What Vanguard Was Supposed To Do

This drawing tells at a glance the story of the latest Vanguard rocket failure. Top boxes show play-by-play of what the missile was supposed to do in boosting its little satellite into orbit. Vanguard followed the theoretical schedule through a brief 10-second vertical flight. Still as scheduled, it shot upward and southeasterly to about 20,000 feet. Then, after only a minute in the air, it broke into two fiery torches.

UNWRITTEN LAW

Former Asst. DA Slays Wife's Date In Motel Room

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A young wife of a middle-aged lawyer argued with him, left home, picked up a friend at a bar and shortly thereafter saw her husband pump five shots into the man friend in a plush motel room early this morning.

The slaying victim was David LaPoint Black, 23, a 200-pound unemployed ex-Marine.

Walter C. Wiebusch, 42, former assistant district attorney, talked freely with reporters and officers about his slaying of Black.

The wife, a pretty brunette, sobbed at police station and declared emotionally: "I'll stick with him through this, if he'll have me."

Police found the body of Black fully clothed, beside a bed in a swank motel. He had been shot five times.

Mrs. Wiebusch, an oil company bookkeeper, met both Black and her future husband, although the men were not together, at a bar.

That's where she picked up

Black last night about 11:30 o'clock.

As the principals told the story today, they argued and she left home about 11:15 p. m.

"I was leaving him for good. We couldn't get along," she told reporters, not explaining further.

She then registered at the motel and headed for the bar. Black was there.

The pair returned to her motel room, taking beer and whisky with them.

Then Wiebusch takes up the story: "I felt like something like this was going on." He told detective Neal Todd. "I drove around looking for her until I saw her car parked at the motel."

He knocked on her door and demanded admittance. He talked to her through the door for 15 minutes.

"I went down to my car. She followed me. I got my pistol and went upstairs and found this guy." He gestured toward the body of Black. He also had taken a pistol from his wife's purse.

Mrs. Wiebusch followed her husband back into the room and witnessed the shooting.

Wiebusch telephoned police and said, "I just had to shoot a man over my wife. I'll wait here." The couple was in the motel room when officers arrived.

He told reporters later, "Yes, I shot him—just like any man would who is a man."

Wiebusch was charged, then released without bond. Under Texas' unwritten law, juries are reluctant to convict a man who kills to preserve his marriage.

Project Vanguard headquarters at the Naval Research Laboratory gave a preliminary explanation of yesterday's second Navy failure.

It said the 72-foot, 11-ton Vanguard, carrying a six-inch test satellite, took off "normally" from Cape Canaveral, Fla. For 57 seconds everything was fine.

"Between the 57th and 60th seconds after takeoff, small irregularities occurred in the first-stage engine control system. After the 60th second a failure in the control system caused the engine to deflect far to the right, and the resultant abnormally high forces caused the rocket to break in the middle."

The test range safety officer then pushed a button and the whole rocket was destroyed at about 20,000 feet. Some parts fell into the Atlantic but others dropped to the grassy shore.

Salvaged articles are now being studied, along with movies and instrument readings, to get a more accurate idea of what went wrong with the three-stage vehicle.

The same kind of post-mortem was held after the first unsuccessful Vanguard attempt last Dec. 8. Less was learned then, however, because the rocket rose only about four feet.

Two more such tests are scheduled before the main event — an attempt to hurl a 20-inch man-made moon into an orbit around the globe. The Navy promised to do this in March but that no longer is definite.

Moscow radio said last night that Sputnik II has completed its orbit.

The Army also has another four-stage Jupiter-C rocket available at the missile test center for another attempt to launch another satellite.

There are indications that the next attempt by the Army, probably weeks away, may include a satellite larger and more fully instrumented than Explorer I, launched into its orbit Jan. 31.

The Naval Research Laboratory at Washington blamed the failure of its second Vanguard rocket on a faulty control system governing the first-stage engine.

This failure, the Navy said, caused the engine to deflect sharply to the right and "the resultant abnormally high forces caused the rocket to break in the middle."

Mrs. MacDonald's hit story in 1945 was "The Egg and I." Later she turned out "Mrs. Piggle-Wiggle," "The Plague and I," "Mrs. Piggle-Wiggle's Magic," "Anybody Can Do Anything," "Nancy and Plum" and "Onions in the Snow."

The mother of two children, Mrs. MacDonald has been living at Carmel, Calif., in recent years.

Navy Uncertain Over Plans For Next Satellite

May Not Meet April Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy, studying the remains of two Vanguard rockets that failed, was uncertain today whether it could orbit a fully instrumented earth satellite on schedule next month.

Instead, Navy spokesmen were talking about doing it sometime within the International Geophysical Year. That is their basic commitment. The IGY, a world-wide cooperative research effort, will end Dec. 31.

Meanwhile, it was learned the Air Force has told the Defense Department it believes it could launch a thousand-pound space vehicle by next June. The Air Force would use its Thor intermediate range ballistic missile for such a launching.

Earlier this week, Army scientists — who have launched this country's only successfully orbiting earth satellite — were reported proposing to send aloft an instrument-laden vehicle weighing up to 700 pounds. This big satellite, proposed for firing before the end of the year, would be intended to gather data for building a space station.

An Air Force C-119 "Flying Boxcar" came to rest with its nose sheared off and tail sticking straight up at Chicago's O'Hare Field when it veered into a snowbank after engine failure on takeoff. Four crew members escaped without serious injury.

1,350 trips around the earth since its launching Nov. 3.

While the American baby moon sped along at about 18,000 miles an hour, Congress was thinking in terms of legislation for the space age.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas was preparing to push for swift Senate action on a resolution to set up a 13-member special committee. This group would be assigned the task of redeveloping by early June a comprehensive plan to supervise U.S. civilian and military efforts in space science. Johnson appeared likely to head the special Senate group.

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—A British European Airways plane with Britain's championship soccer team aboard, crashed on takeoff today. German police said at least 15 of the 44 persons aboard were killed.

The two-engine aircraft crashed into houses in the village of Kirchdrudring and burst into flames.

A BEA spokesman in London said the survivors included some members of the team, the famous Manchester United. He said among the other survivors were four of the crew of six.

Police believed at least two members of a German family were killed when the plane struck their home.

Manchester United played the Red star team of Belgrade in the European cup match yesterday, which ended in a 3-3 draw, but sent the European club into the semifinals. The club, with 17 players and three officials, was returning to England.

A plane crash in May 1949 also involved a European soccer club. The Torino team, members of Turin, Italy, were all killed when their plane crashed into a Turin church.

Another sports catastrophe occurred in March 1950 when 80 fans perished in a plane crash in Wales. They were returning home from an Ireland-Wales rugby international match.

The BEA plane was a twin-engine medium range airliner built by Airspeed Ltd., one of the British de Havilland group.

Airport officials said the plane failed to make the takeoff from the runway.

It crashed into houses of the village of Kirchdrudring and went up in flames.

A BEA spokesman said rescue operations are still going on and that "10 to 12 to 15" persons have been pulled out of the wrecked airliner alive.

Fire brigades were rushed to the scene to quench flames that spread to two buildings in the vicinity.

Police threw a tight cordon around the accident scene.

Some Vanguard Parts Recovered

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Some wreckage from the destruction of a Vanguard rocket Wednesday was recovered near the launching site, it was learned today.

The nature of the material was not disclosed. Parts of the big missile were found on the sand flats not far from the Vanguard launch stand.

There also were reports that some debris had been recovered from shallow waters just off Cape Canaveral.

Navy Vanguard experts were going over the material closely, seeking clues to the cause of the spectacular blowup.

A ton of hot metal rained down from about 20,000 feet when the 72-foot rocket, with a small satellite, broke apart a minute after its launching.

Two more Vanguard test vehicles are on hand here, ready for assembly when the Navy decides to conduct another launching.

The Navy said, however, there would be no new launching date until data gathered from the latest ill-fated flight has been analyzed in part.

The Army also has another four-stage Jupiter-C rocket available at the missile test center for another attempt to launch another satellite.

There are indications that the next attempt by the Army, probably weeks away, may include a satellite larger and more fully instrumented than Explorer I, launched into its orbit Jan. 31.

Champ Soccer Team Aboard Crashed Plane

Bing, Kathy Expecting

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The new Mrs. Bing Crosby has acknowledged happily that the report is true.

"We are expecting a baby," she said through a studio spokesman yesterday, "and both Bing and I hope that everyone will be as pleased as we are."

The baby is expected to arrive about Aug. 15, the studio said.

The mother-to-be, actress Kathy Grant, 23, and the singer were married last Oct. 24.

Crosby, 53, had four sons by his previous wife, actress Dixie Lee. She died five years ago.

Rape Confessor Faces Grand Jury

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Donald Summers may repeat to the grand jury today his 11th hour confession that he got a 15-day stay of execution for a former jail mate.

The grand jury launched yesterday an investigation into Summers' signed statement that he, and not former airman Jimmy Shaver, 31, raped and killed Chere Jo Horton, 3, July 4, 1954.

The statement won a 15-day stay for Shaver, twice convicted of the crime, less than three hours before he was to go to the electric chair at Huntsville Wednesday.

Summers said he would never have talked if Shaver had been given a life sentence.

"I won't be a party to killing an innocent man," he said.

Officers said they were highly skeptical of Summers' story.

'Egg & I' Author Is Critically Ill

SEATTLE (AP)—Mrs. Betty MacDonald, 49, whose breezy story of life on a backwoods chicken farm exploded into a best seller 13 years ago, is in very critical condition at a Seattle hospital. She has cancer.

Mrs. MacDonald's hit story in 1945 was "The Egg and I." Later she turned out "Mrs. Piggle-Wiggle," "The Plague and I," "Mrs. Piggle-Wiggle's Magic," "Anybody Can Do Anything," "Nancy and Plum" and "Onions in the Snow."

The mother of two children, Mrs. MacDonald has been living at Carmel, Calif., in recent years.

Abilene Fire Fatal

ABILENE (AP)—B. D. Maxwell, aged 57, unemployed, was found beside his charred bed today in the Evans Rooms. An overturned gas heater was nearby. Only the bed was damaged by the fire.

Friends said they believed Maxwell had relatives in Tyler.

Midland Oilman's Body Recovered

SAN ANGELO (AP)—The body of Phillip Maverick, Midland oil operator who drowned Nov. 29, was found today in North Concho Lake, near here.

Army Engineers found the body which had washed up at a point 1,000 feet north of the dam.

New Orleans Police Hold Kidnap Slaying Suspects

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Police held today two men they say are wanted in Texas for questioning in the slaying of a Waco filling station operator and the kidnaping of a San Antonio insurance man.

Police believed at least two members of a German family were killed when the plane struck their home.

Manchester United played the Red star team of Belgrade in the European cup match yesterday, which ended in a 3-3 draw, but sent the European club into the semifinals. The club, with 17 players and three officials, was returning to England.

Keeping Calm Best Cold Preventive

LOS ANGELES (AP)—To keep the viruses away, keep calm.

Evidence that stress raises susceptibility to virus infections was reported yesterday by a UCLA research team.

Dr. A. F. Rasmussen Jr., James T. Marsh and Norman Q. Brill injected mice with a virus that gives man "cold sores." The animals were subjected to stress from mild electric shocks. Another group of mice got the injection but no shocks.

Valuation Firm Sets Up Shop, Explains Survey Procedures

Pritchard & Abbott, valuation engineers for the revaluation survey in Big Spring, the Big Spring Independent School District and Howard County, have started operations from their office at 811 E. 3rd.

Ed Pritchard Jr., member of the valuation firm, said that anyone would be welcomed to visit the offices at anytime. Some 10 to 15 employees will be involved in the survey which is aimed at a complete reappraisal of all real estate, all improvements and other properties. This will include business inventories, stock, fixtures, etc.

It will also include oil and gas properties, railroads, utilities, pipe lines, refineries and all other industrial properties. Pritchard & Abbott have been doing this type of valuation for Howard County since 1927. In fact, Howard was the first county to contract with the firm for its valuation services.

