Airfield Near Naha Captured By Yanks

Philippines Gains Continue; Fliers Sink 35 Jap Ships

By RAY CRONIN
Associated Press War Editor

PLUNGING southward in the wake of terrific naval gun, artillery and plane bombardments, American doughboys on bloody Okinawa island have captured the important Machinato airfield on the west coast, Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported late Monday. The field is less than two miles from Naha, island capital.

This major Yank victory in one of the bloodiest battles of the Pacific war was scored Sunday, Okinawa time, while other American forces were fighting their way over hilly ground in the center of the flaming battle line.

59 Jap Planes Downed

The Japanese lost 59 planes as they continued their aerial attacks in the Okinawa sector. Twenty-nine were shot down by Yank fighters and ship and shore gunners. The others were bagged by carrier combat patrols when they attacked American surface units. Other Yank carrier fliers and search planes hit shipping in the Ryukyus, off Kyushu and near Kozu island, about 90 miles south of Tokyo.

Some 35 Japanese ships were sunk by American airmen in the China sea area.

Boastful radio Tokyo went on the air with these unconfirmed claims — that 18,300 American troops met death or were wounded on Okinawa between April 1 and 28—and that 38 Yank ships were sunk and 41 damaged in that region since April 15.

Japs Admit Reverses

The Japanese acknowledged they had been forced to "yield a little ground" in the southern Okinawa sector but said the American offensive there was being checked.

Yank forces on Mindanao island in the Philippines advanced northward against disorganized resistance to within 17 miles of the port of Davao, last Japanese stronghold in the southern part of the archipelago. The fleeing Nipponese abandoned intact many antiaircraft batteries and coast defense guns.

Guerrilla forces flanked Davao on the southeast by taking the island of Talikud, only nine miles off the city. Light American naval units continued to smash shore installations in Davao gulf.

Other Yank troops on the central Mindanao front made new gains east of Davao.

Molotov Loses His Fight On Argentine

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30 — Over stern Russian objections, the United Nations conference voted 31 to 4 tonight to give Argentina a place immediately in its peace-shaping councils.

Thus the first full-scale floor scrap of the conference ended in a Soviet defeat.

Eloquently but in vain, Russian Foreign Commissar Molotov had pleaded that the ballot be delayed, that there hadn't been time enough for Russia to study Argentina's case. He questioned whether the South American country was free of Fascism.

And, he said, if Argentina is to be invited to send statesmen to San Francisco, so, too, should the Russian-recognized Polish government in Moscow.

Some Soviet Consultation

There was a measure of consolation for the aggressive Russian, however, in the fact that the conference approved with scarcely a ripple the admission of the Soviet White Russian and Ukrainian republics to the conference.

Belgium's foreign minister, Paul Henri Spaak, urged delegates to heed Molotov's bid for delay to preserve "precious unity" among nations sponsoring the conference —Russia, Britain, China and the United States.

But Secretary of State Stettinius and a horde of Latin Americans sprang to the support of Argentina.

Stettinius aligned himself squarely against Molotov, declaring Argentina had complied with conditions laid down at an inter-American conference at Mexico City for joining the family of nations.

"The American representatives," he said, "feel that Argentina has complied with this requirement and desire that Argentina be represented."

Applause sputtered through the hall when Stettinius said his government "concurs in the desires of her sister American republics."

The four nations which opposed immediate seating of Argentina were noted by reporters as Russia, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Greece.

After Alger Hiss, secretary general of the conference, had declined to furnish an official list of the opposing votes, Michael McDermott, State department public relations officer, obtained the names of the four countries. There was only a standing vote, not a roll call vote.

Enemy Aid Cited

The world can't forget, Molotov declared, that Argentina has "helped the enemy throughout the war," but the Poles fought from the first for the Allies and thus are entitled to a part in the deliberations here.

Colombia's foreign minister, Alberto Lleras Camargo, climbed the steps of the platform to assert that no one should forget, either, that Argentina declared war on the Axis in hostilities not yet ended.

The conference steering committee had voted earlier to extend an invitation to Argentina, as well

Reds Suspect Linkup Trick, Fire At Yanks

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

APOLLENSDORF, Germany, April 30.—The U. S. Ninth Army made a junction with the Russians here this afternoon at 1:30 p. m., after a deep stab eastward.

This second joining of the two armies was achieved only after the Russians, suspicious of a German trick, failed to recognize the Americans and blazed away at them with mortars and machine guns, and two Americans lost their lives when their jeep hit a mine just as they entered this town.

Then A Warm Reception

But once the Russians were convinced, they gave the Yanks a warm reception, the bottle was passed around in celebration, and the Americans and Russians posed happily together for snap-shot takers.

It was the hard-hitting 12th Cavalry squadron led by Lt. Col. Anthony Kleitz of Denver, Colo., which made the two-day cross-country penetration from the Elbe bridgehead held by the 83rd Infantry division, to which the cavalry reconnaissance outfit was attached.

That climaxed a day and a half of almost constant, harried, isolated penetration — always into the unknown and through dark fastnesses of the countless forests in this sector. It had been a day and a half of winding through mine fields, past road blockades and pillboxes.

Hampered By Prisoners

In addition to the battle hazards, the cavalry squadron had been constantly harried by the necessity of taking hundreds of prisoners. Tonight the officers estimated they had taken at least 6,000 Germans in less than two days —a total many times greater than the number of the captors.

The platoon which made the first contact was commanded by Lt. Charles G. Barrett of Montana (home town unavailable). Although tentative scouting and patrol work indicated a juncture was imminent, the cagey doughboys moved slowly and took no more chances than they had to. But it was only a matter of minutes after entering the town that the junction became official.

Even so, it was some time before the remander of the squadron gathered.

Tries For Contact

Throughout the rolling hunt for the Russians, Lt. Timothy Theo of Kriev, Russia, liaison officer, kept attempting to contact his countrymen by radio.

He heard them talking constantly, but they remained dubious of strange voices over the air — how dubious we had yet to learn.

Moving down the road we spotted a fortified hilltop position ahead, with uniformed figures moving around it. The column halted while a few of us went forward to check — and were greeted by machine gun fire.

Thinking maybe they didn't understand, we made another effort. Lt. Matthew S. Nichol of Des Moines, Iowa, grabbed a fistful of glares of the color designated for

Munich Captured By Yanks; Fall Of Berlin Imminent

Red Victory Flag Flies Over Gutted Capital Of Reich

By ROMNEY WHEELER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Tuesday, May 1.—The Soviet banner of victory floated over the gutted shell of the German Reichstag in Berlin today and Red Army troops were splitting the remaining defenders in what Premier Stalin formally described as "the last assault."

Stalin, in a special order of the day, said that the Russians were celebrating this May day "during the victorious completion of the war."

An early-morning supplement to the regular Moscow communique said, however, that the Germans, now squeezed into the center of Berlin, were stubbornly keeping street crossings and houses under heavy fire, "killing in the process the civilian population of the city."

Fall Appears Imminent

The fall of all Berlin appeared imminent. The Russians stepped up their overwhelming struggle for the city to unprecedented proportions in a possible bid to win the entire city today while Moscow celebrated May day.

Soviet troops were within a mile of tearing the capital into two isolated pockets, each less than nine square miles. They had won the ministry of interior near the Reichstag, were laying siege to Hitler's underground fortress in the Tiergarten, were at Berlin's triumphal arch, the Brandenburg gate, and were across the Spree river from Berlin's cathedral.

German broadcasts admitted that the 10-day battle for the devastated capital was as good as lost, while Premier Stalin, in a May day order of the day, said that the war was approaching its end and declared: "The last assault is on."

Nazis Pay Heavily

Stalin said that 1,800,000 Germans had been killed or captured during the last three to four months of fighting on the Eastern front. His announcement meant that 11,540,000 German casualties had been inflicted by the Red Army in less than four years of war.

As 9,000 more Nazi troops surrendered in Berlin, raising to 65,500 the toll of enemy dead and captured in four days, north of the dying capital Red Army troops, rolling out mile-an-hour gains across Mecklenburg province, seized the Baltic port of Greifswald and smashed within 42 miles of Rostock. The island-bound port of Swinemuende was isolated.

Far to the south, Gen. Andrei I. Yeremenko's Fourth Ukrainian Army captured Moravska-Ostrava, the "Pittsburgh of Czechoslovakia," while cavalrymen of the Second Ukrainian Army plunged through the Morava river valley toward a junction that would roll up a German salient in eastern Moravia.

Is Hitler Still There?

Capture of the famous Reichstag building, which was wrecked by fire in February, 1933, four weeks after Hitler assumed power, and was used by the Nazis as a pretext for seizing dictatorial powers, was announced in Moscow's nightly war bulletin.

The Russians, standing at the Brandenburg gate and across the street from the American embassy, were battling into the eastern end of the Tiergarten, where Hitler and Propaganda Minister Goebbels have been reported directing Berlin's defense from a fortified, underground headquarters.

Along with the Reichstag and the ministry of the interior, Zukov's troops captured 200 city blocks in the heart of the capital.

REDOUBT POCKET RAPIDLY COMPRESSED — Hitler's last-stand redoubt, shown here as of a day or two ago, has now been squeezed smaller, with the capture Monday of Munich, third greatest German city and birthplace of Nazism, while other Seventh Army troops plunged into the Bavarian Alps 12 miles northwest of Innsbruck, northern end of the Brenner pass. Two more American-Russian junctions were made farther north, and another was reported imminent at or near Linz, on eastern rim of the redoubt.

Other Units Are Rapidly Pinching In On Holdouts

By ROBERT EUNSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Tuesday, May 1—Munich, birthplace of the Nazi movement and the third greatest city of Germany, fell last night to the triumphant U. S. Seventh Army after a short but savage one-day battle.

Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commander of the Sixth Army group, hailed the fall of Munich as the accomplishment of one principal objective of his Army group and declared "it may well affect the final stages of the war to a degree second only to the fall of Berlin."

All organized resistance was crushed in the three-quarters of Munich lying west of the Isar river and today doughboys were crossing the stream to clear out snipers from the final quarter.

Others Crash Into Alps

More than 50 miles south of this reputed northern citadel of the Nazis' last-stand fortress in the Alps, other Seventh Army tanks and infantry plunged into the Bavarian Alps 12 miles northwest of Innsbruck at the northern end of the Brenner pass, imperiling the entire German position in the west third of the redoubt.

Amid reports that the Germans were trying to negotiate final surrender, Gen. Eisenhower's armies hammered ahead in both the north and south.

The U. S. First and Ninth armies made two new junctions with the Russians on the Elbe southwest of Berlin and were about to snap shut a trap on large numbers of the capital's defenders farther north.

Second Elbe Crossing

The U. S. 82nd Airborne division, fighting as part of the British Second Army, forced a second crossing of the Elbe river in the Hamburg sector and drove north about two miles.

The British in their own bridgehead 20 miles east of Hamburg were at least six miles beyond the river and were 25 miles south of Luebeck, whose fall would seal off the north German province of Schleswig-Holstein as well as Denmark.

In the south, the U. S. Third Army seized control of 60 miles of the Isar river northeast of Munich, crossed at three points, and armored columns fought 65 miles north of Salzburg, eastern anchor of the redoubt.

On the east flank, two more crossings were made into Czechoslovakia and armored columns were heading south for what may be a big tank battle in Austria

Gasoline Tax Hike Passed By House

AUSTIN, April 30 (AP)—By a vote of 72 to 63 the House today passed on second reading a bill increasing the gasoline tax to five cents per gallon.

The present rate is four cents per gallon and most of the increase would be assigned to construction of farm-to-market roads in all counties of the state.

The bill must be considered on third and final reading before it can be sent to the Senate.

Division Of Receipts

Twenty-five per cent of the new revenue which the additional cent would produce would go to the state available school fund and 75 per cent would be assigned to a special fund for construction of farm to market roads on the basis of non-state highway road mileage in each county for a 10-year period. County commissioners courts would have authority to recommend to the state highway department on what roads the money would be expended. Construction would be under highway department supervision.

Rep. Durwood Manford of Gonzales, a sponsor of the tax increase, estimated it would produce $10,000,000 annually in the post-war era for farm-to-market road building. He declared further it would provide every county with 20 miles of lateral roads annually.

Both House and Senate dug at heavy calendars.

House action included:

Clean-Up Drive Dates Set Here

Decision that Lubbock's annual Clean Up-Paint Up campaign will begin Saturday and extend through May 19 was made at a meeting of the steering committee Monday afternoon at the chamber commerce.

The campaign will be largely one of cleaning of premises by the individual owners and of participation in three major salvage campaigns of the nation—those to collect tin cans, waste fats and paper.

G. M. Unger was re-elected chairman for the campaign.

Up To Property Owners

Every property owner is urged to clean his own premises, it was announced following the meeting. The city will pick up tree limbs, grass clippings and all types of refuse except sod, in addition to the usual collection of garbage, during the campaign.

Although Lubbock is not entering the national clean up-paint up contest, the responsibility rests on property owners to make as much effort to improve the appearance of the city as if the city were competing, it was pointed out. Lubbock won first place in the state 11 years, from 1930 through 1941, but has not entered since that time because of difficulties of competing during wartime, largely because of the manpower shortage.

