Truman Renews Demand For Controls To Avert 'Slump'

NEW PRESSES INSTALLED—A whirring hum resounded throughout the pressroom of the Avalanche-Journal Wednesday as a battery of new high speed tubular presses started rolling out editions of the paper. Six new four-page units equipped with color attachments, giving the newspaper a total press capacity of 40 pages at one time have been installed and made their first run Wednesday. Manufactured by the Duplex division of the Goss Printing Press company, the new units will run parallel with the 4-unit, 16-page Duplex on which the papers have been printed the past 20 years. The new units measure 57 feet, seven inches in length compared with the 28 feet, three inches length of the older units. Both presses are approximately eight feet wide and rise to heights of nearly 14 feet. The men in the picture are approximately half-way of the new presses. Left to right, they are: Leroy Davis, pressroom superintendent; Billy Jernigan, R. J. Hightower, Dalton Davis, members of the day press crew; Elmer J. Schneider, Jefferson City, Mo., who erected the press, and Martin Graves, Journal pressroom foreman, standing on the second deck platform. Cramped quarters prevented a camera view of the entire press. (Avalanche Staff Photo).

Curbs Seen On Scarce Items

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 — Two cabinet officers disclosed today that if Congress approves standby price control power the administration plans to place price controls on coal, fuel oil, gasoline, all other petroleum products, steel, lumber, textiles and farm machinery.

Secretary of Interior Krug told the Senate Banking committee that if a bill to re-establish price controls is enacted, he immediately will order a 60-day "freeze" of retail and wholesale prices for coal, fuel oil, gasoline and other petroleum products.

Gas Rationing Possible

Secretary of Commerce Harriman, also before the banking committee, said price ceilings on steel would be aimed at stamping out what he called the "gray market" in steel—sale of the scarce commodity at abnormally high prices.

The green light would be the power, asked of Congress by President Truman today for the third time, to impose price controls and rationing along with other restrictions contained in his 10-point anti-inflation program.

Krug said also he believed it would be necessary to allocate and "possibly" to ration fuel oil and gasoline. Allocation, generally speaking, is dividing scarce commodities among suppliers while rationing is dividing them among consumers.

Other Controls Planned

Harriman told the committee price ceilings on steel would be needed to eliminate what he called the "gray market"—the buying of steel at inflated prices because it is scarce.

He also disclosed plans for ceilings on textiles, lumber and farm machinery.

First industry reaction to the cabinet members' statements came from John D. Battle, executive secretary of the National Coal association who declared "there is no reason whatever for the government to inject itself into the bituminous coal situation at this time."

Battle said the inevitable result would be a lesser production, rather than a larger production," adding that last year's 620,000,000-ton production was "at or near an all-time high."

Army Chief Warns U. S. Must Rush Aid To Allies In Western Europe Or Increase Armed Forces

By ED CREAGH
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 — The U. S. must expect "at least political aggression by totalitarian nations" unless we send adequate help to the democracies of western Europe, Secretary of the Army Royall said today.

Royall told the Senate Foreign Relations committee that the alternative to the European recovery program now before Congress is to "immediately and measurably increase" America's armed forces.

His testimony came after senators demanded that European countries seeking U. S. aid should pledge, to help cover the cost, "hidden" billions in gold, dollars and investments held by their citizens in this country and abroad.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, replying, strongly opposed the forced sale of European dollar holdings in the U. S., but added that this government may help foreign governments get control of their citizens' U. S. assets.

This would be done only when the foreign countries want to take such action voluntarily, Snyder said during testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations committee in favor of the four-year "Marshall program" of European recovery.

Snyder estimated that Europeans have $4,800,000,000 in stocks, bonds and other assets in the U. S. A 19-member committee named by President Truman to study foreign aid reported last November that between $2,000,000,000 and $3,000,000,000 in gold and dollars is being hoarded in France alone.

Today's brisk session of the Senate committee heard Senator Hickenlooper (R-Ia) protest that the European recovery plan is "a complete donation program from top to bottom" despite administration assurances that up to 40 per cent of the aid will be repaid.

Hoarding Ban Suggested

Hickenlooper's comment came as William McChesney Martin, jr., chairman of the board of directors of the government's Export-Import bank, testified that he thought the program would succeed with "courage, timing and a

Congress Gets Demo Tax Bill

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14—President Truman told the Republican-controlled Congress today that it must give him price control, rationing and other strong anti-inflation powers or take responsibility for a possible "destructive" slump.

And congressional Democrats followed through by introducing legislation to provide the $40 "cost of living" income tax cut asked by the President for every taxpayer and dependent.

Tax Cut Proposed

The bill was offered by Rep. Dingell (D-Mich) in opposition to the $5,600,000,000 tax-cut bill which the Republican leadership of the House has promised to push through quickly.

In keeping with the President's recommendations, Dingell's bill proposes that the $3,200,000,000 lost to the government through the income tax cut be made up from higher corporation taxes. It provides a partial return to the war-time excess profits tax.

The President sent to Capitol Hill a 136-page economic report bristling with warnings of inflation and a "serious" slump.

Slump Warning Sounded

It reported the nation at a "high level of prosperity." It forecast "another year of splendid achievement." But it reported that this seeming well-being rests "on a wave of inflation which has already caused serious hardship and presents grave concern for the future."

Just as the message reached Congress, Secretary of Interior Krug testified that if price control authority is granted he will at once "freeze" the retail and wholesale prices of coal, fuel oil, gasoline and all petroleum products.

It might "possibly" be necessary to ration fuel oil, Krug told the Senate Banking committee.

Secretary of Commerce Harriman told the senators price ceilings also are planned for steel, textiles, lumber and farm machinery if the administration gets the authority.

Dingell explained that the newly-proposed corporation tax would

North, East Hit By Cold

(By The Associated Press)

A NEW cold wave moved into the Midwest Wednesday and was expected to tighten the icy grip which winter's severest weather has fastened on the eastern half of the nation and south into Florida.

Light snow in advance of the new cold front already had covered North Dakota. The fall was not expected to amount to more than one inch anywhere as the cold area spreads south and east.

The earlier cold wave, which left sub-zero readings northwestward from the Chicago area, overspread New York state Wednesday, and an overnight low of five degrees above zero was forecast for New York City.

Sub-zero temperatures remained throughout the day in some places farther north. International Falls, Minn., coldest spot in the country with a low of 30 below early Wednesday, recorded seven below at 2:30 p. m.

South Also Hit

Freezing weather extended deep into Dixie. Jacksonville, Fla., had a minimum of 32 early Wednesday and a reading of 44 at 2:30 p. m. At the same hour, Miami reported 52.

Northern Florida was expected to get another freeze Wednesday night and by Friday the new cold wave will overspread the southern states in much the same manner the current one has.

In Owensboro, Ky., where temperatures read seven above Wednesday morning, two huge electric plants—General and Westinghouse—closed through Thursday because of a lack of natural gas. The Louisville Gas and Electric Co. asked 20 industrial plants in Louisville to discontinue use of gas temporarily. At Owensboro, 2,200 workers were affected by the shutdown.

Southern California, meanwhile, was having the warmest weather in the country with maximums at Los Angeles in the 80's.

Petrillo Wins Lea Act Case

CHICAGO, Jan. 14 (AP)—James C. Petrillo won his second successive fight today to escape conviction under the Lea act Congress passed to trim his powers and then announced jubilantly he could seek additional broadcasting jobs for his 225,000 union musicians.

Federal Judge Walter J. La Buy, who conducted a bench trial of charges that Petrillo attempted to coerce Chicago radio station WAAF to hire more workers than needed, held the government did not prove its case.

After the verdict, Petrillo's attorney, Daniel Carmell, told newsmen, "the essence of this decision is that the Lea act is dead."

U. S. Attorney Otto Kerner, jr., when asked his plans, said simply "it's all over." The government cannot appeal the decision because a defendant once acquitted may not be tried again on the same charge.

Recording Work Involved

Petrillo, dapper in a dark blue shirt and bright tie, listened intently as Judge La Buy read the eight page decision. He broke out with a big grin when he heard the acquittal verdict.

Later he said happily to newsmen:

"I guess it puts a different light on the situation. The broadcasters have been telling me I cannot force them to hire more musicians than are needed. Now I can ask for additional musicians as long as they perform actual services."

Petrillo's acquittal came just two weeks after his "never ever

Romania Expected By Royalty To Recognize Greek 'State'

VIENNA, Jan. 14 (AP)—A member of the Romanian royal household enroute to exile in Switzerland said today the new Romanian republic probably will recognize the separate Communist Greek state of Markos Vafiades "in the very near future."

The abdication of King Mihai was a "direct result of Russian pressure on the Romanian government" for such recognition, said this informant who asked that his name not be disclosed for reasons of personal security. He added that the Communist foreign minister, Anna Pauker, was the real power in Romania and that Premier Petru Groza would be forced out within a month.

Adriatic City Hot Spot Of Europe

East-West Tensions Highest In Trieste

(NOTE TO READERS: This is No. 16 in a series of articles on the U. S. and British occupations in Europe. The Avalanche-Journal's editor recently returned from an inspection trip which carried him from the Adriatic to the Ruhr and from Vienna to Paris as the guest of the U. S. Army).

THE hottest spot in Europe today—not even excepting Greece—is the beautiful harbor city of Trieste, on the northeast side of the blue Adriatic.

Now a Free State, by agreement of the Big Four powers and backed up by the United Nations, Trieste is where Eastern and Western political and economic philosophies stand face-to-face across frontier lines. On one side are the British and the Americans. On the other side the troops of Jugoslavia, whose Marshall Tito is Joe Stalin's No. 1 adherent in the galaxy of Communist satellite nations.

Originally a part of Italy, the Free State of Trieste was set up to give Jugoslavia an outlet to the even seas by way of the Adriatic. This should make Jugoslavia happy, but it doesn't. Jugoslavia isn't satisfied with a Free State outlet to the world's ports. It wants Trieste for itself and on one occasion started out to take it. It was deterred only by the quick thinking and courage of an American Army captain, who dragged up a couple of tanks and told the Jugoslav commander that it wouldn't be smart for him to fire on the U. S. Flag.

The Jugoslav general took the hint and withdrew his troops which had been massed on the frontier.

Disorders Are Not Unusual

We of our party of 14 touring editors felt it "in the air." Trieste the tenseness of the situation.

Just as the Jugoslavs are unhappy over not geting Trieste for their own, the Italian populace is unhappy over the Free State's being carved off Italy.

On top of that, the Americans and British, representing one philosophy, face the Jugoslavs—or "Jugs," as our people call them—representing another. They simply don't see things in the same light.

As a result there have been snipings between the troops on the frontier, bombs tossed in the streets, and other disorders of a violent nature.

RECENTLY the news wires have been fairly well loaded with information regarding the situation in Trieste.

It doesn't take a seer to note immediately upon arrival in

Among the more important events connected with the Free State, from our American angle at least, has been the dispatch of U. S. Marines to nearby points in the Mediterranean. Fleet Admiral Chester Nimitz bluntly said the Marines were going to the Mediterranean to back up our troops in the Free State. My observations in Trieste scarcely a month ago were that such backing is necessary.

The news reports have set out that we and the British have 10,000 troops in Trieste and that the occupying "Jugs" have considerably more on their side of the line. At any rate, we know—and I saw—that we and the British are overpowered, numerically, at "Europe's Powder Keg."

With this point in mind, I questioned Maj. Gen. Bryant Moore, our commander in Trieste, about what would happen if the "Jugs" marched some not-so-fine night. General Moore's answer was restricted for security reasons, but I can say that he is not too worried over the prospects.

If the "Jugs" should march, our people in Trieste, it seems to me, would be in the same position our people were in at Corregidor at the beginning of World War II.

Of course, we probably could bring planes in from England, from North Africa—if we have any there — and from carriers in the Mediterranean in a matter of a few hours. But if the "Jugs" struck fast enough, and we were caught with our pants down—as we were at Pearl Harbor—our people in Trieste would be heroes, but dead heroes, and there wouldn't be anything very pleasant about that.

Would Stalin Support Tito?

Our top people in Trieste, and their British counterparts, as well, do not expect any surprise armed action on the part of Tito.

They do not think Stalin would let Tito march on Trieste and they further think that if Tito did so on his own accord, Stalin would not back him up.

Perhaps they are right in their thinking. But it appears to most Americans, that figuring what Stalin might do under any given circumstance is a pretty precarious practice.

The Russian mind is Oriental and works in the opposite to

U. S. Will Open Base In Africa

LONDON, Jan. 14 (AP) — The United States will soon reopen Mellaha, highly strategic air base near Tripoli in North Africa which American transport planes used as a landing field during the war, it was disclosed today.

U. S. air officials in Europe said the base was being reopened "because of additional supply-carrying transport flights necessary to serve American missions in the Middle East, including the mission to Greece, and the air base at Dhahran in Saudi Arabia."

British To Move Troops

At the same time the British disclosed that "large" numbers of the 70,000 British troops in Palestine will move to Cyprus soon to make that island a key point in Britain's eastern Mediterranean.

There was speculation that the twin moves were timed to discourage recognition by Soviet satellites of the separate Greek Communist "state" proclaimed by the guerrilla chieftain, Markos Vafiades.

Soviets Score Action

The Moscow radio has stepped up recently its barrage against United States naval maneuvers in the Mediterranean, the dispatch of 1,000 Marines to reinforce the Mediterranean fleet, and the continued presence of some 5,000 British soldiers in Greece.

(Secretary of Defense Forrestal said in Washington the Tripolitan base was "not an air base in the military sense" but a "way station on a trunk line to Athens," and that the the United States had no plan for rebuilding an air base system in Africa.)

U. S. Employe Admits Deals

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14—A congressional employe who acknowledged a number of transactions in the grain markets told a Senate committee inquiring into speculation today that he never had access to "inside information."

John Kerr Rose, a geographer for the Library of Congress, told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee that he had made more than a dozen oats and wheat transactions during 1947 and that he suffered a net loss of $1,744.75.

His testimony, taken in a secret session with the committee, was made public immediately afterwards when Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) announced that the committee agreed it should be read back to reporters.

Inside Information Denied

Rose, who said he owns a farm in Illinois and who has been employed by the library since Oct. 1, 1946, testified that he regards as "inside information" only such data as advance reports on crop estimates and food purchasing programs.

"Neither of these is available to me," he said. "I have not had them or tried to get them nor would I have used them."

Rose acknowledged that he made one wheat transaction last Sept. 20 at a time when he was helping to compile a world food report for the so-called Herter committee on Foreign Aid in the House.

He said he has had small market transactions for the past 12 or 13 years. Recently, he said, he has suffered "losses (which) have been substantial, but not ruinous. I am not contemplating suicide."

