An Interesting Story

The iceman's product has within the last decade emerged from the list of luxuries and taken its place in the front ranks of the necessary comforts of modern civilization, and like King Coal is called to the palace as well as to the hut. None so rich they do not need it; none so poor they can afford to be without it. There is nothing sold in the public market that will give so much pleasure and comfort for a small amount of money as ice during the heated season.

FOR GOOD LUMBER ORDER FROM MISSION LUMBER CO., MENARD, TEXAS

BEE KEEPERS' DEPARTMENT

We have made arrangements to have this column devoted each week entirely to beekeeping. We have asked the services of Mr. E. G. LeSargeon, secretary of the B. K. Beekeepers' Association, and one of the best known beekeepers in the State of Texas, to conduct this department for our readers. Any questions concerning apiculture or any request for advice about beekeeping should be addressed to E. G. LeSargeon, Box 1048, San Antonio, Texas, and will be fully and carefully answered in this column. We trust that every one of our readers will take advantage of this opportunity, because beekeeping is rapidly becoming one of the most extensive industries in our part of Texas.

The vast number of wild bees that were found in Texas attracted the attention of naturalists from very early days, but the raising of bees and the harvesting of honey on scientific principles is of recent inauguration. The importance of the large Italian bee that seems to have found its natural home in Texas, was an experiment that has proved a blessing. Her product probably is not superior to that of the native little blue bee, but it is greater in quantity, and she is found to adapt herself more readily to domestication and the improved methods for saving the honey of her tireless energy. The result has been that nearly all of those who have made bee-keeping a business have the best bees, and have prepared themselves to conduct the business in order to reap the greatest financial benefit from it, and their success has been greater than they anticipated. As evidence of this, it may be stated that according to the most recent and most reliable statistics, in fact, nothing less than the last Federal census, Texas produced during 1907 nearly $1,500,000 worth of honey, taking the first place in the sisterhood of States as a producer of that necessary as well as luxurious adjunct of a well regulated diet. The above figures are nearly four years old, and since that date beekeeping has kept on developing at a rate that makes it safe to say that when completed the value of the product for 1911 will be found over $2,250,000 and promises to progress until it becomes one of the chief industries of the State, rivaling in its financial returns any of the staples of which we boast so much.

The charm of the proposition to go into the bee business is the fact that it requires very little capital, and the further fact that the application of the most scientific methods really requires but very little time of the farmer who is sufficiently up-to-date to take advantage of every means to increase his income, and at the same time diversify his sources of revenue to such an extent that he has no fear that his farm will fail to reward him for his labors from year to year. All he has to do is to furnish his numberless little workers with a properly equipped home, they will board themselves while hoarding up a valuable store for their owner. Every bud in this flower-decked region is dripping with nectar awaiting the busy bee in order to be saved for man's benefit. The time will never come when there will be enough of the energetic workers to reap an undue harvest, for the supply furnished forth by those devoted blossoms will be of such magnitude as to provide the means of a good price being paid for the delightful fruit of the efforts of the unselfish little laborers.

FARM NOTES

LITTLE HELPERS ON THE FARM.

Among the willing workers which work for nothing and board themselves are the birds, which have often been called "the farmers' best friends." They assist the farmer in three distinct ways—as insect eaters, as consumers of weed seed and as destroyers of large numbers of field mice, hoppers and other rodents. Entomologists estimate that the destruction of agricultural insects from insects amounts to over $200,000,000 a year. What it might be were not such a vast army of birds engaged daily from dawn until dark in making war upon these various insect pests can only be vaguely realized, says Farm and Home.

Among the birds that eat insects are the flycatchers, warblers, vireos, larks and chimney swifts, which live exclusively on insects. Many others, such as the blackbirds and several varieties of hawks, depend on insects for a large part of their food. The meadow lark has a large appetite for insects and in the course of a season rids the meadows and pastures of countless pests, that are injurious to crops. Even the much-abused crow has a fondness for cutworms that almost equals his liking for corn.

