Open Beaches Bill Test Set In Galveston

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)— The State Attorney General's office plans to file suit here next week to determine if beach front property owners have the right to fence the public off Texas beaches.

Asst. Atty. Gen. James Rogers, head of the department's land office division, said the suit will be a test of the so-called open beaches bill passed by the last Legislature.

The suit is to be filed against Seaway Company Inc., owners of a resort development called Sea Isle on Galveston's West Beach. The company has built four fences to the water's edge.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson recently wrote the company:

"On behalf of the people of this state, formal demand is hereby made upon you to move these barriers within a reasonable length of time."

J. Sigmund Foreman, company president, replied "The Seaway Co. respectfully declines to remove its barriers as per your formal demand of Dec. 10, 1959."

In the past two years more than one-third of Galveston's 32 miles of beaches have been fenced off to the public. Residents in several coastal counties formed the Texas Beach Assn., with Isaac Arnold of Houston as president, to fight the movement and secure open beaches.

Decade Over? Maybe Not

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you are planning to let off some extra steam this New Year's Eve in the belief it's the end of the decade, think again. You could be wrong.

Of course you can take any New Year's Eve and call it the end of a decade. And tonight is certainly the end of the 1950s.

But if you follow that system of reckoning back to the beginning of the Christian era, you won't come out even. Your first decade will have only nine years in it. That's because the Christian Era began with the year 1.

Astronomers don't take any firm stand on when a decade expires.

"It's mostly a matter of semantics and personal choice," was the word today from astronomer Simone Gossner of the almanac office of the U.S. Naval Observatory.

"However, we do take a very definite stand on the matter of centuries, and, believe me, there's always a squabble at the turn of a century."

Paste the date in your hat right now: Astronomically speaking, the next century will begin Jan. 1, 2001 — not Jan. 1, 2000.

"The reason for our stand," Mrs. Gossner explained, "is that there is no year zero. Thus, the first century began with the year 1 and ended with—and included—the entire year 100."

And why is there no year zero?

"The reason is," she explained, "that the Western world of the Dark Ages never had a symbol for zero. It wasn't until about the 13 century that the zero came into the arithmetical reckoning of the Western world. The Arabs used the zero long before that — but communication was poor in those days."

Dating the beginning of the Christian Era is an arbitrary thing, she said.

"We consider that the Christian Era began Jan. 1 in the year 1 A.D.," she said. "But that doesn't correspond to the year of Christ's birth. Best current estimates are that the birth of Christ occurred somewhere between 4 B.C. and 8 B.C.

"The reason for the confusion is that the man who determined the beginning of the Christian Era, — a sixth century non-mathematician named Dionysius Exiguus who was an abbott of Rome at the time — made a number of errors."

Summing up the whole business, Mrs. Gossner said: "once you get involved in these things, you lose your mind."

Say Charge Merely Red Propaganda

By K C. HWANG

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — South Korea today denied a Soviet charge that a South Korean warship fired on an unarmed Soviet survey ship off the North Korean coast Monday.

The South Korean navy termed the accusation "another piece of the Communist' usual false propaganda."

The navy issued an initial statement saying that a North Korean ship probably carried out the attack by mistake and that the Korean Reds were trying to pin the blame on South Korea.

A navy spokesman also reported that South Korean navy ships had "sighted gunfire" in the area of the reported attack. But later both these statements were ordered deleted from the official navy statement on the charge. No explanation was given.

The navy said its ships do not operate as far north as the point of the alleged attack—30 miles off the North Korean coast and 36 miles north of the South Korean boundary.

The spot is more than 100 miles south of the course being used by two unarmed Soviet transport ships repatriating Koreans from Japan to North Korea. South Korea had threatened to use force to prevent the migration, but so far is not known to have interfered.

The Soviet charge, announced Wednesday night by the Soviet news agency Tass, said a South Korean warship of the "Big Hunter type, No. 205," fired on the hydrographic vessel Ungo, causing heavy damages and a number of casualties. Tass said the attacker then made off to South Korean waters.

Jane's manual on navies lists No. 205 as a former U. S. Navy sub chaser which was turned over to the South Koreans. The 136-foot ship carries one 40mm. and two 20 mm. guns.

Tass called the attack a "typical act of piracy on the high seas."

It warned that in the future "all due measures will be employed with regard to ships resorting to acts of piracy up to and including destruction."

Technical Era Ends; New Frontier Looms

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

The 1950s, time of technical triumphs, draw to a close tonight, and the world embarks on a new decade, on the edge of a strange, new frontier.

At midnight, men and women around the world will greet the dawning Sixties.

And as the eras shift, mankind had begun a different kind of struggle to reach the stars—no longer in spirit alone, but by physical prowess.

This was the challenging, still unfamiliar horizon of the new decade, born of a period of unprecedented mechanical advances —of rockets, satellites, automation and of computers that outraced the human mind.

But age-old problems, of peace and decency, still remained, and these, too, marked the occasion—legacies of the past, and responsibilities of the futures.

As the church bells and party-goers sound forth in celebration, there will be prayers and hopes that the time ahead will bring solutions. And signs, both for optimism and anxiety, were in view.

In international relations, moves were afoot to ease tensions.

There were other bright notes, too. Prosperity abounded, and leisure increased. Material comforts surpassed those of any civilization that ever existed, and religious institutions flourished.

New churches were springing up about as fast as shopping centers, bowling alleys, and spruce, suburban homes.

But it was also a juncture in history when towering material achievements created new dilemmas of their own.

Wider distribution of modern medicine saved and extended lives until overpopulation loomed as a problem. Streamlined agriculture piled up billions of dollars worth of American surpluses, but children starved in the Far East.

Men traveled by jet faster than ever, but saw less as they traveled.

Seeking to perfect the ultimate weapon, the world discovered it was contaminating the air even in peace. And so it has paused in its testing — uneasy, suspicious and uncertain about whether to continue.

All this was part of the outlook, as men faced the new decade, and looked back on the old one. To many, it was simply an occasion for fun and frivolity. But to others, it was a time for weighing prospects, and reflecting on a passing era, the changes made, the strides taken, the tasks undone.

What were the main features of the Fifties?

Notably, it was the decade when man cast his first, primitive vehicles into space, and glimpsed the far side of the moon. But the territory was still a dark, unexplored domain.

Science—the giant of the era—also dominated other realms. It licked polio, and learned to revive dormant hearts. It started a college boom in engineering and technical courses, and turned kids into amateur rocket-builders.

Science also moved into households, with gadgets and automatic dishwashers, and a big television screen that changed much family life into a spectator affair.

It was also a decade of the organization man, of efficiency testing, of management surveys, hidden persuaders, tranquilizing pills, personality adjustment, increased alcoholism, mental illness and divorce.

It was mostly a decade with a Kansas Republican, Dwight Eisenhower, in the White House. It was a time when the West saved South Korea from communism, and lost North Viet Nan, of Hungarian freedom fighters and revolution in Cuba.

It was a decade when the free world stood firm on Berlin, but saw its Middle Eastern alliance crumble. It was a time when America spent billions to contain communism, but communism grew stronger, even without Stalin.

It was a mixed, illuminating segment of history, of successes and frustrations. It was part of the story.

Western Europe One Family Now

By COLIN FROST

LONDON (AP)—Fashion - conscious French girls look to Italy for their shoes and sweaters.