Checking all the property in the county stems from a master card file which is built from tax records, abstract books, and then checked by personal visits. When property not shown on rolls or abstract books is encountered, a card is made to cover it.

Once the pertinent information on property is put on the card, a staff member groups cards in the most convenient geographical package. For instance, all the cards for a city block will be assigned to a field worker or team which will make the inspection checks. If there should be one lot not represented by a card, then ownership of this lot (and any improvements on it) would be established and a record made, said Pritchard.

The survey in the rural areas will work basically in the same manner. Land values will be noted along with farm dwellings, farm improvements, etc. Land values will be appraised on the basis of class of soil, use to which the land is put, revenue the land is capable of producing, and other factors.

Improvements will be based upon square foot costs for types of construction.

The aim of the survey, said Pritchard, is to equalize values in accordance with present day costs. Some may be lowered, some raised, some left where they are.

Actually the staff will simply appraise property. The fixing of valuations and reductions as such will be left to taxing agencies and official boards. Whether an agency elects to assess on 100 per cent of the value or 50 per cent or some other factor, or to adjust rates is the decision of the agency.

Whatever value is finally established by the agency will be subject to review at the board of equalization meetings.

Information gathered in the survey is checked, and cross-checked to guard against error, Pritchard explained.

In charge of the office here is Delmer Smith. He estimated that some two months might be required in laying the groundwork for the study. Most of 1958 will be required to complete all records, although it is possible that the base survey might be completed in time for 1958 statements.

The valuation firm was founded by E. S. Pritchard Sr., who had been county judge in Eastland County during the oil boom days. He was joined in this by John L. Abbott. They represent some 300 taxing jurisdictions in Texas and have done surveys in Midland, Ector, Taylor, Galveston, Hutchinson, Wilbarger and Mitchell counties on a basis comparable to the city-county-school survey in Howard County, said Pritchard.

Russians Object To Sex In Proposed Cultural Trade

MOSCOW (AP)—A Soviet official said today sex in American movies and commercials in television programs is a problem that will have to be bridged if the new U. S.-Soviet agreement on cultural exchanges is made to work.

A. A. Kuznetsov, deputy chairman of the Soviet State Committee on Cultural Relations, was one of the negotiators of the Washington accord. He discussed the agreement in a long article in the newspaper, Literary Gazette.

The agreement calls for an exchange of films and TV programs among other things.

"We must keep in mind," he

Sputnik II Spotted As It Makes Pass Over Big Spring

Russia's Sputnik II, the dog satellite, sailed past Big Spring right on schedule early today.

The half-ton missile hove into view just above the southwestern horizon at 6:44 a. m. and two minutes later it disappeared in the northeast, headed in the general direction of Chicago.

The rapidly moving satellite was shining brightly when it became visible in the southwest. It dimmed as it climbed, and turned bright again as it approached the zenith probably 15 degrees to the southeast of Big Spring. It remained bright until it disappeared in the lightning sky to the northeast.

The Sputnik, nose section of the rocket that sent it aloft, orbits with a slow tumbling motion, dimming periodically when only its end reflects sunlight to the earth.

The early morning weather was perfect for viewing the satellite. The sky was clear. The only brighter object in the heavens was the sparkling "morning star."

Teen-Agers On Trial In Fatal Beating Of Crippled Youngster

NEW YORK (AP)—Seven teen-age boys were brought to trial today on first-degree murder charges in the death of a polio-crippled 15-year-old youngster, who was beaten, knifed and kicked to death in a park last summer.

Twenty-seven attorneys were appointed by General Sessions Court at a fee of $500 each to defend the boys on trial. Several are prominent criminal attorneys who draw as much as $25,000 a case.

In all, 18 boys had been arrested in the killing but lesser charges were placed against 11 of them. Of those on trial, two are white, two are Negro, two are Puerto Rican and one came from the Dominican Republic. Their ages range from 15 to 18.

The victim of the slaying was young Michael Farmer, son of a city fireman who had to use crutches because an attack of infantile paralysis had left him crippled.

At 10:30 p. m. last July 30 he and a friend, Roger McShane, 16, were talking over the possibility of going for a swim in a park pool when they were set upon by a group identified as members of a boy gang frequenting the neighborhood.

The gang was said to have been at odds with another group over territorial rights to the swimming pool. Authorities said neither Michael nor his buddy was a member of any gang.

In his opening address to an all-male jury, Asst. Dist. Atty. Robert B. Reynolds did not say specifically why he thought the two boys were attacked.

Of young Farmer, he said: "This boy was unable to run. He was hit with fists and feet, dog chains, garrison belts, clubs, metal pipes, knives and machetes."

The boy was finally left, fatally injured. His companion was injured but managed to escape.

Four Stages Of Disaster

Florida Vacation Prices Take Plunge

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Plush vacations in Florida dropped within range of the average tourist this winter as resort hotel operators scraped for business made scarce by bad weather.

Three freezes, wind storms and torrential rains added up to the worst season for tourists within recollection of the Miami Weather Bureau. Business was off 20 per cent.

The bottom was reached yesterday when the mercury plunged to 28.

Swank hotels which formerly charged $50 a day per room and turned away takers have offered rates of $11 to $15 per person, sometimes including breakfast and dinner.

Hotels placed ads in Northern newspapers offering the rare low prices.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Plush vacations in Florida dropped within range of the average tourist this winter as resort hotel operators scraped for business made scarce by bad weather.

prices, with extras. One promised that the hotel would pay for the wife's round trip by airplane if a couple would make a reservation for 10 days longer.

The weather, which brings Florida a billion dollars a year tourist business, is blamed almost exclusively for the slowdown. Few think the national business slump has very much to do with it.

The most recent blow from the weather came early this week when temperatures dripped below freezing virtually throughout the Florida resort areas.

But by yesterday afternoon the sun was burning away the cold and wary sunbathers were trickling back to the water.

There are already indications that the bargain vacation rates won't last much longer.

The state hotel commissioner, Richard Edgerton, said hotels are booked solid for the remainder of February and March.

3 Fuels Help Economy Off Launching Pad

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Plans to get a business recovery off the launching pad run largely today to three types of economic fuels:

1. Easier credit to make borrowing at business and consumer levels attractive.
2. Increased government spending to restore a bit of the late inflationary zip.
3. A possible tax cut to give consumers and maybe business too more money to buy goods.

These efforts aim at offsetting the deeper causes of the present slump: leveling off of consumer spending and borrowing to buy, especially of durable goods; and the drop in business spending for capital goods (plant and equipment) and for inventories.

The countermoves also attack the two things blamed by some for triggering off the recession — tight money and the economy wave in defense ordering and spending.

The first two fuels are being tried now. Credit is easier, with interest rates down.

Federal government ordering for defense is already up and spending will rise as the goods are delivered. State and local spending is rising.

President Eisenhower said in this week's news conference that he looks for the current recession to continue through this month and next but that as summer comes on there should be an up-trend. He added that if the uptrend failed to develop it could be that the administration will recommend a tax cut.

Meanwhile, most figures coming in just add up to a clearer picture of how deep the dip has already gone.

Total unemployment continues to rise with a turning point thought to be 4 to 10 weeks away. January auto output was the lowest for that month since 1954.

Steel production is far below that of a year ago. Oil companies have various gasoline price wars on their hands.

Cotton textile mills have cut output and stilled inventories but prices are still weak.

Business spending for plant and equipment and inventories is near their peak. Planning for the near-term future is being revised.

The steel industry has spent 10 billion dollars since World War II to build up a huge capacity, almost half of which is lying idle today.

Auto makers production plans apparently are being held close to actual buying trends of consumers.

Oilmen are soft-pedaling their expectations for 1958. Consumer demand has been disappointing. Profit margins have been shrinking while inventories haven't.

POST OFFICE SPITTOONS TO END THEIR PUBLIC SERVICE

Big Spring Post Office has gone modern, and tobacco-chewin' patrons and employees are up against a difficult situation.

Complying with an order of the Post Office Department, the local post office has retired from all service 25 somewhat battered but well-used cuspidors.

Since time began — at least since the post office has been in existence — the squat little receptacles have been on duty not only in the lobby but at strategic points in the work area of the post office.

They have seen hard service, too, Elmer Boatler, postmaster, declared. Many a well-intended shot has missed its mark, but on the whole, cuspidors served their country well for all these many years.

Now the post office department has decreed they are no longer suitable.

Complying with the order, the local postmaster had all 25 of the veteran public servants gathered up, cleaned as best they could and piled in a neat stack in the basement.

The instructions are to sell the cuspidors, if a buyer can be found. Otherwise some other disposition will ultimately be made of them.

"Some of the employees were a little disgruntled," Boatler reported. "One veteran route carrier, who keeps his mind off his busy feet by chewing tobacco, came in and mumbled something which I finally translated as 'Where'll we spit?' I told him I supposed he'd have to use his pocket."

If anyone has need for 25 cuspidors Boatler would like very much to talk to him.

"I'll make someone a good price on the lot," the postmaster asserted.

'Explorer' Signals May Be Heard Here This Afternoon

Signals from the Army's "Explorer" earth satellite may be audible over Big Spring radio receivers later this afternoon.

The Naval Research Laboratory in Washington said the Explorer will travel along a line from south of El Paso to south of Fort Worth.

It is due at the El Paso end of the line at 5:19 p. m. and is to pass south of Fort Worth at 5:21 p. m.

Its southwest to northeast passage will carry it north of Shreveport, La. at 5:22 p. m.

The satellite transmits its signals at extremely low power on 108 and 108.3 megacycles.

The Naval Research Laboratory defined these two other passes the Explorer will make across the Southwest today:

Second pass—Amarillo, 7:22 p. m., west to east; Shreveport 7:23 p. m., northwest to southeast.

Third pass—South of El Paso 9:21 p. m., northwest to southeast; Corpus Christi 9:23 p. m., northwest to southeast; Brownsville 9:24 p. m., northwest to southeast.

City and state highway engineers were able Wednesday generally to work out difficulties concerning routes of a sewer line and the proposed southeast extension of FM 700.

City Engineer Clifton Bellamy and Joe Smoot, a state highway engineer from Colorado City, went over the terrain southeast of town Wednesday and came away with the thought that the two routes can be worked out without conflicts.

Howard-Glasscock Well Makes 55 Bbls. On Completion Test

Duncan Drilling Co. completed a small well in the Howard-Glasscock field.

The well is Duncan No. 3 Douthitt which pumped 55.30 barrels of oil on potential. It produced from the Yates zone.

Borden
Gulf No. 1-B A. M. Clayton tested Canyon Reef perforations from 6,965-7,005 feet today with no gauges on production.

Seaboard Oil No. 1 L. E. Long Jr. deepened to 4,496 feet in lime and shale. The Ellenburger wildcat is four miles northeast of Gail, 1,994 feet from south and 769 feet from west lines, 22-30-S, T&P Survey.

In the Lazy S. field, Shell No. 2-BA Slaughter made hole in lime at 6,410 feet. Location is 1,980 feet from north and west lines, 15-30-N, T&P Survey, and 12 miles north of Gail.

Emergency Bill Goes To Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House rushed to President Eisenhower today an emergency bill appropriating $1,410,000,000 to speed up the missile and air defense programs.

By voice vote the House accepted Senate amendments to a bill passed originally by the House on Jan. 23.

Action came after Rep. Mahon (D-Tex.), chairman of the Defense Appropriations subcommittee, expressed hope that "somewhere, somebody in the government will decide what is needed so that we can cut out the red tape and confusion and get on with the work."

The bill appropriates $1,260,000,000 in cash and authorizes the Defense Department to use 150 million dollars from previously appropriated money.

The cash includes 350 millions for the Navy and 910 millions for the Air Force. The Navy allotment contains funds to start work on three atomic submarines capable of firing the Polaris missile.

The Air Force fund includes money for new missile bases and for dispersal of Strategic Air Command bases.

10-1 Meeting Of Scouters Slated Today

The monthly 10-1 meeting of the Lone Star Boy Scout district comes up at 7:30 p. m. today at the Court-house.

