RANGERS CLAMP CENSOR ON BORGER

Faith

Tired of Flood News—
Others are Tired, Too—
A Cotton Year—
Southwest Is Dry—

A TORNADO strikes almost in the path inundated or crippled by flood waters in the state of Mississippi, adding increasing loss to a suffering and tried state.

Down in Louisiana the flood relief machine is directing its energies only to the saving of lives, so great has become the colossal task before Mr. Hoover.

Here in Wichita Falls, more than $5,000 has been contributed to the flood fund. This amount is but a drop in the bucket. And we have done our share, to date, according to the measurement of contributions from other cities throughout the country. But more money will be needed—so much, in fact, that a federal agency to systematically tax everyone would not be surprising.

YOU ARE probably tired of reading flood news and these appeals for money, more money. And the people of Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas are also sick and tired of water, water everywhere and hardly a dry spot on which to live.

Will Rogers, nation's wisecracker, is, as well a wise man. Yesterday his appeal to editorial writers all over the country to use their influence struck us the most useful stick of type in the newspapers.

OUT HERE in West Texas, along the big ditch, a farmer yesterday told The Record News man that he was plowing under his oats, affected by a pest and planting cotton. A short crop and a high price, already understood as a result of the terrible plight of three of the principal cotton-producing states, will give Texas farmers heart and hope after last year's failure of the market to pay living expenses on the most useful and, as well, MOST DANGEROUS, crop we have.

A BULLETIN from Borger, the little Herrin of Texas, reciting the arrest of a reporter for printing news which displeased rangers, is not quite clear. Governor Moody is credited with authorizing censorship of local news as well as telephone and telegraph dispatches out of the town. That doesn't sound like Moody to us. Editors who know the governor will withhold criticism until he has had an opportunity to deny that statement.

INCIDENTALLY, we rode from Austin to Dallas with the governor night before last. Bent upon keeping his appointment at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention here, despite the press of legislative duties, Moody expressed keen interest in his visit to this city. He expects to get a first hand view of the giant irrigation system, as well as first hand information for an extension of the topographical survey program that made the Wichita project a success. And that survey, you recall, was termed by one "governor" as "tomfoolery." Moody probably will see in it land values increased from one dollar to $300.

JESSE JONES, termed by some as Texas' most influential citizens, and certainly one of the state's richest sons, drops this interesting sidelight on our attitude toward Al Smith at the Associated Press dinner in New York.

"Speaking as a newspaper publisher, I admit that Al Smith is the outstanding Democratic leader at the present time. But I think the southwest is more interest in Mr. Smith's position on prohibition than in his religious views. The southwest is dry."

JESSE JONES has been publisher of the Houston Chronicle less than a year, but he speaks as a veteran political reporter with his ear to the ground, picking up the rumblings of the voters, when he defines the southwest as dry and Al Smith's religion as of no apparent consequence.

CONGRATULATIONS, Mr. Levine of the Williams' Department store, for your usual good judgment in selecting Wichita Falls over a number of other cities as a place to live. After all, a man is a bit particular about the town he calls "my town," especially when that man, as in Mr. Levine's case, has business in other towns, where he operates successful stores and where he might live just as conveniently—but not quite so happily.

Edgar Guest, the poet, says it takes a heap of living in a house to make it a home, but it doesn't take much living in Wichita Falls to grow an affection for the spirit and growth and future of Texas' newest residential beauty spot.

THE Spuds lose and some of the fans start the anvil chorus. A week ago, our team was the hero of the league. They drop a few games and the fans begin managing the club. A little faith with Carl Williams is the only thing that's necessary now. He put the club where it is without the sidewalk experts and two-hit gamblers. He certainly should be allowed, as he will, of course, to pull it out of any slump it might fall into.

CREWS WILL RACE.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 6. (AP)—Navy and Harvard eight-oared crews will match strokes in two races here tomorrow, the varsity and junior varsity crews meeting over a distance of a mile and three-quarters.

Officers Strike Trail of Bandit-Slayer

FLEEING MAN SEEN LEAVING WHEAT FIELD

One Man Questioned By Officers In Slaying

DOUBLE ROBBERY

Funeral Services For John McDaniel Undecided

First trace of the hi-jacker who killed John McDaniel Thursday night was believed found Friday night when city officers were called to a farm six miles from the city where a man had been seen to leave a wheat field and go to a pond to drink.

Considerable time was necessarily taken in reporting the find to officers, however, and when they scouted the territory the man was not to be found. Officers are of the opinion that the hi-jacker is gradually making his way out of this section.

The lone highwayman who Thursday night killed John McDaniel, proprietor of a filling station about 10 miles southwest of Wichita Falls, was still at large Friday night, it was reported by Sheriff Ed Goodwin of Archer City.

One man whose identity Sheriff Goodwin refused to reveal was arrested Friday morning and is being held in the Archer county jail for investigation in connection with the killing.

Search Fails.

Local officers are doubtful that the man being held was implicated in the shooting although it is felt that he may have had knowledge of it previous to the hold-up of the Three Way Filling station, operated by E. H. McDaniel, brother of the slain man, shortly before the shooting.

Officers from the Wichita Falls police department literally combed the brush in the vicinity of Lake Wichita and between the lake and the city Friday morning after receiving a report that a man fitting the description of the hi-jacker had been seen there. No trace of the man was found, however. The filling station is located three miles south of the lake on the Archer City road.

Several parties of Archer county officers were scouring the northern part of Archer county Friday, it was reported here, but Sheriff Goodwin said Friday night that no officers were out on the case.

Slain By Bandit.

Wichita Falls officers placed considerable significance in a report given here by two men who arrived from Cisco Friday night that they saw a man of similar description to the hijacker standing at the side of the road talking to the driver of a truck south of the Three Way Filling station.

John McDaniel was killed when he attempted to stop the flight of the robber from the McDaniel filling station after E. H. McDaniel had pointed him out as the man who robbed the Three-Way station less than an hour before.

John McDaniel did not fire at the robber, according to the version of the shooting as related to a reporter Thursday night at the filling station by Mrs. E. H. McDaniel and C. C. Mauldin, both of whom were present when John McDaniel was killed. He had a gun but had not fired a shot when the hi-jacker opened fire on him, they stated.

Body Held Here

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. McDaniel had driven to their brother's filling station shortly after their own establishment was robbed. They were standing outside when a truck drove up and the driver and another man entered the filling station to buy a cold drink.

When E. H. McDaniel said that the man was the one who robbed his station the man started to leave the station and John McDaniel told him to stop. As he went around the truck John McDaniel went to the rear of the truck and was met by the man at the rear of the vehicle. It was then that the shot was fired, the bullet striking McDaniel in the forehead and killing him instantly.

SUIT SEEKS COST OF HOUSE

Oil Man Asks $14,200 In Trial Here

While under the influence of a drug, G. W. Mennis, Dallas oil man, gave a house to Mrs. Edna Gabbert, he alleges in a suit for $14,200, the cost of the house, which went to trial Friday morning in the 78th district court, before Judge W. W. Cook.

The case will be on trial for several days, interested attorneys said Friday afternoon.

The plaintiff alleges that while visiting in Wichita Falls he went to a rooming house operated by the defendant and that soon after entering he was under the influence of the drug, which acted on his mental condition to such an extent that he was not aware of his actions for a period of 10 days.

It was during the 10-day period that he gave Mrs. Gabbert the house, valued at $14,200, according to the plaintiff's allegations.

The defendant claims that the plaintiff was not under the influence of a drug when he gave her the house and that the gift was made by the plaintiff of his own free will and accord.

FIREMEN DON GAS MASKS TO FIGHT FUMES

Explosion of Acid Puts Firemen On Run Here Friday

ONE MAN INJURED

Southwestern Engraving Firm's Plant Scene Of Accident

Firemen were baffled for a time Friday afternoon when confronted with the task of preventing spread of damage caused by the explosion of a 10-gallon carboy of nitric acid in the Southwestern Engraving company plant at 707 1-2 Tenth street. With the brownish green fumes from the vaporizing liquid pouring from all entrances and windows, it was only after firemen donned gas masks that they were able to train the hose from the chemical wagon on the crate containing the carboy.

One Man Burned

One man, Leo Shusterman, proprietor of the Popular Furniture company, suffered slight acid burns when the liquid leaked through the ceiling and dropped from the engraving shop into the furniture store. Applications of baking soda to the burns quickly neutralized the acid and prevented serious results, persons familiar with the action of nitric acid stated.

Ben Williams, manager of the engraving plant, stated that estimates of the damage could not be made until the building had been cleared of the fumes. The Popular Furniture store also sustained damage to furniture stock, both from the fumes and the acid itself, which leaked into the store.

Don Gas Masks

Donning gas masks, the firemen first sprayed the room with chemical extinguisher, standing on the platform of an electric transformer pole near a window of the building. They then made use of the masks to enter the shop and carry out stores of collodion and other chemicals, which, if they had been reached by the acid, would have ignited.

According to Mr. Williams, the fumes from the nitric acid are dangerous when taken into the lungs. Hundreds of persons were attracted to the building by the odor of the gas, which spread into surrounding establishments.

SEVEN KILLED AS EXPLOSION RAZES HOUSE

Mystery Blast Destroys New York Building Late Friday

43 GRAVELY HURT

60 in Building When Explosion Wrecks Structure

NEW YORK, May 6. (AP)—The total of known dead as a result of the mysterious explosion that demolished a two-story building on East 23rd street today reached seven tonight when police discovered the bodies of two young women stenographers.

The stenographers' bodies were found by the aid of powerful searchlights mounted on an adjacent roof. They were identified as those of Florence Cavanaugh, 19, and Elizabeth Lovinger, 20.

Police, searching the wreckage, earlier found the bodies of Charles Mallett, 21, clerk, and Charles J. Quinlan, 55, head of the claim department, bringing the number of known dead to five.

As the search progressed spectators swarmed in thousands from East Side tenements and 75 police reserves were required to hold them in check.

While the investigation gave no clues as to the cause of the explosion one building inspector said it might have been due to gasoline from the Yellow taxi garage next door backing up the sewers to the cellar.

17 Badly Hurt

Of the injured, 17 were so badly hurt that they required hospital attention. Six of these, however, were permitted to go home after receiving first aid. Two women were among those taken to the hospital.

The cause of the explosion could not be determined, said Clarence Sinnott, vice-president of the Yellow Taxicab company, whose offices were housed in the building. There was no gasoline or oil stored in the basement, and there had been no fire in the boilers of the heating plant for some time, he said.

Witnesses said they heard a muffled explosion and saw the roof and walls of the building collapse.

Police reserves and firemen were summoned and began extricating the injured pinned in the wreckage. Fire engines pumped the water out of the sub-cellar and basement, which was filled soon after the collapse from the broken water main.

Six Ambulances Used

Six ambulances conveyed the injured to the hospital as rapidly as surgeons could administer first aid after they were brought out of the wreckage.

The body of O'Rourke, the first to be recovered, was taken out two hours after the explosion. He had been killed by falling debris. Police and firemen then freed the bodies of Zurhmlen and Kelleher, both of whom had been drowned in the flooded basement.

More than sixty persons were in the building when the explosion happened. Twenty-two of them were girls who were at work in the rear of the structure, and who escaped injury.

VICE CLEANUP NEWS TABOO UNDER ORDER

Borger Reporter Placed In Custody For Publicity

DISPATCHES BARRED

Reporters Prohibited From Using Telegraph To Send Out News

BORGER, May 6. (AP)—Victor Wagner, news reporter of the Borger Daily Herald, was taken into custody by rangers here under instructions of Governor Moody to clean up vice in Borger, for investigation in connection with an adverse publicity carried in the Herald against instructions of the rangers, it is alleged. No charges had been filed against Wagner up to 7 p. m.

The rangers ordered the news staff not to use telegraph or telephone company wires in dispatching details of their workings to the outside world.

Court Story Cause.

The Herald carried a story Friday using court testimony to the effect that two police officers struck a man with their fists after searching his place for liquor and not finding any. This story, the paper was inclined to think, was more irritating than that to the effect that Matt Kimes and Ray Terrell, notorious outlaws, were seen in Borger Wednesday, alleged to have caused Wagner to be held.

Wagner will be held for investigation with the object of finding out from him where he got his information in regard to Kimes and Terrell, the rangers are said to have declared. Wagner gave them the information in the presence of the managing editor of his paper.