Car-crazy Britons take the road in snazzy Citroens from France.

Christmas tables in Germany are piled with the products of a dozen countries.

That's a representative picture as booming Western Europe marches confidently into the new decade, more than ever a family despite occasional squabbles. From country after country, the year-end report is one of boom, with more prosperity expected.

Except in Italy, unemployment is negligible. For Italy it is an old, old problem, and the government is enticing northern industry to the impoverished south to help matters.

Only in Belgium, over-dependent on coal exports which few countries now want to buy, was the past year less then booming. Even there the recovery prospects are bright.

Paradoxically, the rival trade blocs which threaten to split west Europe's economy may actually help to unite it.

The year saw West Germany, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Italy and Luxembourg unite in a common market with tariffs reduced on trade between each other.

Britain and six other countries —Switzerland, Austria, Portugal, Norway, Sweden and Denmark—replied with a tariff cutting scheme of their own. It comes into effect in 1960.

Soon the two groups start talking together. If all goes well, the result will be lower tariffs everywhere.

Britain has taken a stake in the Italian auto industry and is building toys in Germany. France builds cars in Britain. Germany assembles radios in Britain.

American subsidiaries in a dozen industries are booming in countries of both European trade groups.

Nations Weather Seasonable Today

By The Associated Press

Generally cold, but seasonable, weather prevailed across most of the country today. No violent storms or heavy snowfalls appeared likely to mar the New Year's Eve celebrations.

Occasional rain or snow is in prospect for New Year's Day from the mid-continent into the Pacific Northwest. A warming trend is indicated in the middle and upper Mississippi Valley and New England.

Light snow fell during the night and morning in inland areas of the east from Kentucky and Tennessee northward over the Appalachians through Pennsylvania and New York into Vermont and New Hampshire.

Cold temperatures ranged from sub-zero readings in Idaho and Montana and showers continued along the Northwest coast. Light rain sprinkled the lower Rio Grande valley.

The storms and tidal flood that hit the Northeast earlier this week continued to inconvenience thousands of persons. Some 250 families in Hull, Mass., have been ordered to stay out of their flooded homes for a week. Sea water was 5 feet deep in a section of 2½ miles long and 1 mile wide in the town of 6,000 which has been declared a disaster area. The tidal flood which hit the Atlantic Coast from New Jersey to Maine caused millions of dollars damage.

Thousands of homes in upstate New York were without electricity and telephone service as a result of the sleet and snow storms.

All Of Texas Cloudy Today

By The Associated Press

Rain dripped occasionally Thursday from the lower Texas Gulf Coast northwestward into New Mexico. All of Texas was cloudy.

Temperatures were on a slow rising trend across the state and ranged at 4 a.m. from 30 at Dalhart to 65 at Brownsville.

The rising temperatures were expected to end abruptly Friday over West Texas with snow believed likely in the Panhandle by late Friday or Friday night.

Friday temperatures for East Texas and Central Texas were not in early forecasts for those areas, indicating possible doubt by forecasters.

Lowering temperatures and snow, meanwhile, were in the forecasts for neighboring New Mexico, Colorado and Oklahoma.

Weather-conscious Dallas, its annual Cotton Bowl football classic on tap for Friday—New Year's Day, had occasional rain expected from Thursday afternoon through Friday with Friday's high temperature expected to be around 60 degrees.

Rain or drizzle fell before daylight at Brownsville, Laredo, San Angelo and Wink.

Cotton Bowl Fete Opens

DALLAS (AP)— The music of two dozen bands boomed between Dallas' skyscrapers this morning as the glittering Cotton Bowl Coronation Parade wound through downtown like a gaily colored, 2½-mile-long serpent.

Thousands of spectators lining Commerce and Main streets were treated to an hour-long show that included the most lavishly decorated floats in Cotton Bowl history.

There were 65-foot-long floats bearing the princesses from each Southwest Conference school and Miss Syracuse. On a brilliant orange and white float in the position of honor at the end of the parade was the Cotton Bowl queen, pretty Diane Lander of the University of Texas.

Slaying Climaxes Argument Over TV

NEW BOSTON, N. H. (AP)— An elderly boarder killed his sleeping 81-year-old landlord with a baseball bat early today, climaxing a month-long argument over television programs. Then the killer collapsed and died of a heart attack.

Police identified the slayer as Alphonsus Bellefontaine, 72, and his victim as Frank Chandler, a retired farmer.

County Atty. Conrad Danais said the two men were arguing over which TV programs to watch ever since Bellefontaine began living in Chandler's home last October.

Two Cotton Bowl Gridders To Wed

DALLAS (AP)—Two Syracuse football stars, tackle Bob Yates and halfback Gerhard Schwedes visited the county clerk's office early this morning with their college sweethearts and obtained marriage licenses.

The couples are to be married at 11 a.m. Saturday in Perkins Chapel on the Southern Methodist University campus, one day after the Cotton Bowl game where Syracuse meets Texas.

Rate Plan In Effect

By The Associated Press

The State Insurance Board moved Thursday to put into immediate effect Texas' new auto-insurance program.

The board moved even as opposition to the plan apparently stiffened.

Chairman Penn Jackson rejected for a second time a request from Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo for a delay in putting the plan into operation. At the same time, Sen. Jarrard Secrest of Temple renewed his opposition to the program.

Hazlewood asked that the new rates not be put into effect until after a Jan. 14 hearing on the program. The board scheduled the hearing only after Hazlewood attacked the program in the first place.

Jackson, in Austin, said the Insurance Board sent the following telegram to Hazlewood:

"After careful consideration of your request to postpone the effective date of the Texas safe driving plan, the board is of the opinion that to postpone prior to Jan. 14 would work a hardship and injustice to many policy holders, agents, and companies and would be more confusing and harmful than beneficial."

The program is designed to reduce insurance rates paid by careful drivers and to increase the premiums of careless and accident-prone motorists.

Secrest continued bitter in his opposition to the plan. In Temple, the state senator said, "When this plan was being considered by the Insurance Board, I branded it as unfair and unworkable.

"Though my criticism was widely published at the time, the public and many officials have not realized until recently the extent of the order's injustice."

Secrest said the board's order was widely confused with a flexible rate bill he sponsored unsuccessfully in the last two sessions of the Legislature.

"My bill, which did not pass," he explained, "had a merit rating provision, but it was not based on the number of traffic tickets a driver received—but more realistically on the claims his insurance company had paid."

Secrest said the real issue is whether all insurance rates must continue to be rigidly uniform or whether they can be flexible so that companies may charge less than established rates. He called the "arguments about merit ratings . . . merely window dressing."

The Temple legislator predicted that the Legislature would act "decisively" in the matter at the first opportunity" if the board went ahead and put the program into immediate effect.

Expect Toll To Fall Short

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Department of Public Safety Director Homer Garrison said today the traffic fatalities for the Christmas-New Year's holiday period will fall 30 short of the predicted 111 toll if the present traffic fatality rate continues.

The DPS keeps a continuing count of motorcides and other violent deaths from 12:01 a.m. Dec. 23 through 11:59 a.m., Jan. 3.

At 10 a.m. today the DPS traffic death count was 56.

Garrison said the death figure is expected "to move considerably higher during the next few days as Texans enter the second long weekend of the holiday period."

He urged every driver to use "skill and common sense" in driving during the weekend.

"With utmost care thirty persons may live who otherwise may become motorcides in 1959," Garrison said.

