Wheeler Calls For Immediate Peace

Angry Londoners Demand Revenge For Nazi Air Attack

Cries Of "Give It Back To Them!" Heard

Capital Suffers Severe Assault From Germans

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Dec. 30.—The full power of London's fire fighters and anti-aircraft gunners was mobilized tonight to combat any renewal of the Nazi fire assault of last night which left the capital's ancient "city" a mass of flame-seared ruins and Britons defiantly crying:

"Give it back to them; we can take what we had and much more."

But even as they waited, the usual hour at which night air raids on London have begun for months came and went without an alert from the city's hundreds of sirens.

Bad Weather Blamed

As the night went on without air raiders being reported in any part of the United Kingdom, the theory was advanced that bad weather was responsible for the respite.

Out of the very heart of the capital blasted by the heaviest fire raid of the war rose the demand for reprisals.

The words were shouted by grimy rescue and demolition squads to Prime Minister Winston Churchill who visited for two hours the wreckage of the "city," London's normally busy "Wall Street" section, where scarcely a street was unmarked by fire or undamaged by high explosive bombs.

She Is Answered

As he left one deep underground shelter, a woman ran forward and asked:

"When will the war be over?"

Churchill replied, amid cheers:

"When we have beaten them."

Scores of landmarks in the business district stretching eastward to the Strand were damaged or destroyed in the fiery assault, described by the British government as "a deliberate attempt" to burn out the hub of Britain's empire.

The five-story Associated Press building, at the corner of Tudor and Dorset streets near the Thames, was reduced to a fire-blackened shell. The building, twice before damaged, was hit last night by three incendiaries.

Many Buildings Hit

Guildhall, scene of colorful ceremonials from time immemorial; the church of St. Lawrence Jewry in Guildhall courtyard, which Sir Christopher Wren built and where Dick Whittington worshipped, and Memorial house, where Dr. Samuel Johnson compiled his dictionary of the English language, were among the places damaged or destroyed.

Memorial house, in Gough square off Fleet street, was burned out but the first edition of Johnson's dictionary was saved.

Dynamite and tons of water pumped from the Thames conquered the mighty conflagration which swept the city of London with the intensity of the great fire

IN BEAU BRUMMEL—How about it, girls? Recognize that smiling face? Yes, ma'am, it's none other than movie star Richard Greene. That tank is no stage set, either. The young English actor returned to Britain at war's start and is now serving in the Royal Armored Corps.

Address Of FDR Is Hailed As Blow At Axis

Dictators Reserve Opinions Of Talk By President

(By The Associated Press)

THE LINE was sharply drawn yesterday between two receptions abroad for President Roosevelt's Sunday night call for more aid for Britain.

Among Britain's enemies, the reaction was reserved or critical.

In Britain and in nations both of the old and new world where the president's stand is approved the reaction generally was enthusiastically favorable.

British Comment

The response ranged from a Latin American newspaper's cry of "valiant!" to Italian Editor Virginio Gayda's assertion that the president is a "man of undeclared war fought against the Axis."

Here, briefly, is how some of the nations viewed it:

BRITAIN:

A spokesman called it "one of the most powerful, logical indictments ever spoken" and official circles saw in it "further proof of the courage and realism" of the United States' attitude toward the European war.

Britain faces her tasks now "with new defiance and faith," said the Evening Standard, published by Lord Beaverbrook, minister of aircraft production.

GERMANY:

Amid strict official silence, Nazi reaction could only be guessed—that the speech was regarded as of vital importance but, for the present, Germany will stick to her policy of not being provoked into hasty action concerning the United States.

Adolf Hitler has a translation of the text, and, it is believed, when he is ready to break his silence Germany's attitude will be known, but not before then.

ITALY:

Rome, too, was silent officially in an atmosphere of watchful waiting but Virginio Gayda, semi-official editor of Il Giornale d'Italia, warned that the Axis powers' "tolerance" has limits. Meanwhile he said, they are waiting "for events to take shape." The Fascist press had told its readers in advance that an important current of United States opinion "manifests considerable reluctance to be involved in war."

GREECE:

The Greek press carried long accounts of the president's speech and the gist of them was that Italy had suffered a severe blow, said the newspaper Estia. "Covert hopes of naive Italians and their idea that their threat could restrain or terrorize President Roosevelt" have been frustrated.

FRANCE:

Government circles in Vichy were surprised and sympathetic informed sources said, but the government was forced to maintain reserve because of unoccupied France's situ-

More Hungarians Called To Colors

Move Interpreted As Nazi Preparation For Any Trouble In Balkan Nations

(By The Associated Press)

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 30.—With Germany pouring soldiers into Rumania at top speed, Hungary called more men to her army today in what some circles viewed as another phase of the vast Nazi preparations for war or any other outbreak in the Balkans.

Simultaneously, reports from Sofia, Bulgaria, said German troops were deploying along the Russian border in the northern Dobruja section of Rumania near the disputed Danube river mouth, as well as opposite the Bulgarian shores of the ice-filled Danube river near Girugi.

Danube Is Mined

The Sofia reports also said the mouth of the Danube, control of which Russia has demanded, had been mined by the Germans, who supervise the river outlet through their domination of Rumania.

Thousands of Hungarian men of military age were handed mobilization cards last night and today. This additional call-up coincided with reports of fresh Russian military activity on highways running from Lwow (Lemberg) in Russian Poland to the Slovak frontier. General Hungarian mobilization was expected by Jan. 15.

Cooperative Step

The call-up was considered in Budapest political circles as a step in cooperation with the German military machine to protect the German Balkan flank in the event Russia showed an inclination to intervene in the turbulent southeastern European situation.

Reports from heavily-censored Rumania gave further support to the view that the Nazis were preparing Balkan armies for double duty.

Bucharest was ordered to hold air raid warning drills two hours each morning. Other reports said there was a serious oil shortage in the Nazi-occupied country which is rich in petroleum fields.

Bulgarian dispatches declared German troops streaming into Rumania were concentrating principally in the oil district north and west of Bucharest.

Reports of sabotage in Rumanian oil fields reached Sofia.

U.S. Is Said To Have Refused To Negotiate Peace

No Foreign War Committee Head Makes Charge

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Verne Marshall, chairman of the No Foreign War committee, said today tha the administration had rebuffed a Nazi offer to negotiate an "honorable and just" peace with the Allies through President Roosevelt in 1939, but the state department promptly announced that it had received no "feasible" peace proposal.

Marshall told a press conference that W. R. Davis, New York oil operator who, he said, had sold expropriated Mexican oil to the Axis powers before the war, brought the peace offer to this country in a document initialed by Hermann Goering and other high Nazis a month after the war started.

Still Could Arrange It

Many obstacles were placed in the way of Davis' mission, Marshall asserted, and it proved fruitless on account of official indifference here. But he maintained that even now Davis would be able to arrange for a peace conference if given official sanction.

The state department immediately issued a statement saying that "naturally individual citizens often volunteer to the state department information and suggestions pertaining to some phase of international affairs" and that "these are always courteously received."

"Nothing, however, has come to the state department on the subject mentioned which has proved feasible," the statement added.

Believed Sound

Furthermore, the government can only conduct important international affairs effectively through duly authorized and official channels created for the purpose."

Marshall was asked by reporters whether he thought it made any difference to the United States which side won the war. He replied that the people want the war won by the side which can dictate a sound economic peace to eliminate future conflict. Asked whether the

Solon Replies To FDR With 8-Point Plan To End War

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Asserting that the idea of a Nazi invasion of America was "fantastic," Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) tonight answered President Roosevelt's plea for greater aid to England with a call for immediate peace in Europe before, he said, America becomes involved in "the insanity" of war.

As a "working basis for a just peace," he suggested eight points:

(1) Autonomous Poland and Czecho-Slovakia.

(2) Restoration of an independent France, Holland, Norway, Belgium and Denmark.

(3) Restoration of Alsace-Lorraine to France.

(4) Restoration of German colonies.

(5) Protection of all racial and religious minorities in all countries.

Reply To Roosevelt

(6) Internationalization of the Suez canal.

(7) No indemnities or reparations.

(8) Arms limitation.

The Montana senator, long one of the Senate's most severe critics of the Roosevelt foreign policy, made his remark in a speech prepared for delivery from station WMAL, in the National Radio forum of the Washington Evening Star. His address had been repeatedly referred to by his associates during the day as a reply to the talk Mr. Roosevelt made last night urging all possible assistance to England to keep the Axis powers from attacking America.

Fleet Not Available

"Our independence can only be lost or compromised," Wheeler said, if Germany invades the western hemisphere north of the equator. This would be fantastic—as it would require the transportation of at least two million men—with planes, tanks and equipment—in one convoy across the Atlantic. This would require two or three thousand transports plus a fleet larger than our navy—plus thousands of fighter-escorted bombers. Such a fleet cannot possibly be available.

"Remember — Hitler has already been seven months in vainly trying to cross twenty miles. If Hitler's army can't cross the narrow English channel in seven months his bombers won't fly across the Rockies to Deliver tomorrow."

Lothian Is Quoted

Where Mr. Roosevelt had spoken of a peace negotiated on a basis of the present war situation as one meaning Nazi domination of the other countries affected, Wheeler said that "the offer of a just, reasonable and generous peace will more quickly and effectively crumble Hitlerism and break the morale of the German people than all the bombers that could be dispatched over Berlin."

Hitlerism, he said, can "be destroyed and banished from Europe only by destroying that which caused or maintains Nazism." He went on to quote Lord Lothian, the late British

Department Of Interior Asked To Join Oilmen

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 30.—The Interstate Oil compact — outspoken foe of federal regulation of the petroleum industry—invited the U. S. Department of Interior today to take part in future compact deliberations.

But even before the resolution was adopted Gov. Leon C. Phillips, compact chairman and advocate of states rights, took exception to the annual report of Secretary of Interior Ickes, who suggested some form of federal regulation of oil production as a defense measure.

Experience Embodied

Everybody knows, said Phillips, that he wants to play with regulation of oil. But we're working at it, and we're taking care of it."

As one indication of the states' ability to prevent oil waste, Phillips pointed to a model conservation law which was drafted by a sub-committee and approved at today's special meeting.

A resolution urging oil states to use the law as a guide asserted that it "embodies the best cumulative experience in conservation."

Observers Attend

Phillips said a number of oil states which have no conservation law were awaiting copies of the proposed bill. Illinois, a comparatively newcomer among the oil states, sent two observers to the meeting. Illinois has no conservation statutes.

The compact invited the department of interior to send "advisors and counsellors" to attend both

Man Who Robbed Oklahoma Bank With Toy Pistol Is Captured By Two Stockmen

WYANDOTTE, Okla., Dec. 30.—A 33-year-old man who captured without resistance by two stockmen near here late today after he used a toy pistol to rob the bank of Wyandotte of $800.

Deputy Sheriff Horace Rider said that all the money was recovered.

A. A. Thompson, bank president related that he was sitting at a desk near the front of the bank as the man entered.

Suspect Got Out

"He pointed a pistol at me and told me to open the safe," said Thompson. Mrs. Vida Wilcox, the cashier, and two customers were in the bank.

"I opened the safe and took out a box of currency. Then he went into the street and walked into a truck driven by L. M. Bliss of Miami.

Several men were standing on a street corner and I called to them and told them what had happened.

Thompson said the truck driver later reported that a mile from town the road was blocked by repairs and that the man got out.

Held At Miami

Ben Ealy and Frank Garman, stockmen met the truck driver en route back to town and they reported they found the man in the brush near a farmhouse. He offered no resistance.

