20 SENTENCED FOR AIDING OUTLAWS

MOTHERS OF THREE TEXAS DESPERADOES IN GROUP

DALLAS, Feb. 27.—Mothers of three Texas outlaws were under jail sentences last night, convicted by the federal government in its campaign to punish persons who aid bandits.

The three mothers, Mrs. Cumie Barrow, Mrs. Emma Parker and Mrs. Steve Hamilton Davis, were sentenced to 30 days in jail for aiding Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker in the flight from the law.

Mrs. Davis is the mother of Raymond Hamilton, who became the southwest's most-hunted bad man after the deaths of Clyde Barrow and Pretty Boy Floyd.

Twenty persons were sentenced today for harboring Clyde and Bonnie. Sentences ranged from one hour in jail for relatives who merely conversed with the fugitives, to two years in prison for Floyd Hamilton, Raymond's brother and allegedly his companion in numerous crimes.

Judge William H. Atwell expressed sympathy for the defendants as he sentenced them today. "I hate to do this," he said. "You would be surprised at the number of letters I have received in behalf of many of these defendants."

He expressed special sympathy for Mrs. Davis, who had sat in court while newsboys out in the street shouted word of her son's latest escapade and his narrow escape from death.

The judge, however, sharply criticized three boys who were kidnaped by Ray Hamilton and his companion, rode with them for hours, and then obeyed instructions to return home, 80 miles from where they were released, before spreading the alarm.

TEACHERS HEAR MUSIC LECTURE

Miss Ada V. Clark Completes Demonstration Lessons in County Yesterday

Demonstration lessons on how to teach music to public school children were given to Hall County teachers this week by Miss Ada V. Clark, West Texas State Teachers College faculty member.

At the Monday morning meeting here representatives from Eli, Friendship, Indian Creek, Memphis, Buffalo Flat, Newlin, Salisbury, Wolf Flat and Smith in Donley County were present.

An all-day meeting was held Tuesday at Leslie, Miss Gilreath said. The following schools were represented: Pleasant Valley, Plaska, Webster, Deep Lake, Fairview, Gammage, Leslie, Brice and Churchman.

At the Monday afternoon meeting at Weatherly, Buffalo Flat, Penn Creek, Parnell, Tell and Weatherly were represented, according to Miss Vera Gilreath, county superintendent. Representatives from Turkey, Wolf Flat, Buffalo Flat and Leach were present at the Turkey meeting Monday night.

At the Tuesday meeting at Leslie, Miss Gilreath said. The following schools were represented: Pleasant Valley, Plaska, Webster, Deep Lake, Fairview, Gammage, Leslie, Brice and Churchman.

ALLRED OFFERS REWARD FOR HAMILTON

Criticized Officers For Blocking Work Of Rangers

AUSTIN, Feb. 27.—Governor Allred today posted a $500 reward for information leading to the capture of Raymond Hamilton.

The governor called on all officers to co-operate in capturing the outlaw, and criticized lack of co-operation of police when Hamilton slipped through a trap at McKinney.

Governor Allred said that if officers "hadn't flushed Hamilton and another man that night both would have been killed Monday morning by Rangers."

Study Change in Income Tax Law

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The Senate Finance Committee today set up a sub-committee to confer with a similar group from the House Ways and Means Committee over the advisability of changing the law requiring publicity on income tax returns.

Chairman Harrison announced that Secretary Morgenthau had advised he had no recommendations for a change in the law.

State Relief Bond Held Up by Senate

AUSTIN, Feb. 27.—Issuance of the three and a half million dollar state relief bonds remaining of the 20 million dollar issue in 1933 was delayed today as the Senate refused to accept House amendments.

The Senate called for a conference to adjust the differences.

10 JURORS PICKED IN FATAL STABBING CASE

DALLAS, Feb. 27.—Ten jurors had been selected last night to try Frank Fickera, charged before Judge Nolan G. Williams with the murder of John Murphy Sept. 13, 1934.

Murphy was stabbed in a street altercation and died 13 days afterward. The defense contends his death was due to pneumonia.

Five Men Are Killed In Ship's Explosion

TUNIS, Tunisia, Feb. 27.—Five men were killed and many others injured when a case of explosives blew up Monday in the hold of the French Government S. S. Gouverneur General Jannart as it was unloading at its pier.

Five of the stevedores who were unloading a shipment of pyrotechnic displays were killed outright. Six more were seriously injured and it was believed two of them would die.

Judge Voids Famous Section 7-A of NRA

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 27.—Federal Judge John Neilds today declared unconstitutional and void Section 7-A of the National Industrial Recovery Act.

He dismissed the government's suit for an injunction against the Weirton Steel Company to restrain the company from alleged interference in its worker's selection of collective bargaining representatives.

The government, in its suit, contended that Weirton employ representation plan, or the so-called company union, did not constitute an adequate arrangement of collective bargaining. The case was generally regarded as one of the most important tests of the labor guarantee provisions of the National Industrial Recovery Act.

Justice department officials said today that the government "probably" will appeal the decision of Federal Judge Neilds in the Weirton steel case.

Abandon Search For Freighter With 26 Aboard

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Word was received today by the Radio Marine Corporation that the liner Europa and two other ships had abandoned the search in a mid-Atlantic gale for the freighter Blairgowrie, which reported that she was sinking yesterday.

Last reports were that she was turning over. The Blairgowrie had 26 men aboard.

Bond Refused in Dance Hall Death

LUFKIN, Zavalla community youth, Feb. 27.—Louven Floyd, 30, Zavalla community youth, was held to the grand jury yesterday without bond on a charge of slaying D. Jones, 40, Angelina County farmer, in a dance hall fight early Sunday.

Jones' widow testified that Floyd stabbed her husband in the heart after Jones had accused Floyd of stealing a sack of groceries from his parked automobile while he and Mrs. Jones attended a dance.

'Burning Airplane' Mystery Is Solved

ST. THOMAS, Virgin Islands, Feb. 27.—The mystery of a "burning airplane" reported last Friday off Saba in the Dutch Islands was cleared up by the revelation that airplanes of a British squadron had been practicing bombing near there. Some one apparently saw a bomb explode in mid-air and thought an airplane had blown up.

