

Hired Hand
Two Men
Who Work
With LBJ

By Glenn Shelton

Riding the coattails of LBJ into national prominence are two young men who are physical opposites. I got to know both of them while aboard "Swoose II" in the last presidential campaign. George Reedy, the new press secretary, is a bear of a man, big boned and well-padded, flaunting a shock of wild hair to provoke the envy of television's Dr. Zorba. His massive horn-rimmed glasses make him look like Smokey the Bear scamming the forests for a lighted match. He is slow moving, even cumbersome. And to look at him you'd think the guy would never be able to shift out of low gear. You'd be dead wrong. He's like a giant earth-moving machine, physically, and the bite he takes out of a job-to-be-done follows the analogy. He has prodigious energy. He'd have to have, to be a co-worker with the energetic President.

The other LBJ aide is Bill Moyers, the first man I met when I joined the vice-presidential campaign plane in 1960. If George Reedy resembles a stalking grizzly, Bill is more like a penguin. He's a scholarly-looking, Madison Avenue type, slick and impeccable of dress.

Moyers is another dynamo of energy, that being the first prerequisite of fellowship with the tall Texan in politics. He is LBJ's abject servant; he attends to all detail, trivial and momentous in importance. Unassuming and seemingly without personal ambition, he works tirelessly for one thing only: the welfare of his boss, the President of the United States.

George Reedy and Bill Moyers are indeed physical opposites. But in their diverse cranial resides the same potent gray matter: both are highly intelligent. Bill's mind is as sharp as a steel trap, and George is a Rhodes Scholar.

You may expect a lot from these youthful aides of President Johnson. Combining as they do restless energy with superlative intelligence, they will no doubt go a long way. I consider it was a rare privilege to have worked with them the short time of the last campaign.

OFF ON A TANGENT—At Twelfth and Indiana, on the southeast corner, stands an old brick home with massive chimneys. I am sure that, could it speak, it could relate many interesting tales of early-day Wichita Falls. I certainly would like to know its history.

TODAY'S BOUQUET to Ray Simpson, 4510 Mimosa, who since last Friday's tornado has worked incessantly for those whose homes were wrecked, who has unselfishly sacrificed time and personal funds to help a young couple who lost everything.

MANY THANKS TO JIMMY B. RAY, 1903 MESQUITE IN VERNON, FOR A FINE PICTURE HE SNAPPED OF A STEAM LOCOMOTIVE.

THE MAILBAG — "Your column on tornadoes was timely as the least. However, I'm writing about two paragraphs in a Saturday story. They describe this young bride who was to meet her husband, and became irrational. The part that summed up their predicament was: 'They didn't speak or cry; they just clutched each other as tightly as possible.' This is America in action."

GUIDED TOUR ON HOME GROUNDS — Washington — President Johnson took over a new role Saturday—that of a guide around the White House grounds for a group of sightseers. The President ordered the gates opened and a flock of tourists found themselves on a surprise guided tour of the grounds with Johnson pointing out the highlights of the Executive Mansion. In addition to guiding the sightseers about the grounds, Johnson shook hands and at times paused to sign autographs. (AP Wirephoto)

Rail Strike Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson underscored anew Saturday his deep desire that railroad and union negotiators end by collective bargaining the recurring threat of a national rail shutdown.

He sat in again with the negotiators and federal mediators who are striving in White House sessions to reach by April 24 a settlement that has been sought fruitfully for more than four years.

Then the President opened a news conference with a lengthy statement about the negotiations, launched after both sides accepted his Thursday night proposal for a 15-day delay in a strike which was to have shut down more than 200 rail lines at 12:01 a.m. on Friday.

He said "Success in this case can be an enormous step in strengthening the foundations of collective bargaining. I know this is in the heart and minds of those around the (bargaining) table."

Wheat-Cotton Bill
Inked By Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed Saturday the $1 billion wheat-cotton bill which he said "gives us some insurance against a depression on the farm."

And, Johnson said, depression starts on the farm. "We are dealing with a depression before it starts."

Johnson signed the bill in a ceremony in the White House Cabinet Room. It was attended by Democratic congressional leaders, representatives of some farm organizations—but not the Farm Bureau which opposed the legislation — and George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO.

The wheat section of the bill puts into effect a two-year voluntary program that will apply to the 1964 and 1965 crops.

Under it, farmers will get a basic support price of $1.30 a bushel, and receive certificates worth 70 cents a bushel for wheat used in domestic consumption. For exported wheat, 25-cent certificates will be issued.

Only farmers who comply with acreage allotments will be eligible to participate. Allotments would be based on a national allotment of not less than 49.5 million acres.

Tornado Alert Ends
Without Incident

Scattered light showers, which made highways deadly slick, fell on portions of North Central and Northeast Texas Saturday.

But a tornado alert for a portion of the Red River Valley, including storm-battered Wichita Falls, expired with no reports of violent weather.

Aspermont Youth
Is Bee Champion

By CAROLE LYNN COOK
Three's a charm for Stone-wall County's Bill Morgan, who was declared winner of the 10th annual district spelling bee Saturday afternoon at Midwestern University.

It was Bill's third and final trip to the district bee, and his victory broke a nine-year record held by Wichita and Wilbarger counties. All previous winners have been from one of the two counties.

Runner-up in the grueling 54-round battle was Charlotte May, a 12-year-old seventh grader from Harrold School in Wilbarger County. Miss May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin May, spelled "seraphic" for "seraphic."

Morgan, an eighth grader at Aspermont School, corrected her spelling and added the spelling of the clincher word "recalcitrant" to claim the championship at 2:30 p.m.

Though the champion spelled with complete confidence throughout the contest, he narrowly escaped elimination in the 52nd round. The word "periphras-

King Oil And Lane Wood Co.
Combine $12,000,000 Assets

A $12,000,000 consolidation of the assets of King Oil Inc., of Wichita Falls, and Lane Wood & Co. of Dallas was announced Saturday.

King Oil is an independent exploration and production company with producing properties in Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico, Wyoming, Utah and Alaska.

Lane Wood & Co. is the southwest's largest locally owned firm engaged in factoring and other forms of commercial finance, serving approximately 200 clients. Since its founding in 1955, annual volume has grown from $2,000,000 to $60,000,000.

Announcement of the consolidation was made by R. A. King, president and founder of King Oil, and R. Vincent Lynch and Charles P. Aberg Jr., general partners of Lynch, Aberg & Co., Dallas investment firm which acquired Lane Wood in 1962.

Effective April 30, King Oil will acquire all the stock of Lane Wood & Co. in exchange for 2,732,444 shares of authorized but unissued King Oil stock. This will bring the total of King Oil shares outstanding, traded over-the-counter, to approximately 6,800,000. None of the new stock will be offered for public sale, however, being held as an investment by Lynch, Aberg & Co.

Stockholders of King Oil will be asked early in May to approve. See KING, Page 4A

TFX Fighter Plane
Due By December

By ROBERT MELBURN
Times Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — The highly-controversial F-111 supersonic fighter plane may make its maiden flight in Texas skies sometime this December.

That the Fort Worth - built craft, formerly known as the TFX, faces a rendezvous with reality seven months hence was revealed in heretofore secret testimony made public Saturday. The testimony was given by Air Force Lt. Gen. Thomas P. Gerry before a House defense appropriations subcommittee in February.

Gerry, deputy chief of staff for systems and logistics, furnished the subcommittee a specific date for the beginning of flight testing.

It was deleted from the published record of the hearing, for security reasons.

Gerry expressed confidence, however, that the date can be met, "give or take 30 days or so."

Under questioning, he conceded the deadline may fall by as much as 90 days.

But he emphasized that he has seen no indications "at this stage of the game" that the schedule cannot be met.

The plane currently is under development at the General-Dynamics-Fort Worth plant. The production contract may go as high as $10 billion.

In other phases of his testimony, Gerry minimized developmental difficulties which have attracted some headlines and emphasized Air Force satisfaction with progress to date.

There had been reports that the plane's designers were having difficulty reducing its overall weight sufficiently.

"We have the normal challenges and difficulties of any development program at this stage of the game," Gerry told the subcommittee.

So far, the general reported, the Air Force has expended "something approaching $100 million" on the plane.

"We will be undertaking, starting in December of 1964, the initial flight test to prove out the aerodynamics of the aircraft," he said.

Gerry was questioned closely by Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock about possibility the See TFX, Page 4A

Of Summit Meet

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson said Saturday Soviet Premier Khrushchev is "seeking to preserve peace in the world." Johnson said that, so long as Khrushchev "talks in peaceful terms, he will always have our ear."

This was Johnson's response, at another unannounced Saturday news conference, to a request for comment on Khrushchev's recent kind words about the American president and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

"I am glad to see," said Johnson, "that Mr. Khrushchev is playing the role of peace and seeking to preserve peace in the world. That certainly is the desire of this country. When he talks in peaceful terms, he will always have our ear."

At the same time, the President gave scant encouragement to any who would call for an early summit meeting.

Johnson said that because of the forthcoming election, his newness in office, the absence of a vice president, and a multitude of foreign policy problems he does not plan to leave the continental United States this year.

The only things that could take him abroad, he said, would be an unforeseen emergency or "some feeling that great advances could be made."

This did, however, leave the door slightly ajar for a possible 1964 summit session.

Aides said that in his response about Khrushchev, Johnson was See JOHNSON, Page 4A

Famed General
Laid To Rest

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—With measured cannon fire and the sad notes of Taps, the nation sent its old soldier, Douglas MacArthur to his earthly peace Saturday.

It was a moving ceremony—one of massed flags dipping in waves, of stirring band music, and of quiet prayers and the sadness of the 84-year-old general of the army's widow, Jean, and son, Arthur, 28.

The Stars and Stripes were removed from MacArthur's steel casket before he was to be lowered into his tomb in a crypt in the MacArthur Memorial in this old Navy town where his mother was born.

And thus, the five-star general and hero of three wars who died Sunday—fading away as he once eloquently predicted—was laid to rest.

There were dignitaries and old comrades on hand, their heads bowed as the benediction was read at the crypt after church services at St. Paul Episcopal Church two blocks away.

Representing President Johnson, who paid his respects to MacArthur in earlier ceremonies in Washington, was Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, who less than five months ago saw his brother, President John F. Kennedy, buried with similar honors.

Milburn Will Head Symphony Campaign

Appointment of Ralph W. Milburn, well-known in area business and banking circles, as chairman of the 1964-65 Maintenance Fund drive has been announced by Dr. William L. Rector, president of the Wichita Falls Symphony Orchestra.

The drive for funds for the resident orchestra's full program of activities has been set to begin May 1, in conjunction with its annual meeting to elect officers and board members for next season.

Milburn, now president of Bowie Gasoline Corp., came to Wichita Falls in 1959. He was vice president of the City National in 1960, after which he organized Sheppard State and First State banks, serving as president and co-chairman of the board of the former. He is now a member of the board of directors of Texas Bank and Trust.

His numerous civic activities have included serving as chairman of the Mother's March on Polo for nine years, treasurer and director of the Campfire Girls organization for seven years, chairman of the public relations and publicity committee for United Fund for one year and a member of the speaker's panel of Texas Manufacturers' Association for two years.

"The community is fortunate to have the services of Ralph Milburn for this key post in broadening and building the activities of our symphony organization," said Dr. Rector. "His vast experience in fund raising and his enthusiasm for the broadened program of the symphony organization will immeasurably aid in the expanded goal of the resident orchestra."

A member of All Saints Episcopal church, Milburn resides with his wife Frances, and their two children, Amy and Hap, at 1601 Carol Lane.

Dutch Royalty Visiting Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Dutch royal family winds up today its final full day in Mexico City with a goodwill gift of plastic fishing boats to help Mexico's major colonization project.

The Embassy said that four Dutch-made boats would be presented by Queen Juliana, Prince Bernhard and two major industrial companies of Holland.

They are for use of colonists in the Yucatan Peninsula, which will be visited by the royal family during a tour starting Sunday of Merida, Oaxaca, and finally a rest in Acapulco.

Their final formal meeting with President Adolfo Lopez Mateos took place at a large luncheon given by the royal family Friday.

There were no speeches—only an exchange of personal toasts—and Queen Juliana gave the president a specially-made desk clock with bells, his wife a cut glass flower vase, and their daughter Aveilla a jewel box.

Mexican Stamps To Mark El Chamizal

MEXICO CITY (AP)—One million air mail stamps commemorating the return to Mexico of the disputed El Chamizal land strip go on sale in Mexican post offices today.

The stamps, 80 centavo denomination, bear the images of President Adolfo Lopez Mateos of Mexico and the late President John F. Kennedy.

The agreement to return the land, located at El Paso, Tex., was reached under administrations of the two presidents.

POLICE HANDLED MANY DETAILS IN EMERGENCY

During the emergency period which followed the tornado that struck Wichita Falls April 3 and through April 7, the criminal investigation division of the city police department, working with a skeleton crew, cleared by arrests 73 burglaries and thefts, and one murder.

On the Black Friday the tornado ripped through the northeastern section of Wichita Falls, Capt. S. J. (Baker) Lawrence was given command of all downtown police operations by Chief C. C. (Bud) Daniel. Lt. R. E. Boyle was appointed in command of the criminal investigation division.

Shortly after the tornado had passed, and during the period the police department was being put into emergency status, Lt. Boyle received a call to investigate a murder which had occurred at 109 Lake Street.

Officer Jerry Snider accompanied Boyle on the call and other officers arrived later to assist. In a short time the defendant was arrested, numerous witnesses contacted, statements taken, and by midnight the case was ready for presentation to the grand jury.

Saturday following the tornado the criminal investigation division began operating in two twelve hour shifts. Officers assigned to the criminal investigation division were Detective Sgt. H. C. Shubert, Detective Sgt. James V. Andrus, Detective Sgt.

Kenneth Edmonds, Juvenile Sgt. Charles Trainham, Detectives Eldon Proctor, Ed Urias, Ed Vaden, and Kenneth Hulien.

Officers John Goodman, Robert David, and H. G. Evans arrested three suspects that led to clearing up 36 burglaries. Other arrests were made by detectives during the emergency period which cleared up some 47 burglaries which ranged from coin-operated machines to businesses and private residences.

One burglar arrested was nicknamed the "candlelight burglar" because he used candles in churches for light to commit his crimes. His list of burglaries dated back to 1958.

Lt. Boyle said he was proud to report the attitude, ability and cooperation shown by all of the emergency, was beyond reproach. "I particularly observed the cooperation shown between the criminal investigation division and the uniformed officers in teaming together and getting the job done. Along the same line, great effort was put forth, coupled with the ability and cooperation by civilian and policewomen of this department during this time of stress."

Bids Are Asked On Surplus Items

Surplus government property is being offered on two sealed bid sales by the Redistribution and Marketing Office at Sheppard Technical Training Center, according to an announcement by Pete W. Hogan, officer in charge.

Items offered on the first sale consist of six aircraft engines, which may be inspected from now through April 27, excluding Saturdays and Sundays, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 3 p.m., by contacting Hogan at Building 2133, Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, telephone 851-2511, Extension 2712.

Items offered on the second sale consist of scrap lots of iron and steel, miscellaneous metal, heavy melting steel, iron aluminum, aluminum, cable and wire copper, and rubber.

The above scrap items may be inspected in the same manner, but from April 14 - 27, inclusive.

Bids should be mailed to the Fort Worth Defense Surplus Sales Office, Fort Worth Army Depot, P.O. Box 6668, Ft. Worth 15, Texas 76115, where bids on the aircraft engines will be opened at 9 a.m., April 28, and those on the scrap items will be opened at 9 a.m., May 5.

JOHNSON TO ADDRESS ASSOCIATED PRESS GROUP

NEW YORK (AP)—President Johnson will address the largest number of publishers and editors to attend an Associated Press annual luncheon when he speaks here April 20.

Reservations for the luncheon of the worldwide news cooperative at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel have passed the 1,500 mark. Plans are being made for about 1,600.

The largest previous attendance — 1,216 — heard astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. last year. President Eisenhower spoke to 1,150 in 1963.

The audience will be the largest gathering of news executives to hear the President since he succeeded to the office last November.

Besides leading publishers and editors of this country, the audience will include heads of four foreign press associations: Kiyoshi Iwamoto, general manager of Kyodo of Japan; Alan MacIntosh, chairman of the board of the South African Press Association and also of the Argus Newspapers of South Africa; Gillis Purcell, general manager of Canadian Press, and Gerald Long, general manager of Reuters of Great Britain.

The AP luncheon — a tradition of half a century — is preceded by a morning annual meeting of Associated Press members at which the yearly report of the association's board of directors is presented to the membership. Other business includes the election of six directors to the 18-man board to fill expiring terms.

The AP meeting opens publishers week, which attracts hundreds of news executives for sessions of the American Newspaper Publishers Association and other gatherings.

KASHMIR INDEPENDENCE MOVES DISTURB INDIA

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Lion of Kashmir is roaring again for independence of that mountain state and creating consternation among Indian authorities who uncaged him Wednesday.

The Lion is Sheikh Mohammed Abdullah, a Moslem nationalist leader jailed by Prime Minister Nehru's government in 1953 because of his militant advocacy of freedom for Kashmir's 86,000 square miles and 4.5 million people—80 per cent of them Moslems.

Abdullah's release was ordered in hopes it would quiet the agitation of his supporters and help create a favorable atmosphere for a ministerial conference on religious and frontier conflicts between India and Pakistan, rival claimants to Kashmir.

The ministerial negotiations here ended Saturday in an impasse. Sources said the home ministers of the two nations agreed in five days of talks on only one substantial point—that another conference should be held later this month in Pakistan.

And violence persisted within Kashmir.

Indians and Pakistanis exchanged fire for two hours near Punch, on the western border of Kashmir and two Indians were reported wounded. Three bombs exploded at Punch, but no casualties were reported.

The Indian Defense Ministry said Pakistani troops and civilians shot from three directions at a small Indian patrol.

If Abdullah has his way, both India and Pakistan would surrender their claims to Kashmir for the sake of settling the bitter quarrel that erupted after division of the Indian subcontinent in 1947.

The sheik, now 59, feels granting of sovereignty to the border state is the only way to ease the tension. He wants the United Nations to guarantee the sovereignty.

Men close to Abdullah say he feels he has a better chance now of winning agreement than he did 11 years ago. He is said to feel India should look for a way out of its difficulties with both Red China and Pakistan.

But official opinion in New Delhi is cool toward Abdullah's thinking. Nehru is committed to integrating Kashmir into India and a retreat might be politically fatal.

JOHNSON —

not trying to get into the Sino-Soviet dispute on Moscow's side. The Kremlin accuses the Chinese of advocating nuclear war instead of Khrushchev's "peaceful coexistence."

Johnson was here referring to "complimentary" remarks—as the questioner put it—which Khrushchev made during his Hungarian tour, the U.S. sources said.

Khrushchev said in an April 6 speech that "The United States is an imperialist country but its government judges the world situation soberly."

Rivalry

Johnson also made an announcement that touched upon the technological rivalry between the United States and the Soviet Union.

"The world record for aircraft speed, currently held by the Soviets, has been repeatedly broken in secrecy by the United States aircraft A11," he said.

The chief executive said security wraps will be stripped from the high-flying A11 to permit an official bid by the reconnaissance interceptor craft for acknowledgment as the world record holder.

Relations with the Soviet Union also came up during the 20-minute Cabinet Room conference when Johnson was asked for a progress report on withdrawal of Soviet troops from Cuba.

Troop Numbers
"There are still some troops there," he said, "but the number has declined substantially." He said he didn't "want to get in any numbers game."

Domestic politics also figured in the news conference, with the first major question dealing with the future of Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam who is regarded as a potential Republican opponent for Johnson in the November presidential balloting.

Johnson said he knows of no possibility of Lodge resigning, that "his services there have been very satisfactory and he has done a very constructive job."

Stickers
Reminded that some Republicans are distributing bumper stickers referring to him as "Light Bulb Johnson" because of his effort to cut the White House light bill, the President was asked whether this is a knock or a boost.

He said he doesn't think that "they originated it." He said the Republicans are not very original.

Hid 8 Years

Cervantes, identified as the trigger-man, escaped to Mexico where he hid out for eight years, before being arrested in Tepic, Jalisco in June of 1960.

Texas authorities asked for his deportation. They said he was a naturalized U. S. citizen.

The judge of the 1st Federal Court here ruled in July 1960 against the extradition on grounds Cervantes actually was a Mexican citizen.

In January of 1961, the Foreign Ministry, which has final say on such matters, upheld the ruling saying there was evidence Cervantes was a Mexican and that he might have been in Jalisco when Floyd was shot.

It ordered that Cervantes be tried here.

Burris saw officials in the attorney-general's office Friday. They said they needed all the evidence possible, but that they were optimistic of obtaining a conviction next month.

VACANT APARTMENT DAMAGED BY FIRE

Fire of undetermined origin caused approximately $100 damage to a wall in a vacant apartment at the rear of 1405 Travis about 9:30 p.m. Saturday. Six units of the Wichita Falls Fire Department answered the alarm.

CONSOLIDATION ANNOUNCED

—R. A. King of Wichita Falls, left, looks over final papers that were signed Saturday bringing about a $12,000,000 consolidation of assets of King Oil Inc. and Lane Wood & Co., Dallas. King is president and founder of King Oil Inc. Center is Charles P. Aberg Jr. and at right is R. Vincent Lynch, general partners of Lynch, Aberg & Co., Dallas investment firm which acquired Lane Wood in 1962. Under terms of the agreement and subject to approval of stockholders the name of King Oil will be changed to Lane Wood Inc. with Lynch being board chairman. Aberg will be president and King will be a member of the executive committee.

CRESCENT CITY MAKING REMARKABLE RECOVERY

CRESCENT CITY, Calif. (AP) — With not a pause for hand-wringing or self-pity, this little logging and fishing community on California's north coast is turning the horror of a killer tidal wave into a brave new world.

Around Town

The Oklahoma Texas Circle of the Odd Fellows IOOF will meet with the Wichita Falls chapter at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Bad news as well as good news travels far and fast.

Sam Fox, 4709 Taft, received from some friends in Geneva, Switzerland, a newspaper clipping of the picture of the tornado which struck Wichita Falls Friday, April 3.

Fox said he thought that the clipping was from the Paris edition of the New York Times.

Mr. and Mrs. I. V. Simpson, 504 Webster, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Saturday in their home. A reception was held from noon to 5 p.m. Among the 100 attending were their four children, Mrs. Alma Martin of Wichita Falls, Clyde Simpson of Odessa, Mrs. Dorothy Suci of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Lavell Doherty of Fort Worth. The Simpsons have resided in Wichita Falls for the past 40 years.

Monday's regular monthly meeting of the Wichita Falls First Aid & Safety Club, originally scheduled at 7:30 p.m. in the Wichita House Unit, has been cancelled. Don Wampler, club president, explained the cancellation was because many of the group's members are still involved in disaster work stemming from the city. He said the next meeting would be held at the health unit on the second Monday in May.

Norris L. Moen, a Sheppard Air-Force Base airman, was admitted to the base hospital with undetermined injuries after he was injured in a one car accident about 3:41 p.m. Saturday on Barton Lane near Hirsch High School. Officers said Moen's 1963 Chevrolet went out of control and ran into an irrigation ditch.

Tommy Autry, 57, of 504 Kentucky, was treated at the Wichita General Hospital emergency room for a gunshot wound in his right hand. Autry told police that he and another man were looking at a .38 caliber revolver and it accidentally discharged.

Representatives from Lawton, Okla., and Abilene will meet with Wichita Falls spokesmen here Monday to discuss highway ways affecting the three cities. Principal topic will be the initiation of a program to make Highway 277 from Wichita Falls to Abilene a four-lane highway. The meeting will be at noon in the River Oaks Motel. The delegations will include former members of highway and turnpike commissions, chamber of commerce presidents and managers, publishers and engineers.

Firemen reported three grass fires Saturday and checked on a reported short in some wiring at the Mt. Pleasant Baptist Church, 809 Harding, but found a hot water line broken. A short circuit in a wall plug caused $5 damage at 1013 Roosevelt about 9 p.m. Saturday.

a change in name of that company to Lane Wood Inc. The King properties will be operated as a division of the parent firm.

Lynch will be chairman of the board of Lane Wood Inc. and Aberg will be president. Both will be on the executive committee, along with King, Seymour Bernstein and Howard R. Sluyter. Bernstein is vice chairman of Lane Wood & Co. and Sluyter is with Murchison Bros.

Other Dallas board members will be Edward S. Marcus, executive vice president of Neiman-Marcus Co.; Charles Meyer, vice president of Sears-Roebuck and Elihu Washburne, president, and Joe T. Starkey, executive vice president, of Lane Wood & Co.

Additional members of the board will be Henry Grace of Wichita Falls and David G. Gordon of Denver, both present King directors and interested in other oil and investment properties. The principals said that the consolidation was accomplished to further the best interests of stockholders in both King Oil and Lane Wood, through diversification over the long term.

Benefits Cited
King said that King Oil stockholders will benefit from continued ownership of that company's oil properties and also will participate in the growth potential of the Lane Wood group.

"King Oil will have the added advantage of diversified investment opportunity," he pointed out. Board Chairman Lynch said "the consolidation is another step in the continuing vigorous growth of Lane Wood & Co." He explained that the firm provides financing for businesses by purchasing accounts receivable, by lending against accounts receivable, and by furnishing other types of business financing suited to the special needs of its clients.

King said the oil division would continue to operate from the present King Oil offices at 700 First National Bank Building, Wichita Falls. There also is a King Oil office in Denver, Colo. Lane Wood's principal offices occupy the 20th floor of the Davis Building in Dallas.

King Oil was founded 18 years ago. Its approximately 4,000,000 shares of publicly held stock are distributed among approximately 12,000 owners.

the contest when she slipped and substituted an "a" for the first "e" in "sergeant."

Mary Holding, a repeater from Montague County, was disqualified in the following round for her spelling of "purge."

Two rounds later, Vicki Franklin of Jack County left the "e" out of "dyeing." She was followed by Pinky Johnson of Tillman County, Okla. in round 10 who spelled "inhance" for "enhance."

A hurried "tortor..." for "tortuous" eliminated Throckmorton County's Janet Forrest in round 15. Kathy Hudson of Jefferson County, Okla., fell on "inimitable."

The contest went on without error until round 24. Bette Coe, representing Jones County, misspelled "moratorium."

Young County

Jack Stuteville, Young County champion, went down on "stratagem," spelling it "strat-gem." Others falling in the morning session were Kathy Holliman, Archer County, on "loquacious" and Connie Bellinghausen, a repeater from Knox County, on "indefatigable."

Eight contestants returned for the final rounds of the bee at 1:45 p.m. First to fall in the afternoon session was Nancy Simek of Baylor County. She replaced the "c" in "meretricious" with a "t."

She was followed by Joe Yeager of Hardeman County, who missed "ophthalmic."

Clay County's Alicia Davidson fell on "prescient" in the 36th round, and Pat Cates of Foard County was eliminated on "cinematize" in the next round.

Brenda Griffith, representing Haskell County, was disqualified for her spelling of "chartreuse" in round 41, narrowing the contest to three spellers.

Third Place

Third-place winner Kathy Kiker, representative from Jackson County, Okla., dropped in round 44, after being reinstated two rounds earlier. Judges disqualified her, but decided she had correctly spelled "commisary." Her "Oklahoma Ms" sounded much like "Ns." She did misspell "calligraphy" several rounds later.

Morgan and Miss May spelled 10 rounds before the latter misspelled "seraphic."

Morgan's win entitles him to an expense-paid trip to Washington, D.C., provided by the Wichita Falls Times and Record News, district sponsors. National competition will be June 3 and 4 in the ballroom of the Mayflower Hotel, national bee headquarters in the nation's capital. Other prizes were a beautiful Zenith Trans-Symphony Radio, a set of Encyclopaedia Britannica and a Paper Mate pen set.

This is champion Morgan's second spelling victory in two weeks. He won first place in the junior high spelling division of the Interscholastic League last week in Big Spring. Morgan attributes his victory to the efforts of his only coach, his mother.

Greeks, Turks Exchange Fire During Cyprus Clash

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) —

Greek and Turkish Cypriots exchanged light gunfire for four hours at the strategic Kyrenia Pass Saturday. The Turks said it may be the curtain-raiser of an all out Greek Cypriot push for control of the pass.

Kyrenia Pass controls the road between Nicosia and Kyrenia on the northern coast. Turkish Cypriots control it and the U.N. command has been negotiating for several days in attempt to win passage of Greek Cypriot traffic through the pass.

A Nicosia newspaper quoted President Makarios, a Greek Cypriot, as saying this morning that he would not let negotiations drag on and that his government's security forces were capable of opening up the pass.

Reports

There have been reports that large numbers of Greek Cypriot national guards and vehicles have moved into Kato Khikomo, just east of the pass.

The U.N. command said it had investigated these reports but that it could find no evidence to support the Turkish Cypriot claims that an attack was imminent.

Turkish Cypriot Police Chief Aly Ihsan said he believed the Greek Cypriots would soon try to take key positions from the Turks along the Kyrenia road.

The Turks control about 12 of the 16 miles from Nicosia to the seaport of Kyrenia to the north. A Turkish Army contingent is dug in along the highway along with Turkish Cypriot police and irregulars.

Pressing

The Greek Cypriots have been pressing the United Nations to open the road to all traffic and to dismantle the Turkish airstrip just west of the road.

So far, U.N. officials have been unable to reach an agreement with the Turks on reopening the highway.

About 50 shots were fired in the space of four hours Saturday morning from the area of the all-Greek village of Kato Dhikomo and the Turkish-held ridges above the village. No casualties were reported.

Maj. Patrick Tremblay, commander of a Royal Canadian 22nd Regiment company patrolling the pass, sent in troops Friday night at the first reports of Greek troop movement and held peace talks with both sides.

Demonstrated

In Nicosia, several thousand Greek Cypriot students peacefully demonstrated for more than two hours, calling for the return of the former EOKA underground leader, Gen. George Grivas, and for Enosis — union with Greece.

U.N. Undersecretary Ralph Bunche, meanwhile, flew to Ktima in western Cyprus where several hundred Turks had protested U.N. activities on Cyprus.

Makarios, in Athens for talks with Greek leaders, told Greek newsmen he hoped force would not be necessary against Turkey's army contingent on Cyprus. Makarios has asked that the contingent be removed.

MEXICO TO PROSECUTE U.S. MISTAKE SLAYING

has been asked to present more evidence in the long-pending Cervantes case, expected to be decided in mid-May. It was reported Saturday.

Dist. Atty. Sam Burris of Alice, Tex., said he would comply, although Mexico already has almost all that is available. Burris has been in Mexico City five days pressing for action in the case against Alfredo Cervantes, held for the mistake ambush-slaying of Jacob Floyd Jr., in 1952.

The University of Texas student was shot down at the garage of the Floyd home in Alice Sept. 8, 1952. His father, a prominent Alice lawyer who has died since, said at the time the bullets were intended for him for "political reasons."

Housewife Held Responsible In Deaths Of Three Children

ROCKVILLE, Conn. (AP) — Coroner Bernard J. Ackerman has ruled that a housewife was criminally responsible for the deaths of three of her children. Ackerman made the ruling Friday against Nora B. Rogers, wife of Charles Rogers of Hazardville. She goes on trial Thursday on a manslaughter charge in the death of her daughter, Barbara Ann, 7 months, on Jan. 28, 1960. Ackerman said Mrs. Rogers was criminally responsible for Barbara Ann's death as well as those of Theresa and Michael Stephen.

Ackerman said Mrs. Rogers was "motivated by her inability to cope with her problems" and "cunningly schemed to cover up said homicides by making them appear as accidental deaths." He quoted Mrs. Rogers as telling State Police she "did not want any more pregnancies after the birth of the first child." He said she admitted covering Theresa's head with two blankets "because she was annoyed with the baby's crying." Deaths Tallied Mrs. Rogers was arrested Jan. 30. State Police had begun an investigation after the death of an 11-month-old son, James, last Dec. 27 in a Springfield, Mass. hospital. Officers said one child, born prematurely, died the day of his birth. Another boy, 4 months old, died in 1953 in a hospital at Milo, Maine. Barbara Ann died at Rockville Hospital. State Police said Barbara Ann had been thrown into a crib. Michael Stephen, they said, died of a brain hemorrhage after being hospitalized with a large bump on his head. Survivors Three of the four surviving Rogers' children live at the family home in Hazardville. The fourth, Charles Jr., 9, was taken from the Rogers while they lived in Maine. Ackerman, in his finding, said the Maine Division of Child Welfare took custody of the boy because of what was believed to be wilful neglect. The coroner's finding noted that Mrs. Rogers had a seventh-grade education and that her 29-year-old husband, a building foundation mason, completed the fourth grade.

Children Visit Governor During Vaccination Fight

MENA, Ark. (AP) — Three children left the governor's mansion in Little Rock, returned home to a 65-acre farm in western Arkansas and said they were glad to be back. Wayne Cude, 12, and his sisters Delia Marie, 11, and Linda May, 8, were back with their parents after a four-day stay with Gov. Orval E. Faubus. Faubus' wife, Alta, who had cared for the children, kissed them good-by on the steps of the mansion Friday. "The Faubuses are pretty nice people," Wayne said. "Extra nice. But I missed home cooking. And mostly mamma and daddy."

Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett, worked out an arrangement by which the children could return home until the state vs. religion conflict is settled. Cude says he will appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court. The Arkansas court refused Friday to rescind its order, but it said the children could go home if Howard consented. Cude vows he will not accept the children if the state vaccinates them. "I have not changed a bit," he said. "I'd be willing to give them up, if that's the way it has to be. I'm as determined as I ever was."

The Cudes have five other children who are too young or too old to be affected by the Arkansas compulsory attendance law. CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A movie starring Jayne Mansfield, "Promises, Promises," has been ruled obscene and officials of suburban East Cleveland have been given a free hand to interfere with its showing. Common Pleas Court Judge, Hugh A. Corrigan, based his ruling Friday on the finding of a jury empaneled especially to determine whether the film conformed to accepted community standards. The judge refused to enjoin East Cleveland officials from interfering with the film's showing. Said Judge Corrigan: "The producers and directors of the movie found it necessary to include three scenes in which Miss Mansfield displayed her elephantine charms, accompanied by writhings, squirmings and gyrations." The film was closed at the Continental Art Theater last Nov. 8, the day after it opened.

Tech Change Of Name Protested

LUBBOCK (AP) — Texas Tech board chairman Manuel DeBusk dismissed it as just a sign of spring, but 1,000 sign-carrying Tech students protested Friday his proposal to change the school's name. Apparently roused because of an anonymous circular, the collegians turned out in large numbers before a board meeting was held on campus. The circular said DeBusk planned "to appoint himself college president." DeBusk was one of the first board members to suggest that the school's name—Texas Technological College—be changed to Texas Tech University. A campus minority has proclaimed that the school should be renamed Texas State University. Last fall a campus poll indicated that less than 50 percent of the students really cared about the name change. Dr. R. C. Goodwin, Tech president, said he has no plans to retire and called the incident "preposterous." DeBusk, commenting on the demonstration, smiled and said: "Well, it's 70 degrees outside, spring is here, and the sap's rising."

Alaska To Expand Warning System

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Alaska is going to expand its seismic warning system so it will be possible to issue tidal wave warnings within minutes after a major earthquake. Rear Adm. H. Arnold-Karo, director of the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, said Friday seismic instruments will be added at its Fairbanks and Sitka observatories. Others will be installed at Point Barrow and at the Alaska Methodist University here. He said the stations will be grouped in a network so that a warning could be issued immediately without waiting for word from Honolulu, the tidal-wave nerve center for the Pacific area.

Kansas City Baby Starves To Death

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A 3-month-old baby starved to death at her home on Kansas City's East Side, a deputy coroner said Friday. The mother told police she had nothing to feed the baby or her other five children, who range in age from 1 to 5 years. The parents, Alfred Joseph and Anita Abernathy, both 24, were charged with manslaughter by neglect, and were held under $5,000 bond pending a hearing April 21. The other children were turned over to juvenile authorities. Abernathy told police he hasn't worked for several weeks.

800 Negro Youths Riot At 'Y' Dance

BOSTON (AP) — A riot involving some 800 Negro youths broke out after a YMCA dance Friday night. Before it was put down, two policemen were injured and 11 youths were arrested. Police said the fighting started when about 300 teen-aged boys invaded a dance sponsored by a Negro girls club. The brawl spread quickly along Huntington Avenue and onto busy Massachusetts Avenue. Cars were stalled and motorists huddled inside, locking doors and windows. Police said several of the youths tore radio antennas from the cars and hurled them into the mob. Pedestrians fled to avoid being caught up in the fighting. About 100 policemen, using 43 cruisers and two motorcycles, and 11 ambulances, were sent out. One patrolman, John P. Mullan, suffered rib injuries when he was knocked to the pavement and trampled on. Patrolman Robert Dashner was treated for a bite on the left hand. The eleven youths were held on various charges, police said, including drunkenness and inciting a riot.

