Tehran Said To Have Accepted Secret Proposals Of Algerians

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Iran's chief hostage negotiator said today the Tehran government generally accepts a secret Algerian proposal for ending the U.S.-Iranian crisis.

The negotiator, Behzad Nabavi, told a news conference in the Iranian capital the Algerian mediators had offered a guarantee that their proposal would work. But he gave no details of the proposal and guarantees, saying only, "This subject has been studied and has been agreed upon generally."

Nabavi, who is minister of state for executive affairs, refused to say explicitly whether he meant that a breakthrough had been made or was imminent in the stalemate over the 52 captive Americans, who have been held for 431 days.

The Algerian plan presumably replaces an Iranian one rejected by the Carter administration whereby the United States would have been required to deposit $24 billion in the Algerian central bank as a guarantee that Iran's financial demands would eventually be met.

Nabavi's remarks came a day after a confusing statement by Iranian Prime Minister Mohammed Ali Rajai aroused new speculation that progress was being made toward resolving the crisis.

Rajai said in a television interview in Tehran that Iranian revolutionary leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini had authorized acceptance of a proposal from Algeria "to solve our problem with the United States."

But the Farsi-language words used by Rajai could have been translated as either that Algeria "guaranteed" to solve the problem or "undertook" to solve it, and there was no official English translation of what he meant.

Today Nabavi told reporters, "The Algerian government has said in its proposal that it is ready to accept the undertakings of both sides, in other words Iran and the United States can empower the Algerian government with their undertakings."

Asked when the hostages might be released, Nabavi said, "When the conditions of the Majlis (Iranian Parliament) are met by the U.S. government and when the Iranian government obtains enough assurance that the U.S. government's undertakings will be carried out." He also repeated Iran's threat to put the Americans on trial as spies.

There was no immediate public reaction by the Carter administration to Nabavi's statements, but on Tuesday night White House press secretary Jody Powell reported that Algeria delivered "additional questions" from Iran Tuesday on the last American proposals. He said a reply was being sent to the Algerians early today.

U.S. officials who asked not to be identified said the signals from Iran suggested the U.S. and Iranian governments had reached "agreement on some basic principles" to settle the hostage dispute.

But Powell said Tuesday's communication from Iran provided no basis for "any sort of conclusion about when or even if we will have an agreement."

The chief point being discussed between the two governments apparently was the amount of money to be put in escrow in Algeria by the United States as surety for Iranian assets frozen in U.S. banks and the foreign holdings of the late Shah.

Snow Blankets Much Of North

By The Associated Press

Up to 6 inches of snow blanketed New York, New Jersey and Connecticut today, snarling traffic and mass transit and forcing some school closings.

Snow also fell this morning in Washington, Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

Earlier, snow spread from the Great Lakes through the mid and north Atlantic Coast states and the southern Appalachians. A mixture of snow, rain, freezing rain and sleet fell over the Carolinas, with showers and drizzle from the central Gulf Coast to Georgia and South Carolina. Some rain also dotted areas of southeast Arizona.

Rain was expected from the Carolinas to Florida, with snow from the southern Appalachians through the upper Ohio Valley, the lower Great Lakes and the north Atlantic Coast states.

Some light snow also was forecast for the northern Plains, and a chance of some widely scattered rain from south-central Texas to southern Arizona.

Pushing For Smaller Staffs

WASHINGTON (AP) — A conservative Texas congressman says the time has come for the House to put the brake on the increasing size of its committee staffs.

Rep. Jim Collins, a Dallas Republican, said in the past, budget authorizations for congressional committees speed toward approval "just like a greased pig at a county fair."

Collins told reporters Tuesday that the new 97th Congress should be aware from the start of the need to reduce committee staff sizes.

"If we want to have less government, we've got to start with those staffs," he said. "We certainly can't talk economy to the nation when we are the most flagrant spenders here in the House."

Chooses Education Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ronald Reagan has picked Utah education commissioner Terrel H. Bell to head the Education Department, an agency the president-elect wants to dismantle, a well-placed Republican source says.

Transition press secretary James Brady called a midday news conference to announce the appointment of Bell, 59, U.S. education commissioner in the Nixon and Ford administrations.

Neither Reagan nor Bell was expected to be on hand for the announcement. Bell is the last of the 13 Cabinet secretaries to be named.

Looking For Budget Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Ronald Reagan, starting work in earnest with his top advisers on a program to steady the sputtering economy, sounds more optimistic than his candidate to head the Treasury Department about chances to balance the federal budget by 1983.

Reagan planned to meet with his top economic advisers today to begin looking for places to cut federal spending and to review the economy in general.

The Republican president-elect also was resuming his courtship with Congress at a Capitol Hill luncheon reserved mostly for Democratic senators swept from majority-party power by the Reagan-led conservative tide last November.

Labor Talks In Poland

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — A second round of talks was scheduled in a town near the Soviet border today between a government commission and coalition of farmers and workers in Poland's first major labor confrontation this year.

In another sign of labor unrest, Warsaw Radio said 180 factory workers turned in their Communist Party membership cards in November and December, and quoted some of them as saying the party had done nothing for them.

The talks, in the town of Ustrzyki some 10 miles from Soviet territory, were suspended Tuesday evening so government negotiators could contact Warsaw for instructions.

A spokesman for Solidarity, Poland's biggest independent trade union, said the commission arrived after workers in 17 plants in the area stopped work for an hour in support of some 60-70 farmers and workers occupying an administrative building in Ustrzyki since Dec. 29.

CRMWD Sets Record For Cities' Deliveries

The Colorado River Municipal Water District delivered half a billion gallons more water to its customers in 1980 over the previous year for a 3.10 per cent gain.

This was not a record year by any means, for the 16,754,098,382 gallons was well under the peak of 20,357,040,622 in 1974. However, had oil company deliveries been the same for both years, 1980 would easily have set a new high mark for production. In 1974, when there were no restrictions upon oil repressuring deliveries, CRMWD pumped 7,016,668,122 gallons to these customers. Last year, with almost complete cut-off except for brine wells and unpotable low-flow of the river, the oilfield deliveries stood at only 1,833,178,682 gallons.

Last year's 14,920,920,300 gallons was a record for municipal deliveries, topping the previous peak of 13,603,331,200 in 1979. If the 1974 oil deliveries were added to last year's municipal total, the new record would be 21,937,588,000 gallons. The 1980 cities' gain over 1979 was 503,636,000 gallons.

An unprecedented continuity of 100 or more degrees temperature and no rain contributed to the record demand from cities. Heavy rains in September replenished surface supplies, and by the end of the year, deliveries to oil companies were being stepped up slightly and should gain substantially in 1981. Total of these deliveries for 1980 was 813,902,166 gallons less than for the previous year.

During 1980, Odessa took a record 6,763,463,000 gallons, up 12.63 percent over 1979. Big Spring received 2,964,426,000 gallons up 9.41 percent; Snyder took 1,088,366,000 gallons—the first time it ever used more than a billion gallons in a year—for an increase of 16.35 percent; Midland got 3,949,728,900 gallons, up 3.38 percent; Stanton received 122,400,000 gallons, up 4.74 percent, and Robert Lee used 32,437,000 gallons, up 109.73 percent.

Wage Freeze At Chrysler Being Bargained Today

HIGHLAND PARK, Mich. (AP) — The United Auto Workers union began bargaining today on a proposed wage freeze at troubled Chrysler Corp.

UAW President Douglas A. Fraser arrived at Chrysler headquarters and said he welcomed the announcement by Chrysler that, unlike Ford Motor Co. and General Motors Corp., it was temporarily freezing new car prices.

The company has proposed to the union that wages and fringe benefits be frozen at present levels until the expiration of the current contract in September 1982, an action Chrysler says could save $600 million.

After meeting with the Chrysler Loan Guarantee Board Tuesday in Washington, Fraser said wage concessions and additional government loan guarantees would not be enough to keep Chrysler afloat unless the nation's "absolutely devastating" economy improves.

Today's negotiations are a linchpin in the automaker's latest plan to stave off bankruptcy by coupling $1.5 billion in cost-cutting measures with $400 million in additional federal loan guarantees.

The cost-cutting elements would include both a union willingness to accept lower wages and concessions by banks holding outstanding Chrysler loans.

During a 4½-hour session Tuesday, the federal Chrysler Loan Guarantee Board met with Fraser and other UAW leaders, as well as with Chrysler officials and some of the automaker's creditors.

Before going along with the firm's request for additional loan guarantees, the board is insisting that Chrysler win major concessions from the union and its suppliers and lenders.

Treasury Secretary G. William Miller, who heads the board, said after Tuesday's meeting "it's terribly important" that Chrysler's new financial plan involve "accommodations" by all parties.

Miller said Chrysler's cash situation will be "tight" during the next 30 to 45 days, but said the company won't run out of money during that time.

Police Probing Two Burglaries

Two burglaries are being probed by police.

In a burglary reported yesterday at Snyder High School, approximately $350 worth of cutting torches, regulators, and hoses were taken from the agriculture building. Working that case are Lt. Steve Warren and Sgt. Ed Neeley.

Vernon Browning, 4501 Crockett, also reported a burglary. He told officers Warren and Keith Ward that his house had been entered, but it was not immediately known if anything had been taken.