MacCracken To Jail For 10 Day Term

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Still maintaining his innocence, William P. MacCracken Jr., Assistant Secretary of Commerce for aeronautics in the Hoover administration, Tuesday voluntarily entered the grim District of Columbia jail to serve the ten-day sentence imposed by the Senate a year ago for contempt.

MacCracken, who is secretary of the American Bar Association, had until Saturday to petition the Supreme Court for reconsideration of its decision upholding the Senate's action. But he decided apparently that such a petition would only delay the jail term.

"After careful consideration I have concluded not to petition the Supreme Court for a rehearing of my case, and in accordance with the stipulation I entered into with the sergeant at arms of the Senate, I am surrendering to serve my sentence," he said in a formal statement.

"This I do conscious of the fact that I have done no wrongful act." Once the jail doors clanged shut behind him, MacCracken used them to shield himself from newspaper men and others who clamored to see him.

In fact, he declined to see anyone, and to accumulating requests that he speak to reporters his only answer was to send out to them the same formal statement that had already been given out.

THREE CHARGES THROWN OUT OF COURT

Two Dismissed; Instructed Verdict Of Not Guilty

An instructed verdict of "not guilty" was returned in district court here yesterday afternoon in the case of Walter Seals and Bill Monzingo, charged jointly with "unlawful possession of beer for purpose of sale."

The case was heard by a Hall County jury before District Judge A. J. Fires. Jurors were selected at noon yesterday and interested spectators filled the court room throughout the afternoon.

Judge Fires, who has been ill at his home in Childress, occupied the bench as judge of 100th Judicial District here yesterday for the first time in several months. Judge R. H. Coker, of Wellington, presided during his absence.

Petit jurors were dismissed at 10 o'clock this morning when attorneys reported no jury cases ready for trial. A $1,000 bond, posted for Bryan Hancock charged with driving a car while drunk, was ordered forfeited when Hancock failed to appear for trial today.

Rites Are Held For Auto Victim

TURKEY, Feb. 27.—Funeral services were conducted Sunday at White Flat, near here, for Thomas Stricklin, killed in an automobile accident Saturday afternoon 20 miles east of Tullia.

Mrs. Stricklin and Mr. Stricklin's father, in the car at the time its steering gear broke and the car overturned, were only slightly injured. They received emergency treatment in a Tullia hospital. Mr. Stricklin was killed instantly.

29 Persons Are Killed in Blast

MOSCOW, Feb. 27.—Twenty-nine persons were killed in an explosion and fire which destroyed a Krassin pencil factory Sunday.

The disaster was first disclosed today. The explosion occurred in a high pressure compressor.

Dionnes Nine Months Old—New Pictures

The famous Dionne quintuplets are nine months old tomorrow and their latest pictures appear on page three, section one, of today's Democrat.

NEA Service, which serves this newspaper, has exclusive rights to photograph the noted babies. No other feature service has access to the Dafco Hospital at Corbeil, Ont., where a once obscure country doctor has saved and is developing five tiny lives.

The newest photographs of the quintuplets show clearly the remarkable strides made in their growth and development as they near their first anniversary.

The Daily Democrat is one of a very few newspapers in Texas privileged to carry these history-making pictures.

"There!" Gale whispered, pointing.
The squirrel's head came into view on the opposite side of the tree trunk. Brian picked up an acorn from the ground, moved forward cautiously. But the squirrel was not to be tempted. It ran up the tree again and sat there, chattering loudly.
Gale and Brian walked on. She told him about the squirrel she and Phil had taught to eat from their hands years before and how he had grown bold enough to perch on Phil's shoulder. Brian described the pet coon a friend of his had owned. He told her about animals he had seen in zoos in New York and in Europe. He was fond of animals, particularly bears and monkeys.

SILKEN SPINDLES by Laura Lee Brookman

BEGIN HERE TODAY
GALE HENDERSON, pretty and 23, works in a silk mill. She and her 19-year-old brother, PHIL, support their invalid father.
STEVE MYERS, who also works in the mill asks Gale to marry him. She promises to give him an answer in a few days.
Gale goes skating, breaks through the ice and is rescued by BRIAN WESTMORE whose father, now dead, built the mill. Brian has come home after two years in Paris to enter the mill. Gale disappears before he learns her name.
VICKY THATCHER, daughter of ROBERT THATCHER, general manager of the mill, schemes to captivate Brian.
Gale and Steve quarrel, later make up.
Vicky sees Gale in Brian's office one afternoon and suspects there is an affair between them. Vicky leaves in a rage, determined to show Gale she cannot take Brian from her.
Sunday morning Gale answers a knock on the door. A young man says, "Special delivery for Miss Gale Henderson."
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXIX
Gale took the sheet of paper and pencil. She said "What—" then stopped. In an entirely different tone she went on, "What are you doing here?"
Brian Westmore pushed the cap back from his eyes, grinned engagingly. "I came," he said, "to tell you it's exactly the sort of day to be out tramping around. Won't you come exploring with me?"
"Exploring?"
Brian nodded. "Yes. Down by the river, out toward Deer Creek.

Have you ever been there? We might find a chest of buried treasure or a haunted house. I used to go there on exploration trips when-ever I had a chance when I was a kid. Used to sneak away from home. Once I found a nest of baby field mice and a harmonica that could only play two notes. And another time I discovered a cove I was sure no one else had ever seen. I haven't been out there in five years—but it was always fun. Won't you come?"
"I shouldn't—" Gale began.
"Please! It's a crime to stay indoors on a day like this. And remember, we may find buried treasure."
Gale smiled. She said, "I shouldn't—but I will. Wait until I get my hat and coat."
In five minutes she was back. She had changed her housedress for the short blue skirt she wore for skating and a sweater. Over this she wore her leather jacket, and her hair was tucked under a scarlet tam o' shanter.
Brian sat on the top step, the youngest O'Connor beside him.
"He ith thowing me twicks," the four-year-old announced, tilting his head on one side and gazing with rapt attention as Brian's hands moved deftly. Brian said, "Watch it now!" and suddenly the fingers that had been linked together were separated and yet the links had not been broken.
"Thay!" the youngster exclaimed excitedly. "How'd you do that?"
The young man stood up grinning. "It's the magic words," he said. "'Mumbo-jumbo, umpety-ump.' Say them and you can do it every time. Sorry I can't stay longer, partner. Got to be on my way now."