Deputy Sheriff Rider said the toy pistol was taken from a hardware store next door to the bank.

Thompson said the gun looked "real" to him until after he had opened the safe.

"I was closer to him then and I thought that it might be a toy gun but I didn't feel there was any use in taking a chance," said Thompson.

Rider said the man was held in county jail at Miami.

None Qualify For Lashings

DALLAS, Dec. 30. (AP)—Compton, Dallas millionaire, said today he had received scores of telegrams and other messages commending him for his Saturday offer of $200 to each prison official in States who would take a lashing as was administered to Texas convicts.

But he was disappointed in a way.

Manager Answers

Several persons who qualified for the award inquired about the proposal, he lamented. They were interested in making money, but didn't want to be whipped to get it."

Compton presented his $200-per-lashing plan as a protest against corporal punishment of convicts.

Meanwhile, O. J. S. Ellingson, of Huntsville, general manager of the Texas prison system, replied to Compton's offer today with a statement saying the state's prison system is being "run under rules adopted by the prison board which conform to rules passed by the state legislature."

Texas regulations provide that under the supervision of the prison doctor, convicts may be given up to 2 blows while stretched naked on a

Whispering In School Favored By Teacher

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—Boys and girls who whisper in school have a champion in Conrad W. Freed of the West Texas State Teachers college, who does not believe that "silence is golden" even in the elementary classroom.

Speaking at the 25th annual convention of the National Association of Teachers of Speech, he said:

"Under a rigid system emphasizing silent techniques a student has no chance to socialize. He tends to become a introvert. He gets out of school, finds himself inarticulate and to overcome a bad habit learned in school he joins luncheon clubs, he tries to learn what he could have learned in his schoolroom—how to win friends and influence people. If our schools had been doing their job properly Dale Carnegie could never have made a fortune."

Fresh Italians Thrown Back

By The Associated Press

ATHENS, Dec. 30.—Wild Greek troops reported throwing back fresh Italian counter-attacks in several Albanian sectors. King George II of Greece tonight lauded the achievements of his army which has driven the Italians from Greek soil and expressed confidence that the new year would bring further successes.

Our struggle will be hard, he said in a message to the Greek people, but our reserves of morale are inexhaustible. We are a people who are determined to live free or die. Nations have a feeling of honor and human right so deeply rooted in their souls that Italian troops in Albania took to the air today but the Greek high command announced that the experiment collapsed when the Fascists kicked off their runners and scattered.

Scene Not Disclosed

The scene of the action was not disclosed, but it was one of a series of local engagements in which the Greeks said they took more than 1,000 prisoners, including an entire battalion and its officers, and added to their store of captured Italian guns and supplies.

The Italians were struggling afresh—and vainly, the Greeks said—to win back some of the Albanian soil they have lost.

Protest Against Film Rejected In Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 30. (AP)—The ministry of foreign relations has rejected an official German protest against the showing here of Charlie Chaplain's anti-Axis film "The Dictator," it was learned authoritatively tonight.

The protest had been filed earlier with the foreign office by German Minister Rudt von Collemberg, who objected to the picture's characterization of the Nazi regime. No Italian protest was made.

The ministry, it was learned, decided to authorize exhibition of "The Dictator" after the Mexican board of censors viewed the film at a special showing and recommended it be approved as legitimate entertainment.

Church Federation Holds Open House At Community Center Monday

The Woman's Angle
by Margaret Turner

TODAY, which ends in New Year's Eve, we hope you toot your horn and wish "Happy New Year" as wholeheartedly and as long as you like.

"The year is dying with the night. The year is dying—let it die."

ANCIENT CUSTOMS

WE LIKE to sit up on New Year's Eve and listen for the chimes that "ring out the old, ring in the new." This custom of ringing bells on New Year's Eve originated in England long ago. Muffled bells were rung just before 12 o'clock and at that time the wrappings were removed and the bells were permitted to ring loudly.

The ringing of a bell has been, from the very earliest times, a method of announcing death. Thus the ringing of bells on New Year's Eve is apparently intended to announce the death of the old year.

During the early periods of Christianity it was the custom of neighbors to call upon one another at New's Day. It became custom on everyone else we met how anybody found anybody at home.

The Romans who settled in Britain introduced to their neighbors the custom of making gifts on New Year's Day. I became the custom among the early English to clean the chimney on this day so that luck would descend and remain all year. Instead of "cleaning the chimney" we "clean the slate" and also make resolutions for the following year.

ON GIVING GIFTS

BECAUSE Christmas has come to be a gift making time for so many, New Year's gifts are not popular in modern times. We do welcome well wishes on that day. For a long time gloves were considered most appropriate New Year's gifts. Probably like the inevitable box of candy, it became the trite gift when one was unable to think of anything else.

Calendars are peculiarly appropriate because a new calendar is needed at the beginning of a new year. The book, too, has become a popular gift.

GOOD SUPERSTITIONS

NEW YEAR'S superstitions include the eating of peas, which are supposed to bring you good luck for a whole year. Here's a salad, suggested by Mrs. Theard Dockray several years ago, which is not only appetizing but which also will bring you riches if you eat it on the first day of the new year. It is supposed to be made for at least five hours before it is served.

Four red beets, 4 boiled potatoes, 1 onion (chopped fine), 2 apples, 2 hard cooked eggs, 2 dill pickles, cold meat, celery. Mix, moisten with homemade French dressing.

ON BUYING HOSE

YOU'LL start off on the right foot if when you buy hose if you check the label for the gauge number of full-fashioned hose.

Gauge is a measure of the fineness of knitting. For instance, high gauge hose, 60, 51 and 54 gauge or over, are finer looking and better wearing in sheer weights than others of the same thread but lower gauge.

Low gauge hose—39 and 42 gauge are durable in service weights but quick to snag in sheer and semi-service weights.

Duties Taken By New Officers

A very successful year's work was completed Monday afternoon and duties turned over to new officers at a meeting of the Lubbock Church Women's federation in the recently completed recreational and thrift rooms at the Community Center in northeast Lubbock.

Mrs. A. W. Evans, outgoing president, gave her report which included history of the organization, work done and the history of the building which is now the Community Center. Other officers gave reports.

Goal Is Reached

For several years the recreational and religious committees worked in the women's building at the Panhandle-South Plains Fair grounds. In the fall they had to move out to make room for the annual fair. This handicapped them because their most important work was done in the fall. For the past two years they have met at the Congregational Methodist church. However, the building was too small for recreational work. They bought three lots with the help of donations and also purchased the Broadway hotel. Remodeling was done and the building, which is in the northeast part of town, represents a combination of the work done this year and goal the federation set.

Plans for completion include a room for boys clubs, a room for girls clubs and sewing equipment, a kitchen and a chapel.

Social Held

New officers are president, Mrs. R. A. Mills; vice-president, Mrs. John Broome; secretary, Mrs. S. T. Hodges; treasurer, Mrs. D. M. Davis; program chairman, Mrs. Elliott Taylor; program committee members, Mesdames Robert Allen, Ray C. Mowery, M. C. Overton and W. L. Stangel; literature chairman, Mrs. Mark Allen; hospitalization chairman, Mrs. Tom Foster; social service and linen loan chest, Mrs. W. T. Milam.

Approximately 350 women called during the afternoon. Mrs. Evans was hostess at a social hour and punch was served.

Several children under the direction of Mrs. Paul Laverty and Mrs. H. E. Blocker sang songs. Rev. H. G. Ganta led in prayer.

The next meeting will be March 31, 1941 at the First Christian church with the St. John's Methodist Women's society of Christian Service as co-hostesses. A musical program will be given and past presidents of the federation will be honored.

New 'Skill' Chemical Found By New Mexico University Professor

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 30. (AP) — One of the strangest facts of life yet discovered by science, a common chemical which when injected into the brain, of an animal gives him skill of legs without any practice, was reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science today.

This "skill" chemical is acetylcholine, which has been mentioned by chemists as a possible war gas, and which appears in minute quantities in muscles whenever they move.

Dr. George M. Patterson, University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, told the results of injecting a little acetylcholine into the brains of rats.

The acetycholine injection was a complete substitute for practice. Dr. Patterson placed the chemical in the half of the brain governing the paw which he wanted to become skillful. The paw responded almost immediately.

Single-handed rats so treated became ambidexterous.

Gas Well Blows Wild In Hawkins Oil Area

HAWKINS, Dec. 30. (UP)—A wild gas well which blew out was turned over today to McKinley brothers of Houston, an organization known throughout the world for ability to control gas wells and extinguish oil fires.

There was no fire at the well—the Bobby Manziel No. 1 Lee Bell lease—but gas pressure was increasing steadily after 1700 sacks of mud had been forced into the well hole by two pumper trucks.

Representatives of the McKinley brothers said they planned to try lowering mose drill stem into the hole and mudding again nearer the 4,360 foot bottom.

There were 2,200 feet of drill stem and rock hit in the hole when gas pressure blew it out Sunday. Gas and water now is coming through a blowout preventer.

In a statement characterizing Ford as "the most notorious and consistent violator of the Wagner act," Thomas charged that Ford Motor company "pays the lowest wage in the automobile industry" despite its claims in newspaper advertisements of high wage scales.

Watch Family Now While Epidemic Colds Are Spreading

At a treacherous time like this, with an epidemic of contagious colds all around you, what you do today may save you and your family a lot of sickness, worry and trouble later.

Follow these simple rules of health: Live normally. Avoid excesses. Eat simple food. Drink plenty of water. Keep elimination regular. Take some exercise daily—preferably outdoors. Get plenty of rest and sleep.

Then use these ten time-tested treatments when needed.

AT THE FIRST SNIFFLE, SNEEZE OR NASAL IRRITATION ... put a few drops of Vicks Va-tro-nol up each nostril. This helps to prevent many colds from developing, because Va-tro-nol is especially designed to help Nature's own defenses against colds. (If a head cold causes stuffiness, you'll find that a few drops of Va-tro-nol helps clear the clogging mucus and makes breathing freer and easier.)

IF A SORE THAT OR CHOKING, COLD IRRITATION (some colds get by all precautions) use Vicks VapoRub to relieve misery. Rub VapoRub on throat, chest and back and cover with a warmed cloth. VapoRub acts to bring relief 2 ways at once. It stimulates surface of chest and back like a poultice. At the same time it releases helpful medicinal vapors that are breathed direct into the irritated air passages.

Both Va-tro-nol and VapoRub have been tested through years of use in millions of homes. When you use these two medicines you are not experimenting, you are not taking useless chances. Remember: If the condition of the cold fails to respond quickly to treatment—or if more serious trouble is indicated—call your family physician right away. In the meantime be prepared! Get a bottle of Vicks Va-tro-nol and a jar of Vicks VapoRub today—have them handy, ready to use.

Texas May Quit Using The 'Bat'

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Dec. 30 — Dr. Sidney M. Lister, chairman of the Texas Prison board, said today he would seek to eliminate the whipping "bat" from the prison system for at least two years when new members of the board are named within a few weeks.

Dr. Lister described as "cheap publicity" the offer by C. V. Compton, wealthy Dallas man, to pay $200 each to officials of six states which still use whipping as a form of convict discipline, if they themselves would take a lashing with the bat—a heavy leather strap fixed to a wooden handle.

Suggests Other Forms

"I have believed for years that the bat is a vicious form of punishment," Dr. Lister said. "Most states have done away with prison floggings. I am sure if we try other forms of discipline for two years, we never will go back to whipping.

"I tried to get the board to suspend the use of the bat in 1939 when I returned from a meeting of the National Prison board. The members were not ready then. Three new members will be appointed in a few weeks. I am going to try to get them to make the two-year trial, and I am going to try to do something in the next legislature. I hope to see the bat eliminated for good."

