

Suicide-Slaying Puzzles Family

A 42-year-old Colorado City man walked into the kitchen of his family's Snyder home Wednesday afternoon, shot his wife five times with a .32 calibre revolver, then turned the pistol on himself and took his own life.

Dead in the double shooting were Fred M. Martin, 542 Pine St., Colorado City, and Eva Frances Martin, 39, his wife.

Local relatives of Martin were puzzled by the tragedy. They said Martin seemed in good spirits earlier and had shown no outward signs of violence or depression.

Martin had been living here with his mother, Mrs. Geneva Martin. A brother and a sister also live in Colorado City.

Present in the home at the time of the shooting were Martin's three children, Thurman Fred, 14; Frances Helen, 13; and Robert Dee, 9. Mrs. Martin's sister, Mrs. A. B. Canady, was also present.

The oldest child was in the kitchen at the time and witnessed the shooting.

According to Martin's brother, C. R. Martin, 1048 College, Colorado City, "Martin had lived here 'off and on for seven or eight years.'"

He and his wife were separated and divorce action was pending.

According to his brother, Martin was employed by a Snyder auto firm at the time of his death. He had previously worked as a mechanic for several automobile dealers in Colorado City.

He was a native of Scurry County.

Snyder Police Chief T. L. Steele, who investigated the shooting, said Mrs. Martin was shot five times, twice in the back and three times in the front of her body.

Martin fired the sixth shot into his own heart.

Witnesses said there was no apparent reason for the shooting. They said Martin walked into the kitchen where his wife was putting up groceries and started shooting. Both bodies were found on the kitchen floor.

Martin was visiting the three children at the family home at 1307 26th St. when the shooting occurred.

Mrs. Martin, who was employed as a part-time checker at the Rainbow Market in Snyder, was a native of Callahan County.

Funeral arrangements were pending Thursday at Bell Funeral Home in Snyder.

Martin is survived by his mother, his three children, four sisters, Mrs. Jim Farr of Hermleigh, Mrs. Dalton Lightfoot of Colorado City, Mrs. Carl Pieper of Odessa and Mrs. Jack Flake of Levelland.

Also four brothers, C. R. of Colorado City, Elbert of Muleshoe, Burks of Brooklyn, N.Y., and Cecil of Florida.

Mrs. Martin's survivors are her father, R. G. Smith of Snyder; two sisters, Mrs. Canady and Mrs. Gene Loven, both of Snyder; and three brothers, H. R. Smith of Midland, Burley Smith of Greenville, Miss., and Darrell Smith of Crane.

Walker Buys Furniture Co.

Vernon Walker of Colorado City has purchased the household furniture store from W. F. Reeves of Sweetwater.

The furniture store at 237 E. Second opened here last Dec. 1 with Walker as manager. Walker sold his furniture store at 249 Walnut to Pittman's before joining the Household staff.

Walker said he would change the name of the store to Walker Furniture. He will be assisted by Jimmy Hammond as salesman and Mrs. Walker as bookkeeper.

Walker has been in the furniture business here for the past 10 years.

Green Named Manager Of C-City's Baker Hotel

Garlan H. Green, native West Texan who says he "married into the hotel business," has been named manager of Colorado City's Baker Hotel, due to open around May 1.

The announcement of his appointment followed Green's election to the Colorado City council Tuesday.

Green's appointment is effective April 15, according to Ed Baker, Fort Worth developer who made the announcement in Fort Worth Wednesday.

Green, a native of Robert Lee, has lived in Colorado City for the past three and a half years. He is resigning his position with the Sun Oil Company—with whom he has been for seven years—to return to the hotel business.

Green formerly managed the Holland Hotel in Alpine and the Mayfield Hotel in Clayton, New Mexico.

"We feel very fortunate to have secured Mr. Green's services," Baker said. "We anticipate his doing an outstanding job, and we share his confidence that the operation will be a most successful one."

Baker, a principal in the Worth Investment Corporation which purchased the hotel late last year, went on to say that the investment in the hotel is based on both present and future potential of the overall area, rather than on any advance information on specific planned industrial developments.

Green's wife, the former Margo George, is the daughter of Lawrence George, career hotel man whose positions with leading hotels have taken him and his family all over the Southwest and to Mexico.

Green was associated with George at both the Holland and the Mayfield, following

Race Horse Bought for $10,000

Two West Texas ranchers completed the purchase of a $10,000 Arizona-bred race horse Wednesday in Colorado City.

The horse, "Bank Night," a money-winning three-year-old colt, was purchased by J. W. Arledge, a Coke County rancher, and W. A. Hickman of Blackwell from Tom Finley of Gilbert, Ariz.

Finley, owner of Finley Ranches at Gilbert, said he raced the horse as a two-year-old but not as a three-year-old. He said that "Bank Night" had won five races as a two-year-old, including two in Tucson, Ariz. and one each at Los Alamitos, Calif.; Denver, Colo., and Prescott, Ariz.

The horse was sired by "Three Bars" out of "Little Egypt" by "Texas Dandy."

"Little Egypt" was the youngest American Quarter Horse Association champion and was named grand champion show mare several times at shows in Arizona and California, Finley said.

She held or holds four world records on the track. They are the 330-yard race for two-year-old fillies and the 220-yard, 250-yard and 300-yard races for three-year-old fillies.

"Bank Night" is a full brother to "Casbar," winner See $10,000 Pg. 7

Church Groups Plan Easter Observances

Colorado City religious groups have announced plans for two special Easter observances here Sunday.

The first of two observances will be a sunrise Easter service scheduled at Ruddick Park amphitheatre at 6 p.m. Sunday. The event is sponsored annually by the Colorado City Ministerial Alliance.

Rev. James Carraway, pastor of Oak Street Baptist Church will speak at the sunrise service.

Special music for the service will be by the junior choir of the First Baptist Church with songs by Don Jones, minister of music at First Baptist.

According to Rev. Clarence Collins, president of the alliance, men from the co-operating churches will participate in the service.

A Ministerial Alliance committee for the annual service is composed of Rev. Earl Clary, chairman; Rev. James Poe and Rev. Jack Selcraig, Collins said.

Also planned as a special Easter observance is an Easter Choir Cantata, "Memories of Easter Morn," which will be presented Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at First Methodist Church by the church's Chancel Choir.

The cantata, by Ellen Jane Lorenz, will be presented under the direction of Mrs. J. C. Garrett with Mrs. W. C. Hooks as organist.

A sextet of women's voices will sing at intervals during the program. The group is composed of Mrs. Lee Reeder, Mrs. Benny Frank, Mrs. E. C. Womack, Mrs. Lester Biggs, Mrs. Eddie Kissinger and Mrs. Eldon Smith.

Soloists for the program will be Lee Reeder, Eldon Mahon, Mrs. Clarence Collins. See EASTER Pg. 7

Three Miss Serious Hurt In Accident

High School Coach Dean King and Mrs. King escaped serious injury Sunday night when the auto in which they were riding struck a bull near Dickens.

Accompanying the couple was Mrs. King's mother, Mrs. Madge Carlisle of Spur, who also escaped with only bruises and cuts.

King said the auto—owned by Mrs. Carlisle—hit the bull and skidded about 90 feet before stopping. The car turned completely around and almost overturned, King said.

The crash resulted in over $800 damage to the car and killed the bull.

Mrs. King, an expectant mother, was asleep on the rear seat at the time of the crash, and was thrown into the floorboard by the force of the crash.

She was taken to a Lubbock hospital for observation and dismissed Monday.

$26,161 Paid By Co-op Gin

About 125 members of the Buford Cooperative Gin met at the Buford school building Monday night for an annual stockholders meeting.

A total of $26,161.93 in dividends was paid to gin stockholders for the 1957 ginning season, according to Thurston T. Smith, manager of the Buford gin.