Four Desperadoes Seen Near Hillsboro

Six Prisoners Still Sought Over State

(By The Associated Press)

ANGLETON, Jan. 14 — Six hunted convicts, the last of 11 who executed a tricky daylight break yesterday, continued to elude capture tonight after a guard was fired and a warden transferred in a prison shakeup resulting from a bold escape from Darrington prison farm.

Four of the desperadoes, travelling in a 1947 Ford coach, were seen today near Hillsboro, some 200 miles north of here, where they accosted a farmer and stole his overalls after he said he had no money.

Officers were unable to pick up their trail.

Whereabouts of the other two was a complete mystery, and Col. Homer Garrison, director of the State Department of Public Safety, announced tonight at Austin that the intensified search was now general.

He said he was without leads.

Five were captured last night at Nacogdoches, where officers spotted them riding in a stolen car. They gave up without resisting, although armed.

Darrington Warden Transferred

O. B. Ellis, completing his second week as general manager of the far-flung prison system, said Guard Luther Dowell was dismissed and Warden David Coers was transferred to Eastham prison farm because of the break, which Ellis said came as a "result of nothing but carelessness."

The convicts escaped from the farm, where some of the state's toughest criminals are held, when they overpowered the guard, mounted on a horse, bound him and escaped with his gun.

The "waterboy" of the working detail approached him on the pretext of offering him a drink of water.

Coers was replaced by R. R.

European Socialists Described As Bulwark Against Communism

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14—European Socialists are "among the strongest bulwarks in Europe against Communist," the State department told Congress today.

It explained that this is so because Socialists believe in democracy, fundamental freedoms such as those of speech and religion, and individual rights.

The view was set forth in a summary of the European political situation presented to Congress by Truman administration agencies as a basis for legislative action on the Marshall recovery program.

These analyses showed that the State department considers that "France is the key to democracy" in western Europe and that it expects new Communist efforts to prevent French recovery and bring on "a Communist dictatorship" if possible.

They also show that in the opinion of American foreign policy makers should Britain fail to regain its "world position" the "stabilizing influence which it has heretofore exercised in many stra-

Lubbock Youth Suffers Memory Loss In Motorcycle Accident

Fifteen-year-old Jack Garner late Wednesday night was suffering from loss of memory resulting from a slight concussion after having had an accident on a motor scooter, probably about 5 p. m.

Young Garner, stepson of Sgt. and Mrs. C. M. Tomlin of 2010 Ninth, was given emergency treatment at Lubbock Memorial hospital, where it was determined he had a slight concussion and a knee contusion. He was taken home after treatment, and a doctor expressed belief his memory would return within 24 hours.

He could not remember where his accident had occurred, or when.

A police report indicated he arrived at the Knox Thomas residence, 2309 Eighteenth, with the motorcycle in damaged but driveable condition. The Thomases took him to the hospital.

Garner is employed by Reeves Photo Engraving company, 1719 Broadway, as a delivery boy. He was wearing a helmet.

ROUTE 'CANNOT BE CHANGED'

Request That Freedom Train Stop At Lubbock Is Rejected

THE Freedom Train isn't going to make a stop in Lubbock or in any other West Texas point not on its original schedule, J. Edward Shugrue, national director of the American Heritage, has informed Con. Geo. Mahon, Senators Tom Connally and W. Lee O'Daniel and others interested in the movement to change the train's itinerary.

"There is no possibility of including Lubbock in the Freedom Train itinerary at this late date, as much as we would like to do so," Shugrue said in a letter to Cong. Mahon, copies of which were forwarded to Mrs. J. E. Hartley, president of the Lubbock Parent-Teacher council; A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, and others.

"Since the Freedom Train must cover 33,000 miles and visit every state of the union in less than one year's time, we have been forced to limit the number of stops made in each state," Shugrue's letter continued. "The schedule for the state of Texas has already been so crystallized that no changes or additions are possible at this time. We would gladly bend every effort to secure the inclusion of

Jewish Squads Explode Bombs Attack On Arab Settlements

JERUSALEM, Jan. 14 (AP)—Jewish bomb squads attacked two Arab communities on the outskirts of Jerusalem again tonight in a desperate effort to blast open a route to Hebrew University and Hadassah hospital, isolated on Mount Scopus.

Eight thundering explosions followed by fire from heavy automatic weapons shook the area of Sheikh Jarrah and Nashashibi and police said it was the heaviest of three assaults launched in the past 24 hours.

Villages Said Surrounded

The two Arab communities north of Damascus gate lie athwart the only road the Jews can take to Mt. Scopus. Arab snipers have made the route, which leads also to the Jewish cemetery on the Mount of Olives, a virtual path of terror.

Three columns of uniformed Arabs converged during the day on a cluster of three Jewish communities on the road between Bethlehem and Hebron, and a government announcement tonight said one village had been completely surrounded and placed under siege.

The announcement said the village, Kraf Etzion, was under fire from a "large body of Arabs," but that as far as was known casualties were small. Government security forces "are in constant touch and ready to act as the developing situation demands," the statement added.

Hagana, the Jewish militia, said in a broadcast tonight that 100 Arabs were killed and 100 wounded in this fighting, but there was no confirmation from any other source. Hagana said only five Jews were wounded.

Competent sources reported 18 deaths in the day's violence from various parts of the Holy Land. The killings brought to 728 the unofficial count since the Nov. 29 decision of the United Nations to partition Palestine.

Developments pointed to the prospect of continued and even greater bloodshed, rather than any diminishing of violence.

In the Arab coastal city of Jaffa the streets were thronged with Syrians, Iraqi, and Trans-Jordanians mingling with Palestinians awaiting orders to move against the adjoining modern Jewish city of Tel Aviv.

Arab informants said that if full-scale war comes it cannot be won unless Tel Aviv falls. On the other hand the Jews believe that as long as they hold Tel Aviv, partition and Jewish statehood are possible

Record Number Of Births Is Reported In State Past Year

AUSTIN, Jan. 14 (AP)—A record-smashing 195,000 new Texans were born throughout the state last year, exceeding the 1946 former record of 180,00, State Health Officer George W. Cox reported today.

The excess of births over 61,000 deaths for the year in Texas gave the state a natural increase in population of 134,000 persons, Dr. Cox said.

The health officer predicted that 1947 would see the general death rate begin an upward trend.

Library Reading In County Shows Boost

Lubbock county read considerably more in 1947 than in 1946, a report submitted by Mrs. J. A. Humphries, county librarian, to the county commissioners court reflects.

The report showed that 126,228 volumes were circulated in the main library and its five branches in 1947, as compared with 99,570 in 1946. There were 10,895 registered borrowers, made up of 8,116 adults and 2,779 juveniles, as compared with 9,341, made up of 7,071 adults and 2,270 juveniles, in 1946.

The 1947 report showed that Lubbock's main library circulated 86,282 volumes. In the branches, Idalou circulated 10,636, Slaton 8,486, Shallowater 15,189, Wolfforth 3,196, and Monroe 2,439.

Circulation showed 53,681 borrowings of adult fiction, 11,037 of adult non-fiction, 9,515 of periodicals, 44,384 of juvenile fiction, and 7,611 of juvenile non-fiction.

On Jan. 1, 1947, the library had 19,757 catalogued volumes. During the year, 1,467 new volumes were added, 129 withdrawn, leaving 21,095 volumes, in addition to 47 periodicals subscribed for, Mrs. Humphries said.

Mrs. R. G. Guthrie, 533 Pecan St., Abilene, Texas, lost 40 pounds taking Barcentrate. I lost about 25 pounds in about six weeks and then I continued until I had lost 40 pounds. People really marvelled at my success and besides looking so much better Barcentrate keeps me feeling fine."
We have hundreds of endorsements similar to the above from people all over Texas, who have lost from 10 to 50 pounds taking Barcentrate. Over a million bottles sold in Texas in three years and still only $2.69 per bottle.

Eisenhower May Risk Support Of Regular GOP In Campaign

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower may risk any chance for the ultimate backing of regular Republican organizations in several states if he fails to stamp out the independent presidential draft movement now underway.

The Army Chief of Staff has said several times that he has no interest in politics. But thus far he has not otherwise repudiated moves by the Draft Eisenhower League to put delegates into a number of GOP primaries.

Senator Is Supporter

While this move has the backing in New Hampshire of Senator Charles Tobey, Eisenhower enthusiasts elsewhere seem likely to be drawn from persons outside of and often at odds with the regular GOP organizations in the states concerned.

As a case in point, one Republican in close touch with the situation said privately that Eisenhower has had a better-than-fair chance for darkhorse support from the powerful Pennsylvania Republican organization. But, this party member added, the general may forfeit that chance if he does not disavow immediately a move in his behalf there.

This move is headed by N. B. Williams, jr., who has announced that a slate of Eisenhower-pledged candidates will be entered in the state's April 27 primary. Williams' group has not always seen eye to eye with the regular organization.

Thus some Pennsylvania politicians say the regular organization, which in the past has controlled the state's 73 convention votes, feels less kindly toward Eisenhower than if he had put his foot down on the independent movement.

The independents contend, however, that the general had small chance of getting this support in any event.

Eisenhower supporters have indicated they also may invade the primary field in such states as Illinois, Wisconsin and Nebraska. In few of these are they expected to find the regular party organization receptive.

Navy Advisory Group Chosen

An advisory council which replaces the former steering committee that directed initial phases of plans for the Naval Reserve armory being constructed on Texas Technological college campus was announced Wednesday by Lt. Marvin Hunter, Naval Reserve recruiting officer here.

Dr. R. T. Canon, captain in the U. S. Naval Reserve who has served almost 30 years in the Reserve, is chairman of the advisory council. Other members and ranks in the reserve are J. J. Wiley, commander; G. C. (Mule) Dowell, lieutenant; Ralph Brock, lieutenant; Carroll Smyers, lieutenant; Lloyd Croslin, lieutenant; John Ruhmann, lieutenant commander, commanding officers of the Civil Engineering corps unit; Leon Harris, ensign; W. C. Clark, lieutenant; C. K. Whiteside, lieutenant; John E. Vickers lieutenant, commanding officer of the Organized Surface division, and the following not in the Reserve: W. T. Gaston, business manager of Texas Technological college; C. A. Bestwick, mayor, and Sterling Parrish, state senator.

All three members of the original steering committee, Dowell, Brock and Vickers, are members of the advisory council.

The original steering committee chose the site for the armory, negotiated with Texas Tech in lease for the land, and recommended the commander and executive officer of the organized division of the Naval Reserve which has been established and will use the armory. The advisory council will render local assistance to the Naval Reserve organized division, Hunter said.

Fight For Municipal Airport At Houston Gets Underway

HOUSTON, Jan. 14 (U.P.)—The fight for and against a new municipal airport moved into the preliminary stage today before the showdown Jan. 31 when a vote will be taken to determine whether the city will acquire a 4,000-acre tract for an airport site in Bellaire.

Opponents of the proposal termed the project "a selfish real estate deal." However, oilman Glenn H. McCarthy, one of the leading advocates of the Bellaire site for a super-airport, said the project was not his.

He said that 10 men including himself secured the land "on an option arrangement which will stand the sharpest investigation."

McCarthy has long insisted that a new airport, expected to cost more than $14,000,000, is needed to keep pace with Houston's growth.

A billion dollar investment is not enough

A personal message from the President of the Santa Fe

Santa Fe's total investment in road and equipment is well over a billion dollars.

The exact figure is $1,341,266,145.94.

Many people think a billion dollars is a lot of money —and it is.

But all values are relative. For a small business an investment of a few thousand dollars may be adequate. Larger firms require millions.

A railroad deals in big figures because it must own not only tracks, but the land on which to lay the tracks; it must own not only the engines and cars which comprise the trains, but yards and terminals to handle the freight and passengers it carries.

And we are face to face with the fact that for the Santa Fe today an investment of a billion three hundred million is not enough.

The New Western World

Along Santa Fe lines in the West and Southwest, big things have happened. This territory, long the great American frontier, has always been dynamic in its strength and growth, and has now truly "come into its own."

The states served by Santa Fe lead the nation in growth. In the past seven years the population has shown remarkable increases. Medium-sized cities have become new metropolitan areas, and new towns have grown up in many sections along our right-of-way.

Coincident with this population growth is a great new expansion in agriculture, livestock, lumber, manufacturing and other industries in the West and Southwest. Steel, metal fabrication, chemical, plastics and many other new plants have sprung up. Employment is at an all-time peak.

Santa Fe must expand, too, with the growth of these new developments, because Santa Fe is a very important traffic artery of this territory.

People in the New West

The people of this great New West are not the same people who have always been there. The war changed them. Their needs are different. There are more of them. More of them are new. So the total needs of the territory have grown.

And that means Santa Fe must supply more and more transportation in the modern manner.

The Cost of Progress

Plans for Santa Fe's development with the growth of the territory and for providing modern and efficient transportation services call for large expenditures for additions and replacements. Only by the continued utilization of the best tools and facilities can efficient and economical transportation services be provided.

These are carefully thought-out programs for progress. And you, the American public, have a right to this kind of progress.

Santa Fe now has on order more than $63,000,000 worth of new locomotives, freight cars and passenger cars—and that is in addition to the millions required for improvements in road property and existing equipment.

The cost of modern railroad equipment is approximately twice that of twenty years ago; in some cases it is more than double.

Expansion and improvement programs at today's high costs of capital goods are dependent upon financial stability, of which the first essential is an adequate return on the investment.

There is no secret or mysterious process by which a railroad can secure money. Rates for its services must be sufficient to produce adequate earnings, now and in the future. That is the only way a railroad can pay a fair return to those who already have money invested in the property, and the only way to obtain additional cash or sound credit necessary to carry on its improvement programs.

We have an obligation to expand with the New West. The Santa Fe must go forward.

PLENTY OF USES

THERE is plenty of dried fruits at lower prices on the market this winter and the thrifty housewife will find plenty of uses for them.

Louise Mason, extension food preparation specialist for Texas A. and M. college, says, for instance, that dried fruits are always a good choice for a confection for children, as they offer some vitamins A, B, and G, some mineral value, particularly iron, copper, calcium phosphorous and potassium, as well as natural fruit sugar. Run the fruits through the meat grinder, using the medium cutting plate, mix with a small amount of lemon or orange juice and some grated rind, form into small balls and roll in granulated or powdered sugar. Nut meats may be chopped along with the fruit in the grinder.

If the dried fruits are chopped or cut up, Miss Mason says, their sweetness and flavor will spread more evenly through cakes, cookies, puddings or other baked mixtures. Dip the kitchen scissors in water, or rub the blades with butter as that will help to keep the fruit from sticking to the blades.

