GRAHAM WELL PRODUCES 12,000 BARRELS DAILY

Spudders Hammer Four Sport Hurlers To Capture Opening Day Battle

Home Town Talk

By B D D.

A woman candidate has won the Republican nomination for senator in Illinois by a decisive majority. The woman is Mrs. Ruth McCormick, a daughter of the late Mark Hanna. If she is elected she will be the first woman so chosen to be an United States senator.

She will be opposed by J. Ham Lewis, Democratic nominee. Mr. Lewis is a man of long political experience. It is expected that he will espouse the wet cause and Mrs. McCormick is likely to have a much closer contest in the election than in the primary.

Mrs. McCormick opposed the world court in her campaign. She is at variance with the administration at Washington on that issue and her nomination is likely to be embarrassing to Washington. On the other hand the wet issue which is likely to be paramounted by Mr. Lewis will be embarrassing to Democrats in some quarters.

In Texas scarcely a week passes without an addition to the list of gubernatorial candidates. Pretty soon crops will be planted and the campaign will be in full blast. Political strategy and tactics will fill the minds of the candidates, the voters will feed their prejudices and try to decide their preferences, while newspaper men will think of the enemies they are making and of the ordeal of collecting the election returns.

Collecting the returns is almost as big a job for the newspapers as it is for the candidates to get votes. For the purpose of collecting the votes the newspapers of Texas have joined in creating the Texas Election bureau an unofficial organization to which most of them contribute and which serves most of them. If it was not for the Texas Election bureau it would be weeks before anybody knew the results of the primaries and elections in Texas.

I am going to let the Hefty Herald column of the Waco Herald-Tribune tell you a little about the Texas Election bureau while I take the afternoon off and go to the ball game. Here's the story:

Austin, April 6.—The managing editors of Texas' leading newspapers, all of whom are members of The Associated Press, in meeting to confer on gathering election returns the night of July 26, discover it will cost $19,586.

In 1922 it cost $6,000. If any Texas newspaper went on the street this afternoon in the hands of newsboys asking 10 cents, instead of a nickel, it would be called highway robbery.

It costs Texas newspapers, in the organization known as the Texas Election bureau, $50 an hour to gather returns from the time the first vote is sent in on election night until from 10 to 14 days later a complete total of all Texas votes is announced.

The shortest time a complete total was obtained was in 1928—10 days. The longest was in 1926—14 days.

There are two types of election judges. Those who want to cooperate with the people in seeing that their information agencies—the newspapers—relay information of an election outcome to them promptly. Those who are "hard set" in their ways, think a reporter is a nuisance, and use every known technical obstacle to prevent expediting announcement of information a general public has been waiting six months to learn.

No county has yet beat Collingsworth to the election bureau with a complete total.

The election bureau counts the outcome of all state races, all county races. Between now and July 26 it is worth $300 to the bureau for any gubernatorial candidate to withdraw from the race. Vice

LATE RALLY FAILS

New Spudder Club Looks Promising in Initial League Game

By FRED D. THOMPSON
The Record News Staff

Hal Wiltse manipulated his wrong-handed curves just right Wednesday, and before a cheering opening day crowd held the Shreveport Sports to six hits and four runs to pop the lid off the steaming Texas league season and lead the Spudders to victory in their first game of the season. The crowd which turned out to register its collective vote in J. Alvin Gardner's attendance contest was made up of approximately 7,000 souls, which was gratifying, and the score, which was much more than that, was 12 to 4.

TODAY'S DOPE

It will be either Lester White Milt Steengrafe, or Earl Caldwell, the newcomer, on the mound for the Spudders Thursday when the Spudders meet the Sports in the second of the three-game series, Manager Carl Williams announced Wednesday night. The game is called for 4 o'clock.

The official attendance figures will not be announced until each club in the league has played its opening game on the home grounds. This over, the city having the largest attendance opening day will be named, and to the community chest of said city will go Mr. Gardner's check for $250. Two groups of cities are contesting, Wichita Falls competing with Waco, Shreveport and Beaumont.

Mayor Tosses One

The Spudder nine was at its greatest in defensive and offensive operations Wednesday, and strode into the battle with a will as soon as the usual opening day customs had been observed. These consisted of Mayor Walter Nelson Jr., heaving the first ball to Fire Chief J. L. McClure. Manager Carl Williams was the batter. Nelson hurled a good one, and Williams smote to third. Then the game started.

Wiltse allowed but one hit during his first eight innings, in the first seven of which the Spudders took four Shreveport pitchers to task for 16 hits and 12 runs. In a fitful rally in the ninth, the Sports collected five hits and did their only scoring. While the Sports made their tallies on the strength of a base on balls, a double, and three singles, the Spudders collected a great variety of hits, including two homers by Crouch and Fitzgerald, each of whom scored a man on the paths.

Williamson Massacred

The Spudder attack started in the second when they pounded Albert Williamson for four hits and as many runs. It began when Jack Burns, first man up, singled to right and went to second on the fielder's error. Bettencourt then made a lightning drive through short which nearly hit Burns as he started running and Burns came in for the first run of the game amid a bedlam of cheers. Bettencourt stayed on first. Euller then came up

When Wichita Greeted Carl Williams' 1930 Spudders

—Photos by S. & S. Commercial Studio for The Record News.

Summer weather, a walloping baseball nine and sweet pitching made it a perfect opening day for Wichita Falls fans out at Athletic park Wednesday. Picture No. 1 shows Jack Burns scampering across the home plate for the first run of the game and season, brought in by Larry Bettencourt's sharp single through short. No. 2 gives you some idea about the pitching form of the new mayor, Walter Nelson Jr., who twirled over the first ball. No. 3 is a section of the packed grandstand that greeted Carl Williams' 1930 nine, while No 4 is Raymond Roberts, Sixteenth street youth, among the first to purchase a ticket at the park. Hal Wiltse, left-handed ace of the staff, is shown warming up in No. 5 in preparation for turning [illegible] Sports. Picture No. 6 shows Percy Cobb, champion attendant at baseball games. He hasn't missed a home fray of the Spudders in the last three years. The opening day wouldn't have been complete without the gentlemen in picture No. 7. They are J. W. Pond (left), laundry magnate, and K. C. Spell, barber shop impresario, who led the agitation for closing all the business houses of the city for the game. Incidentally it might be mentioned that they would have closed up shop and gone anyhow, even if they were alone in their program of "baseball before business."

Ransom Payment Ends Month's Captivity for San Angelo Oil Man

J. E. Bristow Embraces Son After Mexican Bandits' Demands Are Met Following Pursuit

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 9. (AP)—Exhausted from a month of privation and terror in the hands of Mexican bandits, J. E. Bristow, American oil man, was released by his kidnapers today in the mountains near Ahuacatlan, Nayarit, after payment of ransom by his son, Obie Bristow.

Details of the delivery, reported in official and private advices, were given tonight in a copyrighted dispatch to the Daily Oklahoman from Merle Blakely, staff writer.

Blakely joined Obie Bristow in Mazatlan two weeks ago and was in the party of three Americans who carried the ransom money to the mountain village of Ahuacatlan, where final arrangements for the elder Bristow's release were effected.

Weeks of anxious waiting were climaxed by the meeting between father and son, who had hurried to Mexico when news of the capture became known.

Amount Unknown

The exact amount of the ransom has not been made public but was believed to be either $1,500 or $15,000.

"Let mother know I am well," were the father's first words when he was greeted by his son. Mrs. Bristow is in San Angelo, Texas, where her husband had been engaged in the oil business. The family formerly lived in Oklahoma.

As the oil man embraced his son, in the presence of Blakely and E. W. Eaton, American consul at Masatlan, he said he did not know until last Friday that any effort was being made to rescue him. "I thought perhaps you believed me dead," he added.

Bristow Worn

Bristow was worn from his long captivity and his face was covered with a heavy growth of graying beard. He had been held since March 10, most of the time in the subcrater of an extinct volcano near Ahuacatlan, where the bandits camped.

The place was a natural fortress against the Mexican federal troops which pursued the outlaws.

Cruz Delgado, the bandit chief, made the final negotiations with messengers employed by young Bristow. The money was obtained by Obie from two Texas banks

MOODY VETOES MONEY ITEMS

$200,000 Slashed From Appropriations

AUSTIN, April 9. (AP)—Governor Moody today vetoed from the emergency appropriation bill passed by the fifth called session of the legislature, items aggregating $200,000 to reduce the total of the money bill to about $1,050,000.

He did not disturb the items providing for summer schools and contingent expenses of state schools and colleges.

Bills vetoed were those levying a tax of two cents per bale on cotton turned out by gins; amendments to the law levying occupation taxes on itinerant peddlers and circuses; increasing salaries of district judges in Bexar, Tarrant, Dallas and Harris counties, and reorganizing the 51st judicial district and creating the 115th judicial district.

TEXARKANA, Texas, April 9. (AP)—Fire believed to have started from a cigaret destroyed the box factory, a storage house and two dry kilns of the State Line Lumber company and a residence here today before it was brought under control. Loss was estimated at $50,000. A high wind hampered firemen.

Memphis Halts Business to Honor Musician as Last Rites Are Said

Special to The Record News

MEMPHIS, Texas, April 9.—Memphis business houses closed their doors at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon while the whole city mourned the passing of Paul James Sr., Hall county pioneer and noted Texas band leader, who died here Tuesday night after a stroke of apoplexy suffered during a game of golf Monday afternoon.

Funeral services were held from the Presbyterian church, with Dr. J. Hardin Mallard, assisted by Rev. H. A. Shaw of the First Christian church, officiating. The entire membership of the five Hall county bands directed by Mr. James attended the services in a body. Burial was in the Quanah cemetery.

During the greater part of 20 years Mr. James has been the conductor of the Memphis band, having been made director soon after his arrival here in 1908. He was the president of the Texas Band Teachers association and was twice the winner of the gold medal award offered by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

In May, 1927, he was awarded first place in the state-wide contest conducted by the chamber in its convention at Wichita Falls. His work at that time was in conjunction with G. C. Cellum, past president of the Texas Band Teachers association.

Mr. James is survived by his widow and a son, Paul James Jr., who live in Dallas.

LETTER CLEARS PERCY HOWARD

Moody Holds Statement Absolving Convict

AUSTIN, April 9. (AP)—Percy Howard, occupant of a death cell in the state penitentiary at Huntsville awaiting execution May 9, today was in a fair way to win exoneration from a murder of which he was three times convicted, after Governor Moody received an alleged statement from W. S. Ham, under a sentence of 25 years as an accomplice in the crime.

Governor Moody said Ham assumed full responsibility for the murder of N. V. Nixon, El Paso chauffeur, in 1920, and absolved Howard of all guilt. Ham was recently tried for the first time on the 10-year-old charge at Abilene, after Governor Moody had retrieved Howard from execution several times pending trial of Ham.

The record in the Howard case was introduced as the only evidence in the Ham trial, however, and Governor Moody had expressed disappointment that witnesses were not put on the stand and testimony introduced in this manner.

The governor said Ham's alleged statement declared Howard had nothing to do with Nixon's murder and that the condemned man had left him and Nixon, after the three had started on a cross-country trip, at Pecos. Nixon's body was found several months after he had left El Paso with Ham and Howard. It was buried in the sand dunes of Ward county.

Eight Escaped Convicts Sought in South Texas

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, April 9. (UP)—A search embracing all of South Texas was inaugurated tonight for eight convicts who escaped today from the Eastham prison farm, 25 miles northwest of here.

The men, after boring through the floor of their quarters, escaped in an automobile and headed toward Trinity where they were believed to have robbed two stores. All of the eight were serving sentences for robbery.

Wichita Linked With Colorado And Pacific Coast as New Air Line Opens

W. A. E. Lands First Tri-Motor Plane; S. A. F. E. Rushes Work on 36-Passenger Wichita Falls-Tulsa Ship

The first passengers on scheduled flight from the Pacific coast through Wichita Falls landed here Wednesday afternoon in a giant tri-motored Fokker, the first ship to fly the newly opened Western Air Express line connecting this city with Los Angeles and other West Coast cities.

The line joins two of the greatest air networks in the Southwest, placing Wichita Falls in first rank as an air center, and offers six-hour service to Denver, Colo., and 12-hour service to Los Angeles, with daily service to intermediate points. The extensions of the Western Air Express radiate from Amarillo, with lines going to Oklahoma City and Tulsa, Kansas City, Pueblo, Colorado Springs and Denver, Colo., Wichita Falls and Dallas, and Los Angeles. At each of these cities, passengers may connect with other interurban and main line companies on flights to cities not on the W. A. E. schedule.

C.-C. Delegation Greets Plane

Among the passengers landing in the inaugural plane here Wednesday were Mrs. G. R. Brown and Mrs. Bernadine Sanders, both having flown from the coast. Mrs. Brown left Los Angeles Wednesday morning on the W. A. E. liner and was due to arrive in Dallas at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening. She will go to Graham Thursday morning. She was met at the port here

TINKHAM ASKS CHURCH PROBE

Senator Flings Charge at Methodist Board

WASHINGTON, April 9. (AP)—An appeal to "unmask the indefensible political activities" of the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals and the federal council of churches was made today before the senate lobby committee by Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts.

Speaking in a conversational tone Tinkham charged that the two organizations by political activites have "set aside entirely" the principle of separation of church and state. The remarks of the heavily bearded representative were attentively received.

"I believe that this committee can render no greater public service," he said "than to do its part toward a public exposure of the practices of these organization in violation of the principle of the separation of church and state, so that their church constituencies, as well as the public at large may be informed and so condemn such practices."

After charging the Methodist board with violating the federal corrupt practices act by failure to report expenditures for political purposes, Tinkham was excused until tomorrow.

Dallas Declines Beulah Allred's Offer to Make City Second Sahara

DALLAS, April 9. (UP)—The offer of Beulah Allred, militant prohibitionist since she "took the pledge" in a little East Texas schoolhouse 39 years ago, to purge Dallas of liquor fell on barren ground today.

Miss Allred, a middle-aged spinster who spent 12 days and nights in the county jail at Pampa after she was arrested and charged with possession and transportation of the liquor she carried through the main street of the Panhandle oil town to show the grand jury, was not disheartened over her failure to convince police and federal authorities of her worth as a free lance enforcement officer.

"I would make Dallas citizens realize that the deadly poison is ruining the country," she said. "I would buy 10 pints of liquor from bootleggers and go into stores and along the downtown streets shouting: 'Whisky! Jake! Beer! All poison!' I could buy 1,000 bottles of liquor in any town in the country if I had the money.

"Then I would take the liquor before a grand jury here and expose the bootleggers," she explained.

Police Chief Charles Trammel and U. S. Commissioner Lee R. Smith refused her offer of aid, explaining that Dallas now is enjoying more strict enforcement of the

GUSHER PARTLY UNDER CONTROL AFTER BATTLE

Lines Carry 300 Barrels Hourly Into Tanks As Pits Are Filled

41 GRAVITY CRUDE

Lowest Estimate Places Production at $18,000 Per Day

Special to The Record News

GRAHAM, Texas, April 9.—Young county's greatest gusher—one of the Southwest's greatest light oil wells—was producing so much oil tonight veteran field men hesitated to place an estimate on its production for fear their reputations for veracity would suffer.

Twelve thousand barrels per day. Fifteen thousand barrels day. Twenty thousand barrels per day. Twenty-five thousand barrels per day—

The first figure was the lowest estimate placed on the production of Nash and Windfohr's No. 1 McCloud after it had been brought under partial control late today. The last figure was not the highest estimate and they were all made by reliable scouts and operators.

Oil Under Control

Immediately upon being tamed, the well started running crude oil into hastily constructed storage tanks at the rate of 300 barrels per hour while a six-inch line shot a solid stream into an earthen pit. At scout known to be reliable said the well was averaging 12,000 to 14,000 barrels daily. Others said the yield was greater.

Two tired oil men slept undisturbed in the Driver hotel here tonight, knowing that when they awoke Thursday morning they would be thousans of dollars richer as well as being rested after a successful 24-hour battle with a wild oil and gas gusher.

They were Jim Nash and Joe Windfohr, owners of the No. 1 McCloud, who had stayed on their bonanza lease from the time the tools were hurled to the top of the derrick Tuesday until the hole was capped 24 hours later.

41 Gravity Oil

The oil rushing from the big well tests 41 gravity and brings $1.40 per barrel at the well. While Messrs. Nash and Windfohr slept eight hours tonight their new producer made them richer by $6,000 or more—just how much more will be known when the flow has been gauged. In 24 hours the geyser produced at least $18,000 worth of oil.

The Nash and Windfohr well surpassed the famous No. 7 McCluskey of Panhandle Refining company in the South Bend pool, Young county, which gauged 7,105 barrels at its peak. Until today the Panhandle well had held first position in the ranks of Young county wells.

Mile North of Graham

Located one mile northeast of Graham, the gusher is just north the Morrison field. It is in the J. W. Manning survey.

The sand was topped at 3757 feet and drilled one foot when the tools were blown out. Oil and gas shot

Woman Saved From Gas Filled Room

Unconscious from inhaling the fumes of an open gas jet, a Wichita Falls woman was rescued from asphyxiation late Wednesday afternoon when her husband and a police officer broke through two locked doors to reach her side. Emergency resusitation measures brought her back to consciousness Emergency resuscitation measures was reported recovering after an examination at the Wichita General hospital.

The husband appealed to the police for help in preventing his wife from carrying out threats of suicide made after a family quarrel. The two men were forced to crash through both the outside door and an inner bedroom door before they could drag the unconscious form of the woman into fresh air.

NEW AIR LINE OPENED HERE

Western Air Express Links City to Pacific

by friends from Graham, who drove here to greet her. Mrs. Sanders left Seattle, Wash., Tuesday and connected with the W. A. E. liner at Los Angeles. She is en route to Brownsville, Texas.

The plane opening the new line was met at the Municipal airport here Wednesday afternoon by a delegation from the Junior and Senior chambers of commerce, welcoming the ship which marked the formal connection of this city with the West. Those in the party were James E. McKanna, prominent in Wichita Falls aviation circles and chairman of the aviation committee of the chamber of commerce; W. N. Bonner, vice chairman of the aviation committee; Jerry Vinson, president of the Junior chamber of commerce; S. M. Gose Jr., also of the Junior chamber; John Boswell, manager of the chamber of commerce, and Dudley S. Foy, traffic secretary of the chamber.

Wichita Falls is the only stop on the newly opened line between Amarillo and Dallas, the planes leaving the Panhandle city each day at 4:10 p. m., arriving here at 6 p. m. and in Dallas at 7 p. m. The return flight westbound will leave Dallas at 8:55 a. m., arriving here at 10:50 a. m. and reaching Amarillo at 12:35 in time to connect with the westbound liner arriving in Los Angeles at 8 p. m. that day. Stops en route to Los Angeles will be made at Albuquerque, N. M., and at Holbrook and Kingman, Ariz.

District Agent Here

The morning plane westbound will also connect at Amarillo with planes of the Mid-Continent Air Express, a subsidiary of the Western Air Express, which arrive daily in Denver at 4:30 p. m. Passengers leaving Wichita Falls on the morning plane may stop at Pueblo or Colorado Springs before reaching Denver, which is the northern terminal of the new schedule, placing Wichita Falls within less than half a day of the Rocky mountain regions.

C. A. Nickerson, who has been appointed district passenger agent for the Western Air Express here, arrived Wednesday morning to outline plans for the line. His headquarters have been established temporarily at the Kemp hotel. He was formerly stationed at Wichita, Kan. The following rates for the new lines were announced by Mr. Nickerson:

Wichita Falls to Amarillo, $20; to Albuquerque, $45; to Los Angeles, $105; to Pueblo, $41; to Colorado Springs, $46; to Denver, $51, and to Dallas, $10.

On the Los Angeles flights a steward will serve meals buffet style, two meals being served on each trip while in the air. The ships through here and to Los Angeles will be tri-motored Fokker 12-passenger planes, with 425 horsepower Wasp motors and two transport pilots at the controls. Delivery of two 32-passenger, four-motored Fokkers at Los Angeles Tuesday marks the first step in a new program of the company whereby all equipment will be replaced by the 32-passenger ships, Mr. Erickson said.

The first of these new ships was used Wednesday to open a line from Los Angeles to San Francisco. They are the largest land planes in existence at present and the largest of any kind in the United States. They will be manned by a crew of four.

Activities Center Here

By the time the Western Air Express completes replacement of present equipment with the new 32-place ships, the Southwestern Air Fast Express, which has served Wichita Falls for some time, will probably have installed for regular use on the line through here the new 36-passenger, all-metal, five-motored ship now under construction and due to be placed in service within about six weeks.

This Safeway ship, when completed, will be the largest all-metal land ship in the world. It will afford passenger service from Wichita Falls to Tulsa. Prior to the completion of the huge new plane, the Safeway has announced it would place six additional tri-motored, 14-passenger Fords in operation on the Wichita Falls line to accommodate the greatly increased passenger lists.

When the 36-place Safeway plane has proved itself on the Wichita Falls line, the company has announced it would order 10 more of the monster ships to inaugurate a line through here to El Paso and Los Angeles, placing Wichita Falls at the hub of two of the largest air lines in the nation and affording air passenger service from here to the west coast by two direct routes on daily morning-to-evening schedules.