Automobile Mishaps Kill 100 Per Day

CHICAGO (AP)—Auto accidents killed slightly more than 100 persons each day this year. An estimated 1,400,000 persons suffered disabling injuries.

The year's death toll was placed Wednesday by the National Safety Council at between 37,500 and 38,000. The figures were based on statistics for the first 11 months and a projection of them through December.

Last year 36,981 persons were killed and 1,350,000 were injured.

Yarborough Sees A Lively Session

By ED OVERHOLSER

AUSTIN (AP)—U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough left here today for Washington with a prediction the Democrats would assume a more militant attitude toward affairs of state.

"We've been too timid in Congress. That's not a criticism of one man but of the party," said Yarborough. He did not refer by name to his colleague from Texas, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson.

Yarborough said Democrats in Congress should not have to "play follow the leader" and await the recommendations from the White House.

He said he feels the session will be much livelier than in the past, "a real stemwinder."

He took issue during an Associated Press interview with figures released earlier this week by the Federal Reserve Board announcing that industrial production has been increasing about 10 per cent faster than realized. The board said during the past 12 years, production actually increased 4.1 per cent instead of 3.7 per cent according to the board's revised methods of calculations.

"What they're doing is putting five years of a Democratic administration in with seven lean years of Republican administration to come up with this propaganda. The gross production of this country has been going up less than 3 per cent a year under their administration.

"We can't keep ahead of other nations at this rate because their output is increasing faster. If the woefully mishandled fiscal affairs are pursued it will relegate us to the status of a second grade nation."

He said the Reserve Board figures "are as rigged as the faked TV quiz shows. What we need is a militant Democratic Party that will show to the country how these faked figures are being exploited. The trouble is that we have too many Pollyanna statements from the administration that everything is all right and there's nothing to worry about. We have a soothing syrup government."

He said by raising interest rates the Republicans had increased inflation and kept more money out of production.

Reds Invited To Join Study

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists of the Soviet Union and all other nations have been asked to help tap and study space information being sent back by the newest American satellite, Explorer VII.

The National Aeronautics and Space administration said Wednesday at a news conference it will furnish to any interested and qualified scientists the telemetry codes of the space traveler.

The codes would enable deciphering of radio signals from Explorer VII at observation points around the world before the radio transmission is turned off in another 10 months.

NASA said the 92pound Explorer VII, launched Oct. 13 from Cape Canaveral, Fla., is already yielding data that might help answer some questions about space radiation hazards, the world's weather and atmospheric gremlins that sometimes bedevil radio and other communications systems on earth.

Explorer VII is whirling around the earth at altitudes of between 345 and 670 miles and speeds varying from 16,000 to 17,000 miles an hour.

Here are some of its new space findings:

1. On several occasions it has recorded strange "sporadic" bursts of radiation between the two separate doughnut shaped zones of the Van Allen radiation belts that surround the earth. Scientists say they don't know whether these bursts would constitute further potential hazards for future space travelers.

2. Results from two different types of experiments involving cosmic ray studies may help man to cope better with geomagnetic storms and other atmospheric phenomena that sometimes raise hob with radio and other communications systems on the earth.

3. Explorer VII also has shown abilities to record the distribution of heat radiated back into space from the earth—that is, the heat the earth originally gets from the sun. This "heat balance" phenomenon plays a big role in brewing the world's weather because there are geographic variations in the amount of heat radiated back into space.

4. The satellite has picked up indirect evidence of cloud and storm areas as great as 1,000 miles across in the atmosphere above the earth's sunlit side.

WEATHER

SNYDER TEMPERATURES: High Wednesday, 57 degrees; low, 30 degrees reading at 7:30 a.m. today, 30 degrees.

East South Central and North Central Texas: Cloudy with occasional rain and rising temperatures through Friday. Scattered thunderstorms Friday afternoon or night.

Northwest Texas: Cloudy and cool with occasional rain this afternoon and tonight. Showers and turning colder Friday with snow in Panhandle late Friday or Friday night.

Southwest Texas: Cloudy and cool with occasional rain this afternoon and tonight. Scattered showers and turning colder Friday.

West Gulf: East to southeast winds 20 to 30 m.p.h. occasional gusts to near gale intensity south of 28 N. Rain showers through Friday. Cloudy weather and colder this week period.

Texan Winner In Liar's Contest

By BOB O'MEARA

BURLINGTON, Wis. (AP) — When a Texan says Texas hasn't got the biggest of everything, it's bound to be a lie.

Well, padner, there's a fellow named W. C. Cook in Wichita Falls who fibbed so well about what he says is a Lone Star shortcoming that he's done himself and his state mighty proud. Cook today was named world champion liar for 1959 by the famed Burlington Liars Club.

Cook topped this year's mountain of mendacity with a story pinned on—of all things—lack of wind.

Here's the lie he submitted to the club in its annual contest:

"You have heard of big winds. Well, last summer we had so little wind down here and I had to take down two of the three windmills on my ranch to get enough wind to operate the other one. And it hadn't taken down the wire fences that were obstructing the wind, that wouldn't have worked."

When the club awards an honorable mention, it may be stretching the term a bit. Nevertheless, the organization saw fit to pin that doubtful honor on three other tales, including one that proves the Arctic Circle has a dizzying influence.

"About the only crop we can't raise up in Manitoba is sunflowers," R. T. McCullough of Winnipeg, wrote. "Being so far north, we enjoy the midnight sun—and sunflowers following the sun around, twist their heads off."

Stretching a point further—even to getting oneself on a limb—is a common failing that occasionally extends itself even to the clergy.

For instance, the Rev. Ralph W. Heller of Transfer, Pa., notched himself an honorable mention with this falsehood:

"An ancestor of mine landed in Ohio in pioneer days, and cut down a hollow tree for his family to live in, while they cleared ground for a farm. It worked all right for him and his wife, but the kids were always getting lost, chasing squirrels up the hollow limbs."

An Air Force man lied his way into an honorable mention with one of the shortest entries in the club's files.

M. Sgt. William E. Leach of Bunker Hill Air Force Base, Ind., offered this comment, tied in with 1959 headlines:

"I firmly and implicity believe all TV commercials and panel shows."

Anti-Jewish Signs Spread

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) —More swastikas and anti-Semitic abuse appeared during the night in widely separated areas of Germany.

The sneak sign campaign, concentrated in northwest Germany during the past week, spread to Bavaria.

A court house in Scheinfeld, a small town in western Bavaria, was branded with several swastikas and the sign "Down with the Jews."

At nearby Ansbach, white swastikas were smeared on the houses of Jewish citizens, on a Roman Catholic church and on the City Hall. The symbols were accompanied by such words as "Gerjer."

Trees, street lights and a wall in Hanover were defaced with swastikas. Similar smears were reported at Nienburg.

Isolated anti-Jewish incidents were also reported in Britain and France.

Six-Jet Bomber Crashes In Spain

MADRID, Spain (AP) — A big six-jet bomber of the U.S. Air Force crashed and burned today while taking off from Torrejon Air Base. The four crewmen were killed.

The B47 of the Strategic Air Command's 93rd Bomb Squadron was returning to its home base at Homestead, Fla., after temporary duty at the joint U.S.-Spain air base 15 miles from Madrid.