And if the fruit is first dusted with a part of the sifted dry ingredients, it will be more evenly distributed through the mixture to be baked.

STEWART'S DOUBLE

If Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham, personal physician to President Truman, should resign from his job, we have a hunch he might be able to sign a contract in Hollywood with a film company looking for an answer to the threat posed by Jimmy Stewart. If one may judge from radio broadcasts, the young doctor has a voice and mannerisms like Stewart's.

For the picture of a young man caught in the snarls of committee questioning; a young man thoroughly confused under cross examination and a young man who stammered and groped for the words he wanted and had no luck in finding them, we refer you to the wire transcription of the case given over KFYO Tuesday night.

Frank Capra, who brought fame to himself and to Stewart in the memorable "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," could not have directed a better scene of a young man, who, to the casual listener, wanted to make a honest dollar as soon as possible and yet wanted to remain within the bounds of decency and honor in doing so.

The committee isn't through with General Graham, of course, and they may be able to trip him and to prove (to their own satisfaction at least) that he used secret knowledge in advising his broker to buy commodities. But they will have to use different tactics to those employed the first day and we hope somehow that the picture doesn't turn out that way. He sounds like an awfully nice guy and we hope his real character is in keeping with his voice.

ON NUTRITION

BERYL Cline, teacher at O. L. Slaton Junior High school, is represented in the January issue of "The Texas Outlook," official publication of the Texas State Teachers association, with an article, "Nutrition in the Fourth Grade."

She outlines and evaluates the results of a nutrition unit, "Food for the Growing Boy and Girl," taught in two fourth grade rooms at Roscoe Wilson school, which featured a rat-feeding experiment to supplement class discussion.

FACIAL MANNERS

A BEAUTY columnist recently bemoaned the practice of many women who grimace, squint, compress their lips, narrow their lids or wrinkle their noses in talking. Have an animated chat with yourself, she advises, and stand before the mirror as you do so. If your reflection reveals habitual mannerisms, begin now to get rid of them.

If you practice expressionless speech for a few days, you'll be able to discipline your face as firmly when you talk to others, she says. Learn to have a poke face and let your eyes express what you are thinking, whether gaiety, sympathy, excitement or expectancy.

When eyes are entrusted to the job, you will have no further worry about facial poise, concludes the beauty editor.

But, what about those of us who like to see people smiling and who don't mind parentheses around mouths if they are caused from constant laughter. Somehow we picture one with the expression of Ned Sparks when we read such advice.

The writer likes to think of facial lines as being developed by character, rather than age. Some grimaces are annoying it's true, but others are intriguing.

French Non-Communists Name Officers To Curb Reds' Power

PARIS, Jan. 14 (AP)—Non-Communist deputies elected their own list of National Assembly officers tonight in a move to forestall the possibility of the Communists' gaining control of a provisional French government during national elections.

Ending a 24-hour deadlock in the Assembly, the non-Communist majority elected Socialist Max Le Jeune first vice-president. The deadlock began yesterday when the Communists insisted that their legislative leader, Jacques Duclos, be re-elected to the post.

Reds Leave Assembly

The first vice-presidency currently is a key post because Assembly President Edouard Herriot, radical Socialist former premier, is ailing. In the event of the 76-year old Herriot's death or inability to preside over the Assembly sessions, the first vice-president would take over his duties. If the Assembly were dissolved by a call for national elections, the presiding officer of the Assembly would head the provisional government.

The non-Communist vote was taken tonight after the Communists had left the chamber.

Communists Are Named

Despite the Communists' absence, the Assembly elected a slate of officers which included Duclos as third vice-president and Mme. Madeleine Braun, also a Communist, as fourth vice-president.

Maurice Violette, 77-year old Centrist, took the chair after Communist Marcel Cachin, 78, Communist pro tem presiding officer, declared the session adjourned and, with his colleagues, refused to return to the chamber. The Assembly's seniority committee ruled that Violette could replace him.

In the French Assembly the oldest member is the temporary chairman until the elected president takes over.

Violette adjourned the session until tomorrow, when he will call for the installation of the new officers. Herriot was elected president Tuesday.

As the deputies filed out of the chambers, Communists lingering in the corridors shouted, "Americans, down with Americans" and "gum chewers."

Employment Commission Refers 210 Persons To Jobs In Week

A total of 210 persons were referred to jobs during the past week by the Lubbock office of the Texas Employment commission, a report issued yesterday showed. Of the number, 129 were male and 81 female.

From the referrals 159 hires were verified, of which 95 were male and 64 female. War 2 veterans calling at the office during the week on various missions numbered 462, and first-time registrants for work totaled 179, of which 54 were War 2 veterans.

Job openings yesterday numbered 121, and the office reported a shortage of calls for labor, with more laborers available than job openings. Job openings were classified as: business and professional 43 (stenographer, general office clerk, bookkeeper, typist, salesperson; skilled 21 (turret lathe operator, auto mechanic, seamstress, cabinet maker, welder, printer); semi-skilled 5 (service station attendant, silk blocker); services 43 (cook, maid, porter, waitress); labor 9.

Although, Milan, Italy, was founded in ancient times, its relics of antiquity are few because the city was burned several times.

Captain Of Ship Praises Crew For Fight Against Fire At Sea

By JAMES CALOGERO
Associated Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 14—A rescue ship today brought back 27 men who survived fire on the high seas on the Army "funeral transport" Joseph V. Connolly and their captain called them a notable ships crew from which he couldn't single out a hero.

Three injured and all of them worn from 12 hours in lifeboats in the winter rain of the Atlantic, the 26 seamen and an Army captain passenger made port in a dawn rainstorm aboard the Black Diamond line freighter Union Victory.

On Way To Antwerp

Nineteen of their mates—the Connolly carried a crew of 45—were picked out of their lifeboats by the U. S. S. Gen. R. E. Callan after fire flashed through the Connolly early Monday about 900 miles east of New York. The Callan is en route to Bremerhaven.

The Connolly, which returned the first World War II dead from Europe, was on a similar mission with a cargo of 6,445 empty caskets and bound for Antwerp when the sea disaster struck.

Capt. Ben A. Bostelman of Brooklyn, N. Y., said: "I couldn't pick out a hero. Everybody fought the fire with every ounce of strength. The entire crew performed notably."

Several Are Injured

Crewmen, however, nominated as a hero Fireman Floyd Sellers of Whiteville, N. C., who was badly burned when flames broke out in the engine room.

Wrapped in a blanket in a lifeboat, Sellers was about to be lifted aboard the rescue ship in a wicker basket litter. Just then oiler Boleslaw Gorski, exhausted from his try to climb the shipside ladder, tumbled back into the lifeboat.

Crewmen reported that Sellers said:

"Never mind me. Use the basket for Gorski and get him aboard."

Gorski, of Philadelphia, was most critically injured. Also hurt was utility steward Leon Sutphin of Bradley Beach, N. J.

Capt. Bostleman said the crew "battled the fire furiously" and that he ordered the big transport abandoned "when the heat and fury of flames made it impossible to stay aboard any longer."

"I think the full credit of the rescue should go to the (Army) plane that sighted us," Capt. Bostelman said.

TRANSPORT SURVIVOR—Boleslaw Gorski of Philadelphia, Pa., injured in the burning of the Army transport Joseph V. Connolly, is carried ashore in a litter at Halifax, Nova Scotia, from the S. S. Union Victory. (AP Wirephoto).

Drunk Driving Case Continued By Judge Davies In Court Here

Case of the State against Joe Rogers Dillard, 19, charged with drunk driving, was continued by Judge Walter Davies in county court Wednesday morning, because of a defense witness' child, in a Dallas hospital.

The motion was made by the law firm of Dillard, Cook and Dillard. County Attorney John Steele and assistant County Attorney Tom Gordon represent the state.

Steele said a jury panel that was dismissed after Judge Davies' ruling on the motion returns at 10 o'clock Friday morning for trial of a liquor law violation charge naming Bert Smith, 45, of Slaton.

Rites For Publisher Ed Howard Set Today

WICHITA FALLS, Jan. 14 (AP)—The publishing company he built will close down tomorrow for funeral services for Ed Howard, 81, a Texas newspaper publisher for six decades.

Howard died in a hospital here last night. He had been in failing health for several months. Today in the same hospital, his widow, who went to the hospital on Christmas day, lay critically ill.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. at the First Presbyterian church with the minister, Dr. Karl F. Wettstone officiating. All offices of the Times publishing company will be closed from 1:30 p. m. to 4 p. m. and radio station KTRN will be off the air during that period.

Howard was publisher of the Wichita Falls Times and Record News. He began his newspaper career when he was 13 years old as a printer's apprentice in Chattanooga, Tenn. He came to Texas in 1887 to assist his brother in publishing the Wolfe City Chronicle in Hunt county. He married Miss Jettie Maloney, daughter of a pioneer Texas family, in 1891 and soon afterward moved to Wichita Falls.

He is survived by the widow; two sons, Rhea Howard, secretary-treasurer of the Times Publishing Co., and Leslie Howard, classified advertising manager of the firm; a granddaughter, Mrs. James B. Barnett, and three great-grandchildren, all of Wichita Falls.

Woman Burned Fatally While Seeking Children In Fire

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Jan. 14 (UP)—Burns suffered when she ran back into her blazing home in the mistaken belief that her children were trapped proved fatal today for Mrs. Frances May Miller, 36, wife of a Lenapah, Okla., gas field employe.

Oce Miller, husband of the victim, said his wife was first burned when she attempted to light a bathroom stove, causing an accumulation of gas from a leaky pipe to explode. The family of five children and three adults, including Mrs. Miller's mother, rushed outside.

Panicky, the mother failed to note that all her children were safe. She went back into the fiery structure and collapsed. Her husband received burns on the hands in rescuing her.

Funeral services for Mrs. Bessie Jones, 53, of 1408 Ave. M, who was pronounced dead at Lubbock Memorial hospital about 12:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Broadway Church of Christ, with Dr. M. Norvel Young, minister, officiating.

Rix Funeral home will direct burial in Memorial Park cemetery.

An autopsy was ordered by Justice of Peace D. W. Robertson Wednesday morning to determine cause of death of Mrs. Jones, who was rushed to the hospital in a Rix ambulance after she became ill. Relatives told authorities she had eaten a late supper, including sardines.

A verdict in the inquest conducted by Justice of Peace Robertson will not be made until a report is received from the state chemist, after his examination of stomach contents of Mrs. Jones, the justice of peace said.

Surviving Mrs. Jones are two daughters, Mrs. D. F. Smith, of Lubbock, and Mrs. Marjorie Blackwood, of Crosbyton; two sons, Weldon, of Bovina, and Jack, a student in Abilene Christian college; two sisters, Mrs. Roby Peak, of Pasadena, Calif., and Mrs. P. B. Grissom, of McAdoo; and four brothers, Lloyd Gaddy, of Seagraves, M. D. Gaddy, of Muleshoe, Hoy Gaddy, of Salinas, Calif., and T. G. Gaddy, of Goodland.

Attendance at Chris Harwell school increased Wednesday in spite of numerous anonymous telephone calls received by members of the school board and other Lubbock business men requesting support for a group of parents' boycott of the school because of a boiler they alleged was unsafe.

Of the 395 students enrolled, 150 attended classes Wednesday, as compared with only 131 Tuesday, officials said.

To Make Inspection

From H. L. Allen, chairman of the board of trustees of the Lubbock Independent school district, came word that an inspector from the Hartford Insurance company and a state boiler inspector were on their way to Lubbock to make a thorough inspection of the boiler.

"No one seems to want to take our word that the heating system is safe, so we're going to have these men give their report," Allen said. He said he saw no need of calling a meeting of the school board on the matter until these boiler inspectors had made their reports. The petition signed by the parents group had asked for a meeting of the board.

"If I had a child and lived in the Chris Harwell school district, it would be in attendance at the school," Allen said. "I believe every other member of the school board would say the same thing."

Another member of the school board, who said he had received a large number of anonymous telephone calls from various people regarding the Chris Harwell situation, termed the boycott "something" started by a group of alarmists who have some sort of axe to grind and are trying to use the situation as a cover up."

Several Lubbock business men reported today they had received numerous telephone calls from people residing in the area asking for support in the boycott movement.

In the meantime classes continued as usual at the school with end of the semester tests being conducted in the upper grades. Report cards will be given out next Tuesday only to those in attendance, Supt. Matthews said.

Town Said Captured By Greek Guerrillas

ATHENS, Jan. 14 (AP)—Unofficial reports said tonight that guerrilla bands had succeeded in capturing the village of Arakhova, nine miles south of Karpenissi in the rugged mountain area of south central Greece.

A battle for the village started yesterday. No other information was available in Athens on the fighting.

New detailed reports were lacking from the more critical battle area of northwestern Greece, and from the Mount Parnassus region 75 miles northwest of Athens.

Supreme Court Acts On Cases

AUSTIN, Jan. 14—The Supreme Court today formally and unanimously adopted the last opinion developed by the late chief justice James P. Alexander.

The opinion—which also was the first to be signed by J. E. Hickman as chief justice—had been dictated but not drafted in its final form by Alexander. It dealt with a vegetable acreage dispute in San Patricio county, and remanded a cross-action in the case to district court for new trial.

Hotel Decision Affirmed

The court today also:

Left in effect the judgment of the San Antonio Court of Civil appeals in a legal dispute between Myla Baker and Earl M. Baker over ownership of stock in the Gunter Hotel corporation. The effect of the decision was final affirmation of the case in favor of Baker. Myla Baker had sued for two-thirds of the stock in the corporation, with an accounting or damages.

Agreed to review a case from Corpus Christi in which two cab companies are seeking recovery of fees they claim they paid to the city under duress. The ordinance under which the fees were paid has been declared invalid, a new law designed to validate such ordinances has been passed, and reimbursements of the cab concerns for fees paid was the only point at issue.

El Paso Case Reviewed

Also left standing was a court of civil appeals judgment leaving in effect an injunction against the city of El Paso annexing the township of Ascarate.

The trial court's judgment had already been modified by the court of civil appeals leaving the way open for future annexation action if desired.

"It may be that the interests of the city and town of Ascarate would be best subserved by annexation or consolidation (in the future)," the civil appeals court said.

The trial court upheld the organization of Ascarate township, which began when residents petitioned the county judge for an election on Dec. 16, 1946, just a few hours before the El Paso city government started its annexation proceeding. The election to organize Ascarate succeeded.

Burglaries At Spur Are Investigated; Loot Is Said Small

SPUR, Jan. 14. (Special)—Sheriff C. C. Kimmel tonight continued investigation into burglary of four Spur buildings Tuesday night which followed similar cases Saturday night.

Two other places resisted efforts of intruders to enter, he said.

