No Pier Fishing Today

Water stood 18 inches over the fishing pier (upper photo) at Lake Colorado City Park Tuesday, and it was about 12 yards from the edge of the pier to dry land. This complication came when rains filled the lake to within two inches of capacity. In the lower picture, looking southward from the park toward TESCO's plant, the sign and a trash can in the water show that during regular times, would be well above the water line. Being full, the lake holds approximately 30,000 acre feet of water.

$4.1 Million Asked For Webb Project

The Defense Department today asked Congress for "new authority" to spend $4,118,000 on construction at Webb Air Force Base. Base officials had no information on the request. In Washington, Rep. George Mahon's office informed the Herald of the request, which, by its wording, indicated that it is something entirely new and apart from the multi-million dollar housing project.

If authorized, and made available, funds would provide for the construction, maintenance, communication and operational and training facilities in connection with the base. The announcement made no mention of the housing, hence it was assumed that the request is new. Plans for the 460-unit housing project, to be located immediately south of the base, have been completed by John W. Floore, architectural firm of Fort Worth. The plans have been in channels for several months and now await a green light by the federal housing and home finance agency. No date has been set for starting this project, which has been under study for three years.

Mahon's announcement said that details on the project would be furnished later. Because it is apparently something new, the course of the request is to go first to the Armed Services committee for action. If approved there, then it is referred to the appropriations subcommittee on military appropriations, of which Mahon is chairman, for consideration. If funds are appropriated, then the way is cleared for the project, but not until the Webb request was included in a $1,561,338,000 military construction program for which the Defense Department requested new spending authority. Of the total, $49,524,000 is proposed for Texas. Other bases in this area and the sums requested were Dyess AFB, Silene, $100,000; Goodfellow AFB, San Angelo, $489,000; Reese AFB, Lubbock, $5,090,000; and Sheppard AFB, Wichita Falls $4,442,000. The department said the total includes $54,572,000 for 2,381 military housing units. The new request is $450,945,000 less than the total asked for the current fiscal year and $561,298 below the amount voted by Congress.

City Hall Bonds To Go On Block

The city commission will meet Thursday afternoon to dispose of $75,000 in tax bonds. The city will sell the bonds at 4 p. m. Thursday and bids will be accepted until that time. The bonds are for remodeling the city hall and have been authorized since August of 1955. Plans for the remodeling are almost complete, and the city will be in a position to let contract for the work in a short time after the money is available. Under conditions of the bid, no interest rate above three and a half per cent will be accepted. The bonds are eligible for purchase by the State Board of Education, and since the board meets next Monday, a decision to waive or purchase them at the rate accepted by the city Thursday should be made. As the bonds are set up, $5,000 in principal will be paid each year from 1959 through 1963. From 1964 through 1968, the city will pay $10,000 each year.

Vancourt Blowing Well Controlled

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP)—An oil well which blew out near Vancourt yesterday was controlled during the night and operators said they would go ahead and run tubing. The well is Seneca Oil Co. No. 2 Fassel northeast of Vancourt in the Yan-Ke Field of Tom Green County. J. A. Saunders, production superintendent for Seneca, said today it "looks like a good well." He explained that it's the only test so far in the field to kick off naturally, but added the well will be a pumper like others there. There were no injuries and no damage to the rig, Saunders said.

State Dept. Accused Of 'False Picture'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Johnson of Texas accused the State Department today of drawing "a very false picture" of the effect of House cuts in its budget. Johnson told Loy W. Henderson, deputy undersecretary of state, that testimony by the department created the impression that the House denied funds to finance programs which Congress itself made "mandatory." The House voted the department $180,382,743, a cut of $47,331,809 from President Eisenhower's request for the fiscal year starting July 1, and $41,317,329 less than was provided this fiscal year. Secretary of State Dulles appealed yesterday for restoration of $29,228,000 of the House cut. Henderson testified today that the House made no provision for payment of more than one million dollars in salary increases voted last year for ambassadors and other high-ranking officers. He also said the House took no action on a request for $88,240 for congressionally authorized increases in allowances for maintenance of official residences, and on another request for $281,360 for authorized medical care of foreign service dependents abroad. Johnson said there is no language in either the House bill or its Appropriations Committee report which would prevent the use of other appropriated funds for salaries and expenses for the functions Henderson mentioned. "I have my patience tried when departments say Congress is in a vulnerable position when it reduces requests for appropriations," Johnson told Henderson. "If you use funds for these purposes you may have less to use for personnel."

TRUMAN BIRTHPLACE BOUGHT BY UNION, SHRINE PLANNED

LAMAR, Mo. (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union has bought the house in which Harry S. Truman was born and plans to turn it into a shrine. "Mr. Truman was Missouri's only President and has a unique place in history because of the policies and doctrines he started and carried out," said Russell Letner, regional UAW director in St. Louis. Letner said the $6,000 purchase price was put up by UAW officers councils in St. Louis and Kansas City, and the international union. The five-room, story-and-a-half frame house is four blocks from Lamar's Courthouse Square. Truman was born there May 8, 1884, but his family moved from Lamar in 1896. The UAW bought the place from Mrs. Marie Earp, widow of a nephew of Wyatt Earp, legendary Kansas sheriff who once was Lamar's town constable. Lamar is 122 miles south of Kansas City on the western edge of Missouri.

Forgery Suspected In State Insurance Probe

Rains Give 'New Look' To Mitchell Area

By DON HENRY
COLORADO CITY — Rains during the past week have placed a different look on Mitchell County generally and on Lake Colorado City specifically. Rain measuring between six and seven inches has fallen in a week here. In the seven-year history of the lake, it had not been full until Tuesday. But Tuesday afternoon, water was lapping into the overflow inlet on the south end of the lake. Very little water was going into the overflow pipe, however, since the water level was about two or three inches below the pipe. But waves were throwing water into it. With the lake full, water backed up under Highway 80 on the north end of the lake, covering a large area north of the highway. The rains, not the lake, were responsible for highway and bridge construction crews having to stop work. Actually, the lake proper is up about nine feet from what it was before the rains started last week. A rain Monday night swelled creeks that fed the lake and caused the near overflow. Before this week, the previous high-water mark came in 1955 when the lake lacked about two or three feet reaching the overflow intake, said Roy Bates, plant superintendent of the Texas Electric power station. The TESCO plant is located near the south end of the lake. The lake does not have a spillway as such, only an intake located just away from the dam on the southern end of the lake. This intake funnels the water under the dam and out into a creek. Should the water rise to the point where the intake cannot handle it, there is an emergency spillway on the east side of the lake at the south end which will carry off the excess. This emergency spillway is about three and a half feet above the intake level. At Colorado City Park, on the east side of the lake and north of TESCO's plant, the high water mark most got into picnic pavilions. A fishing pier which Monday was useable is under 18 inches of water and now stands about 12 yards from shore. Boats along the edge of the lake at the park had to be moved back Monday night after the rains started swelling the lake. About a (See RAIN, Page 5-A, Col. 4)

Light Shower Wets Gauges

A light shower which fell sometime Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning brought a trickle of additional moisture in the rain gauges in parts of town. The Texas Electric Service Company gauge at its switch plant measured .02 inch and the downtown plant .01. U. S. Experiment Station north of town, had no rain at all. Citizens said that the brief shower swept in during the night, lasted only a short time and left shallow puddles of water on sidewalks and patios. Meantime, it would seem that the current interval of rains which made the last week in April memorable is on the wane. Check of the month's moisture shows the customary sharp variations in different parts of town. The TESCO plant east of town had a grand total of .49 for the month-of which 2.94 inch from April 23 through April 30. The downtown plant had 4.22 inches for the month and 2.48 for the week. U. S. Experiment station had one .187 for the month with 1.46 falling the last week in April. The station gauge has credited the town with a total of 3.76 for the year. This compares with 1.87 for the same period last year and 3.41 for 1955. TESCO reported that showers added .05 to the wet spell's volume at Colorado City on yesterday and that Eskota station had an additional .03 inch. Partially cloudy skies with a vague hint of possible return of the thunderstorms was the rule as May 1 moved into operation. During May 1956, the town had 1.12 inches of rain—second driest month of that year. The 1.12 inches of May was only exceeded last year by the 1.47 credited to April. Lake J. B. Thomas elevation was officially at 248.85 Wednesday morning. This represents a net gain of .85 foot in the water in the lake.

IMPROVED RADAR TO BE USED TO TRACK DANGEROUS STORMS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Weather Bureau today announced plans to use newly improved radar equipment to locate and track hurricanes and other dangerous storms. Two officials of the bureau's division of observations and station facilities, D. W. Holmes and L. F. Hafer, announced the development at a joint annual meeting of the American Meteorological Society and the American Geophysical Union. In a prepared joint paper they said 15 of the 31 units ordered will be installed along the Gulf and Atlantic Coasts. The remainder will be placed in areas subject to severe local storms. The new equipment will have a range of almost 300 miles, and will be able to observe weather phenomena up to altitudes of 70,000 feet, Holmes and Hafer said. They added that studies with this equipment will begin early in the storm season in Texas next year and move northward with the shift of the tornadic frequency belt.

Slaying Of Gambler Enters Robbery Case

FORT WORTH (AP)—The slaying of a Houston gambler and his semi-widow wife was drawn yesterday into the investigation following an aborted quarter-million dollar holdup-kidnap plot allegedly planned by slain Oklahoma gunman Gene Paul Norris, 35. Linked in the case was the double murder of Houston gambler Johnnie Brennan and his wife, who were found beaten to death April 16 at their home. Norris and William Carl Humphrey, 35, were killed in a blazing gunfight with officers near Springtown. Police, who declined to reveal the tipster, said Norris planned to kidnap an employe of the bank at Carswell Air Force Base yesterday and steal the base payroll. Fort Worth Police Chief Cat Hightower said he thought Norris had killed at least nine underworld figures in gangland slayings, among them Brennan and his wife. Houston officers turned up the name of Norris' brother, T. N. (Pete) Norris, 45, during the investigation of Brennan's murder. The elder Norris is serving a life sentence in the Texas Prison System. Homicide Capt. W. C. Doss in Houston said Brennan was a state witness during a Fort Bend County murder trial of Pete Norris in 1937. "My understanding is that Pete Norris told Brennan he would kill him for the last thing he ever did," Doss said. He said he would have liked to question Gene Paul Norris about it. Officers yesterday also questioned and released Gene's wife, Rita Louise Norris of Lawton, Okla., and David Fred Hagler, pipe-smoking salesman who was acquitted of an unsolved murder of a still unidentified man in Oklahoma last year. Officers said Mrs. Norris did not give them any information about the robbery plan, but declined to comment on what they asked Hagler. Hagler was recently released from Seagoville Federal Correctional Institute, after serving five months of a prison term imposed when he admitted he lied to obtain FHA loans.

9,000 Homeless In Texas Floods

By The Associated Press
The Red Cross Wednesday estimated the 14 days of Texas floods drove 9,000 persons from their homes, and called the figure conservative. Floodwaters of the upper Sabine lapped at a residential district in Gladewater in the river's history making rise, but the flood threat on other Texas streams eased greatly Wednesday. Many oil wells in the petroleum-rich Gladewater area stopped pumping because of high water. The Red Cross said the floods destroyed 50 homes and damaged 2,000 in varying degrees. Thousands of acres of crops still were under water, and some families remained isolated. On the Sabine, the river spread out for three-quarters of a mile on the southwest side of Gladewater. Melvin Farrar, police sergeant, said. The main part of the city is protected by levees. At Orange, near the mouth of the Sabine, the Sabine River Authority called a meeting of disaster, weather, law enforcement and military authorities to lay plans for what the Orange Leader said could be a serious flood on the lower Sabine. Plans for a general evacuation of about 1,000 residents at Deweyville, above Orange, were made Wednesday at a meeting called by Capt. L. C. Moore, head of the Highway Patrol district offices in Beaumont. The river at Deweyville Wednesday stood at 14.25 feet, just above flood stage, and was rising fast. A crest of 16.3 feet was predicted by Friday, but the Shreveport Weather Bureau said more heavy rains in the area would bring an upward revision. Several families moved out Tuesday. The town was inundated in a 1953 flood. The upper Brazos River also was staggering from earlier floods. Dennis, about 12 miles from Weatherford, still was evacuated, and about 125 citizens still were using the school, on high ground, as shelter. The Brazos was receding there, but 6 inches of water covered an approach to the bridge to Dennis. A postoffice was set up in the school, the cafeteria fed the flood victims, and most residents had their movable goods in the building. The Brazos River Authority closed one of the six open gates at Possum Kingdom dam to ease the flood at Dennis and other downriver points. Lee was taken to a hospital but later released.