Officials at Homestead identified the men as Capt. Alfred Z. Lobell, 34, the pilot, a native of Sacramento, Calif.; Lt. James A. Rasmussen, 29, navigator, of Carlisle, Pa.; Capt. Felix F. Flaitz, 35, instructor-navigator, Richland, Mich., and Capt. Albert J. Harding, 36, Seaside Heights, N.J.

Carr In Race For Attorney General

By JOE BENHAM

AUSTIN (AP)—House Speaker Waggoner Carr of Lubbock is the first announced candidate in the 1960 race for Attorney General of Texas.

Carr announced formally Wednesday in a statement distributed to newsmen here.

He followed this with a press conference held by telephone from Lubbock in which he said he is in the race regardless of what incumbent Will Wilson decides to do.

Wilson reportedly plans to announce his intentions in mid-January.

Carr, 41, said he decided on the race after considering a campaign for governor.

"I'm a lawyer and have a natural attraction for the office" of attorney general, he said.

Former Secretary of State Tom Reavley and Dist. Atty. Les Procter, both of Austin; Dallas Dist. Atty. Henry Wade; Houston Dist. Atty. Dan Walton and former Waco Dist. Atty. Tom Moore also have been mentioned as possible candidates for the office.

Carr said he feels he can finance and win "a hard campaign."

Asked who he thinks his opponents will be, Carr said, "I don't know who will be in the race. This is political season in Texas and in the tradition of Texas politics, I think there will be some activity."

"I am well organized around the state now, with county managers," Carr said. "This has not been a jumped-up decision."

Carr is serving his second term as speaker and his fifth term in the House. He is a former Lubbock County attorney and assistant district attorney in Lubbock.

"I am not running for office against anyone," he said. "The Texas choice is a choice of directions, not personalities."

"Texas cannot afford the luxury of public positions of leadership used solely for the personal ambitions of the incumbent," his statement said.

Carr told newsmen he did not have reference to any specific office holder when he made the remark.

"There has been too much indecision and hesitation at Austin," Carr said. "It is time for decisiveness and action and this will be the purpose and goal of my future service to Texas."

Ike Gets Report On Broadcasters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower has received the report he requested from Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers on deceptive broadcasting practices.

The report, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said contains recommendations.

It will be made public at 6:30 p. m., today.

Eisenhower asked for the report after hearings on Capitol Hill in September disclosed the rigging of various TV shows.

Hospital Gets Grant For Research Project

TEMPLE (AP)—Receipt of a grant of about $100,000 from the National Institutes of Health for a 5-year research project on digestive problems was announced Wednesday by Scott and White Memorial Hospital.

Dr. N. C. Hightower Jr., the hospital's chief of clinical research, said an attempt will be made to learn more about how the human digestive tract functions.

Shrimp Boat Burns In Galveston Bay

TEXAS CITY, Tex. (AP)—The shrimp boat Jambalaya caught fire, burned and sank at the Texas City dikes in Galveston Bay early today. No one was hurt.

Texas City firemen tried in vain to save the vessel, owned by Claude Washburn Jr., of Texas City. Cause of the fire was not determined.

California Girl Named Cotton Maid

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A golden girl from the Golden West, Sandra Lee Jennings, heads for Dallas today on the first leg of her travels as 1960 Maid of Cotton.

The 19-year-old University of California blonde from Riverside, Calif., won the title Wednesday night. She was picked over 20 other Cotton State beauties in the 22nd annual contest.

The tanned new Maid, a beauty contest veteran, is the daughter of Air Force Maj. and Mrs. A. M. Jennings. Jennings is stationed at March AFB at Riverside.

Linda Rice, 19, a blue-eyed Memphis State lovely, was named first alternate Maid. She's from Savannah, Tenn. Margaret Abernethy, 19, of Okolona, Miss., was chosen second alternate.

Sandra skipped happily onstage at City Auditorium when her name was called at the tense climax of the two-day contest, one of the nation's most sedate beauty judgings.

The only sign of tension on the 1958 Miss California was a sudden flush of perspiration that glistened on her face and trickled down her neck.

"I thought when I first came here that I wouldn't have a chance because I haven't got a Southern accent," she said.

The new Maid, winner of 75 swimming medals, succeeded Malina Berry of Stillwater, Okla. She will make a year-long international tour as cotton's "Ambassador of Fashion."

After her stop at the Cotton Bowl football game at Dallas New Year's Day, Sandra flies to New York to be outfitted with the wardrobe that she will haul around the world in 22 pieces of luggage.

The final was held before nearly 6,000 spectators who came by invitation only to City Auditorium.

Undesirable Aliens Deported By Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Interior Ministry announced Wednesday it has deported three Guatemalans and a Cuban woman as undesirable aliens.

It said Isidro Mendez Coronado and Enrique Morales Perez were in the country illegally after their permits expired; that Gilberto Garcia had been accused of theft; and that Gertrudis Arencibia Munoz was engaging in prostitution.

Gospel Songs On Program

Program for the all night sing scheduled tonight at the Ira Community Center will consist of Gospel Singing Convention songs, according to J. Lawrence Deavers, president of the Great Plains-Cap Rock Singers Assn.

Deavers said a report in Wednesday's issue of the Daily News which said the program would not be "strictly religious" had been misinterpreted.

The songs will be from the convention books, rather than hymns ordinarily used in church services, he said.

Singers from a wide area of West Texas are expected to attend the event tonight, which will usher in the New Year for the singers.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Allen, 2207 Forty-first Street are the parents of a daughter weighing 6 pounds and one ounce born at 2:02 a.m. Monday, Dec. 21 in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Amaca L. Lewis, 107 Ash Street, are the parents of a daughter weighing 6 pounds 8½ ounces born in Cogdell Memorial Hospital at 9:08 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hall are the parents of a son weighing 6 pounds 7½ ounces born at 9:35 a.m. yesterday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Civil War Gen. George B. McClennan was elected governor of New Jersey in 1877, thirteen years after he lost a presidential election to Abraham Lincoln.

Connelly, Caudle Get 30-Day Stays

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Two Truman administration officials have won another skirmish in their fight to stay out of prison.

The U. S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals Wednesday granted a 30-day stay of a mandate ordering Matthew J. Connelly and T. Lamar Caudle to begin serving two-year sentences for conspiracy in a tax case.

The court said the stay would remain in effect until the U.S. Supreme Court rules on the defendants' motion for a review of the appellate court's denial of a new trial.

Connelly was White House appointments secretary to former President Truman. Caudle was former chief of the Justice Department's tax division.

DECORATE slices of pizza, a popular canape favorite, with different garnishes and you'll have a treat that will make any get together successful. The complete pizza mix makes three 9-inch pizzas and success is insured even for beginners.

Pizza Makes Perfect Canapes For Entertaining

Contrary to popular opinion, pizzas are not the exclusive property of the teen-age crowd. They are a big item with grown-ups, as well. Hostesses, for instance, love to serve thin slices of gaily garnished pizzas as party canapes.

Anytime pizza is perfect to serve with hot punch. Therefore it behooves you to stock up on several packages of pizza mix. Devised by an internationally known chef, the complete package of pizza mix contains all the necessary ingredients and insures successful results even for beginners. Just follow the easy directions on the package: add dry yeast to warm water and then the crust mix to that. Leave it to rise in a warm place. This takes five minutes. Then flatten the dough out on a pizza pan or a square cookie sheet, spread the sauce on top and finish by shaking the grated Italian-style cheese over that. Bake for about 20 minutes. Serve hot and plentifully garnished. Remember— one package will make three 9-inch pizzas.