One male subject was arrested last night in a month-old criminal mischief case. The suspect is alleged to have kicked in a car door to a vehicle owned by Clay Boswell. That incident occurred Dec. 6 in Towle Park. Making the arrest was Don Whittenburg.

Two minor traffic accidents also occurred. The first one took place at 1:10 p.m. in the 2300 block of Ave. E and involved a 1969 Oldsmobile driven by Rumell Montgomery and a 1973 Ford driven by Fidel Galindo. It was worked by Sgt. Jerry Parker.

The next accident was at 27th St. and College Ave. at 3:50 p.m. There, a 1971 Chevrolet driven by Terry Green was in collision with a 1973 Pontiac driven by Jo Ann Deavers. Working it was Keith Ward.

The SDN Column

Most of the time we are about 95 percent or more in agreement with Paul Harvey, the commentator and syndicated columnist whose column we carry three times a week. But we figure he got trapped off base in his column we published yesterday—the one about the mail boxes.

The beleagured Postal Service has been the target of a lot of puns and some outright barbs in recent years, and it is easy to follow the crowd. And what better opportunity than when something as American as Cub Scouts are involved in a controversy?

In case you missed it, Harvey questioned the Postal Service tactics in dealing with a situation in which some Cub Scouts delivered materials by putting them in recipients' mail boxes. It was not only called to their attention that it is against the law (federal law) for anyone except the Postal Service people to put anything in a mail box and anything they put in a mailbox must have the proper postage paid on it, but the Cub Scouts were reminded that they were subject to punishment. In the end, the Postal Service compromised by letting the Cub Scouts off the hook if they paid the postage on the materials they had put in the mailboxes.

Harvey indicated that he was shocked to learn that people can't put whatever they want in mail boxes, and suggested that the Cub Scouts were being persecuted.

Where has he been the past century or so? This regulation is not something that can be attributed to Carter, Nixon, Eisenhower, Truman, or even Roosevelt. It has been in effect for many decades, and its purpose should be obvious: To assure that mail is protected.

The Cub Scouts involved in this case, of course, likely are innocent. Their adult leaders should shoulder the responsibility because kids of Cub age are not usually expected to know about such things. But the requirement that they come up with proper postage and the admonition they received should be regarded as a timely lesson.

We learned many years ago about mailboxes. The head of our house was a rural mail carrier, and by the time we could reach a mailbox, we knew that it had only one purpose—to serve as a receptacle for mail. It shouldn't require much imagination to comprehend what might happen if anyone could put anything he or she wanted in a mailbox at any time.

Ma Bell Request Slashed To Nickel

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Ma Bell is entitled to only a nickel a month more from most residential customers in Texas, not the $1.25 monthly hike the company wants, according to a Public Utility Commission hearing examiner.

Phil Ricketts' 55-page report, issued Tuesday, chopped Southwestern Bell down to a $114.3 million increase, compared to the $326.3 million the company said it needs to meet inflation. The report undercut the $152 million the PUC staff said Bell should get.

The three-member commission will consider the report on Jan. 28.

Ricketts recommended the five-cent monthly increase for residential customers in cities such as Alvin, Big Spring, and Denison, as well as in the state's largest cities, including Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, Fort Worth, Waco and Corpus Christi.

Larger increases, however, were proposed for residential customers in smaller cities. Ricketts said customers in Albany, Alpine, Cameron, San Diego and other small cities should pay 55 cents more per month. Household customers in cities the size of Beeville, Center, El Campo, Vernon, Alice, Huntsville, Kingsville and others should pay 30 cents more per month, according to Ricketts.

"The $114 million is a reasonable amount," Ricketts said. "Obviously, Bell felt they deserved a good deal more."

The Texas Municipal League said Bell needed only a $68.2 million increase.

But Paul Roth, Southwestern Bell vice president, called the examiner's report "inadequate" and promised to seek significant adjustments and increases in the final order.

In a prepared statement, Roth said, "We are deeply disturbed that the recommendation fails to recognize the extent of our revenue needs to continue meeting the growth of Texas and to maintain the high quality of service required."

american cars safest

The U.S. Department of Transportation — specifically, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration — has just published "The Car Book," a comsumer's guide to car buying.

It's a multi-color knockout. And it's free.

The 68-page book stresses that, next to buying a home, buying a car "is probably the most important financial decision you will make." It stresses that you must comparison-shop (even providing a buyer's checklist you can take with you to your lcoal auto dealers' salesrooms). It offers comparisons of fuel efficiency maintenance and insurance costs.

But "The Car Book" also stresses safety. After all, 51,000 people were killed and 4 million injured in crashes in 1979.

The safety chapter, for example, compares results of NHTSA's crash test program — a car crashing into a concrete barrier at 35 miles per hour, which is similar to two identical cars hitting head-on at that speed.

All cars were rated in six categories: driver protection, passenger protection, windsield retention, windsield zone retention (parts of the car coming through in a frontal crash), fuel leakage and front and back ends.

Interesting note: Not a Japanese-built car is among the 10 safest.

Generally, Japanese cars come out poorly in the safety category. As a group, Datsun, Honda, Mazda, Subaru and Toyota have the highest fatality rates of any group checked in the 1974-77 period.

"The Car Book" points out that a 4,000-pound car is twice as safe as a 2,000-pound one and says the fatality rate index "reflects both the way the car is driven and how it is designed." For instance, such cars as Volvo and Mercedes-Benz have relatively low fatality rates, probably due to the drivers' characteristics and higher seat-belt use. A section on safety belts and child seats goes into detail on this subject.

The fuel economy chapter tells you how much your car will cost you yearly. Example: If you drive 10,000 miles, pay $1.35 a gallon for gas and get 24 miles a gallon, your cost will be $563. Axle ratio, engine, transmission and tire cost are explained understandably. So are "minor" options like cruise control and air-conditioning.

The maintenance chapter is a gem, showing that diesels and Japanese cars are most expensive to maintain. Fords, whether subcompact, compact, intermediate or large, seem to be the cheapest to maintain. Japanese cars have the highest insurance costs, usually requiring a surcharge, while the safer American cars can be insured at a discount.

Entire chapters are devoted to complaining effectively and buying used cars. The latter is linked to easy-to-read charts showing all recent recalls and the reasons for them.There are lists, addresses and phone numbers of all federal agencies with auto programs, and names and addresses of the chief executives of all the auto companies, including the foreign distributorship, mostly published by NHTSA.

"The Car Book" probably is NHTSA administrator Joan Claybrook's swan song.

Single free copies can be had by writing to "The Car Book," Pueblo, CO 81009.

Since the holidays, Mother has been looking a little peaked. It's nothing you can put your finger on—just a lot of dragging from chair to chair and heavy sighing.

When I saw her doctor at a social gathering, I mentioned mother to him and he suggested we run a G.S. series on her.

"What's a G.S. series?" I asked

"Garage Sale," he said, popping a cheese puff into his mouth. "Run an old ice cream freezer before her eyes and say, 'I'd let this go for a buck,' or a chipped candy dish that you'd be willing to sacrifice for a quarter and see how she reacts."

"That's going to make her well?"

"I've seen women at death's door who hiked three miles in the dark to get dibs on last year's calendar and a box of melted candle stubs. It's worth a shot."

The next time I saw Mother, I mentioned a pair of cuff links with scorpions on them, a lawn chair that wouldn't open, a drinking glass with a picture of Johnny Bench on it, a jewel box that played "Happy Days Are Here Again," and four milk-stained bibs.

Mother's blank face slowly came alive. Her droopy shoulders straightened, her limp hands became clenched and she stood up and announced, "That sounds like the beginning of a garage sale."

From that moment on, she became a blur. She moved the cars from the garage to the street, hung lines for display, carted card tables out of closets and attics, posted signs, ran ads, orchestrated the comings and goings of merchandise and barked orders like a dock worker unloading the QEII.

It was like watching a transformation in slow motion. Her steps quickened, her cheeks flushed with excitement, her humor was restored, her wit sharpened, and I would have been willing to bet this frail woman would never have been able to carry a grill—rotisserie under her arm a week ago.

The day of the sale was her finest hour. "No, dear, we don't do alterations." "You want that stuffed hamster head or not? I got three waiting." "Ask yourself, if the boots didn't have a hole in them, would you be able to buy them for 50 cents?" "We don't deliver. Who do you think we are, Saks?" "We call that a husband and put him down, he's not for sale. He's just resting."

I asked the doctor if all G.S. series were that successful.

He said, "If a woman doesn't respond to a garage sale, very frankly, I'm not too optimistic about her."

My four year old nephew got a Flash Gordon oufit a while back. He quickly put it on, rushed out the door and came back a few minutes later in tears.

Something was wrong with the costume, he said. He didn't have enough Flash Gordon strength to lift the family car off the ground.

When he was over the initial shock a few weeks later, he went to his grandmother's house to show off his superhuman strength. He jumped off a stack of cushions and landed on a fan. The fan broke, Chris didn't.

Twenty years ago it was Superman. A lot of kids thought that if they just had a cape like Superman's, they could fly.

