Washington.—According to the late William Shakespeare, "All the world's a stage," but if the lamented Bard of Avon was a resident of Washington just now he would undoubtedly find it necessary to at least modify his corollary that all the men and women are players, for approximately 99 per cent of the men and women habitants of the National Capital today constitute a more or less stupified audience.

The second week of the revised version of the comedy-drama "How Governments should be managed"—with a guaranteed run of 208 weeks, and with that sterling actor, Herbert Hoover, in the stellar role—was even more impressive than the first. The star undoubtedly gives an indefinable master's touch to the play—speed, power, smoothe acceleration, "pep," to us an Americanism which vividly carries its meaning home. Hoover is recalling the keen executive grip of Theodore Roosevelt when the White House was his stage-setting.

"Grip? Is that the word?" exclaimed a veteran Washington observer recently. "I should say Hoover has got a grip! His mind shoots out at everything, closes in upon it like the tentacles of an octopus, and by the time the red-tape boys are just beginning to think about it, the President has the whole matter settled and has issued orders which are—you may be sure—swiftly carried out."

Which is about the finest tribute that anyone can pay to Mr. Hoover. For the present we are taking out of the equation the political policies of the new administration, which are properly a matter of partnership, but the Presidency is essentially an administration job, the biggest in the world. And the way which Herbert Hoover, who is predominantly an administrator, is raising to the job has Washington literally gasping.

It is the tradition for an incoming President to take things in a leisurely stride for awhile. He is not supposed to break any speed records. In fact, it is generally supposed to be bad for him to do so. So does the precedent, which the Red Tape Brigade guards so jealously. But Hoover already has thrown the Red Tape brigade out of the window, bag and baggage.

The Mexican revolution is a case in point. The President had his whole course of action mapped out with hair-trigger precision before the newspaper wisecrackers had even a single shot at "doping out" what it would be. This was such an amazing reversal of the usual procedure in Washington that it amounted almost to a small revolution in itself.

Ordinarily the newspaper men would have had days to write with owlish wisdom about the revolt south of the Rio Grande before the American government gave the slightest hint as to whether it would maintain the embargo on arms shipments or remove it, or favor one side or the other. President Hoover acted within half an hour after the matter was presented to him by the State Department which constitutes almost a world's record for executive speed, so far as the White House is concerned.

There are half a dozen other conspicuous instances, including his announcement about eliminating the Federal leasing of oil lands on the public domain, in which Hoover, the administrator, has stood out with lightening-like swiftness, made decisions instantly that as if the matter in hand had been revolving in his mind for days, and showed, almost, that these decisions were something more than mere superficial snap judgements.

Incidentally, President Hoover has crowned his first White House fortnight by settling his difficulties with the press. Under arrangements which he has made the crops of correspondents expect to make the White House more of a dynamic news center than it has been at any time since the days of Woodrow Wilson and the World War.

The President has abolished the "unofficial spokesman" and is striking out boldly in giving to the press news of it, for each day at the Executive Mansion is acquired with significant action and decision, far above the routine.

The most interesting morsel of gossip which Washington has just now has "slipped" to the scrivners of the press, not by the President, however, but by Senator Borah. The latter let out the tip that former Vice President Charles G. Dawes is likely to be the next American ambassador to Great Britain.

Dawes and the President have always been close friends, and there is a bond of mutual admiration between them, inasmuch as both are business men and executives. The Chicagoan, however, is a man of barbed words and directs action, and some doubt is expressed as to whether he will make a good diplomat. Diplomacy is a matter of honeyed phrases and devious ways, so far as the Old World tradition goes.

President Hoover, however, thinks that a man of Dawes' type will make a great hit with British leading men of affairs. He is said to have virtually determined upon the appointment.

Another diplomatic appointment also said to be "in the bag" is that of Louis B. Mayer, head of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer motion picture producing company as Ambassador to Turkey. Mayer has been prominent in the Hoover movement for several years and is said to be desirous of obtaining the Turkish diplomatic post for the advancement of American commercial interest in the Near East.

Thus are two more millionaires added to the Hoover regime, and there are two others also who should be mentioned—Earnest Lee Jahncke of New Orleans, to be Assistant Secretary of the Navy, succeeding T. Douglas Robinson, and Patrick J. Hurley of Tulsa, Oklahoma, who is to be Assistant Secretary of War, succeeding Charles C. Robinson.

The last-mentioned appointments, incidentally, are the first in which the new President has given recognition to the south in the distribution of patronage. Having failed to honor Dixie in his cabinet appointments, many political sharks think he will accord that section of the nation a significantly large slice of the appointments of sub-cabinet grade.