As seed eaters some birds are most thieves. The chipping sparrow, for instance, belongs to the group of birds that eat seeds. Many other birds eat seeds, in fact, most birds eat both insects and seeds in varying amounts. A large number of birds feed on field mice, hoppers, ground squirrels, moles, etc., chief of all being hawks and owls.

RAISING CHEAP PORK.

Every farmer that keeps hogs, whether a few for his own use or a large number for the market, should have plenty of fencing material out of which a hog-proof fence may be easily and quickly constructed. The reasons are obvious. Cheap pork can not be produced in pens without pasture or green food. The hogs must be able to graze on the grain and other concentrated feed.

Fencing materials are not, as a rule, high and it pays the farmer who keeps hogs to have enough to fence off several fields for grazing. It is often advisable to have portable iron side fence that can be moved from one field to another by a few hours work. Then when one field of a few acres is grazed out, the animals are driven into another with green pasture.

Another and perhaps a better way to fence a somewhat narrow field, especially for grazing hogs. This may be divided into three or four smaller fields, or as many as will be needed. These several fields may be then be planned in different rows for the animals and grazed in succession.

For instance, suppose six small fields are set aside for grazing hogs. In field number one, rye and vetch may be planted in the fall; in number two, oats in the spring; in three, any kind of grain; in four, cowpeas; in five, peanuts in rows, and in the sixth field rye and vetch a summer crop may be sown, as cowpeas or soy beans, following oats, rye, rape, turnips, sorghum, cowpeas or soy beans may be planted, following the summer legumes—cowpeas, soy beans and turnips—a winter crop, such as wheat or rye, may be planted.

This plan gives a variety and plenty of grazing to supplement the permanent pasture and if properly carried out will produce cheap pork.

POULTRY DEPARTMENT

FATTENING POULTRY.

The method used by most of the large establishments engaged in fattening poultry in this country is to feed the chickens in crates from troughs, according to information collected by the United States Department of Agriculture. From six to ten birds are placed in each division together, but where only one bird is placed in each compartment, and the cost of equipment and labor per bird varies inversely with the number of birds in each division. Another method, which is used to a considerable extent on a small scale in this country is pen fattening. This method is adapted for use on the farm, where the farmer does not care to go to the trouble of crate fattening, or where the price received for well-fed birds does not warrant the extra labor and feed cost of the crate method.

Most "milk-fed" chickens are fed for fourteen days, but results indicate that a more profitable gain can be secured in a shorter feeding period, provided the same price per pound can be obtained for the finished product. Practically all of the special feeding in this country involves the use of milk, thus producing "milk-fed" chickens. Milk while the least expensive, seems to be the most essential constituent of the ration, and when a feeder can get milk in some form he generally does not form a better feed. Low condensed buttermilk, and skim milk are preferred in this relative order. The feed is mixed to the consistency of thick cream, or so that it will drip from the tip of a wooden spoon. Rations of 50 per cent corn meal, 40 per cent low grade wheat flour and 10 per cent fine shorts or of 48 per cent corn meal, 34 per cent oat flour, and 6 per cent tallow, by weight, give very good results, producing gains which cost from 6.45 cents to 7.74 cents per pound. Low grade wheat flour is a more economical feed than oats flour at the present prices of grain.

FEEDING AND CARING FOR THE POULTS.

After hatching it is best not to feed young turkeys anything for about 24 hours. Then feed rather sparingly for a few days. Many people make the mistake of feeding too much at first.

