

Explosion Aftermath

The explosion early Thursday morning at the Henry Vaught Gulf service station left the station in total ruin. The blast was triggered by escaping natural gas in the back store room-office of the building. In the center of the picture can be seen all that remains of the concrete block wall that divided the building's two rooms. Night attendant Lewis Shackelford and customer C. W. Whitmore were burned in the explosion.

FOR ECONOMIC GROWTH

Industrial Team Supports Bonds

Colorado City Industrial Team Inc. board of directors Saturday announced its continued support for the city's water and street improvement bond programs.

Charles C. Thompson, president of the Industrial Team, said the board of directors were specific in placing their public support behind both portions of the $435,000 bond proposal—street paving as well as water facilities.

The official boost from the Industrial Team directors follows on the heels of similar endorsement from the Chamber of Commerce board of directors.

Dr. Seth Cowan last week informed the Citizens Committee for a Greater Colorado City that the Chamber board was backing the water and street bond program for the city's "future industrial and residential growth."

The Industrial Team and the Chamber of Commerce are sole organizations devoted entirely to the economic, business and industrial growth of the community.

Like the Chamber board, the Industrial Team directors based their support for the Feb. 18 bond issue vote on the premise that the improvements to be financed by the bonds are essential to the community's welfare and future expansion.

"Colorado City Industrial Team Inc.," the director's statement of support emphasizes, "is an organization dedicated to encouraging and assisting the industrial development of Colorado City and its entire community."

Explosion Victims are Out of Danger

Two men injured in the fiery explosion at Henry Vaught Gulf service station Thursday morning were reported in satisfactory condition in Root Memorial Hospital Saturday.

The 2 night attendant Lewis Shackelford and customer C. W. Whitmore, from Rule, were seriously burned in the blast that completely wrecked the station.

Doctors said Saturday that both were in satisfactory condition without any complications. Both were reported out of danger, but resting uncomfortably due to the burns.

Each suffered mostly first and second degree burns with minor areas of third degree burns. Shackelford was burned about the face and most seriously on his hands. Whitmore had burns on his right arm and right finger tips and left hand. He also suffered face burns.

Owner Vaught said Saturday that he had no definite plans for the station in the future. He stated he might yield to offer and sell the property or possibly might rebuild.

Graduated Scale Is Approved

City Council in a special session Friday night approved a boost in Colorado City water rates.

The revision is designed to foot the bill, so to speak, for a proposed $385,000 bond issue for water improvements which will be put to public vote Saturday, Feb. 18.

And the early action by City Council is with the aim for the citizens to see the definite rate structure in advance of the election.

However, council's action Friday night in the special meeting places the new rates into effect immediately.

The present water minimum of $2.50 is unchanged by the rate revision.

But the qualification for the minimum bill is changed from 0 to 4,000 gallons per month to 0 to 3,000 gallons.

From that base, a graduated water price scale is set up with the price per 1,000 gallons declining with the amount of water used.

This graduated scale—proposed by the city's consulting engineers for the water bond program of improvements—is designed to respect the consumer who uses a small amount of water each month and, at the same time, to trim the cost of water per 1,000 gallons to large volume purchasers.

There is no difference in the rate for commercial or residential users—the same rate applies to both.

And the question of "big tap" charges is eliminated, too, with the graduated scale based on volume.

Infact, the council Friday night voted to refund to "big tap" users extra water fees held in escrow for several months while the city studied its water facilities and water rate structure.

Here are the new monthly rates for water:

0 to 3,000 gallons — $2.50 minimum
3,000 to 20,000 gallons — 40 cents per 1,000 gallons
20,000 to 50,000 gallons — 35 cents per 1,000 gallons
50,000 to 100,000 gallons 30 cents per 1,000 gallons
Over 100,000 gallons — 25 cents per 1,000 gallons.

This rate structure means that those who keep their water usage down to the minimum (3,000 gallons or under per month) will pay no more than the previous $2.50 monthly minimum.

