State's Oil Flow Slashed

By ED OVERHOLSER
ATSTIN (AP)—The Texas Railroad Commission today slashed the state's oil allowable for May by 225,195 barrels daily. It set permissive flow at 2,574,894 barrels a day.
The oil regulatory agency fixed the production pattern at eight days, lowest in about two years. April production is on a nine day schedule.
Heavy pressure was brought on the commission for a seven day production order from the independent producers. Spokesmen for three groups of independents said they feared that pipeline proration would not be wiped out unless a drastic seven day schedule was set.
E. L. Wilson, speaking for a group of Dallas producers, said the independent oil man is not able to sell all his allowable even now. Wilson said the industry is going into a low-demand period and that stocks of crude and mid products are still on the high side.
About half of the major companies testifying at the monthly proration hearing recommended an eight-day schedule. Five majors nominated for nine days of production.

Indiana Oil Purchasing Co., which has ordered pipeline proration in Texas and other states, nominated for seven days. Indiana's pipeline proration currently is 30 per cent of the oil taken from its connectors in January. Such pipeline proration varies from company to company.
Witnesses also told the commission that recent reports indicate that a previously-predicted increase in market demand was too high. Executives of the major oil companies estimated earlier this year that the growth of the domestic industry would be about 4 1/2 per cent, but the commission heard today from several sources that three per cent is the more realistic figure.

Total demand from Jan. 1 through April 8 has gone up only one half of one per cent, the commission was told.
Chairman Ernest O. Thompson reported that stocks of crude oil and products are 51,200,000 barrels above the desired level. This includes an excess of 36 million barrels in gasoline stocks and 4,400,000 barrels in crude stocks. Total inventories according to latest available figures are 613,200,000.

New Charter In Galveston

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Galveston voters Tuesday voted to discard the city commission form of government which it started using in 1901.
The unofficial vote in the special election was 5,569 for and 4,803 against the form of city government Galveston generally is conceded to have been first in the nation to use.

This includes an excess of 36 million barrels in gasoline stocks and 4,400,000 barrels in crude stocks. Total inventories according to latest available figures are 613,200,000.

Envoy To Give Panel Full Report On Test Ban Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ambassador James J. Wadsworth agreed today to meet with the Senate House Atomic Energy Committee in closed session to report on the Geneva nuclear test ban negotiations.

Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif.) presiding at continuing hearings on problems involved in any test ban, announced Wadsworth had accepted an invitation to appear. Holifield said the session would be secret because of the delicate stage of the Geneva talks.
Sen. Albert M. Gore (D-Tenn.) who asked that Wadsworth be invited, told a reporter he was agreeable to a closed session although he would have preferred it to be public.
Gore accused Wadsworth of joining with the Soviet delegation last month in a joint statement which "misled the American people" into thinking the Soviets had fully accepted U. S. test ban proposals.

Brazil Moving Capital

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP)—Amid religious ceremony and the throb of samba drums, this glittering still-unfinished city deep in Brazil's heartland becomes the nation's new capital at the stroke of midnight tonight.
Rio de Janeiro—the beautiful waterfront metropolis 600 miles away which has served as the capital since 1763—will become the nation's 21st state, Guanabara.
Brasilia bustled with excitement. Construction workers who have been putting the ultra-modern, 200-million-dollar city together for three years dropped their tools and came to the streets and swept up for the historic occasion.
For the three and a half days of festivities, Brasilia's 100,000 population is expected to double. Representatives from all over the world are pouring in for the inauguration.
Manuel Cardinal Goncalves Ceceira of Portugal will represent Pope John XXIII.

Everybody who is anybody in Brazil had an invitation for the capital's opening. To cope with the influx the Brazilian air force is running a flood afloat, including 200,000 hot dogs.
Festivities start at 8 p.m. when Brasilia's first mayor, Israel Pinheiro, hands over the keys of the city to President Juscelino Kubitschek, who fathered the project in the face of stiff opposition.
At 11:30 p.m. Cardinal Ceceira will celebrate Mass. The city will be plunged into darkness with a beam of light shining on the altar.
At midnight, a marine band will strike up the national anthem and every light in the city will flash on. Searchlights will swirl in the sky and the celebration will go into full swing.
In the old capital of Rio, church bells will peal and samba bands will play in the streets. But not everyone will celebrate. Many legislators, officials and government employees are bitter at having to leave the comforts of Rio for the wilderness. Other critics objected to the tremendous cost at a time when the nation is struggling in an economic morass.
The government will be installed in Brasilia Thursday and Congress will meet in joint session. Parades, religious services, sports events and general merrymaking will continue until late Saturday night.
The new city is a long way from completion. It will be building for years to come at an estimated eventual cost of at least a half billion dollars. Kubitschek plans to make it his headquarters, but only a handful of government officials will remain with him.
Kubitschek started planning the city when he took office in January 1956 and turned the first earth for it a year later.

Rebel Forces In Venezuela Take Control Of Army Post

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Rebel forces seized control of an army regiment's headquarters at San Cristobal near the Colombian border today in an attempt to set off nationwide revolt against President Romulo Betancourt's government.
Betancourt ordered soldiers to San Cristobal to quell the uprising, and pledges of support came to him at once from military, political and civilian sources.
The moderate Venezuelan President announced he would use all constitutional powers to crush the rebellion but would not suspend constitutional guarantees in this oil-rich nation.
The strong military garrison at San Cristobal was reported to have been first in the nation to use.

Funeral services for C. C. Kent, 3107 Third Street, will be held Tuesday morning in Cordell Memorial Hospital, were to be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Colonial Hill Baptist Church, with Rev. Jimmie Nelson, pastor of the church, officiating.
A resident of Snyder since 1947, he had been with the Humble Oil Co. for 35 years before retiring in 1959.
Born March 13, 1888, in Batesville, Ark., he is survived by his wife, Mrs. Vernetta Kent of Snyder; one daughter, Mrs. Bob Ivey of Snyder; one sister, Mrs. Hens Genzel of Batesville; one brother, Leslie Kent of Batesville; and one granddaughter, Miss Nancy Ivey of Snyder.
Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Ivey, 3107 Third Street, with Rev. Jimmie Nelson, pastor of the church, officiating.

Dr. Wolfgang K. H. Panofsky of Stanford University said that under the U. S. proposal, there would be only a 10 per cent chance of uncovering a concealed test shot with inspection.

Dr. Harold Brown of the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory, Livermore, Calif., said he saw no likelihood of detecting low-powered underground nuclear blasts if strong concealment efforts were made.

However, Panofsky said he believed the Soviets had made significant concessions in the test agreement negotiations.
He noted that the U. S. proposal, as far as underground explosions were concerned, sought to ban only shots with an explosive power of 20 kilotons or more.
This figure was chosen, he said, because the number of earthquakes above that size in the Soviet Union in a year was relatively small.