The poult should be fed little at a time. A little hard-boiled egg and a small quantity of millet seed is the best food that can be given them during the first three days and they should not have a particle more than they will eat up quickly. After the first three days feed cottage cheese, cornbread crumbled dry, millet seed and some green food, such as onion tops chopped fine. Be sure to feed only what they will eat at once. Give them grit the first time they are fed and see that they do not want for it at any time after that. Also freely supply clean drinking water in some kind of a tray. The food that is not easily soiled. When about five weeks old cracked corn, wheat and oats may be added to their ration. From this time on they will eat a large quantity and grow rapidly, becoming harder every day and more able to look out for themselves. They will not need powders of any kind, but must be taken to keep them free from lice. Some good insect powder is as good as any thing that can be used, and it should be used freely, thoroughly powdering the birds at least once a week until they are well feathered. A mixture of sulphur and lard applied to the top of the head occasionally will help in keeping the poult free from head lice, but it should be applied carefully, there is danger of getting on the face. The mother of the young turkeys should receive some attention in the fight against lice, and an occasional application of the insect powder will do no harm and it may do considerable good.

WE WILL PAY YOUR EXPENSES TO BIG WELLS

(Dimmitt County, Texas)

If, after a thorough investigation of "Big Wells," you find that we have in the least exaggerated or misrepresented the following claims, that the BIG FIVE COLONY LANDS will produce abundantly all of the principal paying crops common to Southwest Texas, that the ARTESIAN WATER from numerous wells is as pure as any water in the State of Texas, that the FIVE FLOW of these great gushers is unsurpassed by the flowing wells of any other section of Texas, that the BERTRAM OIL CRUISE (1500 acres) now being harvested, is unsurpassed for quantity and quality in any other section of Texas, that the ALABAMA CROP (several hundred acres) now being harvested, is unsurpassed for quantity and quality in any other section of Texas, that ONE 100-ACRE FARM, which eighteen months ago rented for twelve and a half cents per acre, is today yielding a variety of crops which will, conservatively estimated, amount to $100,000.00, that BIG WELLS, sixteen months old, with 500 satisfied residents, stores, hotels, church, school, vice houses, industries, etc., is as thoroughly progressive as any town in Texas.

WHICH DO YOU WANT? In addition to the many thousands of acres heretofore sold to our patrons, many of whom are now actual residents and on the Good Road to Prosperity, we offer 12,000 acres in farms to suit, from 40 to 640 acres, special terms to actual settlers; 1,500 acres in tracts of 21.2, 5, 10 and 20 acres (including town) on monthly payments; well-situated residences and business lots in the town of BIG WELLS on monthly payments.

YOUR INDEBTEDNESS

TO THE WORLD

(By L. K. Wells.) How little the human heart has changed in thirty-two hundred years. Whether little Jack Horner sits in the corner or somewhere else, whether the pie he eats be a Christmas affair or an ordinary creation of pie-trust, he always says the same thing: "What a good boy am I!"

Take his pie away from him and call him a bad boy; he will merely swear that you are mistaken else he would never have the pie at all. It is very difficult to give folks good things and not set them to crowing about their status. But a wall fit from the streets, dress him up and feed him and he will soon begin to rate himself above his plumes. Well, can this be taken home concerning our nation. What of our prospective, our redemptions, our wide-open doors? They are but the endorsement of the Almighty of our policies and ability. If the Maker has not dealt so with any other nation, it must be that no other nation is like our own. Yet comparisons are exceedingly odious and unprofitable at this time. James Lane Allen reminds us in one of his stories that we Americans are by no means monopolists of honesty or chaste or just that other people.

Then what did the Creator of the universe give us this good land for? If not for our righteousness or righteousness or for the daring of our venturesome spirits as Columbus and Da Gama, then for what were we given it? Not as a reward at all, but as an opportunity to be world better and for the enrichment of mankind. Emerson said that America was only another name for opportunity. He meant, I suppose, the opportunity of "Number Two." It is often pointed out that the foreigner looks his typical marks on American soil, because he is a world better and for the enrichment of mankind. Emerson said that America was only another name for opportunity. He meant, I suppose, the opportunity of "Number Two." It is often pointed out that the foreigner looks his typical marks on American soil, because he is a world better and for the enrichment of mankind.

