BREVITIES

Widening of the pavement on the highway in the city limits got under way this week. The pavement is to be extended three feet on each side of the highway.

We understand that the two main business blocks will be paved from curb to curb.

The high school band got started off this week under the direction of W. R. Martin. Mr. Martin will continue with the band until an instructor is located.

Speaking of band, a former Loraine High School bandman, J. W. King, Jr., is now playing French Horn in the A band at Texas Tech. J. W. was leading cornet player in the local band.

The Board of Trustees of the Loraine Independent School District, in order to encourage the early payment of school taxes, is offering to discount current taxes 5 percent if paid during the month of October, 1939.

The Loraine Bulldogs Pups defeated the Colorado Jackrabbits 7 to 0 last Thursday afternoon at Colorado. Coach McCasland is proud of his second team and is expecting them to show up good next year.

LOONEY SCHOOL OPENS FOR NEW TERM

Enrollment in the Looney School begins Monday, October 9th. At this time all parents are urged by the principal to enroll their children whether they intend to begin classes then or later on.

No change has been made in the school faculty for this new term. They are B. D. Smith, Jr., Principal, Mrs. B. D. Smith, Jr., and Miss Mamie Lou Bedford.

Due to the community being so absorbed in their fall cotton harvest no program will be attempted at the opening.

AL SIMMONS STARS FOR McMURRY

ABILENE, Oct. 4.—Al Simmons former Loraine backfield flash, now playing fullback for McMurry, rammed the Austin college line for three yards and the only touchdown of the game as the Indians walloped the Kangaroos, 6 to 2, last week at Sherman.

Simmons and Roy Baird, another Loraine back, performed brilliantly in the McMurry secondary. Baird caught a 15 yard pass from Simmons in the second period and was downed on the three yard stripe. The Tribe, however, failed to score at that time.

Both Baird and Simmons are due to see plenty of service when the Indians tackle the Trinity Tigers on the McMurry field. The game which is due to get underway at 3 o'clock will be the first of the season on Abilene terrain.

BULLDOGS DUE IN SNYDER FRIDAY NIGHT

The 6 to 6 tie with Roby last Friday afternoon has given the Loraine Bulldogs a much better chance against the Snyder Tigers in Snyder Friday night of this week. The Bulldogs surprised everybody by holding the Roby team to a tie last Friday and that feat has placed a great deal of confidence in the boys and the fans.

Snyder is supposed to be just a little stronger than Roby but those Bulldogs were looking mighty good in scrimmage early this week and they are going into the game Friday night with a strong determination to win.

Coach McCasland has been drilling the boys this week in the weak points that showed up in the team last Friday and is hopeful that his boys will be able to carry out his instructions.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Twenty women, several of them new members, met at the Methodist church Monday at 2:30 for a study session. Mrs. Gib Bruce, the study superintendent, directed the first lesson in a new book by Basil Matthews, "Through Tragedy to Triumph." The thoughts brought out in the lesson were so splendidly given, the absent members lost much. The hour of meeting is newly set at 2:30 o'clock.

Irrigation Well Ready For Pump

One of the newest ventures in farming in this locality is nearing a reality on the Drew Givens farm west of the Bauman school house—an irrigation project. A water well to supply the needed amount of moisture for approximately 32 acres which is to be under irrigation has just been completed and underwent satisfactory test Wednesday by the Pomona Pump Company.

The well is to the depth of 120 feet with a six inch casing now stands 85 feet in water and under severe test by this company only lowered to a six-foot pump down.

According to official estimates the well is strong enough to furnish approximately 6,000 gallons per hour under pump continuously.

Mr. Givens had a perfect tract of land to attempt such a project and the right kind of soil. Alfalfa is planned to be seeded to most of the acreage.

U S MARINE CORPS SEARCHING FOR YOUNG MEN

The United States Marine Corps is now making a methodical canvass of inland towns—particularly rural communities—with the view of finding the very best young men possible for enlistment in the Marines. Postmaster Russell B. Cope, stated today.

Only 6,000 young men out of the slightly more than 108,000 increase in complements of all the armed forces of the national defense are authorized by President Roosevelt for the Marine Corps. Thus, only one man out of each group of eighteen qualified applicants will be accepted for service with the "Leathernecks."

Requirements for enlistment remain the same—between 18 and 30 years of age, white, unmarried and without dependents, not less than 64 nor more than 74 inches tall, of good moral character, and of excellent physical condition.

Postmaster Cope also stated that he is being kept advised by the Marine Corps Recruiting District Headquarters of Dallas, of the requirements for enlistment, for the information of young men of this locality. Preliminary physical examinations may be made by a local physician, after which the Dallas office will advise applicants whether or not to proceed to that city for final examination.

Happenings at the Baptist Church

Well, we did not say it last week, it should have been said. But here we are now just brim full of rejoicing for the goodness of God. Last Sunday we had a good day, the Sunday School was up and the offering was fine and best of all one addition to the Church on profession of Faith in Christ. 55 were in the Bible study at 7 P. M. taught by Mrs. McCollum. The training service was well attended. The preaching service was a little short. You will please remember that the training service and the Bible study at 7. Preaching at 7:30. Please don't fail.

Next Sunday at 7, we will study the first verses of the 6th chapter of Acts. Bring your Bible. Ask a question.

A great deal of interest in starting a Building Fund. Pray over it. Express yourself as the Lord leads. IF IT OUGHT TO BE DONE IT CAN BE DONE. Any way you think of it. Many churches are doing that very thing in a fine way a little once a month will be a large amount at the end of the year. We are happy to see the large number go to the Choir. Just keep that up. It is as it should be.

The young mens Bible class entertained their wives with a fried chicken supper Monday night. 30 chickens were fried but little left. The new teachers in the Sunday School are getting right down to work at the job. Thank-you for your good work.

We are looking for you next Sunday. Be sure to be on time and we will close on time. 7 for the B. Y. P. U. and Bible study. 7:30 for the preaching service. Out by 8:30. You can't afford to miss.

Let's All Be Neutral-All Non-Partisan

The President of the United States in his neutrality proclamation has promised to try to keep us out of war. He has appealed for a truce in Politics.

Every loyal American will support these two objectives Americans are determined not to be deceived again by talk of saving democracy, or the "War to End Wars."

The war in Europe is the direct result of a peace treaty, for which Americans died—a treaty that has kept alive the ancient feuds in the struggle for power, for territory, for resources, and for markets. It is nothing new; over there, a human life weighs but little in the balance against empire-building.

The United States has been built by people whose ancestors came here to escape just such conflicts, and the tyrannies which are their consequence.

Wars are not launched by the people. They are started by leaders—leaders lusting for power and fame. But first they must fan the fires of prejudice and hate in order that the people will follow. Americans are determined this time not to be swayed either by the propaganda of the warring nations, or by the excitements of those at home who can't keep their heads.

It will not be difficult to keep the United States out of this war. All it will need is a determined will to stay at peace, on the part of the nation's leaders.

The Scandinavian countries, Holland, and Switzerland, remained neutral in the World War, and will undoubtedly keep out of this one. They are realistic. Their leaders simply do not get the idea that the future of all humanity rests on their shoulders.

Farmers will subscribe 100 percent to the proposal for a truce in partisanship, and they will not think it unreasonable to ask him to set the example.

Having made himself the foremost issue in politics, they will first of all look to him for a pledge abandonment of all personal political ambitions.