Wichita Woman, Mother of Two Children, to Make 'Chute Jump

Mrs. Lawrence Rollins, 1309 Fillmore street, young Wichita Falls aviatrix, will make her initial parachute jump from an altitude of about 2,500 feet next Sunday at the Municipal airport as part of the all-day air circus sponsored by the Wichita Falls Flying Club, Inc. Mrs. Rollins is the mother of two children. She won her "wings" in Wichita Falls and has been an enthusiastic flier for some time.

HOME-TOWN TALK

By B. D. D.

versa, if Dan Moody announces it will cost $19,868, or $300 more.

If election judges' cooperation was 100 per cent, the complete state of Texas vote would be available at 9 o'clock of election night and the cost but little more than $2,000.

A. F. Henning, who for news judgment has never been exceeded in Texas and now teaches journalism at S. M. U., is the big shot of the bureau. He works only for the newspapers. If you want to settle an election bet do not write him. He will not so much as answer your letter, telegram or telephone call.

"I never would do it, and when a man was perforated some years ago in Dallas for getting mixed up in an election bet, it only served to prove to me I was correct in my attitude," is his philosophy.

Therefore, try and get it out of your local editor.

Henning is a wizard in many ways. There isn't a better personality on the face of the earth; there isn't a better newspaper man in Texas; there isn't an expert on election figures who surpasses his keenness.

He will tell you the outcome of any state race after one-third of the estimated total vote is counted and stake his reputation for accuracy on his prognostication. He has never known it to fail that when one-third of the count is in, the same proportion for all candidates continues as the remaining two-thirds trickle in.

From 8 o'clock in the morning of election day until 6 o'clock that evening, Henning sits in his office in Dallas, surrounded by scores of mathematical experts drafted from banks and accountants' offices, and with special instruments giving him access of communication to every voting place in the state—and reads a Saturday Evening Post.

That's the reason the bureau is a success. You cannot perturb Henning.

At 6 p. m. he lays down his magazine, walks over to a particular desk, and says, "how did Collingsworth county go for governor?"

In 1922 when he walked over to that desk only 1500 returns had been wired in by 6 p. m. Last year he walked over and came the nearest being perturbed that he has been in his whole life by reading the Houston Chronicle had had the good luck and enterprise in reporting 8,000 votes by starting time. His near perturbation, of course, was sheer joy at the rapidity of collection.

From then on he, and his aides, never leave the wires or the counting machines, except to snatch a few hours sleep, until the total vote is delivered to your door in a Times-Herald or a News-Tribune.

In his pocket is $150 worth of cafeteria tickets. When a worker cannot stand hunger any longer, Henning reaches in his pocket, gives him a ticket, and he goes dashing back.

Believe us, brother, when you cast the little ballot in Waco or Hallsburg voting box you start something in more ways than a half a dozen.

And here's a final item of interest —if the state of Texas adopts voting machines for the present bewhiskered counting system the number of voting boxes in Texas would be cut in half and you would have the complete vote for all state races at 8 o'clock the night of election.

If you do not think your newspapers are on their toes to deliver you information consider that the election bureau in the last presidential election was but the tenth state's presidential preference and sate's presidential preference and the nine who exceeded it all voted by machines.

BRIDGE PARLEY SET AT LAWTON

Texans and Oklahomans to Meet April 28

Special to The Record News

LAWTON, Okla., April 9.—Between 100 and 150 Southern Oklahoma and North Texas business men, representing communities along the Red river, will meet in Lawton April 28 to perfect an organization working for elimination of all highway toll bridges on the river.

Robert Hall, secretary of the Electra, Texas Chamber of Commerce, met with the directors of the Lawton Chamber of Commerce Wednesday noon and outlined plans for the meeting. The board accepted his suggestion that the meeting be held in Lawton.

It is expected the governor, lieutenant governor, highway commissioners and other state officials of Oklahoma and Texas will attend the meeting, which will be held in the chamber of commerce rooms where luncheon will be served all guests.

Preliminary work toward the formation of such an organization has already been completed, Mr. Hall reported. It is hoped to secure the elimination of all toll bridges on the river, either by purchase of the present toll bridges or by construction of new bridges.

which had done business with his father.

Young Bristow, Blakely and Eaton spent anxious hours while native messengers were making contact with the bandits. The gold was carried to Ahuacatlan neatly sewed up in sacks and turned over to the messengers.

MRS. BRISTOW GETS MESSAGE

SAN ANGELO, Texas, April 9. (AP)—A three-word message—"Dad with me"—brought to an end today a month of anxiety for Mrs. J. E. Bristow, whose husband was captured and held for ransom by Mexican bandits on March 10.

The message was received from her son, Gordon (Obie) Bristow, former Oklahoma university football star, who journeyed by airplane to the West coast of Mexico three weeks ago to negotiate for his father's release after efforts through governmental agencies had failed.

Woman Collapses

"Thank God! Thank God!" was all that Mrs. Bristow could say when notified at her home here of her husband's safety. The elderly woman, who had given no sign of strain during the days of anxiety, then collapsed into the arms of a friend.

Later she told neighbors that "I was just sitting there praying that he was all right. It's been so long since we have had any word that I was afraid."

The last time Mrs. Bristow saw her husband was about three months ago. At that time he was anxious to return to Mexico where he had purchased a zinc mine in the state of Nayarit.

The mine had to be staked out within a short period in order that Bristow might obtain title to the property. It was supposed he was prospecting further for lead and zinc mine locations when captured.

Formerly at Graham

Bristow was a graduate of both the University of Arkansas and the University of Oklahoma. He received a degree to practice medicine at the Arkansas university, but after losing a hand following an infection he turned to law and was graduated with an LL. D. from the Oklahoma school.

His law practice was at Pryor, Okla., where he also served as county attorney. Later he moved to Ardmore and became county attorney there. He resigned this position to enter the oil business.

He was a member of the firm of Merrick & Bristow, and with his partner, F. W. Merrick, brought in the discovery well of the Graham, Texas, field and helped to develop it. The firm now has large holdings in Howard county, Texas, and maintains offices in the field there and at Ardmore.

In addition to his wife and son, a daughter, Mrs. W. E. N. Phillips of El Dorado, Ark., had anxiously awaited word from the captive.

Mrs. McCormick Goes to Capital Facing Campaign Against 'Ham' Lewis

CHICAGO, April 9. (AP)—Ruth Hanna McCormick, swept to the head of the Republican party in Illinois by an avalanche of ballots in yesterday's senatorial primary election, dropped the campaigner's role today to return to Washington and her duties in congress. Belated returns maintained her indicated plurality of 200,000 over Sen. Charles S. Deneen, who ousted her husband from the senate six years ago.

A total of 6,184 precincts out of 7,117 in Illinois gave Mrs. McCormick 613,200 and Deneen 426,073.

Mrs. McCormick departed with no word as to the causes she will expound when she again takes her post on the political battlefield in November to contest with James Hamilton Lewis, Democratic nominee. She cannot use opposition to the world court in that contest, as Lewis also is opposed to it.

Lewis, political chevelier and orator of the old school, congressional colleague of Mrs. McCormick's father, senator of a decade ago and owner of one of the country's two most famous beards, already has sounded his cry for the battle—'Personal Liberty vs. Prohibition.'

Mrs. McCormick is dry, "both personally and politically," she told the Anti-Saloon league during her campaign for the nomination.

Prepared for Anything Now

"I can't imagine anything more discouraging than to suffer every time you eat a meal," says Andrew Anderson of 5452 Broadway, Chicago. "It keeps a fellow upset and so shaky he isn't good for much of anything. You should see me now, though. The simplest thing has straightened me out fine. I take a dose of Acidine whenever a meal doesn't sit right. Before I know it everything is all right. I am not afraid of anything now."

Mr. Anderson is absolutely right. Such a simple thing as a stomach which fails to digest starchy food and sweets can break down a person's resistance until even his confidence is undermined. The excessive acids cause thin blood because your food doesn't nourish you. By sweetening your stomach with ACIDINE, you can eat and grow strong. Get ACIDINE at any drug store.—Adv.

prohibition laws than at any time in the last four years.

At the age of 6, Miss Allred devoted her life to fighting the "liquor curse." She always has paraded under the colors of the W. C. T. U.

"I swore I would never touch a drop and would always fight against it," she said. "The only time any kind of liquor ever passed my lips was when I was ill and I didn't know it then.

"I knew I never would be convicted of the ridiculous charge trumped up against me in Pampa. But I made up my mind to stay in that jail until the police hollered 'quits' and let me go."

Miss Allred's plans, now that she can not crusade here, are indefinite. She may stay here and hope that police will realize her worth.

Don't fool yourself!

Since halitosis never announces itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it.

Get rid of halitosis—it may get you fired

What kind of people do employers like to have around them? Certainly not people with halitosis (unpleasant breath). You can't blame a man for firing an employee with halitosis to hire one without it.

Don't fool yourself that you never have halitosis. It's impossible for you to know when you are a victim. Don't take the chance. Keep yourself continually on the safe and polite side by daily rinsing the mouth with Listerine, the safe antiseptic.

Being an active germicide capable of killing 200,000,000 germs in 15 seconds, full strength Listerine checks mouth fermentation and infection—both a cause of odors. Then it gets rid of the odors themselves; it is an instant deodorant.

Thousands who used to be unwelcome because of halitosis are now acceptable anywhere. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

FLOYD COUNTY JERSEY BREEDERS WIN AT PLAINVIEW SHOW

CROWDS SWARM TO EXPOSITION

Hale County Rates Second In Jersey Division

Special to The Record News.

PLAINVIEW, Texas, April 9.—Six Floyd county Jersey breeders stepped out in the front ranks today when they won the first place in the county herd division of the Jersey department at the third annual Texas Panhandle-Plains dairy show after O. L. Stanzell of Floydada had won senior and grand champion cow of the show on Tuesday.

Wednesday was Shamrock day at the dairy show as a large delegation from that Panhandle city arrived early for the show accompanied by a 30-piece band directed by R. O. Sandusky and in charge of Guy Hill, secretary of the Shamrock Chamber of Commerce. In the Shamrock delegation was a number of bankers in addition to more than 100 farmers. Transportation for the farmers was furnished by the chamber of commerce.

Crosbyton arrived early for the third day of the show and W. T. Dunn, secretary of the Crosbyton Chamber of Commerce, stated that all the farmers would remain over for Thursday with the intention of purchasing a number of the animals that will be offered at the annual auction sale on that day.

Enthusiastic delegations from a number of towns were in Plainview although the crowd looked small compared to the 25,000 that were present Tuesday for Jersey day.

Hale County Second

Hale county won second in the county herd department, Dawson county third; Swisher county fourth and Terry county fifth. The Floyd county breeders who had animals in the county herd showing were H. A. Brotherton, O. L. Stanzell, Jack Stanzell, R. W. Smith, Robert Lee Smith.

Judging of Guernseys and Holsteins were being completed today by J. B. Fitch, head of the dairy husbandry department of the Kansas agricultural college.

G. H. Grout of Panhandle was one of the consistent winners in the Guernsey department.

True to predictions, Tuesday proved the biggest day in the history of the dairy show as well as the best day in the history of the city of Plainview. It was estimated that 25,000 people were in this city for the show Tuesday. The large judging arena was crowded to capacity with interested spectators throughout the day and prominent visitors were loud in their praise of the animals exhibited.

S. J. Payne of Tulia, well-known Jersey breeder, was elected president of the Texas Panhandle-Plains Dairy show at the annual banquet held Tuesday evening. Jim Rigley of Plainview was named vice president and Maury Hopkins of this city was elected secretary-treasurer. D. F. Eaton, county agent of Lubbock county is honorary vice president. Directors elected were: R. C. Reid, Stanton; E. W. Thomas, Memphis; Charles Franze, Turkey; S. J. Underwood, Hale Center; H. B. Hales, Amarillo; Joe Vaughn, Tulia; E. R. Duke, Channing; George P. Grout, Panhandle; E. M. Pittner, Hereford; E. W. Hester, O'Donnell; W. W. Evans Lamesa; P. C. Bennett, Amarillo; S. R. Turner, Silverton; W. L. Stanzell, Lubbock; G. L. Boykin, Clarendon; R. B. Davis, Brownfield; W. T. Magee, Levelland.

W. H. Upchurch, Canyon; B. F. Hobson, Paducah; Knox Parr, Post; John Harper, Wellington; Moorehead, Plainview; R. O. Dunkle, Hereford; Jeff Greer, Wellington; H. A. Ferguson, Amarillo; J. J. Jenkins, Lorenzo; R. W. Smith, Lockney; C. B. Martin, Tulia; J. B. Potts, Floydada; G. L. Blackburn, Lubbock.

All records for attendance have been broken already at the dairy show the attendance having passed 35,000 by Wednesday noon, with all indications that 15,000 would attend the closing day tomorrow when 36 dairy cows will be auctioned off by Colonel R. R. Heriff.

GRAND CHAMPS

Special to The Record News.

PLAINVIEW, Texas, April 9.—Ultra Phylliston Cherry Hill, owned by Davis and Grout of Groom was adjudged senior and grand champion Guernsey bull and Coronet's Golden Noble, owned by George P. Grout, Panhandle, was the junior champion bull. Miss Amarillo, owned by James A. Bush of Amarillo was named senior and grand champion cow and Mable of Amarillo, also owned by Mr. Bush, the junior champion cow, in the Guernsey class. Carson county herds were large winners in the Guernsey awards. This county entered the winning herd and Edward Cleek of Panhandle had the champion club calf. George P. Grout showed the best get of sire and the best graded herd and Grout and Carroll the best calf herd.

Well Dressed Man Must Wear Stripes, Tailors Declare

VIENNA, April 9. (INS)—Stripes will adorn the male this year.

The Viennese tailors have settled this question with their exhibition at the Vienna spring fair.

Vertical, perpendicular, diagonal, or zigzag the stripes may be, but they must be stripes. And not only the outer man must be behind bars, but the less displayed garments must also conform. The stripes on the shirt must run in the same direction as the stripes on the suit. The tie, the socks and even the BVD's of the really fashionable sons of Adam will all run in parallel lines.

The masculine world must lean heavily on canes this year of its members will be chic. For the Viennese costumes are showing canes to every costume and he who flourishes no walking stick will be considered shabby and unadorned.

Masculine apparel will also fit more closely about the waist.

This is encouraging corset makers.

Warner Brothers Buy Brunswick Interests

NEW YORK, April 9. (INS)—Warner Brothers have acquired the radio phonograph and recording interest of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company. A subsidiary will be formed by Warner Brothers to take over these Brunswick interests. Details of the acquisition are to be announced shortly.

BULLETS KILL DOCTOR, NURSE

Telephone Flash Signal Leads to Discovery

NEW YORK, April 9. (AP)—A signal flash caused by an overturned telephone led to the discovery today of the slain bodies of a physician and a young woman in the doctor's office-apartment in the fashionable Sutton place section.

The body of the physician, Dr. Maxwell B. Allen, 35, was found on the bedroom floor. He had been shot through the right temple. A revolver lay near his side.

The young woman, tentatively identified as Miss Florence Lapelle, 25, his nurse-secretary, was lying on a bed, shot through the neck.

Powder marks on both the man and woman indicated the shots had been fired at close range. They expressed belief the physician had shot the girl and killed himself.

The body of Dr. Allen was clad in pajamas and a bathrobe, while that of the woman also was scantily clad. The only evidence of a disturbance in the room was the overturned telephone.

Police were summoned by a telephone operator when she failed to get response from the physician's apartment after plugging in on the signal flash.

Texas Flier Safe After Night in Air

ATLANTA, April 9. (INS)—After a harrowing impromptu non-stop flight from Dallas, Texas, L. R. Wallace, Southern Air Transport pilot, landed at Candler field here early today, in an open ship and without running lights.

Wallace was delivering the ship to the Interstate Air Lines here when he got slightly off his course and missed an airport where he was to break the journey. He landed safely here without a compass, traveling most of the way by night.

Ford Motor Co. Shows Big Profit in 1929

BOSTON, April 9. (AP)—The balance sheet of the Ford Motor company, filed with the Massachusetts commissioner of corporation today, indicated profit for 1929 of $81,797,861, as contrasted with an indicated loss of $72,221,498 in 1928.

Causes of Lumber Failures Listed

DALLAS, April 9. (AP)—Almost all losses and failures in the lumber business are preventable, and are due chiefly to 10 definite causes, R. J. Tolson of Waco told delegates to the annual convention of the Texas Lumberman's association here today.

The causes, enumerated by Tolson, were insufficient capital, excessive investment, small volume of sales, small losses on accounts of gross profits, excessive operation costs, excessive losses on accounts and notes, incompetent management, lack of courtesy, lack of aggressiveness and dishonesty.

Shipment of under-seasoned stock was scored by P. A. Bloomer of the Louisiana Long Leaf Lumber company of Fisher, La., and ethics of the lumber industry were discussed by J. Lee Johnson Jr. of Fort Worth.

Corpus Christi, Galveston, Houston and Fort Worth were seeking the next convention.

ACTRESS ABSOLVED

HOLLYWOOD, Calif, April 9. (INS)—Dorothy Burgess, film actress, was today absolved of all blame for an automobile wreck as the result of which Mrs. Anna Kelsko sued for $5,000 damages.

WINTER WHEAT IN POOR SHAPE

Crop Condition of 77.4 Per Cent Reported

WASHINGTON, April 9. (INS)—The condition of winter wheat on April 1 was 77.4 per cent of normal, as compared with a condition of 82.7 per cent on April 1 a year ago, and a condition of 83.2 for the 10-year average 1919-28, the crop reporting board of the department of agriculture announced today.

The April 1 condition of winter wheat indicates a probable production of about 550,330,000 bushels.

The condition of rye was 82 per cent, compared with 84.9 per cent on April 1 a year ago, and 87.8 per cent for the 10-year period.

Conditions of other crops follow:

Early Potatoes — Condition on April 1, 75.3 per cent compared with 76 per cent a year ago.

Oats—71.1 per cent, compared with 81.2 per cent.

Peaches—52 per cent, compared with 83.3 per cent.

The condition for potatoes includes all potatoes for harvest before Sept. 1 in 10 states.

Frederick Baptists Set New Attendance Mark

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., April 9.—A record attendance in southwest Oklahoma Baptist Sunday schools was set at the First Baptist church of Frederick when 1,042 persons attended the school, according to C. E. McConnell, superintendent.

This record surpassed the former mark of 808 by 234 persons. The former record was set the preceding Sunday and an effort was made all during last week to raise the mark to 900. The week's work on the part of teachers and officers culminated Saturday in a parade over the streets of Frederick.

An effort is to be made to have 1,100 more in Sunday school next Sunday, McConnell stated.

LOVELY FACE, LOVELY HANDS in a Night-with CREAM of CREAMS

The most astonishing discovery of all time for quick beauty is Thayer's Cream of Creams.

Developed through five years of research by the famous Felix Laroche of Paris, no wonder this formula for the preservation and quick restoration of a beautiful skin has swept the elite of the whole world. For when this cream is used no other beauty aid is needed.

It cleanses the skin to the very bottom of each tiny pore. It heals, sooths and refines. Enlarged pores grow smaller. Blemishes are combated. It provides costly oils and essences from France to feed starving tissues and correct either dry skin or a skin excessively oily. It yields a perfect foundation for powder and your favorite make-up.

You will see results in a single night. An amazing improvement in the texture of the skin with your very first use. At once the skin grows softer and whiter. You will look and feel years younger. And all without need for any additional cosmetics.

Thayer's Cream of Creams is a complete skin treatment in itself. A creation supreme. Nothing else is needed to quickly gain new beauty.

Brilliant Programs Given By Early Wednesday Clubs

The opening of the baseball season was the cause of several study clubs meeting earlier than usual Wednesday, for women love sports that create athletic development as well as the study that develops the brain.

One of the most brilliant programs of the year was given in the regular morning meeting of the Readers club when Mrs. Sterling Crumpler was hostess to members at her home on Joline street. Ella Merle Mathis Bristol was leader in the program.

Miss Mary Hamilton presented the first number on the program in a very beautiful reading of "The Sign of the Cross," a lovely composition by Wilson Barrett.

A humorous one act play, "A marriage Has Been Arranged," by Alfred Sutro, was given with verve by Mrs. Cecil Putty and immensely enjoyed by club members.

Mrs. Ben Bell read "The Leper," author unknown, a pretty number in keeping with the Easter spirit.

A brilliant finale was the review by Ella Merle Mathis Bristol of two of the year's most successful plays, "Journeys End," by R. C. Sheriff, and "Children of Darkness," by Edwin Augustus Mayer. The stark unrelieved tragedy of the three act dramas was vividly portrayed and alert criticism made of the splendid portrayal and artistic presentation that made them such a wonderful success.

Two new members were elected, Miss Jeanette Moore and Mrs. Darrold Kahn.

The next meeting will be the closing program for the year and Mrs. A. D. Duck will be hostess to the club members on this occasion. The grand finale closing the season's meetings will be given May 7.

Members present were Misses Mary Hamilton, Katherine Sue Ralston, and Dorothy Nolen and Mesdames Sterling Crumpler, James G. Oakley, A. D. Duck, Harry Myers, Porter Oakes, Cecil Putty, Charles Reid, John Rhea, John Thomas, Ben Bell and Ella Merle Mathis Bristol.

Unity Junior Club

"French Art in Two Mediums," was the subject of study when members of the Unity Junior club met with Mrs. A. D. Montgomery at 10:30 Wednesday morning.

