Million-Dollar Liquor Capture Made On Coast

THREE BOATS AND CREWS ARE HELD

SEIZURE IS LARGEST IN HISTORY OF PRO WORK ON COAST

(By The Associated Press) BOSTON, Nov. 21.—Liquor valued at a million dollars was in the hands of government agents today. This estimate of the value of cargoes of two liquor laden barges was given at the office of Captain William Munter, eastern division commander of the coast guard.

The barges, the Edith and the Eagle Hill, and the ocean-going tug Murrell of New York, were captured by the coast guard patrol boat Jackson off the Maine coast Wednesday and brought to Boston last night. Nineteen men, crews of the tug and barges, were taken into custody of customs officials.

Digest On Coast Government agents who made a preliminary examination of the cargoes said that if all the containers and cases that appeared to contain contraband did in fact, the seizure would probably be the biggest ever made on the Atlantic coast, and one of the most important in the history of prohibition. They placed $1,000,000 as a tentative valuation.

The source of the huge quantity of liquor represented one of the most interesting and mysterious angles in the minds of government agents. So large an amount could be smuggled in only by means of a well-organized and efficient system.

BUSINESS SAID TO SHOW MEND

SURVEY OF 18 STATES REVEALS CONDITIONS LOOMING BRIGHTER

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—A survey in 18 states has convinced the National Association of Manufacturers that business conditions are on the mend.

Discussing the survey, John E. Edgerton, president of the association, told the New York State Chamber of Commerce last night that industrialists and business men generally were unanimous in the belief that the nation was "only just now taking a breathing spell in the tremendous industrial strides it has made as its own pace."

Twelve states reported improvement, two reported a stationary status and four reported a decline of which one was in the drought-stricken area, and a third in an exclusively lumber section.

Regarding unemployment, twelve states showed a "fairly encouraging situation," 14 were optimistic of improvement in the late winter or early spring, one anticipated no change and three, which were in agricultural, mining or lumber regions, thought the situation unfavorable.

Texas Banks In Good Condition, Shaw Declares

(By The Associated Press) AUSTIN, Nov. 21.—Despite bank failures reported in other sections, Texas banks "are in good condition," and not liable to be affected by depression, James Shaw, state banking commissioner, said today.

"Banks throughout Texas, he said, "have been imbued for the past several years with the idea of purging their institutions of doubtful assets and have been generally successful in doing so. Financial institutions for the most part are sound."

Approximately $15,000,000 in doubtful assets have been removed from Texas banks during the past three and a half years, records in the banking department show.

"Banks get in trouble in good times, through unwise granting of credit," Shaw said, "and these troubles do not show up until hard times hit. Texas banks, prepared for the strain, are in a strong position."

It is said he believed Governor Roosevelt of New York, his running mate on the 1920 ticket, would be nominated by the Democrats for president in 1932 on the issues of water power, utility regulation, unemployment, and the working out of a scientific tariff to place the country on a sound economic basis.

Since young Ervin's death in Lubbock Wednesday, the leopard has been confined to a zoo at Clovis, N. M., while Howard was brought to this city. Feeling had run high at Littlefield following the child's death but there was no demonstration.

LORENZO FARMER SHIPS OUT 200 DRESSED TURKEYS

By Staff Correspondent
LORENZO, Nov. 21. (AP)—D. O. Fox, well known farmer living near here, has shipped 600 some 200 dressed turkeys for the Thanksgiving trade, to eastern markets, that will bring him a net of around 36 cents a pound.

Mr. Fox killed the birds here and dressed them himself. He chilled them in a local meat market refrigerator system and then shipped them by truck to Floydada and from there to the market.

"I don't know of very many farmers who killed and dressed their own turkeys that they raised," F. L. Suits said in telling about the shipment. "Mr. Fox had good luck with his turkeys."

C. E. Westerman, another turkey raiser, dressed and shipped about 150 birds.

The two men, it is estimated, shipped about 5,000 pounds of dressed turkeys, receiving the highest price here.

Five Young Women Hostesses To Las Chaparritas Club With Dinner Thursday

Circus Motif Provides Unusual And Gay Setting For Affair Last Night

Novel in detail was the "circus" dinner attended by members and guests of Las Chaparritas club Thursday evening at the Country club. Misses Maxine Clark, May Tom Simmons, Wilma Parks, Inez Hensley and Jean Shelby Jennings were hostesses for the occasion.

Four round tables were arranged in the shape of a circus ring to carry out the chosen theme, and Rachel Campbell gave several acrobatic dance numbers during the evening.

The tables were laid in blue and white checked cloths, and place favors were miniature clowns tied on red and blue tin horns. Toy animals and balloons were used for the center pieces.

The rooms were hung in huge red and blue balloons, and strips of crepe paper in the same colors added to the note of festivity.

Members present were Misses Vonelle Gilkerson, Ghyda Grimsley, Brilla Mae Willis, Lucille Hartzog, Evelyn Hartzog, Camille Stobaugh, Beth Wulfsman, Sarah Michie, Gertrude Standerfer, Helen Elythe, Loris Ainsworth, Elizabeth O'Connell, Virginia Murray, Mary Lois Gamel, Gail Quinlan, Zella Riegel, Sylvia Wilson, Mesdames Ed Allen, Harold Griffith and Jerome Merrill.