It is a pity that it is an illustration, an example of many things. But the supreme mission of America, the realization of the purpose of the Almighty, we have no doubt, to enrich the world, to rest upon the Old World institutions. Freely we have received and justly we should give. We have borrowed from everywhere. Measure thus your debt to the world.

DELAYS USE OF HIS COFFIN

Octogenarian, Long Prepared for Death, Gets Marriage Instead.

LURAY, Mo., May 7.—Despite his 83 years and his constant expectancy of death, for years having had his coffin in readiness, Rev. William Peters, widely known as "Old Father," minister of Powell's Fort, 12 miles west of Luray, has just been married, the bride being Mrs. Mary Finn, many years the bride's mother-in-law.

He is wealthy, the owner of extensive apple orchards, and has recently discovered a remedy for "bit rot" in apples, the cause of fruit rot in Virginia. Observing a strict adherence to the teaching of his denomination, which forbids modern fashions and dress, the Rev. Mr. Peters insisted the ceremony should be performed in costumes of the plainest make and texture.

WRONG CORPSE SHIPPED

After Mother Gets the Insurance the "Dead" Man Appears.

PORT WORTH, Tex., May 7.—Six weeks ago a corpse, identified as that of W. E. Wofford, was sent from here to Brooklyn, N. Y., and the man's mother, Mrs. Mary Wofford, accepted the body as that of her son and collected the life insurance money. One day this week a man walked into the undertaking shop where the corpse had been prepared for shipment. He declared a "mistake had been made" and that he was the real Wofford.

The mistake in identity was caused by a resemblance between Wofford and the man who was buried in his name and by letters found on the corpse, addressed to Wofford. Wofford explained this by saying he had lost a coat in the pockets of which were several letters from his mother.

The mystery of the identity of the man buried for Wofford remains unsolved. The man who was buried, Mrs. Wofford has been notified.

PUREST ICE CREAM MADE

NONE BETTER THAN "CRISP'S DELICIOUS" ICE CREAM OF SAN ANTONIO.

The new ice cream factory of San Antonio, which started recently, is turning full capacity and producing all kinds of delicacies. The ice cream and pure fruit less are the most delicious that can be found anywhere.

The manufacture is under the personal supervision of Mr. D. A. Crisp, the head of the concern, and they are making the most scrupulous attention to out of the city. When stated by one of our reporters Mr. Crisp and all of his employees were highly engaged in manufacturing and the filling and shipping of orders. The factory is equipped with all the new and up-to-date machinery, and is in a perfect sanitary condition. The cream that is used in the manufacture of their ice cream is shipped in daily from some of the large dairies near San Antonio, and is sweet and cool.

Mr. Crisp says that they buy nothing but the very best for their customers, as their policy is to establish their reputation by manufacturing the best ice cream that can be made, and by giving the best service and prompt attention. They are in a position to accomplish it and are receiving orders from all over the San Antonio territory.

Mr. Crisp says they Guarantee Satisfaction.

The D. A. Crisp Manufacturing Company has the largest shipping facilities to take care of all orders for parties and entertainments on short notice. No order is too small or too large for them. One order will continue good.

TEXAN KILLS OLD ENEMY

Shooting Development of Feud Between Two Years Ago.

SWETWATER, Tex., May 7.—"BUT" Echols shot his old enemy, Clayton Black, early today. Black was killed down on the street at Cosham, where two years ago members of the two warring families fired at each other for hours.

Out of this shooting there grew litigation. Three times Black was shown on track accused of trying to murder the leader of the opposing clan, "BUT" Echols. Each time he was acquitted.

The Black and Echols met on the street at Cosham. It is declared Black carelessly had left his weapon at home. He was instantly killed.

Cuero—A called meeting is being arranged to determine whether or not Cuero will have a ball team in the Midcoast League. In the past this town has supported some amateur teams that would burn up the league under the proposed limit and the cost was as much as the league experience will be.