He expects to do this without offending the "lily white" element of the Republican party in the south or the negro vote in the north. He wants to recognize the Democrats of the south who threw Al Smith overboard last November and voted the Republican ticket for the first time in their lives without antagonizing the lement of negro voters who, in several northern states, are real props of the Republican control there.

Consternation reigns in Washington just now because of the fear that President Hoover will try to make the city Exhibit A in his coming campaign to enforce the Volstead act—in other words, that he will aim at making the Capital "bone dry".

The problem of getting liquor under the cover of diplomatic immunity to the embassies and legation here has been partly solved by placing the burden of delivery upon the embassies themselves. American trucks are used but their owners and drivers have nothing to do with them while the contraband is being delivered. Instead, the chauffeur is a properly accredited official of the embassy to which the liquor is consigned, and he cannot be prosecuted in case the truck gets in trouble with the law. Nor can the owner of the truck, because the State Department has benevolently construed the new Jones law as not applying to him.

For plain, everyday Americans, however, who keep on drinking bootleg liquor in Washington despite the Hoover appeal to their good citizenship, the price of the "stuff" is mounting steadily and trade is going downhill so fast that the Capital may find itself strictly "dry" one of these days outside of the charmed circle of the rich, the influential, and their friends.

For our feminine reading public it may be of interest to know that Mrs. Hoover has no less than three social secretaries working for her—Miss Mary Raydolph, who is a holdover from Mrs. Coolidge's days in the White House, Miss Ruth Fesler, who has acted in a secretarial capacity for Mrs. Hoover ever since she came to Washington and Miss Mildred Hall.

Just why Mrs. Hoover needs three secretaries nobody seems to know exactly, unless she wants to "keep up" with her distinguished husband, who also has established a new White House precedent by having three secretaries, two of whom—George Akerson and Lawrence Richey—already having been appointed.

Important Meeting

Saturday March 23rd. at 3:00 P. M. in the County Court Room, or in the District Court Room if Court isn't in Session, there will be a meeting of all people interested in promotion of dairying or raising the standard cows in Scurry County.

This is the first step upward toward recording performance of our cows. It is the third step in dairy cow development, we can move in circles but you can't climb if you don't have some method of knowing what an animal has produced.

This is really the most important meeting from a dairy cow development program ever held in Scurry County. Every man that owns cows whether purebred or grade, whether selling whole milk or cream, whether he expects to increase herd or not, should be at the meeting on time. The house will be called to order promptly at 3:00 P. M. and if you are late you may miss the first essentials.

If you want to see a forward step, a step that will stop leaks in our dairying, a step that will show men where his profits are going, a step that will enable you to buy cows without guess work, and enable you to feed with confidence, come to this meeting.

20TH CENTURY STUDY CLUB

Mrs. C. F. Sentell was hostess to the members and guests of the Twentieth Century Study Club on Tuesday afternoon.

A very interesting lesson and round table discussion was had on "Responsibility for Boys and Girls" and "Keeping a Life, the Play Spirit." Mrs. O. S. Williamson was the leader and Mesdames J. C. Dorwood, Nelson Dunn and J. J. Taylor assisted with the program.

The hostess served delicious refreshments to eighteen members of the club and the following guests: Mesdames George Northcutt and C. M. Fish.

LETTER From Charles Weeks

J. W. Scott, Sec'y
Chamber of Commerce
Snyder, Texas

Dear Mr. Scott:

I wish to express our keen appreciation for the royal treatment received from yourself and your citizens on our visit to your town. With such an active Chamber of Commerce and enthusiastic citizens your town is bound to prosper.

We wish to extend a cordial invitation to you and your citizens to visit our demonstration farm and developments here at Wichita Falls. If you will let us know when you can have the excursion to our place, I will make it a point to receive you and give you a lecture right on our own grounds. I am sure that you will find the trip to our place both interesting and educational.

Again thanking you for the wonderful hospitality which Mr. Ridenour and myself received at your place, I am

Yours verytruly,
Charles Weeks

SCHOOL GROUNDS ARE TO BE BEAUTIFIED

Plans for beautifying the Snyder school grounds have just been completed. The attractive grounds will be the result of interest shown by the school children, teachers and various women's clubs. When a school develops it's grounds attractively, it does not only add to the city's beauty but also extends its influence to the children's homes. They will become interested in the way their yards and gardens at home are kept. All children instinctively love flowers and why not more of them for the children in our town?

Various Women's Clubs have given $10.00 each for the carrying out of the beautification plans. The school children are preparing five circular flower beds in the open spaces and these are to be marked off by a concrete curb. Evergreens are to be plante against the school building and circular beds which will contain red verbena, the town flower, will be made under the windows. Clover will be planted along the street curb between the trees. The beautifying of the school grounds will be an ideal work.

B. & P. W. ENTERTAINMENT

Mesdames W. W. Hull and Edna B. Tinker were hostesses to the Business and Professional Women's Club Tueday evening in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church.