MU Delegates To Meet Named

Three students and a faculty sponsor will represent the Midwestern University chapter of Alpha Chi, national senior honor society, at the annual regional meeting, April 17-18, at Hendrix College in Conway, Ark. Mrs. Ruth Karr, sponsor; Walter Grimes, president; Mrs. Elva Bensch, secretary; and Pat Tucker, who will read an essay during the student program of the meeting, will be representatives. All three students are Wichita Falls seniors. Miss Tucker's essay, which discusses existentialism in the German novelist Frank Kafka's works, relates to the meeting's main theme: "Closing the Gap between the Ideal and the Real." She presented the paper to the campus Alpha Gamma chapter at the April 1 meeting. Also presented at the last meeting was a program of piano selections from Bartok's "For Children," by Georganna Fitzgerald. Officers for next year, who were elected at the meeting, will be Theresa Woodfin, president; Kelly Egan, vice president; Georganna Fitzgerald, secretary; and Linda Monkres, treasurer. An open meeting and induction of new members is scheduled for Sunday, May 10. A regular business meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, May 6. Membership in Alpha Chi is open to juniors and seniors who have a grade point average of 2.5 and 2.2, respectively. Other qualifications include approval of the student's standards, ideals and character by the faculty committee.

Truman's Auto Has Third Shop

Truman's Auto Supply, owned by Truman Spann, recently opened a third store at 204 Seventh Street in Wichita Falls, offering complete automotive parts and supplies to area residents. In business since 1958, Truman opened his first auto supply store at 3301 Holliday. In May of 1962 the second store was opened at 2812 Iowa Park Road. With a belief in the future growth of Wichita Falls, Truman's Auto Supply Stores offer standard and popular automotive parts and supplies, with many parts for foreign made cars. The firm is the warehouse distributor for several major lines of automotive parts in this area. Spann and his wife, whose home was destroyed in the tornado, are currently residing in the Brigadoon Apartments.

New School Offices At Iowa Park

IOWA PARK, Tex. (Special) —The administration building of the Iowa Park Independent School district will be the scene of an open house Monday.

The open house event will be from 6 until 9 p.m., according to Supt. Keith Swim.

The 37-by-76 foot structure was built by Carl Sullivan, contractor, at a cost of $32,027. The exterior is tan glazed brick and wainscoting.

The interior of the building is finished in white brick, beige texture and birch paneling. The floors are covered with vinyl and red carpet which will accent the black furniture used in most of the rooms.

The superintendent's office will be in the new building. There will also be five other offices, a reception room, large conference room, fire proof vault, tax office with drive-in window, supply rooms and rest rooms.

Watkins Walker, chief of maintenance of all the schools, will have an office in the administration building.

The vault will serve as a bank for money received from all school activities and for all school records.

The conference room has a seating capacity of 42 and will be used for a meeting room for school board meetings, teachers and other small groups.

For the open house the home economics girls will prepare the refreshments, and the wives of the school board members will be in charge of the serving.

OPEN HOUSE DUE—Iowa Park, Tex. (Special) —Open house will be from 6 until 9 p.m. Monday for the new administration building of the Iowa

Art Exhibit Opens Sunday

Presented by the Wichita Falls Art Association, the Texas Watercolor Society's 15th annual circuit exhibit will open Sunday in the art galleries of the Woman's Forum.

A total of 26 works have been hung in the exhibit here, including award-winning paintings by Mildred Coker and Bill Bristow of San Antonio, and Ethel Spears of Navasota. Among other Texas watercolorists represented in the circuit show are Amy Freeman Lee and Keith McIntyre of San Antonio, Stanley F. Lea of Huntsville, and Hsiao - Hsia Tsai of Corpus Christi.

The Wichita Falls Art Association will hold open house for the Texas Watercolor Society's exhibit from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday at the Woman's Forum. A second open house will be held April 19.

Juror for the 15th annual exhibition was Robert Preusser, associate professor of visual design at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

A watercolor by Wichita Falls artist Joyce Samuels placed in the exhibit but is not included in the circuit show here.

Following the April showing in Wichita Falls, the Texas Watercolor Society's 15th annual exhibit will be shown at Texas A&M College, May 3-4; at Lubbock's Garden Arts Center, June 3-4; at A&I College at Kingsville, July 5-6; Port Arthur's Memorial Auditorium, Aug. 1-2; the Beaumont Art Museum, Sept. 6-26; San Angelo College, Oct. 4-25; Del Mar College in Corpus Christi, Nov. 3-25; and Laguna Gloria Museum in Austin, Dec. 6-31.

New Carpet Center Opens

A new carpet center, Dean's Carpet, Brook and Ninth, in Puckett Plaza, recently opened to serve Wichita Falls and area residents the finest quality carpeting.

Charles L. Womble, manager, said the firm will handle nationally known brands of carpeting for the discriminating home-owner. Complete carpet cleaning will be featured as well as a reweaving department, qualified to reweave oriental rugs.

An experienced decorator will be available to help plan the proper color and decor for the home as an extra service.

Large scale production will keep prices low even for the best quality carpets, it was said.

Southwest Oklahoma Lake Proposed By Congressmen

ALTUS, Okla. (Special) — A project, estimated to cost $18,750,000 and described as "badly needed in southwestern Oklahoma," and which will provide "urgently needed" new and supplemental municipal and industrial water supplies, flood control, conservation of fish and wildlife resources and recreation opportunities, is contained in bills introduced in the federal house of representatives and senate for southwestern Oklahoma.

The bills provide legislation for construction, operation and maintenance of the proposed Mountain Park reclamation project. The bills were introduced by Rep. Victor Wickersham in the house and by A. S. Mike Monroney and J. Howard Edmondson in the senate.

The plan for development involves five major divisions: construction of Mountain Park dam and reservoir on Otter creek, about 25 miles northeast of Altus; diversion dam and canal on Elk Creek to divert and convey Elk Creek flows into Mountain Park reservoir; aqueduct system to deliver water to the cities of Altus (including the Altus Air Force Base) and Snyder and acquisition of lands for creation of a wildlife management area.

Under the present plan, Altus residents would vote to decide if a water conservatory district will be created within the city. If the voters approve creation of the district, the district then would enter into a contract for repayment of part of the construction costs.

The bill provides that the water district would have the right to re-sale of water to industry, or for other purposes also. The dam would be a rolled earthen structure and would create a reservoir having a total initial storage capacity of about 230,700 acre-feet. At the top of the conservation pool, elevation 1,411 feet above sea level, the water surface would have an area of about 6,800 acres.

Bretch diversion dam would be about eight miles northwest of Roosevelt in Kiowa County. A 1,000 cubic-foot-per-second capacity canal, 10.8 miles long, would extend from the dam to a point on west Otter Creek about seven miles above Mountain Park dam site to convey the diverted Elk Creek water into Mountain Park reservoir for storage and utilization.

First stage of construction is planned to include the dam, reservoir and the aqueduct system for utilization of Otter Creek flows only.

Second stage of construction will include the diversion dam and canal to divert the Elk Creek flows needed to meet ultimate demands for water. This stage is scheduled about ten years later.

Recreation facilities, estimated to cost $300,000, including the cost of acquisition of about 450 acres of land, would be provided at the dam and reservoir as part of the federal project. Accessory facilities are planned with non-federal funds.

As recommended by the bureau of sport fisheries and wildlife, the plan provides for fee title acquisition of 830 acres of land. It would include some 210 acres of reservoir land that would normally be covered by easement, for wildlife management use at a federal cost of $210,000, and in addition, would make use of 2,270 acres of land acquired for general project purposes.

The plan also provides for 20,000-acre-feet of inviolate flood control capacity in the reservoir after 100 years of sediment accumulation.

Project construction costs are tentatively allocated as follows: Municipal and industrial water supply $13,383,000; flood control $2,428,000; fish and wildlife $2,111,000; and recreation $836 for a total of $18,758,000.

Average annual total benefits are estimated to be about $1,450,000 on the basis of a 100-year period of analysis. Comparison of the annual benefits with the estimated annual project costs of $685,400 results in a benefit-cost ratio of $2.12 to $1. Senator Monroney said.

Firemen Elect Haskell Leader

HASKELL, Tex. (Special) — Tom Watson, chief of the Haskell Fire Department for the past four years, and a volunteer fireman here since 1951, was elected president of the Midwest Texas Firemen's Association at the group's 25th anniversary session in Albany.

Other new officers chosen were Charley Woods, Rotan, first vice president; Leonard Kelson, Snyder, second vice president; Rev. Bob Brown, Albany, chaplain, and Chief W. O. Whorton, Albany, secretary-treasurer.

Secretary - treasurer for the past 10 years, James Asbury, of Baird, declined reelection, received a vote of thanks from the association for his work and was commended with a $50 cash token of appreciation.

Outgoing president C. C. Poe, of Clyde, was named delegate to the state association convention.

Annual firemen's proficiency races were held, and Snyder won the pumper race in 20.5 seconds, followed by Throckmorton and Clyde.

In the 6-man hookup, Haskell was second, just one-tenth of a second behind first place Hamlin, and ahead of Throckmorton, in third place. Rotan won the 2-man hookup in 10.8 with Throckmorton, second, and Hamlin third.

A memorial service for men who died since the last April meeting honored Joe Daws, of Throckmorton; J. T. Anderson, of Merkel; Ed Majors, of Colorado City; Clint Brannan, of Claude; Ted Underhill, of Rotan; and R. L. Von Roeder and W. W. Brown, both of Snyder.

The auxiliary met for luncheon in the Methodist Church with 42 persons from 10 towns present.

In addition to Haskell, towns represented at the "fireboys" meeting included Anson, Stamford, Throckmorton, Baird, Clyde, Colorado City, Hamlin, Merkel, Roby, Roscoe, Rotan, Lueders, Snyder, and Coahoma.

Nursing Director Attends Institute

Mrs. Mary Harvey, nursing service director at the Wichita General Hospital, has returned from Dallas where she attended a four-day institute on emergency department nursing service management conducted by the American Hospital Association.

The meeting was designed for professional nurses responsible for the emergency room service of their respective hospitals. Nurses from both coasts and the Great Lakes area joined with those from Texas and nearby states to study methods for improving patient care in the emergency room.

Program topics included a wide range of managerial as well as professional subjects. The opening talk was by Dr. Ernest C. Shortliffe, executive director, Presbyterian University hospital, Pittsburgh, who spoke on "The Changing Role of the Emergency Department."

He discussed the steady increase (10-15 per cent annually) in emergency room visits and the increased use of hospital emergency rooms for conditions other than trauma. Young parents of today tend to go to an emergency room instead of seeking home care. It was pointed out that more and more people are viewing the hospital emergency room as a community medical center with diagnostic and treatment facilities to extend the facilities of their doctor's office.

One study at Beth Israel Hospital in Boston showed that surgical emergencies represent only one-third of the admissions. This changing pattern in the use of emergency rooms has influenced the operation of those divisions throughout the country and the institute program provided information on ways to adjust to this continuing change.

Films on "I Dress the Wound," "No Magin for Error," "One Day's Poison," and "Overcoming Resistance to Change," along with discussion session on "There Is No Substitute For Aseptic Technique," "Medicolegal Aspects," and "Managerial Aspects of Supervision" were on the agenda.

Dr. Robert H. Kennedy, director, field program, committee on trauma, American College of Surgeons, New York City, spoke on "Standards for the Emergency Department." Pierce Wood Jr., assistant director, institute of management, Southern Methodist University and Miss Marjorie Saunders, director, public relations, Baylor University Medical Center, were also on the program. Nursing specialists, hospital administrators, and a hospital chaplain completed the teaching staff.

The department of hospital nursing of the National League for Nursing cooperated with the American Hospital Association in conducting the institute. Both the Texas Hospital Association and the Texas League for Nursing were sponsoring organizations.

The Wichita General Hospital's emergency rooms served over 14,000 patients last year and representatives of the General report that like emergency rooms in other parts of the country their use is changing. According to Mrs. Harvey the institute in Dallas provided some valuable material for use in the hospital's continuing efforts to better serve patients seeking help in the emergency rooms.

Communists Ask Red China Rebuff

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet and Hungarian Communist parties called today for a "resolute rebuff" to Red Chinese leaders. The call came in a joint communique signed in Budapest, Hungary, Friday by Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Hungarian Premier Janos Kadar. It was published here today. It said the most important task of all Communists is the unity of Communist parties. "It is necessary to give a resolute rebuff to subversive activities to the Chinese leaders," the communique said. It reflected Khrushchev's slashing attacks on the Chinese during his 10-day visit to Hungary. He returns to Moscow tonight and will deliver a speech over Soviet television and radio Sunday. The communique said "The Communist party of the Soviet Union and the Hungarian Socialist Workers party denounce most emphatically the factional activities of the Chinese leaders." A resolute rebuff is necessary "in the present situation." The situation grew stickier between the time Khrushchev left by train for Hungary 13 days ago and his return. While he was en route there, the Chinese capped previous attacks on his leadership by calling for Communists to "repudiate and liquidate Khrushchev's revisionism." The Soviet Communist party replied last week with publication of a Feb. 14 statement charging the Chinese with trying to split the world Communist movement as a step toward installing Mao Tse-tung as a new Stalin handing down the law to all Communists. The speech also called for a world Communist conference on unity.

300 Prisoners Riot In Miami

MIAMI Fla. (AP) — More than 300 prisoners rioted today in the Dade County Jail, smashing windows, flooding some cells and corridors and hurling debris to the jail yard below. A dozen ringleaders were dragged, kicking and screaming, out of cells and placed in solitary confinement. Three hours after the rioting began in a protest against jail conditions, sporadic outbursts still were continuing. "I believe this riot is a planned political thing to embarrass Sheriff T. A. Buchanan," said Capt. Robert Charlau, a jail supervisor. "Either that, or it was stirred up by some Black Muslims." About 70 per cent of the rioters were Negroes, Charlau said.

Windows Smashed
More than 50 Metropolitan Miami police converged on the jail in an effort to bring the rioting under control "without hurting anybody if we can." More than 30 windows were smashed on the fifth and sixth floors. Articles of burning clothing and flaming newspapers were thrown into the upper limbs of trees in the jail yard. The yard was littered with tin cups, trays, garbage and other debris. A Negro prisoner identified as Johnnie Carey of Coconut Grove, in jail for auto theft, told a Miami News reporter the reason for the riot was rough treatment "by two or three officers and excessive heat in the cells." Carey said the two or three officers accused of violence were on the 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. shift. He added that the jail windows were closed in the late afternoon, making the heat oppressive. He also said that the prisoners were allowed commissary privileges only Wednesday and Friday and wanted them on Monday and Thursday. In an effort to restore quiet, a second breakfast was served in the jail about 8 a.m. About 40 of the prisoners dumped their trays on the floor. Most of the white prisoners involved were on the fifth floor, which was flooded with several inches of water before the water was turned off. No physical injuries to either officers or prisoners were reported.

Belgium's Doctors Maintain Strike

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Belgium's striking doctors kept their walkout going today while they fought on against the government's new socialized medical law. Premier Theo Lefevre and some of his ministers were to meet strike leaders again in the third attempt in three days to find some agreement. Early today when the two sides broke up after negotiating for seven hours, Interior Minister Arthur Gilson said, "I am still optimistic." Discussions so far have dealt with negotiating procedures. Once these are accepted, the two sides can begin the complex task of settling differences over provisions of the law. The government wants the doctors to end the strike as a condition for discussing possible revision of the statute. The strikers have said they will hold out until they get a firm commitment from the government on changes demanded by the 10,000 physicians and 2,000 dentists. The law has been approved by Parliament, but decrees must be issued before it goes into effect. The strikers are demanding that decrees be withheld on 26 of the law's articles. Strikers contend the legislation would damage their relationship with patients, place them under intolerable government supervision and reduce their income by fixing fees for 3,600 types of professional attention.

Tulsa Police Nab Civil Righters

TULSA (AP) — Police arrested 31 civil rights demonstrators Friday night at a cafeteria in an area which has been the scene of recent Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) activity. Other demonstrators picketed a downtown cafeteria but made no attempt to enter. The 31 demonstrators sat down inside Borden's Cafeteria in north Tulsa and refused the manager's request to leave. Earlier, pickets paraded outside a bank in a north Tulsa shopping center to protest hiring practices. The bank is in a predominantly Negro area.

Lewter Feedlot Texan Finds Freedom Costly Foreclosed

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — The Murchison - connected Lewter feedlot operation here was placed in receivership by court action Friday. Dist. Judge Robert Bean made the decision in a suit brought by John Murchison and his brother, C. W. Murchison Jr. of Dallas against D. W. Lewter after non-jury hearings. The plaintiffs had asked also for an accounting but Bean did not grant this. Bean said he would appoint Tom Simmons Jr., Lubbock cattleman and businessman, as receiver. Bean qualified his order by stating he was seeking the most practical solution to a situation aggravated by "hazy and uncertain agreements."

Lewter had testified that one or more of the Murchison group had advanced $1,402,500 to the partnership in operation of the Lubbock facilities since 1955. He said $716,958 has been repaid. First National Bank President Roy Riddel testified that the Murchisons had established a line of credit with his bank of $5 million for the Lubbock operation. Lewter testified that Clint Murchison Sr. told him not to worry about the money he had lost and that "You don't know how to make money until you have lost $1 million."

Novelist Won't Get Lenin Prize

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda indicated today that Alexander Solzhenitsyn—who wrote a novel about brutal life in a Soviet prison camp—won't get a Lenin Prize after all. The Communist party newspaper said many Soviet citizens have written letters criticizing suggestions that Solzhenitsyn get this year's Lenin Prize for literature. His novel, "One Day in the Life of Ivan Denisovich," was the first Russian book about a Soviet prison camp, and it was a hit both here and abroad. Pravda said that most of its readers' letters "come to a positive conclusion: The novel by Solzhenitsyn deserves positive appraisal, but it cannot be included among works which are worthy of a Lenin Prize." Several Soviet critics and publications have suggested cautiously that Solzhenitsyn deserves the Lenin Prize, this country's highest award in various fields. Solzhenitsyn, 45, spent eight years in a Stalin era prison camp. He was a school teacher when his novel was published, but since then has been devoting his time to writing.

Prosecutor Ousted After Conviction

MADILL, Okla. (AP) — O. C. Barnes, 58, Marshall County attorney, was ousted Friday following his conviction on charges of maladministration and corruption in office. A jury found him guilty of the charges based on information in a grand jury report in February. The grand jury did not indict Barnes.

MEMPHIS (AP) — James Lester Bennett, 39, of Alice, Tex., accused of leading a small auto theft ring, found freedom expensive Friday. Bennett posted $25,000 bond at a cost of $4,500 and was free 90 minutes when FBI agents arrested him on another charge of auto theft. Bennett, the FBI said, has already made $65,000 bond on federal charges in Detroit, Houston and Paducah, Ky. Bennett, his wife, Mrs. Delfina Espenosa McDonald, 27, and three Detroit Negroes were arrested Thursday by the FBI who said they broke up a $30,000 auto theft ring. The McDonald woman posted $4,000 bond. Larry Devlin, 18, Detroit Negro, was arrested Friday on auto theft charges. Devlin was held on $2,500 bond.

ROAD PROJECTS—Wichita County workmen are presently engaged on a series of road improvements which will facilitate travel to and from the Wichita Falls Municipal Airport. Work in progress includes the construction of a brand new stretch of road, and the hardtopping of a number of dirt roads to the west of the Red River Expressway.

Dod Wiley, county commissioner for Precinct One, who is directing the work, stated that Wellington, City View Drive, Kiel Drive and the Tank Farm Road were being blacktopped. Kiel Drive and the Tank Farm Road are also being widened by 20 feet. Part of the Tank Farm Road was pasture land only two months ago. The new road serving the airport will run from Burk Burnett Highway across a pasture to the junction of McKinley Road and Airport Drive. The road has already been fenced, though sections of the fencing were damaged by the recent tornado which struck that area.

Wiley announced that the work would definitely be completed this year. "We have already made a great deal of progress," he added. "These improvements will open up a number of areas for future development and also make it much safer to drive in that area."

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Cabinet Still Haggles Over Shipping Wheat To Russia

PEARSON

By DREW PEARSON
WASHINGTON—Four cabinet members attended a closed-door meeting with leaders of the longshoremen's and the seamen's unions recently to try to solve the question of shipping wheat to Russia in foreign flag vessels.

The issue involved a sharp conflict between American farmers and American labor since there is a probability that the Soviet will buy more wheat next year if shipment at a low freight tariff is accomplished this year.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman told labor leaders that Russia was probably in the market for about $200,000,000 worth of wheat next year, if the present contracts are fulfilled. This would mean a big lift to American farmers. However, if the unions force 50 per cent of American wheat to be shipped in American vessels at a higher cost, further grain sales to Moscow are probably off.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk strongly supported Freeman.

Present at the closed-door session, in addition to the secretary of state and the secretary of agriculture, were Luther Hodges, secretary of commerce, and Assistant Secretary of Labor James Reynolds. Representing labor were AFL-CIO President George Meany; Joe Curran, president of the National Maritime Union; Teddy Gleason, boss of the International Longshoremen; and Paul Hall, boss of the Seafarers International Union.

"You are putting us on a tough spot," declared Freeman. "If we continue to enforce the 50 per cent restriction, we will sell no more grain to Soviet Russia on anybody's ships. We will have played out our hand." "To put it another way, we will be forced out of the East European grain markets," added Secretary Rusk.

"Do you mean to say that you will sell in those markets, without the 50 per cent guarantee to protect the jobs of American seamen?" asked Meany.

"Yes, I do," replied Freeman. "There won't be any protection for anyone if we are squeezed out of the market. We have to make up our minds pretty soon. I am looking at this in the national interest. I understand the problems of the maritime industry, but I also must think about our grain surplus."

"That's where you and I differ, Mr. Secretary," snapped Meany.

Joe Curran backed him up. "The real villains in this controversy," he said, "are the grain profiteers, the big private exporters who are not thinking of the national interest. They want to use cheap maritime labor on foreign flagships to transport the grain."

Curran pointed out that some Liberian and Panamanian vessels were owned by American interests, but were registered under a "flag of convenience," giving them arbitrary powers to fix wages below the American scale. He charged that the state department had always countenanced this practice.

"Well, I'll have to deny that," bristled Rusk. "The state department does not approve profiteering of any kind."

He added that his department was trying to move grain to Soviet Russia and its satellites to fulfill a contract and was being seriously hampered by the 50 per cent restriction.

"Unless we remove the restriction, we sell no more grain to Soviet countries. It's as simple as that," said the secretary of state.

"If you do away with the restriction, you are throwing the grain shipments up for grabs to the most unscrupulous operators," argued Gleason, head of the international longshoremen. "What's to stop Russia from trying to use its own ships to carry our grain? My union doesn't make foreign policy, but if that happens let me tell you that our men will never touch a hammer and sickle ship."

Hall, the seafarers boss, Curran, and Gleason brought out that they agreed to load and operate grain shipments to Russia only because James Reynolds, assistant secretary of labor, had assured them the 50 per cent restriction would be maintained. Reynolds nodded his head in agreement.

Commerce Secretary Luther Hodges, who had called the meeting, had little to say. But Ralph E. Casey, president of the American Merchant Marine Institute, had plenty to say. Unlike Curran and the labor leaders who were polite, Casey was not.

Hero's Mother To Be Honored

The mother of one of Wichita Falls' true heroes, the late Lt. James R. Foster, will be honored by the Altrusa Club at its annual Recognition Dinner in Woman's Forum clubhouse at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

Mrs. James N. Foster, 2406 Piedmont, will receive a plaque from the Altrusans on behalf of all the citizens of this city who are joining with the entire nation in honoring her and the memory of her son for his heroism.

Mrs. Mildred Rogers, Altrusa president, said the plaque presentation would be a special feature of the dinner when eight other Wichitans will be honored for community service.

Those include Sydney A. Gaines, Frank B. Hayes, Mrs. Reuben B. Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pitzer, Mrs. Rex Lehman, Lt. Col. Raymond Seidel and Dr. O. W. Wilson.

The late Lt. Foster, a Marine pilot, was killed on a training mission earlier this year when he refused to bail out of his disabled jet fighter plane rather than risk having it crash into a residential area at Pecan Grove, Scotland Neck, N.C.

Firemen Sounded Tornado Warning

Wichita Falls' fire department played a big role in warning Wichitans of the approaching tornado which struck the northeastern section of the city April 3, and with rescue operations following.

A district fire chief in his automobile first spotted the funnel as it danced through the air and warned the fire department two-way radio dispatcher. The dispatcher warned the police department and told the district chief to keep tracking the twister.

Other cars and trucks of the fire department and fire marshal's office began observing the tornado after the district chief's alarm.

The funnel was observed heading for City View School and the school with classes in session was called by the fire department dispatcher and told to make necessary preparations to protect the children. Fortunately the school was spared by the funnel which took the lives of seven city residents.

Sirens Reports kept pouring in over the radio that houses were seen flying apart and automobiles tumbling through the air. An order was given to turn on Civil Defense warning sirens all over the city which are controlled by the fire department.

Calls were made by the fire department for ambulances in the city and Sheppard Air Force Base, and fire trucks were dispatched to the disaster scene. The telephone, electric, and gas companies, and the water department were called and told they would be needed.

Sheppard Air Force Base was warned that the tornado was approaching their area and to take protective measures.

Path Followed Number 10 pumper fire unit and fire department cars followed the path made by the twister as it ripped through the Sunset Terrace area, checking for possible fires started by the damage. One fire unit directed traffic until it was relieved by a police unit.

Men of the fire department and fire marshal's office pitched in and worked many long hours assisting with rescue operations and carrying out the normal daily load of fires in the city. Their actions were highly commended by many observers.

Fire Chief R. H. Lyon said he would like to publicly thank the men of his department for the wonderful job they did in the tornado disaster. "Each man on the department is trained in first aid and to respond to an emergency of any kind, being in the business we are in, and under the conditions I think they all reacted to the ultimate."

Pecan School Is Planned

Pecan budding and grafting will be featured topics Friday during the Wichita County Pecan school, B. T. Haws, county agent, said.

The school will be held twice in two sections of the county and U. A. Randolph, superintendent of the Montague Fruit Experiment Station, will conduct both sessions.

The first presentation will be 9:30 a.m. at the K&K Grain Co. in Electra. The final Friday program will be held at 1:30 p.m. in the courthouse in Wichita Falls.

At both sessions, Randolph will discuss procedures to be following in budding and grafting pecan trees. During the talk the Montague researcher will point out management guide lines to be followed by the orchard owner and will call attention to insects and diseases to look for in the spring and summer growing season ahead.

Haws urged all pecan producers in the area to be present for the meeting.

PAT GARRETT

Wichitan Is Tech Scholar

A 1962 honor graduate of Wichita Falls High School, Pat Garrett, is one of 46 students regularly enrolled in the School of Arts and Sciences at Texas Technological College in Lubbock for the fall semester of 1963 who made a four-point grade average.

Parents of the Wichita Falls youth, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Garrett, Windthorst, received a letter of congratulations from S. M. Kennedy, dean of the School of Arts and Sciences, and Ivan L. Little, associate dean of the Texas Tech school.

Garrett is majoring in accounting and after he graduates from Tech next January he plans to enter law school.

In WFHS, Garrett was president of the Debate Club his senior year, was a member of Spanish Club, was a Senior Student Sponsor. In youth activities at First Methodist Church he was representative to the commission on social concerns and in Wichita Falls he was chairman of the Teenage Republican Club.

He entered Southwestern University in Georgetown in the fall of 1962 on a scholarship based on grades on his entrance examination. He received 20 hours of credit through taking placement examinations at Southwestern.

A member of Kappa Sigma Fraternity, he transferred to Tech last fall.

MANY THANKS—Grover Bullington, chairman of the Wichita County Easter Seal drive to raise funds to continue operation of the North Texas Crippled Children's Center which derives most of its support from Easter Seals, is shown accepting a check from Mrs. John M. Mitchell. She is treasurer of Kappa Alpha Theta Alumnae Club which made the contribution to the center. Civil Rights Opponents Solidify Position

Dissatisfaction With Terms Seen

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern opponents were reported solidifying their opposition Saturday to any early softening amendments to the House-passed civil rights bill.

A cross-section check of the measure's foes indicates a majority believes there is enough national dissatisfaction with the terms of the legislation to open the possibility of defeating it or forcing extensive modifications to remove aspects they most object to.

This belief is built in part on the surprising showing of Alabama's segregationist Gov. George C. Wallace when he took 25 per cent of the vote in last Tuesday's Wisconsin primary. Wallace said he ran to demonstrate opposition to the civil rights program.

Deplore Wallace
Privately most of the Southern senators deplore that their cause was represented by a governor who dramatized his opposition to school integration by standing in the doorway as Wallace did. They think a less spectacular civil rights opponent might have done even better.

But they will be watching Wallace's performance in the May 5 Indiana and May 19 Maryland Democratic presidential primaries for further signs of what they hope is a strong undercurrent of opposition to the pending bill. Its sponsors describe the measure as mild and moderate but the Southerners characterize it as drastic and vicious.

The Southerners got what they considered further evidence of dissatisfaction with the civil rights program in the action of the House of the Rhode Island Legislature Thursday in killing by a 61-32 vote a bill to ban racial discrimination in housing.

May Reason
If these and other developments establish more firmly the existence of any substantial lawyer of resistance to the bill, its opponents think this may influence hesitating senators from other areas to vote against a debate limitation which would kill off filibustering talk against the measure.

They noted that Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, has called on sponsors to accept changes "to get a meaningful and reasonable bill."

The Southerners reason that sponsors must have the votes of some Westerners like Miller to win the necessary two-thirds approval of those participating in a roll call in order to limit debate.

President Johnson has called for Senate passage of the House bill without changes. Democratic leaders have echoed this demand although there have been indications they would accept amendments which House leaders think that body would accept readily.

GOP Proposals
Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois has proposed some changes in the fair-employment practices sections of the measure. He contends these would not emasculate the section but Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and some other Republicans oppose them on the ground that they would.

Dirksen has failed to enlist majority support among the Republicans for his amendments. But he has indicated he will not vote for a debate limitation until some changes are made in the bill.

The Southerners may ease off their talk in another 10 days to permit a vote on some amendments.

When that test comes, the measure's sponsors could find a majority of the Southerners voting with them against the proposed changes. One veteran Dixie Democrat analyzed the proposed strategy this way:

"We want to keep this bill in its most vicious form. That way we have a chance of defeating it."

South's Schools Are Opening

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—School rooms in the South, early targets of civil rights demonstrators, move from gradual integration to open classrooms for all in at least five school districts in the fall.

Southern School News, a Nashville, Tenn., publication, reported that the five districts would end gradual desegregation, which Negro leaders have called too slow.

The publication says desegregation in all grades will become effective in September in the districts of Knoxville and Knox County, Tenn., Little Rock, Ark., Reidsville and Randolph County in North Carolina.

Little Rock, where integration once brought violence, is completing desegregation one year ahead of schedule.

A new order by the Defense Department forbids training of military personnel at a school or college practicing discrimination. The directive permits a number of exceptions. It was estimated that 100,000 service personnel are engaged in a variety of educational programs.

Red Cross Team To Stay On Job

Red Cross disaster director, Tom Wagner, explained Saturday that the Red Cross disaster team will remain on the job here until all assistance has been completed.

He said however, that registration for disaster funds must be in the Red Cross Disaster office at Seventh and Scott by April 17 which is closing date for accepting registration.

Bottles, Bricks, Taunts Mark Los Angeles Riots

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Hurling bottles, bricks and taunts of derision, mobs Friday night and Saturday attacked police in outbursts of violence on Los Angeles' teeming South Side.

The incidents occurred as a huge force of sheriff's vice officers were raiding a nearby section where citizens had called a mass meeting to discuss lawlessness they said was out of hand.

In the mob violence two officers were injured, four police vehicles damaged and six persons arrested.

110 Arrested
Vice raiders arrested 110 persons on charges ranging from narcotics to armed robbery.

The action took place in the overcrowded sector running south of Los Angeles along Central Avenue, the overwhelmingly Negro district integration leaders call "the black ghetto." Police officers were attempting to eject a drunk from a high school track meet Friday night when scores of youngsters, crying, "Take him away," tried to free the prisoner. It took 100 police, many wielding shotguns, to restore order.

Early Saturday a bus and a car collided nearby and 250 people gathered as police investigated. Then—perhaps as an aftermath of the earlier incident—members of the crowd began hurling rocks, beer bottles and chunks of concrete at the officers. Reinforcements again scattered the mob.

Robert Houghton, deputy police chief for Los Angeles, said that neither of the incidents seemed to have racial overtones.

"It's more a rebellion against authority," he said. "We don't know what causes these things. There seems to be no pattern, however, and no organization is involved."

Negro Leaders
Some Negro leaders have blamed previous such incidents on overcrowded conditions in the south-central area and on residents' reaction to brutality by police—a charge police have denied.

The sheriff's vice raid came after the pastor of a church at 68th Street and Central Avenue complained that criminals and prostitutes had been trying to prevent parishioners from entering his church for Sunday services.

A meeting has been called for Monday at the church to discuss what was termed "out of control" narcotics, vice and prostitution in the area.

Stamford School Contract Awarded

STAMFORD, Tex. (Special)—Rose Construction Co. of Abilene submitted low bid for construction of a new high school auditorium and administration building here.

The bid on the building itself was $182,500, with contracts for plumbing, heating and air conditioning pushing the total to $260,000.

The new building will seat 300 students. The present auditorium will be converted into a library.

Paducah VFW Post Will Meet Monday

PADUCAH, Tex. (Special)—Members of the Vernon M. Mahoney VFW Post 7528 will meet at 8 p.m. Monday in the Veterans' Building at Paducah for a special meeting and election of officers for the year.

Kelley Bailey, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars' post, urged each member to attend Monday night's meeting.

Senator Humphrey Says

Public Opinion, 'Miracles' Can Break Civil Rights Fight

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said Saturday he is counting on public opinion and some "miracles" by President Johnson to force a break in the Senate's civil rights logjam.

Humphrey, the Senate's assistant majority leader and floor manager of the House-passed measure, told newsmen, however, that "this is going to be a long, protracted ordeal" and predicted sessions of 12, 13 or 14 hours, beginning next week.

As the Senate held its 27th day of debate on the issue, Humphrey said that at best the civil rights forces can now count on only 62 votes for invoking the Senate's anti-filibuster rule.

Short Of Vote

Under this rule for closing off debate, a two-thirds majority of senators voting is required—or 67 votes if all 100 senators vote.

Humphrey said the 62-vote figure he used was "giving us the benefit of every doubt." But he said that as time goes on, he expects an increase in the number of senators willing to clamp a time limit on debate.

"The main force that will bring about a decision on this bill is the irate force of public opinion," he said.

He said also, in reply to questions, that he expects President Johnson to take an increasing hand in the legislative battle in which Southern senators have vowed an all-out fight.

Expects Miracles

"Knowing the President as I do, I expect him to do miracles," Humphrey said. "He has a mysterious kit of legislative remedies."

He was asked if he expects Johnson "to turn a little heat" on senators. "No, light," Humphrey replied.

Humphrey talked with reporters while Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., held the floor for the Southerners in a prolonged attack on the legislation. He called it "a bagful of legal tricks" and said:

bill reveal, and others conceal, the most monstrous blueprint for governmental tyranny ever presented to the Congress."

Recreation Areas
Ervin singled out for special attention the lines dealing with desegregation of parks, playgrounds or other facilities "owned, operated, or managed by, or on behalf of, any state or subdivision thereof."

He said this is designed to give the attorney general "uncontrolled discretion to browbeat all persons acting in behalf of state or local governments into submission to his will in virtually all their official dealings with virtually all of the people."

Speaking of the section that would empower the attorney general to intervene in suits charging discrimination, Ervin said:

"It is difficult to describe the unprecedented magnitude of the power which these seven lines would confer on the attorney general."

Rejected Part
Ervin argued that this part of the measure is merely Title III of the 1957 civil rights bill in disguise.

"It merits the emphatic rejection which the Senate accorded to old Title III at that time," he said.

In contrast to last Saturday when the Senate was forced to recess after 41 minutes because of the lack of a quorum, the bill's backers rallied a quorum in 22 minutes—to the jubilation of Humphrey.

But from there on the proceedings were pretty relaxed. The Southerners agreed to force no more quorum calls and many of the senators trooped off to the Cherry Blossom Festival parade and other activities.

Although Sen. Olin Johnston, D-S.C., had been scheduled to follow Ervin, the Dixie forces decided not to use him Saturday.

Girl Saved After Leap Five Floors

NEW YORK (AP)—A 16-year-old girl—after spurning pleas of two priests, her guardian and several policemen for 45 minutes—leaped five stories from a Harlem roof Friday. She landed in a net before some 3,000 onlookers.

The girl, Ona Lee Fuller, was taken to a hospital suffering from shock and hysteria.

Miss Fuller, whose parents are divorced, came to New York about seven months ago from Ithaca, N.Y., to live with her guardian, Lt. Charles West of the Salvation Army. The West family lives on the top floor of the Manhattan Citadel, Salvation Army headquarters, on East 125th Street, from which the girl jumped.

DERBY TIME AGAIN—Wichita Falls schoolboys, ages 11 through 15, are now registering at Longhorn Chevrolet, Sixth and Lamar, for the 1964 Soap Box Derby races to be held here June 27. Winner of the local races will go to Akron, Ohio, Aug. 15 for the 1964 championships and compete for a total of $30,000 in college scholarships. Local entries are urged to register now and receive a copy of the official 1964 Soap Box Derby Rule Book. Shown here is Charles Hosch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence H. Hosch, 1650 Wilson, Wichita Falls' 1963 winner, holding the trophy he won for winning the local races along with a $500 savings bond. His brother, Glenn Hosch (right), finalist in last year's race, will be a contender for the 1964 title. Sponsors of the local Soap Box Derby races are the Cosmopolitan Club, Longhorn Chevrolet, and the Times Publishing Co.