PIZZA CANAPES

1 packages complete pizza mix
1 can cocktail frankfurters
1 can shrimp
1 can rolled anchovies
1 can sardines
3 strips bacon, cooked
1 can cocktail meatballs

Follow directions on pizza mix package in making pizzas. Just before putting into oven arrange frankfurter slices, shrimp, anchovies, sardines, bacon strips, and little meatballs on top of pizza. Sprinkle cheese over all. Bake according to directions. Serve hot.

Applications For Nursing School Open Next Week

Women interested in attending the Cogdell Memorial Hospital School of Vocational Nursing must arrange to have their personnel interviews next week.

Bill Newsom, superintendent of the hospital, said that interviews for prospective students for the term beginning Feb. 15 will be conducted on Monday and Wednesday of next week. The time for the interviews will be from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. on each of the announced dates.

The personal interviews are required before students may take the aptitude tests scheduled for Feb. 14.

The current class will graduate on Feb. 5. Of the 25 who started in the class, 23 are still in school and are expected to graduate.

Enrollment in the school will be limited to 16 for the coming year, although there are no limits set on applications.

BAKED APPLES

INGREDIENTS: 6 medium-sized tart baking apples, ½ cup moist mincemeat, 1 tablespoon coarsely grated orange rind, 1 cup light brown sugar, 1 cup water.

METHOD: Wash and core apples; do not cut through blossom end. Pare a 1-inch strip of skin from around top of each apple. Mix mincemeat and grated orange rind; spoon into apple cavities. Place apples in baking pan— 10 by 8 by 3 inches. Stir sugar and water together in a small saucepan over low heat until sugar dissolves; bring to simmering. Pour syrup over apples. Bake uncovered, in moderate (375 degrees) oven until apples are tender when pierced with a fork — usually 45 to 60 minutes. Baste apples with syrup in pan a few times during baking.

Texans Still Observe The Legend Of Black-Eyed Peas

Dolichos Sphaerospermus and Vicia Faba have pretty black eyes, but are they beans or peas?

According to the volumes of interesting facts on file at the Library of Congress, it all depends.

Botanically, according to one authority, the Dolichos Sphaerospermus legume commonly called the black-eyed pea is actually a black-eyed bean. Some of the folks who grow them, call them beans.

On the other hand, the European broad bean—called Vicia Faba by its square name—actually is a pea.

One thing is certain, in a lot of southern homes remains a belief that eating black-eyed peas or beans spic ' with salt pork on New Year Day will fetch a lot of luck for the rest of the year.

In 1939, the governor of Texas was so black-eyed minded that he called for a Black-Eyed Pea Day. The festival was held at Centerville, it is said it was such a spurs-on hoe-down that got so exuberant it will never be attempted again.

A little research on New Year's celebrating shows old sailors who have read old books tell that in days gone by it was the fashion aboard ship to have the oldest tar clobber the bell eight times at midnight on Dec. 31. And right after that, the youngest cabin hand batted the bell another eight ties to usher in the New Year.

On dry land, people put on silly hats, toot horns and lift the cup of cheer. A lot of them, too get clobbered.

But according to most Texans we talked to they plan to cook up a batch of those southern black-eyed peas, maybe with salt pork on the side.

It's a sobering thought.

Greece is slightly smaller than Alabama in size.

Little Guy Happy He's Alive, But Uncertain About Future

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The little guy, any little guy going home this New Year's Eve, felt like taking a hop, skip and jump for being still alive. But he didn't.

He hadn't been skipping lately. He wasn't sure why. He felt a little uncertain. Not more than usual. He never really had felt cocky about anything in his whole life.

What he really felt uncertain about was next year and the years after it. He wasn't exactly sure why. He didn't always feel that way. There were times, but that was quite a while ago, when he felt like rushing into a new year.

How long ago was that? He didn't know. He could only guess. Maybe about the time he started walking instead of running for the bus, about the time when he felt stiff when he got up off the sofa.

He told himself: That's simple enough. I'm getting older. Used to be I never had any doubts I'd be around all through next year and the next 10 years and the next 20. Not any more.

He'd been seeing too many guys his own age disappearing. He was beginning to get that thing he called the twinge of mortality.

He told himself this concern about whether he'd be around long was only part of what gave him that unsure feeling about the 1960s.

It was the sense of newness in the world of the 1960s. More than that. He was heading into an unpredictable world. He could look back over his life now and one thing struck him: How usual all the previous years were.

He could always look forward, each New Year's Eve, to the coming year and know it wouldn't be much different from the one just departing.

He could remember how it was: planes flew, trains ran on coal and oil, automobiles ran on gasoline, there were some improvements in medicines.

Suddenly he could remember how surprised he was one time. That was when radios first came in. They changed family habits, all right. Then there was TV. Same thing went for the old silent movies, then the talkies.

Looking back, those seemed the biggest changes. But now he didn't know what to think with jet planes faster than the planes he knew, missiles faster than planes of any kind, all kinds of new things lying ahead.

He felt as if suddenly the world had begun moving too fast for him. He wondered, no matter how long he lived now, whether he would ever get used to the new things.

Suddenly he wished he was younger. He saw the younger people, all walking right ahead into the future, as if it belonged to them and they were its masters. He didn't feel that way.

Yet, he thought, he used to feel that way. He began to feel mixed up in his thinking. He had to laugh to himself. Being mixed up in his thinking wasn't new with him. He'd always been a little mixed up.

Nuevo Laredo Club Likely To Bow Out

NUEVO LAREDO (AP)—Herberto Rodriguez Sada, owner of the Nuevo Laredo club in the Class AA Mexican League, said Wednesday the club probably would bow out of the circuit.

Rodriguez told a news conference the team had lost money steadily and that he could finance it no longer.

The newspaper El Universal said the franchise may be sold to Puebla unless efforts of a Nuevo Laredo group to buy it from Rodriguez succeeds.

Homemade Hangover Best Yet

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)— Classless America tonight will be divided into two classes.

They will consist of people who intend going to a New Year's Eve party even if it kills them, and people who say, "I wouldn't be caught dead at a New Year's Eve party."

The second group is distinctly intellectual and highbrow. Its members dismiss as lowbrow and mentally childish anyone who enjoys anything as incredibly gauche and naive as a New Year's celebration. Your true highbrow would rather lose a front tooth than be found enjoying himself in public fun.

However, there are a number of constructive ways to spend New Year's Eve without imbibing yourself blind at a raffish and raucous party.

Here are a few tips:

If you have been postponing having your appendix taken out, tonight is the time to have it removed. There is no safer place on New Year's Eve than a good hospital. And your surgeon will thank you. You will have kept him from starting 1960 with a hangover.

Mold an old-fashioned taffy pull in your kitchen. By the time you scrape the sticky stuff off your hands, it will be after midnight.

Get out a pad and some pencils and begin figuring how you can pay your Christmas bills and still meet your income taxes. Before you know it you'll be worn and drawn—and it'll be dawn.

At 9 p.m. sit down and start making a list of all the wonderful things that happened to you in 1959. At 9:05 p.m. take glass of warm milk and a sleeping pill, and go to bed.

You and your wife each take a volume of an encyclopedia and take turns reading exciting passages aloud to each other.