"Looks like work of the same fellows who broke into four places Saturday night and attempted to get in three or four more," the officer said.

Local Officers Helping

Sheriff Kimmel said he was being assisted in his investigation by Capt. Bob Crowder, commanding officer of the Lubbock Ranger district, and by Dep. Sheriff Earl Horton of Lubbock.

Places entered Tuesday night were Willson Lumber company, John Dunaway Service station, East Ward school, and a service station operated at Burlington and Hill by J. D. Hopkins.

Only loot reported taken was from $50 to $100 in money and a flashlight from the grocery, and $82.66 from a register of the service station, the sheriff was informed.

No Prints Found

At the lumber company, officials said they had discovered no loss, "but we were careful not to check too closely. We wanted the sheriff and his investigators to look first so they could find fingerprints, if any. But there were no prints, looks like. The burglars seem to have worn gloves."

The burglars attempted to get into a safe at the lumber yard and, failing, ransacked desks, turned over adding machines and typewriters and scattered papers.

The lumber yard is a half-block off Spur's Main street.

Locks Are Broken

At the grocery store, entrance was at a front door, locks of which were broken loose. Burglars got into the unlocked cash register Dunaway said it would be expensive to repair his door.

Sheriff Kimmel said no loss had been reported to him by school officials. There was no damage done to the building, he had been told. Entrance there was through a window, as it was at the service station and the lumber yard.

Attempts were made unsuccessfully to break into William's service station, and at the Wichita Valley depot.

Texas Congressman Proposes Repeal Of Anti-Margarine Law

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP) — Rep. Poage (D-Tex), saying he believes federal anti-margarine laws are "restrictive" and "most unsavory in character," today introduced legislation for their repeal.

Poage told the House Congress "will bring credit upon itself and do the entire country a service if it tears out these anti-margarine laws by the roots and flings them where they belong—upon the scrap heap of oblivion."

He said the margarine issue is neither a sectional nor a partisan issue, and that the proposal to repeal the present laws is not an attack upon the dairy industry "or even upon the butter industry."

Conditions Changed

"Today," he said, "even the butter manufacturers themselves admit that it is impossible to supply adequate milk for America's children and at the same time supply enough butter for America's tables at any price.

"The issue now is: will we deny our citizens a wholesome table spread which the butter industry cannot supply."

He said the conditions which served "as an excuse" for the first anti-margarine laws have changed.

"I do not think that even the persons who contend that the anti-margarine laws should be continued will deny that modern margarine is a nutritious and high quality food," he said.

Poage said the anti-margarine laws were intended to "kill one domestic product for the benefit of a competitive domestic product" and that "they have failed in their purpose."

Law Said Inflationary

Poage said that if the precedent established by the first anti-margarine law had not been confined to that product alone, there would have been "economic chaos" in the United States.

"Cotton," he said, "would have placed a tax on rayon, lard a tax on vegetable shortening and so on through an endless list."

He said the law is "simply one more factor" in adding to the high cost of living and in promoting inflation.

"The real interest of the dairy industry lies in expanding its market for fluid milk and in selling its extremely valuable products in ever-increasing quantities at reasonable prices. . . . It is evident, therefore, that dairymen no longer are dependent upon butter.

"There will continue to be, of course, a market for butter. But the dairy industry as a whole will not be hurt if margarine greatly expands its present market. In fact, it will be helped if it pursues a statesmanlike course and also expands its markets in its most profitable field—that of whole fluid milk and whole milk products."

Biography Written Of Pioneer Judge Noted For Unique Prayers

AUSTIN, Jan. 14 (AP)—"Three-legged Willie" a biography of Robert McAlpin Williamson, one of the first judges under the Republic of Texas, will be published soon by the Texas State Historical association.

The book was written by Duncan Robinson, North Texas Agricultural college journalism professor, and edited at association headquarters at the University of Texas.

The author details the life of the colorful judge who fought, prayed and conducted court in the early days of Texas. The judge, according to his grandson, Judge J. D. Williamson of Waco, was well known for his unique prayers.

Before "a crowd of rustics who were in the midst of a drouth," he is said to have pledged for rain, praying in part: "Lord send us a bounteous one that will make corn ears shake hands across the row and not one of these little rizzly-drizzly rains that will make nubbins that all hell can't shuck."

The nickname "Three-legged Willie" was acquired by the judge because of a broken leg he wore as a result of an attack of "white swelling," which the author says was probably infantile paralysis.

Wife Reverses Refund Deal For Income Tax Collector

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 14 (AP) —Chief Deputy Collector J. Eben Hart of the Internal Revenue office here knows all about the income tax.

Oklahoma being a community property state for married couples, he figured he would take their one dependency benefit. That would make Mrs. Hart pay a $38.80 tax and give him a refund of $61.20.

Then he called her up and told her how much it would be.

His figures were all right, Mrs. Hart agreed. They checked with the joint return she had already filed.

Hart paid. His wife is waiting for the refund.

Pakistan Asks Broad Study Of Problems

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP)—Pakistan insisted today that the United Nations take up the whole broad question of the Indian subcontinent where communal strife and bloodshed have claimed thousands of lives since partition last Aug. 15. India in turn demanded the U. N. discuss only the fighting in Kashmir.

The new dominions set forth their positions as delegations huddled in hotel rooms here preparing for the start of security council debate tomorrow at Lake Success.

India brought the case to the council by charging Pakistan was aiding the invaders of the princely state of Kashmir and held that discussions must be limited to that point alone. The first major clash thus loomed over the scope of the debate.

Both dominions marshalled large delegations.

Sealed Coffins Said Acting As Life Preserve For Ship

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (AP) — Army officials expressed the belief today that the load of sealed coffins aboard the still burning hull of the Army transport Joseph V. Connolly is making the ship unsinkproof.

The transport, east bound for Europe, carried about 6,300 coffins intended for use in return of war dead. Army transportation experts said the coffins, sealed tightly, probably are acting as a huge life preserve for the ship and would make it virtually impossible for her to sink, even if subjected to gunfire.

A tug, en route from New York to determine whether the transport can be towed into port, is due to reach the area tomorrow. The Connolly caught fire Monday about 600 miles northeast to Bermuda. Her crew was rescued.

Changes In Directorships And Officers Of Banks Announced

Announcements of changes in directorships and officers of Lubbock's three banks were made Wednesday following annual meeting of stockholders and directors late Tuesday afternoon and Tuesday night.

Coupled with changes in directors was announcement by Walter S. Posey, president of the First National bank, that extensive remodeling of the bank had been approved by stockholders and directors. Work on the project will start about March 1 and completion is set for Sept. 1.

Use Entire Building

Plans for the project call for use of the entire building, 125 by 50 feet, for banking purposes and the moving of the vault, which now occupies the center of the building, to an enlarged basement.

Greatest change came in the list of stockholders and directors of the Citizens National bank where two South Plains bankers moved into the official family as active vice presidents and directors.

W. E. Hines, former president of the City National bank at Plainview, and John A. Hughes, former executive vice president of the First State bank at Petersburg, are the new officers and directors of the Citizens National bank here.

Seven New Directors

Seven new directors were added to the Citizens National board. They are: Paul Hardwick, B. E. Hamilton present vice presidents; Hines, Hughes, Harry Morris, Wm. Ellwood Keeney and Frank H. Chappell, jr.

The new directors and increase of stockholders to 19 came as the result of division of stock recently purchased from Sam C. Arnett, sr., former president who retired several weeks ago. Other directors of the bank are: Retha R. Martin, W. F. Eisenberg, Geo. R. Bean, E. L. Klett, and Geo. E. Benson, president.

Changes in the official bodies of the other two banks included the election of W. R. McDuffie to the board of directors of the First National bank, and Robert L. Pendleton to the board of the Lubbock National bank.

McDuffie has been vice president of the First National for several months. Pendleton, former assistant vice president of the Lubbock National, was named cashier and director and V. Lorenz Ellis was elected a vice president, and Wayne Finnell an assistant vice president.

Directors Announced

Directors of the First National bank now are: S. E. Cone, D. R. Couch, Dr. J. T. Hutchinson J. O. Jones, Geo. P. Kuykendall, Alex McDonald, E. J. Parsons, W. S. Posey and Roy Riddel.

Directors of the Lubbock National are: Dr. J. T. Krueger, W. S. Moss, C. E. Maedgen, Chas. E. Maedgen, jr., L. D. Payne, V. Lorenz Ellis, Clifford B. Jones, Claude Keeton, Elmer V. East and Pendleton.

The two new officers of the Citizens National will move to Lubbock within the near future, President Benson said this morning.

Hines came from the First National bank at Bridgeport, to Plainview in 1945. He is married and has three children, Lady Joy, Mary Ann and Embry, jr. He is a Shriner a member of Fort Worth's Moslah temple a Lion and a Methodist.

Hughes started his banking career in 1924 with the Lorenzo State bank, where he worked until December, 1935, when he went to the First State bank at Petersburg as executive vice president. He is married and has one son, John David. The family plans to move to Lubbock at the end of the present school term.

Arizona Wildcats Thump Red Raiders, 61 To 37, In Tucson

Texas Tech Is Handed Initial Defeat In Border Cage Race

TUCSON, Ariz., Jan. 14 (AP)—Showing a remarkable reversal of form, the University of Arizona handed Texas Tech its first Border conference basketball defeat in four starts here tonight, 61-37.

Last Friday Tech drubbed Arizona by 26 points as it headed home after a 6,500-mile barnstorming trip. Tonight the defending conference champs went to the front in the first 30 seconds of play and were never headed.

Arizona players swarmed all around Don Grove, Tech's 6' 5" center, who flipped in 26 points against them last week and was second in conference scoring with an 18.5 point average, and kept him to three points on free throws in the first half.

Arizona played without the services of its ace, Link Richmond, but one-eyed Morris Udall turned in a sparkling 13-point performance to lead the marksmen. Fred Enke, jr., had 10 while Bill Banks was best for the Tech Red Raiders with 9.

The defeat of the Raiders tonight gives the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys an undisputed conference lead.

The Arizona Wildcats, completely recovered from their long trip and fired up for the Raiders, jumped into a three point lead in the first minute with a foul shot by Junior Crum and field goal by John Padelford.

Chester Jackson and Ardis Barton put the Raiders into a tie after 2:45 and Crum and Padelford again clicked with baskets to make it 8-4 for the Cats.

This time a pair of foul shots by Don Grove and a basket by Bill Banks knotted the game for the second time, Udall shot the Cats to the front with a pair of quick baskets and they stayed there, leading 29-22 at the half.

Udall started the second half scoring and Arizona slowly built up its lead. Tech threatened when Banks scored five points in a minute but after 10 minutes of the second half the Wildcats led 45-32.

Grove didn't have a clean shot at the basket all night. He was covered by Crum until Arizona's big center fouled out with seven minutes to play, when the task was taken over by Joe Cherry.

Texas Tech plays Arizona State college at Tempe tomorrow night and Flagstaff Friday. Arizona plays host to the West Texas Buffalos in another vital conference game tomorrow night.

MEADOW, Jan. 14 (Special)—Four fast cage games were played here tonight as the annual Meadow basketball tournament got under way as Whiteface high's boys teams beat the Brownfield B five, 46-17; Union turned back the Meadow high Bs, 27-12 while the Meadow girls beat the Post sextet, 30-26, and New Home's girls downed the Whiteface six, 26-22.

Roach, Janiro's Styles Similar

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (Special)—A marked similarity exists in the boxing backgrounds of LaVern Roach and Tony Janiro, two sharp-shooting middleweights who tangle in Friday night's main event at Madison Square Garden.

Both Roach, an ex-Marine out of Plainview, Texas, and Janiro, who hails from Youngstown, Ohio, first rose to national prominence via the Golden Gloves amateur boxing tournaments. Each has since compiled a remarkable professional record, with only one defeat against impressive victory streaks.

Neither A "Killer"

Furthermore, both the Texan and Ohioan are "distance" fighters, placing special stress on proper conditioning. Both pack solid wallops in both hands, though neither has gained any great reputation as a ring "killer." Against recent top-flight opponents, both have been content to pile up enough points to assure the decision; but, earlier in their careers, each has amply demonstrated his ability to apply the "finisher" once he gets an opponent into serious difficulty.

Roach's lone pro defeat was by Artie Towne. While publicists earlier listed it as being his first pro bout, recent record checks have shown that it actually was the Texan's sixth start. Roach had won his five earlier fights by knockouts, and since dropping a six-round decision to Towne has come along rapidly with 17 successive triumphs. He has beaten Billy Arnold, Jack Kenny, Indian Gomez, Herbie Kronowitz and Norman Rubio, among others.

LaMotta Beat Janiro

Janiro's record is just as impressive, perhaps moreso. At present "Pin-up Tony" is the world's number three ranking welterweight, though he is now moving up into the 160-pound division where the going is tougher. In his entire pro career, Janiro has been beaten only once—on a decision by rugged Jake LaMotta. Since that loss, he has won his last six outings, whipping Tony Pellone twice and Johnny Greco once.

Roach will go into Friday night's bout, which will be broadcast nationally over ABC at 9:00 o'clock (CST), with an edge both in weight and age. He is expected to scale about 158 to 152 for Janiro, and, at almost 22, is about a year older than the Ohio ringman.

Triple Main Events Featured At Arena

Three main events at Sled Allen's wrestling arena last night only heightened the illusion that six men can deal out a good deal of punishment when they have two hours and 15 minutes together, plus a referee on hand.

This was demonstrated in the third main event when Referee Jack Carlin pulled Jack Kiser, who was using choking tactics, off Lightening Rod Fenton. Carlin swung a mighty right, floored Kiser and Fenton fell on him for the fall—supposedly.

Kiser hastened to his feet, knocked Fenton down and fell on him and was awarded the deciding fall on a body smother, all in two minutes. Kiser had won the first fall in nine minutes on a scissors and kick, only to have Fenton take the second fall in 11 minutes with a half nelson.

George Lopez, substituting for Al Getz, took two falls from Omar Boynton of Amarillo, each in nine minutes, after losing the first match in 13 minutes on a Jap toehold. Lopez dealt Boynton lots of punishment in winning on an arm stretch and stomp and then a half nelson.

Leon Kirilenko, "The Mad Russian," and Jack LaBelle came out all even in their match. Kirilenko won the first fall in 24 minutes on a knee stomp and body smother, while LaBelle took the second in 12 minutes on a dropkick and reverse crab. The two men then wrestled nine minutes without either getting a decision.

SAGA OF THE BATTLING BUCKS

Five Boys In Family Of Six Come Up As Boxers; Sixth Is Trainer

This is the story of the Battling Bucks.

Of the six boys in this Crosbyton farm family five were fighters, good fighters, experienced in the ring and in Golden Gloves tournaments.