Whippings Apparently Useless

Dr. Lister said that "Compton has been jumping on the prison system in a great many ways" and that the whipping offer was "just plain foolishness."

"As far as I am concerned, I'll have to pass it up."

Dr. Lister said that whippings apparently were useless because the number of floggings remain about the same each year.

He said that in any event, he would seek to change the rules governing whippings which now are administered by permit issued by the general prisons manager.

Dr. Lister said he would seek to have each case heard, if possible, by a committee composed of a judge, a newspaper man and a representative of the prison system before a whipping permit is issued.

Tech Film Library Gets World War Pictures

Mrs. Janet M. McDonald, visual aids librarian, said a film on causes and effects of the first World war and a technicolor film on the Philippine islands from their organization to the present had been received at Texas Technological college.

Films on more than 300 subjects now are included in the library. Rental price ranges from 25 cents to several dollars. Numerous schools and clubs rent pictures from the library.

Sanatorium Film Borrowed

A film on care and prevention of tuberculosis, made at Sanatorium, is to be lent to the college for local showing for about a week. It will be received Feb. 15. Clubs wishing to borrow it may telephone Mrs. McDonald.

Approximately 400 feet of the motion picture being made at Texas Tech have been developed, Mrs. McDonald said. The Tech directorate recently approved making of a film depicting various phases of campus life. The film later will be available for showing to alumni groups and others. Approximately 1,200 feet more will be made. The picture is to be completed about the end of the present long session. College buildings and football scenes are pictured on film already developed.

Year Closing Today Is Marked By Heavier Felony Dockets Of Local Courts

Traffic Accidents About Same Over Territory During 1940

The year ended, among other elements, was marked by approximately 25 per cent heavier felony dockets of the two state courts hinging at Lubbock and by traffic conditions tha approximately the same for 1939, according to available figures here.

The tabulated 1940 year in the 99th and the 72nd district courts, combined in Lubbock county alone, compared with 1939:

Indictment Charges	1940	1939
Child desertion	4	2
Forgery	34	24
Assault to murder	6	2
Drunk driving	14	17
Arson by explosives	1	0

Robbery by assault	1	0
Chicken theft	1	0
Receiving and concealing stolen property	1	0
Other indictments	0	7
Total	125	99

Further Comparisons Made

Further comparisons found on the dockets of the courts: In 1940 sentences totaling 292 years and 100 days were pronounced, of which 86 years were suspended, and $400 in fines was assessed. Only four acquittals resulted from trials.

In 1939, sentences totaling 228 years and 180 days were pronounced, of which 123 years were suspended, and fines of $550 were levied. There were two acquittals.

Looking at the 72nd court in the three counties outside Lubbock, one finds the following 1940 picture, which shows increase in crime in Cochran and Hockley counties, a decrease in Crosby county:

Indictment Charges	Cochran	Hockley	Crosby
Drunk driving	4	4	1
Burglary	0	5	1
Forgery	3	3	3
Rape	0	0	5
Embezzlement	2	0	0

Murder	2	1	0
Theft over $50	1	3	3
Forgery by false endorsement	0	1	0
Total	12	21	14

Docket Clean In Cochran

The following data further reveals workings of those courts, by counties:

In Cochran county, where the docket was left clean as a floor, with nothing left for trial, 112 years in the penitentiary was assessed and 15 days in jail and fines of $150 levied. There were no suspended sentences and no acquittals.

In Hockley county, assessments were: 25 years in the penitentiary, a half year and five days in jail and fines totaling $80. Twenty-one years in sentences were suspended and there were two acquittals.

In Crosby county, 30 years in the penitentiary were assessed, plus five days in jail and a fine of $50. Twenty-four years were suspended, but there were no acquittals.

Shows Total Of 459 Years

Those figures show a four-county total for both courts of 459 years in the penitentiary, of which 131 years were suspended; also 307 days in jail and fines totaling $650, which also would approximate the total of court costs in finable cases (drunk driving).

The composite figure shows that court business in criminal categories was stepped up in 1940 approximately 25 per cent, court officials said.

Accidents Near 1939 Totals

An unofficial check of the large pin-studded map in the highway patrol office, where every pin indicates by its color some type of automotive or pedestrian mishap, showed the following in the 35 counties of the state patrol district, which approximated the 1939 totals, said officials:

Mishap In Oil Area

Officials pointed to the number of mishaps reported on roads leading to oil fields and in directions where there are wet towns. On those roads mishaps far outnumbered those to the eastward where there is little oil development and where there is a great block of dry counties.

Now for a look into the traffic situation in Lubbock in a comparative tabulation glance at 1940 and 1939:

	1940	1939
Motorists killed	2	0
Pedestrians killed	3	2
Passengers killed	0	2
Killed otherwise through agency of cars	0	*1

Deaths Are Summarized

Summing up the 1940 deaths, Mrs. H. A. Harrison, about 35, a motorist, suffered fatal injuries Jan. 31 at Twenty-seventh street and Avenue S, from which she died Feb. 11 in Lubbock sanitarium.

Mrs. Lathern C. Springer, 28, a motorist, was fatally injured Nov. 27 at Tenth street and Avenue L and died several hours later in West Texas hospital.

W. H. Allen, 74, a pedestrian, was injured Jan. 19 at Broadway and Texas avenue, and died Jan. 29 in West Texas hospital.

Sammy Hatcher, 20, a pedestrian was fatally injured June 14 in 2100-block Nineteenth street.

Miss Villis Allison, 43, a pedestrian, was injured Nov. 26 in 1600-block Eighth street and died before she could be taken to Lubbock sanitarium.

In 1939, Mrs. N. S. McBride, a pedestrian, was fatally injured Feb. 2 in 2000-block Broadway. C. C. Reynolds, a pedestrian, was fatally injured July 9 at [illegible] and Avenue F. On Oct. 8, Lester Herrington of Idalou, a passenger in a car, looked out a window and his head struck a truck, causing his death. The mishap was in 1500-block Avenue H. On July 16, Mrs. Evelyn Hamner, a passenger, fell out of a cab in 500-block Seventeenth street and was fatally hurt.

At least one odd fact was noted: Total number of mishaps for November of 1940 was the same as for the same month in 1939, 84.

Peace Rejected

German proposal brought by Davis met this condition, he replied, "absolutely."

Marshall, editor of the Cedar Rapids (Iowa) Gazette recounted the details at a press conference when reporters quizzed him as to whether Davis was giving financial support to the No Foreign War committee. The editor said Davis had offered to assist.

Tried To Stop Him

To further questions about Davis and his activities, Marshall related that the oil man went abroad by clipper in September, 1939, "after a lengthy conference at the White House with President Roosevelt and Adolph Berle of the state department" and that "the president knew what he was going for."

Efforts were made at Bermuda to stop Davis from proceeding, Marshall continued, but he succeeded in getting through.

"On Oct. 9 or thereabouts," Marshall's account continued, "Davis landed at Port Washington, N. Y., bringing a complete agenda as conceived and taken down in shorthand by several stenographers at a conference that lasted parts of three days. That's all I'm going to say about the conference."

"The conference was in Berlin?" a reported inquired.

Refuses To Answer

"That's all I'm going to say about the conference," Marshall reiterated.

"Davis delivered at the state department the agenda for what appears to me would have been presented for the consideration of a peace conference.

"The document itself in plain words agreed that President Roosevelt would be the mediator at a conference in the White House. It indicated the identity of the plenipotentiaries who would be sent. Davis had it translated into English."

"From the German language?" a reporter asked.

"He had it translated into English," Marshall repeated.

He Has Copy

"He notified the White House he was here. They asked him to submit it to the state department. He declined, explaining he thought it should be placed only before the president. After jockeying back and forth all of one day, he finally agreed to take it to the state department and submit it to Berle.

"Davis was so mystified by all these circumstances that he refused to give Berle the original document, initialled by all the high government officials of a least two governments who attended the conference on these peace proposals, but gave him a copy. Berle was exercised—he was mad.

"Davis didn't give him the original, but I know where it is, and I have a copy."

Wheeler Drafts Plan For Peace

ambassador to the United States, as having said that the rise of Hitler was "in great measure" a "rebellion against the discriminations of the treaty of Versailles."

"Running" Toward War

Asserting that the United States was "no longer trudging along the road to war" but "running," he added:

"Last night we heard the president promise that there would be no American expeditionary force—but we received no promise that our ships and sailors—and our planes and pilots—might not at some time within the near future be cast into the cauldron of blood and hate that is Europe today."

If Mr. Roosevelt's logic were followed to its conclusion, he said, "we ought immediately to break off diplomatic relations with Russia, Italy, Germany, Japan and other nations whose domestic and foreign policies we abhor."

Can't Last Forever

"And where do we go from there?" he asked. "Regardless of who is proclaimed victor in the present war—it cannot last forever. Peace—fleeting though it may be—will eventually come to Europe. At some time in the future representatives of England and Germany will sit around a table—some time they will agree upon peace—and until that day, the world suffers. Each of us from the president of the United States to the most humble citizen—should exert his effort for peace now.

"We have reached a strange situation in America when those who advocate peace—who do not follow the party line—are branded appeasers and unwitting tools of the dictators . . . this still is a democracy—and American citizens whose beliefs vary from those of the government ought not to be howled down or intimidated. Free speech still belongs to all the people—not just to a few at the top.

Says Policy Insane

"I do not believe that the great majority of our people are eager to be embraced by war—and I call upon them not to be afraid to say so. I—for one—believe the policy advocated by the interventionists is insane because it will lead to total war—and war is insanity.

"Americans, do not let yourselves be swayed by mass hysteria. Do not travel again the road that you took in 1917. Has this war a sweeter odor than the last? Don't let yourselves be misled by the so-called notables. Numerically they are few — a few hundred—even though they command the newspaper headlines. But they do not speak for the mass of Americans. They do not represent labor, the farmer, the youth, the mothers or the fathers of America. The great mass of our people are inarticulate—but it is time you were heard. You must not be driven like sheep to the slaughter pens.

President Quoted

"There is a war that I call upon you to enter—a noble war which the royalty of Europe and our Tory friends at home are unwilling to face—a war to end economic inequality and poverty and disease in this, the richest land in the world. America's war ought to be a war against industrial unemployment and low farm prices."

He went on to quote a famous statement of the president that a third of the nation was ill-clothed, ill-fed and ill-housed, adding that "unless and until this situation is corrected our democracy is in danger."

"Believing as I do in this thesis," he said, "I cannot help but feel that we should settle our own problems before we undertake to settle the problems of Asia, Africa, Australia, South America and Europe."

The White House reported a highly favorable reaction today to President Roosevelt's defense broadcast, but in the Senate criticism and praise were mingled, with Senator Clark (D-Mo) asserting that if the president had made the speech before the November election "he would have been defeated."

Stephen Early, White House secretary, said an extraordinary outpouring of messages followed Mr. Roosevelt's broadcast call to the nation last night to put itself on a war-time production basis. There were 100 endorsements of the chief executive's remarks to each message registering an objection, he said.

Early described the president as "tremendously pleased," and especially gratified that there had been praise from both Republicans and Democrats since the objectives he set forth in his address called for national unity.

It was quickly apparent, however, that the address would stimulate, rather than still, the continuing debate at the Capitol, in the press and on the radio over the administration's foreign policy.

Cheers Are Plentiful

Churchill, accompanied by his wife, visited what is left of Guildhall and other historic city places damaged by fire. As he walked through the battered street the rescue and demolition squads paused long enough to send up resounding cheers. "We can take it," they shouted over and over from perches on fire-scarred roofs and piles of debris.