This is, according to District Chairman Sam McComb, one of the most important meetings of the year because it involves planning for the year's good turn—that of safety.

Under the direction of Dr. Clyde E. Thomas, Jr., district health and safety chairman, the theme will be translated into project opportunities for the units. A number of safety experts and officials, including the police chief, fire chief, highway patrol, Couden, the Citizens Traffic Commission, etc., will be on hand to lend aid and encouragement.

McComb urged all unit leaders, institutional representatives, committeemen and others to be present for the parley.

French Rightists Blamed For Bomb

PARIS (AP)—Somebody planted a bomb above one of the French Parliament's toilets last night and for once the Communists aren't being blamed.

Police suspect rightist extremists, who bitterly oppose the government's program to limit home rule to rebellious Algeria and France's alliances with America and Britain. Police did not rule out the possibility, however, that North African terrorists were to blame.

The bomb jolted a committee meeting in a room above but nobody was hurt. Firemen quickly put out the blaze. Parliament was not in session.

Glasscock field, 1,650 from north and 2,310 feet from east lines, 121-29, W&N Survey, and three miles east of Otis Chalk.

Sen. Kennedy Asks Jobless Pay Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.) planned today to introduce legislation to increase unemployment compensation payments and extend coverage of the program.

Kennedy said the bill was designed to bring improvements which President Eisenhower has urged the states to make. He said not one state has done so.

Legislation is needed now, he said, because "unemployment has passed the four million mark and may well reach five million in the near future."

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) has announced he is drafting a bill to set up a public works administration similar to that of the 1930s. It's needed to avert "a catastrophe to our economy," he said.

Under Gore's proposals, the federal government would provide half a billion dollars for state, county and local public works projects which would use workers on the jobless rolls. Federal funds would pay 90 per cent of the project's cost.

Kennedy's bill would set up federal requirements for many aspects of the unemployment compensation program now left to state determination. It would:

1. Provide for a benefit period of 39 weeks instead of the 26 weeks suggested to the states by Eisenhower. The period now varies greatly from state to state.

2. Fix maximum weekly benefit payments at two thirds of a state's average weekly wage. Benefits now average only a third of lost wages, Kennedy said.

3. Extend coverage to all firms employing one or more persons.

The office issued 7,613 poll tax receipts and granted 1,453 certificates of exemption.

This is regarded as the official final total for the year and represents the number of qualified voters eligible to ballot in this year's elections.

Enrollment at Howard County Junior College inched upward Thursday to 519.

Dr. W. A. Hunt anticipated that there would be others to register, particularly at the evening classes this evening.

Registration will continue through Monday evening, he said, and it is possible that some may sign during the weekend.

Auto 'Borrowed,' Wrecked, Returned

Roy Reeder reported that a car had been taken from him, wrecked, and then returned. Reeder said the car had been taken from his lot but didn't know when it was stolen. It was returned today.

GREENFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Judge Samuel T. Tidwell was charitable in handing out a sentence—but not to the defendants. Three youths, accused of stealing a total of $12 in house-to-house March of Dimes collections, were ordered to pay $120 to the fund.

Power Of Space Station Described

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Maj. Gen. John Medaris, commander of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency at Huntsville, Ala., says the first conqueror of space would have the power to launch and guide weapons to an accurate strike on any earth target.

Medaris told the Franklin Institute yesterday earth "would be at the mercy of an all seeing eye immune to interruptions from any earth bound quarter."

Unless there is unexpected success in the field of international relations, he said, "the universe could become the battlefield of the future."

Jess Talkin

by Jess Blair

The Guitar Gin is still open every day as the last bales of cotton come in. Mostly it's stripped cotton. However, one farmer is still hand-pulling his crop. After this week, the gin will set certain days to operate, but the last of the cotton should come in next week, providing the weather stays fair.

Frank Fryar said he still had some cotton in the field, but would finish this week. His crop was very good. He made three-quarters of a bale to the acre on part of the fields, though the average was not quite this high.

Fryar said much of the cottonseed might be light, but he thinks most farmers caught enough for planting. He said he had enough to last two ordinary years.

John Davis and Jay Cunningham, local feed store owners, are moving a 152-foot chicken house from the Davis Farm northeast of Big Spring to the farm a few miles north of town.

This will serve as a brooder house for baby chicks. Here the young pullets will be kept until large enough to be placed in the caged houses of local poultry operators.

Cunningham says the store has a contract for 4,000 baby DeKalb pullets the 17th of March, but if the house is moved before then, the order will be speeded up.

Egg prices are much better than producers expected. Ordinarily they start sliding fast during February, but so far there has been only one price drop since last fall.

Baby chick sales have been slow, according to Cunningham and other dealers. A few broiler type chicks are being sold, but the regular spring rush has not yet started.

The wet summer and fall proved a boon for local Hereford breeders. They found a demand for their cattle and have made some good sales.

Charley Crighton said the demand was much greater than the supply, and ranchers everywhere are hunting cattle. He thinks the scarcity will continue quite awhile and that many ranchers who have not bought cattle yet will try to get them when spring grass comes out.

M. D. Rawls, Sterling County surveyor for the last five years, says ranchers going through the drought were saved by oil money. A rancher without an oil lease or royalty money would have been out of business long ago.

Rawls surveys boundaries and property lines in connection with the oil activity, or for road construction. There is no surveying for the sale of land, though, because none ever sells.

"The ranches are not for sale," he said. "Ranch owners buy more land when they can, but they never sell."

Almost everyone at some time in life has his moment of glory. I never did. I was never a hero, even for an hour, even though I did win a gold-colored pin once for making the highest grades in high school.

This was a somewhat dubious honor, however, because that same day a classmate knocked in two home runs to win a ball game, and the girls had their hearts set afire by a curly-headed boy who drove to school in a new Model T car.

Once when I was 12, fame almost touched me, but because of a slight mistake it reached over my shoulder and tagged another boy. My chance came because of some dogs. A family named McNatt had moved to a farm about a mile down the road. They had six kids and about a dozen dogs, and soon became disliked by the whole community.

The dogs were long, lean hounds, shoulder high to me, and so hungry they roamed the community raiding meat houses, trash cans and even catching chickens and turkeys.

When I would ride by their house on horseback, they would come yelping and leaping as if to drag me down in the dust. I was mortally afraid of them, so I talked three other boys into a scheme that would quickly thin out the McNatt hounds.

We planned for the oldest boy to ride past the house with a dead rabbit in his hands and lure the dogs down the road a quarter of a mile, where the rest of us would be hidden in some weeds with our 22 rifles loaded and ready.

The plan went off as scheduled, and the boy came loping down the road with the hounds right behind him. When he got in front of our hiding place, he dropped the rabbit and the whole pack tumbled down on it in a squirming, barking mass of hair and hide. He rode on a dozen yards, then yelled: "Fire, men, fire!"

Instantly three guns came up, and trigger fingers tightened. One boy missed by four feet, my own gun snapped without firing, but the other kid, a freckled-faced boy about nine who had never shot a gun three times in his life, fired without aiming and hit one of the hounds.

After the shots, they saw us and took off like blue streaks for the house—all except the one that was hit, and he was rolling on the ground and yelping and thrashing as if he were dying, which he was.

Well, the story soon swept the community, and the nine-year-old became a hero. Everywhere he went, people would nudge one another and say: "That's the boy who killed the McNatt hound. They say he's another Dead-Eye Dick with a rifle. If the other two lads hadn't got scared, they could have wiped out the whole pack."

Lucky for us the McNatts were soon chased off by their landlord and the story finally died. It was one incident I didn't like to talk about. I had planned the whole thing, but all I got out of it was ridicule. Since then I've noticed how fate singles some people out for fame, while others it kicks in the face. I was always the kind that gets tromped on when the hero honors are passed out.

Unexpected Rush On Soil Bank Plan

OMAHA (AP) — The rush of farmers to turn their crop lands over to the government in a four-state soil bank experiment has exceeded expectations by a considerable degree.

In Nebraska the near-final totals showed one farmer in seven was ready to quit crop farming — for a price. The farms compose some 2½ million acres or 11.2 per cent of the state's 21½ million acres of crop lands. Bids were put in on 15,737 of the state's 120,000 farming units.

In Tennessee and Illinois about 7 per cent of the farmers put a price on temporary retirement from crop farming.

In Maine, where the deadline for entering sealed bids is Feb. 28, some 311 of the state's 23,368 farms were represented by bids by Feb. 4. But Lawrence Chatto of the University of Maine Department of Agriculture said there had been "a tremendous interest thus far," and he expected heavy bidding in the last 15 days of the period.

Tennessee had 15,563 full-farm bids, compared with a total of 203,000 farms and an anticipation of 10,000 to 12,000 bids.

In Illinois, which has about 240,000 farms, about 19,500 bids were received — nearly double the number expected. Officials estimated the bids applied to farms averaging 125 acres each, but had not established a total of cropland involved.

Dr. Everett E. Peterson, extension specialist in agricultural economics at the University of Nebraska, said the wave of full-farm bids, might be attributed to discouragement over poor crops in years of drought and a wet harvest season capping the past abundant crop year, plus concern over the talk about lowering or abandoning price supports. Farmers nearing retirement age and seeking to slow down also were a factor, he added.

He added this highlights the problem of how individual rural communities can adjust with "the least amount of social and economic disturbance and human hardship." Some small towns may pass out of the picture altogether, in the process, he predicted.

There are several leaving factors: whether the bids will be acceptable as to price, the productivity of the land offered, its distribution over the state and the amount of money available for the program.

The Agriculture Department allocated soil bank funds including: Illinois $19,208,000, Maine $2,450,000, Nebraska $11,227,700, and Tennessee $12,310,000. This would include funds for the full-farm program.

Ike Considers Cultural Meet

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower is considering a plan for a worldwide cultural conference to seek "new and better ways for human beings to exist peacefully together" and to benefit more from scientific discoveries.

Sherman Adams, the President's chief aide, disclosed the project last night.

He said the President last week "asked some able people to consider how such a project might be initiated."

Adams, describing the scope of the proposed conference, asked this rhetorical question: "Who is there who can say that a convocation in this country of scholars, historians, artists, theologians, educators, sociologists, philosophers, and musicians — representatives of the cultural pursuits of all the human race — meeting each other in their respective groups — could not suggest new and better ways for human beings to exist peacefully together and to reap the greatest rewards from man's scientific discoveries?"

Adams discussed the project in addressing a Dartmouth College national alumni dinner. He is a graduate of Dartmouth, at Hanover, N.H., and a former governor of New Hampshire.

Florida Cold Wave Ends

By Associated Press
Florida's third damaging cold spell of the winter season appeared ended today as temperatures climbed to around normal levels in most areas.

The cold air which brought the freezing weather into Florida and other sections of the Southeast this week shifted eastward and warm breezes from the Gulf region swept northward, spreading rain over wide areas of the East.

Temperatures were mostly 10 to 20 degrees higher in the Southeast than yesterday morning, with readings in the 40s and 50s. Miami's early morning mark of 56 compared with a below-freezing 28 degrees yesterday morning. Florida's cold weather has caused widespread damage to citrus and vegetable crops.

Wet weather prevailed in many sections from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast, while scattered showers persisted in the Pacific Northwest.

A Bible Thought For Today

And Jesus said unto him, Foxes have holes, and birds of the air have nests; but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head. (Luke 9:58)

The Army Has A Touch Of Sentiment

As a work animal the great American horse, not to mention his half-brother the mule, may disappear entirely in a few more years, though his usefulness as a saddle animal and for show may never pass entirely from the scene. More and more the honorable horse is becoming a sporting proposition, expensive to acquire and even more costly to maintain in an urban environment.

Few months ago the Army staff made a high-policy decision: It ruled that instead of replacing the nine magnificent greys which were used in pulling the caisson for military funerals at Arlington National Cemetery, motor hearses should be substituted in the interest of economy. Well, sir, Army Secretary Brucker, obviously a man of sentiment—though probably many an aging Army elbow was jammed into his ribs as a reminder—overruled the staff and ordered the purchase of nine horses to replace the old-timers being retired to pasture.