Yarborough Lauds Reservoir Project

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., said Saturday the Proctor Dam reservoir is part of a coordinated plan for the growth and protection of Texas. He said shortages of water are now the biggest economic handicap of Texas, and added: "The state can not grow more than its water supply will allow and water can not be taken for granted, be wasted or untreated for purity as has happened many times in past years." The senator spoke at the dedication of the $14.7 million reservoir about 25 miles southwest of here on the upper Leon River. It is a water conservation and flood control project.

Costs Divided
The Brazos River Authority has assumed the cost of the water conservation of the dam. The federal government is paying for flood control.

Of the flood control aspects of the project Yarborough said: "Since it is above Belton reservoir, it will, strategically... allow Belton reservoir to store more water for use in dry periods.

"It will control floods originating on the upper 1,225 square miles of the watershed and provide flood protection for 40,288 acres of land between Proctor and Belton reservoirs."

Improve Area
He predicted the new reservoir will help to stabilize and improve the area's growing economy.

The Proctor reservoir is one of a series of such projects built in cooperation by the Brazos River Authority, the federal government and state and local interests to provide stored water and flood control on the Brazos River watershed.

It has space for 30,400 acre-feet for conservation, 310,000 acre-feet for flood control and 32,700 acre-feet for sedimentation. An acre-foot is 325,851 gallons.

H. Brewer, esteemed leading knight; Claire Flaagan, exalted ruler; Jim Kouri, grand exalted ruler and installing officer; Harold Stalins, esquire; Bill Gilbow, inner guard. The ceremony was followed by a dance in honor of all Elks and their wives.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair skies with mild temperatures have been predicted for the Wichita Falls area. Rain is forecast for the northwest Pacific area with showers over the northern and upper central Plains, Ohio, Tennessee and middle and lower Mississippi valleys. Central Rockies can expect snow flurries. It will be warmer in the eastern half of the nation and colder over the northern Plateau with little temperature change elsewhere. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Texas Farming Operations Move Toward Spring Work

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Farmers in the eastern two-thirds of Texas made real progress plowing and planting during the recent good weather. High, dry winds in west and northwest sections dried up moisture and rain is needed there, said John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The midweek cold snap further complicated the situation. Reports from the field, Hutchison said, still have not finally estimated the damage to fruit and other tender vegetation.

Moisture was short to very short in the Panhandle. Winds were causing damage. The condition of wheat generally is good. Greenbugs increased in southern counties. Livestock were generally in good condition.

Rolling Plains
In the South Plains, irrigation wells in one county were reported as pumping sand since the Alaska earthquake. Farm agent W. H. Jones did not identify the county. Wheat is in good condition with some fields in the jointing stage. Sugar beets are up in some areas and early grain sorghum is being planted. Livestock are in good condition but ranges need moisture.

Half of the Rolling Plains needs moisture but grain growth is good. Wheat in several counties has reached the boot stage. Light to heavy damage has been reported from winter grain mites in several counties. Sorghum planting is general.

The moisture situation is good in North Central Texas. Grains are making good growth but need rain. Considerable corn and sorghum has been planted. Cotton planting is starting. Cold damage to fruit trees is expected to be light.

Surface Dry
Moisture in Northeast Texas is short to adequate. Winds have dried the surface and cold weather kept grazing vegetation and grain growth slow. The late March freeze did some damage to peaches and vegetables.

Lots of wind but no rain hurt far West Texas. Livestock feeding continued. Lambing and calving were under way; sheep shearing was in full swing. Some cotton was planted in the El Paso area.

West Central Texas is badly in need of general rains because high winds and lush vegetation growth have depleted the moisture. Grains are making fair growth but need rain. Ranges are about average.

Central Texas moisture varies from short to adequate. Corn and sorghum planting is about completed. Cotton planting is half finished in southern counties and under way in others. Fruit prospects are good; pastures and livestock conditions are improving; sheep shearing is moving ahead.

Soviet Communists Rebuff Red China

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW
MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet and Hungarian Communist parties called in a communiqué published Saturday for "A resolute rebuff to the anti-Leninist conceptions and subversive activities" of Red China's leaders.

The joint statement, issued by Premier Khrushchev and Premier Janos Kadar as the respective party chiefs, was fresh ammunition for Khrushchev's 10-day visit to Hungary. Khrushchev returned by train from Budapest Saturday night.

He will speak over Soviet radio and television Sunday.

"The Communist party of the Soviet Union and the Hungarian Socialist Workers party denounce most emphatically the factional activities of the Chinese leaders," the communiqué said in calling for the rebuff.

Seek Unity
"Both parties believe that the most important task of Marxist-Leninist parties in present day conditions is to work for strengthening the unity of the international Communist movement against splitting activities of the Chinese Communist leadership, which do great harm to the cause of the struggle for socialism and communism."

The phraseology reflected slashing attacks that Khrushchev made on the Chinese during his visit to Hungary. These were capped by his declaration in a speech Thursday that their malicious divisive efforts "will end in shameful failure."

While he was en route to Budapest, Peking had called on Communists of the world to "repudiate and liquidate Khrushchev's revisionism."

The Soviet Communist party responded last week by publishing a charge by its chief theoretician, Mikhail Suslov, that the Chinese are trying to split the Communist movement as a step toward installing Mao as a new Stalin to run the whole show.

Backs Nikita
The communiqué indicated Kadar is backing Khrushchev all the way in the clash between Moscow and Peking. Some other East European Communists, most notably those of Romania, have hesitated.

The communiqué made the standard claim in such Communist documents that "the balance of power has been finally tilted in favor of socialism, progress and peace," implying that it meant Moscow's rather than Peking's definition of socialism. The Chinese claim 90 per cent of them are not politically alert enough to realize it.

Khrushchev and Kadar called for continued efforts to achieve disarmament and implementation "of racial measures designed to avert the threat of world war."

Outbreaks Load Belgian Doctors

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Scattered outbreaks of scarlet fever, measles and mumps in three Belgian provinces goaded the government Saturday night to urgent new efforts to end an 11-day-old doctors' strike.

Strike leaders advised parents in Liege, Antwerp and Luxembourg provinces to keep their children home from school Monday to prevent spread of the infections.

A spokesman for the strikers said: "Emergency medical arrangements set up by the doctors are coping with the cases reported thus far. But there have been isolated cases in three provinces, and it would be impossible to deal with an epidemic in present circumstances."

To Hospitals
Since the walkout began, all serious cases of any type have been taken to hospitals, where standby teams of doctors have provided treatment. This arrangement has packed hospitals throughout the country. There are no extra facilities available to take care of a major outbreak.

For the third time in as many days, Premier Theo Lefevre and several of his top ministers met with strike leaders.

Lefevre wants the doctors to end their strike before the two sides get down to bargaining about the new socialized medical law which Belgium's 12,000 physicians and dentists oppose. The strikers want the government to promise legislative revisions before they resume their normal round of house calls and the treatment of patients in their offices.

Perkins Lecturer Finds Texans Kind And Hospitable

By PETER HINCHLIFFE
An English clergyman who ministers to the spiritual needs of people living within a stone's throw of the Houses of Parliament in London, Rev. A. P. Tremlett summed up his first impressions of Texas and Wichita Falls Saturday by stating, "I have never met kinder or more hospitable people anywhere in the world than those I have met here."

Tremlett, a genial man with a ready smile is here to deliver the 1964 series of Perkins Lectures at First Methodist Church. The lectures commence Sunday morning and will run through Wednesday. He arrived in Wichita Falls Friday, setting foot on Texas soil for the very first time in his life.

"Of course, I already knew a bit about Texas before coming here," the clergyman added. "I knew it was known as the Lone Star State, and that it has an independent attitude and a virility and personality all its own. I am the vicar of St. Stephen with St. John Church in Westminster, London — it's just around the corner from Westminster Abbey and the Houses of Parliament — and quiet near to our church is the house where the last Texas ambassador to England lived in the days when this state was an independent republic."

JFK Assassination
Commenting on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963, Tremlett commented: "It was a terrible thing. I don't remember the death of the head of a foreign state having such a deep personal effect on the people of England as did the death of President Kennedy. However, people in England realize that the assassination had nothing to do with Texas. It could have occurred anywhere in the United States, or in a foreign country for that matter. English people associate that insane act with the man who did it and not the state of Texas."

More than 1,000 people attend Tremlett's church every Sunday, and he also holds many services during the week for people working that heavily populated area of London. Some of the nation's well known legislators attend these services. He has six curates working under him, and ministers to a parish of 30,000 people.

He was educated in Cambridge University, one of the oldest and most respected seats of learning in the world, and was also associated with the university as a chaplain. "When I first went to the university as a boy its chapel were always empty, and no scientist would ever dream of attending a religious service. Now the chapels of all denominations are full and many scientists attend services. Scientists know so much more now than they used to, but they have begun to realize at the same time how little they really do know. It would be fair to say that the people who attend church in England these days go because they really do want to go."

New York Visit
Tremlett arrived in America Monday, staying with friends in New York prior to coming here. Before he returns to England, he will travel to the University of the South in Seawater, Ga., to present two diaries to the college library. The diaries were kept by a forebear of his, Rev. Francis Tremlett, and were written in 1847-48. Francis, a great supporter of the Confederate cause in America, raised a large sum of money to refund the university.

Tremlett has also scheduled visits to Washington, D.C., where he will attend a preachers college; Concord, Mass., New York and Toronto, Canada, before returning home.

Commenting on his native land, he said, "I think England can fairly claim to have given the world democracy. Many nations model themselves on our parliamentary system of government. One of the dynamic facts of the past 300 years is that the language adopted by the United States was English. The English speaking nations are the ones which bring civilization and sanity to the world."

Grand Canyon
Adding that he wished he had more time to tour America before leaving this country on May 13, Rev. Tremlett said the one thing he wanted to see most of all in America was the Grand Canyon.

"I'm looking forwards tremendously to seeing this great state of Texas though," he added.

Titles and times of this year's lectures are:

"Christ and Three Women" at 10:50 a.m. Sunday; "David and Saul" at 7:30 p.m. Sunday; "Christ and Three Men," a general title for lectures to be delivered at 10 a.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday; "David and Goliath" at 7:30 p.m. Monday and "David and the Heights" at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday; and "David and the Depths" at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Sam J. Bailey Dies In Quanah
QUANAH, Tex. (Special)—Sam J. Bailey, 85-year-old prominent West Texas cotton buyer and a resident of Quanah for nearly 44 years, died Saturday afternoon in Hardeman County Memorial Hospital.

Bailey, the last surviving charter member of the Quanah Country Club, had been in ill health for several years. He was an ardent golf fan and maintained an active interest in the game. Bailey was a member of Quanah's First Baptist Church.

A native of Arkansas, he was born, Sept. 19, 1878. He moved to Quanah from Wise County, Tex., in 1920. His late wife died in 1949.

Services are tentatively scheduled Monday afternoon at the First Baptist Church with burial in the Quanah cemetery under direction of Knowles Funeral Home.

Survivors include a nephew, T. J. Bailey, Quanah.

She was born Nov. 21, 1878. Mrs. Keel came to Graham in 1916 from Bryson. She was married to the late B. F. Keel who died in 1958. She was also a member of the Church of Christ.

Services will be conducted at 4 p.m. Sunday in the Morrison Funeral Home chapel. Officiating will be Rev. Wayne McCaney, pastor. Burial is to be in the Pioneer Cemetery of Graham.

Survivors include four daughters, Mrs. Boyd Bennett and Mrs. Molly Daniel, both of Graham, Mrs. E. M. Studer and Mrs. J. W. Norton, both of Fort Worth; two sons J. P. Keel of Lubbock and Dan Keel of Fort Worth; 11 grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren.

Undergoes Surgery

LONDON (AP)—Earl Alexander of Hillsborough, 78, Labor party leader in the British House of Lords and a former minister of defense, underwent an abdominal operation Saturday. Doctors said his condition is satisfactory.

McLaughlin Rites Set At Nocona

NOCONA, Tex. (Special)—Mrs. R. L. McLaughlin, 62, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Grey, who pioneered Nocona more than 90 years ago, died at her home in Bowie Saturday.

Services will be 2:30 p.m. Monday from Scott Brothers Funeral Home chapel in Nocona. Dr. D. L. Payne, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Bowie will officiate. Burial will be in Nocona Cemetery.

Survivors include her husband, R. L. McLaughlin; two sons, Weldon McLaughlin, Fort Worth, and Adrian McLaughlin, Dallas; a daughter, Mrs. Amos Strange, Fort Worth; a sister, Mrs. Clayton Menasco, Nocona; a brother, Horace Gray, Nocona; her mother, Mrs. George Gray, Nocona; and four grandchildren.

Blane Builder Dies

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP)—Sir Robert MacLean, 80, who gave the immortal name "Spitfire" to Britain's most famous fighter plane of World War II, died Thursday. MacLean was a former chairman of the Vickers-Supermarine Aviation Co., which built the plane.

Informal Dresser

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Argentine protocol officers are trying to convince President Arturo Illia he should wear white tie and tails at a formal reception for West Germany's President Heinrich Lübke May 4. Illia broke precedent by wearing a gray business suit to his own inauguration.

Handicapped Woman At SAFB Is Versatile Worker

By LAURA T. DOING
Pretty Joyce Six, a member of the office staff in the Sheppard Air Force Base Civilian Credit Union, is one of the most versatile young business women of the city.

The fact of Mrs. Six's versatility is not in itself a unique story. The fact, however, that this charming young woman has this attribute despite her physical handicap is the amazing element.

This 20-year-old clerk typist was born with only one hand, but her dexterity and skill in such feats as typing, baton twirling and even manicuring her nails is simply fantastic.

To Joyce, wife of Tommy B. Six, an employee of Lone Star Gas Co. in Wichita Falls, this ability to accomplish all these deeds successfully is commonplace.

Puts On Polish
"I look at people with two hands typing and wonder how they do it," she smilingly commented in her office.

Then she calmly demonstrated the manner in which she puts polish on her finger nails on her right hand—her only hand.

This she does by putting the brush in the bend of her elbow—and manipulating the polishing gadget as handily as though she had 10 fingers with which to work.

Joyce, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Friels of Burkburnett, has shown this poise and confidence since her childhood days, and never, at any time, has her lack of one hand made her self-conscious or prevented her participation in anything in which she was interested.

For instance, during her Burkburnett High School days she won eight medals for her prowess as a majorette.

And in the credit union office at Sheppard she can do just about every job there is—and all of them well.

Praised By All
She operates an electric typewriter so efficiently she demands admiration and respect of not only her fellow employees but also the visitors and customers who pass through the office daily.

The pleasant young employee also can draw nothing but praises from her superiors who have watched her accept any assignment they give her, capably and courageously.

"We've never found anything she can't do in this office," Mrs. Annabell Van Horn, office manager, said in praising the worker. "She always puts out that little extra effort, without being obvious, and gets the assignment done efficiently," Elsie E. Houston, her supervisor added.

Operating the complicated posting machine, filing and typing, handling loan applications and new memberships—all these chores and more Mrs. Six does well.

"In fact, her capability would be outstanding because of her youth, even without this handicap, and the fact that she has achieved these accomplishments with this handicap makes us proud we have Joyce," Millie Morris of the SAFB office, added.

High School Favorite
These supervisors and office workers at Sheppard have added their expressions of sympathy to those business organizations and firms which failed to hire the young woman upon her graduation from Draughon's Business College because of her physical handicap.

Joyce and Tommy were married two years ago after high school courtship which saw them voted the "cutest couple in high school." They reside in Burkburnett.

In high school Joyce was in the band four years and was head majorette for the Burkburnett Band her senior year; was homecoming queen; band sweetheart attendant; class secretary four years; basketball manager two years; volleyball manager; assistant editor of the annual; in the cast of the junior play; member of Dramatics Club; runner-up for all-school favorite; runner-up for Miss Burkburnett High School; runner-up for all-school beauty; member of Future Homemakers Association and in National Honor Society.

An Inspiration
Joyce is an appealing extrovert who loves to water ski, who rolls her own hair, who takes part in as many sports as she has time and who does all these things so well one is not conscious of her lack of a hand.

OUR AIM IS TO BE A CHURCH THAT IS:
SOUND IN TEACHING. "In doctrine showing uncorruptness" (Titus 2:7). We demand and are willing to give a "Thus saith the Lord" for all we do in work and worship. We desire to be and teach nothing less or more than what is authorized by the Christ. Hence, we speak where the Bible speaks and remain silent where the Bible is silent. We do Bible things (only) in Bible ways (only) and call Bible things by Bible names.

GALLUP POLL

Kennedy Increases Lead As Choice For Vice President

GALLUP

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute
Of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N.J. — Attorney General Robert Kennedy has increased his lead as the top choice of rank-and-file Democrats for the 1964 Vice-Presidential nomination.

Since the last report, in early March, Kennedy's support has moved up from 37 per cent to 47 per cent today.

Well behind front-runner Kennedy is UN Ambassador Adlai Stevenson with 18 per cent of the vote and Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota with 10 per cent.

Traditionally, the Presidential nominee has the final say as to his running mate and his choice is normally dictated by many political considerations, not the least of which is the make-up of the ticket of the opposing party.

Popular Appeal
Views of the rank-and-file of the party are, therefore, not the deciding factor in the selection of the Vice-President, although the popular appeal of a candidate, and the political strength which he adds to the ticket, are important considerations.

The following question was put to a carefully selected sample of the nation's Democrats:

"Here is a list of men who have been mentioned as possible Vice-Presidential candidates for the Democratic party in 1964. Which one would you like to see nominated as the Democratic candidate for Vice-President in 1964?"

The results, and the trend since January:

CHOICES OF DEMOCRATIC RANK-AND-FILE

	April Mar. Jan.	Per cent
Kennedy	47 37 34
Stevenson	18 25 26
Humphrey	10 13 14
Shriver	7 7 8

Brown	3	4	5
Fulbright	3	3	2
Wagner	2	3	2
Hughes	2	1	—
McCarthy	1	2	2
Others, no preference	7	5	7

Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, Gov. Edmund (Pat) Brown of California, Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, Gov. Richard Hughes of New Jersey, Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, Director of Peace Corps Sargent Shriver, Attorney General Robert Kennedy, UN Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, and Mayor Robert Wagner of New York City.)

Weakest Area

Robert Kennedy's weakest area—as might be expected—is the South. While topping the list of the nine possibilities, he still gets only 38 per cent of the vote in that region. He is most popular in the East, as seen in the following table which compares his present regional strength with that from the previous survey:

KENNEDY STANDING BY REGIONS (Vote Of Democrats)

	April March	Per cent
East	55 41
Midwest	50 42
South	38 33
West	47 35

In Minnesota
Recent results—from the highly-reliable Minnesota Poll show Kennedy and Humphrey as the top Vice-Presidential choices of Democrats in that state.

The findings are of particular interest in view of the fact that two of the frequently mentioned Vice-Presidential possibilities—Senators Humphrey and McCarthy—both come from that state.

The choices of Minnesota Democrats as reported by the Minnesota Poll:

Closing Ordered To Reduce Crime

CIUDAD VICTORIA, Mexico (AP)—Gov. Balboa has ordered all bars and liquor stores in Tamaulipas closed Sundays.

Amado Trevino, chief of press and tourism information, said yesterday the ban, invoked under a 25-year-old state law, became effective last Sunday.

He said the almost forgotten law was being enforced chiefly to stop the sale of alcoholic drinks in rural districts, on weekends and also to protect the working classes and to halt an increase in the crime rate.

Haskell Teachers' Contracts Extended

HASKELL, Tex. (Special) — Forty-four teachers in the Haskell public schools were recipients of one-year extensions of their contracts and nine for two years, Supt. Hooper T. Wilkinson announced.

Among the nine faculty members receiving two-year contracts were six of the seven members of the athletic department, and Carlos Berry, head basketball coach and assistant football coach, who signed a two-year contract last spring, had his contract extended an additional year to the one year now remaining, Wilkinson reported.

The board of education's action contracts the services of the following coaching staff members through the spring term of 1966: coach Berry, head football coach Ray Oveton Jr., assistant football coach Bill Blake, girls' basketball coach David Middleton, and junior high coach C. T. (Sonny) Everett.

Other faculty members receiving two-year contracts were Gerald McCoy, science teacher; Bennie Sessums, Spanish instructor; Haskell Stone, vocational agriculture teacher; and Roark Barnes, director of music and of the Haskell High School Indian Band.

Teachers in the Haskell public schools system authorized one-year contracts by the board were: Opal Richey, Gail Newcomb, Wynona Dickinson, first grade; Vivian Roberson, Rozelle Wilkinson, Alma Terrell, second grade; Faye Woodson, Nora Macon, Madalin Hunt, third grade; Geraldine Spain, Dorothy Woodard, Brucille Nelums, fourth grade; Ruth Garrard, Christine Speer, Alice Johnson, fifth grade; Betty Davis, Mary Martin, and Armolia Foote, sixth grade; Kindergarten—Lucille Gannaway.

Nettie Henry, Louise Greene, Gladys O'Neal, Opal Nanny, Aura Lee Thornton, Lee Mueslewhite, Janice Richards, Jerene Couch, Kathleen Diggs, Hazel Weaver, LaVera Middleton, Mary E. McCollum, Joyce Jeeter, C. G. Armstrong, Ora Mae Ellis, and Leona J. Greer.

The school board, at a previous session, extended for one year the contracts of high school principal W. P. McCollum, junior high school principal Hubert Bell, and elementary school principal Travis Smith.

Fain Minister To Be Installed

All interested persons are invited to attend installation services for a new pastor of Fain Memorial Presbyterian Church at 7:30 p.m. Sunday and a reception afterwards.

Members of a commission from the Central Presbytery of Texas will install Rev. James Wiley Mosley as minister of the church at Speedway and Martin. The sermon will be preached by Dr. Stuart Currie, member of the faculty at Austin Theological Seminary. Presiding will be Rev. John Cunningham, Fort Worth, general presbyter of the presbytery.

Others taking part in the ceremony are Rev. Harold Dykstra, Iowa Park; Rev. Lem Tittsworth Jr., Trinity Presbyterian; Dr. Earle Crawford, First Presbyterian; and ruling elders Everett Scott, Trinity Presbyterian; Ernest Birk, Iowa Park; Roy S. Newton, Maysfield, Tex.; and Dr. George J. Seibold, Dr. J. A. Little and Louis T. Hamlett, of Fain.

Mosley, a native of Arkansas, formerly served five years as pastor in Galveston, and four years as director of admissions at Austin Seminary. He succeeds Dr. L. McD. Kennedy, who left

REV. JAMES W. MOSLEY

Wichita Falls to join the staff of Highland Park Presbyterian last Sept. 1.

The reception after the ceremony will be held by Women of the Church in Fellowship Hall and those attending the Perkins Lectures are invited to stop by on their way home. Mrs. Harry M. Feather is president of the women's organization.

Police Hunting Stolen Antiques

BOSTON (AP) — Police Saturday sought John Hancock's wife's wedding ring and other pieces of stolen antique jewelry worth an estimated $10,000.

The gems were reported stolen Friday from the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities.

Museum officials said the ring once belonged to Dorothy Quincy Hancock, wife of the signer of the Declaration of Independence.

Another missing item was a gold watch chain said to have been a gift from Martha Washington to one of her nieces.

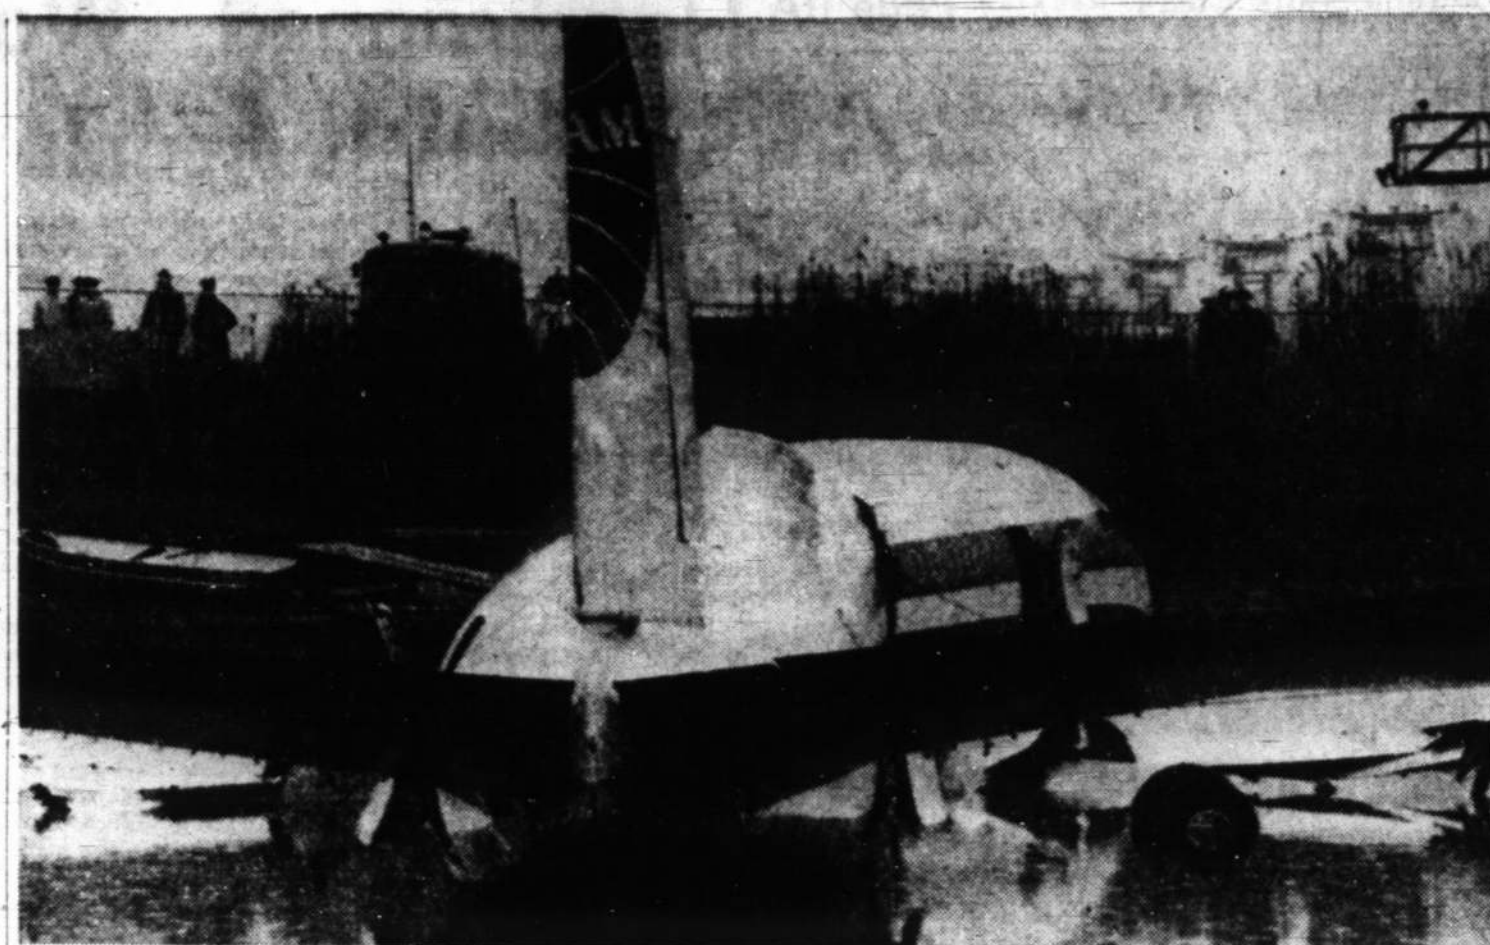

World Health Day Marked

World Health Day was observed last week under auspices of the World Health Organization, an agency of the United Nations, it was announced by Keith D. Swim, president of the Wichita County Tuberculosis Association.

Swim said the theme of the 1964 World Health Day was "No truce for Tuberculosis."

Tuberculosis has been responsible for enormous suffering down through the ages. It has been an economic burden by reducing working capacity and bringing on premature death. Globally, there are between 3,000,000 and 5,000,000 deaths annually, Dr. James E. Perkins, managing director of the National Tuberculosis Association, expressed it succinctly when he said: "As tuberculosis knows no geographic or racial boundaries, it is everyone's problem and will continue to be until the disease is eliminated... the battle is far from won and, until it is, there can be no truce with tuberculosis."

The World Health Organization, with 120 member states, helps strengthen national health services, train more and better health workers, fights major diseases, protects maternal and child health, improves sanitation and water supply. It also provides numerous other services... WHO's headquarters are in Geneva with six regional organizations: Africa at Brazzaville, Congo; The Americas at Washington, D.C.; South-East Asia at New Delhi, India; Europe at Copenhagen, Denmark; Eastern Mediterranean at Alexandria, U.A.R.; and Western Pacific at Manila, Philippines.

JET AIRLINER CRACKS OPEN — New York — A Pan American World Airways Boeing 707 jet airliner lays with its fuselage cracked open and twisted in a swamp off Kennedy International Airport in New York Wednesday morning after a landing accident Tuesday night. Forty persons among 136 passengers and crew of nine were injured, none fatally. The craft was landing in a light fog when it bounced off the end of the runway.

Scouts Give Demonstration

HASKELL, Tex. (Special) — Haskell Countians — more than 1,000 of them — witnessed a three-stage jamboree of Boy Scout achievement, one of which accented the "outing" part of Scouting, at expositions in the American Legion Halls in both Haskell and Rochester and all over the Paint Creek pasture of Scoutmaster Gene Overton of that community Saturday afternoon.

More than 100 guests called on the four patrols of Paint Creek Troop 48, "bedded down" with all the comforts of home shaped by their own handiwork, at four different locations in Overton Pasture.

Another 700 people flocked to see four patrols of Haskell Boy Scout Troop 36, and six Cub dens strut their stuff with various scout exhibits under the direction of Scoutmasters Edd Smart and R. V. Black and Cubmaster Pluto Preuett.

At Rochester, an additional 200 patrons witnessed a similar spectacle of Scouting staged there.

Volunteer Firemen To Get Donation

HASKELL, Tex. (Special) — A gift of some $75, the total in the treasury of the now dormant Haskell County Bowling Association, will be presented to the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department by action of the officers and board of directors of the bowling group, Tom Barfield, secretary, announced Saturday.

Allen Strickland, president of the bowling association, an American Bowling Congress-chartered organization, which has not been active since bowling facilities discontinued operation here, will make the presentation to Haskell Fire Chief Tom Watson at the Fire Department's regular drill Monday night.

Barfield said the bowling association decided to contribute its funds to the upkeep of the Volunteer Fire Department here because "the fire boys and their units help everybody as much as any one organization. We know of nothing that serves the community or the county better, or is of more vital concern with the welfare of all."

Wins Barrel Roll

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia, (AP) — Justice Minister Clifford Dupont, in derby and striped pants, nosed out ex-premier Sir Edgar Whitehead, wearing shorts, in a downtown beer barrel rolling race. Dupont took up the challenge after Whitehead ribbed him about omitting an old law forbidding barrel rolling from a new criminal code.

Sea-Aged Liquor

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Norway wants to expand sales of its sea-aged potato liquor, linjeaquavit, on the U.S. market. A strong drink, it gets its name from being shipped across the line of the equator and back to Norway before being sold. The rolling sea voyage is supposed to improve the flavor.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS Mother-Daughter Art Show Set

A Camp Fire Girls Mother-Daughter Art Show is scheduled for Saturday, April 18, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Parker Square.

Mrs. Robert Priddy, program committee chairman of the North Central Texas Area Council, says purpose of this show is to give Camp Fire mothers and daughters an opportunity to display objects which are original creations.

Girls of all four age levels are urged to participate — Blue Birds, Camp Fire Girls, Junior-Hi Camp Fire Girls, and Horizon Club members.

Art show specifics have been mailed to leaders and guardians. A mother-daughter team is limited to three entries, with the mother entering alone, or the daughter entering alone, or the two entering art objects created together.

Art objects should be properly identified; there will be no dividing of objects into categories; girls must be accompanied by a responsible adult; there will be no registration of entries; each person will be responsible for her own work while on display; there will be no judging of art; each one with a display will receive a certificate or some token indicating that she participated in the show; and there will be a central registration desk where each leader must leave her name, with the names of her girls and state where their display is located. This is a safety measure in case girls must be located.

Leaders were also mailed suggestions as to types of art which may be displayed as follows: Painting, including watercolors, pen or pencil, charcoal, tempera, oil, pastel and finger painting; collage, or designs of mounted cut materials of odd shapes and sizes; sculpture, which may be ceramics, paper mache, wood or soap carving; relief, or projected objects mounted on a background to form a design; or mosaics of small pieces of material such as tile or glass.

School And Council Meetings Slated

By CARROLL COPELIN

A pair of school board trustees and five members of the City Council will be sworn in at two meetings of governmental agencies here Monday.

Warren Silver and Mrs. Laura T. Doing are scheduled to receive the oath of office for six-year terms on the Wichita Falls Independent School Board at a 2 p.m. Monday meeting in the district's administrative offices at 1105 Holliday.

Mrs. Doing, an incumbent, and Silver were elected from five candidates in an election held April 4. Complete but unofficial returns showed Silver with 3,402 votes and Mrs. Doing with 1,701.

Mrs. Jan Thacker, who polled 1,688 votes in the election, has asked the school board at its Monday meeting, to recount the votes cast at the Reagan Junior High School box.

Five members of the City Council will be sworn in at what promises to be a brief Council session at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Memorial Auditorium.

New Mayor

Winston Wallander will take over the duties of mayor from John Gavin. Wallander, who has held the Place 1 alderman's seat for three years, resigned to run for mayor and won over veteran municipal candidate K. C. Spell, 5,548 to 4,973.

Kenneth Hill, an insurance agent, will be sworn in to fill the year remaining of the Place 1 term. Hill won over Harry Campsey, 5,253 to 4,831.

Incumbent R. V. (Pete) Claytor will resume his Place 5 Council seat by virtue of his 3,992 to 4,319 vote victory over Mrs. Joyce McDowell.

Leroy Daniel, owner of a suburban cafeteria, will fill the Place 4 seat on the Council. Daniel was the only candidate in last Tuesday's municipal election to be unopposed.

Attorney

Cletus Schenk, the senior member of a young Wichita Falls law firm, will take the oath of office as Alderman, Place 3. Schenk won over three other opponents as he polled 2,934 votes.

Edwin (Ed) Baggett received 2,701 votes for this post while A. J. Otte polled 2,544 and James A. Williams, only the second Negro in the city's history to seriously seek a Council post, received 2,158 votes.

Outgoing councilmen besides Gavin include Dr. Al T. Witche, Place 4, and Don Wade, Place 6. Witche has completed two terms as alderman while Wade served a single, two-year term.

Wheat Acreage Allotments Retained Under New Bill

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new wheat stabilization program, established under the farm law signed by President Johnson Saturday, will retain the 49.5 million acre national planting allotment set earlier for this year's crop.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, acting soon after Johnson signed the bill, announced provisions of the new program as they affect growers, millers and exporters.

Growers will be divided into two categories—those who plant and harvest within their acreage allotments, and those who overplant and overharvest allotments.

Cooperating farmers will be eligible for price supports at a national average of $1.30 a bushel, but noncooperators will not.

Conserving Use

Cooperating farmers will be required to devote wheat land diverted from the grain under their allotments to a conserving use—that is, not another cash crop—as well as to maintain their normal acreage in conserving uses.

Cooperating farmers will not be allowed to exceed acreage allotments assigned them on other crops grown on their farms. Nor will they be permitted to exceed the wheat allotment on any other farm in which they have an interest.

Cooperating growers will earn government-issued marketing certificates on 90 per cent of the normal yield of wheat on their allotments. Half of these certificates will have a value of 70 cents a bushel and the other half 25 cents.

Millers and other wheat food processors will be required to buy equivalent 70-cent — bushel certificates to cover all wheat they use for food products, including flour for export, beginning July 1. They will be able to buy these certificates from the government or from farmers or from elevators which might buy them from growers. But the department expects most farmers to cash their certificates at county agricultural stabilization and conservation offices.

Exporters

Likewise, exporters will have to buy the 25-cent-a-bushel certificates to cover wheat moved abroad beginning July 1. They will be able to obtain certificates in the same manner as millers and other wheat processors.

The wheat covered by these certificates can be sold in the market at prices expected to be close to the $1.30 a bushel support level or stored, as in the past, under support loans.

Money received from sale of the certificates will go, in the final analysis, to the cooperating growers.

For the remaining 10 per cent of their normal yield on their allotments, farmers will get whatever price the market offers or they can place it under the support loan. Officials expect the wheat prices to decline to around the support level, which is 52 cents a bushel less than the 1963 support.

In Addition

In addition to the certificates, cooperating growers will be eligible for payments on wheat land diverted under the wheat allotment program. On the average, grower allotments for 1964 are 10 per cent smaller than in 1963. The diversion payments will be 20 per cent of the county's wheat support rate multiplied by the normal yield of the diverted acres.

For example should the county support be $1.30 a bushel and the normal acreage yield be 20 bushels, the payment per acre would be 26 cents (20 per cent of $1.30) times 20 or $5.20.

Under the diversion program, a farmer may reduce more than his allotment requires, up to 20 per cent of his allotment or up to 15 acres if this figure is the larger, and get diversion payments at the same rate. Such growers would get certificates to cover the normal yield of the extra idle acres.

Lose Payments

Should a grower comply with requirements from minimum acreage diversion but fail to divert extra land, he would lose all diversion payments but still would receive his marketing certificates.

In order to get benefits of the certificate and diversion payment programs, growers must sign up between May 1 and May 15.