Millions of Londoners went about their pursuits tonight with their usual calm. Buses, subways and other conveyances were crowded with homeward bound workers and on every hand there was speculation as to where the blitz would be resumed tonight.

Unmarried On Alert

Top price at San Antonio will be $8 per couple where a name band and a couple of ballroom dancers will perform.

Fort Worth reported the heaviest list of reservations in the past 10 years with top price set at $7 per couple at downtown hotels.

Thousands of others will dance to local orchestras, juke boxes at clubs and roadside taverns.

At a small Grayson county town, Van Alstyne, the Fortunate Souls club, a social group composed of unmarried men and unmarried women, or bachelors and old maids who never intend to marry, will be on the alert in the waning hours of the old year, to keep from losing members via the fading leap year proposal route.

'Seduction Ring' In Kansas City Probed

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 30. (U.P.)—A "seduction ring" in which grade and junior high school girls from 10 to 16 years old were involved was under investigation today by the county grand jury.

Roscoe Cramer, principal of West Junior High school, and a 12-year-old pupil appeared before the jury today and reportedly outlined the operation of the ring in which both white and negro men participated.

Cramer said he had no idea how many girls or men were involved but believed the number to be large.

Protests from parents that their daughters had been remaining away from home, sometimes all night, had brought the affair to his attention, Cramer said.

The pupil said the girls sold themselves for prices ranging between 10 cents and 25 cents and that once she had a negro customer who paid her $1 for spending two nights with him.

The high school is in the West side industrial area populated by low-income families, including many Mexicans.

Former Tech Students Graduate At Randolph

Three former Texas Technological college students are among the 280 flying cadets graduated from Randolph field at San Antonio last week.

They are Robert L. Campbell, jr., of Stanton, a June, 1940, graduate of the engineering school; W. A. Chapman of Quitaque, also a 1940 engineering graduate; and John E. Fouts of Haskell, who last year completed two years of work in the division of agriculture.

The students will go to Kelly field for 10 weeks' training, after which they will be commissioned as second lieutenants.

Ford said approximately 2,000 such licenses would expire at that time.

Nations React To FDR's Talk

Observers considered the speech important because, they said, it permitted the president to group around the United States all powers still neutral, such as the Balkan states and Turkey. Some even expressed the opinion that the speech was the beginning of events which will demonstrate that the law of force can be defied by a great democracy and that a new situation for Germany has been created.

Although French newspapers still were restricted to 350 words for reporting the speech, informed sources called it an "historical act." Many Frenchmen waited to read the Swiss newspapers.

SWITZERLAND:

The Basel National Zeitung, one of the leading Swiss papers, voicing virtually the only free, neutral European comment on the Roosevelt speech, called it the clearest affirmation yet that "the United States wants to defeat the Axis powers even if it does not wage war directly."

JAPAN:

Unofficial Japanese sources said the president's reference to China's "great defense" indicated to them a commitment to further United States aid for Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's government. Official comment was not available.

BULGARIA:

The Bulgarian press acclaimed it as "historic." Many papers devoted two front page columns to a summary, more than ever before given to declarations of any foreign statesman outside central Europe. However, many passes which might be offensive to the Axis powers were omitted.

MEXICO:

The first newspaper to comment, Ultimas Noticias of Mexico City, said Roosevelt wants to get the United States into the war "and this is terrible for those who, like ourselves, may be drawn into its orbit . . . from last night there has been initiated, without any doubt whatsoever, the universal war." In most newspapers, the speech was the top story of the day.

COLOMBIA:

Press reaction was warm and favorable. El Liberal, one of Bogota's leading dailies, called the president's attitude "extremely valiant."

ARGENTINA:

Wherever Argentines gathered President Roosevelt's speech was topic of conversation yesterday, generally of approval, but no official or newspaper comment had appeared so far.

TURKEY:

Government circles, the press and general public hailed the speech enthusiastically, and the newspaper Yeni Sabash said editorially "President Roosevelt has read the death sentence of the Axis countries."

The official Ankara radio said it constituted a "major turning in the war," and a government spokesman termed it "extremely strong and extremely promising."

CHINA:

Government and press circles called the speech an "excellent New Year's gift" to China, and regarded the president's mention that the American fleet was in the Pacific as an indication that the United States was prepared to fight Japan if necessary.

Negro Accuses His Roommate Of Theft

The roommate of L. J. Blacknell, a negro, recently moved out and went to South Texas.

And, complained Blacknell to the sheriff's department, the moving out process included $37.50 worth of clothing belonging to Blacknell. His wrist watch, jacket and trousers went along with the former roommate.

The Blacknell man swore to a complaint filed in county court naming the alleged thief.

A man named on police records as David Beehill Tate, 48, of Abernathy pleaded guilty to theft of two pairs of gloves from Sears, Roebuck & Co. store. S. O. Boyd, policeman, accepted custody of the man after he had been arrested by store employes.

Earnings Of Railroads Are Higher This Year

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—The Association of American Railroads reported today that Class 1 railroads earned a net income of approximately $127,600,000 in the first 11 months of this year.

The association said earnings before interest and rentals came to $500,201,070 through November, compared with $527,847,779 in the corresponding period of 1939.

Gross operating revenues were placed at $3,914,808,946, compared with $3,649,823,992 in 1939. Operating expenses so far this year amounted to $2,829,340,000, the association said, compared with $2,-608,208,173 last year.

Auditor's Report On Texas A. & I. Filed

AUSTIN, Dec. 30. (AP)—Assets of the Texas College of Arts and Industries at Kingsville were valued at $1,313,559 as of Aug. 31, end of the state fiscal year, State Auditor Tom C. King reported today.

Of the assets, King said $25,257 were in current funds, $30,491 in loan funds and $1,257,811 in plant funds.

Revenues for the year amounted to $398,255, of which $208,455 were from legislative appropriations, $101,352 from tuition and fees and $73,680 from auxiliary enterprises.

Expenditures totaled $351,786 and included $265,471 for educational and general purposes, $77,307 for auxiliary enterprises and $9,008 interest charges.

The school's bonded indebtedness was placed at $214,000.

Notice that the college had unsecured deposits totaling $45,000 was principal adverse comment made by King in his report.

King's audit also questioned legality of an advance of $1,000 as a revolving fund to co-operative student houses.

Man Apparently Has Succeeded In Suicide

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30. (AP)—Beside the body of "J. B. Clarke," 44, found Christmas day in a hotel room, was a note expressing his hope to "defy identification" and "be successful in eluding the medico's prognosis and they will be unable to quickly diagnose my difficulty and therein lies the secret of my suicide."

Police say he succeeded in both. The note gave his age but declared at one place "I've nearly forgotten the name affixed to the register today. . . ." Autopsy surgeons said a poison apparently was the cause of death, but reported inability to determine its type.

Hard Surfacing Of Road Said Assured

WELLINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—Hard surfacing of an east-west highway through Collingsworth county appeared assured today.

With votes from only one box in Saturday's election unreported, the count favored the $500,000 bond issue for hard surfacing 586—120.

Extension Of Old Age Insurance Favored

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. (AP)—Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator, said today that coverage of the government's old age insurance system should be extended next year.

McNutt, in a year-end statement, did not mention any specific groups which he thought should be brought under the system, but made this general assertion:

"Every American worker should have the same rights to build a stable future for himself and his family, that workers in commerce and industry now enjoy."

Largest of the groups not now under the old age insurance system are the agricultural workers.

Twenty Texans Slated To Die

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Dec. 30.—To the shouts and whistle blowing which ring in the New Year tomorrow night add the crash of crumpled steel, the shattering of glass and the anguished cries of the injured, state police suggested today.

Accident statisticians gloomily posted the figure 20 as indicating the number of Texans who will die as a result of highway violence during the New Year holidays.

Gov. O'Daniel Asks For Sober Driving

AUSTIN, Dec. 30. (U.P.)—Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, speaking from the mansion here in his last weekly broadcast of 1940, asked his radio listeners to make "avoidance of auto accidents" their No. 1 New Year's resolution.

"Yes friends, let's six million of us Texans make that our number one New Year's resolution in memory of the 1,545 persons who were killed in traffic accidents in Texas during the first 11 months of this year . . ." the governor suggested in his regular Sunday broadcast.

"Let's ask all people who drink to help stop these accidents. Most people who drink are pretty good people—when they are sober. They do not want to kill anybody, so let's suggest to them that they be more moderate in their drinking, or in case they just have to have a great big tear, let's suggest that they let somebody else do the driving of the car."

Sports Trail Says: Don't Sell State Short

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 30.—Said [illegible], Southern style:

Contrary to some opinions, Bob Neyland isn't a guy who would stand in front of a trombone player and eat a lemon. He's a right nice fellow, and nothing sour-puss about him. And when they come more considerate than Frank Leahy, we want to be around. Even thanks you for dropping in on him.

Folks down here warn not to call Mississippi State short in its Orange bowl game with Georgetown. Allyn McKeen, State coach, is a Neyland pupil and a regular Matter for cooking up the Neyland technique . . . St. Stanislaus college at Bay St. Louis, where Boston college pitched its wigwam, is the prep alma mater of Babe Ruzzo and Mowdy Schwartz.

Neyland picks as his All-American Smithfield Harmon, Kimbrough, Albert and his own Bob Foxx . . . Biff Jones is a hero around these parts for his rebuttal to Huey Long, and a good many of the folks think he might upset Stanford's "Z" wagon in the Rose bowl. The Tennessee punters will be playing in their third different bowl, New Year's day. Frank Leahy was born in Winner, S. D., which may account for something or other. Maybe it's a good thing it wasn't Lemmon (Sure, that's up there too.)

Hunting Season Ends This Afternoon

Hunting of migratory game fowl will be illegal after 4 o'clock this afternoon, Vernon D. Yelton, federal game management officer, said Monday.

At the same time Yelton said that hunters had 20 days in which to get their limit of any game they might have killed and were keeping in cold storage. After Jan. 20 wardens will arrest and charge any and all persons they find who have game in their possession.

Hunting in this area has not been up to normal, due to a dry fall which saw most of the lakes without water until late in November. There has been some hunting since early December and unless the winter becomes severe, it is probable there will be a large number of ducks and some geese that will winter in this section.

Oklahoma Ags Win Third Place

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 30. — The Pittsburg Teachers won the championship of the fifth annual Oklahoma City All-College basketball tournament tonight, coming from behind with a brilliant last-half rally to nip the University of Texas Longhorns, 39 to 38, in the finals.

Trailing by 13 points at the halftime intermission, the Kansans clamped an airtight defense on Texas and staged an unbelievable comeback, led by Harley King, whose last-minute basket put his team ahead for the only time in the game.

Pittsburg Defense Tight

King scored the first five points soon after the second half, which started with Texas holding a 20 to 17 lead.

Nine minutes of the final period had passed before Texas made a field goal, W. B. Haupt's two free throws being the only points scored by the Steers during that time. King and his mates slowly chopped away the wide margin separating the two teams and with four minutes to play, Texas was ahead by only two points, 37 to 35.

Merle Brown added a free throw for Pittsburg, and King stole a pass and drove in for the winning score.

Pittsburg added another point on Don Sturdy's free throw as the milling got really rough in the dying seconds and Chester Granville matched it with a one-pointer for Texas, but the Steers couldn't sink any of the few wild shots they tried in a desperate attempt to regain the lead.

Speedy Bought In High Sense

The Kansans succeeded the Oklahoma Aggies, whom they defeated in the semi-finals Saturday night, as champions.