Every now and then a kid would tie a towel or some other length of cloth around their neck and dive out a window or off a roof and kill themselves. Fortunately, our house was only one story.

About the same time, another big TV hero was Zorro.

One lady I know made Zorro capes for each of her three sons who were between the ages of four and seven.

Not content with plastic swords, the boys made themselves wooden ones from one by fours—complete with double hand grips.

Knowing that Zorro would never be caught with a dull sword, the boys sanded theirs down on sidewalks. They took garbage can lids and wrapped the handles with electrical tape.

Thus armed with swords and shields, the malcontents took on the neighborhood. Soon there were Z's on houses, fawns, mailboxes, trees, cars, school buses, you name it, there were Z's on it.

Walking down the street soon became hazardous. Every now and then, a few caped kids yelling "ZORRO!" jumped out of trees, holding wooden swords in one hand and garbage can lids in the other, ready to attack any unsuspecting victim.

This went on for several weeks till the boys finally went one step too far.

They Z'd a cat. Their weapons were immediately confiscated for the public good.

Some people would say that the boy's antics were caused by too much television. I disagree. I think it had more to do with the imagination of children.

After all, before TV, some kids wanted to be like Billy the Kid.

The pomegranate, a small shrublike tree, and its fruit were well known, as indicated by its use in the decoration of the "robe of the ephod," and the capitals of the temple pillars. Spies brought back pomegrantes to Joshua from the Promised Land and Moses mentioned them in describing that place (Deut. 8:8). Haggai includes the pomegrante with other fruits as an indication of God's favor.

"Is the seed yet in the barn? yea, as yet the vine, and the fig tree, and the pomegranate, and the olive tree, hath not brought forth: from this day will I bless you." — Hag. 2:19

'80 wasn't so bad

NEW YORK (AP) — Last year's economy was not at all what you thought it was if you rely for information on official government statistics. Last year has been reconstituted. It isn't at all what it used to be.

Further detailed analysis and the perspective of history conceivably might show more important consequences, that, for example, presidential and congressional votes were affected to a significant degree.

That possibility arises not just from the entire year's statistics but from the fact of a huge upward revision in economic growth — to an annual rate of 2.4 percent from just 0.9 — during the third quarter.

The third quarter was, you recall, a time of relentless attack on President Carter's economic record. And it provided the latest economic statistics, before revisions, for the pre-election debate.

Now, we are told, the consumer and overall economies last year were stronger than realized. Inflation wasn't as bad as we had thought it was. Neither was the savings rate. Nor perhaps the productivity rate.

The Commerce Department added 1.5 percent or more than $30 billion to estimates of personal income. Personal savings were adjusted higher by 30 percent, and that jumped the savings rate to 5.7 percent, close to the long-term average, rather than the historically low 4.4 percent.

For the decade that ended in 1979, real annual growth was revised to a 3.2 percent average, or close to what is considered normal, from 2.9. And that suggests the figures for productivity gains may be lifted.

Inflation, measured by the personal consumption expenditure deflator — different from the Consumer Price Index — was reduced in the revisions to 10.6 percent to 10.3 percent. High, but nevertheless lower.

You can make what you wish of these statistics, but lessons should be learned, too. Such as:

—Placing less faith in short-term numbers as guides to economic interpretations.

—Being more aware that most economic statistics are subject to revisions.

—Recognizing that many statistics originally were devised for the use of professionals, who are aware of statistical imprecision, pitfalls and imperfections.

In fact, nonprofessionals might be wise to avoid relying on the statistics as their sole guidance and, instead, use them only as backup for what their own pocketbooks tell them about economic conditions.

The pocketbook still is the layman's best guide to the relative strength of the economy. It may fool him for a while, but eventually it comes out with the hard facts. And seldom is it subject to revision.

school to appeal order to air film

HOUSTON (AP)— The University of Houston will appeal a federal court ruling ordering the controversial film "Death of a Princess" be shown on the UH public education television station.

Pat Bailey, the university's attorney, said Tuesday the notice of appeal has been filed with the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Austin.

The film, about a Saudi Arabian princess executed in 1977 for adultery, was cancelled shortly before its scheduled showing last May on KUHT-TV, Channel 8.

Gertrude Barnstone, a former Houston school board trustee, filed suit against the university, demanding the public had the right to see the film. Her protest was upheld by U.S. District Judge Gabrielle K. McDonald on Dec. 18, 1979.

The judge's order was set aside by the appeals court a few days later, and although most of the nation watched the program over the Public Broadcasting stations, the Houston area was blacked-out.

WASHINGTON (NEA)— Fugitive financier Robert Vesco is negotiating with Senate investigators — who, in turn, are negotiating with representatives of the incoming administration — over his testifying before a Senate committee on dealings between Libyan agents and White House aides, Democratic Party officials and Billy Carter.

The Republicans hope that Vesco's testimony will lead to an investigation that could become a Democratic Watergate.

The story is a complex one. According to the testimony of several people who say they were involved, Libya's Muammar Qaddafi was willing to spend $30 million for bribes to influence the Carter administration to release six C-5A transport aircraft that Libya had paid for but that had been embargoed because of that government's politics.

Vesco has told investigators working for Republican senators — including Utah's Orrin Hatch — that he advised Qaddafi on how to bribe key figures in the White House and the Democratic National Chairman John White and White House aides close to Hamilton Jordan, the president's former chief of staff.

Significantly different explanations of the scheme have been offered by three participants — R.I. Herring, James Feeney and James Day. Herring and Feeney say that several key White House aides were compromised, while Day says that the other two are con men who took Libyan money but never followed through on promises to involve the presidential staffers.

The Justice Department has refused to give Herring and Feeney any kind of immunity. Instead, it has thrown the book at them, thus diminishing their credibility. But Day, whose testimony exonerates the Carterites, has been allowed to plead guilty to a minor charge.

Vesco says that his testimony will support Herring and Feeney but that he is unwilling to end up in jail in order to deliver it. He has offered to travel to Washington from his haven in the Bahamas to testify before a Senate committee if the Justice Department gives him immunity from arrest while he is in the country.

The Carter Justice Department has refused to grant this immunity. But it appears that the Reagan administration will gladly do so — if Vesco is not already in a U.S. jail on Inauguration Day.

Vesco fled the United States to avoid prosecution in connection with the Investors Overseas Services swindle in the late '60s and early '70s. The Justice Department showed little interest in his extradition until he started talking to the Republican investigators. But in recent months, the department has put tremendous pressure on the Bahamian government to have Vesco returned; in response, the Bahamians gave Vesco 30 days to leave the country.

State Department sources report that most countries to which Vesco might flee have agreed not to allow his entry. So, it is possible that he will be back in the United States — and under arrest — before Ronald Reagan takes office.

Senate sources say that Vesco is asking in exchange for his damaging testimony that the Reagan administration not only grant him immunity from arrest while in Washington but also stop pressuring the Bahamians for his return. Apparently in anticipation of such a deal, the Bahamian governement has announced a "short" stay of of its 30-day order; that stay is expected to remain in effect until the Bahamians gauge how much the Reagan Justice Department wants him back.

The negotiations are aimed at having Vesco testify in February before a Senate committee controlled by the Republicans. The GOP investigators think his testimony is explosive enough to force a probe of the Carter White house that will generate headlines for months — and help their party in the 1982 congressional elections. Key members of the Reagan transition team, including Attorney General-designate William French Smith, are reported to be receptive to the immunity agreement.

So, it appears that a new Senate extravaganza is in the works. The Republicans can hardly wait until opening night.

Your Birthday

January 8, 1981

The direction you take this coming year may not be totally of your choosing. Don't resist the flow of events, because things won't be as they first seem and will work out to your ultimate benefit.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Substantial achievements are possible today, both careerwise and financially, but don't expect more from things than actual conditions warrant. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Friends have great respect for you and tend to tell you things about themselves they wouldn't tell others. Don't use what you know to feather your own nest today.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You work best today when functioning as the power behind the scene. Someone you're involved with may try to take the credit, but associates will know where the glory goes.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Where major issues are concerned, you will be in harmony with friends and associates today. In matters of small significance, you could be poles apart.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're a good worker today, but you could become a trifle too demanding of yourself and diminish your productiveness through critical thinking.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Friends are likely to come to you for advice today, but they could resent it if you try to take over and run their affairs. Offer counsel, not controls.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It's possible today that you can derive benefits from something that another inaugurated. Be willing to share what you have, as he or she is with you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It's important that you enjoy yourself today, but not to the extent that you neglect your responsibilities. Keep a proper balance between work and play.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You are quite capable today of doing things that could spell personal gain, but you might also be a shade careless once your bird is in hand.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Step in and take charge today where you feel you can do a better job than those with whom you're involved. Be prepared for some small grumbles, however.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Once you begin something today, your tenacity will impel you to follow through, but don't be disappointed if you can't do all you hope to do.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Pals want to be helpful to you today, the same as you do to them. Keep in mind, however, that there may be reasons each of you can't do all you'd like to do for the other.

A program on American Heritage was given.

Mrs. Lois Bishop, leader, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Gene Dulaney, who gave a biography on "The Personal Life of George Washington."

The club members answered roll by giving their favorite president and telling why they liked him. In the busines meeting, various projects of the club were discussed.