Fairness Is Not Destructive

As the demand mounts to trim non-defense spending at every conceivable point to avoid an over-all increase in the already mountainous federal budget, various agencies have fallen under critical study. One of these is the Rural Electrification Administration.

hility is remote indeed. Moreover, REA has managed, as in our own vicinity, to bring electric service to multiplied thousands of people who otherwise could or would not have had it. This has created power demands, and equally important it has generated vast markets for electric equipment and appliances.

WASHINGTON—Former President Truman didn't give the American people the full story of the episodes concerning General Eisenhower and General MacArthur which he told to a television audience on Sunday. Neither did he give accurately the facts in what he did say—due either to faulty memory or to carelessness.

also said that General MacArthur had sent "an article" to the magazine "U. S. News & World Report" and did not send a copy to the White House or to the President and that he found a copy in the press room of the White House and "suppressed it."

After winning a singing contest sponsored by the National Freedom Day Assn. Sattin gave a series of concerts that won attention. Soon he had to face a choice—to stay in the ministry or to seek a musical career. It took him four months to make up his mind.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

Tonight (Thursday) is the night for parents of high school junior and senior class members to gather. Plans will be outlined for the annual junior-senior activities following the banquet and prom. A meeting will be held at 7:30 in the high school library.

This special entertainment is planned by the parents in the spirit of fun, and if all those students taking part will enter into it with the same spirit, it can be fun for all. Last year there was free food, a movie at midnight and a breakfast at the cafeteria. Merchants joined in by donating prizes which were distributed throughout the period of entertainment.

All parents who want in on the ground floor of the planning session are urged to be at the meeting tonight.

MRS. ALVIN VIEREGGE and Charles were in Sweetwater Wednesday on business.

MR. AND MRS. JACK HANSON and their three children have returned home after spending several days in Eastland with Mr. and Mrs. George Ford. Mrs. Ford is his sister.

MR. AND MRS. R. V. BRADLEY of Abilene have been the recent guests of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Hackley.

A location that is really being enjoyed by CHAPLAIN AND MRS. HOLLAND HOPE and their son, Wyatt, is their present one at Highland Falls, New York. In a letter to her sister, MRS. FRED BECKHAM, Mrs. Hope says their home is on the Hudson River just down from West Point. She enjoys watching the cadets marching to services each Sunday, Wyatt, who has spent nearly all his life in the south, is getting a big kick out of riding on sleds in really deep snow. Chaplain Hope is in school at Fort Slocum, having gone there from Fort Bragg in North Carolina.

One of the most interesting trips, so far as Mrs. Hope is concerned, was the ride on a commuter's train. This, according to her, is not only an experience but a liberal education.

Making big plans for the trip to the Junior College meeting in Austin are the wives of some of the board members. Definitely making their plans are DR. AND MRS. W. A. HUNT, MRS. HORACE GARRETT, MRS. PAUL ADAMS, MRS. JOHN A. COFFEY, and MRS. C. W. DEATS. Dr. and Mrs. Deats plan to leave Saturday and spend Sunday in San Antonio with her mother. They will drive over to Austin Sunday afternoon to be present for the meeting which begins Monday.

Need Help With Sewing, Parties, Food? St. Mary's Guild Is Ready

By ANNE LEFEVER
Need a luscious dessert for company or a special treat for your family? Or maybe you'd like some homemade Mexican food. Would you like to give a game party, get up, and leave with your guests with never a backward look at the dirty dishes?
Does it all sound too good to be true? Not if you know about the Talent Project being carried on by the women of St. Mary's Episcopal Guild. Once again, they have announced their list of activities. Each year the group designates certain services which will be given for a nominal fee, with the proceeds going into the fund of the guild to be used in church work.

At the end of the year, there is a tea at the church when each member brings the money gained from the use of her talent and turns it into the treasury.
Several accomplished cooks will make delicious food for various occasions. Mrs. Shine Philips will make nut bread; Mrs. D. M. Penn has an array of delightful desserts that will please any sweet tooth.

Mrs. Lee Hanson makes cakes, high and rich with frosting, and Mrs. Hudson Landers specializes in making sand tarts. Birthday cakes are made and decorated by Mrs. E. V. Spence, who, with Mrs. Penn is co-chairman of the project.
Flower arrangements will be made on order by Mrs. Obie Bristow, who is a member of the Big Spring Garden Club, and is adept at arranging. If Mexican food would suit your fancy, all you have to do is make an appointment with Mrs. B. B. Badger; another Mexican dish which is available is chili con queso, made by Mrs. Johnnie Griffin.
If you'd like a cheese dip or a banana nut cake, Mrs. D. M. McKinney is the person to call, and a delicious dressing is made by Mrs. Bill French, who also uses her talents at making brownies.
For that party at which you can be your own guest, the tables will be set up, all appointments supplied and refreshments served in her home by Mrs. C. A. Jones.
One of the seamstresses of the group is Mrs. Vance Lebkowsky, who makes pillow cases and aprons to be used either as gifts or for your own home. Mrs. C. Thomas has promised her talents along various lines.
Orders for personalized stationery will be placed for you by Mrs. H. M. Compton and, come time to think of Christmas greetings, Mrs. George Dawson will write your cards. Another Christmas activity is the fashioning of Christmas stockings and tree skirts done by Mrs. E. B. McCormick.
Mrs. Florence Lenox will keep you supplied with pineapple or orange set up, but her sister, lone McAllister uses her ability in making bread and butter pickles.
Instead of sitting with your child, Mrs. Mott Denton will keep your plants while you are away from home, giving them "tender loving care."

1953 Hyperion Club Gives Valentine Tea

A red and white theme was used for the tea given Wednesday afternoon by members of the 1953 Hyperion Club.

Observing Guest Day, the club entertained friends in the home of Mrs. Hayes Stripling. Cohostesses were Mrs. C. L. Cook, Mrs. Kimball Guthrie and Mrs. Walter Ross. Mrs. Clyde Angel, a guest, reviewed "Papa's Wife" by Thyra Ferre Bjorn.

During the tea hour, Mrs. John Taylor, president of the club, served from a table covered in red linen. Red carnations and white snapdragons, fashioned into a nosegay, had as a background a red lace heart.

About 40 attended the tea.

The Virginia Wingo group of GAs also met at the church this week with the president, Donna Duke, in charge. All nine girls present had a part on the program, "Jews in America." Mrs. Mark Reeves Sr. is the counselor for this group.

Big Spring Garden Club To Urge Painting Better Street Signs

At a meeting of the Big Spring Garden Club Wednesday morning, members voted to urge a speed-up in the painting of both sides of street signs. Mrs. J. D. Elliott and Mrs. J. E. Hardesty were hostesses for the club in the Elliott home.

Preceding the business session, the group was served coffee from a table covered in green and holding an arrangement of snapdragons, ranunculus, gladioli, and peach blossoms in varying shades of rose and pink.
A placement show will be given some time in April at the home of Mrs. J. R. Hensley, it was decided. Arrangement was made of Flower Show School No. Four, which will be held March 12-14 in the conference room at the Texas Electric Service Building.

Mrs. Robert Stripling, representative to the volunteer council, told the members of the orientation course to be given at the state hospital Tuesday from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.
A plant exchange was discussed and will probably be held at the next meeting. Members will be notified at a later date. Mrs. J. E. Hogan is the member who will place the flower arrangement in the high school cafeteria for the coming week, it was announced.
The group learned that the roses ordered for the state hospital garden will arrive in the latter part of the month. Mrs. Norman Read made the announcement and told the club that $20 had been paid on the purchase price by the Altrusa Club.

Mrs. Howard Stephens, a guest, showed slides of life in Japan. These had been sent to her by the Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Best, Methodist missionaries in Japan.
An additional $10 was donated for the March of Dimes at the meeting. This brings the club gift up to $35.

BOOK REVIEW
Mrs. Hogan reviewed "The History of Flower Arranging," by Julia Berrall; this is a book included on the reading list for the coming flower show school.
The reviewer told the club of the two styles of arranging—the Japanese and the Western. The former uses simple lines and few flowers in contrast to the Western school, which employs a profusion of color and blossoms. Mrs. Hogan said.
She recommended that the main line of an arrangement be at least 1 1/2 times as long as the height or width of the container. The speaker warned against being too slavish in following the rules and in the use of too many blossoms.
Mrs. W. G. Wilson Jr. told of the three uses of herb gardens which are for kitchen spices, sweet aromas and medicinal purposes.

She told the group that there are 24 basic kitchen spices and that they may be grown in a very small space. They make pretty decorations, she told her listeners, as well as being useful in flavoring.

CAMELIAS
Mrs. Clyde Angel discussed the culture of camellias, telling the club that the flowers are relatively easy to grow. Their basic requirements are acid soil, good drainage and plenty of light. The plants will do best on the south side of the house in this country, Mrs. Angel said.
She warned of overfeeding the plants and said that pruning and fertilizing should be done after the period of bloom. Two recommended for this section are Camelia Sasanqua and Camelia Japonica.

Personality Counts

Alice Lon, Lawrence Welk's Champagne Lady, confesses that her friendly personality made her his final choice. She believes that liking people is a fundamental point in others liking you. She appears on ABC-TV's "Lawrence Welk Show."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

'Champagne Lady' Has Complexion Routine

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD—No one can say that Lawrence Welk is not a perfectionist since he took time to interview some 4,000 applicants for the singing job of Champagne Lady on his TV show.
The search ended when he found and hired young, lovely Alice Lon, mother of three sons. Alice is no stranger to the entertainment field. Coming from a musical family, she began taking dancing and piano lessons almost before she could talk. By the time she was in high school, she had her own radio show. But in spite of a long list of credits she is still unspoiled and naturally sweet.
"I'm sure there were lots of girls who could sing as well or better than I. And I'm sure there were many who were prettier," Alice told me as we lunched in Hollywood, "so I asked Lawrence why I was his final choice, and he said it was because of my friendly personality.
"He told me he likes the way I dress and calls me the fluffly type. I do like anything that has a soft rather than severe line. I think you have to wear what makes you feel right, and when they put anything sophisticated on high fashion on me I'm uncomfortable."

Alice's complexion has a fresh, young, scrubbed look, and I asked her how she keeps it so lovely.
"I wear very little street make-up to give my complexion a rest when I'm not working, because when I'm before the cameras it is caked with make-up. I feel the main thing is to get your skin thoroughly clean. I prefer to remove my make-up with oil first and then a skin tonic. Then I apply a few drops of oil again to finish.
"California's climate is so dry. I use oil over my whole body. I think one should use a hand lotion or some other lubricant on the elbows and knees. These two places get dried out and ugly very quickly.
"There is no excuse for a woman letting herself go, because if she does just a little bit every day, it doesn't take much time and it does keep you in condition."
In speaking of popularity, Alice said it really is a question of sincerely liking people. "They feel this and like you back," Alice reflected.

Chemise Hits Ski Togs

The chemise has even hit the ski slopes this winter. The newest look in parkas is as loose and uninhibited as the Paris gunny sack. Of course most girls still prefer to wear them belted, to accentuate a trim waistline—but bucklers for high style may let the colorful, light-weight ski tops fall loose and free. Mother Hubbard style.
"Chemise has taken over ski fashions for both men and women," says Fred Picard, ski wear designer of Sun Valley, Idaho. "The brighter the better is the rule. Against the white background of the ski slopes, vivid colors just seem to belong."
Ski pants are trim, narrow and fitted to a T. Many are of stretch fabric, which rules out saags. Colors for pants as well as parkas run the full range of the rainbow—pastel pinks, blues and yellows are popular, with bright red and royal blue also top favorites.
Parkas for the fashion-wise are of light-weight cottons, often trimmed with bright peasant braid or embroidery, with wide yokes and deep armholes, allowing complete freedom of action without weight.
Men like broad-shouldered sweaters and form-fitting pants—and also are going in for blazing colors.
So if you've been sticking to those old conservative navy blue ski pants and tops, better catch up with the color brigade if you want to stand out on the slopes this year.