It also means that approximately 70 per cent of the city's residents will have monthly water bills boosting ranging only from 40 cents to $1.75.

Here is a comparison of monthly water bills now and under the new rates at 7 levels above the $2.50 minimum:

3,000 gallons — $3.50 new, up 10 cents from $2.50.
10,000 gallons — $5.50 new, up $1 from $4.50.
15,000 gallons — $7.50 new, up $1.75 from $5.75.
20,000 gallons — $9.50 new, up $2.00 from $7.50.
25,000 gallons — $11.50 new, up $2.00 from $9.50.
30,000 gallons — $13.50 new, up $2.00 from $11.50.
35,000 gallons — $15.50 new, up $2.00 from $13.50.
40,000 gallons — $17.50 new, up $2.00 from $15.50.
45,000 gallons — $19.50 new, up $2.00 from $17.50.
50,000 gallons — $21.50 new, up $2.00 from $19.50.
55,000 gallons — $23.50 new, up $2.00 from $21.50.
60,000 gallons — $25.50 new, up $2.00 from $23.50.
65,000 gallons — $27.50 new, up $2.00 from $25.50.
70,000 gallons — $29.50 new, up $2.00 from $27.50.
75,000 gallons — $31.50 new, up $2.00 from $29.50.
80,000 gallons — $33.50 new, up $2.00 from $31.50.
85,000 gallons — $35.50 new, up $2.00 from $33.50.
90,000 gallons — $37.50 new, up $2.00 from $35.50.
95,000 gallons — $39.50 new, up $2.00 from $37.50.
100,000 gallons — $41.50 new, up $2.00 from $39.50.

The bill reports approach $3.50 per month of the new rate structure for 3,000 gallons of water monthly and $41.50 for 100,000 gallons.

KEEP IT MOVING

By Howard Hardcastle

I spent a few minutes in a phone booth the other day. It was torture. Sheer torture. It had nothing to do with the conversation. You see, the little fan in the booth didn't work and the air became so stagnant I could have choked. Worse luck, I had to keep the door closed to see some notes I was using.

It reminded me of homes and hotel rooms I have been in. You know the kind... closed tight and heated for warmth, but no provision for air movement or ventilation. Just goes to prove that heat alone is not enough for comfort. Air circulation is vital for that fresh, free feeling.

Any heating system that does not offer continuous, gentle circulation of air simply is not a comfort system. Many of the good systems even bring in some fresh outdoor air.

Oddly enough, the greatly improved comfort produced by continuous air circulation costs less than the discomfort of no air circulation. That's because circulating air makes use of all the heat. Without circulation, much heat rises to the ceiling and then slowly escapes outdoors. You've paid good money for that heat, but it didn't do you much good. Gentle circulation would have mixed that heat with cooler air, kept temperatures even from floor to ceiling... giving you greater comfort, better health protection and savings on fuel.

We have found that, in many cases, a "poor furnace" or a "problem home" for heating are quickly corrected by proper adjustment of the furnace blower which moves the air. Could be it's what you need, just call us at

ON LAND NEAR LORAIN

T. Branch Enters into Conservation Program

Complete conservation treatment in 3 years.

That is the aim of Travis S. Branch of Loraine on 600 acres of land, belonging to the D. W. Wallace Estate, 3 miles south of Loraine, Texas. The work is being done under the Great Plains Conservation Program.

During the latter part of 1960, Branch asked the local Soil Conservation Service technicians for assistance on terracing. William L. Penny, one of the local technicians, while planning with Branch on the 600-acre farm, noted the large number of conservation jobs that needed to be done. He explained to Branch how the Great Plains Program is designed to help speed up a complete coordinated conservation treatment of an entire farm or ranch. Financial help is provided as fast as the producer is able to carry out his part, Penny told him.