Insofar as millers and other processors are concerned the department made no provision for transition from the 1963 support of $1.82 a bushel to the 1964 support of $1.30. It said that they have known for some time that market prices would decline whether the new program became law or not. Had congress not enacted the new program, 1964 supports would have declined to $1.25.

July Date

The department said millers, processors and others holding whole crop wheat have had time and will have from now until July 1—the beginning of the 1964 crop marketing year—to get rid of their high priced wheat in preparation for a lower priced market.

The department said that should new crop wheat based on the $1.30 support not be available in the early part of the 1964 crop marketing year, it would sell them government-owned wheat at the higher of (1) the market price or (2) 105 per cent of the $1.30 support rate plus handling charges. In northern parts of the county, the harvest period is much later than in the southern part.

Highway 287 Group Not Due Until '65 Sets Meet

AUSTIN, Tex. — Texas Highway Commissioner Hal Woodward will address a meeting of the U.S. Highway 287 Association at Vernon Tuesday, April 21.

He will discuss current construction and future plans for the vital, cross-country route with particular emphasis on its significance to the booming Texas tourist industry. U.S. Highway 287 transverse Texas from the Panhandle to the Gulf.

Woodward is a member of the three-man Texas Highway Commission which sets programs and policies of the Texas Highway Department, agency charged with engineering, building and maintaining the 65,000-mile Texas highway network.

Frederick Rest Home Adds Wing

FREDERICK, Okla. (Special) — Hallmark Villa, Frederick's leading convalescent home, has just added another new wing, and now 48 beds are available. Announcement was made by the owners James B. Williams and Dr. Jack D. Honaker.

The new wing contains seven double patient rooms, a dining room and kitchen facilities. The decoration in the new wing blends with the decor of the rest of the Villa. The public is invited to visit Hallmark Villa at any time and inspect the facilities available to the residents.

SPANISH FORT, Tex. (Special) — The Spanish Fort Cemetery Assn. will sponsor a political rally and cake and pie supper at the Spanish Fort Community Building at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

All candidates to appear on the Montague County ballot will be given the opportunity to speak. Proceeds will be used for the maintenance of the cemetery and community building.

Greenbelt Water Not Due Until '65

QUANAH, Tex. (Special) — Quanah will have to wait until at least 1965 before receiving water from the Greenbelt project, it was pointed out this week.

The state permit for the Greenbelt Water Authority reservoir near Hedley was officially issued March 27 by the Texas Water Commission.

Although engineers are ready to begin work on the project cannot be started until after a 120-day appeal period. This means that at the earliest, work on the pipeline to Childress and Quanah cannot possibly be inaugurated until around July 1.

The 120-day appeal period became necessary when the Collingsworth County Water District at Wellington and the Lewis Estate, owners of a large tract of the land to be inundated, filed notice of appeal following approval of the project last month by the commission.

Present plans call for construction of a pipeline to Quanah and Childress from the Hedley damsite area where a good source of sub-surface water will be tapped to furnish the two cities with a supplemental water supply. If no other delays are encountered, the water could be made available by the summer of 1965.

Roland Walden, Quanah's director on the Greenbelt Authority, pointed out that at this point it is difficult to predict a time-table for the project.

Future Nurse Day Planned

High school girls interested in becoming nurses will have an opportunity to learn more about the nursing profession on Saturday, April 25, when the Wichita General Hospital School of Nursing holds its annual Future Day. The program will provide the teenagers with a chance to see demonstrations of various nursing procedures as well as tour the hospital and get a look at some of the special departments in which they will learn to care for patients if they enter nursing school. A free lunch at noon beside the swimming pool at the student nurses' residence will be followed by an amusing program by the freshman in the school of nursing.

Registration for the day's activities from 8-9:30 a.m. will be held in the Out Patient Department of the Wichita General Hospital. Guests are asked to use the Brook Street entrance to the department as they arrive. Serving as hostesses will be Mrs. Leonida Russell, clinical instructor in medical and nursing and Mrs. Sally White, clinical instructor in fundamentals of nursing. Freshman students will assist.

In the opening session in the hospital's assembly room Mrs. Mary Harvey, nursing service director, will give the welcome before turning the program over to Mrs. Frances Heath, nursing education director.

Announcements of Future Nurse Day have gone out to high schools in the North Texas and Southern Oklahoma area. There is no registration fee but those wishing to attend are asked to call or write the School of Nursing for reservations in order for arrangements to be made for the luncheon.

Childress Plans Fire Inspection

CHILDRESS, Tex. (Special) — Seeking out and tagging potentially dangerous fire hazards before they destroy life and property will be the purpose of a town inspection scheduled for Childress on April 28-29.

The town inspection will involve the business area, schools and churches. This will be the second time for an inspection to be held in Childress. The first was in 1952.

Conducting the inspection will be a selected group of fire prevention experts, all of whom are part of a group known as the West Texas division of the Texas Insurance Fieldmen's Association.

Al Reynolds, Amarillo representative of the association, met with Childress officials and members of the Jaycees to work out details of the inspection and set the date. Reynolds is chairman of the inspection team.

He outlined the purpose of the inspection as three-fold: for property owners and tenants; it brings recognition of hazards that might otherwise go unrecognized; for the Childress Fire Department, it helps pinpoint existing fire hazards; and for the inspectors, it affords the opportunity of participating in a community service.

In addition to the regular inspection, Childress schools will be provided with special stage shows, explaining the dangers of fire and the elements that cause it. Fire drills will be conducted as well as fire prevention contests with prizes for the winners.

The inspection teams are coming to Childress at the request of the Jaycees and city officials.

Altus College Calendar Set

ALTUS, Okla. (Special) — Calendar for the remaining weeks at Altus Junior College have just been announced by Dean Ora Littlejohn, with seven weeks remaining in the 1963-64 school term.

On Monday, evening, April 13, the Jackson County University of Oklahoma Alumni club will be host at a dinner for college students who plan to transfer to O.U. for their senior college work.

The state junior college meeting, an annual event, will be at the University of Oklahoma, Kellogg center on April 17. Classes will be dismissed on April 22 for the annual school census. College Play Day will be April 24, with events scheduled during the afternoon. Thursday night classes end on May 14 and Monday night classes on May 18 for the spring semester. Final examinations will be given May 27 and 28 for the regular spring term. Commencement will be at 10 a.m. on May 29.

Mangum Officials Ponder Proposals

MANGUM, Okla. (Special) — The city commission considered proposals to remodel the Civic Center and to remove the center parkway on West Jefferson street, but took action on neither at their regular meeting held this week.

During the meeting, Terry administered the oath of office to Bryant and Elkins, as well as Roy Ballard, new chief of police. Elkins won reelection as utilities commissioner, without opposition, and Bryant defeated two opponents in the street commissioner's race.

Attending the meeting were Sam Harlan, mayor; Wade Tyler, Paul Elkins, L. E. Bryant and Sam Roberson, commissioners; Ed Day, city manager; George Terry, city clerk; W. B. Garrett and James P. Garrett, city attorneys.

The first proposal—to remodel the Civic Center—was proposed by a delegation of eight individuals representing three organizations.

The group included Miss Mary Beth Jones, Mrs. Ted Woodbridge, Mrs. Henry Lippard, Mrs. Harvey Hefel and Mrs. Wayne Smith, representing Epsilon Sigma Alpha; Mrs. Warren Wheeler, president of the Greer County Home Demonstration Clubs Council; Roy L. Tinney Jr. and Ed Deaver, representing the Kiwanis Club.

The commissioners also discussed removing the center parkway on West Jefferson. The commission decided to get a consensus of opinion of West Jefferson residents before taking definite action.

da Wilson, and Tyra Roper. The three were recognized because of their work with the Midway Future Farmer of America chapter. The awards were presented during the annual banquet held Friday night.

Court Session In Waurika Set

WAURIKA, Okla. (Special) — The second trial of Asa Walter Lucas, 46, Ringling man accused of first degree manslaughter, is scheduled to start here Monday, April 20.

The first trial of Lucas—charged in connection with the beating death of Ringling Mayor Joe Fitzpatrick, 75, on March 18, 1963—resulted in a hung jury.

Judge Arthur Marmaduke of Duncan set the term for the district court session here.

'Spacemobile' To Visit Vernon

VERNON, Tex. — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Spacemobile, a space science lecture - demonstration, will appear at Northside School here Tuesday at 2:30 p.m.

"Spacemobiles" are panel trucks carrying equipment and materials used in space science lecture - demonstrations.

The public is invited to attend the free demonstration.

School Petitions To Be Circulated

MANGUM, Okla. (Special) — Three different initiative petitions—each pertaining to education — will be circulated here next week, according to Herman Bottom, city school superintendent.

Bottom said that the goal for Mangum is 800 signatures.

The main objectives of the petitions are: 1. To repeal 5-mill emergency levy amendment and allow school district electors to vote all or part of 15 mills on net assessed valuation;

2. To guarantee non-experienced Oklahoma teachers with bachelor's degree will receive not less than 75 per cent of national average salary for instructional personnel.

3. Increases maintenance allowance from 12 cents per day on average daily attendance to 18 cents per day, amounting to $10.50 per child per year.

4. Reduces sizes of classes.

5. State Board of Education to increase duties of county superintendents, with salary equivalent.

lent to superintendent with 20 teachers.

Bottom said that any legally registered voter in Oklahoma may sign the petitions. Signers are not obligated in any way. The voter must sign exactly as he is registered.

"Since we are lagging behind in several areas and since practically nothing was done during the last session of the legislature and since we have no reason to feel that the next session will be more fruitful, we decided to take these issues to the people," Bottom said.

The petitions are being circulated state-wide. May 1 is the deadline goal for completing the petitions.

Mangum School Hires Instructor

MANGUM, Okla. (Special) — Mrs. Cecil Madden, Russell, has been employed as an English teacher in the Mangum school system. She will replace Mrs. Ruth Mosby, who is retiring after this term, Herman Bottom, superintendent, said.

Mrs. Madden presently is concluding her 20th year of teaching English in junior high school and high school at Centralvue. Prior to that, she taught three years at Lincoln in Jackson County.

Mrs. Madden is a graduate of Duke high school and of Southwestern State College, receiving a Bachelor's degree with a double major in English and Elementary Education. She received a Master's degree from the University of Oklahoma in education.

A past president of the Greer County School Marms, Mrs. Madden served as an alternate director of the Oklahoma Education Association from Greer County.

She is a member of both OEA and the National Education Association and served three years on the curriculum committee of the Oklahoma Council of Teachers of English. She is a past matron of the Eastern Star and a member of the Baptist Church.

Are So-Called "Bargain" Eyeglasses Really A Bargain?

Have you ever heard this famous quotation: "Quality Is Remembered Long After The Price Is Forgotten"? True, isn't it? Of course, this doesn't mean that real values shouldn't be taken advantage of if they exist. But, there is a difference in true value and so-called "bargains" ... especially when it comes to professional eye care and eyewear. ■ So-called "bargain" eyeglasses may, in fact, not be a bargain at all. Unknown to the purchaser, some important elements could be left out of the lens prescription, or a special type of bifocal lens may be omitted to cut the cost of making the glasses. These omissions could result in strained eyes, discomfort and improper vision. Also; inferior quality frames might be used which could reduce the wearing comfort as well as the useable life of the glasses. ■ There is no good reason for risking priceless eyesight and comfort on so-called "bargain" eyeglasses, when true value in professional eye care and eyewear is available at dependable Texas

State Optical. For the past 29 years, thousands of people in Texas have learned to rely on TSO for outstanding professional eye care and finest quality eyewear at a sensible one-price policy. ■ At TSO, you receive a 3-phase, professional eye examination which includes: a thorough analysis of your visual history, an internal eye examination for evidence of disease or defect, and, a subjective examination to determine if visual abnormalities are present. If glasses are needed, they are prescribed and fitted to meet your exact visual requirements for best vision and utmost comfort. Finest quality single vision glasses are just $14.85, including examination, lenses and frame. Invisible bifocals just $16.85 complete. Convenient credit is available at no extra cost. ■ The next time you need professional eye care and finest quality eyewear, visit dependable TSO, where you can place complete confidence and trust for the care of your eyes.

Promotion In Order

The Times endorses the candidacy of Jack Pope, associate justice of the Court of Civil Appeals at San Antonio, for the position on the Texas Supreme Court that will be vacated by the retirement of Justice Frank Culver.

Within the purview of the Supreme Court come cases which have an immediate and lasting effect upon all citizens of the state, and Justice Pope will bring to the bench of this court mature judgment and proven legal ability.

Judge Pope, 50, a native West Texan and a graduate of Abilene Christian College and the University of Texas School of Law, began the practice of law in 1937 in Corpus Christi. He served in the Navy in World War II, became 94th District Court judge in Corpus Christi in 1946 and in 1950 defeated three other opponents without a runoff for the appellate court in San Antonio.

His 18 years of experience on the bench encompass a wide variety of cases, and the court on which Judge Pope serves has maintained an excellent record for the dispatch of business as well as being the most economically operated in Texas, despite the fact it has handled an exceptionally heavy docket which necessitated splitting the judicial district this year.

More than 3,000 attorneys in Texas anxious to find the best replacement on the Texas Supreme Court for Judge Culver's place petitioned the San Antonio appellate justice to make the race. His opinions on the Court of Civil Appeals at San Antonio have been consistently upheld, indicating the quality of his legal work. Recently a large majority of the lawyers in Wichita County endorsed Judge Pope's candidacy, and he has won an overwhelming endorsement in the judicial poll among lawyers of Texas by the State Bar Association.

Judge Pope is qualified by training, experience and temperament to be promoted to the bench of the Supreme Court. He has the approval of the profession he has served, and merits their support and the support of the public in the May 2 Democratic primary.

Bipartisan Voting

Democratic and Republican majorities agreed on more than half of all issues settled by roll-call votes in Congress in 1963. Fifty-two per cent of the 348 roll calls were settled by across-the-board agreement of Democrats and Republicans, Congressional Quarterly ascertained.

Such "bipartisan" voting occurred 53 per cent of the time in the Senate and 51 per cent of the time in the House.

Of the 162 victories on roll calls chalked up by the late President Kennedy in the 1963 session, 60 came on bipartisan votes. Of these, 42 came in the Senate and 18 came in the House. Of Kennedy's 19 defeats, 4 came on bipartisan votes.

The average Democrat in Congress supported bipartisan majorities 71 per cent of the time and opposed them 11 per cent of the time.

The average Republican voted with the bipartisan lineup 71 per cent of the time and opposed it 14 per cent of the time.

Among Democrats in both chambers, the highest opposition scores were registered by Southerners—generally the conservative element of the party. Similarly, conservative Republicans in both chambers registered the highest scores in opposition to bipartisan majorities.

Majorities.

Many of the bipartisan votes were on non-controversial issues. Prominent among these were roll calls to demonstrate national unity, such as the unanimous Senate vote and near-unanimous House vote approving the 1963 defense appropriations.

Other apparently noncontroversial roll-call votes were taken after the main disputes had already been settled in previous votes. Examples include many final votes on appropriation bills.

Outstanding among the bipartisan votes in both chambers were the votes on mental retardation facilities. Other major bipartisan roll calls included Senate approval of the nuclear test ban treaty and medical school aid. Both chambers approved college aid and vocational education bills by bipartisan votes.

The percentage of roll calls in which party majorities agree is not itself a complete reflection of the bipartisan action of Congress. Many, if not most, noncontroversial decisions are made by standing or voice votes.

Particularly in a presidential election year such as this it is easy to lose sight of the fact that there is no serious controversy on a majority of the legislation which Congress enacts.

More Than Coincidence

There have been indications since the first of April that a change for the better in relations and in common goals affecting the United States and Latin America is taking place.

What is now looked upon as a military coup necessary to prevent a take-over in Brazil by Communists under the presidency of Joao Goulart was successful without violence April 2. Red tactics identifiable as the Castro type prompted the switch in regimes.

On April 3, diplomatic relations and new discussions over the Panama Canal were re-established between the U.S. and Panama which met the terms sought by the U.S., including no pre-conditions. This was, again, a setback for Castroism and the advantages Castro could see in the U.S.-Panama split.

While all of this was taking place, an earlier government report was coming to light in which a further and pronounced withdrawal of Soviet military forces from Cuba was indicated.

It is unlikely that coincidence is responsible for the turn of events.

U.S. News & World Report points out that this fresh hemisphere "isolation" of Castro is "being interpreted as vindication for Thomas C. Mann, the new assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs," and his insistence on a "hard line" policy.

While the reasons may be elusive and the results too nebulous for early exultation, the events bring together a favorable sequence that has not been witnessed for a long time in the relationship this nation has with the rest of the hemisphere.

Wisconsin primary vote for Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, dedicated segregationist, although numerically more than double what anyone estimated and sensationalism from a percentage standpoint, is not enough to cause President Johnson to toss and turn in his White House bed. It is enough, however, to mix up the plans for the Democratic National Convention at Atlantic City.

If Wallace does as well in Indiana and Maryland, the two other states where he is entered in presidential primaries, there could be — come November — hurricane warnings for the Democrats. As far as Atlantic City is concerned the no-opposition, acclamation nomination for President Johnson could vanish.

Wallace is now calling himself a serious candidate for president. He has the backing of the Alabama state executive committee as a favorite son candidate and if he has the Alabama delegation behind him he will be formally placed in nomination and the first vote at Atlantic City (Alabama is first on the roll call of states) will be cast not for President Johnson, the certain nomination winner, but for Wallace.

No one expects Wallace to get any delegates in Indiana, but some Marylanders give him a faint chance to win a delegate or two from the Eastern shore counties where there have been many racial demonstrations. There is no doubt that Wallace expects to carry at least Alabama in the November election, and he intends to keep campaigning for the presidential nomination in 1968. His term as governor does not expire until January 1967, and he is not eligible to succeed himself.

Congressional Prospects
There is no consensus in the Senate on how long civil rights debate (or filibuster) will continue. But some important Democrats and Republicans say that talk it will last until July is no idle whimsy. Even if it continues until June some important administration proposals will be bottled up. These could include medical care for the aged under Social Security, youth employment, mass transportation and parts of poverty program. Congressional situation could get very sticky. In addition to the appropriation bills, which must be passed to supply funds to run the government, there are 19 programs that require legislative approval or they will expire. One of these, excise tax extension, may set off a move for repeal.

Bobby, Hubert and Mac

Says a high - up Democrat: "There are three men who if they are not running as hard as they can are at least hoping as hard as they can that they will get the call to be President Johnson's vice presidential ticket mate. They are Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, Sen. Hubert Humphrey and Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara."

Less Presidential Travel

Not only does President Johnson plan no visits abroad while there is no vice president, but his intimates doubt he will make many trips if re-elected. Johnson believes far less than either Eisenhower or Kennedy in the value of such foreign trips.

Wisconsin In November

On a preliminary analysis of the primary election vote in Wisconsin some political observers think that it will be a difficult state for the Democrats to carry in November. It has Republican moorings and usually sticks to them. Despite the fact that Wisconsin gave John F. Kennedy his greatest impetus toward the presidential primary there, the Badger State went for Richard M. Nixon over Kennedy in November by 65,000 majority.

Looking Ahead

Democratic Liberals in the House of Representatives are already booming third-term member James G. O'Hara of Michigan for the next vacancy on the House Rules Committee. There are no present vacancies, but one liberal member of the committee, Rep. Richard Bolling of Missouri may be in trouble for re-election and liberal member Carl Elliott of Alabama may also face re-election problems. O'Hara had a majority of 29,000 over a Republican in the 1962 election and is regarded as certain to win re-election.

Tunney Hopes Bright

Democrats have high hopes that Varick Tunney, son of former world's heavyweight champion Gene Tunney, will replace Republican Pat Minor Martin in California's 28th Congressional District, the state's southernmost district which extends to the Mexican border. Martin is a first term.

Fortas To Court?

There is again speculation that Associate Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas will retire after the court recesses in June. There is a belief that his successor may be Abe Fortas, long-time friend of President Johnson. Fortas, 53, is a native of Memphis, Tenn., but was a law professor at Yale before coming to Washington in Franklin D. Roosevelt's administration. He is now member of a highly successful Washington law firm.

Views on the News

Political candidate season is in full swing throughout Texas and Oklahoma, and the pace is certain to quicken as time for the primaries approaches. One of the occupational hazards of an outdoors worker is being interrupted by candidates pushing cards. Doris Jeffrey, writing in her "Around Town" column in the Temple (Okla.) Tribune, tells about the experiences of a local painter:

"Kenneth Beasley painted one afternoon on the bank building and for every time he took one swipe with the brush, he shook hands and received cards from three candidates. He finally gathered up his paint pot and went home."

When Spring is here, rodeo season in West Texas towns cannot be far behind. Betty Boyd, feature writer for the Burkburnett Star, tells about Boomtown rodeo plans for this year:

"It is almost rodeo time once more and the rodeo committee is at work, planning pageantry, excitement and thrills for residents of this area. June 25-26-27 are the dates set for the local exhibition."

Co-chairmen for the 1964 rodeo are B. A. Farris and F. A. Martin, who are listening to proposals of persons interested in producing the show."

Joe Stults, publisher of the News at Archer City, says that he has had his faith restored in people. Last week he wrote: "We had begun to wonder if the people had lost all interest in government at the grassroots level. Not so in Archer City, this year. Three hundred and forty-four trekked to the polls Tuesday to elect a mayor and two councilmen."

"The men that received the majority vote in the election should feel like they received endorsement from the majority of the citizenship of our town. We urge them to use foresight and a faith and move our town forward."

The testimonial dinner for State Senator George Moffett on March 31 is still receiving attention from area editors. The Baylor County Banner says that Senator Moffett expressed a tinge of regret along with his appreciation for the honors bestowed on him:

"Senator Moffett said the great conclave of notables was worth $10,000 to him in publicity; and now, being out of the race, he couldn't cash in for even a dollar's worth."

From Don Morrison in the Throckmorton Tribune comes the welcome word that:

"The fish are bitin'. Ben Foster came by with the proof this week. He brought in the prettiest cat you ever. Said it came from the local lake."

Julie Newmar Unlike Robot In Real Life

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Julie Newmar is to play a woman robot in a tv series — a thought which causes her to thump the table and shout, "Do I look like a robot? Don't I appear to have flesh and blood and to be... well... real?"

WILSON

Broadway and in Hollywood.

"I'm a girl designed by scientists," she says, slashing the air with a pointed finger. "I have an IBM brain and a perfect figure... I cannot tell a lie... still, I can stray... and... I... stray!"

Least Likely

Julie seems to be the woman least likely in real life to be robotized, mechanized and filed away. After winning Broadway awards for "The Marriage-Go-Round" and playing the role in the picture, after numerous tv performances of distinction, Julie is still single and casting about for the right chappie.

"I worry about nothing... I'm affluent," she told me.

Q. You mean you're rich?
A. You don't understand, I have a mink coat, but I hardly ever wear it. I have enough money to last me a year or two—but I have enough intelligence to last me for several lifetimes.

Q. Did you make a killing on the stock market? Are you big on D & B?

A. Don't you know that to parade wealth is out of date? It isn't youthful to look wealthy. It's archaic. It's for the superannuated. The rich people spend money on good securities, or nice underwear, the things that don't show. They don't buy flashy things. They buy quality.

Job Badly Needed

Editor The Times:

This letter, written without her knowledge, concerns Mrs. Beth McMichael, who has been consistently generous with her time and effort through her annual Christmas parties for the underprivileged over many years, and various other kind deeds. Only last year she suffered painful injuries in two separate auto accidents and the loss of a baby grandson, but in spite of personal tragedies, has cheerfully carried on, so that most people are unaware that she was forced to resign her position because of the length of time required for her recovery from her injuries, and is badly in need of employment.

Perhaps this will come to the attention of business or professional concerns who may be in need of her services, as she is willing to work and wishes to remain in Wichita Falls if at all possible. Mrs. McMichael's address is 804 Lincoln, and her phone number is 322-0609. Thank you for your assistance.

Suicide's Lover Burns In Grief

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A Vietnamese student whose sweetheart had committed suicide by swallowing rat poison visited her grave, doused himself with gasoline, and died in flames, Saigon newspapers reported today.

He was Le Van Bao, 19. His sweetheart, and first cousin, Huynh Thi Lang Phuong, committed suicide because her parents had forbidden her to marry Bao. She was expecting a baby, the papers said.

The burning was in Chuong Thien Province, 130 miles southwest of Saigon. It was the seventh suicide by fire since the series of protest burnings by Buddhist monks last summer that led to the collapse of the Ngo Dinh Diem regime.

Red Cosmonaut Scores Spying

MOSCOW (AP)—A Soviet cosmonaut said Saturday the United States has put several "spy satellites" in orbit.

Valery Bykovsky suggested this was proof of his contention that the United States put military aims first in its space program. He added that Americans should "remember that powerful Soviet boosters can launch not only artificial earth satellites and spaceships."

Unofficial reports from Washington in the past have indicated the United States has satellites capable of photographing the Soviet Union on film that can be recovered from space.

Bykovsky, who orbited the earth 81 times last June, spoke at a "Cosmonaut Day" program at the Bolshoi Theater. It marked Sunday's third anniversary of man's first space flight, by Yuri Gagarin.

Scientist Leonid Sedov spoke cryptically about the latest Soviet space venture, the Zond No. 1. Since its launching was announced April 2, there has been silence on its destination.

"Its successful flight marks another big advance, an event whose importance can be appreciated only in the future"—perhaps meaning when the world knows where it is going.

Gagarin used the occasion to denounce "the monstrous slander of the Chinese splitters against our people, our party and the Soviet government." Cosmonauts are as shocked as other good citizens by what the Chinese are saying in the dispute with Premier Khrushchev, the cosmonaut declared.

10,000 Koreans Honor MacArthur

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—About 10,000 South Koreans attended a public memorial service today for Gen. Douglas MacArthur while the old soldier was borne to his tomb in Norfolk, Va., a half a world away.

President Chung Hee Park led the tributes saying: "We feel the deepest sorrow and shock over the death of one of the greatest generals of this century, and we bow reverently for the soul of the general."

The ceremony took place in Seoul's Capitol Square, where MacArthur had stood after his forces liberated the city from the Communists in September, 1950.

Arms Race Threat To Stalin Was Key

WASHINGTON (AP)—General of the Army Douglas MacArthur's post-Korean plan to end the cold war involved threatening Soviet dictator Joseph Stalin that Germany and Japan would be completely rearmament unless the people of the European Red satellite countries were granted self-determination, a congressman has said.

Rep. William Jennings Bryan Dorn, D-S.C., said MacArthur freely told him of this plan to bring the Soviet Union into line in an interview at the general's Waldorf-Astoria tower suite in New York. Dorn said he was uncertain of the year, but thought it was 1956.

The gist of MacArthur's plan was the missing part of newspaper accounts this week that projected the general into a swirl of posthumous controversy.

Old Interview

In a 10-year-old interview published Wednesday as MacArthur was lying in state in the Capitol rotunda, Bob Considine of the Hearst Headline Service disclosed the existence of the plan and described how MacArthur tried to convince Dwight D. Eisenhower, then the president-elect, to put it into effect.

Considine wrote that MacArthur told him, "I don't feel it would be fair to reveal my plan to you. It would be an unfair burden on you as a reporter."

Dorn said there was no such reluctance when he and two other congressmen visited MacArthur in 1956. He said MacArthur revealed to him "for the first time, and I have kept it confidential, the nature of his conversation with President-elect Eisenhower and John Foster Dulles in December 1952."

For Self-Determination

"The plan suggested by MacArthur to President-elect Eisenhower and John Foster Dulles was to threaten Russia with a complete rearmament of Germany and Japan, possibly including nuclear power, unless Stalin agreed to live up to his promise of the self-determination of the peoples of Poland, East Germany and Central Europe."

That description was written by Dorn Monday night and inserted in the Congressional Record, as a minor part of a long eulogy of MacArthur. It escaped notice until Friday, when a reporter interviewed Dorn about it and was given details. The printed Dorn account predated the publication of the Considine account.

In Mankato, Kan., former Rep. Wint Smith, one of the two congressmen who accompanied Dorn, said he agreed with Dorn's description except that "I don't remember that MacArthur said he had told Eisenhower those things."

Views Published

Smith said it was his recollection that the interview took place in 1954.

The third congressman, Rep. Lawrence K. Smith, R-Wis., died in 1958.

MacArthur's aide, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, who Dorn said also attended the meeting, declined comment.

The Considine interview and one by Scripps-Howard reporter Jim G. Lucas published this week also after a lapse of 10 years both mentioned the general's plans to win the Korean War by using nuclear bombs across the Yalu in Red China, sowing a five-mile belt of radioactive cobalt along the border, and bringing in Nationalist Chinese troops from Formosa to mop up the Reds.

No Wild Statements

Dorn said he visited MacArthur in 1951 in Tokyo just before he was fired as Far-East commander by President Harry S. Truman.

"I didn't know about the cobalt thing," Dorn said. "He didn't mention that to me in Tokyo."

"What he might have said two years later—when Lucas and Considine interviewed him—when he was embittered. I don't know. But to me he made no wild statements about cobalt or atom bombs. He just said with airpower he could lick the Red Chinese in three months."

In the interview about the plan to end the cold war, Dorn said MacArthur emphasized to Eisenhower that Stalin was an old man who might die at any moment, and that Eisenhower should act immediately after taking office.

"Stalin is a realist and you could threaten him," Dorn quoted MacArthur as telling the president-elect.

Great Prestige

"Stalin is a cold, hard bargainer who understands power, military power. Stalin would have no alternative but to accept it. If he doesn't, then go ahead and rearm Germany and Japan, and back them up, give them aid. Put Russia on the defensive and keep Russia on the defensive."

Three Five-Star Officers Survive

NEW YORK (AP)—The death of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur leaves the United States with three five-star officers—Generals of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, 73, and Omar N. Bradley, 71, and Fleet Admiral Chester Nimitz, 79.

In 1944 Congress authorized eight five-star officers—four generals and four admirals. Six of the nine World War II leaders so honored have died, and none has been named since Bradley, whose commission dates from Sept. 20, 1950.

Nimitz, who commanded the Pacific Fleet and was chief of naval operations from 1945 to 1947, lives and maintains an office on Yerba Buena Island in San Francisco Bay, a stone's throw from Treasure Island naval base.

Reinstated

Eisenhower, who severed all ties with the Army in 1952 before announcing his candidacy for the presidency, was reinstated in the five-star rank on March 24, 1961.

Bradley, who lives in Washington, is chairman of the board of the Bulova Watch Co. of New York.

For Comparison

He thought the United States needed ranks comparable to top foreign officers, such as field marshals.

Others in the first group were Army Air Force Commander H. H. Arnold, who died in 1950; Chief of Naval Operations Ernest J. King, who died in 1956; and Gen. George C. Marshall, former chief of staff and secretary of state, and Adm. William

Son To Add To Memorial

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Norfolk's MacArthur Memorial, already crammed with mementoes of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, had the implied promise of more today from the general's son.

Arthur MacArthur, accompanied by one of his father's wartime comrades, Gen. Carlos Romulo of the Philippines, got his first look at the memorial Friday.

"There are a lot of things we have I'd like to send down," he told curator Jack Wallin. "You could use them very nicely. But it would be heartbreaking to send them all down at once."

MacArthur and Romulo toured the memorial, a refurbished former city hall and courthouse, on a day when thousands of persons filed by MacArthur's casket in the building's rotunda.

These two bypassed the rotunda but inspected the nine galleries containing the general's personal mementoes.

There were a few exhibits young MacArthur had never seen, including a collection of newspaper cartoons drawn at the time President Harry S. Truman dismissed MacArthur as United Nations commander in Korea.

"I don't believe we ever had them among our things," MacArthur said. But before a burnished steel map of the Southwest Pacific, he recalled: "That was in our hallway."

Goldwater To Correct Overexposure To Press

CHICAGO (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater says he will change his campaign tactics to protect himself against what he calls overexposure to the press.

The Arizona Republican said Friday in an appearance taped for a Chicago television show that he and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller suffered in the New Hampshire presidential primary "not from overexposure to the electorate, but to the press."

Goldwater said it was sometimes almost impossible for voters to attend gatherings in private homes because newsmen crowded them out.

"Our mistake," the senator said, "was in not insisting that the press stay out so we could meet the people."

"Poor Press"

Goldwater and Rockefeller ran second and third, respectively, in the New Hampshire primary behind Henry Cabot Lodge, ambassador to South Viet Nam, whose backers sponsored a write-in campaign.

The senator said that while "Republicans generally do not get a good press," reporting of his campaign has been "generally fair."

The GOP suffers at the hands of the news media, he said, despite what he called the seeming preponderance of Republicanism among newspaper owners.

Goldwater repeated that he never advocated getting out of the U.N. He added, however, he is in favor of changing its charter to protect the Western nations from the Afro-Asian neutralist-Communist bloc.

On Social Security

He said that "nothing is farther from the truth" than reports that he wants Social Security dropped. But he said that if the costs of mental health and medical programs were added to the program, "it could well bring down the system."

Goldwater was in Chicago for a political rally, winding up his campaign for Tuesday's Illinois primary. Goldwater and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine are the only presidential aspirants whose names will appear on the GOP ballot.

The Arizona senator told a rally Friday night that President Johnson is "turning off the lights" of world leadership.

"We now have a President who tries to save money by turning off lights in the White House," he said, "even as he heads toward a staggering addition to the national debt."

"L.B.J.," he said, "should stand for Light Bulb Johnson."

Fights Colonialism

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Iraq is willing to train guerrillas from any African country fighting colonialism, Iraqi Foreign Minister Subhi Abdel Hamid said in an interview.

The source, who said he previously thought Johnson was kidding about his economy drive which included turning off the lights in the White House, reported the last thing Johnson did after the crisis: "He went down to the Cabinet Room and turned the lights off."

Trapped Korean Miner Rescued

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—A Korean miner, trapped in a narrow shaft of a gold mine for eight days by a cave-in, was rescued today.

The miner, Yang Yul, 36, had been fed through a steel pipe while rescue workers rammed through a pile of dirt last Wednesday.

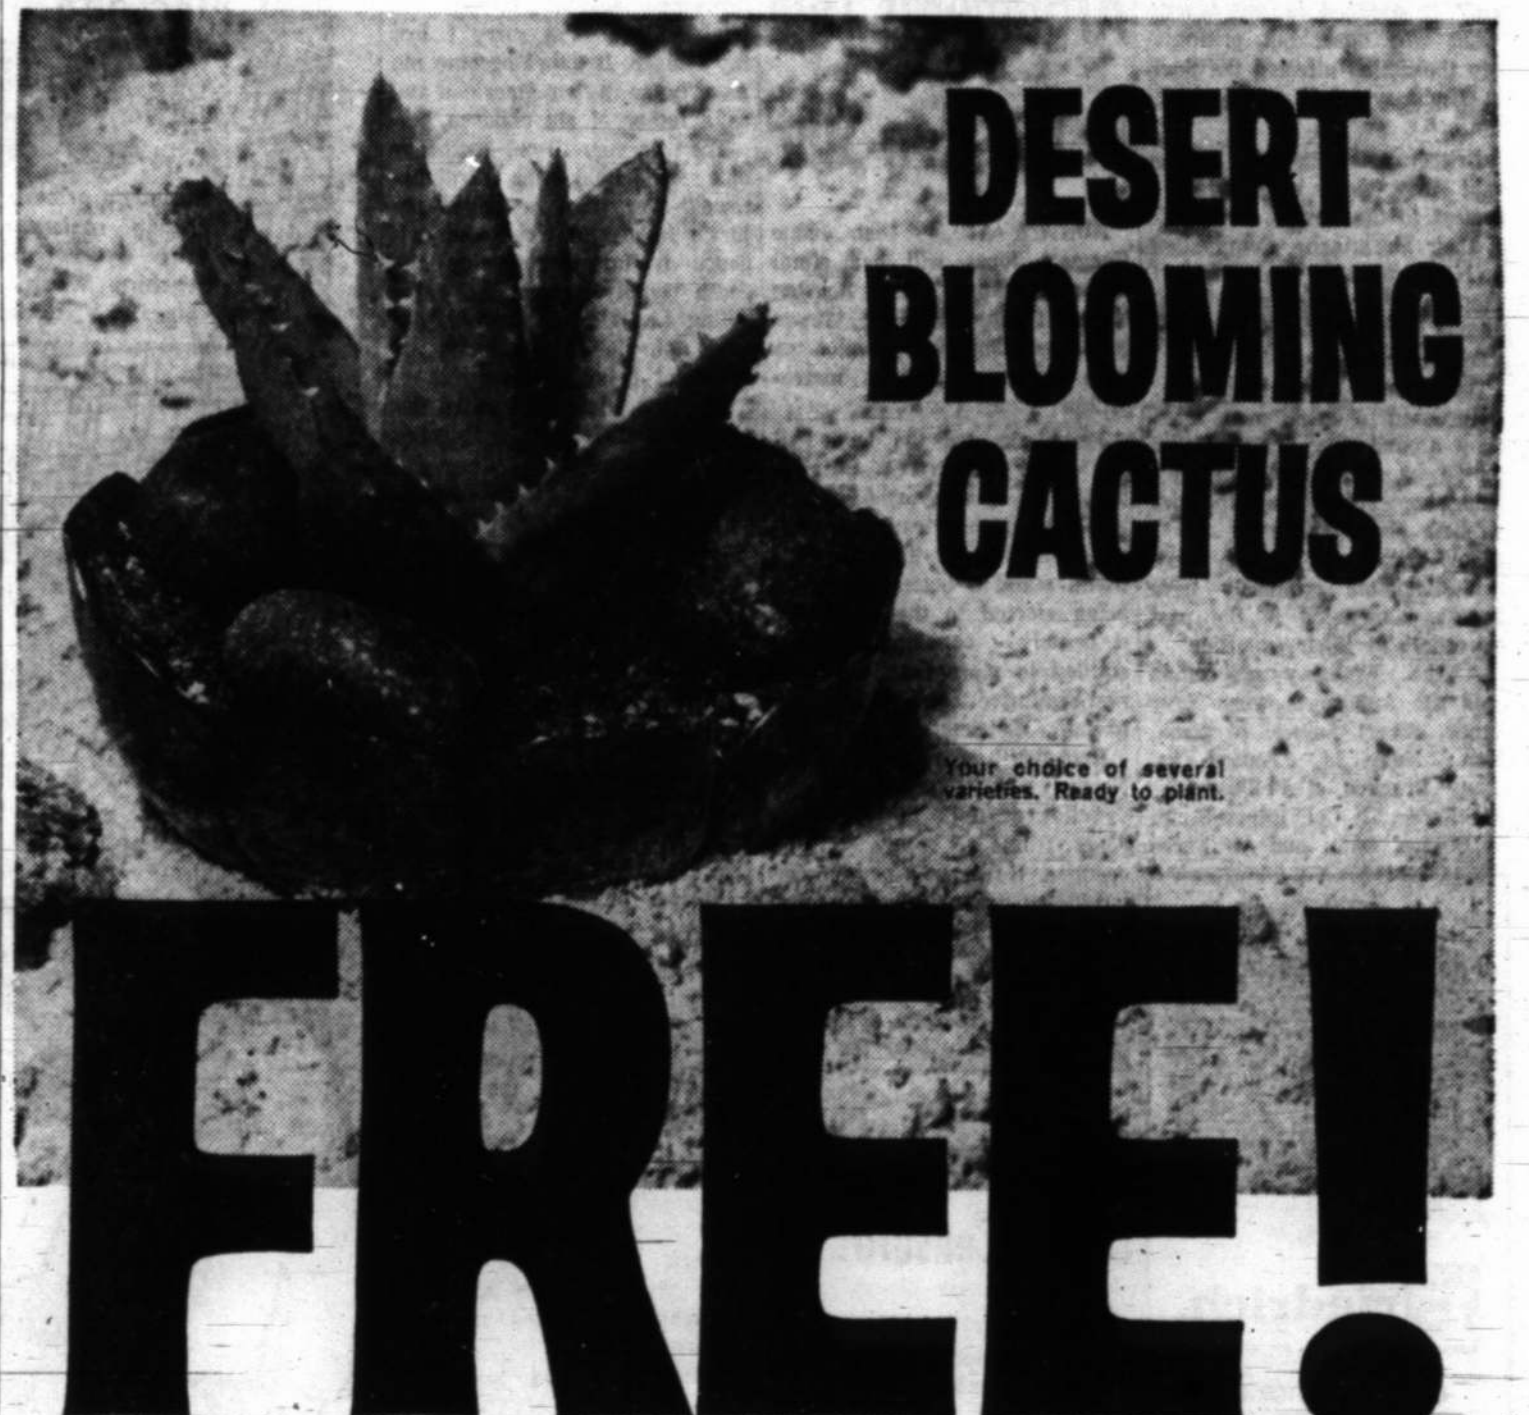

The pithead is about 100 miles south of Seoul.