A color scheme of pink and green was used and beautiful carnations and fern in green vases, made lovely decorations. A large pink begonia centered the table and place cards carried out the Shamrock motif. A dainty plate lunch was served to twenty-four members and two guests.

At the business meeting, the club voted to circulate a petition asking the City Council and Mayor to have the streets of Snyder marked and named and also the houses numbered.

In the entertaining room, Mr. O. D. Carter sang "When Irish Eyes are Smiling" and was accompanied by Mrs. W. W. Smith. Several articles from the magazine, "Independent Business Woman" were read and discussed. A talk, "Choosing that Elusive Career," was given by Mrs. C. P. Howell. "When you are sixty-five, what will you do about it?", was a very interesting talk given by Mrs. A. G. Piland. Mrs. W. W. Smith discussed "Womans best Bid".

Four ladies were voted a membership in the club.

CONGRESSMAN UPSHAW TO SPEAK HERE

Congressman Will D. Upshaw, frequently refered to as the "Georgia Cyclone" will speak in this city at the First Baptist church at 7:30 P. M., Friay March 22.

Mr. Upshaw is vice president of the Southern Baptist Convention, but is brought to our city under the direction of the Anti Saloon League of Texas.

His career has been a remarkable one. At that age when our youth generally are marking their careers at for life's work, Mr. Upshaw was stricken down by an accident and lay for some ten years flat of his back in a plaster cast. When he had sufficiently recovered to leave his bed he entered earnestly upon his preparation for life. Though always a cripple, his accomplishments have been an inspiration to the youth of our land, for he arose from that bed of affliction and made his way to a place in the Congress of the United States, which position he held for 8 years.

As a prohibitionist Mr. Upshaw, consecrating himself to the Cause early in life, has never side-stepped the issue for political preferment. As an orator he is recognized as one of the most entertaining speakers on the platform. Some have accorded him a place along with William Jennings Bryan among the dry leaders of our nation. His command of the English language is wonderful and there is never a dull moment while he is on the platform. His message sparkles every minute. Though still required to use a crutch, his vitality is wonderful.

The citizens of Snyder are invited to hear this speaker, who will bring great inspiration to every friend of Temperance. It is expected that an overflowing house will greet him.

PALACE THEATER AT SWEETWATER PRESENTS VITAPHONE

The Palace Theater at Sweetwater will present their first sound picture on Friday March 22. This picture will be "Lucky Boy", George Jessel's great stage success.

Sweetwater is very proud of the $20,000 sound equipment and state that it is the best and latest, being much better than the types installed six months ago. A remarkable group of the very best sound pictures have been booked for the next few weeks. "Lucky Boy" will be followed by "Bellany Triad", "The Doctor's Secret" and "Spieler". "The Jazz Singer," the picture which made sound pictures famous starring Al Jolson, is booked for a four day run, starting April 1.

SNYDER TO HAVE BIG TRADE DAY EACH MONTH

The first Monday in each month has been authorized as "Trade Day" in Snyder and such a day is to be under the auspices of the Scurry County Chamber of Commerce.

An experienced auctioneer will be had and the auction will be absolutely free of charge. The Chamber of Commerce realizes that the farmers have just lots of things that they would like to sell and this will be giving them a chance to bring whatever they want to, into Snyder for free auction.

Don't forget, the first Snyder Trade Day will be Monday, April 1st.

LEAVE FOR NEW YORK CITY

Misses Elaine and Marilu Rosser left this morning for New York City where Miss Elaine will be connected with the Keith Vaudeville Circuit and Miss Marilu will take public school music at the Columbia University.

Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Rosser and daughter, Maurine, accompanied them to Galveston where the Misses Rossers will go by boat to New York City.

CHAUTAUQUA Coming to Snyder

The Chautauqua, under the auspices of Snyder business men, will be in Snyder April 8th to 11th inclusive. This is one of the oldest circuits in existence, have been established in 1904.

The program for the festival will be as follows:

First night, George C. Staples, who sang at the pilgrims for Presidents all over the country reading program.

Second night, Colonel Phillips, "Foundations." The most unique that is going over the West Coast Chautauqua circuit and folks will find them to be a wonderful musical organization.

Third night, lecture by E. Jefferson Gardner on "The Joy Of the Job." Mr. Gardner is one of the veteran Chautauqua lecturers of the country and has seen service on most of the Chautauqua circuits throughout the country. He is a real Irishman and brings you an hour of the minute man.

On the fourth morning there will be a lecture program by the Bob Burns Novelty Band. At night the Hanson players will give a sensational drama, the play, "Smiles Thru."

HAVE HOME COMING

The members of the Presbyterian Church had their annual congregational meeting at the church on last Wednesday evening.