He and Gale went down the steps, leaving the youngster to experiment with the new trick. They heard the babyish voice re-

QUINTUPLETS REACH THREE-QUARTER MARK OF EXCITING FIRST YEAR—HEALTHY, HAPPY, CHARMS 'QUINTUPLYING'

Nine months of their long fringed life's a

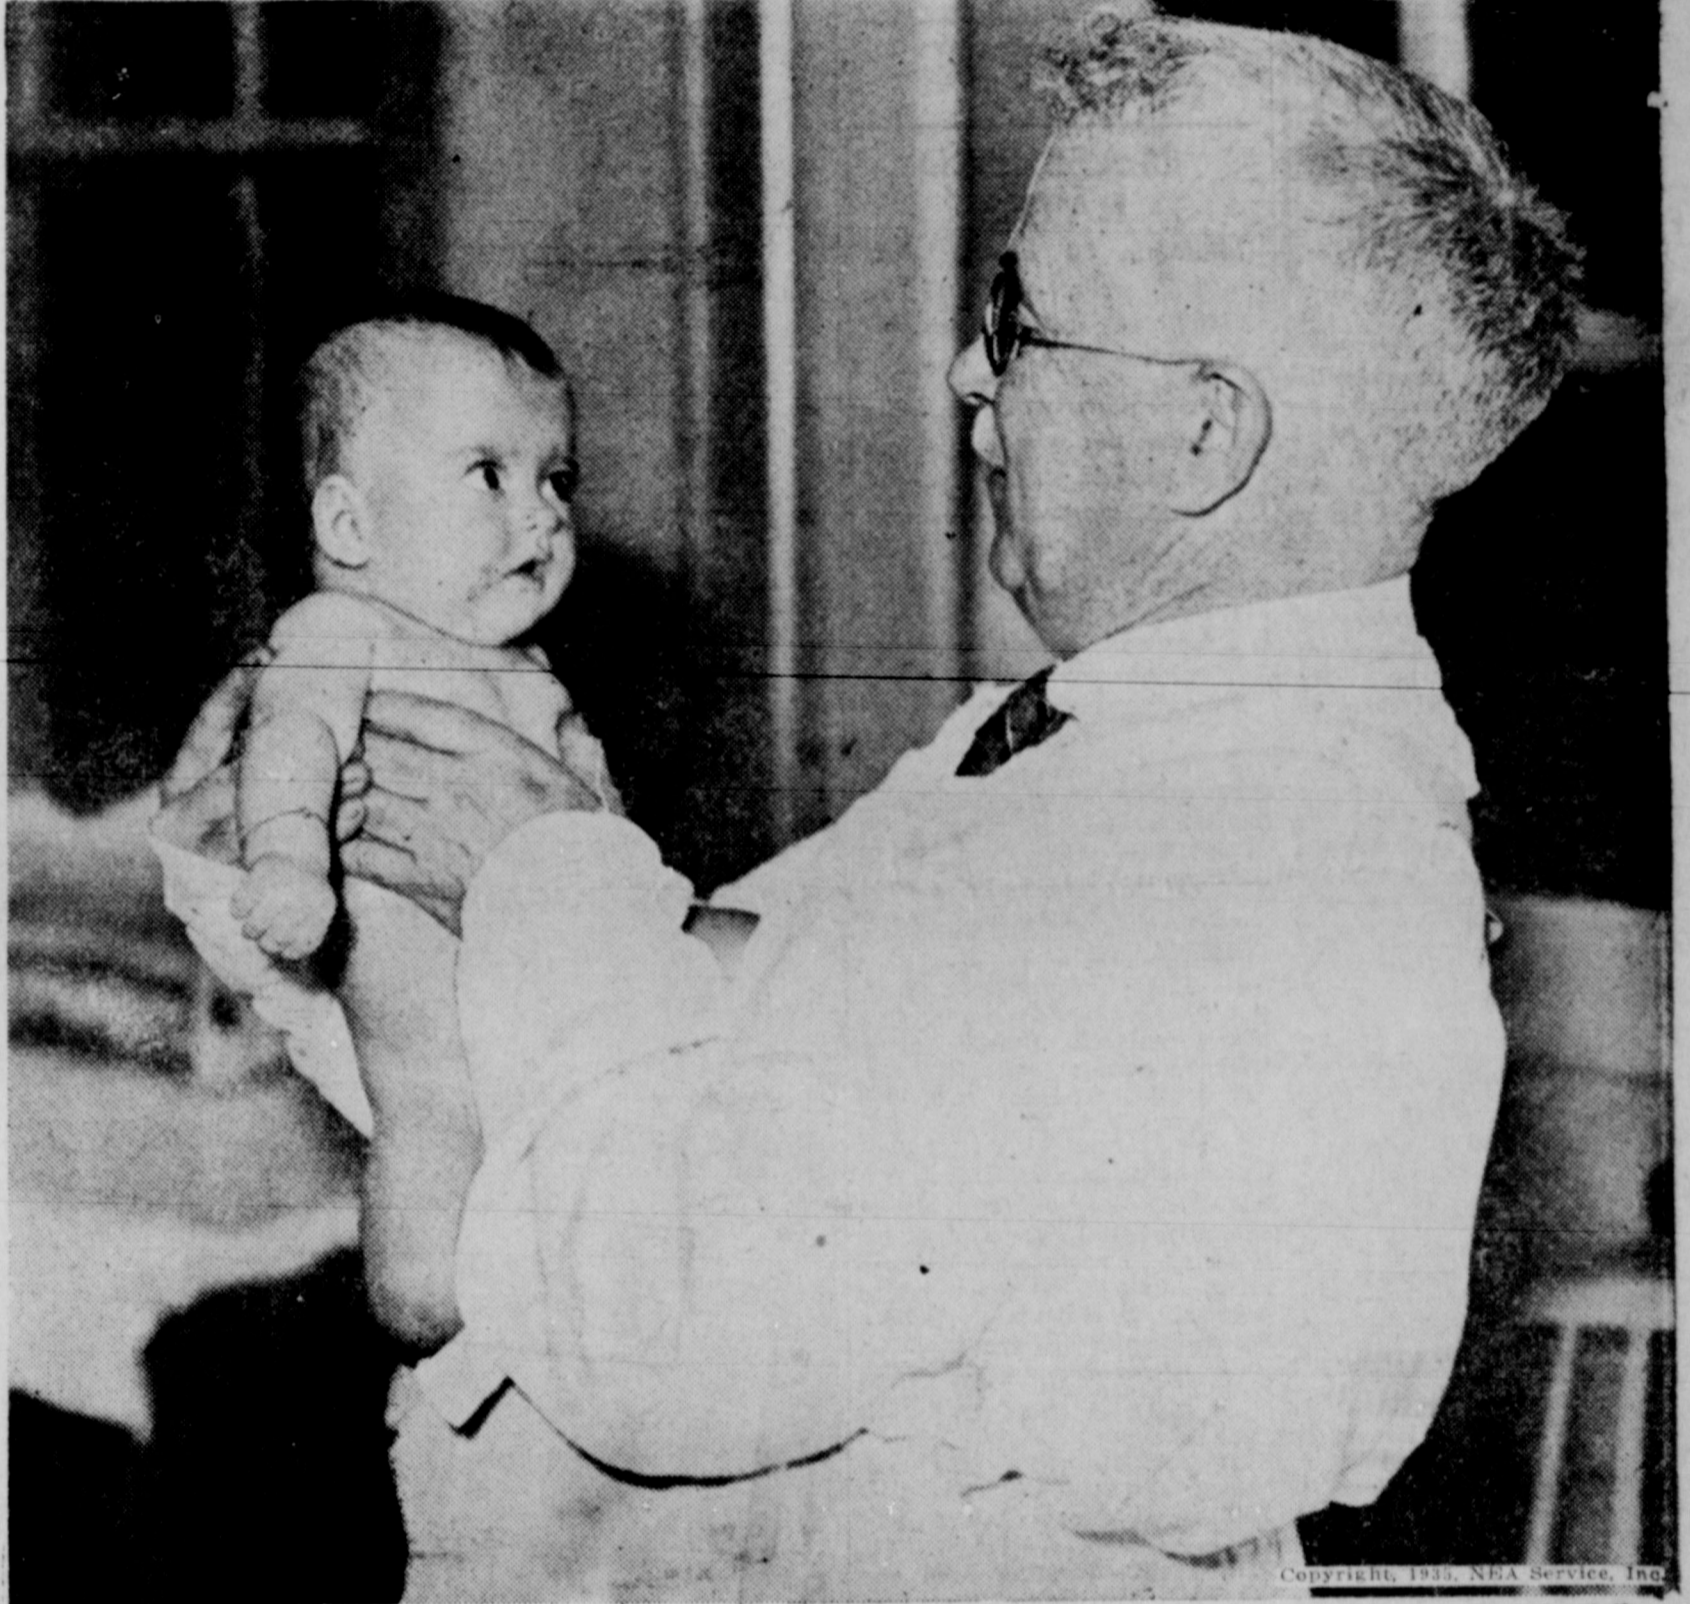

Emelle is grave on her ninth-month anniversary, and some say she's beginning to look just a little like her father, Oliva Dionne.

Yvonne, too, has those long, movie-star eyelashes, though mascara has not yet been introduced in the Dafoe hospital as a beauty aid.

Marie views the anniversary date with gravity as she befits the little lady who has been termed the "Madonna" of the "quins" by their nurses.

Cecille's hair is just a bit unruly, but she, too, is quite calm and contemplative as the Dionne quintuplets begin their tenth month of life.

Every day, except in the most bitter of the northern wintry weather, these five carriages, each containing a quintuplet, stand outside the Dafoe hospital at Corbeil, Ont., while the infants enjoy the crisp, health-giving air. Always on watch over the famed babes is Bucky, Nurse Louise de Kirilin's husky dog. He's the pet of the whole household, and he knows his importance.

"Now, doctor, you wouldn't fool a little girl, would you?" Marie seems to be replying as Dr. Dafoe dandles her after the daily examination, and assures her that she's just fine. Grave now, there is just a sign of a dawning smile on Marie's face.