Haupt and King divided the individual scoring honors, each with 14 points.

The Warrensburg Teachers won the consolation bracket by defeating Tulsa university, 33 to 22, for their third straight victory since Texas Tech eliminated them in the opening round.

Led by big Don Martin, the Missourians, who won the tournament championship in 1939, held the upper hand all the way, going to rest at halftime with a 21 to 15 advantage. Martin's 17 points were good for individual honors.

In the only other game between two early-round losers on the final day's schedule, Baylor defeated Wyoming, 54 to 50, using two overtime periods.

Oklahoma A. and M. college's dethroned champions won third place by defeating West Texas State Teachers 44 to 41, in a game between the semi-finals losers.

The Aggies, who have won three of the five tournaments, led all the way but they had to turn on the steam in the closing minutes to choke off a rally by the Texans which clipped all but three points off a 12-point Aggie lead.

PEARSON SOLD TO REDS—Monte Pearson, above, pitcher with the New York Yankees throughout their stretch of four consecutive world's championships, was sent yesterday to the Cincinnati Reds in exchange for an unannounced amount of cash and Don Lang, an infielder who played for Indianapolis in the American association last season. Pearson was the third member of the Yankees to leave the club since the close of the season. Pearson pitched in four World series games and won all four, the last being a two-hitter against the Reds in 1939.

Aggie Polo Team Loses Third Tilt

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 30. (AP)—The visiting polo team from Texas A. & M. suffered a third defeat today, 10 to 1, at the hands of El Zorro, local civilian team.

The Texans, losers in all of their three scheduled matches here, were never able to threaten although they carried the fight to their opponents throughout. Carl Maloney scored the Aggies' only goal.

Schmidt To Get Southwest Job, Say Rumors

By SID FERRIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 30. — Amid rumors about which coach is going to land where—including one that Francis Schmidt would return to the Southwest—the country's collegiate athletic heads started their official business today, delegates to the Football Coaches' association and National Collegiate Athletic association convention heard speeches about how collegiate athletics can help national defense. Then they received an official statistical report of 1940 football casualties which tended to show the gridiron game is becoming safer for players all the time.

But mostly, the delegates just hummed about the various coaching vacancies. And the latest whisper to go around the corridors was that Schmidt, late of Ohio State, was about to return to the area of his first coaching triumphs, either at Tulsa or Arkansas. This remark, entirely unconfirmed, said (1) that Schmidt was definitely slated for Tulsa or (2) that Fred Thomsen was about to switch from Arkansas to Tulsa, and Schmidt would succeed him as head man of the Razorbacks.

Schmidt formerly coached at both schools.

There was also word that Bill Edwards, now in Texas with his Western Reserve squad for the Sun bowl game, was the No. 1 candidate to land at Marquette, and that Paddy Driscoll, who left Marquette, had turned down a one-year contract to coach Tulsa.

Prof. Floyd Eastwood of Purdue made his annual report on gridiron casualties, stating 12 deaths, either directly or indirectly due to football, occurred during the season, and that 1,391 players were injured. Both surveys showed average decreases from previous years.

Indiana Wins Sugar Bowl Cage Crown

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 30. (AP)—The University of Indiana's national intercollegiate championship basketball team won the annual Sugar bowl title here tonight by defeating the University of Kentucky, Southeastern conference leader, 48 to 45.

The game was witnessed by a crowd of about 7,500 fans, described as the largest ever to see a basketball game in New Orleans.

It was Kentucky's third appearance in the Sugar bowl event and its first defeat. The Wildcats beat Pittsburgh and Ohio State in previous performances here.

Howell Steen To Defend Title

Developments in the Golden Gloves situation yesterday came from two fronts.

First, Sam Drake, sports editor of the Hockley County Herald, announced that his paper would sponsor an invitation tournament in Levelland, probably Jan. 28 and 29.

Second, entries for the 1941 Avalanche-Journal district tournament hit a new pace. During the day, five entries were received, including another 1940 champion, stretching the total of contestants entered so far to nine.

The 1940 winner who entered yesterday was Howell Steen, the welterweight titlist who last year was the only Lubbock boy to win a place on the championship squad that represented this district in the state meet at Fort Worth.

The eight champions in the Levelland Invitation will be entered as the Herald's official team in the district meet. Every boxer who enters the Levelland event will be given a medal; the winners will receive larger prizes.

Just Send One Blank

It is emphasized that, although the winners of the Levelland tourney will be entered as a team in the district tournament, defeat in that tournament or any other preliminary tournament does not bar a boxer from participation in the district tournament. The preliminary tournaments to be held at Levelland, Littlefield, Plainview, O'Donnell, Tahoka and possibly other South Plains cities are in no sense elimination meets, but are merely warm-up meets for the one that counts, the district tournament in Lubbock Feb. 6 and 7.

It is not necessary that boxers who enter the preliminary meets send in entry blanks both to the preliminary meet authorities and to the district tournament. Merely indicate on the blank mailed to the preliminary meet that it is desired to enter the district meet also and the entry will be forwarded here.

Tourneys Not Restricted

Entries for the Levelland meet, which may be made on the entry blank published on this page for the Lubbock district tournament, should be mailed to Sam Drake, Hockley County Herald, Levelland, Texas. Entries for the Littlefield meet should be mailed to Abe Murphy, Littlefield High school, Littlefield, Texas. Plans for the tournaments at O'Donnell and Tahoka will be announced later.

The Levelland tournament is not restricted to Hockley county, nor is the Littlefield meet restricted to Lamb county. On the contrary, any amateur boxer anywhere can enter either.

Entries received yesterday included one heavyweight, one lightweight, one middleweight, one welterweight and two featherweights. Five of the entrants are from Lubbock, one from Slaton.

No entries have yet been received in the flyweight class.

Yesterday's entries: Howell Steen, 145 pounds, Lubbock; Bill Bankston, 170 pounds, Lubbock; Dick Neal, 225 pounds, Lubbock; Clovis Ketron, 120 pounds, Lubbock; O. B. Bennett, 120 pounds, Lubbock; T. A. Solley, 160 pounds, Slaton route 2.

EAST RACERS LOOK BEST

SEATTLE, Dec. 30. (AP) — The Eastern All-Stars will enter the New Year's day East-West charity football game at San Francisco with a composite offensive record topping that of the West team in all departments, the American Football Statistical bureau reported today.

Ball carriers of the Eastern team have carried the ball 698 times during the past season in college football games for a net of 2,769 yards, or 4.21 yards per try. Western players carried the ball 523 times for a net of 1,895, or an average of 3.62.

HERE'S ANOTHER CHAMPION. — Howell Steen, the boy with the black eye, became the third 1940 district champion to enter the 1941 Avalanche-Journal district Golden Gloves meet yesterday when he came by the Avalanche-Journal office and filled out his entry blank. Gene Stack Is First Major Baseballer Caught In Draft

CHICAGO, Dec. 30. (AP)—The management of the Chicago White Sox baseball club of the American league announced today that one of its most promising rookie pitchers, Eugene Stack, 22-year-old righthander of Saginaw, Mich., had been ordered to report for military service at Fort Custer, Mich., Jan. 7.

Stack was obtained last fall from Lubbock, club of the West Texas-New Mexico league.

Phillips '66' Slaps New Mexico Mines

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Dec. 30. (AP)—The Phillips "66" Oilers, national AAU basketball champions, defeated the New Mexico School of Mines tonight, 53 to 23.

The Oilers took an early lead and their height gave them such an advantage over the visitors that they never could be threatened. The score at the half was 24 to 9.

Grady Lewis, All-American guard last year, was high point man, hanging up five field goals for the Oilers. Don Lockard and Fred Pralle of the Oilers and Gene Clark and Carl Oliver of New Mexico all tied for second honors with eight points each.

SCHOOLBOY WINS NET TITLE

CAMDEN, N. J., Dec. 30. (AP) — Jimmy Evert of Senn High school, Chicago, won the national indoor junior tennis championship tonight by defeating Richard J. Bender, Princeton university student, 6-1, 2-6, 6-4, 6-2.

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 30 (AP)—Twenty-seven racing greyhounds burned to death in an early morning fire that destroyed a privately-owned kennel a half-time north of the Biscayne track today.

Tech To Play Two-Game Set With Aggies

Coach Bud Huffman's Texas Tech basketeers returned home Monday from the All-College tournament at Oklahoma City and started preparing immediately for games here Friday and Saturday night against the strong New Mexico A. and M. Aggies. These games will be played at the Tech gymnasium and will start at 8 o'clock each night.

The New Mexico Aggies are one of the nation's better teams. They have won the Border Conference championship numerous times and have twice played in the Madison Square Garden Invitation tournament against the best teams in the country. The Aggies are outstanding contenders for the Border Conference crown this season and boast a winning record to date.

Given Leads Scorers

Playing a stout independent schedule the Red Raiders have won six and lost four of their ten games. After winning their first four games, they split a two game series with the University of Texas, dropped a single game to Howard Payne and then lost games to Pittsburg and Wyoming in the Oklahoma City tournament.

In their ten games the Red Raiders have scored 166 field goals and 82 free shots for 414 points. Tech's opponents have scored 376 points.

Big Jake Geron, senior center, is pacing the Tech scoring attack with 34 field goals and 15 gratis shots for 83 points. Geron was a top ace in the Oklahoma City tournament and many critics claimed him the standout performer in the tournament.

Coach Is Satisfied

Captain J. B. White, senior guard who played in the Oklahoma City event in spite of being ill, is second to Geron in scoring with 29 field goals and 15 free shots for 73 points. Bob Andis, a sophomore forward who finally found the range at Oklahoma City, is third with 28 field goals and 13 free shots for 69 points. And is trailed by Elvis Erwin, another sophomore forward, who has caught the basket for 25 field goals and 9 gratis shots for 59 points.

Coach Huffman is highly satisfied with the way his players are ringing the basket. Gabe Gilley with 54 points, Norman Volz with 39 and Byron Gilbreath with 35 points are other high scorers on the Red Raider teams.

Huffman plans to work out his sharpshooters twice a day until the New Mexico A. and M. series, which is likely to be one of the best to be played on the Tech hardwoods this season.

Aggies Arrive In Dallas For Cotton Bowl Contest

By HARRY B. McNINCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Dec. 30—Rain threats, the Texas Aggies and gloomy Homer Norton arrived simultaneously in Dallas this afternoon, only 48 hours before the New Year's day Cotton bowl classic.

The great Aggie team that piled on a fire truck and went yelling through confetti-filled downtown canyons to the cheers of the largest throng ever assembled to welcome a football team, was pronounced sound and ready for the date with Fordham university.

A few minutes later Coach Norton, cornered outside the bedlam, decided:

Aggies Are "Interested"

"Fortunately, we are without an injury and the flu has finally left our squad. Physically, we are as ready as we were for the Sugar bowl game just a year ago.

"But we have a tough opponent in Fordham. I would say that we must score at least two touchdowns — probably more than that—to win this Fordham game.

"Mentally? I can't say just now. It is hard to tell just how boys react to these things until the kickoff. But they are interested—."

Meanwhile, the weatherman announced occasional rains for tonight and Tuesday but declined to go into long-range predictions for Wednesday. Bleak clouds blanketed the area.

Fordham Back Hurt

The Aggies hustled right out to Southern Methodist university and went through a brisk defensive drill, also stressing passing and kicking.

Odds on the favored Aggies shifted slightly to 9-5 tonight.

Fordham took a stiff blow yesterday when Claude Flemmons, reserve quarterback, — and the only one Coach Jim Crowley signs—rode himself out of the New Year's day game astride a horse's back.