Members attending the meeting were: Lois Bartels, Elizabeth Beard, Lois Bishop, Essie Mae Davis, Henrietta Dupree, Mary Faver, Mary Ann Key, Margaret Miller, Martha Moore, Luella Stoker and Mattie Wilson.

South thought about bidding the grand slam since North's five notrump had guaranteed all four aces in accordance with correct Blackwood practice, but South did have a real minimum hand.

The first two tricks went to the ace and king of trumps and South was reduced to finding the best play for six. He went after diamonds. West showed out on the second diamond and South could get only one discard on dummy's diamonds. He took the discard immediately and discarded his 10 of clubs!

Needless to say, West did not use his master trump to ruff either the king or queen of diamonds. Now South led a third trump. West was on lead and down to all black cards.

He had to lead one of them and selected a club.

Now we can see the value of South's 10 of clubs discard on the third diamond. It was a matter of eating his cake and having it left. With the 10 of clubs left in his hand, he would have had to decide between the black suit finesses. With the 10 of clubs discarded earlier, he could afford the club finesse and have the spade finesse to fall back on later. South played dummy's queen and got two spade discards for slam, game and rubber.

Parents Decide Medication

Parents are first-level care evaluators who must make the decision as to whether their children should be given self-medication or professional treatment, says Dr. Jay Arena, professor of Pediatrics at Duke University.

About 90 percent of the pediatric medicine practiced in this country is practiced by parents and grandparents, Dr. Arena said at a meeting of The Proprietary Association, the trade association representing the manufacturers of nonprescription medicines. He recommended that parents become more knowledgeable and adept at self-medication.

It is the responsibility of every parent to read the label on medicines for specific instructions. Effective and safe self-medication of children requires a sense of responsibility and knowledge. The best source of knowledge about nonprescription medicines for self-care is on the label.

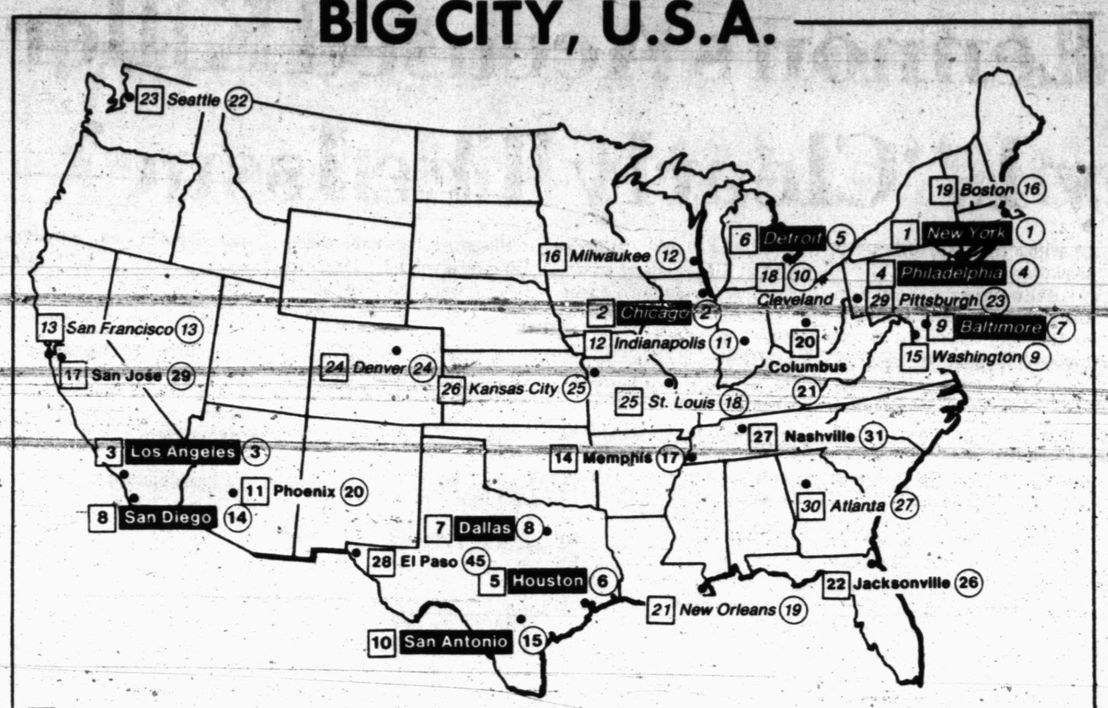
BIG CITY, U.S.A.



THE CONTINUING SHIFT of the American population toward the Sunbelt shows up in the rankings of the nation's 30 largest cities according to preliminary figures of the 1980 Census. While the top four remain unchanged, Los Angeles is the only one that has not declined in population and is within a few thousand of overtaking Chicago for the No. 2 spot. Houston has moved up to fifth, overtaking Detroit, Dallas also has moved up one and there are two newcomers — San Diego and San Antonio. Three of the top 10 are now in Texas and five, all still gaining population, are Sunbelt cities. Cleveland, previously No. 10, is now 18th, while Buffalo and Cincinnati dropped completely out of the top 30. The largest loss in population was experienced by St. Louis, a decline of 27.9 percent. Fastest gainer is San Jose, up 36.1 percent since 1970.

Designer Chooses Ten Worst Dressed Women

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mr. Blackwell, the fashion designer, says he's outraged that actress Brooke Shields has become a sex symbol at 15 and has named her the worst-dressed woman of 1980 for trying to dress too much like an adult.

Miss Shields looks like "a Halloween trick without the treat," Mr. Blackwell said.

"She's awfully young to be putting herself up as a sex image and I think her mother should be totally condemned for this," Blackwell said of Miss Shields, who has starred in such sexually oriented movies as "Pretty Baby," and "Blue Lagoon." There also has been criticism of her ads for Calvin Klein jeans as being too sexual.

Her wardrobe is too adult, said Blackwell.

"It is outrageous that we don't allow youth to be young," he said. "They should be allowed to stay young as long as they can."

The acerbic designer presented his 21st annual list of the worst-dressed women Tuesday. He said all 10 of his selections seemed to "care less" about how they look.

Actress Elizabeth Taylor came in second.

"She should brush her hair and get rid of that baby-blue eyeshadow which she lays on like a layer of paint," Blackwell said. "I don't know of one movie star who has worse taste. No one has made the list so often."

Suzanne Somers took third place. Mr. Blackwell said the star of "Three's Company" looked like "recycled spaghetti."

Actress Bo Derek, star of the movie "10," fell from first place on Blackwell's 1979 list to fourth place in 1980. Blackwell said Miss Derek looked like "a butterfly wearing her cocoon."

One surprising name on the list was that of former model-actress Princess Grace of Monaco, who in 1960 made Blackwell's best-dressed list. The former Grace Kelly was No. 9 on this year's worst-dressed list.

"Instead of looking more exciting, she has become more dowdy," Blackwell said. "Because she has gone mature in her figure she should have compensated in her silhouette."

Blackwell no longer compiles a best-dressed list but does name several "fabulous fashion independents" every year. That list is led by actress Sophia Loren, he said.

Blackwell also praised Nancy Reagan, wife of the president-elect, as "one of the most beautifully groomed women ... feminine, female perfection."

Others on his worst-dressed list, with quips respectively, were:

—5. Charlene Tilton of the "Dallas" TV series: "a pinup for Frederick's of Hollywood," a store that sells exotic lingerie.

—6. Queen Beatrix of The Netherlands: "Cinderella after midnight."

—7. Actress-singer Susan Anton: "an ad for a swap meet."

—8. Pro golfer Nancy Lopez: "a swinging fashion tragedy."

—10. Singer Marie Osmond: "Someone should unplug this Christmas tree."

El Paso Water Suit Is Argued In New Mexico Federal Court

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — Attorneys representing New Mexico have asked a federal judge to dismiss a suit filed by El Paso, Texas, seeking rights to tap a vast underground water table that begins just west of Texas' westernmost border.

U.S. District Judge Howard Bratton listened to arguments from both sides Tuesday and said he would take New Mexico's motion for dismissal under advisement and rule on it "as soon as possible."

Attorneys for New Mexico said the Texans don't own any rights to its water and probably never will and the suit should be promptly thrown out.

El Paso filed suit last September hoping to gain rights to the mostly untapped Mesilla Bolson reserve of southern New Mexico. The West Texas desert city said it needed New Mexico's water to avert an anticipated shortage by the end of the century.

El Paso's lawsuit challenges the constitutionality of a New Mexico law prohibiting the export of its fresh water. Attorneys for the Texas border city have said the bolson is mostly under federally owned land and, except for Las Cruces, a city one-tenth the size of El Paso, no other community is using it.

But Richard Simms, representing New Mexico, said El Paso has put the cart before the horse in asking the court to waive New Mexico's law. He said the enforcement of the statute that forbids the export of water can only be enacted in court. He said El Paso does not have any water rights in New Mexico and is not likely to obtain any, and so it cannot ask the court to remove an embargo that exists only on paper.

After El Paso filed the suit Sept. 5, New Mexico State Engineer Steve Reynolds designated the area closed basins — forcing El Paso to file applications for water drilling permits. The city filed 326 applications.