This figure represented a return on 3,487 bales of cotton ginned at Buford during the past cotton harvest, Smith said. A group of 239 stockholders in the gin received a share of the funds.

New directors for 1958 elected at the Monday night meeting were Archie Feaster, Louis Small, Jack Linam, J. W. Blasingame and L. A. Strain.

Strain was the only new director added to the board. He replaces W. L. Hamilton.

Don Blasingame was re-elected president of the co-op gin.

Farm Loan Program Is Expanded by FHA

An expanded farm housing loan program, designed to speed up farm building improvement as well as to act as an additional anti-recession measure, was announced Thursday by Walter T. McKay, Farmers Home Administration state director.

The owner of a farm on which the operator plans to produce as much as $400 worth of farm commodities for sale or home use may now qualify for a four percent long-term housing loan, provided he meets other standard eligibility requirements, according to John Russell, local FHA office manager.

Eligible applicants were formerly required to own a farm which produced a more substantial part of the operator's annual cash income, Russell said.

Under the new arrangement, loans may be made to build, improve or repair farm houses or other essential farm buildings and to provide water for farm and household use.

Russell added that, in addition to financing major construction, the loan funds can be used to help meet many other needs for farm and farm home modernization, such as adding bathrooms, utility rooms, better kitchens, etc.

Although tenant farmers and farm laborers are not eligible for the loans, the owner or may borrow funds for construction work or improvements for them, Russell pointed out.

The FHA loans will be made to farm owners who need credit to finance building improvements or repairs, but find that adequate credit is not available through banks or other regular credit channels.

Interest rate on the loans is four per cent and loans may be amortized over periods of up to 33 years, Russell said.

Eligibility for loan assistance will be determined by the three-member County Farmers Home Administration Committee.

Applications are now being accepted at the local FHA office, Russell said.

Local Rites Conducted for Mrs. Seward

Funeral services were held at 10 a. m. Thursday at Kiker and Son Funeral Chapel in Colorado City for Mrs. Alice Seward, 94.

Mrs. Seward died Saturday at her home near Cross Timbers, Mo. She had lived at Borger before moving to Missouri about eight months ago.

Rev. James Poe, pastor of the Colorado City Church of the Nazarene, officiated in final rites and burial was in the Spade Cemetery.

Mrs. Seward was born in Alabama Feb. 14, 1864. She was a member of the Church of the Nazarene.

She is survived by one son, W. E. Seward, a former Colorado City resident, who now lives in El Paso; 35 grandchildren; 71 great-grandchildren and 25 great-great-grandchildren.

Palbearers were Jesse Ratliff, Bill Harris, Weldon Wiggins, Damon Light, Lon Robertson and Ira Hardin.

Westbrook Write-Ins Oust Two

Two hundred and sixty-six Colorado City voters turned out Tuesday to give three winning candidates solid majorities in the annual city elections here.

Two incumbents and a newcomer to city political circles were named to fill three city council posts for the coming year.

Winners are Trevor Crawford, last year's mayor, re-elected for a third term on the council; Sie Hamm, also an incumbent, elected for a second term, and Garlan Green.

Defeated in a bid for a council post was Matt Graham, a Colorado City barber.

Green received the greatest number of votes with 227; Crawford and Hamm followed close behind with 218 and 217 votes respectively. Graham received 82 votes.

The election will be canvassed at the council's next meeting on April 13. New councilmen will take office at that time, according to City Secretary Ford Merriitt. The council also will name a new mayor to preside at meetings during the next year.

Retiring from council service after serving three consecutive terms is Jeff Taylor, manager of Rockwell Bros. Lumber Co. and president of the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce.

In city elections at Westbrook, also held Tuesday, two write-in candidates surged to victory over that city's mayor and one incumbent councilman.

One incumbent councilman was re-elected by Westbrook voters.

Elected as write-in candidates were Roy Messimer, named to the mayor's post, replacing former Mayor W. E. Tucker.

Defeating Councilman Charlie Parrish as a write-in candidate was E. A. (Sam) Oden. Incumbent Councilman Oren Moore was re-elected.

The Westbrook council, consisting of only three members, including the mayor, will meet Monday.

Local voters will return to the polls here Saturday to elect two members to the Colorado City school board from a field of four candidates.

In the race for school board posts, are Max Caddell, Ed Rothwell, R. Y. Hammond and R. J. Wood. None of the four are currently members of the board.

Outgoing board members are L. A. Strain and Thurston Smith. Neither will seek re-election.

A fifth candidate, G. C. Lemons, has withdrawn from the race. He is also seeking re-election at Justice of the Peace in Precinct 1.

Saturday's election will be held at city hall from 8 a. m. until 7 p. m., according to J. W. Watson, school district tax collector.

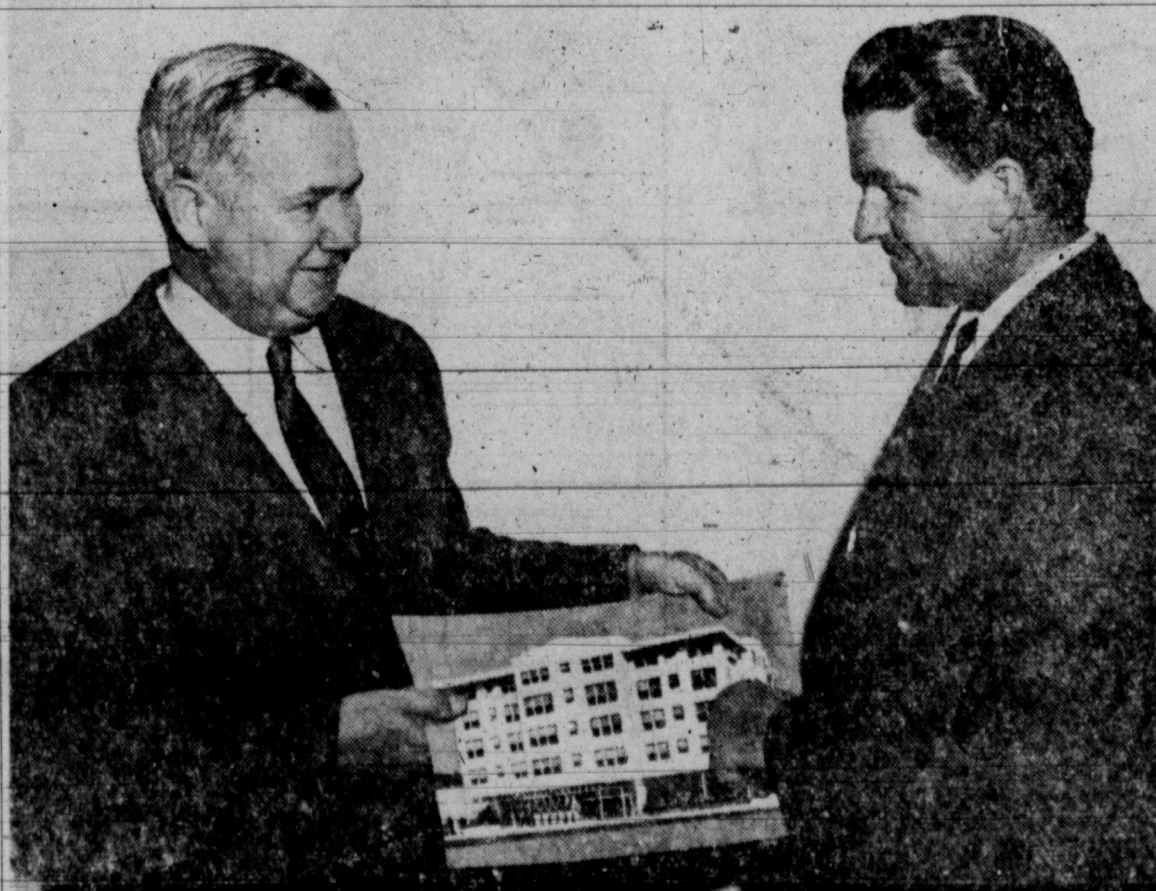

Wood was defeated as a school board candidate in 1957.