Claude was tossed from a horse and struck a tree. He received painful rib injuries. Thus, Quarterback Johnny Nobile is down for 60 minutes.

Georgetown Vows To Win

By JOHN WEAD
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 30.—A gang of crusaders out to prove that "Georgetown has a great football team" will charge against Mississippi State in the Orange bowl Wednesday.

"Nobody believes we have a great team," snagged Allen Manton, the rugged center wanted by the pros even when he was a junior, "so it shows them."

To a man, the 18 Hoya seniors who close out their college careers Wednesday have vowed to come up with good individual performances.

"Everybody remembers your last game," explained Joe McFadden, the freckle-faced Irishman who runs the team.

The quarterback said he will use "standard, conservative" football against Mississippi State, but admitted the Hoyas had worked on some "harum-scarum stuff" in case it is needed.

Bill Nealon, a tackle, and Jim Reichey, center, both slightly crippled with practice injuries, were named Georgetown's co-captains for the game.

The Hoyas worked only 30 minutes.

Both squads will wind up their preparations in brief drills on the Orange bowl sod tomorrow afternoon.

THREE AGGIES HONORED

FORT WORTH, Dec. 30. (UP) — Three Texas Aggie football stars will be honored tonight as members of an All-America squad chosen by 500 coaches throughout the nation.

The three are John Kimbrough and Jim Thomason, backs, and Marshall Robnett, guard. They and 30 others were chosen by a coaches' poll conducted in behalf of Kate Smith, radio star. Kimbrough won a similar award last year.

Boston, Vols Are Ready; Riggs Wins Sugar Bowl Tennis

By NORTHROP BERRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 30.—Football teams of Boston college and Tennessee were pronounced ready for their Sugar bowl clash as conclusion of the last preliminaries on the New Orleans mid-winter sports calendar today left decks cleared for the climactic grid tussle Wednesday.

Bobby Riggs of Chicago won the seventh annual Sugar bowl tennis tournament by beating Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., in the finals today, 6-2; 7-5, 6-0.

A lull in the sports program tomorrow will allow the estimated 40,000 visitors a chance to enjoy New Year's eve celebration in gay New Orleans.

"Our team is in good shape mentally and physically," declared Coach Frank Leahy of Boston college after his Eagles went through a light workout at Bay St. Louis.

"We're ready physically, and, I hope, mentally," said a spokesman for the Tennessee Volunteers who are training at Edgewater Park, Miss. "We claim no injuries at this time."

Balmy breezes blew in New Orleans today, and the weather man indicated the good weather would hold through New Year's day.

John (Cannon) Ball, Auburn cross country man, ran four races in the 1940 season, set course records in every one.

"Shaughnessy Confident"

By ROBERT MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 30. — Clark Daniel Shaughnessy, Stanford university's grid coach, is seriously confident that his "twelve-man" team will hold off Nebraska's superior reserve power and march on to victory in the Rose bowl New Years day.

The Stanford "coach of the year," watching his squad go through another workout today, predicted that his starting eleven would shoulder the burden for most of the minutes of the coming contest.

The "twelfth" man might be one of several, notably a tackle, Jack Warnecke, an end, Clem Tomerlin, or possibly Milt Vucinich, fullback, if he is able to play at all.

But Nebraska, came to Pasadena, boasting no less than two complete crackerjack teams and loyal Cornhuskers swear there is little to choose between the two. What's more, they are three deep in spots and Major Biff Jones has a hard time choosing between the rivals.

Both Stanford and Nebraska held double workouts today. Yesterday's before-noon rain did not reappear today, and the practice fields, as well as the Rose bowl turf, were fast drying out. Each squad has its injury worries, but Stanford's one big concern—Vucinich's stiff knee—tops all the rest.

Western Reserve, Tempe Ready For Sun Bowl Game

EL PASO, Dec. 30. (AP)—The Red Cats of Western Reserve university hit town today, received a boisterous welcome in the manner of the old road agent days, and then went promptly to work to make ready for their New Year's day football clash with Arizona State of Tempe in the Sun bowl.

Coach Bill Edwards sent his Cleveland squad through two workouts and planned another light one for tomorrow.

The Tempe Bulldogs arrived last week and have been going through daily practice sessions against their freshman squad, under the critical eye of Coach Dixie Howell.

The forecast for Wednesday promised generally fair, warm weather.

Aid To Federal Plans Foremost

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Dec. 30. — Circumstances, history in the making, placed the new subject of defense at the top of the agenda today for state legislators awaiting the 1941 meetings.

Forty-three legislatures scheduled regular sessions in the new year, all beginning in January except Florida, which waits until April 8.

Aside from the customarily important matters of budgeting and finance, relief, old age pensions, economy, civil service and governmental reorganization, an Associated Press survey today disclosed that the state lawmakers have before them the duty of deciding on policies and then taking action to assist Uncle Sam in perfecting the nation's defenses.

Business Immediately Before Them

The gigantic preparedness effort, calling of the National Guard into federal service and conscription have occurred since the regular legislative sessions of 1939 and the special sessions of 1940. Therefore the states have immediately before them the business of effecting agencies within the commonwealths to replace the units and men serving the federal government.

Organization of home guards in one form or another has begun in many states, including Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Maryland, New Hampshire, Ohio, Wyoming, Tennessee, South Dakota, Vermont, Oklahoma, New Jersey and New York.

Proposes Women's Guard

An Oklahoma state senator, Louis H. Ritzhaupt of Guthrie, even proposed a women's state guard which he'd call the "Florence Nightingale Brigade," consisting mostly of women doctors and nurses.

State defense councils or similar boards have been named or initiated in Illinois, California, Indiana, Michigan and New Mexico, among others, while Utah, Arkansas, Texas and Massachusetts have taken steps to enact uniform defense laws, build armories and otherwise assist Uncle Sam.

Houston May Receive Shipbuilding Yard

HOUSTON, Dec. 30. (U.P.)—H. C. Cockburn, Houston capitalist, said today he would discuss contracts to build $100,000,000 worth of freighters for Great Britain with representatives of the British ministry of shipping in New York shortly.

Cockburn said that if the contracts were negotiated, he would form a shipbuilding company which would construct a $5,000,000 shipyard on the Houston ship channel about 10 miles east of Houston.

Cockburn said that the conference would be held "as soon after the first of the year as possible" and that he expected a decision within a month.

H. E. Slaymaker, British consul in Houston, said he would accompany Cockburn to New York to assist both groups in the negotiations.

"My object will be to explain the particular part that Houston can play in the project as well as to stress this city's advanagtes in the matter," Slaymaker said.

A survey of the ship channel for a possible site for a shipyard has just been completed for the Todd Drydock company by Harold McCunn of the Harris Engineering company of New York. The proposed shipyard would be used to build vessels for Great Britain.

School Children May Be Called On Again To Aid Financing Of National Defense; 25-Cent Savings Stamps Considered

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. — Treasury experts calculated today that they would have to borrow about $5,000,000,000 in 1941 to finance the defense program and wondered whether they could get some of it from the school children as well as the bankers.

One plan being worked out by the finance specialists includes something like the 25-cent savings stamps which children bought during the World war.

The plan, however, has the experts worried. They said it might be a fine patriotic move, but the overhead cost of selling the stamps might be too high. On the other hand, they said, it might not be such a bad idea, because so many stamps would be lost by the children that the government would never have to redeem all of them.

Two Make Break From Jail At Comanche

COMANCHE, Dec. 30. (U.P.)—Two Comanche county jail inmates, Clifford Brook, 20, and Oswald Pell, 20, escaped from a second story cell early today by breaking the cell door lock and prying rock out of the jail wall with broken pieces of their bunks, Deputy Sheriff Manley Stone said.

Stone said the escapees stole a car and escaped. He said two other cellmates refused to leave.

Pell was under sentence here for passing a forged instrument. Brook, captured last month at Claremore, Okla., was held on a charge of murdering J. D. Couch near Comanche several weeks ago. Brook is an ex-convict, having served a term in the Oklahoma state penitentiary at McAlester, Okla.

TOTAL OF 15,964 CASES

AUSTIN, Dec. 30. (AP)—Influenza cases over Texas reported to the state health office today reached a total of 15,964, more than double the number of last week, Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, announced today.

Dr. Cox reiterated warnings to individuals to stay away from crowds and redouble their precautions against catching colds.

OUR PLEDGE

WE pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States, and to the Republic for which it stands; One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

Why Should We Feed Spain?

It may seem calloused to withhold food from a hungry, ostensibly neutral nation when deliveries can be made with relative ease.

Even so, there are no grounds for criticism of the position of the American State department in refusing to approve such shipments to Spain unless and until there are guarantees of a more friendly attitude in that country toward the United States and Great Britain.

The United States has good cause for suspicion of and resentment toward Spain. Suspicion is justly grounded in the seemingly well authenticated reports of a friendliness by Franco, the Spanish dictator, toward the Axis powers which is inimical to world democracy. Recent evidences of that hand-in-glove relationship have been the pomp with which Axis visitors to Spain have been received.

One cause for active resentment in this country toward Spain was supplied recently when negotiations were in progress for an island off the coast of the South American country for a United States naval base to aid in protecting the hemisphere against possible aggression in the Pacific ocean. Franco publicly commended those in Chili who opposed this measure designed to protect the Western Hemisphere.

If there could be any assurance that hungry people in Spain actually would get food shipped to them from the United States, much of the difficulty of arranging for such supplies would be removed — it being borne in mind, of course, that Spain would pay for what it got.

But there is no such assurance in which credence can be placed. Very definitely to the contrary is the well-founded suspicion that the hungry Spaniards would get only the crumbs from such shipments, and that most of the food would go by the fastest possible transportation from shipside into Germany.

This nation certainly does not want to provide, through Spain or any other agency, the sustenance to help totalitarian powers continue their war on world democracy.

Let's Have The Facts!

ACCORDING to a recent item in The National Whirligig on this page, a speedy Congressional investigation is demanded of relative merit of the Garand and Johnson semi-automatic rifles. The Garand has been adopted for our military forces and is about to go into mass production.

The Whirligig said, in substance, that field tests prove the Johnson far the better rifle, but that army "brass hats" who recommended the Garand won't embarrass themselves by admitting they were wrong.

The controversy should not be allowed to delay production of the Garand, because it is far superior to our present arms — superior, perhaps, to the rifle of any other nation. But Congress should find from experts who are not prejudiced "brass hats"—which is the better gun. If it is the Johnson, go right ahead with production of the Garands until preparations can be made for mass manufacture of the superior rifle. After that, the substitution of the Johnson for the Garand would become an automatic and gradual process without taking the chance that our armed forces might be caught entirely without superior rifles of some kind.

SANTA CLAUS IS HURT

CAST OF CHARACTERS

SANTA CLAUS BROWN — beloved friend of all children.

ALICE BANES a pretty, young school teacher.

JERRY DONALDSON — pampered son of the city's richest merchant.

BETTY CARTER — awaits the coming of Santa Claus.

• • •

YESTERDAY: Mr. Donaldson angrily orders Jerry to start work the day following Christmas in the Polish Royale. He is through spending money on his son. Mrs. Brown leaves Alice, goes to Carters' to wait the return of Santa Claus Brown. He is late. It is almost midnight when Betty awakens, sees Mr. Brown coming down the street. She can hear his reindeer on the roof.

CHAPTER VII

Jerry parked his car in front of the Carter house. The street was deserted, except for Santa Claus Brown stumbling homeward, so tired he was hardly able to walk. Across the street from his boarding house, he stopped and leaned wearily against a tree to rest. Alice and Jerry did not see him.