The next step is for El Paso to go through a series of public hearings in New Mexico to determine if the wells and the anticipated 245,000 acre-feet of water a year the city would take is a hazard to other water rights or to surface water sources. In fact, Simms said El Paso's plan would lower the level of the Rio Grande.

Attorney Charles Berry, representing El Paso, said Simms' arguments were not relative to the motion to dismiss. He said said whether or not El Paso has or will ever have water rights in New Mexico does not change the fact the state is prohibiting El Paso from tapping into New Mexico's undergrond water.

Canada's continental climate, generally temperate, can vary from freezing cold and blistering heat. The range is well beyond 100 degrees.

New Course Set In British Literature

A survey of British Literature with emphasis on several of Shakespeare's plays will be offered at Western Texas College in the coming semester.

The course is English 232, English Literature, and will meet from 9:55-11:10 a. m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Dr. Edward Barkowsky will be the instructor.

Included will be a study of English literary history beginning with a sampling of some of the works of Geoffrey Chaucer and concluding with the early twentieth-century works of W. B. Years. Throughout the course, the place of Shakespeare in literary history will be examined and the works of other writers will be related to his. Of special interest will be the comparison of Shakespeare's treatment of characters and themes with the development of like themes of other authors.

Although the course is a sophomore college level course, it will be of special interest to others who might wish to give special study to the writer often considered to be the greatest British poet and playwright. A special invitation is extended to adults who might wish to read, view and discuss the works of Shakespeare. The plays will be taught by lecture, discussion, video tapes and films so that students may receive the fullest possible benefit. Excellent teaching materials on the Shakespeare plays have been developed by Coast Community College, and these materials will be used extensively in the class.

Dear Abby

'Marriage Encounter' Opens Doors, Hearts

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1981 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Many letters in your column deal with marital problems that seem to be caused by lack of communication. We'd like to suggest an inexpensive, practical and loving way to learn to communicate. The experience is called "Marriage Encounter."

During the last 12 years, over a million couples have gone on a "weekend," as it is called. It lasts from Friday through Sunday afternoon. A six- to eight-member husband and wife team that includes either a rabbi and his spouse, a minister and his spouse, or a priest, presents a series of talks on how to restore life, excitement, love and trust as well as honesty and openness to a marriage.

Abby, the world offers instant divorce as a solution to the problems of communication and commitment. Marriage Encounter showed us a doorway to happiness that we thought was found only in fairy tales.

JON AND MARY, MONTCLAIR, N.J.

DEAR JON AND MARY: I have had sufficient reports in praise of Marriage Encounter to know that it's well worth recommending. Age is not a factor. Couples who have been married 30 years and longer have benefited along with those in their 20s.

It is not a cure for deeply troubled marriages — it's a revitalization for marriages that have become stale, unromantic or dull.

For details, contact the church of your choice.

DEAR ABBY: In regard to the woman whose husband makes love with his socks on: When my husband and I were first married, he would frequently come home for lunch to satisfy his appetite (and mine), which, I confess, was not restricted exclusively to food. He had only an hour, so he never had time to take his socks off. It got to be a standing joke with us.

Now 11 years and three children later, nothing has changed. Who has time to bother with socks? Besides, impromptu rendezvous are usually the best.

SOCK IT TO ME IN PITTSBURGH

DEAR SOCK: On the other hand (or foot), to some, anticipation is more enjoyable than realization.

DEAR ABBY: We've been going round and round about something at our house, and you've been elected to settle it. Our 17-year-old daughter is going with a very nice 18-year-old. Rick is polite and respectful, and not wild like some, but, Abby, his jeans are so tight it is downright indecent.! It is embarrassing for me to look at him. My husband agrees with me that something should be left to the imagination.

We told our daughter to tell Rick to get a larger size, but she says there's nothing wrong with tight jeans — all the kids wear them that way. Do they? And are we square to be offended? What should we do?

TWO OLD SQUARES

DEAR SQUARES: Tight jeans are in, but when nothing is left to the imagination, they are offensive. And if you're square, I'm in all four of your corners.

Do you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank-you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Letter Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Lawyer For Lennon's Accused Killer Says Insanity Is 'Clearly The Issue'

NEW YORK (AP) — Insanity is "clearly the issue" in the case of Mark David Chapman, who has pleaded innocent to murder charges in the shooting death of former Beatle John Lennon, a defense lawyer says.

Chapman, 25, was surrounded by armed court officers when he appeared Tuesday in Supreme Court to enter his plea before Justice Herbert Altman.

Outside the court, attorney Jonathan Marks, contending insanity was "clearly the issue," said his client would plead "not guilty by reason of insanity."

Police said today that Marks is under 24-hour guard following his report of a threat which police refused to detail. They said the lawyer would be protected by two detectives until the seriousness of the threat could be evaluated.

The lawyer withdrew his request to the court that Chapman undergo examination to determine his mental competence to stand trial. The judge, however, appointed two psychiatrists and a psychologist to examine the defendant. One of the psychiatrists is a veteran of the "Son of Sam" multiple murder case.

Pretrial hearings are scheduled for Feb. 11 and Feb. 25, with a trial date to be set at the latter appearance.

Authorities contend Chapman came from his home in Honolulu expressly to kill Lennon. Lennon, 40, and his wife, Yoko Ono, were entering their luxury apartment building Dec. 8 when he was shot several times.

Only hours before, Chapman obtained Lennon's autograph.

The slaying evoked a worldwide tide of anger and mourning. Tens of thousands around the world paused for 10 minutes of silence as a final tribute to Lennon the Sunday after the shooting.

Chapman is under an around-the-clock suicide watch at Rikers Island prison.

Meanwhile, Julian Lennon, Lennon's 17-year-old son by an earlier marriage, said he would leave England to live with Miss Ono and become a rock drummer.

Lennon was quoted in the London Daily Mail today as saying: "That, at least for the immediate future, is where my music will take me."

The teen-ager, who left school last year, lives at the home of his mother, Cynthia, in the north Wales market town of Ruthin. He returned there last week after spending three weeks in New York following his father's death.

His parents were married in 1963 and divorced in 1968. Mrs. Lennon wed John Twist in 1976 and the couple runs a restaurant in Ruthin.

The newspaper said Lennon was torn between his quiet home life in Ruthin and the excitement of Manhattan. It said his loyalty was further stretched between his mother and Miss Ono, with whom he had formed an emotional bonding following his father's death.

Lennon, who previously had planned on leaving school to study at Chester Art College, said that while he was in New York after his father's death, Miss Ono helped him get drum lessons there from a top session drummer.

Inmate Says He Lied About Charges Against Jail Rights Activists, Ruiz

HOUSTON (AP)— A convicted murderer who brought sexual harassment accusations against fellow prison inmate David Ruiz, the man whose lawsuit brought a sweeping federal indictment against the Texas Department of Corrections, now refuses to testify against Ruiz.

Emiliano Figueroa, 18, serving a 75-year sentence, said in federal court Tuesday he concocted the story against Ruiz because someone with official connections at the Harris County Detention Center had offered him freedom in exchange for the lies.

Figueroa, appearing before U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice, said the concocted story was to be either that Ruiz "tried to abuse me homosexually or that he tried to kill me, whichever one I invented."

"I was between a sword and a wall. If I removed the charges, I was in danger from the state. If I testified, I was in danger from Ruiz' friends," he said.

The hearing continued today.

Judge Justice said he was "not making a judgment as to whether the testimony is accurate or perjurous. I am not trying to find out what happened out there (at the Harris County Detention Center). I am trying to find out if you have a case."

Attorneys for Ruiz argued that the charges were in retaliation for the lawsuit against the prison system.

After a 161-day trial, including testimony from 349 witnesses, Justice ruled in the Ruiz lawsuit that the 17 units of the prison system violated "the U.S. Constitution and inmates are forced to live a life of "sheer misery and degradation ... where there is physical suffering and wretched psychological stress."

In the 248-page ruling, Justice attacked almost every phase of the prison system, from medical care to overcrowded conditions to the lack of proper security.

During Tuesday's hearing, Figueroa said a man dressed in civilian clothes came to the detention center and, in the presence of an unnamed jail captain, told the convicted murderer to make up a story about Ruiz.

In return, Figueroa said he would receive a prison sentence on the murder charges "so it wouldn't look bad. But then I'd testify to the grand jury and they would let me go free."

Assistant Texas Attorney General Ed Idar asked Figueroa, "Were you afraid of Ruiz and his friends?"

Figueroa answered, "I had to be afraid because of what I had done, but I had testified against him."

X-Ray Radiation Is Reduced

HIGHLAND HEIGHTS, Ohio (AP) — A maker of diagnostic imaging equipment has teamed with a Canadian teaching hospital to produce a medical technology advance that reduces radiation exposure to patients undergoing X-rays.

The new system, developed by Picker Corp. here in collaboration with Toronto University's Sunnybrook Medical Center, cuts the risk of radiation exposure in chest X-rays by up to 80 percent.