He will be expected to take the lead in the adjournment of politics by dismissing from his official Family and From government office those violent disciples of hate, the Ickes, the Cooresons, and their ilk who have disqualified themselves for public service by attacks upon the congressional majorities that refused to show partisanship in European affairs.

The President should, of course, pledge a decent respect for the independence of the radio; this is important since he has power under the emergency proclamation to suspend, close, dismantle, or take over for the government any broadcasting station in the country.

Such pledges of non-partisanship, made on all sides and mutually respected, will aid the President in building and keeping a united American sentiment for staying out of war. Let the so-called neutrality act be repealed. Let American ships and American citizens be prohibited from going in to war zones. Let us have actual neutrality, and actual non-partisanship.

By such means the torch of freedom can be kept alight in the United States, at least. Then we can be free to work out the still unsolved problems of rebuilding a permanent prosperity for our own people. To restore prosperity and maintain the freedom of men is the best thing we can do for the world and for democracy. That is our great moral opportunity. If we are led into war, prosperity, freedom, and democracy alike will be "gone with the wind."

It will not be hard to be neutral, if we have the genuine will to do it.

Only misguided leadership and a deceived and misled people can turn our steps down the bloody road we so deeply dread.

4-H Enrollment At Record High

College Station, Sept. 29.—A new record in Texas 4-H clubs has been set with an enrollment of 67,028 members, of which 32,696 are boys and 34,332 are girls. The 1938 enrollment was 57,395.

The announcement was made by Onah Jacks and L. J. Johnson, state club agents of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

4-H club work is sponsored by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Extension Service through county agricultural and home demonstration agents, and adult club leaders and sponsors. Membership is made up of youths between the ages of 10 and 21.

There are 4-H girls' clubs in 181 Texas counties. In 1914, 3,210 girls in 29 counties were doing 4-H work. Boys' clubs are now organized in 240 counties.

With the growth in membership has come an expansion of activities. In 1914, girls canned tomatoes and a few carried poultry demonstrations. Today demonstrations are offered in various production lines, such as orcharding, gardening, and management of poultry flocks, and in a number of other fields, such as landscaping, clothing, and home improvement.

The principal demonstration for boys 25 years ago was corn production. Today 4-H club boys engage in all phases of farm and ranch activities.

Peace!

Come Forth and Fight for Peace! The bugle cries;

Drums call; there is a mustering of men;

The cannons speak... And other armies rise

To Fight For peace again.

So shall it be until, with war-Flags Furled,

The nations Forge at last For their defense

The only weapons that can save our world—

Tolerance, and common sense.

Bulldogs And Lions Tie

It happened again! The Loraine Bulldogs, and the Roby Lions tied in their first conference game for each team last Friday afternoon. The score was nothing for each team.

Although the Lions outplayed the Bulldogs fumbles kept them from scoring when they neared pay dirt. Roby fumbled at least eight times and Loraine recovered almost every time. Neither team had the punch necessary for ground gaining.

Both teams tried passing but neither could complete any. Out of twelve passes tossed by Loraine Roby intercepted five, only one made connection with the right man. Roby attempted 17 but had no luck completing them.

Statistics of the game showed Roby gained 188 yards running to Loraine's 49. Roby made 9 first downs to Loraine's 3.

The tie did not tell the whole story however. The Bulldog-Lion game is always the hardest game of the year. Both teams seem to play their hardest against each other. The game Friday was the third time the two teams have tied.

FROM LAWTON

Mr. and Mrs. Chilton Gage of Lawton, Oklahoma were here Sunday visiting relatives.

IN NEW ORLEANS

Mrs. S. E. Brown, Miss Irene Brown, and Mrs. Glen Coon are in New Orleans this week vacationing.

WILLING WORKERS

The Willing Workers Sunday School Class met in the J. M. Bruce home Sept. 28, 1939, with Miss Isla Bruce as hostess, and Mrs. Worth Bruce co-hostess.

A very interesting devotional was brought to the class by Mrs. Gib Bruce. "Willing Workers" being the name of the class, Mrs. Bruce chose Work, Faith, and Justice for her subject. The scripture was taken from the 2nd chapter of John.

At this meeting was time for the election of officers. The following were reelected: Mrs. Bruce Johnson, president; Mrs. Harold Martin, vice president; Mrs. Kirk Taylor, Sec'y Treasurer, Mrs. W. R. Martin, Corresponding Sec'y.

Mrs. Drew Givens was elected reporter. The class voted to send Mr. Harold Martin a convalescence card.

The president appointed Mrs. Frank Crowmover and Mrs. Wiley Walker as a committee to recommend a teacher for the class for the coming year to the Board of Education.

The class adjourned for the social hour. At this time Mrs. Lily Bennett gave to the class the life of Frances Willard, America's greatest woman. This was her 100th anniversary.

The hostess presented the president, Mrs. B. Johnson, with a birthday cake. After which a delicious ice cream course was served.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Floyd Coffee with Mrs. Frank Crowmover as co-hostess. Come and enjoy these meetings.

MRS. ROSS DIXON HONORED WITH SHOWER

Mrs. Ross Dixon, nee Miss Annie Bess Wilkerson, was honored at a miscellaneous shower Thursday afternoon in the home of Miss Richard Looby with Mrs. Jack Coffee and Miss Elizabeth Looney assistant hostesses.

Mrs. Jeff Parker and Miss Irene Brown presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Glen Coon had charge of the bride's book.

Ruby Jo Marshall and Frances Riden, accompanied at the piano by Wennola Martin, honored the crowd with two songs. Richard Looby gave "Advice to the Bride," and Elizabeth Looney gave the toast to the bride, after which the many beautiful gifts were presented.

Out of town guests were: Mrs. H. L. Lockhart, Mrs. H. E. Goodwin, Mrs. Mary Lee Brown and Mrs. Lee Dorn, all of Colorado City.

New Election For Gym Bonds

Voters of the Loraine Independent School District are to be called upon to vote $5,000 in bonds to be used in helping build a gymnasium-auditorium. The election is to be called for Saturday, October 14, and all qualified voters of the district are urged to vote.

It is pointed out by trustees that this is not to be an additional $5,000 in bonds but is to take the place of those voted in September 1938. A new election was made necessary when the attorney general ruled that the petition calling for the election last year did not meet legal requirements and it is necessary to circulate a new petition for a new election before he will approve the issuance of the bonds.

The new election will not delay the building of the gymnasium-auditorium in any way unless the bonds are defeated. Anticipating that the voters will approve the bonds as they have done heretofore the board has approved the plans and specifications for the building and are calling for bids on the structure which will be opened on October 18.

YOUNG MARRIED MEN ENTERTAIN WIVES

The young married men's class with Bro. Godfrey as teacher entertained their wives with a chicken fry Monday night at the basement of the church. 30 chickens were fried and eaten along with pickles, onions, coffee, etc.

Those present were Rev. M. H. Godfrey, Lucas Comer, Ed Small, Tommie Horton, Tony Snyder, John Horton, Woodrow Pratt, D. W. Harbison, Howard Preston, Ed Brown, Lloyd Wiggins, W. P. Burdison, A. Shepard, Stanton Hutchinson, Frank Simmons, Paul Stewart, Alvin Swearington, Hubert Thomas, Arthur Thurston.

DON'T LET IT HAPPEN AGAIN

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 4.—Texas farmers and ranchmen who last year let $3,447,310 slip through their fingers by not earning their maximum soil-building and range-building allowances are not going to make the same mistake twice.