THE JUNCTION M. E. CHURCH. Rev. S. L. Batchelor, Pastor. (Parsonage in background.)

Here is where the next session of District Conference for the San Angelo District convenes May 17 to 19, 1912

This conference meets in session somewhere in the district once every year; the last conference was at Menard at which after some valiant work by our delegates there and a heated contest Junction won the conference by the narrow margin of one vote. The San Angelo District of the West Texas Conference is composed of the following counties: Tom Green, Sterling, Iron, Concho, Midland, Glasscock, Crockett, McCulloch, Merard, Kimble, Sutton, Schleicher, also a portion of Runtells. The membership of 150, besides League Delegates, Missionary Delegates, and visitors, are expected in our town next week. This is the second time the District Conference has met in this city, the first time being in 1890—twenty-two years ago. The entire work has made great strides of progress in all this time. Rev. S. L. Matthis is now in his second term as Presiding Elder of the district. Rev. S. L. Batchelor is now in his second year as pastor of the church here. He is scarcely more than a boy in age, yet to his credit may be said that on this, his first charge, has been built the neat church and parsonage shown above, the success of which move is due, in a great extent to his untiring efforts. The conference opens here Tuesday morning and closes the following Sunday night, and during every minute of this time there'll be something which will be of great interest and benefit to all who may attend. There will be discourses and lectures by the best preachers in the district; there will be special music and songs for the occasion; altogether it will form a treat which does not often come this way. Get ready for it.

Roosevelt Roundup

Mr. Simon came over from the ranch Friday.

Tom Wilson, of Cedar Hill, was in Roosevelt Friday.

Ed Patterson is drilling a well for F. M. Hodges now.

Miss Dollie Cloud, of the Divide, was in Roosevelt Friday.

There was a big hail in the Cedar Hill community Monday. J. A. Cowser, of Junction, was in Roosevelt on business Saturday.

Tax Assessor Oren C. Reid, of Junction was in our midst Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bode, of Coppas, attended services in Roosevelt Sunday.

There was singing last Sunday night at E. Harrison's; all report a pleasant time.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Leifeste came over from the ranch to attend church Sunday.

Mrs. Barfield and two sons, of Junior, are visiting at Tom Barfield's this week.

Lane Hodges and Bill Powers, of the Divide, were guests in Roosevelt Sunday.

There will be preaching at Roosevelt next Sunday by Rev. J. F. Collier. Come.

Mrs. W. R. Richardson and children, of Junction, visited in Roosevelt the past week.

There was a nice rain here Monday evening; a little hail fell but not enough to damage crops.

Mr. and Mrs. Welch and children are visiting in Roosevelt now guests at the Lewis Watkins home.

Mrs. Jas. Paterson and daughter Miss Elsie visited at the Evans ranch near Ft. Territt Wednesday.

Mina Adams and Dock Logan, of Cedar Hill community attended singing here Sunday night; come again, boys.

Lane Hodges went as far as Menard with Bud Goodall Wednesday and returned Thursday on his new bicycle.

Mrs. Young and Mr. and Mrs. Morris left Monday for their home in Lohn, Texas, after a visit with relatives here.

There will be a big dance next Thursday night at Will Ikenoff's in the Cedar Hill community. Everybody invited.

Rev. Jas. Cross preached here last Sunday at 11 o'clock. He was accompanied to Roosevelt by Mrs. Cross and his sister Miss Annie. There will be preaching the next 1st Sunday; everybody remember the date and come.

We are sorry to report Lewis Watkins, Jr. on the sick list now. Mrs. Watkins went to Junction last Friday to see the doctor about Lewis; we hope he will soon be well again.

Bud Goodall went to Paris Valley after his brother, Marion who has been teaching school at that place; they returned home Saturday. We are glad to welcome Marion back among us.