Trial Slated For Viet Nam Warlord

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Ngo Dinh Can, brother of South Viet Nam's late President Ngo Dinh Diem, will go on trial in Saigon April 16.

Can, once warlord of Central Viet Nam, is charged with murder, attempted murder, illegal arrest, illegal financial dealings and activities harmful to the national economy, government sources reported.

WINNER—Randal K. Goodman, manager of Kemp Boulevard Safeway Store, presents a check for $1,000 to Mrs. Lillian Hillner of 1517 Blonde Street. Mrs. Hillner was one of the five big winners in the "Disneyland Sweepstakes Contest," sponsored by Safeway Stores throughout Texas.

U.S. Protests Soviet Travel Restrictions

MOSCOW (AP)—The United States reacted sharply if belatedly Friday to travel restrictions imposed by the Soviet government on four U.S. Embassy attaches.

The embassy said it has protested and denied Soviet charges that the four had engaged in improper activities outside Moscow.

Subsequently the Pentagon in Washington said "appropriate retaliatory action has been taken." It declined to say exactly what was done, but presumably the action affected the Soviet Embassy staff in Washington.

British authorities in London said they were considering a protest to the Soviets on behalf of their air attaché, Commodore A. N. Davis, who was restricted like the Americans under accusations that came close to a cry of espionage.

The strange case of the five, all ordered to do no more traveling around the Soviet Union for 90 days, came to light after being kept secret by authorities on both sides for weeks.

Soviet charges against Western diplomats ordinarily have been accompanied in the past by orders for their expulsion.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the Americans were Navy Cmdr. Stuart Savage of Alma, Kan.; Navy Lt. Leonard Anthony Bracken of Philadelphia; Air Force Lt. Col. Edgar Smith of Dayton, Ohio; and Air Force

Capt. Edmund Zvetina, also of Dayton.

Confirming leaks to newsmen, the embassy spokesmen said Savage and Bracken had been accused of taking illegal photographs Feb. 14 in Leningrad and that Davis, Smith and Zvetina were accused of "observing" an airfield at Tula, 130 miles south of Moscow, March 17.

Arguments Due In Election Suit

AUSTIN (AP)—Dist. Judge Herman Jones will hear final arguments April 24 in a Houston Negro's suit attacking Texas laws providing for election of state representatives in metropolitan areas.

Jones recessed the trial Friday after Robert W. Hainsworth, the attorney who brought the suit, finished testimony aimed at showing that Negroes would stand a better chance of being elected to the legislature if heavily populated counties entitled to more than one state representative were divided into sub-districts.

Hainsworth contends the Negro votes in large cities are "swallowed up" in the total votes from all areas of the counties. He seeks a court order forbidding county judges in Austin, San Antonio and Houston from certifying returns in legislative elections.

The state contends Jones has no jurisdiction to hear the case.

Two Texas Schools Under Censure

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The American Association of University Professors continued two Texas schools under censure at its meeting here Friday.

Texas Tech and Sam Houston State were originally placed on the list because of difficulties regarding dismissal of faculty members.

Waites Ford Promotes Three Key Employees

Three long-time employees of W. O. Waites Ford Sales, Inc., have been promoted as that firm's departmental expansion program gets under way, it was announced by Clyde Terry, executive vice president and general manager of the firm.

Moved up to the position of service manager is R. T. (T. Bone) Dodd, who has been with the Ford dealership for 19 years. He was the firm's shop foreman.

Appointed as manager of the newly-formed fleet department is Barney P. Morgan, who has been associated with the sales and service of Ford cars and trucks since 1922. He is a native of Colorado City, Texas, and has been a resident of Wichita Falls since 1914.

Reed, 45, is a member of Faith Lodge 1138 AF and AM, the Maskat Temple and the Dallas Consistory. He and his wife, the former Helen Krebs, reside at 1802 Barna Road. They have two daughters—Loisanne, 13, of the home, and Mrs. Leroy Wigginton of Austin.

Dodd, 40, a native of Dean Community in Clay County, is married to the former Mary Bachman. They reside at 1200

Glidwell with their three children—Elaine, 13; Janet, 9; and Robert, 6.

Morgan, 56, is the second person to receive a life membership in the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce—back in 1955. He and his wife, the former Sue Power, reside at 2212 Jones. They have two children—Paul Jr., of Sanford, Florida, and Mrs. Joe Knowles of Wichita Falls.

W. O. Waites Ford Sales employs 80 persons.

Lawyer Cites Provocations

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP)—Joe Tonahill, one of the lawyers for condemned slayer Jack Ruby, says "provocations" led to contempt citations against him and former chief attorney Melvin Belli in Ruby's Dallas trial.

Tonahill, in an interview here Friday, said his conduct in Judge Joe B. Brown's court was provoked "by the district attorney's consistent interruptions." Tonahill, recalling a pencil-throwing incident during the trial, added: "I'm sorry I lost my temper. It didn't become me as a Texan, as an American and as a father of six children."

The Jasper, Tex., attorney also said Belli was "traumatized" over what he called the jury's failure to weigh the evidence before returning the death penalty against Ruby for killing Lee Harvey Oswald, accused of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

After the trial, Belli called the verdict a "victory for bigotry and prejudice."

Tonahill said the San Francisco lawyer "feels now that he was indiscreet to say that. He is a very generous, charitable and honorable man."

Tonahill was here to address the West Virginia Trial Lawyers Association meeting.

Catholic College Fights Highway

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—An attorney for a Catholic college says he will challenge in federal court a decision to build an expressway through the school grounds.

The U.S. Bureau of Public Roads announced Friday that it had approved the controversial north expressway route in San Antonio.

The proposed route has been the subject of heated argument for months.

Most opposition has come from the Sisters of Charity of Incarnate Word College. Pat Maloney, attorney for the institution, said he would take the matter to federal court, even though the U.S. Supreme Court denied one appeal by the Sisters of Charity.

San Antonio voters approved a 1961 bond election for the route, and the State Supreme Court has upheld court decisions favoring the city's choice for the northern expressway route.

Boy, 5, Accidentally Kills Himself

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP)—A 5-year-old Marshall boy who was to have served as ring-bearer in a wedding today accidentally shot and killed himself Friday.

The accident occurred at the home of the bridegroom's parents where a wedding rehearsal was held.

The child, Jed Moseley, found a loaded pistol in a bedroom, managed to cock the weapon and it fired, piercing his heart, police said.

PALMER BLASTS OUT

Palmer Leaves All Opponents Behind

AUGUSTA, GA. (AP) — A gambling, charged up Arnold Palmer exploded three straight birdies in a thunderclap finish for a three-under-par 69 Saturday and shot into a five-stroke lead with one round to play in the Masters Golf Tournament.

Consecutive rounds of 69-68-69 over the demanding par 72 Augusta National course gave the comeback marvel from Latrobe, Pa., a 54-hole total of 206, 10 under par, and made him a virtual cinch to become the first ever to win four Masters.

A wiry Australian outsider, Bruce Devlin, knocked in an eagle on the 15th hole for a 67 which put him closest to Arnie's heels at 211.

Jack Folds

Other of Palmer's sternest challengers, including defending champion Jack Nicklaus, fell by the wayside in an epidemic of late, pressure-proved bogeys — and it looked like a one-man show.

Arnie's Army, making up most of the record throng of 40,000, was delirious.

Nicklaus, his big, booming game wild and unwieldy, shot a 71 and found himself tied at 215 with a ghost of the past, Ben Hogan, who thrilled the gallery with some of his old wizardry for a third round three-under-par 67.

The new champion and the old had nine strokes and five other players separating them from the front running Palmer.

Dave Marr, a young pro from New Rochelle, N. Y., was in third place at 212 after a third round 69, followed by hard-luck Gary Player of South Africa, whose game cracked up on the final two holes to give him a 72, and little known Peter Butler of Birmingham, England, who rallied with a 69.

Player Falters

After firing three birdies on a stretch of five holes on the incoming nine—the 13th through the 16th—which put him within five shots of Palmer, Player suddenly went into a disastrous tailspin.

He bogied the final two holes, bunkering his second at the 17th and hitting a spectator's chair with a drive on the 18th. The ball caromed deep into the woods and all he could do was play it back to the fairway and thank Heaven for a bogey.

Devlin, a 26-year-old master plumber from Caberra, only three years out of amateur purges, came out of nowhere to move into contention.

He struck his big blow on the 520-yard 13th where a long drive and four-wood put him on the green 25 feet from the cup. He sank for an eagle. On the 18th, he trapped his second but exploded to within 18 inches to save his par.

Palmer, the slumping golfer capitalist who hasn't won a tournament since last October, was slow getting off the mark and had to scramble to play the first seven holes in par.

He rang in his first birdie at the eighth, chipping to within three feet, but lost another shot at the 11th where he duck-hooked his second into the water. He dropped out and chipped to within inches for a bogey that could have been much worse.

Explosion

His birdie explosion started on the 14th. He ran in a putt from 25 feet.

While the cheers of his vast army were still ringing in his ears, he ripped into the long 15th reaching the green in two and two-putting from 25 feet and added a third straight birdie on the 16th where he ran the ball in from 12 feet.

"I didn't get the ball as close to the hole as I did Friday," he said philosophically. "But I was satisfied with the way I played."

Even with his long lead, he never ceased to play bold, gambling golf. He hit all out from the tees, went for the greens even with threatening water staring him in the face.

Asked what his strategy was to keep his big lead, he said: "I went out to make it bigger if I could."

Nicklaus, who entered this 28th Masters a heavy favorite to become the first champion ever to repeat, was plagued by constant frustration.

He three-putted the third hole banded his tee shot into the trees at the seventh and on the 12th hit a real hacker's shot—a shanked eight-iron off the tee.

This is a relatively easy par 3 of 155 yards over water. Nicklaus' shot was so poor it didn't reach the water.

Jack Laughs

He laughed afterward, remarking in a Churchillian phrase: "Never have I tried so hard and produced so little in a tournament."

Of the first six leaders, four are foreigners although Feirer, a 49-year-old Australian, is now an American citizen.

Butler is 32, the reigning British PGA champion. He and Feirer both made late charges with 69s in the third round.

One of the day's major collapses was that of Dow Finsterwald, former PGA champion who was beaten in a playoff for the Masters crown by Palmer in 1962. He had five bogeys on the last eight holes for 75 and 218.

Hogan played his round in almost semi-privacy while most of the fans trooped and yelled at the heels of the popular Palmer.

The Texas Hawk, his white cap pulled tight over his eyes and his jaw clamped in determination, birdied four of the last eight holes, sinking a 50-foot putt at the 11th.

Three months ago he said his nerves were so shot that he couldn't bring back the putting blade and that he was ashamed to play golf in public.

He whipped the jinx about a month ago and said Saturday: "I played and thought better."

Palmer's six-stroke equals the largest third round lead ever held in the Masters.

If he can shoot a 68 Sunday he can tie Hogan's record of 274, a mark many golf observers insisted might not be matched for years.

Now, Charley Put The Fences Back

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Charles O. Finley, owner of the Kansas City Athletics, defied baseball's top officials Saturday after they ordered him to remove the fence he had erected in Municipal Stadium to make right field the same depth as that in Yankee Stadium.

Finley, here for an exhibition game, confirmed he had received telegrams from Joe Cronin, president of the American League, and Ford Frick, baseball commissioner, directing him to take down the fence.

Finley said he had been warned that unless he complied any games played here would be forfeited to the visiting team. The season opens here with Cleveland, April 21.

"You can say for me," Finley said, "that the fence will be up when the season opens."

He added he would appeal to the baseball rules committee.

"The rule book permits me to do what I am doing," he had said earlier in Chicago. "I have read it thoroughly and I know what I am saying."

The A's owner ordered the fence built last week to conform to the right field barrier in Yankee Stadium after his demands on Cronin and the Yanks for a screen to stop easy home runs at New York.

The distance from home plate to the foul pole in New York is 296 feet. The fence at the stadium here starts at the 325-foot mark, which conforms with the rules, but the 296-foot mark, the point of the V, is only two feet in fair territory.

It was in the bleachers near that point that Finley took his seat today as the A's faced the Cardinals.

Finley termed his fence the "K.C. Pennant Porch."

"Kansas City ceased to be a farm club of the Yankees when I purchased the club in 1961," Finley said. "Now, if we can eliminate the 'pennant porch' in Yankee Stadium the other clubs in the league for the first time in 40 years will have an equal chance to win the pennant."

Lions Win Again; McCullough Stars

By TED LEACH
STEPHENVILLE — Blessed with more speed than the law should allow, Brownwood came through as favorite in the District 4-AAA track and field meet as expected here Saturday.

On their way to a sixth straight district championship, the Lions broke four records with Terry McCullough setting the pace. The brilliant speedster eclipsed the existing 100 and 220 yard dash marks with runs of 9.7 and 21.6, then anchored the sprint relay team to a brilliant 42.4 that ranks as the best by a class AAA team in Texas.

Brownwood blitzed Weatherford and others with a total of 155½ points. Weatherford was far back with 104, followed by surprising Graham with 99. To attest to Brownwood's abundance of speed, the ninth grade team also walked off with the freshman meet championship for the sixth straight season, beating Mineral Wells 41-28.

A total of seven records were broken. Brownwood's other new mark came in the mile relay with a 3:24.3 clocking. Graham's P. D. Shabay tossed the discus 156-4 ¾ and Robert Nees went 6-2 in the high jump to wipe out two more. Mike Littleton of Stephenville got the other with a 22-9 in the broad jump.

McCullough found the miserable weather-in the prelims more to his liking than the warm and very nice weather in the finals. He clipped off a 9.7 in both 100-yard dash events, but his 21.6 in the 220-yard dash came under cold and windy circumstances.

In the finals he had a 22.3 but managed to win handily. The Lions likewise set their sprint relay record in the morning session, running a 42.6 in the finals.

13-B With

Strong Show

KNOX CITY, Tex. — Host Knox City left hardly a stone unturned as the Greyhound track team ran roughshod to the District 13-B track title here Saturday.

The Greyhounds amassed 174 points to outdistance second place Weinert which finished with 127½ points. O'Brien totaled 83; Goree had 38 and Rhineland 9.

The winners and runnerups in each event will be eligible for Class B regional honors at the Region 1 meet April 24-25 at Lubbock.

James Duncan of O'Brien was the biggest winner, taking four first places. Duncan won the broad jump and high jump, the 220 yard dash and the pole vault. Dale Carroll of Weinert had firsts in the shot and discus, while John Cunningham of Weinert had firsts in the 100 yard dash and the 180 low hurdles.

Knox City won the freshman division with 53 points. Glynn Smith and Frank Perez both had 20 points each for Knox City.

The grade school division title went to Knox City with 63 points and Goree second with 49. Bruce Kidd of Goree won first places in the broad jump, shot, 440 yard dash, 100 yard dash and the 50 yard dash.

Wichita Falls

Places Three

In Regionals

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (Special) — Irving, sporting only 3½ points after the field events, erupted in the running and outdistanced defending champion Arlington with 130 ½ points to 118 for the 4-AAAA track crown here Saturday.

Irving's speed-minded Tigers copped six first places of the nine running events.

Wichita Falls, placing fourth in the meet with 64 points, placed three men in regionals. Jim McGrath copped the Coyotes only first place by tossing the shot put 52-2½ to easily top Bob Blanton of Grand Prairie who tossed it 40-10½.

Ronnie Bentley copped second in the 440-yard dash behind Danny Gordon of Irving. Ben- ty finished 51 second flat just 8 behind Gordon.

Darrell Cottle, a promising sophomore for Wichita Falls, took second in the 220 yard dash. His 23.2 finished behind Tommy Tompkins of Irving who raced 22.5.

Two records fell in the meet which was hampered slightly by 20 m.p.h. winds.

David Caughran of Grand Prairie broke his own high jump record of 6-1 ½ by leaping 6-2. Ernie Clark of Grand Prairie surpassed the 12-6 set in 1962 by Bob Harp of Grand Prairie with a 13' jump.

The oddity of the meet, was the fact Grand Prairie had 69½ points at the halfway point and wound up in third place with 110½.

Decatur Noses Nocona For 9-AA Track Title

BRIDGEPORT, Tex. — Decatur's Eagles swept to a massive lead in the field events and hung on through the afternoon's running events to amass 203 points. Nocona won both relays and two records went by the wayside in the 9-AA district track meet held here Saturday.

Through the field events the Eagles held a margin over second-place Nocona of 90 to 38½.

Decatur captured first, second and third in the pole vault, the shot put, first, second and fourth in the discus; fourth and sixth in the high jump and second in the broad jump for their wide morning lead.

Larry Pearson of Nocona jumped an inch higher than his head to grab the high jump at 5-10 and the Indians' Billy Tugle broad jumped 21-3½ for first place regional qualifications.

As the afternoon races began, the Indian relay team of Gary May, Gary Carver, Tugle and Johnny Zachary took the baton on the anchor lap and roared an almost unbelievable quarter to completey dumdum second place Decatur.

Iowa Park breezed to a one-sided team victory in the District 5-AA Track meet at the Wichita Falls Coyote track here Saturday with the Hawks' Mike Brockman and Seymour's Leonard Peters starring.

The Hawks outdistanced the field by winning five first place events and second in both relays. Iowa Park runners and field men also qualified six for the regional meet by virtue of second place wins.

Seymour wound up second in the point parade followed by Hirschi and Quannah. Electra, Childress and Olney finished out the field in that order.

Brockman sped to victory in the 100 and 220 yard dashes and was also first in the broad jump. In addition he anchored Iowa Park's second place 440 relay team.

Peters continued his domination in the hurdle events with wins in both the 120 highs and 180 lows. The flying Panther was the anchor and mainstay in leading Seymour's mile team to first place in the relay event.

Times were relatively slow as the runners faced a gusting 20 mile per hour wind. Brockman managed only 10.5 in the 100. He has been down to 10 seconds under calm conditions. Warm weather and cloudless skies made conditions near perfect, however.

Peters flashed a 15.0 in the lows to qualify and ripped a 20.1 in the high hurdles. He has had faster times in both this season.

There were no records for the contestants to shoot at because the district has added more members and been realigned since Iowa Park won the meet last year.

The freshman meet, held in conjunction with the high school running, was a better team battle. Hirschi held the edge going into the final race, the 880 yard relay. Seymour was a scant 1½ point behind. In the finale, the Panthers won the race with Hirschi second, edging the Hounds, 49½ to 49. Quannah, Olney, Iowa Park and Childress finished in that order.

All winners and runnerups will be eligible to compete in the Region 1 meet at Lubbock April 25.

Iowa Park qualified nine boys to 11 positions and both relay teams. Seymour put six boys for seven positions in the regional along with its mile relay team. Quannah had two boys set for regional and its first place 440 yard relay team. Hirschi and Electra each qualified two boys for regional.

Richey Downed At St. Pete

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla., cut off Cliff Richey's string of upsets Saturday with a powerful game that placed him against Roy Emerson in the grudge-match finals of the St. Petersburg Masters Tennis Tournament.

The match score was 4-6, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4.

Froehling, third man on the U.S. Davis Cup team, upset Emerson, rated the world's best amateur, in their only other meeting—the U.S. championship at Forest Hills.

Froehling's power game was too much for Richey, a 17-year-old Dallas lad who had upset U.S. singles champion Rafael Osuna and Australia's Ken Fletcher in this tournament.

However, Richey's sister will play in the women's finals, against Judy Alvarez of Tampa, Fla., who upset the Caribbean tour champ Francoise Durr of France 6-0, 3-6, 8-6 in the other semifinals.

Pastrano Eyes Another After Convincing Win

PASTRANO—STILL THE CHAMP—round technical knockout over Gregorio Peralta in the light heavyweight championship fight. (AP New Orleans after taking a sixth Wirephoto)

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Light heavyweight champion Willie Pastrano enjoyed a conqueror's holiday in his native city Saturday but there were plans in the works for possible title defenses against either Bobo Olson, Eddie Cotton or Harold Johnson.

Olson, the balding ex-middleweight champion enjoying a new lease on life among the 175-pound set, appears to be the most likely candidate for the next shot at Pastrano.

"We may sign for a non-title fight with Olson in San Francisco for May 22," said manager Angelo Dundee, "or a possible title fight there or in New Orleans later in the year. Cotton and Johnson are possibilities, too. Willie will fight anyone if the price is right."

"But after that big win over Peralta, Willie is entitled to a holiday. We'll talk business in a couple of weeks. I never saw Willie better than he was last night."

Pastrano, trained to a keen edge and hitting with speed and pinpoint accuracy, opened a 1½-inch long cut over Gregorio Peralta's left eye and stopped the Brave Bull of the Argentine on a technical knockout after five rounds. It was listed as a sixth-round TKO.

Blood Spilled
Blood spilled from the gash every time Pastrano peppered the wound—and that was often. The cut required six stitches.

Peralta and his American manager, Charley Johnston, were burning mad when Dr. Anthony Italiano ordered referee Pete Giarrusso to end the bruising, action-packed fight, scheduled for 15 rounds at Municipal Auditorium.

Johnston claimed that the gash was caused by a butt and that in any case Peralta could have continued.

"I've never seen a fight stopped like this for a cut like this," said Johnston.

In New York Saturday, Johnston said Peralta "would have positively knocked Pastrano out in a couple of rounds" if the fight hadn't been stopped.

"They should have let the man in the corner see if he could fix Peralta's eye," Johnston asserted. "It was a bad cut, but the blood could have been stopped."

"If the fight had continued, Peralta would have won because he was punching Pastrano around and Pastrano was helpless."

Chickie Ferrara, Peralta's cut man in the ring, agreed with the manager.

"You know why they stopped it?" Ferrara said. "It was because Peralta was starting to get to Pastrano in the body."

Pastrano said he opened the cut with a "beauty of a right. He's lucky they stopped the fight. He could have had a lot of trouble with that eye."

No But

The referee said he saw the punch clearly and "it was no butt. He was cut with a good right hand in the fourth. The fighters were moving so fast, it would have sounded like cracking walnuts if they had bumped heads."

"That boy will thank me some day for what I did," said Dr. Italiano, the ringside physician. "It was real bad cut. I know some people will question my decision on stopping a championship fight, but it was better to end it there than to have Peralta lose an eye."

Peralta suffered his first loss in nearly four years and had his unbeaten string snapped at 29.

Peralta, his wife and the rest of the Argentine group, originally were scheduled to leave for New York Saturday but now plan to depart Sunday night, then they probably will leave for Buenos Aires Friday.

Alfredo Porzio, Peralta's Argentine manager and trainer, said Peralta will not fight again in the United States "unless it is a very important fight or one for the championship. He will defend his South American heavyweight championship in either June or July."

Grudge Title Battle Scheduled Thursday

Call it anything you like and it still comes out "grudge match" for the Southwestern Tag Team Championship at the 4-H Arena, Thursday at 8:15 p.m.

As Karol Krauser and Stanislaw Pulaski tangle in a return match with the Great Bolo and Irish Mike Clancy.

Last week, the two European masters defeated Bolo and Clancy and then had the decision reversed by referee Tommy Peterson. Under NWA rules, a championship cannot be lost by disqualification (as the case last week) and Krauser and Pulaski retained the title.

Their title trophy however, disappeared to later reappear in the possession of Bolo and Clancy as they motored out of town.

Thus set the scene for the NWA ordered return match for the tag team title.

This main event at the Hampstead Lane arena will be two of three falls with a 90 minute time limit.

Matchmaker Bob Clay agreed that a new referee would officiate the match and said he might use two in the ring.

The semifinal will be one of the top single matches seen here in some time as the top contender for the junior heavyweight crown, Jerry Kozak, will try the undefeated Pat (Killer) Patterson in a two of three fall bout with no time limit.

This could pave the way for the winner to get a shot at champion Danny Hodge's title.

Stamford Upsets Winters In 6-AA

ABILENE, Tex. — Dark-horse Stamford ripped favored Winters and relay favorite Haskell to win the District 6-AA meet held here Saturday.

Stamford got first place victories out of speedster Randy Samuels in the 220 and 440 yard dashes and won the 440 yard relay with a record setting 43.7 to hold off a stiff challenge from Winters. Steve Hateris winning high jump also helped the Bulldog cause along with numerous second and third place finishes.

Hurdles king Steve Grissom set a new record in the 120 high hurdles with a 15.8 performance. In the 180 low hurdles however, he fell coming over the final hurdle after a neck and neck duel with Larry Butler of Hamlin. Grissom got off the cinders in time to finish fourth.

Records were set in the pole vault, discus, high hurdles, mile run, the 440 yard relay and the old record was tied in the mile relay.

The first and second place winners in each event are eligible for the Region 1 meet set April 24-25 at Lubbock.

Outdoor Editor

At first glance, there's nothing to set Wichita Jack Brewer apart from any other angling enthusiast. Standing six-foot, 1 1/2-inches in his stocking feet and weighing an even 200 pounds, he's perhaps a little bigger than most piscatorial pursuers and probably in a heck of a lot better physical condition than most 50-year-old anglers.

But the real difference between Brewer and his contemporaries is easily evident when he takes to the water in his innertube floater in quest of a stringer full of crappie or black bass.

Unlike most hardware hurlers, Jack usually catches enough bragging size fish to make his outings worthwhile. This doesn't mean he comes in from each trip loaded down with fish but he comes home often enough with a decent catch to have established the reputation of being a "lucky" fisherman.

More Than Luck

Those who have fished with the Wichitan maintain it's a lot more than just luck that enables Brewer to catch fish. It's a combination of physical stamina, practice, constant study and the ability to "think like a fish." No one can dispute his success, for day in and day out, he comes home with as many lunkers on his stringer as any angler.

How does he do it? Equipment plays a big part. Unlike many anglers Brewer doesn't believe there's just one kind of rod, only a single reel or just one type of line. He does, however, favor a 6 1/2-foot Heddon Pal rod with a light tip and a Shakespeare spincasting reel loaded with 15-pound test monofilament line.

Perhaps the most important item of all among a welter of fishing gear is his innertube floater consisting of an old truck innertube with a heavy canvas cover and seat. This innovation (which Brewer has been using off and on for almost three decades) isn't the fastest mode of water transportation around, but it's the only one guaranteed to get you into the heart of a heavily brushed area where Jack is convinced the fish spend most of their time.

Unlike most fishing enthusiasts, Brewer isn't above using anything in the way of bait ("I go to catch fish.") but if it's a question of having just using one particular lure in his tackle box, he'll quickly settle on a Dixon Jig and purple plastic worm. This is understandable since he caught more big bass on this combination last summer than he had in six previous years of fishing and he happens to be a partner in the firm here which manufactures the jigs.

Brewer admits fishing with this type of lure "takes some learning." The important thing about using it is to fish it slowly and as far into the brush as you can.

Before fishing a lake, Brewer may scout it two or three times in a boat, taking soundings and just looking the situation over in general. Once he decides he's found a likely looking "hole," he starts fishing in earnest.

Favorite Depths

Brewer favors water anywhere from three to 16 feet in depth, depending on the time of the year. In the spring, when the fish move into the shallows to spawn, he'll work along the banks, weedbeds and brush in the lesser depths but when temperatures soar, as summer progresses, he kicks his innertube back into the deeper water while bouncing his favorite lure off the bottom.

Drop-offs are a favorite spot for the rugged-looking angler. Let him discover a submerged "hogback" about 10-16 feet down with a sharp dropoff on either side and it's a safe bet he'll spend the day over it reeling in lunker bass.

A native of Haskell County, Tex., Brewer comes by his physical stamina honestly. A pretty fair country athlete as a youth, he maintained an active interest in sports until a few years ago when he had to bench himself as manager of a church softball team and found he couldn't bear just to sit and watch the action.

Before his self imposed retirement from the softball field, he served as athletic director for his church for six years, a period when his teams never failed to finish lower than fourth.

Unlike many anglers, he didn't start fishing seriously until about 21 years old but he's made up for the lost time since—at least in the size and number of fish caught.

Owning and operating a service station at 11th and Holliday doesn't leave him as much time to fish as he'd like but Brewer usually manages to get in about two days a week on a lake "during the season."

No Records Claimed

While Brewer can't claim any record-breaking bass from his piscatorial pursuits, he can boast of having strung up about as many six pounders as any man hereabouts—most of which he took last summer at Lake Graham.

Brewer believes this is the best fishing lake in the entire area at present and available statistics bear him out. Just how long this lake will continue to produce at its present rate is another question but until it slows down, it's a safe bet Brewer can be found bobbing about its surface any summer weekend.

Turkeys Are A Problem

By CARROLL COPELIN

There's talk over in a neighborhood near Midwestern University these days of the male homeowners getting up a posse and conducting a door-to-door search of the area for a character which has had the women and kids—not to mention the men—in an uproar for over a week.

The culprit is a wild turkey—or turkeys—that appeared minutes after the city's deadly tornado had passed a week ago last Friday. Since then, however, the same turkey (a bare-breasted hen) has been seen in the Southmoor area and three turkeys were discovered in the backyard shrubbery of a home on Kessler.

Names of witnesses who saw these big birds will not be mentioned here since they're already been ridiculed by friends and neighbors enough. On a few occasions, even their sobriety has been subject to question.

One, however, has the foresight to snap a bunch of pictures of the bare-breasted hen perched on top of a house. Only trouble is, the pictures aren't back from the processors yet. When they arrive, his problems will be solved.

Now a wild turkey suddenly appearing in the middle of town is unusual enough but a bare-breasted one is even worse—especially since this isn't the moulting season. It's time for the turkey hens to start nesting and game wardens here say the birds will range far and wide in search of suitable nesting surroundings.

The closest flock of wild turkeys hereabouts is a small group near Iowa Park. How they suddenly got to Wichita Falls, roughly 15 miles distant, is a real puzzler. The tornado couldn't have been responsible since here and the twister moved across the city from southwest to northeast, completely missing Iowa Park.

A check last week with the county agency's office failed to find anyone who is raising wild turkeys in the area. The blamed things just don't have any excuse for being inside the city. This word of warning, however, for frustrated hunters who might be tempted to fill their freezer with the king-sized traveling drumsticks:

There's a hunting season on this big birds and it ain't now.

Normally, Fat Weakley, owner of the Rocking W Fishing Barge on Lake Wichita is a pretty nice sort and talking with him is a pleasure but last Thursday it just wasn't so.

Not that Fat was impolite or anything like that. It was just that he was standing inside his big barge watching anglers pull out some real nice size crappie which were biting at a depth of about five feet.

Every time one would be hauled out, Fat would interrupt the conversation with, "Hey, there's one that will go about two pounds!" or "Wow, look at that sonofagun bend that rod!"

Now, statements like that to a guy chained inside to the desk just aren't designed to make things friendly and Fat knows it better than most. Could be though, Weakley was just being a good winner for "nice size crappie had been biting all week at the tiny municipal lake."

At any rate, the conversation got me to join the stampede.

Wichitan Just Drives, To, From And On The Lake He's Fishing

Creating problems is nothing new for Melvin Evans Wichita Falls businessman, but he's outdone himself this time with the purchase of an Amphicar—a little West German mechanical marvel that doubles as a sports car and inboard motorboat.

Evans first saw his new love at the Los Angeles Boat Show and purchased it on sight—the first one sold at the show, incidentally. Since the Amphicar arrived here the first part of last month, Evans and his boat, er—car, have been creating one problem after another.

For instance, the question of how the thing was to be licensed caused a small furor in the county tax office. Should it be considered a boat and licensed for three years at $1 or pay the regular annual license fee for an auto.

Tax Problem Solved
Evans solved the tax department's dilemma by registering his "thing" as both car and boat.

Then, there was the question of insurance. Under state law, an automobile must carry a minimum amount of insurance. Evans was more than agreeable to this but wanted his pet covered when it was in the water as well, and anyone knows you just don't put the family car in a lake unless you're ready to junk it.

To get around this, Evans shas had to buy two different types of insurance policies—one for a car and another, and more expensive, for an inboard motorboat.

A Dim View
With these two problems solved, the Wichitan can drive the "Belle of Wichita"—named after a flour made here during the city's early years—anywhere and anytime but Evans has found police officers take a dim view of his jaunts around the area because of the traffic hazards he creates. Let him stop for a traffic light and almost immediately, a minor traffic jam is formed as pedestrians and motorists forget about everything but getting a closer look at the little mechanical marvel.

After all, it's not every day you'll see a twin screw, inboard sports car on the streets. Wichitans aren't the only ones fascinated by Evans' vehicle for movie star John Wayne showed up at the Los Angeles Boat Show to crawl all over the "Belle" the day after Evans had bought it.

Publicity For Business
What's a businessman need with something as unique as the Amphicar? Evans figures it is the best promotional scheme he could find for his A&W root beer franchise here. Painted with advertising—and remarks like "Don't Laugh, Your Car Can't Swim"—the Amphicar will be kept at Evans' drive-in located at 35th and Holliday, at least when the new wears off for Evans and his friends.

Thus far, Evans has given "boat rides" to about 200 persons at lakes Kickapoo, Wichita, Nocona and Possum Kingdom. He's even managed to get in some fishing from his unique craft.

Admitting his Amphicar isn't the fastest thing afloat—it can cruise in the water at from 10-12 miles an hour—Evans vows it's great for trolling. "I don't have to mess with getting a boat launched and then unloading all my tackle from the car," he explains as he merely drives his vehicle down a launching ramp, engages the twin propellers and chugs happily off.

Good Mileage
Powered by a 45-horsepower motor from an English sports car, the "thing" can cruise along the highway at about 70 miles an hour and get up to 35 miles per gallon of gasoline. In the water, the front wheels serve as a rudder and the "Belle" can run for about an hour and a half on a gallon of gas.

Needless to say, Evans' craft

Houston Youngster Shifted To Farm

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Chris Zachary, 19, Houston pitcher, said Friday he has been farmed temporarily to San Antonio of the Texas League.

"They feel I'm not in condition to work as a starting pitcher," Zachary told the Knoxville News-Sentinel from Houston's Cocoa Beach, Fla., training camp.

Houston Manager Harry Craft has said he is counting on Zachary as the Colts' fifth starting pitcher—after he rounds into shape.

Colt .45s Cut Roster to 28; Set For Opener

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Colts trimmed their roster to a 28-player limit Saturday by sending pitchers Larry Bohannon, Chuck Taylor, Jim Ray and Chris Zachary to the minor leagues.

Righthander Chuck Taylor remains on the Oklahoma City roster. Ray and Zachary have been optioned to Houston's San Antonio farm club, and Bohannon has been assigned out-right to the Oklahoma City 8ers.