"This isn't where I live—this is the Carter house," Alice said to Jerry.

"Well, you live right next door—and I'm parking here. I want to talk to you, and not have all those boarders listen to me."

"Sure you just want to talk, Jerry?" she asked.

"Yes," Jerry said. Then he embraced her suddenly. "And look—I want to tell you I really think you're a swell girl!"

Alice pulled away.

"That's all over, Jerry. You're just—drunk."

"All right, if that's the way you feel about it," Jerry said bitterly. He started the motor again.

"Thanks for the lovely evening, Prince Charming."

Jerry looked at her hard.

"Going formal on me? Okay, home for you."

He started the car suddenly. Neither of them saw Santa Claus Brown as he started to cross the street to the boarding house. The car shot out, bore down on him. There was a grating of brakes, a sharp stop, then silence.

Alice and Jerry got out.

"You've killed him—you've killed Santa Claus Brown!" Alice screamed. "Oh—Jerry—"

Together they bent over the old man.

"Darling, it wasn't my fault—he walked right into the path of the—"

Santa Claus Brown opened his eyes with a little moan.

"Don't blame him," he murmured. "I was tired, I could hardly see. I walked right in front—of—the—" His eyes closed and he lay still.

"Alice—help me—take him to the hospital," Jerry stammered.

She helped him lift Brown into the car. They drove off in terrified silence to the hospital.

• • •

News traveled fast through the small town. Santa Claus Brown was a favorite character. When Alice and Jerry came out of the hospital, there was an anxious crowd outside waiting for news. As Jerry appeared, hostile murmurs ran through the crowd in a rising tone.

"Listen, Brown isn't dead," Jerry pleaded defensively. "He isn't going to die. I'm out getting a little fresh air—in a minute I'm going to give him a blood transfusion."

Another murmur went through the crowd, less hostile this time.

Mrs. Brown appeared on the hospital steps. Mrs. Deakin and Mr. Middleton rushed up to her from the street.

"No need for you to bother phoning your daughter, Mrs. Brown," said Mrs. Deakin excitedly. "I called up over my own phone—long distance — and I don't want you to mind the charges either—70 cents for three minutes. Somebody there is going to get in touch with her, and send her here as soon as possible. But from what they said I don't think she's doing quite as well as you—"

Mrs. Brown interrupted her.

"Her daddy will be—so happy if she gets here in time. Did you tell them to have her fly—get here as soon as she can?"

"Yes, I told them all that," replied Mrs. Deakin sententiously. "They said they'd get her right away. Anything else you want me to do—even if it involves the cost of long distance telephoning, I'll be most glad to do it for you."

"Thank you so much," said Mrs. Brown. "I'm going back to papa now. I felt—a little faint in there." She stifled a sob.

She walked past Jerry without a word or a glance and entered the hospital.

As Jerry and Alice turned to follow her in, a clock struck 12. Christmas bells rang out, merrily at first, but gradually they became deep and sorrowful, more and more like a dirge.

• • •

Two hours later Jerry and Alice left the hospital; the street was deserted except for the few people who still stood nearby, waiting.

Jerry, shaken and weak made an attempt to be brave.

"Well — I knock Santa Claus down—then I try to make him—all well again."

Alice, walking silently, doggedly ahead of him, did not answer.

"Gosh—they love him in this town," Jerry went on. "Wouldn't get that turn out if I got hit by a car. Funny thing, he's just a night watchman — gets a punk salary probably—lives in that lousy boarding house of yours, but they come out in gangs to pray for him.

"When I was — a little boy — I used to think he was the real McCoy—maybe he is at that—never thought I'd grow up to knock out—Santa Claus—on Christmas Eve—"

Alice turned on him suddenly.

"I didn't either in those days. You were different. You had feelings, ambitions. You were going to be a great engineer—remember? Then an explorer, do big, dangerous things—you had a quality—I don't know what happened to it. You've turned hard—and hateful—and drunken—"

"Alice — don't!" Jerry pleaded weakly. "Please!"

"I can't help it," Alice sobbed. "I loved you—the real you, not this silly bragging rich man's son—Oh, Jerry — you know Santa Brown hasn't much chance—he's making them tell the crowd everything's all right—he doesn't want to spoil their Christmas. He wouldn't let the officer hold you for drunken driving.

"He loves you and me, all of us. He's trying so hard to give us all a merry Christmas—the last thing he can do for us. And you—you—"

She ran off, leaving him standing there, staring after her.

"Alice—you hate me!" Jerry said bitterly. "I wish the car had hit my worthless carcass—instead of—Santa Claus."

He watched her disappear in the darkness.

Volunteers To Be Included In Draft Call Of Jan. 22

Volunteers accepted at draft board No. 1 in the Myrick building between now and Jan. 10 will be included among the 29 men to be provided by that board Jan. 22, it was announced Monday.

A tentative list of draftees has been compiled, J. W. Tarlton, clerk, and Mrs. William C. Alder, assistant clerk, but it is subject to change until Jan. 10, it was explained.

Three volunteers have already been received and will be used to fill the board's January quota. They are Herman Durward McWhorter and Redford Oscar Clark, both of Lubbock route 5, and William Thomas West of 1923 Broadway.

Volunteers Transferred

Three additional volunteers have been transferred to the jurisdiction of board No. 1. They are Jack Burnette Rowan of 912 Avenue K, transferred from Wichita Falls; William Harry Copeland, jr., of Ropesville, transferred from Fort Worth; and Joe Neal Golden of Lubbock route 5, transferred from Roswell, N. M. One Lubbock registrant, James Mack Barnes, has been transferred to the Abilene district.

Since the board has been able to catch up on its clerical work, a couple of numerical oddities have shown up. James Samuel Lanham's serial number—3997—is the same as his home address, 3997 Twenty-second street. Thomas Nelson Russell received order number 116. His serial number was also 116.

Draftees from Lubbock board No. 2 will report on Jan. 23. Thirty-six men are to report that date, the largest number from any one county.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

EVERY military and manufacturing expert on airplanes concedes confidentially that the production of modern models incorporating the war's lessons has not started yet. Despite fantastic goals of 50,000 planes—despite billions in orders—despite frantic gearing up—that is the astounding but admitted fact. It should startle the American layman!

It lies behind the controversy over the performance of American planes in England. A few Lockheed-Hudsons are giving splendid service, but only on shore reconnaissance patrols. Most of the ships so far sent over were the P-36 type, and we have turned out two models of that class (the P-39 and P-40) in the meantime. The majority were equipped with only four machine guns, whereas the British have six, and some of their later types also carry a 37-millimeter gun.

Two firms have produced (actually manufactured) a ship capable of carrying four machine guns and a 37-millimeter cannon, but it is understood the total is only two. Another firm is now constructing a bomber with a wing spread of 235 feet and costing $2,500,000. But most of the models now rolling off the assembly lines as a result of earlier orders will be obsolete—that is, for the 1941 kind of sky fighting—before the paint on them is dry.

• • •

CONSEQUENCE: Our Navy people have lost their historic awe of Britain's Imperial Fleet as a result of their opportunity for closeup observation during the war. As with the land forces of England, our Navy has numerous observers with England's ships all around the world.

Our men take their hats off to the skillful seamanship, the doggedness and the bravery of British crews and officers, they can take it and they can give it as in the past. But our officers now believe that man for man, ship for ship, gun for gun, the American Navy far outranks Britain's. With respect to equipment which makes for the morale of the sailors, our vessels excel. And this is a vital consideration in wartime.

The changed attitude will undoubtedly have deep significance in construction of our warships and their handling. Under the spell of traditional awe, our experts were less willing to try anything new—to experiment. There have been exceptions—the secret bombsight exemplifies that fact—but it has too long accounted for a spirit of caution and Trafalgar-like thinking.

• • •

VITAL: National Defense Commissioner William S. Knudsen's closest friend—his pal—is Charles F. Kettering, jr., research man and engineer for General Motors. Neither dotes on the average man's pastimes—cards, golf, etc.—and they spend their spare moments in discussing engines and blueprints.

Mr. Kettering has been sputtering privately for some months about the loose-endedness of the agency which his old friend heads. From his career in private industry, he realized that there had to be a "boss," and kept pounding away with the idea whenever the two got together. "If you put one hen on one egg," was his homely simile, "you will hatch a chicken at the proper time. But if you put seven hens on one egg, you get a fight. That's the trouble with the outfit you head, Bill!"

But Mr. Knudsen is impressively quiet and easy-going with respect to human relations. He did not want to worry the President, or seem to show any disrespect toward his original associates. He held back from a showdown at the White House. How he really felt was reflected in his "terrible urgency" and "the time is shorter than you think" statements. So, when Mr. Roosevelt asked him to submit recommendations for reorganization, he accepted Mr. Kettering's chicken-and-egg advice. Thus the latter may be regarded as the activating spirit behind the reform of our national defense system.

• • •

ONE: Sidney Hillman's elevation to the diamond horseshoe of the National Defense commission may not be such a favorable wind for labor as pacans by Administration spokesmen forecast. It may permit the President to do a few painful but necessary things which organized labor (or some section of it) will not like.

Having chosen a CIO-er for this high post, Mr. Roosevelt may now feel free to solve the problem of Frances Perkins by picking an AFL man as her successor. His advisers have always considered that some sort of split in favors would furnish an ideal solution, but until this latest opportunity came along (or was pushed), they could not invent a labor job coequal with that of Secretary of Labor.

Hillman's honors may also enable the administration to relax some of the laws (Walsh-Healey and Wage-Hours) which admittedly handicap all-out production for war or thereabouts. Army-Navy men insist that longer hours without overtime must be installed to do the national defense job, but so far Mr. Hillman and his allies have resisted them. Eventually Mr. Hillman may be persuaded, and such a recommendation from a labor man on the inside of the inside would carry great weight with his CIO fellows. A similar suggestion from an AFL secretary might make it unanimous.

NEW YORK
By Richard Wahls

BACK of the scheduled erection of new American shipyards for exclusive production of British freighters is the disclosure, now frankly made by British authorities, that German U-boat manufacture is definitely on a mass production basis. By this overworked phrase the Britons mean an intensification of the German system in use before the war and tripled since German engineers took over the plant facilities of six conquered nations. Germany's sub-making assembly line extends literally from Warsaw to the Saar, with scores of scattered factories deep inland turning out the parts that are assembled "from Bergen to Brest."

The $50,000,000 trial order allocated for construction of new American shipyards is the forerunner of 10 times the amount which the British Ministry of Shipping will place here in a competing attempt to turn out more surface craft than the Germans can sink. Marine circles already refer to the coming mass production unit as a "pointed box" —a steel hull with old style rivets instead of the costly and time killing welded seam an engine, and a disproportionate amount of deck space. The ships will violate many of the modern standards of the shipyard's art, but Churchill wants tonnage in a 20-to-1 ratio to Nazi U-Boat assembly, and the quickies are the answer.

Incidentally, well posted shipping executives discredit the report that Germany is ferrying dismantled subs down the Danube for Black Sea assembly and an eventual thrust at the British Mediterranean fleet. England has few merchants ships between Gibraltar and Suez and the dreadnaught is not the submarine's meat. As fast as produced the subs are launched in the North Atlantic for exclusive concentration on objective No. 1, the food lines to the British Isles.

• • •

ANSWER: By April of 1941 a disputed point of air supremacy should be settled by the emergence of of eight new fighting planes from factories of England, Germany and the U. S. all of which are reported to have qualities which make the fighters of 1940 virtually obsolete.