The Herald Friday night wired Gov. Dan Moody, in the name of the freedom of the press, to have Wagner released.

Statement Issued.

A statement was issued tonight by T. E. Caufield managing editor of the Herald in regard to the seizure of Wagner:

"Vic Wagner came to me at my home this afternoon, to say that rangers had him for Kimes-Terrell story which we carried this afternoon, which story said that Kimes and Terrell, Oklahoma bandits, wanted in connection with the recent bank robbery at Pampa, were reported to be in Borger. I went with him to a car in which Police Chief C. G. Purcell and Ranger Captain Cummings and "Scotch Bobby," a wrestler, were waiting for Wagner. Purcell and Cummings told me they wanted Wagner to tell where he got his information. Wagner told them, in my presence, that information came from "Scotch Bobby." Then Purcell blamed the paper loudly for carrying a story from police court today, including testimony of a man who said that police beat him after arrest, then telling me Wagner was held for investigation, without charges. They drove away. I took a telegram addressed to Gov. Dan Moody and one to the Associated Press to the Western Union office, then went to police headquarters just as Wagner and the officers came up. Wagner was booked 'for investigation' as was 'Scotch Bobby' and when myself and others asked whether we could bond him out, Cummings said: 'No charges have been filed against him. You can't make bond for him until I get ready.'

Wires News Agency.

"I then went to Western Union to send another telegram I wrote: 'The Associated Press, Dallas: Wagner held without bond. Ranger Captain Cummings says no charges filed,' and signed it. Cummings, who was looking over my shoulder, seized the telegram from my hands and pulled me by my coat collar onto the street out of the telegraph office, took off my glasses and told me that if I sent any telegram using his name he would give me the 'damndest beating I ever had.' I asked him if this was official, and he said yes. I said then that I would not use his name in any telegram, not that he was in charge in any way; I did not want to be beaten up. So he went with me into the telegraph office and I wrote: 'Wagner held without bond for investigation by rangers.' This telegram dictated by rangers' and signed it. He snatched this from my hand and

FRENCH FLIERS READY FOR HOP

Paris-to-New York Flight To Start Soon

LE BOURGET, France, May 6. (AP)—In a guarded shed in this airport, Captain Charles Nungesser's plane, the White Bird, is receiving the finishing touches of preparation for the projected flight of the French war ace from this base to New York. It had been expected that the take-off would take place before dawn tomorrow, but after a conference this evening at which weather conditions were studied, it was reported that the fliers were unlikely to leave tomorrow.

Pilots on Hands.

Captain Nungesser and Captain Francis Coli flew from Villa Caubley to this starting base this afternoon. After a perfect flight they made a flawless landing here.

As the big plane came down to earth a squadron of guards with fixed bayonets rushed out on the field and drove the crowd of reporters and protographers over the deadline between the civilian and military aviation fields. But the crush was so great that the crowd broke through the cordon, whereupon a whole company was called out and surrounded the machine. The guard which is being maintained tonight is so efficient that the photographers were unable to take close-ups of the plane.

Take Cold Rations.

The rations of Captain Nungesser and Lieutenant Coli during the flight will be for the most part cold dishes such as caviar, bananas, pates de foies gras, sandwiches and iced tea, coffee and chocolate. They will have an alcohol lamp for the heating of beverages, as well as a filter to enable them to use sea water for drinking if they should be left adrift in the ocean for a long time.

Their equipment also includes two parachutes and two life savers.

MOODY AWAITS DETAILS

FORT WORTH, May 6.(AP)—"The rangers have no authority to censor the press or news comments," Gov. Dan Moody declared here tonight when informed of the action by state rangers in Borger in placing a newspaper reporter in jail.

"And I am slow to believe that they are assuming any such authority," he said. "The right of habeas corpus has not been suspended and the freedom of the press still exists.

"The men I sent to Borger are experienced peace officers and, in my judgment, they will enforce the law and protect the rights of citizens. I know nothing of this matter (meaning the arrest of the reporter) and would not attempt to comment on it until I have some knowledge of the details."

Gov. Moody Calls On Texas to Pay Tribute to Mothers On Next Sunday

AUSTIN, Texas, May 6. (AP)—Tribute to motherhood was paid today by Gov. Dan Moody in a proclamation calling for observance of Mother's day Sunday.

"Every day is Mother's day," Moody wrote, "in the hearts of men and women, be they any creed or of humble station. Yet someone, inspired by the sublime sentiment of mother love, long ago marked a single day in the year as the day dedicated to the reverence of man's sublimest friend, our mothers.

"In keeping with this beautiful custom, I, Dan Moody, governor of Texas, do hereby name and designate Sunday, May 8, as Mother's day, and I hereby definitely proclaim it as a day to be specially devoted to our mothers, beloved of us and ever loving," the proclamation continued, closing, "and may God grant you never forget, in whatever grief or joy, the unmeasured debt you owe your mother."

Gray Concludes 17 Hours of Grilling Examination In Snyder Murder Case

NEW YORK, May 6. (AP)—Henry Judd Gray, the little corset salesman who contends he participated in a murder under the dominance of his paramour's mind, staggered from the witness chair in the Snyder-Gray murder trial today with "I've told you the truth" as the final sentence of 17 hours of testimony.

He surrendered the chair to the first of six character witnesses who vouched for his truth and veracity. There followed 15 minutes of rebuttal and the testimony of the case was complete.

"The defendants will retire," commanded Justice Townsend Scudder.

Tears in his eyes, but his head erect, Gray reeled back to his cell under guard. Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder, the Queens Village housewife who testified that Gray killed her husband against her wishes and then tried to fasten the crime on her, marched stoically out behind him, pale, but haughty, beside a police matron. Gray's mother and sister, both crying, were escorted to Gray's cell.

Counsel for the state and the severed defense conferred with Justice Scudder and court was adjourned until Monday, when summations will begin the day. Counsel for both agreed that the jury be given the case late Monday.

The promised "thrills" of the testimony were ended, but part of the crowd, as large today as ever, grouped itself about the table where the state exhibits lay, including the five-pound sash weight with which Gray testified he hit Albert Snyder, the magazine art editor, for whose murder he and Mrs. Snyder stand jointly charged.

Court guards, worried by the long battle with these curious spectators, removed the exhibits and dispersed the crowd. They filed out reluctantly, expressing sympathy for Gray, whose demeanor and testimony, which included a demonstration and dramatic recital of the attack on Snyder, seemed to have caught the "rays of limelight" that usually fall upon "the woman in the case."

Of the 17 hours Gray was on the stand, seven were spent under the lash of dual cross examination. When Dana Wallace of Mrs. Snyder's counsel, ended his six hours' of cross examination today.

Wichita Falls Streets Gay With Flags to Welcome Conventions

Students of flagology in Wichita Falls will have an opportunity during the next three weeks to pursue their study of the various emblems "hurrahed" in different sections of the globe.

Every flag that has ever waved will dangle from wire supports in the center of all streets between Sixth and Twelfth, and Lamar and Ohio.

The chamber of commerce is financing the flag presentation, which is now being arranged by the Vendope system, of Wichita Falls.

The presentation is for the benefit of four conventions which will be held here during the next three weeks, starting Monday when the Knights of Pythias state lodge convenes.

Following the Pythian convention, the flags will greet the eyes of visitors and delegates to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention. When the flag waving for this meeting is over it will commence again for the Postmasters' convention, which will start May 19.

The flags will disappear after the State Federation of Labor convention that will convene in Wichita Falls, May 23.

Dallas Trade Trippers To Visit Here May 17

One hundred and twenty-five Dallas business and professional men aboard a special train will arrive in Wichita Falls at 11:20 a. m. on Tuesday, May 17, 1927, for a visit of four hours, according to word received here.

Growing importance of this section of the southwest to the commercial world is given by the leaders in the party as the major reason for this visit.

This 26th annual good-will tour, sponsored by the chamber of commerce, is bringing the Dallas party through western Texas, Eastern New Mexico and southwestern Oklahoma to the 86 towns along the route of the trip.

Dr. W. J. Johnson will preach the commencement services for the high school in Byers Sunday, according to an announcement by Professor W. C. Boswell.

A. C. Scurlock, Dallas attorney, formerly of Wichita Falls, was in the city Friday on business.

Rangers Censor Borger Press

said I could not send any telegram. I then went to the newspaper office and attempted to get calls through to Amarillo and Panhandle, but could not get through. Attempts to get local phone numbers also failed, so I went to a nearby filling station, thinking rangers had stopped calls from Herald office and using assumed name to get calls through, advised Amarillo News-Globe and Panhandle Herald of the situation."

Officers Deny Charge

Chief of Police C. C. Purcell and Ranger Captain Cummins interviewed tonight said the statement issued by T. E. Caufield, managing editor of the Borger Daily Herald, was totally unfounded, that they had nothing to do with communication, either by telephone or telegraph and had no reason to prevent news or anything pertaining to the local situation from being sent to the outside news associations and publications.

Chief Purcell said he was trying to cope with the local situation in the best manner possible and that he had not received the co-operation of the local paper, inasmuch that it had published news which reflected upon the efficiency of the rangers and local police.

Purcell said the present trouble, if there be any, will work out of its own accord, and does not need the assistance of newspapers. "We wish no publicity that reflects on our efforts here. We are trying to work fairly and surely with the citizens, newspapers and every man, woman and child in Borger, who has the least desire to be a law-abiding citizen. All we ask is co-operation, not resentment and antagonism."

Cummings Statement

In reference to the statement of Caufield, Captain Cummings said that he told Caufield to send nothing out of the city mentioning his name in any manner. That Caufield had used his name in a message to Governor Moody and the Associated Press, for that reason he took the message from Caufield, but had no objection to news of any other nature and took no steps to prevent telephone calls or telegraph messages thereafter from being sent out. Cummings said he did not want such publicity as it was of no consequence; that the rangers were here to enforce the law and that this was the commission in Borger.

STATE DROPS SPEED CASES

Docket to Be Cleared Of Charges

Pending cases for speeding filed against motorists in justice of the peace court since March 29 will be dismissed by the state, Wayne Somerville, county attorney, said Friday.

The announcement came as the result of a telegram and letter received Friday by Mr. Somerville and E. P. Walsh, county auditor, from the attorney general in which it was set out that the new speeding law went into effect March 29.

First advices to Mr. Somerville carried the information that the law would not g ointo effect until June 29.

As the law prescribes certain conditions under which arrests can be made for speeding and as arrests made since March 29 were not made according to these conditions, the cases will be dismissed, Mr. Somerville said.

Mr. Walsh and Mr. Somerville will recommend to the county commissioners court that two or more officers be employed by the county to patrol the roads and make arrests for speeding. The officers will conform with all the regulations of the new speeding law.

"The county is not liable for the fines," he said. "If the speeder desired to take advantage of the fact that the new law went into effect March 29 the issue should have been raised at the trial as a defense."

"MATH" EXPERT STARTS RUCUS

Tri-Section of Triangle Impossible, They Say

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6. (AP)—The announcement that Prof. B. C. Hastings mathematics instructor of a Seattle high school, had solved the 2000-year old problem of trisecting an angle is greeted with skepticism by California mathematicians who declare solution is impossible.

Prof. Rufus L. Green and Prof. Robert E. Allardice of the mathematics department of Stanford university declare the claim of Professor Hastings is absurd with Allardice adding:

"It is not that mathematicians do not know how to trisect an angle or square a circle, but that they know it can not be done. Angles can be trisected and circles squared in many ways, but not by the use of a geometric process, by which is meant the use of straight lines and circles."

Prof. D. V. Steed of the University of Southern Canifornia says the problem "has been relegated to the museum of interesting but senseless puzzles for many years."

Prof. A. E. Carpenter, G. I. Gavett and R. E. Moritz of the Universiay of Washington concluded that Hastings had trisected a right angle, "a problem that a student with three months' preparation should be able to solve."

RICE MATH EXPERT FINDS FLAW IN CASE.

HOUSTON, May 6. (AP)— The voice of higher mathematical science reiterated its decree that the trisection of any angle was impossible.

Dr. Griffith Conrad Evans, head of the mathematics department at Rice Institute and generally regarded as one of America's leading mathematicians Thursday reviewed the work of Prof. Bertice C. Hastings, announced Wednesday in Associated Press dispatches.