A long table was supplied with a great quantity and variety of food. Those in attendance helped themselves cafeteria style, and found seats at another table where they enjoyed a bounteous repast.

When the meal was finished, C. R. Buchanan as Master of Ceremonies called for reports from the various organizations and working departments of the church. These were quite interesting in that they evidenced an industrious working body, in which were enlisted both young and old.

The report of Mrs. S. T. Elza, as President of the Ladies' Aid Society was staggering, showing as it did in five years time, an accumulation of funds running up into the fourth unit of enumeration, designated as cash, notes and bonds to the credit of their fund. This report might have been mistaken for a bank audit, and when considered as being the savings of twenty determined members of the aid society, it reveals the possibilities that are the outcome of determination and energy. And it was remarked by one speaker that women of the Aid Society had inspired the effort that brought about the active work of building the church, they leading out with a donation of two thousand, two hundred fifty dollars, toward building and equipment.

The ladies desire to express publicly their gratitude for donations and opportunities extended them in their effort to bring into reality their dream of a new church.

Out of town visitors attending the meeting were: Mr. and Mrs. J. A Stallings and Rev. J. W. Parker of Post, and Rev. and Mrs. Jas. H. Tate of Fluvanna.

MRS. FANNIE KELLY BURIED

Funeral services for Mrs. Fannie Kelly were held last Friday at the First Baptist Church with Rev. W. F. Ferguson officiating.

Mrs. Kelly was 62 at the time of her death and is survived by a daughter, Miss Pauline Kelly, teacher in the Polar school and a son, B. F. Kelly of Snyder.

Mrs. Kelly had a claim on the hearts of many people in Snyder and a wave of sympathy goes out to the bereaved ones.

FARM NOTES

(W. O. Logan, County Agent)

The Fat Stock Show was hot this year, that is, the Poultry Department. Agricultural Dep't and Merchants Dep't all burned. If there were any Methodists there they didn't show desire for roast chicken. The livestock didn't was hot for there was plenty competition in all classes.

Scurry County only showed six calves, however they won four or five placings, and about fifty five dollars in premium money. Borden City won second place in junior calves with over one hundred fifty calves showing, and the calf winning first was Champion Club Calf.

Lowell Stoker and J. T. Beavers were in the money with senior calves with about fifty calves showing. Then they won a placing or two in open competition with Club Calves and all steers showing.

The Grand Champion fat steer sold for $3.15 per pound on foot netting the Chicago price for a Grand Champion. The Club Champion steer sold for $1.26 per pound on foot, also beating the past records. Scurry County has quality beef animals, the fellows are willing to pay for the ones that are fitted and winners. If we are going to feed why wait, or why be content with some good ones why not taste of the fruits of the best.

Wanted, ten or fifteen boys that will plan to feed and care for calves with determination to put every pound of flesh possible on two or three calves they can handle and make a complete entry in 1930. We will have to lay plans, and never let up, but it will mean money to every boy that stays with it determined to really finish his calves right. Only about three boys out of every hundred boys can really make feeders against the odds they have to fight, if you are one of the three let your County Agent know at once.

The Dairy Cow is now due some consideration. Scurry County has some old Bull Circles. There has been many good cows and some not so good shipped in. Are we going to dilly dally along and feed boarders, and let our good stock pay upkeep on the poor ones, and feed unprofitable cows high priced feed. What is our Dairy Status?

Saturday Evening at 3:00 o'clock in the County or District Court room every man that milks four or five cows or more should be at the meeting. Don't forget March 23rd 3:00 P. M. you will have a chance to help formulate plans of standardizing, and placing butterfat testing in the County so we can tell what a cow is really worth. We have to progress or we are losing, if Scurry County Dairymen and Farmers want cows of proven quality, something with records to substantiate their statements, now is the time to show your colors. Come, be on time, and bring a neighbor.

When we learn that balancing rations means probably cheaper rations, and more milk and butter per cow it won't sound so complicated. How can we tell if our profits are eaten up by a poor producer of butterfat.

The Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show at Plainview April 2 to 5th is our show. If you contemplate going up there be in the Dairy meeting here Saturday and lets plan that trip also. Why not several cars from here go up and let the fellows there know we are dairy minded. They have a cooperative creamery we can see into, and other things as well as see some real dairy cows.

Will Scurry County have any entries, either Purebreds or Grades. The Grade Department welcomes anyone that has an unusually good cow that isn't registered.

Interscholastic Meet Opens Today

The Scurry County Interscholastic League Meet opens in Snyder today. Champions of the various contests will be selected to represent this section at the district meet.