Fill a picnic cooler full of cold beer and drink it as you lay stretched out all lone on the floor in front of your television set watching its program visits to public New Year's Eve revelries. Be sure to sneer throughout.

Between You And Me

By Jerry Jackson

The bowl contests coming up—and those which have already been played—are unique in one particular phase, in that they match each and every one of the top 12 teams in the country

All twelve—count 'em!

A quick rundown shows that Syracuse (1) goes up against Texas (4) in the Cotton Bowl, while Mississippi and LSU, numbers two and three, respectively, interlock in the Sugar.

Georgia (5) sharpens it spurs against Missouri (18) in Miami's Orange Bowl, and Wisconsin (6) tries Washington (8). TCU, rated seventh in the final poll, fell victim to eleventh-rated Clemson in the infant Bluebonnet Bowl of last week.

Going on down the line, we find Arkansas resting in the ninth position facing unrated Georgia Tech in the Gator Bowl, which will be played January 2 instead of New Year's Day. Rounding out the dandy dozen are Alabama (10) and Penn State (12), a pair of teams who met in the initially staged Liberty Bowl. Penn State slipped by the you-all boys in that one, 7-0.

Tie-Ups Failed To Foul Up Picture

WHAT BROUGH ON these perfect matches this year? Several factors contributed to the high caliber match-making, but foremost in the list of whys and wherefores is that bowl committments and tie-ups failed to fade the lustre as has been so common in the past.

These tie-ups often assure the appearance of conference champions for certain bowls, but at the same time prohibit worthy members from participating in other bowls to which they might be extended an invitation. For example, the West Coast Rose Bowl is married to the Big Ten, the Orange Bowl visitor's slot is assured the Big Eight kingpin, the Sugar Bowl is semi-morally obligated to utilize the Southeast Conference top dog (although this year's champ, Georgia, landed in the Orange), and the Southwest Conference assures its champion the host spot in the Cotton Bowl.

Also, this season's collegiate record is unusual, in that none of the top teams were boycotted, or were of the type which shun bowls and remain aloof from same. Army is a prime example of this Greta Garbo outlook, while Navy only recently broke the bowl barrier. However, neither of these perennially strong elevens was able to break into this year's top twenty, which was quite a sports oddity in itself.

Another "fer instance" is that Oklahoma, whose Big Eight championship from year to year is little more than a foregone conclusion, was forbidden to make the Orange Bowl trek this year, since that conference's representative is prohibited from playing there in consecutive years.

Of course, the Sooners aren't too bowl-worthy a team this year, anyway, having posted an anemic (for them) 7-3 record for the season. But nevertheless Missiouri will be fighting for survival against a strong once-beaten Georgia team in that bowl, even though their 6-4 record also reflects a lack of good red corpuscles somewhere down the line. This pairing could prove to be the only mis-match of the day.

Hmmmmmm . . .

AS IS THE SOMEWHAT redoubtable privilege of so-called sports writers the world over, the time has come for the predicting of the outcomes of the various holiday contests, so, with saw in hand, I shall now proceed out on the well-traveled limb.

COTTON BOWL (Texas, 9-1 vs. Syracuse, 10-0). Syracuse is hungry, having yet to win its first post-season game, while its national prestige blue-ribbon is also "on the block" as an added incentive. On the other side of the fence, the Steers have a respectable 5-2-1 bowl record to preserve, and will be trying to atone for last year's humiliating 39-7 loss at the hands of Mississippi in the Sugar tilt. Too much at stake for the Yankee upstarts, though. Syracuse to win, but by a smaller margin than the two touchdowns by which they're favored.

SUGAR BOWL (Mississippi, 9-1 vs. LSU, 9-1). Ole Miss gave up a total of three touchdowns the entire season, 6ne of them being to the Tigers on Billy Cannon's 89-yard run, which was good enough for a 7-3 victory. Cannon may score again New Year's, but it won't be enough this time. Mississippi should win going away, by about a pair of touchdowns.

GATOR BOWL (Arkansas, 8-2 vs. Georgia Tech, 6-4). It would be unwise to be "taken in" by those four losses suffered by the Engineers, as all were to tough opponents, with the biggest margin of defeat being a measly seven points in the season's finale against Georgia. Also, Tech has appeared in bowl games on eight previous occasions, and has yet to taste defeat in same. On the other hand, the Razorbacks of Coach Frank Broyles had only a single lapse during an otherwise illustrious season, it being a 28-0 rout at the hands of Ole Miss, the other loss being a single-pointer to Texas in a game which could have gone either way. Since the Mississippi massacre the Hogs have gathered steam, however, and should slip by the Engineers. Let's say by a touchdown.

ROSE BOWL (Wisconsin, 7-2 vs. Washington, 9-1). This shapes up as a battle between two highly rated quarterbacks— Dale Hackbart of Wisconsin and the Huskies' one-eyed wonder, Bob Schloredt. Hackbart and cohorts should win it in a close one, having survived a much tougher regular season schedule. Wisconsin, by no more than a touchdown.

ORANGE BOWL (Georgia, 9-1 vs Missouri, 6-4). Georgia should have its way in this one, but won't run roughshod over the Missourians. The Bulldogs by about 14, as they will romp, but not stomp.

SUN BOWL (North Texas State, 9-1 vs. New Mexico State, 7-3). In this game played today, the NT crew has been established a solid 8½ point favorite to down the Aggies. Both capped off their regular seasons with impressive wins, as the Eagles knocked Drake around to the tune of 62-2 and the New Mexico lads romped to a 55-0 triumph over the University of Mexico. Both possess high-scoring, wide-open outfits that should produce a variety of fireworks to offensive-minded football fans. In my "upset of the week"—New Mexico State by a whisker.

Tiger Takes Chi Decision

CHICAGO (AP) — Dick Tiger, muscular British Empire middleweight champion, has joined the growing list of the "I beat Holly Mims club."

Tiger stalked the veteran Washington, D. C., battler from pillar to post in the Chicago Stadium ring Wednesday night to carve a 10 round decision in the nationally television bout.

It was Mims' third straight defeat since October, leaving the partime Post Office employe with a 46-21-6 record and still trying to regain the top 10 ratings of the National Boxing Assn.

Tiger, ranked 6th by the NBA, failed, however, to collect a unanimous decision. Under the five-point must system, referee Bernard Weissman called it a 47-47 stalemate.

Judge John Bray favored Tiger 48-43 and Judge Harold Marovitz had the 30-year-old Nigerian ahead 49-43. The Associated Press scored for Tiger 47-45.

The victory was Tiger's 36th. He has 9 losses and 2 draws.

Ags Rally To Dump Mustangs In Finals

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP) — If a preseason tournament that is unpopular with most of the coaches means anything, Texas A&M and Southern Methodist will have quite a battle in the Southwest Conference basketball title chase that gets under way next Tuesday.

The undefeated Aggies rallied beautifully Wednesday night behind a brilliant sophomore, Carroll Broussard, to come from behind twice in the closing minutes and defeat the smooth-working Mustangs 58-55 in winning the ninth annual tournament's championship.

The victory sends A&M into its conference campaign Tuesday night against Baylor with an 8-0 record.

Arkansas defeated Texas 68-58 for third place in the tournament, while Baylor defeated Texas Christian 70-54 for fifth place. Texas Tech took seventh place with a 79-67 victory over Rice.

An overflow crowd of 6,000 threw seat cushions onto the floor a couple of times in the hysterical closing minutes of the Aggie-Mustang struggle.