With only three months to go before the deadline for earning 1939 allowances under the Agricultural Conservation Program, a maximum of $12,694,000 is available as payment for soil-building and range-building work in the state. E. N. Hohengreen, state AAA administrator, has announced.

Farmers in the state last year let the ranchmen run rings around them when it came to taking advantage of the assistance offered by the government in soil building work.

In 1938 the maximum soil-building allowance for all farms in the state was $6,617,706, but the farmers earned only $3,675,271, or 55 percent. The maximum for 1939 is $6,205,000 and a much larger percentage is expected to be earned.

For range-building in 1938 the maximum which could be earned in the state was $6,155,748, of which $5,650,873 was earned, the ranchmen thus collecting more than 91 percent of the maximum allowance. During the current year a maximum of $6,489,000 is available with earnings expected to pass 95 percent of that amount.

Soil-building allowances for farms are figured on the difference between the total cultivated acreage and the acreage devoted to cotton, wheat and general crops with each acre worth 50 cents in the allowance. In addition, 2 cents per acre of non-crop land is allowed and $1 is added for every animal unit the pasture is normally capable of grazing.

Range-building allowances are figured at 2 cents for each acre of land plus $1 for each animal unit of grazing capacity.

These allowances can be earned by the operators by doing approved soil-building and range-building such as terracing, contour ridging, construction of tanks and reservoirs and other practices with specified amounts of work counting as one unit an earning $1.50. Unless the work is done, no payments are made.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS BY JOSEPH W. LaBINE

How to Pay for New Conflict Is Europe's Biggest Problem; British Taxes Set New Record

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

THE WAR: Finance

Great Britain entered the World war in 1914 with a 649,000,000-pound debt, raised her tax rate to six shillings in the pound (or 30 per cent) and probably spent 11,076,000,000 pounds (about $55,000,000,000) to lick the Kaiser. In 1939 Britain's record peacetime budget was 1,322,444,000 pounds, of which 380,000,000 pounds was to be borrowed. Most of this was for defense, but what bothered Britishers most on September 1, when they declared war on Adolf Hitler, was their current public debt of 8,200,000,000 pounds, 13 times greater than 1914's.

To Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, fell the financing job. Up to the house of commons Sir John carried his first war budget,

SIR JOHN AND BUDGET
U. S. taxpayers can be thankful.

neatly packaged in the ancient case (see photo) which exchequers have used for years. Preliminarily, commons knew the war of 1939 would cost more than the last conflict, would possibly last longer, and would positively bleed the British taxpayer to death. Sir John therefore surprised no one with his budget:

To raise 70,000,000 extra pounds this year, and 146,000,000 extra the next fiscal year, Sir John assessed incomes at seven shillings in the pound, or 35 per cent, until next March 31; for the full 1940-41 fiscal year the rate is seven shillings sixpence, or 37 per cent. American taxpayers should have enjoyed the comparison:

Income of $2,000 a year:
American	British
Family with two children	None $ 70.08
Married couple, no children	None 246.26
Bachelor	None 40 350.40
Income of $4,000 a year:
Family with two children	28 721.26
Couple, no children	60 871.26
Bachelor	120 976.26
Income of $20,000 a year:
Family with two children	1,164 8,047.26
Couple, no children	1,260 8,202.06
Bachelor	1,450 8,326.26

Meanwhile fireside economists debated how Adolf Hitler was faring in wartime. Disregarding his pre-war debt and his funny financing, it was a good guess that even should these obstacles be overcome the allies' blockade would strangle him. One-fourth his 1938 imports of $2,000,000,000 would be cut off, including 90 per cent of his high-test gasoline; 67 per cent of his grain and all his cotton, rubber, wool and tin. Even Russia's new friendship could not be expected to offset this loss, for the press of war will keep German factories busy, thus barring exchange of manufactured items for Soviet raw products. And Josef Stalin is not altruistic.

At Sea

One bright autumn day North sea villagers in both Norway and Denmark heard cannonading at sea, occasionally spotting aircraft over the horizon. The booming stopped at night but started with new fury next day. Both Britain and Berlin at first denied a battle, then each admitted it and claimed victory. The press could choose between the Reich's report that one British air-ship carrier had been destroyed and a battleship badly damaged, or the report of London's first lord of the admiralty, Winston Churchill, that a German attack had been repulsed with no losses.

BRITAIN'S SHIPPING LOSSES
Submarines went down, too.

Day before, popular Mr. Churchill told the house of commons that "a third" of Germany's submarines had been destroyed and that shipping losses were about a third what they were in disastrous April, 1917. Moreover, losses were still going down (see chart). What he did not point out is that Britain has fewer boats at sea now than on September 1.

Eastern Front

After a 20-day siege, during which it was "bombed and burned into an unspeakable inferno," during which thousands of civilians died from bombs, bullets, pestilence or horsemeat diet, Warsaw surrendered and the war in Poland was over.

Western Front

After a month of see-saw fighting during which French-British troops apparently had the upper hand (thanks to Germany's pre-occupation with Poland) the battle of Siegfried vs. Maginot apparently got under way. French pressure was heaviest near Zweibrücken in the Saar region, and at least one report said that heavy French cannonading smashed a hole in the main Siegfried line between Merzig and Saarbrücken. Certain it was that heavy artillery assumed new importance, for the French war office admitted enemy shells were falling in small towns behind the Maginot line. For the moment, Premier Edouard Daladier could tell his council of ministers that the situation was "most satisfactory."

DOMESTIC:

Repercussions

Dramatic volumes might have been written last month about how Europe's war whipped the slow stream of U. S. life into a raging river filled with whirlpools, quicksand beds and bottomless pits. At Los Angeles Mrs. Josephine Mair filed a notarized document forbidding her two sons from "participating in any activity called war." The U. S. fleet began secret battle games in the Pacific, a vast naval training program was planned at Hawaii's Pearl harbor, and President Roosevelt urged a cessation of foreign purchases of war materials that the U. S. might create its own reserves. While Texas' Rep. Martin Dies waved the flag to forecast all Communists and Fascists in government jobs would soon be ousted, while the American Legion in convention cut its foreign tie with the Federal Interallies des Ancien combattants, while two-thirds of the people (in a Gallup poll) said they don't believe German news reports, congress wrestled with neutrality and appeared to be making progress on a proposal to lift the arms embargo and substitute cash-and-carry.

Franklin Roosevelt's administration was winning, thanks to smart handling of the issue by Sen. Key Pittman and colleagues. To placate anti-repealists and anti-New Dealers, congress was given power which the President alone enjoys under the present act, to decide when a foreign war exists. In every other provision there was similar rigidity, so that isolationists were left with little to fight except the fast-dying issue of embargo vs. cash-and-carry. Having started the ball rolling, the White House left neutrality severely alone. Secretary of State Cordell Hull, asked for his opinions, answered Sen. Arthur Vandenberg that he had "complete confidence" in the legislative branch and that he had no "particular comment" to make.

Next day the senate foreign relations committee okayed cash-and-carry, sending it to the floor for "hell-to-breakfast" debate. This was war's effect on government. On business, the effect was a fearsome upsurge that may some day boomerang. Items:

1. On the farm, the department of agriculture found all larders full to bursting (July 1 wheat supplies were 275,000,000 bushels over a year ago). The year's agricultural income, once expected to slump far below 1938's $8,000,000,000 mark, may now be only 100,000,000 shy. Flour output reached a 12-year high.