Salvage Campaigns

Residents of the city are urged to take part in the salvage campaigns, a spokesman for the drive said. Tin cans should be prepared according to government request, the label taken off, the ends removed, and the cans mashed, then taken to grocery stores. Waste fats also are taken to stores.

Two paper salvage collections have been scheduled, the first next Sunday to cover Nineteenth and streets northward, and the second, May 13, Twentieth to Thirty-fourth streets. Residents of streets are to place bundles of paper in front of residences, and those of avenues are to take their bundles to corners.

May Be Last Drive

This may be the last collection of waste paper made throughout the city by the Army. Heretofore, Lubbock Army Air field and South Plains Army Air field have combined their motor pools to make the collection. No vehicles are available from SPAAF now, and LAAF has the problem of providing sufficient number to make the all-city collection. Although arrangements possibly might be worked out for other drives in which several central salvage points would be designated, it is unlikely another street canvass will be made, according to reports received by campaign officials.

Clark Says Nazis Finished In Italy

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

ROME, April 30. — German armies in Italy have been "virtually eliminated as a military force" by the shattering onslaught of the Allies, Gen. Mark W. Clark announced tonight as American Fifth Army troops marched into the great arsenal city of Turin and found it already in the hands of Italian patriots.

Gen. Clark, commander of the 15th Army group, declared that the long, bitter campaign which began at the shell-swept beaches at Salerno in Sept., 1943, had ended except for mopping up scattered Nazi resistance.

More than 120,000 German prisoners and tremendous quantities of arms and equipment have been swept up in the maelstrom set off by the British Eighth Army 22 days ago and joined by the American Fifth Army a week later. Twenty-five Nazi divisions have been ripped to shreds.

"The military power of Germany in Italy has practically ceased, even though scattered fighting may continue as remnants of the German armies are mopped up," said General Clark, commander of the 15th Army group, in a statement to correspondents at his command post.

"Troops of the 15th Army group have so smashed the German armies in Italy that they have been virtually eliminated as a military force. Twenty-five German divisions, some of the best in the German Army, have been torn to pieces and can no longer effectively resist our armies."

New Gesture For Peace Reported

LONDON, April 30 (AP) — The Free Danish press service in Stockholm said that Heinrich Himmler conferred in Denmark this morning with Count Folke Bernadotte, the neutral Swedish emissary by whom he sent his offer to surrender Germany to Britain and the United States last week.

In London, British cabinet ministers held a long meeting today, then some of them met with Prime Minister Churchill late tonight, studying the latest reports on the situation.

STOCKHOLM, Tuesday, May 1 (AP). The newspaper Dagens Nyheter said today Count Folke Bernadotte, Swedish seminary who reportedly has been acting as a go-between for peace between the Allies and Germany, had forwarded the German answer to capitulation demands to an Allied legation in Stockholm yesterday.

Cabinet Meeting Set

A full cabinet meeting is scheduled for early Tuesday, before the House of Commons meets, at which time it likely will be decided whether Churchill might make a statement in the Commons during the afternoon.

The British Press association stated that "there is no longer any doubt that armistice moves are in progress and moving swiftly."

The Himmler-Bernadotte meeting, said to have taken place at Aabenraa just north of the German-Danish border, was believed to be the second conference of the two men in two days.

Since it had been officially disclosed that last week's surrender offer by Himmler reached the Western Allies through Bernadotte, reports of a new contract gave rise to speculation that a new phase in German surrender attempts had opened.

The first offer was refused because it was not addressed to Russia as well as to Britain and the United States.

There was no indication whether Himmler was now ready to yield to all three powers.

Reports Minimized

Dispatches from Stockholm said that the Swedish foreign office as well as American and British sources minimized the importance of the report that talks were in progress between Bernadotte and Himmler in Denmark. American Minister Herschel Johnson and British Minister Sir Victor Mallet made long visits at the foreign office but American legation sources insisted that Johnson's visit had nothing to do with any prospective German surrender.

House Okays U.S. Part In Food Organization

WASHINGTON, April 30. (AP)—Legislation providing for United States membership in the United Nations food and agriculture organization was passed today by the House and sent to the Senate. It was approved 291 to 25 on a rollcall vote.

The organization was proposed at a meeting of 44 nations at Hot Springs, Ga., in 1943. At least twenty nations already have announced they will join the organization, which proposes to raise levels of nutrition throughout the world, to improve food production distribution methods, and to improve condition of rural populations.

The legislation authorizes the expenditure by the United States of $625,000 during the first year of the organization's operation and not to exceed $1,200,000 annually thereafter.

Chickasha Air Base To Be Closed Aug. 1

FORT WORTH, April 30 (AP)—The Army Air Forces Training command headquarters in Fort Worth today announced that the primary training of pilots at Chickasha, Okla., would be concluded about Aug. 1.

No other closing of fields in the region were announced.

TEXAS RANCHER KILLED

FORT WORTH, April 30 (AP)—H. R. Rampy, 49, Cayuga, Tex., ranch man, was injured fatally last night when his truck rolled back as he was loading cattle and he was pinned between the machine and a dock at the Fort Worth stockyards.

Great May Day Seen By Soviet

LONDON, Tuesday, May 1. (AP)—Premier Marshal Stalin in a May day order said early today that Soviet Russia was celebrating May 1 "during the victorious completion of the war."

"The Hitlerite adventurers are trying to flirt with the Allies," the order said. "These new tricks are bound to fail.

"They can only hasten the disintegration of Fascist forces.

"By joint blows the enemy troops were cut in two and the Allies have joined in one front."

Heavy Enemy Losses

Stalin said that in three to four months the Russians had killed about 1,000,000 German troops, captured 800,000, and destroyed 6,000 German planes, 12,000 tanks and 34,000 cannon.

"This doubtless means the end of Hitler's Germany, whose days are counted and most of whose territory is being occupied by us and our Allies," Stalin's order said.

"The industry remaining in her hands cannot supply the German armies sufficiently. German manpower reserves are exhausted. Germany is isolated and alone except for Japan."

Stalin said Nazi propaganda was trying to intimidate the Germans by saying that the Allies would exterminate all Germans.

"This is not in our plans," said the proclamation. "The Allies will exterminate Fascism, punish criminals and make the Hitlerites pay for their destructions. But if the Germans loyally fulfill the Allies' demands they will not be touched."

Sugar Ration In U. S. Is Slashed

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP)—The American sugar ration was cut 25 per cent tonight and higher point values for some other foodstuffs were hinted as officials called on the nation to share with stricken peoples of liberated Europe.

There were these developments:

1. Judge Samuel I. Rosenman, White House advisor, reported after a survey of northwest Europe that the United States should supply a "substantial share" of civilian needs there.

2. The Office of War Information announced that sugar stamp 36, good for five pounds and valid tomorrow, must last four months instead of three.

Higher Points For Fats

3. The inter-agency committee on foreign shipments hinted broadly at forthcoming higher ration points for fats and oils, stating that "substantial adjustments" must be made in this country if pressing needs of liberated Europe are to be met.

A prediction that food production this year in the United States would be 5 to 10 per cent less than last was also made by the inter-agency committee, which is responsible for deciding how much food and other supplies this country shall send over seas.

Attacking the food problem first, the committee's report found the gravest scarcities to be in meat, sugar, fats and oils.

The report did not mention the determination which the committee was charged with making — the total percentage of American food which can be spared for use abroad.

Military Needs Rise

Last year, the document stated, U. S. civilians got 80 per cent of American output, the armed forces 13 per cent, and foreign countries 7 per cent. The committee reported that military use would rise to 16 per cent this year, making less food available for civilians, but did not state whether exports rise or fall.

Sweeping Victory Is Won By Communists

PARIS, April 30 (AP)—The Communist party won a sweeping victory in yesterday's French municipal elections, the tabulation of more than 15,000,000 votes showed today, but political analysts were cautious about conceding that the nation as a whole had "gone Communist."

The trend toward the leftist movement, however, was undeniable.

By 7 o'clock tonight returns had been received from all but the most remote provincial areas.

A breakdown of the figures indicated the Communists had won nearly 25 per cent of the estimated total vote of 18,000,000. Less than one per cent of the electorate endorsed Communist candidates in 1935 when the last previous French municipal elections were held.

Murder Charge Is Filed Against Vet

Technical Slaughter Title Case Is Consolidated Here

IN A PRE-TRIAL conference Monday before Judge Dan Blair of the 72nd district court, 48 defendants were reduced to four and the way cleared for trial on its merits of a $500,000 damage action based on title to 14 "proven" oil tracts in the so-called "unitized" Bob Slaughter block of Hockley county.

The cases, all of which have as party plaintiff W. D. Belt, jr., now list as defendants only Sue Alice Slaughter and her husband R. L. Slaughter, jr.; Sid Richardson, Inc. Sabine Royalty Company, Inc., and The Texas company. The four actions were consolidated Monday.

Whereas there were 98 Hockley tracts under litigation, the conference before Judge Blair reduced the number to 14.

The trial of the consolidated action on its merits will be Oct. 1 in Levelland. It was indicated that the prime issue would turn on claims to two rival chains of title: one claimed by Belt through the original Bob Slaughter, the other by the defendants through the same Slaughter.

Briefly, Belt obtained $2,260.68 judgement against Slaughter Nov. 23, 1934, in Lubbock county against the original Slaughter; got execution; filed abstract of judgment in Hockley county Dec. 28, 1934; obtained a sheriff's deed to sufficient Hockley county property to satisfy the judgment, on Sept. 3, 1935.

Gau won a judgment for $2,473.76 Aug. 23, 1933, in Potter county; got execution; filed his abstract of judgment Jan. 17, 1934, in Hockley county; and J. P. Pool, who had brought the judgment lien, receiv-

DEAN Virginia C. Gildersleeve of Barnard, who represents American women at the San Francisco conference, has devoted her working life to the education of women and has been preparing for 28 years to help perpetuate the framework for a permanent peace.

When she learned that she was to be a delegate to the meeting, Dean Gildersleeve said she hoped she was being appointed not as a woman but as an expert on international affairs.

Gildersleeve

Before the war she worked hard to weld university women of the world into an international force for peace. She helped found and twice headed the International Federation of University women, whose idea was to spread cooperation between countries with an eye to the better understanding of each. As she said, "It was a race between education and the powers of evil and violence and we lost the race. But we haven't given up."

Dean Gildersleeve also is an ardent supporter of adult education. She believes that a new world order can only be successful if backed by an enlightened public opinion.

She is an idealist. Our fault in the past, she says, has been that we write our ideals in beautiful phrases and think the matter is settled. It is necessary for us to get down into the dust of the arena and arrive at some decision she cautions.

Miss Gildersleeve, a Ph. D., a Litt. D., and LL. D., has long plumped for recognition of women's ability in business, politics and science. On the other hand, she insists that women must be made to share the responsibility of the state equally with men, and that they must learn to sacrifice their careers to the war program as ruthlessly as men are sacrificing their lives.

DEAR Mrs. Adams: It was a pleasure to have served with the woman you selected as publicity chairman, Mrs. O. L. Byrd, one of our very good friends and much of the credit should go to her. Thanks for your letter.

Women To Vote On Proposals

Lubbock club women, at a mass meeting Saturday afternoon, decided to vote their decision on proposals for a clubhouse by the end of the club season next month. At the meeting at St. John's Methodist church, 85 women, representing the 26 participating clubs, expressed opinions; Mrs. Fern Parks Cone gave a report of the building site committee, Mrs. T. R. Prideaux read four proposals drawn up by the board of directors and the by-laws were presented.

Mrs. A. W. Young, chairman of directors, presided. The meeting was called to give board an opportunity to report progress on the proposed clubhouse.

At a called meeting to be held prior to May 30, representatives from participating clubs will meet and vote the expressions of their clubs.

Proposals Are Listed

The proposals, as read by Mrs. Prideaux, a member of the board, were:

1. To delay action and secure financial backing first (using funds on hand and that pledged as a beginning fund.)

2. To secure a building site before available ones are bought and plan to build later.

3. To hold money in a fund (war bonds likely) for future cooperation with the proposed civic center for Lubbock.

4. To buy now and try to have a building ready by opening of the club year in September.

Program Directed For Federation

Mrs. W. R. Hedrick led the fifth Monday program given for Church Women's Federation at First Baptist church with 100 women attending.

Legendary Keeper Of Famed Locker Is Step Behind Muleshoe Lad

ABOARD A HIGHSPEED MINELAYER In The Pacific — Davy Jones just can't catch up with Davy Jones.

Davy Jones—legendary keeper of the watery grave—has been one step behind David Franklin Jones of Muleshoe, Tex., ever since Pearl Harbor was bombed. On that day bluejacket Jones was aboard the battleship West Virginia. He escaped by jumping overboard and swimming to safety.

Jone's luck continued on the USS Monaghan. During the two years he was assigned to the destroyer it participated in many important battles, including Coral Sea and Midway. Although it came through the fierce engagements, it was sunk by a typhoon in the Philippine Sea—after Jones had been transferred to another destroyer.

That destroyer came through three invasions — Saipan, Kwajalein, and Emirau—without incident. And this minelayer, to which Jones is now assigned, won high honors during its shakedown cruise.

Yet Jones, who at 21 is one of the youngest first class boatswain's mates in the Navy, who has been torpedoed, strafed and rammed and who wears 11 stars on his service ribbons, isn't superstitious.

"I live," he says, "from day to day."