Mrs. W. S. Abbott conducted a snappy parliamentary drill and "Rodin and His Two Pupils," was discussed in an outstanding manner by Mrs. R. M. Myers while Mrs. J. P. Coleman closed the interesting program with a splendid talk on "Gobelin Tapestry and French Fabrics."

A short special session was completed when a light refreshment plate was served to Mesdames C. L. Anderson, W. S. Abbott, J. H. Barnard, J. H. S. Bonner, J. P. Coleman, C. I Francis, G. W. Gutzman, J. L. Jackson Jr., W. U. McCutchen, A. M. Miller, A. D. Montgomery, R. M. Myers, S. S. Staley, L. R. Stringer, J. H. White, L. H. Cullum and Miss Florence Sammons.

Standard Club

Mrs. T. P. Kelm was leader in the program given by members of the Standard club at the Forum clubhouse at 12:30 o'clock. The subject was South America in literature and in geographical interest.

Mrs. T. L. McGee gave an interesting discussion of Hugo Wast, a South American writer. "Some Character Pictures from 'Black Valley'" one of Wast's books, were given by Mrs. C. L. Baum and Mrs. W. E. Brothers talked on cities of Argentina, discussing the question, "Is Buenos Aires Handsomer than New York City?"

Members present were Mesdames C. E. Bailey, C. L. Baum, R. D. Bone, W. E. Brothers, S. L. Conn, J. W. Hodges, J. M. Isbell, T. P. Kelm, R. A. Lincoln, W. R. Little, T. L. McGee, C. W. Staley, Harry ten Brink, W. T. Westmoreland, F. B. Creighton and one guest, Mrs. Christian, the mother of Mrs. W. R. Little, and the latter's house guest from Altus, Okla.

Literature Department To Give Garden Tea

Woman's Forum members were particularly urged by leaders Wednesday to attend the last program of the literature department which will take place Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the form of a garden tea to be arranged in the auditorium of the Forum clubhouse. Freear Furniture company is turning the room into a pretty garden scene and an outstanding program has been arranged.

Hostesses are Mesdames W. P. Ferguson, E. M. Friend, H. D. Jones, T. J. Brock and Sam Kruger. Mrs. Bert Bean is chairman of the arrangements committee with Mesdames W. W. Silk, Frank Timberlake, C. W. Snider and S. S. McKenney serving with her.

Special hostesses who will serve are Misses Margaret Hines, and Mary Tancred and Mesdames Norman Downing, T. A. Korn, J. W. Akin Jr., and Ernest Robertson.

Miss Clara Schultz, telephone 9664, is taking reservations.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

That is an interesting story about H. R. H. the Prince of Wales who, when inspecting the Canadian soldiers in trenches, came across a picture of the king and queen in two ovals with the words "George Fifth" written under the picture of the king. He said nothing, but wrote under the picture of his mother, "The other four fifths."

We wonder if he had anything in his mind like his feeling about his grandmother. In his new book, "The Life Story of King George," Richard Dent tells how when Queen Victoria died the little boy, being told of his grandmother's death, wondered if she would be happy in heaven. "She'll have to walk behind the angels. She won't like that," he said.

Whether it's respectful or not, it seems that many sons and daughters make laughingly critical remarks about the parents they adore; take the son of Roosevelt who said his father wanted to be the bridegroom at every wedding.

We have just heard a story about a little girl who misinterpreted the story told her of how she would not always be on earth. Her grandmother suggested that she mind her parents better and she replied, "Little girls don't have to mind parents; God just loaned us to them."

Taking life for granted as youth does, is a grand and glorious thing. A little later life is just one series of interruptions. We plan one thing and fate plans another. You can't lock yourself away in a room of life and be quiet.

To us, the most unnerving thing on earth is to be hurried. If we can take our time, we can stand unlimited strain, but rushing takes away our patience.

People find life that way; it seems a mad rush from the cradle to the grave. Only in the teens, life seems to loiter. That time is like that almost breathlessly beautiful pause in the season when spring is just ready to burst upon us. One feels its celestial loveliness without being able to put it in words.

The same beautiful pause comes in the teens. Then nature blooms and the seasons of life rush upon one until it is time for winter's rest and the birth and blooming of another generation.

Haste must worry us because it puts in our minds that feeling of mortality.

Anyway, from some peculiar streak in our makeup, we don't want to be hurried. We prefer to be ahead of time. If we must catch a train, we wish to be waiting. And we do not want time shoving us.

Taking it day by day, life is a grand adventure. The mind makes the day; it is not the sun nor the rain, for often dark rainy days give us something the sunshine could not have offered.

Man Can't Neglect Girl and Love Her, Says Dorothy Dix

Can a Man Really Love a Girl and Neglect Her? Sage Advice to the Woman Whose Husband Thinks Her a 'Total Loss'—Wild Women As Wives.

Dear Miss Dix—Do you think a man cares for a woman whom he persistently neglects? This man is a fine, clean, intelligent chap and he is engaged to a girl whom he professes to love dearly, yet he goes away for weeks and does not communicate with her. Never a letter nor a wire. She doesn't even know where he is except through his business friends. Then he comes blowing in at the most unexpected time and is wonderful and devoted while he is here. The girl is just eating her heart out over this thing. It is wrecking her never to know what to expect, never knowing whether he will return. She is putting up a brave fight, but her confidence is rapidly fading. Would you advise her to bear with him and await results? —HELEN.

Answer—To me this looks like a plain case of out of sight, out of mind, and the final result of all the girl's waiting will be that she will be left waiting at the church, so to speak.

Besides, no girl wants to be loved in that sort of haphazard fashion. She wants to feel that absence will make the heart grow fonder, and that even though separated from her in body, her fiance's spirit and thoughts will still be with her, and that he would be sending her continually some little reminder of his affection to keep his memory green in her heart.

If he really loved her, this would be the case. There wouldn't be a day on which she wouldn't get some message from him. He would want to tell her where he was, what he was doing. He would want to share his pleasures and interests with her. He would want the assurance that all was well with her and that she was missing him.

And if a man is too indifferent and selfish to take the trouble to write to his sweetheart, or too tight-mouthed to tell her where he is going, be sure that after marriage he will be one of the careless husbands who disappear and fail to return home at all. The number of wife-deserters is perfectly appalling. Every day we read in the newspapers the account of some Enoch Arden who has come back home after 10 or 20 years' absence, old and broken and sick, and who expects his wife and children to slay the fatted calf to celebrate his return, and support and nurse him the balance of his life.

So my earnest advice to the lady with the fiance afflicted with pen paralysis, and who is shy of the telephone booth, is to give him the air instead of a warm welcome the next time he comes back out of the silence and wants to take up their love affair where he dropped it.

He has shown by his actions that he doesn't really love her, that she is not necessary to his happiness, and he can get along perfectly well without her. He has demonstrated over and over again that he has no regard for her feelings, for the knowledge that her heart is torn with anxiety over him, and that his failure to write hurts and humiliates her, doesn't stir him up even to the extent of sending her a postal card.

She will have no chance of happiness with such a man. He is bad husband material. He should never marry any woman, but remain free and untrammeled.

When we speak of bad husbands, the sort the law gives a woman the right to divorce, we mean the men who are unfaithful to their wives, the drunkards, the wife-beaters, the men who commit crimes against their wives, but it is doubtful if these men are really worse husbands than the good men who are just neglectful. The men who do not mean to be unkind, but who just never take the trouble to do anything to make their wives happy.

There are so many men who never even notice whether their wives are sick or well; whose wives might wear the same old dress for 10 years, or have a new one on every day, and they would never see the difference; who never pay their wives a compliment; who dictate brief letters to them to hotel stenographers when they are away from home; who never make their wives a personal gift that shows that they have studied their taste, or even listen to the innumerable hints that have been given them of things their wives want.

These men may be models of all the virtues. They may be really fond of their wives. They may be good providers, but they are bad husbands because they starve their wives for tenderness and love.

Therefore, a girl can promise herself no happiness if she marries a neglectful man.—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—We are just the average couple. Husband makes barely enough for us to live on, no extras like movies, or little indulgences that make life larky, such as dashing into the drug store for a sundae or a bar of chocolate, but by rigidly observing these rules we keep a car. I wouldn't mind if my husband didn't act like some one waiting for the guillotine to fall. He finds fault with everything. The chairs are "cussed," the beds "lumpy," my clothes "cheap," his "disgraceful." If I laugh, he scowls. If I cry, he calls me glum. If I talk, he doesn't listen. If I don't talk, I am a grouch. He is ashamed of his car, his family, his friends, his wife. Yet to me he is dear, and beloved. What to do? I am,
—CRUSHED.

Dear Miss Dix—I am 38 years old. Am from a small village, but for the last 20 years have lived in large cities and have observed the freedom of conduct indulged in between the sexes without concern until recently I fell in love with a woman 16 years my junior. She is getting a divorce with a view to becoming my wife. Unfortunately I find myself in the position of not being broad enough to approve of things which to her seem of no moment. I do not approve of her smoking in public, or while riding in automobiles. I do not approve of her going to parties given in bachelor apartments where girls of doubtful character are entertained. I do not approve of her drinking unless I am with her. I do not approve of her going with other men. I do not approve of her friends, who either have already been divorced or apparently care little for their husbands. These differences cause continual strife. My business future demands a great deal of my time for study and these troubles are interfering with it and my happiness. Will it be wise to marry this woman? —JASPER.

Answerr—No. Most unwise. She will not change her point of view after marriage and you will be in continual conflict. Your ideal of a woman is what every self-respecting man should demand in a wife, but a wild woman who likes gay parties will mock at them and consider you an old fogey.
—DOROTHY DIX.

Favorite Books of Wichita Women

MRS. OLA G. HAMLIN

To name one's favorite book, says Mrs. Ola G. Hamlin, is much like trying to decide between the beauty of a spring sunrise, catching the glory of myriads of dewdrops on the grass and flower, and the dropping to rest of the sun over the western hills when the day is done.

Among the earliest books that have influenced her life are Andersen's and Grimm's Fairy Tales, read in the attic where she delighted to creep alone and read to the music of the patter of rain on the roof. There too, she roamed with "Alice in Wonderland," revelling in the land of make-believe. Mrs. Hamlin says that she sometimes wonders yet if she does not believe in fairies.

Then came "Tom Sawyer," and "Huckleberry Finn," delighting her fun-loving Irish nature. She loved adventure and found "far fields" in "Robinson Crusoe" and "Swiss Family Robinson." When history came, she said, it was hard to believe it was not just conjured up to make interesting reading.

In fiction, Mrs. Hamlin, with a great number of readers, spent many an absorbed hour with Dickens, particularly in "David Copperfield." Dickens' portrayal of character and English customs had a charm for this omniverous reader only equalled by J. Fennimore Cooper's "Leather Stocking Tales," which enthralled her, making her live with the first red-skinned American. Her only quarrel with Cooper, Mrs. Hamlin chuckled, was his persistency in calling women "females."

Mrs. Hamlin finally confessed that her favorite type of story was where the author had put in the conflict necessary to his art, the hero and heroine marry and live happy ever after.

Poetry, however, is the form of literature that has most stirred Mrs. Hamlin, possibly, she says, because it is imaginative in nature and rythmic in form.

She reads and enjoys modern poetry, but the sublime beauty of Scott's "Lady of the Lake," Longfellow's "Evangeline," Tennyson's "Idylls of the King," and Gray's "Elegy," are friends known and loved through many years for their real worth.

Mothers Are Urged To Attend Nutrition Class

Every mother in the city is invited to attend the nutrition classes that are held at the Memorial auditorium every Thursday morning from 10 to 11 o'clock, it was announced Wednesday.

Miss Pearl Rorabaugh, Red Cross nutritionist, is in charge of the classes and she is endorsed by the medical association of Wichita county.

Her talks to mothers are the keynotes for children's health at this time of the year particularly, and the meetings of the class are reported to be of intense interest. Mothers are urged to attend.

Book Review Is Junior Travel Club Feature

Members of the Junior Travel club met at the Woman's Forum Wednesday in business session. Roll call was answered with little clippings brought by each member from some trip she had made or some program she had heard.

Mrs. I. R. Sheldon, treasurer, and Mrs. C. C. Myers, critic, gave reports and Mrs. G. H. Watson gave the counselor's report.

In the business session, Mrs. Grover C. Johnson was elected delegate to the district convention at Stephenville to take the place of Mrs. G. H. Watson, formerly elected, who is unable to go.

Mrs. C. C. Myers chose as the outstanding book of the month to review, "The Great Meadow," by Elizabeth Madox Roberts, and touched prettily on its merits. Mrs. Myers told a great deal also of the author's life.

Members present were Mesdames O. T. Alles, F. T. Datson, E. A. Deaton, E. T. Duff, J. J. Fennessy, Grover C. Johnson, Thelbert Martin, J. A. McFall, C. C. Myers, I. R. Sheldon, G. H. Watson, D. O. Johnson and John Humphrey.

District Music Contest to Take Place in Fort Worth

Miss Inez Rudy of Bowie, president of the First District, Texas Federation of Music clubs announces the district contest to be held in Fort Worth on Saturday, April 12. The purpose of the contests is to give a definite, immediate objective toward which students may work; to inspire a greater effort in artistic achievement through the stimulus of competition; to define a higher standard of performance—the basis of the winning contestant; to give the student the opportunity to evaluate himself in comparison with others; to give publicity and credit for merit and to help advance the cause of music in Texas.

Contestants must be residents of Texas and winners in the district contests shall obligate themselves to compete in the state finals. Contestants in all solo contests, except organ, shall perform without words or music. All contestants must be members of the Texas Federation of Music clubs and where there is only one contestant, she will be declared winner and be allowed to compete in the state finals. Entrance fees must accompany applications.

Miss Erma Nola Voss, publicity chairman for the district, will give information to members wishing to enter the contest Saturday.

There will be contests in chorus work, in instrumental solos, in voice solos, in rhythm orchestra, in music memory, orchestra, chamber music groups, hymn playing, harmonica and in hymn memory.

The division contest will be held in Fort Worth at the 10th ward school on College avenue and the senior division in the First Christian church of that city.

Several piano applications have gone in from Wichita, but the president urges that school orchestras and choral clubs of the district enter.

Applications may be made until Saturday, it is announced.

City View P.-T. A. Installs New Officers

Members of the City View P.-T. A. held their regular meeting Tuesday evening at the school. The new officers, Mrs. C. B. Wigley, president; Mrs. W. B. Taylor, first vice president; Mrs. T. L. Millican, second vice president; Mrs. W. O. Griffin, third vice president; Mrs. Joe Grube, secretary; Mrs. W. H. Keil, treasurer, and Mrs. Murphy, corresponding secretary, were installed in an impressive ceremony conducted by Mrs. O. J. Norwood.

Delegates were also elected to the district conference to be held in Electra next week.

Mrs. A. D. Duck entertained with a program given by the pupils of her expression class.

Mr. Hightower, representing the Lowden Playground Equipment company, gave an instructive talk on the value of play in child life and how this could be supplemented by the use of proper equipment, and showed some splendid models of some of the items sold by his company.

The Red Cross nurse to assist in the holding of the nutrition class will be with the school parents and children Friday, April 11. Proper feeding, dieting, preparation of foods, economy in home management, will be discussed during the program from 3 to 4 o'clock.

TEXAS GINNERS LAUNCH CENTRAL AGENCY IN QUANAH MEET

CO-OPS MOVE TOWARD UNITY

Federal and State Leaders Sponsor Program

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, April 9.—Organization of a central co-operative cotton ginners agency for Texas, formed along lines suggested and approved by the federal farm board and empowered to both buy and sell for the member companies was launched at Quanah when members of the national board and of the Texas Farm Bureau association met with 200 representatives of the Farmers Co-operative Gin societies of Texas. The meeting was called by W. W. Cole, president of the societies, in an effort to effect the unification and standardization of the co-operative organizations within the state.

T. M. Haney, Thalia; J. C. Flint, Chillicothe; G. A. Vestal, Quanah; M. C. Dobbs, Lamesa; J. W. Perry, Slaton; J. L. Brooks, Kirkland; and C. L. Geesey, Wellington, were appointed members of a standing committee to perfect organization plans before a second meeting to be called in the near future.

Agency Outlined

A tentative outline of the functions and organization of the proposed agency, presented in the form of a series of recommendations and adopted by the gathering included the following provisions:

The central agency shall have the power to merchandise all the cotton seeds of gin members as well as to purchase all the necessary equipment, supplies, insurance.

All members of the co-operative societies and gins are urged to become members of the Cotton Co-operative Marketing association as approved by the federal farm board.

The central agency shall be the medium through which new co-operative gins will be organized.

Future Expansion

In future expansion of the co-operative gin program new gins will be organized under a uniform program patterned after the new society as it may be approved by the national board.

The recommendations were prepared by a committee which included C. L. Geesey, chairman, W. W. Cole, T. M. Haney, J. C. Flint, G. A. Vestal and M. C. Dobbs.

Speakers at the original organization meeting, in which the importance of centralization was presented included C. H. Alvord, of the federal farm board; Lawrence Westbrook of Waco, a member of a committee of five appointed by Gov. Dan Moody to reorganize a cotton marketing association along the lines of the federal bureau; Lynn Stokes of Ballinger, a representative of the Texas Farm Board, and C. K. Bullard, attorney for the farm board.

Dolores Costello and Baby Doing Well

HOLLYWOOD, April 9. (UP)—Dolores Costello, film star and wife of John Barrymore, today was reported to be resting comfortable after the birth of a daughter in Good Samaritan hospital here.

The infant weighed seven pounds and nine ounces at birth yesterday. Barrymore and his wife's sister, Helene Costello, who recently became the bride of Lowell Sherman, were at the bedside.

Neither Barrymore nor the actress has said whether or not she plans to return to the screen.

President Urges Engineering Work

WASHINGTON, April 9. (AP)—President Hoover believes his own profession of engineering can make a contribution to the welfare of humanity which goes beyond the benefits derived from its great discoveries and inventions.

This, he says, is the application of the engineer's trained capacity for methodical, patient, unemotional fact finding to the solution of the many problems of government that arise from the creations of the profession.

The chief executive last night received from the American Society of Mechanical Engineers a special medal in honor of his civic and humanitarian achievements and delivered a short address.

State Ends Evidence In A. L. Fauble Trial

TECUMSEH, Okla., April 9. (AP)—Presentation of direct state evidence in the trial of Arthur L. Fauble, Shawnee wholesale merchant, on an extortion charge in connection with threatening letters received by Shawnee men last year, was completed today.

Fauble, found in Wichita, Kan., where he said he had been taken by abductors, has contended he was forced by kidnapers to participate in the extortion efforts.

State Officials Talk To Iowa Park Lions

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, April 9.—Iowa Park Lions were addressed at their weekly luncheon by J. D. Hall, state budget director; R. B. Walthall, member of the board of control; and Mr. Peterson, supervisor of dairying for state institutions, of Austin, who were guests of Supt. E. J. Wilson of the state experiment farm, and also guests of the Lions.

They were also addressed by Miss Eleanor Reves, member of the Iowa Park school faculty, upon economic conditions in Euripe as she observed them in a recent tour.

Other visitors were Jim King, Judge John P. Marrs and Judge Irvin J. Vogel, and Mr. Buchanan of Wichita Falls.

The newly elected mayor of Iowa Park, T. J. Pace, was also a guest of the club and pledged himself to work for the betterment of civic conditions and to cooperate with the Lions in their efforts along this line. The musical part of the program was furnished by Arthur Fielder and Lee Copeland with harmonica and guitar.

During a business period, it was decided to sponsor a bridge and 42 tournament to be held at the Henson building Friday evening, April 11, for the replenishment of the milk fund for Iowa Park school children. The committee handling this includes J. G. O'Donohoe, chairman, Leonard Mattingly, Dr. Gordon Clark, George Belcher and E. J. Wilson.

COUPLE SOUGHT IN FIRE DEATH

Man and Bride Wanted in Burning of Child

ERIE, Pa., April 9. (INS)—Extradition proceedings at Albany, N. Y., seeking the return of Ralph Mumbulo and his bride of six days to face Pennsylvania justice climaxes one of the most amazing investigations in the criminal annals of this state.

Mumbulo's 11-year-old daughter, Hilda, was burned to death in a fire that swept the apartment in which Mumbulo lived with the former Edna May Deshunk on March 22. Mumbulo and Miss Deshunk were married at Montrose, Pa., 12 days after the fire.

The fire originated, according to Mumblo's wife, in the kitchen of the apartment. Hilda lay asleep in an adjoining room. Mrs. Mumbulo said she was cleaning a silk dress with gasoline and that the dress suddenly burst into flames, caused by friction in rubbing the garment.

Mrs. Mumbulo said she took the basin of flaming gasoline and rushed into Hilda's bedroom to throw it from the window. Investigators later became suspicious when they found Hilda's bed splashed with gasoline although the bed was in the rear of the room and not in the path a person would take in running from the kitchen to the bedroom window.

The walls on two sides of the room, far back from the window, are blistered and burnt by the flames while other portions of the room were not damaged.

Assistant District Attorney Mortimer Graham said today he had learned that Mumbulo, supposed to have been at work, conversed with insurane company officials here at 9 o'clock in the morning on the day Hilda was burned to death concerning an $8,000 insurance policy on the child's life. The fire occurred at 7 o'clock in the morning.