Redress Pledged By Rhee Regime; New Riots Start

By GENE KRAMER
SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—President Syngman Rhee today pledged a redress of grievances against the riotous regime which brought this capital to the edge of revolution. New demonstrations were reported in other cities.
Sternly rebuked by the United States for his government's repressive measures unsuited to a free democracy, the 85-year-old President said: "The government will devote maximum energy to the investigation of these disturbances. Those who are guilty can be punished. Those who are innocent can be certain of redress."
Li Gen Song, Yo-Chan, in charge of the emergency martial law clamped upon five cities Tuesday, said the last major group of demonstrators had been broken up and their leaders arrested. The rioting over the past two days in Seoul, climaxed by a surging march on Rhee's mansion, left a confirmed total of 92 dead and more than 500 wounded or injured, 30 of them critically.
The death toll was expected to climb.
This capital looked as if it had been through a wartime battle. Weeping crowds gathered outside hospitals. Bodies were returned to bereaved families. A government consolation payment of 300,000 won—$750—was proclaimed for the bereaved.
Rhee's statement his first in nine days of antigovernment demonstrations which burgeoned into Tuesday's wild violence, made no mention of U. S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter's assertion that the uprisings reflected "popular dissatisfaction over the conduct of the recent election."
An uneasy calm reigned over the capital while Rhee's Cabinet met on this most grave crisis since Korea became a republic 12 years ago.
While troops stood guard at major government buildings, police kept up operations against scattered bands of demonstrators, including the outskirts of Seoul. Scattered gunfire continued through the night and shortly after dawn police shot and killed three members of an armed group defying the curfew.
New demonstrations were reported in Taegu, Kwangju, Chongju, Suwon, In and Incheon, but no casualties were reported. Both Taegu and Kwangju are under martial law.
The demonstrators are demanding cancellation of the March 15 presidential election in which they won a fourth term and the running mate, Li Kang-poo, defeated vice president John M. Chang both by overwhelming votes. The demonstrators charge that Rhee's Liberal party rigged the elections and also accuse the police of brutality against election day demonstrators.
The demonstrators drew surprise support Tuesday from U. S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, who charged that Rhee's government had adopted repressive measures unsuited to a free democracy. He called on the government to protect democratic rights. Many Koreans interpreted the statement as a call for new elections.
Rhee's statement appeared to move toward meeting the complaints, but it fell missing as expected to be determined. The statement was read to newsmen by a spokesman, and the president himself did not appear.
The statement called on the South Korean people to "display their patriotism and follow the instruction of responsible authorities."
The first task is full restoration of law and order — so that necessity for martial law no longer exists," Rhee declared.
While promising redress of major grievances, the President gave no indication of what the government would do to meet its critics.
Rhee's Cabinet met throughout the night discussing the situation and Herter's charge. Tanks and armed combat troops guarded the Cabinet building and other major public buildings.
Buildings still smoked from fires set by Tuesday's rampaging mob.
Leaders of Rhee's Liberal party, the opposition Democrats and independents tentatively decided to reconvene the National Assembly Friday to discuss the crisis.

Rocky Helps Ex-Roommate In Campaign

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York begins campaigning in Pennsylvania today for a former college roommate seeking election to Congress.
But political observers will be watching for signs Rockefeller might be willing to challenge Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the party's presidential nomination.
Rockefeller has formally withdrawn from the presidential race but his backers insist he is far from out of the running, particularly since some regard Nixon's showing in the Wisconsin primary as poor.
The visit is the first in a new series outside New York planned by Rockefeller.
Herman T. Schmechel, of Williamsport, a close friend of Rockefeller, during their undergraduate days at Dartmouth College, is running on the Republican ticket in north central Pennsylvania's 17th congressional district, which is predominantly Republican.

Nehru, Chou Get Down To Business

After laying a wreath at the shrine of Mohandas K. Gandhi and a call on Indian President Rajendra Prasad, Chou came to Nehru's official residence for their first meeting Tuesday.
The two leaders brought diametrically opposed views of the border question to the discussions. China claims the entire 2,500-mile border between the two countries is undefined and should be demarcated. India insists the border is well-known on the basis of history, tradition and usage and needs only minor adjustments.
Under dispute are 51,000 square miles of territory—about the size of England. Chinese troops control 12,000 square miles of it.
Chou was securing the tense expression he has displayed since his arrival here from Rangoon when he showed up for the meeting with Nehru. But he smiled and laughed a little for photographers when Nehru turned on his affable charm.
A joint communiqué is expected at the conclusion of the talks April 26. No news conferences have been scheduled.

BEAUMONT HAS First Sit-In

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—A group of young Negroes staged the first lunch counter sit-in here today.
The group of about 22 Negroes took seats at the lunch counter in the Walgreen Drug Store in downtown Beaumont about 10:30 a.m.
The store manager informed the Negroes the counter was closed and a few minutes later closed the store.
The Negroes then left the store and resorted on route to the White House, one of this Gulf Coast city's largest department stores.
The demonstration at the Walgreen store was without incident and bring an end to similar sit-ins were present but took no action.

Delay For Ike's Visit Is Proposed

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
WASHINGTON (AP)—Two members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee proposed today that President Eisenhower postpone his scheduled trip to the Philippines and Viet Nam.
Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) and Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) introduced a resolution Tuesday to delay the President's visit to the Philippines and Viet Nam.
Mansfield and Humphrey like Aiken, applauded Herter's dressing down of the Rhee government, asserting it had their 100 per cent backing.
"I'd advise the President is postponing the trip to the Philippines and Viet Nam," Aiken said. "If he goes to Korea it might look like we are supporting an iron-rule government there. We don't want to be known over the world as the promoter of an anti-democratic government."

Daniel Steps Up Campaign

By CLAYTON HICKERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer
Gov. Price Daniel, his third term, pressed by opponent Jack Cox, strenuous campaign to unseat him, Wednesday, sloped up his drive for reelection.
Daniel's head a-4-a-4-ters announced Tuesday that the governor will deliver his first major statewide television speech of the campaign on the night of Monday, April 25, less than two weeks before the May 7 Democratic Primary.
Daniel's people said the 20-state telecast would be the first of a series as the governor turns on steam in the final two weeks of the campaign.
Cox told a crowd of more than 1,200 in Dallas Monday night that Daniel was scared, but the governor told newsmen Tuesday that he had found the "greatest support" in his travels over the state.
Meanwhile, Daniel's official campaign poster—Lake Pickle of Aughtin—depicted a charge by Cox that Pickle was "harassing" Cox supporters.
Pickle called the charge "an absolute falsehood" and challenged Cox to name the persons he claimed had been intimidated or made a public apology.
Frank introduced Wadsworth as the "defending champion dressed in the white robes of purity" and Carr as "The West Texas Wildcat from Lubbock."
He introduced Wadsworth as the "sales tax sockeroo from Breckenridge" and Daniel as "the man who carried even Baylor twice to victory and likes it."
Other candidates present included Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey and his opponent, Houston attorney Don Yarborough.
But it was not for the candidates at the Houston Press Club party. It was deadly serious the rest of the day.
Wilson said 20 Texas newsmen had endorsed him for reelection. He said the campaign would be settled on the basis of experience, record and qualifications for the office. He told a Lafayette audience he deplored the dumping of atomic wastes in the Gulf of Mexico.

State Comptroller Is Visitor Here

A prominent State official, State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert, was a visitor in Snyder today. He said he was on a routine inspection tour and was conferring with members of his staff at district headquarters in Abilene, Lubbock, Amarillo and Wichita Falls.

His stop here was made in connection with his staff conference, around new electronic equipment recently installed at Austin headquarters that has required getting up some new procedures.

He is being accompanied on the trip by Roland Nabors of his Austin staff.

Calvert began his 12th year in January as State Comptroller and is seeking reelection this year. He was appointed State Comptroller in 1948.

Calvert's long-time friend and associate, George H. Sheppard, who was State Comptroller for many years before his appointment, Calvert had worked in the Comptroller's office since 1930. First as and director of the central accounting division and finally as chief clerk.

He had visited in this area many times in the 30 years he has been in the Comptroller's office and has many personal friends here.

Calvert is sometimes known as the "watchdog of the State Treasury" since the duties of his office require him to be certain that no legislative appropriation be in excess of anticipated revenue. The office keeps a record and approves to the proper fund from one and one-fourth billion dollars of State money each year.

Calvert is a native Texan, born in Lennan County and before his public service was a railroad clerk, warehouse foreman and cashier. He was chief clerk for an electric company in West Texas. Sweetwater, where he later served as assistant cashier in a bank.

He and his wife, the former Josie Moody of Sweetwater, now reside in Austin. They have one daughter, now married and living in San Antonio.

School Loses Tax On Plant

AUSTIN, AP—The State Supreme Court today followed the lead of the U.S. Supreme Court today and held that the Dumas Independent School District cannot collect taxes on the Cactus Ordinance Works in Moore County.

Today's order said the Chemical Co. could collect taxes from the school district applying the case to Washington and the school must pay all other local court costs.

On Feb. 25 the U.S. Supreme Court held invalid a 1950 state law allowing the Dumas school to collect property taxes on Cactus Ordinance Works for the years 1944 to 1950. Phillips Chemical, which had the former World War II ordnance works under lease to produce ammonium sulfate fertilizer, claimed the state law was unconstitutional because it applied only to "owners of a lease" of U.S. property.

The Dumas school won its case in the Moore County District Court. The decision was affirmed by the Seventh Court of Civil Appeals and the State Supreme Court.

The U.S. decision rendered all these opinions rendered on the grounds the Texas levy "discriminates unconstitutionally against the United States and its lessee."

WTCC Ends Its Session In San Angelo

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP)—The West Texas Chamber of Commerce selected Mineral Wells as the site of its 1961 convention.