Germans View Handiwork In Horror Camp; Chief Manhandled

By ELEANOR PACKARD
United Press War Writer

A CONCENTRATION CAMP, Near Landsberg, Germany, April 29 (Delayed)—German civilians were brought here today to look at the handiwork of the Nazis—the emaciated bodies of political prisoners killed by starvation.

Some 400 to 500 bodies, most of them Jewish males, have been discovered in this camp and others are being uncovered every hour. They had been inmates of the sick section, useless as slave laborers, and the Nazis decided they were not worth wasting food on.

Most Bodies Naked

A few had on the striped trousers of political prisoners, but most were naked. Their gaunt skeleton frameworks looked more like gruesome waxworks from a horror museum than human beings.

In a nearby section are between 500 and 600 more prisoners, still alive but most feeble. About 4,000 others, slightly stronger, were removed further behind the German lines a few days ago.

Just before the camp was liberated, the prison guards had attempted hastily to improvise a crematorium by burning the prisoners inside the huts where they had once lived.

Some Burned Alive

Undoubtedly some of the victims were not dead when the Nazis fired the huts, for the survivors reported the SS guards had assumed that anyone not capable of moving was dead.

Most of the unburned bodies in the camp were found stacked by a railroad siding, apparently ready for shipment to a regular crematorium.

These were the sights approximately 600 of the leading German citizens from nearby villages were brought to see today.

The Germans expressed sorrow and astonishment, but one American soldier, standing near me, said: "I'd like to turn my tommy-gun on the whole stinking bunch of them."

Tension Mounts Rapidly

The mutterings were taken up by other GI's and for a moment it seemed the situation might get out of hand. But the tension eased when Col. Edward F. Seiller, Lowell, Ky., head of the 12th Armored's military government, addressed the Germans, through a translator, Sgt. Max Beer, New York City.

"This is a prime example of your vaunted German culture," Seiller said. "You may say you are not responsible, but you supported the regime which committed such crimes . . .

"America, which stands for liberty and democracy, sent her sons thousands of miles to liberate peoples such as you see here, to make such sufferings impossible in the future . . . We come here as conquerors and will use force to uphold the laws we lay down."

Shortly after Seiller finished talking, American guards produced a middle-aged, pot-bellied, pig-faced man with red-rimmed eyes. He was the commander of the concentration camp.

The German civilians shook their fists and screamed at the SS commander. Some spat on him. His bald head was bleeding in several places. He had been manhandled by German Army soldiers who refused to have him in their prisoners enclosure after they discovered his identity.

He may be lucky if he lives to be executed as there are plans to allow some of his still living prisoners "interrogate" him as part of establishing formal evidence of his crimes.

Seven Lubbock Men Believed Liberated

At least seven Lubbock men were believed to have been interned in Stalag 7-A, where the Allies reportedly liberated 110,000 United Nation prisoners, although no members of their families here have been notified.

The Lubbock men, all of them fliers and members of bomber crews, were formerly held in Stalag Luft III near Sagan, Germany, but were reported through Red Cross prisoner of war bulletins to have been moved the latter part of January. Several families of men in the group had been officially notified they had been moved.

Included in the men believed held at Mossburg were: Lt. Neil H. Wright, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil H. Wright, sr., 1634 Main; Capt. Harold H. Fulghum, husband of the former Miss Inez Davis, 2710 Twenty-eighth; Lt. Jack Rogers, son of Mrs. Artie Hill, 1002 Ave. X; Capt. Stanley Wright, son of Mrs. Bertha Wilson, San Antonio, formerly of Lubbock; Lt. Young B. C. Newsom, whose wife is residing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Graham, 2308 Tenth; Lt. Milton G. (Tid) Scarbrough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Scarbrough, 1612 Sixteenth; and Capt. Vernon Turner, whose wife, the former Miss Cora Jean Watson, resides at 1810 Thirteenth.

Word was expected from either the War department or the liberated fliers within a few days and the Army said Monday from Paris that they would be sent home "as fast as the Army can get them there." On arrival each soldier will receive a 21-day leave.

STUDENT PILOT KILLED

BRADLEY FIELD, Windsor Locks, Conn., April 30. (U.P) — Second Lt. Edward Dean Hensley, Deming, N. M., a student pilot attached to this base, was killed today when his P-47 Thunderbolt fighter plane crashed near Broad Brook, according to Base Commander Col. H. E. Johnson.

Matador Will Pay Last Respects Today To "Mother" Burleson, Resident Since 1891

(Special To The Avalanche)

MATADOR, April 30.—Funeral services will be held at 4 p. m., here today for Mrs. A. D. Burleson, 92-year-old pioneer Motley county resident, who died early Monday after a lingering illness. Interment will follow in East Mound cemetery here.

Last surviving charter member of the First Baptist church here, for many decades an outstanding Baptist lay leader of this area and the "main spring" of her church's successful new building campaign of several years ago, "Mother" Burleson, as she is known throughout this area, will have last respects paid to her memory in the modern edifice she did so much to bring about. For two hours before the rites begin, her body will lie in state in the church, there to be visited by friends and relatives—as well as by now grown men and women whose births she attended in early days.

Pastor, Bearers Named

Funeral services will be in charge of the Rev. H. G. Weldon, pastor of First Baptist church of Albany and formerly a longtime Baptist pastor here. Pallbearers will be R. E. Campbell, Vernon Doss, Bascom Edmondson, Randall Whitworth, Elmer Stearns, and Elbert Reeves.

Until about a year ago, Mrs. Burleson had enjoyed unusually good health for one of her advanced years. Recent months, however, took their toll and for several days before her death she was in a coma from which she never aroused.

A widow for 35 years, she was financially independent and was able, until illness set in, to care for her own business affairs.

Mrs. Burleson, her late husband, John L. Burleson, and their six small children moved to Motley county from Comanche county in August of 1891, making the overland trip in a covered wagon and driving their cattle and horses ahead. Their first home in Motley county was a dugout, four miles northeast of Matador on Ballard creek, where they remained until lumber could be hauled in to Matador by mule team from Childress and a home constructed.

Mrs. Burleson's husband, an early-day cattleman, merchant and county official, was also first Worshipful Master of the Matador Masonic lodge. She was a member of the Eastern Star.

MRS. A. D. BURLESON

Active in the organization of First Baptist church in 1892, Mrs. Burleson was a leader of her denomination throughout her adult years, attending many conventions.

"Aided The Stork"

Typical of the pioneer women of the West, Mrs. Burleson not only found time to care for her own children, but also to preside at numerous births throughout the country. Upon many occasions when a physician was not available, she made long buggy or horseback trips through all sorts of weather to welcome new infants. Oldtimers in the Matador area estimate that she was on hand for fully half the births of Motley county between 1891 and 1920.

Born Albina Dionicie Pope on March 17, 1853, in Marion county, Alabama, Mrs. Burleson had vivid memories of the later years of the Civil war and Reconstruction period. In 1873, she was married there, moving to Comanche county, Texas, with her husband and children in May of 1884.

She is survived by five children, 14 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren, one son, John, of Duncan, Ariz., having preceded her in death by several years. Childern surviving include:

Mrs. J. R. Moore, Mrs. Margaret Newman and Roy Burleson, all of Matador; Mrs. Will Graham, Tulia, and Doc Burleson, Wichita Falls. Four of her grandsons, one of her great-grandsons ond one granddaughter are in the uniformed services of the nation.

Three of Mrs. Burleson's granddaughters live in Lubbock. They are Mrs. Sam Dunn, of Levelland Road; Mrs. J. Farris Fish, 2707 Twenty-fourth and Mrs. Chas. A. Guy, 2610 Twentieth.

Negro Woman Held In Fatal Shooting

Helen Johnson, 56, a negro woman who was charged Monday with murder of Earl Day, about 50, a negro man, had not asked for arraignment, officials said.

Day was shot fatally about midnight Saturday.

The sheriff's department and police said they took a 12-gauge shotgun from the scene of shooting, Day's residence at 1908 Ave. A. It had been loaded with No. 8 birdshot, investigators said.

The woman told officials she had been living with the Day family approximately 18 years. She indicated there had been several instances of trouble between herself and Day, who was sitting in a chair repairing a billfold when the blast struck him. There was no other immediate details, officials said. District Attorney Burton S. Burks prepared the complaint and filed it in the court of C. E. Lynn, justice of peace.

Junior Class Picnic Is Scheduled Today

Annual Lubbock High school junior class picnic will be held at Mackenzie State park this afternoon, Floyd Honey, principal, announced Monday. The picnic was originally planned to be held at Buffalo lake but the lack of transportation prompted the sponsors to change plans.

"The school is not sponsoring any kind of a picnic at Buffalo lake today," Honey said. Students will meet on the north side of the City Swimming pool at 1:30 o'clock. Each student is to bring his own picnic lunch. Drinks and ice cream will be sold at 3:45 o'clock.

G. E. Dawson will direct the games. Other sponsors to attend are Miss Mayme Alexander, head sponsor, Miss Audie Johnson, Miss Nell Marie Wiley and R. T. Groves.

Badly Mauled Body Of Dishonored Mussolini Lies In Milan Morgue

By JAMES E. ROPER
United Press War Writer

MILAN, April 30.—The broken body of Benito Mussolini lay unclaimed beside his slain mistress in the Milan morgue today, dishonored in death by the people he led to empire and ruin.

The fallen duce died badly in the sight of the partisan executioners who killed him and his paramour, Clara Petacci, in their hideout on Lake Como last Saturday.

And the people he ruled for two decades paid him their last tribute by hanging his remains head down from the rafters of a gasoline station in Milan's Loreto square.

Body Badly Abused

There, for a night and day they spat upon their fallen leader, shot his body in the back and kicked his face into a toothless, pulpy mass.

For hours after the body of the executed dictator was brought to Milan with that of his mistress and 16 other slain Fascist leaders, Mussolini lay in a filthy pile of dirt in the center of the square. Then the mob tied wire about the ankles of il duce and Clara Petacci and suspended them upside down from the roof of the gasoline station.

Hysterical men and women closed in screaming about the dangling corpses.

When the mob tired of its ghastly sport the bodies were taken down and dumped into an open truck. They were carted to the city morgue and the pair were placed on a metal slab in the morgue courtyard.

Girl Beautiful In Death

In contrast to Mussolini's disfigured features, his mistress' face remained youthful and beautiful even in death. Her even, white teeth, not spotched with blood, were visible through her parted lips and her dark brown, curly hair still hung in tidy ringlets.

Her slim torso was covered with an old pair of men's trousers tossed carelessly over her body. A pink silk garter belt and frilly blue underclothes were exposed.

By the time Mussolini's body reached the morgue his jacket had been torn away, revealing his barrel chest encasted in a short-sleeved undershirt.

16 Henchmen Share Morgue

Sharing the morgue with il duce and Clara were the bodies of 16 of his henchmen, executed like them by Italian patriots after a "people's trial." They shared his final disgrace as they had the infamy of his life.

"Mussolini died badly," said Edouardo, leader of the 10-man firing squad which sent the dictator to his death.

When he was sentenced to death, the man who had ruined his career through illusions of empire ironically cried, "let me save my life, and I will give you an empire."

"No, no," were the last words from il duce, who had said 'yes, yes," so many times to his Axis partner, Adolf Hitler. He cried his "no's" as the men of the firing squad raised their rifles to their shoulders.

Killed Saturday Afternoon

The execution took place at 4:20 p. m. Saturday near the town of Dongo, on Lake Como. Mussolini was killed at the villa where he had been living since their arrest last Friday night with Clara Petacci, the Rome doctor's daughter who wanted to be a movie star.

Mussolini, the "jackal" to the last, was caught as he attempted to flee to Switzeralnd in a 30-car convoy, his bulky frame cloaked in a German military overcoat to escape detection.

Edouardo said the 16 others were examined later and shot in the town square at Dongo. They included the brother of Signorina Petacci, who tried to escape. He was shot down as he ran.

"These men died well," said Edouardo. "Mussolini died badly."

Probe Ordered Into Crash Of Army Plane In Palo Duro Canyon

AMARILLO, April 30. (U.P.)—An investigation was ordered today into the crash of a C-46 Army transport plane into Palo Duro canyon, 25 miles south of Claude, Tex., Friday afternoon which claimed the lives of 11 officers and men.

An eyewitness to the crash said the plane seemed to be flying smoothly when it nosed over. The engines began to whine and it crashed, scattering wreckage for 500 yards, he said.

The big plane was enroute from Sedalia, Mo., to San Antonio, Tex., when the crash occurred.

Following notification of the next of kin, the names of the 11 victims were released by Army authorities today.

They were: Capt. Brown G. Middleton, jr., husband of Mrs. Evelyn R. Middleton, Sedalia, Mo.

First Lt. Edward T. Kelley, son of Mrs. Agnes B. Kelly, Dansville, N. Y.; 2nd Lt. Richard Gildersleeve, son of Mrs. Mildred Gildersleeve, Springfield, Mass.; 2nd Lt. Paul J. Entrees, husband of Mrs. Violet Entrees, Osage, Sedalia, Mo.; 2nd Lt. Robert A. Gray, son of Mrs. Inez Gray, care of Mrs. C. A. Krohn, Kimball, Minn.; 2nd Lt. Ernest F. Crow, jr., husband of Mrs. Verna H. Crow, Tyler, Tex.; 2nd Lt. Forrest M. Faulkner, husband of Mrs. Sarah J. Faulkner, Austin, Tex.; F/O Hollis K. Smith, son of Mrs. Daisy A. Smith, Minneapolis, Minn.; F/O Thomas G. Anderson, son of Mrs. Mary T. Anderson, San Antonio, Tex.; Sgt Henry V. Curran, son of Mrs. Genevieve Curran, Newport, R. I.; Cpl. Edward J. Shields, son of Mrs. Ruth Cathern Shields, San Antonio, Tex.