Mr. E. E. Kerr of Hermleigh is Director General for the occasion. Opening services will begin at 10:00 o'clock in the High School Auditorium. Directors who will be in charge of the meet will be:

Debate, W. C. Hooks, Dunn.
Declamation, Mrs. C. Wedgeworth, Snyder.
Essays, T. J. Bryant, Pyron.
Athletics, J. M. Claunch, Snyder.
Spelling, E. H. McCarter, Fluvanna.
Music, Mrs. Maude Popnoe, Woodard.
Arithmetic, C. S. Harris, Canyon.
3-R Contests, R. I. Greer, Canyon.

Program

10:00 General Assembly.
10:45 Senior spelling, junior spelling, sub-junior spelling preliminary girls debates, drawing for places in the athletic contest for afternoon.
1:30 Extemporaneous speaking, declamation, all divisions; arithmetic and 3-R tennis, etc.
2:30 Essay writing.
10:00 A. M. Saturday morning, preliminary athletic events.
1:30 Finals in arithmetics.
8:00 Medals awarded.

SCURRY COUNTY GINNINGS

According to the final report of the Fuller Cotton Oil Co. for the season, 1928-29, Scurry county ginned 13,455 bales of cotton.

Of this number, Snyder ginned 7,553 bales; Fluvanna, 458; Dunn, 1,113; Ira, 361; Hermleigh, 1,193; Camp Springs, 935; China Grove, 1,123 and Inadale, 959.

Owe Obligations to Commonwealth

Backbone of Community Service Found in Support Merchants Give to Residents

There is a debt you owe to your home town but whatever the bill is, none will be presented to you for payment. If you do not realize the size of it, nobody will try to tell you. You know what the town has done for you, and you should know better than anybody else what you ought to do for the town.

Two questions may serve to bring the issue home to you.

When your wife and children were critically ill, was it the doctor from the city who pulled them through?

You never thought of calling him. Your first thought was of the home town doctor, and he saved the lives of your dear ones.

When you lost your job, who gave you credit and tided you over the winter?

It certainly wasn't the store in the city that advertises "bargains" for the country shopper. The merchant of Snyder stood by you then, as he has for others, and as he will again some time when the emergency arises.

If these things have not happened to you, they have happened to your neighbors, and you know about them. Mere money cannot pay for disinterested service such as the doctor and the merchant render under the circumstances. And these instances are not cited with the idea of weakening a feeling of obligation toward those individuals who render us signal service on extraordinary occasions, but they are brought up rather, with the view of making every man, woman and child realize his partnership in the community and his responsibility in that partnership which means so much to him.

The doctor and the merchant are not the only men toward whom others in the community owe this obligation to maintain the community as a selfsustaining entity. They are simply given as examples of how the proposition works out.

Happiness and contentment bring about a rich social life. You get together with your neighbors during moments of relaxation from your day's toil and enjoy intercourse with them. Clubs and organizations unite you in bonds that hold you together for one purpose or another.

A score of other things might be mentioned, but space forbids. These are the material things that minister to the comfort and well-being of the people. Among them are paved streets, walks, corner lights, police protection and a fire department; electric lighting for the home, water, sewer and similar improvements and conveniences.

The stronger the community spirit the more of these there are. The taxes you pay settles the bills for the things already acquired; the weight of your cooperation with the progressive leaders assures other improvements in the future. Be a home-town man all along the line—patronize home-town merchants exclusively.

COMMISSIONERS COURT AND LANDOWNERS MEET

A meeting of the commisioners court of Scurry County and landowners along the route of Highway 7, was held Monday. The contract for surfacing about nine miles of the highway in this county, will be tied up for at least ninety days, pending differences between the court and the state highway commission.

The nine mile stretch is in the southeastern portion of the county, extending to the Nolan county line, and is ready for surfacing, grade and base already having been laid. Horace Holly, county judge, told the landowners that the highway commission had proposed a change in the route, shortening it to save 4,800 feet in the nine miles, which would require new construction at a cost of $36,000.

"The Commissioners court feels that the proposed change is not worth the sum required," said Judge Holley "We have informed the commission that we stand ready to secure 100-foot right-of way along the present route and to pay our one-third of the cost of construction. If the new route as suggested by the highway department should be built, great hardship would be placed on many farmers."

W. A. Hallman, J. W. Hess, W. M. Hess, J. D. Hallman, W. A. Carmack, Z. Pavlas, R. A. Walders and John Wempkin represented the nineteen landowners that the new route would affect, before the commissioners court. After discussion with the committee, the court wired the highway department of its inability to get right of way.

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE MARRY

Mr. Noel Banks and Miss Zelphia Webb were married Tuesday afternoon at the Methodist Parsonage, Rev. G. S. Hardy performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Banks is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Webb who live south of Snyder. Mr. Banks is the son of Mrs. Mary E. Waskom.