It should prove particularly interesting now that many young South Plains youths are in training to enter the annual Golden Gloves regional tourney here Feb. 2-3-4-5.

The sixth, older than the others, but a fighter at heart, didn't have the opportunity in youth to fight in the Golden Gloves because those were the days before the simon pure boxing event made its advent.

Then, when the others felt the urge to fight, he worked tirelessly with them and, as a result, all five came up to enter the ring.

At one time, in 1940, three of these Crosbyton brothers, Shelby, Linard and John Buck, were all winners in the Lubbock Golden Gloves tourney and continued on to Ft. Worth to defend titles in the heavy and light heavyweight divisions.

A fourth brother, Winard Buck, who had a long string or ring successes on the West Coast, narrowly missed making it back to Texas in time to enter the meet. Had he done so, he probably would have been forced to face his brother, John, since both fought in the same division.

Shelby Buck, who as a flight officer with the Army Air Forces, lost his life in the European theater, and Linard both went to the state tournament as heavyweights. They didn't meet because Linard lost the fight which would have put him in the ring against Shelby.

Billy Buck, who also got the foundation for his fighting ability from his brother, Buddy Buck, now a farmer in the Crosbyton area, entered two Golden Gloves tournaments here, but did not make it into the state tourney. He is not expected to enter this year.

Linard and Winard Buck are twins and both were heavyweight champs at Taft Junior college at Taft, Calif. Winard later won the San Joaquin Valley light heavyweight title, and did much other fighting on the West Coast.

They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Buck of Crosbyton. Both Winard and Billy now are connected with the Western Reserve Life Insurance company of Lubbock.

Morgan Says Code Ineffectual, Votes Against It In New York

Coach Dell Morgan of Texas Tech returned Tuesday night from New York City, where he had been attending the annual meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic association for the past week.

Coach Morgan declared that little of importance was accomplished at the New York meeting, so far as the Border Conference was concerned, and that the NCAA meeting failed to accomplish several things. He termed the so-called "purity code" as ineffectual and stated that he voted against it.

The Red Raider football mentor said that the majority of the Southwest Conferences voted for the code in the belief that it was a better way to reduce football practices to the standards of 15 to 25 years ago. He believed that the code made hypocrites of a large number of coaches and institutions and that it would have only slight affect on the present situation.

Several good football games for Texas Tech were turned down at the sessions Coach Morgan said, with the most interesting and lucrative being a home and home contract with the University of Hawaii. Coach Morgan said that the Hawaiians wanted Tech to play there in December and then come to Lubbock in September for an early season game.

Previous contract engagements eliminated this game, but Texas Mines was able to secure a two-year contract with the Hawaiians. Several other bookings were available and some may be taken in the future.

The officials and officiating in general were discussed at the meeting, but no definite action was taken. It was agreed that officiating this fall was not as good as previous seasons, but the coaches also were concerned with the attitude of the spectators.

The coaches declared that even the best official made mistakes and this did not call for the booing and after-game incidents such as occurred this year. As a result, they agreed that even greater education of fans was in order before any severe censoring of the officials was attempted.

Cherry Is Speaker At Tahoka Banquet

TAHOKA, Jan. 14 (Special)—Coach Blair Cherry of the University of Texas will be the principal speaker here tonight at the annual high school football banquet honoring the District 6-A championship Bulldogs, their coaches and their friends.

The banquet will be held in the high school cafeteria.

All but two of the young high school players who carried Coach Jim Foust's Bulldog machine to the district title will graduate this year.

The Bulldogs were beaten by Levelland in bi-district play.

Tahoka is the home of Max Minor, one of the Longhorns' ex-great backfield stars. His brother, Joe Don Minor, is one of the Bulldogs being honored and will graduate this spring.

Barney Poole is the fastest end on the Mississippi squad, despite his size 13-E shoes.

'Amarillo Tough,' Says Coach Dunn

"We'll have to play our best game of the year to beat the Amarillo Sandies Friday night," Coach Harvey Dunn predicted Wednesday as he sent the Lubbock High cage squad through an intensive workout designed to smooth out rough spots in the Westerner offensive machine.

"Amarillo has a fine team, as usual," Dunn emphasized, "and they have a veteran group of lettermen that keep scrapping until the final whistle. Their two victories over the defending state champions, the El Paso High Tigers, show what they are capable of."

The Westerners, although making satisfactory progress in most departments, still need considerable improvement in ball-handling and control of rebounds. While the shooting accuracy of the Lubbock quint has been good in most of the tilts this year, several key players have faltered in crucial contests. If the Westerners make the errors in the Amarillo tussle that they have made in previous games this season, the Sandie quint could walk off with an "adding machine" triumph.

On the basis of comparative scores the Sandies are ranked as clear favorites over the Lubbock High five. The Sandies defeated El Paso High twice and the same Tiger quint drubbed the Westerners by a 12 point margin. The Amarilloans also hold two victories over the strong Woodrow Wilson of Dallas cagers, a single triumph over the fast Carlsbad, N. M. five, and two wins over a District 2-AA power—Graham.

The Lubbock quint holds six victories this season, but only two of the triumphs were over top fives. The Westerners' most important wins have been over Sudan, a Class A school, and Ysleta of District 4-AA. Other victories have been against weak opponents, Big Spring and Abilene.

Approximately 60 reserved seat tickets will go on sale this morning at the Senior High office of Athletic Director E. J. Lowrey, officials announced last night, and will be priced at one dollar. The tickets will be sold on a "first come, first served" basis.

Dr. Jackson Principal Speaker For Football Banquet At Post

POST, Jan. 14 (Special)—Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, professor of education and psychology at Texas Tech, will be principal speaker when an annual football dinner program is presented at 8 p. m. Thursday night in the Post First Methodist church.

"Bing" Bingham, former Tech football star, is coach of the Post high school.

Dr. Jackson will speak on "Playing the Game."

Babe Didrikson Top Woman Athlete Of Year In Sports Poll

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP)—Mrs. Mildred Babe Didrikson Zaharias, the Texas tomboy who became the first American to win the British Women's golf championship, today was named Woman Athlete-Of-The-Year for 1947 in the annual Associated Press poll.

It was the fourth time she had won the title in the 17-year history of the year-end vote and the third time in a row.

Only one of the 57 sports editors who participated in the poll, placed another woman ahead of the Babe. That one ballot was cast for Louise Suggs of Lithia Springs, Ga., the U. S. Women's Amateur golf queen, who finished in a fourth-place tie.

Outdistances Full Field

In gaining the title for the fourth time, Babe clearly outdistanced the field. Her point total of 280, on the basis of five points for first, three for second and one for third, was more than three times as large as the 87 points for runnerup Ann Curtis, the AAU swimming champion.

Mrs. Zaharias, the wife of a Denver sports promoter but formerly a Texan, first was named athlete-of-the-year back in 1932 as a track star. Taking up golf comparatively late in her career, she soon overshadowed other women competitors. She had turned pro but was reinstated as an amateur golfer, winning national championships and climaxing her play by the British win.

Shortly after her return from Britain, the Babe again turned professional. She was upset in the Texas Open by Bettye Mims White but announced later she would attempt to enter the National Open and compete against the men in 1948.

Ann Curtis, who led the Crystal Plunge swimming club of San Francisco to AAU triumphs, had little competition for second place. None of the editors named her first but she was runnerup to the Babe on most ballots. She was named No. 1 feminine athlete in 1944.

Pauline Betz of Los Angeles won the Women's Indoor Tennis title last winter and also competed on the Rivera before she turned pro to take third place with 23 points. Miss Betz announced May 1 she was turning professional to make a tour with Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke.

Louise Brough, who succeeded Miss Betz as National Tennis champion, tied for fourth with Miss Suggs, each with 20 points. The tennis star played in the Wightman cup series on the winning U. S. team, paired with Margaret Osborne Dupont of San Francisco to win the women's doubles title for the sixth time and defeated Mrs. Osborne in the National finals. She lost to Doris Hart of Miami, Fla., at Wimbledon last summer.

Miss Suggs defeated Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta to take the national golf title at Detroit. Previously she had beaten the same opponent in the Western Open at Atlanta.

State Taxes Due On Boxing Bouts

A three per cent state tax must be paid on all boxing cards, whether amateur or professional, for which an admission charge is made T. L. Barnes, deputy of the state of Texas Department of Labor, stated yesterday.

Mr. Barnes, in discussing area boxing cards produced by high schools and independent organizations, warned that the law also required that no one could act as a referee in amateur bouts unless the person held a license or permit from the labor commissioner.

The local deputy, who has offices in the courthouse basement and who is the district executive, said that the labor commissioner must give his approval to all boxing and wrestling contests. This permission must be secured at least seven days in advance of the bout.

Mr. Barnes said that some persons, organizations and associations have been conducting amateur bouts without receiving state approval. He declared that he felt certain they were aware of the fact that they fell under the jurisdiction of the labor commissioner, but wished to remind all organizations and individuals of this fact.

"This law applies to high schools and other institutions who promote tournaments at which admission is charged. We know that there are some schools which have not complied with this law. We do not want a repetition, nor do we want it to continue. If necessary, steps will be taken to halt such procedures.

"Further information can be had by calling at district headquarters in the courthouse building in Lubbock, or calling me on the telephone at 6461."

Don Whitmire Tallies 14 Points As Sudan Juniors Win, 33 To 18

Don Whitmire's 14 point tally paced the Sudan junior quint to a 33-18 triumph over the Lubbock Boys club five Wednesday at the club gym, although Royce Shipp chalked up five points for the Lubbock youngsters.

In the midget tussle, Sudan eked out a 28-27 victory as Richard Powell scored eight points. Tommie Elliott tallied seven points for the home quint.

Syrian Leader Threatens War Against Jews In Palestine

By JOSEPH C. GOODWIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

DAMASCUS, Syria, Jan. 14 — Defense Minister Ahmed Sharabati says a trained Arab "people's army" will launch a direct frontal attack next month to sweep Zionism from Palestine. Some Arab sources here believe Feb. 15 may be D-day.

Sharabati said in an interview last night the attack will be made "with men and arms in an honorable war to preserve the rights of our Arab brothers." He said full scale training and arming are in progress, and declared there will be "no bombing in the dark."

Report Is Denied

Military observers denied a "people's army" already is in the Palestine fight, and said the recent invasion of Palestine from Syria was a Fadl tribal sortie led by Prince Faud Faur. There are an estimated 8,000 Fadl tribesmen living along the Syrian-Palestine border.

Fawzi Bey Al Kaukji, chief of the volunteer fight against Zionism, declared:

"In one month you can witness the results of our preparations. This is war. We propose to sweep Zionism from Palestine with superior military force."

Date Not Definite

Informed Arab sources expressed the opinion that political and military leaders were trying to coordinate activities for a Feb. 15 D-day, but conceded that was only a "tentative" date.

Reports that the Arabs planned to establish a Palestine government either inside or outside Palestine were denied by Jamal Husseini, deputy chairman of the higher executive.

Husseini said the Arabs proposed to organize a national council elected by local Arab committees of Palestine communities. The council would be composed of 100 or 110 delegates headed by a 10-man council to direct national affairs and sponsor unification of the fight against "attempts to dismember our homeland," Husseini said.

Attempt To Smuggle Two Persons From Russia Is Protested

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (U.P.) — The Soviet Union has protested sharply to Argentina about two Argentine diplomats who allegedly tried to smuggle out of Russia two persons hidden in large suitcases, it was learned today.

One unconfirmed report said the two persons were former Spanish loyalists who had become disillusioned with Russia and wanted to escape.

Rumors Spread

For several days there had been rumors that the Russians and Argentines were involved in a diplomatic incident. It was confirmed by diplomatic sources that a Soviet protest is before the Argentine government, although official details were lacking.

The foreign broadcast information branch of the U. S. central intelligence agency today reported an item its monitors had picked up of a Paris broadcast in Spanish to Spain. The item, date-lined Moscow although broadcast from Paris, said:

"Local diplomatic circles comment upon an incident in which two members of the Argentine embassy in the Soviet Union appear to be involved.

"Suitcase" Moves

"According to all reports, these two people were to fly from Moscow airfield, one for home and the other for Paris. Their luggage included two large suitcases.

"The first passenger boarded a plane, but the second had to return to Moscow for money. When the plane with the first passenger was flying over (Lwow) his suitcase was seen to move. It was opened by one of the crew, and a man was found inside, obviously suffocating. Moscow diplomatic circles state that he was a Spaniard who had been engaged some days earlier to sing in a local cafe.

"The airfield authorities, having been warned when the second passenger tried to follow with his suitcase, found inside it a second person whose identity has not yet been disclosed."

Texas Supreme Court Member Sworn In By Chief Justice

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 14—(UP)—The Texas Supreme Court rose to full strength today with the swearing-in of newly-appointed Associate Justice W. St. John Garwood of Houston.

Garwood, an attorney and veteran of two world wars, took the oath from Chief Justice John E. Hickman in brief ceremonies in the Supreme Court chamber.

The new associate justice was appointed last week by Gov. Beauford H. Jester, shortly after the appointment of Hickman as chief justice to succeed the late justice James P. Alexander.

Oil Conversion Boosts Prices

DETROIT, Jan. 14 (AP)—The nation's oil reserves are larger than at any other time despite a daily consumption of more than 5,000,000 barrels, but conversion costs necessitate higher prices, the Society of Automotive engineers was told today.

W. M. Holaday, of Socony-Vacuum laboratories, New York, told the engineers that discovery costs of crude oil had risen to an average of 54 cents a barrel in 1946 compared with 16 cents a barrel in 1936.

The petroleum industry, he said, probably must expend upwards of $1,500,000,000 to increase refining and distributing facilities to handle an additional 1,000,000 barrels of crude oil daily.

Mileage Said Wasted

Dr. Holaday indicated a belief that much mileage potentiality currently is wasted in motor fuels. He urged cooperation between the automotive and petroleum industries to get the most out of present day fuels and proposed that automotive engineers devote attention to designs leading to fuller utilization of fuel anti-knock quality.

This, he suggested, would avoid the necessity of depending upon increases in gasoline octane number for improved economy and vehicle performance.

Dr. Holaday repeated an earlier proposal that the engineers consider the practicability of a dual fuel system for motorcars to supply high quality fuel only when needed, as an economy measure. Under this plan high octane fuel would be fed to the car engine in starting and in grade-climbing, while the lower quality would be utilized for normal cruising operations.

This would materially lessen overall requirements for high octane number fuel, he declared.

The offensive odor associated with cockroaches is due largely to an oily liquid secreted by scent glands.

McMillans Speak At Club Banquet

By CHARLES STONE
Avalanche Staff Writer

The Rotary club held its annual ladies night banquet last night at Hilton hotel, with William G. McMillan relating some of his adventures on a recent big game hunt in Africa. More than 250 persons were present.