Guests in attendance were Misses Sue Barton, Josephine Caraway, Cheville Whitehill, Effie Smith, Dorothy Griffin, Ruth Norman, Tina Alexander, Frances Snyder, Rosemary Leaverton, Margaret Stanton, Cecile Horne and Mary Beth Sheely.

Patrons of the Dupre ward were given an opportunity to visit rooms of the school last evening and meet members of the faculty. This open house preceded a regular night meeting of the Parent-Teacher association and several hundred mothers and fathers of children in the school were in attendance.

HAD GAS PAINS AND BAD TASTE

Georgia Lady Tells How She Has Been Benefited by Black-Draught.

Gainesville, Ga.—"I have been taking Theodor's Black-Draught for about thirty years," writes Mrs. R. L. Freeman, of 121 Grove Street, this city.

"I used to suffer with constipation. This caused me to have a tired feeling, and very severe headaches, bad taste in my mouth and gas pains. I wouldn't have an appetite, and did not feel equal to my work.

"I found Black-Draught quick in relief, so I have used it off and on all these years. It is harmless and easy to take. I can recommend it most highly.

"The medicine which this Georgia lady mentions is the same Theodor's Black-Draught which thousands of men and women have recommended because of the good results obtained from its use.

"It is a purely vegetable preparation of selected medicinal herbs and roots. Easy to take—no bad after-effects.

"Refuse imitations. Get the genuine, in a yellow package, marked 'Theodor's.'

"Costs only 1 cent a dose, 25-cent bottle.

GOLD HOLDINGS INCREASED

PEAK OF 1927 STILL IS UNDER TOTAL NOW IN U. S. CONTROL

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Gold holdings by the United States climbed to $4,330,000,000 during October, with that month's increase bringing the total acquisition for the year to $140,000,000.

The Federal reserve board in its monthly review of business and financial conditions, however, explained the total holdings of this country still were $150,000,000 under peak holdings reached in May, 1927.

Control 60 Per Cent
The United States and France, the board said, controlled approximately 60 per cent of the world's supply of gold, their holdings being the largest held by any two countries since the World war.

Japan and South American countries, however, lost gold, the latter exporting $138,000,000 during 10 months of 1929.

The board reviewed the gold movements of the world and showed how the gold stock of this country increased from 1922 to 1927. From May, 1927, to June, 1928, it said, this country lost $380,000,000 of gold as a result of a lower level of money rates than in other parts of the world.

Started in 1928
The rise in money rates that started in 1928 reversed the movement and by October, 1929, this country had gained $280,000,000 in gold, most of it from Canada, England, Germany and Argentina due to foreigners participating in the stock market trading and a decline in volume and prices of raw materials exported. The stock market slump again started an outward movement of gold last October, causing a decrease of $100,000,000 in the monetary gold stock of this country.

Since that time, the board said,

Must Name Men

Under court order in New York, Joseph B. Whitehead, inset, soft drink king, must reveal the names of the seven men with whom he charges Mrs. Annette S. Bracy, young widow, above, has been intimate. Whitehead named the men by initials in contesting a $250,000 breach of promise suit of Mrs. Bracy.

the gold movement between the United States and Europe has been small but about $225,000,000 came in from Japan, China, Brazil and other Central and South American countries. The return of Japan to the gold standard, decreased exports of silk to the United States and cotton goods to China and India were said to have contributed to weakness of Japanese exchange.

The board said France had been the principal taker of gold since 1927 when the value of the franc was stabilized.

A uniformed junior police force has been formed to aid regular police in protecting school children at Seminole, Okla.

13 Cent Gas Helps Lubbock Business

B. E. Needles Sells Gas at 13c Gallon

On Monday, November 17, B. E. Needles, Goodrich tire dealer of Lubbock, 1502 Avenue H, sold the first 13c gas that has ever been sold in the history of Lubbock, to our knowledge. Mr. Needles states that when he first opened business in his new location five months ago at Avenue H and 15th street, gas was selling for 21c. Basing his business on a conservative operating basis and with the policy of saving the people money and giving them the benefit of volume with a lowered price of gas.

people will drive miles to buy gas at a lower figure the saving that has resulted to this community by reason of this lowered price has been immense. Possibly running to between $5 and $8 per family per month. More money has been left in the town to buy necessities and articles for the home. More people are induced to come to this community to trade. Merchants and bankers, everyone has profited. More people come here to trade and there is more money to do their trading with.

At the start of his gas business, Mr. Needles had no idea that gas would finally drop to so low a figure, but the constant putting into policy his ideals of giving the people the saving due them by reason of large volume of business, prices have resulted in a constant lowering of gas to the present low price of 13c.

The policy of Mr. Needles which has built for him one of the largest gas and tire businesses in the Southwest has gained for him the

This Is Not A Hardtime Story

This year, up to the present date, B. E. Needles, Goodrich tire dealer has sold to the car owners of the South Plains more than 15,000 Goodrich tires and 25,000 Goodrich inner tubes.—Adv.