Don't they ever cry? Sure they do, and here's Yvonne protesting as she's tickled with that old stethoscope, with which Dr. Dafoe listens carefully every day to the beat of the little hearts.

But it's soon over, and Yvonne is somewhat mollified as Dr. Dafoe holds her up after the examination, trying to convince her that all's well and get her into a happier mood.

But there remain the bending exercises and massage, and Yvonne is again uncertain whether she liked being doubled up this way. It's good for her, though, and given her exercise she can't get herself.

A FIVE-PASSENGER CHEVROLET FOR FIVE FAMOUS PASSENGERS

Dr. Allan Roy Dafeo, world renowned physician because of his attendance to the Dionne quintuplets during the first nine months of their lives, now drives to the babies' special hospital in Callender in a new car, a gift of friends. The Chevrolet was formally presented to Dr. Dafeo by the mayor of North Bay, W. G. Bullbrook. Present at the ceremonies were Yvonne, Annette, Marie, Cecile and Emilie Dionne, who slept soundly during the speech-making. The new Chevrolet, like the one shown here, is on display at the Potts Chevrolet Company in Memphis.

J. E. King made a business trip to Shamrock yesterday.

Carl Wolf and Si Wood left today for Oklahoma City to attend a Grunow instruction school in session from Thursday until Saturday inclusive.

Dr. and Mrs. M. McNeely of this city and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. O'Rear of Wellington spent Sunday with Rev. and Mrs. Alfred H. Freeman at Rotan, returning Monday.

Homer Mulkey of Clarendon spent yesterday in Memphis on business.