2. Railroads everywhere placed new equipment orders. Typical was the Burlington's bid for 14 locomotives. A 22.4 per cent rise in carloadings was forecast for 1939's last quarter (compared with last year).

3. Steel mills, America's No. 1 heavy industry, operated at 83.3 per cent of capacity, dangerously near the 85 per cent mark which steel men consider a practical level.

4. Oil production was up. A typical late September week brought 3,681,000 barrels, a gain of 258,000 barrels over the preceding seven days.

5. Electricity production rose, contra-seasonally, about 13.7 per cent in a week.

New European Peace Threat Centers on Rumania

Fearing pressure from Germany, Russia and other neighbors, Rumania appointed anti-Nazi George Argesanu (right) as strong-arm premier following assassination of Premier Armand Calinescu by pro-German Iron Guardists. Mass executions stopped a threatened overthrow of the government, but Rumania still fears her neighbors may try to regain territories she gained from them after the World war. International observers think these dangers might be minimized, however, should Russia continue her apparent policy of increasing sway over Baltic and Balkan nations, thus cutting off Germany's long feared drive to the east.

No Admittance! War Restrictions Hit Capital

Fearing recurrence of the World war bombing of the senate chamber, the capitol building was closed to Sunday visitors recently. At left, Sgt. V. O. Deus is turning away would-be visitors. Woman's place is no longer in the home, say these English lassies. Top: Miss Elspeth Ironside (right), daughter of Gen. Edmund Ironside, chief of the imperial general staff, drives her father's official auto. Below: Actress Elizabeth Allen serves tea at a canteen "somewhere in England."

Double Trouble—

Jack Young, Chicago private investigator, sued a national magazine for $250,000, saying the publication called him a "cuckoo" because he allegedly made capital of his resemblance to President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Out of Jail at Last—and So to College

Joan, daughter of Sing Sing Warden Lewis E. Lawes, and the only person ever born within Sing Sing's grim walls, enters Pembroke college at Providence, R. I. Daddy went along to help fix up her room the day Joan started school.

Parents Charged With Whipping Child

Mr. and Mrs. Mariano Fanelli of Camden, N. J., had to be guarded against mob violence when arraigned in police court on charges of beating their three-year-old daughter, Madeline. Recovering at a hospital from multiple cuts and bruises, the child showed the effects of a terrible thrashing.

CHAPTER XI—Continued

"I know," said Jane thoughtfully. "Bob, do they think that if that specialist comes it will save Judy's life?"

"It might. It—it's the last chance, Janey."

Janey hugged her knees. "Can't you borrow the money?"

"I have borrowed up to the limit of my securities, and how can I ever pay?"

Her voice was grim. "We will manage to pay; the thing now is to save Judy."

"Yes," he tried, pitifully, to meet her courage. "If they'll get the specialist, we'll pay."

She had risen. "I'll call up Mr. Towne, and tell him I can't dine with him."

"Eut, Janey, there's no reason why you shouldn't keep your engagement."

She had turned on him with a touch of indignation. "Do you think I could have one happy moment with my mind on Judy?"

Bob had looked at her, and then looked away. "Have you thought that you might get the money from Towne?"

Her startled gaze had questioned him. "Get money from Mr. Towne?"

"Yes. Oh, why not, Janey? He'll do anything for you."

"But how could I pay him?"

There had been dead silence, then Bob said, "Well, he's in love with you, isn't he?"

"You mean that I can—marry him?"

"Yes. Why not? Judy says he's crazy about you. And, Janey, it's foolish to throw away such a chance. Not every girl has it."

"But, Bob, I'm not—in love with him."

"You'll learn to care—He's a delightful chap. I'd say," Bob was eager. "Now look here, Janey, I'm talking to you like a Dutch uncle. It isn't as if I were advising you to do it for our sakes. It is for your own sake, too. Why, it would be great, old girl. Never another worry. Somebody always to look after you."

The wind outside was singing a wild song, a roaring, cynical song, it seemed to Jane. She wanted to say to Bob, "But I've always been happy in my little house with Baldy and Philomel, and the chickens and the cats." But of course Bob could say, "You're not happy now, and anyhow what are you going to do about Judy?"

Judy!

She had spoken at last with an effort. "I'll tell him to come over after dinner. We can ride for a bit."

"Why not stay here? I'll be at the hospital. And the storm is pretty bad."

She had looked out of the window. "There's no snow. Just the wind. And I feel—stuffed."

It was then that she had called up Towne. "I can't dine with you. . . Judy is desperately ill. . ."

The houseworker had prepared a delicious dinner, but Jane ate nothing. Bob's appetite, on the other hand, was good. He apologized for it. "I went without lunch, I was so worried."

The bell rang. Jane, going to the door, found herself shaking with excitement.

Frederick came in and took both of her hands in his. "I'm terribly sorry about the sister. Is there anything I can do?"

She shook her head. She could hardly speak. "I thought if you wouldn't mind, we'd go for a ride. And we can talk."

"Good. Get your wraps." He released her hands, and she went into the other room. As she looked into the mirror she saw that her cheeks were crimson.

She brought out her coat and he held it for her. "Is this warm enough? You ought to have a fur coat."

"Oh, I shall be warm," she said. As he preceded her down the stairs, Towne turned and looked up at her. "You are wearing my rose," he told her, ardently; "you are like a rose yourself."

She would not have been a woman if she had not liked his admiration. And he was strong and adoring and distinguished. She had a sense of almost happy excitement as he lifted her into the car.

"Where shall we drive?" he asked. "Along the lake. I love it on a night like this."

The moon was sailing high in a rack of clouds. As they came to the lake the waves writhed like mad sea-monsters in gold and white and black.

"Jane," Frederick asked softly, "what made you wear—my rose?"

She sat very still beside him. "Mr. Towne," she said at last, "tell me how much you love me."

He gave a start of surprise. Then he turned towards her and took her hand in his. "Let me tell you this: there never was a dearer woman. Everything that I have, all that I am, is yours if you will have it."

There was a fine dignity in his avowal. She liked him more than ever.

"Do you love me enough?"—she hurried over the words, "to help me?"

"Yes." He drew her gently towards him. There was no struggle. She lay quietly against his arm, but he was aware that she trembled.

"Mr. Towne, Judy must have a great specialist right away. It's her only chance. If you will send for him tonight, make yourself responsible for everything—I'll marry you whenever you say."

He stared down at her, unbelieving. "Do you mean it, Jane?"

"Yes. Oh, do you think I am dreadful?"

He laughed exultantly, caught her up to him. "Dreadful? You're the dearest—ever, Jane."

Yet as he felt her fluttering heart, he released her gently. Her eyes were full of tears. He touched her wet cheek. "Don't let me frighten you, my dear. But I am very happy."

She believed herself happy. He was really—irresistible. A conqueror. Yet always with that touch of deference.

"Do you love me, Jane?"

"Not—yet."

"But you will. I'll make you love me."

Then just before they reached home he asked for the rose. She gave it to him, all fading fragrance. He touched it to her lips then crushed it against his own.

"Must I be content with this?"

Her quick breath told her agitation. He drew her to him, gently. "Come, my sweet."

Oh, money, money. Jane learned that night the power of it!

Coming in with Frederick from that wild moonlighted world, flushed with excitement, hardly knowing this new Jane, she saw Bob transformed in a moment from haggard hopelessness to wild elation.