WILD ROSE

To Stockmen

Dear Sirs: The Season of 1912 is now at hand, when mare owners are again looking forward to their crop of colts. The main thing for mare owners is to look for the best sires. That is just as essential as any kind of seed. A poor sire means a bad colt; as it is impossible for an inferior sire to produce the best. We are proud to say that we have the stallions and jacks that are classed with the best. We have demonstrated that at the 1910 show. My "Pride of Aqua Loma" stallion was awarded 1st prize at San Antonio Fair 1910, over everything in his class, and in this defeated two imported horses, one of which was the Taft horse, of Taft, Texas. This should be convincing proof. Don't take your mares to a sire because it is convenient, but take the time and bring them to us, we will give you the kind of colts you want, and bring the best price. A cheap sire always means a cheap colt. The horse and mule market has always been good for the good kind; big stuff always is in demand; power is what everybody wants and you can't get his by breeding to small sires. Breed your mares, if not all, then a part of them to "Pride," as it is only a matter of time when you will have the right kind of brood mares. Good brood mares must have bone, size and weight, and that is what "Pride" colts have. Breed up your horseless, it will pay you big in time. A good horse at maturity will bring even more than mules. Big horses are scarce and always bring the price.

The Percheron Stallion, "Pride of Aqua Loma," is recorded in the American Percheron Registry Association Stud-Book and his recorded number is 9154. Pedigree—Foaled April 29 1907; bred by William Gorman, of Springfield, Greene County, Mo. Owned by Brownwood Horse Importing Co., of Brownwood, Brown County, Texas.

Got by "BIASON" (45773) (63550) ne by "TENOR" (46328), out of "YVOIRE" (51302), she by "BESIQUE" (12602); "TENOR" (46328) by "VOLTAIQUE" (43193) by "OSSUMA" (40315), by "KA-DOUDJA" (17205) (13245), by "GILBERT" (5154) (461), by "BRILLIANT" (1271) (755), by "BRILLIANT" (1899) (758), by "COCO" (1719), by "VIEUX-CHASLIN" (713), by "COCO" (712), by "MIGNON" (715), by "JEAN-le-BLANC" (739), etc.

Price, $20 to insure. "OGDEN," all purpose horse, $10. Also have Jacks "BROUGH," "DAVIS," "OTHELA," "JOE BAILEY," and "CULBERSON," all of which will make the season at the Aqua Loma Ranch. Price for service $10.

There will be no charges on any mares for care and pasturage while with us. All mares left in our care will receive our personal and careful attention, but we will not be responsible for loss or accidents. We are ready to take care of your mares in a satisfactory way and get results. Wishing all success and a prosperous year, we are,

Yours truly,

As the annual sermon before the public school will be preached Sunday at eleven o'clock by Elder Durst, at the Methodist Church, the pastor of the Baptist Church begs to call off his services for eleven o'clock on that day. But he will preach at night as usual, and Mr. Valie Hart will not only again sing for the congregation, but will also meet with the young people and the chorus choir—as many as may come—in a practice of songs for the protracted services soon to follow. This practice will be at 3:30 Sunday afternoon.

There never was a time when people appreciated the real merits of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy more than now. This is shown by the increase in the sales and voluntary testimonials from persons who have been cured by it. If you or your children are troubled with a cough or cold give it a trial and become acquainted with its good qualities. For sale by all dealers.

Letter to Robert Blissett

Junction, Texas

Dear Sir: Tell the owner: "I paint Devco, nothing else, unless you want me to paint something else; I'll paint whatever you like; its your house, not mine; your job, not mine; it's mine, if I do it my way; it's yours if I do it your way."

"It will cost you less, Devco; less gallons to buy and brush on; less money for paint, less money for wages; a gallon put on is about $5; Devco will cost less by a tenth to a half, according to what you compare it with; and wears better, how much better depends on what you compare it with—it may be a year, it may be ten."

"It is my business to know how to paint as well as to paint; and I do. You can see my jobs by the dozen."

That's straight talk. The man who can talk like that with a steady eye, will have plenty of business; good business too; and men will stand by him.