Substitute Board Order Discovered

AUSTIN (AP)—Insurance Commission Chairman John Osorio said today that what he called "an apparent substitution" of an original board order has been referred to state police for investigation. The substitute order, Osorio said, made major changes in a reinsurance contract between Western American Life Insurance Co. of Austin and another firm. The Department of Public Safety has been asked to determine through its handwriting experts whether or not forgery may be involved, Osorio said. The chairman of the insurance regulatory agency said the action referring the matter to the Department of Public Safety was not publicized previously "because it was of an investigative nature" involving police work. "We did not want to investigate it in the newspapers," Osorio said in an interview. The story was first revealed by the Houston Post today in a dispatch by Austin correspondent Jim Mathis. Osorio became chairman of the commission Jan. 1 after his appointment by former Gov. Allan Shivers. He said that a commission examiner discovered the discrepancy in the Western American Life Insurance Co. order and that it was referred to Commissioner Morris Brownlee. Brownlee immediately brought the discrepancy to the attention of the board, Osorio said. Neither Brownlee or Commissioner Mark Wentz had any recollection of the substitute order, Osorio said. "When we determined what the effect of the substitute was, we reinstated the original order and made it retroactive to Aug. 31, 1956, to give the policyholders the protection they were entitled to," Osorio said. "Then we turned the matter over to the Department of Public Safety for investigation since we could not determine who typed the substitute, or what had happened." The effect of the change, Osorio said, was to let the company have more operating money. The "true board order," Osorio said, would have allowed the company a division of premiums on the basis of 60 per cent to the mortuary or claim fund, and 40 per cent to operating expenses. The substitute order omitted that division.

Bristow Sparks Counterattack On Surety Bill

AUSTIN (AP)—Rep. Obie Bristow of Big Spring spearheaded a House attack on the proposed insurance commission shakeup bill today, saying "I'm not afraid of the governor." Gov. Price Daniel is backing the reorganization plan that would abolish the jobs of the present commission members. Bristow said he did not seek to impugn the integrity of the governor, but that he could not vote for the reorganization measure. "I will never, never vote to crucify anyone on the cross of political ambitions," the lawmaker said. Gov. Consider Red Arms Proposal

BONN, Germany (AP)—Foreign ministers of the 15 Atlantic Alliance nations here today for a three-day meeting, were expected to recommend intensive negotiations on Russia's latest disarmament proposals. Initial Western reaction was generally cool to the Soviet proposals, announced last night by Moscow, radio. Part of the Soviet plan provided for limited acceptance of President Eisenhower's two-year-old "open skies" scheme for disarmament inspectors to photograph American and Russian territory from the air as a check against preparations for war. Moscow radio said Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin told the U. N. Disarmament subcommittee in London his government was ready to open about 2 1/2 million square miles of its territory in Europe and eastern Siberia to aerial inspection if the United States would open the skies over almost the same amount of territory in Alaska and the western United States. Zorin coupled this with proposals for an immediate suspension of nuclear weapon tests and Russian-American-British renunciation of the use of nuclear weapons. He also repeated previous proposals to reduce armed forces of the United States, the Soviet Union and Red China to 2 1/2 million men each and of Britain and France to 750,000 each as a prelude to further cuts.

Brownsville Man Rescues Boy, 10

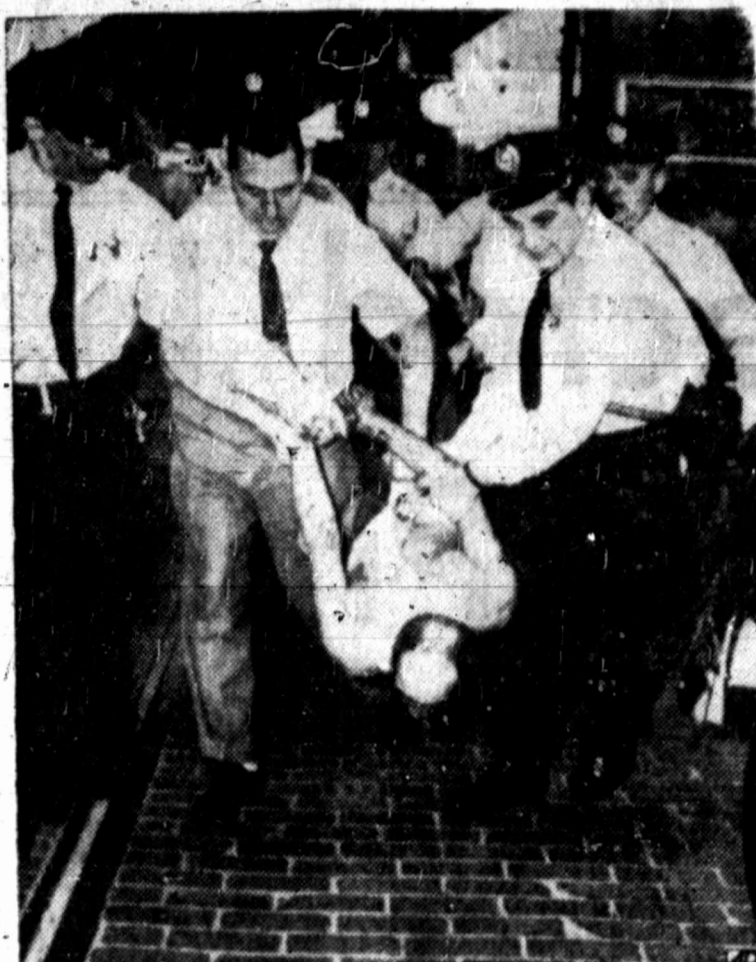

BROWNSVILLE (AP)—Fire Chief Fred Lerma said yesterday Jesus Flores jumped into a water-filled drainage ditch Sunday and saved the life of a 10-year-old boy. Alfonso Lee, 10, apparently fell into the ditch while playing. Lerma said. Lerma said Flores jumped into the water, pulled the boy out and gave him artificial respiration. Lee was taken to a hospital but later released.

Naturopath Bill Ruling Is Upheld

AUSTIN (AP)—The State Supreme Court today refused to change a Court of Civil Appeals judgment that Texas naturopaths were operating by a law that was unconstitutional and void. The denial of a writ of error today left about 450 naturopaths in the state without a legal leg to stand on—in effect cancelling the licenses they now hold from the State Board of Naturopathic Examiners.

End Of Battle

Unidentified police carry Frank Kirsch, 36, to a waiting ambulance at the end of a battle in which they finally used tear gas to force him from a second floor apartment in Pittsburgh, Pa., where he had holed up and hurled bottles at police. Police said Kirsch went berserk and attacked his wife with a club. He fled to the apartment when police were called.

U.S. Opposes Loss Of Oil Firm Records

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government antitrust lawyers have asked a federal court to forbid about 35 major oil companies from destroying records which may be needed in a grand jury probe of recent oil price increases.

The motion for an injunction, filed in Federal District Court in nearby Alexandria, Va., said possible litigation "may be frustrated and will be seriously impaired" by loss of pertinent documents.

Judge Albert V. Bryan has ordered a hearing on the motion tomorrow.

A Justice Department spokesman said the motion was based on the action of one company which destroyed some records. He did not name the firm, but said about 35 companies were listed in the motion.

The department, in an affidavit supporting the motion, said many companies have a practice of destroying records they think are no longer needed. It added that the company which destroyed some records got rid of documents dealing with oil pricing in 1955.

These were destroyed under the firm's "file destruction program," the affidavit added, after Atty.

Gen. Brownell announced last January that there would be an investigation of price increases which followed the Suez Canal closure.

The motion specifically requests the companies be enjoined from destroying "any of its existing files and records relating to the purchase, distribution or sale of petroleum products, including all documents relating or referring to the determination, establishment, maintenance or change of prices for crude petroleum or for refined petroleum products."

Last week, Horace L. Flurry, the Justice Department lawyer who was handling the oil case, resigned after a disagreement with superiors over the investigation.

One point of disagreement concerned the subpoenaing of company records. He indicated he thought some documents would be destroyed by the time the department finally subpoenaed them. The affidavit said it might be several months before the department would know what specific papers were needed by the grand jury.

Couple Comes Home, Finds Blonde Occupying The Bed

NEW YORK (AP)—A Bronx baker and his wife found a blonde barmaid lolling in their bed, yesterday. She was munching a cracker and enjoying a fruit cocktail.

The baker, Edward Hennessey, 50, and his wife, Betty, 26, had returned to their apartment after a long weekend on Long Island. They walked into the bedroom and there was the shapely stranger propped up in bed.

She was wearing Mrs. Hennessey's lounging robe.

"What are you doing here?" the astonished couple blurted.

The blonde casually dipped up a spoonful of fruit and nibbled thoughtfully on the cracker.

"I'm tired," she said.

Finally she finished and stood up.

"I'll think I'll get dressed now," she said, "if you'll just step out of the room."

The nonplussed couple stepped out.

In a few minutes the blonde came out, wished the Hennesseys good night and said: "I'm going now."

But Hennessey grabbed her and his wife called police.

Police said she identified herself as Marion Darmanin, 23, an unemployed barmaid. She told them she entered the apartment via a dumbwaiter earlier in the day because she was hungry and had no money.

She was booked on a burglary charge.

Hearing Opens In Stock Mart Leaks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) opens today a public hearing he said will show some Civil Aeronautics Board employees "leaked" profitable secrets to stock market speculators.

A spurge of trading in Northeast Airlines stock last Aug. 3 which sent the price soaring set off the inquiry by the Senate Investigations subcommittee with Jackson presiding.

The trading started the morning after CAB had voted secretly to award Northeast the profitable New York to Miami air route over the rival bid of Delta Airlines. The decision was not announced officially until Aug. 10.

As the leadoff witness the subcommittee summoned Robert R. Snodgrass of Atlanta, Republican national committeeman from Georgia. Jackson said he will be asked whether he bought 1,000 shares of Northeast stock on Aug. 3; and if so, why he did and whether he profited.

"The subcommittee will show," Jackson said "that there were leaks in connection with this award to Northeast Airlines; that CAB employees gave the information concerning the secret decision to certain outside individuals; that this was in violation of CAB regulations, and that as a result of the leak there was much stock activity on Aug. 3, 1956."

"Inquiry revealed that this was not an unusual case as there had been many leaks from the CAB in the past."

Bachelors Plan Trip By Canoe

DENVER (AP)—Four young bachelors, their energies turned from skiing now that spring is here, shove off today on a 4,500-mile canoe trip to Old Town, Maine.

Using two slim craft loaded with rations, they'll paddle first down the South Platte River from a point inside Denver.

The four plan to reach the Great Lakes by way of the North Platte, the Missouri and Mississippi rivers, then shoulder their equipment between the many smaller rivers and lakes before reaching Maine.

The leader of the expedition is Ed Vestal, 29, formerly of New Haven, Conn., and until recently a ski instructor at Aspen, Colo. With him are Bengt (Red) Soderstrom, 32, a native of Stockholm, Sweden; Gerald Hewey, 27, New Hampshire University graduate Shaded portions of map indicate eight counties in three parts of the state of Texas that have been designated disaster areas because of floods and tornadoes. Virtually every major river in East and South Central Texas was surging near or above major flood stage as the Weather Bureau predicted another five days of heavy rain that has lashed the state for almost two weeks.

Reuther Accused Of Power Moves

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) contended today that AFL-CIO Vice President Walter Reuther is "exploiting the labor union movement to create a machine for personal political power."

He said in a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce that Reuther "has practically dominated one political party," and called Reuther's actions "an affront to freedom and a challenge to every citizen in our nation."

Owning The Store Helps

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Mama Czapar got more than she bargained for, when she and her husband agreed to sponsor a Hungarian refugee family.

At the railroad station the other night, a Hungarian family of six stepped off the train. Then two more Hungarians, both men. Then a couple with two children. All 12 were bound for the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Czapar.

The Czapsars, none of whose relatives escaped from Hungary, agreed to the extra family of four at the last minute because the Catholic Relief Service said the child has asthma and needs the climate of the Southwest.

One family is living in a house owned by the Czapsars, the other with Mrs. Czapar's daughter, the two men with the Czapsars themselves.

"We always got room for one more," said Mrs. Czapar. "Besides, we own a grocery store."

There was no immediate comment from Reuther.

Goldwater frequently has criticized Reuther's political activities and especially what the senator calls the illegal use of union dues payments for partisan political purposes. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, has denied any improper use of union funds.

In another prepared speech, Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) said Congress could cut taxes more than six billion dollars a year if it reduced President Eisenhower's spending budget back to the level for the year ended June 30, 1955. In addition, two billion dollars could be paid off on the national debt, he said.

But Byrd, while calling for that as a goal, expressed doubt spending can be cut that much this year. And he suggested waiting until further economies are achieved to provide tax cuts "which would benefit all classes of citizens."

Goldwater devoted much of his speech to his attack on Reuther, but wound up with an appeal to the businessman audience to take part in politics.

While you pussyfoot and hide, there are organized groups of people in this country who are determined to impose their Socialist views upon the minds of America," Goldwater said.

He mentioned only indirectly that Reuther is a Democrat, but charged him with using union dues money contributed by "members of one political faith to defeat candidates of that same faith."

The use of compulsory dues funds for political purposes is "morally wrong and Mr. Reuther knows it," he said.

Rain Widespread Over The Nation

By The Associated Press

Showers were fairly widespread over the nation last night but rainfall was light in most places. The main belt of precipitation extended from Northeastern Texas and Oklahoma eastward across the Gulf Coast states. The heaviest downpour was at Apalachicola, Fla., which reported 3 1/2 inches of rain in six hours.