Newly-elected and re-elected members of the Colorado City council represent a wide range in professions and vocations.

Crawford is resident engineer at Col-Tex Refinery here; Hamm is employed by Colorado Drug and Green, a Sun Oil employee, was named this week as manager of the new Baker Hotel here.

BY C-CITY DEALERS

Advanced Ranges Will Be Displayed

The most advanced automatic gas ranges ever to hit the retail market will be seen in Colorado City home appliance stores in April and May during the Spring Range Sales Campaign conducted by local dealers by the Lone Star Gas Company.

A stepped-up advertising program will deliver the message that "Gas cooks best, coolest, cleanest, fastest more economically."

Leading the parade of new features for finer cooking is the "Burner With A Brain." It is called the greatest advance in gas cookery since the invention of the oven-thermostat.

Colorful window banners, billboards, easel cards and animated cartoon characters will point up the numerous gas range developments. A little homemaker on a motion display will tell what the "Burner With A Brain" does for the homemaker in these words: It thinks. It does the cooking and it does the looking. In television and radio announcements, a new sales tune on the "Burner With A Brain" will be introduced. Written by top-notch writers, the tune is singable and catchy.

The "Burner With A Brain" automatically maintains top burner temperature settings and makes the cooking of even the most delicate foods foolproof. The burner prevents overcooking as well as undercooking and gives constantly good deep-fat frying, boiling or griddle cooking without separate appliances. It actually makes automatic appliances out of ordinary pots and pans.

But the "Burner With A Brain" is only one of the many fine features on today's gas range. Some of the others are pointed up in a range sale promotion piece which reads: "Gas ranges are most modern with mere automatic, more exclusive features than any other type of range, like no hangerover heat, closed door broiling, 1001 top burner settings, bake and broil at the same time, and fastest cooking and clean cool cooking."

Local advertising around the range sales campaign will tie in simultaneously with gas range advertising on a national level. Four-color magazine advertisements will point up the special features of the new automatic gas ranges. These will feature Julia Meade of Playhouse 90, popular American Gas Association sponsored television show.

Lone Star Gas Company home economists will conduct cookery demonstrations in gas appliance dealer stores. Each person attending the demonstration will be given a yard stick on which is printed in large blue letters: Only gas measures up, cooks cleaner.

cooler, faster, plus four to one savings.

Some dealers are offering low down payments, extra trade-in allowances, easy terms and special discount.

The modern gas range to be seen on dealer sales floors is as automatic as any range made today. It is the finest and most efficient cooking appliance that money can buy. It is equipped with numerous special refinements to fit any need of the most exacting homemaker.

So rapidly are new and improved features being added to modern gas ranges, that models in use only a few short years are considered by some homemakers to be out of date. That is true, even though the older models are dependable and still capable of producing good cooking results.

During the entire two months of the Spring Range Sales Campaign, the homemaker will be offered the valuable opportunity of seeing the most fashionable and desirable arrays of gas ranges ever assembled by dealers of fine cooking equipment.

The homemaker may literally experience a shopper's holiday in her choice of models and the dozens of automatic, convenience and operating features that enhance the beauty and increase the efficiency of the modern gas range.

Early Newspaperman Here Dies Tuesday

Funeral rites for James Lorenzo Dow, 79, pioneer Colorado City newspaperman and brother-in-law of six local residents, were conducted Tuesday in Seminole.

Dow, who in 1904 married Miss Lila Dorn in Mitchell County, died Sunday in Gaines Clinic Hospital in Seminole after being hospitalized for two weeks with a heart ailment.

At the time of his death he was business manager of the Gaines Clinic Hospital.

Dow, prominent in West Texas newspaper, church and civic development, was the brother-in-law of Mrs. Rube Hart, Mrs. W. J. Chesney, Mrs. T. C. Richardson, Miss Emma Thalkill, Marvin Dorn and M. P. Dorn, all of Colorado City.

He was schooled in Colorado City, where he learned the printing trade by working after school hours, Saturdays and holidays. As an adult, he was an employee of the Colorado Spokesman, an early Colorado City newspaper. Later he purchased and operated a newspaper here for several years.

In Sweetwater he owned and operated the Weekly Review for several months before a fire destroyed his plant.

Moving to Lubbock in 1905, he became an employee of Lubbock Avalanche. The next year he became editor-publisher of the Avalanche, which he developed from a one-man newspaper to a daily publication.

Dow sold his interest in the Avalanche in 1926. Since then, he owned the Wink Times Herald and Winkler County News before becoming a hospital administrator. He had a leading role in the early growth of Lubbock, the establishment of the South Plains Fair and for 23 years was church school superintendent of Lubbock's First Methodist Church.

Dow was one of the pioneers honored in the Peter Hurd mural in the rotunda of Texas Tech's West Texas Museum. Survivors include the widow; a daughter, Mrs. Jay E. Gordon of Lubbock; three sons—James Rankin Dow of Lawton, Okla., Melvin Nisbet Dow of Wink, Dr. Harold Dwight Dow of Seminole; and a sister, Mrs. Maggie Wristen of Lometa.

The revival opened Sunday at the local church and will continue through next Sunday, Harrison said.

Preaching for services Thursday and Friday nights will be Rev. Elton Wyatt, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church in Snyder.

Leading song services for the revival is W. E. Wood, Harrison said.

Everyone in the community is invited to the services, he added.

Rev. Harrison said about 75 persons attended the revival Tuesday night and that he expected crowds to increase later this week.

Testing Program Set For Loraine Schools

"Parents are definitely interested in a comprehensive report of their children's scholastic abilities and potentialities," according to D. V. Marcum, Superintendent of Loraine Public Schools, "and they want evidence that their school tax dollars are being spent wisely."

To meet these goals the Iowa Tests of Educational Development will be administered by Preston C. Lightfoot, Supervisor, and the high school teachers on April 14 and 15 to students of the Loraine Public Schools.

The testing program covers nine important aspects of fundamental development in four major areas: the ability to understand and use the English language; the ability to do practical everyday work; medical reasoning; knowledge of both natural and social sciences, and the ability to think straight about common problems in these fields.

Results of this program will show the scope of each student's background knowledge and the extent to which his scholarship abilities have already been developed.

They will enable teachers to individualize instruction to meet personal students needs, and will give guidance directors invaluable information to help them counsel more effectively, Marcum said.

Answer sheets are scored centrally by a staff of Iowa Testing Program specialists to insure objective results.

A self-interpreting profile, furnished each pupil to plot his own scores and those of his class average, will serve as a report to parents. It gives them a picture of how their child scored, how he compared with his own class average, and with other students of the same grade, level nationally.

In addition, these profiles tell what the tests mean to the student. They give parent and child a better understanding of how their school is trying to provide the best education possible, Marcum pointed out.

This Iowa program is designed to help increase efficiency in the public schools at a time when school budgets are knotty problems. Results are being awaited with interest, he added.

45 Persons Attend Council Of Church Women's Session

Forty-five local church women attended the regular meeting of the Colorado City Council of Church Women Monday at St. Luke Methodist Church.

A highlight of the afternoon meeting was "Trends in Adult Education" program topic directed by Mrs. Clarence Collins.

The opening prayer was spoken by Mrs. W. W. Rhode. Mrs. Collins presented introductory remarks about leadership education and the self-evaluation quiz.

Mrs. J. D. White directed the buzz groups.

Role playing featured a reading by Mrs. Paul Boston, "Simon of Cyrene."