CONGRESSMAN UPSHAW AS A HUMORIST

Congressman Upshaw, who speaks in our city tonight at the First Baptist Church, while usually taken seriously by his audience is nevertheless brimming full of rich anecdotes bubbling with humor and fun, and he knows how to tell these stories as well as any man in America.

Dr. Len G. Broughton, himself an internationally known preacher, is quoted in the following statement: "Called upon right at the last of the Wake Forest College banquet in Richmond, I heard Will D. Upshaw fairly walk off yith the crowd in the most captivating, masterly banquet speech I ever heard. I believe in my soul he is the best after-dinner speaker in America."

The story of Mr. Upshaw's handicap, through an accident early in life, and his come-back to a man of prominence and achievement, reads like a fairy tale. Collier's weekly, referring to this, said: "Upshaw is the most amazing man in Congress. He is an

By Reporter

On last Friday evening the patrons of Snelling School were entertained with a negro minstrel. The minstrel was given by the members of the Snelling Literary Society. This society, which was organized about six weeks ago renders a program free to all, every two weeks.

If our plans are not hindered in some way, the members of the Literary Society will stage "A Study in Tangles." Everyone has a cordial invitation to attend. it.

We are planning to take off several of the medals at Gail next Friday and Saturday, where the Annual Borden County track meet will be held. All patrons are urged to encourage our entries by their presence.

COMMENTS On Art Exhibit

The following short stories on the "Art Exhibit" were written by four members of the High 4th Grade. Mrs J. Y. Lemley is Teacher of this Class.

The stories are not only interesting but also express the children's appreciation for having the opportunity of seeing the Art Exhibit.

The Pot Of Basil

Our room has been to the Art Exhibit that the Parent Teachers' Assiciation brought here for us. We appreciate their efforts to help us.

Among all of these pictures, I liked the "Pot of Basil" best. This picture was painted by John W. Alexander. He was an American painter.

The girl appealed to me most. Her name was Isabelle. She wanted to marry a boy named Lorenzo but her mother and father wanted her to marry a rich nobleman. Isabelle did not love the rich man. One day Isabelle's brothers told her that they had him working for them and he went on a long journey. Isabelle loved Lorenzo so much that she waited for his return. One night Lorenzo came to her in a dream and told her to go to a certain place in the forest. Isabelle and her nurse went to the forest and hunted for the lover but they found Lorenzo's body buried there. Isabelle got his head, put it in a pot and kept fresh flowers by it every day. When her father found out what she had done, he got the pot and head and hid them where she could not find them. Before long Isabelle died of grief.

October

I have just been to the "Art Exhibit" and saw many beautiful pictures drawn by very many artists..

The one that appealed to me most was "October" by Halsbad.

It was about a house in the forest and pretty flowers blooming all around the house and trees. I got much help and happiness out of going. There were many beautiful pictures of very pretty things.

I thank the Parent Teachers' Association for bringing it here for the benefit of the school.

The Dance Of The Nymphs

I have just been to the Art Exhibit. I like the "Dance of the Nymphs" better than any other picture. I like the way it is painted. The colors blend beautifully.

The nymphs seem to be having a good time dancing around. They have on different colors such as blue, red, brown and white. The colors do not jump out at you. I enjoyed my trip to the Art Exhibit. It helps me in my school work and in coloring pictures or maps.

I thank the Parent-Teachers' Association for bringing the Art Exhibit here to help the school children.

Lind Clifton,
High 4th Grade

The Little Old Man Of The Woods

I like this picture because the little old man is trying to paint the frog and it won't be still. I saw the grasshopper on the water laughing.

The water was pretty and the trees were pretty too. The little old man is an elf, I think. He is laughing too. He looks like he is happy and gay and likes to play around with the birds and beasts.

I thank the Parent-Teachers' Association for bringing it to Snyder, Texas for the children and teachers of the schools. I surely did enjoy the pictures and I hope everybody else did too.

BIRDS FOUGHT FOR RIGHT OF PROPERTY

Yellowstone park ravens and magpies evidently never heard of Elisha; at any rate they certainly have no fear of bears.

Ranger Thad Pound was making his rounds a short time ago, when he noticed a great commotion among a flock of ravens and magpies. Upon investigation he found that the center of the disturbance was a very much distressed she bear with a pair of cubs which were receiving the mauling of their lives from the birds' beaks. The cubs were rolled over on their backs, trying to defend themselves with their paws, while the mother was hard put to it to shield her lustily offsprings.

The occasion of the battle was the carcass of a winter-killed elk, on which the birds had evidently been feasting. Interrupted by the bears, they had resented the intrusion and turned to do battle with the uninvited guests.—Kansas City Star's Science Service.

EQUIPPED FOR THAT BRANCH OF SERVICE

After a six weeks' intensive campaign, Richard Barthelmess and his fellow-players in "The Patent Leather Kid" company were honorably discharged from the United States army at Camp Lewis, Washington.