Branch liked this idea and with Penny's assistance worked out a conservation plan that was acceptable and met the needs of the land to keep it permanently productive. A time schedule and an itemized cost estimate were included.

After all the details were worked out to suit Branch's operations, he entered into a contract with the Government to carry out the conservation plan. The Government agreed to pay 70 to 80 per cent of the cost of most practices.

The plan consists of terrace 20 miles; diversion construction, approximately 1 mile to control outside water; range seeding, seeding blue panicum, sorghum, and alfalfa; proper use of rangeland; contour farming; conservation cropping system; management of crop residues for soil improvement and wind erosion control; and readjusting of fences after the majority of the conservation work is done for proper management of the farm unit.

The ASC is assisting Branch with approximately 5 miles of terraces. Branch intends to continue to use any assistance that is available in helping him carry out his Great Plains Conservation Contract.

Any farmer or rancher interested in a Great Plains

Conservation Program or their land may obtain information from any Soil Conservation Service employee at the Colorado City Work Unit.

She said that the graduate first door prize will be a table lamp from Pennington Furniture; second prize, pair of dresser lamps from Herring Furniture; 3rd prize, serving tray from J. P. Majors; and 4th prize, horse collar from Berry Lee Lumber.

Here are Nine Solid Facts You Should Consider In Planning Your Advertising:

- 1 The newspaper is an advertising medium that is WANTED—it is sought after and paid for, and advertising in it is not an intruder in the home.
- 2 Nearly all of a newspaper's circulation is CONCENTRATED in its market area — without over-extending into less promising markets.
- 3 The newspaper provides PENETRATION in the primary market by reaching virtually every family or customer in that market.
- 4 People read newspaper ads when they are ready to make a decision and to act — WHEN THEY'RE READY TO BUY.
- 5 The newspaper is convenient; it may be consulted at a time most CONVENIENT to every member of the family.
- 6 People LIKE TO READ NEWSPAPER ADVERTISEMENTS—Surveys show 85% of people want their newspapers to contain advertising.
- 7 Every issue of every newspaper contains INFORMATION AND FEATURES of interest to every member of the family.
- 8 Newspaper reading is a habit and a part of people's routine.
- 9 The printed word is MORE RELIABLE THAN the spoken word and it cannot be refuted because it is easily available for re-checking. More accurate information is obtained by reading than listening.

Wolves Clobber Lake View, 71-56, Friday

Clinton Compton poured in 34 points to pace the Colorado City Wolves to an easy 71-56 victory over the Lakeview Chiefs in a District 3-AAA game played in Wolf Gym Friday night.

Compton hit for 13 field goals and 8 free shots on the night for the big total to pace all of the game's scorers. John Moore, the Wolves' big pivot man, controlled the backboards, along with Spider Loveless, and Moore added 18 points of his own. The Wolves rolled to a 17-6 lead at the end of the first quarter and were never challenged again in the entire game. The hapless Chiefs pulled up to within 9 points of the Wolves twice in the second half, but numerous fouls and cool floor-shooting kept them from making a real threat for the lead.

Coach Caddo Matthews' squad found the offensive key it times in the second half and 3 times had a lead of more than 20 points.

Lakeview aided the Wolves by committing 29 fouls and the Wolves capitalized on the shots for 17 points from the courtesy line. C-City also committed 20 on their own.

Roy Probst and Dan Tomlinson paced the Chiefs with 18 points each. Bob Meek hit for 12 to get into the double figures.

Colorado City, now assured of a fourth place finish in the five team race, now has a record of 2 wins and 5 losses in District play. The Chiefs are doomed to the cellar with an 0-8 district mark with their season completed.

The Wolves close out their regular season in Sweetwater Tuesday night against the Mustangs.

The B-teamers tied up in a real thriller in the opening game of the night and the Chiefs took that one 58-56.

The lead changed hands numerous times all through the game and was not decided until the minute of play when Lakeview got a 2-point lead and went in a modified stall.