Mrs. Bob Reilly directed the spot-drama with Mrs. Eldon Mahon, Mrs. W. W. Rhode, Mrs. Bob May, Mrs. Jess Craddock, Mrs. J. Ralph Lee and Mrs. Collins participating.

The benediction was spoken by Mrs. Lynward Harrison.

A business meeting preceded the program with Mrs. White, council president, presiding. Mrs. White called attention to the Church World Service which is urgently in need of clothes. The recent Texas Council of Churches Assembly endorsed a project to collect 3,000,000 pounds of clothing for distribution during the next four years.

"The need is great," the report stated, "and the time is now."

"One thing which we must emphasize however," the report continued, "is that the donors are being asked to contribute eight cents per pound for each pound of garments given. The eight cents will help defray the expense of processing, baling and transportation to port of shipment overseas."

"The United Church Women of Texas are being asked to take charge of this project and direct it."

Members voted to accept the 1958 budget presented, as a recommendation from the executive board.

A report was given by Mrs. Charles Godwin concerning the World Day of Prayer. She also thanked committees that assisted in the preparation of the program.

Announcement was made by Mrs. White of the executive board meeting of the council May 22 at the First Presbyterian Church in the church parlor.

Those attending from the First Christian Church were Mrs. P. H. Pace, Mrs. Lee, Mrs. D. W. Albright, Mrs. J. B. Pritchett, Mrs. A. O. Hickman, Mrs. V. R. Trulock, Mrs. White, Mrs. Laurence Rudd, Mrs. P. K. Mackey and Mrs. O. L. Simpson.

The Easter bunny hopped out in time for PTA mothers to appear fresh and pretty as spring while hosting the district convention here last week. Especially picturesque were Margo (Mrs. Garian) Green and Vietta (Mrs. Jack) Scleraig. But the best bouquet of all is due Ruby Lee (Mrs. Ray) Noble for the planning and direction that reeled off the convention smooth as glass.

Speaking of Easter and spring... did you notice this week how a corner in City National Bank was brightened... prettily, too... by a deep purple bouquet of Iris from Lena (Mrs. Gwan) Strange's flower garden. Fresh, too, are the shades of pink that provide attractive Easter decor for Eva's display windows prepared by Bob Pender.

Our Texas flag always looks good anytime. But if you want to rekindle your patriotism for the Bluebonnet state... just stop by Junior High School's library and see the full size, handmade replica of the Lone Star flag displayed there. It's the original work of four seventh graders... Sandy Landau, Alexis Cowan, Brenda Bell and Vicky Brown.

Visiting recently in historic old San Antonio were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wakefield. The Col-Tex "first family" met Cosen-officials there for a meeting of Western Petroleum Refiners Association.

Those attending the Council of Church Women Monday in St. Luke Methodist Church still are talking about the reading by Mary Jean (Mrs. Paul) Boston. Extra, extra fine, they rave.

Housewives might pat themselves on the back... believing they have carried more laundry than any man of the house. But how about B. T. Daugherty? He has just completed 33 years of continuous service for Colorado Steam Laundry... carrying laundry to just about every door in town. Daugherty was working for A. B. Blanks at the laundry before it was purchased by the present owner, J. Ralph Lee. Another record of Daugherty's that is hard to beat: Except for vacations he has missed work only one time—just a few days—and that because of illness.

How to Keep a Free Press FREE

SELDOM does Freedom of the Press disappear in one annihilating blow.

In countries where the Press has been chained, there was first a period when it failed to realize and resist the beginnings of its end — the first encroachments on its freedom. There were powerful interests which wanted certain facts "kept out of the newspapers." There was pressure here and pressure there to have the truth withheld.

Before the Press of any nation succumbs to tyranny, there always has been a period of failure to speak out.

Here in America there is only the limitation of national security — the necessity to protect and preserve confidential military and scientific information — which can be accepted by a Press that is determined to stay free.

America's newspapers have made, and will continue to make, a conscientious effort to protect that security — at the same time keeping the people informed as fully as possible on all matters concerning their welfare. So long as American newspapers pursue that policy fearlessly, our Press, our people and our country shall remain free of tyranny.

80 Hear Banquet Talk by Steakley

By MRS. ALTIS CLEMMER
Record Correspondent

WESTBROOK — Proper foundation for a worthy life was emphasized here Saturday night at the banquet honoring Westbrook High's girls and boys basketball teams and their coaches.

Speaker for the banquet in the school lunchroom was Dr. Jene Steakley, Colorado City dentist, civic and church leader.

Eighty persons heard Steakley compare construction of young lives with the construction of a good house.

Both require a good foundation first of all, he pointed out.

The banquet, a buffet dinner, was sponsored by Westbrook Parent-Teacher Association.

Decorations were in school colors, blue and white. Miniature loving cups, inscribed with names of team members, were place favors. Tables were adorned with blue candles, white ribbons and miniature pennants marked with "Westbrook Wildcats."

A large arrangement of white carnations and roses centered the main table.

Danny Swafford, senior and one of the high scorers for the boys team, was master of ceremonies. Invocation was by another senior and high scorer, John Matlock.

Welcoming the banquet audience was Mrs. Altis Clemmer, PTA president. Responding was Edell Morris, another senior.

High points of the basketball season were related by Jerry C. Putnam, captain and high point player. At the same time the captain toasted the boys' coach, Herman Parsons, and presented him with a gift from the players.

Parsons expressed appreciation for the gift and the spirit of the team. And each member of the boys' team was introduced individually.

"Whispers from the Locker Room" was a tribute to the girls' coach, Supt. Soc. Walker, who also received a gift from his team. Presenting the tribute and gift was Brenda Butler, a sophomore, who acted in the absence of Barbara Parrish, senior captain and high scorer for the girls.

Members of the girls team were introduced and praised by Walker in his response.

Benediction was by Roy Wayne Iglehart, senior.

THURSDAY AND FRIDAY

Wolves Run in Andrews, Big Spring Track Meets

A busy schedule faces Colorado High track and field team this week end.

The Wolves were in Andrews Thursday afternoon and night and are scheduled to run in Big Spring at the ABC Relays Friday afternoon.

Top-notch competition is expected in both meets with Andrews favored to win their own invitational meet and possibly the one at Big Spring.

Coach Dean King's boys began running at Andrews at 1 p. m. Thursday and were scheduled to finish at 9 p. m.

King listed the following entries for the Andrews meet:

100-yard dash — Freddie Womack, Buzz Cade, Bancker Cade or Don Black.

220-yard dash — Black or Bancker Cade.

440-yard dash — Bancker Cade, Raymond Weaver and Don Welter.

880-yard run — John Johnson.

1 mile run — Mike Wheeler, Mike Schoolcraft and Robert Womack.

1 mile relay — Black, Buzz Cade, Barton Smith and Weaver.

440 relay — Black, Bancker Cade, Free and Freddie Womack.

Shotput — Bill Davis; discus, Davis, Romaldo Lujan and Jay Allen.

High jump — Black and Truman Stinson; broad jump — Black and Bancker Cade; pole vault — Stinson and Schoolcraft.

King plans to take only four boys to the Big Spring meet. The foursome — Cade, Black, Free and Womack — will run only the 440 and 880-yard relays.

Their first race will be Friday, 3:45 p. m., and their second one only 25 minutes later.

Lucky Merket, who usually runs on the sprint relay team, is injured and will not make the meets this week end.

At the Amarillo Relays last week end, two Wolves qualified for the finals, but failed to place in the finals.

They were Bancker Cade, who ran a 22.4 in the 220 and Womack who went to the semi-finals in the 100-yard dash after running a 10.6 century.

Sunday Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Alva Vest visited at Hermleigh Sunday with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ocie Vest.

SOPH SHOTPUTTER—Bill Davis, sophomore track performer, demonstrates his shotputting form to Romaldo Lujan, another field man on the Colorado High cinder squad. Davis has been throwing around 44 feet in competition this year.