Dooley Dawson, vice president of the Bank of the Southwest at Houston, told the concluding WTCC session, Tuesday, that the farmer will be willing to get off subsidization "as soon as the rest of us get off of it."

The sooner we get to work at home instead of taking off for Washington, the sooner we will solve our problems, Dawson said. "No subsidy has ever brought control of agricultural production. The ingenuity of the farmer has always won out over any governmental control."

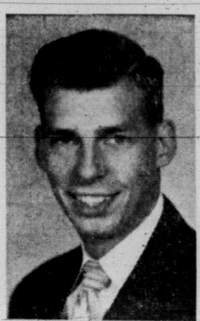

A state sales and income tax was advocated by another speaker, Ben H. Sloane, manager of Point Comfort, Tex. operations for the Aluminum Co. of America.

Sloane said Gov. Price-Daniel "Virtually conceded reelection. He can begin at once to face the problem of our schools by committing himself to leadership on their behalf" by advocating the broad-based taxes necessary for their adequate support.

"He can establish the foundation for a school system in Texas second to none in our nation. But to do so, he must advocate a broad-based sales tax, personal income tax, and property tax which are also based on population."

U. S. Gen. Bernard A. Shriver of Andrews AFB, Maryland said the United States is open to "a dramatic surprise attack." Gen. Shriver, commander of the Air Research Development Command, said the world is shrinking in terms of time and space.

"This compression of the time factor has given new and ominous definition to the statement of surprise," he said. "It is perfectly clear that there is no longer safety in distance or earth."

Cattlemen Seeking Gas Firm's Brucellosis Curb

Scurry county cattlemen voted last night at a meeting in the District Courtroom to follow a test and slaughter program in controlling brucellosis in the cattle of the community, county agent Billy Roach announced today.

This action was taken following a speech by Dr. J. B. Henderson, veterinarian in charge of the state brucellosis program, explaining the state's plans for control of the disease. Dr. Henderson is on the Texas-Animal Health Commission.

Dr. Henderson explained that ranchers could not transport their cattle over the county line without having them all inspected.

During the next few weeks, petitions for the test and slaughter plan will be circulated for all cattle owners to sign. The plan involves inspecting all cattle over six months old in Scurry County with the exception of steers, spayed heifers, and officially vaccinated cows under 30 months of age.

The plan will include all dairy cattle, all registered cattle, and 20 per cent of all commercial cattle. If no more than one per cent of all cattle, inspected and less than five per cent of all herds inspected are found to be infected, the county will be declared a modified certified free area and Scurry County cattle can be shipped anywhere in interstate traffic without being inspected.

However, when the petitions have been presented to the Animal Health Commission, the commission will set a hearing date within 30 days to hear any complaints about the program.

If there are no complaints, or if the commission overrules the objections to the program, the inspection will start within 90 days of the hearing.

All persons desiring to sign the petition, may do so at the West Texas State Bank, The Snyder National Bank, the A. S. C. Office, the Production Credit Assn. Office, or the county agent's office, if they wish to do so before being contacted personally.

Roach stated that they would try to reach all cattlemen but the matter would be expedited if ranchers would sign at one of the above mentioned places when they are in Snyder.

Gas Firm's Rates Hiked

DALLAS (AP)—L. T. Potter, president of Lone Star Gas Co. said Tuesday that 166 of the 316 Texas towns and cities served by the firm have approved gas rate boosts.

One of the latest was Dallas, where city councilmen voted to allow the increase a day earlier. It amounts to 3.4 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas delivered to commercial and home customers.

Lone Star Gas put a similar boost into effect Oct. 1 in the Oklahoma areas it serves.

Potter told stockholders at their annual meeting that the average cost of gas in the field rose from 11.4 cents per 1,000 cubic feet in 1958 to 12.2 cents last year, and 23.1 cents the first two months of 1960.

His report showed net income for the 12 months ending March 31 amounted to $2.47 per share of common stock, compared to $2.91 the preceding year.

Directors voted to declare a quarterly dividend of $1.21 per share on 4.84 per cent convertible preferred stock, payable June 15, and 45 cents per share of common stock, payable June 6.

INGREDIENTS: 1 package frozen chopped broccoli; 1 cup boiling water; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 2 tablespoons butter or margarine; 2 tablespoons flour; 2 tablespoons heavy cream; pepper; 4 medium-sized thin-sliced cooked carrots if desired.

METHOD: Bring broccoli, boiling water and salt rapidly to a boil in a saucepan. Break up broccoli and drain. Add butter and cream. Heat but keep boiling gently until just tender—about 4 minutes. Meanwhile work together the butter and flour with a spoon until blended; add to cooked broccoli and—stir constantly, over moderately low heat until thickened. Stir in cream, pepper to taste and (if used) carrot slices; heat. Makes 4 servings. Add more salt if necessary.

Marion Lorne Is Naturally Funny

By DOROTHY ROE, AP Women's Editor

She's everybody's Aunt Mary. When she flutters her hands, smiles apologetically and says, "Well, dear me, what was it I was going to say now?" TV fans across the country break up.

"Uh—Really—uh—don't know why people seem to think I'm so funny," says Marion Lorne, veteran dramatic actress and television character.

"When I get into a taxicab the driver often gives me a sort of you-know-uh—startled look and says, 'Why I know you—you're Marion Lorne.' Then he bursts out laughing. This happens when I'm walking along the street too."

"The—uh—disconcerting thing about it, you know—uh—is that everybody always waits expectantly then for me to say something funny, and I really don't. And so they go on, looking sort of—you know—baffled."

After 30 years as a leading lady of the London stage, playing in her own theater in plays written expressly for her by her husband, the late Walter Hackett, Marion Lorne has found it fun—and also profitable—just to be herself.

"My this really doesn't seem like work at all," she admits. "I—uh—never know what to expect really—everybody seems so happy-go-lucky on these television shows."

Hot Cross Buns

INGREDIENTS: 1/2 cup milk; 1/2 cup sugar; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1/2 cup butter or margarine; 1-3 cup mashed potato; 1/2 cup warm (105 to 115 degrees) water; 1 package active dry yeast; 1 egg slightly beaten; 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind; 2 1/2 cups all-purpose sifted flour; melted butter; 1/3 cup raisins; rinsed, in hot water and drained; 1 egg yolk; 2 tablespoons water; confectioners' sugar frosting.

METHOD: Scald milk, stir in sugar, salt, shortening and potato; cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into a large mixing bowl; sprinkle in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture, egg, lemon rind and half the flour; beat until smooth. Add enough remaining flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on prepared pastry cloth or lightly floured board; knead 8 to 10 minutes until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl; brush top with melted butter; cover and let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk—about 1 hour. Punch dough down and turn out on pastry cloth; knead raisins into dough. Form dough into a roll about 12 inches long; cut with a sharp knife into 12 equal slices. Form each slice into a ball; place in greased 8-inch square cake pan about 1/4 inch apart. Brush tops with egg yolk mixed with 2 tablespoons water; cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in moderate oven 375 degrees oven about 25 minutes. When done, brush with a cross shape over top of each; drip frosting from demitasse spoon in a cross shape over top of each roll.

Cafeteria Assn. Installs New Officers

The Snyder School Cafeteria Assn. installed its new officers and picked delegates to the state convention at its regular April meeting Tuesday afternoon at the West Elementary School. Nan Allen and staff were hostesses for the meeting.

The group voted to send Joyce Smith and Rose Kennedy to the state convention in Tyler.

Officers installed included: Rosa Kennedy, president; Pauline Lee, vice president; Mabel Griffith, secretary-treasurer; Joyce Smith was the installing officer.

Edna Keller presented the past president's gift, and the Lucky Lady gift was won by Ollie Belle Clements.

Bennie Caldwell led the devotion and Anna Vise led the prayer at the outset of the meeting.

Entertainment featured dancing students presented by Elaine Laimbert.

Refreshments were served to 32 persons. The next meeting of the association will be the annual picnic in May.

A. A. Lockhart Is Honored Here Sunday

A. A. Lockhart, 2805 Avenue Y, was honored at a surprise birthday dinner in Toile Memorial Park Sunday.

Mr. Lockhart was celebrating his 71st birthday.

Eleven children, 24 grandchildren and one great-grandchild were present for the event. A huge white birthday cake inscribed "Happy Birthday, Dad," was served.