Charles Houston paced the C-City attack with 20 points and Lee Schafer added 12 and Don Hairston hit for 10. Sanders paced the chiefs with 17.

By VERN SANFORD

You'll be surprised to learn that the most common cause of outboard motor trouble is lead poisoning. It costs many outboarders considerable time, pleasure and money. To put it plainly, the trouble stems from the use of gasoline which contains lead compound. For you, the simple answer is to demand marine white gasoline for your two-cycle outboard motor. It costs less per gallon. It performs better in the two-cycle. And it doesn't injure your motor like the more expensive, high octane fuels do.

Both the regular and the premium grades of automotive gasoline contain sufficient lead to cause trouble when used in two-cycle motors. Fuel requirements of the automobile motor and the two-cycle outboard differ greatly. The two-cycle outboard engine has low octane requirements, unlike the high compression four-cycle automobile engine. In the two-cycle outboard, oil is mixed with the gas, therefore oil enters the combustion chamber. Lead-fouling of the spark plugs is a natural result. Accumulated lead deposits on the insulator tip, and on the electrodes, eventually short out the spark plugs, because the lead deposits are electrical conductors.

This, of course, prevents ignition of the fuel-air mixture, which in turn leads to wet-fouling — due to the accumulation of unburned fuel on the electrodes.

Researches with Kiekhafer Corporation have been studying the problem for some time. They say that projecting spots or flakes of deposited material, sometimes becomes incandescent and ignites the fuel-air charge before the spark occurs, causing pre-ignition. Result is loss of power and possibility of engine damage.

Another problem is obstruction of the exhaust ports by deposit build-up.

At this point, faced with an expensive tear down to remove deposits, many outboard owners make a second mistake in an effort to correct the trouble caused by leaded gas. They resort to a detergent motor oil. Then the trouble really starts.

Outboard motor manufacturers and engine lubrication experts are in solid agreement that modern automobile oils are not suited to outboard use. In fact, the worst oils for two-cycle outboard engines are the higher priced "heavy duty" or "premium grade" automobile oils.

Mercury's engineers point out that automobile engine oil contains a dilution inhibitor which makes the oil extremely resistant to mixing with gasoline, as required for outboard motor fuel.

Gasoline-oil separation puts a layer of oil at the bottom of the outboard tank, with gasoline at the top and various proportions of gasoline and oil between. Since the fuel pick-up is located at the bottom of the tank, the engine may get a high proportion of oil when the tank is full and almost straight gasoline when the tank is nearly empty.

Therefore the engine may smoke excessively and foul plugs at first, then overheat, and possibly score the pistons because the remaining fuel contains insufficient oil.

Other additives in automobile engine oils are the "viscosity index improvers" which minimize viscosity changes due to temperature variations.

These are desirable in automobile four-cycle lubrication systems, to insure adequate oil flow and distribution for cold weather starting and warming up; also to prevent excessive thinning of the oil at normal operating temperatures.

However, these additives are unnecessary for two-cycle outboard engine lubrication and only add to the accumulation of harmful deposits.

Furthermore, the advance of high compression, high output automobile engines presented new lubrication problems which necessitated the addition of metallic detergents to the oil for the purpose of inhibiting varnish formations and piston ring sticking.

In four-cycle engines the oil is effectively confined to the crankcase and very little leaks past the piston rings into the combustion chamber.

In a two-cycle engine the oil must be mixed with the gasoline and so practically all of these metallic detergents and other additives enter the cylinders, above the pistons, and form deposits when they come in contact with the hot surfaces of spark plugs, piston crowns and combustion chambers.