News Briefs

The Westerner World, weekly publication of Lubbock High school, won a first class honor rating from the National Scholastic Press association of the University of Minnesota, according to information received by Mrs. Dick Cozby, director of high school publications. High school papers from 48 states participated in the contest.

First Lt. Eugene A. Blair, former assistant city attorney, and Mrs. Blair are visiting family members and friends in Lubbock. The officer is stationed at Monroe, La., in the Army Air forces. Among his duties there is acting as defense counsel in court marshals. Lieutenant Blair plans returning to Lubbock, where he owns property, after the war. A brother is 72nd District Judge Dan Blair.

Annual Lubbock High school senior banquet will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Lubbock hotel. Joe Arrington, president of the class, will welcome the guests and Joe Ann Bailey will give the class will. Musical selections will be presented by a sextet, a quartet and a group of students who will present musical imitations as well known artists.

Members and guests at the luncheon of Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday in Hilton hotel participated in a quiz program conducted by Tom Settles and J. C. Hughes. Cigarets were awarded for correct answers. President Cliff Cummings presided.

No wage is "too high" that is earned!

WHAT OF THE wages of the future? This question is bound to come up in any discussion of post-war planning.

On this, our attitude is clear. No wages are high that are earned. Fifty dollars a day earned is none too high. But a dollar a day unearned is much too high.

More Productive Methods

Wages are a part of the product. They are not the result of the employer's generosity, nor the employee's ability to bring pressure to bear.

American Industry has continuously developed methods whereby a man receives more pay for fewer hours but still increases production. And so it will continue to be.

But wages are only one of Industry's problems.

A Better World Must Come

Millions of young men and women have been withdrawn from their homes and careers. Business is shorthanded. Many industries have been seriously disrupted. Public debt and the casualty lists mount higher every hour.

Victory, therefore, is the greatest concern of everybody. After Victory, all of us must strive to build a better world . . . a world in which such misfortune can never happen again.

Material things . . . radar and plastics and television and giant planes . . . will contribute much toward building a better and stronger American people. But these alone are not enough.

Confidence is the first need . . . confidence that work brings reward. Such confidence cultivated in a people generates enterprise and effort.

Industry, being part of the people, responds to the same stimulus . . . and is ready to initiate and work and invest all for the treasure of life in America.

Youth Must Have Opportunity

The way must be kept clear for independence in business . . . and for young men to start new businesses. Vigorous competition and initiative have carried our country safely and far.

American business is not performing its complete function unless it makes available to every family traditional American standards of living. American business also must serve social order and social advance. There is little room for racial or religious prejudice or class distinction when a country is alive with energy and is working.

These are some of the thoughts we hold as we look toward the day when wages will again be earned by building the goods of peace.

Doctor Tells Of Annihilation Of Over 100,000 'Unworthy To Live'

By JACK FLEISCHER
United Press War Writer

U. S. 12TH ARMY GROUP HEADQUARTERS, April 24 (Delayed) — Dr. Gustav Wilhelm Schuebbe said today the Nazi annihilation institute at Kiev killed from 110,000 to 140,000 persons "unworthy to live" during the nine months he worked here.

Schuebbe, a crippled drug addict captured by First Army troops recently, admitted he had murdered about 21,000 persons.

He told his story voluntarily and showed no feeling of guilt but occasionally became evasive when he appeared to sense that his actions might be viewed as crimes.

Established In 1941

The annihilation institute was established after the Germans captured Kiev in 1941. Schuebbe was there about five months before he became head of it.

He remained at the institute until March, 1942.

The persons "unworthy to live" included epileptics, schizophrenics, Jews, members of foreign races and Gypsies, he said.

Each doctor at the institute "processed" about 100 persons per day, but Schuebbe said they worked only about two or three days a week.

Victims were killed by injections of emm preparations, Schuebbe said.

Dosage Is Increased

"Emm stands for morphium tartrate. In the beginning injection was tried with five cubic millimeters but difficulties were encountered and therefore we injected 10 emm."

He said the victim showed "breathing difficulties, a shrinking of the pupils of the eye; the face rapidly assumes a blue color, there is sporadic breathing, then a breathing stoppage and heart stoppage. Exitus lethalis."

The doctors were aided by Nazi secret service men who were dressed in the uniform of medical aidmen and whose job it was to hold the patient, "who naturally was in bed."

Source of Victims

Schuebbe admitted, after considerable questioning that "non-diseased" persons, meaning "politically unreliable persons, foreign nationals, Jews and Glysies," were "hospitalized" by the secret service.

Corpses were "handled by mongols who were supplied for this purpose by the city health department. The corpses were brought to a nearby crematorium," he said.

"Of course, we in the circle of German physicians at Kiev were aware of the importance of this job," Schuebbe said. "Aside from certain hygenics, supervision of the body of a people is necessary from time to time. This also includes sterilization."

Schuebbe joined the Nazi bund while a student at the University of Munich.

Lubbock Chiropractor Is Named Official

FORT WORTH, April 30. (U.P.)—Dr. D. E. Biser of Dallas today was installed as president of the Texas Chiropractic Research society.

He was named last night to succeed Dr. L. K. Griffin of Fort Worth at the close of a two-day meeting of the group in Fort Worth. Dr. B. F. Stephens of Lubbock was named vice-president and Dr. J. A. Wolfe of Abilene was elected as secretary-treasurer.

MURDER CHARGES FILED

HOUSTON, April 30 (U.P.) — Oscar Portillo, 22, today faced murder charges in the fatal stabbing Saturday night of Joe Avalos, 21, following an argument in a Houston cafe over two girls.

Expansion Of CAP Is Planned Here; Promotions Given

In keeping with the newly announced aims of the Civil Air Patrol to teach young Americans peacetime flying, efforts are being made here to expand the CAP program and new appointments and promotions have been made within the Lubbock squadron.

The squadron, designated as Squadron 1, Group 14, meets each Monday night.

Lt. James D. Witt, who was promoted from second to first lieutenant in February, is squadron commander. He announced the following appointments last week: Storey J. Sloane, from staff sergeant to flight officer, as the squadron adjutant; George R. Southerland, from technical sergeant to flight officer, as instruction and operations officer; Rosalie Chappell, from technical sergeant to flight officer, as commandant of women cadets.

Promotions Announced

In addition, promotions have been announced among the cadets who are receiving training in the squadron, as follows: Sgt. Joe Gaston, 2407 Thirty-fourth, senior student in Lubbock High school, to staff sergeant of supply; Sgt. William J. Wilkerson, 304 Hub Homes, to staff sergeant and drill instructor; 1st Sgt. Jim Snell, 2725 Twenty-ninth, senior, to cadet colonel; Cpl. Arnold W. Hildebrand, 1922 Ninth, to cadet captain; Sgt. Milton Flake Barber, 2006 Ninth, junior student, to technical sergeant; T/Sgt. Geneva Collins, 2505 College, to first lieutenant, commander of women cadets; Pvt. Joan H. Golding, 2421 Twenty-ninth, sophomore, to corporal, assistant supply; Cadet James R. Gainer, 1923 Eighth, sophomore student, to private first class, assistant squadron leader; Cadet Herbert Chapman, 1816 Avenue R, sophomore student, to private first class, squadron leader; Pvt. Robert Kelley to staff sergeant in supply; Pvt. John M. Wilkerson, 304 Hub Homes, to private first class, squadron leader.

The squadron has been notified that when it has enough cadets to warrant a plane, it will receive one from the Army air forces, one of the squadron officers announced. The squadron now has 45 cadets, 12 of whom are girls.

Non-Military Basis

According to CAP announcement, the preflight program of the patrol is being changed over to a strictly non-military basis. Orders were given in Washington to discontinue recruiting for the enlisted reserve of the Army air corps. The wartime preflight training program is being converted into an educational project to teach young Americans peacetime flying, according to announcement. In order to join the cadet corps, boys and girls must have their parents' consent, be citizens of the United States, in good physical condition, and have good scholastic records. It is not required that they be high school students, but most of them are. No pledge of military service is required of any boy or girl cadet. The basic course is 260 hours in length. Cadets usually complete it in one year and a half. The cadets study the theory of flight, aircraft construction, power plants, instruments, map and aerial photograph reading, air navigation, meteorology, civil air regulations, control tower procedure, observation, radio and other subjects. The fundamentals are being taught here now and there is no actual flying by cadets as yet, it was said.

99th Grand Jury Probing 20 Cases

Judge G. V. Pardue Monday impaneled a 99th court grand jury and referred to it approximately 20 cases for investigation.

There was an unofficial belief Monday afternoon that the jury might complete its work and make a report possibly by this afternoon.

The grand jury is composed of D. W. Gill and Ed Gordon, both of Lubbock route 6; H. G. Stokes and J. T. Pinkston, both of Slaton; Earl Rogers of route 2 Slaton; D. B. Williamson of route 3 Lubbock; Alex McDonald, J. L. Holt, C. Priestly and Sidney Hall, the latter two negroes, all of Lubbock; R. S. Hobgood of route 1 Ropesville; Ercell Givens of Abernathy.

Door bailiff appointed by lot was E. W. Adkison, riding bailiffs F. R. Land and Tom Cannon.

KEMP RE-ELECTED

AUSTIN, April 30. (U.P.)—L. W. Kemp, Houston, will direct affairs of the Texas State Historical society for another year. He was re-elected at the close of the society meeting here Saturday. New vice-presidents are George Hill, jr., Houston; P. I. Nixon, San Antonio; Earl Van Dale, Amarillo and Herbert Gambrell, Dallas.

The Sports Eye

By Mack Turner

FROM this distance, it looks like the South Plains is about to lose another sports leader, and one of the outstanding sportsmen of this area, Sidney Reeves, the likable school superintendent at Petersburg, has been elected to the post at the head of the Seymour schools, according to information received here Monday.

Reeves met with the Seymour officials Friday night at Seymour, and his election followed on last Saturday. Reeves has not accepted the post, officially, but it is a job that will offer him a greater scope in which to do his work as a sports leader.

Seymour is a great sports town, and one well known to the Sports Eye. A man with Reeves' leadership could really be appreciated in that sector. Seymour already has a good athletic setup, and last year was regional champions in football after a victory over Ballinger that some West Texas critics still call an "upset." But to those who have seen football in that area, any other result would have been an upset.

If Reeves takes the job at Seymour, and we have a hunch he will, it will be a great loss to the South Plains. Reeves has been one of the leaders in schoolboy boxing in this part of the country, and his teams at Petersburg have been among the most colorful in West Texas.

Reeves started his invitational high school boxing tournament this spring, it proving a great success. It not only made money, but it made a start in a sport that has been badly neglected in many of the schools in this area.

Ironically, the hardest hit sport in South Plains school by the loss of leaders this year has been boxing. The loss of the W. T. Hanes-Leo Jackson team at Tahoka will complete the round of the three top leaders of the sport on the South Plains.

THE kids in Lubbock grade schools have cooked up one of the hottest softball races that it would be possible to work out, and they are having a lot of fun at it.

Both the boys and girls have a three way race brewing, and with teams going at the present pace, the games have been attractiing some good sized crowds to the sidelines.

There is only one undefeated team, this the Hunt Pioneers in the boys league with five wins in a row. The K. Carter Coyotes are running second with four wins and one loss, while the Dupre Dogies have won three and lost one, with a game to be picked up with Guadalupe.

The winning habit seems to have taken a firm hold in Hunt and Carter schools, and the girls teams from these schools are riding the crest with four wins and one loss. Tied with them is the Central Ward Spurs with the same record.

Of the remaining games, there is only one crucial meeting of leaders, this will be the battle bajween the Carter and Dupre boys teams in the final game of the schedule. All of which makes the chances very good for a pair of three-way ties to develope in the two leagues.

I'll be seeing you.

Westerners Plan Tough Scrimmage

Coach Dixie White will send the Lubbock Westerners into action again this afternoon with a lengthy scrimmage session on tap for the squad at the spring training camp at Chapman field. The scrimmage was booked to give coaches a chance to see more of the boys in real action.

First plans of the camp called for only the scrimmage sessions on each Friday afternoon, but the plan is being changed this week.

White announced Monday night that he planned to pair the first and fourth stringers against the second and third stringers and see how the boys work as a unit.

The gridders took it light Monday afternoon, with only fundamental work on the schedule, but indications are that every man on the squad will see plenty of action today, and will get a chance to show what they can really do.

White pointed out that many positions on the squad are still left wide open, and several boys are showing up much better than expected, and starting to crowd men who appeared to have their places on the team pretty well under control.

Fans are invited to come out this afternoon and see the scrimmage session, which will get underway about 4 o'clock.

Ponies Set For Twin Bill With Texas Ags

DALLAS, April 30. (AP)—Coach Redman Hume and his Southern Methodist university Mustangs take to the road tomorrow for a double-header against the Texas Aggies at College Station. If they sweep the bill, as they have high hopes of doing, they will move into undisputed possession of second place in the Southwest Conference baseball race.