The Colt 28-man opening day roster includes 11 pitchers, 3 catchers, 7 infielders and 7 outfielders. Eight of the 28 are rookies.

The roster:
Pitchers — Hal Brown, Bob Bruce, Dick Farrell, Dave Gustin, Ken Johnson, Joe Hoerner, Don Nottbart, Jim Owens, Claude Raymond, Hal Woodeshick and Larry Yellen.

Catchers — John Bateman, Jerry Grote and John Hoffman. Hoffman will count on the 28-man roster, but he will not be with the club as he will be the designated first year player on top to Oklahoma City.

Infielders — Bob Aspromonte, Nellie Fox, Eddie Kasko, Bob Lillis, Pete Runnels, Mike White and Steve Hertz.

Outfielders — Jim Beauchamp, Walter Bond, Al Spangler, Rusty Staub, Johnny Weekly, Walt Williams and Jim Wynn.

A Revolutionary New Tire That Rolls with the Punch!

Sears New ALLSTATE SUPER TRED

At Last—A Tire That Doesn't Take a Beating Every Time It Punches into a Road Hazard... This Supertred Has a Contour Safety Shoulder That Rolls Over Road Hazards

We proudly announce a revolutionary new concept of driver safety... the patented contour safety shoulder. Its rounded sides roll up and over pavement shoulders, tracks, ridges and other road hazards. You get more control at high speeds or when you must swerve off the road. Gone are the violent jolts and back end whip of sudden road impacts.

Contour Safety Shoulder

... designed to revolutionize safe driving
The contour shoulder is designed like the tire itself—rounded, so that it goes up and over road hazards, rather than straight into them.

Patented Interlocking Tread

... wall-to-wall traction as never before
Thousands of traction edges act like vise-jaws locking onto the road in all directions. Tread is wider and deeper than original equipment tires.

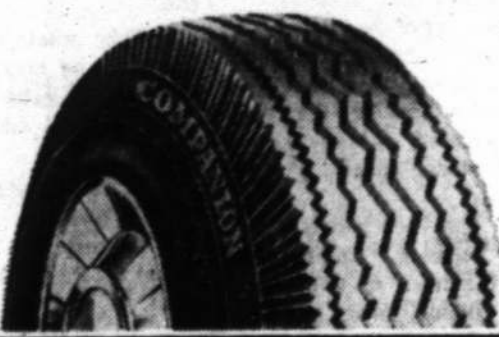

Patented Silencer Buttons

... spread the tread to reduce squeals
These buttons force the ribs apart to reduce squeal vibrations. Separated ribs also add traction during skids, turns, and swerves.

ALLSTATE Passenger Tire Guarantee

TREAD LIFE GUARANTEE
Every ALLSTATE tire is guaranteed against all failures from road hazards or defects for the life of the original tread. If tire fails, we will at our option—repair it without cost; or in exchange for the tire, we will replace it charging only for tread wear (charge will be a pro-rata share of exchange price).

TREAD WEAR GUARANTEE
Tread life guaranteed for the number of months stated. If tread wears out in this period, return it. In exchange, we will replace it, charging the current exchange price less set dollar allowance.
*Exchange Price is regular retail, plus tax. Excludes Tax less trade-in at time of return (no trade-in deduction on snow tires).

Midland Bank May Sue For Charter

AUSTIN (AP) — A possible court test of the State Banking Board's March 5 rejection of a charter application for the proposed Texas Bank and Trust Co. of Midland is in sight.

The board refused Friday to reconsider the decision, taken the same day it approved the establishment of the First State Bank in Midland.

The Texas Bank and Trust Co., represented by Austin attorney Frank Denius, argued the board's approval of First State Bank showed it recognized the need for a new Midland bank. Since Texas Bank and Trust filed its application first, Denius argued in a brief, its application should have been approved.

Denius, calling the decision "arbitrary and capricious," said there was "not one scintilla of evidence which would support" the charter denial.

Welfare Chicks Are Quarrelsome

MUZZANO, Italy (AP) — There's a chicken welfare state up here where the hens are real eggheads. They wear glasses and prefer Beethoven to the Beatles.

The hens are easily bored, sensitive and quarrelsome. But the eggs they lay are beautiful—uniformly large and with more yolk than white.

Kid Circus Aids Earthquake Fund

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — The letter contained $4.65, proceeds from a circus given by pupils of the Jefferson Elementary School in Carlsbad, Calif.

"We were glad to do this for you and hope you are well. We put five weeks practice into our acts. We hope this will help. Yours truly, Karen, Mike, Jeff, Mary and Terri."

The Red Cross said Friday the money would be used to help earthquake victims.

Cotton Production Proposal Rejected

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Latin American cotton producing nations have agreed to reject a cotton production program to be proposed by 13 European countries at next month's International Cotton Council meeting in West Germany.

The rejection stand was agreed at a meeting held here of Nicaragua, Guatemala, El Salvador, Costa Rica, Mexico, Brazil, Argentina and Peru.

The Latin American opposition to the Rotterdam Plan was first made by Mexico's delegate Julian Saez Hinojosa at an International Cotton Advisory Committee meeting held recently in Washington.

Hinojosa had proposed and it was agreed that the one per cent deduction must be above the present price of raw cotton.

Peanut Support Prices Unchanged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department set the support price of peanuts Friday at no less than $244 a ton, which is unchanged from last year.

The minimum support by types include: Virginia $236.86 a ton; Valencia, suitable for roasting, $236.86; spanish, in southeastern producing area, $228.98; spanish, in southwestern area, $219.70; runner, $221.24.

Valencia types other than those suitable for roasting will be supported the same as Spanish peanuts grown in that area.

Peanuts are grown from Virginia south into Florida and in the southwestern states extending into Texas and New Mexico.

Economist Deflates His Own Profession

By J. A. LIVINGSTON

In "Confessions of a Central Banker," a mature philosophic lecture at the University of Missouri, Karl R. Bopp, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia, deflated his own profession, economics.

He noted that a former president of the American Economic Association and a winner of the John Bates Clark Medal of the association warned the House Banking and Currency Committee not to take the advice he expected another Clark Medalist to give. And, said Bopp, Clark Medalist No. 1 anticipated correctly what Medalist No. 2 said.

From that, Bopp concluded: "It is frequently easier to predict what an economist will say than how the economy will function."

He then proceeded to deflate himself. Twenty years ago he took to task Sir John Clapham, economic historian who defended the policies of the Bank of England in the early 1800's, with the comment: "It obviously is unreasonable to judge policies of, say 1839, by standards that would be applied to current policies; but it is unreasonable to judge them with reference to the best thought that had been developed by 1839."

President Proposes

Dr. Bopp exposed the flaw in his own reasoning: What was the best economic thought in the 1830's? How could he, Bopp, be sure he was better informed than Clapham?

Cotton Futures Break Sharply

NEW YORK (AP) — New York cotton futures prices broke sharply this week. One contract, distant July, closed $8.75 a bale lower. The decline was the biggest since early October 1955.

Prices nosedived Thursday, with some contracts dropping the limit of $10 a bale, after Congress passed a new cotton-wheat bill. A modest recovery set in late Thursday and continued Friday.

Removal of uncertainties as to exactly how the new legislation will be applied awaited issuance of regulations by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. But the trade expects one effect to be a major reduction in cost of the fiber to domestic mills trying to meet stiff foreign competition.

One dealer said spot prices might drop four cents or more a pound. At the close Friday, the July 1965 futures stood at 28.15 cents a pound.

The nearby May delivery escaped effects of the setback and closed 75 cents a bale higher. All other contracts were sharply lower.

The far-reaching farm legislation, which was sent to the White House for President Johnson's signature, affects subsidy payments to growers, mills and exporters, among other things.

Exports of cotton last week amounted to 72,000 bales compared with 87,000 in the preceding week and 85,000 a year earlier.

Texas Wheat Up 50 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas will harvest 61,185,000 bushels of wheat this year, up 50 per cent from last season, the Agriculture Department predicts.

The department's projected figure Friday compares with 40,618,000 bushels produced in 1963.

The national wheat crop is expected to hit 1,010,679,000 bushels, a 12 per cent increase over last season.

The Texas acreage this year is estimated at 4,079,000, compared with 3,848,000 last year.

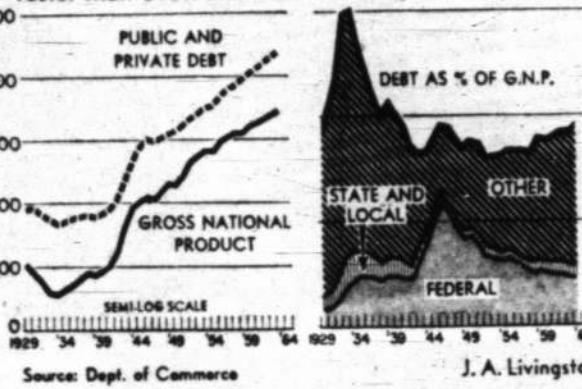

The Texas orange harvest is predicted to reach 230,000 boxes. Last year 160,000 boxes were harvested.

The state grapefruit forecast was for 480,000 boxes, up 80,000 from 1963.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

MORE DEBT, LESS ZING

Since 1950, public and private indebtedness has risen faster than Gross National Product (total output).

So, in an era of oozing confidence, we would do well to exercise similar humility in judging our policies, assurances and assumptions.

Will historians say of President Lyndon B. Johnson and Walter W. Heller, his chief economic adviser, that their policies represented the best American economic thought of the nineteen sixties? Events will decide, not speeches, comments or press conferences.

Prosperity, continued prosperity, is the dominant touchstone of Presidential thought. Our balance of payments is in good shape. The business outlook is expansive. Mr. Johnson feels this will help the Democrats in November.

The President has counseled against tight money, against a hardening of interest rates. This empties the economic arsenal of the Federal Reserve Board. And the President doesn't want inflation. So, he counsels labor leaders to heed the wage guidelines set forth in his Economic Report.

But imagine Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, saying to his workers in this year of bumper-to-bumper auto production and profits: "Look, fellows, President Johnson thinks it would be nice if we went easy on wages." That would not win many votes for Johnson. Just "Oh, Yeahs!"

The President's easy-money policy also has opponents. Roy L. Reiersen, vice president and chief economist at the Bankers Trust Co., New York, warns the Federal Reserve not to overstay inflationary tendencies; it's time to pull on the reins—prevent prosperity from getting out of hand.

What Is Best?

The best and highest economic thought of today will be judged by what happens in 1965 and 1966, not on how buoyantly the stock market and industrial production roar into November and bring out Democratic votes. Will we have a bust or a long recession?

A bland assumption of expansionist economists is that debt is a propulsive force. Properly used, it multiplies production and jobs. If the growth in the economy exceeds the growth in debt, then obviously the increase in debt is supportable.

But if the 1951-63 trends in debt and growth persist, future historians may well wonder: Did American policy makers exercise the best economic thought of the time?

Increases in debt have not "reproduced themselves." In 1951, the total debt in the United States was $24 billion. It has since increased 110 per cent to $11.90 billion. In the same period, the Gross National Product rose 80 per cent from $330 billion to nearly $600 billion. So debt rose relatively faster than goods and services. (See chart.)

Variance

By far the biggest percentage increase in debt since 1951 was in mortgages, up 250 per cent, followed by consumer debt, up 200 per cent. The increase government debt was moderate—only 42 per cent. And this was primarily because of increases in state and local debt. Government debt is now exceeded by corporate debt—$372 and $343 billions.

The rise in consumer debt raises another bit of "economic thought." Once the notion went around that when consumer debt reached 10 per cent of personal income, that was high enough. Then the best economic thought raised the figure to 12 per cent. When it got to 13 per cent in 1960, horrors!

But now for nine consecutive months it has been above 14 per cent. In February it was 14.4 per cent. In this world, things move so fast that the best economic thought doesn't last long. How fortunate! If it lasted too long, it might be dangerous.

Bank Employee Has Shortage

FAIRFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A Baptist clergyman has been charged with embezzling $15,000 from the bank at which he worked and examiners are trying to track down a $972,371 discrepancy in the institution's books.

Lee Brown, a $6,000-a-year cashier-bookkeeper, was arraigned Thursday before a U.S. commissioner.

The president of Fairfield National Bank, D. L. Garrison, said Brown, 29, had dropped a note in the night depository saying he had tampered with the books for the last seven years. He has been an employee there for 10 years.

Garrison said he found the note after routinely asking Brown to bring the books up to date. After leaving the note, Brown entered a hospital with what doctors called a mild breakdown.

Brown had been active in this small farming community's Junior Chamber of Commerce, Young Republicans organization and men's clubs. He was ordained during the period he was employed at the bank and preached from time to time in a rural church.

Recently, Brown built a $30,000 home in the country, where he kept about a dozen race horses and registered cattle and dogs. Brown has two children and his wife is expecting their third.

Johnson Postpones Walkout 15 Days

By ROGER LANE

NEW YORK (AP) — The 38-month upswing in the nation's economy was imperiled this week by sudden renewal of a railroad strike threat.

The threatened walkout was postponed 15 days in a dramatic announcement by President Johnson about 75 minutes before it was to start at 12:01 a.m. Friday.

If it had materialized, disrupting effects swiftly would have halted humming automobile assembly lines, shut down coal mines, crippled some major steel and chemical operations and otherwise braked the economy's brisk pace.

The latest crisis was another chapter in a dispute between unions and railroad management that began in November, 1959, over employee work rules.

Service Restored

It was triggered by a pre-dawn strike Wednesday by 7,200 members of four railroad brotherhoods against the Illinois Central Railroad. White House spokesmen called for prompt restoration of service on the Illinois Central.

The world of business and finance was jolted by two other events this week — government charges of a price-fixing conspiracy from 1955 to 1961 against eight leading steel companies, and a clampdown by federal regulators on the New York Stock Exchange.

But there were also some important pluses.

Steel production, continuing a strong climb, reached a rate of 125 million tons a year.

Credit Surge

The Federal Reserve Board reported a surge in credit buying of consumer goods in February. Consumer credit outstanding jumped $579 million, the biggest gain in four years. Anticipation of tax cut effects on take-home pay, and a consequent raising of purchasing sights, was credited.

The price-fixing indictment by a federal grand jury in New York City was the most far-reaching of the seven antitrust indictments leveled at major segments of the steel industry in the last two years.

It alleged that U.S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Co. and six other large producers joined in secret hotel room meetings to rig charges for "extras" in sale of carbon steel sheets.

Claim Harassment

Five of the companies issued quick denials, and some promised a vigorous defense against the charges. Edmund F. Martin, vice chairman of second-ranking Bethlehem, said the allegations dealt with "ancient history" and represented government harassment.

Sales of carbon steel sheet ran $3.6 billion last year, accounting for 31 per cent of industry tonnage and 26 per cent of over-all billings of $14 billion. Extras account for about one sixth of the total sales price of sheets, used in auto bodies, household appliances and similar products.

The restrictions affecting the New York Stock Exchange were announced by the Securities and Exchange Commission. They apply to floor trading, direct buying and selling of stocks by an exchange member for his own benefit.

Rigid Curbs

Rigid curbs were proposed by the SEC on floor trading effective July 1. They were accepted by the stock exchange after exchange officials at first bristled over the severity of the SEC plan, which was relaxed slightly.

The SEC has contended that floor traders benefited from privileges denied the public generally, and their practices represented a vestige of the "private club" days of the stock exchange.

The SEC's stern stand apparently foreshadowed imposition of tightened restrictions on other phases of exchange activity in an outgrowth of the recent investigation of security market practices conducted under SEC auspices.

Favorable Balance

Newly issued international trade figures tended to support President Johnson's hint of possible stabilization — temporarily — of the U.S. international payments imbalance. Outgo exceeded income by $3.3 billion last year.

The new government statistics, covering the three months ended Feb. 29, indicated a favorable trade balance at an annual rate of $7.01 billion annually, as against $5.1 billion a year earlier. Widening the country's excess of merchandise exports over imports is the leading hope for achieving stability in the larger area of payments between nations for all purposes.

The government won significant victories in Supreme Court decisions ordering dissolution of a 1961 merger of two banks in Lexington, Ky., and divestiture by El Paso Natural Gas Co. of Pacific Northwest Pipeline Co., acquired in 1959.

NEAR SAN MARCOS Base Sought For Dropout School

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally instructed the Texas education agency Friday to seek title to now inactive Camp Gary Air Force Base, near San Marcos, for a vocational training center.

Connally also asked the agency to:

1. Apply to the U. S. Commissioner of education for establishment of a residential vocational education school on the site.
2. Take whatever further action may be necessary to have the school established, under the vocational education act of 1963.

The Governor's instructions were a formality to bring Texas' interest in acquiring the school before the federal government.

Request

State education commissioner J. W. Edgar wrote the U. S. commissioner of education, Francis Keppel, in February requesting that one of the five $4.2 million schools authorized by the act be set up in Texas at the Camp Gary site.

Several other Texas cities, including Marshall, have shown an interest in getting the school in their areas. M. A. Browning, assistant state education commissioner, said recently.

He said a Rio Grande Valley city, which he did not identify, was indicated it would like to have the school.

Local applications may go direction to the U. S. Education commissioner without approval by the state board of education, he said.

In Southwest

The state board authorized Edgar to write the letter asking for the school to be located at Camp Gary. The vocational education act simply provides for a school in the "Spanish-speaking southwest."

The Texas education agency has nearly completed a feasibility study of the Camp Gary site, which will be sent to Keppel.

An agency official said Camp Gary was the agency's choice because it is centrally located and has ample existing facilities.

San Marcos is within 150 miles of several Texas cities. One of the conditions of the vocational act was that schools be located reasonably close to metropolitan areas having significant numbers of high school dropouts.

Researchers Say Filters 'Safer'

Special Tips Given Smokers

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
CHICAGO. (AP)—Cancer researchers came up with a wee bit of comforting news for cigarette smokers Saturday.

And they offered some tips for making cigarettes still "safer."

A majority of American filter tip cigarettes now contain less "cancer-inducing properties" than cigarettes formerly did, said Drs. Ernest L. Wynder and Dietrich Hoffman of Sloan-Kettering Institute, New York City.

In fact, the person smoking a filtered cigarette is exposed on the average to about half as much "tar" and nicotine as the smoker of a regular cigarette ten years ago, they said.

Less Tar

And there is less of the cancer-inducing materials in the remaining tar, if the tobacco has been homogenized, and air-cured rather than flue-cured and sun-cured, they added.

As for tips for further improvement:

A moistened filter is more effective than a dry one in protecting the cilia, the fine hair-like projections on linings of bronchial tubes. Destruction of cilia is thought by some experts to be a first step toward inducing lung cancer.

They discovered this in drawing smoke through water in the manner of a Turkish pipe.

Needs Moisture
For smoking without need of carrying a glass of water, a filter tip might be developed which becomes moist with the first puff of smoke through it, Dr. Wynder said.

Drawing smoke through compressed charcoal cut down on the cilia-injuring gases more than drawing it through a filter of granulated activated charcoal, the researchers found.

All this evidence is based on chemical analyses and tests with laboratory animals, they told the American Association for Cancer Research.

Whether the changes in tobacco and filters would really reduce lung cancer could be learned only by keeping track of the health of smokers, they said.

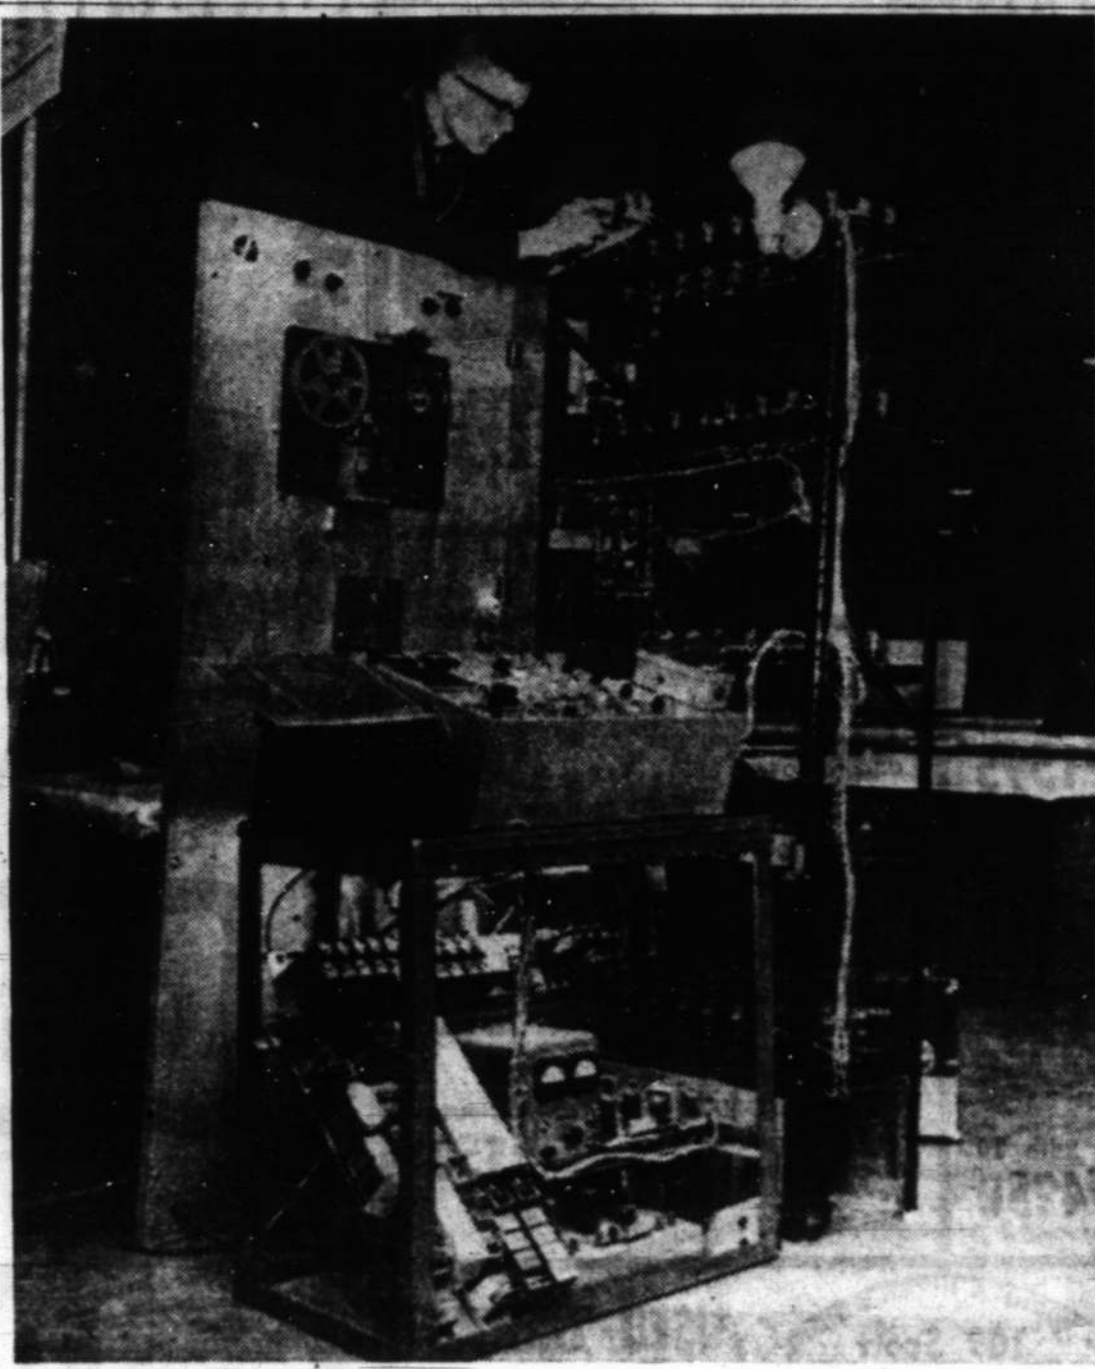

Some Impractical

Dr. Wynder, one of the first researchers to point to an association between cigarettes and lung cancer, allowed that some of the findings might not be easily practicable.

He said he felt "it is our job to set up principles of how to produce less hazardous cigarettes. The only way to cut out the risk is not to smoke at all. But I fear many people will continue to smoke."

"No single agent in cigarettes is responsible for the hazards," Dr. Wynder said. "A multiple approach is the key to making them less hazardous."

The more completely that tobacco burns, the less cancer inducing effect there is from the tars, Dr. Wynder said. Homogenization of tobacco helps.

Clay Democrat Meeting Slated

HENRIETTA, Tex. (Special)—Clay County Democrats were issued an invitation this week to attend a covered dish dinner Tuesday, April 14, at 7:30 p.m., at the American Legion Hut in Henrietta.

The announcement came from Mrs. Claude Symons of Henrietta, chairman of the Clay County Women's Democratic Club, which is sponsoring the event.

Guest speaker will be Randall Jackson of Abilene, speaker bureau chief for the State Democratic Executive Committee, and a member of the state committee.

Other special activities for the evening include the presentation of a charter to the local club.

Special guests will include area candidates, their families, and members of the Montague, Archer and Wichita Democratic Clubs.

Other officers of the Clay County club are Mrs. Macon Boddy, vice chairman; Mrs. L. D. Prewitt, secretary; and Mrs. Chesley Russell, treasurer.

Boat Race, Beauty Event At Graham

GRAHAM, Tex. (Special)—National outdoor motor boat races will be held at Lake Graham, Sunday, June 7, according to members of the Chamber of Commerce sports and recreation committee. A beauty contest the same afternoon will crown the winner "Miss Lake Graham."

Bobby Wilson was named general chairman of events. Bob Morrison Jr. will be in charge of programs; Walter Oliver, gate committee; and Joe Montgomery and Joe McKinley, will serve as co-chairmen of the concessions.

Approximately 100 entries in the races are expected, according to Wilson.

Altus Soldier Is In Exercise

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Hawaii—Army Pvt. Stuart J. Ciccone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Ciccone of Altus, Okla., and other members of the 25th Infantry Division are participating in Exercise High Top IV, an Army-Navy-Air Force field training maneuver on the island of Hawaii.

Ciccone, a surveyor in the 25th Infantry Division Artillery at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, entered the Army in September 1963 and completed basic combat training at Fort Polk, La.

The 17-year-old soldier attended Altus High School.

Miss Martini reported to Seattle for duty Easter Sunday. The tornado struck Wichita Falls Friday, April 3—one week almost to the hour from the earthquake and tidal waves which ravaged Alaska.

Hoffa Plot To Assassinate Robert Kennedy Disclosed

By BILL RAWLINS
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Court records showed Saturday that a mysterious "assassination plot" mentioned during James R. Hoffa's jury-tampering trial involved an alleged threat to kill Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Chief Prosecutor James Neal, in a secret session of court Feb. 6, said the government's chief witness "reported (to the FBI) a threat by James Hoffa to kill the attorney general." Neal said he personally knew nothing about it.

At the time, it was revealed Saturday, U.S. Dist. Judge Frank Wilson ruled that the witness—Teamsters Union official Edward G. Partin of Baton Rouge, La.—could not be cross-examined in connection with the alleged threat, because it was not relevant to the trial.

Teamster Testifies

Partin was secretary and business agent of the Baton Rouge local and the government's key witness in the Chattanooga trial. Testimony by Partin linked Hoffa to tampering efforts.

When the cryptic reference to the assassination plot came before the jury—without elaboration—on Feb. 28, Teamsters President Hoffa angrily told newsmen, "I deny it, it's a lie and it never happened."

Hoffa and three others were convicted March 4 of trying to fix a federal court jury. They are free on bond pending appeal of prison sentences.

When it came up in court, there was no explanation of the assassination plot except for assurance that it did not involve the death of the late President John F. Kennedy, the attorney general's brother.

Transcript Sealed

The transcript of the secret session in which Neal mentioned the threat against Robert Kennedy's life was ordered sealed at the time. It became public during the past week when Judge Wilson filed a memorandum explaining why he had denied a new trial to Hoffa and the others convicted.

In Chicago, where he goes on trial April 27 on a charge of missing $20 million in union pension funds, Hoffa accused both the government and Judge Wilson of seeking to prejudice that case.

"I think the federal government knows full well they have prejudiced the defendants' opportunity of getting a fair trial in Chicago by the publication of this secret hearing. This will just be more inflammatory matter, adding more fuel to the fire, by the attorney general and the court releasing this most prejudicial and unfair statement. I can't understand why a court would do such a thing."

Denies Report

Hoffa again repeated his earlier contention that the report of the alleged threat was false.

On page 17 of the 40-page memorandum, the judge made this reference: "In order to avoid prejudice to any defendant, cross-examination of the witness (Partin) before the jury about an alleged threat by Hoffa to kill the attorney general, a matter unrelated to the issues of the lawsuit, was denied."

The secret session was requested by Neal, who explained

Caseworker Loses Quarters Here While On Alaskan Duty

The evening before Easter, Judy Martini, a Red Cross caseworker at Sheppard Air Force Base Hospital in Wichita Falls, wondered what she might wear to church in the morning.

But it turned out she didn't get to church at all; she was assigned that night to Seattle's Red Cross communications headquarters for the Alaskan earthquake disaster and asked to fly there early Sunday morning.

A week later, Judy herself was a disaster victim. Her base quarters were damaged in the April 3 Wichita Falls tornado—and she wondered in Seattle if she had any clothes left in Wichita Falls.

She knows now that her belongings were packed in boxes by co-workers when the damaged quarters were evacuated. But until she gets back to look them over she'll keep her attention on the job at hand in Seattle—helping process the nearly 65,000 welfare inquiries about Alaskans which have poured into the Seattle—King County Red Cross Chapter from all parts of the nation.

The past two weeks have included been eventful for the young hospital worker from Boulder, Colo.

Legion District Event Under Way

CHILDRESS, Tex. (Special)—Election of new officers will highlight the Sunday afternoon session of the annual spring convention of the 18th District of the American Legion and its auxiliary here.

Children's Cox - Furr Post is host to the event, headquartered at the Hotel Childress.

The meeting started Saturday afternoon with both groups guests at a banquet. Mayor C. J. Lyons gave the welcome.

Jack W. Flynt is district commander and Mrs. Grant Hanna is president of the auxiliary.

Sudan, Morocco and Tunisia won their independence in 1956.

WELCOME, "BIG JIM"

We at Bill Waites Ford are happy to have "Big Jim" Davis with us... and rightly so.

During his 16 years as a professional Ford salesman, Big Jim has acquired literally hundreds of loyal friends and customers by giving thoughtful, faithful service. Because of this, he has achieved membership in Ford's exclusive "500" Club for the last 13 years and is holder of the coveted Ford Medallion award. We're mighty glad to have Big Jim Davis on our team. Come see him.

Title Declined By Macmillan

LONDON (AP) — Buckingham Palace said today former Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has declined an offer of an earldom from Queen Elizabeth II.

Elevation to the peerage is a traditional reward for a retiring prime minister, but of the last three only Anthony Eden—now Lord Avon—has accepted the honor.

Sir Winston Churchill, Eden's predecessor, rejected a peerage in favor of retaining his seat in the House of Commons.

Macmillan, 70, resigned as prime minister in October and is giving up his seat in the House of Commons after the fall election.

The royal offer to Macmillan included membership in the exclusive Order of the Garter, but he turned that down, too. The Garter is the most ancient and coveted of the European royal orders of chivalry.

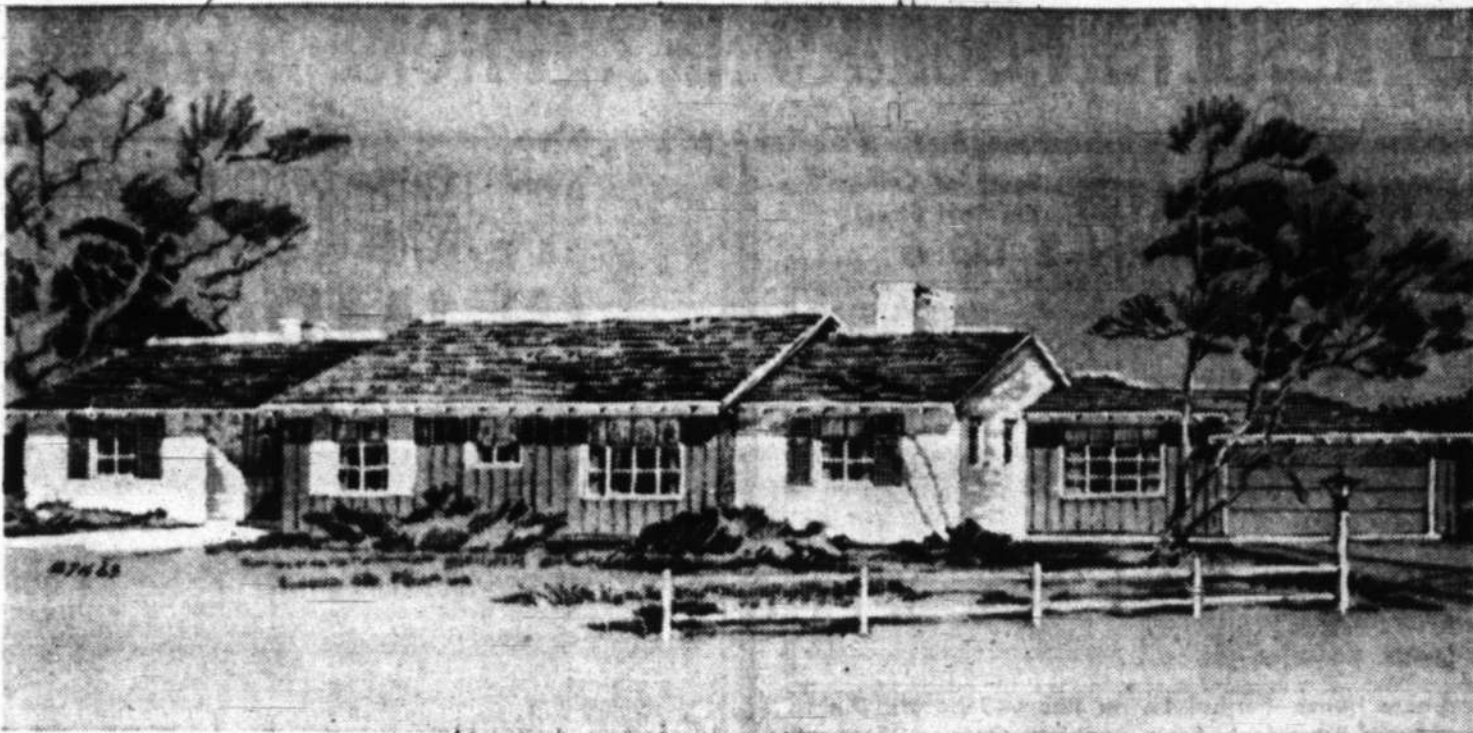

Macmillan's reasons for declining the honors were not immediately made clear and a palace spokesman—while confirming his refusal of them—would make no further comment.

Macmillan and his wife are on holiday in Ireland.

New Power Plant For Mexico Due

RIO BRAVO, Mexico (AP)—A new $16 million power plant being built in this northern Mexico town is expected to be in operation within four months.

The plant will supply electric power to Rio Bravo, Reynosa, Camargo, Miguel Aleman, Nuevo Laredo and other area towns. At present, most of the area is being served by Central Power and Light Co. of Texas.

position which opens April 22, 1964. Local builders in 241 communities throughout the country are offered the choice of these five different exterior designs for erection in the home community.

Dr. Travis White To Make Address

HOUSTON (AP)—The annual assembly of the Texas Association of Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) opens Thursday. More than 3,500 are expected.

The sessions close with an ecumenical service April 19. Dr. Travis White, president of Midwestern University at Wichita Falls, will make the keynote presidential address Thursday night.

White, completing his second term as head of the association, will guide all sessions of the assembly, which is expected to authorize the largest fund-raising program of the Christian churches—a $5,365,000 capital funds campaign.

The 1,200 official delegates from 500 Texas Christian churches will be asked to approve in addition to the capital funds program, a 1964-65 record operating budget of $345,248 for the association, and consider several revisions to the group's constitution and by-laws adopted last May.

World Fair Home To Be Built Here

A Ranch style version of the Formica Corp.'s World's Fair House selected for Wichita Falls by builder Gene Stephens will serve as a "showcase" for latest design concepts incorporating new and established building products, as well as trends in home decoration and furnishing.

Mort Harvey, district sales manager for Formica, said that while builders will make "certain creative adaptations" appropriate to local areas, each of the World's Fair homes will be "very like" the exhibit house on the New York World's Fair grounds.

Furnishings for Stephens' World's Fair entry, to open in mid-June, will be by Texas Furniture Co. of Wichita Falls, and Texas Electric Service Co. will participate in the related total electric Gold Medallion promotion as part of the Edison Electric Institute's Live Better Electrically program, said Claude Whitley, sales representatives for TESCO.

Harvey said Stephens will join other "most distinguished" builders in the Dallas district in the World's Fair promotion, including three in Dallas and others in Fort Worth, Hurst, Waco, Abilene and Tyler.

"We are delighted to obtain their participation along with more than 250 reputable builders across the country," said Harvey.

Currently president of the Home Builders Assn. of Wichita Falls, Stephens has built some 600 homes since entering the building field in 1946. His more recent homes have been custom designs mostly valued above $20,000.

Stephens also is one of the owners and developers of Colonial Park Addition, where his Ranch style version of the World's Fair House is located. A graduate of Wichita Falls High School, he received his degree in business administration from the University of Oklahoma in 1941. He spent five years in the U.S. Air Force during World War II, then entered the home building field upon discharge.