"He has solved the problem—this solution is correct but the main point of interest is that he has not done it according to the conditions of the historic problem" said Dr. Evans. "The conditions call for the trisecting of an angle by a straight edge and a compass. By this is meant a straight edge which has no markings or measurements of any sort on it.

Hastings has taken a straight edge but has made markings on it after findings from his drawings. That, of course, destroys the real value of the solution."

Murder Trial Fan Takes No Chance On Loss Of Her Seat

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., May 6. (AP)—Comforts of home were enjoyed today by one court fan attending the trial of Mrs. Edith Bishop for the murder of her husband, Luther, a state detective.

MYSTERY IN PRINCE'S END

Russian Imperialist Dies On Mexican Ranch

LAREDO, Texas, May 6. (AP)—Prince Albert Radziwill, son of Prince Radziwill, former member of the court of Czar Nicholas of Russia, died on the extensive mesa ranch in Mexico April 12, under circumstances the full details of which have not been received here. Prince Radziwill came to the United States 30 years ago and married Miss Chanita Milmo, daughter of the late Patricio Milmo in New York.

At the death of Mr. Milmo, 25 years ago the prince became manager of the Milmo Mesa ranch which extends from Lampazos, Mexico, through the states of Nuevo Leon and Tamaulipas to the Rio Grande.

When revolutionary troubles beset Mexico 16 years ago, Prince and Princess Radziwill went to Poland and returned to Mexico only recently.

Prince Radziwill was well known on this side of the Rio Grande especially in Laredo where he frequently visited M. T. Cogley, president of the Texas-Mexican Railway company.

The Russian passed through here about three months ago returning to Mexico from London and was then in good health.

Militia Troops Moved Out of Little Rock, Ark.

LITTLE ROCK, May 6. (AP)—Governor Martineau today withdrew national guardsmen from duty in Little Rock on assurance from Mayor Moyer and city council that police would prevent further mob outbreaks.

Judge Abner McGehee in a special charge to the grand jury ordered a full investigation of the lynching here Wednesday night of a negro, said to have confessed to attacking two white women and of the mob violence that followed.

One Man Dying After Fight Over Well's Use

SAN ANTONIO, May 6. (AP)—William Urban, 52, is probably fatally wounded and Henry E. McKeen, 68, is severely injured as a result of an affray between two men said to have followed an altercation over well water Friday morning. Both men are in a local hospital. Urban is suffering from stab wounds beneath the heart and in the abdomen and his right arm is almost severed, attendants reported. McKeen has several ribs broken.

STILLS PLACED IN TREE TOPS

Flood Unable to Check Bootleggers

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 6. (AP)—In the swaying tree tops of half a dozen Mississippi river islands near Memphis ingenious bootleggers have erected great whiskey stills and houses during the last few weeks to do a land office business while their less fortunate competitors were put out of business by the flood, Sheriff Will S. Knight reported today.

"High above ground, they have built houses, using the tree tops of great cottonwood and willow trees for foundations," Sheriff Knight said. "New lumber proved to us that this unusual piece of work is a product of the floods. While treacherous flood waters have made raids difficult we have seized 12 giant stills during the last few days with waters receding. At one place one there were stored in the tree tops 45 vats, each holding 100 gallons of mash. Two of the stills seized each had a capacity of 750 gallons. The seizure included 300 gallons of kerosene, used as still fuel because of the minimum smoke."

There Are Two Phases to Every Man And That's Why Husbands Trifle

Why a Man Whose Wife Is Ideal in Every Way Seeks Affairs Outside the Home—The Foolhardiness of Marrying a Weak Rotter to Reform Him—The Wife Whose Husband's Only Fault Is Untidiness.

Dear Miss Dix—I am young and good-looking, a good housekeeper, a good manager and have a good disposition. My husband says that I am an ideal wife. He compliments me on the way I dress, the way I manage my home and on being pleasant and agreeable to live with. Nevertheless, he is unfaithful to me, and this other woman is my inferior in every way, in personal appearance, in education, in breeding—everything. Why does my husband prefer such a woman to me? And what am I to do, as I don't feel that I can go on as I am, knowing that he is spending his affection, his money and his time on another woman when his wife and boy adore him and need him?

UNHAPPY WIFE.

Answer—A long time ago I reported a murder trial in which a young woman was being tried for killing her lover who was trying to break off with her and return to his wife.

The wife was a tall, beautiful, stately blonde, elegant, refined, intelligent, the sort of a woman you would think any man would worship. The other woman was short, stout, dull, not even pretty, utterly common and commonplace in every way, with nothing whatever attractive about her. Yet she had utterly enslaved the man and in a few months had wheedled a fortune out of him.

I said to an eminent alienist, who was one of the expert witnesses in the case, "What makes a man forsake a beautiful and accomplished wife, such as this man had, for a scrubby little gutter-snipe?"

And to this the alienist replied:

"This man had two natures, as has been shown by the evidence. When he was at his best, he loved his wife and found her congenial and companionable. He enjoyed then her cleanliness and purity of life, the beautiful home she made him, all of the traditions to which he was born and which she represented. She appealed to all that was good in him.

"But when the beastial side of his nature was uppermost he didn't want the society of his wife. He wanted for a companion a woman who was coarse and common, with elemental passions, who would fight with him and swear at him and get drunk with him. And that's why this ordinary woman had her hold upon him, and why he would forsake his superior wife for her at times.

"Such cases are not uncommon and these husbands who swing like a pendulum between their good and their bad natures really do love their wives in spite of the way they treat them, and generally try to atone for their wrongdoing by providing lavishly for their families, but it is a situation that no woman can ever really understand."

I imagine, Unhappy Wife, that you will find as good an explanation as can be given of why you have to play second fiddle to an inferior woman in this little story. Or perhaps the reason that your husband wanders away from his own fireside, even although he admits that you are an ideal wife with whom he can find no fault, is just because he is a born philanderer. There are men like that who are bound by their natures to flit from flower to flower.

No woman, even though she were endowed with perennial youth and perpetual beauty and inexhaustible charm, could hold them. They crave incessant novelty and change and once they have kissed, the lips they have pressed have lost their flavor, and they are driven on to hunt new ones.

Such men should never marry, for it is not in them to be faithful to their wives. But unfortunately they do marry and by the time the honeymoon has waned they have wearied of their wives, and are casting their roving eyes at other women.

There is nothing for the wives of such men to do but to divorce them, or else to accept with philosophy their husbands' flirtations and wait for them to come home repentant after each foolish affair. And in the end they all come back to home and mother, after they get old and tired and the young girls begin to snub them and ridicule them as senile Lotharios.

And whether such a man is worth waiting for is an individual question that each woman must decide for herself.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am 20 years old and very much in love with a boy of the same age to whom my parents strongly object. He betrayed a girl and goes on sprees sometimes for ten days at a time, and has been out of work for some time. But I feel that he has sown his wild oats and will settle down and be a true husband and I think that I can make a man of him. My mother says it is my duty to try to persuade him to marry the girl he wronged and give their baby a name. What do you think about it?

CLARISSA.

Answer—I think that you are an incurable optimist if you think that you can make a good husband out of that sort of a young man. You couldn't build a strong bridge out of rotten planks, and no more can you make a strong and steadfast man out of a weak and unprincipled character.

What makes you think that a man who is dastardly enough to betray a young girl has the qualities that would make him a desirable husband? What makes you think that a drunkard is a good man to tie to? What makes you think that you would insure your happiness and well-being by marrying a man who has no way of supporting a family, who hasn't even a job?

I should say that any one of the three counts would make him highly ineligible, and that put together they would make marrying him equivalent to deliberately committing suicide.

And what reason have you to suppose that he has sown his wild oats? It is true that he has put in a pretty big crop for one so young, but I see no indication that he has finished the job. And, anyway, why do you want to take upon yourself the burden of having to help him harvest the nettles and tares that he has sown?

Don't kid yourself into thinking that you can make a man out of such poor stuff. You can't. If a man won't go straight because his own self-respect demands it of him; if he won't keep sober because he can't control his appetites; if he isn't a man because of his own manhood, no woman can supply his deficiencies. No woman can make a lazy man work, or inject a backbone into a jellyfish.

Your mother is right. If you have any influence with this boy, try to get him to marry the girl he has wronged and give his nameless child a name.

Thereby you may help her, and you will certainly save yourself a lot of misery.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—My husband is a good, kind man and we get along fine. The only big fault I can find with him is that he will not take care of his clothes. I was taught as a child to be very careful of mine, but he wasn't, and he will go and do any kind of a dirty job in his best suit. This nearly worries me to death, as we don't have much money and can't afford many clothes, and he must look nice in business. He gets mad when I speak to him about it. What shall I do?

MRS. A.

Answer—If that was the only faul that I had to find with my husband, I would just buy me a bottle of cleansing fluid and get busy with the spots and a pressing iron and say nothing to him about it.

It's a lot easier to darn a snag in a coat than it is to patch up a quarrel, and you can put a new crease in trousers, but you can't smooth out the memory of nagging.

Don't let your marriage go on the rocks for such a little thing as that.

Indigestion Soon Relieved

Texas Lady Says Everything She Ate Seemed to Disagree With Her Until She Took Black-Draught.

SILSBEE, Texas.—"For a number of years," says Mrs. Fannie A. Mock, of this place, "I was troubled with constipation, and I found nothing which would give me the relief that Black-Draught did.

I gradually got better, but I found an occasional dose of Black-Draught was the best preventitive I could use to keep from taking cold in winter, so I took it accordingly. If I kept my system free from impurities, I was not subject to taking cold, but if I got constipation, I frequently took a bad cold.

"At one time I had bad indigestion and suffered severely from gas pains. Everything I ate disagreed with me and I was far from well. I began taking a small dose of Black-Draught—after each meal just a pinch—and after a short while I was better.

"I found I could eat almost anything and had no bad after-effects.

"We keep Black-Draught in the house almost all the time. In thirty years we have never been longer than a couple of days without it, and I am glad to recommend it. I have been married fifty eight years. As I have grown older, my health has been good. I seldom take any medicine now except an occasional dose of Black-Draught."

Thedford's BLACK-DRAUGHT for Constipation, Indigestion, Biliousness

"MODISH MITZI — It's Always This Way! — By JAY V. JAY

It was a vain hope. The Goofer thought he could have an evening alone with Mitzi. He thought if she were kind he might suggest that a business trip could take him to Paris and see what she said about it. No chance to speak of anything of the sort with Polly leaning over the back of his chair. He doesn't even notice that Polly is charming in a Zouave frock of taffeta. The becomingness of Aunt Sophia's printed georgette dinner dress is also completely lost on him. Mitzi's dress is the only one he notices, and he does that in a gloomy and uninterested sort of fashion.

He notes it because Mitzi is wearing it and she likes to have her dresses noticed. This one has a bolero effect of fringe. The skirt is of black fringe also, the girdle is black satin and the yoke is pink chiffon. The Goofer has managed tactfully to dispose of the family, but now two friends have just dropped in to say goodbye. Mitzi appreciates the goodbye and their costumes. You can see that one of them wears a white chiffon dress spangled with rhinestones, with a bolero made all of panels of fabric. The other has hidden her dress under a black and gold brocaded evening wrap.

Woman's Day Of Work and Play

Fairies.

Miss Dora Van Gelder has hunted fairies in Java, Australia, England and many other countries. She believes there are millions and millions of fairies—and especially at this season of the year, which is holiday time in Fairyland.

Miss Van Gelder was born in Java, adopted theosophy in India, and is now on a trip around the world, lecturing as she goes. Her method of communication with fairies is to create a mental picture and think very hard. "Fairies dance in the moonlight to the pipes of Pan," says Miss Van Gelder. "They are very gay, very happy, full of love and energy. In the fores they troup around you in hundreds. Their hair is not exactly hair, it is more like fur. Most of them are green, although there are brown fairies and yellow fairies. The loveliest of all are the water fairies! They are very delicate and of the palest of translucent blue. Their bodies have no detail. It is as if a child drew them and their draperies made a translucent sphere around them."

How jolly it would be if we could see through Miss Van Gelder's eyes. Perhaps, when she comes to lecture to our town, she can make us see theme enchanting sprites.

Superfine.

This is the age of superlatives. To win, one must be "the greatest" or have "more than"—and it's surprising how many qualify for first place.

Mrs. Mollie Netcher Newbury is a "more than." She holds more life insurance than any other woman. She carries $3,000,000 in business and inheritance tax coverage. Mrs. Newbury is trustee of the Netcher estate and owner of the Boston Store in Chicago, Ill.