Friday, Nov. 21, wholesale price of gas quoted by local wholesale dealers was 14c per gallon.—Adv.

First time in gasoline business in Lubbock has retail price been lower loyal friendship and trade of thousands of people all over the great South Plains, and has resulted in thousands riding upon Goodriches. And they have bought Goodrich tires in Lubbock at the lowest possible prices because of the policy of giving the buyer every possible saving.—Adv.

Small Profits Increase Local Activities

Car owners will drive more miles to save money on gasoline than on any thing else they buy, and the tourists are sure to stop if gas is cheap. If people come to Lubbock to save money on gas, they will buy the other things they need; if the business men and laboring people in Lubbock appreciate cheap gas, they will buy their gas and tires from B. E. Needles, the Goodrich tire man. He is the direct cause of gas being 13c. Five months ago when B. E. Needles opened his new $100,000.00 business in Lubbock, gas was selling for 21c. B. E. Needles has a phone call several times each day about the price of gas, but he thinks 3c per gallon profit on gas at this time is enough. Five months ago, B. E. Needles was making 9c a gallon profit on gas line.—Adv.

The Deluxe Tire users state that they have not only saved money by getting greater mile service, but they have eliminated a high percentage of flats that occur to the average tires.—Adv.

Mr. J. I. Barrett, 2303 9th street, dropped in the office while the editor of this story was talking to Mr. B. E. Needles and stated that Mr. Needles had crummed himself with him for any tire business this year. Stating that he has not had a puncture in a year with the Goodrich Deluxe Tires that he purchased a year and a half ago and that he did not need another set for the next coming 12 months. Tough on Mr. Needles and service for Mr. Barrett.—Adv.

'DEAD' IS ALIVE

Radio Talk Reveals First Spouse

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—(AP)—A "dead" husband has come back over the radio to haunt Mrs. Mary Mulholland and mate No. 2.

John T. Mulholland told the court yesterday, in his suit to have the marriage annulled, that he wed Mrs. Mulholland in 1917 with the understanding that her first husband, Frederick (Spider) Tillman, Jr., had departed.

But when a radio speaker from the Dover Street Mission was announced as "Spider" Tillman, Mulholland said, "I noticed my wife's facial expression undergo a complete change." Subsequent interviews with Tillman revealed him as the missing spouse, he said.

"Well, I don't know," Mrs. Mulholland was reported to have said when confronted with this. "I didn't think he had never enough to talk over the radio."

'MUD AND GLORY'

Written for the Lubbock Daily Journal and King Features Syndicate by James M. Neville. Copyright by King Features Syndicate. All rights reserved.

CHAPTER XXV

But Jim was all in. Mud on his jersey and pants gritted like lead with the slimy stuff. He sprawled on the field, panting for breath, his head and body swimming in rain water.

Attendants carried him to the sidelines, with the coach running along. "Great work, Jim. Played a real game today. You made the boys look great. If you like that against Yale we'll lick hell out of them." A wise coach who knew when to praise.

Jim smiled, glowed.

The scrimmage went on, with Red and Terry hammering away at the scrubs defense, while players streamed on and off the field.

Terry looked after the departing players with open envy. His nerves were on edge, what with Red's ribbing and bragging and the throbbing pain in his arm. He stopped to rest, wiped the rain, and mud out of his eyes, gulped down a mouthful of water and spit it out again. Dan Hart, stepping out of the line, looked at Terry with a quiet smile of friendship. "Running the club like a wizard, old kid. Keep going!"

The words brought peace to Terry's shattered nerves. It had always been that way. Whenever Terry's arm ached in the rain, when his spirit crumbled in his fight for self-control with Red Thomas, the radiant face of Dan Hart, smeared with dirt and sweat, in there doing his job, thoroughly, quietly, shamed him into carrying on.

No one would ever know how much this rugged tackle had to do with making Terry Malone one of the outstanding quarter-backs of the East. But Terry knew and Dan knew. After opening a hole for Terry in the line, a certain glory would come into the lineman's face, as though saying, "We did it that time, old kid." But no mention of this tackle in the press headlines.

On Sunday mornings, when Terry glanced through sport news, he often blushed when he read glowing accounts of his sensational drives through the line, made possible by the holes opened by Dan. Once he mentioned it to him.

"Aw, forget it, Terry. Who cares about the dirty work in the line? The players know, but the public doesn't care. They want a thrill. They want to see somebody run down an open field, out where they can see the action. That's the sort of thing that gets the press notices. But I don't want it."

Dan was like that. He disregarded all personal glory and saw a mocking futility in taking the game or himself too seriously. At hysterical mass meetings—there was a humorous look in his eyes that disturbed Terry. He often wondered if Dan ate up all the word slinging of the big game orators or laughed to himself because of its stupidity.

It was getting late. Figures of scrimmaging players scurried through the dusk, still battling over the muddy field. The trainer had his eye on Terry. A saddle tanned face, whipped by wind and sun, with hair turned white under the stress of thirty-eight years of athletic training at Michigan, Yale Princeton, the wise counselor knew when a player had enough.