Generally fair weather prevailed in the Northeast part of the country and in most of the far Southwest.

30-Day Forecast

These maps, based on those supplied by the United States Weather Bureau, forecast probable rainfall and temperatures for the next 30 days.

Swept To Death In Flood

A man, identified as Burris Lee Goodwin, 22, is shown in the left photo just before he was swept to death in the flood-swollen waters of the Trinity River at Dallas. At right, rescue workers remove the body from the river. Spectators who saw Goodwin drown said he was wading in the river with his dog when he was suddenly swept into the raging current. The photo of Goodwin going under was made by John McLaren, 13-year-old Dallas boy who witnessed the scene from the bridge.

Knowland Wants Congress In Session Until Action Is Done

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) pledged his best efforts today to keep Congress in session until it acts on civil rights legislation and other important segments of President Eisenhower's program. Knowland, Senate Republican leader, said that so far as he is concerned a proposal by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) for Senate meetings three days a week will hold only as long as a series of regular money bills are under consideration. Democratic Leader Johnson announced yesterday he wants the Senate to meet Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays while it acts on a series of appropriations measures this month. He said the Democratic Policy Committee backed his decision that the House will have to act first on Eisenhower's proposals for civil rights, school aid, immigration and natural gas legislation. He added there was "no deadline" for adjournment of Congress but offered no pledges for action on Eisenhower's program. Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.), a staunch Eisenhower backer, protested the delay in Senate action on the four bills as an effort to "pigeon-hole these bills until—and unless—the House seats fit to send them over here."

Presbyterians Condemn 'Violations' Of Freedoms

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Commissioners to the 97th General Assembly of Southern Presbyterians have condemned what they called violations of democratic freedoms. Numerous indictments came yesterday on the final day of the five-day assembly in a lengthy report of the Standing Committee on Christian Relations. Much of the report had to do with the racial issue. It dealt with groups "whose purpose is to gain (their) point by intimidation, reprisal and violence."

Work On Freeway Diverts Traffic, Warning Is Issued

Due to extensive repair work and new construction, much of U. S. Highway 40 to the west cannot be used at this time as a four-lane highway. Traffic is being diverted to the south lane along much of the route. State Highway Patrol Officers said they have been kept busy admonishing drivers who were operating their cars recklessly on the partially blocked segments of the road. The patrol warned that adherence to the rules must be practiced by the motorists or that arrests will be made. It was suggested that motorists watch closely for warning signs and adhere to instructions given when traveling between here and Midland.

The Koinonia community is an experiment on integrated social and economic existence. It has been bitterly criticized by opponents of integration, and there have been several dynamiting and other violence at the community. The report praised the community's contribution to farming techniques: "Yet, because their experiment knows no barrier of color they are treated as enemies of society," it added. Schools are in jeopardy because of fear of integration, the report added. "There is a shortage of qualified teachers, buildings are inadequate or obsolete, indecision reigns as a result of the Supreme Court decision (banning racial segregation in schools)," the report said.

Deadline Set On Box Reservations

Rodeo fans who held box seats at last year's performances of the Big Spring Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion have until May 15 to renew their boxes for the 1957 show. The Chamber of Commerce, which is handling box reservations, said notices have been mailed to 1956 box holders, advising them that it is time to renew the reservations. Boxes not reserved by May 15 will be offered to the public.

World's Nations Greet May Day, Traditional Labor Fete

Nations on both sides of the Iron Curtain today greeted May Day—traditional labor holiday outside the United States—with the usual speeches, parades and political demonstrations. In Moscow, the Kremlin appeared ready to make the celebration another call for peaceful East-West coexistence—coupled with a show of military might. For the past few days the skies over Moscow have been filled with jet fighters, bombers and transporters going through their paces in preparation for the big parade. No new plane models were sighted. But the Soviet government forbade Western diplomats and newsmen to take pictures of the parade, arousing speculation some new military equipment might be unveiled. In Budapest, Red Premier Janos Kadar will make his first major public speech since Soviet tanks crushed satellite Hungary's bid for freedom last fall. President Tito keynoted the Yugoslav celebrations with an announcement that the forthcoming meeting of his Communist party would pave the way for abandonment of certain old concepts and methods of the world. Observers saw in this indication Yugoslavia intended to develop further its independent brand of communism—so roundly condemned by Moscow. Half a million chanting Chinese paraded in Peking before Red China's boss Mao Tse-tung. Soviet President Klementi Y. Voroshilov and other foreign Red leaders were in the reviewing stand in front of the Gate of Heavenly Peace. Premier Chou En-lai set peace and industry theme in his speech, terming foreign friendships essential so "that China can build itself into an industrialized country."

In Tokyo, about 500,000 Japanese milled about Meiji Plaza while Communist and leftist leaders delivered speeches against the H-bomb and U. S. militarism. The crowd appeared peaceful, however, and more intent on taking snapshots than listening to the orators. The Argentine provisional government braced for trouble in Buenos Aires as word went out that the Communists planned to infiltrate a May Day labor rally. In Mexico, where May Day is a legal holiday, shops and business houses closed. People flocked to Mexico City to watch an estimated half million workers parade.

Bostonians Plan Tea Party 'Raid'

BOSTON (AP)—A group of Boston businessmen—their heads capped with colored bands and Indian feathers—will re-enact the Boston Tea Party next Monday to spark sentiment for slashing the federal budget.

A troop of Boy Scouts dressed as Indians will stand near the site of Griffin Wharf, scene of the original tea party, while the two-masted schooner "Tabor Boy" pushes gently into Boston harbor for a short distance. Then the staid businessmen with the feathers on their heads will toss empty tea crates into the water. The crates will carry such legends as: "Waste in Government" and "Super Bureaucracy," according to the national affairs committee of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce.

The committee is sponsoring the simulated Boston Tea Party as the opening act of "a new England tea rally day."

Chairman Paul Rothwell said the purpose is to engender "grass roots" sentiment for slashing "wasteful and unnecessary items" from the $71.8 billion federal budget.

Rothwell said his group feels that as much as five billion dollars can be cut from the budget without impairment of essential service.

On display will be the tea urn which King George, 3rd, was using at the time of the original tea party in 1773. Principal speaker at the rally will be U. S. Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), his subject: "The budget can be cut." Another speaker will be Rep. Judd (R-Minn.). A panel discussion on federal spending will have such participants as Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass), Sen. Bridges (R-NH) and Clem D. Johnson of Roanoke, Va., chairman of the executive committee of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

EARLY CELEBRATION

Pioneer Couple Married Here 50 Years Ago Today

By JOE PICKLE
Selwyn Patterson and Kate Leatherwood pulled up in their carriage to a little cottage opposite to where the First Methodist Church now stands.
Several of their friends drove in with their buggies and surries while Earnest Green and Ethel Painter got out and stood beside the carriage. The Rev. C. A. Evans, pastor of the Methodist Church, came out of the parsonage, examined the license, and performed the ceremony.
And that was how, 50 years ago today, Logan S. Patterson and Velma Kate Patterson, both transplanted Tennesseans, were married here.
They took the carriage back to the livery stable and took the train to Fort Worth for a brief honeymoon. Back home a few days later they settled on his farm in the Elbow country.

No special festivities will mark that day for the "celebration" came off during the Easter holidays when all their children and grandchildren could be with them. Actually, this had been a big surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Patterson, who were further thrilled when the children presented them with a printed book, complete with pictures, old and new of the Pattersons, the children, grandchildren some scenes of former days.

It was one of the nicest Golden Wedding presents anyone could have given, and the only one which the Pattersons would accept. Mrs. Patterson explained that they simply wanted their friends to enjoy the occasion with them, and that's why she wants friends to call and sign their anniversary book—anytime during the anniversary year.

L. S. Patterson was born in Lincoln County, Tennessee, but moved to Giles County when a child. After graduating from Winchester College he became a schoolmaster for several years, and one of his pupils in a rural school near Pulaski was pretty Miss Velma Kate Leatherwood.

He had been hearing about the opportunities in West Texas and, having laid aside his teaching for a career in farming, ginning and threshing, he decided in 1905 to follow his brother, Glen Patterson. However, he didn't go to Temple, where Glen was located, but turned north from Fort Worth to Denison. He had heard of a bumper wheat crop there and a demand for threshers, but when he arrived there was a foot of snow on the ground. So he came west to Big Spring where he knew the Leather-wood family had moved three years before.

He didn't move any further, for he acquired two sections of land along Elbow creek. By 1907, when he got around to putting the question which had been in his mind all along, he had the house painted and papered, water piped to the porch—and it was all paid for.
Five children were born to them, Malcolm Logan was the eldest, and after taking his degree at Texas Tech, he worked for an oil company for several years before returning here to engage in farming and take over his father's insurance business. Their second child was a daughter, Mildred Selwyn, (Mrs. Reg Jarvis) who met her husband while at Tech.

Morris, the second boy, attended TCU and has engaged in farming and ranching as well as joining Malcolm in his father's business. Murray was the next son, and following his service in World War II, earned his degree at TWC at Fort Worth and now is in public relations work for a public service company at Dallas.
Their fifth child, Mary Kate Patterson, met an untimely death in 1942 while on her way home from school for the Christmas holidays.

The Pattersons lived on the farm from 1907 to 1924 when one day Mr. Patterson yielded to J. B. Harding's plea to sell the place. They had farmed mostly with mule and feed and fighting droughts even as now. He maintained part of the place, however, and in recent years a new and more dependable crop has come along—oil.

It was in 1917 that he telephoned Mrs. Patterson from town one day and over the old party line told her to "get on your ice cream dress and get the kids ready." Before long he drove up in the wagon, followed by a man in a horseless carriage. Mr. Patterson put the family aboard and drove back to town without mishap—except for killing the engine and discovering that you had to turn the switch before cranking would help.

When Malcolm reaching high school age, the Pattersons moved to town in 1924 and Mr. Patterson opened an insurance and real estate business. For many years he served as a member of the school board. Both he and Mrs. Patterson were active Baptists, and for many years she was a Sunday School teacher. There has been a devoutly Christian home.

If there is one thing which has stood them in good stead through the years, it is a keen sense of humor. Mr. Patterson has that dry wit which characterizes the people from the rolling hills of Tennessee, and Mrs. Patterson almost always can see the funny side of a situation.
Recalling how Judy Jarvis was telling the other grandchildren, Joy Jarvis, Rip Patterson and Dan Patterson, about the plans for the surprise anniversary affair during Easter, Mrs. Patterson laughed.

"Judy said that 'of course Grandma had to have one of her worst spells.' Actually, it turned out that everyone had a wonderfully happy time.

Comet Again Visible Here, But Vaguely

Yep—the comet was visible Tuesday night.

This is in answer to numerous queries from fretful stargazers who seized the opportunity offered by the fading clouds to scan the skies for the wanderer.
Most who hunted the heavens for the tailed "star" were disappointed. They did not locate the object. Others who found it were chagrined that it was so vague.

The comet was visible from around 8:30 p.m. to around 9 p.m. It would have been in sight longer but a thin skin of clouds obscured that section of the skies at that hour.
The comet was no brighter than it was a week ago when it was sighted on another partially-clear night. Whether it will become more brilliant is a highly debatable point.

The faint nebulous star-head, with its vague whitish fan-shaped tail, is to be seen about a third of the way up the heavens in the northwest skies. It has to be "looked for"—but once the gaze has it spotted, he has no difficulty in relocating it.

Heavy cloud banks which have covered Big Spring skies constantly since last Monday night have barred any efforts locally to follow the course of the comet.

MIKE GILCHRIST

Revival Opens Here Tonight

Evangelist Mike Gilchrist of Vidor will be the preacher and L. L. Garner of Forsan will be in charge of singing for a revival opening this evening at the Phillips Memorial Baptist Church, Fifth and State.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. daily through May 12.
A Christian since 1946, Gilchrist served as a pastor for five years and has worked as an evangelist for three years. He has held nearly 100 revivals in Texas and Louisiana.
Rev. D. R. Phillely, pastor, said every resident of Big Spring is invited to the services.

RAIN

inch fell Monday night bringing the total for the period to over six inches.
No cabins on the lake were affected by the high water, but some reports came about residents being able to sit in their cabins and cast fishing hooks into the lake.

The Cage Brothers construction firm from San Antonio is contractor for Highway 80 work, and its crews were waiting until the rains stopped and the ground dried before proceeding. Three bridges are under construction across the usually dry lake bed.
As a part of the divided highway system under construction, four bridges are needed to handle local as well as through traffic, and only one bridge—the old one—is now useable.

The high waters on the lake did not slow the construction; the rain did. Homer Park, one of the Cage foremen, said that the firm was fortunate in that they had the columns completed installing the columns and work that is now under way.
When they started their work on the bridges, there was a small amount of water on the northern side of the highway. Work stopped on the jobs Thursday at noon, and Tuesday Park said it would be closed three days before they could get back to work, provided no more rain falls.

One crew was installing foundation columns Tuesday afternoon, but the columns were out of the water. Also, the rock-crushing equipment was in operation, stockpiling rock.
Ben Wilkinson, resident engineer for the Highway Department, voiced the same opinion about the construction work. He said the rains were helps more than hindrances, even though work was delayed about a week.