EXPERT URGES USE OF FISH

Tasty and Healthful Substitute For Meet

By MARION JANE PARKER
Home Economics Dept., Calumet Company

How often do you hear "You know I don't like fish," and it truly seems that there are a great many of us who share this dislike.

A taste for fish should be cultivated and I believe that if fish is prperly cooked and served attractively there will not be a member of your family who will not relish it and welcome it as a change from the every-day program of meat.

Fish is satisfactory from a dietary standpoint, and is generally speaking, considerably less expensive. At this time of the year, the fish market blooms into importance with increased and new offerings. The great variety which fish affords gives a good deal of help in planning menus.

Fish is easily digested, as well as being rich in phosphorus, and is economical and satisfying. Recent work in nutrition reveals the fact that all sea foods actually safeguard health by supplying the iodine necessary to prevent disturbances of the thryroid gland with their accompanying physical and mental disorders.

The wise purchaser will buy fish that are in season and fish that are temporarily in large supply. The main indications of freshness of fish are: bright gills, bright eyes, firm bright scales, firm flesh. If the scales are dull and break easily, the gills of a deep maroon red, and the eyes dull and glossy, the fish, while not necessarily bad, are no longer in prime condition.

When soaking any salt fish to freshen it place the skin side up so that the salt crystals may fall away from the meat. Frozen fish should be thawed in cold water before using.

On account of its strong odor, fish should never be put in an ice box with other food unless closely covered. A tin lard pail will be found useful for this purpose.

Here Is New Suggestion for Making Mother's Day Pleasant One

By KATHRYN ST. JOHN

Mothers' day, the second Sunday in May, is set aside for honoring the nation's mothers. It is a day consecrated to the memory of sainted mothers and to honoring in special ways those mothers still striving to make our world a happy one.

It has become a general custom in recent years for members of the family to send flowers and give special attention in various ways to mother. Gifts of books, candy, and gloves are also becoming quite popular. Relieving mother of all household cares, preparing and serving "for mother" the dishes of which she is especially fond, is another way of expressing the sentiment attaching to "Mothers' Day."

Suggestions for the dinner:

Single dish dinners serve a two-fold purpose for the home manager. They afford a change from the regular meat, potato and vegetable meal and give the busy hostess a few extra moments of leisure time.

Menu

Cream of Asparagus Soup
Roast Pork Loin
Creamy Mashed Potatoes
Spinach Gravy
Butter Rolls
Tomato Jelly Salad
Rhubarb Pie
Coffee

Cream of Asparagus Soup

Two tablespoons butter.
Two tablespoons flour.
Two pints meat stock.
One and one-half cups evaporated milk.
Two teaspoons salt.
One teaspoon chopped parsley.
Two bunches fresh asparagus.
One slice onion.
Pepper.

Wash asparagus, remove tips and peel tough outside portion from lower part of stalk. Cook (tips and stalks) in boiling, salted water in an open kettle until just tender. (From 10 to 15 minutes.) Rub through a sieve. Prepare a white sauce of the evaporated milk, meat stock, butter, flour, salt and pepper. Combine with the asparagus pulp. Serve at once. The asparagus tips may be left whole to be served in the soup. Yield: 6 servings.

Creamy Mashed Potatoes

Five medium sized potatoes.
One pint boiling water.
One teaspoon salt.
Pepper.
Two tablespoons butter.
Three and one-half tablespoons evaporated milk diluted with 3 1-2 tablespoons boiling water.

Pare potatoes and cook in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and rice. Add diluted milk, pepper and more salt if needed. Beat thoroughly with a wire potato masher until creamy and light. Pile lightly on hot serving plate. Yield: 5 servings.

Jellied Tomato Salad

Two tablespoons gelatin.
One-half cup cold water.
Three cups cold water.
Three cups tomato juice.
One-half teaspoon onion juice.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One clove.
One tablespoon minced celery.
One tablespoon minced parsley.
Two tablespoons lemon juice.

Soak gelatin in cold water. Mix th eother ingredients with the tomato juice. Bring to the boiling point. Strain. Add the gelatin. Stir into moulds previously wet with cold water. Chill, remove from mold, garnish with a slice of hard cooked egg, another of cucumber and hearts of lettuce leaves. Yield: 6 servings.

Rhubarb Pie

Filling.
Three cups rhubarb.
One and one-half cups sugar.
Pastry
Two cups pastry flour.
One-half cup cold fat.
One teaspoon salt.
One tablespoon evaporated milk diluted with 3 1-2 tablespoons cold wate.

Make the pastry in the usual way. Line large, deep pie tin with the paste and fill with rhubarb cut into 1-4-inch pieces. Sprinkle sugar over top. Moisten rim of crust with cold water; place on top crust. Press edges of lower and upper doughs firmly together. Bake in a 425 F. oven until a golden brown. A mixture of equal parts of rhubarb and strawberries is a delicious variety. Makes one large pie.

HONOR THE LOWLY LETTUCE

Americans ate twenty million dollars' worth of lettuce last year. This was six times as much as they ate ten years ago, according to statistics gathered by the Woman's Home Companion. There are only three vegetables for which the American housewife spends more than she does for the crisp green leaf. Those are the potato, the sweet potato and the tomato.

Physicians declare that a notable and beneficial change in the national diet is indicated by these statistics from the markets. Many doctors now prescribe lettuce, and some say to their patients, "Eat a whole head every day."

There was in ancient times a couplet which said: "Beware of salads, green meats and fruits raw, for they make many a man have a feeble maw." Physicians and housewives in America, acting in unison, are fast disposing of many such old wives' tales.

Use Your Best Butter For Cooking, Says Expert

"I used to use my very best butter for the table and the poorest in the cooking; now I do the other way round," writes Marie Chomel in Farm and Fireside. Mrs. Chomel was born and raised in Indiana, but has lately spent many years in her grandfather's home in France, where she learned many things from the French cooks.

"I learned to have a new viewpoint on butter and cream," she says. "Now I pay the top price for butter to cook with, and pay it cheerfully. I get my money's worth not only in better food, but also in easier cooking methods. It shortens the time previously devoted to kitchen labors by about half.

"More revolutionary still, cream on my table is no longer a controlling food principle. To be sure, I still use cream and butter, but I cook them in the food.

"A point to remember is that the French cook never cooks butter into vegetables. Nor does he cook the butter for his melted butter sauces. To do so, he will tell you, destroys the creamy quality, and makes it oily.

"All French cookery is extremely simple. The excellence of the food depends upon the care given to its preparation rather than to complicated processes."

MAKING MODERN MENUS

Mrs. Hall: "I've just finished dressing a chicken for Sunday dinner. I like to get all those things done on Saturday night, so's I have more time on a Sunday."

Mr. Jones: "Oh, let me give you a wonderful way I just learned for fixing chicken."

Chicken a La King

Two cups white chicken meat, eight mushrooms, one-half green pepper, two tablespons butter, two tablespoons flour, one cup milk, salt and pepper, two tablespoons sherry flavoring or one tablespoon lemon juice.

Cut the mushooms and pepper into small pieces and cook for five minutes in the butter, add the the chicken cut in inch pieces, cook one minute. Sprinkle with flour and seasoning, stir until perfectly blended, add the milk and cream and stir until smooth. Add flavoring and serve at once. Two egg yolks may be eaten in just before serving if desired. Flour may be omitted if cream is used instead of milk.

"Oh, Mrs. Jones! Yoo-hoo!!!"

Mrs. Jones opened her window to see what her neighbor wanted.

"What is it?"

"I'm bringing you over some extra special doughnuts for supper. I have just finished a batch, and they came out swell. If you want the recipe, I saved it for you."

Doughnuts

One tablespoon butter, one cup sugar, two eggs, one cup rich milk, one teaspoon salt, four cups flour, two tablespoons baking powder, cinnamon or nutmeg.

Beat to a cream the butter and sugar. Add one whole egg and yolk of another, beaten light, the milk, salt and flour, sifted with the baking powder. Flavor with cinnamon or nutmeg as desired. Cut in rings and fry in deep, hot fat, taking care not to put too many cakes in the kettle at one time. In lifting out drop for an instant in boiling water on the stove, shake thoroughly, and drain on a piece of butcher's paper. When almost dry, roll in powdered sugar.

CROQUETTES

Add two well-beaten eggs to two cans meat sandwich spread, half a cup of bread crumbs, one small chopped onion, a small green pepper chopped fine and then mash entire mixture until creamy. Shape and roll in browned flour and fry in hot fat. Serve with mushroom sauce. Serve garnished with parsley.

Boy Dies After Getting Whipping

Pupil, 12, Succumbs To Brain Lesion

PORTLAND, Ore., May 6. (AP)—An autopsy and inquest was promised today by Earl Smith, coroner, into the death last night of Leonard Stafford, 12-year-old pupil of Ockley Green school.

Death, according to hospital physicians, was due to a lesion of the brain and brought about secondarily by an infection of the leg.

Young Stafford was punished last Friday by W. A. Dickson, school principal, who used a strap on the boy. Dickson said the boy was punished "very moderately."

Physicians declined to comment on how the boy's injuries might have been received.

Do You Dramatize Yourself?

A woman came to me wailing about how abused she was. Her husband's people had not paid her the deference she thought was due her and she was a "martyr" in her own eyes. In graphical terms she told me how it happened. It was at a party given by some mutual friends.

When she came downstairs her sister-in-law looked up at her with "stabbing" eyes, as much as to say, "Ah, you have stolen my brother; therefore, I will 'snub' you. I will not deign to look at you." She just felt the "stab" of those eyes was meant for her.

She was miserable during the whole affair. She pitied herself and pondered what she had done to deserve such a fate.

She went home and spent a sleepless night, pacing the floor, during which she had a "scene" with her husband.

He tried to pin her down to what the sister actually had done. This made her feel even more and more a heroine; for he, too, seemed to be "against" her.

In a word, the woman had actually worked herself up to the point of parting from her husband, who has been most devoted to her in every way.

Once before she came to me with an imaginary woe. She feared her husband's love was on the wane. One morning he had barely time to make his train and had forgotten to kiss her goodbye. She went back to her room and brooded—brooded over the years of loneliness that would surely come.

She pictured how she would suffer in silence because of the "thrust" that had been dealt her on the stage of life. When this woman writes letters, situations are always set forth in most dramatic terms and she is ever the center of the picture. Always she is the wronged one.

Someone in the form of fate has played her a "trick." Sometimes she arises to the occasion and retalliates, which she will also tell you in the most tragic language. In short, the woman dramatizes herself.

She views herself as you would look at a play, and almost in every moment of her life there is a setting in which she is the principal. This might not be so bad, but most of the time she magnifies herself.

She looms larger in her own eyes than she really is. She assumes this attitude with others about her. All assume theatrical form in her mind and the play is on.

There are many people like that. You meet them every day. They will tell you the slightest occurences to themselves in the most graphic manner. You are keyed up to a thing and when it is all done it is nothing but an every day happening. You realize at once that you have been fooled.

Such people, of course, are harmless. But it is the everlasting performer who inflicts himself on others who live with him, who causes the trouble. The cure for such is to ignore them. Let them rave and rant and give little heed. When they see that you do not look at them through opera glasses they cease being actors.

Like real actors on the stage, they must have an audience or they realize they have worked themselves up for nothing. The best way to stop it is in childhood.

The little girl who forever poses becomes the egotist in later life. Teach her not to take herself seriously that there are thousands of little girls just as nice as she is; also that there are thousands of little girls who have grievances just as painful as her.

The self-dramatist is suffering from vanity which can only be cured by lack of interest in his "grouch."

King Of Utah

UTAH has two Mormon senators. Reed Smoot is a Republican and William H. King is a Democrat. Senator King journeyed from Salt Lake City to Newark, New Jersey, to denounce the policy of the government in the Central American states.

He declared that Mexico is the homeland of 15,000,000 Mexicans and yet the natives own only approximately $3,000,000,000 in land values while Americans control a billion dollars worth. Well, why growl about it?

There are 200,000 tenants in Texas. They are landless. There are a few men in Texas who own vast tracts of land. Would the Democratic senator from Utah confiscate the vast tracts and bestow it upon the landless ones. If so Senator King is a communist and not a Democrat.

When Columbus came to the United States the Indians owned an empire. They didn't work it. Gone are the Indians. As for the land, white men own it.