RAPID CITY, S. D., Feb. 27.—Fifty years ago Indians called her "little mother" and stopped their scalping parties short of her door. Now, at 73, Mrs. Jennie Brenna, the "First Lady" of Rapid City, still is active in welfare work and civic clubs. Many lordly chiefs, whose red hordes were the scourges of white communities during the latter part of the 19th Century, humbly accepted cake and fruit from "Ena," Sioux for "Little Mother," and she still remembers them vividly.

As the wife of Major John R. Brenna, agent on the Pine Ridge Reservation, she saw the panoramic "devolution"—as she terms it—of the powerful Sioux Indian tribes.

"There was American Horse, Spotted Elk, Short Bull, Red Cloud and a host of others," she told an interviewer.

"Red Cloud," she said, "was a highly intelligent Indian. He could see inevitable change coming and he hated it, but there was nothing he could do. He always was very silent."

"I never failed to take him a bit of cake, fruit, or sweet bits, when I went to his lodge. He seemed to appreciate these little things so much and he, too, called me 'Ena'." A high spot in Mrs. Brenna's later life was the filming of an historical picture on the reservation. Many colorful figures of the "Roaring West" were guests at her home at that time. Among them were William (Buffalo Bill) Cody, Courtney Riley Cooper, Rex Beach, General Baldwin and Frederick Remington.

CANADIAN BOYS GUARD FORESTS

MONTREAL, Feb. 27.—Scattered throughout the wooded areas of the Dominion, 13,000 school children are playing an important part in protecting Canada's forest wealth from one of its greatest dangers—fire.

Carefully selected and continuously encouraged in their duties as conservators and students of conservation, the youths are a nucleus of a coming army of boys lending a hand to safeguard forests and wild life.

The boys are known as "junior forest wardens." They are being organized into patrols by the Canadian Forestry Association as part of a wide-spread campaign to arouse public interest in protecting one of the country's most important sources of natural wealth. There are 4,000 junior forest wardens in British Columbia alone. In Eastern Canada there are 2,000. Nearly 3,000 schools are working in active co-operation with the association. The duties of the youths are to patrol the forests in their spare time and report all fires and destruction of woods. The work is done voluntarily.

Mr. and Mrs. V. O. Williams of Chillicothe spent a time here today with friends. They were en route to Amarillo on a business trip.

J. S. Greenwood of Pampa is here for a few days visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Greenwood.

It is better for boys and girls to learn to entertain themselves than for them to be given so much money for movies and elaborate social affairs. —Dr. Thurman B. Rice, of Indiana University Medical School.

Members of the Memphis Bar placed beautiful flowers on the stand of District Judge A. J. Fires both yesterday and this morning, in appreciation and as a token of their pleasure at his recovery from illness and return to the bench.

All of which goes to show that lawyers are human like other people, and believe in giving flowers to the living instead of waiting for them to die.

One man suggested, upon seeing the flowers, that life insurance companies had contributed them because Judge Fires recovered instead of passing out—saving them from having to pay on policies.

Judge Fires, a typical Western pioneer, is a peer in the legal profession and is admired by members of the bar and laymen alike. They are glad he is able to hold court again.

Attendance Is High at Junior C. Meet Tonight

Members in Memphis are out in full force for the membership meeting at the American Legion tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Kenneth Hillier told a representative that the attendance would be the history of the organization, particularly in fact that plans will be made at the meeting for the play which the Junior is sponsoring next month under the direction of Miss Lorch of Clarendon.

Members of the organization will be in the "Crazy Politics" which are sponsoring to help the cafeteria", Mr. Hillier said. We want our membership thoroughly sold on this. We have asked Miss Paterson to be present at the meeting to explain in detail all phases of the forthcoming entertainment to Joe Chitwood. Seats will be provided and promises to be an evening throughout.

Spelling Book Is Prepared for Distribution

From the Interscholastic headquarters in Austin 200,000 copies of the spelling list have been ordered and are now ready for distribution according to Miss Edna recently elected director for the league in this state. The price of the spelling book of 16 pages is the same as last year, i. e., one cent when ordered in lots of 100 copies. It would be worth the price of the book to club their orders so as to benefit the cent.

Errors of spelling are caught at the League spelling contest which involves also a plain writer. Certain errors in the current constitution are listed in the spelling book. It would be well to avoid the errors.

Words included in the list are carefully selected and form an excellent supplement to the state adopted text. The words in the state book are in the spelling list of the year.

It is hoped that there will be participation in this contest. All 100 per cent passed at the county meet to the state office of the year where the papers are read, if adjudged perfect, the award is given." Miss Edna stated.

AMERICAN LEGION WILL HAVE OLD FASHION SQUARE DANCE

Old fashion square dance. Everything needed for a real "square dance" will be held tonight at the American Legion, according to L. L. Doss, commander. A good string orchestra and "callers who really know how to call a square dance" have been promised for the occasion. Invitations will be furnished by A. W. Max Grahma, T. J. and others. Among the "old heads" who will be the square dance are Burton, L. L. Foreman, El-

Difficulty Balks Honeymoon Plan

Difficulties beset the efforts of Mrs. Madeline Astor Dick Fiermonte to start a second honeymoon with her prizefighter husband, Enzo Fiermonte. Mexico City before the end of 1935.

Plans for establishing the service are being made and call for operation before the end of the year.

The new service would link Houston directly with Mexico and Central and South America for the first time.

Three air lines, two of which already have adjusted schedules to give the city 11-hour service from New York City, were expected to cooperate in the plan.

They are Eastern Airlines, operating between New York City and New Orleans; Wedell-Williams Air Service, operating between Houston and New Orleans, and Pan American Airways, flying the Brownsville, Mexico City, Central and South American route.

Wedell-Williams, under the plan, would extend its service to Brownsville to make the connection.

mer Prater, Judge A. S. Moss, Jess Dennis and others.

The program for the evening will consist of two square dances, an old fashion waltz and a schottische. This order will be carried out throughout the evening, beginning at 8 o'clock and lasting "as long as the dancers last", Commander Doss said today.

More than 100 invitations have been mailed and all others who wish to attend are invited, Mr. Doss said. An admission charge of 50 cents per couple will help buy a piano for the Legion Hall, he said.