Most price changes of key stocks were very narrow and a number was unchanged. Gains and losses ran to a point or so at the outside except for special issues.
On average, the market was still higher. Just after its January high it had been doing this for two weeks. Market always saw stock prices at a crucial point in view of the technical position. There was little fresh news to act as a stimulus for the market. Stocks and bonds showed slight changes.

While here, Dr. Bethea expressed appreciation to Dr. Preston Harrison, acting superintendent, and other staff members for their cooperation during his tenure as head of the state hospitals and special schools system.
He spent the night here and left this morning for Abilene and will go to Wichita Falls before returning to Austin Thursday.

Dr. Bethea is being accompanied on his "goodbye tour" by A. E. Tate of the board's comptroller's department.

COLORADO CITY — Mrs. Jesse L. Pratt, 82, of Loraine died in the Johnson Hospital in Loraine Tuesday morning after a short illness.

Mrs. Pratt was born Feb. 4, 1875. She married Jesse L. Pratt, Dec. 6, 1900, in Hico, and had lived in Loraine since 1910. Her husband preceded her in death. She was a member of the First Baptist Church in Loraine.

New City Jail Empty Again

The second floor of the city police building was quiet today—no one home.
For the first time since the new building was occupied April 15, the jail located on the second floor was empty of prisoners. The four who stayed overnight Tuesday were removed this morning.
Two of them had laid out their time and were released, and two others were transferred to the county jail.
Police claimed it is very seldom that the jail is empty, but they hurried on to say that it probably would not be empty long. Someone would probably be arrested today for some offense.
On an average, it is empty about three times a year, officers said.

YOUTH REVIVAL TO BEGIN TONIGHT

A youth-led revival, sponsored by the Big Spring Pastors Association, opens this evening at the First Baptist Church.

The speaker will be Larry Walker of Albuquerque, N.M., a student at Baylor University. Other members of the team will be Wayne Bickers of Phoenix, Ariz., who will lead singing; Bobby Taylor of Cleburne, pianist; and Church Corner of Montgomery, Ala., coordinator of activities.

Services will be held at 7 a.m. and 8 p.m. daily for the remainder of the week. Coffee and donuts will be served at 6:30 a.m. daily.

CARD OF THANKS

To our kind friends and neighbors we wish to express our appreciation and gratitude for making it possible to be at the bedside of our mother, Mrs. Inez Miller in Galveston, during her illness.
Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Conway

CAN YOU

Recall What Happened
MAY 21, 1927?

HOW PLYMOUTH'S BIG ECONOMY WIN AFFECTS YOU!

If you're an average driver, you wouldn't have had a chance in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run. It takes seasoned professionals to win in this kind of competition.

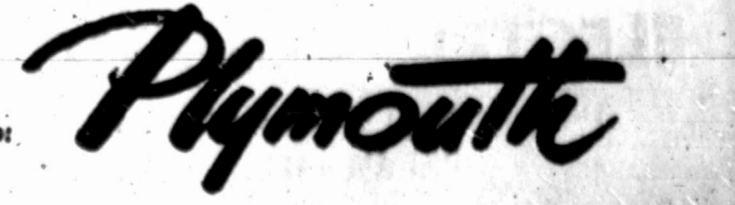

Every car of every make entered in the 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run was a new 1957 stock model. Every car was carefully tuned for the Run and the cars were piloted by real experts in this exacting kind of driving. Naturally, the mileage they got is higher than the figure you can expect.

The way this race—and all previous Mobilgas Economy Runs—was judged is another area that should interest you:
Cars of different weights and engine displacements cannot compete on an equal basis. Such a competition would produce misleading miles-per-gallon figures. If miles-per-gallon were the only consideration, a motor bike could run away with first place. Obviously, other factors must be considered.

In order to give all cars a fair chance, the engineers used ton-miles-per-gallon as their yardstick—and as a basis for the official Mobilgas Economy Run prizes. This establishes a definite relationship between gasoline consumed, distance traveled, and weight carried. It is the only measure of gasoline economy that has any real significance to the engineers—or to you as an average motorist.

Now look at the results of the Run with the above thoughts in mind: Plymouth swept its field—First Place winner in "Class A," the division that included all the well-known low-price cars. As certified by the United States Automobile Club, Plymouth's official ton-miles-per-gallon led the entire "Class A" field.

Bear in mind, too, that Plymouth's winning mark was set using a V-8 engine with TorquePile automatic transmission. Several of the losing cars in Plymouth's division used 6-cylinder engines—supposedly more economical. But Plymouth beat every car in sight, 6's and V-8's alike.
But here's what Plymouth's victory does mean to you: The Plymouth you buy at your Plymouth dealer's is the same, engine for engine, part for part, as the Plymouth that won the Mobilgas Economy Run.
The superior engineering that enabled Plymouth to run away with first place is built into every Plymouth. And that means you can expect economy that will save you real money in ordinary driving.
So before you invest a dime in any automobile, it's to your advantage to compare all three low-price cars. Compare them for economy... for beauty... for riding and handling ease... for performance. Then make your decision.
Only Plymouth dares to make so bold a challenge, because only Plymouth, of the low-price 3, has so many three-years-ahead features, yet leads its field in day-in, day-out economy.
Prove it to yourself. Your Plymouth dealer will be glad to give you a guest drive at your convenience.

The most beautiful—and most economical—car in its class.

Tobacco-Cancer Link Claimed Not Proven

NEW YORK (AP)—The Scientific Advisory Board of the Tobacco Industry Research Committee says there is not enough evidence to claim that cigarettes cause lung cancer.

Dr. Clarence C. Little, board chairman, issued a statement yesterday in reply to a report released March 22 by a smoking and health study group organized by the American Cancer Society and other agencies.

The study group expressed an opinion that cigarette smoking is a "causative factor" in human lung cancer.

Little said the Scientific Advisory Board "questions the existence of sufficient definitive evidence to establish a simple cause and effect explanation of the complex problems of lung cancer."

"Definite conclusions or predictions of individual risks (from smoking) are unwarranted by present knowledge," he said.

"In advising and educating the public, we believe that scientists should be as cautious today in accepting a claim that a cause has been found for cancer, as they have found it wise to be in the past in accepting a claim of a cure for cancer," he said.

The board is composed of nine cancer scientists, doctors and educators. The industry committee has granted $2,200,000 for research by independent scientists in cancer, heart and other diseases.

Woman Gives Birth Under Hypnosis

FORT WORTH (AP)—Mrs. Warren Cheek, 31, yesterday gave birth to a 6-pound-10-ounce boy while under hypnosis. Doctors said she was fully awake when the baby was born, but felt no pain.

Her physician, Dr. A. L. Karback, said Mrs. Cheek put herself into a hypnotic state by pre-arranged signals when her labor began. He said he gave her suggestions that would enable her to go into a pain-free state when contractions started.

Heart Disease Not Easy To Predict

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Reporter
LOS ANGELES (AP)—A study of hidden heart disease showed today that available medical techniques can spot only a small percentage of the seemingly healthy people who are about to develop that trouble.

Among 1,632 people found by various procedures to be normal, heart disease developed within 30 months in 52 of them and potential heart disease in 46 others. Thirteen of these 1,632 actually died of heart trouble in the 2½ years.

At the same time 30 out of 80 people who originally showed suspicion of heart disease had no cardiac symptoms after the 30 months. And 11 out of 168 people spotted as heart cases in the initial test turned out to have normal hearts 2½ years later.

Also among the 165 detected heart cases and the cases which developed among normal people in the 30 months there were 26 deaths from coronary disease. Examination techniques detected advance signs of coronary trouble in only 6 of the 26.

These findings were reported to the California Medical Assn. by a group of investigators headed by Dr. L. S. Goerke, assistant dean of the Public Health School of the University of California at Los Angeles.

The electrocardiogram had a batting average of only 29.3 per cent in diagnosing heart disease in normal people who were found to have suspicious signs. It showed abnormal readings in 249 persons who later were found to have no heart trouble.

The study included X-ray examinations which showed 688 of the group had abnormal heart shadows but further tests determined that 544 of them had no cardiac trouble. Thirty months later 60 of these 544 had either heart disease or potential cardiac trouble or were dead. Not all of these deaths, however, were from heart caused.

Dr. Goerke said the tests indicated the prevalence of heart disease among the general population is 73 per 1,000 persons.

Lack Of Electric Knowledge Fatal

NORWALK, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Mary Thompson, 26, was electrocuted while watering her garden. Sheriff's deputies said her wet feet touched an electric wire strung by her husband to keep the dog out of flower beds.

Detective Sgt. Ray Hopkinson said the husband, Neil, had hitched the wire to a series of 60-watt bulbs, believing that would cut voltage down to a harmless level.

Court Rejects Boycott Appeal

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—The Alabama Court of Appeals has thrown out an appeal of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. from a conviction of violating an anti-boycott law during the yearlong bus boycott by Negroes.

The court said yesterday a transcript of testimony in the Negro minister's trial in March 1956 wasn't filed within the appeal time and that no extension of time was asked. The court didn't go into the merits of the case.

King was fined $500 and costs when he appealed. The fine was converted into a 386-day jail sentence and suspended.

Ninety Negroes were indicted by a Montgomery County grand jury in early 1956 on charges of violating Alabama's anti-boycott law during the mass refusal to ride segregated city buses. Trials of the other 89 were postponed while King's conviction was appealed as a test case.

Senior Class At Ackerly Will Present Play, 'The Perfect Idiot,' Friday Night

ACKERLY (SC) — "The Perfect Idiot," a comedy built around a group of high school youngsters, will be the play to be presented by the senior class of Ackerly High School Friday evening.

The curtain goes up at 8 p. m., said Mrs. Edna McGee, English teacher and director of the production. Admission charges will be 50 and 25 cents.

Cast for the play includes Rita Haddock as Margaret Tennyson, mother of some of the students; Pat Grigg as Jackie Tennyson, the youngest Tennyson; Zenobia Crain as Rhodora, the maid; Thomas Greig as Roger Tennyson, the father; Kinzie Reese, the soap manufacturer; Walter P. Lather-by Dalton Gill, the young genius; Daniel Tennyson; Bob Tarbet, the Center High principal; Arthur Barnard; Marcia Rhea, the teacher; Miss Baker; Beverly Russell, Mrs. Barnard's daughter; Linda; Freida White, Jackie's girl; Jeannie Wilson; Don Shortes, star athlete; Puff Witomski; Esther Rietmeyer, Puff's girl; Carla Carlson; Roy Schuelke, a policeman; Robert Taylor, a psychiatrist; Dr. Von Varf; and Joyce Oaks, a newspaper reporter, Miss Booth.

The high school gang despises Dan, because of his high IQ and "smart-arse" attitude. But the students need his help when Puff disqualifies for athletic competition at the time he is needed badly.

Dan agrees to coach Puff if the other students will rally around long enough to convince Dan's parents he should be permitted to go off to college.

Puff quickly becomes a scholar and some wry twists work to Dan's advantage as the play develops a hilarious climax.

Robert Davidson is the stage manager and Delphene Schneider is to be master of ceremonies. Wanda Williams will be in charge of the ticket sales.

The play will be presented only one evening. The performance in the high school auditorium is open to the public.

ASC To Move Offices From Courthouse

Agricultural Stabilization Committee, which has occupied quarters on the second floor of the Howard County courthouse since the new building was put in service, will move out sometime during May.

The ASC has arranged for possession of a building at Fourth Street and Lancaster. The building is now in process of being remodeled to fit the ASC needs.

Weather has delayed work somewhat but it was believed that the move can be made by late this month.

The new quarters, it was said, will provide the ASC with much additional floor space and will be designed in such a way as to fit into the program of activity the organization carries on.

The present ASC offices comprise two rooms. Formerly a third small room on the same floor was used by the agency. Recently, this room has been taken over as offices for the local representatives of the state fire marshal's office.

R. H. Weaver, county judge, said the quarters being vacated by the ASC can be readily absorbed by county operations.

It was reported that the county engineer will make a request that the rooms be assigned to his department. At present the engineer is housed in two small offices on the third floor.

Nita Jones Is ALA Girls State Delegate

Nita Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Jones, has been announced as the local American Legion Auxiliary's delegate to Girls State. Mrs. Raymond Andrews, president of the ALA, made the announcement Tuesday.

A junior student at Big Spring High School, Miss Jones is an A student and has been chosen for Who's Who. She is secretary of the Debate Club, a member of the choir and the Dramatics Club.

Girls State will be held June 10 through 19 at the Texas School for the Blind in Austin.

The organization of Girls State took place in 1927 at the National Convention of the American Legion Auxiliary. It was organized as a National Americanism activity. The sole purpose was, as it is today, "to provide citizenship training for girls of high school age in every constituent department of the ALA; to afford them an opportunity to live together as self-governing citizens; to inform them about the duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities of American citizenship, in order that they may understand and participate in the functioning of their government; and to help them grasp the meaning of some of the responsibilities which they must assume when they become adults."

The selection of Miss Jones was based on the ability of leadership, fitness of character, honesty, courage and scholarship.