Loraine Cops District 16-B Track Title

Loraine High School won its second District 16-B trophy of the year Saturday at Snyder when they captured the conference track and field meet.

The Loraine grade school also won first place, according to Supt. D. V. Marcum and Coach Claude Morrison.

Schools participating in the meet were: Hermleigh, Ira, Fluvanna and Loraine.

First place winners for Loraine were Gary Parnell, 100-yard dash; Marvin Wallingford, 440-yard dash; 440-yard relay (Darrell Owens, Clovis Hale, Robert Rankin and Gary Parnell); Ronnie Haley, broad jump; Wallingford, high jump; Robert Galvan, mile run; Thomas Vest, shotput; Tim Marcum, chinning; Owens, 220-yard dash.

Loraine scored 60 points, Hermleigh 41 and Ira 40.

Home From Dallas

Mrs. Henry Cook of Loraine returned home from Dallas Wednesday where she had been at the bedside of her brother, G. E. Culp, who is seriously ill.

Bob McMillan Named Coach In Jr. High

Bob McMillan is the new seventh grade coach in Colorado Junior High.

McMillan replaces Ronnie Gurley, who was moved up to an assistant's post in high school.

McMillan, 23, has been in the school system here since Dec. 2 as history teacher in junior high.

A native of Sweetwater, he graduated from the Nolan County school in 1951 after lettering two years as football end, making all-district his senior year as captain of the Mustang team.

He played guard and line-backer on the Baylor University grid team from 1951 to 1955. After graduation, he attended Baylor school for 1½ yrs, and served as a freshman football coach.

McMillan served six months in the U. S. Army prior to accepting his teaching position here. He is not married.

BOB McMILLAN, 7th grade mentor.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger McMillan, reside in Sweetwater.

Jaggery is a coarse brown sugar made from the juice of palm trees.

FINALS SATURDAY, 1 P. M.

ABC Relays Get Underway Friday

West Texas' biggest track extravaganza in history—the American Business Club Relays—will get underway Friday, 1 p. m. in Big Spring.

And a record crowd of 10,000 cinder fans are expected to jam the stadium at Howard County Junior College for the finals Saturday, beginning at 1 p. m.

Feature attraction, of course, is the 100-yard dash, billed as the "race of the century" with Olympic Champion Bobby Morrow of Abilene Christian College and Dave Sime of Duke University.

Not to be overlooked in the same race are Hollis Gaine of Colorado City and the University of Texas; Bill Woodhouse of AQC and Charles Gary of the University of Houston.

Gary is a native of Colorado City, but his family moved away to Stamford when he was in the third grade here.

His father, R. M. Gary, was manager of a local gin and then business manager of Rhode Clinic for several years.

Gary, an outstanding athlete at Stamford High, is now the star sprinter for the Houston school.

The century race is expected to narrow down to a two-man battle between Morrow and Sime. Each has defeated the other once in prior meetings on the track.

If Walley Wilson is well, the University of Texas mile relay team could easily break the national record on the mile relay.

Practically every meet record is in danger in the university class; and possibly several national marks.

The meet is divided into three classes—high school, See RELAYS, Pg. 6

Downward Trend in Livestock halted

Adequate rainfall along with more favorable prices has halted the downward trend in livestock numbers in Texas.

All livestock and poultry on farms and ranches were valued at $983 million at the beginning of the year, or 58 per cent above the $623 million inventory value a year earlier. This sharp increase in value is a reflection of both the increased prices and numbers.

The total number of cattle and calves on Texas farms and ranches January 1, 1958, was estimated at 7.7 million head. This is the same as a year earlier but 9 per cent below the 1947-56 average of 8.5 million head.

The number of sheep on the same date was estimated at 4.7 million head—a five per cent increase over a year earlier. This is the first significant increase in inventory in a number of years. In spite of a much smaller lamb crop, the number of ewe lambs held was 30 per cent above a year earlier.

There were an estimated 908,000 hogs on Texas farms on January 1, 1958. This was four per cent below last year and 36 per cent below the 1947-56 average. The higher prices for beef at retail should give some strength to hog prices in the fall of 1958 and keep them from falling to an abnormally low level.

Goat numbers have been increasing steadily. This year's inventory showed an estimated 2.8 million head—a two per cent increase over 1957.

On a nation wide basis, cattle numbers showed a decrease of one per cent, sheep increased three percent, and hogs were about the same, though the number of sows and gilts on farms were up about five per cent.

From Dry to Wet

Texas weather changed from extended drought to excessive rainfall in the spring of 1957 and the forage picture reflected this transition.

County agricultural agents reported 106 per cent of the forage needed was produced, as compared to 35 per cent in 1956, 76 per cent in 1955 and 65 per cent in 1954. Of course, livestock numbers were still down due to drought and the requirements were abnormally low for some counties.

The wet spring prevented harvest of thousands of acres of hay and silage from winter temporary pastures and prevented planting summer grazing and silage crops at the proper time. The wet fall and early-freeze prevented normal harvest, and in some cases normal development, and resulted in further loss in forage crop quality and quantity.

However, the spring rains, and to a certain extent those in the fall, resulted in excellent production from established perennial grasses.

Agents reported that Texas farmers and ranchers stored 8,408,584 tons of dry forage in 1957, says Trew. This was 57 per cent more than in droughty 1956. They also reported that a total of 3,535,156 tons of silage was stored, 36 per cent more than in 1956. The more favorable forage supply have resulted in a strong demand for beef cattle.

A total of 3,480 pasture demonstrations involving 724,296 acres were reported for the year—fewer than in 1956. He attributes this reduction to the wet spring and fall which hampered establishment and evaluation of pasture demonstrations.

LAST YEAR'S EASTER BONNET

By Bill Sloan

THIS SERIES OF columns, which made its first appearance in the Record last July 14, comes to an end in this issue.

During the past few months, we have attempted to deal briefly with some of the behind-the-scenes action in a few of the more important occurrences in Colorado City.

And—occasionally—we have sprinkled these columns with a little of our own editorial type opinion.

WE LIKE TO think that background on some important local events has been presented in these columns. A lot of things have happened in your town during the past 10 months—things which are often overlooked in the midst of our day-to-day routine.

We have lent our support to some projects that flopped—like an all-fated municipal bond issue last fall. Other pet projects of ours have met better success at the hands of the public. But, regardless of the results, we have felt that our time was well-spent.

IN OUR SHORT stay, we have formed a pretty high opinion of Colorado City in general—and a particularly high opinion of a few people in general.

We think Colorado City has a good, solid future in front of it—and that is the way substantial towns are built. There will probably never be an actual "boom" here, but we would stick our neck out far enough to predict that this community will continue to grow and to prosper.

ON THE OTHER hand, we have encountered a few people in Colorado City who—small and bigoted and with all the farsightedness of a mole—seem to make a career of thwarting progress and every thing it stands for.

Sticking our neck out a little farther, we believe that these people—decidedly in the minority—will lose out completely in the final analysis to the group with the real, long-range interest of the town and the citizens at heart.

At any rate, we sincerely hope so.

WE HAVE ENJOYED living in Colorado City and meeting its people—both the builders and the bigots. And while this town may never rival Midland, Odessa or Abilene in size, we believe that new blood and new ideas combined with the old will make Colorado City's future bright long after the backward villages and flash-in-the-pan metropolises have vanished from the West Texas scene.

LOCAL BUSINESS

Big Profit From Ad Investments

By JOE BOATRIGHT
Record Advertising Mgr.
When General Motors spends $120,000,000 annually on advertising, or Sears retail stores buy $45,000,000 a year in newspaper space, or the Marshall Field store spends $2,670,000 for advertising in a single newspaper, an essential business investment has been made.