Stephens' Ranch style World's Fair version was adapted to a pie-shaped corner lot with two 120-foot fronts at 4518 Martineau. The subdivision is also convenient to both Fain and Ben Franklin Elementary Schools, Barwise Junior High and Rider High School.

Stephens said he has made only slight modifications in Formica's Ranch design to add a fourth bedroom and a third full bath.

"I have followed plans provided fairly closely, inasmuch as the World's Fair House is a generous house—generous in its size and in the way of life its design and features make possible," says Stephens. "It affords great measures of privacy, a true luxury of our time, and it incorporates the family room concept and ease of access to outdoor areas."

His four-bedroom, three-bath home, valued at $45,000, will have 2,900 square feet of air-conditioned area, featuring a large family room, separate living room and all-electric kitchen. Ease of access is accentuated by an entry near the double garage and adjoining utility room, and a more formal entry which highlights sky domes and closets along one wall. There is also a covered patio.

Underwater Tests Being Conducted

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP)—A man-made "turtle" may provide the information necessary to allow man to live in communities deep in the sea.

That's the hope at Lockheed Missiles & Space Co., where a lens-shaped underwater vehicle called the "turtle" by its designer, Dr. Willy Fiedler, is undergoing tank tests.

"Settlements beneath the sea are not improbable," said Fiedler, "but before any such steps can be taken, we must investigate the potentialities and explore the unknown regions."

Such exploration has been impossible in the past because of the lack of a versatile underwater vehicle, said Fiedler, who helped develop the Navy's submarine-launched Polaris missile.

Novel Accident Excuses Given

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP)—"A truck backed through my windshield into my wife's face."

"A pedestrian hit me and went under my car."

These were some of the replies the British Columbia Automobile Association said Thursday it had received to a survey of reasons drivers gave insurance companies regarding their accidents.

Replies included:

"She suddenly saw me, lost her head—and we met."

"Coming home I drove into the wrong house and collided with a tree I haven't got."

"I consider that neither of us was to blame but if either was to blame it was the other one."

"I collided with a stationary bus coming the other way."

Churches Of Christ Aid Storm Victims

Local Churches of Christ contributed a total of $2,900 toward a relief fund for tornado victims. Area churches and individuals from as far away as California have sent in more than $600. Other area Churches of Christ have contributed clothing, bed linens and other items.

The Church of Christ at Tenth & Broad will be open each day next week from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. to distribute clothing, free of charge, to families who were victims of the tornado disaster.

Rep. Kilgore Says Reds 'Oil Hungry'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Joe M. Kilgore, D-Tex., says it is apparent that Russia is "pushing hard to grab the world market for oil—and is making headway, and is using oil pricing as an economic wedge in trade with the free world."

Kilgore's views were expressed in a letter to constituents.

He called attention to a recent report issued by the national petroleum council on the impact of oil exports from the Soviet bloc and said some of the conclusions "making disturbing reading for the U.-S. oil industry."

"Most of the exported oil reaching the free world goes to Europe," Kilgore said, "with government-owned oil companies as very large customers. The Russians use their oil exports not only to get foreign exchange but also, as a matter of course, to further the political objectives of communism."

He said this two-fold threat "certainly requires that our federal government do everything possible, through our bargaining power with the free world governments, to meet this situation."

Baptists Slate Youth Supper

Gil Stricklin will be guest speaker for the Brotherhood-sponsored youth supper at the First Baptist Church Monday. The supper is one of several activities scheduled during "Youth Week."

Stricklin attended Baylor University, Waco, and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth. While at Baylor, he was elected president of the class of 1957. He was also elected president of the Freshman Baptist Student Union. An outstanding place of leadership on Baylor's campus is that of Baylor yell-leader. He was elected to this sophomore year as well as a member of the Baylor Chamber of Commerce, a service club. Stricklin was placed by student vote in the Student Congress, and also was Secretary of the Chamber.

As a lay speaker and professional entertainer, Stricklin has had many opportunities and much experience in both capacities.

He has spoken and entertained groups throughout many states in the U.S. as well as foreign countries. He has spoken and entertained at some of the largest churches in the Baptist, Presbyterian, Methodist, and Assembly of God denominations.

From 1961 to 1963 Stricklin held the position of news director with the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. He joined the morning edition of the Fort Worth Star Telegram in June 1963. He is a general assignments staff writer with a specialty in the field of religion. His column, "Sermon Roundup," is widely read in the morning paper throughout West Texas and New Mexico.

Male Nurse Gets Title Of 'Matron'

MAIDSTONE, England (AP)—Richard Hulbert has been appointed assistant matron at Maidstone's Oakwood Hospital. Michael Curtiss is Oakwood's new night sister, as British hospitals call their head ward nurses.

"I'm not really upset about being called matron," said Hulbert. "But I suppose I could be called something more suitable."

"People find it a bit hard to explain that a man is a sister," said Arthur Akers, general secretary of the Health Service Union, "but it really isn't easy to think of anything new."

Akers said most British hospitals give their nurses badges showing their rank.

"We've now reached the stage," he said, "where they need badges to say whether they're men or women." Especially in Oakwood. It's a women's hospital.

Mark Lynn and Tommy Elam find the spaciousness of the new Martin Library at Midwestern University a real aid to study.

Reading Is The Key

By MARTHA B. STEIMEL

Libraries have been the guardians of man's knowledge since the first records were made on clay tablets by ancients in the cradle of civilization. Books once were so highly treasured they were chained to library tables. Scholars still mourn the burning of the library of Alexandria centuries ago.

For thousands of years, the person who reads has been set apart. In Old China, the scholar was the most revered and respected man in his community because ability to read was a rare and wonderful thing. In the Dark Ages, scribes in monasteries perpetuated books in beautifully illuminated manuscripts.

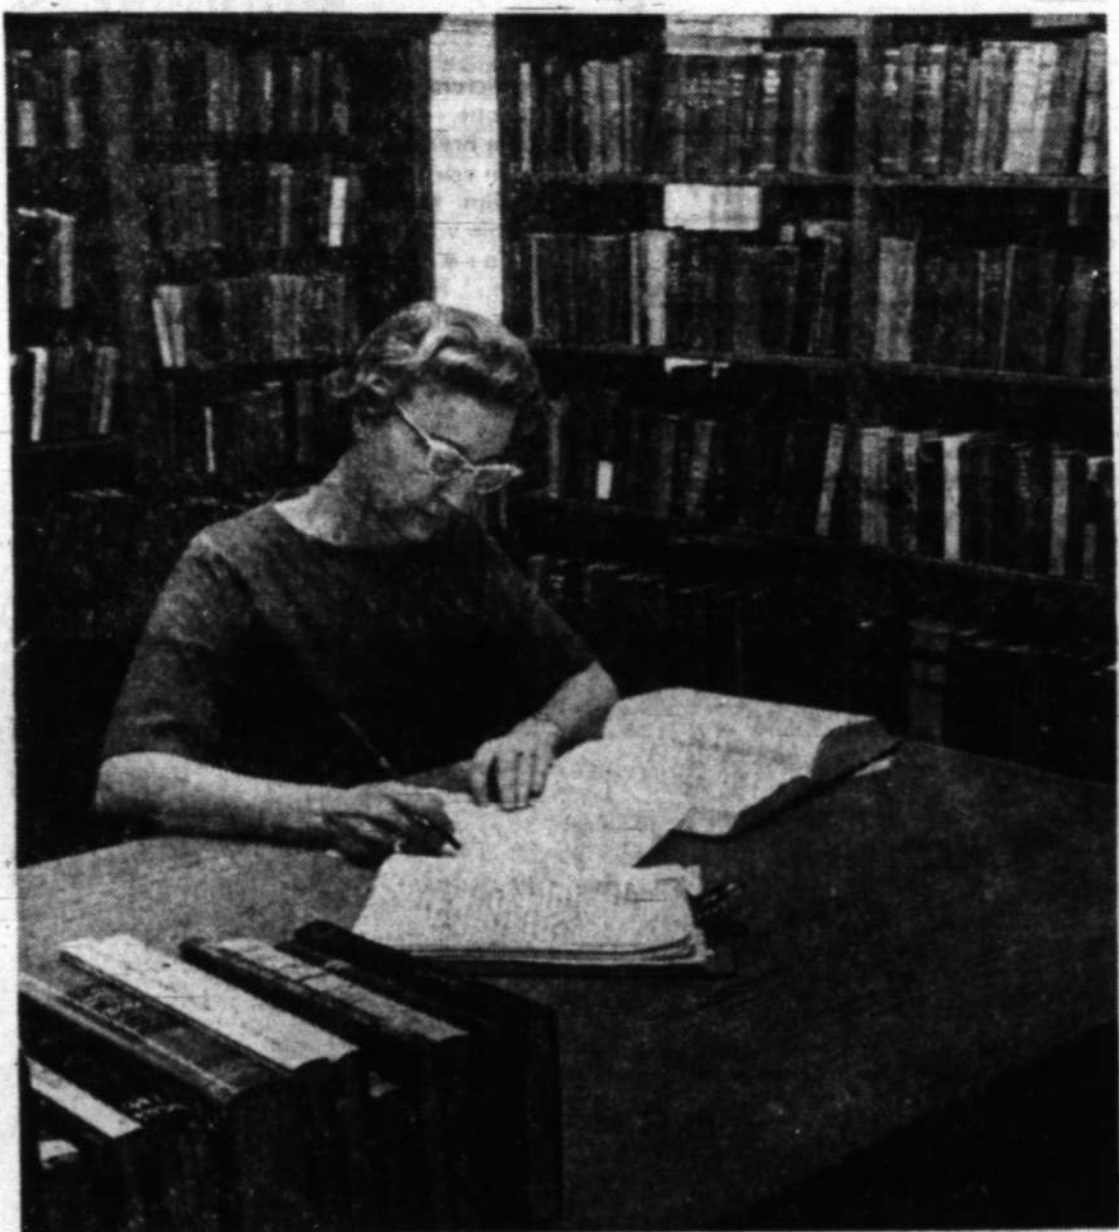

Today libraries have wide open doors. They offer masses of information on any imaginable subject. They hold shelf after shelf of alluring novels for adults; gay volumes designed to absorb and entertain children. Students flock to libraries for special research.

Libraries are constantly broadening their scope of service to the community, their range of pleasure-giving books and their backlog of reference sources. It is not uncommon for a borrower to take home an album of symphonic music from the Kemp Public Library.

Rare editions are available in some libraries for the serious student in a special field. Sometimes a valuable book is permanently displayed, as is the 1755 second edition of Samuel Johnson's dictionary in Martin Library at Midwestern University.

Libraries hold in trust the key to reading. And reading is the key to pleasure and to intellectual and moral growth.

Mrs. W. P. Weeks of Nocona considers the Kemp Public Library an ideal place to do research. She is an English teacher and comes to Wichita Falls frequently.

Charles Dale Kirkham can't wait to get home to read to his little sister, Debbie. He is a first grader at City View School and is the proud owner of a brand-new library card. Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Kirkham, 3807 Yuma, are the children's parents.

Mrs. Tom Huckaby, 1604 St. John, loves to read for her own pleasure and finds a Thomas Wolfe novel so irresistible she decides the vacuuming can wait for awhile.

club; Mrs. W. I. Mayfield, schedule and publicity chairman; Mrs. R. C. Patterson, staging and entries chairman and Mrs. G. L. Lewis, flower show chairman.

Seven Garden Clubs Unite To Present 'Florarama'

The first group flower show for seven Wichita Falls garden clubs will be held Saturday and Sunday in the Wichita Falls Senior High School. The show will be open to the public Saturday from 2:30 to 8 p.m. and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. Adults will be charged a small admission and children under 12 will be admitted free.

University Park, Rivercrest, Fountain Park, Popular Gardeners, Western Hills, Dig and Delve and Sheppard AFB Garden Clubs have combined resources and talents to produce this show, to be known as "Florarama."

Horticulture exhibits and artistic arrangements will be on exhibit in the Florarama.

Artistic arrangements will be in 25 divisions, each named for one of Wichita Falls' subdivisions. For example, Colonial Park arrangements will be fresh cut plant material in a massed period arrangement. Fountain Park will show Japanese influence, using water as reflection. University Park will feature a vertical design using favorite university colors.

More than 150 women who make up the combined membership of the seven clubs have been nurturing plants and flowers for months in preparation for this Florarama. They will be competing for numerous awards, including a Grand Sweepstakes award, tricolor award, and awards of distinction and appreciation.

Mrs. Roy Magers is advisor for the Florarama and Mrs. Don Culwell is general chairman.

PAM WOLFSON, KAREN MONAGHAN ARE HONORED

Misses Pam Wolfson and Karen Monaghan shared honors Saturday when a punch party was given by Mrs. Frank Hood and Mrs. Kearby Peery at the latter's home, 2628 Bretton Road.

The honorees will be graduated from Wichita Falls High School this spring. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Wolfson and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Monaghan.

Members of the houseparty were Misses Patti Elder, Pam Peery, Kay Atchley, Susan Ballard and Susan Hood. Grandmothers of the honorees were special guests. They are Mrs. Joe L. Art and Mrs. I. R. Monaghan. Also a special guest was Mrs. Leo Wertgame of Kansas City, Mo., aunt of Miss Wolfson.

Baskets of white daisies were used to decorate the party rooms. A centerpiece for the serving table was made of tangerine carnations in a silver epergne.

Approximately 175 guests attended between the hours of 10 a.m. to 12.

MISS HAWKINS, DAVID G. WOOD ENGAGEMENT TOLD

Announcement is made of the engagement and forthcoming marriage of Miss Carolyn S. Hawkins, 1619 Hamlin, to David G. Wood of Middletown, N.Y. by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed L. Hawkins, Lawton, Okla. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Wood, Ridgefield, Conn.

The wedding will be June 6 in the Chapel of the First Baptist Church, Lawton.

The bride-elect is a 1957 graduate of Lawton High School and was graduated from Cameron College in 1959. She will be a spring graduate at Midwestern University.

Wood was graduated from New Canaan, Conn. High School in 1956 and from the University of Vermont in 1960. He is employed by the Grange League Federation, Middletown, N.Y.

Add giblets to canned chicken gravy. It has exceptionally fine flavor.

TO BE JUNE BRIDE—Miss Dana Louise Romano and James Patrick Uncapher have chosen June 23 as the date for their marriage in Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Miss Romano is a student at Midwestern University and the daughter of Mrs. Nancy Romano, Fort Worth, and Joseph L. Romano, Denver, Colo. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Uncapher, 1809 Britain, are the parents of the prospective bridegroom. The bride-elect attended Amon Carter Riverside High School in Fort Worth and is employed at McClurken's, Parker Square. Her fiancé is attending Midwestern, is employed at the Wichita Falls State Hospital and was graduated from Wichita Falls High School.

Library Retreat

Home libraries have grown smaller but more cozy. One reading haven featured at the New York Decoration and Design Show consisted of a handsome latex foam rubber chaise longue wedged in a window corner with a cheerful garden view. Above the chaise was a bookcase alcove filled with leather-bound volumes—not bric-a-brac. The lounge was upholstered in an attractive print which was repeated on the venetian blinds.

Color Forecast For 1964 Is Warm, Sunny

The color forecast for 1964 home decor is "warm and sunny." Mexican pink, warm browns, Indian curry, and yellow shades running from deep amber to bright banana lead the field in settings presented by leading A.I.D. designers. More and more of these exotic upholstery are used with latex foam rubber cushioning in either contemporary or period settings. To get a soft look, the designers merely place a foam rubber cushion inside an envelope of down.

Rainbow Girls of Wichita Assembly 17, and Love Assembly will give a drill Monday night. They will be joined by the Hope DeMolay chapter and the worthy matrons and worthy patrons in a special drill honoring Mrs. Goodpasture and directed by Mrs. Burbank.

Mrs. Bumpurs and Mrs. Phillips will direct the welfare program. Worthy matrons, patrons and associates will be featured in "building the foundation of understanding."

Special courtesies will be extended to the grand officers by Mrs. Jessie Jones of Burkburnett and Mrs. Charles Metz of Iowa Park. An informal dinner for the grand officers will be held at Mrs. Phillips' home Sunday evening.

Mrs. Ewell Cason Jr. will sing a benediction to close the meeting. Mrs. Lee Nielson will be organist for the day, and accompanist for the vocalist.

All-Around Coats

The new all-weather coats are perfect for rain or shine and make ideal coats to take along on a trip. Many come in pretty, colorful prints, stripes or polka dots and look like spring toppers.

Four Gardens, Two Homes To Be In Forum Show

The beautiful formal garden at the Jerry Vinson home, 2209 Clarinda, and the rose garden at the L. B. Slaughter home, 4113 Rivercrest, will be among the four gardens to be on exhibit for the Home and Garden Show to be held by the Wichita Falls Garden Club of the Woman's Forum Saturday, April 25.

Gardens at the home of Mrs. Joe Bashara, 2201 Ellingham, and Mrs. Orison McDonald, 3507 Juniper, also will be on exhibit. Homes to be opened, where competitive arrangements will be shown, are those of Mrs. Bashara and Mrs. Landon H. Culum Jr., 2306 Kirk.

This home placement show is the first to be held by the Forum Garden Club. Mrs. Joe Bashara, president, said. It will be open to the public from 2 to 7 p.m., one day only.

Table place settings will be on display at the Woman's Forum and will be included as a part of the show. All horticulture exhibits will be at the Forum.

Entries by Junior Gardeners will be on exhibit at the home of Mrs. Culum and those by High School Gardeners will be seen at the Bashara home.

Clash Of Car Men

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Those giants of the auto world—General Motors and Ford — may be carrying their rivalry a bit too far.

A 1964 Chevrolet driven by Walter Eldridge collided at a Cheyenne intersection with a 1964 Ford driven by Robert Johnson.

Eldridge is district representative for the General Motors Acceptance Corp. Johnson is a district representative for Ford Motor Co.

Dunkable Ties

Ties have joined the ranks of wash-and-wear items for men. Silky-looking new neckties made with Cresslan acrylic fiber can be popped right into a washing machine, or washed by hand.

Improve Steak?

A good steak can be made even better say home economists. Merely blend 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder into 1/4 stick of butter. Spread on sizzling steak—add a dash of salt, freshly ground pepper and a sprinkle of parsley flakes.

PATTI ELDER

Patti Elder Is Party Honoree

Another party in a round of festive social activities for Miss Patti Elder, prospective graduate from Wichita Falls High School, was held Saturday at the home of Mrs. Eugene Sherrod Jr., 2031 Avondale.

Mrs. Ed Peterson Jr. was co-hostess with Mrs. Sherrod for the informal gathering which was attended by 80 guests between 2 and 4:30 p.m.

Yellow and white daisies were used throughout the party rooms, and on the table from which punch was served. Misses Carol Peterson and Sherry Elder assisted with hostess duties.

The honoree is planning to enroll in Texas Tech next fall. She is a member of the National Honor Society, first vice president of the Junior Forum, treasurer of Pink Darlings and has received the DAR Good Citizenship Award. She is also a gym leader, member of the Student Council, on the annual staff, an office assistant and on the Girls' Club Council. She was a Miss Howdy finalist, and secretary of her senior class and of the Junior Red Cross.

RAINY EXCITEMENT

On a rainy day, don't add to your depression by wearing just any old thing. Reach for your most colorful dress and accent its gay look with make-up that is equally exciting.

Denton To Host Meeting Of State Volunteer Council

The spring meeting of the State Volunteer Services Council will be held in Denton Wednesday and Thursday at the Holiday Inn. Dr. Willard Segerson, superintendent of the Wichita Falls State Hospital and Miss Beulah Ann Johnson, coordinator of volunteer services, will be among those attending from Wichita Falls.

Representatives of state supported hospitals and special schools will attend the meeting, and the public also is invited to sit in on sessions.

Of special interest will be a tour of the First Federal underground control center completed in the nation. Its official definition is "five state regional defense and office of emergency planning headquarters." On two levels underground, it is entirely self-contained. A tour of these facilities will be made from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Wednesday.

The Volunteer Council of the Denton State School will be hosts for the meeting. Ben C. Ivey is chairman. Jack Y. Smith of Big Spring, chairman of the State Council, will preside at the meeting.

Theme for the two day conference is "Melody of Life Through Service." Dr. Earle Williams of Dallas will speak at a luncheon Wednesday and the afternoon session will be devoted to a panel discussion on methods of improving the volunteer program within state institutions.

A buffet dinner will be held in the Denton State School auditorium Wednesday night. The program will be a hootenanny and dance program. Thursday's program will include a tour of the Denton State School, a luncheon, and installation of officers.

COKE PARTY

New officers of the Junior Forum will entertain all high school sophomore girls eligible to join the Forum with a Coke party Thursday immediately after school. The party will be held at the Forum. Sponsors of the Junior Forum will assist with the entertainment.

In order to join the Junior Forum the prospective member must be the daughter or ward of a woman who has been a member of the Woman's Forum since Jan. 1 of the girl's freshman year in high school. A fee is also charged.

Officers in charge of the party include Eddie Worrell, president; Debbie McDonald, first vice president; Leslie Lynn, second vice president; Hadra Hines, third vice president; Ginger Hardage, secretary; Elizabeth White, treasurer; Lana Moore, publicity chairman; Carol Peterson and Ann Keller, telephone co-chairmen and Paula Hays, projects chairman.

Newcomers Invited To Attend Party

Newcomers are invited to attend a card party and buffet luncheon beginning at 9:45 a.m. Wednesday in the Country Club.

The affair will be sponsored by the Newcomers Club. Canasta and bridge will be played with door-prizes and cash prizes going to the winners. The board of directors also will present the slate of officers for the coming year.

Reservations can be made with Mrs. Everett Smith, president, 4335 Jennings. The group meets regularly the third Wednesday of each month.

MRS. DONALD C. PREISSLER

Airman Donald Preissler
Weds Myra Jane Simons

Miss Myra Jane Simons and Airman I.C. Donald Charles Preissler were married at 10 a.m. Saturday in Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Father Patrick Scanlan, assistant pastor, performed the ceremony.

The altar was decorated with twin arrangements of white gladioli and chrysanthemums in tall gold urns. The steps leading to the altar were flanked by baskets of the same blossoms. The couple knelt on a white satin covered kneeling bench.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Carl Edwards, organist; and Bruce Stewart, soloist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Simons, 4300 Jacksboro Hwy., and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Preissler, Giltner, Neb. The groom is stationed at Davis - Monthan Air Force Base near Tucson, Ariz.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over tulle featuring a basque bodice, Sabrina neckline re - embroidered in iridescent sequins, and long sleeves. The A-line skirt had side and back panels which swept into a chapel train. Ruffles of matching lace, embroidered at intervals with sequins, outlined the panels and extended around the bottom of the skirt. A crown of sequins and pearls held her fingertip veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white butterfly roses studded with pearls.

Mrs. Louis Sawyer of Iowa Park was matron of honor. She wore a pink embossed cotton satin dress designed with empire silhouette. Her head piece was a matching whimsie topped with flowers.

Bridesmaids were Misses Shirley Ann Simons, sister of the bride; Leah Karl, and Patricia Preissler, sister of the groom. They wore blue whipped cream street - length dresses designed with full skirts. Their head pieces were matching whimsies topped with flowers. They carried a teardrop bouquet of white pompon chrysanthemums.

Altar boys were Richard Poirot, cousin of the bride, and Bill

Harris, Julie Harris and Matthew Underwood were flower girl and ring bearer, respectively.

Ronald Priessler of Milford, Neb., served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Jerald Preissler, also brother of the groom, Jerry Sims of Omaha, Neb., and David Simons, brother of the bride. Ushers were Raymond Martini, cousin of the bride of Dallas, and Airman I.C. Dennis M. Tew of Sheppard AFB.

A luncheon was given immediately following the ceremony. Parents of the bride were hosts in the Parish Hall. The head table was covered with a white linen cloth swagged with blue net. The centerpiece was the bride's cake. Flanking the table were baskets of white gladioli and mums. Other tables were covered in white and centered with blue fern and white gladioli. Serving were Mmes. Aubrey Jennings, Jerry Cotterly, Frank Lentz, Corkey Lawson and Don Carson.

The bride was graduated from the Academy of Mary Immaculate in 1962. She attended Midwestern University and has been employed by Wichita Cigar and Tobacco Co. here. Preissler was graduated from Giltner High School in 1959 and attended MU. He is in the Air Force.

After a wedding trip to Pioneer Cove Lodge on Lake Whitney, the couple will live in Tucson, Ariz.

A rehearsal party was hosted by the groom's parents at Bird's Seafood Restaurant Friday evening.

Out of town guests for the wedding were Messrs. and Mmes. Alfred Trausch of Riverside, Calif., Ervin Trausch of Juniata, Neb., Richard Simons, of Fort Worth and George Hanke of Coleman, Tex.

Protect Furniture Against Moisture

Moisture is a great thing — for plants. But, it has some frustrating effects on home and furniture. Windows stick tight, doors squeak, dresser drawers won't budge an inch. To help combat this annoyance, use aerosol silicone-base lubricants. Now conveniently packaged in push-button containers, they will quickly lubricate hard-to-reach parts and areas and provide a clear, greaseless lubricating film. Fabrics, paint, metal or wood surfaces are not harmed by the spray.

Extra Seating

For a small dining room, why not install a long low wall table rather than a sideboard? One leading manufacturer is now offering them with little square stools that can be stored beneath the table and pulled out for youngsters or extra diners. The stools are upholstered in attractive latex foam rubber cushions covered in a fabric to match the cushioned dining chairs.

New Nail Saver

Check brittle, dry or fragile nails with a one - step treatment. A new introduction to the nail care field is based on the ancient principle of glazing. When the liquid is applied, it acts as a base, sealer and clear enamel. It may be used under polish, over polish or alone.

Beta Sigma Phi Honors
New Members With Tea

New members of Beta Sigma Phi were honored by the Faith City council of the sorority at the annual Spring Preferential Tea Saturday at 3 p.m. at the Woman's Forum.

Each Beta Sigma Phi pledge was presented with a yellow rosebud and Nu Phi Mu pledges received pink rosebuds. Mrs. James Montgomery and Mrs. Norman Jenkins, council vice presidents, introduced the pledges.

The pink and yellow roses were used in the centerpiece on the tea table and were in bud vases near the guest book. A display table showed items of literature, jewelry and awards which pertain to the sorority's traditions.

New members and the chapters to which they belong are Mmes. James Bowen, Dottie Hodges and William Scott, Xi Delta; Mmes. Louise Flinn, Peggy Holder, Bill Campbell and Miss Ann Bolin, Xi Delta Zeta; Mmes. Roland Russell, Curt Berryman, Carroll Harrell, Dick Lowe, Alvin Russell, Ray Ady, Hartzell, Haws, Gene Durkee, Larry Folmar, Miss Billie Lear and Miss Gloria Beames, Alpha Tau;

Misses Lillian Rose Russell, Shirley Sheets, Sue Woodard and Mrs. J. W. King, Gamma Theta;

Mrs. Richard Kemmerly, Lambda Gamma; Mmes. Earl Weigel, Eddie Dunn, James Morgan, Kelvin Vest and Miss Katherine Dill, Sigma Zeta; Mmes. James H. Boyd, Paula Lucier, Millie Henken, Charles E. Rutledge, Jerrie Holly and Miss Peggy Crudup, Delta Nu; Mrs. Kenneth Stone, Phi Alpha Beta and Miss Carolyn Criswell and Miss Gloria Lee, Phi Gamma Mu. The last two are Nu Phi Mu chapters.

Committees in charge of arrangements for the tea were: Xi Delta, time, place and plate; Lambda Gamma, program; Phi Gamma Mu, decorations and Zeta Epsilon, display table.

Background music was played during the tea. Receiving were Mrs. Joseph Walden, Faith City Council president, and chapter presidents, Mmes. Warren Humphries, Xi Delta; Roe Hallmark, Xi Zeta Omicron; Billy Skidmore, Xi Delta Zeta; Sam Johnson, Alpha Tau; Jerry Thomas, Lambda Gamma; Clint Humphris, Zeta Epsilon; Wayne Trot, Delta Nu; Deverle Jones, Chi Epsilon; Jackie Stowe, Phi Alpha Beta; Harrell, Phi Gamma Mu; Misses Carol Jernigan, Gamma Theta; Judy Lytle, Sigma Zeta and Lear, Phi Alpha Omega.

Esperanto by Drexel
the most trusted name in furniture

Old world cabinetmakers would have been proud to call Esperanto their own. And, in a way, they did contribute much to this great new collection because Drexel reached into magnificent Mediterranean castles for its inspiration.

Treasured antiques and architecture are skillfully traced through the more than 75 pieces in this collection for living, dining and bedrooms. Sit in a chair that a Roman Emperor might well have used to watch a grand procession. Dine at a table reminiscent of regal grandeur. From room to room you'll sense the mood of 17th and 18th century Mediterranean countries. You'll love the flexibility offered by three finishes — on native pecan veneers and solids.

Go ahead, lose your heart to Esperanto, it's not only beautiful but our budget-wise prices make it so buyable!

Forum Writers To Hear Talk By Minister-Author

A Methodist minister who is the author of three successful books, author of two pamphlets and of numerous magazine articles, will be guest speaker Thursday for the Writer's Department of the Woman's Forum.

He is the Rev. Michael Daves, a native Wichitan who is pastor of the Holliday Methodist Church. He will talk on "Writing for the Religious Market" at 10 a.m. An informal coffee will precede the program.

The Rev. Daves has written "Devotional Talks for Children," "Famous Hymns and Their Writers" and "Meditations on Early Christian Symbols." His booklets are "George Matheson: The Free Captive" and "Sermon Outlines on Romans."

He is a regular contributor to the All Church Press, which publishes church newspapers in four states. He writes book reviews for the Wichita Falls Times and has written for such major publications as Together,

REV. DAVES

Christian Century and Christian Advocate.

The Rev. Daves is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Daves, 1409

Travis. After his graduation from Wichita Falls High School he obtained his B.A. degree from Midwestern University and his B.D. degree from Perkins School of Theology, SMU. His wife is the former Patricia McLean.

Mrs. Bailey Meissner, vice president, will introduce Daves. Hostesses will be Mmes. John H. Lynn, C. C. Parfet and J. R. Farabee. Mrs. Paul Myers, president, will be in charge of the meeting. A workshop period will be included in the morning program.

Fish Story

Your family will approve this tangy, just-right cranberry relish. Combine 1 can (1 pound) whole berry cranberry sauce, ¼ cup drained sweet pickle relish and 1 tablespoon prepared white horseradish; blend well. Excellent with deep fried, broiled or baked fish, it can be whipped-up in seconds.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED — Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Koehn of Sublette, Kan., announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Joan, to the Rev. Robert Dale Maxwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Maxwell, 2923 Moffett. The couple is attending school at Southwestern Assembly of God College in Waxahachie. An August wedding is planned.

WSCS District Meeting To Be Held Here Friday

Representatives of 27 WSCS organizations of Methodist Churches in the Wichita Falls District will meet Friday morning at the First Methodist Church for the 23rd annual meeting of the district.

Mrs. C. A. Jackson, district president, will preside at the meeting for which the theme, "Witness Through Service" has been chosen.

Registration will be at 9 a.m. Mrs. Weldon Guest, WSCS president of the hostess church, will welcome delegates and Dr. Howard Hollowell, pastor of First Methodist, will give the meditation. Mrs. Clyde Murph district recording secretary, will give a report and Mrs. F. K. Ezell, district vice president, will present the program.

Mrs. N. C. Gould will conduct a service of remembrance and Mrs. L. E. Ruth will present special memberships. The Rev. Carroll D. Copeland will install officers at the end of the meeting. Dr. Nita Akin will be or-

Gifford-Kendall Wedding Vows Are Read Saturday

Miss Elizabeth Ann Kendall became the bride of E. Gene Gifford Saturday in a 7 p.m. ceremony in the First Methodist Church. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Kendall, 1705 Hayes, and Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Gifford Jr., Amarillo.

Dr. Howard H. Hollowell, pastor, read the vows in front of the ornate altar cross which was flanked by copper urns filled with white stock, white tulips and majestic daisies. On either side of the altar steps were spiral candelabra holding yellow votive cups and decorated with huckleberry and white satin bows. The white satin covered kneeling bench was in front of the altar cross.

Dr. Nita Akin, organist, and Howard Bosler, vocalist, presented nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of satin finished alpaca featuring a slight empire bodice, a boat neckline, and elbow-length sleeves. A bias fold encircled the waistline and was finished in the back with a small tailored bow. The A-line skirt was floor-length and had a detachable train with a band of re-embroidered French Chantilly lace. Her bouffant ballerina-length veil of imported silk illusion was attached to a forward head piece of silk organza roses and petals trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a nosegay of white gardenias, roses and stephanotis on a prayerbook.

Mrs. William H. Young of Fort Worth was matron of honor. She wore a pale yellow silk shantung dress designed with A-line skirt and bell sleeves. She carried a nosegay of yellow and white daisies. Her headpiece was a wreath of white daisies.

Bridesmaids were Misses Ann Bridges of Baytown, Judy Blanton of Port Arthur and Mary Ann Junk of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Loyd Dale of Lubbock. They wore bright yellow costumes designed identically to that of the honor matron. Judy and Susy

MRS. E. GENE GIFFORD

Dale, both of Lubbock, were flower girls.

The bridegroom's father was best man. Groomsmen were Eddie Lester of Dallas, Tommy York and Ken Johnson, both of Amarillo, and Hermes Payne of Austin. Ushers were Johnny Weidling and Lyman Stubblefield, both of Amarillo, Perry McWilliams of Austin and Loyd Dale of Lubbock.

The bride's parents were hosts for a reception at the church. The bride's table, draped in white satin, was centered with a silver candelabrum holding white tapers and decorated with nosegays of white and yellow daisies. The registry table held an anniversary candle with a nosegay of yellow and white daisies.

Reception assistants were Misses Sarah H. Cates, Carol Aboussie, Julia Hartman, Bobelai Malick, Marianna Patton, Linda Paxton, Marilu Grace, Terry Mike Johnson and Mmes. Donald E. Lambert and Bill McLain.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will make their home in Big Spring where the groom will be in pilot training as a lieutenant in the Air Force.

The bride was graduated from Wichita Falls High School and was presented as a Junior Forum debutante. She was graduated from the University of Texas with a bachelor of fine arts degree and a major in commercial art. She is a member of Angel Flight and Delta Delta Delta sorority.

The groom was graduated from Tascosa High School in Amarillo and from the University of Texas with a bachelor of arts degree in mathematics. He is a member of Silver Spurs, "T" Association, Arnold Air Society and Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

The groom's parents were hosts for a rehearsal party Friday evening in the River Oaks Motor Hotel.

Colorful Appetizer

Fresh fruit wedges are perfect for finger-dipping into a cranberry sour cream dressing made with 1/2 cup of jellied cranberry sauce, mayonnaise, soured cream, and crumbled blue cheese. Beat cranberry sauce until "saucy." Blend with mayonnaise and soured cream until smooth. Add blue cheese and mix well. Serve with fruit topped with a squeeze of lemon to keep it "fresh-cut."

DRESSING IS COLORFUL

Julienne strips of cooked beets and sieved hard-cooked egg make excellent additions to mayonnaise when the dressing is to be served over hearts of lettuce.

About People and Things

Open house was a wonderful occasion for all of us here at The Times. We're glad so many came to see the building. And we love the gorgeous flowers and all the compliments. The things we overheard were interesting, too. Such as a man declaring he was lost, and needing an escort to the front door. And a couple saying they thought Glenn Shelton looks older than his picture and right behind them came a couple who said that Glenn Shelton certainly looks much younger than his picture. Everyone who saw Glenn had something complimentary to say about his column. For those of you who thought Heloise had a desk right here with us, let me say that she lives in Arlington, Va., because her husband works in the Pentagon. Frankly, we probably couldn't live up to her super-charged personality if she were right here!

The tornado was terrible and we hope there's never another one. Aside from the great tragedies, it created all kinds of freak situations. We heard that in one house a picture was torn from its frame and a picture right next to it was left intact. In another, the refrigerator door was blown open and mud simply poured inside. And on the table two dozen eggs were undisturbed. Also heard that one man found the machinery was torn from his clock, and he found it in his overcoat pocket!

Judge Temple Driver and his wife Jackie went to Austin last weekend to attend the annual UT Roundup festivities. The class of 1914 was honored on its fiftieth anniversary and among those in this group were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Woodward of Eldora, Colo.

Women Of Fain Church To Meet

Women of Fain Memorial Presbyterian Church will meet in circles as follows:

Circle 1, 10:05 a.m. Monday, Mrs. Burke Taylor, chairman; at the church.

Circle 2, 9:45 a.m. Monday, Mrs. B. B. Hunt, chairman; at 4617 Dennis with Mrs. J. E. Fromme as hostess.

Circle 3, 9:45 a.m. Monday, Mrs. George J. Seibold, chairman; at 2201 Wenonah with Mrs. R. L. Gohlke as hostess.

Circle 4, 9:45 a.m. Tuesday, Mrs. Glen Ray Begley, chairman; at the church with Mrs. Stephen Fish as hostess.

Circle 5, 9:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 21, Mrs. Bryan Wagner, chairman; at the church with Mrs. Frank Mackay as hostess. Bible leaders will be Mmes. Irwin Hermann, Raymond Atkins, Marion Hart, Joe Seibold and Frank Wolf.

Leaders of the "Let's Talk About" sessions are Mmes. A. T. Dickson, J. E. Hall, R. R. Cowden, Byron Simmons and Kelly Bilberry.