LOCAL BAND TO PLAY BEFORE GOVERNOR

Memphis Musicians To Be Featured At Amarillo

The Memphis Band, directed by Cicero Milan, will be one of the feature attractions at the second Mother-in-Law Day in Amarillo next Tuesday.

The local musical organization, which will include members of the former Black and Gold Band and other recruits, will play before Governor James V. Allred and thousands of mothers-in-law from over the Panhandle on that day.

March 5 will be re-dedicated to mothers-in-law and all West Texas will be on hand to pay tribute to them, a dispatch from Amarillo states. Governor Allred will make his first trip from Austin since the inauguration to speak before the group.

A day of free entertainment has been planned for the visiting mothers-in-law. Cafes and drug stores in Amarillo will serve free coffee, ice cream and sodas to all who wear the sweet-pea badge.

A parade in which a dozen bands will participate will be formed of the mothers-in-law and they will pass in review before the governor. Newsreel cameras will record the demonstration.

Ickes Outpoints Vandenberg in Munitions Quiz

Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes won this good-natured finger-pointing contest with Senator A. H. Vandenberg of Michigan when he refused to be cornered in his quiz before the Senate munitions committee, declining to commit himself as to whether he really approved use of PWA funds for warship building. The Interior chief held his own in the sparring match with his questioner. Senators Clark, left, and Nye, center, are shown as they enjoyed the tilt.

law will start at 9 o'clock in the Amarillo Hotel and the Amarillo Building.

At 1 o'clock the governor will speak to the assembly on Palk Street. The most distinguished mother-in-law in Texas—Mrs. Oran Miller of Wichita Falls, mother-in-law of Allred—will be crowned.

At 1:30 the parade will start and end its way to the Municipal Auditorium where the governor will speak to the mothers-in-law. At 3:30 o'clock all theatres will be thrown open to the honor guests for a free movie.

The first Mother-in-Law Day was celebrated last year. It was sponsored by Old Tack, Amarillo columnist, as a tribute to his mother-in-law. The idea spread rapidly and mother-in-law clubs were formed over the entire nation. Many will send delegates to the celebration in Amarillo.

Dionne Guardianship Law To Be Proposed

By Associated Press

TRUAX CHOSEN DIRECTOR AT SHAMROCK

To Leave Clarendon Soon for His New Band Position

Special to The Democrat
SHAMROCK, Feb. 27.—Glen A. Truax of Clarendon has been selected by the city council as Shamrock's new municipal band director to fill the position resigned by R. O. Sandusky. Truax was selected from among five applicants because of his ability and experience.

Truax is expected to move here soon. His wife also is a talented musician and reader.

Truax has been director of the Clarendon band for only a short time, after holding a similar position at Memphis for several years.

The new director has been a teacher of music in public and private schools the past 10 years. He received his first musical training with an army band in France, and later sang in theatre and church choirs.

He is a member of the Music Educators National Conference and is first vice-president of the North Texas Band and Orchestra Directors Association.

He will introduce a bill respecting Yvonne, Annette, Marie and Cecile and Emilie Dionne and their guardianship.

VOTE EVEN ON 'PREVAILING WAGE'

REPORTS from Washington state that first returns from the country, "as assembled in senatorial mail bags", was "about even" on the prevailing wage issue that has deadlocked the administration's gigantic work-relief bill.

If the "cries" of the people are to decide whether the clause is to be placed in the bill, we face the future of this act with fear and trembling. The people who will talk the most, write the fastest and cry the loudest will be those who are to receive the visit of this national Santa Claus. The people who have to foot the bill are less likely to make their views known. Many of them are likely to let the matter pass, not waking up until it is too late.

We do not see why the Congressmen should have to call upon the people to decide this issue. Common sense on the part of the legislators would be more effective. If this were applied, the work-relief bill already would be in the hands of President Roosevelt, and the clause would never have received important notice.

THE OYSTERS MUST SUFFER

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has placed his first veto of the present session upon a bill sent to the White House. And he should get a rousing cheer for having done so.

He vetoed a bill that would have appropriated—or confiscated—a half million dollars for the investigation, control and eradication of marine organisms injurious to shell fish in Atlantic and Gulf states.

It looks like the oysters will just have to suffer, or the shell fish industry that reaps the golden harvest might do something for them, itself.

If this had passed, we would have demanded an appropriation for the investigation, control and eradication of sandstorms in the Panhandle. Who knows, there might have been something personal in the blow last Sunday!

U. S. INSURANCE FUNDS PRESENT PROBLEM

BEFORE we get through with the vexing issue of unemployment and social security insurance, we are likely to find that our education on the subject of money and the way it works has been considerably extended.

If the insurance and security measures pending in Congress should be adopted in their present form, they would eventually roll up an enormous federal fund which would have some of the characteristics of a bit of radium.

That is, it would be continuously active, and unless insulated pretty carefully it might have effects not counted on by its possessors.

Congressmen Robert L. Doughton and Carl Vinson, of the House Ways and Means Committee, estimated recently that by 1980 the security plan would have built up a reserve fund of no less than $50,000,000,000.

This, to begin with, would provide a fund with which the government could buy its own securities, thereby paying interest to itself and mixing up the ordinary debtor-creditor idea in a way to make a man dizzy.

In addition, the surplus could be used for investment in other types of securities, these securities to be sold when the money was needed.

But at this point a new complication arises. David Cushman Coyle points out, in an article in the March issue of Scribner's Magazine, that to handle any big security fund in this way will be to accentuate the swings of the business cycle which a security fund is supposed to guard against.

One great cause of depression, Mr. Coyle remarks, is over-investment during boom periods. If the government's security fund is to be put into securities, this tendency will be tremendously accelerated.

Nor is that all. When the crash comes, things are made worse, because security holders hasten to unload for what they can get. It would be right at such moments that the government, needing cash money for its security payments, would be obliged to sell the securities it had bought.

Thus, says Mr. Coyle, the fund would be a means of aggravating the instability of business with one hand, while preparing to relieve the casualties with the other.

MYSTERIES OF LIFE.