If this is not true, the top officials of such companies are both fools and liars. If we may believe the repeated statements of company officers, the huge advertising investments are small when compared to return in profits.

Thus, we are baffled by the occasional comment of a friend who says, "They just waste a lot of money on advertising so they can reduce their income tax. Well, why not 'waste' the money on increased wages, expense accounts, executive salaries, longer vacations, or reduced prices?"

Or, in the case of the Marshall Field Store, why not "waste" advertising funds

It's Needling Time in Texas As Summer Primaries Near

By VERN SANFORD

Texas Press Association
It's "needling" time in Texas. That is the period when those in-office start feeling the barbs of those who have their eyes on the same office.

Filing deadline for the summer's primaries is May 5. In any pre-election period the "outs" have a busy season of looking for "bugs" under chips. Any likely looking "bug" is hauled out to test public reaction on its value as future campaign fodder against the "ins."

But this year no one has to look hard. Texas' problems are all too obvious. Unemployment hangs persistently stubbornly into spring weeks. Oil, the state's No. 1 money-maker, is seriously bogged down. A multi-million-dollar deficit in state revenues is in prospect.

ence: an open season for "veiling with alarm" and prospect of lively campaigns if some hard runners line up major offices.

No More Specials

He sees no need of a special legislative session now, says Gov. Price Daniel, because the state government is already pushing an anti-recession program.

Governor Daniel's statement was in reply to demand by the president of the Texas AFL-CIO for an 8-point program to combat unemployment.

Jerry Holleman challenged the governor to back up his philosophy of "states rights" by meeting "states responsibilities." His "points" included revision of unemployment compensation laws, speeding up spending programs for building, highways, water projects, etc.

Daniel retorted that Holleman's demand took no note of work already moving apace. Texas, he said, "did not wait for a recession to exercise its responsibility of providing highway, water conservation, attraction of industry, increased salary and building construction programs."

"This is one reason the situation in Texas is much better than in most other states."

"I have every confidence," said the governor, "that the prophets of gloom and doom will not talk us out of a continuation of our unparalleled progress."

Water Board Commended

Governor Daniel fired back a specific reply to the AFL-CIO's urging to "push the water conservation program."

Water conservation has been one of Daniel's "most pushed" projects since gubernatorial campaigning days.

Daniel said, in effect, the new water Development Board had moved in a cloud of dust to get organized, set up rules, establish procedures, begin hearing and give preliminary approval to two projects—all within 90 days after taking oath of office.

Two projects, if finally approved, would lend $5,000,000 to the Sabine River Authority for a new lake and $350,000 to the Williamson County Water District No. 1 for a water diversion project.

TEC in Fuss Parade

Internal fussing contained

State Capital NEWS

glous with state boards has spread to the Texas Employment Commission. AFL-CIO is stocking the fire from outside.

TEC's member labor, R. F. Newman, blasted the fuss into orbit by accusing the other two members, Chairman Perry Brown and Maurice Acers, of dealing him out of policy decisions. Brown represents the public and Acers the employers.

Argument focused initially on policy toward employees within TEC itself. Newman contended morale of TEC's 2,000 employees was shot. They live in fear, he said, of knife-in-the-back retaliations, salary cuts and demotions when their decisions offend trade groups, corporation lawyers or volunteer legal counselors.

Acers retaliated in a letter to trade organizations and employers charging Newman and "representatives of organized groups" with using the recession to gain their own ends.

That brought AFL-CIO leaders into the fray. State President Jerry Holleman fired back that Acers was flagrantly wasting state funds for propaganda purposes. Acers was also accused of denying just claims for unemployment compensation and forcing workers to go to court for rightful benefits.

Acers had a reply for that, too. Merely another attempt by AFL-CIO to influence commission policies, he said. TEC supervises collection of unemployment taxes from employers and payment of benefits to unemployed workers.

No Break Yet

Payments to the jobless hit a record high of $1,568,958 in one week, according to the Texas Employment

Commission's latest report. Number of persons filing compensation claims inched up from 89,309 the previous week to 92,435.

TEC's mid-February report showed some 75,000 persons covered by unemployment insurance out of work. At that time it was hoped that approach of spring would bring the usual pick-up in jobs.

Instead, unemployment has increased more than 20 per cent.

Letters To Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

We would like to thank your very efficient staff for the wonderful publicity for our Spring Conference.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Elmer Payne,
President, 16th District
Texas Parent-Teacher Association.

TO THE EDITOR:

I take the Record primarily to keep up with oil developments and rainfall and agriculture conditions in Mitchell County.

Your oil coverage is good. But your reports on rainfall are sporadic. Sometimes they are complete by various sections of the county. Other times you give no reports at all, and still other times rather incomplete reports.

The paper would be more valuable to me if you could develop a better rainfall report service.

Your Truly,

BIBLE COMMENT:

Unbeliever Lacks Noble Incentive

Can there be anything blander, more destructive of hope, or more fatal to the idea of any permanence in the universe, than the belief that all there is to life is the comparatively short period from the cradle to the grave, with nothing beyond?

There are people who derive a certain satisfaction from the idea of social immortality, that the world and its life go on forever even though the individual dies.

But can one who faces reality derive much satisfaction from a belief in an immortality which involves no more than that? Is there not in our very earthly experience something that is related to the eternal plans and purposes of God? If not, the experience of life itself is just a delusion and its fine aspirations are meaningless dreams.

There is no sacrifice in living a good life. If there were, nothing more than today and tomorrow, a sensible man would not wish to spend that time in vicious living. But neither would there be incentive to high and noble action.

The logic of disbelief in the future, life is summed up in "Let us eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die." If the grave be the goal, life has no higher meaning.

Christ gives us the clear assurance that there is life after death, though He does not specifically state the nature of this life. It might be said that Christ reminds us that future life may be very different in its nature and relationships than earthly life.

St. Paul also laid much stress upon the fact that, while he was certain concerning the reality of future life, he was not certain regarding its nature. The earthly body, he said, would be raised a spiritual body. Paul did not pretend to know how this would be.

We shouldn't waste time on foolish speculation but merely let the thought strengthen our faith in the eternal truths of God which will be revealed one day.

It Pays to Buy
where you Live

That's a good question . . . and one you can answer with a "yes"— if you always buy from the business people right here in Colorado
City, where you live and earn your living!

- Wherever you buy, part of your money goes to build and to keep up the city in which you spend. To support schools, churches, civic projects, to pay the people who work in that city, and to provide better business and job opportunities for those who live there.
- When you buy in Colorado City, you get about the same merchandise you'd get anywhere else — PLUS the enjoyment of these other things that your money pays for.
- When you buy anywhere else, you get merchandise ONLY. And Colorado City is a little poorer because you carried off part of its resources.
- And the many things other than goods that your money pays for are left for somebody else to enjoy, while they wait for you to return and give them some more.

Coyote Hunting Furnishes Sport for Many Shooters

By L. A. WILKE

Coyote hunting in certain parts of the state now is furnishing sport for a good many shooters.

Most of this hunting is done with the benefit of one of the mouth-callers currently on the market. However, some hunters just drive down country lanes and shoot coyotes that dare to cross the roads. This latter method is dangerous. Also it's a violation of the law.

Recently a group of us went coyote hunting in Zapata County, down on the Mexican border. We were with Raymond Davee, the game warden. Raymond knew where the coyotes were running, and also how to use a mouth call. It was a bad morning. The wind was blowing strong from the north. This meant the call didn't carry very far in that direction. And the animals could get our scent down wind.

We did get one coyote, however, which proves it can be done.

It was the first time the three of us had met. Yet when we showed up for the hunt each of us had a scope-equipped 222 Remington. Proof enough that this is an ideal calibre for coyote shooting.

Although this gun is not recommended for deer, it is effective in the hands of a good shot. My gun, the pump action, was used by three wildlife biologists during the deer season to take three deer specimens. Each was killed with a single shot.