Chest radiography is the most common type of X-ray, accounting for more than 40 percent of the total taken in this country. It is one of the most important techniques for initial and follow-up diagnosis of patients with diseases of the lung or heart.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Worry adds to symptoms?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — When I was in the hospital for a disc operation, X-rays showed that I have gallstones. I never had any problems with them and never knew I had them. Now my doctors say I should have them operated on. I figured if they didn't bother me I wouldn't go to the hospital till they did. But lately I am feeling bloated and have an uncomfortable feeling below my right rib.

I read your column that said that keeping diseased gallbladders in the body is a poor decision. Please send me The Health Letter number 4-9 on gallstones and gallbladder disease. It may help me decide whether to be operated on.

DEAR READER — No one wants to have an unnecessary operation. Of course, if you are having symptoms from your gallbladder you may eliminate them with surgery. But I must warn you that many of these same symptoms you describe can be caused by a spastic colon or other digestive disturbances. These can also be related to nervous tension. I'm raising the question that now that you know you have gallstones you may be worried about it and this may have contributed to your symptoms.

Of course, severe symptoms that are definitely related to gallstones provide an adequate reason to have surgery. But many people do have silent stones — as in your case when your stones were first discovered. The two dangers here are a complication, such as an infected gallbladder or small stones that may lodge in the bile duct blocking off bile drainage from your liver.

The possibility of cancer of the gallbladder or biliary tree in association with gallstones is discussed in The Health Letter you have requested, and I am sending it to you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. About one in a hundred people with untreated gallstones do develop cancer but we can't be sure the stones cause it. The decision also depends on your overall medical status. In older patients who have lots of other diseases, it is sometimes wise to avoid surgery. The risk of the surgery can be greater than the risks in leaving the gallbladder alone.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Please advise me if the vitamin, pangamate, described in the enclosed newspaper article would be of any benefit to me. I am 67 years of age and did have a heart attack almost a year ago and am at present under the care of a cardiologist. I was told my problem was a left blockage to the heart.

DEAR READER — Forget about pangamate. It is another one of those apricot pit products. It has a checkered past, even including connections with the Mafia in its marketing. It is not a vitamin. When the Food and Drug Administration started cracking down, Food Science, one of the marketers, dropped the term vitamin from its label. Recently in an article in Medical World News, Dr. Victor Herbert, a hematologist from New York Downstate Medical Center in Brooklyn, was quoted as saying one of these products (DMG) when mixed with saliva is mutagenic, meaning a 90 percent chance of its being carcinogenic.

Attitudes Ambiguous On Role Of Today's Woman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two-thirds of Americans say they wouldn't mind if their boss were a woman, but by vast majorities they want police, doctors, lawyers, dentists and bankers to be men and salespeople, hairdressers and nurses to be women.

American attitudes are ambiguous on the homefront. Virtually all Americans now think it takes as much intelligence and drive to bring up children as to run a corporation, but only half say a working woman shouldn't have to bear full responsibility for running the house, too.

These trends emerge from a study, "Today's American Woman: How the Public Sees Her," which traces changes in public attitudes about women.

It was prepared by pollster Daniel Yankelovich and his assistant, Deborah Durfee Barron, and published by the President's Advisory Committee for Women. No new polls were conducted for the study, which only analyzed existing studies conducted by major public opinion research firms around the country.

What emerges is a general approval of women's progress — in the job market, in politics, in free choice to determine her own destiny.

But three out of 10 people see women as suffering as much discrimination as Puerto Ricans and Mexican Americans. Most people feel that women suffer less discrimination, though, than blacks or homosexuals.

Only a third of the public feels that women should run the home and let men run the country, a dramatic change from 1974, when a majority felt women should stay home.

On the other hand, about half of Americans subscribe to the old saying that a woman's place is in the home. Two-thirds disapprove of families in which the wife is the breadwinner while dad stays home with the kids.

Most people think a preschool child suffers if mom holds a job.

Most people — nearly six in 10 — don't think the United States will have a woman president by the year 2000, but seven in 10 think a woman will be sworn in as vice president.

Only one person in seven says he would vote against a woman presidential candidate if his party nominated her. In 1937, 65 percent said they would vote for the other party's male candidate.

Attitudes toward sex have changed, too.

Most people feel a couple having a child out of wedlock should not marry just for the sake of the child, but they don't feel it should be made legal to have children out of wedlock. And seven in 10 say deciding to have a child out of wedlock would be morally wrong.

The public is moving toward accepting the idea of single women having children, but a majority remains opposed. But adoption by single parents is all right with most people.

The public feels, in general, that a woman should have the right to have an abortion if she wants one, and majority opinion opposes an anti-abortion amendment to the Constitution. Support for abortion falls off beyond the first three months of pregnancy.

Carelessness Cuts Into Peru's Fishing Industry

LIMA, Peru (AP) — The fishmeal factories, silent and empty, dot the coastline like monuments to the anchovy, the little silver fish that for decades supported Peru's fishing industry, once the world's largest.

Because of 20 years of overfishing, the anchovy population has dropped to such a level that it is unlikely to fully recuperate.

The Ministry of Fisheries estimates some 2 million tons of anchovies are left in the seas off Peru, less than one-tenth the amount which used to supply most of the world's fishmeal.

Recognizing the problem head-on for the first time, the ministry last year banned anchovy fishing and abandoned the traditional fishmeal industry, which supplied much of the world's poultry and hog producers, in favor of food fish.

Except for a 150-mile stretch north of the Chilean border, anchovy fishing is prohibited along Peru's entire 1,400-mile coastline.

"We won't touch them for several years," Rene Deustua, the fisheries minister, said in a recent interview with The Associated Press. "No one knows if this bio-mass will someday recuperate. But what is known for sure is that the population will never again reach the levels of the past."

Deustua said the number might grow to between 4 million and 5 million metric tons, enough to permit "a very limited catch."

"We ought to have declared an anchovy emergency" when the catch dropped from a high of about 15 million tons in 1971 to 3 million tons in 1973, Deustua said. "Fishing should have been prohibited for two or three years. Now it's a little late."

Deustua said catch limits will be based on recommendations from the Peruvian Sea Institute, an independent, scientific agency.

"They will tell me the volume they believe can be fished without endangering the species and that is the amount I will authorize," he said.

The minister's approach is a new concept in Peru, where the military regime which relinquished power to a civilian government in July virtually ignored the advice of the Sea Institute for 12 years and tried to maintain the fishmeal industry at any cost.

The ministry's position has been accompanied by a cut in the fishing fleet and its return to private ownership.

The military government expropriated some 100 fishmeal plants and 1,500 anchovy purse seiners in 1973, the year the anchovy practically disappeared.

By 1979, only 33 fishmeal plants and 500 seiners were left. Just seven of the fishmeal plants were in use this past year, all of them on the southern coast. Owners are selling their seiners or converting them for use in the food fish industry.

Scientists give two causes for the anchovy's disappearance.

One was the obvious overfishing. A U.N. sponsored study by an international team of biologists warned in 1970 that the Peruvian anchovy fishery could not sustain a catch of more than 9.5 million tons a year. But the catches in 1967, 1968, 1969, 1970 and 1971 all exceeded that amount.

Water temperature also affects the population.

Anchovies thrive on the nutrients in the cold Humboldt Current which sweeps northward from the Antarctic along the Peruvian coast.

But a warm current called "El Nino," The Christ Child, which originates in the Gulf of Guayaquil near the Equator, sometimes dips further south than usual, into Peruvian waters. When that happens, the anchovies die or swim south into Chilean waters.

Lewis Nance, president of First National Bank (In Organization), today announced that Margaret Lacy, executive secretary, has been named an officer in the bank.

The board of directors, meeting Tuesday, named Miss Lacy assistant cashier and executive secretary.

Miss Lacy came to work for the new bank in November after more than five years with Brownfield State Bank and Trust Co. At the Brownfield bank she served in various departments including loan secretary, operations secretary, lease department secretary and secretary to the president.

A 1970 graduate of Brownfield High School, she attended Commercial College of Lubbock and majored in accounting and secretarial science. From 1971 to 1975 she was employed by Life and Casualty Insurance Co. of Tennessee in Lubbock.

Miss Lacy also attended South Plains College in Levelland and she had taken various courses through the American Institute of Banking at Texas Tech.

Nance said the bank is nearing its opening date and an announcement would be made as soon as confirmation is received from the Comptroller of the Currency.

The bank plans to open operations in temporary quarters at 37th and College while the permanent quarters are under construction at the same location.

Nance said the new institution will offer full banking services, including the new NOW accounts.

Snyder Bounces Back From Dismal First Half

Tigers Shock Lamesa; Win Third Straight!

By BILL MCCLELLAN

LAMESA--Snyder's Tigers overcame a dismal first half and a seven point deficit here last night to shock highly-touted Lamesa 48-47 and keep in contention for the District 2-AAAA cage crown.

With 14 seconds remaining in the game, junior guard John Wilson canned a pair of pressure free shots to give Snyder a three-point edge, 48-45. Victor Spencer was able to retaliate with a bucket for Lamesa, but the Tigers wouldn't guard close enough to give the hosts a chance at a three-point play, and time simply ran out.

The victory brings Snyder's round-one district record to 2-1 and gives the team its third straight win since the holiday break. Lamesa, 2-0 going into the contest, also fell to 2-1.