HEALTH

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine
If you've ever wondered why westerners are so breezy and active and optimistic, science has the answer. It's the weather, the atmosphere in which these people live.

Recent research has shown that growth and bodily development are greatly influenced by the atmosphere in which animals—and persons, too—live. For instance, continuous moist heat leads to development of lean, stringy types of animals, and low heat production. Such animals stand chilling poorly. They are also easily infected.

The investigators found, however, that a few hours of cooling each day would overcome this condition and bring about definite changes in body functioning.

Prolonged periods of heat and the constant stimulation of repeated storm changes keep people in the northwest, for example, living on a high energy level and full of vitality and pep.

On the other hand, such stimulating regions seem to produce a little earlier mental and physical breakdown than are met with in places where the climatic drive is less intense.

Investigations of relationship between weather and health have brought out some exceedingly interesting facts. Diabetes is less frequent and less troublesome in the south than in the north. This disease is especially associated with excessive drive.

That form of breakdown of the adrenal glands called Addison's disease also is seen far more frequently in northern areas, where the drive is intense, than in the south.

Of especial interest to many people are the figures relative to distribution of rheumatic disease. It is generally well known that people with this type of disease find their greatest relief during the hot summer weather and suffer most during the late winter and early spring months, when weather changes are most sudden.

A study of the human body shows that the pains in the joints also are associated with a lessening of the blood supply and that sudden changes in temperature intensify this change in the circulation.

In general, chronic rheumatic conditions attack people in the latter half of life, which is particularly the time when all physical activities of the body tend to become more sluggish and inactive.

Under such circumstances, people need more protection against the rigors of our northern storm seasons, since their ability to adapt themselves to changes in the weather is greatly lessened.

However, when people make a change of climate and begin to feel better, they must not take it that the condition is cured. A return to the climatic conditions under which they formerly lived is likely to bring about a return of the symptoms.

Stories in STAMPS

FOUR HUNDRED years ago, Father Jose de Anchieta, a young Portuguese missionary, ventured among the savage Indians of Brazil and within a year made them his most devoted followers.

Once, when the Tamoyo Indians attacked the Portuguese immigrants, Father Anchieta induced the invaders to come to terms with the Europeans and accept him as a human bond to guarantee the faith of his countrymen. For three years they kept him hostage, until the Portuguese had fulfilled their pledge.

Today this missionary, now St. Anchieta, is known as "The Apostle of Brazil," or "The Apostle of the New World." Brazil has just honored him with a commemorative stamp issue of four values.

feel better, they must not take it that the condition is cured. A return to the climatic conditions under which they formerly lived is likely to bring about a return of the symptoms.

Dr. Townsend says one of the first things beneficiaries of his relief plan would do would be to buy cars. But the very first thing would be to buy a square meal.

With the Hauptmann jury in vaudeville, people will begin to wonder whether Hauptmann really is guilty.

The woman warden of the Oklahoma jail from which 31 convicts escaped must be wishing now that she had attended to her knitting—at home.

Now we ought to have a Supreme Court to clarify the Supreme Court's decision on the gold situation.

Men like Morgan and Rockefeller should not be denied the Townsend relief, if it passes. If they won't get it from the government, they'll get it from the people.

BEHIND THE SCENE IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Fast Spending to Be Policy Under Work-Relief Plan . . . Depend on It, Johnson Is Not Slated to Come Back . . . That Famous Roosevelt Grin Is Fading.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—A large part of the administration's relief program for next winter will consist of a glorified CWA. It won't be called that, of course, because CWA is supposed to have a bad name. And there will be distinct modifications of the huge civil works program which hastily put 4,000,000 persons to work in the winter of 1933-34.

Just the same, enough of the administration's concealed and only half-formulated plan has leaked out to show that certain fundamentals of theory and practice trace directly back to that great emergency effort.

Roosevelt favors the "force account" method over the contract system in spending most of the $4,000,000,000 Congress will give him for work relief in the fiscal year 1935-36.

"Force account" means you go out with a lot of money and hire a lot of people to do a lot of work. That was what CWA did, as against the slower, much more economical PWA scheme under which all projects were thrown open to competitive bidding and contractors were bonded to do the job at stipulated cost.

Waste, Graft Certain

"Force account" is the fast way to spend money. The money is handed to a mayor, say, for his works or relief administration, which proceeds to expand its work force by drawing from relief rolls and starting on certain projects.

In such program, talk of self-liquidating projects—such as has come from the White House—is absurd. Contractors, instead of drawing from relief rolls, would recruit the most skilled crews available.

Politics, graft, and waste obviously are unavoidable under force account. That's why administration leaders are divided between those who want to pump money out rapidly and those who want to be slow and careful about it.

Roosevelt sides with the first group, recalling the decided fillip which CWA gave to business and insisted that all employables be put to work.

Chief departures from former CWA methods will be the $50 a month subsistence wage and greater emphasis on projects which will stimulate industry by greater requirement for materials.

Johnson Won't Be Back

After General Johnson went away from NRA, there were frequent reports that sooner or later he would be brought to the administration. A rumor he would be utilized in a federal construction program hard.

But the general's mistakes have ended there and have left no doubt that he will continue to stand on the sidelines.

Most memories of the important things happen. Johnson was head of the divergent from the government count that in private he was accused of a great many truths and misrepresentations.

His slurs at Donald Secretary Perkins, administration figures—policies—make it obvious presence at the New Deal table again would be embarrassing.

Roosevelt Grin Fades

Indications are that Roosevelt's temper has become a bit and that he is not quite gay and grinning self.

One of his most boards called on him recently, determined to mild protest against an overruling of one of its decisions. The board set its protest lodged with the president.

"The president is a very cult man to talk with," members explained privately. "You start to say to him and he interrupts you talks steadily for five minutes. You can't interrupt the pro of course, and when he's out, you're through."

Undersecretary Rex holds the recent record of a conversation. After he into the White House to the AAA "purge" in his he and Roosevelt talked hours and Tugwell was not to quit.