"I'm still here," he said.

"I've been married 30 years," she says. "My husband bought the Whitehall Theater there while it was being built, and I had a hand in the final decorating and appointments. From then on it was my theater, and I played there almost continuously, always in plays Walter wrote for me."

"Acting was serious business when I guess I played 150 roles during those years. Then came the war and I just accepted it. I came to New York with my husband for three weeks, and while we were here he was taken with a sudden illness and died. So I am still here."

For the last two years she has been one of the regulars on the Garry Moore show.

"The nicest thing about it all is that at a time when I thought there was no more laughter in life, I found I could make people laugh—and without really trying. Because I—uh—really never say anything funny, you know."

Mankind Has Plenty To Fear And Modern Dolls Most Of All

Man wants but little here below, he got the benefit of the doubt if only he practiced discretion and nurtured his lip.

Now, this is another distinction he has lost to the doll house. A patent has just been granted on a doll capable of sun-burning while man the nanny, fiddles. This doll like its human counterpart that tan well, has a skin both tough and sensitive to light. Put this doll out in the sun or under a lamp, and it will acquire a color comparable to that of a Palm Beach debutante.

Set this doll in the shade and she begins to fade gradually, even as you and I.

As if this intelligence weren't enough to unsettle me for a week, I have word of another new development in the doll world, a twist that again infringes on man's unique prerogative. There is now a hypochondriac doll on the market, designed for the hypochondriac mopester, or for teeny tykes who like to play doctor or nurse.

This doll, called Marybel, like too much of modern mankind, talks, eat, sleep, drink, burp, cry, whine and come with wardrobe more extensive and elaborate than that of the Duchess of Windsor.

Every time I think about inventors, there come just about as far as they can go and that this limitation of life has its limits, man is robbed for one more quality that makes him unique. And that unique quality turns up in a flower doll.

Once upon a time, a deep sunburn, particularly in the chest area, was a disfiguring skin ailment. It implied that the individual had both the money and the leisure to go to Florida or Arizona or Mexico and tan his hide the color of an old Cordoba saddle. Even if he acquired that color under the rays of the Turkish bath,

Only, of course, Marybel doesn't really die. Peeled of bandages and band-aids, she is good as new, which is more than can be said of humans under similar circumstances.

Little To Choose Between Senators

Perhaps a much more persuasive factor in his thinking than was the belief he could wallop Humphrey without going through a debate, the polls at the time indicated he was out in front. He won by more than 100,000 votes.

In West Virginia—where Kennedy seems to have tougher going than in Wisconsin—he says he accepted the second Humphrey debate challenge because of the attacks on him.

The two men's views, because they are rather similar, may not be an important factor in swaying West Virginia voters. But the sight of the two men in action and close up will provide a chance to weigh their presidential looks.

But even if the primary results force one of the other to give up, his presidential hopes, the loser is apt to place the blame on something besides the debate.

Kennedy as a loser might feel, for instance, that his Catholicism, which didn't keep him from winning in Wisconsin where 30 percent of the people are Catholic, was what killed him in West Virginia where the Catholics are only 5 percent.

"The hite looks nicer in the mirror, but I sure do miss the feeling of the teeth being together."

Between You And Me

By Jerry Jackson

The old horse trader, Frank Lane has done it again. Many seem to think he's "split his britches" on the most recent deals, however, which have seen him peddle name-star Herb Score to the White Sox in a straight player swap for nameless Barry Latman, then ridding himself of one Rocky Colavito for Detroit's Harvey Kuenn.

Lane, you'll remember, is the controversial general manager of the Cleveland Indians, twice removed. First he was removed from the White Sox front office, then the St. Louis Cardinals' "His line of attack is invariable. First he moves in to an organization. Second, he trades players as if tomorrow might never come. Third, he moves on to greener, player-infested pastures. Quite a guy, that Lane.

He is a man of many words, the majority of which are of the violent nature. One of his recent roof-raising transpired only last month following the trading of catcher Russ Nixon to the Red Sox for catcher Sammy White and utility man Jim Marshall. White subsequently quit baseball (Lane included), with the consternation of the fire-filled Cleveland general manager.

You're Is A Good Boy, Joe

LANE ALSO GRABBED OFF a few headlines last September when he abruptly fired field manager Joe Gordon, then hired him back with a ceremonial pat on the head, a raise in pay, and the statement: "After sunning everything up I decided that the best man to succeed Joe Gordon is Joe Gordon."

But back to the topic at hand before getting caught up base. Score, a strikeout artist with loads of potential when he came up a few years ago, was a 20-game winner in his sophomore season in the majors (1956). However, a line drive off the bat of New York's Gil McDougal put a temporary stopper to his career in the '57 season, and almost brought about the loss of an eye.

Lane advances the opinion that he (Score) is afraid of a duplication of such an ill-fated line drive, and has thrown up a mental block, or possible shield, in guarding against such an occurrence. Lane's "It more psychological than physical. I don't think Score is through. I just think he can't win for Cleveland. Maybe he'll pitch more effectively in Chicago with the bigger park and a manager, like Al Lopez who knows him and likes him and may give him more sympathy."

Al's Got A Soft Shoulder, Herb

THE SYMPATHY BARR was brought on by Score's statement that "Joe Gordon doesn't like me. He doesn't have any sympathy for me. I'd like to be traded to a manager who is more sympathetic."

On the other side of the trading fence, we have Latman, a comparative unknown. He won 8 and lost 5 for the American League champion Sox last year, however.

A quick switch in the sluggers reveals that Lane's acquisition of Kuenn for Colavito is baffling to some, but looks to be sound from this corner. Kuenn, although lacking in the spectacular keying-in Colavito, is a dependable stickman, as evidenced by his American League batting chamampionship. Defended Lane, "The fans remember only the home run. They don't see the liabilities. I can see Rocky hitting 50 to 55 home runs in Detroit and still he will not be as valuable as Kuenn. That's because Kuenn is the more complete ballplayer."

He's probably right. However, he would doubtless be called onto the teenage carpet for putting Colavito out to pasture, for the tall, dark, flashy-eyed, long-reached Darling of the Baseballs was thought to be irreplaceable in the hearts of Cleveland's younger set.

His very name itself is a good giveaway. After all, the moniker of "Rocky" can be construed to have only one end. It's a contraction of "Rock" and "Ricky"

AS SOX OPEN DEFENSE

Minoso Mutilates Athletic Hurlers

By ED WILKS

The first showdown in the Rocky Colavito-Harvey Kuenn swap was a flop, but another off-season trade pulled by Cleveland's Frank Lane paid a quick return for the Chicago White Sox.

Minoso, the outfielder who has spent his major league career shuttling between Cleveland and Chicago, drove in six runs, walked a first-inning lead-off home, and pitched a ninth-inning tie with a second homer as the White Sox opened their defense of the American League flag by beating Kansas City 10-9 Tuesday.

Colavito, the Cleveland favorite traded to Detroit Sunday for Ron Ryan, was 0-for-6, and Kuenn pulled a leg muscle as the Tigers defeated the Indians 4-2 in 15 innings. The New York Yankees, gunning for a come-back, ripped Kuenn, the 1959 AL bat champ

24 hours with a 3-2 victory over the Senators as the AL opened its late season opening.

In the National League, Los Angeles started the season's second week in first place, jarring San Francisco loose from a share of the lead with a 4-0 decision. Philadelphia defeated Pittsburgh 4-3, and the St. Louis Cardinals won their first, beating the Chicago Cubs 5-2 in the only other game scheduled.

The AL drew 126,238 for Tuesday's games and the largest crowd, 32,756, showed up at Cleveland where Injun fans turned out to see what the Golden Boy would do to the Indians in a Tiger uniform. Colavito, who shared last year's homer title in the AL with Detroit, struck out four times and hit into a doubleplay.

Washington's stay in first place figure in the scoring.

FLOWERS FOR MILADY—All was not base hits and brass tacks here at Towle Park yesterday, as the always-pleasant presentation of the baseball sweetheart was accomplished in pre-game ceremonies. Pretty Ann Dyer is the lucky girl, shown holding a bouquet of roses which was presented to her by Norman Gladson, left, Keith Moffett, center, escorted her to home plate where the ceremonies took place. ### GO, GO, GO...