The speaker was introduced by J. Ben Cole who acted as master of ceremonies for the evening. President Rex Webster presided at the meeting and the invocation was given by Dr. H. I. Robinson, pastor of First Methodist church.

McMillan, who with his wife and son, William, jr., traveled some 20,000 miles by air and 5,000 miles by motor vehicle and on foot, touched only the high points of the trip, with primary emphasis placed on the time spent in the African bush hunting game animals with gun and camera.

Myth Is Disproved

The hunting party worked out of Nairobi in Kenya colony. Nairobi, a town of about 65,000 population, has an altitude of approximately 5,000 feet and is very modern for that part of the world. McMillan mentioned the three-story modern William McMillan (no relation) library there, the 50 or 60 blocks of paved streets and the almost complete absence of undertaking establishments and barber shops.

Among the so-called "Hollywood stories" about Africa which the McMillans disproved on their trip was the myth of the "elephants graveyard," a hoax invented by the African poacher, Charles "Bwana" Cotter, to cover up for his illegal shooting of elephants for the ivory which they carried. Cotter had based his story on the fact that dead elephants were never found in Africa. This fact, McMillan said, is easily understandable when one knows that vultures, hyenas and other animals can completely eradicate the carcass of a zebra in a matter of minutes.

Cattle Economy Described

Several interesting comments on the native tribes of Kenya colony were made by McMillan, including one particular tribe's cattle economy. Wealth is measured in terms of cattle, wives are bought with cattle, and the domesticated animal serves as almost the sole source of food for these natives. The native tribal customs, their very effective use of spears and poisoned arrows and other events in their lives were brought out in the talk.

Several incidents of hunts with guns and cameras were related, and William McMillan, jr., told of his experiences in killing his first leopard and bull elephant. A highly dangerous encounter with the famed spitting cobra was related in a humorous vein by younger McMillan.

Place favors of pink and red carnation corsages were given to the ladies present, at the banquet, and tables were decorated with potted flowers of various kinds. Mrs. William G. McMillan was presented with a present by J. Ben Cole to honor her attendance at the banquet.

Several prominent guests were introduced by Cole, including both Rotarians and Rotary-Anns.

little bit of luck."

During Snyder's testimony, Senator Lodge (R-Mass) told the witness:

"You just cannot defend asking that people of moderate means in this country be required to help pay when wealthy persons of these countries are untouched."

And Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich) proposed that countries getting aid be required to sign agreements banning the hoarding of gold or dollars by their nationals.

Snyder replied that he saw no objection to Vandenberg's suggestion. But he said hoarding persisted during the German occupation of France even though the Germans, to prevent it, "lined up persons before firing squads and tried other most uncomfortable means."

"The European countries," Snyder said, "must have some gold and dollar reserves to finance their international trade if they are to return to normal operations after 1952.

Snyder said under questioning by Vandenberg that it would be fair to assume 20 to 40 per cent of the proposed $6,800,000,000 initial outlay for the program would be in the form of loans.

Lewis W. Douglas, U. S. Ambassador to Britain, had estimated earlier that the U. S. could hope to get 40 per cent of the expenditure back.

The State department sent to Congress a detailed study of economic and political conditions in each of the 16 participating countries.

Officials who helped make the survey gave reporters this breakdown:

1. Eligible for outright grants —Austria and Greece.

2. Expected to pay cash for American help—Switzerland, Portugal and Turkey.

3. Scheduled to get repayable loans and no free assistance—Ireland, Sweden and Norway.

4. Scheduled to get outright grants plus loans—Britain, France, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg, Denmark and Iceland.

Dr. Eaves Speaks At 20-30 Club Meeting

At the Lubbock 20-30 club meeting and dinner last night at Lubbock hotel, Dr. C. D. Eaves, professor of history and anthropology at Texas Tech, gave a short talk on his experiences as a teacher in Japan.

The business of the evening consisted primarily of appointing several officers and permanent committees for the next six months, and in hearing reports from committee members who are working on the current "Pay Your Poll Tax" drive.

Officers appointed were: Lyndon Walker, assistant sergeant-at-arms; Dick Cloyd, secretary-treasurer; and Maurice McMillan, recording and corresponding secretary.

Chairmen and members were appointed to the project committee, membership and attendance committee, fellowship and entertainment committee, house committee, bulletin and publicity, program committee, and historian.

Announcements were made concerning the New Mexico District 20-30 convention to be held Jan. 23, 24 and 25 at Clovis, N. M., and the Big Spring 20-30 club charter night on February 7. Several local club members plan to attend one or both of the affairs.

Charles Nelson, delegate to the sub-district convention at Monahans on Jan. 16, 17 and 18, was instructed by the club to nominate Bill Raymond, immediate past president of the local club, for the position of governor of the Lubbock sub-district of the West Texas district of 20-30 clubs.

President Raymond Mack presided at the meeting and the invocation was given by R. P. McElroy.

HST's Request

work this way:

1. The average earnings of a corporation between 1935 and 1939 would be used as a base. This base would be increased by 35 per cent. Then an extra $50,000 would be added.

2. Any profits above the resulting figure would be taxed at 75 per cent. A method is provided for new corporations to use their capital investment in determining normal income that would be free from an excess profits tax.

During the war the excess profits tax was 85 per cent on profits above the 1935-39 average.

HST Demands Control Power

For today's message the President widened the election-year breach between himself and the majority party in Congress by new, insistent demands for two White House programs on which Republicans so far have turned their backs:

First, enactment of his ten-point anti-inflation program, including club-in-the-closet authority to control prices and wages and to ration scarce foods. The full package of legislation, he said, is "needed, needed badly, and needed promptly."

Second, using all of this year's prospective $7,500,000,000 budget surplus to cut the nation's debt instead of the nation's taxes. He plugged again for a $40-a-person "cost of living" tax credit, offset by higher corporation taxes.

Economic Recession Seen

Unless Congress veers to his way of thinking, Mr. Truman declared, "we stand in great danger that runaway prices, over-extended credit and unbalanced developments will lead to an economic recession." He added:

"We cannot be sure that such a recession would not be severe and recovery slow and painful."

Nor did he forecast when the inflation would break: "One can only be certain that, if permitted to run its course, it will break with destructive force."

On only one point did Mr. Truman retreat—his November demand for power to regulate bank credit. Congress still should study such proposals and grant "all the powers that may be needed," he declared, "but if the "far-sighted" voluntary restraints on lending adopted by the American Bankers association are successful, he said, "further general action may not be needed."

For the nation at large the President spelled out this program for 1948:

1. "The first objective must be to halt the inflationary trend." Voluntary restraints—in the form of such things as less use of credit, postponed business expansion, cautious buying—must accompany the requested anti-inflation controls, he said.

"Most important of all, businessmen should hold the line against price increases and reduce prices wherever they can, foregoing a quick and dangerous excessive profit in favor of long-run stability.

"And labor should be moderate in its wage demands, mindful of recent experience which demonstrates the impossibility of registering real gains in an inflationary spiral."

2. Bigger production, more jobs. He asked a three per cent gain in total output of goods and services over 1947.

Production of goods rose 7 per cent last year but services such as medical treatment, repairs and laundering lagged behind, the President said.

More Jobs To Be Needed

As for jobs, the goal should be "to absorb in useful work the net increase of 700,000 additional people in the labor force. Employment thus would approach 59,000,000 on a year-round basis Last year it was 58,000,000, jumping to a peak of 60,000,00-plus in June.

3. "To establish firmer grounds for the long range growth and prosperity of our economy in the years ahead."

Here Mr. Truman broached, in greater detail than heretofore handed to Congress, the social and conservation program which some officials believe will figure prominently in the Democratic presidential platform.

Wall Street

STOCKS ON OIL GAIN

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP)—Oil and aircraft shares made the best showing in a narrowly irregular stock market today.

While most issues wobbled back and forth in a fractional price range, favored stocks advanced an extreme of more than 2 points.

Trading interest in the majority of cases was lukewarm at best and volume dwindled to 820,000 shares, compared with 950,000 Tuesday.

The President's second annual economic report was a market dud. Wall Street found little in the policies presented that had not been previously recommended by the President and, as was true with the State of the Union and budget messages, found just as little to its liking.

Oil shares, brokerage quarters said, benefitted basically from the high worldwide demand for petroleum products and were given an additional fillip by recent discovery of new resources in Texas. Aircraft makers stand to profit by an expanded air force.

Follansbee Steel took a beating as the financial district gossiped over what might be the full story behind the offer of unnamed interests to buy the company's stock at considerably above the going level. The stock dropped more than 3 points at one time and closed 2⅝ lower at 34¾.

Superior Oil of California countered the trend among oils with a 6-point spill at 153.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .1 of a point to 64.4. Of 952 issues traded, 340 advanced and 390 declined.

Pacific Western Oil moved up 2⅝ to 51⅝, Mission Corp. added ¾ at 52½, Douglas a point at 53, and Boeing nearly as much at 24⅝.

Loew's slipped to a new low for the past year at 16⅝ and slight declines were posted for Sears Roebuck at 35¼, American telephone 151⅛, General Motors 56½ and Union Pacific 156⅛.

Rails improved on a selective basis in the bond market. At Chicago wheat closed 1¼ to 2 cents a bushel lower, corn ended 2⅝ down to ⅜ up, and oats ⅝ down to ½ up. Cotton lost 25 cents to $1.05 a bale.

Higher in the curb were Brown rubber, Kaiser-Frazer, United Aircraft products, and Salt Dome Oil. Glenmore Distilleries and International Petroleum slipped. Turnover here amounted to 190,000 shares, against 210,000 yesterday.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 14 (AP) — Cotton futures were slower in slow dealings today. Scattered liquidation and hedging depressed prices more than $1.50 a bale, although the market staged a fair recovery later as good mill buying developed in nearby deliveries.

Lack of aggressive demand for textiles and confusion over export possibilities under the Marshall program influenced some selling.

Cotton closed steady.

Petrillo Wins Case

again" ban became effective on the making of phonographs or electrical transcriptions by members of his AFL American Federation of Musicians. His main theme in this move was that musicians were depriving themselves of jobs by making recordings or transcriptions that were broadcast in place of live music.

At a previous trial on the charges in 1946, Judge La Buy said that sections of the Lea act involved in the case were unconstitutional and dismissed the charges against Petrillo. However, the U. S. Supreme Court upheld the legality of the sections and sent the case back for retrial.

Statements Ruled Out

The government produced evidence at the second trial that Petrillo stated publicly he had deliberately violated the act to test its constitutionality. However, Judge La Buy ruled today that these statements were "not determinative of his 'guilt" anymore than would any protestations of non-violation be proof of compliance with the law.

The Lea act, sometimes called the "anti-Petrillo law," prohibits anyone from coercing or attempting to coerce a broadcaster to hire more persons than "needed by such licensee to perform actual services.

The government contended Petrillo violated this act when he called WAAF's three record librarians out on strike on May 28, 1946 when the station refused his demand to add three librarians. The station continued to operate during the strike without hiring replacements for the strikers.

Industry circles anxiously awaited Petrillo's next move. However, most of them in New York expect that the ruling will have little effect on his negotiations with radio networks for a new contract.

Network officials themselves declined to comment but those familiar with industry negotiations doubt that Petrillo intends to pull musicians off network shows when the present contract expires Jan. 31. Most persons felt that union musicians would remain on network programs while negotiations continued.

However, the decision dealt specifically with one point Petrillo has raised in negotiations with the networks. That is his demand that key network stations employ more musicians and that local stations be required to employ musicians.

Philosophies Of East And West Meet Head-On In 'Free State'

the Occidental mind.

IT IS NOT necessary for an individual to be a military expert, or to travel to Trieste, to realize that Marshal Tito is (1) a very ambitious man; and (2) a very hardheaded one.

His actions prove the first allegation. The actions of his troops in firing on our airplanes, as they once did; in kidnaping our soldiers, as they did on at least two occasions; and in firing on our sentries, as they did just last week, proves the second.

Perhaps that's why, when we were in Trieste, Commodore Robert McFarlane, from Gregg county, Texas, had three U. S. Navy destroyers in the harbor and the British had another.

Anyhow, as our party traversed Trieste and environs only in convoy, it was good to see the destroyers flying the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack.

Not Safest Place In World

The tenseness in Trieste is so easily felt that only one of our party did any monkeying around the town after nightfall and, fortunately, he had with him a a lieutenant colonel, a captain and a top-sergeant as big as a barn door. Even so, he wandered no farther from the U. S. Army-operated Hotel Excelsior than the British destroyer, a distance of about a block.

Trieste was the only place we visited that I didn't break away from the party and do any prowling around on my own. That was, honestly, because I was told it might not be healthy—and I believed it!

IT IS incongruous, when viewing Trieste from one of the many rolling hills upon which it is built, to place the city in the "powder keg" category.

Beautiful and graceful, Trieste has around 100,000 inhabitants and was practically unmarred by the war. Some warships sent a few shells spinning into the town, but the damage was negligible.

More of a trading post and seaport than anything else, Trieste has only two large industrial plants which we viewed on a harbor trip on British boats. One of the plants is a mammoth oil refinery. The other a steel plant.

Luckily, we had two of our all too few sunny days in Trieste, giving us an opportunity to bask in its relatively warm climate and to see the "Jewel of the Adriatic" at its best.

People Are Curious

The people of Trieste are Italians and Slavs, with some mixture of the two races.

They are quite curious and as our group was waiting at the harbor to board the British boats literally scores of promenading Triestians gathered near us to look us over. Undoubtedly, they noticed the escorting troops and MP's and it is not unlikely that they mistook us for visiting celebrities, such as Congressmen.

The harbor at Trieste is different from those in our country. It faces the city's front, forming the west border of the "main drag."

If Lubbock were Trieste, and the two principal downtown blocks were the south side of Broadway between Texas avenue and Avnue K, the harbor would be located at the building line on the north side of Broadway, stretching from the Hub Clothiers to John Halsey's drugstore.

THE over-all U. S.-Anglo occupation command at Trieste is in the hands of the British, with suave, American General Moore as second in command.

The pro-Jugoslav element in Trieste is fairly large and is Communistic. In fact, the Red line is having much more success in Trieste than it is in either Austria, or Germany, where Communism is losing ground and is not now a major threat.

Most of the disorders, bomb-tossings and strikes in Trieste are fostered by the "Jugs" and the native Communist elements, because of the inability of the United Nations to settle on a civilian governor for the Free State.

The pro-Jugoslav element is especially anxious for a civilian governor to be named—even if he is an Italian—because they want the U. S. and British troops to leave the zone.

Keep your eye on Trieste. It could be poison!