Our aviation experts list four American craft, the Grumman Skyrocket, the United Vought Fighter, Bell's Airacobra and the Lockheed Interceptor as the models which can be modified in time to battle it out with Europe's latest.

Also scheduled for spring appearance is an entirely revamped version of the German Junkers bombers, whose debut has been hinted at by so many dispatches that the aviation crowd already speaks of it by several different names. Its virtue is reported to be a combination of pursuit speed and maneuverability, and an extra bomb capacity.

From England come well substantiated reports that Nazi research will be matched by an interceptor which climbs faster than our own celebrated P-40 and which will outgun anything the Germans have which isn't fastened to the ground. How many can be produced by England's disrupted aviation industry is still speculative. In any event the so-called complexity of modern war at this stage is still largely a question of subjecting better sky artillery.

"I admire her nerve, whatever happens—he'll either fire her or make her assistant manager!"

Here And There In Texas

By WILLIAM T. RIVES
Associated Press Staff Writer

SIX YEARS ago Mayor Oscar Holcomb handed Neal Pickett a gold key signifying he had been chosen Houston's outstanding young citizen that year.

As he delivered the token, Holcombe said:

"I will not try to enumerate the things this man has done — there have been far too many of them.

• • •

He's Not Dismayed

The mayor might well have placed his remarks in the future tense, for today Neal Pickett is preparing to take over Holcombe's office, after administering a crushing defeat to the man who had been elected mayor seven times—the same man who handed him that gold key in 1934.

When Pickett walks into the city hall tomorrow to assume the job of running the biggest—and still growing—city in the Southwest, it will be the first time he has held public office.

But Pickett is undaunted by the prospect.

"I don't believe that is the hardest job in Houston," he said of the mayor's office. "A good executive picks good department heads and lets them run things for him."

• • •

TWO YEARS ago, Pickett ran for mayor but Holcombe lapped the field of four candidates. Pickett ran second, although he jumped into the race late.

He carefully set his sights, and this year he was ready. The issue was between Holcombe and Pickett alone—the four city commissioners were re-elected—and the 37-year-old son of a carpenter won by more than 2 to 1—47,609 votes to 22,913.

Holcombe failed to carry his own precinct.

There was nothing unusual about the campaign. Pickett attacked, and Holcombe stood upon, the mayor's record.

• • •

Horatio Alger Story

Pickett was christened Cornelius Augustus at his birth in Houston in 1902, but the name was too long and soon he was called merely by the second syllable of his first name—Neal.

Horatio Alger could have done well by Neal Pickett's story, the story of the successful struggle of a poor youth against odds.

Neal was one of six children of Cornelius and Margaret Pickett, who now live in Beaumont. They took the family to Brazoria when Neal was six years old.

There he farmed, sold newspapers and magazines, clerked in a grocery store, organized a troop of Boy Scouts and was captain of the high school basketball team.

The ingenuity and initiative characteristic of the new mayor is exemplified in one of his childhood incidents. Young Neal needed a suit of clothes, so he gathered pecans about Brazoria until he had 100 pounds.

Then he wrote a Houston merchant and offered him the pecans in exchange for a suit of clothes. The deal was struck.

NEAL'S last year of high school education was spent at Beaumont and after working a year for former Gov. W. P. Hobby, then editor of the Beaumont Enterprise, and as a packing company clerk, he had enough money saved to start him toward a college education.

Neal walked on the University of Texas campus with $30, but he finished out the four-year course, running a tailor shop, washing dishes for meals, and finding time enough to participate in campus athletics and other activities.

Marries Boyhood Girl

The Daily Texan of Nov. 12, 1925, in an item concerning the forthcoming Pre-Med dance, said:

"C. A. Pickett, president of the society, will lead the grand march, honoring Miss Margaret Tarborough of Chandler."

Two years later Pickett led Miss Tarborough to the altar. They have three children, Margaret Ann, 12, Patricia Jane, 10, and Neal, 22 months.

Before going to Houston, Pickett was secretary of the Mount Pleasant Chamber of Commerce.

In Houston, he became secretary of the Houston Insurance Exchange and later of the Lumbermen's Association of Texas. He also has headed the Harris county Young Democrats and the Houston Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Running a $19,000,000 corporation—the City of Houston—is a tremendous responsibility, but five-foot, four inch Neal Pickett faces the job with confidence.

He intends to utilize plans formed by experts to improve and operate the city, keeping careful to remain abreast of Houston's tremendous growth.

As mayor, he will make all appointments, prepare the budget and preside over the city council.

The mayor has only one vote on the city council, but usually he dictates its policies.

PARKER SHEARIN, of Van Alstyne, whose 12-gauge shotgun was stolen nearly five years ago, got his weapon back the other day.

Taken from a hobo in Oklahoma by an officer, the gun's ownership was traced through its serial number. It cost Shearin 31 cents postage to get it back.

Average length of life today is much longer than ever before since accurate records have been kept.

YEAR-END RECOVERY EXTENDED

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP) — The stock market extended its year-end recovery today as tax selling waned and sold-out customers reinstated some of their commitments.

Gains ranged from fractions to around 2 points although top marks were cut in many instances at the close. Issues with a war flavor were most prominent on the upside but virtually all departments participated in the recovery.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks held a net advance of .4 of a point at 43.6. The day's improvement was the best since Nov. 9. Transfers totalled 1,179,277 against 1,272,710 last Friday.

Part of the bullishness was attributed to the president's blast at the dictators.

There was a smattering of new year's highs registered, including Timken-Detroit Axle and Mack Truck.

In the advancing column were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Dow Chemical, Westinghouse, Johns-Manville, Eastman Kodak, American Can, Air Reduction, Kennecott, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Chrysler, Yellow Truck, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, J. I. Case, Douglas Aircraft and Consolidated Edison.

Tilting forward in the curb were Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, Gulf Oil, Aluminum of America, Todd Shipyards, N. J. Zinc and Electric Bond and Share. The turnover here was around 332,000 shares versus 320,000 in the preceding full session.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP)—Cotton futures swept forward to the season's highest prices today on active demand generated by firmness in other staples and securities. Final prices were up 8 to 11 points.

Gains were scored in the face of reported sales of 15,000 bales of July by a Southern mill interest. The selling was believed a hedge against purchase of actual cotton for future delivery.

Buying came from New Orleans, while the trade covered and mills fixed prices.

Exports Saturday 25 bales; season so far 597,500; port receipts 5,033. Port stocks 3,370,974.

Middling 15-16ths-inch average was 9.83 cents.

Grain . . .

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 30 (AP)—Potential rather than actual demand kept grain prices on a firm basis today.

Implications of economic aspects of the national defense program, the president's speech and reports of depleted flour and cash wheat stocks in private hands were factors which, if not stimulating purchases of grain futures, at least limited sales.

Final wheat quotations were ⅛ lower to ½ higher than Saturday, May 86⅞-86⅞, July 81⅞. Corn closed ⅛ to ¼ up, May 62⅞, July 64⅞; oats unchanged; soybeans ⅛ to ⅛ lower; rye unchanged to ⅛ off and lard 2 to 10 lower.

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30. — Nine insurance companies received government benefits of more than $100,000 each for participating in 1939 farm programs, the Agriculture department revealed today.

Chief beneficiary was the Metropolitan Life Insurance company of New York, which got $266,732. There were 13 payments totaling more than $100,000, including those which went to two federal land banks and two state agencies.

Missouri Girl Wins Coveted Film Prize

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 30. (AP) — Martha Scott, a 25-year-old Missouri girl who a year ago would have exchanged her chances in the movies for a one-way ticket back to Broadway, today received one of the film industry's most coveted awards.

It was Redbook magazine's silver cup presented annually for the "most distinguished contribution to the art of the motion picture." The recognition was shared by Producer Sol Lesser, Director Sam Wood and members of the cast of "Our Town."

Miss Scott came to Hollywood by way of Broadway from Jamesport, Mo., to take a screen test for the part of Melanie in "Gone with the Wind." But her face was "all wrong" and she was not "photogenic." Producers cast her sights in favor of Olivia de Havilland.

Lesser looked at the test when he started making "Our Town" and shuddered. Every trick in the make-up department had been employed to make over Miss Scott's already pretty face. Lesser was desperate, with almost the entire cast drawing pay and no picture in production. A photographer suggested photographing Miss Scott as nature intended she be, and she was given the role.

Liquor Should Have 'Poison' Designation, Psychiatrists Declare

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 30. (AP)—Three psychiatrists, participating in a symposium on alcohol, proposed today that every bottle of liquor sold in the United States should be labeled "poison."

Drs. Merrill Moore and Abraham Myerson, both of Boston, and Isaac Alexander of Harvard declared the federal food and drug administration should require all distillers to place on their bottles label warning that the liquid is a narcotic drug which is definitely harmful.

"Alcoholism is 1,000 times a greater problem than any other narcotic drug," Dr. Moore said.

RABBI CHOOSES BRADY.

ABERNATHY — Lamb county draft board here announced that the Jan. 20 call could be more than met with volunteers. Twenty white men are to be called that day, and the board has 29 men who have volunteered.

As An Expert Sees It—

Behind War News

By ELMER L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Amid a welter of speculation over impending German moves to come to final grips with Britain, President Roosevelt has sounded a note of new year prophecy that drowns out the din of the immediate conflict overseas.

"I believe that the Axis powers are not going to win this war" he told a world radio audience. "I base that belief on the latest and best information."

The significance of the prophecy springs from the citation of its factual foundation. There can be no doubt that "the latest and best information" available to the president is extensive, both in regard to Britain's ability to meet any new German assault, and American ability to furnish her the means of final victory.

Weeks ago British cabinet spokesmen told Parliament that they were making "a clean breast" to Washington of Britain's war resources, military, economic and financial.

A complete picture of Britain's war status has been given the president. It well may include full information as to exactly how, if not when, the London government expects to turn the tables on its Axis foes and carry the fighting to them on all fronts.

More Than Greeting.

Against that background of information, the Roosevelt prophecy is far more than a word of new year good cheer to bomb-battered England. It represents a consensus of Washington officialdom that Britain has already turned the corner in her fight for survival.

It is clearly to supply her with the means of taking the offensive that the president has invoked his countrymen to a supreme effort. His words must be considered against the background of recent British intimations that the new year, 1941, would see the possibility of complete and final victory over Nazidom, given the all-out American material aid Mr. Roosevelt has now pledged.

That expression of American policy and determination repudiated utterly a stalemate end of the war. It banned American encouragement of peace talk as without "right or reason" until the day comes "when there is a clear intention on the part of the aggressor nations to abandon all thought of dominating or conquering the world." That means until both Hitler and Mussolini and their régimes have been destroyed.

There was another obvious purpose in the president's mind. On information and belief he shares the London view that Italian morale never hoped for participation in the war or for the Rome-Berlin fellowship, has been badly shaken by the defeats the Fascist troops have suffered at Greek and British hands.

Official reaction in Berlin or Rome to the Roosevelt address deserves less attention that its possible effect upon French opinion, or upon Bulgarian, Yugoslavian and Turkish elements of the seething Balkan situation, or perhaps most of all, upon Russia. The president's prophecy of Axis defeat in view of his intimate knowledge of Britain's situation could deeply influence any or all of them, and the trend of the war in the East.

Checks Not Flowers Decorations On Grave

Checks for a worthy cause—not flowers—decorated the grave of an aged Littlefield resident who died several days ago.

Before Mrs. Lena Howard, 85, died she requested that her friends place checks and not flowers on her grave, and that the money be given to a worthy cause.

Approximately $200 in checks was placed on the mound at the burial service Dec. 21 and later collected and sent to Buckner orphanage.