He sensed that Terry was going stale. His voice lacked the usual ring and confidence. His timing was bad and he scrambled up fundamentals. Brain and muscle no longer co-ordinated. He knew that a tired, exhausted player is easily injured, that a frowning expression and absence of rhythm was a sign of trouble.

"Better take Terry out," he said to the coach. "He's going stale. Look at that lagging step."

The coach had planned to keep Terry on the field for extra practice but he had sense enough to respect the trainer's orders. He had seen too many good men lost by just an extra few minutes.

"Terry, you can go in now," said the coach, slapping him on the back. "Nice work, nice work."

Delighted, Terry started running toward the dressing room, but every step felt as if he walked on pebbles. Muscles stiffened, and every body movement was an effort. He shivered in wet togs, dragged his heavy feet over the wooden porch and entered the locker room smelling of artificial and iodine and turpentine and human sweat. To sit down! Ah, it was nice. He just sat for several seconds, then pulled off his soaked togs, throwing them in a pile, with a widening pool spreading around them. There was a red colored bruise the size of a cleated shoe on his back, but he never felt it, so pleased was he to get under a splashing hot and cold shower, with the anticipation of putting on nice dry, clean clothes again.

Football and mud were, forgotten now. Players who clawed and cursed each other joked and laughed and sang under the showers, talked of going to the movies together.

When Terry sat down with the varsity squad at the training table that evening, he forgot all about the throbbing pain in his arm, the mud and rain. A little tired, he had a scrubbed, polished look and his clothes hung free and cool on broad shoulders.

Cutting into a broiled steak, he took on new life, forgot his aches and bruises and joined heartily into the light banter that flowed from one end of the table to the other. The head coach, returned from a visit to the Infirmary, sat at the head of the table, flanked by his assistant coaches. He talked of Mark Brown and the story of another scrub at a mid-western University.

"It was quite some time ago," began the coach, while players leaned forward and listened between mouthfuls. "Yost was just starting in at Michigan and he liked to run up big scores. If he could win every game 100 to nothing he did it. One day they played Buffalo University and Michigan led at the first half by sixty odd points.

"Most of the Buffalo players were battered and they ran short of substitutes. The Buffalo coach wanted to call the second half off but Yost said no. He permitted them to put their players back in the game as often as they desired.

"As one of the players came limping out of the game, Yost saw the man start for his bench, hesitate, then turn and run for the other side of the field. Thinking the lad made a mistake, Yost approached him.

"Say, that's your team over there. You're on the wrong side of the field."

"I know it," said the player. "But I'm not going back. I've been in that game three times and I'm not going in again."

"That's no way for a football player—"

"Is that so? Well let me tell you something mister. I was a football player. But no more! I'll be tickled to death if I never see another game as long as I live!"

The trainer, sitting at the head coach's side, had been in the West when football was young. He could go back in memory to the days when head guards were unknown and players let their hair grow to serve as a protection against shocks.

"Fifty years ago two hundred and fifty people was considered a large crowd at a Yale-Princeton game," he said. "Now look at the crowds. Back in 1892 the Illinois squad of eighteen players actually played a schedule which took them all over the Missouri Valley. They played six games in eight days. That is as much as we play almost in a full season today. One year the Michigan eleven traveled from home to Kansas, playing a game every day. The trip didn't do the team any good and many of the boys were crippled. Football is a much better game today."

"Speaking about the mid-west," said the head coach. "I remember one experience I'll never forget. I was coaching at Missouri. And only coached there one year. They wanted me back—but I never had the nerve—"

The coach paused, smiled. The players stopped eating.

"When I went to Missouri, I was a comparatively young man. The Big Three were supreme in those days and western schools tried to get men out there to coach. The idea appealed to me and I went along. Well, Missouri had great track teams, good baseball squads, but their football teams just couldn't lick Kansas, their traditional rival.

"Well, I came into town, looked over the situation and immediately tried to create a football atmosphere. I had slogans printed and pasted all over the campus, 'Beat Kansas.' I arranged mass meetings and invited the townspeople, working myself hoarse in shouting that we were going to beat Kansas.

"I only had a fair squad but I reasoned that if I could stir them up to a fighting pitch we might turn the trick. When I was interviewed I frankly said that we were going to lick the tar out of Kansas.

"As the game approached, I went in for more mass meetings, more slogans, more parades. Had the gym clubs singing, 'Beat Kansas,' had the townspeople saying it in their sleep.

"But on the day of the game I certainly had a surprise. The alumni of Missouri had taken my word for it, mortgaged homes, the family jewels and sold everything they could to get their last dime on Missouri. I got hot around the collar and to make sure that I would get out of town safely—if we lost—I went for my salary.

"The authorities asked me what was the rush. I told them I wanted the money to bet on Missouri. That caused another deluge of betting and they even obliged me by putting my money up on the game.

"Well! I was in a fix. If Missouri lost that game I would have had to sneak out of town on a freight train."