Tigers Drop C-City, 12-3, Behind Gladson

It was the season opener for Snyder's Tigers. But it looked more like opening day at Hialeah.

For thirteen stolen bases and seven Colorado City bobbles combined to make a race-track out of the base paths and give the local nine an easy 12-3 victory, as Norman Gladson homed down the Wolf path in allowing only two hits in ending the distance.

Except for the fifth and sixth frames, Gladson had the visiting Wolves eating out of his hand. He came out of the fifth unscathed, as second baseman Robbie Fleming, 4-0 basestealer, Steve Wilgus, dash at the plate on a scum-bag off the bat of catcher Jimmy Palmer. The sixth low-eyed effort ran out, quite so well as C-City ran across all of its run as he gained first on a liner which got through Andrews, and consequently scored as he was forced in by the grace of a bases-loaded free pass issued to Greenfield.

A big fifth netted five runs, as Snyder batted around in the process of picking them up. Ronnie Kyle started the merry-go-round with a booming triple to left, which set off a strong wind blowing in from that direction—would have cleared the left-field barrier for a homer. He came in via an error by second baseman Steve Smith on a ball hit by Dyer, after which Free walked, and Moffett joined first on another miscue by Andrews.

THEY'RE COUNTING NOW

Cardinals Grab Initial Victory

By ED WILKS Associated Press Staff Writer

The world champion Los Angeles Dodgers are all alone in first place after their first run-in with the San Francisco Giants, but the guys with the smiles in the National League are the St. Louis Cardinals.

They finally won one. The "Ginnest" club of the exhibition season (18-6), the Cards discovered all sorts of ways to lose in their first five regular season games. But Tuesday night with injured Joe Cunningham back and Stan Musial slugging a two-run homer, the Cards broke through for a 5-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

The Dodgers topped the Giants out of a share of the lead with a 4-0 decision at San Francisco as Johnny Podres and Ed Roebuck combined for a five-hit shutout. And the Philadelphia Phillies won their first under new Manager Gene Mauch, beating Pittsburgh 4-3 behind Jim Owen's three-hitter in the only other game scheduled.

The American League completed its late opening as the Chicago White Sox out-slugged Kansas City 10-9 on a pair of homers by Minnie Minoso. Detroit beat Cleveland, 4-2 in 15 innings although Rocky Colavito was hitless. New York smacked Boston 8-4 and Baltimore defeated Washington 3-2.

Southpaw Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, battered in his first start of the year in a 6-1 loss to the Giants, struck out 10 and gave up seven hits while becoming the Cards' first winner. He needed Lindy MDaniel's relief help in the ninth, but had a three-run lead after Bill White hit his first home run of the year in the eighth.

Wilmer also doubled home the Cards' first two runs in the second. But it wasn't until the fifth that St. Louis drew ahead to stay. Cunningham, sidelined by a leg injury after playing in the season opener, was 2-for-4 and scored the run that broke a 2-2 tie on Musial's double off loser Seth Morehead (0-1).

The Cubs had tied it in the third on Ernie Banks' third home run—a shot that gave the slugging shortstop a tie with Hall of Famer Gabby Hartnett as the Cubs' all-time home run champ with 231.

Los Angeles set the run-it-needed in the second on Carl Furillo's triple and a sacrifice fly by rookie Tommy Davis against Billy O'Dell (0-2), a loser in his first NL start. The Dodgers added three more in the ninth against Billy Loos and Stu Miller on John Roseboro's two-run triple and two of the Giants' five errors.

Podres, gaining his first decision of the season with his fourth straight victory over the Giants since 1958, had a three-hitter for eight innings. Singles by Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda and a walk loaded the bases with one out in the ninth before Roebuck came on and ended it as Ed Brossard hit into a pitcher-to-home first doubleplay.

Owens, slapped with a $500 fine for playing too hard off the field during spring training, was all business in his first appearance for the Phils. An error, Dick rainbow Market continues to reign supreme in Couples League bowling with a comfortable 11 point spread over Eastman Oil and Tempens, both of whom are deadlocked for the second spot.

Eastman monopolized team totals in this past week's keeling, however, its 1921 series and games of 658 and 652 being toppers in both of those categories. Running behind them in team series was Holt Music (1815) and Rainbow (1811). Holt also had the third high game of 638.

On an individual basis, Eastman's Travis Neff made the biggest noise in the pin splattering, his 665 series and games of 246 and 221 being the best of the evening.

Rainbow's Jim Tatum was second high in series with 568; while Pete Kinney of Stewart's Service was in the "show" slot with his 527. In addition, Kinney marked up the third high game of 298.

For the women, Darris Minton of Holt's (477-167) staged a torrid battle with Johnnie Tipping of Eastman's (477-169) for top laurels. Betty Tatum (Rainbow) was third high series-wise with 419, while Jean Mills of Stewart's was third in individual games with her 158. Split pickups were the rule rather than the exception, and tallied out in this manner: Eastman—Johnnie Tipping, 2-7-10 and 2-7; Cora Nance 4-5; Hugh Nance, 5-10; Holt—Terry Holt, 3-10; Martha Caffee, 5-5; Tempens—Jane Staires, 5-10; Rainbow—Jim Tatum, 3-10.

Current league standings are as follows:

Team	Won	Lost
Rainbow Market	48	24
Eastman Oil	37	35
Holt Music	35	37
Stewart's Service	29 1/2	42 1/2

Ike's Papers Going Into New Library

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower's papers and a library to hold them are being given to the government for the use of students and historians. The three-million-dollar library of Kansas limestone is under construction in Abilene, Kan., Eisenhower's boyhood home. The building and millions of the President's private and official documents are expected to be turned over to the government when Eisenhower's term in the White House ends Jan. 20. This was the word from Franklin Floete, head of the General Services Administration, which operates federal buildings. The special Eisenhower Presidential Library Library Commission, created as an agency of the State of Kansas and sponsored by the Eisenhower Foundation, will handle the matter until it is turned over to the GSA.

The President is following the example of his two predecessors. The papers and library of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt at Hyde Park, N.Y., already belong to the government. Those of former President Harry S. Truman at Independence, Mo., were turned over to the government in 1957.

Eisenhower is nearing the end of a 10-day let-up in official cares and pressures and a heavy concentration on golf at Augusta National Golf Club. He may return to Washington Thursday. No official appointments were for today—only more work on current official papers and mail. The Eisenhower library is on a nine-acre tract, on four adjoining acres stand the white frame house where the President grew up and a museum holding two million dollars worth of the gifts he has received in his career as general and president. The home and museum will not become government property, at least for the present.

School Controversy Settled In Georgia

HAHIRA, Ga. (AP)—Teachers and pupils went back to classes at Hahira High School today, a padding controversy settled and calm restored in this south Georgia farming center. The return of the 600 pupils.

School Aid Is Backed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex.) said Tuesday all levels of government must help finance a "vastly enlarged and improved public education system."

Yarborough made his remarks in a speech on the Senate floor. The junior senator said resolutions passed by the Texas Classroom Teachers Assn. "show the teachers' concern."

Yarborough said "Such financial assistance must always be accepted without federal control of public schools."

"We are determined," he added, "to continue local control of schools and to also have better schools."

Yarborough quoted the following from what he said was a resolution passed by the classroom teachers:

"We believe it is the responsibility of the local, state and national governments to provide maximum educational opportunities throughout the country. Furthermore, means must be found by these agencies to share in this program of finance without sacrificing local autonomy."

The principal and 32 teachers was in striking contrast to Tuesday's furor over the padding last week of Earl Corneilus' 14.

The entire faculty resigned, more than 150 pupils staged a demonstration in front of the building chanting "We want our teachers back" and parents talked about organizing a motorcade to the Lowndes County seat, Valdosta.

The school was closed and the five-man county board of education hurried over from Valdosta, 12 miles away, to hold an emergency meeting.

The board and the teachers solved the problem with the help of school bus driver Elmer Corneilus and his wife, parents of the youth who was paddled.

County School Superintendent W. Meacham and Principal A. B. Martin said in a joint statement that the situation had been resolved satisfactorily.

The board assured Martin and the teachers of support in maintaining school discipline. The principal and teachers withdrew their resignations.

"We regret the situation going as far as it did," Meacham said. The settlement was reached after Mr. and Mrs. Corneilus agreed to withdraw warrants alleging the principal, and Mrs. Doughty, a teacher, paddled Earl too severely a week ago.