Dispatches from the Chenango county jail at Norwick, N. Y., where Mumbulo and his wife are being held pending extradition quote the couple as insisting the little girl was burned to death accidentally.

Court Disapproves Of Wilbur's Lease Policy

WASHINGTON, April 9. (AP)—Justice Jennings Bailey in the District of Columbia supreme court today disapproved the action of Secretary Wilbur in refusing oil and gas permits on public lands in accordance with the policy of President Hoover for oil conservation.

The court announced it would grant writs of mandamus against Secretary Wilbur directing him to reinstate the applications of Richard D. Vedder of California, and Roy C. Barton, of New Mexico, for oil permits.

Brooks Field Pilot Killed in Crash

SAN ANTONIO, April 9. (INS)—Sec. Lieut. Bert Muse, 25, West Point graduate, was killed instantly at Brooks field here today when his observation airplane crashed from a low altitude.

The plane burst into flames as it plunged to the ground. Muse suffered a fractured skull and was burned badly. He was dead when field officials reached the wreckage.

The young pilot's home was in Cedar Glades, Ark.

Colleen Moore Leaves Hubby in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., April 9. (UP)—The screen colony today was discussing the reported separation of Coleen Moore, film star, from her producer husband, John McCormick.

The actress and her husband, it was said, agreed last night to separate. She is expected to file suit for divorce in the near future.

ALTUS POWER TIE-UP MADE

Repair of City Engines Gets Under Way

ALTUS, Okla., April 9. (UP)—Connection of the Southwestern power line with the city of Altus was made early today after approximately 60 men had worked two days on the two-mile project to supply the city with power and light after fire late Monday had damaged the municipally owned power and light plant here.

With two engines in the city plant in operation, city officials said it was not necessary to connect with the Southwestern line before late today when permanent rebuilding and repair work of the city building was started. Several days will be required to rebuild the plant which suffered more than $100,000 damage.

F. A. Sharp of the Fulton Iron works, from which the five Diesel oil engines in the city plant were purchased in 1921, arrived here today from St. Louis to supervise repair and remodeling of these machines.

Water shortage which was felt immediately following the fire and loss of power to pump additional a problem. Plenty of water is water in the standpipe is no longer available now.

Divorce by letter or telegram is now possible in Mexico at a cost of about $2,000. These divorces are granted for "mental cruelty" and are valid in the United States and France.

Minister, Run-down in Health, Gains 7 Lbs. in 3 Weeks

Rev. W. H. Taylor writes, "After a 7 weeks' revival campaign I was entirely run-down and losing flesh rapidly. I decided to give Ironized Yeast a 3 weeks' trial. After 2 weeks I found my strength returning and the tired feeling gone. In 3 weeks I had gained 7 lbs., and was myself again."

Imagine just 3 weeks to change from a "skinny" tired person to a strong, well-filled-out man or woman. Ugly hollows vanish. Broomstick limbs become round and chubby. Tired feeling disappears. Blemished skin clears.

Only when Yeast is Ironized is it more effective—for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building and strengthening values of Yeast. Pleasant-tasting tablets. Safe for everybody. Never cause gas or a bloating, no harmful drugs.

Go to any druggist today and get a full size treatment of Ironized Yeast. If after this generous trial you are not delighted, money back instantly from manufacturer.—Adv.

SILVER BULLETS

Confedertaes Used Precious Metal in Guns at Close of War

ATLANTA, Ga., April 9. (UP)—Isolated bits of information of every description may be gleaned almost at every step of the 79th annual convention of the American Chemical society here.

It was learned today that "silver bullets" were used by the Confederate armies in their defense at the siege of Richmond.

Much undefined lead which had been hastily gathered for ordnance purposes, and which had besen intended to be reworked to proclaim the silver content for the Confederate mint, was thrown into the fight at the last moment, it was stated.

Some of the bullets thus used contained as high as 25 per cent silver, according to J. P. Montgomery, University of Alabama.

'Cold Carburetion' System Perfected

HARTFORD, Conn., April 9. (INS)—The perfection of a device which eliminates the usual carburetor and take system of gasoline engine is claimed today by the Pratt & Whitney Aircraft company, a division of United Aircraft and Transport corporation.

Such a method of "cold carburation" has been the objective of experiment conducted by many years of automotive engineers throughout the world.

George Mead, vice president of the company, said that the development work, which has been in progress for a long time, recently culminated in flight tests with the latest type of fighting plane.

The system used measures the fuel precisely and delivers it mechanically to each cylinder. The atomization claimed is so perfect that a large range of fuels may be used, including both furnace oil and aviation gasoline.

TELL FOLKS how easy it is to LOSE FAT

Everybody knows how excess fat has disappeared in late years. Men and women in every circle prove that figures need not stay abnormal. Youth and beauty, health and vitality can come back.

All must realize that, in late years, some new factor is employed. Fewer people now rely on abnormal exercise or diet. Modern science has proved that most fat people suffer from an under-active gland. Physicians now, in treating obesity, seek to correct that deficiency.

The chief factors are embodied in Marmola prescription tablets, prepared by a famous laboratory. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. Now in every circle there are slender people who can tell you what they do.

The method is scientific and well known. Every box of Marmola contains the formula, also the reasons for the good results. No starvation, though moderation helps. The purpose is to help out an under-active gland, which should turn food into fuel and energy.

Go test this well-tried method. In a little while results will tell you what Marmola means to you. If you see the excess fat go and new vitality return, go on until the change is completed. Then, in fairness to your friends, tell them, as users have done for so long. Start today.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will gladly order for you.

"WHETSTONES FOR DULL TIMES"

Daily Editorial

THE BEST whetstone for dull times is building construction. Nothing else so quickly restores the keen edge of confidence.

Which largely accounts for the loud cheers of stock quotations at word of eleven billion dollars will shortly put on overalls, grab shovels and tool-kits, and begin to lay foundations, roads, rails, conduits, and bets that investment can earn higher wages with a carpenter's hammer than with a coupon-clipper.

Public works and private projects for 1930 have contracted to distribute eleven thousand millions between manufacture, transportation and labor.

And that's the kind of money that passes from pocket to pocket until practically every class in the community gets a piece of it.

Construction is a creator, not a consumer, of national wealths. Therein it differs from extravagance and diversion and fashion—three other primary stimulators of prosperity, which leave nothing on the plate after they've satisfied their generous appetites.

Extravagance, amusement and fashion sustain occupation, but destroy its yields in the process of enjoying them.

Construction not only preserves but increases the original value of the country's cheap and abundant natural assets.

It transfers clay to bricks, slag to cement, ores to girders and pipes and wires—clears weed patches and ashheaps from vacant land, and leaves incomes and taxes flourishing on the sites.

Its cash heads directly for the pay envelope, and from there immediately turns to the grocery store, the dry-goods counter and the shoe-shop.

It hastens to empty retail shelves and place fresh factory orders.

Rides on to the basic producer, the farmer, the miner, the cattle rancher, the wool grower and the cotton planter. Some fraction of it drops off at every town between the coasts, to encourage trade, hire field hands—to engage cannery help, quarrymen and millwrights.

THE CONSTRUCTION dollar is a transcontinental traveler—the busiest dollar on earth. Its six pences are the nimblest in the land. They're the Boy Scouts of currency, forever doing a good turn somewhere.

They skip no territories or economic groups. They spread industrial and commercial action from gulf to lakes. Construction dollars are indestructible dollars because they invariably leave permanencies behind. The dollars that fill gas tanks, teacups, and cosmetic jars disappear in them.

The dollars wrought into cars and tires and apparel quickly land on junk-heaps.

But skyscrapers and hotels, apartment houses and power stations, are just so many stacks of greenbacks—magic greenbacks, because every penny invested in their erection has been spent and still retains its full power of exchange.

Our prosperity means business. She draws blueprints, drags capital to the saw-buck, and proceeds to disprove the axiom that "you can't have your cake and eat it too."

When Dr. Julius Klein confided to Friend Mike that we're entering an eleven billion dollar building boom, he staged the star radio act of the season. His spring song had Mendelssohn's lashed to the mast. There's the sort of music to which employment, stock tickers and dividends must quickstep.

A few more such golden melodies, and nobody will be "listening to the mocking birds."

Train Crews Escape In Head-On Collision

MILLERS FALLS, Mass., April 9. (UP)—Members of two train crews escaped death of serious injury by leaping from their cabs just before two locomotives crashed head-on at Northfield farms on the Central Vermont railroad three miles north of here today.

When 16 Takes a Life

THE OFFICIALS of a certain middle western city are in something of a quandary these days. They have caught and convicted a murderer, but they do not know what to do with him.

The murderer's name happens to be Robert Ross. He killed a gasoline station attendant during a hold-up and pleaded guilty when taken in custody. He is just 16 years old; and it is his youth that is causing all the trouble.

Under the law—or under one section of it, at any rate—he must be confined in the state reformatory, where all criminals under 21 are supposed to be lodged. But under another section of the law, which rules that no murderer can be sent to the reformatory, he must go to the penitentiary. Since he cannot obey both sections of the law, he is at present waiting, in the county jail, for the officials to learn what they are to do with him.

It's all very puzzling, and the authorities have our sympathy. But it seems odd that it should be this red-tape conflict in laws which has them guessing and not the simple, appalling fact that they have on their hands, in the first place, a confessed murdered who is only 16.

That fact, when you stop to think about it, is rather disturbing. There is enough in it to keep our best social research workers busy for quite a while.

One need not go all the way with the determinists in order to see, in the mere fact of this young culprit's existence, a damaging indictment of the kind of civilization we have put together for ourselves. It may be, of course, that young Robert Ross had more than his share of original sin in his make-up; yet even the most conservative judge must admit that the fault cannot be altogether his.

Somewhere, in the childhood and adolescence which his middle western city forced upon him, there must have been forces over which he had no control—forces that pushed him along a path that ended, at the age of 16, in murder.

There isn't any use in getting sentimental about it, of course. His life has gone to pot, irretrievably, and that's that. Life isn't sacred in this country. It's cheap. We kill 30,000 people a year with our automobiles and it never worries us. The fate of one more, or less, product of our metropolitan back alleys won't make us lose much sleep.

But Robert Ross, after all, is a symbol; a symbol of the sort of thing that the modern American city turns out. A murderer at 16! There is a problem there that will not be solved in a hurry.

Easy to Take

DECISION of the Little Theater to present its best play of the year, "The Enemy," on April 22 for the benefit of local charities, and the action of the Junior chamber of commerce in shouldering the responsibility for selling 2,500 tickets for that performance, constitutes a remedial prescription for community ills which the citizenship generally should be glad to utilize.

No corrective medicines for children ever were more sweetly coated than this badly needed "dose" of charity relief provided by the services of Little Theater and Junior chamber of commerce members. Not only will the dramatic organization present one of the most entertaining and worthwhile plays of the present era, but it will be offered for a small portion of the price usually paid to see a performance of its caliber. The sale of 2,500 tickets merely for the entertainment offered should demand little more than their delivery.

But from the standpoint of dire need of funds with which to discharge the humanitarian debt of Wichita Falls through its Family Relief association and Salvation Army, patronage of the benefit play becomes a duty. The actors who give much time and hard work to the presentation of "The Enemy" donate their services and considerable personal expense. The Junior chamber of commerce members have assumed sale of the tickets—a privilege which, be it observed, is never sought too clamorously. They should find the citizenship generally prepared to complete this group transaction with little expenditure of "sales effort."

Dramatically speaking, "The Enemy" packs a solid home run wallop. The proceeds of its delivery will stay in Wichita Falls, will relieve actual suffering here, will return immediatey to circulation here. The pill is well prescribed and is attractively sugar coated.

Timely Optimism

MYRIAD are they who have asked during the current period of social, educational and religious upheaval whether humanity's civilization really represents any progress in any of those three fields. From the tower of keen analytical and philosophic observation, Will Durant projects through the Golden Book magazine (March) a distinctly encouraging picture of mankind in 1930; a picture which not only commends the past, but prophecies the future.

Answering the question, "Is progress a delusion?" Mr. Durant uses his favorite medium of 10 points to outline definte steps in man's ascent from sayagery. They are worthy of recapitulation. First, speech, without which "generalization would have stopped in its beginnings, and reason would have stayed where it exists in the brute." Second, fire, which made him independent of climate, made tools possible, and made numerous foods edible. In succeeding order, the conquest of animals; agriculture, developed by woman and domesticating all creations, including man; social organization; morality; tools; science; education, and writing and print.

Mr. Durant succinctly implies that progress which has liberated man from fear of the elements, from animal-like labor, from general ignorance, merely lays the foundation for the beginning of "beauty and wisdom, which alone deserve immortality." His study reveals with refreshing clarity the stalwart trees of a forest which most of us see, but often fear that it is only a mirage.

The Girl With The Red Hair by Rob Eden

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Gay Terris has agreed to marry her wealthy employer, Frank Patterson, whom she does not love, in payment for a loan of $5,000 to keep her sick mother in a sanitarium. Since making her contract, she has fallen in love with Patterson's nephew, Mark Loring. To earn $200 for luxuries Gay impersonates Fania Crandall, a crook posing as a society woman, at the Van Schyler masquerade. A valuable necklace is stolen at the ball, and Gay learns through Paul Ladshaw, Fania's accomplice, that Fania is the thief. Fania discovers that Gay knows the truth and in order to get Gay out of town, carefully composes a telegram which she sends her saying that her mother is seriously ill and requesting that she come at once. Previously Fania had offered Gay a trip to Arizona to see her mother, so Gay goes to her and tells her she will accept her offer. Fania arranges a trip by airplane but before the plane takes off Ladshaw gets in touch with Gay by phone and makes her understand that it is all a trick. He gets her a long distance connection with Doctor North at the sanitarium.

CHAPTER XXXI

The world was reeling to Gay as she stepped out in to the mellow July sunshine. She touched the building to steady herself. She saw nothing, heard nothing but Doctor North's voice. Saw only the telephone which she had left.

Dr. North's voice, so steady, so collected.

"Why, my dear Miss Terris, I didn't send any such telegram. I don't understand how any one could do such a thing, when there is no truth in it. Mrs. Terris is the same as usual, a little better, as far as I can see. She's been telling all of us about your approaching marriage. Seems very happy about it. She's a very good patient, and has responded very well while she has been here. I have great hopes for her—just as I've been writing. We're all very fond of her here. There's nothing to worry about—as long as she stays happy and contented, and as long as she has complete rest. I'm glad you called me before you started out here, for there's no necessity of your coming. I'll always let you know when you're needed."

She had asked him again and again to repeat his words. He had, kindly. The telegram had lied. Paul was right. Fania had tricked her, tricked her, worried her almost to death. A fierce flame of anger flooded her. Anger and loathing. Fania, to do this thing.

All planned so neatly. Getting at her through her mother. Fania's innocence when she had offered the trip, her haste at completing the arrangements.

If it hadn't been for Paul, she would be on the plane now, with Randolph whom she didn't like. The hurry—she should have seen through it. She must have been half crazy with worry. She shuddered when she thought of what might have happened. Paul was a real friend. A dear. She hoped some day she could do something for him. And he had warned her, too. Warned her to look out for traps.

Well, she would get back to town as fast as she could.

The Lancer was standing where she had left it. A man, Randolph, was standing near one of the white wings. Now and then he looked toward the station.

Her taxi driver came up and touched his hat, "Ready, miss?"

"Tell Mr. Randolph I've changed my mind. I'm not going!" Why was he hanging around? Why had he listened, been so near when she phoned? Without another word, she turned away and started from the field. Fania's coat was still in the plane. Well, let it stay there. She couldn't bear to go near the plane again. It had seemed so beautiful a while ago. Now it was ugly, horrible. Fania's plane. That was what Paul had said.

She looked ruefully in her purse. Barely 50 cents left. It would have to take her to Manhattan some way. She planned to walk until she came to a subway, then take it. Only a nickle that way.

She was hungry, too, and looked longingly at a hot dog stand near the field. One of them would taste good. She had eaten nothing, tasted nothing but Mrs. Crandall's coffee this morning. But she didn't dare spend any of her little hoard.

Mark would be in his hotel by now. She smiled when she thought how happy she had been at the thought of the phone message. From him. How disappointed she had been when Paul's voice answered her.

Trudging along, her high heels bothered her, her coat felt too hot, too heavy, although it was unlined, a thin silk thing. She took it off, and the sun beat down warmly on her bare arms.

A sorry figure, walking along the oil spattered cement pavement. She had asked a few directions. Four miles to walk before she could find a subway. A train nearby, but she didn't have enough money for a train. She had to walk four miles.

Tears gathered in her eyes. Tears of thankfulness that her mother wasn't really ill. She had been so worried. . . .

When she finally reached the subway, her feet were swollen, and tired from walking on the pavement.

She supposed Fania knew by now about the plane. She must be angry. . . .

She had never known the subway was so cool. The dampness refreshed her. Her hair clung in wet red ringlets to her hot forehead. Her head was back against the window. Her eyes closed.

Mark would be back when she got to the hotel. She wanted nothing more than to see him, to know he was there, to feel his hand on hers. Not a thought of Frank Patterson entered her mind. She seemed to have completely forgotten him.

The ride came to a close only too quickly. She could not believe it was over. Indeed she almost went past her station. Somewhat rested, she went out into the street, and walked down the few blocks to the Knickerbocker hotel, remembering bitterly the hours she had waited there this morning, almost crazy with worry.

The clerk at the desk was sorry. Mr. Loring had not come in yet, and had left no word where he was.

Gay was disappointed. She had to fight to keep back the tears as she walked over to a chair to wait. She had counted on Mark being here, counted on seeing him. It was almost more than she could bear.

She had no more than sat down when she saw Frank Patterson coming toward her, smiling. She wanted to run away, hide so he wouldn't see her. But it was too late.

"Gay! I've been waiting here a long time for you! I thought you'd never come," he spoke chidingly, as he drew up a chair beside her.

He—now, when she was so tired, when she only wanted to see Mark. . . .

His florid face was perspiring. Beads of sweat stood out on his cheeks, on his forehead. His hand touched hers, and she drew the fingers away as if something had burned them. He was repulsive to her. Abominable.

"Where were you?"

"I?" He expected an answer, so she gave him one, "I was—busy."

"Do you still want to go to Arizona?"

"No, not now." She was too weary to say more.

His face lighted up with pleasure. "Well, that's fine. I've forgiven everything, Gay. Everything. We're going to forget Mark Loring, what happened last night, and this morning, and start anew. That's what you want, isn't it? To start anew. That's what I want. So you're quite forgiven, dear." His smile was almost more than she could stand. So sure, so beaming, so—much Frank Patterson. She didn't answer, only looked away at the desk. She really expected Mark to come any moment.

"Shall we go now?" He had touched her arm again, as if to draw her up on her feet.

"Go?"

"Of course. I've got the license in my pocket. I got it this morning as I said I would."

"License?" Gay was bewildered.

"Our marriage license." He took a long folded paper from his breast pocket and opened it before her eyes. With eyes that refused to believe she saw that Frank B. Patterson and Gay Terris were permitted to marry by the laws of the state of New York. . . .

"Everything is ready—we'll go out to the farm. You know I don't like doing things quickly like this, but it's all for the best—"

Gay could not take her eyes from the paper, which looked so legal, so binding. A license to marry. . . .

"I won't marry you," she heard herself say. Her body was tense, her glance still on the paper.

"That's silly, Gay, and it isn't like you to be silly. Come on!" Patterson was getting impatient. He pulled out his watch, then snapped it quickly into his pocket. "I—can't—marry you. I thought you understood last night—"

"You didn't mean that, dear. That young whippersnapper of a Mark had you hypnotized—"

"I can't marry you now. . . ."

"What about the money I lent you?" Patterson was angry, and showed it.

"I'll work my fingers to the bone to pay you back—anything—rather than marry you! I'll pay you, don't worry—somehow—only I can't marry you!"

"What about your word? Doesn't that count for anything?" he demanded.

Her word? Her promise? She couldn't keep it—couldn't keep it and be herself. The license was in her hand, and slowly she tore it into bits, and threw them in a jardiniere near her chair. "I can't marry you—I can't help breaking my word—"

"You'll be sorry," Patterson muttered in a harsh, low voice. "You can't expect your position at the office back—after this—" he turned to go, half expecting her to call him back.

Gay said nothing. She knew she wouldn't be sorry. She had Mark. She didn't want Frank Patterson, hadn't wanted him in the beginning—

As she went over to the desk to ask whether any word had come from Mark, she saw Patterson push open the revolving door into the street. But at the desk, there was no word from Mark. The clerk tried again to be reassuring.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Thousands of government experts are working constantly for the benefit of all citizens of the United States. They will work directly for you if you will call for the fruits of their labors through our Washington bureau. State your inquiry briefly, write clearly, and, enclosing two-cent stamp for a personal letter in reply, address The Record News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—What is Arthur Lake's real name.?—D. A. P.

A.—His real name is Silverlake. Florence Lake is his sister. He appeared in vaudeville and musical comedy before going into the pictures.

Q.—What is the memorial to John Burroughs in the garden of Henry Ford?—S. L.

A.—The memorial to the late naturalist at Fair Lane, the Ford country home near Dearborn, is in the form of a rockery. Rocks from Mr. Burroughs' boyhood home were bought for this purpose and there is a statue of him in the garden.

Q.—What will remove iodine stains?—S. S.