The gun is equipped with a Weaver K 4 scope, and you can put the bullet just about where you want to. Incidentally, Remington has just announced a souped up version of the 222 in the model 722. It is magnum load, and is not interchangeable with the present cartridge. The bullet weighs 55 grains. It leaves the muzzle at 3300 fps, dropping to 2340 at 200 yards.

It has 1330 ft. lbs. of energy at the muzzle, dropping to 670 at 200 yards. It's mid-range trajectory at 200 yards is 2.3" and 6.1" at 300 yards, which makes it a flat shooter for varmints.

Shooting coyotes and fox with a gun like this can furnish a lot of good sport and serve a good job of varmint eradication.

First, however, you need the land owner's permission, and you should use every precaution. There is less danger in one of these high-speed bullets than in a heavy bullet because they go to pieces on impact with most anything. However, they'll kill a steer just as dead as they will a coyote.

Coyote calling has become quite a pastime with ranch owners in West and South-west Texas. Game wardens also have taken up the craze and many coyotes have been lured into shooting range.

Mostly the calls have been made by individuals who have perfected the needs to produce noises like a crying rabbit. Some hunters are adept at calling with their mouths, or sucking against the shoulder part of the hand. Still others buy reed horns, in 5 and 10 stores. With a little practice they are very effective.

The task is to mimic as nearly as possible the cry of an injured rabbit. The coyote can hear this for two or three miles. Unless he's been shot at before he'll get there in a hurry.

GROWING POPULAR — A sport which is showing a rapid increase in Texas is bow and arrow hunting. Advances in the manufacture of archery equipment have made it possible for enthusiasts to get high quality at prices that are within reason.

Unlike firearms, the bow and arrow can be shot in the back yard of your own home. It also is a deadly weapon in the field.

I have just finished reading a new book, Modern Bow Hunting, by Hiram J. Grogan and published by the Stackpole Co., which gives a new insight into archery.

The book deals with all aspects of archery and hunting. It tells how to hunt upland game birds, how to make multi-barbed arrowheads, and very important, the use of a reel and line to save arrows. Since it now is legal in Texas to use a bow and arrow in shooting rough fish, many hunters will be interested in this phase. In fact there is an entire chapter in the book on bow fishing, telling how to shoot rough fish.

Another chapter deals with the use of squealer calls in predatory hunting. You can put this book on your list of recommended reading.

Snake Hunt — An interesting group recently held its annual field meet on the banks of the Rio Grande in Southwest Texas. It is the Texas Herpetological Society, made up of some 70 men and women who like to hunt snakes and lizards.

Actually it is more than just a hobby with them. Most of them are zoology teachers in schools and colleges of the state. Others, however, are in related work, where they need to know all about the things that crawl and hide under rocks and old logs.

This year's field meet was held on the Trevino ranch, 40 miles northwest of Laredo. More than 600 individual specimens were taken by the "Herps".

Although they turned over thousands of big rocks, they unearthed only one rattler. It was a big four-footer. This area generally is infested with these reptiles. However, the field meet was in the middle of March, just after a heavy norther, and perhaps the snakes were still in their dens.

Dr. Richard Baldouff of Texas A&M College was elected president and Al Flury of the Game & Fish Commission at Mathis, vice president of the group.

CAMPING OUT — If you are planning a camping vacation this summer you may want a book just off the McMillan press. It is "The New Way of the Wilderness." In it Calvin Rutstrum draws heavily on a long background of wilderness living.

Rutstrum owns a small acreage in Minnesota where he lives six months of the year, in a house built of stone he cut by hand. The other six months he spends in the wilderness. For 12 years he has supervised play programs in children's camps. Each year he takes 200 youngsters on canoe trips.

All these experiences has been reduced into an interesting volume for all who like the outdoors.

THREE LOCAL DELEGATES TO ATTEND

40th Annual WTCC Meet Scheduled for Fort Worth

The radical changes that have taken place in Texas agriculture during the past few years and their impact on businessmen will be examined and explained in laymen's language as one of the highlights of the 40th annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, it was announced today.

B. E. Godfrey, of Fort

Worth, president of the WTCC, said a "task force" from Texas A & M college will present a factual and "highly interesting" study of agriculture's new influence on modern Texas' economy at the WTCC meeting scheduled for Fort Worth on April 28 and 29.

Attending from Colorado City will be Ernest Larmer, local CC manager; Raymond Perdue and Frank Kelley, chairman of the WTCC water committee.

"With the drastic revisions in agricultural methods, farm crops, equipment and soil and climatic conditions and their resultant effect on our business community, this promises to be one of the most interesting phases of our convention program," Godfrey said.

The WTCC president pointed out that present market conditions, in light of present and future demands for farm products, coupled with the currently highly favorable moisture conditions promises to give added emphasis to the interdependence of agriculture and the general economy of the state.

Other factors affecting Texas' economy and growth will be discussed, Godfrey said, including such items as the shift in population from rural to urban and studies of the political strength of agriculture.

He added that the presentation on the worth of agriculture will share the convention program with addresses and discussions by outstanding legislative figures, business leaders and scientists.

Eight agricultural economists are to present the program, Godfrey said, cover as many specific subjects.

Topics to be covered by the A & M agricultural economists include a discussion of the agricultural industry—past, present and future—by Dr. Alvin B. Wooten, who also heads the group, and a presentation on the new concept of agriculture by Jarvis E. Miller.

A study of Texas farm and ranch production will be made by John H. Southern, and a analysis of the production resources supplied to Texas farmers and ranchers by business and industry will be given by Vance W. Edmondson.

Other subjects to be covered include a discussion on the value added to Texas farm and ranch products by business and industry to be given by Clarence A. Moore.

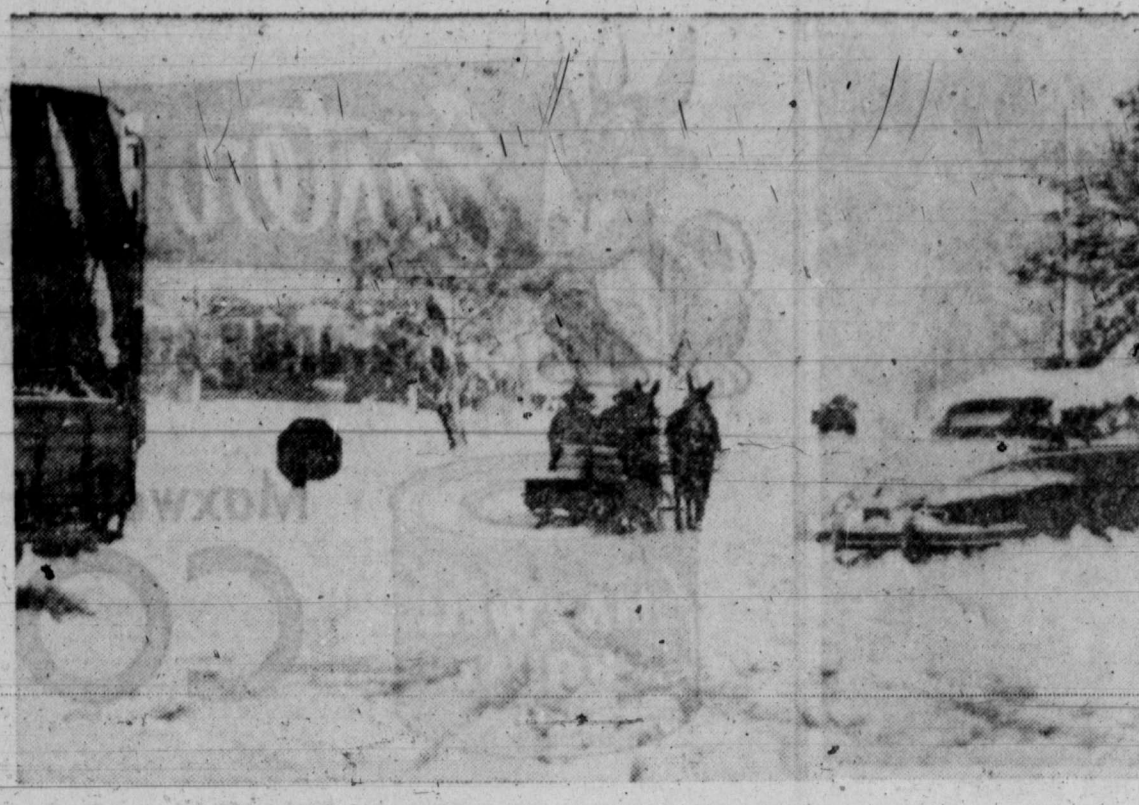

A study of Texas farm and ranch population and business and industry by R. L. Shrabaneck, a report on the political strength of agriculture by Robert G. Cherry, and a discussion on the farmer's and rancher's organizational interests by Bardin H. Nelson will round out the presentation.