To work with the girls, the auxiliary provides directors and counselors especially qualified for educational work and particularly conversant in the knowledge of government. The administrative staff of 1937 includes 10 directors, and eight senior and eight junior counselors, representing the 21 districts within the departments.

The unit chairman of Girls State is Mrs. L. H. Steward. Lane Edwards was named as the alternate delegate.

During the Girls State meet, the delegates are grouped into mythical cities and counties. Two political parties are organized. As the two parties stage campaigns for their candidates and platforms, the scene represents the democratic procedure.

Justice is administered by their own law enforcement agencies and courts. For ten days the delegates live in a state of their own, governing themselves by democratic methods.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Non-Allergic Make-Up Help Skin Problem

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Gail Kobe, a busy young TV actress, has appeared three times this season on "The Jane Wyman Show," each time playing a contrasting type.

"You hear so much about finding your type," Gail told me a warm afternoon recently as we had iced tea together. "But I try not to limit myself. I enjoy being open to change, and I find it fun to look completely different. You can do this with your clothes, make-up, hair and mood. It works just as easily on the street as it does on the screen."

"I have never thought of myself as a glamour type," Gail confided. "My first love was dancing, and I started training when I was very young. But later I found the life of a ballet dancer too confining, so I turned to the theater. My mother is Polish, and I had a varied experience in the foreign-language theaters in Detroit before we came to California."

"I still dance for pleasure, though, and I enjoy the exercise. I feel this workout keeps me from having any problems with my weight."

"But recently I had trouble with my skin," Gail continued. "I went all through school without a pimple. I had friends who had adolescent acne and made them miserable, but I thought they were awfully vain to make such a fuss over a bad skin."

"Then I had to have my hair darkened for a picture, and something in the dye that was used made my scalp and skin break out. The make-up I was using aggravated the condition, and I felt I looked so terrible that all of a sudden I lost my self-confidence. I didn't want to see people, and for the first time I understood how my school friends must have felt."

"Now I know I was wrong in giving in to myself. I found the only thing to do was to try to clear my skin with non-allergic cosmetics and to go about my normal life until I did. I am sure other people are never as aware of a problem as we think they are."

"When I asked Gail for her definition of charm, she had a ready answer. "I think in a woman it's the ability to make others feel happy with themselves. And I discovered that concentrating on this type of charm helps to regain your own confidence. At least it worked that way with me."

Polish Cardinal To Leave For Vatican

By COLIN FROST
WARSAW (AP)—S Stefan Cardinal Wyszyński this weekend will take to the Vatican evidence of Catholicism's continued appeal in Communist-ruled Poland.

After waiting more than four years, the Roman Catholic primate of Poland is going to receive his cardinal's red hat personally from Pope Pius XII. Three of those years were spent in confinement in a country monastery because of his outspoken criticism of the Red government.

That the cardinal is finally able to leave his duties here illustrates the achievements of the church since a new Communist regime came to power in Poland last fall.

The 55-year-old churchman was called to the College of Cardinals Jan. 12, 1953, in the midst of the church's blackest year in this predominantly Catholic country. But the new cardinal refused to attend the 1953 consistory at the Vatican, fearing the Communists might not let him back into Poland. His last visit to Rome was in April 1951, after he had been made Archbishop of Warsaw.

Since last Oct. 28, when the new regime under Communist Party Secretary Wladyslaw Gomulka ordered the cardinal's release, the church has won back the right to teach in schools and work among the sick. Churches are crowded with worshippers, and the cardinal has said "The wrongs done the church are being repaired."

"The shepherd was lost," the cardinal says of his three-year confinement, "but the flock did not scatter."

Cardinal Wyszyński will leave Saturday for Rome, to report to the Vatican. Just before his departure he will appear before pilgrims at Czestochowa, the Polish Lourdes. At three-day ceremonies beginning there tomorrow hundreds of thousands of Poles will pray before the "Black Madonna," a mystic portrait of the Virgin and Child to which this country's Catholics attribute miraculous powers.

In sermons to packed congregations in every diocese, the cardinal has been urging patience and "sacrifice of work" as means to a better earthly life.

Sliced Finger Made George Fuzak Wealthy

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 1 (AP)—At 34, George Fuzak is on the verge of a prosperity that he finds hard to believe. And at the root of his good fortune was a cut finger.

Fuzak's business is ready-to-use tape bandages, an ordinary kind of business. But because he thoughtfully applied the old adage about building a better mousetrap and the world would beat a path to your door, his gross sales moved from $9,000 in 1953 to $38,000 in 1956.

That's an increase of 1,500 per cent in three years.

Did you ever try to cover a cut on the end of your finger, or perhaps a broken finger nail, with a tape bandage? Well, so did George Fuzak. And he found it frustrating. So he devised a new pattern for a "fingertip" bandage to do the trick quickly and neatly.

That's his better mousetrap. And the rest of the adage is now coming true.

It's a gimmick — as Fuzak readily concedes. But it seems to fill a need. Fuzak and the family-owned enterprise he calls the United States Plastic Bandage Co. have put the new bandage through a thorough test through direct mail sales to industrial dispensaries. The result was the huge increase in gross sales.

Now he is embarking on his consumer sales program through drug stores.

Fuzak calls his idea a "form-cut fingertip dressing." Basically, the sticky plastic bandage is cut in the form of a capital "H" with the gauze patch extending along the crossbar. Extending in either direction from the crossbar are short tabs.

To apply the dressing, the user simply wraps the uprights of the "H" around the finger from opposite sides, with the cross-bar running up over the tip of the finger. This leaves the tabs sticking out each way from the fingertip, and these are pulled down the sides of the finger to complete the seal.

Pioneer Fliers To Form 'Texas Wing'

AUSTIN, Tex., May 1 (AP)—Pioneer fliers of Texas will gather May 4 at the Bar-K Ranch near Leander to form the Texas Wing of the OX-5 Club.

Any flier who has soloed behind the famed old OX-5 engine is eligible to belong to the club, which will affiliate with the national organization.

The OX-5 was the 90-horsepower, water-cooled engine which powered the training planes of World War I. It was in these planes—the old Jenny, Waco, Eaglerock and Travelair, to name a few—that Americans first took to the air in strength.

After the war, the flimsy planes and their OX-5 engines were sold by the Army as surplus equipment. They were used by "stunt pilots" and barnstormers to keep civil aviation alive until long after Charles A. Lindbergh flew to Paris.

The OX-5 became known as the "Model T of the Airways" as young Americans took the stick-and-wire contraptions it powered off the ground. OX-5 Club members range from 40 to 72 years of age and most of them are still active pilots.

Eight state organizations have already been formed to affiliate with the national organization, which is about two years old.

Will D. (Billy) Parker, manager of the aviation department of Phillips Petroleum Co., Bartlesville, Okla., known as one of the world's greatest aviators, will be present for the formation of the Texas club.

Inmate Admits Woman's Death

GARY, Ind. (AP)—A jail prisoner originally held on an auto theft charge, led officers today to an airport grave where they uncovered the body of a long-missing East Gary beauty operator.

It was the second woman's body to be found at the airport within eight months.

Sandor Singer, chief deputy for the Lake County sheriff's office, said George Robert Brown, 25, East Gary, admitted he robbed, tried to attack and choked Miss Mildred Grigoris, 29, last Aug. 17, then buried her near the north end of a runway at Triangle Airport in suburban New Chicago.

Singer said Brown has denied any connection with the killing of Miss Lana Brock, 16, New Chicago, whose body was found Oct. 2 in a shallow sand grave near the south end of the same runway.

Brown was arrested seven or eight weeks ago in Gary on an auto theft charge.

Oil Production Average Falls

TULSA (AP)—Daily average oil production dropped 35,600 barrels to 7,541,475 during the week ended April 27, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Oklahoma accounted for a decline of 11,900 barrels to 622,500. Colorado's 4,600 advance to 157,800 barrels was the week's best gain.

The Journal estimated 1957 production at 887,210,700 barrels compared to 859,941,104 a year ago.

Production was unchanged in Texas at 3,205,250 barrels and in New Mexico at 274,400.

Uncle Ray: Goddess Was Said To Hunt Criminals

By RAMON COFFMAN
If you had lived near the city of Argos, in ancient Greece, and had been a farmer, you probably would have given special honor to the goddess named Hera (pronounced HE-ruh).

Hera was said to be the wife of Zeus, the king of gods. In the Greek religion she held the same place as Juno held among the Romans.

All over Greece Hera was regarded as the goddess of marriage, and she was given honor for that reason. Women prayed to her, and offered sacrifice.

Farmers around the city of Argos spoke of Hera as the Lady of the Yoke. Each spring they marked the pair of oxen first employed for plowing as the "special oxen of Hera." They also spoke of sprouting corn as the "flowers of Hera."

In the most famous Greek city, however, another goddess was honored above Hera. This goddess was Athena, the patron goddess of Athens.

Certain stories about Athena were hard for the more learned Athenians to believe. It was said, for example, that Athena was born when she "sprang full-armed from the brain of Zeus." Poor Zeus! He must have had a terrible headache that day!

In the area of Athens, the farmers gave Athena the honor for inventing the first plow. Other tales spoke of her work in teaching men how to become goldsmiths, shoemakers and builders of boats.

Another goddess (supposed to be of less importance) was Nemesis

The goddess Hera

(pronounced NEM-ee-sis). She was called the Daughter of the Night, and people said that she punished those who had done wrong.

Sometimes men committed crimes and managed to escape Nemesis, however, would follow them, and at length would catch up and make them suffer for their bad deeds.

Roof Falls In On Job Application

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Eighteen-year-old Judith Gay of Youngsville came here to be interviewed for a state job—and the roof almost fell in on her.

As she hurried along a midtown street during a sudden thunderstorm, lightning hit a building and dislodged its cornice. A stone block weighing hundreds of pounds fell on the sidewalk near her.

Frightened, she ran back to the building where she had been interviewed. She was given aspirin and a sniff of ammonia before someone noticed that the shattered stone had scratched her big toe.

After medical aid, state employees found her a ride home, away from city hazards.

A Bible Thought For Today

And Jesus came and spake unto them, saying, all power is given unto me in heaven and in earth. Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world. Amen. (St. Matthew 28:18-19-20)

Schuman's Ideas On Farm Plan

A farm plan recently proposed by Charles Schuman, president of the American Farm Bureau, is causing a great deal of talk among farmers and others who are concerned about the drift toward a completely regimented farm economy with all its frustrations and inefficiencies. First off, Mr. Schuman suggests that "by congressional action we eliminate the authority of the secretary of Agriculture to buy and store a farm commodity whenever CCC disposes of all the supplies now held of any particular commodity." This, he argues, should be done on a crop-by-crop pattern. As soon as the surplus of a given crop has been disposed of, and not until then, and a free market and balanced supplies achieved, purchase authority would be withdrawn. To speed up this process he would dispose of all existing surpluses as rapidly as possible by reducing the sale price, and giving away to needy people at home and abroad. The surplus thus sold would not be replaced. This, Tom Anderson in Farm and Ranch claims, would eliminate the non-recourse or delayed sale loans. The government then would make only conservative loans, like a bank might do, and the borrower would be made responsible for full repayment, as with any other loan. "Obviously," Mr. Anderson declares, "this would lead to lower price supports and the abandonment of acreage controls and marketing quotas. In a personal interview with Schuman I asked him what end effect his proposal would have on prices. He thinks prices—with no surpluses, remember, no delayed sale loans, no allotments and quotas—would go up! "Why? Because there'd be less production. Those people who'd been producing for government instead of for market, producing for a guaranteed instead of a fluctuating price, would quit." Anderson then makes a few additional suggestions of his own, including changes in the income tax law to make all farms stand on their own two legs taxwise. He would allow no more deducting of farm losses from non-farm income "by financial farmers farming for a loss instead of a living." That, he contends, would "eliminate a lot of oil farmers, hobby farmers, and fair-weather cowboys who've cluttered up the markets." And finally, Anderson cries: "Further, let's deny any government agricultural services to any but the family farm—the farm in which the farm family has management control of the operation; whose main business is farming, who are dependent on it for their livelihood, and who actually engage in farm work." That might make much too much logic to engage the sympathy of Congress. If agriculture were to be allowed to stand on its own feet and paddle its own canoe, to mix a metaphor, the pro-farm and anti-farm congressmen who regularly "farm" the farmer would have a crop failure.

Still The Only Deterrent

In spite of the clamor against it—and Communist countries clamor most of all—Britain will go ahead with its first tests of H-bombs before long in the Christmas Island area of the Pacific. (Ten days ago the Communist Party in East Germany called on the Evangelical Church there to throw its influence behind a campaign to bar A-weapons from West Germany. Last Friday the head of the Evangelical Church and seven Protestant bishops in East Germany obliged by demanding the abolition of all weapons of mass destruction.) Sir Harry Wilton-Foster, Britain's solicitor general, told a Conservative gathering that Britain must set off its own hydrogen bomb so that "the people we wish to impress know that it will go off." The Western World without thermonuclear on Japan's words. We had use it to the mercy of the Soviet Union." The A-bomb is to the H-bomb what a peashooter is to a block-buster. If we had merely warned Japan that we had a weapon capable of wiping Hiroshima off the map it would not have had any effect. Weapons, he said, would be "absolutely at proof." Similarly, we have to prove to the Soviet Union that we are as far advanced as she is in the development of thermonuclear weapons and are equally skillful in their use. The warlords of the Kremlin have to be shown; they would not take our word for it. Possession of these weapons and the means of delivering them is indeed our only insurance of "peace" with the Soviet Union. If the Soviet could ever persuade the West to disarm ourselves of thermonuclear weapons on promise that it would do the same, and if both sides carried it out religiously, we would be at the mercy of the Communist dictatorship with its ruthless use of conventional weapons (as in Hungary) and its skillful and conscienceless methods of infiltration (as in the Middle East).