A.—They may be removed by warm concentrated solution of sodium thiosulphate (photographers' hpyo) or by ammonia.

Q.—How tall is an adult gorilla?—E. B. C.

A.—The adult male gorilla is from 5 to 6 feet high in its natural attitude, although after death, it may be stretched beyond this. Most specimens are under 6 feet, on account of the relative shortness and generally flexed position of the legs.

Q.—On what proportion of a government post card can messages be written?—R. R. R.

A.—Any mailable matter may be placed on the reverse side and one-third of the address side of government postal cards.

Q.—How many words are there in the Hawaiian language?—J. W. N.

A.—There are approximately 16,000 to 18,000 words in this language.

Q.—What is the lowest temperature ever officially recorded in the United States?—L. H.

A.—The records of the weather buetau of the highest and lowest temperature do not extend back much beyond 50 years. The lowest official record in the United States is 65 degrees reported at Fort Keogh, Mont., January, 1888.

Q.—Why is Reynold's "Infant Samuel" so called? Who posed for it?—L. P. D.

A.—The identity of the child who posed for the picture has not been disclosed. No incident connects the painting with the story of Samuel in the Old Testament.

Q.—What governor of Virginia made a treaty with the Indians, giving them arrows and skins for protection?—M. B.

A.—In 1677-78, Lt. Gov. Herbert Jeffries, acting as governor of Virginia, made a treaty with the Indians of the West, by which each town agreed to pay three arrows for their land and 20 beaver skins annually for protection.

Q.—Is a seal an impression or the instrument which makes the impression?—S. W.

A.—The term is applied to both. The practice of sealing is of great antiquity. Gems and cylinder seals were used in Europe in early times, and in the Orient had been in use for centuries.

Q.—Did Shakespeare have brothers and sisters?—P. K.

A.—William Shakespeare was the third child in the family. Two daughters who died in infancy were the first and second children. The others were Gilbert, Joan, Anne, Richard and Edmund.

Q.—How many pounds of air are there in a football?—C. M.

A.—There are not more than 13 pounds of air in a regulation football.

Q.—What meanings have the names of the Magi?—R. N.

A.—Casper, white; Melchoir, light; Balthasar, Lord of the Treasure House.

Q.—Are yellow jasmine and oleander poisonous?—M. B.

A.—The department of agriculture advises us that yellow jasmine contains certain alkaloids which would cause toxicity if taken internally and caution should consequently be used concerning it. The oleander, however, is deadly poisonous and should never be kept on lawns or around houses where children may have access to it.

Q.—What is the term for a person who talks in his sleep?—S. H. C.

A.—He is a somniloquist.

Q.—When were potatoes and sugar bringing the highest prices?—H. L. O.

A.—The bureau of home economics say that the highest market price ever paid for potatoes was in June, 1920, in Chicago when potatoes were worth approximately $9.14 per hundred pounds. The highest price ever paid for sugar was at the same time and the price was 26.7 cents per pound.

Q.—How large does a caponized rooster grow?—C. E. K.

A.—The largest caponized rooster of which we know is one of the Jersey Black Giant breed that weighed between 16 and 17 pounds.

The Record News Offers Its Readers a Booklet On PAINT

Uncle Sam's experts tell you that painting at regular intervals is the cheapest way to keep buildings and implements in good condition and that painting should not be put off too long. Rot and rust once started cannot be stopped by paint.

Moreover, the longer painting is delayed, the more difficult and expensive it becomes.

COUNTY LODGES HOLD MEETING

Rebekahs and Odd Fellows Gather in Electra

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, April 9.—Approximately 500 members and guests of the Wichita county I. O. O. F. and Rebekah association gathered in the Electra Odd Fellows hall for the regular business and social session Wednesday night. Representatives from Wichita Falls, Burkburnett, and Iowa Park and guests from Vernon were among the number.

Ray Rector of Stamford, grand master of the I. O. O. F., and B. D. Sartin of Wichita Falls, were the principal speakers.

Mr. Rector discussed the plans for the year and told the assembly that each lodge would be expected to increase its membership by 10 per cent, to appoint a committee to assist in the collection of dues, and to appoint a special program committee.

"Friendship" was the theme of Mr. Sartin's address.

Mayor George E. Ragland was master of ceremonies. The program opened with the recital of the ode by the Rebekahs, followed by an invocation from Mrs. Eddie Peterson, Electra, Rebekah chaplain.

The guests were welcomed by Mrs. Nita Hemby, of Electra, and Mrs. Ethel Moore of Iowa Park, responded. Music was furnished by the Electra High school orchestra and by quartets from Electra and Burkburnett. Miss Ethel McKinley, Vernon, entertained with a reading.

A special comedy number was followed with songs from the Wichita Falls group. The program ended with a one-act play presented by the Electra Curtain players.

House of Jacob To Observe Passover

The local orthodox congregation of the House of Jacob will begin their annual celebration of the Feast of the Passover when the opening service will be held at the church Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The celebration will continue for eight days with two services daily at 8 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. for the first two and last two days. During the intervening days the services will be held in each home by the head of the house.

All Jewish people in the entire nation will eat the unleavened bread during these eight days of worship which will end after the evening services at the synagogue on April 20.

Grand Jury Delays Filing First Report

The grand jury for the April term of the 30th district court recessed shortly after noon Wednesday without having made its first report, expected Wednesday by members of the district attorney's department. Consideration of cases scheduled for hearing before the grand jury will be resumed Thursday at 1:30 o'clock and the first report will probably be returned during the afternoon, according to George W. Anderson, assistant district attorney.

Local Contestants Carry Off Honors In District Junior College Meet

Wichita Falls debaters and orators swept the field Wednesday at the district junior college meet in Gainesville when representatives of the college here carried off first honors in three out of four contests in which the school entered, according to a special dispatch to The Record News. Miss Juanita Kinsey, director of public speaking at the junior college here and coach of the contestants in the district contests, accompanied the Wichita Falls teams to Gainesville.

Mildred Anderson won the girls' oratorical contest and Durward Park won the oratorical contest for boys. These were the only two contestants entered in this field.

Josephine Kelly and Mary Virginia Barron, one of two debating teams entered in the Gainesville meet, carried off highest honors in the district debating contest for girls. Randle Hanks and Curtis Cook were barely nosed out of first place in the boys' debating contests when they were defeated by Marshall Masters and Raymond Mahan of the Paris Junior college.

Homes Freed From Paving Liability

AUSTIN, April 9. (AP)—Special assessments levied by cities against property for street improvements are not "taxes," within the meaning of the constitution, the supreme court held today in answering a certified question propounded by the court of civil appeals in the case of city of Wichita Falls vs. L. M. Crunk Williams et al.

The court reasserted former decisions that such assessments could not hold as a lien against a homestead. In this case he did not pay it, the property was advertised for sheriff's sale. He obtained an injunction to stop the sale.

RULING ENDS CASE HERE

The supreme court ruling on a certified question presented by the court of civil appeals in the suit of the city of Wichita Falls against L. M. Crunk Williams, et al., seeking a lien on a homestead for paving costs, finally disposed of the case in favor of the defendants unless the paving company asks a rehearing, Thelbert Martin, city attorney, said Wednesday.

The case was appealed to the higher court after the defendants obtained an injunction stopping a sheriff's sale to meet paving costs. The lien was asked for the paving company rather than for the city, the attorney explained.

He was reported resting well late Wednesday night although the effects of the anasthetic had not yet fully disappeared.

Katy Crew Makes Fuel Saving Run

The crew of M.-K.-T. passenger train No. 53 Tuesday gave their company the lead in the existing rivalry between railways of the Southwest in the matter of fuel saving when they made the run from Forgan to Wichita Falls, a distance of 304 miles, on one tank of water and 662 gallons of fuel oil, with sufficient water left for an additional 25 miles.

In proportion to the number of cars in the train, the consumption per passenger car mile was considerably less than one gallon of fuel oil, officials pointed out. Engine crews on various runs are continually striving to set new records for low consumption of fuel, it was said, and rivalry is keen on the matter of passenger, freight and yard service. The crew which set the new record Tuesday included S. A. Youngblood, engineer, and E. H. Metcalf, fireman.

State Awards Charter To Kerr County Ranch

A charter was granted by the state Wednesday to the Kerr County ranch with a capital stock of $20,000 and with L. H. Cullum, W. Daniel and P. J. Lea, all of Wichita Falls, named as incorporators, according to an Associated Press dispatch to The Record News.

The ranch will buy, sell and raise livestock, according to Mr. Cullum, one of the incorporators. It has been in operation for several years, the charter having been sought for business purposes, he said. The ranch is located in Kerr county about 30 miles from Kerrville.

GRAHAM WELL MAKES 12,000

Oil and Gas Flow Brought Under Control

over the top of the derrick all Tuesday night and Wednesday until the hole was capped. The gas flow was estimated at 12,000,000 cubic feet. The gas pressure was believed to be deepening the hole in the sand.

The Prairie Pipe Line company rushed to completion on the Nash and Windfohr lease six 450-barrel and 13 250-barrel tanks and laid lines from the well to the main carrying line serving the field. The stream of oil being thrown onto the ground tonight was cared for in several huge pits, later to be pumped into steel tanks and run into the lines.

Two Other Wells

While scores of oil men rushed here today to witness the battle to subdue the McCloud prize, another active south Young county pool registered two good producers to enliven the already active lease and drilling play which has spread over the county in recent weeks.

The Shaw-Knox No. 3 Jarnagin in the William Orrick survey, came in at a depth of 2474 feet, producing at the rate of 800 barrels daily. It drilled 34 feet of sand.

Independent Oil and Gas company brought in its No. 1 Jarnagin for 850 barrels at 2597 feet with an increase anticipated. Both of these wells are in the Shaw-Klasinger pool.

Traffic was resumed on the Loving highway near the McCloud well late today but no Rock Island trains had entered Graham since Tuesday noon.

School Taxes Collected In 1929 Total $529,138

School taxes collected for the fiscal year ending Feb. 28, amounted to $529,138.46, representing both the current and delinquent payments, it was announced Thursday by G. Ralph Hyer, city tax assessor.

The total assessment was $81,769.65, which leaves a balance of $52,631.19, yet uncollected.

The collections for the month of March this year exceeded that for the same month last year by $88,716.86. The figures for 1929 were $107,246.34 while those for this year are $195,963.10.

Testimony Closed In Bearden Suit

Special to The Record News

GRAHAM, Texas, April 9.—Testimony in the trial of the suit involving a $3,000,000 estate brought by Lee O. Bearden, adjudged legally dead, against the Texas company and others was completed Wednesday afternoon in the 30th district court in special session at Graham with Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district occupying the bench through an exchange with Judge Allan D. Montgomery.

The jury was excused following completion of testimony, with instructions to return Friday morning, Judge Martin said Wednesday evening. Thursday's session of the court will be occupied with consideration of the legal parts of the case. With the recall of the jury Friday morning, arguments and charges will be presented and the case will probably be given to the jury Friday afternoon, Judge Martin stated.

Bearden is suing for a child's share in his father's estate, which includes valuable oil lands from which large production has been gained during the last several years.

WRITERS TALK BY TELEVISION

A. P. and U. P. Men Gleefully Try Out Device

By H. ALLEN SMITH

NEW YORK, April 9. (UP)—Two groups of New York newspapermen, separated by three miles of skyscrapers and speakeasies, talked shop, watched each other blush and observed one another's sheepish grins by television this afternoon.

In the first public demonstration of two-way television, the Bell Telephone laboratories stationed the two groups of reporters in two different buildings. One group gathered at the American Telephone and Telegraph company building on lower Broadway, while the others met at the laboratory building three miles uptown.

One of the company engineers ushered this correspondent into a little reception room where an attractive young lady at a desk.

Call Placed

"Mr. Smith wishes to talk to Mr. Butterfield of the Associated Press," the engineer told the girl. "Will you put in the call?"

She escorted the reporter into the booth, which is somewhat larger than the old-fashioned, sound-without-sight booths.

Sitting down in a chair, the reported faced a small plate glass, upon which were the words "Ikonophone—watch this space for television image."

In a few seconds, there came a buzzing sound and Mr. Butterfield grinned out from the glass. The only thing that was wrong with Mr. Butterfield was that he flickered, something like the flicker on a movie screen when the projection machine goes haywire.

"Hello, Mr. Smith," said Mr. Butterfield. "you're certainly looking fine," Mr. Butterfield grinned.

Scribes Chatter

"This is certainly a great invention," ventured Mr. Butterfield, still struggling to keep the conversation out of the doldrums.

"Yes, it's remarkable what science can do," your correspondent returned, blushing and wondering if blushes register on Ikonophones.

"Would you mind giving me your initials?" asked Mr. Butterfield, whipping out a sheaf of paper and a pencil.

Your correspondent gave them gladly and the conversation lagged for a moment while Mr. Butterfield's pencil scratched over the paper.

Frank B. Jewett, president of the Bell Telephone laboratories, said distance offers no obstacle in the progress of two-way television. The hookup today might just as well have been 2,000 miles instead of three, he said.

Woman Who Hurled Eggs in Defense Of Secret Papers Asks 'Why Not?'

WASHINGTON, April 9. (US)—Mrs. Minnie L. Ward, who threw eggs at a chief clerk in an encounter growing out of alleged tampering with secret records of the federal power commission, and was suspended, appeared today to have commission officials "up a tree."

Secretary of Interior Wilbur, acting commission chairman, has turned over the whole matter of charges of insubordination against her, and her charges of removal of records, to F. E. Bonner, executive secretary. Wilbur "is not taking any part in it," his office declared with emphasis.

Bonner said:

"We are investigating it, and have not reached any conclusion as yet."

Verbal Attack

Mrs. Ward, in fighting mood, told Universal Service.

"Unless I hear from Attorney General Mitchell shortly about the charges I have filed I plan to follow them up with a personal call. I am going to fight for my rights."

Mrs. Ward, a comely woman of middle age, wife of a well known Washington attorney and mother of two children, has been in the government service 23 years.

Through the power commission's 10-year history she has had custody of records so full of power trust and political dynamite that some of them were suppressed by a former commission after they had been transmitted to congress.

Done in Good Cause

"I am beginning to wonder," said Mrs. Ward, "if the throwing of half a dozen eggs at a chief clerk is more important to the government than the safe-guarding of files which show up the manipulation of power companies and their efforts to staff the federal power commission with their own men."

"I hold no brief for the throwing of eggs, except that I did it in a good cause. I have been driven distracted by the tampering with the filing system of which I had charge, fixing it in such a way that it was almost impossible for anyone to find a complete record of anything."

Voters Reject Dawson County Road Issue

Special to The Record News

LAMESA, Texas, April 9.—Leaders of the Dawson County Highway Paving association Wednesday conceded the loss of the $600,000 road bond election Tuesday. The count showed 1,117 ballots for the issue and 598 against, the proponents falling definitely short of the two-thirds majority required to vote the bonds.

Officials of the association have announced that they will go to work at once on a campaign for another election, their third effort to accomplish the paving of two state highways through the county.

PUBLIC ASKED TO SHOWING

Products of Factories Here Attract Crowds

A large display which includes the products of practically every manufacturing concern in Wichita Falls has been on exhibit in the lobby of the North Texas Building and Loan association, 822 Scott avenue, for the past several days. The display is open to the public, and all citizens of Wichita Falls and Northwest Texas have been invited to inspect the hundreds of items produced by local institutions.

Many Items Added

In arranging for the showing, officials of the association announced it their wish to make the display as representative and complete as possible. Manufacturers of all products in Wichita Falls were urged to place their goods in the display and many items have been added each day in bringing the showing almost to a complete cross-section of the manufacturing interests in this city.

Hundreds of visitors have inspected the articles since the opening of the interesting exhibit. The display windows of the building and a large portion of the lobby floor space have been utilized in showing the pumerous items. Each display, it was pointed out, has been manufactured in Wichita Falls, by Wichita Falls workmen or employes recruited as far as possible from the Wichita Falls area, using raw materials produced throughout this section and financed by Wichita Falls capital.

Officials of the building and loan association announced their purpose in arranging the display was to give residents of this trade territory a comprehensive acquaintance with the varied products which this area is capable of manufacturing, both for local, national and international markets. Many of the products in the exhibit, they pointed out, are peculiarly adapted to production in this part of the country and in several items Wichita Falls and the surrounding territory enjoy advantages not found in other sections.

Heavy Pay Rolls

A further purpose, it was said, was to encourage still more development of the natural resources of this region and to maintain the present industrial status of the city. It was pointed out that Wichita Falls made products are to be found in daily use in practically every civilized nation on the globe. It has been estimated, officials said, that the annual payroll of local industries amounts to $45,000,000 and that the manufactured products used here and exported each year are valued at many times that amount.

The display proved its interest several days ago, it was said, when the group of Dallas business men visited Wichita Falls and made an inspection trip to the exhibit. Many of them expressed amazement at the quality and quantity of products manufactured here, stating they had not realized the magnitude of the industrial interests in Wichita Falls.

C.-C. MANUFACTURERS TO MEET THURSDAY

Full attendance at the meeting of the manufacturers and jobbers division of the chamber of commerce at 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning was urged Wednesday by L. H. Estes, chairman.

Important plans for the program of activities to be followed by this group during the coming months are to be formulated in Wednesday morning's meeting, it was said. The meeting is to be held in the directors room.

DRY PROPOSALS DELAYED AGAIN

Judiciary Committee Rests Without Action

WASHINGTON, April 9. (AP)—The house judiciary committee today again failed to reach a decision on the Hoover law enforcement commission's legislative program and the Stobbs bill to amend the Jones law. The committee adjourned until next Wednesday.

Chairman Graham of the committee had set today for decision on the program, but the committee confined its consideration largely to the Stobbs bill, the enactment of which has been opposed by Attorney General Mitchell.

Members of the committee reported the group was divided on the commission's bills as well as on the Stobbs measure. They expressed doubt that either would be favorably reported to the house for action at this session.

House-to-House Men in New Pose

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 9. (UP)—Housewives, enured to all sorts of house-to-house sales rackets, presented a new one to the police department here today.

Salesmen have been gaining admission to homes by posing as census enumerators, the irate homemakers declared. Once inside, talk switched from ages, income and other census topics to glittering descriptions of vacuum cleaners or silver polish, the women complained.

U. S. Attorney Roy Lewis said he would investigate.

It takes at least seven years for a pearl to grow.

CAL'S HISTORY PARTLY DONE

Independence Declaration And Charter Described

WASHINGTON, April 9. (UP)—The first part of Calvin Coolidge's 500-word history of the United States to be inscribed in letters three feet high on the Mount Rushmore Memorial in South Dakota was made public today by Gutzon Borglum, sculptor, after a call upon President Hoover.

Mr. Coolidge used 29 words to tell of the declaration of independence, and 47 for the founding of the federal government, leaving 424 words for the remaining historical episodes.

Mr. Coolidge's inscription for the Declaration of Independence read:

"In the year of our Lord 1776 the people declared the eternal right to seek happiness—self government and the divine duty to defend that right at any sacrifice."

Of the framing of the constitution, he said:

"In 1787 assembled in convention they made a charter of perpetual union of free people of sovereign states establishing a government of limited powers—under an independent president—congress and court charged to provide the security for all citizens in their enjoyment of liberty—equality and justice."

Katy Road Re-Elects Whole Official Board

DALLAS, April 9. (AP)—All officers of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad company of Texas were re-elected at the annual meeting of the board of directors here today.

The board meeting was preceded by a meeting of stockholders, at which one new director, Phil T. Prather of Dallas, was elected and all other board members retained.

Detectives Dupe Chicago Bombsters

MARION, Ind., April 9. (AP)—A ruse whereby Cincinnati detectives "hired" three members of an alleged Chicago bombing ring to plant explosions in a hijacker's automobile led to the lodging of the latter in jail today charged with three bombings which took five lives in Marion labor circles in the past six months.

The trio, arrested after receiving marked money from an informant, gave their names as Peter Kmeciak, 35, Harry Danford, 29, and Joe Becket, 25, all of Chicago.

In addition, a posse in a raid at Elwood, Ind., arrested Duke Humphing, 38, and Mabon Humphing, 24, said to have arranged for the bombings with the Chicago men and with a gang at Newport, Ky.

Air Still Free

We live beneath a sea of air miles deep and although there is an abundance of fresh air in the world for everybody, yet the fact remains that many people in cities are often literally starving for plain fresh air. This is not because fresh air is lacking in the cities, as the air is always more or less in motion and the stale air is quickly carried to the country and replenished by fresh air, but is because inhabitants of cities usually do not have the stimulation or ambition to replace the stale air in their lungs with clean fresh air.

Even when driving in the country most people find that motoring is very tiresome because they sit all humped up for several hours within a closed car where the fresh air is quickly used up, and there is a tendency to breathe lightly while driving which brings about a state of oxygen starvation within the body. Also, there is usually a nervous tension while driving so that one may not breathe properly during the entire trip. The fact that any driving done in modern traffic places the passengers in an atmosphere of gasoline fumes is an additional reason why they do not breathe deeply. In an effort to avoid the odor of gasoline fumes one may inhale very lightly.

Air is needed at all times. It is a fundamental necessity far more immediately important than food or drink. We can hold our breath for a short time, possibly a minute, and then, whether we wish to or not, we breathe. No one has ever been able to commit suicide by shutting his mouth and holding his nose. The body is automatically equipped to prevent this form of suicide, as there is a very sensitive spot in the brain which makes us breathe again when the amount of carbon dioxide in the blood becomes too great. This is a wise provision of nature transcendent over the will which starts the in and out motion of respiration again.