Frederick Towne had made a simple statement. "Jane has told me how serious things are. Heming, I want to help." Then he had asked for the surgeon's name; spoken at once of a change of rooms for Judy; increased attendance. There was much telephoning and telegraphing. An atmosphere of efficiency. Jane, looking on, was filled with admiration. How well he did things. And some day he would be her husband!

CHAPTER XII

It was two days after Jane promised to marry Frederick Towne that Evans bought a Valentine for her.

The shops were full of valentines—many of them of paper lace—the fragile old-fashioned things that had become a new fashion. They had forget-me-nots on them and hearts with golden arrows, and fat pink cupid.

Evans found it hard to choose. He stood before them, smiling. And he could see Jane smile as she read the enchanting verse of the one he finally selected:

"Roses red, my dear,
And violets blue—
Honey's sweet, my dear,
And so are you."

As he walked up F Street to his office, his heart was light. It was one of the lovely days that hint of spring. Old Washingtonians know that such weather does not last—that March winds must blow, and storms must come. But they grasp the joy of the moment—masquerade in carnival spirit—buy flowers from the men at the street corners—sweep into their favorite confectioner's to order cool drinks, the women seek their milliner's and come forth bonneted in spring beauty—the men drive to the links—and look things over.

And clients came. Not many, but enough to point the way to success. He had sold more of the old books. His mother's milk farm was becoming a fashionable fad.

Edith Towne had helped to bring Mrs. Follette's wares before her friends all hours of the day they did not sleep. Edith with them. "It is such a desirable place," she told Evans, "and your—mother! Isn't she absolutely herself? Selling milk with that empress air of hers. I simply love her."

Edith had planned to have dinner with them tonight. Evans took an early train to Sherwood. When he reached home Edith and his mother were on the porch and the Towne car stood before the gate.

"I've got to go back," Edith explained. "Uncle Fred came in from Chicago an hour or two ago and telephoned that he must see me."

"Baldy will be broken-hearted," Evans told her, smiling.

"I couldn't get him up. I tried, but they said he had left the office. I thought I'd bring him out with me." She kissed Mrs. Follette. "I'll come again soon, dear lady. And you must tell me when you are tired of me."

Evans went to the car with her, and came back to find his mother in an exalted mood. "Now if you could marry a girl like Edith Towne."

"Edith," he laughed lightly. "Mother, are you blind? She and Baldy are mad about each other."

"Of course she isn't serious. A boy like that."

"Isn't she? I'll say she is." Evans went charging up the stairs to dress for dinner. "I'll be down presently."

"Baldy may be late; we won't wait for him," his mother called after him.

The dining-room at Castle Manor had a bare waxed floor, an old drop-leaf table of dark mahogany, deer's antlers over the mantel, and some candles in sconces.

Old Mary did her best to follow the rather formal service on which Mrs. Follette insisted. The food was simple, but well-cooked, and there was always a soup and a salad.

It was not until they reached the salad course that they heard the sound of Baldy's car. He burst in at the front door, as if he battered it down, stormed through the hall, and entered the dining-room like a whirlwind.

"Jane's going to be married," he cried, "and she's going to marry Frederick Towne!"

Evans half-rose from his chair. Everything turned black and he sat down. There was a loud roaring in his ears. It was like taking ether—with the darkness and the roaring.

When things cleared he found that neither his mother nor Baldy had noticed his agitation. His mother was asking quick questions. "Who told you? Does Edith know?"

Baldy threw himself in a chair. "Mr. Towne got back from Chicago this afternoon. Called me up and said he wanted me to come over at once to his office. I went, and he gave me a letter from Jane. Said he thought it was better for him to bring it, and then he could explain."

He threw the note across the table to Mrs. Follette. "Will you read it? I'm all in. Drove like the dickens coming out. Towne wanted me to go home with him to dinner. Wanted to begin the brother-in-law business right away before I got my breath. But I left. Oh, the damned peacock! Jane would have known Baldy's mood. The tempest-gray eyes, the chalk-white face."

"But don't you like it, Baldy?"

"Like it? Oh, read that note. Does it sound like Jane? I ask you, does it sound like Jane?"

It did not sound in the least like Jane. Not the Jane that Evans and Baldy knew.

"Baldy, dear. Mr. Towne will tell you all about it. I am going to marry him, as soon as Judy is better. I know you will be surprised, but Mr. Towne is just wonderful, and it will be such a good thing for all of us. Mr. Towne will tell you how dreadfully ill Judy is. He wants to do everything for her, and that will be such a help to Bob."

"And so we will live happy ever after. Oh, you blessed boy, you know how I love you. Send a wire, and say that it is all right. Tell Evans and Mrs. Follette. They are my dearest friends and will always be."

She signed herself:

"Loving you more than ever, Jane."

Mrs. Follette looked up from the letter, took off her reading glasses, and said complacently, "I think it is very nice for her." The dear lady quite basked in the thought of her intimate friendship with the fiancée of Frederick Towne.

But the two men did not bask. "Nice, for Jane?" they threw the sentences at her.

"Oh, can't you see why she has done it?" Baldy demanded. He caught up the note, pointing an accusing finger as he read certain phrases. "It will be such a good thing for all of us. . . he wants to do everything for her. . . it will be such a help to Bob. . ."

"Doesn't that show," Baldy demanded furiously, "she's doing it because Judy and Bob are hard up and Towne can help—I know Jane."

"I don't see why you should object," Mrs. Follette was saying; "it will be a fine thing for her. She will be Mrs. Frederick Towne!"

"I'd rather have her Jane Barnes for the rest of her life. Do you know Towne's reputation? Any woman can flatter him into a love affair. A fat Lothario." Baldy did not mince the words.

"But he hasn't married any of them," said Mrs. Follette triumphantly. She held to the ancient and honorable theory that the woman a man marries need not worry about past love affairs since she had been paid the compliment of at least legal permanency.

Evans' lips were dry. "What did you say to Towne?"

"Oh, what could I say? That I was surprised, and all that. Something about hoping they'd be happy. Then I beat it and got here as fast as I could. I had to talk it over with you people or—burst." His eyes met Evans' and found there the sympathy he sought. "It's a rotten trick."

"Yes," said Evans, "rotten."

"I think," said Mrs. Follette, "that you must both see it is best." Yet her voice was troubled. Though her complacency had penetrated the thought of what Jane's engagement might mean to Evans. Yet, it might, on the other hand, be a blessing in disguise. There were other women, richer—who would help him in his career. And in time he would forget Jane.

Old Mary gave them their coffee. "Shall we walk for a bit, Baldy?" Evans said, when at last they rose.

The two men made their way towards the pine grove. The twilight sky was a deep purple with a thin sickle of a moon and a breathless star.

And there in the little grove under the purple sky Evans said to Baldy, "I love her."

"I know. I wish to God you had her."

Colorado Elk Herds Show Big Increase in Number

More than 20,000 elk, the greatest number since 1890, roam the slopes of the Rocky mountains in Colorado, despite the fact they have been the targets for hunters during 10 consecutive open seasons, the U. S. forest service reported.

The present elk population in 14 national forests in the state, which harbor approximately 95 per cent of the total number, has been estimated at 20,000 head by the regional office of the forest service here, writes a Denver United Press correspondent.

The figure represented an increase of 455 per cent since 1914. The computation was based on a study conducted by the division of wild life and range management of the federal service.