U.S. Budget Victim Of Inflation

WASHINGTON — A big surprise is in store for those critics who have been glibly blaming President Eisenhower for the size of the federal budget. For it turns out that 41.2 billions of dollars out of the 62.7 billions by which the budget has been increased since 1940 are the result of rising costs — usually called "inflation." Another way to express it is to say that the federal government is today spending 41.2 billions in higher prices for the same kind of goods and services it bought in 1940 at lower prices. Actually the Eisenhower budget in terms of a stable dollar is below the level of four years ago and less than the average for the last six years. The economic division of the magazine "U. S. News & World Report," in a copyrighted article this week, has computed what all the federal budgets for the last six years would be in 1940 dollars. These economists find that instead of a 72 billion dollar budget, numerically speaking, the federal budget on a purchasing-power basis in the coming fiscal year would amount to only 30.6 billions of dollars. This calculation was made in the customary way, familiar to statisticians, by using the U. S. Commerce Department's own published index of the prices for the goods it has bought. The latest budget, moreover, is lower than the two last budgets of the Truman administration, measured the same way, and lower than the one for the first full fiscal year — 1954 — in which the Eisenhower administration was responsible for the making of the federal budget. Turning to the family budget of the average American — and using the government's price index for the goods the private citizen buys — the same trend is noted. A house that used to sell for $10,000 just after World War II, sells for $14,000 today. An automobile that for the family bought for $1,850 in the year 1940, now costs about $2,800. According to government figures, the average family in 1940 spent $2,009 for food, clothing, housing, and all the things that a typical home requires. But by 1947, the outlay was $4,042, or more than double that of 1940. Looking at a comparison covering the last 10 years, it will be found that the same family is now spending $5,551, or 40 per cent more than in 1947 for the same things. But in terms of 1940 dollars the spending has risen only about 4 per cent — from $2,659 to $2,786 in the last decade. Bernard M. Baruch, America's elder statesman, who has had long experience with the inflation problem, made a significant speech three years ago on this very question. He said flatly that failure to impose controls promptly by President Roosevelt when World War II occurred, and the unwillingness of President Truman to do likewise soon enough when the Korean War broke out, have placed on the American people a burden of 140 billions of dollars of unnecessary debt — more than half of the total national debt of today. Inflation, of course, works both ways. It sends income up, too. That's why there is a big surprise when the total spending of today is related to the national income of the American people. Thus, even in 1957 dollars, the spending by the federal government for all non-defense items, including welfare programs, now takes only 7.5 per cent of the national income, whereas in 1950 it took 10 per cent. Back in 1939, the non-defense category of spending was absorbing 11 per cent of the national income. Yet, the erroneous impression now is widespread that non-defense spending today is out of all proportion compared to the past. Defense spending, to be sure, is higher than before the Korean War, and with the international situation being what it is, this is understandable. But the restraint applied in non-defense spending have helped to offset the increases in defense spending. Thus, defense spending will take about 12.5 per cent of the national income this coming year, as compared to only 8 per cent in the fiscal year 1950 which ended just before the Korean War broke out.

Just Don't Fall Asleep, Bud

James Marlow

Nixon Guarded His Mouth

WASHINGTON — Nobody talked more in the 1956 presidential campaign than Vice President Nixon but—nicely enough for him, as it turns out—no one said less about cutting government spending or taxes. At one point early in the campaign he explained why when he said: "In a political campaign it is tempting to tell the American people that we can get rid of the draft, cut our defenses, find a cut rate way to meet our international obligations... but American security must come before any political ambitions." This was at a time when President Eisenhower's administration, pretty confident at winning, was preparing the record peacetime budget of almost 72 billion dollars which he offered Congress this year. Thus Nixon paved the way for what he told the U.S. Chamber of Commerce Monday. Without running the risk of having campaign oratory thrown back at him, when he defended Eisenhower's budget as not only necessary but sound. A rereading of Nixon's campaign speeches shows he spent practically no time on economics — except to tell people they had it so good — and spent most of his time building up Eisenhower in the "father image" of a good and wise man. If Nixon looked consistent in not promising reduced spending, some of his other campaign statements can be wrapped around his neck. But, since he was a politician plugging for his party, they probably do not haunt him. In urging voters to re-elect Eisenhower and give Republicans control of Congress, Nixon said: "Ours is a teamwork organization from top to bottom. The President must simply have people on his team who are working with and for him." Yesterday, one day after Nixon defended Eisenhower's budget before the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the Republican leader in the Senate, William F. Knowland of California, addressed the same businessmen's organization. He not only didn't fight for the budget or defend it. He said Congress would and ought to cut it by three billion dollars. He's just one of the "teamwork" Republicans who are beginning to buck the President.

Fear Pervades Hollywood

NEW YORK — "It must be terrible to be dead in any way," said the lady author, "but it must be worst of all to be dead in the head." The author, Mrs. Grace Metalious, who became a literary sensation by lifting the lid on a New England village, now feels it's time to lift the lid on a modest little town on the California coast. It's a place called Hollywood. Mrs. Metalious recently made a trip there to wrap up details of the filming of her best-selling novel, "Peyton Place." "There is only one word to describe Hollywood—fear," she observed. "I have never seen so much fear in so many people so much of the time—the fear of losing their jobs. 'I don't see how they can work in such a dreadful atmosphere.' Mrs. Metalious also said she found herself a bit at a loss in trying to dig what passes for conversation at sophisticated Hollywood parties. She gave this example. One guest remarked, "The Beverly Hilton is just a glorified motel." Mrs. Metalious recently replied, "But aren't we all?" "This I couldn't understand at all," said Mrs. Metalious. "I never felt like being called Mountain View Lodge or Bide-a-Wee on the Highway." "It's theme is man's inhumanity to man," she said, adding, "In a small town."

since the publication of her controversial first novel a year and a half ago. She has earned about a quarter of a million dollars; been sued for a quarter of a million dollars; and her schoolteacher husband, George, have separated; her book has been banned as "obscene" by Canada. She has bought two second-hand Cadillacs and a 180-year-old Cape Cod house in Gilmanston, N.H., which is still her home town and where opinion about her is still divided. She says "the ax-mouths"—her term for gossips—"still don't approve of me." Mrs. Metalious, who retained custody of her three children, said the publication of her book had nothing to do with the breakup of her marriage, and her husband has said the same thing—that it was "a personal matter." "Has success ruined her life? Not at all. "I've got the most wonderful house in the world, the most wonderful children in the world—and I have money. Money is the only thing that makes fame worthwhile to most people. It can help you do so many things," she explained. Mrs. Metalious, a bluntly honest woman with a hatred for hypocrisy, is now engaged in writing her second novel—"The Tight White Collar."

Double Bed Is One Secret Of Happy Marriage

LONDON — A double bed was described as one of the secrets of happy marriage today by the British Medical Assn. Dr. G. K. Selbourne, writing in a booklet published by the Association entitled "Getting Married 1957," said: "If you share a bed, then the affectionate cuddling that is the normal way of dissipating the worries, mutual irritations and arguments of an average day is, and remains, natural, spontaneous and habitual."

Around The Rim

Draws On Greater Power

Bobby Morrow is not only a great athlete, but he is a great individual because he possesses the virtues of humility and of sincere modesty about his achievements. Only once in his collegiate career has he been beaten in the 100-yard dash, and that by a "hair." At the Olympics in Melbourne, Australia, last summer, he swept the dash field with victories in the 100 and 200-meter events. Before and after this pinnacle, he had been setting meet records all over the country. Moreover, he has been running a leg on sprint relay team at Athlete Christian College to spark it to many scintillating victories. He has received numerous awards and has been the honor guest on many programs, including national television hook-ups. He has sat and listened while some pretty lavish things have been said about him and his ability. Most of us would be just a wee bit puffed up about all this. Bobby Morrow, however, has managed to move along just as Bobby Morrow — easy, natural, confident, yet humble. He always has spoken boldly for his school and for the well-wishes of his neighbors. Not long ago he was invited to address the joint session of the Texas Legislature. Some said that it was the largest crowd ever to attend one of these functions, and many said the visit was one of the "most inspiring we have had." He got a thunderous, standing ovation when he had finished. Perhaps some of the things he had to say there will furnish a key to the greatness of this young athlete. "I feel deeply honored by your invitation to speak briefly to you who provide the leadership for our great State... Let me say here that I sincerely appreciate the interest and consideration which the sportswriters, sportscasters, radio and TV newsmen have taken in track and field activities. For it is through their efforts that the opinions of millions of people have been formed. "It was perhaps the greatest thrill of my life to represent Athlete Christian College and the people of Texas in the world's greatest sports event, and to compete with so many fine athletes not only from America, but also from 67 countries of the world. "I believe the greatest moment for me at the Olympic Games occurred when I was privileged to take the number one spot on the victory stand after the 100-meter competition. I cannot describe the feeling, but I do remember that chills ran up and down my spine when I heard the "Star Spangled Banner" and saw Old Glory rise to the uppermost spot of the ceremonial stand. "At that moment, I thought of all the individuals who had helped me through the years to accomplish the victory... But uppermost in my mind was the deep sense of gratitude which I owe my Maker who gave me whatever natural ability I possess, along with a strong healthy body. Realizing that my body is the Temple of God, I have always tried to keep it sweet clean for Him. For this belief and determined conviction, I pay tribute to my mother and father, to my lovely wife... "Maybe Bobby Morrow has an extra source of power when he runs. —JOE PICKLE

Whatever Became Of May Baskets?

This question may expose my ignorance to pitiful public view, but I have been wondering recently if children in America's small towns still enjoy the excitement of making, decorating and hanging May baskets as they did when I was a moppet? In all the years I have lived in New York, I have never seen a May basket. But then, it would be difficult for kids to go up and down in elevators, especially these self-operating monsters, to hang May baskets on the doors of apartments. Again, with flowers a luxury item that in the city must always be purchased, where would they get the flowers to fill the top of the baskets after the bottom had been stuffed with home-made candies, cookies and all sorts of goodies? When I was a child, I had only to step out the back door to gather an armload of apple blossoms, the white petals faintly pink and the buds a rosy red, or snowy drifts of pear and cherry blossoms and the warm pink of the peach trees. Or I walked across the road in front of the house where multitudes of little May flowers made a dazzling, multicolored carpet under the gray-green sagebrush. But flowers were a last-minute addition to the May baskets that had been in process of creation for a fortnight before May 1, when we kids traditionally tiptoed around the neighborhood at dusk to leave our May offering on the front porch, push the bell and run as fast as our fat legs would take us. Children saved strawberry and small cardboard boxes from year to year to use as a base for May baskets. With colored crepe and tissue papers, dull scissors and enough glue and paste to drive our mothers crazy, we devoted the last two weeks of April to a frenzy of decorating. My, what works of art I felt I had created by April 30! In the interim, Mama, Grandma and Aunt Nell and Aunt Kit were cajoled into making candies, cookies and little cakes to fill my masterpieces. I had to keep up with the little Jones girl on the right of us, whose mother was such a good cook. Well, Mama, Grandma and the aunts never let me down, and my May offerings would have done a French patisserie proud. Only at the last minute, preferably when Papa was looking the other way and unaware of the depredations among his beloved fruit trees, I went out and picked the flowers that crowned these artistic and culinary masterpieces. Then came the excitement of delivering them, the stealthy ascent of porch steps, hanging the basket on the door knob and praying the homemade dandle would hold, and then the most exciting moment of all — the quick jab of the doorknob and the hurried scamper off the porch, with heart pounding in rhythm with feet. What fun it was, when the last basket had been delivered, to go home and discover how many and what treasures had been left on my own doorstep. Because while it may be more blessed to give than to receive, with May baskets a little reciprocal receiving was expected. Maybe this custom still exists somewhere. Or maybe it perished with the age of innocence. I hope not, but I must be sensible enough to realize that a May basket would offer small competition in a world of space ships, atomic-ray disintegrator guns, debutante dolls (i.e., they can drink and moppet makeup kits. It probably would be small, stuff to small fry, circa 1957. (Copyright, 1957, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