There are 12,000,000 Indians in Mexico. There are not 12,000,000 Indians in the United States or 500,000 Indians for that matter.

It appears that the Spaniards permitted the Indians of Mexico to live but they took over the land for speculative or agricultural purposes.

Russia Is Coming Back

A COMMERCIAL handbook of Soviet Russia, made public in the United States by the Soviet Union Information Bureau, said all industrial production in the Soviet state had passed the pre-war rate; agricultural production for the last year was about equal to the pre-war figures and railroad mileage had been increased by 3656 miles since 1913.

This handbook credited the Soviet Union with being the largest country in the world, with 8,200,000 square miles of territory and a population of 144,815,000. All this black listed by the nations of the earth and its ports boycotted by the nations of the earth.

Soviet Russia is neither dead nor dying. And yet, every year since 1919 the prophets of the world have predicted the quick passing of the government made by Lenine.

Mother's Day

IT WILL just be another Sunday to the men and women who forget—

But, May 8 to those who remember their barefoot days; the ol' swimmin' 'ole and the time when they limped home with a fish hook stuck in a leg, will be more than just another Sunday, it will be—

Mother's Day.

What man or woman can vouchsafe it is not the greatest day in the year without calling down the wrath of those who know that "she who went through the valley of the shadow" that they might be on earth is the outstanding heroine of the world?

Mother's day is not one of celebration—it is one of reverence and should be devoted by every man and woman to showing appreciation of their "heroine."

You will not remember, but mother does, that night when "she" had to rock the cradle the entire night so that her baby, who had the whooping cough, could sleep—

Maybe you have forgotten the time, but mother has not, when she had to pull that fish hook from your leg—and it hurt her just as much as it did her "baby."

But, don't forget May 8. If you are home take mother to church—if you're many miles away—there is always a postoffice or telegraph office nearby that will carry your message to mother on Mother's day.

This Is a Free Country

A NEW YORK high court judge has laid down the principle that a man may go by any name he chooses with no one to say him nay. There is nothing in the law of the land, the court declared, prohibiting a man from taking another name, if he likes, from that by which he has gone. There appears to be life in the old land yet.

Toilers Of The World

ACCORDING to Arthur R. Bowley, British economist and statistician, there are 69,085,000 workers in the United States. Germany is second with 39,780,000, and Japan is third with 34,646,000. Are the workers the winners? They are.

Let 'em Fight It Out

MARK SULLIVAN tells it to the world that neutral Democratic leaders are disposed to let Smith and McAdoo fight to a finish. Of course, this is all they can do. This is all they will be able to do. McAdoo fought it to a finish at San Francisco. Cox was nominated. McAdoo fought it to a finish in Madison Square Garden. Davis was nominated. Now if he fights it to a finish in 1928 who will be nominated?

Where Seats are High

WALL STREET is the financial street of the world and the New York Stock Exchange is the wonder exchange of the world. Sale of a membership on the exchange netted the record breaking price of $200,000 just the other day.

This represented a gain of $30,000 over the low figure of the year, and an appreciation of 600 per cent since 1914 when seats on the exchange sold as low as $34,000.

It is said that memberships on the exchange were first made saleable on October 23, 1868. In 1871 they sold as low as $2750. There has been no change in the total membership since that time.

This is a wonder country and New York is its wonder city. Before the war this country shipped a half billion dollars every year to European countries to pay interest charges.

Now European countries are shipping more than half a billion dollars every year to the United States to pay interest charges.

If money talks then Uncle Sam is the loudest talker in the world.

It Is a Big Risk

CHICAGO is known as the windy city. It must be well named. Insurance rates on wines and liquors stored in warehouses were increased 150 per cent as the result of many recent robberies.

This happened since the inauguration of Big Bill Thompson as mayor of the city. Of course, the rates may be lowered again after the flight of King George from the windy city and the return of George Washington.

First Big Bill must be given control of the public schools and this will be easy after he has thrown out of office the school board, which refuses to do his bidding, and names his henchmen as guardians of the public schools.

Laredo Looking Up

LAREDO is looking up. It has been looking up for some time. Now it is announced that $300,000 will be spent on a ten-story annex to the leading hotel of the city.

John W. Hanway came all the way from Casper, Wyoming, and took over the ancient Laredo Times. He promises to make a newspaper of it.

Laredo is the home of Speaker Robert Lee Bobbitt. He journeyed from Hill county to Webb to win fame and fortune. Really the lower country is getting on the map at a rapid rate. As for new hotels, they are building them everywhere in Texas.

A Brace of Crooks

THERE is a place for Henry Judd Gray and Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder. They should be sent to the electric chair or sentenced to life imprisonment behind the stone walls of a penitentiary. They are common crooks, cheap crooks, contemptible crooks and local brevities instead of national headliners. Dismiss them.

Bo-Broadway

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK. (EFS)—Advertising writers whose Bosses hawk their wares in the Quality Group magazines and the nifty morning and evening journals of the Metropolis—papers read by the "better element"—never use a dollar mark in their copy. If they're ballyhooing $50 sweaters for $25 they wouldn't think of writing it that way. They just remark, casually, "Twenty-five" and let it go at that. A dollar mark in a "swell," New York department store ad ain't regarded as refined, or au fait, as they say over in the Gas House district.

Prices in New York today are scaled, not to the pocketbooks, but to the prejudices of the customers.

In certain circles, where money means that Papa has more brains than conscience, it is considered immoral by virtuous virgins and their proud Mamas to ladle out anything less than 25 fish-skins for a new trick chapeau.

Traffic regulations in New York are based on the assumption that walking is a crime. A pedestrian in the metropolis is looked upon as an interloper, a nuisance and a two-legged mistake.

If each succeeding spring sees the male manifestation in May-time lid becoming and flossier, the girls, in self-defense, will have to start chewing tobacco.

I never go into a restaurant that some dame doesn't sit down at the table opposite me, open the little patent leather gas meter that dangles on a silver chain from her elbow, haul out her First-Aid-to-the-Homely kit and proceed to remove portions of Broadway and other atmospheric phenomena adhering to her sin-kissed cheeks.

Whenever this occurs, I abandon my cup of Michigan Mocha and slip unostentatiously into the busy thoroughfare.

I said to the waitress: "Where's the coffee?"

"What cawfee?" she asked.

"The coffee I ordered."

"You didn't order no cawfee."

"I certainly did."

"Well, if you'd ha' ordered it, why wouldn't I ha' brought it?"

"You might not have heard me order it."

"I heard you not order it."

"But I did order it."

"If you had I'd ha' brought it."

"Well, will you bring me a cup now?"

"Sure I will."

Nervous Children

Many children early in life develop a neurotic temperament. The child who is born with a thin face and a tight chest will always be of a nervous, bilious temperament — unless the parents recognize this tendency and give the proper care to the child's physical, mental and emotional development.

The round faced, full chested child has naturally a good digestion and is inclined to be phlegmatic and sluggish, but seldom becomes nervous. He may be subject to rheumatism later in life, but the sensitive child must be trained carefully to avoid neurasthenia, and such disorders as Chorea or St. Vitus dance. This trouble commonly appears between 5 and 15 years of age, and is more frequent in boys than with girls. It is characterized by jerky movements of the arms, hands, legs and feet, and involuntary twitchings of the muscles of the face, neck and chest.

The seat of this disease is in the brain and spinal cord, but one of the causes lies in a systematic toxemia which locates in those parts. The nervous child who is fed on bad food combinations and given an excess of starchy foods will build up a morbid toxicosis, which creates an irritation of the large nerve centers.

Such irritation is made worse and literally multiplied by wrong mental training. If the parents cater to every desire and whim of the child, they are definitely educating the child to get what he wants by a show of temper or nerves. The whining child is one who has learned his tricks from the mother who ignorantly gives him what he wants to stop the coaxing.

Too frequently mothers set their children a very poor example by lack of self-control. Mothers who neglect their responsibilities in their household duties must expect their children to learn to dodge their music lesson by complaining of being tired or having a headache.

If a real cause of Chorea or nervous breakdown has started, the child must, of course, be kept quiet for a few days. Rest in bed and fasting from all food will quickly restore him to the normal. Frequent enemas also cleanse the colon of any toxic accumulations, and have a good moral as well as a good physical effect.

I have never seen a case of St. Vitus dance which would not respond to this regime in a very short time. If any signs show of its return, a day or two of the same treatment will be enough to calm the child's nerves and make him eager to get back to school.

If the parents will, then, by their example teach the child the priceless lesson of self-discipline, there will be no more nervous children in that household.

QUESTION: E. A. G. writes: "Can one get cedar poisoning from drinking rain water from a roof covered with cedar shingles? Do you consider rain water safe for drinking if well strained and stored in a clean cemented cistern?"

ANSWER: If rain water is properly collected and purified, it makes a very desirable drinking water. I have never heard of any one being poisoned by it, except from the water drained from a freshly painted roof.

QUESTION: Mrs. Jane K. asks: "Could you, through the paper, tell me if gallstones could be overcome without an operation? Some claim they can, others say not, and I would like to know."

ANSWER: Unquestionably, thousands of people have cured themselves of gallstones by taking a fasting and diet treatment. In many cases, the gall bladder is so completely filled with these stones that practically all functioning has stopped. In a few cases it is necessary to remove the entire gall bladder in order to save the patient's life.

The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul, the testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple.

The statutes of the Lrod are right, rejoicing the heart; the commandment of the Lord is pure, enlightening the eyes.

The fear of the Lord is clean, enduring forever, the judgments of the Lord are true, and righteous altogether.

More are they to be desired than gold, yea than much fine gold; sweeter also than honey and the honeycomb.

Moreover by them is thy servant warned; and in keeping of them there is great reward.

Who can understand his errors? cleanse thou me from secret faults. —Psalms 19:7-13.

"BILL RAISER" HELD IN JAIL

Local Federal Men to Go To Vernon For Man

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, May 6. — Caught Thursday morning in an attempt to pass a $1 bill which had been raised to $5 to a Vernon cafe, a man who gave his home as Matador, was being held in jail here Friday for federal authorities at Wichita Falls.

The bill was evidently raised by tearing off one corner of four $5 bills and pasting them on the corners of the $1 bill. The corners of the latter were town off and the $5 corners pasted on. The average person would never detect that it was not a $5 bill without close examination.

The man offered the bill to a waiter in the cafe, but the waiter could not change it. He carried it to a bicycle shop next door and the proprietor changed it. Carrying the change back, the waiter was counting the change when the proprietor of the shop ran in and said that the bill was no good. Officers were called and the man's arrest followed.

323,879 LOSE THEIR HOMES

Mississippi Flood Disaster Biggest in History

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 6. (AP)—Raging torrents of the unprecedented Mississippi valley flood today after more than three weeks' rampage had placed 323,837 persons, a record number for disasters, under care of the American Red Cross.

The list swelled hourly as additional flood waters poured from broken dikes in Louisiana and officials would make no attempt to predict the final total.

Doesn't Include All

The new mark, announced by Henry M. Baker, national director of disaster relief, does not include complete counts from the inundated sections of Louisiana. Continual movement of refugees there in addition to the emergency situation which has prevented field workers from making reports, may delay the complete check several days.

Of the 323,837 persons, 173,566 are refugees in 60 concentration camps in seven states. The others are persons receiving food or other supplies in their flooded homes, in upper floors of town buildings and in other places where they have elected to remain rather than go to the refugee centers.

Mississippi led the list with 160,951 many of whom are Louisianans taken to Vicksburg or Natchez. Arkansas with a slight influx of Missourians was second with 114,373.

Four Upper valley states not so severely visited by the floods had: Missouri 11,821; Illinois 6600; Tennessee 4322 and Kentucky 3032. In the latter commonwealth were many refugees from Missouri.

Thousands Vaccinated

Reports to the Red Cross showed that 95,000 persons have been immuned from typhoid and 85,000 from smallpox. Ninety-nine trained Red Cross disaster workers were stationed in the field as were 40 Red Cross physicians and 78 nurses of the organization.

Twenty-seven airplanes and seaplanes and 826 power boats flying the Red Cross flag were in the flood waters. Thirty wireless stations were operating.

VERNON, May 6.—In an effort to keep undesirables out of Vernon, Chief of Police W. W. Gilbert announced Thursday that all automobiles found on the streets here after midnight would be subject to being stopped and the drivers and occupants questioned as to why they were up so late at night.