I wish I had lived 10 sooner. I would be in the tough fighting guys like De and Tunney. —Max Baer

Meacham's Is Handed City Basketball Crown Cyclone Falls to Estelline Cubs in Hard, Close

LOOP LEADERS DROP FINAL BATTLES

Compress Is Guardian Of Marines' Cham- pionship Bid

Riding on a final surge of lower division clubs against the loop leaders, Meacham's Marines floated into the championship throne of the City Basketball League last night at the high school gymnasium.

The Marines finished the schedule a full game ahead of Harrison's Hardwaremen, the only club with a chance to knot the standing last night, and Tarver's Pillboys, who dropped from the top rapidly during the past two weeks and then started to rise again.

The award was handed out by the Memphis Compressers, the club that until this week had not captured a game. Monday night the Compress quintet knocked Tarver's out of the running. Last night the club continued in the role of guardian angel of the Marines' title bid by defeating the Hardwaremen and hand Meacham's the crown regardless of the outcome of the final game.

Not until after one of the toughest battles of the year, however, did the lowly Compressers rise to new heights, finally coming through with a 29 to 18 victory that this morning was still being questioned in a polite manner.

With the crown stored away, the Marines went into their final clash with Tarver's without a worry in the world and was not even upset by the 30 to 20 trouncing handed them, the champions. The victory gained Tarver's a tie with the Hardwaremen for second place.

Smith, Tarver's fine forward, led the parade over the champions with a total of 17 points. No other player came close to keeping pace with him, as he directed a one-man assault against the record of the loop leaders.

Individual Clash
In the first game, the individual race was as close as the team battle. Thomas, Compress forward, came out on top of the heap with 10 points, one tally in front of Smith, Harrison center. They were followed in order by Harrison, Compress center, with six points; Billings, Harrison forward, with five, and White, the other Harrison forward, with four.

The final standings:

First Peek at Great Sisler Gave Rickey Idea of College Players

Branch Rickey, center, as baseball coach at the University of Michigan, and two of his pupils, Johnny Lavan, left, and George Sisler, right, as they appeared when they followed their mentor to the St. Louis Browns.

This is the third of 12 articles on the Smartest Man in Baseball—Branch Rickey, the brain behind the world champion St. Louis Cardinals.

By HARRY GRAYSON (Sports Editor, NEA Service)
With Branch Rickey it always was a question of money—was until comparatively recent years.

After deciding to chuck baseball for law following the season of 1908, due to failing health and the insecurity of his future, Rickey encountered an even greater obstacle than a shortage of funds, however.

Playing baseball all summer and football in the fall, teaching and coaching, and studying nights were too much even for a young fellow with a farm-toughened physique. Rickey's health failed completely. His weight dropped from 175 pounds to 145. He was forced to lie on his back for months at Saranac Lake.

Ball players' salaries were not what they are today during Rickey's brief career as a combatant. The man who cultivated the extensive farm system of the St. Louis Cardinals married Jane Moulton, his sweetheart of grammar school days, in 1906. Even though he held the side job of athletic director and football coach and participated in professional football, after his siege of sickness, he was none too well fixed financially for three non-revenue years as a law student.

So despite his precarious state of health, the ambitious Rickey resolved to complete a three-year course at the University of Michigan in two, and to make both ends meet by coaching the baseball team.

Coached Sisler and Lavan
When spring rolled around, Rickey applied for the coaching position. Phil Bartleme, now B. R.'s chief aid in St. Louis, was director of athletics at Ann Arbor. Bartleme did not recognize Rickey as a former major league player, and demanded testimonals.

"How I hustled for that job," beams Rickey. "I wrote the late Garry Herrmann, Clark Griffith and Jimmy McAleer, who managed the Browns, and everybody of any standing in the game, as well as lawyers, judges, doctors and even a bishop. I timed these so the replies would flow into Bartleme one by one over a period of about two weeks."

Rickey finished his law course in two years, but continued as baseball coach of the Wolverines for two more.

Two of his pupils were the immortal George Harold Sisler and Johnny Lavan, splendid shortstop and now a physician in St. Louis, both of whom later played with the Browns under Rickey.

While Rickey had not the slightest intention of returning to professional baseball at the time, his first peek at Sisler gave him a big idea. The light dawned on Connie Mack about the same time. While there were a few college men in professional baseball—Christy Mathewson, Eddie Plank, Jack Coombs among them—the campuses had been sorely neglected by scouts.

From Sisler and Lavan to young Burgess Whitehead, the University of North Carolina boy who is being groomed to replace the aging Frankie Frisch at second base for the world champions, the rosters of the Browns and Cardinals show how well Rickey has capitalized on the idea that struck him the first afternoon that he saw the graceful Sisler hit, run, throw and field.

Rickey, educated in the old rough and ready baseball school, dreamed of an entire club of college men—athletes who would listen and who would be capable of carrying out his theories.

Idaho Gets Young Lawyer
Rickey was graduated from Michigan with the degree of Doctor of Jurisprudence in 1911, and decided to keep his health and make his fortune in the west.

He hung his shingle at Boise, and Idaho might have had another big potato like Bill Borah in the United States Senate had not the state of health that drove Rickey out of baseball drove him back into it.

Physicians said Rickey was well, but if he continued to practice law it was doubtful that he would remain so. He had been throwing himself into work with such energy that he was spending too much time indoors. If he followed an occupation that kept him outdoors a good deal, he would be well indefinitely.

MEETS HEDLEY OWLS HERE TONIGHT

Feature Series With Cubs To End Here Thursday

Invading the stronghold of the Estelline Bear Cubs last night, the Memphis Cyclone found a determination for revenge greater than its own will to sweep its final series and dropped a thrilling battle to the Cubs, 27 to 22.

Tonight, the club returns to its own snug little gymnasium to play host to the rapid-firing Hedley Owls, another of the squads it is more or less determined to hand a last round setback after being a victim all season.

To End Series
The year's feature series, that with the Cubs, ends here tomorrow night, bringing the local cage season to a close. The Cyclone can do no more than break even in this round, and Coach Arthur Howard this morning assured the writer that his crew is going to be ready.

The heated controversy between the two quintets began at the county tournament when the Cyclone, after three Cubs, slipped up on five to knock it into