Broussard and Wayne Lawrence teamed to erase a nine-point deficit and take the lead at 53-51 on a Broussard jump shot with less than four minutes to play. A tip in by Jan Loudermilk, a sophomore Mustang forward, regained the lead for SMU at 54-53 with 94 seconds remaining.

Loudermilk then fouled and drew an added technical foul remained and the Aggies called time out to map strategy that worked even though Don Stanley missed the first free throw. Broussard then took over at the free throw line and tied the score at 54-54.

The Aggies got the ball out of bounds as a result of the technical and played for one shot — by hit a long jump shot that proved to be the clincher with 12 seconds to play and the aggies were in front, 56-54.

Loudermilk added a free throw for SMU with two seconds left but Lawrence sank two for A&M after being fouled on the final play of the game.

Broussard hit 26 points against the Mustangs and his 73 points for three games led to his being selected overwhelmingly as the tournament's most valuable player.

Others named to the All-Tournament team were Lawrence, Steve Strange and Max Williams of SMU, Carroll Dawson of Baylor, and Jay Arnette of Texas.

On the second team were Ronnie Garner and Clayde Rhoden of Arkansas, Wilbur Marsh of SMU, Bobby Tyler of TCU, and Del Ray Mounts of Texas Tech.

Heap Of Throwing Expected By Ben

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Syracuse Coach Ben Schwartzwalder expects Texas to throw the ball in the Cotton Bowl tomorrow.

It would appear a logical assumption although Coach Darrell Royal of Texas won't confirm it. If there is a chink in the armor of the mighty Orangemen, basking in the spotlight as national champions, it's pass defense.

But that weakness isn't much to work on. Syracuse has allowed an average of only 19.3 yards on the ground and 76.9 in the air. Texas has given up 159.1 rushing and 88.4 passing. So perhaps Texas had best be worrying about its own pass defense rather than Syracuse's.

But pass defense is the only trouble encountered by the Orangemen. Thus Texas, looking at that grudging allowance on the ground, is perhaps taking the best course it can think of.

Texas passed little during the regular season but came out very well when it did, getting nine touchdowns in 86 attempts. Syracuse made 12 in 160.

Bobby Lackey, the Texas quarterback, has done most of the passing, completing 11 of 23 for 142 yards and two touchdowns. But it's not Lackey that Syracuse fears the most. Texas has a couple of halfbacks, Jack Collins and Rene Ramirez, who are adept at the running pass.

Syracuse is pretty good at intercepting passes, which might make Texas hesitate at all-out throwing. The Orangemen have grabbed off 19 enemy aerials in 10 games.

What either team's offensive maneuvers will be wasn't indicated in yesterday's brief drills. Both Syracuse and Texas flew in in time for workouts on Cotton Bowl soil. The Orangemen came from Houston, Texas from Austin.

Both coaches were cheerful and optimistic. Each predicted a "great game" and Royal thought it would be close. The odds still are 12½ points favoring Syracuse.

The Weather Bureau continued to foresee mild, cloudy conditions without rain for the game tomorrow but was watching a front in the West that might bring scattered showers.

Title Bout Site Is Set

NEW YORK (AP) — The Ingemar Johansson-Floyd Patterson rematch for the heavyweight boxing title will be staged at New York's Polo Grounds in mid-June.

Attorney Roy Cohn's group announced the site, with a target date sometime between June 13-23, and applied for a promoter's license Wednesday. The exact date probably will be decided when Johansson comes to New York Jan. 10 to settle final details of the return bout.

Dieter Krause of the North Carolina freshman basketball team came to this country from Germany when he was eight. He lives in Norfolk, Va.

'Big O' Runs Wild In Cincy Victory

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

California's Golden Bears have done it again, whipping West Virginia in a rematch of last season's NCAA title game, and Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson once more has proved the No. 1 player in college basketball.

The Bears, who beat West Virginia by one point last March, did it big this time, checking All-America Jery West with eight points and thumping the previously unbeaten Mountaineers 64-45 for the Los Angeles Classic title. It was the 25th consecutive victory, nine this season, for California, which holds the only two decisions over West Virginia (10-1) in 23 games.

Robertsom bagged 50 points in a record-breaking performance that kept Cincinnati unbeaten and brought the top-ranked Bearcats a 96-83 victory over Iowa for the ECAC Holiday Festival crown in New York. The 6-9, two-time All-America set ECAC game and tournament records with his half-a-hundred points. He scored 25 as Cincinnati overhauled an 11-point Iowa bulge midway in the first half with a 33-9 tear in 8 minutes.

Cincinnati (9-0), West Virginia and California were ranked 1-2-3 in this week's Associated Press poll.

California's tough defense, breaking up West Virginia's running game, held the Mountaineers to just 39 field goal attempts, and they connected on but 15 of those. The 6-4 West, shackled with his lowest collegiate total after scoring just one point in the first half, managed only one fiel goal—and he didn't get it until only 4 minutes were left.

Darrall Imhoff was voted the most valuable player in the first Los Angeles Classic, although scoring just five points against the Mountaineers. The 6-10 towhead paired with 6-4 Bill McClintock, who was high scorer with 23 points, to give California full command under the boards.

Robertson, at his fabulous best as he came within six points of matching the Madison Square Garden record he set two years ago, played superbly on defense, grabbed 13 rebounds and had four assists for most valuable player honors.

The Hawkeyes, who led Cincinnati 37-35 for the fild but sank only nine of 22 foul shots, were topped by Dave Nelson, a 6-6 soph who scored 25 points.

Oscar's three-game total of 122 points bettered the 106 high set by St. Bonaventure's Tom Stith, who scored 42 as the Bonnies whipped St. John's 95-78 for fifth place. Stith had set the one-game high with 48 Monday.

Here's how the other major tournaments came out:

Dixie Classic—Wake Forest 53, North Carolina 50

Big Eight—Iowa State 83, Kansas 70

Southwest—Texas A & M 58, Southern Methodist 55

All-College—Utah State 75, Oklahoma City 59

Sugar Bowl—Western Kentucky 71, Tulane 67

Richmond—South Carolina 86, Lafayette 85

—Gator Bowl—Georgia 80, Florida State 66

WCAC—Los Angeles Loyola 70, Santa Clara 61

Wake Forest tried a freeze that kept the game scoreless for the first 12 minutes, then outlasted North Carolina's frantic finish to upset the Tar Heels on the fine ball handling and scoring of Billy Parker.

Iowa State's sophomores, whipped along by Vinnie Brewer's 21-point job, hit for a .571 field goal percentage against favored Kansas. The Jayhawks had the high scorer in 6-9 Wayne Hightower, who counted 24.

Soph Carroll Broussard twice brought unbeaten Texas A & M (8-0) from behind and clinched their second straight title with three points in the last 47 seconds.

Max Perry, a 5-10 backcourt ace, paced Utah State with 20 points against host Oklahoma City, the defending champ.

Western Kentucky gave Coach Ed Diddle the 700th victory of his 38-year career with the Hilltoppers, shutting off Tulane with 12 points in the last 12 minutes at New Orleans.

Mike Callahan scored 35 points and sank the winning basket with just 7 seconds left for South Carolina after Lafayette had come from 19 points back to take the lead. Georgia sank 23 of 26 free throws to beat Florida State at Jacksonville, Fla., after blowing all but three points of a 19-point bulge. Loyola of Los Angeles, led by Ed Bento's 31 points, upset Santa Clara 70-61 at San Francisco.