In addition, the board granted Mrs. Maples, who is seven months pregnant, a maternity leave of absence. But the board made it clear she could withdraw her request for the leave if she wished. Meacham explained the board had not been able to rally to the support of the school staff while the warrants were outstanding. Failure of the board to take a stand earlier on Earl's thrashing led to the mass resignations.

"It was one of the most tragic days in Hahira history," said Mrs. Gordon Morrow, a teacher at the school for 20 years before she retired.

"We are a quiet respectable town," she said. "We've never had anything like this happen in our school before."

Earl's parents alleged Mrs. Maples paddled the lanky 101-pound youth "30 times with a board" last Wednesday after the principal already had given him a milder licking.

But principal and teacher contended they gave Earl only customary treatment with the school paddles, first for leaving the school without authorization and later, for fibbing to get out of Mrs. Maples' room.

"Paddlings aren't prevalent at Hahira," the principal said, "but they are sometimes necessary, and—when they are, we give them."

Case Gets Easy Primary Victory

By JOHN KOLESAR
NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Liberal Republican Sen. Clifford P. Case easily triumphed over a conservative challenge to his re-nomination, will face Democrat Thore Lord in New Jersey's U.S. Senate election in November.

Case's victory margin over Robert Morris in Tuesday's primary election surpassed 100,000 votes.

With 4,208 of the 4,248 districts counted, Case led Morris 218,654 to 115,954. The senator received 64 per cent of the GOP votes cast.

Lord, as expected, won a lopsided victory over Richard M. Glassner, 62, a Newark lawyer who offered only token opposition in the Democratic senate primary.

Lord led Glassner 137,319 to 36,544. Case, a lawyer who looks younger than his 56 years, is rated one of the most liberal of Republican senators. Morris, in a well-financed conservative campaign, attacked Case as more of a Democrat than a Republican.

Case won a reputation as a strong supporter of Eisenhower administration policies in his six years in the Senate. But during the campaign Morris accused him of deserting the administration fight against inflation by voting for generous spending. Case called Morris a "McKinleyite."

Lord, a tall, gangling lawyer who once served as the state's U.S. district attorney, heads one of the most successful Democratic county organizations in the state—Mercer County, which includes the state capital at Trenton.

The Republican Senate primary was the feat of the election, although there was also voting for national convention delegates, congressional candidates in 14 districts and local and county candidates and party committees.

Morris, who finished third in a three-way Senate primary in 1958, got strong conservative backing in his campaign against Case. Some GOP leaders thought he had a chance to score an upset.

Morris conceded defeat at 11:13 p.m. long after Case had an insurmountable lead.

Morris, former counsel for the Senate Internal Security subcommittee under the late Sen. Pat McCarran, issued a terse statement.

"We fought this campaign on principles. We lost. We're going to keep on fighting for the same principles."

He refused to say whether he would back Case against Lord. "Look, I'm not interested in any individuals," the ruddy-faced, 45-year-old lawyer told newsmen. "I'm interested only in principles."

Redress Pledged By Rhee Regime; New Riots Start

By GENE KRAMER
SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—President Syngman Rhee today pledged a redress of grievances as his soldiers smashed the last of the riotous resistance which brought this capital to the edge of revolution. New demonstrations were reported in other cities.

Sternly rebuked by the United States for his government's repressive measures, Rhee today pledged a redress of grievances as his soldiers smashed the last of the riotous resistance which brought this capital to the edge of revolution. New demonstrations were reported in other cities.

The new city is a long way from completion. It will be built for years to come, at an estimated cost of at least a half billion dollars. Kubitschek plans to make it his headquarters, but only a handful of government officials will remain with him. Kubitschek started planning the city when he took office in January 1956 and turned the first earth for it a year later.

for government buildings, police kept up operations against scattered bands of demonstrators roaming the outskirts of Seoul. Scattered gunfire continued through the night and shortly after dawn police shot and killed three members of an armed group defying the curfew.

New demonstrations were reported in Taegu, Kwangju, Conju, Suwon, Iri and Incheon, but no casualties were reported. Both Taegu and Kwangju are under martial law.

The demonstrators are demanding nullification of the March 15 presidential election, in which Rhee won a fourth term, and the dismissal of the cabinet headed by vice president, Kim M. Chang, both by overwhelming votes. The demonstrators charged that Rhee's Liberal party rigged the elections and also accused the police of brutality against election day demonstrators.

The statement, a call for new elections, was read to newsmen by a spokesman, and the president himself did not appear.

The statement called on the South Korean people to "display their patriotism and follow the instruction of responsible authorities."

The first task is full restoration of law and order—so that necessary for martial law no longer exists," Rhee declared. While promising redress of grievances, the President gave no indication of what the government would do to meet its critics. Rhee's Cabinet met throughout the day, discussing the situation and Herter's censure. Tanks and armed combat troops guarded the Cabinet building and other major public buildings.

Delay For Ike's Visit Is Proposed

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
WASHINGTON (AP)—Members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee proposed today to delay President Eisenhower's visit to Korea.

Aiken told a reporter the President ought to take a "second look" at his scheduled itinerary for the Far East, which includes the stop in South Korea.

"I think it would be far more important for the President to go to the Philippines and Viet Nam," Aiken said. "If he goes to Korea it might look like we are supporting an iron-fisted government there."

There has been no indication of a change in Eisenhower's plans to visit Korea June 22 near the end of his scheduled trip to the Soviet Union and Japan.

Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) and Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) joined Humphrey in applauding Tuesday's action by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter in charging the South Korean government with adopting repressive measures against a free democracy.

Summoning ambassador Youn Chuan Yang to his office, Herter called on the Rhee government to take immediate steps to restore democratic rights, including freedom of speech assembly and the press and bring an end to "unfair discrimination against political opponents."

Humphrey, however, advocated that Eisenhower carry the American flag to Seoul, Korea.

"I complement the secretary of state for speaking up," he said. "It should have been done earlier, but at least it has now been done."

Herter expressed "profound and growing concern of this government over the serious, continuing public unrest and acts of violence in Korea."

Envoy To Give Panel Full Report On Test Ban Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ambassador James J. Wadsworth agreed today to give a full report on the Geneva nuclear-test-ban negotiations.

Wolfgang K. H. Panofsky of Stanford University said that under the U.S. proposal there would be only a 10 per cent chance of uncovering a concealed test shot with inspection.

Dr. Harold Brown of the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory, Livermore, Calif., said he saw almost no likelihood of detecting low-power underground nuclear blasts if strong concealment efforts were made.

However, Panofsky said he believed the Soviets had made significant concessions in the test agreement negotiations.

He noted that the U.S. proposal, as far as underground explosions were concerned, sought to ban only shots with an explosive power of 20 kilotons or more.

Indiana's pipeline prorations currently is 60 per cent of the oil taken from its connections in January. Such pipeline prorations vary from company to company. Witnesses also told the commission that recent reports indicate that a previously predicted increase in market demand was too high. Executives of the major oil companies estimated earlier this year that the growth of the domestic industry would be about 4 1/2 per cent, but the commission heard today from several sources that three per cent is the more realistic figure. Total demand from Jan. 1 through April 8 has gone up only one half of one per cent, the commission was told. Chairman Ernest O. Thompson reported that stocks of crude oil and acid products are 31,200,000 barrels above the desired level. This includes an excess of 36 million barrels in gasoline stocks and 6,400,000 barrels in crude stocks. Total inventories, according to latest available figures, are 612,200,000.

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Galveston voters Tuesday voted to discard the city commission form of government which it started using in 1901. Pallbearers were to be Tom Holcomb, Walter D. Walker, James Maxwell, Walker Dabbs, and L. H. Bond.
Following the service the body will be taken overland to Batesville, where burial will be in the Oak Lawn Cemetery, under the direction of Bell Funeral Home.

Gas Firm's Rates Hiked

DALLAS (AP)—L. T. Potter, president of Lone Star Gas Co., said Tuesday that 166 of the 316 Texas towns and cities served by the firm have approved gas rate boosts. One of the latest was Dallas, where city councilmen voted to allow the increase a day earlier. It amounts to 84 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas delivered to commercial and home customers. Lone Star Gas put a similar boost into effect Oct. 1 in the Oklahoma area it serves. Potter told stockholders at their annual meeting that the average rate of gas in the field rose from 11.4 cents per 1,000 cubic feet in 1955 to 12.2 cents last year and 13.1 cents the first two months of 1960.