'Task Force' To Combat Liberal Trend

WASHINGTON — A pattern for business to follow in combating the unions and the increasingly pro-union trend in government — including the present Administration in Washington — is contained in a confidential report to the General Electric Company, one of the country's largest corporations. This remarkable document, called "Preliminary Report of Task Force to Study Organizing Government Relations Work," contains many recommendations on how public issues should be "packaged" and "merchandised" through "wholesalers" and "retailers." The report was made to Lemuel R. Boulware, vice president of GE in charge of public and employee relations, by Virgil B. Day, who headed the force named by Boulware. It quotes Boulware as saying: "No one can deny that unions won the November 6 elections and business lost; even where unions lost — including the White House — they had pushed the candidates and their party so far to the left as to win even in outward defeat." This is the complaint of a large segment of business which is in more or less open revolt against the Eisenhower Administration, with the $72 billion budget as the No. 1 target. Senator Barry Goldwater (R., Ariz.), in his recent attack on President Eisenhower, took the same line. The right wing, including many business elements, is determined to block the conversion of the party to what the President has called "modern Republicanism." The task force report was first circulated among GE executives shortly after the election last November. In New York, a spokesman for Boulware said no action had been taken on the recommendations. Boulware has been a union target in several lengthy strikes. The company, which operates in more than 20 states, has been accused by the unions of fostering state right-to-work laws. "Business," the report notes, "might subsidize a 'brain trust' of competent writers (novelists, playwrights, etc.) to begin an active campaign of turning public attitudes away from the left through the source of popular attitude formation (television, movies, stage, radio, novels, magazine articles, etc.)." The report says that a "communications operation" should be available "for the 'packaging' function" on issues where the public is to be influenced. However, the report adds, "the task force foresees possibilities when it will be more appropriate to farm out this work to external organizations, as is done in the case of the program on secondary boycotts, the Walsh-Healy controversy and others." "We have already seen how businessmen — particularly the owners and managers of small businesses — are inhibited from doing the job by the lack of experience in developing and then packaging sound positions in highly complex economic, social and political areas," the report states. "Our experience in these areas to date is compelling in its indications that it is almost totally impractical to separate the packaging process from the development process. Indeed, the two of them often go hand-in-hand together, with the 'packagers' working side-by-side with the lawyers, economists and other developers and guardians of policies and positions." "The facts show that it is only through such intimate teamwork that the final product will be so blended as to be sound from both a substantive and marketing standpoint." Among those backing Mr. Eisenhower's "modern Republicanism," none have been more vigorously attacked by the right than the businessmen rated on the so-called liberal side in politics. Among them are Paul Hoffman, former head of the Studebaker Corporation, and Meyer Kestenberg, head of the Hart, Schaffner and Marx clothing company. Whether the business community or any important part of it will act on these ideas is uncertain. The General Electric memorandum typifies a climate of discontent that has been developing as some businessmen became disillusioned with what they are convinced is the New Deal approach of the Eisenhower Administration. But on the political side it is likely that the kind of attack made by Senator Goldwater will grow louder as right-wing Republicans disassociate themselves from the "modern" Republicans. Plans Being Made For Big Armed Forces Day Show Here

Elaborate plans are in the making for Webb AFB's Armed Forces Day observance, May 18.

Included in the schedule of events is a parade, an open house, static displays of the latest Air Force equipment, plus National Guard displays and, of course, an aerial show. Spectators will be treated to close-up views of jets and helicopters in flight.

Students of the Big Spring Junior High School are competing to write the best theme, based on the Air Force slogan, "Power For Peace."

The younger set of Big Spring High School are entering into the program with a contest to select a queen and court to rule over the event. The senior class of the high school will have a special section set aside for its members in the reviewing stand. The queen and her court will occupy seats of honor after first reviewing the troops.

Invitations for the open house are extended to the general public, and visitors are expected from as far away as Lubbock, said base officials.

This year marks the Golden Anniversary of the Air Force, and the program is designed to show some of the almost fantastic progress that has been made over the years. It is hoped that as a result of this effort more citizens will become enlightened as to the scope of the Air Force's deterrent force for freedom.

Already the American Legion is using nationwide the slogan; "The Sound of Freedom," is reference to the sound of jet aircraft.

The opening event of the day-long program, will be the parade, at 9 a. m. followed by the aerial show and static displays.

Lt. Col. Clyde J. Johnson, wing operations officer, is in charge of arrangements for the day. He has named Capt. Allen R. Robertson, chairman of publicity, Capt. Paul C. Phillips, aerial operations, Lt. Col. Jack F. Goode, Maj. Marvin E. Lindemann, Capt. Cecil D. Peters, and 1st Lts. Ralph S. Murphy and Gerald D. Sjaastad make up the committee.

Clerk Authorized To Assist With Passport Renewal

Wade Choate, district court clerk, has received permission to assist applicants in renewing passports, he said Tuesday.

This is a new service which the clerk's office has not been able to perform heretofore. The state department has now provided the application blanks which will enable holders of passports which are about to expire to renew their papers.

He said he had had one inquiry about a renewal in recent days and that he believed there were a number of persons in the county who would be benefited by the ruling of the state department.

Charge Sought Against Couple

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Juvenile officers are seeking a child abandonment complaint against 43-year-old Mrs. Sadie Bernstein, who walked into a police station with her 13-year-old son and said: "You take him. I don't want him any more."

Mrs. Bernstein said her 13-year-old son Jerrald was incorrigible, and psychiatrists and marriage counselors haven't helped.

"Basically," she said, "he's a good kid and intelligent. But he's destructive. He steals and lies and everything he touches is destroyed." Said the boy's father Nathan, 56: "We didn't know what to do. If we have to go to jail for this, that's the way it has to be." Jerrald, in Juvenile Hall, said he got a 13-cent-a-week allowance.

4 Persons Die In Auto Mishap

TVLER (AP)—A car overturned on a rain-slick highway and plunged into swollen Harris Creek near here last night, killing four persons. The Highway Patrol identified the victims as Brad Wyatt Brown, 21; Johnny Max Holcomb, 20; and Clinton Oran Till, 19, all of Route 2, Athens, Tex. The fourth youth could not be identified immediately.

The Highway Patrol said friends of the victims were en route here to try to make the identification. Officers said the car apparently went out of control eight miles west of here on U.S. 281, the car skidded into a barricade railing on the approach to the Harris Creek bridge, and plunged into the creek. The highway had not been flooded by the creek, although the stream was high from recent heavy rains.

No End Is Seen To Probe Of Payoffs

AUSTIN (AP)—Dist. Atty. Les Procter said yesterday he could see no end to the current investigation by the Travis County Grand Jury of alleged legislative payoffs.

"There is a tremendous amount of work to do," he said, refusing to speculate at what stage the grand jury had reached.

At the same time, he said he could see no reason why the special House Bribery Investigation Committee should wait on the grand jury before making its report to the Legislature.

The House group recessed suddenly April 2 saying it was turning "major developments" over to Procter and the grand jury. At least three fellow members of the nine-man committee have urged an immediate report to fellow members while others have adopted a wait-and-see-what-the-grand jury does attitude.

"Of course some of the House committee's findings might affect our investigation but I fail to see how a regular report would hurt anything," Procter said. "We are a separate body and are not dependent on any other body."

The term of this grand jury will continue through May. It has taken up the preliminary investigation started by a previous grand jury and has taken over evidence collected by the House committee.

The grand jury also has shouldered evidence gathered by another House committee investigating the collapse of the ICT Insurance Co. A Senate ICT Committee was expected to report some time this week, probably giving the grand jury much of its evidence.

Yesterday the jurors heard Dr. Henry Schlichting, Midland naturopath whose statement to the Department of Public Safety apparently furnished ammunition for much of the recent questioning.

Also appearing yesterday was Mrs. Emma Jean Stewart, Beaumont housewife who formerly was office secretary at the state headquarters of the Texas Naturopathic Physicians Assn. here.

Among witnesses called for tomorrow (1:30 p.m.) was Al Brown, former executive secretary of the TNPA who has been pointed out by previous witnesses as the sole check writer on a large special fund collected for use during the 1955 Legislature.

Procter also said yesterday that the grand jury would continue its ICT probe Friday with former insurance Commissioner Chasman Garland Smith and his son-in-law, Max Wayne Ryehlik, subpoenaed as witnesses.

Schlichting, legislative chairman of the TNPA in 1955, maintained his reputation as a tight-lipped "mystery witness" yesterday. He gave "no comment" as the answer to all questions from reporters, including queries about his statement and whether or not he had taken a lie detector test.

Schlichting flew to Austin yesterday afternoon, was taken to the Department of Public Safety "to look over some records," spirited into the grand jury room past reporters, questioned for an hour and 20 minutes, then put on a plane for the return trip to Midland.

Procter and his assistants denied that any attempt was made to keep Schlichting from talking to reporters before he entered the grand jury room.

After leaving a grand jury room witnesses are bound by oath not to reveal what they told the jury.

To Evaluate 'BBD'

Merchants Committee of the Chamber of Commerce will meet at 10 a. m. Thursday to evaluate the success of "Better Buy Days" staged here last week. Wayne Smith, Chamber manager, said plans will be made for the fall "Better Buy Days," Sept. 19-21.

Leaves Estate

NEW YORK (AP)—The late Edward J. Flynn, long-time Bronx Democratic leader who died in 1953, left an estate of $917,239. A state tax appraisal showed yesterday that he left nearly all to his widow. A secretary received $15,000 and a niece $5,000.

Bill Dickson, DPS internal security agent, said Schlichting had to Austin three times this month "that I know of" in connection with the bribery investigation. He said a tape recording of Schlichting's statement was given the grand jury some time ago.

Schlichting, prominent in Midland civic affairs and operator of the Midland Clinic-Hospital, had been scheduled to testify before the House committee on April 2 but the committee suddenly recessed. On April 19, Procter confirmed that Schlichting had talked to DPS agents here the day before and apparently made the statement at that time. There have been unconfirmed reports that Schlichting also took a lie detector test at that time.

Schlichting has consistently refused to talk to reporters, although he has said that he did not think he was "personally involved."

Records Could Fall In Run For The Roses

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A swiftly run Kentucky Derby, possibly fast enough for a record, was predicted today by the trainers as a field of nine shaped up for Saturday's running of the $125,000 added turf classic for 3-year-olds at Churchill Downs.

Two world records and 12 other track standards have been either broken or equalled this year by seven of the nine horses, whose names will be dropped into the entry box tomorrow morning.

Not even the oldest horseman could recall when this 1 1/2-mile run over the historic Downs ever attracted such a high class field of evenly-matched thoroughbreds as will spring from the starting gate when the word "go" is given at 4:30 p.m. EST Saturday before some 100,000 spectators.

Conditioners of the favored Calumet Farm entry of Gen. Duke and Iron Liege and the second choice Bold Ruler from the Wheatley Stable were hesitant in voicing an opinion on how fast the race will be run.

But other trainers said they wouldn't be surprised if Whirlaway's mark of 2:01.25 made in 1941 was equalled or broken should the track remain fast as it was yesterday when Clifford Lusky's Louisville-owned Federal Hill topped Gen. Duke by 2 1/2 lengths in the Derby Trial with a 1:36.15 clocking for one mile.

The trial served to eliminate only Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Man Upstairs as W. S. Miller's Better Bee ran third with Mrs. Rice's Indian Creek fourth and Iron Liege fifth in the six-horse field.

But the stock of Federal Hill, rated a fast horse with doubtful staying ability, was boosted as he ran what trainer Mill Reiser called "his best race."

Although jockey Willie Hartack whipped Gen. Duke through the stretch in a futile effort to close ground and Iron Liege just refused to run his usual good race, the Calumet pair remained the 8-5 choice to win the derby.

With nine starters America's premier race will gross $151,800 with a net of $107,700 going to the winner.

Bold Ruler, with Eddie Arcaro seeking his sixth derby riding triumph, was the second choice at 2-1.

Travis Kerry's Round Table, for whom the Oklahoma oilman is said to have paid $175,000, was third at 9-2 followed by Ralph Lowe's Texas-owned Gallant Man at 6-1 and Federal Hill at 12-1.

The others, including T. A. Grismond's Shan Pac of Detroit, were lightly regarded.

Sugar Robinson May Quit If He Loses To Fullmer

By JERRY LISKA
CHICAGO (AP)—Middleweight champion Gene Fullmer, a bulldozing battler of 25, is favored to bash artistic but ancient Sugar Ray Robinson into the ring graveyard tonight in a little match at Chicago Stadium.

The 36-year-old Robinson, a 2-1 underdog, seemingly has only one chance to capture the 160-pound crown for the fourth time. That's by an early knockout of the durable Fullmer, who dethroned Sugar Ray at New York Jan. 2 with barroom brawl tactics.

Robinson has said he may retire if he loses to Fullmer again. Well, he might—after fighting more or less on borrowed time since a pathetic showing in this same Chicago Stadium ring Jan. 19, 1955.

It was then Robinson, trying a comeback after a "retirement," was cut to ribbons by a journeyman middleweight, Ralph (Tiger) Jones.

But he stubbornly summoned all the class of his waning years. He won four more title bouts. Then he knocked out Bobo Olson Dec. 9, 1955, at the Chicago Stadium, to recapture the middleweight title.

A washed-out Olson challenged Robinson in a rematch at Los Angeles May 18, 1956. Sugar Ray flattened Olson in four rounds. After one fight, Nov. 10, 1956, when he won a 10-round decision over one Bob Proviati, Robinson defended against Fullmer last Jan. 2.