So much crime is being committed here that this step has been taken as a preventive measure, Chief Gilbert said.

PARTY POSTPONED

The party which was to have been given Saturday evening by the Annie Laurie Long Epworth league of the First Methodist church at the home of the pastor, Dr. S. S. McKinney, has been postponed, according to an announcement made Friday.

Adventures In The Shops

As Told By

Jacqueline

"TILL the sun grows cold ..... And the stars are old"—flowers will touch Mother as nothing else can. Don't give her something "practical" on Mother's Day—there are 364 other days of the year for that. Send her the flowers, which say best of all, "I love you"—it is that Mother wishes to hear.

Morgan Floral Company offers lovely assorted pot plants at prices from $2 up, and all seasonable cut flowers: roses, gladiolus, sweet peas, daisies, carnations, etc. Phone 7300—Mother will love Morgan's flowers.

DOLORES COSTELLO began by choosing the proper father, then came "The Sea Beast," and ever since fans have been waiting for the big Dolores Costello picture. The supreme murder-mystery, "The Third Degree," which will be the attraction at the Majestic Theater Saturday, Sunday and Monday, proves the beautiful young star a powerful emotional actress. It is a stirring drama of a millionaire's son and his chorus girl bride.

An additional and out-of-season treat will also be offered by the Majestic throughout the summer — Vaudevillettes! "Barnyard Follies" (composed of five girls who sing, dance and play various instruments) will complete the program with "The Third Degree."

WHAT to give Mother? That is the question, and Miller-Ferguson offers an answer of which Mother would undoubtedly approve—a cool and pretty summer dress. The very recently arrived dresses, which are to be had in all sizes, are listed as to fabric and price below:

PRINTED CREPES
$13, $16 and $19.
HANDKERCHIEF LINENS
$7.50.
IRISH LINENS
$10 and $18.
GEORGETTES
VOILES
$5 to $19.75.

What it is impossible to list is the style and real distinction of these dresses. Mother will be pleased with one

OF COURSE, sons, daughters and Mother will all wish to be proud of each other Sunday, and only in immaculate, freshly-pressed clothes is it possible to be at your best. Don't delay sending the things you wish to wear on Mother's Day to the Wichita Cleaning and Dye Works. Whether your flower is red or white, you must try to be worthy of Mother on her own day of all days. The Wichita Cleaning and Dye Works cleans satisfactorily anything from household effects to sheer party frock.

WATCH F. B. M. Company's south window today and Saturday. There will be something very, very exciting there for your baby. If baby is under three years old, take his or her picture along to be displayed—and don't forget the south window.

F. B. M.'s especially good suggestion for Mother's gift is one of the soft, thick yarn rugs, in blended pastel color patterns, for her bedroom. Feet sink comfortably into their thick yarn, and pleased eyes linger over the soft brightness of their color. A swan design in soft blues is among the many exceedingly lovely ones F. B. M. shows. This is something different which Mother is sure to enjoy.

COLVERT'S always features special events, and special pains are being taken to make a fine brick of cream that will please Mother. Mother always deserves the best, and Colvert's is selling the delicious brick in her honor at the usual price through the factory's dealers. Place your order now—Mother will be overjoyed with this wonderfully fine cream!

for Mother

MOTHERS prefer flowers. There are other days of the year when you can give Mother something practical you may be considering as a gift for May the eighth. This time send her flowers—the fragrant, radiant flowers which will carry your love to her with a touching certainty to which nothing else can quite compare."

The Wichita Floral Company offers a special Mother's Day pot of bright geraniums, coleus and fern, reasonably priced at $2.50, while the beautiful Bebb cut flowers, corsages and plants are offered at practically no increase this year over the regular prices. Flowerphone 3300 for Mothers' favorite blossoms.

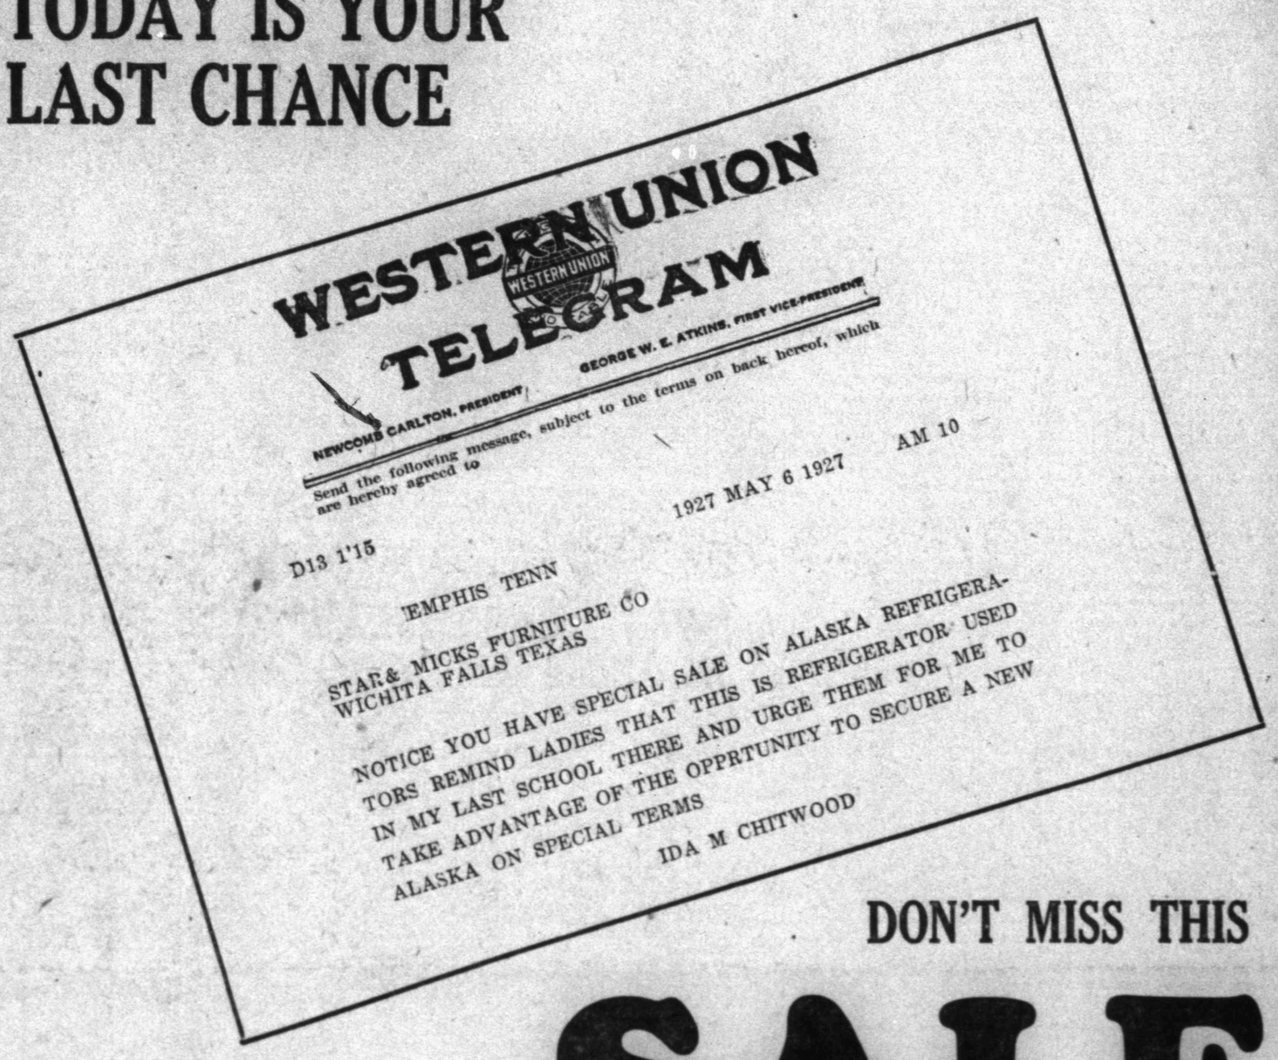

NATIONAL Baby Week brings the great obligation of the parent to the child uppermost in American minds. What chance will your child have? It is shown that the chances to gain fame in any chosen profession or business are 1 in 175 with a college education, 1 in 1,000 with high school education. Begin now to teach your fash-growing baby to save, to be economical, and to accumulate a fund for his or her education.

The North Texas Building and Loan Association offers the opportunity to save and build a fund to buy a home, send your children to college, start son in business when he becomes of age and give daughter the proper opportunity. $5 placed monthly in their Systematic Savings Account (at 10 per cent interest per annum, compounded semi-annually) will increase to $1,020.91 in ten years—$25 a month, at the same rate and time, to $5,104.55.

Building and loan shares are classed by financiers with Government Bonds. MAKE BABY'S FUTURE SECURE at the North Texas, 822 Scott Street.

Beaumont Takes Opener From Spudders, 7 to 4

Holzhauser Holds Wichita Falls Artillery in Check While Shippers Take Advantage Of George Payne

BY BLONDY CROSS

Adolph Holzhauser, ruddy mugged Beaumont righthander, had too much stuff for our nine Friday. Williams' walloping Wichitans after several early inning gestures quieted down before the slants of Jeems Galloway's hurler and Beaumont grabbed the series opener, 7 to 4.

The Shippers enjoyed a large third stanza when they clicked George Payne, Williams' main silencer, for five safeties and four runs, then came back to mix hits with errors for three more, scoring one each in the fifth, sixth and seventh.

Holhauser himself led the Exporter advance, smashing a two-bagger and a brace of one-basers. Capes, Connolly, Edington and Johnson pecked a pair apiece.

LaFayette and Jenkins divided four of the Spudders' seven safeties between them evenly.

Fred Cuts Up

Freddy Dorman, former Spudder infielder, dealt the domestics assorted types of misery at the Beaumont third-basing job. Fred came up with four near base hits and converted them into outs.

Well ? ? ?

That first frame was slick, snappy and scoreless. Quoth the raven, but nevermore, or something. Our nine nicked the counter for a tally in the second, and then the battle was on, so to say. Jenkins plunked a two-cushioner up against the left field fence. He was cut down on the base path when Turgeon hopped one to Dorman. Pete pilfered second cleanly. Pulled a pretty slide under Tom Connolly's glove. Tom wasn't convinced, however, and started menacing an umpire who shunned him with a cold clavicle. That apparently cooked Connolly's hash, for Tom, quite aggrieved, said nary another word the rest of the wrangle. But about that run: Swenson bounded at short and Behrens stuck a finger in it, giving everybody a life, with Turgeon drawing up at third. Pete chased home on Tobin's sacrifice rocket to center.

You may not want to believe it, but Beaumont scored four earned runs off our ace in the third. Did it after there was one gone. Holzhauser caught a three-two ball for a two-base ride to left center. Capes dittoed to right center, scoring Adolpho. One-base pecks by Connolly, Edington and Johnson tagged up with an infield out for the other three nuggets.

LaFayette doubled to left, went to third on Mann's infield out in the Spudder half of the third, and checked in on sacrificial hoist to port by Lamb. Lamb's blow was a husky one, but Capes made a sharp catch.

Tied Up Once

Hits by Behrens and Holzhauser failed to pay in the Beaumont fourth, and Payne, with the assistance of Lamb in left, who took all three putouts, blanked 'em. The Spudders spouted right back and knotted her ere the round was finished. Turgeon and Swenson bingled. Then Holzhauser loaded her up by passing Tobin. Payne delivered with a poke to right, scoring Turgeon. LaFayette bunted, and forced Swenson at the plate. Holzhauser to Robertson. Tobin advanced to third. He scored a moment later on Mann's fly to left. Fitzgerald sent Edington back to the boards in right to retire the side. Hilarity Howard hoisted one that had it soared a few inches higher would have been out of Stump's reach.

That last whack just about calmed us down, for Holz heaved 'em in there so viciously that nobody touched him for a blow until the eighth, when Jenkins dabbed another double. This clout proved harmless. We expired again in the ninth without a hit.

The Beaumonters bumped George for a run in the fifth, another in the sixth, and then another in the eighth, all unearned. Hits, little dinky fellows, by Edington and Johnson, coupled with a sacrifice by Galloway and an error, gave 'em their fifth inning score. A single by Holzhauser, along with a passed ball and a pair of sacrifices, counted the sixth inning run. Singles by Robertson and Capes, combined with a miscue in center, shoved over the last tally of the game in the eighth.

