department of Agriculture, where he heads the Surplus Marketing Administration, demanding data and doing some home gardening in the fertile fields of speculation.

Announcement of the creation of EDB was the signal for any number of bankers, business men and broad brains from the colleges to offer their services. They seem willing and even anxious to serve their government for a dollar a year or for nothing, plus expenses of course, so Milo—you have to call him Milo—so he won't be confused with Madame Perkins—will have the pick of some of the country's most able economists.

At present, it is Milo Perkins' idea to keep his staff small. He wants to be his own liaison man, and if he runs EDB the way he ran SMA, he will be all over the place. Established government agencies—State, War, Navy, Agriculture and Commerce—will do the actual waging of the economic defense, but Milo Perkins will play an awful lot of quarterback for the team, a position at which he has already demonstrated talent.

He is known as one of the hardest working men in Washington. Ten and 12-hour days, with a cup of coffee brought into his desk every few hours. Then an armload of detail work carted home every night to shape things up to be done the next day. Six years at that pace was really his undoing, and a few months ago he had to quit, go under the knife and clear up some organic disturbances.

Milo Perkins' two big accomplishments in Washington have been the food stamp plan, which he conceived and organized, and the food and agricultural products purchase plan for the British, which he organized. In addition to these, he has been in charge of all marketing agreements and the program for removal of surplus crops. If "Food will win the war," as Secretary of Agriculture Wickard has stated, Milo Perkins knows his weapons as do few other economic warfare soldiers.

UNDERTAKER DISREGARDS WOMAN'S DEATH REQUEST

PHILADELPHIA (AP).—Mrs. Mary Allen possessed none of the feminine vanity in the matter of hair-dos.

In fact, she was so determined never to vary the severe coiffure to which she was accustomed in life that she directed in her will that there be "no dye, no crimping" of her hair in death.

"But we knew nothing of the request until after the funeral," lamented Mabel Corgas, a close friend. "The undertaker curled her hair a little in front."

Chrysler Surpasses Expectations Turning Out Five Tanks Each Day

Medium tanks like that above are clanking off three new assembly lines at the Chrysler Corp.'s Detroit plant at the remarkable rate of five a day—way ahead of schedule. By winter the figure will be 15 a day.

By Willis Thornton
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

DETROIT.—Whether the Yanks are coming is still a matter of arid debate, but be sure of this: the tanks are coming.

Most newspaper stories don't have a sequel, or the sequel remains untold. But here is a sequel to the story told last January to Milton Bronner, NEA Service staff correspondent, by Edward J. Hunt of Chrysler. Hunt, standing amid the gaunt structure of the half-finished Chrysler tank plant, with only a wooden mockup of the tank that was to be, said, "Five tanks a day by early fall."

Today Hunt stood at one end of the vast five-block-long tank plant, and watched medium 30-ton tanks come slowly clanking and lumbering down three parallel assembly lines. It isn't fall yet, and at least five of these monsters roar off the end of those lines every day under their own power, guns emplaced, and begin the 75 miles of testing they get before being shipped off to American camps.

"We've got it licked," says Hunt proudly. Installation of further machines in addition to the 100 brand new ones now clanking and shearing and punching and riveting in the plant, polishing of processes, and addition of another 4000 men to the 6000 now at work, will step up that production this winter to 15 a day. Today, 120 a month; this winter, 360 a month, from this one Chrysler plant which was a corn field 11 months ago. And this medium tank is also being built by American Locomotive, Pullman, and Pressed Steel Car, with Lima Locomotive coming into production in the later fall. The tanks are really coming.

SCHEDULE HAS BEEN FAR SURPASSED

Here's how the sequel worked out since January. They talked then of 25-ton tanks. These are better than 30.

They talked of 6000 men. Six thousand are already working, and 250 a day are being hired, looking toward 10,000.

They talked of actual tanks by early fall. Already the tanks have been rolling off the lines for several weeks. Incidentally, the Army is tightening up all the time on information about its new developments. There are new things in the making, but the nearest you get to it is hints like Chrysler President K. T. Keller's: "A little while ago our engineers designed a new type of animal running on four tires that is really phenomenal, and we are very much gratified to see how well it went through its preliminary tests. I believe you are about to see quite a change in the appearance of some of the vehicles that are going to be used in this war."