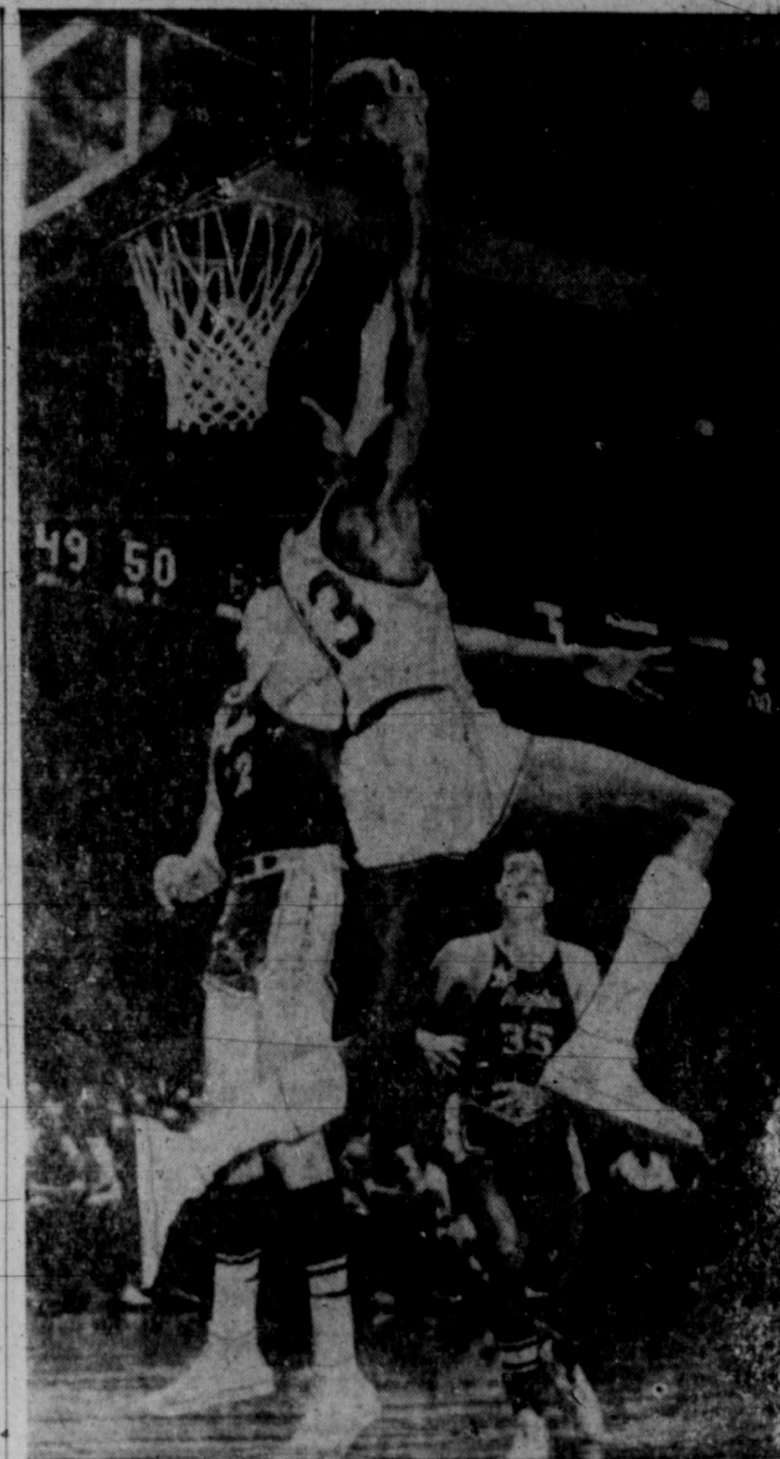

These deposits cause pre-ignition and detonation, which result in piston crown burning, piston scuffing and cylinder wall scoring. Frequently metallic deposits bridge a spark plug gap so that it cannot fire and this, in turn, results in the spark plug fouling.

According to Mercury engineers the preferred outboard oil is refined from paraffin base crude obtainable only from wells located in specific geographic areas. The base stock is blended with organic detergents rather than with the inorganic metallic detergents used in automobile oils.