The most important factor in increasing the number of elk in the state, it was stated, was in closing the hunting season and providing protection for 10 years when it was apparent the herds were diminishing.

Even then, it was said, conservation of the animals was not started until four forests in the state were totally devoid of elk, and so few remained in three other forests that rigid protection precautions were necessary.

Remnants of the remaining herds and animals obtained from northern Wyoming were introduced into the elkless forests, and all hunting was barred for several years. Feed was provided during the winters when deep snow covered the mountains and every precaution was taken to eliminate disease.

The first elk placement was made in 1912 when 23 head were released in the San Juan forest in southwestern Colorado. During the following year 16 were placed in the Holy Cross forest to supplement an almost equal remnant of native animals. Twenty-eight animals were released in Roosevelt forest to create the nucleus of the vast herd now found in the region of Estes park.

The action produced such successful results, forest officials reported, that it probably would be several years before a hunting ban again would be placed upon the Colorado elk herds.

Origin of Name 'Yellowstone'
According to the Geological Survey the name "Yellowstone" is derived from its original French name, "Roche Jaune," meaning "yellow rock or stone," though by some said to be from the Indian word "Mi-tsi-a-da-zi," meaning "rocks on Yellow river."

SOUR TEMPER MADE SWEET

When you are cross, irritable, and grouchy; when you find fault with the coffee, the eggs, the bacon, and the cook, you may well suspect that you have a touch of biliousness or so-called "Torpid Liver," so prevalent in hot weather. All you may need is a little Calomel, or better still, "Calotabs," the nausealess calomel compound tablets that make calomel-taking a pleasure.

Calotabs give you the combined effects of calomel and salts, helping Nature to expel the sour stagnate bile and washing it out of the system. One or two Calotabs at bedtime with a glass of water—that's all. Next morning your system feels clean and refreshed, your head is clear, your spirit bright, and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you wish and go about your work or pleasure.

Genuine Calotabs are sold only in checker-board (black and white) packages bearing the trade mark "Calotabs." Refuse imitations. Trial package ten cents; family package only twenty-five cents, at your dealer's (Adv.)

All editors have to be careful what they publish or they might get a crack on the jaw.

The Scotchman wrote to the editor of a magazine: "If you don't quit publishing your jokes on my people I'll quit borrowing your magazine."

Great persons prove their big-ness of spirit in the simple art of being kind.
Not what we have, but what we use;
Not what we see, but what we choose;
Not what seems fair, but what is true;
Not what we dream, but what we do;
Not as we take, but as we give;
Not as we pray, but as we live.
These are the things that mar-

The sum of human happiness.

When President Roosevelt stated in his nation-wide radio broadcast that he "hated war", the president spoke the feeling of every red blooded American. In fact we should say every human being in the entire world with the exception of about half dozen war profiteers and about three or four Europeans who seek glory for themselves.

My earnest opinion is that our chances for getting into this awful war are slight. Anyway why should we when we never had a more serious group of congressional members than those who are in special session at Washington
now. Each member of this legislative body is fully acquainted with the fact that Great Britain or France doesn't need our "dough boys" but do need enormous amounts of food and supplies which we can furnish, and will proudly do so, on this cash and carry plan in discussion.

Did you know the man to whom the people of France have given their arms to command in the war darkened world of 1939 is none other than Maurice Gamelin, tactical advisor of Marshall Joffre's during the World War.

Maurice Gustav Gamelin, at 66, is rated at being by far the most outstanding war-trained officer now in high command. Today, he is at the head of the world's finest military machine. His responsibilities are not only national but international. Supreme Commander of all French armed forces, a title not held by any soldier of France since Napoleon I, he is also slated to become commander-in-chief of the armies of France, Great Britain and their allies in the event of war with the Axis.

It is reported General Gamelin is a world authority on Napoleon's movements and he quietly boasts he is able to recite every Army to send several delegates for this meeting. They will leave from Colorado by bus Saturday at 2 P. M.

A splendid program has been arranged with some of the conference officers planning to be present and taking part on the program. A great deal of business is to come before the group.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

BY JULIAN CAPERS JR.

AUSTIN—The difficulty with Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel's ambitious plan to raise $2,300,000 for old folks pensions by public subscription is practical, rather than legal.
The Governor announced he has submitted the plan to the Attorney General for a ruling on its legality. The Governor has not published the details of his plan but presumably it entails the borrowing of $2,300,000 to take up pension warrants now held by a syndicate of banks, which the State is pledged by law enacted by the last legislature, to begin retiring at the rate of $2000,000 a month in October. The lawyers think there is no way the state's credit could be pledged. A contribution to the fund, then, would literally be a gift.

He Will Find Them Cold
Inasmuch as practically nobody in Texas has $2,300,000 except the special interests which were so friendly to the Governor's plan to finance pensions with a sales tax upon the people at the regular session, to raise the money might prove an exceedingly difficult task. It is true that the sum represents only a small fraction of the actual cash savings which effect these special interests have effect in their tax bill by reason of the Governor's insistence upon a sales tax for pensions, which resulted of the special in defeat of all tax legislation. It is probably true, also, that the gratitude of the special interests toward a Governor who has seen eye to eye with them on a program of no taxation has been so warmly and frequently expressed, that Governor O'Daniel may think they would be willing, for his political sake, to donate $2,300,000.

But $2,300,000 is a lot of folding money. Those who have studied the operations in Austin of the special interests who dislike to pay taxes are unanimously of the opinion that Gov. O'Daniel will find them extremely warm when he is carrying the flag for their taxation program—an extremely cold and unappreciative when he starts talking about donating $2,300,000 to the old folks or anybody else. These interests have always exercised a strikingly effective control over their generous impulses, and so far as anyone here can see, they have not weakened noticeably in recent months.

Solons Have Edge
The Governor has continued to resist the rising tide of pressure from old folks and legislators for a special session, and in this stand he has been warmly supported by the special interests, chiefly because it would be impossible at a special session to submit a constitutional amendment that would protect the special interests, as contained in the famous SJR-12.
If O'Daniel does not convene the Legislature, it appears the old folks are simply out of luck until January 1941. The members of the House, who passed every tax bill introduced seriously, except SJR-12, have a pretty good political

"Can't Take It With You"

This is said to be an excerpt from a man's diary:
"This morning received my pay check. Afternoon paid outstanding bills. Evening, saw the movie 'You Can't Sounds rather hopeless, doesn't it. Of course you can't take your money with you, but if you are careful

FRESHMAN NEWS

The Freshman are glad to welcome Hugh Elliott back into their class. Hugh has been going to school the past week at Odessa.

We welcome to the freshman class Hubert Climmens.

JUNIOR NEWS

Last week the Juniors took a diagnostic test. This was made up entirely of English problems.

The Junior Class had a good representation in the football squad that tied the strong Roby team 0-0 last Friday.

SENIOR NEWS

For the second time this new year we, the Senior Class of 1940, greet you (and we mean you!). As you noticed, we're counting the weeks. This will be our last year in our Alma Mater, and we're trying to make the best of it—not being too sentimental—but to some of us it will seem like leaving home. It just wouldn't seem right not to mention some of the achievements the Seniors have made this year. First, all three cheer leaders are Seniors. Then we can't leave out that famous "L. H. S. Girls Trio. Two of the girls are in the trio, and the third has not been chosen. All members on the staff of "The School Bell Echoes" are Seniors except one. Now, please don't think we're conceited or boastful, we're only telling you what we have at the beginning—so you can expect something better—in the end.