(TOMORROW: The Germans do a few things better than we do. In his next article, Mr. Guy will tell about these superiorities.)

Lubbock if there were any time available for an additional stop, or any feasible way of rearranging the stops already scheduled so as to squeeze in an additional city. This is not the case, however, much to our regret."

Manager Davis, after receiving a copy of the letter to Cong. Mahon, cited in a letter to Shugrue that the Lubbock C. of C., through Cong. Mahon had made a request for inclusion of Lubbock on the train's itinerary last June 25 and "that you advised him by letter that his request would be given consideration when the schedules were worked up."

But in answer to the c. of c. letter, Shugrue wired that "Stops for each state limited to population. Fifteen stops or one stop for every 42,765 persons in Texas, compared to one to every million in New York."

Cong. Geo. Mahon has also previously made a request for the train to stop in his district last June 4.

But the efforts went for naught and the Freedom Train will still cover only the fringes of West Texas, going from Del Rio to El Paso and if anyone in Lubbock wants to see it, they will have to drive to Fort Worth, Dallas, Austin or El Paso in order to view the historic documents, the train is carrying on its nationwide tour.

In addition to letters and telegrams sent by the local groups, more than 20 telegrams were sent from Littlefield by Mrs. Lester Hendricks and Mrs. Balford Rochelle, president of the Parent-Teacher association, at Amherst.

tegic parts of the world would be lost and the adverse effects on the interest of the United States would be incalculable."

The foreign policy analyses were set forth in a 17-volume set of reports prepared by executive agencies of the government. They deal with the 16 countries and western Germany cooperating in the European recovery effort and discuss their capacities for an economic comeback.

Taken together the political summations represented one of the frankest and most detailed reports on foreign affairs ever made to Congress by the State department.

committee, also was called in to discuss the matter with the Senate group.

He told newsmen that he had complete confidence in Rose, who was lent to the so-called Herter committee by the Library of Congress. Elliott added:

"He certainly had access to confidential documents. It is undoubted that he would."

Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, who acknowledged that a flyer on the commodity markets yielded him a $6,165 profit, will continue as President Truman's personal physician, the White House said today.

Graham To Continue Job

"There is no change in the status of General Graham," presidential press' secretary Charles G. Ross told a reporter who asked whether there would be any repercussions as a result of Graham's testimony yesterday before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee which is investigating speculation.

Ross added specifically that Graham "will continue as White House physician."

The medical officer told the senators that although he made $6,165 on a $5,700 investment in wheat, oats, cotton and cottonseed, he lost $11,012 earlier trading in stocks.

Like Edwin W. Pauley, special assistant to the Secretary of the Army and another commodity trader, Graham swore he had no inside information on which to base his dealings.

Pauley, former Democratic national treasurer, is making ready to resign his position in Army Secretary Royall's office, but declared in a statement last night that he had long intended to do so and had not been forced into the move by charges leveled by Harold E. Stassen, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Pauley said he will quit "some time this month."

WOMAN INJURED

Mrs. F. L. Bucklin, 48, of Post was admitted to West Texas hospital at 12:30 o'clock this morning for treatment of a compound fracture of the left leg which she suffered in a fall in front of a downtown restaurant. Her condition was satisfactory.

Two Men Injured In Crash Of Plane

AUSTIN, Jan. 14 (AP)—Collin Jones, 25, of Austin and John Reeder, 26, of Amarillo were critically injured today when their plane crashed about 1 p. m. about 10 miles west of Austin.

Both are University of Texas students and Jones is sales manager for an Austin business firm.

The two were taken to Brackenridge hospital after being extricated from plane wreckage under which they were pinned.

Hospital attendants said one of the men was in surgery four hours, and the other was still on the operating table at 6 p. m. Hospital officials refused to say which of the men was most seriously injured, saying only that both were in "critical condition."

Reeder and Jones were co-owners of the single-engine, two-seat light plane, which they had bought about a month ago.

Charley Robinson, owner of a Lakeside camp along the Colorado river, said he heard electric power lines snap and ran out of his cabin. He saw the plane circle as if making an attempt to land. Then, he said, the plane stalled, went into a spin and hit on its nose.

Part of the cowling had to be cut away to free the two men.

Jones, married and the father of a five-months old girl, is a former Army Air Forces pilot. He was shot down over Europe and was a prisoner more than a year, said F. R. Haile, operator of the Haile airport from which the plane had taken off about 11 a. m.

A city electrician said he has repaired the same lines across the Colorado river three times after they were snapped by airplanes during the past year and a half.

Reeder's home town was given as Amarillo, but his father was said to be living in Portland, Ore.

Six Convicts Sought

Miller, Eastham warden.

The report that four of the men were seen at Hillsboro came from the Department of Public Safety at Austin.

The Austin announcement, listing Albert Yarber, jr., 24, serving 10 years for theft from Hill county, as leader of the group, said they were travelling in a green, two-door, 1947 Ford coach.

Ellis said that since coming to Texas on Jan. 1 he has realized the Darrington farm "is our No. 1 problem."

Ellis succeeded Maj. D. W. Stakes after serving for several years as head of the Shelby county penal farm at Memphis, Tenn.

Carelessness Blamed

"I realize our first obligation to the people of Texas is to hold these men and protect society from them," Ellis said.

"This is one of our toughest problems and I believe that for the immediate future, this can best be done by exchange of managers," he added.

He said yesterday's escape was due to carelessness that permitted prisoners to work in a field far removed from other crews.

There also was an absence of a "long arm man," a guard with a rifle, he said.

Dowell was careless, Ellis continued, in letting the prisoners close enough to him to pull him from the horse he was riding as he watched the men working on a wood-cutting detail.

Five Returned To Prison

Still at large were Yarber, Marion Fowler, 25, serving 20 years for robbery, and Jim Reed, 23, serving 10 years for forgery, both from Harris county; Harold Romeo Dove, 18, serving 50 years for murder from Terry county; Raymond Glenn Thurmond, 28, serving six years from Goliad and Bexar counties for burglary, and Eldon Lewis Newton, 21, serving 60 years from McLennan county for burglary.

Captured at Nacogdoches and returned today to Darrington were Debs Crawford, 23, serving 15 years for robbery from Harris county; Louis Coleman, 26, serving two to 10 years for robbery from Orange; Jack Kuzieck, 25, serving seven years from Midland for forgery; Waymon Boyd Reid, 27, serving six years from Lamar and Dallas counties for theft, and William Thomas Ryter, 23, serving 35 years from Dallas for robbery.

Officers who made the arrests at Nacogdoches quoted the escapees as saying they had taken a car at Sandy Point, near the Darrington farm, and abandoned it near Houston.

They then caught a ride on a truck to Shepherd, where another car was stolen.

After learning of the Shepherd car theft, Nacogdoches officers were waiting on the city's outskirts when the convicts approached. Although one of them had a pistol, they gave no resistance to arrest after the officers had pursued them several miles at a speed of approximately 70 miles per hour.

Negro Shooting Suspect Is Held

CARTHAGE, Jan. 14 (AP) — Roosevelt Davis, 40-year-old negro farm hand accused of wounding two white men who were his employers, surrendered to officers early tonight outside a tenant house, where he had barricaded himself.

After an exchange of shots with officers, aided by a posse of 150 persons, Davis, wounded in the face, stepped outside the house, tossed his gun aside, dropped to his knees and started praying, officers said.

"Reckon I'll ever see my wife and children again?" he sobbed.

Charges Are Filed

He was whisked away to Carthage, where he was jailed on charges of assault with intent to murder in the wounding of Huey Bagley, 21, and his brother, Glenn, 23, Sheriff Corbett Akins said.

The younger Bagley was shot in the right eye this morning when he and his brother went to Davis' house to see why he hadn't reported for work today.

"I'm tired of working for the wages paid in this county," the negro was quoted by officers as saying. Then the officers said, Davis started firing.

Bloodhounds Used

The elder Bagley escaped to spread the alarm, but was wounded later in the exchange of shots at the barricaded house. His wounds were not considered serious. His brother, who was hit in the eye, was taken to a Shreveport hospital. Davis was given medical attention before he was placed in jail.

The farm hand was tracked to the tenant house by the officers and posse with the aid of bloodhounds and four radio-equipped cars.

Deputy sheriffs L. E. Reeves and George McNess placed him under arrest when he emerged from the house, located near the Texas-Louisiana state line.

ELECTION YEAR OMEN?

The Anti-Trust Suits

PRICE DANIEL, Texas attorney general, is filing suits around the state against milk firms charged with violating anti-trust statutes by "getting together" to enforce increases in the cost of milk.

That's fine.

If firms of any kind are in collusion against the people's best interests, they should be cracked down on. They should be walloped over the head to the full extent allowed by law.

But knowing Attorney General Daniel, we wonder why he waited until an election year to raise the rumpus over alleged anti-trust activities. We are suspicious of his timing, especially since he prattled to friends out here 'way last Spring about his anti-trust plans, yet has only gotten his actions well started months later and on the eve of an election campaign period.

We can't forget that General Daniel sometimes never lets his right hand know what his left hand doeth.

We recall how he came out here and expressed his great love for and support of Texas Tech, then three months later hopped when the University gang hollered "Frog," and used the prestige of his office in an attempt to help the University gang build the university at the expense of other colleges in Texas, including Texas Tech.

Despite the fact that he delights in presenting himself as a Boy Scout in long trousers, we have the Attorney General in our book as a political opportunist of the first water—although not quite so slick as he thinks he is.

If his charges concerning violations of anti-trust laws are true, and will support actual prosecution, why didn't his heart start bleeding for the people months earlier?

Or does he intend to ask re-election on the basis that since he has "started the suits" he should be kept on the job to prosecute them?

No matter how you look at it, the General's position has thoughtful Texans looking under the chips.

High Tax Maneuvering

NOT to be confused with an effort to reduce total taxes is the appeal of the Council of State Governments to Congress to reduce federal levies on gasoline, electricity and several other commodities and services.

The scheme contemplates, not lower taxes, but a mere transfer. The council wants the U. S. to ease up in several tax fields so the states can bear down even more heavily than they do now. The plan would add to the total tax burden because of the expectation the federal government would make up for lost revenues by new or increased levies elsewhere.

The scheme deserves no support. The council will be due praise when it recognizes, and tries to do something about, the need for relief from state taxes which, like those of the federal government, are too high.

"The way to avoid aging is to think and talk only about current events," asserts a psychologist. Perhaps so, but many consider it preferable to age than to go nuts.

"No Riders"

This Is Happy

BY PEGGY DERN
Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

XXVII

HAPPY was almost ready to leave her room to go down to breakfast the next morning when Joyce came in, bright-eyed and radiant. She was in riding clothes and her eyes were like stars, her cheeks pink.

"Happy, how'd you like to go to a wedding?" she demanded eagerly.

"A wedding? Whose wedding?"

"Mine," said Joyce radiantly. "Mine and David's. This afternoon."

Happy caught her breath.

"You mean George has finally given in?"

"I mean I've finally managed to persuade David that it doesn't matter whether George gives in or not. And David has finally managed to persuade me that money isn't important when two people love each other as we do. Oh, Happy, I'm on air. I'm walking on clouds and banging my head on the stars! David's landed a marvelous job on a big stock farm in Kentucky. They breed and train race horses, but they also have a lot of finely bred farm stock, and David's going to be superintendent at a whale of a salary."

Happy, seeing her shining eyes, remembered George's calm conviction that Joyce's love for David was not important.

"But he has to leave for the job tonight," Joyce explained in a rush. "And so we are going to be married at 3 o'clock in his mother's house, and go straight from there to the train."

Puzzled, Happy said, "But George is away—"

Some of the happiness vanished from Joyce's face and, for a moment, her young eyes were bitter. "Of course; that's one reason why we are being married today! Oh, I know George couldn't really stop me, but he'd try like the dickens. And—well, I'm so used to doing what George says—I hate myself for it, but Happy, I'm afraid of him, afraid of what he can make me do."

"Does Madelaine know?" Happy asked for a moment.

"Why, of course," Joyce said. "You don't think I'd be married without Madelaine? She agrees with me that I have a right to marry the man I love, so that's that. Well, do you want to be a guest?" she asked, but before Happy could answer, she went on, her voice level, almost expressionless, "Of course, we may as well face the fact that George is going to be in a rage; and if you attend the wedding he'll be furious with you, because he'll feel you helped plan the whole thing. It's only fair to warn you; if you'd rather not get him riled, I'll understand perfectly and I won't be hurt."

Happy tilted her pretty chin.

"Whether George is furious with me or not isn't of too much importance, Joyce," she said coolly.

Joyce looked surprised.

"Oh—ho—I thought you two looked as though you'd been quarreling," she blurted out, and then colored and added hastily, "I'm sorry. I shouldn't have said that, Happy; it's none of my business. But I would like it a lot if you'd come to the wedding. It's going to be very, very quiet—just Madelaine, David's mother, and the preacher—and you, if you'll come."

"It's sweet of you to want me; I'd like to very much," said Happy gently.

THAT afternoon, Happy knew that nothing mattered to Joyce except that she was being married to David.

Happy would never forget that scene: the small, spotless living room, with pastel-colored flowers banking the wall against which Joyce and David stood facing the old minister; the minister, thin, white-haired, frail, looking at them with warm affection as he read the service above their clasped hands.

Afterwards, there was a beautiful wedding cake, which David's mother had baked with her own hands; and then there was the scramble to get Joyce and David to the train. Once they were safely aboard, and Mrs. Boyle had been returned to her cottage, and the station wagon headed back toward Sundown, Madelaine drew a deep breath and said, "And now for the deluge! George will be back tomorrow, and ashamed as I am to admit it, I dread it. George can be—extremely unpleasant."

"I suppose so," Happy admitted, startled to realize that she, too, was beginning to fear the inevitable scene with George. "What are you going to do now, Madelaine?"

Madelaine smiled at her wryly. "Thanks for taking it for granted that I shan't stay on here at Sundown," she said frankly. "I am going out to California. I have an aunt and some cousins there. They aren't Harrells, of course, but they are quite nice people."

There was more than a trace of bitterness in her voice, and Happy, remembering George's high opinion of the Harrell name, could appreciate and sympathize with that.

"I don't understand George," she said impulsively.

Madelaine smiled wryly at her. "Don't you? Oddly enough, I don't either—and that's queer, isn't it, when you remember that I am his mother?"

The station wagon turned into the beautiful sweeping driveway. The house ahead was like something seen in a dream, and as always, Happy's heart was touched by its almost unearthly beauty in the dying sunset light.

But she said nothing as the car halted and she and Madelaine got out. A white-coated houseman swung open the door for them and a chauffeur took the station wagon back to the big garages behind the house. And as Madelaine and Happy entered the lovely old reception hall, George stood in the doorway of the drawing-room.