Flattering Style

This attractive afternoon style, in sizes that flatter the matron, will be neat and slim in a small printed fabric.
No. 1578 with PHOTO-GUIDE is in bust sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, 52. Size 38, 4 1/2 yards of 35-inch, 3/4 yard contrast.
Send THIRTY-FIVE CENTS in coins for this pattern—add 5 cents for each pattern for first-class mailing. Send to IRIS LANE, Big Spring Herald, Box 438, Midtown Station, New York 18, N. Y.

Killer Dies In Electric Chair

HUNTSVILLE (AP) — Charlie White, 44, slayer of an elderly rancher, died early today in the electric chair.

White entered the death chamber at 12:01 a. m. and was dead five minutes later.

White answered a soft "No sir" when Warden H. E. Fore asked if he had a last statement. White appeared calm and expressionless as he was strapped into the chair.

Only once did he shake his head and he made no comment.

White maintained all day yesterday he was innocent and never changed his story. He insisted his brother, Calvin, forced him at gunpoint to help bury Felix Heidel, 78, after Calvin strangled the old man with a wire noose.

White was convicted Oct. 19, 1956, of slaying Heidel in August, 1956, near Austin.

Mrs. White won a divorce and custody of their four children, from 6 to 9 years old, last Nov. 29. The judgment ordered White to pay child support until all are 18.

White and his brother, Calvin, were convicted of strangling Heidel with a piece of wire and hiding the body in a shallow grave. Calvin, like Charlie, a two-time ex-convict, died of a heart attack in his jail cell early in 1957.

Union Men Reveal Featherbed Rules

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Labor leaders proudly pointed today to a twin set of rules aimed at curbing interunion strife and costly make-work practices on construction jobs.

It remains to be seen how well the rules will be enforced on local construction projects. In the past, many local unions have acted pretty much on their own.

Employing contractors at least were hopeful the agreements, although lacking real enforcement powers, will help cut building costs.

The twin pacts were announced yesterday. AFL-CIO leaders are assembled here for their winter meeting.

One pact is aimed at long-standing job rights feuds between craft and industrial (production worker) unions. It assigns new building construction to craft unions; any disputes are to be worked out among the union leaders.

The other agreement — announced by contractors and the AFL-CIO building trades, with precise language still to be agreed upon — would bar work slowdowns, forced overtime, unneeded standby crews, and other make-work or "featherbedding" practices. Work stoppages while grievances are being processed are prohibited.

Earlier, a spokesman for the labor chiefs gave out names of Republican U. S. senators they expect to oppose for re-election.

James L. McDevitt, director of the Committee on Political Education, the AFL-CIO's political branch, said political endorsements are to be made formally this spring, but he could not foretell what they would be.

McDevitt said labor likely will oppose Senate Republican Leader Knowland's bid to become governor of California.

He predicted AFL-CIO opposition to re-election campaigns of Senators Goldwater (Ariz.), Purtell (Conn.), Payne (Maine), Beall (Md.), Potter (Mich.), Revercomb (W. Va.) and Barrett (Wyo.), all Republicans.

He said labor will aid re-election drives of Democratic Senators Pastore (R.I.), Kennedy (Mass.), Symington (Mo.) and Proxmire (Wis.).

He listed governors seeking re-election whom the AFL-CIO expects to support as Democrats: McNichols (Colo.), Loveless (Iowa), Docking (Kan.), Furcolo

Both Satellites To Be Visible

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—America's satellite, Explorer, and the Soviet Sputnik II both criss-cross the United States today on different routes and altitudes.

Sputnik II crossed the southern part of the United States and was visible with proper atmospheric conditions, to early risers.

The Soviet moon made three U. S. sweeps beginning with one in the east and ending with a passage 100 miles southwest of Los Angeles at a height of about 140 miles.

America's satellite, the Explorer, was to make evening passages and would be difficult to see because of its altitude of about 800 miles.

The first passage starts about 6:19 p. m. EST in northern Mexico, crosses Texas, Arkansas, northern Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia before leaving the coast at Cape Hatteras five minutes later.

The new passage starts in the Los Angeles area about 8:20 p. m. EST and crosses Arizona, New Mexico, northern Texas, southern Oklahoma, southern Arkansas, Mississippi and Alabama, leaving the coast at Jacksonville, Fla., about 8:29 p. m.

The final passage tonight will cross below the southern California border and northern Mexico at about 10:22 EST.

Carolina Klan May Go 'Underground'

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—A Ku Klux Klan leader has announced that his group may have to go underground in North Carolina in the face of opposition from Gov. Luther Hodges.

Rev. James Cole of Marion, who heads the state KKK, said the Klan would go underground "unless the governor and other officials give us the consideration which is our due as American citizens."

Told of Cole's statement today, Gov. Hodges said: "If Mr. Cole would go far enough underground, that would suit the state."

Kidnaper Surrenders

House Painter Jailed After Girl Sends Note To Teacher

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—House painter Joseph Bedard was in jail today because his stepdaughter, Susan, 9, handed a penciled note to a school official.

The freckled child, a bruise over her left eye, gave a note to Mrs. Thelma Lou Sherwood, secretary of the Pedro Valley School.

"I love you very much. And this is why I am writing this note to you. My father is not my real father, he is my second father, and he does not like me and wants to get rid of me. And my mother is my real mother but she does not like me either," the note read.

"My father said he wanted me to run away and live with some one else. He said as long as I live in the same house as he does, every night I will get whipped. And I don't want to get whipped."

"So will you please take me with you? I will love you very much. And then I would be happy. Because you think I am happy when I help you but I am not happy."

"I already packed my clothes this morning. So please take me home with you. Please is all I can say. Please. Please. Please. Love."

It was signed simply "Sue."

Bedard, 34, was charged with child beating.

The stepfather insisted the girl needs psychiatric treatment, saying she stole dolls from a store, set booby traps, and ran to the kitchen and got a butcher knife during an argument with her half-sister.

"I hope I never see her again," he said. "She wants to live somewhere else—I sure hope she does."

As Bedard was taken into custody at his home his wife said, "I don't know why you're taking him. I was the one who beat the child." Dep. Sheriff Lawrence Dondi, quoted Bedard as saying he struck the girl because she lied.

A medical examination disclosed bruises and welts on Susan's body. She was neatly dressed and school officials said she got along well with her classmates.

Youth Forges On In Race For Space

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—A lad with a persuasive pen and an eye to the space future got his wish today. For 15-year-old Richard Harkness it was a big step toward the world of tomorrow.

Last August, the Springer Junior High School student decided to build a rocket guidance system, but he lacked money — a matter of about $1,000 for a gyroscope, the basic control element of a rocket.

Richard sat down and wrote a letter to Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co., manufacturers of automatic flight control systems.

Honeywell found a gyroscope of the kind the company made until 1952 for bombers.

Today, the gyroscope, in perfect working order, was turned over to Richard by Robert L. Luban, Philadelphia area service engineer for Honeywell's Aeronautical Division.

Electronics — particularly as it applies to missiles and rockets — has been Richard's hobby since he was 10. He's already designed a selective parachute ejection system centered around a radioisotope, a weather transmitting system.

Recently, he attempted to launch a two-foot solid fuel rocket, but the missile became stuck in the launching device. With his new gyroscope he hopes to have better luck with a new five-foot rocket.

So far the rocket, a maze of intricate parts when assembled, has cost him only $15. Still in the drawing board stage is a six-foot job. Richard plans to launch it with solid fuel, and if all goes well, the nose cone, equipped with a 69-cent camera rigged to take pictures, will split off and parachute back to earth.

Lyndon May Head Panel In Seeking Policy On Space

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas appears likely to head a special committee's search for a national policy on efforts to control outer space.

Johnson was ready to push through the Senate speedily a resolution to set up a 13-member committee. It would be charged with producing by June 1 or shortly thereafter a comprehensive plan to supervise U. S. civilian and military attempts to reach the stars.

Johnson's proposal had the backing of Sen. Knowland (Calif.), the Senate Republican leader.

Although Johnson has made no public commitments, he was represented as favoring a civilian-controlled agency patterned after the Atomic Energy Commission but with even greater latitude in developing rocket weapons.

Senate aides reported that lobbying pressure already is building up to give control of the program to the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, to the AEC, to the Defense Department and to the Air Force.

Cold Front Chills State

By The Associated Press

A cold front moved swiftly through Texas Thursday morning promising freezing temperatures for half of the state by Friday.

Skies were cloudy back of the front and along the Gulf Coast where scattered showers were expected during the day. Across the middle of the state, from south of Dallas almost to the coast, skies were clear to partly cloudy. Temperatures dropped slowly behind the front.

The front followed thunderstorms in North Texas late Wednesday. The storms brought hail in the Gainesville area and along the southeast Texas-Louisiana line.

Dust blew in West Texas Wednesday while scattered showers hit other sections, the first rain in nearly a week.

Forecasters promised temperatures down to 22 degrees Friday morning in West Texas and around 30 in North Central Texas. Moderate rainfall in scattered showers was expected Friday and Saturday.

Overnight low temperatures ranged from 25 degrees at Doherty to 64 at Corpus Christi.

Rainfall reported during the 24 hours ending at 6:30 a. m. included Beaumont .34 of an inch, Lufkin .26, Houston .07 with lesser amounts at Galveston, College Station, Mineral Wells, Dallas, Victoria, Wichita Falls and Del Rio.

Other overnight low temperatures included: Amarillo 26 degrees, Lubbock 30, Wichita Falls 38, Abilene 39, El Paso 43, Dallas 47, San Antonio 50, Laredo 54, Texarkana 55, Lufkin 57 and Houston 62.

Kasch Home Has Extensive Fire Damages

The 814 W. 17th brick residence of Fred Kasch was heavily damaged by fire Wednesday afternoon. Firemen from two stations were needed to bring it under control.

Firemen from the main station and the 18th and Main substation fought the blaze about 30 minutes before getting it under control. They stayed another 1 1/2 hours, however, extinguishing small blazes which cropped out. Fire Chief H. V. Crocker said. They answered the call about 2 p. m.

The fire evidently developed from an electrical short in the kitchen. Heaviest damage was in the kitchen-dinette area on the west side of the house.

Crocker said firemen were able to limit damage to the residence proper to about 20 percent, but the great loss was to contents of the house. Smoke and heat caused as much loss inside as did the actual fire, Crocker said. Also damaged heavily were wooden beams in the attic.

With the wind from the west and the fire on that side of the house, Crocker said the firemen were fortunate to keep the fire away from the shingled roof. By containing the blaze, no surrounding property was hurt.

Also Wednesday, firemen went to 1625 E. 3rd where a trailer house owned by Roy Smith burned. The trailer was heavily damaged, but furniture damage was small, firemen reported.

Trio Moved To Huntsville

Three prisoners, facing terms in Texas State Penitentiary, were removed from Howard County jail to Huntsville today.

Charles Elbert Lenz, who pleaded guilty to an indictment charging robbery by assault, and who was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment, was one of the three.

Roy W. Baird, his companion in the robbery, also facing a 10-year sentence on a plea of guilty, elected to take the 10-day interval before formal sentence is passed.

G. J. Stewart, under a three-year sentence for defrauding with a worthless check, and Julio Flores, who was returned here some days ago and had a three-year suspended sentence revoked, were the others removed to the state prison.

Tommy Cole, deputy sheriff, and Lloyd Coppedge, city detective, took the three men to Huntsville.

Liquor Violations Are Alleged Today

Liquor Control Board officers filed six charges against three Big Spring men this morning in Howard County Court alleging violations of Texas liquor laws.

Trannie Crandall is named in two complaints, Clarence Shaw, in one complaint, and Carl Axe in three complaints of sale and delivery of intoxicating liquors in a wet area without a license.

Bonds have been set for the men in the amount of $500 in each case.

Industrial Talks Set For Monday

Husbands To Speak To WTCC Members

Big Spring members of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will hear Fred Husbands, executive vice president of the agency, outline last year's work and the 1958 program, said Champ Rainwater, Big Spring, WTCC director.