It won't be long now until the latest Senior rings will be flashing before your bewildered eyes. Our rings are what may be called oblong. They are set with a blue stone. A gold eagle is mounted with a large gold L engraved beneath the L are the words, High School. 1940 is written on the sides. They are really a beauty.

Briggy: Winter seems to be here and with it comes skirts and sweaters. At the Roby game Friday Ruby Jo was seen wearing with fashion a brown skirt, green sweater, and tan plaid, tailored jacket, and a dinky little green snap brim hat. Well—here's where we sign off, so until next week we remain—Seniors.

BOW BOW WOW NEWS

The Loraine Pep Squad was organized September 15th: Mrs. McCasland was elected sponsor, and the leaders are: Wonnola Martin, Betty Johnson, and Jo Stewart.

So far the pep squad has been wearing black skirts and black blouses, pleated white flannel skirts and white wool sweaters will be worn by our leaders. They will wear all white with boots to to top it off.

We hope by the next game that we will have our new blouses which will be gold wool.

The drum corps is made up of the following students: Louise Hallmark, Wanda Faye Richey, Elizabeth Hock, Faye Chamness, Mary Frances Cope, Frances Rhodes, Aileen Hallmark, Doris Mahoney, and Wylene Brown.

The Pep squad has chosen two Bulldogs for mascots.

We're backing the Bulldogs 100 percent for the game with Snyder October 6th. We will be there yelling with all our power and also for the other games that are coming up. We want you to know

Installation and Communion Service Planned For Sunday Morning.

We have a special service next Sunday morning which will include the installation of all teachers and officers for our church school for the new year which began last Sunday. Following the installation service the communion service will be held. Every member is urged to be present for this service.

Sunday night Brother Hooten of Sweetwater will be with us. Come out and hear him. Following his message he will hold our fourth quarterly conference for this year. Let every steward, trustee, officer and teachers be present for this conference. This is a very important conference and the pastor urges all to have their reports for the year in hand.

We will be closing our conference year November 1st and our pastor will leave for Conference on November 15th at Lubbock.

The Board of Education has been doing some splendid work in preparing for the new year. They have worked hard and have had several meetings. We pray God's blessings upon all the teachers as they enter into their work on the new year.

The pastor will be in the pulpit Sunday morning for the installation service and communion. Let each member, boys and girls as well as adults be present for this service.

Sunday School at 9:45 A.M.
 Preaching at 11 A.M. and 7:30 P.M.

Pull the Trigger on Constipation, and Pepsin-ize Acid Stomach Too

When constipation brings on acid indigestion, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, sour taste, and bad breath, your stomach is probably loaded up with certain undigested food and your bowels don't move. So you need both Pepsin to help break up fast that rich undigested food in your stomach, and Laxative Senna to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels. So be sure your laxative also contains Pepsin. Take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative, because its Syrup Pepsin helps you get that wonderful stomach-relief, while the Laxative Senna moves your bowels. Tests prove the power of Pepsin to dissolve those lumps of undigested protein food which may linger in your stomach, to cause belching, gastric acidity and nausea. This is how Pepsin-izing your stomach helps relieve it of such distress. At the same time, this medicine wakes up lazy nerves and muscles in your bowels to relieve your constipation. So see how much better you feel by taking the laxative that also puts Pepsin to work on that stomach discomfort, too. Even finicky children love to taste this pleasant family laxative. Buy Dr. Caldwell's Laxative—Senna with Syrup Pepsin at your druggist today!

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

For the Canape Tray.—Hot deviled eggs are a novelty. Stuff hard-cooked egg halves with a mixture of relish and the yolks. Arrange each half on a small triangle of buttered toast and top it with a square of bacon. Broil or bake until the bacon is crisp. Then serve immediately.

Tempting Dish.—Candied sweet potatoes have a distinctive flavor if they are sweetened with honey. Sprinkle a few cashew or Brazil nut fragments over the tops just before serving.

When Egg Is Cracked.—Before boiling a cracked egg rub the shell with lemon juice. The egg albumen is quickly coagulated by the acid.

Save the Tablecloth.—Jars and containers left in the refrigerator should be wiped off with a cloth, nearly every day—to prevent them from leaving dark spots and rings on the kitchen table. The moisture which forms on the jars causes the spots and rings.

Drying Woollens.—To dry the children's woollen articles quickly, put them on a clean cloth and put the electric fan near them. Turn the garments frequently.

Orange and Pumpkin.—Orange blends well with pumpkin. Add a little orange juice or grated orange rind to your next pumpkin pie filling. A fourth of a teaspoonful is enough.

Children CONSTIPATED?

Give them Relief this Simple Pleasant Way!

Why force your children to take harsh, sickening medicines when they are constipated? Next time your youngsters need a laxative, do as millions of modern mothers do... give them Ex-Lax! No coaxing necessary, because Ex-Lax tastes just like delicious chocolate. What's more, it's a gentle laxative—kind to sensitive little tummies. It moves the bowels smoothly, easily... without forcing or straining. Ex-Lax is as good for grown-ups as it is for the children. At all drug stores in economical 10¢ and 25¢ boxes.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
Dean of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for October 8

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

THE FORERUNNER OF THE KING

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 3:1-17.
GOLDEN TEXT—Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.—Matthew 3:3.

When an earthly king visits his dominions or makes a journey to another land, great preparations are made for his coming. Everything is done to expedite his journey and to assure him of safety and comfort. The United States and Canada have recently had that interesting experience. The King of kings and Lord of Lords who in loving kindness and gracious condescension had come to earth to be our Redeemer had now grown to manhood and was prepared to enter on His public ministry. God sent John to be His forerunner to prepare the way and to herald His coming.

I. A Herald Prophetically Foretold (vv. 1, 3, 4).

The coming of John (usually called the Baptist) was of such vital concern to God that He had revealed it to His prophets hundreds of years before (see Isa. 40:3).

We should study and believe the message of the prophets. The same prophecies that pointed to John the Baptist and Christ's first coming also point to the second coming (Mal. 3:1-6; 4:1-6). We know the former took place, why should we doubt the fulfillment of the latter? We do well to take heed to the word of prophecy (II Pet. 1:19).

Let us also prepare the way of the Lord, not as John did, for his was a special ministry, but by making ways for the gospel to reach the hearts of men. We can remove hindrances and obstructions, preparing their hearts to receive Him as Saviour and Lord.

II. An Unusual Man with a Burning Message (vv. 2, 6-12).

What an arresting appearance John must have made as he emerged to the edge of the wilderness to present his startling message! God had kept him (like Moses and others) in the quiet of the desert where He could talk with him, away from the distractions of so-called civilization. This simple living had made John a striking personality, quite unusual and unconventional. The man who strives for such an appearance to attract attention is but a fool, but on the other hand, unconventionality will not destroy one's usefulness if he has a message from God.

The preaching of John was a burning message of repentance. There had been no prophetic message since the time of Malachi, and in the intervening 400 years the religious life of the Jews had settled down into a barren legalistic formalism. John came with a simple, practical, and plain-spoken indictment of sin, which led to repentance and which made religion vital and real again.

We know that the gospel of the grace of God in Christ goes far beyond the preaching of John. But we also know that the Church needs to get back to the proclamation of a vital heart-searching message, and some genuine old-fashioned repentance. Then we like John will bring men to Christ for salvation, for sanctification, for service.