The coach laughed. "But I didn't! My boys went in and played great football while I sweated on the sidelines. We licked Kansas by a touchdown for the first time in years.

Terry was amused by the coach's early experience. Now a man in robust middle age and possessed of great personal magnetism and driving force, it was easy to understand the legend that had grown up about him; that he could take mediocre players and instill them with a

SOUTHWEST GRID TITLE RESTS IN BEAR-FROG TILT SATURDAY

DEFEAT WILL GIVE TEXAS THE FLAG

STEERS CONCEDED WIN OVER AGGIES ON THANKSGIVING

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS, Nov. 21. (P)—Nursing their first defeat in two years, suffered at the hands of the Texas Longhorns last week, the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs will face the Baylor Bears tomorrow at Fort Worth, still determined to win their second straight Southwest conference grid title.

Providing they can turn back the Bears, the speedy Christians then will have only to lick Southern Methodist on the following Saturday to repeat. Anything less than a pair of victories may be expected to leave them holding the sack and the Longhorns holding the conference championship, as the latter eleven is an overwhelming favorite to win its closing game against the Texas Aggies on Thanksgiving.

Bears Are Powerful
The defending champions will face a powerful crew tomorrow. A team that has primed itself to knock the Frogs loose from their title aspirations. In Jake Wilson, quarterback, Baylor has one of the Southwest's greatest all-around backs, and his line is conceded to be as strong as any in the conference, revolving, as it does, around Captain Bockey Koch, 300-pound guard. The going promises to be close. The Frogs might rate slight favorites from the fact they held Texas to a 7 to 0 decision last week, while Baylor had lost to the same team, 14 to 0. That, however, is drawing it pretty fine.

In the only other conference melee billed tomorrow, the Southern Methodist eleven will invade the roost of the Rice Owls at Houston. Indications are the much-traveled Mustangs will pluck the feathered ones, but they face the prospect of getting pretty well scratched up. A tilt with the Owls this year is anything but the snap it used to be.

McLARNIN MEETS PETROLE; TOMMY TAKES LEVINSKY

NEW YORK, Nov. 21. (P)—When slugging meets slugging one of two things can happen—a "waller" in which each shows tremendous respect for the other's punch, or a slam-bang battle in which each gambles on landing the first decisive blow.

These are the two possibilities when Jimmy McLarnin and Billy Petrole clash in a ten round bout in Madison Square Garden tonight. A large crowd is expected at the Garden in hopes of seeing both boys forget about defense and concentrating on attack.

McLarnin Favored
McLarnin has been virtually unbeatable since he accepted a lacing from Sammy Mandell, then lightweight champion, two years ago. He has waded through all sorts of opposition since then and in his last New York appearance knocked out Al Singer, successor to Mandell, in three rounds in an overweight fight. The smiling Irishman rules a 2 to 1 favorite over Petrole. The latter, however, is a mark for no lightweight or junior welterweight, in the business.

LOUGHNAN TWO-TO-ONE FAVORED OVER KING
CHICAGO, Nov. 21. (P)—Tommy Loughnan of Philadelphia, former world's light heavyweight champion, was a two-to-one favorite to defeat King Levinsky, the ex-fish peddler, in their ten round engagement at the Chicago stadium tonight.

Loughnan figures to defend convincingly the terrific-hitting Chicagoan beyond any dispute by plastering Levinsky's well-flattened nose with left hand jabs. Levinsky's only chances of winning appear to rest solely on his ability to score a knockout.

More battles, large and small, have been fought on South Carolina soil than in any other state.

TIGERS DEFEAT SPUR ELEVEN

SLATON TEAM SPRINGS SURPRISE IN BATTLE FOR DISTRICT HONORS; CANNON IS STAR

Football today and tomorrow at Tech field. Tech Picadors vs. Simmons University, Friday, today, at 3:30; Lubbock Westerners vs. Vernon High Lions tomorrow at 3 o'clock. The Westerners end their 1930 season tomorrow.

The Tech Matadors returned yesterday, pretty much the worse for wear and lean, but otherwise "hot and poppin'" for the Simmons University Cowboys who come here next Thursday for the annual Thanksgiving clash. It will take the boys a long time to recover from the sting the Yellow Jackets at Brownwood last Wednesday, but it is to be expected that the Cawthonsmen will unleash their pent up fury against the Cowboys, and to good ends from a local viewpoint.

Let it be understood here that the score of the Tech-Howard Payne game is no true criterion of the situation. Except for a few breaks, the Jackets would have been wondering yet just what happened, but they were looking for breaks, playing for them, and got them. First downs stood in their favor, as did gains from scrimmage, but let us tell you that the Matadors put up a mighty good fight, not to have been pointed for the game any more than they were. For the few weeks they have been priming for the Simmons game, taking the Howard Payne contest seriously enough but more as a matter of course.

Tomorrow comes the Vernon Lions to Lubbock. Last year the Westerners went to Vernon and took a 12 to 0 victory over Coach Heinle Weir's forces. The Lions have not forgotten it, and will be out for blood tomorrow when they face the locals on the Tech field. Quite a number of Vernon fans are coming for the game, and more than the usual run of local fans will probably fill the grandstand. It will be certain for the 1930 Westerners on the home field, and the curtain for about nine who help compose the first team.