WTCC members here are to meet at 10 a. m. Friday, Feb. 14, in the Chamber of Commerce offices. Rainwater said. There are 51 Big Springers on the WTCC rolls.

Quimby Will Attend Programs In C-City

Bill Quimby, Chamber of Commerce manager here, will go to Colorado City this evening to attend the Colorado City C-C directors meeting and the annual banquet of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at Colorado City.

Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) wearing dark topcoat, kneels as he examines the free food from government surplus stocks being given out to some 45,000 poor persons in Memphis. Gore said the sight of the food line made recession reports appear more serious than realized and that he planned to ask Congress to set up a national public works program to create jobs in depressed areas. City officials said many applicants for the free food were farm laborers in Memphis looking for work after rural areas were hard hit by rain-out crops. They estimated 85 per cent were Negroes.

Violence Flares In N.Y. Schools Again

NEW YORK — Violence flared anew in the city school system yesterday, with one schoolboy monitor being beaten and another stabbed. The assaults occurred in Manhattan and the Bronx.

The outbreaks followed by a day a plan by Mayor Robert F. Wagner and the City Board of Education to curb crime in the city's nearly 900 public schools. In recent weeks a rash of rapes, hoodlums, assaults and knifings has led to posting of policemen at 41 public schools. Both Negroes and whites have been involved.

Although only a small percentage of the city's million pupils have been involved, the wave of lawlessness has touched off a continuing dispute between the Board of Education and the special Brooklyn grand jury probing crime in the schools.

As part of the plan to curb school crime, Dr. William Jansen, superintendent of schools, and Charles H. Silver, president of Board of Education, go to the state capitol at Albany today to seek more state aid for education here.

In major incidents, 16-year-old Frank Sloan, who is white, was beaten by three other students, all Negroes, in the lunchroom of the George Washington High School in Manhattan. Sloan, a student monitor, assertedly was attacked after directing three classmates to pick up paper they had thrown on the floor, and also barring them from the girls' section of the cafeteria.

Sloan was taken to a hospital suffering from a brain concussion.

Two of his alleged assailants, both 15, were booked on juvenile delinquency charges. The third, George Addison, 16, was held on a charge of felonious assault.

In Brooklyn, Domestic Relations Court Justice Justine Wise Polier accused the grand jury of seeking "to impose their opinions upon and usurp the authority" of the board. Justice Polier told an American Jewish Congress meeting that the jurors "have convinced themselves that a policeman in every school is the one and only answer to our critical situation, and that anyone who dares to differ is either a knave or a fool."

A 19-year-old girl student at Brooklyn College was robbed of $2 by a young man who followed her into a rest room on the ground floor of one of the college buildings. The victim, Rosalie Walzer, and the robber are white.

Newsmen Prepare Censorship Battle

WASHINGTON — The American Newspaper Publishers Assn. today called for congressional action "to preserve for the people their right to know what their public servants are doing."

The ANPA endorsed proposed legislation that would prevent government officials from using the language of a 1789 law dealing with the handling of records to withhold information to which the public is entitled.

The ANPA views were contained in a statement by Col. J. Hale Steinman for presentation to the House Government Information subcommittee headed by Rep. Moss (D-Calif.) Steinman is publisher of the Lancaster (Pa.) Intelligencer-Journal and New Era, and chairman of the ANPA Federal Laws Committee.

Similar views were expressed in prepared testimony by James S. Pope of Louisville, Ky., representing the Southern Newspaper Publishers Assn., and by Clark Mollenhoff of Washington, speaking for the professional journalistic fraternity, Sigma Delta Chi.

Pope, executive editor of the Courier Journal and Louisville Times, said people in a democracy must have access to information so they can govern themselves properly. He said there should be more "top public" and less "top secret" government information.

Mollenhoff, Washington correspondent for Cowles publications, said Congress should "stop being a third-rate division of government and insist on the right to write the laws and have them properly administered."

Steinman said government heads have distorted the intent of a law passed in the administration of George Washington and designed as a "housekeeping" law concerning the keeping of records and establishment of a filing system.

He said officials use the law in absence of specific statutes as authority for their decisions on what they will make available to the public.

"Such interpretations as to the meaning of the statute have changed the law from authority to keep records and set up filing systems into a claim of authority to keep the filing cabinets locked and the records hidden from the public," Steinman said.

"The ANPA believes favorable action by the Congress on this proposed legislation is the only solution to preserve for the people their right to know what their public servants are doing," he added.

The legislation being considered by the committee would add a line to the law specifically barring its use as authority for withholding information.

Steinman said passage of the legislation "will demonstrate the active interest of the Congress in a free flow of information to the people and it will encourage more active participation in government by the American people."

Steinman said newspapers did not want to obtain information that would hurt national security, and that the proposed legislation would not affect existing laws requiring secrecy in such matters.

Safety Council Calls Accident Rate 'Lowest'

CHICAGO — Accidents in the United States last year killed 95,000 persons and injured 9 1/2 million others and resulted in an economic loss of nearly 12 billion dollars.

The National Safety Council, which announced the figures, said the all-accident death rate of 55.8 per 100,000 population was the lowest on record. The previous low was 55.9 in 1954.

The number killed in accidents last year compared with 94,790 in 1956 when the death rate was 56.7. The council said that one out of every 18 persons in the country suffered a disabling injury last year.

Motor vehicle accidents, which accounted for 38,500 deaths last year, retained their traditional role as No. 1 killer. The 1956 toll was 39,628, or 3 per cent higher.

Deaths in home and work accidents declined from the 1956 level. Home accidental deaths dropped 2 per cent to 27,500 and work accident deaths 1 per cent to 14,200.

Public deaths — resulting from catastrophes, fires and railroad and airplane accidents — totaled 18,000, a 13 per cent increase over the 1956 toll.

Last year's over-all accident death rate, 23 per cent under the 1941 rate, was the fourth in the history of accident records to dip below 60.

The estimated economic loss of $11,800,000,000 included wages lost, medical expense, overhead cost of insurance for all accidents, production delays, damage to equipment in work accidents and damage from traffic accidents and fires.

Some 20,700 persons died in falls last year, a 2 per cent increase over 1956. There were 6,700 deaths from burns, 6,700 from drowning and 2,250 from firearm accidents.

Troubles

C. B. "Red" Lemmond, Dallas truck driver, laughs as he recounts his experiences which landed him in a Fort Worth jail. Red was accused of taking wedding gifts his intended bride in Fort Worth has received and departing for Dallas to the home of his divorced wife just two days before the wedding. In his haste to leave Fort Worth Red also packed some of his fiancée's dresses and a coat. The bride-to-be said she will drop the charges against Red if he will pay her for the articles taken. Now Red wonders if his former wife will take him back after he is released from jail.

Teen-Age Daughter Takes Over Her Orphaned Family

KELLOGG, Idaho — Teen-aged Leona Moore buried her parents yesterday, then took hold as mother to her seven orphaned brothers and sisters.

A hearing is due here Monday on the year-old Mrs. Moore's request to have legal custody of the children granted her. Their ages range from 2 to 15.

Probate Judge Peter Dufresne indicated he would appoint her as guardian since she is the closest relative.

The teen-ager married 14 months to Edward Moore, a 28-year-old Lewiston, Idaho, paper worker, is determined to keep the family together. The Moores have no children of their own and plan to get a house for their new family.

Mrs. Moore's parents, Clarence and Donna Larsen, aged 41 and 36, died last Thursday when their car crashed into a telephone pole.

Many residents here have come forward with money, clothing and other gifts.

Gasoline Dealers Eye Price Wars

DALLAS — Gasoline dealers, growing gloomier by the minute, looked for a complete renewal today of the price-cutting war that slashed their profits last year.

W. D. Tacker, vice president of the Dallas Service Station Assn., said prevention of the price-cutting spread appeared impossible. The cut rates generally were 29 cents a gallon for regular and 32 cents for premium grades.

Beer, Shepherd Save Man's Life

HOUSTON — Six cases of Dutch beer and a Bedouin shepherd saved the life of Pierce Williams, 39, he insisted here yesterday.

Williams and two other men had been stranded for 11 days in the Sahara Desert, he said, when the shepherd came along and took them to a camp of the Geophysical Service, Inc., of Dallas.

It was the beer, he said, that sustained him and two young Arabs for three days after their food and water gave out. It was too hot to drink in the daytime, he related, but the nights were so cold that the beer cooled off fine in an hour or so.

Williams had been given up for dead by his own firm, the United Geophysical Corp., when the Bedouin finally found the trio.

Plans Okayed

WASHINGTON — Federal Power Commission approval was asked yesterday for plans of El Paso Natural Gas Co. to spend $4,098,000 building a dehydration plant and 68 miles of pipeline in West Texas. Nasser Begins Talks On Yemeni Role In Arab Union

CAIRO — President Nasser begins negotiations today to determine just how far his dictatorship over Egypt and Syria will extend over Yemen.

Yemeni Crown Prince Seif el Islam el Badr, who is also premier of Yemen, brought instructions from his father to arrange membership in the United Arab Republic. The father, Imam Ahmed, is absolute ruler of the 4 1/2 million persons in the undeveloped land on the Arabian Peninsula.

The ailing, 66-year-old Imam is not expected to relinquish any internal power to Nasser, who said earlier that other Arab nations would be welcome to federate with the republic. Federation would allow Arab kings to keep their thrones in the new union.

Yemen for some time has followed Egyptian-Syrian foreign policy and been linked with the two other Arab nations in a joint military command. Federation presumably would formalize and extend these arrangements.

El Badr arrived in time to hear nominated Nasser, and got the same unanimous approval. Celebrations throughout Syria were reported and the government declared a three-day holiday.

Nasser outline the sweeping powers he will have as head of the U.A.R. in a speech to the Egyptian National Assembly. Nasser listed 17 major points of a "provisional" constitution providing for presidential appointment of a single legislature and executive councils for the "provinces" of Syria and Egypt, presumably an extension of Egypt's present single political party, which Nasser controls.

The Egyptian Parliament roared its approval and nominated Nasser to the U.A.R.'s first president. In Damascus, Syrian President Shukri Kuwatly made the same report to his Parliament.

Margaret Snow was a member of the Moonwatch team at Manhattan, Kan., credited by Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory with being the first to make a naked-eye sighting of the U. Five members of the team sighted the satellite.

Airman Due Stay In Space Capsule

By ROBERT E. FORD
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A few days from now Donald Gerald Farrell, a six-foot airman from the Bronx, N. Y., will squeeze himself into a 3-by-5-foot capsule. And if all goes well, he'll stay inside for seven full days.

No sound will reach his ears. He will see very little. He'll be able to talk to persons outside the tiny cage, but he won't be able to hear them.

Experts at the Department of Space Medicine at Randolph Air Force Base here expect to harvest important data from Farrell's solitary confinement. They intend to subject him to all the forces of nature man is likely to find on voyages through space.

The seven days of the experiment would be sufficient time for a man to rocket to the moon and return, scientists noted.

A. I. C. Farrell is not a flier. He's an accounting clerk. He's a perfectly normal 23-year-old specimen of manhood and that, essentially, is why scientists picked him. No one has spent more than 24 hours in a space chamber so far.

While enclosed in his capsule, Farrell won't even be able to stretch his legs. Nor will he be able to take a bath.

"The boys probably will have a fire hose waiting for me to take care of that when I come out," Farrell said.

Weevil's Got A New Home

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—A Texas A&M scientist has sold the cotton boll weevil on life without cotton.

The discovery by Dr. Erma Vanderzant assures a steady supply of the pest to research. It also offers a better research medium.

Recently Dr. Vanderzant developed a diet on which boll weevils could be grown from egg to maturity without cotton. Now she has eliminated cotton entirely from the insect pest's life cycle.

The need for cotton plants both for nutrition and as a stimulus to the laying of eggs has been a knotty problem for entomologists.

Dr. Vanderzant, a member of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Research Service, is now growing fifth generation laboratory weevils.