In that New York fight, Fullmer pressed a relentless attack which dropped the Sugar Man in the seventh round and had Robinson hanging on helplessly most of the time.

There were cries from the Robinson camp that Fullmer rabbit punched his way to the title. Handicappers of the Utah scrapper snarled in rebuttal that Robinson's was holding most of the fight.

ABC will broadcast and telecast at 9 p. m. EST.

Billy Pierce spun a six-hitter to become the first American Leaguer to post three victories as the Chicago White Sox downed Baltimore 3-1.

Frank Robinson homered in the third inning after singles by Brooks Lawrence, Wally Post and Gus Bell, paving the way for Cincinnati's 6-3 success against Philadelphia. Lawrence, the winner, scattered nine hits.

Brooklyn was fortunate to win after Sal Maglie had failed to hold a 6-0 lead. The Cubs kept pecking away at old Sal, knocking him out with a three-run rally in the sixth, and finally went on top 9-7 on Walt Moryn's grand slammer in the seventh, and another homer by pinch hitter Sandy Amoros, in the ninth, to force the game into extra innings.

Dave Hillman, seventh Chicago pitcher, was tagged with the loss while Don Bessent, fifth Dodger hurler, was the winner.

Bob Buhl took the Milwaukee loss, precipitated by Dusty Rhodes' two-run homer in the third. Ray Crone gave up Antopelli's homer in the seventh.

A four-run assault against Ray Moore in the seventh inning broke up a tight game for the White Sox victory over the Orioles.

Bolling's game-ending blow made it possible for Duane Mason to record his first major league triumph over the Yankees. The young right-hander held the defending champions to three hits for his second victory of the season.

Lemon had a two-hitter for Cleveland but he needed help from Ray Narleski in the eighth.

The Red Sox victory, sixth in their last seven starts, was posted by Willard Nixon, who faced only 29 Kansas City batters in a splendid three-hitter. Jackie Jensen's seventh-inning homer, his first of the year, broke a 1-1 tie.

HOUSTON (AP)—Roy Harris, 187, the school teacher who fights and has compiled a perfect record, could look toward a national ranking today.

Harris, Texas heavyweight champion from Cut and Shoot, gave away 28 pounds last night and still beat Bob Baker, 215, the huge Negro from Pittsburgh who is rated No. 8 in the world.

In winning his twentieth straight professional fight, Harris gained a split decision. He triumphed mainly on his countering with the aggressive Baker.

Harris went down from a solid right in the fourth, got to one knee at the count of four, but remained there until nine. Baker tried to end it but Harris managed to keep away from him the remainder of the round and came back strong.

Judge Joe Lott scored the 10-round fight 97-92 for Harris and referee Jimmy Webb said it 96-93. Judge Bill Cornelius said it was a 96-96 draw.

ABILENE (AP)—Abilene Christian College's crack sprint team yesterday accepted a bid to compete in the Coliseum Relays at Los Angeles May 24.

The team of Wayne Griggs, Bill Woodhouse, James Sergeant and Olympic sprint champion Bobby Morrow will run the 440 and 880-yard relays. Morrow and Woodhouse also will compete in the 100-yard dash.

Therefore, no matter how mediocre the Brooklyn Dodgers have appeared to date, he is sticking with his prediction that they'll win the National League pennant.

"And do you know why I think they will win?" he asked today while waiting to send his men to the post in the second game of a two-game set against the Brooks.

"It's because I think they have the pitching to do it."

Now a statement like this must cause some eyebrow lifting and a demand for an explanation. After all, isn't Milwaukee supposed to have the best pitching staff in the league?

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Lightweight contender Ralph Dupas, who successfully battled recent allegations that he is a Negro, drew an order from the State Athletic Commission today to produce a birth certificate before fighting again in Louisiana.

A letter signed by Asst. Commission Secretary Michael Cusimano requested the certificate "in view of the enormous amount of confusion caused by the disagreement between Dupas and the Bureau of Vital Statistics."

Mrs. Lucretia Gravolet of Plaquemines Parish, La., an official from the city's Bureau of Vital Statistics appeared before the commission early last month and contended the 21-year-old New Orleans stylist, ranked fourth in the lightweight division, was a Negro.

The allegations came on the eve of a match between Dupas and Vince Martinez of Paterson, N. J., a white welterweight ranked fifth.

Sam Monk Zelden, attorney for Dupas, said neither had received a copy of Cusimano's letter.

Zelden told The Associated Press in an interview that "all concerned realize the import and ramifications involved before it took action, but he assured that we will take appropriate steps."

Younger Hands

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Raul Sanchez, the one-time Big Spring hurler, is now with the Cincinnati Reds. He broke into the news recently when Eddie Mathews of the Milwaukee Braves accused him of throwing a spit ball.

Freddy Rodriguez, another ex-Big Springer, appeared in four straight games as a relief pitcher after being sent down to Minneapolis by the New York Giants.

Roy Weatherly, the Texan who remained in the big leagues for several years, is bossing the American Legion Junior baseball team in Williston, North Dakota, this season.

The successor to Frank Honeycutt as athletic coach at Forsan High School probably won't be chosen until June.

Mike Seay, an end who played line ball for Andrews against Big Spring last season, is bound for Texas Tech.

Another note on Forsan: The swimming pool there, located immediately west of the high school building, probably will operate on a reduced schedule this summer.

Raeferd McElhane of McCamey, one of the stars in the last ABC Relays here, is committed to attend Abilene Christian College upon graduation from high school.

Dan Howard, former Artesia Longhorn League slugger, is now with Monterrey of the Class AA Mexican League.

Remember Jimmy Perez, the whacky left-handed hurler who tolled for Big Spring several years ago?

Tommy Herrera, still another one-time Big Spring player, recently was fined 200 pesos by the Mexican League president for his part in a rhabarb.

Piper Davis, who recently joined the Fort Worth Texas League club, was manager of the Birmingham Negro baseball team for which Our Town's Jim Zapp played several years ago.

The papers list Davis' age as 37 years but Zapp reasons he's in his mid-40's. He has a son in college.

IN MIDLAND GAME

Triple Play Ends Odessa's Hopes

ODESSA (AP)—Midland withstood a last inning rally on the part of the Odessa Bronchos to win a 4-3 District 2-AAA decision here Tuesday afternoon.

The Bulldogs got off to a fast start, banking three runs in the opening frame. They had a 4-0 advantage going into the fifth but the Red Hooses came back strong to pull within one run of the visitors and had the bases loaded in the seventh when the game ended.

Midland ended the game suddenly, too, executing a triple play. Jim Owens got credit for the mound win, although he had to be relieved by James York. The loss was hung on Bobby Knight.

Herd Returns To District 2-4A Action

The weatherman having given them the 'go' sign, the Big Spring Steers will return to baseball action today in the local park.

The Longhorns, 0-4 in conference play, will be at home to the San Angelo Bobcats, who are still in the running for the District 2-AAA championship. The seven inning contest begins at 4:15 p.m.

Big Spring hasn't seen action in more than a week, due to the streak of rainy weather. No one complained. The country needed the moisture more than the Bobcats needed action.

However, the locals are going to be called upon to play four games in as many days. They visit Plainview Thursday, will be at home to Crane Friday and tangle with Odessa in their final 2-AAA home engagement Saturday.

The Steers carry a 5-7 won-lost record into action today and will be seeking revenge for a 10-6 drubbing at the hands of the Bobcats. Big Spring has now dropped five games in a row. They opened the season by scoring three straight shutouts.

Either Bobby Suggs or Billy Roger, probably the former, will go moundward for the Longhorns today. San Angelo is due to counter with Kenneth Milliken.

Rick Terry will again don the catching harness. Wilson Bell will play first, Bernard McMahen second, Preston Daniels shortstop, Jackie Thomas third, Billy Johnson left field, Jerry McMahen center and Glenn Whittington right.

Bell, a sophomore, took over first base after George Peacock started spring football drills.

Coach Roy Baird will probably use some of his younger players against Plainview and Crane.

Steers Welcome Return To Practice On The Turf

The Big Spring Steers went at it "hammers and tongs" in spring football workouts Tuesday, without a complaint.

After three days of workouts on the "rockpile" — the parking lot immediately south of the Steer Stadium, — the gridders returned to the grass of the stadium itself and the cushion must have seemed like a couple of feather beds.

The turf was still soft following the recent rains but the footing was fairly solid.

The switch back to the stadium grass gave Coach Al Milch and his aides a chance to send the boys through a rugged scrimmage.

The A team took its turn at ramming plays at the reserves, whose lineup was composed mainly of sophomores-to-be.

The reserves gave the A teamers a hard time of it. Only occasionally did the regulars break through for sizable yardage.

Later, the B team took the ball but could do little against the regular line. All in all, it was a day in which the defense was ahead of the offense.

The A teamers had difficulty in hitting on their long passes, although they shook their receivers loose often enough.

Wayne Fields and Buddy Barnes stood out among the ball carriers. Benny McCrary, J. B. Davis and Roy Deel were among the linemen who showed to advantage.

The team, now in the second week of spring drills, will get in another grueling afternoon of work this afternoon. On Thursday which will divide his squad-for the first intra-season game one was scheduled last week but had to be called off due to the weather.

No more than 45 boys are now suiting out daily. Others found the pace too swift. More than 60 were out in the beginning.

Scheffing Picks Bums For First

BROOKLYN (AP)—Bob Scheffing is a determined yardage. As manager of the last-place Chicago Cubs, one of the prerequisites of his job is fortitude.

ACC's Sprint Team Invited To Coast

ABILENE (AP)—Abilene Christian College's crack sprint team yesterday accepted a bid to compete in the Coliseum Relays at Los Angeles May 24.

The team of Wayne Griggs, Bill Woodhouse, James Sergeant and Olympic sprint champion Bobby Morrow will run the 440 and 880-yard relays. Morrow and Woodhouse also will compete in the 100-yard dash.

Widmar Stops Dallas, 3-2

Dallas was audacious enough to play a game in a fight with the weather Tuesday night and what did the Eagles get for their pains? They fell out of first place and went to third in the Texas League.

The clubs that went by them were Oklahoma City and Shreveport, which sat out another rainy night.

The villain for Dallas was Tulsa with Al Widmar, the Oiler manager, as the leading character. Widmar bested ace Murray Wall of Dallas in a tight pitching duel and his team won 3-2 on a mighty home run in the ninth by Jack Lundquist.

Widmar allowed only six hits and fanned five. The Oilers got to Wall for seven base knocks.

Houston whammed San Antonio in a double-header to move into fourth place and drop the Missions to fifth.

The Buffs won the first game 6-2 with Billy Muffett allowing just five hits and the Missions helping him to victory with some timely errors. Houston took the nightcap 8-4, scoring seven runs in the ninth. A throwing error opened the gates for the big spruge.

Miami Course Must Stop Racial Bars

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Federal Judge Emmet C. Choate has ordered the Miami Springs golf course opened to Negro players at all times, effective May 10.

The judge yesterday signed an order which holds that the present one-day-a-week use by Negroes is unconstitutional.

A Doubtful Starter

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Calumet Farm's Gen. Duke, favorite for Saturday's running of the $125,000-added Kentucky Derby today turned up with an injured left front foot, but trainer Jimmy Jones said the colt's chances of starting were 50-50 after hearing the report of the X-ray examinations.

Midland Team Retains First

Cosden of Big Spring blew a chance to take over first place in Midland Women's Bowling league standings.

Cosden dropped a 2 1/2-1 1/2 decision to West Texas Brick and Tile and still gained half a point on the pace-setting West Texas Reproduction quintet, which was losing to another Big Spring entry, Pinkie's, 3-1.

Cosden now trails West Texas Reproduction by only half a game and gets a final chance to make up the deficit next week, at which time it takes on Honolulu Oil, now lodged in tenth place in the 12-team circuit.

In losing, Cosden registered scores of 699-741-687-2117. West Texas Brick and Tile countered with 699-710-712-2121.

Promotion Pictures Show Too Much, Actress Claims

NEW YORK (AP)—Red-haired screen siren Arlene Dahl says promotion pictures for her latest movie are too revealing for a respectable actress like herself. The shapely star made a demure appearance in State Supreme Court yesterday. She testified as trial opened in her million-dollar damage suit against Columbia Pictures Corp. Her handsome husband, actor Fernando Lamas, was a spectator. Miss Dahl, 31, alleges the movie firm pasted up composite advertising shots showing her pretty head attached to some other woman's scantily clad body. The pictures were for the film "Wicked as They Come."

Salem 'Witches' Now Vindicated

BOSTON (AP)—The Massachusetts Legislature has righted a wrong committed 265 years ago. The Senate passed and sent to the governor a measure to reverse the convictions of six women executed in Salem for "witchcraft" in 1692. At first the Senate rejected the measure on grounds that Salem was a British colony at the time and it was up to the British Parliament to right the wrong. The Senate acted in favor, however, after accepting an amendment to ban payment of damages to descendants of the women.

She described them as "leg art" and "candid shots" but didn't object to them. Greenberg asked if she desired to be considered a "refined, decent lady of the stage who under no circumstances would play a particular part." No, she replied, but added: "I would not strip nude. I couldn't do that. My modesty would not permit it."