We were the honored guest of M. H. Duncan, Ph. D. (Phothead) yesterday at the Kiwanis Club luncheon, and thoroughly enjoyed the hour. Professor Duncan, who is also superintendent of public schools when he is not officiating at luncheon clubs and helping to direct the Westerners, explained that our purpose in being there was to see how he rated so that he could get some front page publicity. This is about as near the front page as we ever get, but we're glad to accommodate, also to express our thanks for the free meal and entertainment. Now we're in line for Rotary, Lions and A. B. C.

It is always a little sad to see an athlete play his final game for his alma mater. It is brought home more forcefully when one spends considerable time around teams and gets to know personally the players. We could not help but notice the remarks, bravely made, by several of the Tech players after the recent game at Brownwood. For six of the Matadors it was the last football trip, mayhap, of their lives. Buddy Brothers, Red Waller, Clarence Hodges, Bill McWilliams, Rip Vinsant and Floyd Woodridge, perhaps others, have made their last free trip with a college football team, and will end their gridiron careers next Thursday against the Simmons Cowboys. That same, dear customer, is due to be a whale of a contest.

We're going to make ten guesses this week on outstanding football games in the section and state, and in sodding stand a good chance to bring our guessing average down. Southern Methodist 7; Rice 0, at Houston; Baylor 6; Texas Christian 7, at Fort Worth; Simmons 10; Canyon Teachers 7, at Amarillo;

VERNON LIONS HERE LOCAL ELEVEN IN ITS FINAL HOME GAME

THIRD PLACE IN RACE FOR DISTRICT ONE HONORS AT STAKE

A light workout with shadow scrimmage and signal drill will top off two weeks of diligent practice for the Lubbock High school Westerners this afternoon as final preparations are made against the invasion tomorrow by the Vernon Lions, strongest Class A outfit of the eastern half of District 1. The Lions will arrive in Lubbock tonight, and according to reports from Vernon will be in top form for the battle, which they hope to win.

Coach Frinks has sent his men through hard drills this week, and reports that every regular and every reserve will be in tip top condition tomorrow. Last week was rest week for the team from games and for several of the leading players from practice due to illness and injuries. All have returned this week, however, and the Westerner mentor says he will be able to send his best combination on the field against the Lions.

Regulars Bark
The return of Moody Smith, Dub Lawson, Mina Watkins, Carrell McCasland and Milton McGehee to the practice field this week has been received with great pleasure by the Lubbock High coaches and players. Smith was injured in the Amarillo fray, as was Watkins, and neither have been able to play or practice consistently since then. McCasland, a regular tackle, has been out of the lineup for more than three weeks with a bad knee, but is reported in good condition and ready to go now. Lawson suffered minor bruises in the Quanah game and has been ill with a cold for several days, and McGehee was painfully though not seriously injured when he came in contact with a barbed wire last week.

Coach Heinle Weir of Vernon will bring his strongest crew, all of whom are reported in good condition, and will make a desperate attempt to win. The Lions have a chance for third place, or at least a tie for that standing, by defeating Lubbock, and they will be anxious to do it as a result of the 12 to 0 defeat handed them last year on their home field by the Westerners.

The game tomorrow on the Tech field will start promptly at 3 o'clock, and will mark the final appearance of the Lubbock High gridsters on a local field this season.

Johnny Gallagher's Death Is Puzzling
NEW YORK, Nov. 21. (P)—The body of a man identified as Johnny Gallagher, referee at the Dempsey-Firpo heavyweight battle in 1923, lay in the morgue today—a victim of puzzling circumstances.

The man died yesterday of an internal hemorrhage at a lodging house and was identified by callers at the morgue as the former boxing official. The lodging house clerk, Jack Ansell, said the man was brought in Tuesday night and registered by a companion who said he had been struck by an automobile. He had an attack during the night and succumbed at noon.

The fight that Gallagher refereed caused considerable controversy because of the incident in which Dempsey was knocked out of the ring by the "Wild Bull of the Pampas" and was assisted back by ringside spectators.

We are quite willing to agree with Spur supporters that if Jim Hahn and Brode Puckett had been in the Bulldogs lineup yesterday, the score of the Slaton-Spur game would have been different. Hahn and Puckett are two of the best ball carriers we have ever seen in a high school backfield, Class A schools not barred. That's saying quite a lot, but those boys are big and fast and powerful. Had they been in the game yesterday, and it was a peculiar sort of ruse which kept them out, Spur might not have won, but they would have scored at least three more touchdowns. This Class B business or the way by which it is run, is somewhat of a mess. It should be turned over to an uninterested, unbiased, and unprejudiced set of officials, or should be controlled by the state. There can never be peace and harmony as long as executive power is left in the hands of five or six men who are vitally interested in different teams of the circuit. Hasten the day when power is centralized in Class B circles!