Fortunately, no man has ever been able to command a monopoly of the air. It is present alike for rich and poor, as free in the hovel as in the palace. But like most free things, we do not appreciate it properly.

Rir is composed of a number of different elements among which nitrogen is the most abundant, consisting of about 79 per cent of the total. The next abundant constituent is oxygen which is about 20 per cent. The air also contains water, vapor and carbon dioxide, as well as some other gaseous elements, such as argon; neon, which means "the new-comer," and is a good conductor of electricity; krypton; xenon, meaning "the stranger," as it is present only in about one part in 20 million; radon; actinon; and thoron.

It is good for us that the oxygen of the air which we use is diluted with these other elements, for were it not we should all dance happily about for a short time and then die of oxygen intoxication.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Bleeding Skin

Question—J. A. G. asks: "Will you please explain the cause of the disease purpura haemorrhagica? I know of a case here in the hospital. The blood seeps through the pores."

Answer—Purpura haemorrhagica is adisease characerized by the formation of purple patches on the skin and mucous membranes, due to subcutaneous hemorrhages, a severe form where hemorrhage may be accompanied by constitutional symptoms. The exact cause is not known, but it may possibly be caused by a deficiency of vitamin C in the diet.

Lunches

Question—V. M. writes: "Please give instructions through the column for a few suitable lunches for a young mechanic who is trying to follow your advice as to proper food combinations. He carries his lunch and has been taking a pint of buttermilk with one-third of a pound of dates but this becomes monotonous."

Answer—Get a thermos bottle and carry a generous amount of some cooked non-starchy vegetable, also take with this lunch some raw vegetable such as celery, carrots or lettuce. In addition to these foods you might use some real whole-wheat bread sandwiches, butter, lettuce and perhaps peanut butter.

Bunions

Question—Mrs. H. S. S. asks: "Is there any preventative for bunions? Recently I have been experiencing severe pains in the joint of my great toe, even while lying in bed, and I fear this may develop into a bunion."

Answer—A change of shoes is often helpful. Besides making such a change, soak your feet in hot water daily, leaving them in water for about 30 minutes at a time. This increases the circulation through your feet and takes out tenderness and congestion around the toe joints.

Dallas Steers Defeat Fort Worth Cats, 7-5, In Opener

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

If you have never played baseball with a class D club, you've got a lot to learn about the great pastime, according to Manager Carl Williams. Especially, says Carl, if you are in charge of the club as manager. Williams once was "everything from president to bat boy," as he put it, on a class D club, and he speaks from experience.

The conversation turned to class D clubs the other day just before the skipper took his squad into the class room for a period of skull practice. Signals, said Carl, are things that have to be beaten into the heads of the class D loopers, and after they are properly pounded into the various skulls they are rarely put into use. "If you had seen me drop dead on the diamond, you would have known that one of my players caught a signal," said Carl as he talked about the old days.

It is always the ambition of the fans to know the signals of their home town club, and every now and then one will pop up with the the assertion he has discovered one of the signals of the manager from carefully watching him in his supposed acts of signaling the men on the field. Carl said he has never known a fan to properly interpret a signal.

Some managers use a complicated system of signaling, but Manager Williams believes the simplest to be the best. In that he agrees with Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, who signals his players with a score card. He holds the card loosely in his fingers. Every turn of that card has a meaning for his watchful players.

Ziggy Sears, according to League President J. Alvin Gardner, is the all-round champion talker among the umpires of this great and noble state of Texas, including Shreveport, La., which is in Texas so far as the league is concerned.

President Gardner revealed some secrets yesterday concerning what transpired in the meeting of the umpires here last Monday. First, said Mr. Gardner, it was Harry Kane who talked and talked, and when he stopped for a cubic inch of air Ziggy started in. Meanwhile, mind you, President Gardner was trying to give those umps their instructions and assignments, etc. A tough job that required all day.

Ziggy just wouldn't stop his chatter, so Mr. Gardner finally halted the meeting. "Now Ziggy," said the president, "you may have the floor. Stand up here and talk all you want to and get it over with, for heaven's sake, because we've got business to attend to."

Incidentally, Ziggy and Art Phelan, manager of the Sports, look a great deal alike. We can safely say this, because Ziggy has left town, and we sit in the press box, which is a safe distance from the visitors' dugout down at the orchard.

Here's a good one they tell on Irvin J. Vogel, judge of the county court at law. Last Monday he got all mixed up and thought the opening game with Shreveport was to be played that afternoon, and ran hither and yon over the courthouse asking if the game had started.

The Coca-Cola Bottling company's bowling team was a proud outfit Tuesday night after winning the second half of the Commercial bowling league race. They had good reason to be, inasmuch as they figured they would impress one of the higher ups in their company, who was scheduled to arrive here Wednesday.

Said higher up being none other than O. L. Biedenharn, brother of A. M. Biedenharn, our local Coca-Cola magnate. The president of the Sports has a say-so in the bottling works here, and hence the team's gratification last night when they heard Mr. Biedenharn was to arrive in the city today.

The Sports' prexy no doubt will be so concerned with the way his team acts in its games with the Spudders that he won't have much time to fool with bowling, but the local team hopes otherwise.

BURNS SCORES FIRST TALLY

Crouch, Fitzgerald Hit Home Runs

and made it three hits in a row, clouting the pill deep into center for three bases, scoring Bettencourt. Jack Crouch then came up and lifted a homer over the left field boards, scoring Euller.

Art Phelan, the Sports' skipper didn't like that much, so he jerked Williamson and sent Tuero, the spitball artist to the mound. He got through the inning without a mishap, Wiltse going out, second to first, Levey, who had reached first on the third baseman's error, being forced by Storti at second, and Storti being caught out stealing.

Tuero Chased

But in the third inning, the Spudders did to the spitballer exactly what they had done to Williamson, scoring four runs off his offerings before he, too, was jerked. Fitzgerald started this inning by making the first out, pitcher to first. Kloza then came up and singled to center. Burns clouted a double to right, advancing Kloza to third. And when Bettencourt came up they walked him, apparently remembering his terrific bingle in the preceding inning, and the bases were filled. Euller then singled to right, scoring Kloza and Burns, and advancing Bettencourt to third. Crouch smote to the third baseman, forcing Euller out at second and scoring Bettencourt. Wiltse then connected for a double into deep center, scoring Crouch.

Phelan at this juncture decided to change pitchers again, and Grant, a left-hander, came in. Levey flied out to center to close the inning.

Bad Throw Helps

Off Grant the remaining four Spudder runs were obtained, two coming in the sixth and two in the seventh. The scoring started in the sixth after Fitzgerald had gone out, first to the pitcher. Kloza sent one to right field for a single. Burns singled past second, sending Kloza to second. Bettencourt struck out. Euller flied out to left, scoring Kloza, and the left fielder's wild throw to third in an attempt to snare Burns sent the ball into the Spudders' dugout, Burns scoring. Euller went to second on the error. Crouch popped to second to close the period.

It was Fitzgerald's show in the seventh. Wiltse, first up, went out, second to first. Levey made a perfect bunt up the third base line and was taking a nap on first when the ball got there. Storti went out, third to first. Then Fitzgerald clouted a beauty over the center field fence and both he and Levey came in for the last runs. Kloza struck out to close the inning.

Underhill on Hill

The Sports again changed pitchers, Underhill going in this time. But the Spudders calmed down in the eighth and not a hit was made.

The Sports did valiantly in the ninth in their attempt to bring the score up to something that the folks back home could be proud of. Wiltse throughout most of the game had a habit of allowing one walk and striking out one man per inning. In the ninth he walked Stewart, the first man up. So far so good. But McClanahan connected for a double to left field that sent Stewart to third. Then came Wiltse's strikeout victim, Mr. Cashion, the left fielder. So far, again, so good. But Perry singled to center and Stewart and McClanahan scored, which was not so good, from the Spudder viewpoint. Andrus singled to center, sending Perry to third. Underhill singled to right, scoring Perry and advancing Andrus to third. And Cooper, batting for Huarte, popped to right for a single and Andrus scored, Underhill going to third. Luckey hit to second and both he and Cooper were thrown out in a double play, Storti to Levey to Burns. The game was over.

Levey, shortstop; Storti, second baseman, and Burns, first baseman, figured in four double plays during the game that brought the acclaim of the multitude.

Knute Rockne Arrives At Rochester Clinic

ROCHESTER, Minn., April 9. (INS)—Knute Rockne, master mentor of Notre Dame's football destiny, arrived at Rochester on an early train today. He was accompanied by Jack Chevigny, Notre Dame backfield coach, and Dr. C. J. Barborka of the Mayo Brothers clinical staff.

Rockne was enthusiastic over football prospects for the 1930 season.

Houston Buffs Win Over Indians

FORT WORTH, April 9. (AP)—Fort Worth made a game fight to overcome an early Dallas lead in the opening game of the 1930 Texas league season Wednesday afternoon, but their efforts fell a little short, the Steers winning 7 to 5. The Cats scored five runs in the last three innings and had the bases filled in the ninth inning when the third out was made.

Sixteen thousand persons were crowded into all parts of La Grave field, home of the Panthers, for the contest. Dave Danforth started for the Steers and held the Cats well in hand until the late innings, finally retiring in the ninth. Ferdie Schupp was the first choice for Fort Worth but before the game had ended, Kent Greenfield, Henry Hardaway and Noel Haynes had seen service.

EXPORTERS DOWN CUBS

BEAUMONT, April 9. (AP)—Billy Mullen's double in the ninth scored Steinecke with the winning run today as the Exporters took the season opener, 4 to 3, from the Waco Cubs before a crowd of 7,700. Mullen was quite the hero of the game, getting three hits in five times up and contributing two sensational stops and assists on hot grounders.

Walter Newman, who weakened slightly in the closing innigs, had two men down and two strikes on Molesworth in the ninth with the Exporters leading 3 to 2. But the Waco shortstop whaled a rugged homer over left field fence on the third strike and the score was tied.

Slim Harris hit Manager Del Baker with a pitched ball to start the home half of the ninth and Newman sacrificed. Baker inserted Steinecke to run for himself and then Harris intentionally passed Stapleton and Mullen cracked a liner to right getting credit for a double when Steinecke raced home from second. SIDELIGHTS OF THE GAME

By FRED D. THOMPSON
The Record News Staff

The Society for the Promotion of Inter-Racial Good Will probably would be interested in knowing that the first person to enter the Spudder baseball orchard for the opening game Wednesday was a middle aged woman whose ancestors provided the occasion for the late war of the confederacy.

The dark-skinned one purchased a bleacher seat, entered the lonely park and took up her post shortly after 1 o'clock.

Came the next ticket purchaser, this time in the person of Mrs. C. E. Mathews, of 2207 Bullington.

Then started the grand debacle and to list the names of even one-eightieth of the fans pouring in would be a job comparable to preparing city directories of every city and community in these here parts.

At 2:30 o'clock, an hour and a half before the start of the mix-up, there were over 400 palpitating souls in the grandstand and bleachers with nothing to do but watch the inactive Municipal band, which took up its position next to the home dugout about that hour, and watch the two teams warm up on the field.

The consensus of opinion was that the teams looked grand and that the band looked lazy. Why not a little music?—the impatient Archibald Fan asked.

The Spudders looked nice and clean in their ivory soap uniforms, and the crowd was so fascinated by the team's appearance it didn't let out a single whoop when Walter Euller cracked a sphere over the left field fence in batting practice. Vanity of vanities, said Bismark, or somebody—a guy ain't never recognized as a humdinger in his own lot!

But in this case there was room for pardon. The uniforms were intriguing. The numerals on the back of the sweaters stood out like swelled chests—and Spider Levey is No. 1.

The Sports were dolled up in their road uniforms of dawn gray which somehow didn't go well with the dark crimson caps they wore. A Broadway aesthete would have thrown up his paws in horror at the discrepancy. But the uniforms are undoubtedly very serviceable on the road.

O'er Spudder park Wednesday afternoon there danced in the breeze three flags the sight of which made the breasts of the accumulated fans heave with pride. On top, of course there was bunting denoting that this is the U. S. Next in order down the flagpole there waved a blue banner with red borders denoting that the Spudders won the Texas league championship in 1927. Then a red flag denoting not Communism, but the fact that our sweating ball club went over the top in the Dixie imbroglio in that same year.

The sun was out and the skies were cloudless, but alas, a mild wind which dallied with the slips of grass in the park earlier in the afternoon turned into a veritable windstorm toward 3 o'clock. Sand rose in great clouds, and the hopes of fans and players alike for a perfect day such as was seen when the Yanks played here went caflooey. Spider Levey was so annoyed by sand when he went to the plate in batting practice that he broke his bat half in two.

Well, the band finally started up, promptly at 3:15 o'clock. In between gusts of wind you could hear a toot-toot from the press box.

How the dense traffic got along out in front of the ball park we just couldn't figure out, because the press box just before the game was filled with traffic cops. Pretty soft . . .

Just as the band tooted forth on its third piece, onto the diamond strode none other than His Mayorship Walter Nelson, the second. His mayorship wanted to do this opening throw stuff right so he bribed Bear Allday of the Spudder squad to take him aside and show him how to throw a ball. Walter armed himself with a gigantic mitt and he and Bear went way down next to left field for the warmup. Walt looked pretty good. His left leg popped out as his right arm pivoted for the throw, and everything.

At 3:30 o'clock the Spudders relinquished the field to the Sports, and the latter started batting and fielding practice.

If a guy from Walla Walla, Wash., or anywhere had entered the park at this time without knowing what teams were to play, he could have judged on the spot that the team on the field was from Louisiana.

The reason: The Sports carry a negro bat boy, who not only cares for the bats, but cavorts around in the infield during fielding practice, picking up the balls for the pitcher.

The crowd by this time had spread itself into virtually every corner of the old grandstand, and 30 minutes was left in which the fans could crowd in to win that attendance prize.

And our mayor, who continued to warm up, donned a baseball cap and looked so cute!

And as the players were going through their last workout, another band made its appearance—the Lions club band this time, under the direction of Leo Underwood. It parked by the visitors' dugout and made quite a bit of noise.

One real Spudder fan who was at the game Wednesday was D. R. Harkey, owner of Blue Springs park at Carlsbad cavern, New Mexico, who drove 531 miles from his home to see our opener.

When 4 o'clock arrived, things began happening all at once. A little girl with curls danced down the aisle in the box section as our Municipal musicians played "I'm Just a Vagabond Lover," or something; Umpires Dominique and Kroh arrived on the scene all dolled up in white trousers and dark coats; the players left the field and onto the spacious diamond walked Harold Story, indefatigable cameraman, preparing to do his annual opening day duty. The picture of the crowd having been taken, the Spudder nine took to the field amid the blare of both bands and cheers of the crowd, the first Shreveport batter, Mr. Whelan, second baseman, came up, the batteries were announced, and Wichita Falls' opening game of the Texas league season was on!

SEVEN PLAYERS WIN PRIZES

Crouch Wins Three for First Home Run

Thirteen of the 20 prizes offered by Wichita Falls business firms to the Spudders for individual performance this season were won by seven members of the team in the opening game Wednesday, and if the players will call around at the various stores listed after their names they may collect.

Jack Crouch won three prizes by knocking the first home run, a Manhattan shirt offered by the Montgomery company; 10 gallons of gasoline offered by the Panhandle Refining company; and $10 worth of barber work offered by the Marchman hotel barber shop.

Jack Burns won three prizes for making the first run, hitting the first single, and hitting the first two bagger. For getting the first run he will get a $5 straw hat from the Ludlam & Riggs company; for getting the first single, he will receive $2.50 worth of barber work at the Manitou Barber shop; and for the first double he will get $5 in trade at the Kruger Jewelry company.

Other prizes and their winners: Larry Bettencourt, for driving in first run, $5 in trade at Art Jewelry company; Walter Euller, for first three-base hit, $5 in trade at Noble-Little Hardware company; Lin Storti, for first putout, $5.50 straw hat, Nathan Lynch store; Walter Euller, for most hits opening game (he got four), $5 barber work at Spell's Barber shop; Hal Wiltse, for being winning pitcher in opening game, $3.50 tie, Hub Clothing company; James Levey, for first assist, $5 shirt, Saul's store; Lin Storti, for first walk, $5 in trade at Bailey-Moline Hardware company.

DISTRICT INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE MEET OPENS TODAY

TENNIS DUELS OPEN CONTESTS

Track and Field Events Scheduled Saturday

High school athletes and scholars from nine surrounding counties and the Wichita Falls High school will start assembling here Thursday for the three-day district No. 4 interscholastic league meet, scheduled to get off to an official start at 9 a. m. Thursday with the final elimination in tennis events.

The tennis duels will be held on the courts of the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club, officials announced. Competition in this sport likely will continue Friday morning.

Literary and kindred events will be held at the high school all day Friday, with the track and field events scheduled for Saturday.

Electra and Wichita Falls are destined to wage a bitter fight in the athletic competition this year, Coach J. N. Hall's Coyote squad being stronger than in years. The Electra Tigers in years past have swept the field before them. Iowa Park is also counted on entering a well groomed bunch of track and field stars.

The program for the meeting here, as outlined by J. W. Cantwell, superintendent of Wichita Falls schools, and director general of the league district, follows:

Thursday

Tennis preliminary, 9 a. m., country club.

Friday

Tennis continued, 9 a. m., country club.
Assembly contestants, 9 a. m., junior college.
Debate, all teams, 9:30 a. m.
Extemporaneous speaking, 2 p. m.
Declamation:
High school senior boys and girls, 9:30 a. m.
High school junior boys and girls, 2 p. m.
Rural senior boys and girls, 2 p. m.
Rural junior boys and girls, 9:30 a. m.
Finals, 8 p. m.
Three-R contest, 2 p. m.
Music memory, 2 p. m.

Saturday

Track and field events, 9 a. m., junior college.

Noted Racing Official Dies in England

HOLYHEAD, Wales, April 9. (UP)—Charles Mills, famous racing commissioner and one of the founders of the Victoria club, London, died at his residence at Anglesey yesterday. He was one of the heaviest bettors in turf history and reputedly won 100,000 pounds when Winkfield's Pride won the Cambridgeshire in 1898. He possessed a unique collection of hairs from the tails of famous race horses, tied with the racing colors of the owner.

Wrestling Bouts Must Be Called 'Exhibitions'

NEW YORK, April 9. (UP)—The New York State Athletic commission ruled today all wrestling clubs must discontinue advertising wrestling bouts as "matches." They must be billed as "shows" or "exhibitions," the commission ruling it did not consider them contests.

A boxing bout between Fidel La Barba of California, and Kid Chocolate, Cuban negro, was approved for May 30.

Young Stars Begin Fight for Berths on Cup Team

PINEHURST, N. C., April 8. (AP)—The battle for places on the United States Davis cup team for 1930 gets under way at the 12th annual united North and South tennis tournament here April 14-19.

This and the 10th annual Mason and Dixon tournament at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., the following week have been designated as official tryout events by the Davis cup committee of the United States Lawn Tennis association.

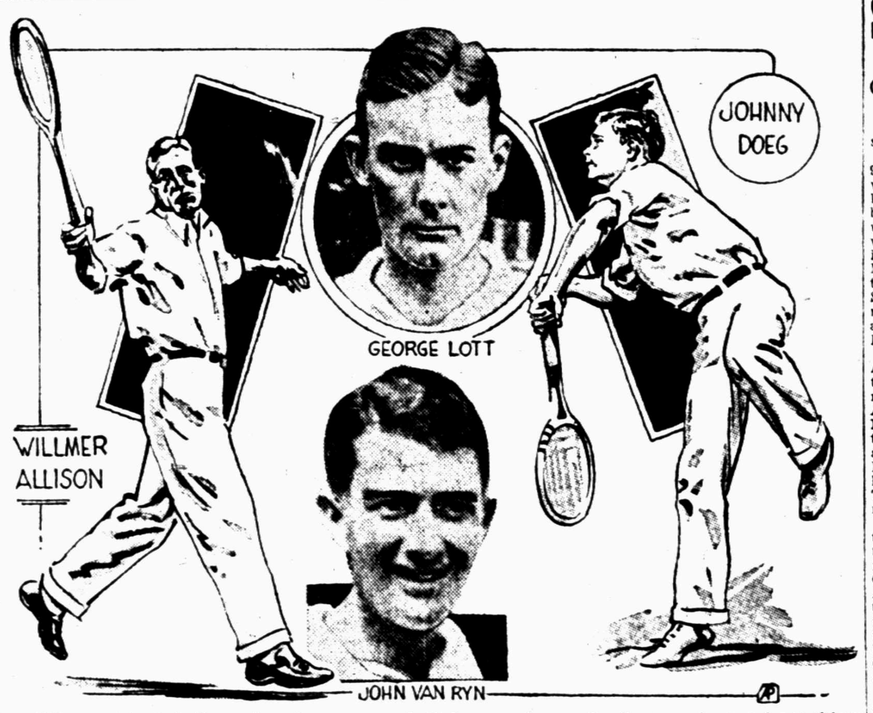

With their shots in good working order as a result of preliminary campaigning farther south the pick of the country's younger players will go into action in singles and doubles.