This is the twin program with the Farmers that originally was scheduled April 14 and was postponed because of the death of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In their only previous meeting with Pete Jones' Aggies here, the Mustangs scored at 14 to 8 victory. They currently share second place in the standings with the Rice Owls, each having three wins and two losses and being one game behind the pace-making Texas Longhorns. A. & M. has played and lost four games.

SCHOOLBOY BOWLING

HOUSTON, April 30 (AP)—Bowling will become a high school sport here in the fall. Plans are being made to organize leagues from all the schools of the city.

Cubs Look For Fifth Starter

CHICAGO, April 30 (U.P.)—Manager Charley (Jolly Cholly) Grimm of the Cubs soulfully plucked a lament on his banjo today and looked for the man who wasn't there.

Grimm, whose banjo strumming and smiling countenance are famous throughout the majors, was gloomy as he surveyed the remains of his pitching staff after yesterday's double loss to Pittsburgh, 6-2, 5-4.

Need Missing Man

"We've got to have another winning pitcher," he remarked. "I've got a four-man starting staff pretty well set but we need another winner if we're going to keep in the race."

When the Cubs opened the season, Grimm said his team would be in the running all the way if "our big-five pitching staff holds up."

He was looking for that fifth pitcher today, the man who wasn't there yesterday when the Pirates knocked the Cubs out of first place and clipped their winning streak at six straight.

Four Good Men

The Cubs at present have a formidable four-man staff of Paul Derringer, who has won three straight; Claude Passeau, Henry Wyse, and Bob Chipman. With rainy weather spacing the games over an eight-day span, this quartet pitched the Cubs to six straight victories and first place.

But Grimm reached the end of his rope during yesterday's double header. Chipman lost the first game, but Grimm wasn't too concerned. He knows the big lefthander is in good shape—having already won a 3-0 game—and he points out that the infield collapsed behind him yesterday, erring on three double plays which led to five runs.

But the second game set the stage for Grimm to produce the fifth member of that "big five pitching staff." Grimm tried Jorge Commellas, the curve ball Cuban but the Pirates drove him to cover in the sixth.

That marked the second straight strike on Grimm in his attempts to find another starting pitcher. He tried Ray Prim, 38-year-old lefthander, against the Cardinals in the second game of the season, but the world champions put him back on the bench with a hitting outburst. Now that Commellas has failed, Grimm is back where he started but still confident the Cuban can pitch winning baseball.

If Grimm can find another winning starter, the Cubs will be set to give the Cardinals a lot of trouble.

Chandler To Tour In Major League Cities

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 30. (U.P.)—Baseball's new commissioner, Sen. Albert (Happy) Chandler, back home in his native Kentucky, will not resign from his U. S. Senate seat until after he makes a tour of the major league baseball cities, he indicated today.

He said he would go from here to St. Louis on the first lap of the major league tour.

"I won't know until I visit all the major league cities when I'll resign," he said. "But you can speculate all you wish."

He would not comment on whether he was leaving politics altogether or whether he would suggest a successor in the Senate. He said he had not decided where he would make his major league headquarters, although he reportedly favors Cincinnati.

Service Vets Play Big Roles

NEW YORK, April 30 (AP)—Honorably discharged veterans held key positions in the 1945 pennant race today although draft boards continue to take about eight men for every former athlete returned.

Detroit's Al Benton is one of the most conspicuous of the ex-servicemen able to step back into big league stride.

The 32-year-old Oklahoma righthander shut out the St. Louis Browns in his first start after receiving his Navy discharge and whipped Cleveland next. In 18 innings Benton has allowed only six hits to take his place as a valuable complement to the pitching team of Dizzy Trout and Hal Newhouser.

Catcher Mickey Livingston came out of the Army in November and took control of the Chicago Cubs receiving in spring training, working all but one of the games to date. The former Phil hit .273 against strong Western pitching.

Harry (Peanuts) Lowrey, diminutive Cubs centerfielder, replaced Andy Pafko in the middle garden for Charley Grimm's high-flying team and showed promise with a .250 batting average. He came out of the service in midwinter.

Billy Southworth is banking heavily on another former G-I, Albert (Red) Schoendienst, who was heralded as a sensation before his minor league career was halted at Rochester last spring by the Army.

Latest Red Sox surprise is Dave (Bo) Ferriss, discharged from the Army Air Force in February, and who broke in yesterday with a 2-0 whitewash of Philadelphia.

Van Lingle (the new) Mungo wasn't able to win one of his first three starts for the New York Giants but Mel Ott is counting heavily on the former soldier.

High School Baseball Tourney Dates Set

DALLAS, April 30 (AP) — The tenth annual Texas High School baseball tournament will be held here June 4-8, Director P. C. Cobb announced today.

This year there will be 16 teams in the tournament instead of eight with Dallas county furnishing two—the county champion and Dallas city champion.

Districts will be outlined along the same plan as the Texas interscholastic League football and basketball races, Cobb said. The reason for doubling the number of teams in the tournament is because of a marked increase of teams in the state.

Montgomery To Hold Title Until Peace

LUKE FIELD, Ariz., April 30 (AP)—Battling Bob Montgomery, the world's lightweight champion in the eyes of the New York State Boxing commission, will wait until the big fight is over before marketing his crown.

Corporal Bob, a physical instructor at this Army Air Forces base, has turned down all title-stake offers, including a $25,000 one from Barney Ross.

The little negro mitt-slinger however has booked three non-title, over-weight ten round bouts in the next two months.

Professional Golfers Buy Florida Course

CHICAGO, April 30 (AP)—The Professional Golfers Association announced today it had acquired the 6,320-yard, Dunedin Isles, Fla., golf course as "an official club" for professional golfdom.

PGA President Ed Dudley, said the site—to be called the "PGA National Golf club"—was obtained from the city of Dunedin under a 99-year lease which becomes effective July 1. No consideration was mentioned. Dunedin is five miles from Clearwater on Florida's gulf coast.

High Low Golf Tourney Set For Second Round Of Play

The high low golf tournament at the Lubbock Country club was split into two divisions with the completing of the first round of play Sunday night, and this week the championship and consolation brackets will start cutting the field down to the championship pairs.

Losers of last week's first round drop back into the consolation bracket this week, but another defeat will drop them from the running in the tournament. Winners also face sudden death for the rest of the way.

The first round winners from last week all face another test this week, but a number of last week's losers drew byes this week. Those with matches on their hands must have them played off before next Sunday night, tournament officials pointed out.

The pairings in both brackets are as follows:

Betty And Babe Get Good Cash Returns

SAN ANTONIO, April 30 (AP)—More than $20,000 was raised from golf matches and exhibitions staged by Betty Jameson and Babe Didrikson Zaharias in California and Texas.

The two noted Texas women athletes wound up their 72-hole challenge match here Saturday with Mrs. Zaharias boasting a 10-up advantage. They also played several exhibition matches.

Betty and the Babe will meet again soon, this time in the Western Women's Open championship tournament at Indianapolis June 16.

WHEAT SUPPLY DROPS

CHICAGO, April 30. (AP) — The visible supply of wheat in the United States decreased 4,984,000 bushels last week to 63,150,000 bushels, the board of trade reported today. Corn decreased 862,000 to 16,681,000; oats increased 1,623,000 to 11,082,000.

Golf Ball Black Market Rising

NEW YORK, April 30 (AP) — Golf balls have risen in value so much on the black market this spring that today one of pre-war vintage sells for as much as nine times its weight in silver.

A golf ball that sold for $1 before Pearl Harbor recently cost $10 when two members of a swank Long Island club attempted to settle their nineteenth hole argument on the links and visited a black market wholesaler before starting out.

By rule, a golf ball weighs 1.62 ounces giving this particular pellet a value of $6.17 an ounce. Silver currently is priced at 71 cents.

The same make of ball has sold on the same market for $60 a dozen although the usual asking price is $50.

Despite the pleas of manufacturers, retailers and club pros, all of whom are asking legitimate prices for their wares, that an old ball be turned in for re-processing when a new one is purchased it is doubtful if supplies will last out the season.

Balls became so scarce in the recent winter pro tour that Sammy Snead once was required to play an entire 72-hole tournament with the same ball—rated no better than a prewar practice ball at the start.

Supplies got so low during the final stages of the pro junket, that the play for pay athletes used their oldest balls off the tees and were given permission to sub their best ones when the green was reached.

Baseball Crowds Big For Sunday's Games

NEW YORK, April 30. (U.P.) — Turnstiles at the major league baseball parks had their busiest day of the season yesterday, with 174,162 spectators on hand for 15 games.

This was approximately 34,000 more than attended last Sunday, and compared with 101,593 on opening day. The St. Louis Browns drew 10,825, compared to a total of 7,473 who attended the first three games. The National League outdrew the American, 95,751 to 78,411.

FINAL GRID WEEK

WACO, Tex., April 30 (AP) — Baylor University opened the final week of spring football training today.

Cowboy Gridder Has Signed With Detroit

ABILENE, April 30. (AP)—Dave Ryan, former Hardin-Simmons university football player, has signed a contract with the Detroit Lions of the National Professional football league.

Ryan, a discharged war veteran, now is enrolled at Hardin-Simmons where he would have had three more years of eligibility had he not signed with the professional team.

Munich Captured By U. S. Seventh

with German tanks moving north to meet the attack.

(The Luxembourg radio said the Third Army and the Russians were about to meet at Linz, Austrian communications city, but there was no hint in field dispatches of any big American movement inside Austria on that sector.)

Plugging at the western end of the redoubt, the French First Army captured the aircraft center of Friedrichshafen on the north shore of Lake Constance and at the east end of the lake plowed three miles into Austria and captured Bregenz.

PRISONERS MOUNT

WASHINGTON, April 30 (AP) — The Allies' bag of prisoners from D-Day in Normandy through last Wednesday totalled 2,022,525.

Announcing this today, the War department said more than 317,000 were taken in the Ruhr pocket alone. In the last seven weeks more than 1,500,000 were captured.

The Seventh Army was pounding two steel wedges into the formidable alpine country east of Lake Constance where, if anywhere, the Germans should be able to put up a stern defense.

177,500 Prisoners Freed

Gen. Eisenhower's armies in the last 24 hours reported the liberation of 177,500 prisoners of war and political prisoners.

The infamous concentration camp at Dachau northwest of Munich was overrun by the U. S. Seventh Army, which mowed down resisting Nazi guards with tommyguns and freed 32,000 political prisoners.

It was revealed that the U. S. Third Army had freed 110,000 Allied prisoners of war, including 11,000 Americans, at the biggest German prison camp at Moosburg, instead of 27,000 as previously reported.

The Canadians west of Bremen freed camps at Strucklingen and Saldbostel where 25,000 political and war prisoners had been caged.

The Seventh Army liberated 6,500 British and French prisoners at Murnau, 30 miles southwest of Munich, along with the Polish governor of Warsaw and several Polish generals. Four thousand women were freed from a camp at Aichach, north of Munich.

In the Bay of Biscay, French Marines stormed the shores of Ile D' Oleron, north of the Gironde river estuary, bent on knocking out German gun batteries holding up the opening of the port of Bordeaux. American medium bombers and French naval units backed the attack.

The new junctions of the Russians and the Americans on the Elbe trapped undetermined numbers of Germans to the south, and all but surrounded all enemy troops between Berlin and the Elbe.

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' U. S. First Army thrust 14 miles across the Mulde river and joined the Russians of Wittenberg, 43 miles southwest of Berlin and 35 miles northwest of the first meeting place of the two Allies at Torgau.

Four miles west of Wittenberg, mechanized cavalry units of the U. S. Ninth Army's 83rd division met the Russians at Apollensdorf after a 20-mile advance.

Another Junction Near

Eighty-five miles farther north the Russians were but 10 miles from another junction with the Ninth Army at Wittenberge (not to be confused with Wittenberg) which could trap strong German forces which are fighting the Red Army west of Berlin.

The Ninth Army junction was preceded by one last terrific rush of German soldiers into the American lines to escape the Russians.

The link-up established a secure traffic lane for the movement of supplies to the Red Army directly across Europe, cutting off thousands of miles of hazardous land and sea routes.

The battle for Munich, which had been reported Sunday to be undefended and toppling, exploded with great violence as SS troops leveled antiaircraft guns at Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's five attacking U. S. Seventh Army armored divisions.

The 42nd (Rainbow) division, last was reported eight miles from the center of the city.

The 20th Armored division was attacking from the southwest and was a half mile from the Munich airport. The 12th Armored was attacking from the west.

To the west the French entered Austria at a point east of fallen Friedrichshafen after a 28-mile march, entering in the area of Bregenz at the east end of Lake Constance.

With the 15th Armored division as the spearhead, Gen. Patton's U. S. Third Army jumped off across the Isar river at three points between Fiesing, 18 miles northeast of Munich, and Platting, 65 miles north of Salzburg.

Fighting In Italy

sweeping beyond captured Venice, drove across the Piave river at a point only 74 miles by highway from Trieste around the head of the Adriatic sea. A Belgrade announcement said Marshal Tito's Yugoslav Partisans were fighting the Germans through the streets of Trieste.

Elements of the American 91st division and South African armored forces captured Treviso, north of Venice, and British troops seized an important bridge across the Piave near Nervesa. The veteran U. S. First Armored division captured more than 12,000 prisoners in the past 24 hours, including four German major generals.