His report showed net income for the 12 months ending March 31 amounted to $2.47 per share of common stock, compared to $2.41 in the preceding year. Directors voted to declare a quarterly dividend of $1.21 per share on 4.84 per cent convertible preferred stock, payable June 15, and 45 cents per share of common stock, payable June 6.

Johnson Backed By Virginia Governor

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) now has the personal backing of Virginia Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. for the Democratic nomination for president. Almond predicted at a news conference Tuesday that the party's nominee would be one of four men—Johnson, Adlai Stevenson, Sen. John F. Kennedy, or Sen. Stuart Symington. Observing that the Virginia delegation to the Democratic National Convention probably would vote for Johnson on the first ballot, the governor said "I'm inclined to support him as long as his name is before the convention."

School Loses Tax On Plant

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Supreme Court followed the order of the U. S. Supreme Court today and held that the Dumas Independent School District cannot collect taxes on the Cactus Ordnance Works in Moore County. Today's order said Phillips Chemical Co. could collect $1,071 from the school district for appointing the case to Washington and the school must pay all other lower court costs. On Feb. 24 the U. S. Supreme Court held invalid a 1959 state law allowing the Dumas school to collect property tax on Cactus Ordnance Works for the years 1949 to 1950. Phillips Chemical, which had the former World War II ordnance works under lease to produce chemical fertilizers, claimed the state law was unconstitutional because it applied only to taxation of a lessee of U. S. property. The Dumas school won its case in the Moore County District Court. The decision was affirmed by the Seventh Court of Civil Appeals and the State Supreme Court. The U. S. decision ordered all these opinions reversed on the grounds the Texas law discriminated "unconstitutionally" against the United States and its lessee.

Marion Lorne Is Naturally Funny

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

She's everybody's Aunt Marion. When she flutters her hands, smiles apologetically and says, "Well, dear me, what was it I was going to say now?" TV fans across the country break up.

"Uh—Really—uh—don't know why people seem to think I'm so funny," says Marion Lorne, veteran dramatic actress and television character.

"When I get into a taxicab the driver often gives me a sort of you-know—uh—started look, and says, 'Why I know you—you're Marion Lorne.' Then he bursts out laughing. This happens when I'm walking along the street, too."

"The uh—discussing thing about it, you know—means that everybody always waits expectantly then for me to say something funny, and I really don't. And so they go on looking sort-of-you-know—uh—"

After 30 years as a leading lady of the London stage, playing in her own theater-in-plays written expressly for her by her husband, the late Walter Hackett, Marion Lorne has found it's fun—and also profitable—just to be herself.

"My this really doesn't seem like work at all," she admits. "I—uh—never know what to expect, really, everybody seems so happy-go-lucky on these television shows."

Marion was born Marion Lorne MacDougall in West Pittston, Pa., and was reared in Philadelphia, daughter of a surgeon. She was determined to be an actress, despite her family's disapproval and landed her first stage job at the age of 18, playing summer stock. Then she met and married Hackett, well-known California playwright.

"We went to London for three weeks and stayed 30 years," she says. "My husband bought the Whitehall Theater there while it was being built, and I had a hand in the final decorating and appointments. From then on it was my theater, and I played there almost continuously, always in plays Walter wrote for me."

"Acting was serious business then. I guess I played 150 roles during those years. Then came the war and ruined everything. I came to New York with my husband for three weeks, and while we were here he was taken with a sudden illness and died. So I am still here."

For the last two years she has been one of the regulars on the Garry Moore show.

"The nicest thing about it all is that at a time when I thought there was no more laughter in life, I found I could make people laugh—and without really trying. Because I—uh—really never say anything funny, you know."

Hot Cross Buns

INGREDIENTS: 1/4 cup milk, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup butter or margarine, 1-3 cup mashed potato, 1/4 cup warm (105 to 115 degrees) water, 1 package active dry yeast, 1 egg (slightly beaten), 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 2 1/2 cups sifted flour, melted butter, 1-3 cup raisins rinsed in hot water and drained, 1 egg yolk, 2 tablespoons water, confectioner's sugar frosting.

METHOD: Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt, shortening and potato; cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into a large mixing bowl; sprinkle in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture, egg, lemon rind and half the flour; beat until smooth. Add enough remaining flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on prepared pastry cloth or lightly floured board; knead 8 to 10 minutes until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl; brush top with melted butter; cover and let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk—about 1 hour. Punch dough down and turn out on pastry cloth; knead raisins into dough. Form dough into a roll about 12 inches long; cut with a sharp knife into 12 equal slices. Form each slice into a ball, place in greased, 8-inch square cake pan about 1/4 inch apart. Brush tops with egg yolk mixed with 2 tablespoons water; cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 15 to 20 minutes. When buns are just cool in a cross shape over top of each drip, frosting from demitasse spoon in a cross shape over top of each roll.

Broccoli

INGREDIENTS: 1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped broccoli, 1 cup boiling water, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons heavy cream, pepper, 1 medium-sized thinly sliced cooked carrot if desired.

METHOD: Bring broccoli, boiling water and salt to a boil in a saucepan, breaking up broccoli with a fork. Cover, reduce heat but keep boiling gently until just tender—about 4 minutes. Meanwhile work together the butter and flour with a spoon until blended; add to cooked broccoli and liquid; stir constantly over moderately low heat until thickened. Stir in cream, pepper to taste and if used carrot slices; reheat. Makes 4 servings. Add more salt if necessary.

WHAT'RE WE WORRYING ABOUT ?

Mankind Has Plenty To Fear And Modern Dolls Most Of All

By INEZ ROBB

"Man wants but little here below," says the little book "as the saying goes, and it is a good thing that man's sights are low. Because as the tea leaves swirl for this oracle man's days—unless he acts quickly—are numbered. He is not even apt to inherit that little which he has supposedly content."

If isn't anything as simple as the hydrogen bomb that he has to fear, or any War Between the Worlds or Strife Between the Stars—that's soon, man, corn.

The real struggle, which man has so far refused to face, is here and now. Even before pigeons replace people, living dolls may well have inherited the earth.

Ever since the end of World War II I have been filled with morbid fascination and eerie forebodings over the trend in dolls for tiny and so-called innocent tots. Year after year, dolls have become more life-like. From a relatively simple mechanism that merely wets its diaper, makes her walk, talk, eat, sleep, drink, burp, cry, whine and come with word probes more extensive and elaborate than that of the Duchess of Windsor.

Every time I think doll inventors have gone just about as far as they can go and that this limitation of life has its limits, man is robbed for one more quality that makes him unique. And that unique quality turns up in a new doll.

Once upon a time a deep-sunburn, particularly in the dead of winter was a distinct status symbol for man. It implied that he had both the money and the leisure to go to Florida or Arizona or Mexico and tan his hide in the color of an old Cordoba saddle. Even if he acquired that color under the sun-lamps in the Turkish bath he got the benefit of the doubt if only he practiced discretion and buttoned his lip.

Now this is another distinction he has lost to the doll house. A patent has just been granted on a doll capable of sun-burning while man, the nunny fiddles. This doll, like its human counterpart, tans well, has a skin both tough and sensitive to light. Put this doll out in the sun or under a lamp and it will acquire a color comparable to that of a Palm Beach debutante.

Put this doll in the shade and she begins to fade gradually, even as you and I.

As if this intelligence weren't enough to unsettle me for a week, I have word of another new development in the doll world, a twist that again infringes on man's uniqueness. There is now a hypochondriac doll on the market, designed either for hypochondriac mopey or for teeny tykes who like to play doctor or nurse.

This doll called Marybel is like me in much of modern man's sick, sick, sick. At last, I've discovered for whom those drop-dead get-well cards are designed: Marybel!

Marybel to gladden the hearts of the sick, sick, sick younger generation, comes complete with splints for arms and legs, crutches, band-aids, dark glasses for eye injuries, red spots for measles, yellow spots for chicken-pox, and for not to know a trace of wabbers to stuff in her cheeks to simulate mumps.

Get Marybel decked out in all her splints and spots, and she is a sure-enough basket case. No emergency ward could conscientiously refuse her, or any Gray Lady ignore her. So, in less than a generation, we have gone all the way from the living doll to the dying doll, Marybel.