DALLAS 9, HOUSTON 8.

DALLAS, May 6. (AP)—Although the Buffs tied the score in ninth, the Steers won 9 to 8, by a last half rally. The Steers got off to a stampeding start, but nearly went looped in the ninth, when the Buffs made seven runs. Eddie Hock, scintillating shortstopper of the Bayou crew, was the hero of one of the rarest fielding plays in baseball in the third inning—an unassisted triple play. Only six such plays have been recorded in the major league since their beginning in 1878.

SHREVEPORT, May 6. (AP)—Failure of the Sports to hit in the pinches and wildness of Grady Adkins, cost the game with the San Antonio Bears here today, 6 to 5. Bunched hits after Adkins had walked a couple of batters in the seventh, gave the Bexas four runs and sufficient number to offset a late rally by the home crew. Catcher was spiked in the knee while blocking a runner at the plate on a double steal and had to retire from the game. The score:

Doped to Break His Record

Once a fellow makes a reputation for himself in base clouting it is an incentive to keep the old ball rolling. George Burns of the Cleveland Indians is doing his work well, and from his early start will go to a new record for two-base hits.

To date George is running a little under his mark at this time last year, but there is little doubt that he will fail to break his own total of 64 two-base hits.

ELECTRA TRACK MEN QUALIFY IN ALMOST ALL STATE EVENTS

AUSTIN, May 6. (AP)—One hundred sixty-seven Texas high schools qualified in preliminary heats of the Texas University interscholastic league athletic meet today for semi-finals and finals Saturday afternoon. Davis of Freeport broke the state record in the 220-yard dash stepping it off in 21.8 seconds, one-tenth better than the former record held by Bracey of Humble. Davis' mark will stand, regardless of whether he makes it again in Saturday's finals, unless some one unexpectedly betters it.

No preliminaries were taken in the mile run today. Semi-finals will be run off in most of the events, beginning at 2:30 p. m. Saturday.

Commish Refuses To Lift Basque Ban

NEW YORK, May 6. (AP)—The New York state athletic commission today refused to lift the suspension of Paulino Uzcudun, who was set down last week for failure to go through with a match against Ed Keeley in Boston May 8. Uzcudun tentatively had been matched to fight Jack Dempsey in the former heavyweight champion's scheduled comeback at the Yankee stadium July 9.

Paulino appeared before the commission today with the head of managerial board, Al Mayer, and protested against the suspension imposed at the request of the Massachusetts boxing board on the ground that he had an agreement with Boston promoters to fight a man mutually agreeable and not Keeley.

NEW PIPELINE TO BE BUILT FOR CARRYING PECOS COUNTY OIL

NEW LINE RUNS TO YATES POOL

Second Outlet Planned By Fort Worth Company

Special to The Record News.

SAN ANGELO, May 6.—Engineers for the United Producers Pipeline company of Fort Worth, pipeline branch of the Transcontinental Oil company of Tulsa, are making the survey for a pipeline to be built from the Yates field in eastern Pecos county to Texon, Reagan county, on the Orient railroad. The carrier will be 8-inch with a daily capacity of around 20,000 barrels, and with the pumping plants and other equipment probably will cost in excess of $20,000 a mile, or around $540,000, the distance being about 27 miles.

This will be about one mile shorter than the Illinois Pipeline company's recenty completed 8-inch line from the Yates field to McCamey, which for over ten days has been carrying an average of 10,000 barrels daily. This line extends from the field in a northwesternly direction and follows west side ofthe Pecos river valley much of the way. The United Producers' line will extend northeast from the field.

Field Important.

Plans for the second pipeline indicate the growing importance attached to the Yates field, developed jointly by the Mid-Kansas Oil and Gas company, a subsidiary of the Ohio Oil company, and the Transcontinental. For several days four producers on the dome have been opened the greater part of each 24 hours and have been pouring around 9000 barrels into steel storage. It is believed that when open wide the quartet will make at least 15,000 barrels.

No. 1-B Yates extended the big production three-quarters of a mile north. Five hundred feet south of it, No. 4-A Yates since has been drilled in, making 40 to 50 barrels an hour Wednesday after drilling to 1205 feet. It topped the pay at 1185. The extent of the field soon will be determined further by No. 1, Smith-Taylor, in section 33, three-quarters of a mile northwest of the discovery producer, now drilling around 550 feet,and the No. 1-C Yates, in the southwest corner of section 60, three-quarters ofa mile north of east of the discovery well, which has been fishing at 858 feet.

Humble Gets Oil.

H. D. McCracken of Fort Worth, vice-president and general manager of the United Producers Pipeline company, recently made a visit to the field in connection with plans for the new pipeline. News of the new line came as a surprise to some quarters as it was considered likely that the Humble's 400-mile line from McCamey to Corpus Christi either would pass through the Yates field or would lay a lateral to it.

It is presumed thatthe United Producers' line will deliver oil from storage at Texon to the Reagan County Purchasing company, which in turn will deliver the oil to the Humble's eight-inch looped line which leads from Marland (Kemper) to Comyn, thence through a larger line to the Gulf. In the event the Humble's line, now with a daily capacity of 40,000, could carry no more crude, it is likely that the Orient again might gain heavy rail shipments.

Unexploded Nitro Is Feared By Workers

AMARILLO, May 6.—The task of getting the Anderson-Pritchard Oil corporation's No. 1 Yake, in section 1, block J, of H.&G.H. survey, near Oil City, across the Canadian river, in north Hutchison county, ready for retesting has been delayed a great deal by the uneasiness of the oil workers.

This test, it will be recalled, was shot early in April and the shell went off prematurely when a cave and suden inflow of gas and oil brought it to the surface. Fire followed the explosion that killed three men and injured two others. The fire was extinguished but the well has persisted in spraying oil and making gas since.

A bonus had to be paid the rig builders to rebuild the derirck and it is already covered with oil, and the drilling crew employed will now try to kill the gas so the well may be reshot.

The fear of the oil workers is that the original shot placed in the well, and said to be 30 quarts, has never gone off. This is not known, but it is the story heard around the well. A crowd of curious folks is seen near the well every day, and when one says near, he utters it advisedly, for some watch the well through field glasses, fearing to get too near.

1800 Bbl. Well In South Bend

Panhandle's No. 17 McCluskey Extends Line

A question which has been in the minds of some oil men for several days is, will the Stovall sand be found south of the river? That question was answered conclusively by Panhandle Refining company's No. 17 McCluskey located just south and across the river from E. C. Stovall's No. 1 fee, the discovery well of the deep sand in the South Bend pool of Young county.

Topping the lime at 3885 after drilling by the baller which was lost several days ago the well blew in with an initial flow of 75 barrels per hour with the pay just scratched.

The flow is expected to increase as the well drills itself deeper, having a strong gas pressure. With this gusher in and No. 20 on the pay, the Panhandle seems to be foced with the problem of what to do with the oil.

The new gusher was deepened from the 2100 foot horizon from which it produced for several years. The No. 20, however, is a new well, having been drilled by Shaw and Rathke with rotary tools.

News of The Fields

CONTINETAL, CROW.

After several weeks of inactivity in the Nocona field of north Montague county the Continental Oil company is moving in the rig to drill its No. 1 Crow which is a 150-foot location out of the northwest corner of the north 20 acres of the Chambliss survey.

COOKE COUNTY DUSTER.

Homer Chapman has completed his No. Hemphill in the Peter Fleming survey, Cooke county, abstract 586, as a dry hole at a total depth of 2506 feet.

NAVARRO, WILSON.

Navarro Oil company is preparing to test out a good looking sand topped at 1445 feet in its No. 1 L. P. Wilson, located in section 112, A.T.N.C.L. survey of Archer county. This test is located about midway between the Waite Phillips and Little Seminole pools.

WILDCAT FADING.

The wildcat well on L. T. Burns and the Texas company, located in block 124, Robert Carson survey, Archer county and north of the Burns production, is fading from the picture as an extensioner to the pool. It tested the sand at 1485-90 feet and is now drilling ahead.

ABERCOMBIE, HARRIS.

Charles Abercombie and Roxana Petroleum corporation will bail a sand topped at 1379 and drilled to 1381 feet in their No. 1 W. C. Harris, located northeast of the Hudson pool in Archer county. This well, located in the southwest corner of block 96, John W. Harris subdivision, is attracting much attention.

GRAYCE, DAUME.

Grayce Oil company has shut down at 1859 feet in its No. 2 Daume, located in section 1, S.P.-R.R. survey, abstract 266, and near the discovery well drilled by A. T. Wolf. It has apparently missed the sand from which the Wolf No. 1 is producing.

ATLANTIC, FLUHMAN.

Atlantic Oil Producing company has spudded in and is drilling at 650 feet in No. 1-A Fluhman, located in the Day Land and Cattle company survey, Fluhman pool, Wilbarger county. The test is located 220 feet south of No. 1-B, located on land owned by the county which has been completed as a producer.

KEWANEE, DENNIS.

Kewanee Oil and Gas company has nearly 100 feet of oil in the hole at its No. 1 H. L. Dennis, Cooke county, which has uncovered another oil sand in that territory. The sand is at 1432 feet and was drilled only one foot when the oil rose in the hole. The test is in the McLyman survey, offsetting the Chapman-Lanier No. 1 Montgomery.

NEW WELL IN COOKE.

Fain-McGaha Oil company has made location to drill its No. 1 Dybas-Binford 150 feet out of the southeast corner of the S. E. Clements survey and in the territory north of Marysville in the north part of the county.

You will be glad you brought your baby's picture to P. B. M. Co. See the display in our south window. Today is the last day of Baby Week too! P. B. M. Co.—Adv.

NEW ORLEANS, May 6. (AP)—The cotton market was fairly active today and the trend of prices was upward. During the morning prices advanced steadily, with only a minor decline and near midsession on the bullish weekly mill takings all months made new highs, 27 to 28 points net higher. During the afternoon the market eased off on realizing but the close was steady at net gains for the day of 15 to 19 points.

Liverpool cables were five to eight penny points up and the opening here showed gains of 24 to 25 points. In the early trading July traded up to 15.92 and October 16.15. Realizing set in later in the morning and July dropped to 15.81 and October 16.02. Near mid-session the Hester's pointer for mill takings of 389,000 bales caused a sharp upturn in prices and all months mad enew highs, with July at 15.98 and October at 16.20.

There was another reaction of nine to ten points in the late trading on realizing but the market was steadier at the end. Exports for the day totaled 9565 bales and for the week 214,822 bales.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, May 6. (AP)—Reports of rains in the central belt and additional overflows along the Red river seemed responsible for advances in the cotton market today. July sold up to 15.98, or even with the best price of Wednesday, while January advancing to 16.51 made new high ground for the movement. July closed at 15.90, the general market closing steady at net advances of 18 to 21 points.

The opening was firm at an advance of 12 to 14 points in response to the unfavorable weather reports and firmness in Liverpool. Active covering by recent sellers for a reactionand re-buying by those who had sold out long contrac's earlier in the week sent active months about 20 to 25 points net higher in early trading. Offerings increased as prices ap proached the previous high levels, and there were reactions of several points during mid-day.

The setbacks seemed to bring in fresh buying, however, and the market firmed up again after publication of the detailed weather reports showing a good deal of rain in the Little Rock and Memphis districts. Buying also was stimulated by reports of an overflow of the Red river near Alexandria, La., and for a time the market showed considerable strength with trade active.

May sold up to 15.78, a new high for the movement, while October advanced to 16.28 and December to 16.46. At these prices the market showed net gains of 19 to 30 points, but reactionary sentiment remained more or less in evidence and the close was several points off from the best under realizing.

One of the morning wires from Memphis claimed the rains there being the first for some days, would do no harm, but th emost general feeling on the advance locally, evidently was that unsettled weather would further delay the start of the crop in the flooded districts.

Private cables reported continental selling early in Liverpool, with advances following on trade calling, covering and a renewal of speculative buying stimulated by the rain news from the south. A bullish view of the week-end figures helped the afternoon advance in the local market.

Port receipts today 17,239. U. S. port stocks 1,932,180. Exports 12,311, making 9,540,854 so far this season.