Units of the American 10th Mountain division, leading the pursuit of enemy remnants through the Alps toward the Brenner pass, crossed Lake Garda in storm boats and captured Benito Mussolini's former villa on the west shore at Garganano. They then cut one of the few escape roads left to Brenner pass. The only report of German resistance was in that area.

MOTORS LEAD RALLY

NEW YORK, April 30 (AP) — The stock market today stepped out of April with a burst of buying pushing up motors and other peace-benefitted issues as much as 4 points or more to new 5-year peaks although profit cashing shifted rails, aircrafts and many pivotals to the minus column.

While minus signs were plentiful at the close, advances were well distributed. Transfers of 1,500,000 shares compared with 1,360,000 Friday.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .3 of a point at 65.2, another top since Aug. 31, 1937. Of 948 issues registering, 416 were up against 632 down or unchanged.

Chrysler was in the forefront with a gain of 4½ points at 113¾. Lesser plus marks were retained by General Motors, Studebaker, White Motors, U. S. Steel, Allied Chemical, J. C. Penney. Losers included Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, Kennecott, Westinghouse, Dow Chemical, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, United Aircraft and Goodrich.

Secondary railway bonds were popular.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, April 30 (AP)—The cotton futures market rallied into new high ground shortly before the close today on a flurry of mill buying and commission house demand for distant months. Final prices were 15 to 25 cents a bale net higher.

Liquidation and hedging depressed values 25 cents a bale in early dealings, partly influenced by the war news, but failure of the selling to broaden stimulated new buying.

Government officials have indicated there will be a let-up in military textile demand with an ending of the war in Europe but spot cotton continued tight.

There was considerable switching from May into later months, short covering rallying May to a new 17-year peak for futures at 22.91.

ed a sheriff's deed June 2, 1936.

In other words, both Belt and Gau filed abstracts of judgment in Hockley county, Gau filing ahead of Belt. But Belt obtained a sheriff's deed first.

It will be the court's function to determin a superior title, and whether a deed executed Jan. 2, 1932, by the original Bob Slaughter to a Dr. and Mrs. Veal was in fraud of creditors.

Ten lawyers from several Texas sections were here, representing W. D. Belt, jr., party plaintiff; his wife, who intervened in the actions; major and independent oil companies, banks, and a string of more than 30 royalty owners and / or trustees.

Attorneys were: Allen Wight of Dallas and E. L. Klett of Lubbock, representing Belt; Lawrence Tarleton of Fort Worth, representing Sid Richardson, Inc.; Richard Brooks of Midland, representing royalty owners and others; G. E. Garrett of Fort Worth, chief counsel for the Texas company, and Durwood H. Bradley of Lubbock, representing the Texas company; C. C. Crenshaw of Lubbock, representing Sabine Royalty company and others; George Berry of Lubbock, representing various parties; John E. Kilgore of Dallas, representing Mr. and Mrs. Slaughter; and Alvin R. Allison of Levelland, representing Ray Watson, Harrison Watson and T. U. Carter, royalty owners under the original Slaughter block.

mountains, American doughboys occupied the town of Trinidad, former site of a Japanese internment camp for American and other United Nations nationals. Nipponese resistance east and south of Baguio practically collapsed. The Yanks took the Loacan airfield in that sector.

Shipping was the main target of Philippine and East Indies-based American planes. Ranging from Malaya to Shanghai the Yank fliers sank at least 35 vessels trying to run the sea blockade. The sinkings included one batch of seven freighters and transports totaling 22,000 tons. Aerial bombs were rained on Formosan industrial centers.

These air strikes were carried out at a loss of three American bombers.

Opposition Light In Burma

Only light Japanese opposition was met by British armored forces punching southward in Burma. Officials reports said British units were only 36 road miles from the great port of Rangoon but it was possible advance elements were much closer to Burma's capital city.

Other British forces scored new successes in the Irrawaddy river area and southwest Burma.

American fliers hammered airfields in Burma and Thailand, smashed barracks and bombed and strafed Nipponese gun positions, troop concentrations and other targets in advance of the ground drive on Rangoon. They wrecked two bridges on the Rangoon-Prome railway and left fires blazing in supply dumps.

American airmen also were busy in China, especially over the bloody Hunan front. They flew 22 missions to hit Japanese positions, troop concentrations and supply areas.

Russia Clamping Down On Berlin

The central post office, on the east bank of the Spree opposite the Don (cathedral) also was seized by troops battling into the center from Alexander Platz. The fall of these buildings placed Red Army assault forces at either end of the mile-long Unter Den Linden.

Troops Closing In

Only a mile separated Zhukov's troops at the Reichstag from those who, advancing into the central district from the south, captured Anhalter rail depot Sunday. A junction in the center of Berlin would split the fanatical German defenders into a nine-square mile pocket to the north—in the area of Wedding, Gesundbrunnen and Humboldhain — and another pocket southwest of the Tiergarten.

The mile - long area between Zhukov's two prongs is packed with all Germany's major administrative buildings, including Hitler's own great reichs-chancellery.

This area was "one blazing inferno," the Germans admitted as the scream of Katusha rockets and the roar of heavy guns drowned everything but the crump of bombs pinpointed on resistance nests by low flying Soviet attack bombers.

Oslo said massive Soviet tank forces had rolled into the Tiergarten and were striking "with overwhelming strength" against the great underground fortress where Hitler — if he still is in Berlin and if he still is alive — may be hiding.

Nazis Fight Bitterly

The Nazis — fighting bitterly for every shell hole and every rubble heap — sacrificed more troops in reckless counter-attacks. Relief troops meanwhile beat against the Soviet wall south of Berlin in a vain attempt to break through to the trapped garrison, and parachute reinforcements were being dropped into the flame-swept area, the German high command asserted.

Latest front dispatches from Berlin reaching Moscow showed the Nazis hemmed into an area made up roughly of the Tiergarten, the Reichstag district just to its north, the Wilhelmstrasse and most of the crowded commercial district east and north of the Tiergarten.

Action In Senate

The Senate:

Adopted a free conference committee report which submits to the electorate Aug. 25 a proposed constitutional amendment granting members of the armed services the right to vote without payment of a poll tax, if otherwise qualified. The House adopted the report last week.

Finally passed Senate bills include:

Changing the status of Prairie View Normal and Industrial school for negroes to Prairie View university.

Permitting oil corporations to engage in chemical and manufacturing industries.

Regulating the amount of investments by life insurance companies in Texas securities and permitting to make loans under terms of the GI Bill of Rights.

Redistricting Tabled

The Senate laid on the table subject to call a senatorial re-districting bill by Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo.

The proposal granting a free vote to soldiers was the second constitutional amendment to be submitted by the 49th legislature.

The Senate concurred in House amendments to a bill by Buster Brown of Temple providing that county commissioners may increase up to 25 per cent the salaries of all county officials who received less than $3,600 in 1944.

Also passed by the Senate was a bill by H. L. Winfield of Fort Stockton authorizing the designation of a commissioner to represent Texas in the preparation of agreements with New Mexico in the use of waters of the Pecos river.

Methodist Session Is Scheduled Today

Approximately 400 persons are expected to attend the district conference of the Lubbock district of the Methodist church which will be held today in the auditorium of the First Methodist church.

Eight to ten delegates from each of the 42 charges in the district are expected for the one-day session, which opens at 10 o'clock this morning.

The conference will feature an address by Rev. Neal D. Cannon, pastor of the Polk Street church in Amarillo, and financial reports.

The district Women's Society of Christian Service will meet in the chapel at the same time the conference convenes. Approximately 100 members of the society are expected to be in attendance. They will hold separate sessions except for a joint meeting when they will hear Dr. Cannon.

Mrs. C. C. Coffee is district chairman and Mrs. J. D. Strickland district secretary. Both are of Lubbock.

More than 880 Army flight nurses now are assigned to air evacuation duties.

Mr. Hippity-Hop Is Scared Away From 'Burglary' Attempt

Rudy's Cinderella Shop had a late customer Monday afternoon, arriving after store hours were completed and weary clerks had gone home to their beans and bread and easy chairs.

The late arrival came hippity hop up Broadway, turned boldly in, and seemed rather peeved to find the store closed. It was even a little hard to figure why he couldn't get in through the show windows, and divided time by jumping at first the door, then the windows.

Patrolman Hubert Krueger was attracted to the scene by the watchers along the sidewalk and investigated the excitement. With his night stick swishing close to the long ears of the customer, the police chased away Mr. Customar, who was last seen making fast progress at his hippity hop gait toward the south part of the city along Avenue J after eluding capture by an end run that would have done justice to a football great.

Those who watched the "would be burglar" attempt to "break into" the store went away shaking their heads, and wondering how Broadway had become the stomping grounds of a West Texas jackrabbit.

a junction signal. He and Pfc. George Ritter of Jamaica, Long Island, got in a jeep driven by Pfc. Eldridge Matthews of Orange, Texas, and went up to within eyesight of the fortified position and fired the flares.

The result was a prompt and efficient mortar barrage which put an end to that sort of dickering.

Germans Fire Also

About that time a couple of pocketed German field artillery outfits opened up on the road junction where we were congregated. Capt. Lindsay and Lt. Nichol decided Russians, or no Russians, it was no place to be standing around and waiting for somebody who was late for an appointment.

However, we kept moving in the direction of the Russian lines, and reached the junction point a short time later. Clad in uniforms as varied and motley as those sported carelessly by American GI's, the Soviet soldiers said they had been waiting in that sector for some time. They clustered around the vehicles, and the picturetaking for albums back home started.

At the time of the Roman Empire, life expectancy was about 23 years; in 1850, 40 years; and in 1900, 47 years.

as to the Soviet Ukrainian and White Russian republics. Molotov, rather than risk a second defeat, declined to ask for a vote on the Warsaw Poles. He had lost on that in the conference executive committee.

Fascism Headquarters

Repeating arguments he had employed in a mid-afternoon press conference, the foreign commissar cited statements of former Secretary of State Cordell Hull and the late President Roosevelt that Argentina was headquarters of Fascism in the western hemisphere.

And, he said, a question of prestige is involved in determining whether to admit the Moscow-recognized Polish government in Warsaw.

"No one can deny," he asserted, "that the provisional Polish government functioning now in Warsaw, and the whole territory of liberated Poland, is a democratic government."

Lleras Camargo said the Argentine case presented a question of principle. Past criticisms of the Argentine government, he said, were directed at past acts.

Not Broad Enough

The United States and Britain have taken the stand that the Warsaw government is not broadly representative of enough Poles, that it should be broadened in accordance with a Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin agreement at Yalta.

Mexico's foreign minister, Ezequiel Padilla, paid tribute to Poland's war effort, but said the conference couldn't give Poland a voice here until the Yalta agreement was fulfilled.

Rites For Seagraves Man Set For Today

SEAGRAVES, April 30. (Special)—Funeral services for Joseph V. Jones, 76, long-time Gaines county resident who died of a heart attack at his home here this morning, will be conducted at 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the Seagraves Baptist church.

Burial will be in the local cemetery.

According to Webb Funeral home, Jones made an extensive automobile tour of the county Sunday and upon his return home said to his wife that he was "awfully tired."

Jones, who had retired from the stock farming business, had lived in Gaines county since 1918, moving here from Knox City.

Survivors include his wife, a daughter, Miss Allyne Jones of Seagraves; two sons, J. V. Jones, jr., of San Angelo and formerly of Lubbock and Sgt. Mart W. Jones of Lubbock Army Air field.

News Briefs

James Baker, 22, posted appeal bond of $1,000, according to Justice of Peace D. W. Robertson, after being assessed $25 and costs Monday in county court on a charge of aggravated assault. Baker, 22, pleaded guilty of the charge. He was charged after he appeared late Thursday night at a dwelling at 2509 Ave. J, where his estranged wife was abed with a two-day-old infant.

No estimate of the damage incurred when fire swept the hangar of Lubbock Aero Service on west Thirty-fourth early Sunday afternoon was available Monday night, it was reported. Five airplanes were destroyed, two of them owned by the Aero Service, and three were privately owned. Cause of the blaze still had not been determined last night.

Reporting thefts to police Monday afternoon were Pansye Harris, of 1910 Main, who lost a portable typewriter, and J. Mullins of 1524 Twenty-eighth, who said a lawn mower, rake and hoe were taken from his place.

Becton-Lakeview Methodist church observed Laity day Sunday with a special program and dinner. A. F. Rasor, Lubbock district lay leader, Mrs. William Marr of Ralls, and Mrs. Fred Vessey of Yorkshire, England, were featured speakers on the program.

New Mexico Girl Is Found Dead In Dallas

DALLAS, April 30. (UP)—Mary Louise Redmon, 17, of Tucumcari, N. M., was found dead today in a downtown Dallas hotel room and a 19-year-old hotel waiter was held by police pending outcome of an autopsy.

Police said friends of the girl told them she ran away from her home in New Mexico, about 10 days ago and had secured a job in Dallas.

The young waiter told officers the girl became sick Saturday night and that he rented the room for her.

Attention: Dallas OPA

There's Handwriting On The Wall

THE old saw that "you never appreciate the water until the well runs dry" frequently is found to be true. A case in point has to do with recent resignations of Howard R. Gholson, Earl Kerr and Ely Fonville, as district director, boards supevisor and rationing officer, respectively, of the West Texas district of OPA, and of rumors of the impending resignation of Owen McWhorter, as chief legal counsel in the 71-county district.