III. A Humble but Privileged Servant of Christ (vv. 13-17).

The crowning event in the ministry of John was the recognition of Jesus as He came to be baptized. He was deeply conscious of his own unworthiness for this great work and pointed to the coming Saviour as the One in whom they should put their trust (vv. 11 and 14. See also John 1:29). John was not jealous of his own position, nor seeking his own advancement (see v. 3 and John 3:30).

To this faithful and humble servant came the inestimable privilege of baptizing the Saviour. The baptism of Jesus presents a mystery which we cannot fully solve. It is certain that He did not come to be baptized for the remission of sin, for He knew no sin. The best explanation seems to be that in His obedience to His Father He was willing to subject Himself to every ordinance of God—a spirit which is not too common, by the way, among His professed followers. He was not a sinner, but He took the sinner's place, and thus He both entered upon His ministry and pointed forward to that day when God made Him "who knew no sin" to be "made sin for us" so that "we might be made the righteousness of God in him" (II Cor. 5:21).

Gracious Amid Gloom

Yet for all my Lord's gloom, I find Him sweet, gracious, loving, kind; and I want both pen and words to set forth the fairness, beauty and sweetness of Christ's love, and the honor of this cross of Christ, which is glorious to me, though the world thinketh shame thereof.—Samuel Rutherford.

Perfection in Pies

There's something about a piece of really good pie, with its flaky, golden-brown crust and a filling simply oozing flavor and goodness, that makes it the crowning glory of a meal. Just a whiff of the fragrance of a juicy apple pie, or the sight of a quivering custard in a crust that crumbles at the first touch whets the appetite; and one glance at a slice of dainty chiffon pie, with its feather-light filling, is enough to make even a strong-willed calorie-counter forget his diet!

Making pies that achieve perfection isn't as difficult as it sounds. Standardized equipment (such as measuring cups and spoons) and oven thermometers and heat control have taken the uncertainty out of measuring and baking. With a proven recipe, good ingredients, standard equipment and some easily acquired technique, any woman can make good pie and make it every time!

Pointers on Making Pastry.

1. Unless you are making hot water pastry, have the ingredients for making pie crust cold.
2. Cut shortening into the flour, using a pastry blender or fork; or, if you're an experienced cook, and work quickly, blending in the shortening with fingers is permissible.
3. Add water sparingly, using only enough to hold the ingredients together. Handle dough as little and as lightly as possible after adding water.
4. Roll out the dough on a lightly floured board or on a heavy canvas. Cover the rolling pin with a child's white cotton stocking (with the foot cut off) and flouring it lightly simplifies handling the dough.
5. Place the dough loosely in the pan to help prevent shrinking.

Grandmother's Sour Cream Pie.

- 1 cup raisins (coarsely cut)
- ½ cup water
- ¾ cup sugar
- 1 cup sour cream
- 2 eggs (beaten)
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ¼ teaspoon salt

Combine raisins, water, and sugar, and simmer for 5 minutes. Mix the sour cream and the eggs, add the stewed raisins, vanilla and salt. Bake in a double crust at 400 degrees for the first 10 minutes, reducing the temperature to 350 degrees for 40 minutes longer.

Lemon Meringue Pie.

- 1 cup sugar
- ¼ cup cornstarch
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¾ cup cold water
- ¾ cup boiling water
- 3 egg yolks
- 1 tablespoon butter
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind

Combine sugar, cornstarch, and salt. Add cold water and stir until smooth. Then add boiling water and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is clear and thick. Cook 3 minutes longer. Beat egg yolks and stir cooked mixture into them. Add all remaining ingredients, return to flame and cook 1 minute. Pour immediately into baked pie shell. Top with meringue.

Meringue.

- 3 egg whites
- 6 tablespoons sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt

Beat egg whites partially; then add sugar slowly, beating until mixture is stiff. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees) for 18 minutes.

Flaky Pie Crust.

- (Makes 2 pie shells)
- 1½ cups flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¾ cup shortening
- 3 to 4 tablespoons ice water

Add ice water gradually, mixing only until the dough can be gathered up into a ball. Chill at least ½ hour. Roll out on a piece of canvas cloth which has been stretched taut over dampened table-top or bread board. Slip child's white stocking (without foot) over rolling pin, flour canvas and rolling pin, and roll out dough to ⅛-inch thickness. Fit lower crust in pie tin. If baking a one-crust pie, prick with fork, and bake in hot oven (450 degrees) 12 to 15 minutes.

Pumpkin Chiffon Pie.

- (Makes one 10-inch pie)
- 2 tablespoons gelatin
- ¼ cup cold water
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup sugar
- 1½ cups pumpkin (strained)
- ½ cup milk
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon ginger
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon clove

Soak gelatin in cold water for 5 minutes. Separate yolks and whites of eggs. Beat yolks until light, and combine with half of the sugar, the strained pumpkin, milk, salt, and spices. Cook over hot water until the mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Remove from fire, add gelatin, and stir until dissolved. Cool. When the mixture thickens, beat the egg whites until stiff but not dry, and gradually beat in the remaining sugar. Fold into the pumpkin. Pour into baked pie shell and chill, thoroughly before serving. May be served with whipped cream generously sprinkled with ginger-snaps crumbs.

Magic Mocha Nut Tarts.

- 2 squares unsweetened chocolate
- 1½ cups (1 can) sweetened condensed milk
- ½ cup strong coffee
- 1 cup walnut meats (cut fine)

Baked tart shells. Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add sweetened condensed milk, and stir over boiling water for 5 minutes or until mixture thickens. Add coffee, stir until thoroughly blended. Add chopped walnut meats. Pour into baked tart shells. Garnish with remaining chopped nuts. Chill before serving.

Custard Pie.

- (Makes 1 pie)
- 2 cups milk (scalded)
- 3 eggs
- 5 tablespoons sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- Dash nutmeg
- 1 pastry shell (baked)

Scald milk. Beat eggs slightly and to them add the sugar, salt, milk, and vanilla extract. Mix thoroughly and pour custard mixture into a well oiled pie plate. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) until custard is set—about 40 minutes. In a second pie plate, exactly the same size as that used for the custard pie, bake a one-crust pastry shell. Cool. Then when the custard is thoroughly cooled and just before serving, gently slip the custard right into the pastry shell. Serve at once.

If there's any one thing in the world that people like in the way of good things to eat, it's nothing more or less than hot breads. Hot breads get a man's vote every time!

Davis Is Appointed

Frank Davis, Itasca grocer, who has sold lots of Gov. O'Daniel's flour during the past few years, is the new member of the Board of Control, succeeding Claude Teer. Davis is 37. He has a reputation as a successful business man and civic worker in his home community, and managed O'Daniel's campaign in his district last year. Davis is the third flour merchant to be appointed to remunerative posts by O'Daniel, the other two being Harry Knox, Adjutant General, and T. B. Hill of Austin, member of the Industrial Accident Board.

Rules Humble Owes Tax

Comptroller George Sheppard has been advised by Attorney General Gerald Mann that Humble Oil & Refining Co., owes the State $730,130 in delinquent chain store taxes, and instructed to collect. Suit will be filed by Mann if payment is not made, which it probably will not be. Mann contends Humble's operation of 250 gasoline stations is taxable under the chain store tax law; Humble contends the operation is exempt. Mann spent four months investigating, before ruling Humble owes the tax.