Such stars as Johnny Doeg, Santa Monica, Calif., Giant; George Lott, of Chicago; John Van Ryn, Orange, N. J.; Fritz Mercur, Bethlehem, Pa., and Wilmer Allison, Austin, Texas, will be out to capture the singles honors and thereby clinch a place in Uncle Sam's international lineup.

Doeg and Lott, the country's third and fourth ranking players, respectively, stand out as the logical favorites unless Frank Hunter, the veteran who ranks second only to Bill Tilden, takes it into his head to enter one or both of these tournaments to try conclusions with the younger generation once again.

Hunter, like Tilden, has announced his retirement from Davis cup play, however, and will not be available for the team.

In doubles the joint favorites are the national championship combination of Doeg and Lott and the Van Ryn-Allison alliance that won world-wide fame last year by capturing the Wimbledon crown and turning back the Frenchmen, Henri Cochet and Jean Borotra, in the Davis cup challenge round.

This quartet of sterling net performers unpack their racquets soon for the annual scrap for positions on the Davis cup team. The opening round probably will take place at the north and south tournament at Pinehurst, April 14-19.

Purp Makes Dog Racing History At Miami, Which Pleases Runyon

Schmeling-Sharkey Tiff to Be Sell-Out, Muses Damon as He Chatters of This and That

By DAMON RUNYON
(Copyright, 1930, by Universal Service, Inc.)

NEW YORK, April 9.—Like Father, a red and fawn purp, owned by that old dog man, C. J. Miller, and born into this vale of tears only 13 months back, has been making dog racing history down Miami way.

Like Father ran a lot of pooches bow-legged in the March days of the meet by the sad sea waves, whipping a mob of mutts at a quarter of a mile, and then coming back and larruping a real classy field at three-sixteenths, said field including Bethankit, New Town, Hunting Tower, Mounted Ranger, Harlingo, Paddy Burr and Reigning Regent.

And why not? Like Father is by that noble of pursuer of the stuffed bunny, Damon Runyon.

When Al Lippe, of Philly, sent me his last list of gladiators showing a herd of 29, says I to myself says I:

"That's tops. No one else can even think of any more fighters, let alone manage 'em."

But now comes Arthur Yende, a mild mannered, energetic little man, who used to work for Leo Phelonious Flynn, and later was assistant to Jess McMahon, when Jessica was Matchmaker at Madison Square garden—now comes Arthur, I say, to ruin Al's record.

Arthur is requesting booking for no less than 31 fighters.

What's that? Well, boxers, then.

Big hearted Charley Murray, of Buffalo, had Joe Sekyra, the blonde Bohemian, fighting Ritsy Rosales up there not long ago, and Joe lost in the first heat on a foul. Under the new rule of the New York boxing commission a fighter who commits a foul forfeits so much of his sugar, and the money is turned back to the promoter.

Big Hearted Charley sent Signor Carlos de Castanova, otherwise Charley Cook, manager of Sekyra, a check for $4 as his pro rata of the receipts, and Signor Carlos promptly returned the check to Murray telling him to buy himself a hat with it. Perhaps Carlos thought that was sarcasm, but I expect to see the big hearted one wearing a new bonnet the next time I view him.

Tommy Silence, who is "Sunny Jim" Coffroth's secretary, takes mild exception to my offhand crack that Victorian has more class than any other horse that ever ran in the $100,000 stake race in Lower California.

"You know Exterminator ran in the Coffroth of 1924," argues Tommy Silence. "He finished fourth, but he was all in then. You know a few years before he would have run rings around those horses he finished behind."

All right, Tommy me bye. But Exterminator in '24 didn't have as much class as Victorian in '30, regardless of what he used to be.

When I tell you that a record for early orders of seats for a big fight has already been established by the Schmeling-Sharkey affair, I am not trying to produce "heat" for the milk fund show. I am but stating a fact.

Over 2,000 ringside, or $25 seats, have already been spoken for, and in most instances the money has been handed in to Francis Albertanti, of the secretarial staff at Madison Square garden. No other pugilistic exposition in years has developed such an early buy, and no show in history has brought as large a buy so far ahead of the date.

Of course the Schmeling-Sharkey tickets haven't even been printed, and many of the details of the affair are yet to be rounded up, but the demand is bringing the prediction from the most pessimistic of the garden ticket staff that it will be an absolute sell-out.

Ol' Scipio Thompson, proud parent of Young Jack Thompson, takes lead pencil in hand to hotly deny to me that his son was under a yank to Jimmy McLarnin in their fight at Madison Square garden recently, as seemed to be the impression in some quarters. In many quarters, I might add.

"I will leave it to your own judgment," says Scip, "wouldn't I be a fool to tare the house my family is living in and move it over on some other lot and build a house for someone else to live in?"

I pass.

Jack Kearns has gone to Rochester, Minn., to consult the Mayos. Only a few weeks ago Jack Kearns' old gladiator, Jack Dempsey, went to Rochester for the same purpose. Only they had different ailments.

Kearns for over a year has been suffering from some form of nasal trouble. He underwent a severe operation in Los Angeles during the winter, and for a time was very ill. The past few weeks he has been in Chicago barnstorming Mickey Walker, his middleweight champion, and trying to get his heavyweight, Al Fay, started.

Fay was laid up for some time with a broken hand. He is all right now, and Kearns has hired Bearcat Wright, the old black gladiator out of Omaha by the month, to work with the boy from Charlerol. Kearns has always believed in big rough fellows for sparring partners for his men, so they can let their punches go.

Fay is now about 22 years old, and weighs over 200 pounds, and will make a great fighter if Kearns will forget those telephone numbers when talking price with promoters, and campaign him more. Ray has had only seven or eight battles, and needs plenty of ring action.

AGGIES FACE S. M. U. SERIES

Conference Games Scheduled This Week

Special to The Record News

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, April 9.—Rejuvenated by two straight victories over the New Gulf nine last week, Coach Roswell Higginbotham's Texas Aggie baseball team will resume its race for the Southwest conference baseball title when it meets the Southern Methodist Mustangs in a two-game series on the Kyle field diamond Friday and Saturday. The Aggies' conference record shows a victory and a loss as a result of their series with the Rice Owls two weeks ago.

The twirling of Leland Hunter, Aggie southpaw, in the initial contest of the series was one of the most encouraging features of the Aggies' performance against the New Gulf nine. With Hunter continuing the form he displayed against the sulphur nine and Capt. Pete Wendt in shape the Aggies have two left-handers to balance Tommie Mills and Eddie Gorman, right-hand twirlers.

That Beau Bell, leading hitter of the Aggie nine last year, has attained his old form was evident in the second contest with New Gulf. In five trips to the plate the Aggie swatsmith drove out a triple, two doubles and a single to account for an even half of his team's safeties in the game. Bell's hitting is being counted upon heavily by Coach Higginbotham in the conference race this year.

Who will start on the mound Friday is not yet certain though it is likely to be a right-hander, Gorman or Mills, with Captain Wendt and Hunter in readiness for Saturday. Either Lackey or Dansby, sophomore who showed excellent form against the New Gulf team last week, will be the choice for the receiving end of the battery.

Dawson Withdraws From Play In Golf Tournament 'By Request'

PINEHURST, April 9. (UP)—Johnny Dawson of Chicago, comedalist in the North-South amateur golf championship here, withdrew by request from the tournament just before match play began today.

Dawson's amateur standing under fire by the United States Golf association, was questioned and he withdrew.

ASSOCIATION DENIES ASKING WITHDRAWAL

NEW YORK, April 9. (UP)—The United States Golf association took no action to bring about the withdrawal of Johnny Dawson of Chicago from the North-South amateur tournament at Pinehurst today, H. H. Ramsay, vice president of the U. S. G. A., announced through the United Press tonight.

"However," said Ramsay, "now that the matter has been brought to my attention, I feel forced to state, under our rules, Dawson is not eligible for amateur competition."

Ramsay said the U. S. G. A. had no jurisdiction over the tournament now under way at Pinehurst and he did not know what had caused Dawson's withdrawal.

English Tennis Star Confined by Illness

LONDON, April 9. (UP)—Betty Nuthall, English tennis star, was confined to her bed today with a chill and temperature running 103 degrees. Her illness may prevent her from taking part in the Wightman cup trials which started yesterday and ended Wednesday.

Texas Aggie Thin Clads Meet Owls Saturday

Special to The Record News

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, April 9.—Undaunted by their defeat at the hands of the Texas Longhorns last week, Coach Frank Anderson's Texas Aggie track and field charges will meet the Rice Owls of Coach Ernie Hjertberg at Kyle field Saturday afternoon. The meet will be the second dual engagement of the season for each team.

While the Aggies were being nosed out by the Longhorns last Saturday, the Owls were taking the T. C. U. Horned Frogs into camp in a decisive manner at Houston. The meet next Saturday should be of particular interest since it will enable prognosticating fans of the conference to compare the relative strength of the Owls, Aggies and Longhorns, considered the three outstanding contenders for the Southwest title this season. Last year Coach Anderson's Aggies carried away the title.

Despite their defeat by the Longhorns, the Aggies will likely be slight favorites to win over the Owls. A comparison of the records made in the A. & M.-Texas and the Rice-T. C. U. meets last week shows that in all except four events, those of the meet at A. & M. were the best.

Buddy Taylor Determined to Be World's Champion Boxer Some Day

By BERT DEMBY
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, April 9.—Little Buddy Taylor is making a good job of his determination not to quit the ring until he can tell his grandchildren about the times when their grandpa was champion of the world.

At the height of his form three or four years ago, Buddy doubtless was the best bantamweight boxer in the universe but because of "red tape" he never was recognized officially.

So sorely disappointed was he at this he suddenly began to slip. But a year ago he became fired with the idea "I'm still good enough to whip all these 126-pounders." He took on some weight and went after the featherweight title in a drive which culminated temporarily the other night when he whipped Bat Battalino, the featherweight champion. Even that fight was the "old Taylor luck," since the title was not at stake.

After staging his featherweight campaign, Taylor impressed well in a few fights and then had the fans jumping out of their seats when he fought a draw with young Earl Mastro, generally regarded as the middleweight's best 126-pounder. That fight went down as a classic here. It proved that Bud, though a trifle slower than he once was, still could step with the best.

Taylor's next victory was over Santiago Zorilla but the Terre Haute fighter ran into tough luck in the following fight, another battle with Mastro. In the eighth round Buddy slammed a right to Earl's jaw and the latter, surprised that anyone could send him to the floor, got up and charged so hard both men went out of the ring. Each was injured severely.

Resting until the injury healed, Buddy hied himself to Detroit, slammed Battalino on the jaw so many times he had the champion on the floor and finished with a 10-round decision.

The next tough hill for Taylor is a battle with Fidel La Barba, the flyweight champion who gave up his title to go to college and now is coming back as a featherweight. If he wins Bud expects to get a title match with Battalino outdoors here this summer.

Promoter Jack Dempsey, always an admirer of Taylor, has told Buddy "I'll pay enough for a Battalino match to give you a chance at the title whether I can make any money out of promoting the fight or not." The Consensus here is that Taylor can whip the featherweight champion again.

So when Buddy sits talking to a youngster who may be idolizing some fighters years hence Buddy may yet be able to say:

"Now, sonny, when your grand daddy was champion of the world—them were the days of real fighters."

Hornsby to Be in Lineup Next Week

ST. LOUIS, April 9. (INS)—Rogers Hornsby, slugging second baseman of the Chicago Cubs, will be able to play in the opening game here against the Cardinals next Tuesday, Dr. Robert F. Hyland who examined Hornsby announced today.

Dr. Hyland said, "Rog has simply aggravated his right ankle by an unnatural walk, caused by an operation for a growth on his heel last winter. However, I examined his ailment and find it is not serious. It should be corrected by a few days of rest and quiet."

Hornsby was well pleased with Dr. Hyland's announcement. He plans to depart late this week for Kansas City and join the Cubs.

VETERAN MIKE LOSES AGAIN

Venerable Battler Just Won't Quit Game

By FRANK GETTY
United Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 9.—Reports from the southland tell of another crushing defeat administered to old Mike McTigue by a fifth rater.

With all due respect to our elders, this McTigue business has been going along just about long enough.

Here is a venerable old gentleman, a church member and practically a grandfather, who insists upon cutting in upon a pastime obviously designed for the young and vigorous.

It is not that Mike McTigue needs the money. He has salted away plenty during his more than a quarter century of ring activity.

There never was anything free and easy about Michael where money was concerned, and if he hasn't the first dollar he ever earned he has 95 cents change.

The other night Mike went down to defeat before a boxer known as Bob Godwin, the affair having been dragged in to draw attention to that popular health resort after Kaye Don decided to abandon his assaults upon the speed record of the world.

Why does he go on fighting. Even his best friends can't tell you. McTigue made a lot of money in more than 25 years of fighting, and kept it. He is not a parallel case of that of Johnny Dundee, another ex-champion who has to go on with the game for his coffee and cakes—or the coffee and cakes of the book makers, which, in the sporting world so unfortunately and so frequently amounts to the same thing.

Mike McTigue was, and the tense is intended, one of the most remarkable boxers of all time. He started his career as a youth with something of a reputation as a slugger, developed into the cleverest big fellow since Jack Johnson's prime, and wound up in a blaze of glory with a rejuvenated knockout wallop which amazed the fistic world. If Mike only had been content to stay wound up, he would have gone down in fistic annals as one of the best. But what is one to think of a fighter who goes on, apparently slightly goofy, seeking matches with set-ups, who turn upon him and do everything but rend him limb from limb, a fighter who could beat the best of them in his prime and now is an easy knockout victim at the hands of the first fifth rater who catches up with him.

Pastor's 'Sound Faith' Upheld After Inquiry

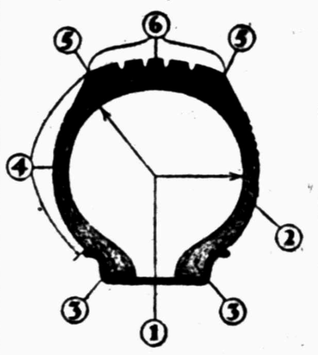

OSCEOLA, Ark., April 9. (AP)—The commission investigating "the rumors as to the soundness in the faith" of the Rev. Hay Watson Smith, pastor of the fashionable Second Presbyterian church at Little Rock, reported late today that it had found that Dr. Smith was "not sufficiently out of line with doctrines of the Presbyterian church as to bar him as a minister in the church in good standing."

The report was accepted as the action of Arkansas Presbytery in session here.

The most Conclusive Evidence of SUPERIORITY---

...this cross sectional diagram clearly illustrates 7 Points of Superiority which the Air-Flight Principle Tires by Fisk alone can offer you.

The De Luxe, Rugged, Fisk and Premier, each a First Quality, Fully Guaranteed Fisk, embodying all of the exclusive improvements of the new Air-Flight Principle of tire construction and representing the utmost that your tire dollars can buy in their four respective price fields. Their larger air-chamber, carrying more air at a lower pressure—their carcass, constructed of Fisk's patented and exclusive All-Cord—their flexible side-walls of live rubber—their streamline tread, multiple cable bead and greater road contact—the combining of all these new and exclusive features result in still another—The Air-Flight Balance.

FISK'S 7 POINTS OF SUPERIORITY

1. Larger Air Chamber
Carrying more air at a lower pressure—it brings a new and far better interpretation of Riding Comfort allowing your car to ride less on the rubber and more on the air.

2. All-Cord Process
A patented Fisk development which reduces internal friction and adds strength without rigidity or weight.

3. Multiple Cable Bead
Multiple Cable Bead gives added strength at the rim while increasing sidewall flexibility.

4. Increased Flex Area
Increased length of Flex Area at sidewall provides greater use of the air cushion.

5. Streamline Tread
The rim width of the streamline tread eliminates the useless overhanging tread rubber and allows greater air cushioning.

6. Greater Road Contact
Results in better and more lasting non-skid qualities and assures you of Safe Traction at any speed.

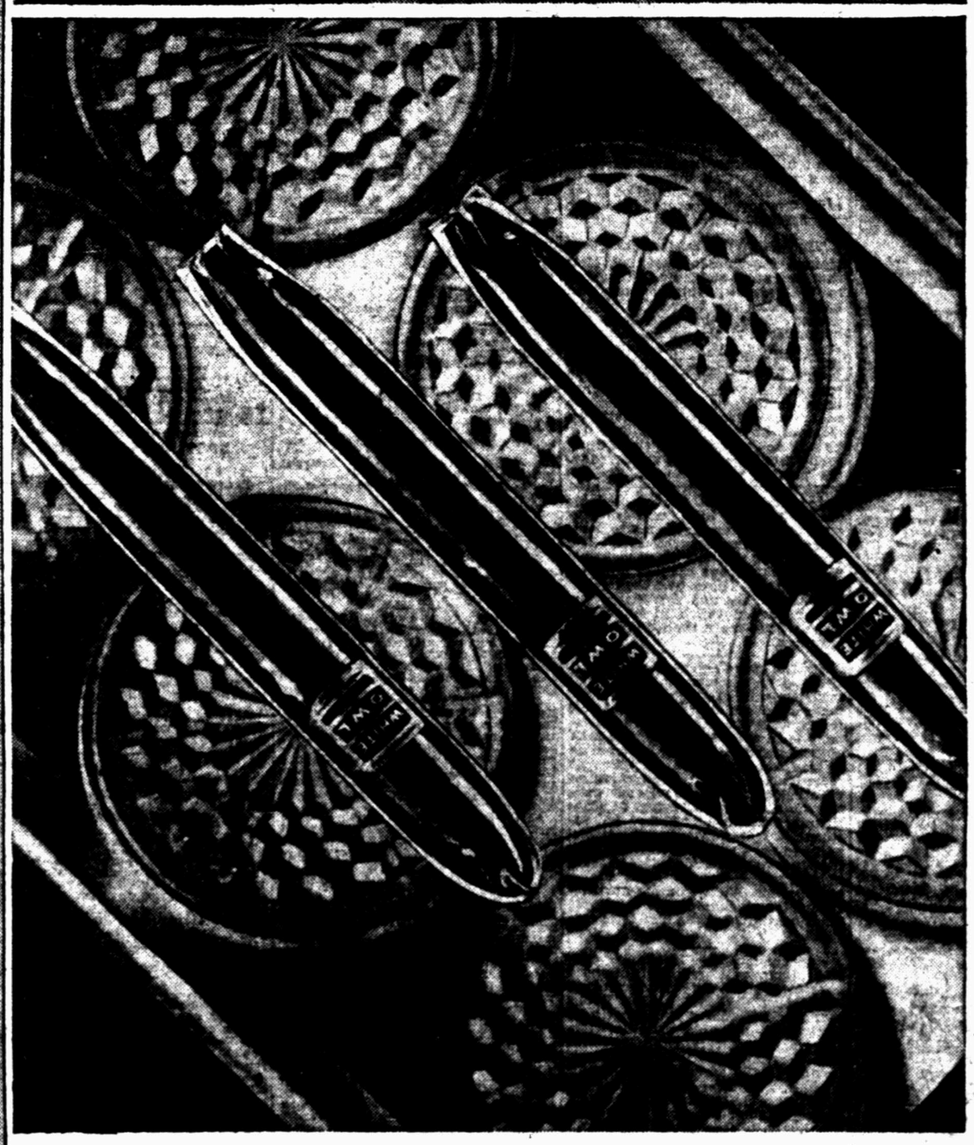

7. The Air-Flight Balance
The newly perfected balance between air and materials achieves the maximum of air-cushioning and mileage.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 9. (AP)—Nervous and irregular fluctuations in cotton today seemed to originate chiefly in evening-up of near positions which were relatively easy. May sold off to 16.21 or 21 points net lower, but recovered part of the loss closing at 16.36, while the new October contract after declining to 15.25 or 11 points net lower, rallied to 15.42 and closed at 15.40. The general market closed firm at 8 points.

The opening was steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 11 points. July was relatively easy selling off to 16.17 or 28 points net lower and 4 points under the price of May by spot house brokers. New crop positions held relatively steady but gradually yielded with old December selling off to 16.54 and the new to 15.38 or about 10 to 12 points net lower. At the close, May was 2 points under July and about 96 points over October compared with 108 points the previous day, while there was not much change in the difference between May, in New York and New Orleans.

Liverpool reported that trade calling and continental buying had been supplied by liquidation and said speculation was dormant.

Exports today 14,035, making 6,006,023 so far this season. Port receipts 14,373. U. S. port stocks 1,791,484.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 9. (AP)—Cotton was quiet today and the price trend proved reactionary although fluctuations were neither frequent nor broad. New crop months were comparatively steady while old crops were inclined to be easier. The premium of July over October narrowed to under 70 points compared with 90 points earlier in the week.

July after opening unchanged at 16.09, declined to 15.92, then rallied and closed at 16.03, or 6 points net lower for the day. The general market closed steady, 3 points net up to 9 down.

Liverpool cables were relatively steady but the local market opened easy, net unchanged to 3 points down. Local prices rallied. May traded up to 16.06, July 16.12 and October 15.41, or 5 to 10 points above yesterday's close.

The market turned reactionary. October showed the minimum decline, selling only to 15.26, while May traded off to 15.91 and July to 15.91.

In final trading shorts covered particularly in the new crop positions and the market rallied 6 to 13 points from the bottom. May closed at 15.97, or 9 points down while October closed at 15.39, and December 15.53, or 1 to 3 points net up.