Spur started the second quarter with a bang when Joe Hahn intercepted Rucker's pass on Hahn's 5-yard line and reeled off 95 yards down a broken field for a touchdown, furnishing the most sensational play of the day. But it was the best Spur could do in the way of scoring. Slaton's line held an opponent on line plays, and the Tiger Lubbock 27, Vernon 6, at Lubbock; San Angelo 7, Breckenridge 26, at Breckenridge; Mineral Wells 0, Abilene 30, at Mineral Wells; Cleburne 40; Hillsboro 0, at Hillsboro; Electric 6; Quanah 14, at Quanah; Forest 13; Woodrow Wilson 6, at Dallas; Big Spring 0, Ranger 20.

DAILY MARKETS

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT NEW YORK, Nov. 21. (AP)—The stock market shook off early losses today, recovering moderate losses that appeared in the first half of a continuation of yesterday's late selling.

U. S. Steel, American Gas, Westinghouse, American Telephone, International Harvester and other leaders made up their declines of a point or two as the slow upward movement got under way and a number of issues, chiefly specialties, showed net advances of 1 to 3 points. St. Louis Southwestern preferred broke 15 points to a new low. Postal Telegraph preferred also made a new minimum. Call money renewed at 2 per cent.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 21. The total amount of cotton ginned was given as 11,962,364 running bales.

First trades were unchanged to 3 points down and the market continued to ease off after the start, cotton dropping to 10.78 and January to 10.83, or 1/2 to 10 points below yesterday's close.

Near the end of the first hour the market rallied 2 to 4 points on shorts covering.

The market remained quiet but steady all morning, gradually improving from the early loss on covering by near months shorts who are transferring to later positions. December traded up to 10.86 and January to 11.01, or 7 to 8 points above the early loss and about unchanged from yesterday's close.

Near noon the market was steady and at the high. Trading was decidedly light.

Another Abilene Housewife Talks

"I was just about down and out from the health standpoint, but since taking Argotane, I feel better than I have in months," said Mrs. Wm. Hartshorn, of 1233 N. 17th Street, Abilene, Texas.

"I've suffered for a long time with stomach and kidney trouble. Almost everything I ate would sour on my stomach and gas would form and I would bust up and be very uncomfortable for hours afterward. I was severely constipated and had to take a strong laxative every night and then would have sharp pains and cramping, spells, just the same. At times my back and sides would ache something terrible and I couldn't rest or sleep at night at all. I saw where Argotane was helping so many people and decided to try it."

"I feel like a different person and eat just anything I care for and it doesn't hurt me at all. I don't have the gas or bloating spells any more and best of all I don't suffer from constipation. My headaches are all gone and I rest and sleep fine every night. I'm not nearly so nervous as I was. I feel better than I have in months and Argotane has certainly helped me. I know that it will help anyone who is suffering as I was and if they will just try a bottle they will see and be convinced of its worth as I am."

Genuine Argotane may be purchased in Lubbock at the Bowen's Drug Store.

On that day all boys and girls of the county who have completed their record books and turned in reports will be guests at a luncheon to be given by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce. First, second, third and fourth year 4-H club members also will be given members of clubs.

A short program tomorrow will precede the business session.

Mrs. Lee J. Rountree, of the Bryan Eagle, only woman managing editor in Texas, will arrive on Sunday. Some of the editors will bring their wives who, in addition to the entertainment features extended the men, will be favored with a theatre party and luncheon Monday with Mrs. Charles A. Guy, Mrs. Charles W. Rafter and Mrs. Vestel Lott as joint hostesses.

Affairs of the conference are in the hands of L. H. Quinn and Chas. A. Guy, of the Avalanche-Journal papers. Forty visitors are expected.

SUPPOSEDLY HIJACKING CARAVAN IS REVEALED ONLY AS GROUP OF USED CARS ON WAY TO COAST FOR RESALE

(By The Associated Press) ABILENE, Nov. 21.—They weren't hijackers at all, but only a group of transcontinental drivers doing their bit in the transportation war between the automobile and the iron horse. After spending the night behind bars here, 18 young men were released this morning when a posse from Greenville failed to identify any of them in connection with a hijacking there Wednesday night.

For several weeks auto caravans have been rolling along the Bankhead highway, always westbound, each car identified by a red square painted on the windshield and rear glass. They travel in close formation, pausing briefly for service.

Yesterday's movement, a personnel of 24 men and three women, was halted here in response to a telegram from Greenville asking that a party of travelers be held for questioning into a hijacking there Wednesday. Four of the men, leaders of the party and owners of the cars, and the three women were released on their own recognitions; but the other 18 were locked up in one cell—the maximum of the city's accommodations in that regard—where they made a lark of the proceedings, laughing and singing most of the night. Search of the cars revealed nothing incriminating—no even liquor.

This morning L. L. Porter, sheriff of Hunt county; Joe West, a Greenville policeman; and M. L. Good, the hijacker's victim, came here to make the identification, if any. They failed.

Release Ordered "None of this bunch held me up," was Good's verdict. So release of the party was ordered and they went their way.