Godfrey said that present factors indicate that 600 to 800 West Texas businessmen will attend the convention.

The 40th annual convention of the regional chamber marks a return by the organization to the city where it was created in 1918. It is also the second time for the WTCC to hold a convention in Fort Worth. The last time the regional chamber met in Fort Worth was in 1928 for its 10th annual convention.

The WTCC, with headquarters in Abilene and branch offices in Fort Worth, is the largest organization of its kind in the nation, serving a 132-county area in Texas lying west of a line running generally through Gainesville, Fort Worth, Cleburne, Waco, Johnson City, Kerrville and Del Rio.

In addition to being the largest, the West Texas Chamber is also the oldest of the four regional chambers in Texas.

MULES GET THEM THROUGH—In its death throes, winter unleashed a savage blizzard in the East that hit Pennsylvania particularly hard, knocking out communications and blocking major highways with impassable drifts. Impossible, that is, for modern vehicles. Using a mule-drawn sleigh, these Amishmen serenely pass a stalled truck and car on their way to the market in Lancaster, Pa., with milk to be sold. The 46-inch fall didn't hamper them at all.

By MRS. C. C. HAMILTON, Record Correspondent

LORAIN — Mrs. S. H. Hart, a resident of Mitchell County and the Loraine area for 55 years, was honored last Sunday on her 82nd birthday at a dinner in the Lions Building here.

Present to help her celebrate the occasion were 10 of her 12 living children and their families and other relatives.

Mrs. Hart, who was born March 23, 1876, in Atlanta, Ga., moved to Alabama at the age of two with her parents. She was married there to T. P. Morton.

In 1901, following her husband's death, Mrs. Hart moved with her three children to Ellis County. A year later she was married to S. H. Hart, a widower with seven children.

The Harts moved to Mitchell County in 1903 and settled in the old Winston community nine miles northwest of Loraine. Two years later they sold their farm there and bought a half-section of land in the Valley View community. They later purchased a farm near the Lone Wolf Mountain.

Mr. and Mrs. Hart had six children of their own. Mrs. Hart has been a mother to 18 children including two grandchildren which she took into her home.

In the 1940's, the Harts moved to Loraine. Hart died in 1950 at the age of 81.

Earnings Up At El Paso Natural Gas

El Paso Natural Gas Company's sales and earnings reached all-time highs in 1957 as the pipe line company continued to increase reserves for future needs of its expanding markets, Paul Kayser, firm president, reported to stockholders in El Paso this week.

Consolidated revenues of the company and its subsidiaries were at a record high of more than $301,090,537 with consolidated net income of $34,506,238. The 1957 figures include those of the company's newly acquired subsidiary, Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corporation, which did not begin full operations until January of this year, Kayser said.

El Paso Natural operates one of its largest plants at Silver in Coke County.

Kayser reported a continued increase in El Paso Natural's gas reserves, required to meet mounting demands of the western market. At year's end, these reserves were at a record high of more than 27.1 trillion cubic feet.

Crankcase Crisis!

It seems this nice old lady drove into a Phillips 66 Station to fill up with Flite-Fuel. When the attendant checked the dipstick, he found she had only about a quart of oil left in her car. When he pointed this out, she replied: "Fine... as soon as I use that up, I'll put in some more!"

Of course the Phillips Dealer explained that she needed five quarts of oil for adequate lubrication!

Now that spring is here, it's time to think about the oil in your crankcase. If you are still using "winter grade" oil, it's time to change it. But why use two, when one will do? Better switch to Phillips 66 Trop-Artic* which gives you the effects of 10w, 20 and 30 grade oils. Compared to old-fashioned oils Trop-Artic Motor Oil can actually double engine life. Drive in today for your spring change-over. *A trademark

Water Supply Data Revealed in Survey

Important new information, including results of a farm pond survey just completed in Texas, was released this week by H. N. Smith, State Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, according to A. V. Sheppard of the local SCS office.

Smith said that the survey was made in response to questions raised during the recent drought concerning the effect of conservation measures of water supply. Municipal and industrial users of water were greatly interested in the outcome of the survey.

Farm ponds in the Colorado, Brazos and Trinity river watersheds were singled out for the study, because some had felt that they might have more effect on water yield than any other single practice. When the survey was begun, little definite information was available as to the number of ponds, their location, or the real effect they might have on water supply.

Information gathered included total number of farm and ranch ponds by major watersheds, surface area, drainage area, capacity, and depth. Any pond built by a farmer or rancher primarily for livestock water was considered as a farm or ranch pond.

150 Attend Opening Of Cafe at Lake

Over 150 people from Colorado City, Midland, Odessa and Big Spring attended the opening of Mattie's Paradise Village Cafe and Drive-In, Saturday, at Lake Colorado City.

Mrs. Mattie Lee Pickett, owner, said she wished to express her appreciation to the courteous customers who made her cafe opening a success.

Mrs. Pickett's cafe is on the west side of the lake across from Coopers Cove.

At Roscoe

Mrs. Vanda Martin of Lorraine spent Sunday and Sunday night at Roscoe with Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Martin.

The information was gathered on a representative sample basis. In addition to its being expanded on a major river watershed basis, it also can be calculated on a land resource area basis, thus increasing its usefulness to water use planners.

The survey revealed that for the state as a whole there are almost 342,000 farm ponds. When filled to capacity, these ponds had an original total storage of approximately 932,000 acre-feet. When the survey was made, an estimated 100,000 acre-feet of the original capacity had been filled by sediment.

The total surface area of the ponds was about 248,000 acres, and the total drainage area 12,737,000 acres. The average pond capacity when full was 2.72 acre-feet, the average surface area 0.72 acre-feet, the average maximum depth 10.77 feet, and the average drainage area per pond 37.25 acres.

For three of the major river watersheds in the state, the survey revealed the following:

In the Colorado River watershed, there are 34,300 ponds with an average capacity of 3.12 acre feet and covering an average surface area of .82 of an acre. Average drainage area is 50.77 acres.

In the Brazos River watershed, there are 93,000 ponds with an average capacity of 2.61 acre feet and an average surface area of 1.72 acres. Average drainage area is 36.06 acres.

In the Trinity River watershed, there are 61,800 ponds with an average capacity of 1.97 acre feet and an average surface area of .52 of an acre. Average drainage area is 19.36 acres.

The total area draining through ponds comprises only 7.55 percent of the land area of Texas. This varied from a low of 0.44 percent in the Coast Prairie Resource Area to a high of 26.26 percent in the Reddish Prairie Resource Area of Northern Central Texas.

Smith stated that in many areas of the state, farm ponds are the major source of usable livestock water available to the farmer or rancher, and they play a vital role in the management of livestock grazing resources.