While at Camp Lewis some of the finest battle scenes were screened. More than 3,000 United States regulars and 600 civilians participated in the war spectacle, which is featured by the 50 hugh United States tanks.

During the shooting an extra came up to Richard and announced he'd like to enlist in the tanks.

"Why so keen about the tanks?" asked Dick.

"Oh," replied the applicant modestly, "I'm a pretty good swimmer."—Film Fun.

Gets Shaved on Porch

By RING LARDNER

To the Editor:

I hope you boy and girl readers won't be bored on acct. of me writing the evepts on Long's Island every little wile but really things do happen here that I don't believe tiley happen nowheres else. Like for inst. the other evening I was setting at home working like a dog though I never yet seen a dog that done any real work, but any ways a prominent citizen who his name I won't mention, but he was a delegates at large to a convention of paper hangers and he called up and says I am coming over to see you and bring 2 friends. So I says please don't come right now as I am working and besides which I ain't neither dressed or shaved. But he says we will be right over, so what was they left to do only for me for to get dressed as soon as possible and did not have time to shave.

Well they come over and I met them on the porch and served them a couple of ice cold drinks of one kind another and one of his friends was a gal and the other was a man and he introduced me to the gal but did not say nothing about the man. So we set down a wile and to make conversation I says well if I had of knew that I was going to have company I would of shaven myself.

Where as the stranger to who I had not been introduced says wait a minute and leapt up and went out to the prominent citizen's car and brought in his satchel which contained a full barber's kit and he come in and stropped his razor and asked me where I kept the hot water and I says we live in a kind of out of the way place and don't have no hot water so he says all right I will shave you with ice water. So he shaved me there on the porch and the passers by was certainly astounded and said what a swell guy that must be to have a barber come and shave him on his own porch. Afterwards it developed that this party to who I had not been introduced was the prominent citizen's personal barber and the reason he had not introduced me to him was because he did not know his name.

Well either that night or the next night they was some company come in and one of them was Jules Schwob who is Florence Moore's husband and somebody suggested a game of bridge and as bad luck would have it I got Mr. Schwob for a partner and the dealer dealt and passed and it was my bid and I bidded 2 spades and the lady on my left passed and my partner doubled.

As far as I was concerned that was a brand new convention and for a minute I was mystified. But the others did not seem to think nothing much about it so I redoubled and they left me in and I made 2 spades which was doubled and redoubled by my partner and I so we made a whole lot more than if we had just played it plain 2 spades. You learn every day.

Well the bridge game finely broke up in a terrible row and we decided to play charades at whom I am a master. The idear was to give the names of prominent people in Great Neck of who they are a great many and I won't tell what other charades people give because they were not so good but will give you one of my own.

I says this is the name of a prominent actress who has been both on the stage and on the screen and always wears pretty clothes. Her name is in 5 syllables. The first syllable is the 12 letter in the alphabet and is a consonant. The second syllable was to visualize. The third syllable was the past tense of the preposition for. The fourth syllable was a German and the fifth syllable was his boy.

After several hours they all give up. The answer was Elsie Fergason. Virtually everybody laughed except Frank Craven.

Well one day we went over to the finals of a gals' tennis matches which they held them at Forest Hills and if you can find any forest or any hills you are a better man than I am Emile Cone but any ways that is what they call it and the finals was between a very young gal from El Paso and another not so young gal from Natchey and the El Paso gal kind of romped in so I made the remark that youth will be served and her whom I laughingly call my wife said yes but it is even worse when she is doing the serving herself. Girls will be girls.

That is about all the news that has happened on Long's Island since I seen you last and I hope you ain't bored with it but if so will give you the promise that you won't hear nothing more about it for a wk. at the outside.

"TEARS" IN GOLD GLASSES NOT SHED BY WEEPERS

One of the things greately demanded by antique hunters in Europe are "tear glasses" These are, says Pathfinder Magazine, little glasses in the slender stem of which is imprisoned as so-called tear. It looks very touching, but is it deceiving.. The "tear" never came from a sorrowing eye. It is merely a flaw in the glass—accidental at firsa and skillfully intended later. But the name itself with the age of the article, is enough to make it sought after.

Like the tear glasses of modern Europe were famous "tear vases", or lacrymatories, of the ancient Greeks and Romans. They are small vessels of Glass or terra cotta, frequently found in tombs and in which the mourners were supposed to have dropped their tears. It has been decided, however, that they were used to contain unguents—something regularly and generously used at ancient funerals.

SOCIETY

MRS. A. H. SAMS JR. HONOREE

Mesdames C. H. Cooper and Fritz R. Smith entertained with a bridge luncheon Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Smith, complimenting Mrs. A. H. Sams Jr., a recent bride who will leave this week end for Pecos where she will join her husband.