During the time these gentlemen have held high office with OPA here they have been the subject of some criticism as well as a great deal of "kidding." No government bureau is very popular with the people and especially subject to critical examinations are those, like OPA, whose officials must at times say "no" to the citizenry and enforce regulations which, of necessity, interfere with complete freedom of action in wartime. So it is natural, we suppose, for OPA officials to be "ragged" and adversely referred to, albeit the West Texas public has considered its district OPA office to have generally done an unusually good job.

But since the word has come out regarding impending changes in the top brackets of the West Texas district offices of OPA, telephones of affected officials have been incessantly jangling as business men have called to express regret. Still other business men have beaten a path to OPA offices to express their regrets in person. Also, there is a plan on foot now to get a delegation to call on Mr. McWhorter asking him to remain on the job until at least such time as all necessary changes can be made and "things are working smoothly" again.

These expressions of respect and regret, while perhaps belated, must be viewed by the men affected with considerable satisfaction. Certainly, they should be so viewed, because they indicate that, after all, the job the men have been doing has been a good one.

J. Bryan Miller, executive officer of the six-state Dallas OPA region, announced upon arrival here the other day that successors to resigning officials will be West Texans of suitable experience and talents. We hope they will be, and that the Dallas definition of "suitable experience and talents" will be the same as the West Texas definition. Public opinion as being expressed throughout the district definitely insists that new officials be men who have proven ability in private enterprise and not among those who seek to make a career out of remaining on public payrolls.

We believe the people of West Texas in general, and the business men most directly affected by OPA operations in particular, will give Dallas officials a fair chance to replace outgoing district executives with suitable men with suitable backgrounds of experience—in short, with men of good judgment and sufficient ability to do their jobs. But we also believe—in fact, we know—that West Texans will not meekly submit to unnecessary "pushing around," nor will they lend co-operation to men who display the avowed intention of first causing all the trouble they can and then trying to make price control and rationing work as a sort of after-thought.

This we submit to the Dallas office for the attention, consideration and guidance it deserves—and which the people of West Texas rightfully demand.

A Salute To Them Both!

ANNOUNCEMENT last week of the impending retirement of Mrs. J. T. Trigg and Mrs. Isabell Garrison from the Lubbock public school system spotlights two outstanding educational careers carved over long periods of time by two very estimable ladies.

For 35 years, Mrs. Trigg has given her time, interest, study and efforts to public education, 27 of the last 29 of those years in the Lubbock schools. Mrs. Garrison, a Lubbock teacher since 1926, began teaching nearly 45 years ago when the Panhandle-Plains area was young and although she was out of the classroom for a considerable period of time, her contribution, too, has been generous.

Never among those teachers who confine their work to "school hours," Mesdames Trigg and Garrison have done a tremendous amount of outside labor with their charges. Although their voluntary retirements have been well-earned, we'll warrant both shall continue to be in the forefront of Lubbockites always ready and willing to contribute to a better school system.

"Elsa Maxwell has been selected as one of the country's outstanding women." The choice of the adjective was rather tactless.

If we could ever catch up with our work, we'd try to invent a way to make a living without working.

The One Minute Sermon

Let not thine heart envy sinners: but be thou in the fear of the Lord all the day long.

For surely there is an end: and thine exception shall not be cut off.

Hear thou, my son, and be wise, and guide thine heart in the way.—Proverbs 23:17-19.

THE MEETING

"Sh—Chopin is playing."

Outside the Paris home of the Dutchess of Orleans coachmen, passersby, others paused to listen to the music that carried into the night air.

Jozef Elsner produced his invitation and was admitted. He left his greatcoat, his hat and his white gloves with a lackey at the door, then went up the wide stairs.

"—Sh—Chopin is playing."

Josef Elsner clutched the package Mlle Gladkowska had entrusted to his care of Fredric. He passed into the music room. There were chairs for 40 or 50 persons. He brushed alongside the critic Kalkbrenner, who looked at him stiffly.

Jozef Elsner bowed. He passed on. He took a chair on one side of the room where it was possible, if Frederic raised his head, to catch Frederic's eye.

Madame Sand was several chairs away. Her eyes were fixed on Frederic. Jozef Elsner saw her. But his eyes were not for her, they were for Frederic—the friend and pupil he had not seen for so long. Frederic was very pale. His eyes had receded into large hollows in his face, or so it seemed to Jozef Elsner. He was dressed, too, in the most foppish manner, or so it seemed to Jozef Elsner; even a boutonniere in the lapel of his coat. He was playing now the Waltz in C-Sharp Minor.

Frederic raised his head, a smile on his lips. He looked toward Madame Sand, then as his eyes wandered beyond, the smile suddenly froze, then disappeared entirely.

The piece was finished and was met with vigorous applause. Frederic acknowledged the handclapping. Then he hunted nervously in his pockets for his kerchief to dry his hands and to mop his head. His eyes again met those of Jozef Elsner.

Elsner stared without applauding.

Frederic was about to resume at the piano. He had a sudden change of heart. He looked at the Duchess. His voice faltered.

"Your Grace will pardon me! I shall continue in a moment."

He walked from the room which was instantly a-buzz with conversation and startled looks.

Jozef Elsner began to follow. Madame Sand, alarmed now, stood in his way.

"—You wish to see Frederic?"

"That is why I came, Madame."

George smiled to hide her alarm. "Please—" Then together, with Madame Sand leading, they went into the room into which Frederic had disappeared.

* * *

They met at last, face to face. Frederic had nothing to say. He could not look at Jozef Elsner. He tried to shield his face with his arm. He cowered.

George said soothingly: "Monsieur Elsner came to see you."

Jozef Elsner stepped nearer. "Good evening, Frederic."

Frederic shrank from him. He moved backward.

"—Tch, tch. You are more ill than I imagined—"

Frederic could retreat no farther. His back now was almost against the wall. He tried to straighten up. "Why did you come here tonight?"

"—I came, Frederic—"

"You shouldn't. You had no right, George, why did he come?"

"Not to qaurrel. Frederic. Please believe he—" Jozef Elsner's eyes were watering. He removed his spectacles. "And if it wasn't necessary—" He brusquely rubbed the tears away.

Frederic looked helplessly at George.

George said, with mock politeness: "If it is so important to Monsieur Elsner, there is no reason to avoid a talk at any time—or any place." Then to Jozef Elsner: "The guests are waiting, Monsieur, so if you will allow me." She turned sharply to Frederic.

"There have been uprisings in Poland, Frederic." She paused.

"Uprisings?" Frederic muttered. He was looking at George. "I am sorry to hear it."

"—You think he is heartless, Professor. He is not heartless. Are you, Frederic?"

"—No, George."

"The fact is, and you would seem to forget it, Monsieur — Frederic is removed from the herd. Aren't you, Frederic?"

"—Yes, George."

"He is ages removed—ages! You know that, Frederic?"

"—Yes, George."

—His lips responded exactly. Yes George no George yes George yes George yes George yes yes yes. His eyes were glassy. There was no life in his expression. Everything was George. No, George. Yes, George.

Jozef Elsner said nothing. His heart said everything.

George was saying: "Frederic, thank the Professor."

"Yes, George."

Frederic's lips moved.

"Frederic, thank him!"

Frederic stared.

"—Frederic, please! The guests are waiting—"

Frederic made another effort. But it was not any good. George took his arm.

"—One thing, Frederic." Jozef Elsner extended his hand.

"—Mademoiselle Gladkowska!" Elsner said. "You remember her, don't you, Frederic?"

Frederic stared.

"—She is in Paris, Frederic—to ask for help—for men like Carl and Tytus who are not free. Money will make them free. I promised to bring her an answer."

Frederic started but it was now a different kind of stare, as though something were trying to fight its way through the blankness.

"—Money!" Elsner shouted. "Just money—could break them free!"

Jozef Elsner went to the door. He stopped. He had almost forgotten the package Mlle. Gladkowska had given him for Frederic. He placed it on a table, then left without another word.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND

SAN ANTONIO, April 30. (AP)—Police today were investigating the circumstances surrounding the death of a 41-year-old woman whose body was found here early yesterday at the bottom of a 15-foot embankment of San Pedro creek, her head submerged in six inches of water. She was identified by Detective Sgt. Charles Barrara from finger prints as Mrs. Marie Dorton.

The first wine growers in Australia were Greek pirates, prisoners of the British.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

SO MANY things have been written about the late President Roosevelt that there isn't anything that I can add to the homage that has been paid to him.

But I want to tell you about one thought that went through my mind when I listened to all the eulogies and read about the honors that were paid to him.

That thought was this:

BRANDEIS

Here is a man who according to Abraham Lincoln, was my equal — no better and no worse than I.

He was born rich but a terrible disease wiped out all of the advantages he might have had over you and me.

You may not have liked his politics or his administration, but you must admit that he will go into history as one of the giants of this country.

The mourning over him was sincere, of that I am sure.

I have always been a Republican and I disagreed with many of the things he did.

But when I heard about his death, I was stunned. There were tears in my eyes when I heard the minister's simple prayer at his funeral, when I heard about Fala's pitiful little barks as the salvos were fired over his grave, when I read about Mrs. Roosevelt, every inch the gentlewoman in her bereavement.

So this thought came to me:

What have I done to deserve Lincoln's judgment that all men are born equal?

When I die what will I leave behind beside a body in the grave, beside a mourning wife, a few friends and a little dog who'll miss me for a while?

I DON'T care whether you approved or disapproved of Roosevelt.

He served his country to the best of his ability and with every ounce of strength that was in him.

He lived for his country and he died for it.

For that every living one of us should take him as a shining example and try to follow in his footsteps.

As I go through life and look at life I wonder sometimes what I and many of my self-satisfied friends have done for the world to expect so much from the world.

How can we be proud or conceited or boastful of our possessions or achievements, when any moment of the day or night whatever we are or have can be taken away from us—just like it was taken away from Franklin Roosevelt.

Only one thing survives — the service you have given to your fellow men.

Postwar Ship Surplus Pondered

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

A HOUSE subcommittee's behind-the-doors discussion of berthing the expanded U. S. Navy suggests that Washington expects much more Allied help in the Far Eastern conflict than has been expected. It indicates that numerous warships flying the Stars and Stripes, like certain veteran Army units, will be through for the duration following cleanup of European duties.

TUCKER

In the exchanges it developed that we shall have so many vessels after work in Europe ends that there will hardly be enough area in the narrow waters of the Orient for them to operate safely and comfortably, especially after the British pitch in. Confidential figures on our naval growth seem incredible.

Naval spokesmen asked the House Appropriation committee dealing with their affairs for $117,000,000 to build docks, wharfage facilities, repair shops, etc. They explained that they do not intend to lay up hundreds of units in oil and cotton, as was done after World War I, and let them end as "white elephants." They want permanent and modern lodgings pending final determination of armament questions.

BERTHS: Committeemen were amazed at presentation of the problem at this time, thinking it premature. But Secretary Forrestal's representatives insisted that a start must be made immediately. They were given $27,000,000, and will receive the balance later.

Finding enough berths after victory in Japan presents great and unique difficulties. All except battleships and cruisers will be anchored in fresh water, if possible, as the motion of waves and the effects of salt water in ocean ports hasten their deterioration.

But coves and inlets on our navigable rivers will scarcely accommodate them. The Great Lakes would be an ideal garage, but the larger vessels cannot reach those inland bodies.

So, if any community has warship space it wants to rent or give to Uncle Sam, it should lodge its claim now.

CANCER: One of President Roosevelt's last acts at Warm Springs was to open the way for practical relief to victims of a disease even more dangerous and unsolved than infantile paralysis. He made it possible for people to give easily and generously in the campaign to fight cancer.

Late in March he proclaimed this April as Cancer Control Month in an attempt to publicize the American Cancer Institute's drive for $5,000,000 during that period.

But canny Robert E. Berger, former government radio expert, thought up a plan to facilitate contributions. He asked Postmaster General Frank C. Walker to permit donors to use a symbolic address instead of bothering to write a long and difficult name. Mr. Berger proposed "CANCER, care of the Local Post Office."

"I'll take it up with the boss," replied the PG.

Frank did, and FDR gave his approval without thinking twice.

Incidentally, this evil brought death to 165,000 persons in 1944—more Americans than were killed on battlefields in any single year of our war history.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

IMPORTANT French officials in the USA say privately that it is too early to predict what their compatriots will do with Marshal Petain.

He will be the storm center of groups who differ widely about justice in his case. Feelings range from pity to hatred. Many hoped that the aged Vichyite would die and thus spare his nation the shame of a trial for high treason of the old World War I figurehead.

By throwing himself on the mercy of General de Gaulle—the man whom he once condemned—the marshal may seek to arouse sympathy on the plea that he, too, was the unwilling prisoner of Hitler.

LEMAN

But the French do not forget that Petain turned Marshal Weygand over to the Gestapo. Widows and mothers of U. S. North African veterans know that the stubborn chief ordered Vichy troops to kill Americans who crossed the seas to liberate his people.

If he is allowed to escape the firing squad French courts, if they execute smaller fry, will be accused of gross unfairness. This misunderstood public servant, pathetic weakling, cunning traitor, evil genius—as he is looked upon by diverse elements—split France once before. He may do it again.