Things That Make Your Dentist Tired

By HAZ BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks a dentist gets tired of hearing.

"Here's one that will jaw you."

"Seems any interesting new teeth lately?"

"London bridge is falling down and so is yours."

"Generally speaking I prefer a local anesthetic—so long as it numbs me all over."

"Before you start to drill, let me tell you a story that will amuse you."

"Duh!"

"Who fixes your teeth, Doc? They look awful sincere."

"Can you do anything about our daughter? She is 12 and still sucks her thumb. We don't mind that her father chews."

"Put the nicotine needle in the wallet, Doc. Then give me the bill."

"Since you put in the new plates I can still say 'Oh, okay.' But whenever I try to say 'Mississippi' our loud cabs drive up."

"Wait! This look all right. But why is it when I laugh people around me seem so nervous?"

"They may be your mind, Doc, but they aren't my mouth."

"I don't quite know how to say it, doctor, but when you gave me the gas I had the strangest feeling—My, what interesting wall paper."

"Duh! Doc, the gal in your office, she is good, as new. I have my teeth cleaned. Should I bring them in—or mail them?"

"The blue looks nice in the mirror, but I sure do miss the feeling of the teeth being together."

"You should have warned me, Doc. All I did was take one bite of an apple—and I hand you the bill."

"I'd rather not have the gold show if you can help it, but it does have to show, don't spare the girals. I deal with the public—more than can suit of humans under similar circumstances."

School Controversy Settled In Georgia

HAHIRA, Ga. (AP) — Teachers and pupils went back to classes at Hahira High School today, a padding controversy settled, and calm restored in this south Georgia farming center.

The return of the 600 pupils and the principal and 32 teachers was in striking contrast to Tuesday's furor over the padding last week of Earl Cornelius, 14.

The entire faculty resigned, more than 150 pupils staged a demonstration in front of the building chanting "We want our teachers back" and parents talked about organizing a motorcade to the Lowndes County seat, Valdosta.

The school was closed and the five-man county board of education hurried over from Valdosta, 12 miles away, to hold an emergency meeting.

The board and the teachers solved the problem with the help of school bus driver Elmer Cornelius and his wife, parents of the youth who was padded.

County School Superintendent Clyde W. Meacham and Principal A. B. Martin said in a joint statement that the situation had been resolved satisfactorily.

The board assured Martin and the teachers of support in maintaining school discipline. The principal and teachers withdrew their resignations.

"We regret the situation going as far as it did," Meacham said. "The settlement was reached after Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius agreed to withdraw warrants alleging the principal and Mrs. Dwight Maples, a teacher, padded Earl to severely a week ago."

In addition, the board granted Mrs. Maples, who is seven months pregnant, a maternity leave of absence. But the board made it clear she could withdraw her request for the leave if she wished.

Meacham explained the board had not been able to rally to the support of the school staff while the warrants were outstanding.

Failure of the board to take a stand earlier on Earl's thrashing led to the mass resignations.

"It was one of the most tragic days in Hahira history," said Mrs. Gussion Moore, a teacher at the school for 20 years before she retired.

"We are a quiet, respectable town," she said. "We've never had anything like this happen in our school before."

Earl's parents alleged Mrs. Maples paddled the lanky, 101-pound youth "30 times with a board" last Wednesday after the principal already had given him a milder licking.

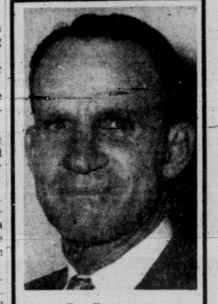

But principal and teacher contended they gave Earl only customary treatment with the school paddle, first, for leaving the school without authorization and, later, for fibbing to get out of Mrs. Maples' room.

"Paddlings aren't prevalent at Hahira," the principal said, "but they are sometimes necessary, and when they are, we give them."

Ike's Papers Going Into New Library

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower's papers and a library to hold them are being given to the government for the use of students and historians.

The three-million-dollar library of Kansas limestone is under construction in Abilene, Kan., Eisenhower's boyhood home.

The building and millions of the President's private and official documents are expected to be turned over to the government when Eisenhower's term in the White House ends Jan. 20.

This was the word from Franklin Floete, head of the General Services Administration, which operates federal buildings.

The special Eisenhower Presidential Library, Commission created as an agency of the state of Kansas and sponsored by the Eisenhower Foundation, will handle the matter until it is turned over to the GSA.

The President is following the example of his two predecessors. The papers and library of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt at Hyde Park, N.Y., already belong to the government. Those of former President Harry S. Truman at Independence, Mo., were turned over to the government in 1957.

Eisenhower is nearing the end of a 10-day let-up in official cares and pressures and a heavy concentration on golf at Augusta National Golf Club. He may return to Washington Thursday.

No official appointments were on tap for today—only more work on current official papers and mail.

The Eisenhower library is on a nine-acre tract. On four adjoining acres stand the white frame house where the President grew up and a museum holding two million dollars worth of the gifts he has received in his career as general and president.

The home and museum will not become government property, at least for the present.

School Aid Is Backed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex.) said Tuesday all levels of government must help finance a "vastly enlarged and improved public education system."

Yarborough made his remarks in a speech in the Senate floor.

The junior senator said resolutions passed by the Texas Classroom Teachers Assn., "show the teachers' concern."

Yarborough said "Such financial assistance must always be and can always be extended and accepted without federal control of public schools."

"We are determined," he added, "to continue local control of schools and to also have better schools."

Yarborough quoted the following from what he said was a resolution passed by the classroom teachers:

"We believe it is the responsibility of the local, state and national governments to provide maximum educational opportunities throughout the country; furthermore, means must be found by these agencies to share in this program of finance without sacrificing local autonomy."

ONE DAY FOR SENIORS COMING UP—High School seniors, Johnny Joyce, Carol Strom, and Philip Smartt watch gleefully as Mayor John Hamblen signs a proclamation giving Seniors an old S.H.S. "free day" from classes with planned entertainments provided, that day being May 13. And they don't seem to mind that that 13 falls on Friday, either.

Case Gets Easy Primary Victory

By JOHN KOLESAR

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Liberal who, once served as the state's U.S. district attorney, heads one easily triumphant over a conservative challenge to his renomination will face Democrat Thorn Lord in New Jersey's U.S. Senate election in November.

Case's victory margin over Robert Morris in Tuesday's primary election surpassed 100,000 votes.

With 4,208 of the 4,248 districts counted, Case led Morris 218,654 to 115,954. The senator received 64 per cent of the GOP votes cast.

Lord, as expected, won a lopsided victory over Richard M. Glasser, 62, a Newark lawyer who offered only token opposition in the Democratic senate primary. Lord led Glasser 137,319 to 36,544.

Case, a lawyer who looks younger than his 50 years, is fated one of the most liberal of Republican senators, Morris, in a well-financed, conservative campaign, attacked Case as more of a Democrat than a Republican.

Case won a reputation as a strong supporter of Eisenhower administration policies in his six years in the Senate. But during the campaign Morris accused him of deserting the administration fight against inflation by voting for government spending. Case called Morris a "McKinleyite."

ECONOMY PROVED IN MOBILGAS RUN!

A pair of Corvairs recently recorded 27.03 and 26.21 miles per gallon in the 2,061.4-mile Mobilgas Economy Run. That's certified proof that Corvair skimps on gas costs. It saves other ways, too. Corvair is the only U.S. compact car that never needs antifreeze or costly radiator repairs. Come in and drive the compact car that outdoes them all.

Things Corvair gives you that America's other compact cars can't:

- Practically flat floor... real foot room for the man in the middle. Fold-down rear seat gives 17.6 cu. ft. of extra storage space.
- Four-wheel independent suspension for a smoother, flatter ride.
- Rear-engine traction... that comes with the engine's weight bearing down on the rear wheels.

You probably realize already that the mileage figures Corvairs recorded in the Mobilgas Run are higher than the average driver can expect. But because the cars met every kind of driving condition—rugged mountain grades, long country straightaways, congested city traffic—those mileage figures prove Corvair's inherent ability to save. Operating costs take a nose dive the day you take delivery of a Corvair.

See your local authorized Chevrolet dealer for fast delivery, favorable deals.