Bridge was enjoyed by the guests, high score being won by Mrs. Jack Harris and low score prize went to Mrs. A. J. Towle.

A lovely three course luncheon was served at tables which were centered with bowls of violets. Miniature suitcases and week end bags were given to each guest and they were told to board the R. S. & P. Train and accompany Mrs. Sams to her new home. The train proved to be two rows of chairs placed the length of the entertaining rooms. One end of the observation car was reserved for the honoree and her luggage. Someone's curiousity was aroused and desired to know what Mrs. Sams had in her week end bags. Gwendolyn opened her bags and there, found many beautiful gifts from Mesdames: Cullen Higgins, A. C. Pruett, Joe Caton, J. C. Stinson, Rosa Lee McGlaun, T. L. Lollar, Henry Rosenberg, Amos Joyce, Ruby Brownfield, W. W. Lechner, George Oldham, Tom Gates, David A. Ritzenthaler, Garrett Harrell, George Webb, Ivan Dodson, Tate Lockhart, E. J. Anderson, O. P. MRS. O. P. THRANE IS HOSTESS TO ALTRURIANS

The Altrurian Club met at the home of Mrs. O. P. Thrane last Friday afternoon.

Plans for the coming Federation Meet were discussed during the business session and Mr. C. R. Buchanan conducted a better English drill.

Delicious two-course refreshments were served to sixteen members.

CLUB IS ENTERTAINED

Mrs. O. P. Thrane entertained the Sine Cure Bridge Club Tuesday afternoon at her home. A color scheme of pink and green was carried out in the table appointments and favors. The beauty of the home was enchanced by lovely gladiolas and pot plants.

Bridge was played, Mrs. A. J. Towle winning high score prize and Mrs. A. D. Erwin second high score.

Delicious refreshments were served to the following who were present for the delightful occasion: Mesdames J. M. Harris, A. J. Towle, Albert Norred, A. D. Erwin, W. B. Lee, H. G. Towle, Wayne Boren, Dixie Smith, Fritz R. Smith, W. R. Johnson, E. J. Anderson, Ernest Taylor, W. W. Wilsford, W. W. Lecher and Miss Cecile Strayhorn.

THERE'S A DIFFERENCE

A young fellow who never has been known to go out of his way to take an airplane ride was told the other day that he was included in a "get off the earth" party to go up one afternoon with a visiting pilot at the Mars Hill airport.

"Well I can't say that you seem particularly overwhelmed by the invitation," one of his companions remarked.

"Overwhelmed, yes," answered the young fellow, "but I don't think it is anything to get up in the air about."—Indianapolis News.

HER RECIPE

Some friends were kidding Blanche Mshaffey about her brief marriage, which is almost a record in Los Angeles courts.

"But," said one sweet young thing coming to Blanche's defense, "you can talk all you want, but I don't see what protection anyone has against love at first sight!"

"I can answer that!" cut in Blanche "Love at first sight can generally be cured by taking a second good look."—Los Angeles Times.

FOUND HER PET WAS WILD

A big black bear, roaming down from the mountains insearch of plunder, was fed by a Capilano (British Columbia) woman, who thought he was tame. Milk and honey she gave the black fellow who appeared at her doorstep, thinking him the pet of Charles Anderson, a forest ranger. For several days the bear appeared and was fed. At last the kind woman asked Mr. Anderson why he didn't feed the bear and the mistake was discovered.

WORK FOR ARMENIAN WOMEN

Armenian women who fled to Marseilles with their husbands during the Greco-Turkish war of 1922-23, have founded a rug weaving industry. The men were able to find work in mines, factories and on farms, but the women were less fortunate. Local capital was interested in rug weaving and the women workers now produce more than 6,000 square meters of oriental rugs yearly in eight plants.

PREDATORY BIRD SHOT

A great American osprey, habitant of the sea and sometimes called the "ocean-fish hawk," was brought down near Lancaster, Ohio, recently. The big bird, the only one ever seen in Ohio and one of the very few in the United States, was shot by William Loving, who saw it in the act of carrying away a lamb. The bird measured 6 feet between wing tips.

JUBLE UNIFORM FOR HIM

Tailors at the Los Angeles county jail faced a new problem when Perry Wolfe, seventeen years of age, was booked on a charge of vagrancy. When they began fitting the youth in the official prison uniform it was found necessary to piece two uniforms together to cover the frame of the prisoner, whose height is 7 feet 3 inches.

FARMERS' CO-OPERATIVES

There are now at least 10,800 farmers' co-operative associations in the UnitedStates, with a membership of over 2,000,000 farmers, doing a business amounting to $2,460,000,000 annually. In 1915 there were only 5,424 associations engaged in buying farm supplies and selling farm products.