Professionals' Failure to Break Prices Spreads Confidence in Wall Street

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, April 9. (US)—Failure of professional selling to further depress prices at the opening encouraged greater confidence that caused resumption of the advance in the stock market today. The continued activity of the strong group in General Motors proved a powerful bullish influence also while continued ease in money was looked upon as reflecting banking satisfaction with current conditions.

Steel finished fractionally lower but American Telephone gained 5⅜ Radio Keith 1, Warner 2, General Electric 3, General Motors 1⅝, Montgomery Ward 3⅛, Westinghouse 3⅜, American & Foreign Power 2⅞, United Gas improvement 2¾, Standard of New Jersey 1⅛, and Briggs 2⅛. Central sold off a point in a somewhat irregular railroad group. Call money eased to 3½ per cent from renewal of 4 per cent. Turnover increased to over the 5,000,000-share level.

"Bad Bill," the Boston bear, was blamed for Tuesday's selling. He's the operator suddenly discovered by Wall street during October who had to take the blame for all the damage done by bankers, industrial magnates and the others who destroyed security prices and business confidence at that time. If he has as large a short position as rumored now he must be mighty uncomfortable especially when he sees the character of activity in General Motors. Durant was reported to have joined the strong group working in that stock today. On present earnings, etc., the operation does not seem warranted but to the extent that it reflects confidence in high and mighty quarters it is an influence to bullishness throughout the list. The strength in motors is responsible for the better tone of other automobile stocks. There has been quiet investment demand for Pierce Arrow preferred which is selling for only a little more than double 1929 earnings.

Sudden prominence of Gold Dust resulted from statement of special developments of major importance made by those who keep in closest touch with its affairs. The company is in splendid position to take advantage of improving business as it was able to secure supplies at record low cost. It is expected to eventually merge with another well-known company. Buying of Continental Diamond Fiber is influenced by knowledge of further gains in earnings in the last month. Strong interests are adding to their holdings of Eastman Kodak due to expectation that favorable developments for stockholders must result from continued expansion in operations.

Report of change in Radio's capital structure, first told of here several months ago, is given wide circulation. When the plan is consummated Radio will have direct control of valuable patents while General Electric, Western Electric and Westinghouse will have stock holding in the corporation that will represent working control. It is believed also that the deal will result in special distribution to stockholders by both General Electric and Westinghouse. Early announcement is expected of plans of the American & Foreign Power for acquisition of additional properties in South America. Kreuger & Toll directors, it was rumored, were planning either extra or special dividend distribution.

After all the dire forebodings as to what its bearish predictions would be the Iron Age mid-week review fell rather flat. It did report drop in ingot output of the Steel Corporation from 81 to 77 per cent and corresponding decline for the industry, but it admitted that the current condition of the Steel industry differs little from that which has prevailed for the last month. Furthermore it voiced belief that curtailed shipments of the Steel Corporation offset reduced bookings so that the unfilled tonnage report, to be issued at noon tomorrow would show little change. The improved buying of the automobile industry and a few other lines made up in part for lesser demand from the railroads during the past week.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, April 9. (AP)—Condition in wheat remained unchanged today although the market was a little stronger. Exporters were nominally bidding around $1.15@1.16 for ordinary export wheat. Mill demand was good with bids running $1.17@1.18 for ordinary No. 1 hard delivered T. C. P.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows basis carloads delivered T. C. P., freight paid:

Corn—No. 2 mixed 95@96c; No. 2 white $1.00@1.00½; No. 2 yellow $1.00@1.01.

Oats—No. 2 red 58@59c; No. 3 white delivered Texas group 1 points 56½c; group three points one cent more.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per hundred pounds $1.80@1.83; No. 2 kaffir $1.57@1.60.

Cane Seed—Bulk country run red top germination, origin and clean out, $4.00@4.50.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 9. (AP)—Expecting the government crop report would prove bearish, wheat traders went slow in buying today, only to find after the close that official figures on domestic winter wheat showed the crop condition was only 77.4 per cent. Average private estimates had been 81.4 per cent. Apparently this means that an unexpected cut of 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 bushels in the 1930 probable yield of United States winter wheat has been made.

Closing prices on wheat registered before the government crop report was out, were firm at ⅝@¾c a bushel advance over yesterday's finish but 1@1⅝c under today's top level. Corn closed ¼@¾c up, oats unchanged to ¼@⅜c advanced and provisions unchanged to 10c down.

Corn and oats sympathized with wheat upturns, despite process of corn planting in the Southwest and of plowing in the more northern sections of the corn belt.

Provisions showed themselves responsive to downturns in the value of hogs.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, April 9. (AP)—(U.S.D.A.)—Fed steer trade around the 11-market circuit was slow, steady to 25c lower. Strong weight steers have been more plentiful this week and the conditions at eastern dressed beef markets have been unfavorable. Chicago scored $14.50 on long yearlings while choice medium and heavy steers at Kansas City and at Omaha realized $14.25. Receipts 33,200, a slight increase over a week ago and 4,000 heavier than the corresponding day last year.

Choice Arizona springers in Kansas City $13.25 but the majority on the close went at $12.50. Chicago secured $10.25 for choice fed wooled lambs. The supply approximated 69,700 against 66,670 last Wednesday and 47,308 a year ago.

Offerings of hogs 90,000, an increase of 16,000 over a week ago and a year ago. Trade was slow at values unevenly weak to .25 lower with strong weight butchers off most. The top of $10.65 was paid at Chicago.

HOME GROWN TRUCK OFFERED

Greens, Radishes, Onions On Local Market

Truck farms in and near Wichita Falls have begun their contribution to the city's supply of vegetables for 1930, according to reports of produce dealers Wednesday.

Considerable quantities of radishes, spinach, onions and mustard greens represent the marketable yield up to the present time, and these items are being delivered daily in growing amounts.

Numerous queries for seed potatoes indicate that a large number of persons in this community will plan to raise at least sufficient amounts of this staple commodity for their own consumption. Prospective purchasers, it was said, report that it has been almost impossible to find planting stock. According to information obtained by The Record News, a considerable supply of seed potatoes, Red Triumphs from Minnesota, is still available at the Texas Produce company, 1009 Ohio avenue. These potatoes were stored in Minnesota during the winter and but recently arrived here. According to their growers, they are admirably adapted to the comparatively dry climate and sandy soil prevailing in this vicinity. They are expected to mature in July, and may be planted any time within the coming month.

'One Man War' Finally Decided In Favor of U. S. Census Taking Forces

SPOKANE, Wash., April 9. (AP)—"A one man war" waged by William Mullen, aged recluse, against the census branch of the United States government ended today in a barrage of brickbats and statistics.

A white bearded hermit struck his colors to a federal marshal after defending his shack "down by the gas works" for three days, using as weapons, epithets, stones, a broomstick, a club and an axe. Reports from the battlefront described the action as follows:

Saturday—Woman census taker advanced. Repulsed with heavy loss of dignity, Mullen forces using broom.

Sunday—Government forces took stragetic rest.

Monday—Woman enumerator charged again, getting in one question before Mullen troops opened fire with axe.

Tuesday—Heavy shock troops of government, in person of hard boiled male enumerator, attacked discharging one question, enemy hurled heavy barrage of blue words and club.

Second engagement Tuesday—Newspaper observer crept up for picture, but was met by fierce volley of stones, bricks and epithets of "government grafter." Observer damaged, contact failed. Enemy threatened shot gun.

Third engagement Tuesday—Deputy U. S. Marshal A. L. Dilley executed flanking movement capturing Mullen by surprise, without bloodshed.

The ancient was interned in prison, until he had fulfilled the terms—full answers to every question on the census sheet. The government demanded no indemnity.

Then "good day, gentlemen," said the patriarch, and departed—not exactly with all the honors of war, but at least with his morale unimpaired.

DAIRY EXPERTS HERE FRIDAY

Mass Meeting to Hear Talks By Texas Leaders

Prof. C. N. Shepeardson, head of the dairying department of Texas A. & M. college, and D. T. Simon of Fort Worth, field director of the American Jersey Cattle club and secretary of the Texas Jersey Cattle club will speak on breeding and management of dairy cattle in a mass meeting to be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the courthouse under the auspices of the agricultural committee of the chamber of commerce.

Announcement of plans for the meeting Friday was made Wednesday by J. N. Sherrill, chairman of the committee. It will be the second of a series of meetings planned by the committee for the benefit of agricultural and dairying development in this county. The first was held on Feb. 27, when C. O. Moser of Dallas, executive head of the American Cotton cooperative, spoke on the situation in the cotton raising industry.

Round table discussions will follow the speeches to be made Friday. Mr. Simon and Professor Shepeardson will come to Wichita Falls from Plainview, where they have been attending the Plains Stock show. All persons interested in dairying and agriculture are urged to attend the meeting Friday afternoon, Mr. Sherrill said.

Whalen Draws Fire Of Russian Journal

MOSCOW, April 9. (US)—Grover A. Whalen, New York's commissioner of police, today was the object of an attack by the central executive committee of Soviet Russia in the columns of its official publication, Izvestia.

The Communist demonstration of so-called world-wide import, which was stopped almost at birth by New York's police force, and which brought about the arrest of several American Communist leaders, was the main contributory cause.

NORTHWEST OF OLNEY

Sam Kruger and others No. 1 G. A. Lauster located in section 3, B. B. B. & C. R. R. survey, abstract 51, south Archer county is in the sand at 1138 feet which shows for a small well, but will continue drilling to the regular 1200-foot pay from which the production in the Gambrell pool a short distance southwest is received.

MASSIE-RICHARDSON

J. H. Massie No. 4 J. T. Richardson located 150 feet south, and 450 feet east of the northwest corner of block 11, South Anderson ranch subdivision, west of the Swastika pool in Archer county, drilled out the plug from the oil sand at 1369 feet, and is on the swab producing 350 barrels.

OLNEY TOWNSITE

The Perkins & Cullum company No. 2 J. P. Dunigan located in section 157, T. E. & L. survey in the Olney townsite, drilled into the sand topped at 1051 feet and when placed on the swab Wednesday showed for 500 barrels, the best producer so far completed in the new townsite pool.

NORTHEAST OF NEWCASTLE

Continental Oil company No. 1 deep test to be drilled near the center of the northwest 80 acres of T. E. & L. survey, abstract 422, in southwest Young county, is moving in. The well will be drilled to a depth of 5000 feet unless oil or gas in paying quantities is found at a lesser depth.

REFINERS' CURB BOOSTS PRICES

Gasoline Market Generally Seems Stronger

Special to The Record News

TULSA, Okla., April 9.—Action of Mid-Continent refiners in joining the movement to slow up the production of gasoline and petroleum products through a running of less crude oil to stills in the seven days, is being reflected in the steadily improved market.

Starting with an advance of one-eighth to one-half a cent a gallon in the spot price for U. S. motor grade of gasoline in Oklahoma and Kansas refineries, it was followed by advances in Texas and Louisiana-Arkansas refinery markets.

Now word comes that the Ohio refinery market has been pepped up one-half a cent a gallon by the Standard Oil company of Ohio, announcing its U. S. motor prices as being 10 cents a gallon. Heretofore they have been 9 cents a gallon in tank car lots.

Reports say that a tankwagon advance is also to be announced in the Ohio and Indiana territories, because of the steadily strengthened gasoline market.

In this connection it was learned Tuesday that the Standard Oil company of New York had advanced gasoline prices one cent a gallon in New York and New England territories, effective Wednesday, April 9. Similar action may be expected in Standard Oil company of New Jersey and Atlantic Refining company territories.

A wire from Pittsburgh says that conditions with the Pennsylvania refiners is improving rapidly, according to refiners at both Oil City and Franklin. Demand is increasing steadily.

Another message predicts that the Eastern crude oil market will be advanced within the next 10 days, and either precede or follow an advance in Mid-Continent crude oil prices. A price boost for California fields is also expected, due to the sharp reduction in allowable crude oil production.

Howard Bennette, managing director of the Western Petroleum Refiners association, stated that a very healthy condition prevailed among the Mid-Continent refiners, and while the status of the market was improved, that it was the consensus of opinion of the refinery leaders that all refiners should be very cautious about the future and approach the summer with stocks in good shape and not inclined to develop an over-supply.

Cashier Admits Faking $31,600 in Bank Funds

ST. LOUIS, April 9. (AP)—Marvin E. Phillips, 29, employe of the Scruggs Vandervoort Barney bank for five years and recently assistant cashier, was arrested today and confessed, police announced, that he had appropriated $31,600 of the bank's funds to his own use, chiefly for purposes of gambling.

Grayson County Farmer Is Very Optimistic

Says Argotane Has Given Him Great Relief from Stomach Trouble

"I suffered for a long time with my stomach," said Mr. W. R. Graham, well known Grayson county farmer, residing on route 4, out of Denison, while in a conversation with an Argotane representative.

"I got to where I could hardly sleep," said Mr. Graham, "and my stomach would bloat something terrible, and then it would become very sore and as a result I had to be very careful with my eating. Of course I also suffered greatly from constipation and I have tried many different things trying to find some relief for my condition.

"I kept reading in the papers about Argotane and the good it was doing everyone who used it, and then learned of many of my friends using it, and so I got a bottle and have used the one, and find that it has given me relief for my condition that I never expected to get. I can now sleep good all night, and feel fine when I get up of mornings, and do not have to be so careful about what I eat, and am no longer bothered with that bloating stomach condition, and altogether I can tell that my entire system has been greatly benefited. It sure is a fine medicine, and I shall continue the use of it until I am entirely well again."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Wichita Falls at the Allison Drug store, 716 Indiana avenue.—Adv.

Wichita Symphony Orchestra to Play at Graham Auditorium

The new municipal auditorium at Graham is expected to have one of its largest audiences Friday night when the Wichita Falls Symphony orchestra plays at Graham under the sponsorship of the Musicians club of that city. A number of Wichita Falls people are planning to drive to Graham to hear the program and reports from Graham are to the effect that tickets have been sold in Olney, Eliasville, Jacksboro, South Bend, Breckenridge and other towns in that section.

BOYS' WORK ON DISPLAY HERE

Salvation Army Scouts Show Training of Group

Specimens of the handiwork produced in the Life Saving Scouts and Guards division of the Salvation Army here were placed on display in the first-floor Seventh street window of The Times building Wednesday afternoon.

Organized under a charter from the Boy Scouts of America, the organization has a membership of 18 boys and 26 girls, who meet weekly under the direction of Mrs. A. Schultz and Stallard Bradford, instructors. Tests similar to those required in Boy Scout work are required for membership in the division.

Featuring the display now in The Times building window is a large knot-board, made by Mr. Bradford, and bearing about 30 different types of knots, tying of which is included in the curriculum of handicraft followed in the class. Particularly ipteresting are the hangman's knot, the shamrock, and bowline knot. They are attractively mounted under glass, and the frame of the board is ornamented with border lines of chain and twist designs.

Successful tying and untying of at least five knots is required of members in the division. Mr. Stallard, instructor, has accomplished the feat of tying and untying five of the more difficult knots in 21 seconds, it was said.

This display includes an attractive card of "spatter-printing," in which patterns of many leaves peculiar to this locality are effected in red against a frosted background. Tools used in the printing were a toothbrush and a match. There are also a garden scene depicted in a painted plaque of clay, and a figured study in silhouette, both done by Miss Fontella Warren.

The display will be taken to Dallas Monday for competition with others representing various cities of Texas, Ensign Schultz said.

New Optimist Prexy Announces Committees

Announcement of committee appointments for the coming year by Max T. Junker, new president, constituted the program given Wednesday noon at the weekly meeting of the Optimist club at the Kemp hotel.

Chairmen appointed were: Boys' work, E. L. Buelow; fellowship, Dr. George T. Singleton; membership, Alvah Conner; publicity, John E. Butts; sick committee, Dr. C. M. Simpson; civic welfare, Bert King; finance, Frank J. Dempsey; athletic, Frank Haley; extension, James Hanks; attendance, W. H. Bailey; program supervisor, R. D. Ford; good house order, M. B. Whatley; installation of new members, the Rev. Patrick Henry.

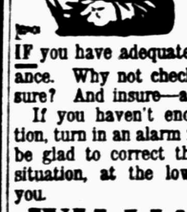

Entertainment features at the meeting included readings by Mrs. Raybon Porter, and a singsong led by R. D. Ford. Clifford Deaton was in charge of the program.

MAJESTIC: "Footlights and Fools," with Colleen Moore, Raymond Hackett and Frederic March. Colleen, there are ex-Missourians here. Talking shorts. Sound news.

STRAND: Last day of "Hit the Deck," with Jack Oakie and Polly Walker. Spades are trumps and the joker's out. Pathe scenic review. "Black Crook" comedy review. Sound news.

STATE: Dorothy Backaill in "The Love Racket," with Sidney Blackmar. Chapter 8 of "King of the Congo," wild jungle adventure. Sound news.

GEM: "The Sophomore," with Eddie Quillan and Sally O'Neill. "Days of '49," comedy.

Today's song of hope: the Marx brothers are now being filmed in "Animal Crackers," and D. W. Griffith is directing Walter Huston in "Abraham Lincoln," from the pen of Stephen Vincent Benet.

If every registered female citizen of Hollywood's microphonized colony must be presented as a star of a back-stage bazaar before the epidemic abates, let all the faithful pray that production be accelerated and exhibitions be made brief, that the plague indeed may pass. This time it is Colleen Moore. The picture is renamed "Footlights and Fools" for her inning. Is sparkles with the same originality which abounds in the current agitator, "Is it warm enough for you?"

Guessing just what minor phase or angle of the old, old story will be changed for each succeeding hoofer classic might grow into quite a game. "Hit the Deck" had at least two mild innovations, speaking within strictly recent time limits: playing upon the numerical popularity of Smith as a name, and a new treatment of the negro theme in "Hallelujah." For Colleen's picture, she is given a few lines of near-French, reproduced in the Fifi D'Orsay style, and the tale is permitted to end as a romantic tragedy—the lovers part forever as a closing shot. This latter is a brave innovation, but really came about 49 minutes too late for best results.

Colleen has had moments of being cute, and may still click in that vein. But this little trick was capitalized to the point of great dilution in "Fools and Footlights" to serve in lieu of so many other qualities the picture lacks. The great mystery recurs: why should Colleen, because she fit so nicely into light comedy on the silent screen, be expected to dance or sing acceptably merely because sound-photography has been developed? The producer who put her before the camera to dance should be prosecuted along with those who compelled Janet Gaynor to sing; and even Colleen's singing is little better than in "Smiling Irish Eyes" —if you recall that nightmare. On with the "Animal Crackers" as a chaser.

Democrats Victors in New Orleans Election

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 9. (INS)—Democratic candidates in Tuesday's municipal election today held broad margins over their Republican opponents, fairly complete returns indicating an overwhelming victory for the Democratic ticket.

T. Semmes Walmsley, for mayor, headed the Democratic ticket. Walmsley was opposed by Warren V. Miller, the G. O. P. nominee.

NOW

said the clever housewife, as she opened the package of White King Granulated Soap. And presto!—before she knew it, the washing was finished.

White King is the quickest and safest soap made—not only for family washing, but for lingerie, shampooing, dishes, and every household need. It cleanses thoroughly but gently. If water won't hurt it, White King won't.

It's economical too. Because it's condensed, a little goes a long way. A teaspoonful in the basin of water, a cupful in the tub—and instantly you have a rich, creamy lather that's simply death on dirt! Your grocer has it.

FIREMEN SAVE GRAHAM WOMAN

Burning Building Traps Mrs. C. A. Freeze

Special to The Record News.

GRAHAM, Texas, April 9.—Trapped by flames which swept the building in which she lay early Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. C. A. Freeze was snatched from death by the heroic efforts of firemen who carried her down a ladder from the second floor window of her apartment. Several other persons who, with the Freeze family, occupied the floor above the Freeze grocery and furniture store escaped without injury.

The entire stock of the store was destroyed by the fire. Only the walls of the building were left standing. No explanation of the origin of the flames has been found.

Mrs. Freeze had fallen asleep after lunch Wednesday and awakened to find her home in flames and all avenues of escape blocked.

DEATHS

MARJORIE ANN CALLAWAY

Funeral services for Marjorie Ann Callaway, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Callaway, 2511 Buchanan street, who died in a local hospital Tuesday morning, were held from the Highland Height Baptist church at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon with Rev. Roy D. Clark, pastor and Rev. S. F. Martin, pastor of the Lamar Avenue Baptist church, officiating. Interment was in Rosemont under the direction of the Hines mortuary.

MISS EFFIE WATTERS

Funeral services for Miss Effie Watters, 40, of Spearman, who died in a local hospital Tuesday morning, were held from the chapel of the Hines mortuary at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, with Rev. William Bratton, pastor of the Episcopal church, officiating. Interment was in Riverside.

W. L. Watters of Amarillo, a brother, is the only survivor.

CANDY COMPANY RAIDED

Approximately $50 worth of candy was taken from the Bennett Candy company, 1018 Bass street, Tuesday night, according to a report made to the police department. Entrance was made through the rear door of the building by the aid of a railroad pick, the report stated.

Are You Fully Utilizing Your Banking Connection?

No progressive bank is satisfied merely with the performance of its primary function—that of handling money for its depositors.

This progressive bank feels that it can in so many ways be of real help and value to its clients, through its various departments, in both commercial matters and personal affairs.

That is why we constantly urge our depositors to avail themselves fully of their connection with this bank.