There was a moment of shock as Madelaine and Happy faced him.

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

ONE of my favorite bits of reading matter is the "Letters from Readers" feature which most newspapers publish.

If your own paper publishes such a department, by all means read it regularly and, whenever you have a gripe, be sure to write a letter to your paper.

BRANDEIS

Nothing in the world is more dangerous than accumulated steam, and these letter departments provide not only an excellent safety valve, but also show what people think.

In the Hollywood Citizen-News this department is called "Town Meeting," and it's one of the first things I turn to when I get the paper (which, by the way, I get every day).

Here is another good one from "Town Meeting":

"Well, boys, the more I see of some women the happier I am that I am a bachelor.

"It is a pity to see a big man led around by the nose by a woman.

"Most women are odd creatures, wearing high heels, like walking on stilts. Then some of them use so much makeup that a man can't recognize his own wife until she starts talking and wants money for a new dress.

"Yes, boys, I consider myself lucky that I am single and I am going to stay in business for myself and be my own boss."

The fellow signs himself "The Mayor of Hollywood Boulevard." I don't know what it means, but I'd like to meet him.

There are quite a few bachelors in this country, of course, and I am sure that there must be some use for them in this world.

But, frankly, I believe that very few men remain bachelors all through life by choice. Nor do I believe that bachelors, particularly when they approach old age, are as happy about their unmarried "bliss" as comedians and some writers try to paint them.

Someone, I forget his name, wrote "A bachelor is a souvenir of some woman who found a better one at the last minute."

There's a lot to that.

But I certainly don't agree with Francis Bacon, who wrote way back in the sixteenth century that "the best works, and of greatest merit for the public, have proceeded from the unmarried or childless men."

I KNOW quite a few bachelors. Not one of them shows that contentment that married men have.

After all, the greatest asset of marriage is companionship, and companionship cannot be bought.

Bachelors boast of their liberty. What liberty is it they enjoy? The liberty of loneliness? The liberty of no home of their own, no family responsibilities, no one with whom to share their troubles?

As far as I am concerned, if that is liberty, give me death!

I enjoyed that letter from the "Mayor of Hollywood Boulevard."

But maybe he wouldn't be so sure of his advantage if he had looked for a wife elsewhere than at the corner of Hollywood and Vine, the world's greatest freak show.

IN ECONOMIC WAR

Reds Claiming Gains

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Russian emissaries at Washington maintain that Moscow has already won the opening battle in the war between President Truman's brand of the capitalistic system and Dictator Stalin's naked Communism.

They do not refer to the apparent breakdown of the United Nations or foreign ministers' stalemates so much as to the economic, social and political disturbances which the Soviet program has created within our own country.

TUCKER

Muscovite frustration of world recovery, in their opinion, has set the United States back by at least ten years, despite President Truman's prediction that our general health and industrial conditions will reach new and higher goals in the next decade.

Indeed, Russian spokesmen's surveys of the wreckage they claim to have caused virtually constitutes a defiant answer to Mr. Truman's recent report and to the budget he has just presented to Congress.

TOLL: Washington's crusade for combating Communism, in the light of the Administration program, will probably necessitate an annual budget of approximately $40,000,000,000 for the unforeseeable future.

It becomes questionable whether it will ever drop to $25,000,000,000, which is the figure originally fixed by almost every private and public economist for the immediate postwar years.

Therefore, the yearly toll which Stalin's shenanigans impose upon us is $15,000,000,000, according to this reckoning. That amount, which is three times our prewar budget, equals almost precisely the extra cost of the national defense and the Marshall Plan which Moscow has forced us to endure.

Had Stalin kept the pledges which he made to Presidents Truman and Roosevelt during the war, that expenditure would be unnecessary.

INFLATION: Stalin "planned it that way!" Another direct result of his policy of world disaster and defeatism has been the fiercest spasm of inflation from which the United States has suffered in its history. And well-recognized seers say that it will get worse before it gets better.

Stalin has subjected us to progressively high taxes, prices, wages and shortages. He aims to foment domestic unrest, distrust, hardship and protest, which were among the forces that produced Russia's own revolution. He seeks to precipitate a depression that will discredit the capitalistic system and lead other nations to turn to his form of society.

On the negative side, the expenditures he has forced upon us may block the advances in the fields of health, education, housing, medicine and social security, as proposed by President Truman and as advanced in much milder form by the Republicans on Capitol Hill.

IMPORTS: The dictator is too astute not to realize that he is making us pay out more than paper bills in opposing him and in building up European buffer states. He is stripping us of all the resources upon which a major power depends to wage war—oil, topsoil, minerals, forests, steel, coal etc.

As a corollary, he will make us depend upon imports for the raw materials of future weapons—iron ore from Labrador, petroleum from Venezuela and the Middle East, bauzite (aluminum) from British Guiana, and possibly certain basic foods from South America.

And the backbone of the new Russian Navy will be long-range submarines, to be built on plans which Stalin obtained when his flying advance guard ransacked Admiral Erich Raeder's secret files at Berlin.

WALLACE: Stalin has also given us Henry A. Wallace. Whether designedly or not, his boisterous entry into the presidential race is bound to produce unusual bitterness, disruption and enmities at a time when, despite disagreements between the major parties, the great need is national unity.

Should the critic of the Truman Administration's anti-Moscow program poll even a sizable vote, it will be a red feather in the dictator's bonnet. He will advertise it throughout Russia and the satellite nations as evidence that the United States does not support the United Nations, the Marshall Plan or any other anti-Moscow program.

ENCOUNTER: If Mr. Wallace's division of the vote should elect a Republican, even if it were a man pledged to pursue the Truman policies in a general way, the Soviet would hail the upset as a repudiation of any attempt to check its expansion and aggression. In fact, Stalin would probably interpret it as a vote of confidence for himself.

These are the reasons why the Kremlin's outpost on the Washington front think that they have won the first strategic encounter between Truman capitalism and Stalin Communism. A semi-official American answer will be presented in a forthcoming column.

OFFSET: At the same time, economic pressures in Russia's own back yard may take some of the wham out of her vicious political sideswipes at the American European Relief Program.

The battle of Konitsa in Greece is feared by Washington to be the curtain-raiser of a calculated campaign to dishearten Congress, revive American isolationism and ruin the Marshall Plan.

But the Soviet Union's bid for economic power includes more than sabotage and skullcracking. The latest Moscow currency reform, in which ten old rubles were forcibly exchanged for one new ruble, seems to be part of a smart move to set up a new "ruble area" pegged to gold in competition with Britain's sterling bloc and the dollar-dependent nations.

But the eight satellites in the "ruble area" are having a peck of trouble at the very start. Despite the boasts of self-sufficiency made when they jumped through Stalin's hoop and thumbed their noses at the Marshall Plan, the stand-off countries already realize that they cannot prosper if entirely isolated from the West.

WEAKNESS: Some of them recently have negotiated commercial pacts with the free world. And Russia, herself, through the Anglo-Soviet trade agreement which starts next week, confesses that she, too, needs a lifepreserver from outside her narrow circle.

In prewar days Eastern European nations did not trade much with their close neighbors. They raised food and timber and imported manufactured goods and machinery. From 1939 on Germany dominated the trade, taking about 70 per cent of exports. Shortly before the war tariff walls hampered doing business with the West.

Even were no Communist political scheme under way, the "ruble area" would be searching for an alternative system to meet industrial needs formerly supplied by Germany, especially iron ore, coke, chemicals and machinery.

GOP Tax Proposal Is Assailed

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON,—Was President Truman being a bit puckish in his proposal to Congress for a $40-a-head tax reduction that would remove about 10 million persons—and that many political voters—from income-tax rolls and cut taxes for everybody else?

The question is merely raised.

Whether he was or not, he must indeed be chuckling now over the angry shrieks from big business interests and their friends in Congress — the latter now numerous — whom President Roosevelt kept in a perpetual tizzy. Mr. Truman, it may be recalled, suggested that the $3.2 billion cost to the Treasury of his tax proposal, which would chiefly benefit low-income groups, be made up by higher taxes on corporate profits, now at an all-time peak.

STOKES

Figures Are Noted

But nothing has so dramatized the unbalanced state of our economy today—the lush "take" of big corporations, on the one hand, and the scrimping in millions of households, on the other—as this simple factual paragraph in the President's message that preceded his tax proposal:

"Many of our families today are suffering hardship because of the high cost of living. At the same time profits of corporations reached an all-time record in 1947. Corporate profits totalled $17 billion after taxes. This compared with $12.5 billion in 1946, the previous high year."

The President, of course, does not expect Congress to enact his tax program. The Republicans, who control Congress, have their own. He was simply engaging in the familiar political poker game, raising the player across the table. It is such an old game that the howl from Republicans, who play it too, had a slightly synthetic ring.

The Republican offer in the bill prepared by Rep. Knutson (R., Minn.), House Ways and Means committee chairman, is not so generous to the low-income groups. The Republicans do theirs differently by increasing the exemption from $500 to $600. The President's proposal would be translated into an exemption of about $700. The Knutson proposal would relieve from income tax about seven million who now pay it, as compared with 10 million.

The Republican scheme would cost the Treasury more. The figure is $5.6 billions, compared with $3.2 billion of the President's plan. That is because it relieves taxpayers in the higher brackets to a greater extent than the Truman proposal. Maybe the President's offer will induce Republicans to do better for the little fellow. Certainly his two vetoes of the bill sponsored by Republicans in the last session, in which he revealed how little it did for the small taxpayer and how much for the big one, must have been influential in the much more gracious Republican offer to low income groups this year.

Campaign Is Changed

The President's pungent remarks about profits direct attention, too, to the present campaign of the National Ass'n. of Manufacturers to try to "kid the public" about the size of big business profits, as it is put in an illuminating article by Nathan Robertson in the revived "Progressive" magazine.

Mr. Robertson explains how the NAM is taking advantage of "the public's blind spot on statistics" by the suggested sample newspaper advertisements it is sending to its members. In these a profit figure based on sales would be used instead of profits measured on net worth, which is the standard prescribed by economists. Bluntly the NAM said, "the average American does not distinguish between profit on sales and profit on net worth."

As an example, Mr. Robertson took recent advertisements of General Electric Co. telling how its profits are only seven cents on each dollar of sales, or seven per cent, whereas they are just short of 22 per cent, an all-time peak, when figured on the basis of the company's net worth as given by Moody's investment manual.

Maybe this helps to explain General Electric's recent price cut that it advertised so widely.

Could somebody have a guilty conscience?

Ruthless Dictatorship Of Red Regime Is Given New Emphasis

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

George Dimitrov, Communist dictator of Bulgaria, was for eight years president of the old Moscow comintern. He is one of the highly-indoctrinated pro-consuls sent out by Russia to rule her newly-captured empire in eastern Europe.

His standing in Moscow is emphasized by the care with which he has been groomed to carry the hammer and sickle beyond Russia's borders despite the fact that, in his early days, he was something of a bungler. His Bulgarian Communist party once drew an official and bitter criticism from the comintern. He has overcome all that bad record now, a feat of no mean proportions among the Bolshevists, where one serious mistake can mean banishment from the party councils for life.

Record Is Studied

If anyone, then, is a true representative of what Communism stands for in the world, it is Georgi Dimitrov.

Nilola Petkov, veteran leader of the anti-Communist peasant party which represented a large proportion of the Bulgarian people, was hanged recently at Dimitrov's instigation.

Then, the other day, nine members of the Socialist remnant in the national assembly had the temerity to question Dimitrov's budget.

The lecture which followed constitutes the best lesson of the year to date in what the Communists mean when they use the word "democracy."

Dimitrov reminded the nine dissenters of the times he had warned "your allies of Nikola Petkov's group."

"They did not listen," he continued. "They broke their heads, and their leader is under the ground. . . . If you do not attempt to get wiser, you will receive from the nation a lesson such as you will remember as far as St. Peter."

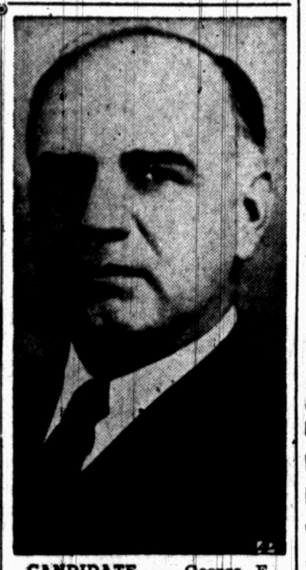

Justice Not Involved

In other words the deputies were told outright, with bold face, that their job was not to deliberate, but to rubber stamp the government's programs on pain of death.

Then Dimitrov recalled the Anglo-American attempts to have Petkov's death sentence commuted.

"Of course, if they had not intervened . . . Petkov's head could have been saved . . . But when the question came to blackmail of the Bulgarian nation the death sentence had to be executed." So political expediency, not a man's degree of guilt or even his innocence, determines whether he is to die!

It is the spread of this Communist "democracy," this Communist "justice," which the western world is uniting to fight.

Three-Year-Old Polio Victim Visits Truman At White House

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (UP)—A tousle-haired three-year-old hobbled into the White House today.

Wearing a wide grin and braces on his legs, he threw his arms around President Truman's neck and said, "you're sweet."

The youngster was Terry Tullos, the "poster kid" of the march-of-dimes infantile paralysis fund campaign. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Tullos of Laurel, Miss.

The boy suffered an attack of polio before he was a year old. But now he walks and plays with the aid of braces on his legs.

He thoroughly enjoyed his visit to the White House. He posed for photographers with Mr. Truman after giving him a letter of introduction from Gov. F. L. Wright of Mississippi. Completely at ease, the boy chatted and smiled happily while visiting with the President.

He had only one disappointment. He wanted to see the President's new pup, Feller. But Mr. Truman told him the cocker spaniel was at the vet's.

Terry's appearance at the White House officially opened the march-of-dimes fund-raising campaign.

Jaycee President Urges Fourth 'R' For All School Children

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 14 (UP)—A fourth "R" should be added to the traditional three R's for school children, Jaycee President John Ben Shepperd of Gladewater, Tex., said today.

That fourth "R" would be for responsibility for government, he said.

Shepperd, national head of the Junior Chamber of commerce, spoke at "pay your poll tax" campaign luncheon in Dallas.

"Let us show our youngsters how lucky they are to live in a democracy and let us instill in them the feeling of responsibility for making this democracy work smoothly and well," he said.

Like sunlight through the leaves . . . or the morning mist over the mountain . . . only poets can describe the loveliness and fire that a diamond possesses -- especially diamonds that are superlative in quality and exceptionally mounted in platinum or gold.

We'd like to show you them personally . . . may we?