Lamesa tipped off the game with a hot hand and quickly established superiority on the boards in building a 15-8 lead.

Snyder trimmed the Tor lead to a point, 15-14, on a Barry Blackmon bucket to open the second period, but Lamesa eventually built another seven digit-advantage as Victor Spencer, Johnny Castro and Joey Froman continued their no-miss policy. Unofficial statistics had the Tors hitting 13 of 16 field goals in the two periods, and showed Snyder with only seven rebounds in the same time.

Byerly had only a few - but important - words for the Tigers at intermission.

"I told them (the team) we were extremely fortunate not to be further behind," said Byerly, who added his only words of instruction at half-time were to "hustle more".

The Tigers did exactly that, out-hitting the Tors 11 to 9 on the boards and taking better advantage of their opponents' turnovers. Almost as important was the fact that Lamesa shooters cooled off considerably in the final two periods - a result of Snyder's scrappier defensive play.

Though Snyder cut a 27-20 halftime lead to one point early in the third, and the teams traded baskets for the most part until consecutive shots by Kris Seale and Eric Arnold gave the visitors the lead with 1:44 left. Arnold came on in the second half to hit 10 points - including four field goals from the 20-25 foot range - a factor which helped to keep the Tors off balance and seemed to give Snyder needed momentum at crucial times.

The lead changed sides of the scoreboard four times late in the third period and twice more early in the third before Jim Puckett connected on two straight for a 45-42 Lamesa advantage.

But Snyder wasn't to be put off. With just under a minute to go, Arnold hit one from 22 feet to put the Tigers back on top, 46-45. A turnover moments later regained possession for the visitors, who ran the clock down to 17 seconds before Lamesa got the ball back on a Seale shot underneath which simply refused to fall. The Tors quickly called timeout to plan their stragegy, but it never materialized.

Snyder pulled off the big play, this time with blanket defense which held Lamesa from passing the ball inbounds within the alloted five seconds.

It gave the Tigers possession again, and with 14 seconds left, Lamesa's desperation attempt at getting the ball back sent Wilson to the line.

Snyder was led offensively by Wilson's 12 points, but had four in double figures as Blackmon and Seale - whose inside shots kept the visitors in line most of the first half - added 11 each, and Arnold had 10. Blackmon was the leading rebounder with 9.

The charity stripe was a key in the game has Snyder managed 16 of 19 buckets (84 percent) from the line. Lamesa hit one in three trips to the line.

Spencer hit 10 points for the hosts, now 12-5 on the season, while Bill Cheek notched 9. Puckett's 14 was game-high.

Earlier in the evening, Snyder junior varsity fell just short in rallying from a 16-point deficit to get beaten 47-41. The Cats out-scored the hosts 18-14 in the final period, but was never able to get close enough to overcome the Tor lead.

Danny Ramos scored 10 for Snyder while Riley Kitchens hit 9.

TIGERS STOP LAMESA--Snyder's Kris Seale goes inside for two points against the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes last night as the Tigers sacked up a 48-47 District 2-AAAA victory. Snyder went ahead on an Eric Arnold field goal and John Wilson hit two pressure freethrows with 14 seconds left to clinch the win. Sweetwater Leads District Running Sweetwater's Mustangs stand alone as the top team in District 2-AAAA today after previously undefeated Andrews fell to Ector, 71-69 last night.

The Mustangs, 3-0, lead a list which has four teams - Snyder, Lamesa, Fort Stockton and Ector - with 2-1 records. Andrews is a half-game behind at 1-1.

Monahans and Pecos are both 0-2 in round-one play, while Lake View is 0-3.

Other scores from last night's games included Snyder 48, Lamesa 47; Fort Stockton 53, Monahans 51; Sweetwater 50, Lake View 46 in overtime; and in non-district play, Pecos 55, Marfa 46.

Friday's matchups, with current season standings, are: 14-3 Andrews at 11-3 Pecos, 10-8 Ector at 4-8 Lake View, 6-12 Snyder at 7-10 Fort Stockton, and 2-12 Monahans at 10-9 Sweetwater.

SMU Stops Texas Jinx

by The Associated Press

Southern Methodist University completed breaking a long jinx and Baylor, Rice and Houston came out victorious Tuesday night in Southwest Conference basketball action.

The Mustangs beat the University of Texas Longhorns, 53-51, on a desperation shot by Gordon Welch at the end of overtime. The victory in Austin marked the first time that the Mustangs had beaten Longhorn football and basketball teams in Austin in the same school year since 1966.

In other SWC roundball action, Baylor kept the Texas Aggies sliding with a 53-44 victory, Rice beat Texas Christian, 57-51, and Houston slipped past Texas Tech, 73-70.

Girls In Second Place

Felines Hammer Tors

Coach Ken Housden's varsity Felines slapped Lamesa as expected here last night, 67-32 in District 2-AAAA basketball action.

The victory, coupled with a Sweetwater loss to Lake View, leaves Snyder in sole possession of second place for round one. However, Snyder must count on the Mustangs upsetting 6-0 Monahans Friday if the Felines are to have a chance at the first-round crown.

Snyder got four girls in doubles figures and plenty of help on the side as every teammember put points on the board. Brenda Anderson led with 15, while Tracy O'Day had 12, Michelle Townsel 11 and LaDonna Halford 10.

"That's one thing we need to have more often," said Coach Housden, who relayed that his girls played well in the game. "We probably fouled too much (24 for the night) but it was a pretty good ballgame for us. Everybody played and everybody scored."

Snyder jumped out to a 16-4 lead at the first-period buzzer and out-pointed the visitors 22-13, 13-9 and 16-6 in the final three. O'Day manned the boards for the locals, bringing down 13 rebounds.

Other 2-AAAA scores from last night's action were Monahans 38, Fort Stockton 33 and Lake View 67, Sweetwater 42. Also, it was reported that Andrews topped Ector by six points, though an exact score was unavailable.

Last night's victory here puts Snyder over the .500 mark at 8-7 on the season, and is the Felines' fifth straight win. The group hosts Fort Stockton in the SHS Gym, 8 p.m. Friday.

In earlier action here, Snyder's junior varsity ripped Lamesa underclassmen 43-31. Ramona Murphy hit 12 points for the locals, while Pam Perceval added 8.

Snyder JV, which hosts Fort Stockton at 6:15 Friday, is 8-2.

WTC Resumes Action Against Rival Midland

BIG SPRING--Western Texas Coach Larry Dunaway isn't too happy about playing in the annual ABC Tournament here this weekend, but he says he'll try to make it a positive factor in the Westerners' future.

Western Texas takes on NJCAA top-ranked Midland College in Thursday's feature game at 9 p.m. Host Howard College entertains Sul Ross junior varsity in the opener at 7. Losers will vie again Friday at 7, winners at 9 in the abbreviated, two-day meet.

"I don't believe in playing conference teams in tournaments before the conference season," Dunaway said this morning. "I'll avoid a tournament that I would like to play in if I know a conference team is going to be there. Playing a conference team in a tournament can have a positive or negative effect, and you never know which one it's going to be," he explained.

"But we're committed to play in it so we'll go over there and play the best we can. We've got nothing to lose by playing the No. 1 team in the nation and we can learn a lot about them which should help us in conference play. We're going to look at it in a positive manner," Dunaway added.

Western Texas athletes returned from the holidays "in as good a shape as I expected them to be in," said the coach, who reported that freshman Brett Smith, from Borger, did not return.

According to the coach, Smith has taken a part-time job and is going to school in Borger.

Dunaway has brought in a 6-3 athlete from New Albany, Ind., Robert Smith, who must first pass a G.E.D. test before he would be elgible to compete with the team. The test would presumably be taken early next week.

The coach said WTC would "do some different things, and see how they (Midland) react. It's not a conference game, so we might do a little experimenting that we wouldn't do in a conference situation," he added. "I don't think we're ready to play our normal pressing and breaking game. We'll be using the next two nights to get us in shape as much as anything else."

Campbell Threatens To Sit Season Out

HOUSTON (AP) — In a copyright story, the Houston Chronicle said today Earl Campbell is prepared to sit out the 1981 National Football League season unless the Houston Oilers renegotiate a new contract that would realize $5 to $6 million over six years.

Campbell's current base salary is believed to be about $300,000 a year.

The newspaper quoted Witt Stewart, Campbell's agent, as saying a trade would be an alternative to renegotiation.

"We've got our guns loaded," Stewart said. "Earl loves Houston and wants to play. But if we can't get together on the contract, Earl might have enough things outside to sit out. If (Oilers owner) Bud Adams wants to be the reason Earl Campbell no longer plays football, Bud will have to live with that."

Ladd Herzeg, the new Oilers general manager, said Monday that Stewart had asked that the contract be renegotiated and that he had been turned down. Herzeg said the contact was reworked last year but the club's policy now is not to renegotiate contracts.

"We won't be blackmailed," Herzeg said.

Dusters Bound For Oklahoma

TONKAWA, Okla.--Coach Joe Cushing's Western Texas College Dusters begin the 1981 portion of their season here Thursday, pitted against Garland Community College in round one of the Northern Oklahoma Tournament.

The Dusters, 14-3, meet the Hot Springs, Ark. based college at 6:30 p.m. and Cushing says his team is ready for action again after a three-week holiday break.