OBLIGING THIEF

 Says He'll Be Back For The King Of The Flock

SUTTON, W. Va., Nov. 21. (AP)—There's a chicken hereabouts who didn't do a 100 per cent job but he has left assurance that he will.

When Mrs. Thomas Terrine went to her hen house she discovered that a thief had been away with all her chickens except an old rooster.

Around the rooster's neck was tied a note. It read: "I'll be back for this one later."

cumbing to weariness, on the bed. "I didn't know whether I would ever wake up alive," she said.

"I don't know yet. I hate to let go. I hate to go to sleep. If I can only get away over that bed—I see turned her head in the direction of a bed about a yard away—and go to sleep tonight. I know. I know. I have done it. But I get so frightened. I don't want to die."

Years came. With her shoulder-length dark hair parted in the middle and braided in two pigtails tied with bright red ribbon she looked like a fifth-grader.

And then—"But I'm going to do it!" The carefully made-up lips, as brave as the gay ribbon, relaxed into a smile that quivered a bit.

CLARK ARRIVES IN MEXICO MEXICO CITY, Nov. 21. (AP)—J. Reuben Clark, new United States ambassador to Mexico, arrived here today and was greeted at the station by a delegation of business men and newspaper correspondents.

A 160-mile automobile road connecting Vienna and Budapest has been completed to reduce travel time between the cities from eight to five hours.

WAR NURSE'S CASE

demmed to death and was to be executed at dawn of the next day. He asked the marquis to take the place of Brand Whitlock, the American minister who was ill in bed with a high fever, and make every representation possible with the German authorities to stay the execution.

General Resolved The marquis says he and Gibson went immediately to Baron Von der Lancken who told them he did not think Miss Cavell's execution would be immediate, but that the baron said General Von Sauberweg, the acting governor, was resolved to execute her.

The marquis, relating a private conversation he had with Von der Lancken, tells how he pleaded with him, but the baron said Von Sauberweg wasn't to be moved, as a last attempt the marquis says he suggested the baron telephoning the German emperor at his headquarters, but the baron was stopped at such a request and explained "but one can't telephone the emperor."

The marquis says he and Gibson finally returned to the United States legation when the fatal day was dawning, tired out and terribly distressed.

Months later, the marquis says, when he was dining with King George and Queen Mary of England he related the details of the matter and quoted the king as saying, "It is a relief to me to learn the German emperor was not responsible for such a crime."

The marquis gives as his final verdict that General Von Sauberweg alone was responsible for Miss Cavell's death.

PIONEER TEXAN DIES GALVESTON, Nov. 21. (AP)—Colonel William H. Stafford, 80, Confederate veteran and pioneer Texan, died here today.

"OLD PER SCHEDULE" BIDS GOODBYE TO THE ARMY; GENERAL SUMMERALL TO GO IN RETIREMENT ON MARCH 4

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. — "Old Per Schedule," the army's way of saying General Charles P. Summerall, today went "on leave." With his widespread reputation as a tireless worker and his famous insistence on "getting things done on time," his associates used to tell him the army was going down hill when he infrequently took a day off. But Thursday, such jocularities were forgotten, for General Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff, was saying goodbye to the army. His four-year term in his present assignment was ended and he went "on leave" until March 4, when he will reach the automatic retirement age of 64. Farewells Given The personnel of Fort Myer where the official residence of the chief of staff is located, said he farewells with a flourish of trumpets, a roaring 17-gun "general's salute" and quiet handclaps as Summerall left the post. Friends in the war department crowded through his office during the day. Secretary Hurley was among those who bade the general goodbye and afterward he termed him "a great executive and a brilliant combat leader." Issues Last Order And then, Summerall issued his last "general order," announcing his relinquishment of the highest post an officer of the army can attain, and urging a continuance "of the high standards of discipline and pride of service that are the priceless inheritance of the army of the United States." At the fort Thursday morning, the general found a troop of cavalry, a mounted color guard, an army band and all the officers of the post drawn up before his residence as he left the house. Guns Boomed Guns boomed from the heights of the fort, the last volley fired by a battery under the command of the retiring chief of staff's son, Lieut. Charles P. Summerall, Jr.

At the edge of the reservation Summerall left his automobile to shake hands with each of the more than 30 officers. An elderly gentleman in a blue serge sack suit and black overcoat, shaking hands with youthful lieutenants and grizzled colonels, he presented a picture in striking contrast with the familiar one of a noted disciplinarian in strict performance of the duties of war. Speaks Briefly Just before he left the fort he spoke briefly to those who had gathered to say farewell. He exhorted his comrades to continue their "fidelity and fortitude in maintaining the proud profession of arms." The sobriquet "Old Per Schedule" became inseparably attached to him during the World war, in which he commanded the first division. When Summerall issued an order he expected it to be carried out and "on time." If the nickname was not always applied affectionately, for we be-fell the officer who failed to meet his requirements—it was a recognition of his ability as a great executive in the dread business of war. Ryan Fortune Was Only $121,028,992 NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—The estate of Thomas Fortune Ryan, who died Nov. 23, 1928, is valued at $121,028,992.