Railroad Stocks In Good Demand Sway Sentiment Away From Industrials On Market

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, May 6.—Railroad stocks were in good demand today and swayed sentiment away from the industrials, although, in the latter group, some new high prices for the year were set up. Money remained at four per cent. Broker's loans for the month ending June 30 showed an increase of approximately $51,000,000. Quiet prevailed in foreign exchange and commodities. Cotton was a litte higher. Heavy rains are reported in the central valley, further aggravating the flood situation. The cotton crop appears to be getting a late start in Eastern Texas and the same condition exists in Oklahoma, while West Texas has been too dry.

Stocks of local gas companies were again reported under accumulation by the Mellon interests of Pittsburgh, now invading the New York territory. Brooklyn Edison was the strongest issue. The cost of 1000 shares of Brooklyn Edison on January 1, 1921, was $82,000. The market value this week, based on a price of $160, totaled $160,000. Cash dividends received from January 1, 1921 to this month total 50 per cent, or $50,000. Rights have been offered. One thousand rights in 1922 had a value of $2200; in 1923 $4750; in 1924 $3120; in 1925 $9000, and this year $10,000 or $29,070 for the rights. The total value of the investment now totals $239,070 compared with the original outlay of $82,000.

Gross return on the investment, therefore, amounts to $157,070. The average annual rate of return for the six years and four months was 30.2 per cent; the rate of average annual increase in market value of shares 15 per cent, and the rate of average annual income return (cash dividends and proceeds from the sale of rights) 15.2 per cent).

Northwestern railroads were strong. A good demand prevailed for Great Northern and Northern Pacific on the belief that both roads would eventually consolidate interests. The merger is expected to result in a saving of $10,000,000. More than 60 per cent of the two stocks has already been received by this company are said to be increasing since new interests acquired a large block of the stock. Case Threshing Machine closed lower in the face of rumors that the stock is headed for higher prices because of plans to split the stock.

posited under the agreement. The merger of these two roads is being opposed by the St. Paul because of traffic reasons.

Power stocks were in the limelight. The buying of Montana Power was attributed to additional accumulation by the Electric Bond & Share interests. Union Bag & Paper spurted 8 points. Union is the exclusive owner of patents on a process which may revolutionize the paper trade. Switching occurred from International into Union. International has increased its dividend from 50 to 60 cents quarterly but the company earned only $2.15 last year on the old capitalization, and with the increased capitalization of $15,000,000 or 500,000 shares may find it difficult in making both ends meet.

A marking up process against the shorts occurred in the oils. Standard of New York has issued its report for 1926 showing about $2 a share earned. Phillips was higher. In some quarters the opinions is expressed that the company will do new financing which will call for omission of dividends. This view, however, is not taken seriously elsewhere.

Mack Trucks and Hudson continued higher.

Certain interests representing a powerful estate interested in the automobile industry, are buyers of Hudson. Mack trucks is responding to pool operations the objective of which is said to be 125. International Mercantile Marine closed higher in the face of the denial by P. A. S. Franklin, president of the company that negotiations were under way to take over the Luckenbach Steamship lines for coastwise service. The tape, however, appears to be telling a different story.

Equipments were quiet although more orders are understood to have been placed by the carriers. Pressed Steel Car worked higher. Orders being re-

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, May 6. (AP)—Illinois legislation seeking to add state supervision to present federal measures governing grain exchange business had a bearish effect on grain values today, especially wheat. Corn however, rallied sharply in the late trading. Wheat closed unsettled ¼ to ⅝c net lower, corn unchanged to ⅝c higher, oats ⅛@⅜c off to ⅛c up and provisions showing 10 to 40c decline.

Contributing to wheat weakness was the fact that export demand for North American shipments became slack, with only 250,000 to 350,000 bushels estimated to have been taken. On the other hand Liverpool quotations reflected yesterday's advance here, and vessel-room was chartered for 60,000 bushels of wheat to go from Chicago to Buffalo. Besides, hard wheat premiums were 1c higher here with red wheat steady.

One of the features in the corn market was buying of corn against sales of wheat. Rains over part of the corn belt, with a forecast of additional moisture likely to interfere with planting, tended to induce stubborn resistance to sellers of corn. Oats sympathized with corn, weakening early.

COMMERCIAL BULLETIN.

BOSTON, May 6. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

The demand for wool in the eastern seaboard markets continues moderate and prices have favored the buyer rather than the seller during the week, although there is belief that the downward movement has about run its course. The movement of the new clip is becoming broader and with the sale of the Jericho pool at 30¼ cents is expected to become still brisker. Sales in the far west have generally been in the range of 28 to 30 cents this week.

London opened five per cent under the previous series' closing rates, for both Merinos and cross breds.

The goods market is still rather slow, but some reports are more encouraging.

Mohair is rather quiet, but steady. Wool quotations:

"Operators Night" of Geologists to Be Featured by Prominent Speakers

Two nationally known speakers will appear on the program at the regular bi-weekly dinner of the North Texas Geological society at the Wichita club Saturday night, it was announced Friday by Dr. C. W. Clark, president of the society. The meeting has been set aside as operators' night and all operators are invited to attend, Dr. Clark stated.

C. A. Young, director of the division of standards of the American Petroleum Institute, will give an address on "Standardization."

Dr. E. H. Sellards, asociate director of the bureau of economic geology at the University of Texas, will discuss the plans and work of the bureau following Mr. Young's adress.

Dr. Clark stated that the dinner is scheduled for 7 o'clock. Those operators, however, who prefer to hear just the speaking program are invited to be present at 8 o'clock, he said.

Sinclair Plans New Line in Panhandle

AMARILLO, May 6.—The Sinclair Pipe Line company has surveyed a two and one-half mile pipe line of three-inch capacity from the south end of the Pampa pool in Gray county to the Blackwell and McGee No. 1 Bowers, in section 92, block B2 (of H.&.G.H. survey, due south that is opening a new pool.

The Blackwell and McGee well has been swabbed for three days, Haryr T. McGee reports, and it is estimated at 45 barrels an hour without lowering the oil content. The oil is greenish in color and tests 42.5 gravity.

Field reports persist in calling this the Barnett and McGee well, but Mr. Barnett is no longer associated in the operation of the well or block.

A surprise? Yes. Just bring your baby's picture to the store today. Don't fail to see the display in our south window. P. B. M. Co.—Adv.

If your baby is under three years of age, bring his or her picture to P. B. M. Co for the baby display in our south window. Adv.

TWO FINED FOR COCK FIGHTING

Jury Assesses Penalties In Court Here

Two men paid $25 Friday for their participation at a rooster fight near Iowa Park, which was raided several weeks ago by Sheriff W. G. Bralley and a squad of deputies.

Following the raid six charges of cock fighting were filed against that number of men, although when the raid was made there were 500 spectators at the scrap. However, the complaints were filed only against the alleged promoters of the barn yard battle.

Juries in Justice of the Peace Gwinn's court convicted both men when they were arraigned Friday and fined one $25 and the other $10.

The remainder of the rooster argument sextet will be arraigned Saturday. William Davenport, assistant county attorney, prosecuted the two cases Friday.

Suggests Plan For Naming City Manager

Editor, Record News:

Why not make a "City Manager" column for comment by citizens?

This is the most important matter before our citizenship. There is no question but that the principal of the city manager form of government is the most economical and most efficient of all forms of government, and the taxpayer is the man who should be heard from.

If a city manager is selected as a high-priced business executive, is selected by a business organization, then we will get the right man and at the right price, and the right price is the price it takes to get an expert in his line, capable of running a great business institution. He should be secured from afar, free from local sentiments, cliques or antagonism.

A tax payers' committee should be selected that will represent every line of industry, trade, profession and labor; hard headed men who are interested in a result and not a theory. Let them decide if we need a city manager and then proceed to select one to fill the bill. Let us get away from the small-town habit of passing favors around because of sentiment. Let us hear from Jones, who pays the freight, big Jones and little Jones. Let us get this city manager to work and get what is our due. This is not a reflection on the personnel of the present city government but it is a challenge to trade old methods for new methods, a method that had been tried by big cities and found to be practical and desirable.

CRITICAL CITIZEN.

He'll Spend Two Weeks Here at 3 Conventions

Three-in-oen is the slogan of C. A. Duck, postmaster at Greenville, O. P. Maricle, postmaster, said Friday.

Mr. Duck who is an official in the Knights of Pythias state lodge will arrive in Wichita Falls Sunday to attend the Pythian convention, which starts Monday.

He is also an official of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and has been delegated to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention, which starts three days after the Pythian meeting, so Mr. Duck will remain here to attend the chamber of commerce convention.

Mr. Duck is secretary of the State Association of Postmasters, which will convene in Wichita Falls the day following the chamber of commerce convention. Another three days will be added on to his stay in Wichita Falls.

In all Mr. Duck will be in Wichita Falls two weeks attending conventions.

Several Applicants For Post of County Agent

Appointment of a county agricultural agent will not be made by the county commissioners court until a satisfactory successor to Guy R. Jones, former agent, is secured, County Judge E. W. Nicholson said Friday.

Judge Nicholson made his statement following a report that the appointment had already been made and accepted by a Vernon man.

The county commissioners court is now considering a number of applications for the position but no definite decision as to whom the appointment will be offered has been made, Judge Nicholson said.

Majestic: Dolores Costello in "The Third Degree," Pathe News, Fables and Topics of the Day.

Olympic: "The Magic Garden," with all-star cast, from the story by Gene Stratton Porter; comedy and Fox News.

Strand: "Hills of Kentucky," with Rin Tin Tin, comedy and news.

Mission: "Cyclone of the Range," starring Tom Tyler; chapter 10 "On Guard."

Garden: "Between Dangers," with Buddy Roosevelt; No. 3 "Melting Millions," and comedy.

Gem: Ken Maynard in "The Grey Vulture," and Educational comedy.

If you remember back to the thrill you experienced when you saw "The Third Degree" on the stage, you will not want to miss being thrilled anew by the screen version of this well known melodrama which opens today at the Majestic for three days.

"The Third Degree!" Words that carry a connotation of horror and miserable injustice; nagging, bullying, brow-beating, torture, forced confession: the modern version of Inquisitions.

Happily, the "third degree" in this country has, to a large extent, given way to more scientific and less painful, and infinitely more accurate methods in police departments. Bewildered prisoners no longer writhe on a stool of agony, a blinding light flooding their weary eyes, with harsh voices in the darkness beyond threatening, cajoling, insisting, demanding, questioning them until their senses reel and the earth seems to be staggering crazily through trackless space. They are no longer slapped awake or roughly shaken by manicured paws out of the darkness, tempted with food, with drink, tempted with promises of freedom and leniency and rest to confess a terrible crime of which they are guiltless.

Woven around this barbarous institution, with the gay background of a circus, "The Third Degree" reveals in a startlingly realistic manner the endless romance, adventure, sacrifice and heartbreak for which it has been responsible.

Miss Costello appears as the wife of a third degree victim. Louise Dresser, as the mother, is featured in the supporting cast, which includes Jason Robards, Rockliffe Fellows, Kate Price and Tom Santschi. "The Third Degree" was adapted by Graham Baker from the Charles Klein play. Michael Curtiz directed.

Business Council Approves Trip To California Farming Area

Proposed trip of citizens of Wichita Falls to Southern California for the purpose of studying farming and business conditions in that section was endorsed Friday by the business council at the weekly meeting held in the Kemp hotel.

The purpose of the trip was explained by J. A. Kemp in a short address. J. W. Chatham estimated the cost of the round trip to be from $114.60 to $122.26, depending on the accommodations desired.

Date Undecided.

Some of the attendants at the meeting expressed the opinion that the trip should be started immediatel yafter the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention; others were of the opinion that the trip will be started will be determined after the number of citizens who will make the trip is ascertained.

Mr. Kemp in his address, said that if the citizens would personally inspect the the farming methods in California that the same successful procedure could more easily be installed in the Wichita county irrigation district.

Homer D. Wade, general manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, made a short address in which he stated that he was still certain that his estimation of a 50,000 attendance at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce would be found to be correct.

Employment Bureau.

Hubert Harrison, general manager of the chamber of commerce, explained the purpose of the organization in installing an employment bureau. Mr. Harrison requested all members of the council, who had work that a laboring man could do, to obtain the laborers through the employment bureau. He said that there were approximately 500 laboring men without employment in Wichita Falls.

A. L. Huey, chairman of the housing committee for the convention, stressed the necessity of members of the council to provide rooms in their homes for visitors and delegates.

The council voted to eliminate the meeting next Friday due to the activities of the members on various committees for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention
