Japs Stage Massacre At Tel Aviv Airport

TEL AVIV (AP) — Premier Golda Meir, blasting Cairo and Beirut for "rejoicing," told the Israeli parliament today that Arab states will be held responsible for Tuesday night's massacre at Israel's international airport. At least 22 persons were killed and more than 70 were wounded in the shooting.

VOICE TREMBLING
The 74-year-old leader, her voice trembling with anger, also censured world governments for lax airport security and said the massacre by three young Japanese terrorists hired by a Palestine guerilla movement could "easily have been prevented."

France, on whose national airline the gunmen arrived, condemned the terror attack by the submachine gun-and-grenade-wielding Japanese.

After firing indiscriminately into the crowd, one of the terrorists shot up two parked planes, then blew himself up with a hand grenade. A second was killed by bullets fired by his comrades, and the third was captured alive after trying unsuccessfully to blow up a plane, police said.

The dead included at least 13 Puerto Ricans passing through the airport on a pilgrimage to Jerusalem and Prof. Aharon Katzir, former president of the Israel Academy of Sciences and head of the International Union of Pure and Applied Blophysics.

A 3-year-old girl was among the dead.
Among those who escaped injury were Carol Golden of New York, arriving for a vacation, and her brother Tom, who lives in Israel with their mother. A bullet gouged the mother's knee, but she was not hurt seriously.

"Are you kidding?" said Miss Golden when asked if she would stay for the month she had planned. "I'm getting out of here as soon as I can."

The 10-minute attack turned the customs hall and waiting room into a shambles of blood, human flesh, broken glass and parts of suitcases and bodies.

"It looked like a slaughterhouse," said one witness.
The Marxist Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine—PFLP—issued a statement in Beirut, Lebanon, claiming responsibility for the shooting. The captured terrorist told Israeli authorities he had been paid by a guerrilla organization, but he did not say which one.

The Popular Front said the massacre was in retaliation for the killing by Israeli troops of two Palestinian hijackers of a Belgian Sabena jetliner at the Tel Aviv airport three weeks ago.

Apparently referring to the fact that the gunmen were not Arabs, the statement said the attack reaffirmed "solidarity of world revolutionary forces and proves that the Palestinian cause does not belong to the Palestinian people alone."

Israeli prime Minister Golda Meir broke off her vacation and the Israeli Cabinet held an emergency session today to discuss the massacre.

WHITE HOUSE SWINGER

Belly Dancer Ends Up In Kissinger's Lap

TEHRAN (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger met a belly dancer early today and she ended up in his lap.

The raven-haired beauty, 28-year-old Nadina Parsa, was performing for several hundred journalists and government officials at a dinner party given by the Ministry of Information when President Nixon's bachelor aide arrived after midnight.

Still in tails and white tie after the state dinner given for President Nixon by the Shah of Iran, Kissinger immediately attracted a crowd.

KISSED CHEEK
After he and Prime Minister Amir Abbas Hoieyda were seated on cushions in the hotel ballroom, the dancer, who had been gyrating on the stage, was led over.

Dressed in her shimmering costume, she performed a pulsating dance a few feet from Kissinger and the prime minister.

At a signal from an Iranian official, plainclothesmen blocked photographers from taking more pictures.

The dancer kissed the prime minister's cheek and then plopped down in Kissinger's lap.

The White House swinger, whose dates with American beauties have made him the talk of Washington, beamed broadly.

'I WILL BE BACK'
"I will be back," he said as he left the party.

Meanwhile, President Nixon went from the brooding elegance of ancient Russia to the airy splendor of modern Persia, from the off-the-rack dresses of the Kremlin wives to the couturier gowns of Iranian society.

Unlike the Soviet Union, where a business-suit severity now prevails in the old playpens of the czars, it was all white tie and tails, long dresses and diamonds at the Shah's

Niavaran Palace, one of three he owns, in the foothills of towering, snow-capped mountains.

A full moon gleamed down Tuesday night on the white palace, the royal gardens, the stately trees, the reflecting pools, the lighted fountains and marble terraces splashed with star-shaped clusters of flowers.

The President, Mrs. Nixon and selected members of their party were entertained in high-ceilinged rooms that combined the elegance of French Empire furniture, the antiquity of Persian themes and the simplicity of modern lines.

They walked over Persian rugs from Tabriz, up carpeted staircases of black marble, under chandeliers of gilt and crystal, past four-foot brass trays heaped with dried fruits and nuts, through rooms of delicate shades trimmed with white frescoes. A string ensemble of 24 musicians played Mozart, Strauss, Gluck and Haydn.

Nixon Flies To Poland; Bombs Scare

WARSAW (AP) — Winding up his current schedule of summits, President Nixon came to Warsaw today to discuss trade and economic assistance with Poland's Communist party boss, Edward Gierk.

The President and Mrs. Nixon flew back to the Soviet Bloc after a state visit of nearly 24 hours in Tehran that included talks with the Shah of Iran and a glittering imperial banquet amid a rash of small bombings which the White House said was not aimed at the President.

After their two-day visit, the Nixons fly home to Washington Thursday.
The President will confer with Gierk in the parliament building, while U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Foreign Minister Stefan Olszowski sign a bilateral consular agreement giving greater American Embassy protection to U.S. citizens arrested in Poland. The pact took 10 years to negotiate.

Premier Piotr Jarozewicz will host a state dinner for the presidential party and the Nixons will spend the night at Wilanow, a 17th century palace outside Warsaw.

Security around the baroque palace has been stepped up.
The bombs: 4th grad Tehran date.
The bombs killed one Iranian woman and broke both legs of a U.S. Air Force general, and one exploded near a royal tomb before Nixon got there to place a wreath.

AWARDS GO TO GRADUATING SENIORS

Priebe, Teague Honored

More than 400 Big Spring High School seniors in the class of 1972 have graduated this year, 352 in ceremonies at Memorial Stadium Tuesday night.

The other seniors graduated at mid-term.
The two top students academically were Billy Marvin Priebe, valedictorian with a 96.45 average, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Priebe, 2314 Roberts Dr., and Angie Novell Teague, salutatorian with a 95.96 average and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy T. Teague, 1210 W. 6th.

Other top students were awarded scholarships. The Class of '70 awarded a $100 scholarship to Vincent Wiggins; the Rotary Club awarded a $300 scholarship to Gregg Parnell and one to Cindy Williams; the Big Spring Association of Insurance Agencies awarded $300 scholarships to Betty Pitts, Ray Kennedy and Wesley Hufford; and the Texas State Teachers Association and the Big Spring Classroom Teachers Association awarded $200 scholarships to Ruth Payne and Connie Torres.

The American G.I. Forum awarded $300 scholarships to Lorina Garcia, Salome Rios and Celia Correa; the Big Spring Classroom Teachers Association presented a $200 scholarship to Elvira Diaz; and the National Honor Society presented a scholarship to Susan Trim and one to Richard Martinez. All of the scholarships except the Big Spring CTA scholarship were for Howard County Junior College. The CTA grant was for any school.

The National Guild of Piano Teachers presented awards to George Huskey and Cynthia Cook for showing adequate technical facility and training in artistic piano playing.

Michael Adams, class president, addressed the class, as did Lydia Hayworth and Lupe Arguello.

Honor students, members of the National Honor Society, were Jose Guadalupe Arguello, Dorothy Emily Baldrige, Kay Lou Caffey, David Carter, Cynthia Ann Cook, Elaine Cooper, Joan Crawford, David Gregory Cuddeback and Marilyn Anne Cunningham.

Kidnap-Robbery In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A flamboyant, mustachioed gunman abducted the president of the Valley-Hi National Bank and fled with possibly $22,000 while an accomplice held the official's wife hostage, officers said.

The banker, B.R. Bentley, was released at his home after the heist and the two men fled in Bentley's car.

Sheriff's officers said $22,000 or more in denominations of 20 was taken from the bank by an armed man wearing a purple shirt, purple and white tie, and a blue and white spotted sport coat.

The FBI, State Police and other law enforcement agencies joined in the investigation of the case.

Two men appeared at the Bentley home in the fashionable suburb of Castle Hills early today and one of the intruders remained there, holding Bentley's wife, Oral, hostage. The second man forced Bentley to drive to his bank.

At the bank, the bandit told Bentley he wanted only twenty-dollar bills and that he wanted the money wrapped.

Rehab Center's New Wing May Be Ready By June 12

Completion date of the new wing at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center is predicted by June 12, the same day new programs in the new facilities are scheduled to begin.

Completion date originally had been projected for June 1, however, some building materials have been lost, and replacement will take approximately a week, according to Jim Thompson, center director.

Construction on the new wing at the center started Jan. 1 of this year and Thompson said he was pleased with the progress thus far.

During the first few months of construction, rehab center officials were worried about raising enough money to equip the new facility with necessary materials to enable sufficient operation of the new wing.

A goal of $20,000 was set by center officials to be met by the completion date of construction.

NEEDS MONEY
Thompson said today $16,648.50 has been raised so far. The center still needs $3,400, but Thompson said the money available will enable him to purchase the larger pieces of equipment to begin operation of the new wing by the scheduled time.

"We will have to make do with what we are able to purchase. There will still be a need for smaller equipment, but the absence of it will not hamper the initial operation to a great extent," Thompson said today.

The new wing will open several new areas in which center personnel will be able to broaden their scope of rehabilitation services.

The present physical therapy gymnasium will be remodeled into four new therapy booths and there will be a new gym in the new wing. Also a new remedial training area for children with learning disabilities will be opened in the new wing.

Other new booths and work areas in the new facility include: a classroom for physically handicapped, a new sound-proof booth for audiology, four new therapy booths for speech therapy, an extra classroom, three new personnel offices and a new room for occupational therapy.

COST $78,700
Total construction costs on the new wing have been $79,700, plus $7,000 in architectural fees.

"We feel like the new wing will satisfy our growing pains for another 10 to 15 years. However, when the present facilities were built six years ago, we felt they would not need updating for a longer period of time. But we soon found we needed more new and modern equipment and space to continue our work," the center director observed.

Official opening of the new wing will not be scheduled until next Fall, Thompson added. However, work will begin in the facility upon completion.

BS Woman's Son Victim In Crash

One of the four victims in the crash of a DC9 plane in Fort Worth Tuesday was Leon Randolph Hull Jr., 38, whose mother, Mrs. Eula Hull, resides at 805 Anna Street in Big Spring.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Friday at the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home here. The Rev. Burkhardt, an Episcopal minister of Fort Worth, will officiate. Burial will be in Mount Olive Cemetery. He will be interred near the grave of his father, Leon Randolph Hull Sr., who died Dec. 12, 1968.

The jet was on a routine training flight at Southwest Airport in Fort Worth when it crashed and burned.

Three Delta Airline pilots also perished in the crash. They were Capt. George G. Gray, 35, Atlanta; Capt. Franklin M. Cook, 32, who was in the process of being transferred from Atlanta to Dallas; and Capt. Johnny N. Martin Jr., 35, Irving. Cook was at the controls of the aircraft.
Hull is believed to have died of smoke inhalation and multiple injuries, a Tarrant county medical examiner said.

The plane took off about 6:45 a.m. Tuesday. Gray was giving the other two pilots six-months routine proficiency checks.

Upon impact, the plane broke into flames and skidded upside down along a runway. Witnesses said the plane spewed burning fuel for five-eighths of a mile before coming to rest on its top. The last of the four bodies was not removed from the wreckage for nearly three hours after the 7:26 a.m. crash.

Hull was a specialist on DC9 aircraft. He had been with the FAA since 1968. He graduated from Texas A&M in 1955 and served as a pilot in the U.S. Air Force until he joined the FAA.

Brothers Smothered

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP) — Sand collapsed around two brothers in a huge container at a ready-mix concrete plant late Tuesday and both smothered, authorities reported.

Searchers digging to find the men uncovered the bodies of Marlin Mark, 57, and McCall Mark, 56, in a sand silo. Both were from the Apple Springs community south of here in East Texas.

Officers said one of the brothers apparently ran into trouble while working in the silo, the other went to his aid and both were trapped. The accident happened at the Lufkin Ready-mix plant on the edge of town.

Nixon To Address Joint Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders announced today President Nixon will address a joint session of Congress Thursday night immediately after his return from his trip to Moscow.

The address, in the House chamber, is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. (Big Spring time).
Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Tuesday that Nixon should make such a report to Congress.

Congressional leaders also announced that the President's address will be carried nationally on radio and television.

General Dynamics Denies U.S. Charge Of Conspiracy

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The company manufactured carry-through plates, which are critical parts of the center section of the wings and long-erons—main braces in the fuselage.

According to the indictment, an unspecified number of parts made by Selby were welded in violation of contract specifications.

The indictment accuses General Dynamics of scrapping the parts.

Instead of Selby taking the loss, it said General Dynamics assumed financial responsibility and the cost was passed on to the Air Force.

Under its contract, the Air Force was to pay a percentage of the normal waste materials cost, authorities said.

Officials named in the indictment are Henry C. Jones Jr., vice president in charge of materials and purchasing at General Dynamics; A.K. Lawley, General Dynamics subcontract operations manager; Newman L. Johnson, chief of outside production for the firm; and John T. Bailey, former manager of procurement quality assurance at General Dynamics on the F111.

It was the second indictment returned in connection with the alleged manufacture of defective parts by an Arkansas subcontractor for the F111.

Selb and several individuals were indicted on similar charges in Little Rock in April, 1970. The firm and five individuals were convicted, one was acquitted and one defendant, Johnson, is awaiting trial. Johnson was named in Tuesday's indictment.

Lawley, a Fort Worth defendant in the latest action, told The Associated Press that he is innocent.

"I'm not guilty," he said, "and I'm sure this will be brought out in the trial." The other individuals charged in the indictment could not be reached for comment.

The second count of the indictment charged the defendants with actually preparing two false discrepancy reports.

three no trump, which closed the auction.

The four of clubs was opened and the ten was played from dummy, which held the trick. The three top diamonds were cashed on which declarer discarded two spades and one heart. West showed out on the third round, shedding a spade. South wisely abandoned the diamond suit, for if he plays a fourth round, East goes in and a club return enables West to clear that suit while he still retains the ace of hearts. Declarer's only entry to dummy is in hearts which gives West an opportunity to play the ace and then cash two clubs to defeat the contract.

At trick five, South led a spade from dummy and successfully finessed the jack in his hand after East followed with the deuce. A heart was led next and when West played the five, North's king was put up to hold the trick. A heart was returned and declarer covered East's nine with the queen to dislodge West's side entry, the ace. The latter now cleared the clubs by playing the ace and another and Alan Sontag—in the East seat now made the key play of the deal by discarding his jack of hearts. There was no way to prevent West from getting in with the ten of hearts to cash out his clubs.

If East does not dispose of the jack of hearts, discarding a spade instead, he can be thrown in with the third heart and after he cashes the jack of diamonds, he must lead away from the king-nine of spades, enabling declarer to score the last two tricks with the ace-queen of that suit. In all, South can take three spades, one heart, three diamonds, and two clubs for nine tricks.

Had declarer discarded the king and queen of clubs on North's diamonds, he could have led a fourth round of diamonds profitably, for after East's jack is dislodged, North is assured of reentry to run the suit since he retains the king-three of hearts and the jack-three of clubs. West cannot run the clubs without putting the dummy in first and South has time to run off with nine tricks.

When the deal was replayed at the other table, South bid three hearts over three diamonds, and Joel Stuart, seated North, rebid three no trump. East led the jack of hearts and declarer succeeded in taking nine tricks on the deal. The profit to Precision was 600 points at one table and 100 at the other which represented roughly one-third of their final margin of victory.

Derailment Hits Amtrak

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — Amtrak passengers, both westbound and eastbound, face a 120-mile bus ride in far West Texas today as result of derailment of a freight train that blocked the trans-continental Southern Pacific mainline early Tuesday.

The crack freighter Blue Streak Merchandise lurched off the track on its run from St. Louis to Los Angeles at 2:40 a.m., tearing up 1,750 feet of the roadbed and littering one locomotive unit and 38 of its 76 cars along the way. No one was injured.

The wreck, which occurred near the tiny community of Pumpville in remote and rugged country near the Pecos River, may not be cleared for several days. Engineers, flown in from Houston and San Antonio, plan to build a 700-foot long bypass section round the wreck.

Tuesday's westbound Amtrak streamliner Sunset was held at Del Rio and later returned to New Orleans. The eastbound streamliner was stopped near Sanderson and returned westward to Los Angeles.

Chartered buses ferried passengers over the section between the two trains. The same procedure will be followed today.

$5 Million Job

DALLAS (AP) — LTV Aerospace Corp. has received the first increment of a contract for about $5 million to conduct an optical sensor experiment for the Army's Advanced Ballistic Missile Defense Agency.

President Forbes Mann of the Dallas-based firm said the contract is sponsored by the Advanced Research Projects Agency and was issued by the U.S. Army Safeguard Systems Command Contracts office.

Mann said work on the program, called SCOOP, will be performed by Vought Missiles and Space Co., a division of LTV Aerospace.

HOUSTON (AP) — A man police called the southwest Houston rapist has pleaded guilty to robbery by assault, second offense.

Harold Wilson Jarrell, 40, was sentenced to life in prison Tuesday by District Judge Joseph M. Guarino.

Jarrell, a thin, balding automobile mechanic, pleaded guilty to a March 16, 1971 robbery in which a woman's purse and money were taken.

State prosecutor Allen Stillely said he decided to try Jarrell on the robbery charge rather than a rape charge because, as a second offender, Jarrell's conviction would mean an automatic life sentence.

Jarrell previously was convicted in 1963 for burglary with intent to commit theft.

Stillely said disposition of 27 other charges against Jarrell, including eight rapes, will be determined at a later date.

Police said Jarrell's arrest March 24, 1971 apparently ended a four-month series of rapes in southwest Houston.

Methodists Await Special Report On Homosexuality

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — With last year's disruptions by the Gay Liberation Front still a vivid memory, Southwest Texas Methodists were to deal today with a task force report on homosexuality.

F. Gene Leggett of Dallas, an admitted homosexual minister whose case prompted the report, said he hoped to address the group after the task force presentation, set for mid-afternoon.

Leggett lost his credentials as a minister after publicly revealing his homosexuality here at last year's annual Southwest Texas United Methodist Conference.

His Gay Liberation supporters brought the meeting to a virtual standstill last year, and representatives of some "gay" groups indicated they hoped to address the conference today.

The task force report calls on United Methodists to be "open and receptive" to homosexuals and calls for study into the possibility of "initiating a ministry to homosexual people."

The more than 600 lay and clergy delegates attending the annual conference became embroiled in heated debate Tuesday before endorsing a proposal to establish a legal aid fund for the poor in San Antonio.

The proposal calls for offering the poor "an alternative to the court-appointed attorney system" that would give priority to San Antonio's predominantly black East Side.

The proposal was the result of an issue that erupted here at last year's conference, when representatives of the Student National Coordinating Committee accused the group of not relating to the needs of the poor.

Earlier Tuesday, the conference became the denomination's first in Texas to adopt a sweeping restructuring plan.

It reduces from 23 to four the number of boards and agencies operating in the conference. A spokesman said the action was the first taken by any of the state's six United Methodist conferences, which are meeting elsewhere in Texas or will convene shortly.

Under the plan, the majority of members on each board or agency will be elected at the district level rather than at the conference level, bringing the decision making process closer to the grass roots of the church.

The denomination's national conference led the way for restructuring at its April meeting in Atlanta, Ga.

Investigate Plane Crash

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Authorities today continued an investigation into the crash of a Delta Airlines jet that crashed during a training flight and killed four persons aboard.

Victims of the crash were a captain, two regular pilots and an inspector from the Federal Aviation Administration. They were trapped in the flaming wreckage as it skidded down a runway at Greater Southwest International Airport and exploded Tuesday.

The dead were identified as FAA inspector Randolph Hull, Capt. George Gerald Gray, 35, Atlanta, Ga., a member of Delta's flight training staff; Capt. John N. Martin, 35, Dallas, a Delta pilot; and Capt. Franklin M. Cook, 32, Dallas, also a Delta pilot.

Public Employees Elect Negro To Major Post

HOUSTON (AP) — William Lucy, a Negro and native of Memphis, Tenn., is the new secretary-treasurer of the 550,000-member AFL-CIO American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

Lucy was elected without opposition Tuesday to the post, which union officials called the most powerful to be held by a black in the American labor movement.

Lucy, 39, had been executive assistant to union president Jerry Wurf, who was re-elected without opposition. Wurf is 52. Lucy was active in the 1968 fight of sanitation workers to organize in Memphis, Tenn., which led to a dispute with the city and demonstrations by the workers. Dr. Martin Luther King, famed Negro civil rights leader who had gone to Memphis to aid the workers, was assassinated during that dispute. "We live where it's at," he said of his union's members, who mostly live and work in the nation's cities.

Stealing Is, Too

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $10 bill autographed by President Nixon recently was stolen from the Cheverly, Md., residence of U.S. Rep. Manuel Lujan Jr., R-N.M.

Lujan received the bill on March 10, 1971, when he presented the President with the first ticket to the opening game of the Babe Ruth Baseball League World Series held in Albuquerque in August 1971.

Nixon insisted on paying for the ticket. He borrowed $10 from an aide, John Nidecker.

Lujan asked him to autograph the bill and the president did with a comment, "This is illegal, you know."

City Will Take Action On Junk Car Ordinance

City officials have in recent months threatened to take action against owners leaving junked and abandoned vehicles on their property and public property, but according to a press release from the city administration Tuesday, enforcement will begin this week.

City attorney, in the press release. In order to enforce this ordinance, the City has entered into an agreement with a local wrecking company to pick up all abandoned and junked motor vehicles on public property, and the Department of Public Works will send out notices to the owners or occupants, who have junked vehicles, which are nuisances on their private property, the release reads.

The notice will advise the occupant or owner of such properties to abate the nuisance within 10 days, or they will be filed on in municipal court.

'Living Sound' Concert Today

A concert of Gospel-rock and traditional hymns will be presented by the "Living Sound" today at 7:30 p.m. in the sanctuary of First United Methodist Church.

The definition of the term, "junked motor vehicles," in the ordinance is as follows: "Any motor vehicle which is self-propelled and which is inoperative and which does not have lawfully affixed thereto both an unexpired license plate or plates and a valid motor vehicle inspection safety certificate, and which is wrecked, dismantled, partially dismantled, or discarded."

Smugglers Open Fire Near Yuma

YUMA, Ariz. (AP) — One man was killed and two others were arrested after a blazing gun battle that broke up a marijuana smuggling operation 22 miles west of here, the U.S. Border Patrol said.

Two Border Patrol agents said they came upon eight men loading several hundred pounds of marijuana onto a truck Monday night near the international border.

Clint Thomas Notches 17th; Eagles Drop Monterey, 1-0

Clint Thomas won his eighth game in a row and his seventeenth of the year to guide the Abilene Eagles to a 1-0 playoff victory over Lubbock Monterey Tuesday.

Clinton then went on to strike out, and Thomas picked Yarbrough off first.

Thomas gave up four hits and struck out eight in going the distance. He walked two.

Abilene boosted their season record to 22-10 while the Plainsmen dropped to 26-6-1.

The Eagles won the game in the bottom of the seventh when, with one out, Wayne Williams stretched what appeared to be a routine single into a double.

Monahans and Lamesa clash today in state regional baseball action.

He came home when the next batter, Jim Reese, singled to center.

The Lobos won District 2-3A this year along with Kermit and Pecos. All teams finished with 8-4 records. Monahans won the playoff.

The Plainsmen had only one serious threat in the game. That came in the fifth when Gary Ashby opened with an opposite-field double. Glen Yarbrough followed with an infield single to deep shortstop. Ashby was forced to stay at second.

Lamesa swept its bi-district games with Iowa Park, 4-2 and 5-4.

Dwayne Clanton, the next batter, prepared to move the runners up with a sacrifice bunt. When he took the first pitch for a ball, Ashby broke for third and was easily thrown out. Don Lawson is scheduled to go for the Lobos, and Phil Palmer is slated to go for the Tornados. Both pitchers were perfect in league play.

LA DUMPS GIANTS Robinson Preserves Win

The Los Angeles Dodgers against the San Francisco Giants just another ball game. But he's got other incentives.

"These games haven't got the adrenin flowing. "But this was a very important game," Robinson added. "It got us into first."

"I haven't been around here long enough to get any specific feeling over the Dodgers-Giants rivalry," the Los Angeles right fielder said Tuesday night.

More properly, Robinson got the Dodgers into first with his bat and glove. In the top of the eighth inning he followed Willie Davis' leadoff single with a tie-breaking home run.

In the rest of the National League's weather-wrecked schedule, the New York Mets beat Philadelphia 7-0 and Cincinnati defeated Houston 9-5. Rain postponed the San Diego-Atlanta and Pittsburgh-Montreal games and cold weather knocked out St. Louis' contest against the Cubs in Chicago.

Bantam League Sets Dates

Competition in the new Bantam Bowling League will get underway at Bowlarama June 6 at 1 p.m. according to Coach T. K. Price. The Bantam League is open to bowlers 12 years old and younger. Price indicated that young bowlers who have not already joined the league may yet do so if they are interested in participating. The league will compete throughout the summer months.

The Last Holdout

There has been no great rush to the banner of the metric system, floated aloft by the National Bureau of Standards recently.

An NBS study, which cost $1.3 million and took three years to complete, urged that the United States convert from the inch-pound system to the metric system, which most of the rest of the world uses.

The United States is the last major holdout. Great Britain is slowly converting, as is Australia, and Canada has decided to make the switch.

In some areas of the United States the metric system already is in use. The military uses it, as does the space agency. Pharmacists went to gram measurements 15 years ago.

But this "casual drift" is slow and in efficient, the NBS declared. It urged a deliberate, 10-year changeover at a cost of from $10 billion to $40 billion. The NBS report, endorsed by Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans, estimated that conversion would boost export traded by $1 billion to $2 billion a year.

The researchers concluded that redesignation of standards would give a great opportunity to weed out superfluous sizes and varieties of parts and materials and "spur the incorporation of superior technologies." A British company, for instance, was able to cut its stock of nuts and bolts from 405 sizes to less than 200.

There has been no public outcry for grams, millimeters and kilometers to replace the traditional standards. If the change is inevitable — and it seems to be — an organized changeover would be preferable to a drawn-out, piecemeal switch.

Better On Automatic

Now Lindsay is wondering if he didn't make two mistakes, one when he campaigned for president and one when he permitted the city to run without his direct supervision. For New Yorkers are now asking themselves if things weren't better under the deputy mayor than the mayor. Once more the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune!

Gone The Whistle

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

Under the banner of progress, we have moved from the steam age of power to electricity and hydrocarbon fuels. And in this march toward efficiency, the whistle has become a casualty.

BIG CITIES with industry once had a chorus of steam whistles which sounded time, touched off a cacophony when it was time to begin the work day, or take off for lunch, or at the close of the day. Out here, we had no such assortment, but we did have clear understanding of what each whistle meant.

In town, there were two familiar blasts that sounded. One was at the steam laundry downtown. The other was at the T&P shops, and this was the one which was most familiar of all. While the whistle had a bass tone that helped the sound, it had enough timbre that the sound seemed to penetrate.

THE ENTIRE TOWN knew in the morning when it was time for men to trek to the shops and when their shift began. By the same token, there was an alert foot just prior to noon, and then the welcome blast that meant the men hauled out their lunch boxes and palls and enjoyed a substantial fair calculated to stick to the working man's ribs.

Near quitting time, there was another sound to alert men that the shift was about over, and then one to let them know to turn in time and begin streaming homeward to a hot meal.

AS BOYS, WE could hear the sound for miles around and knew when to head back home.

When the shop's whistle sounded at off times, all of us came alive. They spelled trouble. On two or three occasions, these spelled, disastrous fire, so much so that the locomotive engineers in the yard tied down their whistles to sound the alarm.

THE MOST romantic and musical of all the whistles, however, came from the locomotives. Most of them had a different tone, although imperceptible to the untrained ear. Varicus hog heads (engineers) developed their own calls with whistles. Some made the engine seem to moan in pain, another made it yelp for joy, and there were those who could trill it or make it sound like a whirring.

This served a useful purpose, for hearing the familiar sound, wives would know that husbands were rolling into the yard and would soon be home. Later, when the automobile became more popular, Mama hurried down to the station to pick up Papa.

WHO CAN FORGET the cry in the night of a whistle as lighted passenger train knifed through the darkness, or the reminder from a laboring freight that it was bearing down?

THERE WAS nothing more majestic than an engine rocking around the bend, wallowing toward the depot, and sending up a plume of vapor to announce impending sound.

Nothing was more thrilling to be off on the South Mountain on a freezing day and hear the brittle sound thrust in tardy but clear as a bell. It was as though each puff of steam was answered with an amen.

Hottest Gun

Robert E. Ford

Just got the news by telephone from El Paso that someone put a headstone on John Wesley Hardin's grave at last.

And it was about time.

It seemed like Wes would go through eternity without a monument. It took three-quarters of a century to get the bit of grey granite put there.

OUR FAVORITE spy in Texas' most western city — geographically and in spirit — says that some of Wes' relatives installed the headstone.

The marker contains only Wes' name and date of birth and death.

"There is no eulogy," said our espionage agent.

There wouldn't be.

It is the second physical recognition that Wes, otherwise known as Little Arkansas, ever existed. Yet his name is spread throughout any book dealing with western badmen.

While Jesse James has monuments all over Missouri, John Wesley Hardin was such a terrible killer that no person wanted even a distant connection with him.

THE MEN at the State National Bank of El Paso have been marking historical sites in their historical city.

And they did put a marker at Mesa Street and San Antonio Avenue, site of the old Acme Saloon where Wes got his — three times in the back, Aug. 19, 1855.

Yet so powerful is the name of John Wesley Hardin that the El Paso Chamber of Commerce felt compelled to write that, "As you can readily realize, the greatest care had to be taken to avoid any inference or suggestion that the State National Bank was memorializing or in any way celebrating a murderous outlaw."

Up at Bonham in Northeast Texas, they tore down Uncle Jeff Bonham's mansion in 1965, and although it was that town's one remaining link to Wes, no one made an outcry.

WHAT MARKS Hardin as something different?

Well, even today, he holds the title of Texas' worst killer.

He takes up six pages in Walter Ringers' "And in George Hendricks", "The Badman of the West." Hardin is mentioned about every third page.

Most authorities count Hardin's murders at 43, all of them without any visible reason even by the somewhat loose reasoning of western badmen.

He was a blue-eyed blond of average height who dressed well — strangely the majority of western gunmen fit that description even to the color of the eyes.

BUT WHERE most of these killers were cool and calculating, Hardin possessed a flaring temper and generally killed without considering the matter at all.

He was different in another way, too. Most gunmen wore a badge at one time or another.

But Hardin wore a star only once and that under the most embarrassing circumstances, of which more later.

Biographers say Wes' career began when he was a teenage kid hanging around Bonham. He and a huge bully argued. Wes went home and got the family sixshooter and killed the man.

Shortly thereafter, the McKinney sheriff tried to arrest Hardin and Wes killed him. That really gave him the reputation of owning a hot gun.

AT THE RISK OF BEING LABELED A 'SQUARE'!

Charter Flights

John Cunniff

By MILES A. SMITH (Substituting for John Cunniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — Two giants of the airlines industry, Pan American World Airways and Trans World Airlines, plan to beef up their charter flight services this fall and move in against competing supplemental lines that specialize in the charter business.

The larger scheduled airlines, particularly Pan American, have complained frequently about the inroads made on their traffic by the supplemental carriers offering low-cost trips.

In charter flights the aircraft has no empty seats. Assured of a full payload, the carrier can afford to reduce fares for a group of passengers.

Under the group principle, the passengers must be people with an "affinity," as the government rules express it. Their affinity may be stamp collecting, gardening, the fact that they work for the same company, or that they belong to the same fraternal order, church group or civic body.

They, their spouses and children sign up as a group, filling up the airplane. (A Boeing 707 has 179 seats.)

Scheduled U.S. airlines are upset not only about their domestic competitors in the charter field, but also the foreign flag charter lines. American executives, speaking off the cuff, complain some of the foreign operators are not too careful about the rules for the eligibility of passengers.

Although not all travelers are aware of it, TWA and Pan Am already get a small percentage of their revenues from charter service.

TWA, whose total annual revenues are about $1.3 billion to $1.4 billion, has been keeping six or seven aircraft in charter-only operation. Last year its charter revenues were $20 million, it is aiming for more than $30 million this year, and more than $40 million in 1973.

Pan Am, whose total annual revenues are more than $1 billion, has been using seven aircraft in charter service, and has goals similar to TWA's for its charter revenues.

Pan Am plans to raise its charter fleet to 10 planes in November, then expand further to meet what it expects to be a rising demand. It says it will be able to tap its Boeing 747 jumbo jets for duty.

TWA will get its fleet up to 11 by October—including one 747—and to 13 by next spring.

All this will mean more competition for the supplemental lines specializing in charter flights. The National Air Carriers Association reports eight such American carriers in active service at present. The largest, World Airways, operates 17 aircraft.

The scheduled airlines claim their charter flights have advantages over those of the non-scheduled carriers—the same flight crews, maintenance crews and terminal facilities that are used by regular flights; the use of a multiplicity of airline officers here and abroad; and group rate arrangements for sightseeing, car rentals and hotels.

Ignorance, Illusion

Marquis Childs

MOSCOW — Out of an innocent age the old saying was: ignorance is bliss. Adding up the score of ignorance in the conflict in Southeast Asia is to arrive at a sum daunting in its magnitude.

WHO MAKES this particular moment as perilous as any since 1945 is that very ignorance on the part of almost all concerned. Calling on the North Vietnamese for restraint and a halt to the invasion is whistling down the wind. Hanoi is apparently sealed away from outside influence, a concentrated force armored against any and all deterrents. A recent visitor to Hanoi puts it this way:

"THEIR IGNORANCE of the United States is frightening. They believe just what they want to believe. Every reported sign of protest, however limited as it has been limited in this newest phase of the war, is interpreted as signifying millions of Americans on the march, bent on forcing an end to the war on Hanoi's terms. In this closed world — so long bent on war, survival, victory — Nixon is a lonely figure certain to be replaced in the November election. These are articles of faith that cannot be challenged."

MATCH THIS ignorance with what must surely have been the illusion, in framing the policy of Vietnamization, of the capacity of the South Vietnamese army to wage war. A force of 1,100,000 men was equipped with the M-16 rifle and other modern weapons. In numbers of planes at least, as supplied by the United States, the South Vietnamese Air Force is said to rate as fourth or fifth in the world.

There were warning signs. The "incursion" into Laos a year ago was in many ways a rehearsal for the rout of the South Vietnamese forces from Quangtri to Hue. While some units of the ARVN (the Army of South Vietnam) fought well, the overall picture was of panicky flight, with desperate men clinging to the skirts of rescue helicopters.

"Who lost China?" That was the cry of the Republicans in that earlier misadventure, and the answer was obviously the Democrats, so the charge went.

"WHO LOST Indochina?" The answer can be traced back through the sorry record of the Kennedy-Johnson years and the escalation of a war that in President Kennedy's words could be won only by the South Vietnamese themselves. Yet a Republican Administration is in office and a Republican President is vowing that we "will not be defeated."

Why do the North Vietnamese fight with such a seeming readiness to sacrifice thousands of men over the years of conflict?

THE ANSWER is far from simple. On one level it is a cause, the indoctrination, the propaganda, of a Marxism holding out the hope of a promised land. It is nationalism, the appeal to repulse the "invader," to throw off the last shackles of colonialism. On another level, of course, it is discipline enforced with a ruthless disregard for the values prized by the West, the liquidation of those who will not conform as the sons of peasants were liquidated.

Hal Boyle

Food Stamps Windfall

By DON KENDALL (Substituting for Hal Boyle)

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's $2-billion-a-year food stamp program, aimed primarily at helping feed needy families, also is turning into one of the Agriculture Department's most effective rural development programs.

According to studies made of food stamp operations in three predominantly rural counties in Tennessee, Iowa and New Mexico, each $1 spent in federal funds generated between $1.20 and $1.68 in additional local business.

Qualified families buy food stamps at fees based on their incomes and number of members. Then, under a formula, additional stamps or bonuses are given free to help increase purchasing power at retail food stores.

Nationally, a participant gets about $10 worth of food stamps for each $4.50 he spends on them. The food stamp study, published in a report by the Economic Research Service, was based on operations during 1970 in Haywood County, Tenn.; Appanoose County, Iowa and Chaves County, N. M.

"In each county" the report said, "the wholesaling sector had to increase its output to provide additional inputs to the food retailing sector. Suppliers to the wholesaling sector, in turn, had to increase their output."

The effect was a pyramiding of goods and services needed to supply the increased demand for more and improved food for the stamp clients, officials said.

Some of the findings: — In Tennessee, between $1.20 and $1.26 worth of additional business was generated by every $1 worth of bonus stamps spent. Food stamps in Haywood County were equal only to 5 per cent of total household income but represented one-third of all food sales and nearly 10 per cent of all retail trade.

—As a result of stamps in Chaves County, N. M., 59 jobs were added to the economy and each bonus food dollar generated $1.57 to $1.68 worth of new wealth. Food stamps represented about 5 per cent of the county's total retail food sales.

—In Iowa, the program added 11 new jobs to the Appanoose County economy and produced $1.40 worth of new business for each $1 in stamp bonuses.

During 1970 bonus stamps in the three counties amounted to: Haywood $1.2 million; Appanoose $184,000; and Chaves $870,500.

Nationally, in March of this year, about 11.5 million persons participated in the food-stamp program and received bonuses totaling nearly $156.3 million during the month, officials said.

Not Blotted Out

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The whole world has been given the impression that the possibility of nuclear war has been lessened by the agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union to limit strategic arms. But the nuclear arsenal which each nation retains can still bring the destruction of millions of people.

FOR SEVERAL years there have been suggestions made at the United Nations and international conferences that the time has come to abolish nuclear weapons, but the countries possessing them have, for one reason or another, been unable to get together to explore the question in any comprehensive way. It now will be mistakenly inferred by many persons that the limitation on armaments has something to do with terminating the use of weapons when actually it just draws the line on the quantities that the two big powers will be allowed to have. But, even without any additions, those already stockpiled are capable of destroying huge numbers of human beings.

THERE HAVE been reports that Red China is willing to take part in a conference at which the abolition of nuclear weapons would be discussed. The Soviet Union last year proposed that the United Nations call a "universal" conference to consider disarmament that would include agreements to "prohibit" and "eliminate" nuclear weapons.

The United States in all probability would join the major nations to do away with all the items that make up nuclear arsenals. But this country would certainly not sign any such agreement unless a fool-proof system of inspection could be devised to make sure that those who possess the lethal weapons have actually destroyed them.

WHAT IS surprising about the whole subject is the lack of worldwide agitation for concrete steps to be taken which would remove the possibility of a nuclear war. Science has made it possible for vast areas to be devastated and enormous populations to be wiped out in just a few minutes by nuclear weapons. No more terrible event can be visualized. With the spread of nuclear technology to all countries, nuclear bombs can be manufactured almost everywhere, and missiles carrying these extremely destructive weapons can be produced by many nations and publicized as a means of threatening or thwarting attacks.

THE STRATEGIC arms limitation talks — or "SALT" — came after years of efforts to control nuclear weapons. While they were going on, each side was determined not to give the other the advantage, and both sought to catch up with the other if there was a feeling that one lagged in a particular category.

My Answer

Billy Graham

Recently on television I heard you say that anyone breaking one of the Ten Commandments had broken them all. And you also inferred that all the commandments were equal. How can you equate the breaking of the commandment "honor thy father and mother" with the evil of murder, adultery, or idolatry? Also you said, "If a man lusts in his heart toward a woman, he is as guilty as if he had committed the very act." Please explain. M.A.H.

Your quarrel is not with me, but with the word of God. Most of my preaching is based upon the Bible. Though I sometimes illustrate the Biblical points, the basic points are Scriptural. The Bible says, "The word of God is powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder the soul and spirit, and the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart." Hebrews 4:12. My thoughts, standing alone, without the support of the Scriptures, are powerless to move people toward God.

For example, you objected to my saying that to break one commandment is to break them all. The Bible says in James 2:10: "For whosoever shall keep the whole law, and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all." To break a chain you don't need to break each link. When you sever one link the chain is broken.

Then you quoted me as saying that if a man lusts in his heart toward a woman that he is as guilty as if he had committed the very act. Jesus said: "But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh unto a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery already in his heart." Matt. 5:28. You see, our Lord didn't just try to clean the spider webs from our hearts, but to kill the spider.

A Devotion For Today . . .

(Jesus) said unto them, The sabbath was made for man, and not man for the sabbath. (Mark 2:27) PRAYER: Dear heavenly Father, we thank You for the Sabbath day, when labors are put by for a day. May our lives be enriched by gathering together with other Christians in worship, and also by drinking in the beauties of Your creation. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen. (From the 'Upper Room')

A LOVELIER YOU Jewelry For Grads: Fine Or 'Fun' Okay

By MARY SUE MILLER
A Lovely writes: My niece, age 17, will soon graduate from high school. I want to send her a piece of jewelry, but puzzle over a selection. We live far apart, so I have not seen her since last summer when she was laden with gypsy beads. My idea is a keepsake — a karat gold love knot, like my aunt gave me years ago and I still treasure. My sister writes that such a gift would be nice — not what her daughter might think of it. The girls in my vicinity are wearing dangly things. Your advice, please.

The Answer: Finer things appeal to young girls. Jewelers report that a girl will buy sterling and gold-filled items for herself. She also goes antiquing for Victorian locket, cameo, fob pins, pierced earrings and fingerings.

Certainly she still wears fun jewelry for fun. But she will always delight in fine jewelry. A love knot ring or pin is a classic keepsake. She knows it, too. Some are set in the center with a tiny garnet, amethyst or cultured pearl.

Another choice might be a gold charm, engraved with her initials on one side, the date and occasion on the other. A gold circle pin is both pretty and useful. It can be initialed and dated on the back.

You may be surprised. Your gift can be the very thing she wears at her graduation.

TIPS FOR TEENS

Fifty ways to ideal skin and natural makeup for young adults — age 13 to 19 — are detailed in my booklet, "Model Tips for Teens." Advice covers corrective skin care; how to use makeup to accent good points and play down problems; fashion model makeup tricks. For your copy, write May Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long self-addressed and stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

Guests See Gift Display At Brunch

Gifts received by Miss Barbara McAlister, future bride of David Draper, were displayed for guests at a "sip and see" brunch at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in the home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold McAlister, 2405 Cindy.

Guests were received by Miss McAlister and her mother who both wore formal-length hostess gowns. They were presented corsages, as were Draper's mother, Mrs. Bill Draper; his grandmothers, Mrs. M. K. Simpson of Lubbock and Mrs. Tacoma Draper; and his aunt, Mrs. Burt Stephens of Lubbock.

Brunch was served from a table covered with an off-white Irish linen cloth accented with a brass coffee service. Serving were Mrs. Harold Davis, Mrs. George McAlister, Mrs. Noel Hull and Mrs. Ernest Welch.

In the family room, gifts were displayed on tables covered with white satin and Chantilly lace cloths.

Miss McAlister and Draper will be married Saturday at First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Kenneth Patrick and Dr. Jimmy D. Law officiating.

Honored With Bridal Events

Mrs. Douglas Compton, the former Anne Robinson, was honored at a series of parties prior to the couple's wedding Sunday in First Presbyterian Church. The final event included a gift shower and luncheon.

The bridesmaids luncheon to honor the attendants and other members of the wedding party, was held Saturday in the home of Mrs. Arch Carson, 110 Cedar Road with cohostesses being Mrs. Joe Pond, Mrs. Ted Grobel and Mrs. J. M. Woodall.

Honored with the bride were Miss Paula Green, Miss Sylvia Sims and Miss Shelah Mosesman, the latter two of Dallas; and the bride's sister, Mrs. Ronny J. Crownover of College Station, who served as matron of honor.

The guests were seated at tables accented with yellow place mats, crystal and silver appointments and arrangements of assorted spring flowers.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Glenn O. Robinson, Miami, Okla., the bride's grandmother; Mrs. Johnnie Compton, the bridegroom's grandmother, and Miss Jessie Young, both of El Paso; and Mrs. C. R. Compton of Austin.

A mother-daughter recipe shower was held Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Jack Alexander, 8 Highland Heather, with Mrs. Ray Alexander and Miss Sherri Alexander as cohostesses.

The bride was presented an orchid corsage, and daisy corsages were received by the couple's mothers, Mrs. G. R. Robinson and Mrs. C. W. Compton.

The bride's colors of yellow and green were carried out on the polished table where refreshments were served. An arrangement of white and yellow daisies was used with brass appointments. Mrs. Mark Alexander presided at the punch service.

Guests presented the bride with their favorite recipes and ingredients to prepare the dishes.

Officers present were Mrs. J. W. Dennis, president; Mrs. Edgar O'Bannon, vice president; Mrs. Jack McCowan, treasurer; Mrs. Roger Newbrough and Mrs. Weldon White, publicity chairmen; and Mrs. Gerald Roberts, Mrs. Bobby Cohorn, Mrs. Fred Daffern and Mildred Crump, board chairmen.

YMCA Director Tells Of Current Programs

The operation and services offered by the local YMCA were explained by Curt Mullins, director, at a Thursday meeting of the Altrusa Club. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Willard Hendrick.

Mullins said the YMCA, located at 8th and Owens, is locally autonomous, with policies set by a board elected by the membership. Two local residents, who are active YMCA workers, serve on other boards. Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas is a member of the Southwest Regional Board, and Frank Hardesty represents Big Spring on the National Council of YMCA's.

The YMCA's programs range from group work to the teaching of individual skills. Programs involve boys and girls from age six years and up through adults. Youngsters who are unable to pay their own way are subsidized through sources such as the Friend of Youth memberships. The subsidy is derived from United Fund, sustaining memberships and the endowment fund. The endowment fund receives gifts, donations and properties as memorials, and the monies are used to further the youth programs.

The central YMCA building is equipped with an indoor pool, gym, handball courts, exercise rooms for men and women, club rooms and game room. The Lakeview branch building has club rooms, a small gym, game room, shower and dressing facilities and a large playground adjacent to the building.

The YMCA offers many programs designed to include the entire family.

"The buildings in which we work are regarded only as tools to accomplish the purposes of the YMCA," said Mullins. "The YMCA programs are dedicated to helping persons achieve and maintain health and fitness, a report from Mrs. Willard Sullivan, chairman for an upcoming workshop. The next regular meeting will be June 8, and installation of officers is slated June 22.

Mrs. Vera Gross was a guest for the meeting.

The Altrusans will have a board meeting Monday to hear a report from Mrs. Willard Sullivan, chairman for an upcoming workshop. The next regular meeting will be June 8, and installation of officers is slated June 22.

Mrs. Vera Gross was a guest for the meeting.

It's estimated that 40 million "standard" homes need some repair or modernization, and that owners "set aside" a minimum of $300 a year for basic upkeep.

Christening For Rachel Barnes

Christening services were conducted for Rachel Renee Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Barnes, 4107 W. Hwy. 80, Sunday morning at First United Methodist Church. Chaplain Kenneth Summy of Webb AFB officiated. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Preslar, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Barnes and Mr. and Mrs. Troy Barnes, all of Fort Worth. Rachel, aged 15 months, wore a family christening gown more than 100 years old.

Gifts Presented At Party For Bridal Attendants

Bridal attendants for the wedding of Miss Barbara McAlister and David Draper, which is scheduled Saturday at First Baptist Church, were honored Tuesday afternoon in the home of the bride-elect, 2405 Cindy.

Each of the attendants was presented a gift from Miss McAlister and also received miniature baskets of flowers similar to those they will carry in the wedding. The attendants are Miss Betty McCann, Miss Kathy Dean, Miss Lucretia Clark, Mrs. Andrew Nieland, Miss Marilyn Stephens, Miss Cindy McAlister and Miss Kristi Taylor.

Also honored were musicians for the wedding, Miss Debbie Dunlap, organist; and Miss Lucia Taylor, soloist. Refreshments were served from a table covered with a beige Irish linen cloth.

Parents, Kids Reminded To Sign For Program

Parents and children were reminded again today to sign for the Citywide Summer Recreation program - both the learn-to-swim effort next week, and the daily program starting June 12.

Boys of the junior high and high school age also were asked to register for a special program which will be held at Runnels Junior High June 12, July 28.

There is no charge for any of these programs, because they are sponsored by the City of Big Spring, the United Fund, Big Spring schools and YMCA.

Where the child is able to pay a pool fee ($1) this is suggested for the learn-to-swim, but any child is welcome, regardless. Trained instructors will work with youngsters in any of four periods starting at 10 a.m. Monday for the one-week effort.

The following week, the daily program of games, hikes, arts and crafts, swimming, etc. will begin at Comanche Trail Park and Lakeview YMCA. Parents are urged to register now for their children at the Central YMCA, which administers the program for the cooperating agencies.

Boys in the junior high level are beginning to sign (10 thus far), but a large number is expected Monday from 3:30 to 6:30 p.m. at Runnels. The program will include basketball and other forms of recreation.

Military People Bid For Awards In FF Contest

A $1,000 prize awaits the winner of the 1972 Freedoms Foundation letter-writing contest.

The Pennsylvania-based organization sponsors the contest annually for active members of all branches of the American armed forces. The theme of this year's contest is "Freedom Has a Price."

There will also be 50 awards of $100 each and another 50 of $50 each. George Washington Honor Medals and Honor Certificates will also be awarded.

The top 10 active duty winners of the 1972 contest will be invited to Valley Forge to receive their awards at the annual presentation ceremony.

Entries need not be in letter form, but may be essay or poetry from 100 to 500 words. Entrants should include full name, SSAN, military address, service component, and complete permanent home address, including zip codes.

All entries must be sent before Nov. 1 to Freedoms Foundation, Valley Forge, Pa. 19481.

Military members and civilians are also encouraged to enter other categories such as editorials, cartoons, essays, public addresses or sermons related to the theme.

Four Induction Orders Due Here

AUSTIN - The July draft call has been announced by Col. Melvin N. Glantz, State Director of Selective Service for Texas.

Men in the 1972 First Priority Selection Group with lottery number 50 or lower will be issued induction orders with reporting dates in July. This Priority Selection Group is made up of men born in calendar year 1952 and of men who lose a deferment during calendar year 1972.

During April and May, induction orders went up to lottery number 15; during June 15; and now for July, to 50.

Men with lottery numbers of 90 or lower will be ordered for pre-induction physical examinations during July if they have not yet been examined. The physical examinations are administered to men in the 1972 First Priority Selection Group, also.

Thirty days' notice will be given on all induction orders. There is no quota for Texas; however, Colonel Glantz said he expects 400 men to be inducted in Texas.

John W. Hughs, chairman of Local Board No. 71, said four induction orders will be issued by his local board. There will be 12 pre-induction physical examination orders issued, also.

Seminar Slated Today In Lamesa

LAMESA (SC) - A seminar on "New Cottonseed Products" will be held at 2 p.m. today at the Forrest Park Community Center.

Margaret Hardeman, professor of food and nutrition at Texas Tech University, will speak at the meeting. Slides will be shown and samples will be presented.

The seminar is open to the public.

Plans Changed; Van To Leave

The hearing van will not be at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center for tests Thursday as scheduled.

The special audio testing unit has been scheduled instead for Presidio, and the center has alerted parents and children of this change in plans.

Agricultural Task Force In Session

The agricultural task force of the Chamber of Commerce will meet at 4 p.m. today at the Chamber office.

The task force will discuss the proposed county fair and agriculture appreciation day.

Hair Styles

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

LONG HAIR: (Q) This boy I know — and like a little — has hair down to the collar of his shirt. He wears a rubber band around it. He says that keeps it out of his eyes.

Well, I ran into him at the shopping center and we walked around. We went into the store my dad owns. As soon as he saw us he came over and said he wanted to talk to me. He took me to the back and told me to get my hippie friend out of his store.

Then he went to the boy and told him to leave. My friend said, "What have I done?" But he left. He was smiling and didn't seem to be mad.

The boy is not a hippie. What should I do? — Hurt in Connecticut.

(A) Many adults brought up under different rules find it hard to accept some of the new hair and dress styles both boys and girls are adopting.

Whenever you can — not just once — talk to your father about trends in teen-age dress and grooming. If you can do this maturely and at the same time lovingly, he may be able to change his attitudes.

Tell the boy simply that you are sorry about what happened in the store. Don't dwell on it. He will understand. He probably has had similar experiences before.

TWO MOODS: (Q) When my boyfriend and I are alone he kisses me and is very loving. But when we are with my girl friends or his boy friends he acts as if I weren't even there.

They all know he loves me, and I love him. We have been going steady for two years. How can I get him to change? — Ignored in Pennsylvania.

(A) The way your friend is in public is not unusual. You should not try to force him into doing things he is not comfortable doing. You should especially not encourage him to do a lot of kissing or touching or hand-holding in public. This is poor taste and may embarrass those around you.

(Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, care of The Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 2462, Houston, Texas 77001. Only letters that include a stamped, self-addressed envelope can be answered.)

Let the graduate spring forth this summer in this cool and comfortable polyester crepe blend. No sleeves and full skirt make for free and easy movement. 30.00

Harte-Hanks May Add Three More Papers

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Harte-Hanks Newspapers, Inc., has reached agreements in principle to acquire the Yakima, Wash., Herald-Republic, the San Francisco Progress, and the Pennysaver Publications in Orange and Santa Clara counties, Calif., it was announced Tuesday.

The San Antonio based firm said each of the three separate transactions is subject to the execution of a definitive agreement and other conditions.

The Yakima Herald-Republic is published daily and Sunday with an average daily paid circulation of about 40,000.

The San Francisco Progress, published twice a week, has an average paid circulation of about 18,000 and an average unpaid circulation of about 175,000.

The Pennysaver is a weekly advertising publication distributed by mail without charge principally in Orange County and Santa Clara County, Calif. Different editions are published in 49 geographic areas within the two counties. The Pennysaver publications proposed for acquisition by Harte-Hanks have a weekly circulation of about 600,000.

Harte-Hanks owns newspapers in 19 markets in Texas, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Michigan, Ohio and South Carolina, and one television station in San Antonio.

Toxoplasmosis

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What kind of disease is toxoplasmosis? Is it serious? Have read that the disease thrives in the common house cat, and can be passed on from the cat's feces.

How does one know if he has it? — Mrs. O.K.

It can be a serious disease. Again, a person may have it for some time without realizing it — for example, with painless swelling of glands, mild fever, muscle aches that may last for several weeks.

The disease is caused by a small crescent-shaped organism which can invade the system and cause cysts. Most serious problems in humans involve the eyes and the nervous system. In the eyes, chorioretinitis and uveitis are likely to be resistant to treatment when caused by toxoplasmosis.

Attention has been focused on the cat, but other creatures (mice, rats, birds, cattle) can harbor the parasite and pass it along. Some epidemics of toxoplasmosis have been traced to contaminated meat. Beef can contain it; so can pork or mutton used as a filler for hamburgers.

One comforting fact: thorough cooking will destroy the parasite.

To get back to cats, or other pets: if a cat is a prowler, it may pick up the parasite from infected birds or mice. The parasite thrives in the intestinal system, so if your pet is a prowler, be careful in handling litter in the cat box.

A veterinarian can do stool tests to determine whether a cat harbors the parasite, but let's not all rush off to the vet to see if Tabby is infected. It might be wise, though, to have a new pet checked if you don't know its habits as to prowling.

Pregnant women should be wary of handling strange cats, because the parasite can pass the placenta and cause congenital defects in babies. Animals fed commercial cat foods are not likely to be infected.

Since symptoms in some cases may be so vague, toxoplasmosis is a disease that should be suspected where glandular enlargement and fever are present without causes that can be identified otherwise.

In treatment, sometimes steroids (cortisone type hormones) may be used along with sulfa drugs and various antiparasitic medications.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What tests are required for a low thyroid? I have all the symptoms — a slight anemia, some times my heart skips a beat, slight loss of hair and dry skin. I have no diabetes. Does this mean a lack of vitamins? If so which? — E.A.D.

You do indeed have symptoms to accompany low thyroid activity, but vitamins won't do anything to correct it. Why don't you go to your doctor? He has several thyroid tests available and he can find out for sure whether that is your problem. The breathing test of other years is less often used now, while the PBI (protein-bound iodine) or the T-3 test is more often used. These are blood tests.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you tell me what to do for stopped-up tear ducts? I have not been able to shed a tear since 1963. I am 80 years old. — Mrs. H.B.R.

Are you sure it's stopped-up tear ducts? Sounds more like a case of sheer lack of moisture, a condition known as Sjogren's disease. If so, the use of "artificial tears" applied to the eyes is a well-known method of easing the dryness. I suggest that you have an ophthalmologist see what the real trouble is. Closed tear ducts often can be opened with a tiny probe.

For a comprehensive discussion of how to cope with the change of life, including the change of life, including scores of pertinent questions and their answers, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for his booklet, "Make Menopause Easier," enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed (use zip code) envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

14 Women Join Class Of Cadets

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — The Pennsylvania State Police Academy will end 67 years as an all-male institution in July when 14 women join the class of 135 cadets graduating from the school after six months training.

"They lugged and fired service revolvers, threw each other around in self-defense class and took criminal law courses like the rest of us," a male cadet said.

Of the 15 women originally selected, one has dropped out. They were chosen from more than 150 applicants on the basis of age, height, physical fitness, and education.

Five Flee From Jail

RICHMOND, Tex. (AP) — Authorities said today five men who escaped from the Fort Bend County jail last Monday apparently have fled the state.

John Allen Henry, 36, of Hitchcock was charged Tuesday with aiding the five prisoners.

Sheriff R. L. Gaston said Henry was accused of providing a car for the five. His bond was set at $25,000.

The five prisoners who saved their way out of a cell and escaped in a car parked nearby were identified by Gaston as Leon McCain, 23, Rosenberg, who is appealing a 20-year sentence for possession of narcotics; Leroy James Estelle, 30, Stafford, serving a term on a worthless check charge; Kenneth Leroy Suttle, 31, Lyons, Kan., charged with passing worthless checks and carrying a concealed weapon; Ray Henderson, 29, East Point, Ga., charged with robbery by firearms; and Jerry Wayne Strong, Houston, charged with robbery by firearms.

Car Insurance Slash Shapes

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans should get a car insurance rate reduction, Treaver predicts.

I think we are looking at a reduction," Treaver said in an interview Tuesday.

The board will hold its annual auto insurance rate hearing July 24. New rates will take effect Sept. 1, unless an increase is ordered and the U.S. Price Commission delays it.

ALL-TIME HIGH
President Nixon's wage-price freeze last summer kept the board from ordering the 2.8 per cent average rate hike recommended by its staff.

Current rates have been in effect since Jan. 1, 1971, when the board ordered a 14 per cent boost. There has been no reduction since 1967, when rates were cut an average of one-tenth of 1 per cent statewide for private passenger cars.

"Underwriting profits are at an all-time high, in addition to investment profits," Treaver said of the companies that write car insurance in Texas. He said, however, these profits are on a national basis, and the board's acuaries have just begun analyzing the companies' premiums and paid losses in Texas.

INFLATION

Treaver hopes he can get board members Durwood Manford and Ned Price to agree to reduce the amount of premiums allowed for inflation and for insurance company expenses. Before it increased rates 14 per cent in January 1971, the board raised the inflation factor to the companies benefit. Treaver said almost a fifth of the increase was due to this change.

"I feel like this—if we are reasonable and prove our position, I don't see how they could not go along with us," Treaver said of Manford and Price.

Treaver also plans to put on the agenda his proposed "personal Injury Protection Plan"—a substitute for no-fault car insurance.

Treaver might not be on the board when the hearing date arrives.