More precise knowledge of insecticide cause-and-effect is expected. Weevils several generations removed from cotton fields can be selectively controlled for such factors as uniformity in age, nutritional background and insecticidal resistance.

Basic diet fed by Dr. Vanderzant to growing weevils includes soy bean protein, sucrose, cholesterol, fat, B-complex vitamins, minerals in the form of salts, agar, water and stabilizers.

Project Was No Laughing Matter
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department lifted the lid from its secret bows and arrows project of World War II.

"I imagine boredom will be the biggest problem."

He's a pack-a-day smoker, but does not expect this deprivation to bother him too much.

"I've always been interested in space travel," said Farrell, who may go into the chamber this Sunday. "I felt sure that someday we'd conquer space. I still think so and hope I can contribute something to it."

NORMAL REACTIONS
There are several reasons he was picked. He's young, strong (185 pounds) and healthy. He's been a guinea pig for other experiments. He's intelligent.

But above all, the spokesmen stress that his reactions are so normal and clear-cut. He shows no physical or mental eccentricities.

When he returns from an experiment he is sufficiently articulate to tell the doctors of reactions and feelings that scientific instruments still can't record.

That is the reason that Farrell was sealed off from newsmen shortly after the department announced the project.

Col. George R. Steinkamp, the doctor directly in charge of the test, doesn't want anything to interfere with Farrell psychologically.

Farrell attended the University of Alabama for one term, and plans to study aeronautical engineering.

The airman's good reactions to tests were demonstrated in experiments involving weightlessness.

Within Farrell's capsule, which never will leave the ground, doctors will create an artificial environment which they calculate will be the minimum needed by space men.

Farrell will live under eight pounds per square inch of air pressure, half that on earth.

Carbon monoxide will be removed from his air and more oxygen supplied. Heat will be reduced.

Excess moisture from his lungs, sweat glands and other organs will be purified and made into drinking water. Other body waste will be absorbed by chemicals.

He'll get food through an air lock. Otherwise, for all that Farrell will be able to determine, he will be soaring through space.

Instruments will record his blood pressure, respiration, pulse, and conditions inside the capsule. He'll be given several push button tests to determine his working efficiency.

He can be brought back to an earth environment quickly if necessary.

Auto Problems Loom Largest In Big Cities

By WILLIAM FERRIS
AP Staff Writer

Where can I find a place to park?

That plaintive question comes daily from millions who drive into the city as America's transportation revolution gathers speed.

The private automobile's skyrocketing popularity has nowhere produced more problems than in metropolitan areas. Related to it is the sick situation of public transportation, both in the big city and its suburbs.

There are fewer and fewer people like Toledo's Al Smith, an office worker, who says: "If I drove to work, I'd have to pay for parking. The bus gets me to work in 25 minutes. I came here from New York and, believe me, 25 minutes seems like nothing."

Some cities encourage private industry to build parking lots. Others, such as Chicago, build municipal lots. Chicago has 48 city garages and parking lots.

Washington, St. Louis, Miami, Columbus and Chicago are among cities with "park and ride" plans. Parking lots are established near mass transportation lines and motorists are expected to drive to the lot, park all day and use mass transportation to get downtown.

Boston is seeking a subterranean garage under Boston Common in the heart of the city. Cleveland is attempting to induce private capital to build a garage under its public mall.

Los Angeles has a new law that no new building can be constructed in the downtown area without providing for parking by its occupants.

Other cities are going off in a different direction: keep the private automobile out of the downtown areas.

New Orleans is working on a plan to exclude traffic from a large part of its business district, allowing only pedestrians. Indianapolis is considering eliminating traffic on four diagonal avenues in the center of town. One objective of a New Haven three-year plan is the exclusion of parking in a mile-square central section of the city.

AUTO OUTMODDED
Muses O. W. Campbell, county manager of Dade County, Miami, Fla., says: "Someday the automobile may well be as outmoded downtown as the horse and buggy."

It often happens that the new highways cities are building create still newer problems.

In Philadelphia, for example, the Schuylkill Expressway, which will be finished in about a year, and the Delaware River Expressway, which has not yet been started, will each be able to carry traffic toward downtown at the rate of 4,500 cars an hour. But there is no center street downtown capable of handling more than 1,200 cars an hour.

A few cities — New Orleans is one — are toying with the idea of monorail. This scheme would transport people in 60 passenger coaches above streets.

To combat the growing stagnation of the downtown area, Rochester, N. Y., has a plan of loop highways. Robert Aex, city manager, says, "The shortest distance between two points is still a straight line but the fastest way to get from one point to another in a central city is via a circle."

One highway — the inner loop — circles around the heart of downtown Rochester. It will be completed by 1960. An outer loop, under construction, will surround the city at its fringe. Highways called "connectors" will link the inner and outer loops.

The bus as a mode of mass transportation is not popular. Numerous bus lines, particularly in suburban areas, have folded in recent years.

Tomorrow: Significance of the jet age in air travel and the vast public highway building program.

Letter Figures In Young Death

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Herald Tribune today linked the suicide of railroad leader Robert R. Young to a letter he received from a small investor.

Young, chairman of the New York Central Railroad, shot himself Jan. 25 at his Palm Beach, Fla., home.

Business and financial editor Donald I. Rogers said in the Herald Tribune that Mrs. Young found her husband's body, and that Young had opened only one letter of his morning mail that day.

The story continued: "The letter, from a small investor—whom Young and many others called 'Aunt Jane'—told Young: 'You betrayed me. You did not do what you said you would do. I own 10 shares of Central stock, and it represents a great deal of money to me.'"

The letter "may not have been the straw that broke the camel's back; but the few intimates who know this story believe that it was."

Only Young's closest friends knew he had suffered a nervous breakdown, apparently his second. As a nerve-wracked man he contemplated the prospects of his railroad and was overwhelmed with a sense of inadequacy. It was then that he knew "Aunt Jane" had, indeed, been betrayed.

Young had tried to straighten out the Central but he couldn't.

Youthful Midland Rocket Experts Take Safety Vow

MIDLAND (AP)—Sixteen youthful Midland rocketeers have agreed to abide at all times by a strict 22-point safety code—thanks to an explosive expert and a physics teacher who made them realize possible danger in their new hobby.

The youths form the active membership of the Midland Rocket Research Society at Midland High School.

Need for stringent safety regulations became apparent during the last three months in the society's organizational meetings. Prospective members told stories of rocketeering which concerned Dr. Rush Elkins, physics teacher, and high school Principal E. F. Bittick.

James Ash, head of a munitions laboratory in World War II, joined Elkins as society sponsor. One Midland boy mixed powdered chemicals with an electric food mixer. Others used metal surface and instruments, leaving themselves open to sparks which could have set off the mixed explosive.

Some rocketeers stored dangerous mixed fuels in their homes. Others tested small amounts of fuel in their back yards. Still others carried loaded rockets in their cars to launching areas.

"They seemed to have respect for the firing but they were treating the explosives beforehand very casually." The new safety pledge assures that members of the MHS-sponsored society will take all necessary precautions.

Black Dragon Dies

Dinner For Two

Those romantics who have dinner by the fireplace have nothing on Ed and Evalena Fisher. Their indoor grill is often the center of culinary exploits. This delectable chicken has been broiled to a turn in less than an hour.

The Ed Fishers Are Partners In Cooking, Too; Try Their Recipes

Ed and Evalena Fisher are a husband and wife cooking team if ever there was one. Together they learned to cook after their wedding in 1951, and they have devised a charming setting for their culinary adventures. They like to experiment with the fragrant herbs and condiments which fill the spice cabinet that he has built.

When one calls at 110 Mt. Vernon, he enters via a combination den and dining room that exudes an air of hospitality. Focal point is the big barbecue grill with the brick hearth, where the couple frequently cooks the piece de resistance of their evening meal.

Originally this area, grill and all, was part of the yard. They simply built walls around it, put on a roof, and decorated it to blend with the informal decor of the home. Now the favorite room in the house, it makes an ideal spot for the entertaining which the couple enjoys. A wall of windows lets in lots of sunshine and is a natural setting for the house plants which even include a blooming bougainvillea.

The Fishers have done a bit of traveling. For a short time they resided in Sao Paulo, Brazil, where they claim they lived mainly on Evalena's superb pizza pie, the recipe for which is given below. It was this sojourn that inspired their recipe for Brazilian barbecue sauce, or Churrasco as it is known there. Directions for this gustatory treat are also shared with the Herald readers as is the recipe for West Texas pecan pie, for which they give credit to Mrs. Mamie Driver Stokes of Midland. To its goodness the Herald reporter can amply attest.

At the time of the interview the Fishers were broiling halves of chicken, saturated with the churrasco. They give this barbecue tip: Never use a fork or sharp instrument to turn the meat. Instead, use a lifting tong. The explanation is that a puncture releases the natural juices and dries out the meat. The same advice applies to frying chicken.

At one period the couple had a fling with operating a chicken ranch. They can appreciate all the paths and humor and discouragement expressed by Betty McDonald in her famous "The Egg and I." In fact, they could write a story of their own. That chapter of their life is behind them though. Ed is owner of The Little Shop and Evalena is supervisor of the operating room at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Both are collectors; she has some magnificent pieces of cut-glass, and he admits to collecting old books, shells, West Texas relics and a few other things. A descendant of a pioneer family, he is interested in the lore of this region.

Among his books is one which belonged to his grandmother—The Home Cook Book, published in Chicago in 1898. Actually it is much more than a cook book. It offers beauty hints, home remedies, etiquette, fashion notes and other bits of information which make engrossing reading.

Should you ever run out of baking powder and not be able to get to a grocery store, this is the book's recipe for "The Very Best Baking Powder"— $\frac{1}{2}$  lb. bicarbonate of soda, 1 lb. pure cream of tartar, and 1 oz. cornstarch. Sift two or three times. Use about 1 tsp. for each pound of flour.

Here is the Fishers' trio of recipes:

PIZZA PIE

Prepare a yeast-type hot roll mix and let dough rise once until it is double in size; knead and divide in half, as this is sufficient for two large pizza crusts.

For the sauce, place 3 tablespoons of olive oil in a large skillet. Sauté one stalk of finely chopped celery, one small chopped onion, one teaspoon minced parsley, and one clove garlic. Add one large can of tomatoes, one small can tomato paste, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon freshly ground black pepper, and simmer gently for 45 minutes. Add  $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon minced basil,  $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon oregano, and 1 bay leaf; cook for 10 minutes more.

On greased tins, roll dough to desired size, leaving a slightly raised rim of dough. Brush crust with olive oil and put  $\frac{1}{4}$  of above sauce in each pie crust. Grate 8 ounces Mozzarella cheese evenly over the two pies. Then place either pepperoni, mushrooms or anchovies, or a combination of any or all, on top of the pie.

Bake in preheated oven, 400 degrees F., for 20 minutes. A round castiron pancake griddle is desirable for the baking.

BRAZILIAN BARBECUE SAUCE AND CHICKEN

$\frac{2}{3}$  cup salad oil
 $\frac{1}{4}$  tsp. marjoram
 $\frac{1}{4}$  tsp. paprika
 $\frac{1}{4}$  tsp. pepper (freshly ground)
1 tsp. seasoning salt
 $\frac{1}{4}$  tsp. tarragon
1 tsp. salt
Place two fryers (split in half)

To Fry Scallops

When you are frying scallops, drain them well before dipping in fine bread crumbs, then in slightly beaten egg mixed with a very little water and again in the crumbs.

Chopsuey, Noodles

There's no law that says you can't serve chopsuey with crisp Chinese noodles, as chow mein is served. The chop suey now comes frozen.

Fried Chicken Tip

Season the dipping batter for fried chicken with a smidgen of garlic powder and a generous sprinkling of poultry seasoning before you coat the chicken pieces.

in a pan. Pour the sauce over the fowl and marinate for  $1\frac{1}{2}$  hours. Save the sauce for broiling. Put the chicken over a bed of hot charcoal (12 inches to 14 inches above), baste with sauce, and turn occasionally, broiling until done.