How about heavy tanks—the 75-ton monsters which have been seen to some extent in Europe? Try to find out. Ordnance officers are coy on the subject. What you get is guarded words like: "We aren't sure that those big, clumsy, slow things are what's wanted. The speed of the modern blitz leaves them behind. They sound attractive to the uninformed, but their practical value is sharply questioned. What's needed now are these mediums—and we're getting them."

Taylor And Garson In Triangle Theme

Rachel Crothers' stage play, "When Ladies Meet" playing at the Yucca Theatre, filmed by MGM in 1933 following a Broadway experience rated a success is in this 1941 version a treatment of the triangle theme in terms of sparkling dialogue.

Its outspokenness when serious and the nature of its illusions when humorous restrict its usefulness as an attraction to the adult sector of cinema patronage. But within this sphere it delivers a maximum of diversion only slightly marred now and again by an excess of conversation.

Midland County Expects 10,000 Bale Bumper Cotton Crop

Market Finishes Irregular Period

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market Saturday finished an irregularly lower week with specialties again in demand and leaders generally exhibiting notable rising reluctance.

The list failed to display a definite trend at the start and closing quotations left the direction in doubt, doubt.

The Associated Press composite of 60 issues was unchanged at 43.4 but on the week showed a net loss of .3 of a point. Several large blocks of low-priced stocks pushed the volume up to 243,570 shares compared with 231,600 a week ago.

Among active gainers at new highs for the year were Western Union and Postal Telegraph preferred, these further reflecting talk of progress on the merger proposal. Revere Copper & Brass preferred was up 3 and American Power & Light preferred 1, both at new 1941 tops.

Marketing Co-op Is Midland Gin

Another of Midland's gins ready for the 1941 cotton season is the Midland Marketing - Cooperative, managed by P. P. Barber.

Cotton producers and farmers are members of this co-operative, which is set for service to the farmers in ginning and marketing.

LONGVIEW LEGIONNAIRES BEHIND FOREIGN POLICY

LONGVIEW (AP) — Officials of the Longview post of the American Legion declared Saturday their organization was firmly behind the national administration's foreign policy and opposed to the America First Committee which Attorney A. V. Grant of Longview is organizing.

Legion Commander Jack L. Tillery was joined in a statement by J. B. McKenzie, adjutant who will succeed Tillery next month.

Man Shouts 'Give Me Death,'—Falls Dead

KIRKSVILLE, Mo. (AP) — A stranger strolled into the midst of a political argument on the Adair County courthouse lawn, shouted "Give me liberty or give me death" and dropped dead.

He remained unidentified Saturday. W. C. Summers, Adair County coroner, attributed death to heart disease.

Weep No More, My Lady, For Those New 1941 Fall Fashions Are Not Yet Vitally Changed By War Priorities

By Kathleen Eiland

What with all the furor about cotton stockings, cotton underwear (how can you refer to cotton underwear as lingerie?) and other items of cotton in the wardrobe, Miss Midland should be relieved that Midland County is going all-out for defense, agriculturally speaking, by producing (if forecasts prove true) the largest cotton crop in years.

Prospects now are for such a crop. With 23,000 acres planted to cotton, and farmers estimating a heavy yield, Midland County seems set to do its share toward remedying the defect of a short crop in other sections of the state and nation.

Of course, with the early September thermometer intent on behaving as if were July or August, cool cottons are so appropriate that mid-lady might be induced to consider them the first choice in dress materials, and find the vision of a silkless, wool-less world not such a bad one after all.

Don't be too downhearted, anyway, if you are one who feels at her best only in trim, crisp woolen frocks or sleek sophisticated silks. The chances are (and we speak with due regard to what has been told us by merchants) that those self-same silks you've walked so proudly in for the past few years have not been true silks at all but rayons or acetates. And it is the true silks whose importation is being cut off and whose supply is destined to diminish.

Purchasing and manufacturing of retail stocks is done so far in advance that the much-publicized shortage in products and any predicted introduction of substitutes is not yet showing up in most cases, according to information from Midland stores. The clothing which will be sold Mother, Dad, and little sister early this fall will follow the general lines of preceding seasons so far as materials go.

One store manager here reported much difficulty in obtaining goods and traced this to increased consumer demand which has outstripped the capacity of mills. Although purchases of such staples as blankets and sheets by the United States government has had its effect and although the work clothing market has been vitally affected by the same agency, he does not consider this the underlying cause of lag in supply.

The same merchant is no alarmist where the much-discussed silk hose problem is concerned. He considers stocks are sufficient for women to obtain their quota of the glamor assets up into the fall but that they are not sufficient to last through Christmas. Check them off the list of gifts wanted, please. Ask for them on Thanksgiving Day.

Messamore Brings Fourth Cotton Bale

With Midland's gins geared for the cotton season and the big push expected to begin in about 10 days, four bales had been ginned here Saturday, all brought in by the same farmer, C. A. Messamore.

He brought in the first bale Tuesday, the second Wednesday, and a third Thursday.

Farmers Look To Large Production From Plentiful Moisture As Gins Begin To Hum And Harvesting Starts

Cotton is king in the south and shares honors with livestock in Midland County, looking to a bumper '41 crop of an estimated 10,000 bales—the largest in recent years. Gins are beginning to hum, crews are in the fields, and everything is in readiness for harvesting the fall crop.

Farmers of the county planted cotton on 23,000 acres this year, enjoyed the finest seasoning in years, and expect to harvest an average of one-half to a bale or more to the acre.

An extensive poisoning campaign is in full force against leaf worms. With more than adequate moisture, producers had to resort to poison to combat infestation, but the battle, they say, virtually is won.

Triple-Size Crop
With prices of 15 cents or more a pound this fall, the county may expect a million-dollar business from cotton, according to buyers, ginners, and the farmers themselves.

The 1941 crop is expected to triple the 4405 bales last year.

Midland's three gins have overhauled plants, improved and geared machinery, and made plans during the summer for handling the expected increase in bales. Crews are complete and ginning already underway.

A committee of producers, business men, and others are working on the problem of obtaining pickers to harvest the big crop.

$40,000 Expected From 1941 Parity Cotton Payments

Parity payments to Midland County's 374 farmers on the 1941 cotton crop are expected to begin this month.

They totaled $42,401 last year and will be near that figure this year.

Parity applications were sent in by Aug. 27 and the AAA office reported it expected to start receiving checks for farmers by Sept. 15.

Parity payments are figured on the normal yield over a five-year period.

WANTED TO GET RIGHT, FORWARDS $10 CHECK

TOPEKA, Kas. (AP) — State Treasurer Watter E. Wilson received a $10 check from a former employee in Kansas unemployment compensation division.

"I want to get right with man as well as God," the accompanying letter read.

The conscience-smitten fellow now living in Oakland, Calif., confessed he had used office stationery for his personal correspondence.

Government Will Start $2000 Cotton Stamp Program In Midland County As Farmers Work With Merchants Here

A cotton stamp program, worth $2,000 to Midland County farmers for voluntary reduction of cotton acreage below the 1942 national acreage allotments and for increased consumption of cotton goods, will get underway about Sept. 15.

The cotton stamps will provide for the purchase of cotton goods from Midland merchants. They will be exchanged at retail stores here for any goods made entirely of cotton, grown and manufactured in the United States.

Farmers qualifying to receive the stamps will draw them at the AAA office as soon as they are obtained here. Several merchants have qualified to receive stamps.

The program is designed to provide additional markets for surplus cotton, and contribute materially to re-employment of labor in cotton mills, garment factories, wholesale and retail stores, and transportation systems throughout the nation.

Cotton Stockings Designs Available

More than 150 different cotton stocking designs now are available to the hosiery industry as a result of investigation by the bureau of home economics at the Beltsville, Maryland, research center.

According to Dora R. Barnes, specialist in clothing for the A&M College Extension Service, the designs vary from cotton web mesh for evening wear to plain knits in various weights for sports wear, and for around the house and garden.

Fire Group Official Advocates Only Cotton

All outer garments except those made of cotton may be banned by American hospitals if a set of safe fire practice regulations now being studied is adopted.

The regulations have been proposed by Dr. J. Warren Horton, chairman of the National Fire Protective Association committee investigating the matter of operation room explosions.

Farmers' Co-op Gin Geared For Service

Farmer's Co-operative Gin, established in 1930 and managed by Perry Collins, serves its members and customers with top ginning service.

The gin this season is geared for its part in handling an expected bumper crop of 10,000 bales.

The co-operative has more than 200 members.