"We're ready to go. We've got everybody back, we had two good workouts yesterday and we're going to get the finishing touches down this afternoon," he said yesterday. "We'll be on the road all day Wednesday and hopefully we can find a place to work out when we get there. Then we'll be ready to take on Garland."

Cushing knew "nothing" about Thursday's opponent, but he's aware of the caliber of talent the Northern Oklahoma Tournament usually exhibits.

"We're real excited about the tournament. The last couple of years the national (juco) champion and runner-up came out of this tournament, so it's a priviledge to play in it," he said.

Other entries include tourney host and 1979 NJCAA champion Northern Oklahoma, which takes on Wayland junior varsity at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, WJCAC pre-season favorite Amarillo, which meets Cloud County Kansas at 2, and highly regarded Moberly, Mo., which meets Dodge City, Kan., at 4.

"We haven't received anything (polls) from the national office yet, but I expect Northern Oklahoma, Amarillo and Moberly to all be ranked," Cushing said.

Should WTC win, it just might face Moberly. The WTC-Garland winner takes on the Moberly-Dodge City victor in second-round play at 5 p.m. Friday. Losers of those two games meet at 1.

Chargers Control AP All-Pro Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Tight end Kellen Winslow and wide receivers John Jefferson and Charlie Joiner of the San Diego Chargers, who caught more than 1,000 yards in passes apiece to set a National Football League record, were named today to The Associated Press All-Pro Team for the 1980 season.

Cleveland's Brian Sipe, whose league-leading passing was instrumental in the Browns' resurgence, was selected The AP's All-Pro first-team quarterback. He beat out Dan Fouts, the Chargers' record-breaker.

In all, San Diego had eight players on the first and second teams in the balloting by 84 sports writers and sports broadcasters, three from each NFL city. The other two Chargers starters are on defense — end Fred Dean and tackle Gary Johnson.

The American Conference, which once again dominated interconference play, placed 16 players on the first team to 9 for the National Conference. The NFC had 14 second-team selections to 11 from the AFC.

The Pittsburgh Steelers came in second to the Chargers in first-team All-Pro players with three — center Mike Webster, middle linebacker Jack Lambert and strong safety Donnie Shell.

Four teams — Oakland, Los Angeles, Cleveland and Houston — put two players apiece on the All-Pro first team.

The Raiders are outside linebacker Ted Hendricks and cornerback Lester Hayes; the Rams are free safety Nolan Cromwell and cornerback Pat Thomas, the Browns are Sipe and defensive end Lyle Alzado and the Oilers are running back Earl Campbell and tackle Leon Gray.

Rounding out the first team are tackle Mike Kenn of Atlanta, guards John Hannah of New England and Herbert Scott of Dallas, defensive tackle Charlie Johnson of Philadelphia, outside linebacker Matt Blair of Minnesota, punter Dave Jennings of the New York Giants, place-kicker Ed Murray of Detroit and kick-returner J.T. Smith of Kansas City.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Storm clouds of tax revolt are beginning to darken the Texas sky, and the 1981 Legislature will be seeking ways to pacify angry taxpayers.

Soaring home values and the state's first experience with assessment of property for taxation on its full market value resulted in 1980 tax notices that sent many homeowners into shock.

Tax protest groups organized in Dallas, Corpus Christi, Victoria and several other cities.

Besides hunting a satisfactory means to lower homeowners' property taxes, the Legislature also will deal with:

— The recurrent plea by counties for a one-cent local option sales tax to help them meet rising budgets without tax increases.

— Better management of state revenue, including the millions of dollars from occupational license fees which state agencies spend with little or no legislative control.

— Appropriating $26.3 billion for 1982-83 operation of universities, mental hospitals, prisons, parks, health and welfare programs, public schools and regulation of businesses and professions.

There might also be attempts to raise taxes on oil and gas production and to boost the nickel-a-gallon gasoline tax, the nation's lowest.

Gov. Bill Clements suggested a gasoline tax increase to help cover the growing cost of highway construction but backed off when he learned legislative leaders did not support it.

"There's not a lot of enthusiastic support for it. There's not even a lot of lukewarm support for it," said Rep. Bob Davis, R-Irving, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Davis said the "sexiest issue" will be a constitutional amendment to reduce property taxes by exempting a larger portion of a home's value from taxation.

A constitutional amendment needs a two-thirds majority in each house, and voters would make the final decision.

Rep. Wayne Peveto, D-Orange, father of the new Property Tax Code which levies property taxes on a home's full market value, says he will offer two alternative constitutional amendments.

One, he said, would allow each local government to exempt up to 27.5 percent of the appraised value of homesteads from taxation.

The other would authorize the Legislature to grant a 27.5 percent statewide exemption.

Peveto said he is most concerned with the shifting of tax burden from businesses, whose property appreciates slowly, to homes, where reappraisals have shown tremendous jumps in value.

"I just don't want to see this shift take place. If we don't do something, people are going to be very, very upset," he said.

Rep. Lee Jackson, R-Dallas, is carrying the Dallas City Council's proposal to allow cities to cut 20 percent from the taxable value of a homestead.

Davis doubts lawmakers would accept a sweeping statewide reduction in taxable values.

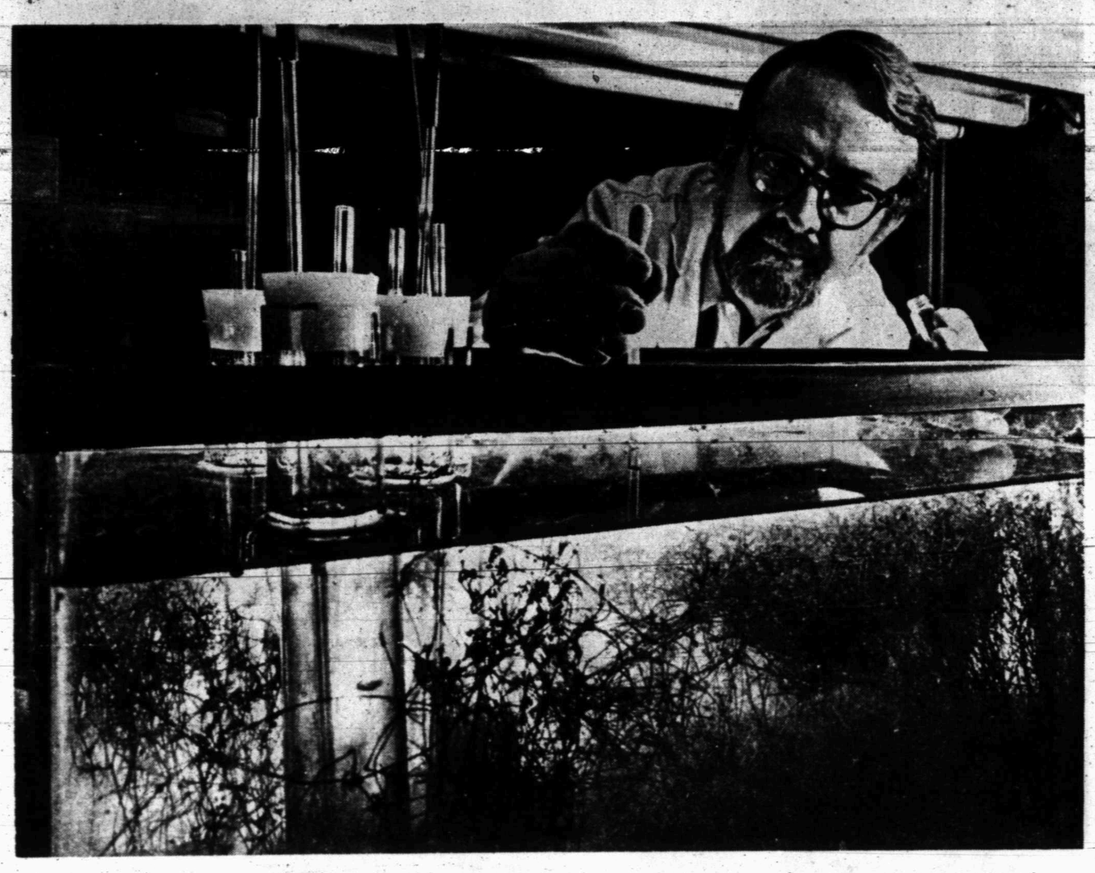
"If anything is going to happen, it is going to have to happen on a local option basis," he said.

Davis, like Gov. Bill Clements, wants to use the state surplus — which Clements optimistically estimates at $1 billion — for tax relief.

But what kind of tax relief?

Paul Wrotenbery, the governor's budget director, is unimpressed with Austin-mandated school tax cuts, with state reimbursement of revenue losses.

Davis favors a half-cent sales tax cut, worth about $700 million, in 1982-83.



INDOOR LAKE—Miniature indoor lakes are used at Monsanto Company to determine the effects of chemicals on the environment. Scientists at Monsanto's Environmental Science laboratories place lake sediment, water, invertebrates, microorganisms, plants and a test chemical in glass aquaria to simulate the environment. Questions as to where the chemical goes, how long it persists and its effect on plant and animal life can be answered by monitoring the indoor lake.