WEST TEXAS PECAN PIE

Beat 9 eggs until light and fluffy. Add  $\frac{3}{4}$  cup sugar,  $\frac{3}{4}$  cup white corn syrup,  $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup pecans. Pour mixture into pie shell and bake for 10 minutes at 400 degrees F.; then turn heat down to 250 degrees F. and bake for an hour.

On Lincoln's Birthday Prepare A Luscious Partified Dessert

Observance of the birthday of immortal Abraham Lincoln will be celebrated Feb. 12. This calls for an extra special dessert, colorful and delectable, for either the family dinner or an informal party.

A cherry gelatin dessert may boast a flag on top. This can be done by placing a flag pattern on top of red gelatin after it has been molded and then spreading whipped cream and shredded coconut around the outline.

Here is the recipe for such a gelatin dessert. There are also recipes for other confections:

CHERRY GELATIN

1 package cherry-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 cup cold water
 $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon almond extract
10 double lady fingers, separated
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup chopped maraschino cherries
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup cream, whipped and sweetened
1-3 cup shredded coconut

LINCOLN CAKE

3 cups sifted enriched flour
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
 $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup butter or margarine
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cups sugar
3 eggs, unbeaten
1 cup milk
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup unsulphured molasses
 $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon cinnamon
 $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon cloves
Heat oven to 350 degrees F.

LINCOLN LOGS

$\frac{1}{2}$  pound milk chocolate
3 cups whole wheat shreds
 $\frac{1}{4}$  pound semi-sweet chocolate bits
Melt chocolate over hot but not boiling water; stir in cereal. Drop by tablespoonfuls onto wax paper; with two forks shape mixture into logs. Allow to set until chocolate hardens. Yields 12 logs (3 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches long, 1-inch wide).

CHICKEN PREPARED 3 NEW WAYS FOR STRAINED FOOD SET

Since small tots go for the flavor of chicken in such a big way, a company is adding three new chicken varieties to its line of strained meats for babies. Chicken a la King, Chicken with Sweet Potatoes, and Chicken with Rice are designed to add interest and variety to baby's meals without making additional work for a busy mother.

Using mostly meat, not other foods with meat added, these new meals have the body building properties that come from complete meat proteins.

In addition to being highly nutritious and satisfying, the three increase the number of foods and flavors baby knows and likes. Pediatricians have recognized that early acquaintance with a variety of foods sets up health eating habits that will stand the youngster in good stead as he grows older.

The three new chicken varieties of strained meats are packed in the familiar 3 $\frac{1}{2}$  ounce container which is so handy to use.

A complete line of strained meats for babies includes three fruit-flavored meats, nine varieties of strained meats and two egg yolk items. Most of these same products are available in a chopped form for juniors, too.

Milk for Vitamins

If you serve every member of your family a glass of milk at each meal you'll be sure both youngsters and older folk are getting vitamins and minerals they need.

Steeped Coffee

Ever prepare "steeped" coffee? To make it, pour boiling water over the coffee and let it stand over very low heat about 10 minutes. Be sure to keep the heat so low that the water doesn't simmer. Throw in a tablespoon or so of cold water and the grounds will settle. Then strain and serve at once.

Prunes In Muffins

Ever add chopped prunes to muffin batter? Soak the raw prunes in very hot water for about 15 minutes before removing the pits and chopping.

Put Your Hearts On The Table, Valentine's Day

Put your hearts on the table on Valentine's Day. Nowadays various sizes of cookie cutters, cake pans and salad molds come heart-shaped, all ready for use in baking or filling.

To grace a buffet supper party table and beguile your guests, you might like a heart-shaped potato salad with a scarlet pimiento arrow.

Directions for making this salad follow, but if you haven't a pan of the size and shape called for, use a bowl for molding and garnish with the arrow. Or spangle the top of the salad—after it is turned out—with pimiento cut out with a tiny heart-shaped cutter.

POTATO SALAD

Ingredients:
9 medium-sized potatoes (3 pounds)
2-3 cup real mayonnaise
1 cup finely diced celery
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup finely chopped pimiento
1 tsp salt
 $\frac{1}{2}$  tsp white pepper
Minced onion
2 cups coarsely ground cooked ham
2 tbsps finely chopped green pepper
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup real mayonnaise
Salad greens

Radish roses

Extra pimiento

Method:

Cover potatoes (in their skins) with boiling salted water; cook rapidly until tender. Peel and dice fairly fine. While potatoes are still warm, toss with 1-3 cup mayonnaise. Allow to cool, then mix with another 1-3 cup mayonnaise, celery, pimiento, salt, pepper and onion to taste.

Mix ham, green pepper and  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup mayonnaise. Line the bottom of a 6-cup heart mold with waxed paper. Pack one-third of the potato salad in the bottom of the mold. Press another one-third of the salad around the sides of the mold. Fill center with ham mixture. Pack remaining potato salad over ham.

Chill thoroughly. Turn out on chop plate. Garnish with salad greens, radish roses and an arrow cut from pimiento strips. To serve, cut heart in half lengthwise; cut 4 to 5 wedges from each half. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Note: You may wish to add more mayonnaise and salt to the potato mixture to suit your own taste. The onion may be omitted if desired.

Glasscock 4-H Club Builds Good Record

GARDEN CITY (SC)—The Glasscock 4-H Club members, under the tutelage of County Agent Oliver West, have made one of their best records in several years. They had an unusually fine bunch of lambs, and won numerous prizes in competition. During January the members displayed lambs at Odessa, Abilene and Fort Worth. At the Fat Stock Show the members exhibited 19 lambs and won 11 ribbons. In a pen of 15 medium wool lambs the team won a third place ribbon. In the fine-wool class Ritchie Reynolds had 9th and Walter Lowe Jr. had 30th place. In the crossbred class Danna West took down 13th place, Ritchie Reynolds had 14th and 19th, while Sam Oakes was awarded 38th, Sam Oakes 29th, and in the open show of crossbred lambs Walter Lowe Jr. won 6th place. At the Abilene show the members exhibited 31 lambs and were awarded second place for a pen of 15. For pen of three fine-wool lambs, Walter Lowe Jr. won fourth place. Freddy Chaney won fifth with a crossbred lamb, while in the lightweight crossbred class Ritchie Reynolds took 26th place. In the fine-wool class, placings were as follows: Walter Lowe Jr. 20th, Barbara Cook 32nd, Bud Saunders 47th, Walter Lowe Jr. 49th and Ritchie Reynolds 67th. In the Southdown class Ritchie Reynolds took 24th place and Baylor Pruett won 33rd.

At the Odessa show where members displayed 10 lambs, Sam Oakes won second place with his lightweight fine-wool lamb. The club also won an award for having the neatest and best-looking exhibit of lambs at the show, and each member was given a western shirt. With the Garden City show concluded the first of this week, the members have two more on the season's schedule. They will take several lambs to the San Antonio show and then finish the show tour at San Angelo in March.

SILVER CITY, N.M. (P)—Eugene Sessions of Houston says he shot himself "for personal reasons of my own." Sessions was found wounded beside U.S. 80 near Lordsburg several days ago. Sessions, an honorary deputy sheriff of and poll tax collector of Harris County, made his statement yesterday to Dist. Atty. Norman Hodges and Sheriff E. N. Jackson. Sessions first told officials he had been shot by a hitchhiker he picked up. Disposition of the case awaits return of the district attorney to Silver City.

'Habitual' Hot Checker Gets Suspended Sentence

Elmer Mitchell, first man in this county to be indicted under a special state law making "habitual" practice of writing worthless checks a felony, entered a plea of guilty to such a charge before Judge Charlie Sullivan in 118th District Court Wednesday.

Because Mitchell had no other record of law violation except the habit of writing bad checks, a plea for a suspended sentence was granted by the court. He was sentenced to three years in prison and the sentence was suspended. Under the law by which Mitchell was indicted, if a person is twice convicted in county court of writing worthless checks and is involved in a third complaint, he can be charged with a felony instead of a misdemeanor. Under such an indictment, a conviction carries a term in the state penitentiary.

Three such indictments were returned by the Howard County Grand Jury last week. They were the first such indictments under this law to be reported by a Howard County Grand jury. Patsy McCrary, charged in an indictment with forgery and passing, drew a three-year suspended sentence on her plea of guilty Wednesday. Mrs. McCrary, in company with her husband, James Alfred McCrary, Ernest Williams and his wife, Jeppy Williams, came to Big Spring from Lubbock a few weeks ago and were arrested attempting to cash checks. All were indicted.

Williams, indicted on two counts of forgery and passing, also pleaded guilty Wednesday. His punishment was fixed at three years in prison on each count, the sentences to run concurrently. Allen G. Clem, charged with forgery, drew seven years in prison when he entered a plea of guilty. Officers said that Clem has a long record of law violations charged against him. G. J. Stewart, charged with defrauding with a worthless check pleaded guilty and was sentenced to three years in prison.

MEN IN SERVICE

Pvt. Ben Hitt, son of Chap. and Mrs. C. O. Hitt, 1301 Pennsylvania, is at Redstone Arsenal awaiting assignment to another Army base or permanent placement at the Alabama installation. Hitt has completed a 20-week school at the guided missile school. He took basic training at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

Pvt. Ronnie Glasscock, son of Frank Glasscock, 1604 Main, recently completed eight weeks of basic training at Ft. Chaffee, Ark. Glasscock is serving in the Army under the Reserve Forces Act program of six months active duty and 7 1/2 years of reserve duty.

Pvts. Rod Baucham, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Baucham, and Jack Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Cox, 1606 Jennings, are to finish four weeks of individual combat training at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif. this week.

The course included the latest infantry tactics, first aid, demolitions, field fortifications, and advanced schooling on weapons. Five from the Big Spring area are now taking basic Army training at Ft. Carson Colo. with the 9th Infantry Div. They are Pvts. Val Kilgore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kilgore of Lamesa; J. T. Boney, son of Mrs. Nancy Grantham of Knott; Clifford Haley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milburn Haley of Lamesa; Bill Robertson, son of H. J. Robertson of Coahoma and Mrs. George Tarver of Colorado City; and James Miller, son of Mrs. Dreble Miller of Colorado City and Robert Miller of Coahoma. Kilgore worked for Hull & Phillips before going in service, while Haley was formerly employed by Lusby Bros. Irrigation Co. Boney is a 1957 graduate of Knott High School. Robertson is a 1955 graduate of Colorado City High and attended North Texas State. Miller is a 1956 graduate of Colorado City High.

Reds 'Close' To H-Harness

MOSCOW (P)—The Soviet Union's top atomic scientist said today Soviet work toward harnessing the H-bomb to give electric power is "very close to the achievements recently reported in England."

But like his counterparts in the West, Igor V. Kurchatov added: "A number of years of intensive research by scientists of all countries will still be needed to obtain the knowledge required for the design of an industrial (thermo) nuclear reaction." Britain and the United States announced Jan. 24 that their scientists had achieved what was believed to be brief test fusion reactions in gas-filled, electrified tubes. Kurchatov, director of the Atomic Energy Institute of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, said Soviet physicists will report on their work in the fusion field at the second International Conference on Peaceful Uses of Atomic Energy. The meeting will be held in Geneva next September.

Vendor Ushers Shoe Automat

ST. JO, Tex. (P)—Robert Carlton, a shoe store owner in this town, has developed a shoe vending machine which will make it possible to run a shoe supermarket with three persons. Carlton said a store manager, a cashier and a stock boy would be able to run a full-scale shoe supermarket.

Each machine would carry a line of shoes in all sizes. The customer would select the machine carrying a line he liked, press a button and hold it until his size came to the front on a rotation arrangement, then he would take them out and try them on.

The customer would then take his shoes to the cashier and pay for them. The stock boy would keep the machines filled and the manager would oversee the operation.

Carlton said a properly equipped automat would have about 200 machines to give customers a full range of styles. He said he thinks the vendors would retail for less than $100 when mass produced.

He has built a working model and has a patent pending, Carlton said. He said the machines would pay for themselves in about one year.