Tough Game Anticipated By Broyles

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — If Georgia Tech stops the Arkansas running attack in the Gator Bowl football game Saturday, the Yellow Jackets had better be ready for a lot of Arkansas passes.

The warning comes straight from Frank Broyles, coach of the Southwest Conference Razorbacks who have been working out in Jacksonville since Monday.

Coach Bobby Dodd and his Georgia Tech players arrive today for the 15th annual Gator Bowl game.

"We will try to play our normal game," said Broyles. "I've seen too many teams try new stuff in post season games and fall flat. Our normal game means quite a bit of running — with a running pass.

"We are not known too much as a passing team."

Broyles says Tech's 6-4 season mark compared to Arkansas' 8-2 mark doesn't mean anything.

"If Tech had been in good physical shape all year, its record would have been 8-2 or 9-1," said Broyles, a former Tech assistant.

The game, expected to draw a capacity crowd of 42,000, is rated a tossup among the professional oddsmakers. It will be televised nationally (CBS). The kickoff is set for 2:15 p.m. (EST).

The longest Big Ten run from scrimmage last season was turned in by Northwestern's Ray Purdin. He went 85 yards against Michigan.

SWTS Is AAU Champ

DALLAS (AP)—Southwest Texas State is champion of the Southwestern AAU Basketball Tournament and also has become the favorite in the Lone Star Conference race.

The Bobcats whipped East Texas State, a prominent contender in the conference race 82-43 Wednesday night to win the AAU title as Boonie Wilkening flipped in 23 points.

Charles Sharp, the Southwest Texas Little All-America who had scored 53 and 29 points respectively in the first two rounds, was held to five points.

Texas Wesleyan beat Trinity 98-82 for the consolation championship, and Wayland beat Midwestern 38-28 for third place. Pan American nipped Austin College 55-53 for seventh place.

Longest punt return in the Big Ten Conference last season was turned in by Darrell Harper of Michigan. He went 83 yards against Minnesota.

Sugar Foes Are Ready And Waiting

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—There's an expression among race horse trainers to get their charges "just as fit as hands can make them." Well, that would just about apply for Mississippi and Louisiana State for their meeting Friday in the 26th Sugar Bowl football game.

In the case of LSU, this took some doing. Halfback Johnny Robinson's left hand will be encased in a special foam rubber cast, due to a fall in a scrimmage session last week. But the Tiger training staff gave up on field goal specialist Wendell Harris, out with a broken arm.

Mississippi Coach Johnny Vaught, eager to make amends for the 7-3 whipping his Rebels took from LSU during the regular season, reported his crew in top shape, lending strength to the seven-point favoritism accorded Mississippi.

LSU Coach Paul Dietzel hasn't been waving the crying towel, but he stressed the LSU injury list. "When you meet a team like Ole Miss, you need everything you've got, and then some," he said.

Three Killed In Brick Plant Blast

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A pressure cooking oven at a brick plant blew up Wednesday, killing three persons. Seven workmen were injured seriously.

The oven, moved 30 feet by the blast, crushed the house of the plant foreman. His 11 year-old daughter died in the wreckage.

A heavy hatch, blown 150 yards, decapitated a workman. Another hatch killed a man passing the plant on a bicycle.

The ceiling and walls of a factory building caved in on 44 workmen, but only seven were injured seriously.

Junior Editors Quiz on TIME

QUESTION: How do we base our time system?

• • •

ANSWER: From his very earliest days, man has used some system or other to mark the passage of time. There is reason to believe he used changing seasons to note the passage of great spans of time, and then later learned to divide even days and nights into small units of time.

For instance, the Indians designated a space of time by referring to "moons" or would designate two days by saying "two suns."

The sun dial, which measured daylight hours, was developed from the practice of observing shadows cast by trees.

Time has been measured by sand clocks, water clocks, mechanical clocks, candles, dials, the passage of stars. Geologists and other scientists today use deposits of uranium in the earth as a sort of clock. They can tell how old a mineral is by the percentage of uranium-radium-lead it contains.

There used to be different ways of measuring the beginning of the day, but in 1925 an international agreement was reached to begin each day at midnight.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: See if you can construct a simple sun clock. Put a stick or short pole in the center of a circle which has been divided into 12 equal parts. The spot where a shadow falls at noon should be toward the north.

Author Heads Speakers For Youth Group

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A best-selling author—Dr. Evelyn Millis Duvall of Chicago—headed a list of speakers today before the International Youth Conference of the Augustana Luther League.

Some 4,500 teen-agers from 35 states, Canada and nine other countries are attending the meeting which opened here Wednesday. It continues through Sunday.

The Rev. Dr. Malvin H. Lundeen, president of the church, delivered the keynote address at the opening of the 18th conference. He said thre were three decisions very young person must make in facing adult life.

"These decisions," Dr. Lundeen said, "include the choice of a master, the choice of a life's work, and the choice of a life's companion."

He said to help young people come to a personal encounter with Jesus Christ and to continue in it "must be the heart of the ongoing task of the church and all programs for youth."

"We are called to remember Jesus Christ," he said, "not only because of His creative and redemptive work in the past, but because in the present He has given people everywhere the richest fulfillment of purpose of life—the promise of an eternal destiny."

Dr. Duvall, today's leading speaker, is a family educator, lecturer and author of "Facts of Life and Love for Teen-Agers." Besides speaking on "Preparation For Marriage," she was to lead two discussion groups on family affairs.

Tonight's service will be devoted to Christian college education with Sam Edwins of Minneapolis, director of stewardship education for the church, acting as chairman.

Man Rescued On Mountain

WILLIAMS, Ariz. (AP)—A television trouble shooter frozen overnight in 12 feet of snow was recovering in a hospital here today.

George DeGele 40, a robust 245-pounder, murmured, "Thank God, my hands are okay" after being lifted off 9,264-foot Bill Williams Mountain Wednesday by a helicopter from Luke Air Force Base.

He had spent Tuesday night standing up in the snow, unable to move while his feet and legs froze.

His limbs were blackened by the cold, but doctors said his general condition was "excellent."

DeGele started from this north central Arizona city Tuesday to climb the snow-clad peak in search of a TV cable break. About two-thirds of the way up, he said, a snowshoe broke—stranding him in drifts twice his height.

His employer, I. W. Brayer, became worried and organized a search. Undersheriff Clark Cole, Brayer and Wendelin Untereiner, all of Williams, struggled up the slopes.

They found him but couldn't get him out. Too much snow and he was too heavy, said Brayer. While Untereiner wrapped him in blankets, the other two went for help.

Heart Attack Fatal To Smith Sheriff

TYLER (AP) — Smith County Sheriff Ross Turner was dead on arrival at a Tyler hospital Wednesday night after suffering an apparent heart attack at his quarters in the courthouse here.

Turner, 50, had been Smith County sheriff nine years and planned to seek re-election. He was defeated for the office in 1950 after serving two terms but regained the post in 1956.

Survivors include his wife and two sisters, all of Tyler.

Funeral arrangements were pending.

New Mayor Named

FREEPORT (AP)—The Freeport City Council Wednesday named C. M. Helpenstill as the city's mayor in place of Dr. James M. Russell.

Russell, a chiropractor, resigned after he was indicted last month on an income tax evasion charge.