COLLABORATION: French public opinion has veered several times as to the fate of collaborationists. A Paris official, just arrived in New York, tells this story of the first days of freedom:

"I was dining in a sidewalk cafe near Marseilles when a truck carrying a couple of dozen civilians and armed FFI's drove past. A few minutes later I heard the sound of rifle firing and asked the proprietor the meaning.

"'Oh, nothing,' he replied nonchalantly. 'The Maquis in that truck have just shot those Vichy rats.'"

Such scenes were common everywhere as the Resistance punished those who betrayed France. Some met death because of local grudges which had little to do with the war. As lynch law spread and persons were hustled off with barely a hearing, sober people cried out against these hasty practices. At one period it seemed as if many real war criminals would go scot-free.

The pendulum swung back. The Front National congress demanded the promised confiscation of traitors' property. Other former members of the underground put pressure on Paris and trials were begun of many high naval, military and journalistic personages.

VIOLENCE: The erstwhile collaborationists, instead of using the period of grace to show penitence, actually set out to break the de Gaulle movement. One of the chief men of the old Fighting French committee in New York returned from Paris with the report that a new fifth column of Vichyites was whispering vicious stories about Americans, aiming to breed dissension.

After lying low for some time Laval and Doriet partisans organized open violence in the remote provinces. Bands of Fascists raced through village streets in the southwest, pumping machine gun bullets into pedestrians.

De Gaulle's secret agents revealed that in many instances these outlaws were led by German officers in mufti who spoke French fluently. Mussolini's Blackshirts spilled across the frontier and joined the brigands. Other outfits called "Brown Maquis" were more subtle in circulating gossip to discredit the Resistance.

* * *

PURGE: A new campaign to stamp out these Benedict Arnolds was staged when the first wretched prisoners arrived from Germany, especially the political captives who had been turned over to the Nazis by Petain and his stooges.

These repatriated martyrs are determined to purge all factions which brought such suffering to them.

Stories of the brutalities inflicted on these patriots by Darand's militia and the Nazi Gestapo have stirred the French to demand vengeance. The exiles picture some of France's elder statesmen as thrown into the Buchenwald concentration camp and forced to toil 14 hours a day on fortifications. Others were murdered.

At Ravensbruck, the "death camp for women," respectable French matrons of the Resistance were forced to strip naked before crowds of leering Nazi soldiers while their heads were shaved and they were fitted for convict garb. German female prison wardens set dogs on them. Many died of blood poisoning from infected dog bites.

Russia's Policies Are Examined

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

SAN FRANSCISCO. — Strange folks—these Russians. Yet understandable if you take the trouble, and don't go off mad at their gaucheries and brashness.

As seen here, operating on the international stage in this United Nations conference, they provide an interesting psychological study in diplomacy is of the stiff-arming line-bucking variety. They push in and demand recognition—and get it.

STOKES

Over-all, they seem to suffer from an inferiority complex which might be regarded as somewhat unusual, considering how powerful a nation they are, until you look into the background. They remind the observer of the American boy, born on the wrong side of the railroad tracks, who pushes himself up in the world by native shrewdness and the boldness sometimes described as "brass," with a bit of bluff along with it. After he has arrived he is not content to sit back, but must remind himself and the world constantly of his success.

"Chip On Shoulder" Stuff

He must be received in the proper clubs, be appropriately noticed in the newspapers. He carries a chip on his shoulder.

He speaks out his mind with that assertiveness which passed for frankness, though quite secretive about his real intentions, and continually reminds you of what he has done. He is somewhat child-like and naive with all his shrewdness and never quite realizes it. He knows that he gets places by being blunt and pushing, and through bluff. He makes other people angry just as Russia has made some people angry at this conference.

Yet there is little profit in getting angry. It is best to try to understand and to cope with it.

TO understand, it is only necessary to recall that this Russia isn't the old Russia of the czars, trained in the niceties of diplomacy; not even the old European Russia, but a Russia with an Asiatic mixture; a new Russia, that was snubbed and kicked around in the chancellors of the world, that tried to do something with the old League of Nations and was foiled; a Russia, too, that has done something for herself, a Russia that finally rose in her might in this war and drove the German invaders back into their own capital.

Her psychology was clearly revealed in the speech of Foreign commissar Molotov at the conference. He spoke of the failure of the League of Nations, with obvious unkind reference to England and France, but without naming them. He pointed out that we had refused to cooperate after the last war in an international security. He claimed that Russia, in this war, had saved European civilization. He talked very big and bold, with some justification. He couldn't resist pointing to the past, both to show what Russia had done and what some others had not done.

Just A Silly Demand

Russia, too, is secretive about her aims.

She threw a big surprise at the opening meeting of the heads of delegations by demanding, through Mr. Molotov, that there be four rotating presidents of the conference, instead of having our Secretary of State Stettinius the permanent president. Everybody had supposed Mr. Stettinius would be chosen, pro forma, since we are the host nation. That is the usual rule.

This act of Russia looked silly and ridiculous, at least that is the way it looked to the ordinary American observer. But it was understandable when you remembered the boy who came from the wrong side of the railroad tracks, who must be recognized. It also looked silly and ridiculous that the managers of this conference hadn't known about this in advance, hadn't ironed out the difficulty before the conference convened. This reflected on Secretary Stettinius. The ordinary politician would have planned better.

RUSSIA didn't do herself any good with insistence on recognition of this sort, a most trivial point it seems. It doesn't mean anything. Merely represents a false and juvenile sort of pride, just like the boy who grew into the man and who feels he must be on every list of civic functions in the community.

It was unfortunate that this all happened. For it inspired some splashing headlines that indicated a major conflict which, after all resulted in a compromise. Russia has many friends in this country. She also has enemies. She does not add to her list of friends by this sort of picayune politics.

It is wise not to get too excited, but to remember the boy who came from the wrong side of the railroad tracks.

And to talk back when necessary and call his bluff.

Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:

1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.

This simple creed will work wonders.

THANKS FARMERS
IN BEHALF of our boys in the armed forces, we wish to thank you for the way you responded to our plea for large clean grade A eggs. Because of your patriotic cooperation, we have been able to get their eggs to them much faster than could have been possible otherwise. We still have man, more war department orders to fill, and the government is looking to you to help us meet our increased quotas.
If you haven't heard of the way that you can make more money, and still be helping our soldier boys, ask your neighbor, or we will give you the information. Your large clean grade A eggs are still desperately needed. Thanks again.

Only Two Segments Of Pre-Nazi Germany Remain To Be Cleared

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

As the war nears a condused end in Europe only two segments of Germany proper, of the pre-Nazi Reich, remain in German hands and both are being squeezed out of existence between Allied and Russian lines.

SIMPSON

These segments are the so-called "northern redoubt" above the widened Russian-American junction on the Elbe and still covering German North sea and Baltic ports and the German end of the Danish peninsula; and a much smaller appendix of Germany south of the Danube reaching down almost into the Salsburg Alps in Austria.

It is more than possible that even the small German appendix in the south, the northern forefield of the Bavarian redoubt, has already been swept clear by an actual or impending American-Russian junction in the Danube valley. German radio broadcasts indicate that both the American Third Army spearhead driving down the Danube and Russian columns boring up river from Vienna are within touch of each other near Linz. The exact positions of both forces in that region is obscured by a news blackout adding the impression that a junction cutting not only all northern and central Germany but all Czechoslovakia off from the meaningless Bavarian redoubt is at hand.

When it comes, Czechoslovakia will be completely surrounded by American and Russian armies north, south, east and west.

Must Crush Remnants

Until German will or ability to continue the useless struggle in Czechoslovakia is tested out, however, there can be no certainty of cessation of hostilities for those American forces. That possible last-stand area for Nazi diehards is bulwarked north, east and west by mountains. While the Russian drive to Bruen was probably primarily to close the Moravian gateway against possible German use to reinforce their toppling front in eastern Austria, it also is poised to drive swiftly into the heart of Czechoslovakia if necessary, although presently marking time.

Negroes To Get High Administrative Posts

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 30. (AP)—Republican Governor Simeon Willis today said two members of the negro race would be appointed to high administrative posts for the first time in Kentucky.

The governor said he would name one negro to the state board of education and he would ask Attorney General Eldon S. Dummitt to appoint another as an assistant attorney general.

Funeral Set Today For Randel Heggen

Funeral services for Randel Heggen, who was found shot to death early Saturday at his home in Abernathy, will be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Abernathy Methodist church, Rix Funeral home announced Monday.

An inquest verdict said that he had died of a self-inflicted wound.

He had been a resident of Abernathy for 27 years.

Wm. D. Green Rites To Be At Shiner

The body of William Dickson Green, 47, prominent land and property owner of Lubbock and other sections of Texas and president of the Wilson State bank who died of a heart attack Monday, will be taken overland to Shiner, Tex., today, Rix Funeral home reported.

Services will be held probably Thursday at Shiner.

He died suddenly early yesterday morning at his home, 2801 Nineteenth. Cause of death was coronary occlusion, the attending physician said.

Mr. Green, who came to Lubbock nearly 25 years ago, was owner of much Lubbock real estate property including several business blocks. He recently moved his offices from the Citizens National Bank building to the Lubbock National Bank building. He never saw his new offices, friends said.

Mr. Green is a veteran of World War I and II. He enlisted in the Marine corps in the first World War and served overseas for 14 months. He served eight months in the Army of World War II.

Born In Galveston

He was born in Galveston Dec. 2, 1897. His father was the late William Green who was an important Texas landowner, merchant and banker.

Prior to World War I, he attended Texas Military Institute at San Antonio, Bingham Military academy at Asheville, N. C., and The Lawrenceville school at Lawrenceville, N. J. Following his service overseas he was graduated from the University of Texas where he was a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. He married Miss Miriam Collins of Dallas Dec. 28, 1923, and they had one son, William D. Green, jr., who is attending The Lawrenceville school.

Mrs. Green, who lives at Dallas, will go to Shiner for funeral services.

He is also survived by his mother, Mrs. Julia C. Green, of Shiner.

Nebraskan Named Assistant To Truman

WASHINGTON, April 30. (AP)—President Truman announced today the appointment of Edward Daniel McKim, Omaha, Nebr., insurance executive, as his chief administrative assistant.

McKim was sworn in by Justice William O. Douglas of the United States Supreme court this afternoon along with two other Truman appointees whose selection previously was announced.

They were:

John W. Snyder of St. Louis, as federal loan administrator.

Edwin A. Pauley of California as American member of the International Reparations commission.

Another Use Found For Cotton Stalks

WASHINGTON, April 30. (AP)—Cotton stalks ordinarily left in the fields after the cotton is picked, have been found adaptable as a corrugating medium for shipping containers.

The War Production board said today experiments by the Johnson C. Smith university, Charlotte, N. C., and the Herty Foundation laboratory, Savannah, Ga., have determined that no new types of machinery are needed to process the pulp.

Telephone high lights of 1944

Our annual report, issued in March, showed 1944 was a busy year. There were more long distance calls than ever before, including thousands of war calls to rush through each day for the army, the navy, and the scores of war industries in our territory.

The demand for telephones was heavy. Service qualifying as essential under government requirements was installed promptly. Other new telephones were installed where instruments, lines, and central office equipment were available.

But still we had a big waiting list. It grew throughout the year because almost all new telephone equipment went to the armed services. At the year's end 187,000 persons were on our waiting list for telephones.

For those who had telephones we did virtually a prewar job of supplying service. Three out of every four long distance calls went through while the calling parties "held the line." Local service stood up well. The public helped by keeping calls brief and making only necessary calls.

In the eight army general hospitals in the five states served by this company, special equipment was installed to help the wounded and sick soldiers with their telephoning. Attendants were on hand in most army camps and naval stations to help service men and women call home.

On the money side, we didn't do so well. Of course, revenues were up—10 per cent over 1943. But operating costs and taxes climbed even faster—they rose 11 per cent. The return on the company's investment in telephone property was 4.34 per cent—lower than in 1933, the worst depression year.

As long as the fighting goes on, war demands will be met first. But telephone users here at home can depend on the fact that, even in wartime, this company will bend every effort to give them the best service possible.

Teen-Agers from Area Invited To Corral

Teen-age students of Brownfield and Littlefield Monday were mailed invitations by the city recreation department to attend the Saturday night program at the Corral.

The third in a series of Saturday night programs to which boys and girls of surrounding towns are being invited, the program will be under direction of a committee chosen at last Saturday night's entertainment. Members are Hardy Matthews, chairman, Charlie Kelly, Byron Martin, Bobbie Luckett, Virgie Lee Sneed, Lareta Maner, and Beth Ann Ryan.

A total of 116 attended Saturday night's program, including 25 from Crosbyton. Several from Crosbyton appeared on the program. They were a trio, Jacky Bembry, Sarah Adams and Mary Ruffner, who sang "When I Grow Too Old To Dream" and "Don't Let Your Foot Slip, Hiram"; a quartet, Peggy Tussy, Dolly Ann Littlefield, Freda Sheerhood and Joann Green, who sang "It Had To Be You" and "Twilight Time". Those from Lubbock on the program were Fred McDonald, who sang "Make Believe" and "I'm Confessing"; Carolyn Cole, who gave a piano solo, and Wanda Mueller, who gave a tap dance.