Shelling Tip

To make shell removal easier from hard-cooked eggs, home economists suggest pouring off the hot water and immediately immersing the hard-cooked eggs in cold water. Shells then will slip off easily.

Lamar Baptist Women To Hear Mrs. Alford

Mrs. Lena Faye Alford, Baptist Student Director at Midwestern University since 1952, will be guest speaker for a combined meeting of Lamar Baptist Church day and night Women's Missionary Societies Monday.

The meeting will begin at 6:45 p.m. with a salad supper in Friendship Hall.

The program in which Mrs. G. B. Kettle and Mrs. Jay Ireland will participate, will be conducted by Mrs. W. C. Soodgrass, WMU president. A highlight will be showing of colored slides by Mrs. Alford, who attended the Sixth Baptist World Youth Congress in Beirut, Lebanon, last year. She toured 12 countries, including the Holy Land and pictures will show scenes taken in Egypt, Lebanon, Jordan and Israel.

MRS. PHILLIP COTTRELL

Cottrell-Pruitt Wedding Is Held In Iowa Park

IOWA PARK, Tex. (Special) — The Faith Baptist Church was the setting for vows uniting Miss Sue Pruitt and Phillip Cottrell, both of Fort Worth, in marriage. The ceremony was performed Saturday at 6:30 p.m. by the Rev. John Klappenbach, pastor.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Thurkill of Iowa Park and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Cleath Cottrell of Fort Worth and James B. Cottrell of Wichita, Kan.

The nuptial space was decorated with two baskets of white gladioli flanked by pyramid candelabra and greenery. Wedding selections were presented by Mrs. John Klappenbach, organist, and Gene Todd, soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white satin and Chantilly lace. The bodice was designed with scalloped neckline and long sleeves. The skirt was styled with wide lace panels and terminated in a brief train. Her waist-length tiered veil of tulle was attached to a crown of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white gardenias and feathered carnations.

Miss Belinda McClendon was maid of honor. She wore a mint green taffeta dress, and pillow hat with veil and carried a crescent bouquet of white Majestic daisies.

Candlelighters were Jerry and Jill Pruitt of Wichita Falls, Kim Johnson of Iowa Park was flower girl and Tammy Hunter was ring bearer.

Bill Cottrell of Fort Worth served his twin brother as best man. Ushers were Bill Shelton and Mike Caldwell.

The reception was held in the Education Building of the church. The bride's table was covered with white satin and the bride's bouquet on a mirror formed the centerpiece. Assisting were Mrs. A. R. Hunter and Mrs. Jill Pruitt, Miss Debbie Pruitt, sister of the bride, registered guests.

The bride attended Iowa Park High School and is enrolled in the school of nursing at All Saints Hospital in Fort Worth. The bridegroom was graduated from Brewer high school in Fort Worth. He attended Arlington State College two years and recently completed Nuclear Power School training at Vallejo, Calif. He will report for duty at Falls City, Idaho, and Mrs. Cottrell plans to join him there when she completes her nurse's training.

Deodorize Garage

Making a clean sweep of the garage? Take out all of last year's gardening, painting and patio products. Make sure you have shelves or pegboards to keep tools and other equipment off the floor. Dispose of worn out equipment or products safely and make a list of what you'll need for the new season. While the garage is free and clear swab the floors and walls with a pine oil cleaner which degreases, cleans and deodorizes at the same time.

BEN FRANKLIN P-TA ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

The Ben Franklin P-TA met on Thursday afternoon in the school auditorium. The president, Mrs. Bert Huff Jr. was in charge. The opening prayer was given by Jan Backus, and the pledge of allegiance was led by Steven Browne.

During the business meeting the principal, S. W. Roberts discussed the various plans to be used in time of disaster.

Mrs. Art Beyer, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following slate of officers, all of whom were elected: Mmes. Bob Boll, president; William Martin, first vice president; Price Lowry, second vice president; Robert Foley, third vice president; Stayton Bonner, treasurer; William Harvey, secretary; W. A. Lofton, publicity; Tom Crane, City Council representative and Bert Huff Jr., parliamentarian.

It was announced that the fifth grade will entertain at the Spring Conference April 23-24.

The program chairman, Mrs. Phillips Cunningham, introduced Mrs. Landon Cullum Jr. who spoke on "The Family: A Firm Home Base."

The speaker stated that parents have a strong responsibility to themselves and each must be a person apart from the family. For each child there must be personal integrity and responsibility and religious awareness, she said.

The third grade pupils presented a musical program entitled "The ABC's of the USA," titled "The ABC's of the USA." recitation of Mrs. Blanche Caldwell, Miss Mildred Holt and Mrs. Ruby Parlee. Hostesses were Mrs. R. M. Puckett and Mrs. J. B. Hathorn Jr.

Advice To Visitors To World's Fair

Many people throughout this country have been misled by a New York City promotional campaign of the past few years — "New York is a Summer Festival." They dressed for their trip to Gotham as if they were going to an actual "festival" — and ended up more than a little out-of-place, and slightly embarrassed, to discover that shorts, pedal-pushers, T-shirts and the like were not the thing to wear on Fifth Avenue and Park Avenue! New York is a "jacket and

Carousel Club Honors New Members With Dance

New members of the Carousel Club were honored at a dance held Saturday evening at the Wichita Falls Country Club. They are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde J. Brannan Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Eggers, Mr. and Mrs. Jack M. Jeffus, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill West.

Decorations in the ballroom featured splashes of pastel spring colors in the form of hanging baskets of flowers. The tables were centered with pastel pots filled with greenery and spring flowers with matching streamers of ribbon. Music for the dance was furnished by the Miller - Gregg orchestra. Mrs. Bruce Steward was in charge of the arrangements and her committee included Mrs. C. W. Wallace, Lee Humphrey, John Caton, Les Wilson, Bob Stephens, and Bob Webb.

A receiving line made up of the executive board greeted the new members. The officers are Mr. and Mrs. John Rundell, presidents; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Steward, first vice - presidents; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Humphrey, second vice - presidents; Mr. and Mrs. Neetum Steed, third vice - presidents; Dr. and Mrs. Julian Ackers, secretaries; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Parkey, treasurers; and Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Whaling, publicity.

PLANS TOLD—Mr. and Mrs. Jack Walter Roberts, 1664 Keeler, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Peggy Sue McGregor, to Don Paul McAfee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray P. McAfee, 1448 Trout. The wedding is planned May 15. The couple were graduated from Wichita Falls High School. She is employed in the business office of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. He is employed by Joe Adair Electric Co. He served in the U.S. Navy two years.

TRAVEL

The realization of a life-long dream began Monday for Mrs. Lucille Stodghill of Munday as she left Dallas by Braniff-Pan American jet bound for Chicago, London, Brussels and the Netherlands.

Mrs. Stodghill expects to enjoy "tulip time in Holland" as well as a visit with a daughter, Mrs. Lee Lemasters, and family in Terneuzen, Zeeland, The Netherlands, where Lemasters is a scientist with Dow Chemical Co. The Lemasters are former residents of Wichita Falls where he was a 1936 graduate of Midwestern University.

The mother of five married children and grandmother of several, Mrs. Stodghill is taking her first real vacation after 18 years as technician in the Munday Clinic. She plans to tour Europe for a month. Friends honored her with a bon voyage party recently.

Enjoying a visit to the Sarasota Jungle Gardens while vacationing along Florida's lower West Coast are Dr. and Mrs. Sivert Erickson, 4407 McCrory. The Jungle Gardens have thousands of colorful tropical plants, flamingos and other rare and unusual wild fowl from every continent.

Returning to their home in Little Rock, Ark., Friday after a six-weeks visit with kin in Wichita Falls were Mrs. Mary C. Long and daughter, Angela. They were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Crowson, 3032 Lavelle.

Mrs. Henry Penix, 1641 Hursh, will drive Monday to Fort Worth for a visit with Mrs. J. Warren Day. Mrs. Day will accompany Mrs. Penix to Houston for a week's visit with the latter's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Gardere Jr., Laura Leigh and Molly.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Norton and little daughter, Robbie, 2, will leave Thursday for a week's vacation visit with her brother, B. C. Combs, and family in Eureka, Kan.

Happily anticipating her first visit in six years with her mother, Mrs. Dornaine Morel in Nancy, France, Mrs. Bobby Ray Smith and children, Sylvia, 6, and Roger, 3, flew Braniff-Pan American Airlines from Dallas to New York to Luxembourg, Germany, Saturday for a two-months' sojourn.

Sgt. Smith drove his family to Dallas Friday and plans to join them when he flies MATS to Germany May 4 on a 30-day leave.

Mrs. Smith has not visited her mother since she and her husband came to the United States in 1938. Mrs. Smith met her husband in 1936 while he was at the U.S. Air Base in Nancy.

Returning home by way of Continental Airlines Friday was Mrs. William O'Sullivan of Kansas City, Mo., who drove with her husband to Wichita Falls before Easter for the holidays with their daughter and family, Dr. and Mrs. James Wenzl, 6 Hatcher Courts. O'Sullivan drove home shortly after Easter.

Sgt. Francis E. Klasper left Wichita Falls Saturday by Burlington Lines on his way to St. Louis, Mo., and thereafter to Greenland where he will serve a tour of duty as commissary specialist for the U.S. Air Force. Mrs. Klasper and sons, Stanley, Raymond and Robert remained in Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Harold Elman Jr. and 10-month-old son, Erick, returned by Burlington Lines to their home in Tucson, Ariz., after having spent the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hogle, 4201 University.

A graduate of Wichita Falls High School, Mrs. Elman has received her bachelor's degree at the University of Arizona since she moved there some three years ago.

Two Mobil Oil executives who recently went abroad for indefinite periods of time are Ernie Frazier, district engineer, who flew by way of London, Paris and Rome to Tripoli, and Walter Lenamon, engineering supervisor who is now in the London office for the Iraqian Petroleum Consortium. The engineers' families accompanied them to their respective posts.

Mrs. J. B. King accompanied Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Jones on a motor trip Friday to Jefferson, Tex., where they joined the annual Jefferson Pilgrimage over the weekend.

Mrs. King is also visiting with her brothers, Orville and Virgil McCasland and Judge Joe McCasland, a Jefferson practicing attorney who also plays the part of the prosecuting attorney in the traditional play, "Diamond Bessie," being staged during the pilgrimage.

The Wichitans will drive home Monday.

Hints from HELOISE

Some Net Is Inferior

Hey, there, Heloise:

Why don't you jump up and down, and holler and pound your desk?

YOU are the one who has made nylon net a household necessity! Those manufacturers will HAVE to listen to you! Why don't you tell them? Manufacturers, retailer, or both?

Surely you have heard the same complaint from others by now?

I still pay the same price as usual for each yard of net I buy, but it's such an inferior quality that it just doesn't hold up anymore. Why?—Catherine

Dear Folks: Manufacturers and retailers do NOT have to listen to me.

They have to listen to YOU. I can do absolutely nothing but tell you how to protect yourself when purchasing items.

It seems a darn shame when a magnifying glass and a flashlight become necessary shopping equipment! Eh?

I would love to see some woman (besides me) pull out a magnifying glass and inspect something before purchasing it. (I actually took a magnifying glass into one store once when purchasing yards of material and they nearly dropped dead). You can bet your bottom dollar that even if you don't know what YOU are doing or looking for, that the salesman will do a turn - about-face and will RESPECT you and probably wonder why his wife never had the GALL . . .

I am flooded with complaints (and samples) sent to me about nylon net. I have checked many of your complaints through one of the biggest laboratories and YOU all are correct in your "mad letters" . . . but no one can do anything about it except YOU, YOURSELF . . . you are powerful and don't even know it.

Remember the store is there for one purpose. To serve you. If you do NOT complain about things, the manager will not know that he has been receiving inferior merchandise. He wants to please you, too. If he didn't, he KNOWS that he would go out of business . . .

Since the women are using nylon net for so many items, there have been some inferior grades of it on the market. True. I have been in five different cities recently and bought as much as 60 and 80 yards of net at one time off the SAME counter at the SAME price, and brought it home for testing!

When I got home, I put one piece against the other.

Here's what I found:

They do vary! Some are awful, others excellent.

Some nets have bigger "open meshes" (which means that the HOLES in the net are BIGGER, etc.)

The open meshes provide space for oxygen. This type net does NOT lend endurance, and if flame is applied, burning of this type fabric will occur. Neither will this inferior type net hold up for mops, dishrags, pot and pan cleaners, etc. . . for long . . .

Pick up a piece of net and TEST IT YOURSELF. (I can't buy it for you . . . wish I could!) Put one piece of net against the other or on top of the other. LOOK and COMPARE the holes in each bolt of net (Yes, even if it is on the same table and the same price) and "buy the net with the SMALLEST holes!" The smaller the holes in the net, the better bargain you will get . . . This is the easiest way I know of to test net yourself without taking along a chemist.

DON'T buy inferior qualities of anything (unless it's really inexpensive and you can use it, and quality makes no difference to you) WITHOUT comparing it with a better quality . . . FIRST! You might just decide to buy a ARTIST AT WORK — Mrs. Herbert Fleming of Charlie has enjoyed the oil painting classes offered by the YWCA and probably will take further instruction. A new series of oil painting lessons will begin April 15 at 9:30 a.m. with Mrs. R. L. Thompson as instructor. Mrs. Fleming, had never painted until she enrolled in an oil painting class at the YWCA last fall, and now she has some beautiful landscapes and other pictures painted. Oil painting is one of many courses offered through the YWCA membership program. The YWCA is having its annual membership campaign all this week. Those who would like to join may do so by sending membership dues to the YWCA.

Olive Spread

For a tempting spread, finely chop 1/4 cup pitted ripe olives; mix with 1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese, 3 oz. crumbled Roquefort cheese, 1/4 cup grated pimiento process cheese and 1/4 cup finely chopped green onion or chives. Form into ball or loaf; chill. Decorate with shiny whole pitted ripe olives. Serve with crisp crackers.

Ice Cream Balls

For fast - minute, yet fancy desserts, home economists suggest gay ice cream balls. These can be scooped, decorated and refrozen. Good toppings to roll the ice cream balls in are chocolate sprinkles, coconut, cinnamon candies, crushed peanut brittle or even crushed pralines.

New Life For Hair

Temporary hair rinses give a woman with graying or dull hair a new lease on life. Use of such rinses calls for more frequent shampooing though, because the coloring tends to collect oil and grime.

Use Leftover Rice

Here's a delicious way to turn leftover rice into a welcome family dessert. Gently fold well drained canned fruit cocktail, flaked coconut and sweetened whipped cream into cooled, cooked rice. Put in serving dishes and add a garland of bright canned fruit cocktail to each.

FIRST USE WATER

Dip oysters that are to be fried into egg beaten with a few tablespoons of water and then into seasoned bread crumbs.

Authority On Falconry To Be Criterion Speaker

One of America's leading young authorities on birds of prey will give a lecture - demonstration for the Criterion Club guest night program Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Woman's Forum. He is Jim Fowler, known in many countries for his ability to train eagles, hawks and falcons. He has tracked down the Harpy eagle in British Guiana, and captured some of the young birds. He put them through a training program which he uses with other exotic birds in his lecture program, "Lighting on the Wing."

The Harpy eagle is considered a rarity. It lives in the rain forests of the Amazon Basin, and he succeeded in locating the eagle's nesting place.

Fowler began the study of falconry as a hobby while attending Earlham College in Indiana and he has made an intensive survey of eagles and other birds of prey for the past five years. He spent most of a year on an expedition in Africa to track down the Martial eagle, a magnificent creature with a seven-foot wingspread.

Fowler also has captured the fish-eating Cape Sea eagle and the Black-shouldered Kite, a colorful, high spirited hawk. He believes that birds of prey are as beautiful as they are necessary in their role of maintaining the balance of nature. He trains all of his wild birds to fly freely, instructing them mainly by reward, which is a piece of beef.

In his program Fowler will describe how fierce eagles, hawks and falcons are hunted, trapped and trained. He releases birds to fly freely in the audience. They are so well-trained they return to their master's arm on command.

This guest night will close the year's program for Criterion club members.

Workshop On Grooming To Be Held Tuesday

Grooming for Health Workshop meetings will start Tuesday at 10 a.m. in the Texas Electric Auditorium. Mrs. Roberta Palmer, manager of the Fed-way cosmetic department, will teach the first session from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

Mrs. Palmer will give general information on care for the body and will include information on cosmetics. She has been a trained cosmetic consultant for 20 years and attends schools regularly to learn the newest techniques of skin care. Included in the demonstration will be tips on minimizing bad features and stressing the good ones.

The grooming workshops will be in four sessions and will include information on weight control, shoe selection and foot care. Instructors will be Dr. Julian Acker, Dr. W. J. Johnston and Bud Hall.

The workshops are sponsored by the Wichita County program building sub-committee on clothing. Mrs. George Wyatt is chairman. Members of the sub-committee are Mmes. J. G. Cheney, Lem Parks, M. F. Felman, Emil Flusche, J. A. Fouts and Inez Morris. Miss Thelma Wiggins, county home demonstration

Dear Abby Your Duty Is To Husband And, Above All, Your Son Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: By the time I was 17 I had broken all the Ten Commandments except "Thou shalt not kill." I got into trouble with a boy and he ran away. The Salvation Army took me in and I had my baby at the Booth Memorial Hospital. I decided to keep my little son. I worked as a waitress to support him. I started going with a kind, sober, hard-working man. I told him the truth about myself right off, but he didn't care. He married me and adopted my 10-month-old son. He treats us grand. I don't deserve this kind of happiness. One thing bothers me. Both my husband and I have dark eyes and dark hair. My son has blue eyes and bright red hair. People keep asking us how come. My husband made me promise I would never tell anyone the boy wasn't his. Why can't I say I was married before and the boy is my first husband's?—HATES TO LIE

DEAR HATES: The boy is LEGALLY your husband's son. Blond and brunette parents can produce red-haired offspring. You owe inquisitive friends nothing. You owe your husband a great deal. Keep mum.

DEAR ABBY: My wife has frequently criticized me for not taking her arm when crossing the street. I say that it's the lady's place to take her escort's arm. All of the pictures I've seen of royalty, or continental personages of good breeding, show the lady taking hold of the gentleman's arm.

I hate to see a great hunk of a man pushing some frail thing around as if she were on casters, or slightly intoxicated. I would appreciate your opinion.—M.K.

DEAR M.K.: The gentleman should offer the lady his arm. If he does not, she may gently take his arm and ask, "May I?"

DEAR ABBY: Roger and I were married only 16 months. We decided that our marriage was a mistake, and since there were no children to consider there was no point in spending the rest of our lives in a loveless marriage. We got a divorce. Am I supposed to return Roger's wedding ring? How about my engagement ring? I put them in my drawer and have no desire to wear them. Would it be improper for me to sell the set?—DIVORCED

DEAR DIVORCED: The wedding ring and engagement ring are yours to do with whatever you wish.

DEAR ABBY: The woman who wrote to say that her husband took over the grocery shopping reminded me that my husband did that trick almost 30 years ago. He got the bright idea that I was too extravagant in the grocery store. He bought all sorts of silly items and overlooked the essentials. I got disgusted, so I went to his shop (he ran a garage) and started ordering the mechanics around. I made a real nuisance of myself because I did not know a nut from a bolt. My husband got the idea, and gladly promised to stay out of my business if I stayed out of his.—"SILVER THREADS"

MISS JAN CLARK

MISS JAN CLARK IS HONORED AT COKE PARTY

A Coke party was given Saturday afternoon between the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock in the home of Mrs. James E. Warden, 1656 Speedway, honoring Miss Jan Clark, senior in Wichita Falls High School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Clark, 1675 Ardath, and will be presented as a Junior Forum debutante.

Featured as the refreshment table centerpiece was a white graduation tree on a pink and white lace base with a "wise old owl" standing in the top and "graduates" dangling from the branches of pink flowers and pink and white ribbons. A pink floral arrangement accented the mantle in the living room. Favors were miniature graduates in pink with flowers at the bases of the stands.

Hostess with Mrs. Warden, grandmother of Miss Clark, was the honoree's aunt, Mrs. James R. Hamilton of Vernon. Others of the houseparty were Misses Claudia Henderson and Nancy Biggi. Miss Clark plans to enter North Texas State University in the fall.

SOFA-HIKI

One of the newest sectionals is the latex foam rubber sofa-hiki — a convenient piece to flank a large square lamp table for a corner arrangement. The sofa, which also can be used for sleeping, fits along the narrow wall of a room and the hiki snugly tucks in under the corner table with space for extra seating. It is really a wooden bench with a separate latex foam rubber cushion.

THE COOK'S CORNER

Need a real dazzler of a dessert? Serve this to your guests and sit back to await the praise.

Apricot Charlotte

24 lady fingers
2 cups hot orange juice
1 pint whipped cream
1 cup coconut
1/2 cup sugar
2 packages orange gelatin
1 1/2 cups cooked apricots
Grated rind of one orange
3 egg whites
Dissolve gelatin in hot orange juice and refrigerate until quite thick. Using 2 cups of dried apricots cook in just enough water to cover until soft. When gelatin is almost thickened, place apricots, sugar and egg whites in electric mixer and whip until light and fluffy. Add gelatin and whip again. Whip cream and fold into mixture. Fold in orange rind and coconut.

Oil an angel food cake tin. Cover bottom of the tin with half of the lady fingers. Stand the remaining lady fingers on end around the tin. Pour in the mixture and refrigerate until set. Top each serving with a dollop of sweetened whipped cream. Yum!

Despite the fact that chop suey is readily available by merely a twist of the wrist to open a can, I think you will find the following quite tasty and worth a little extra effort.

Pork Chop Suey

1/2 pound lean pork shoulder
3 cups water and 3 beef bouillon cubes
1/2 cup chopped celery leaves
1 cup sliced onions
1/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 Tablespoons fat
1/2 pound sliced mushrooms
1 1/4 cup thinly sliced celery
Two-thirds cup sliced green pepper

3 Tablespoons minute tapioca
Cut pork in small chunks and brown in fat. Add half of bouillon and continue cooking until meat is tender. (You have already dissolved the bouillon cubes in water, haven't you?) Add remaining bouillon, vegetables and seasonings. Cover and simmer until vegetables are tender.

Drain off stock, measure, and add water to make 2 1/2 cups. Add stock and tapioca to meat mixture and cook over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil, stirring constantly. Serve hot over rice. Serves 4 hungry people or 6 who had a big lunch.

A simple main dish that looks and tastes like something very special is yours by combining 1 cup crabmeat with two-thirds cup dry buttered bread crumbs, 2 beaten eggs, 1 Tablespoon chopped parsley, 2 Tablespoons chopped shallots (they taste better than green onions, don't you think?), 1/2 teaspoon salt and a pinch of dry mustard. Fill four large tomato shells, sprinkle with buttered crumbs and bake.

Whoever guesses how many the above recipe serves may have their recipe printed in this column. Just send your guesses and recipes to Gail Cooke, in care of Wichita Falls Times.

Don't Blame Garbage Man For Noise

If you don't want the garbage man to play a symphony of noise with your garbage cans, simply don't overload them.

Contrary to popular belief, the men who work on the garbage trucks don't bang garbage cans as part of a general conspiracy to destroy all garbage cans and awaken all housewives.

They merely want to empty the cans.

And after some 200-pound homeowner has stomped down on the garbage to get one last bagful into the can the night before

The Weeder's Guide

By EARL ARONSON

AP Newsfeatures

A flying dutchman came to our house by automobile, carrying a big box of spring flowers. Dick Schuyt of Haarlem, Holland, was grounded by a snowstorm on a tour taking him half way across this country.

Schuyt is an internationally known floral arranger and designer who grew up in Holland's bulb district. He has created flower show displays in many countries.

So when Dick walked through our door and handed the lady of the house the flowers, she handed them right back and subtly, like an elephant in a greenhouse, set two bowls (one a converted bomb sight we acquired long ago) on the table.

The tall, handsome Dutchman, to whom "the flowers come first," had a fine chance to voice his theories.

The flowers, he says, "never play a secondary role to the containers. To the subordinate plant material, to the place where the exhibit is being held or even to an abstract design that exists in my head."

"I never subject flowers to an arbitrary design, but always let the design glorify the flowers," he said, trimming the stems of his gift of bright red tulips and gay daffodils with a sharp knife.

"There is a tendency to allow flowers to be overwhelmed by secondary considerations — a preconceived formula, artificial accessories, unnatural bouquets," he said. "To me this is a mistake, and this is what I mean when I say flowers come first."

He intends his arrangements to glorify the natural beauty of the flowers.

Schuyt suggests that before starting an arrangement, the occasion and situation be considered. This, he says, facilitates ordering the appropriate flowers to create a suitable design.

Here are some of his suggestions for home arrangements:

Buy only fresh flowers. But the stems at an angle with a sharp knife, wrap in florist's or waxed paper, stand them upright in cold water for an hour. Do not use newspaper as the print may spot foliage and blossoms.

Keep on hand a variety of pin holders, oasis blocks, chicken wire and assorted simple containers of various heights.

The intended use of the arrangement should determine the type of container. For pedestals, where height is desirable, use a tall vase. A shallow container will not block the view across the dining room table. Simple containers will not detract attention from the flowers.

Let the design glorify the flowers. Do not mix incongruous flowers. Use natural materials — wood, stone, foliage — and avoid artificial accessories. Driftwood has little to do with tulips but flowering cherry branches and tulips together express spring. Pine cones are fine for Christmas but use care in combining them with iris or tulip arrangements. Some combinations Schuyt enjoys include tulips with iris or azaleas or lilacs. Daffodils and lilacs; tulips, iris or daffodils with forsythia; cherry, pussy willows, tulips and rhododendron.

Avoid using many different flowers in one arrangement.

Remember that the design "exists to call attention to the essential qualities of the flowers," he said. "Therefore, I find it best to use no more than two or three different kinds of flowers that naturally bloom in the same season."

Schuyt prefers to mix colors only in large bouquets of tulips. He suggests that for effective arrangements of 12 to 18 tulips, use two colors, evenly divided, or one as a primary color and the second for accent.

Beautiful Plants Require Planning

The home owner who expects to grow beautiful trees, shrubs and flowers must carry out a preventative program against the disease which commonly attack such plants in his area. It's really a case of where "a stitch in time saves nine," says county agent B. T. Haws.

For example, he adds, black spot and powdery mildew are common diseases of roses and occur annually in most rose gardens. If the gardener waits until these diseases have become severe, little can be done to eliminate the problem without causing the infected plants to suffer a loss in vigor and beauty, the county agent said.

On the other hand, if a recommended fungicide spray or dust is used regularly, the disease can be prevented.

It is important that gardeners be able to recognize common diseases early in their development or better still, anticipate their occurrence. Control measures taken when the disease first appears will serve to insure the health and vigor of the plants, Haws explained.

In addition to protective foliar fungicides, the use of soil sterilants prior to planting can prevent infection of plants by soil-borne diseases. Such chemicals as Vapam, VPM, or Mylone are commonly used soil sterilants, but they must be used well in advance of planting, the county agent said.

The home gardener can prevent many diseases by keeping his plants in a healthy, vigorous state of growth. The use of adequate amounts of water and fertilizer will help produce healthy plants. When irrigating or watering, care should be taken to keep the water off the foliage, because fungi and bacteria are more likely to attack plant parts which remain damp, the county agent explained.

Control measures are known for most diseases which attack ornamentals, and publications on the subject are available at county Extension offices. MP-574, "Texas Guide for Controlling Diseases on Ornamental Plants" is one of the most popular, Haws said.

Southern Portugal supplies one half of the cork output of the world.

Guarantee For Seeds Offered

For the fourth straight year, the Lawn Institute is offering its Seal of Approval of qualifying lawn seed mixtures. While there are many excellent lawn seed packages not utilizing this seal, it is nonetheless an extra guarantee of quality for those packages which display it.

The seal is an oblong emblem bearing the words "The Lawn Institute Seal of Approval." It attests that the analysis of the seed mixture on which displayed has passed muster in the following ways:

1. The mixture is generally appropriate for the climate where being marketed.

2. At least 75 per cent of the seed contained is of kinds that are perennial, fine-textured, and capable of spreading into a durable sod.

3. No permanently undesirable grasses are included, though temporary nursegrasses in minor proportions are allowable.

For an era in which there are so many new and confusing lawn-grass varieties, a Seal of Approval attesting to general usefulness and quality will be helpful to many homeowners. A purchaser should still read the ingredient listing required on the package, to see that suitable proportions of the major grass types recommended for his area are contained. In most areas and for most uses throughout the northern two-thirds of the nation, a good quality seed mixture will be based upon Kentucky bluegrass in one or more of its many varieties, with reasonable proportions of Oregon fine fescues too.

Garden Talk

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of articles written for the Times Garden Page each Sunday by Mrs. Beckham (Lucille) Guthrie of Henrietta, who is horticulture chairman of the Women's Forum Garden Club in Wichita Falls. Mrs. Guthrie also is a National Flower Show Judge and a member of the Green Thumb Study Club of the Wichita Falls Garden Club.

By LUCILLE GUTHRIE
Seeds of cockscomb, pinks, zinnias, marigolds and other annuals, can be planted now between the tulips, jonquils and other bulbs, to take over as the foliage withers.

Mow the lawn and fertilize with a commercial fertilizer with a high nitrogen content. Water well and with a few days of warm weather, the lawn will soon be green.

Dust or spray roses every 10 days.

If the crape myrtle has not been pruned, trim the outer branches on the shrub by removing last year's bloom terminals. All the excess growth should be cut from vitex, althea, and other summer flowering shrubs.

Give the iris plenty of water this month as they will be blooming.

April is a good time to plant vines. Heavenly Blue morning glory seeds will germinate more quickly if nicked.

The weigela japonica, forsythia and other spring blooming shrubs should be pruned when they have finished blooming.

Set out bright colored bedding plants, such as petunias, verbenas, snapdragons and others, while the pinks are still in bloom, to carry color on into the summer.

Keep an insecticide on hand to combat the red spiders that appear early in warm weather. This pest attacks many plants, especially cypripediums, violets and verbenas.

Make another planting of gladioli corms.

Give gardenias a feeding of cotton seed meal and an acid fertilizer. After applying, water it in well.

Prepare beds in shade for caladiums coleus and hosta. These can be planted when the weather gets a little warmer. Work in peat moss or compost.

Give the lilacs a feeding of lime and superphosphate after they have finished blooming.

BEFORE AND AFTER—Wichita Falls nurseryman Joe Foster is anticipating future production as he holds mature tomatoes beside a portion of the plants he now has on hand. The tomatoes he is holding were produced last winter during an experiment at Foster Nursery, 202 Burnett. Future plans call for commercial production during the winter months. Foster explained that he carries a complete supply of tomato and bedding plants.

DOROTHY DIGS

The yearly battle against weeds has started in most areas by this time. It seems to most of us that weeds always seem to grow where they are not wanted. However, much of this annual nuisance can be easily controlled by using modern methods of spraying weed foliage and areas where weed seed is a problem. When preparing a new planting area precautions should be taken to destroy all top growth before seeding starts. This can be done by spraying the entire area with a foliage contact spray containing Aromatic Hydrocarbons. Be sure that the weeds are wet down thoroughly before applying the weed killer. No waiting period will be necessary to replant after the weeds are destroyed with this contact type spray. Always be sure that you are using the right weed killer for your purpose as some are selective in nature whereas others will destroy most all plant growth. Read labels and directions for use carefully to avoid damage to other growth in the area.

Roses are at the peak of the growing season and care will have to be taken now to avoid the damage done by Aphids that occurs regularly each year if we neglect them. A regular preventative spraying program is always the best.

This can be done with one product only for the entire season. A rose spray which contains nicotine and copper is available in most garden supply stores.

If rose foliage persists in yellowing off and insects, mildew or rust is not present then use iron sulphate to tone up the foliage and strengthen the roots. This should be repeated once a month during the summer months to insure good plants for the following year. Remember that good care practices during the dormant season will show good results in the growing season.

If rust persists, even after treatment, it would be wise to strip the leaves completely from the bush and use the same rose spray treatment. Be sure to clean up all fallen leaves and spray the ground as well as the rose bushes while the foliage is off.

Almond Cream Pies

Almonds do much to enhance the flavor and color of cream pies. Stir 1/2 cup roasted diced or toasted slivered almonds into chocolate or butterscotch filling before turning into pie shell.

Quick Bean Supper

Combine and heat 1 can (1 lb.) cut Blue Lake green beans and their liquid with 1 can (10 1/2 oz.) condensed cream of celery soup and 1 can (6 1/2 or 7 oz.) tuna. Serve on crisp toast or rusk for a colorful and hearty main course.

SPRING ACTIVITY—Montague, Tex. — Jerry Clements, with sprayer, and Kenneth Anthony, both employees of the Montague Experiment Station, are applying the first growing season spray to the experimental fruit trees. Early season insects and disease must be controlled now, stated U. A. Randolph, superintendent of the station. The homeowner can obtain details concerning insect and disease control by contacting their local county agent or nursery representatives.

Green Plants Give Additional Beauty

By EDNA KING MANDEVILLE

Have you ever wondered why most people have at least one green plant at home or why the decor of many offices and institutions includes some kind of living plants? It is a conscious or unconscious reaching out to the world of soil and vegetation; a stretching out of one's arm to touch the hand of nature. It gives one a sense of balance, an evenness of mind, and a feeling of refreshment.

Seed Planting

I always look forward to the time when my seeds have been planted and I can devote an hour or more to give my garden the care needed to make it grow and give me the pleasure of its beauty. Here are some basic steps necessary in the care of your garden. Let's assume that you have kept the flower beds moist until the seeds have germinated and that the plants have their second set of leaves. By this time you may find that the plants are too close together. Thin them out so that they are spaced as suggested on the packet. The number of inches will vary with different varieties. This is important because overcrowding will mean spindly plants and smaller blooms.

You may decide to transplant some of the plants that you take out. If so, be careful not to destroy the roots as you take them out of the soil. Make a hole with a pencil or other rounded object. The hole must be deep enough so that the roots will have enough space and not fold. Press the soil firmly with your fingers around the plant. Keep the ground moist until the plant has become established.

Wedding

Another basic step is weeding.

Weeds take moisture and nourishment from the plants. Pull out any weeds that come up. Use your garden hand fork to cultivate around the plants so that the soil that cuddles them is fine, loose, and airy. Do not dig deeper than half an inch so that you will not disturb the roots.

Most varieties develop into well shaped plants if given plenty of room. This process can be encouraged with some flowers by a process called "pinching." This is accomplished by pinching off the center stalk when the plant is about four inches tall. This causes the plant to form side shoots to fill out closer to the base, and to grow into a pleasing bush. Among varieties that benefit most from pinching are Asters, Calendula, Cosmos, Marigold, Petunia, and Zinnia.

If you will follow these basic steps it will not be long before you will have the thrill of seeing the first buds appear. From this point on get to the garden in the morning and in the evening for the sheer pleasure of picking the flowers as soon as they reach full bloom. The more flowers you pick the more flowers the plant will produce. This is because the natural tendency of a plant is to make seeds. In order to do this, the plant must bloom. So if you pick the flowers, the plant will produce more in its natural drive to reproduce.

Fourth Graders Give P-TA Program

Fourth graders presented a program of American spirituals for the Austin P-TA Thursday afternoon. Miss Betty Kidd and Mrs. Nancy King directed the students.

Officers elected by acclamation were Mmes. Paul Fisher, president; Carl Taylor, John Hatfield and John Tevis, first through third vice presidents; Archie Auld, secretary; George Cox, treasurer; A. B. Taylor, parliamentarian and King, historian. Mrs. Edward Neas was chairman of the nominating committee.

A pre-school tea May 7 at 2:30 p.m. will be held for mothers and children who will attend the first grade next year. Mrs. John Hatfield announced. Mrs. Hazel Trammell, Mrs. George Cox and Fred Smith are the auditing committee. Mrs. Roger Hanks, representing the North Texas Mental Health Center, presented a film of interest to the parents and teachers. The film was "He Acts His Age."

Mrs. King won room count for the upper grades and Mrs. Mary Prescott for the lower grades.

Advise Given To Tree Owners

When buds are ready to break, it's count down time for pesky spring canker-worms.

Living time capsules, they hatch from eggs only when their chow is ready for gulping—precisely when leaves unfold. Among the hungriest critters in insectdom, they frequently chop their way through tender greenery until the tree victim is completely defoliated. Infestations of two or three years weaken trees to the point where many may die.

Fortunately, the cankerworm, often known as the measuring worm or inchworm, is easily controlled. One spraying of DDT, arsenate of lead or malathion is usually enough to exterminate the bulk of the population.

Cankerworms are something of mystery guests. They have the habit of appearing in certain areas about every seven to nine years, but nobody is able to foretell where or why they'll appear. The Epicurean taste of the cankerworm leans to elm, oak, apple and linden. Maple, dogwood and other valuable specimen trees are also included on the menu. Cankerworms are such gluttons they'll consume new leaves as fast as they'll grow. Severely infested trees will remain bare until the feeding is completed in late spring.

Caterpillars are green to black and about one and one-half inches long when fully grown. They have legs on the front and rear and crawl by inching along. They couldn't exist without their wonderful built-in timing mechanism. Caterpillars hatched before leaves unfold would starve. Similarly, caterpillars hatched later in the growing season would find adult leaves too tough to chew and digest.

Proper Lawn Care Pays Benefits

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. — For an attractive lawn this summer, homeowners should review and plan lawn care, reports J. Neal Pratt, area Extension agronomist with Texas A&M University.

Proper fertilization, watering and mowing are important, he says.

Fertilization should continue through the growing season, Pratt said. Start when grass begins to grow using a complete fertilizer. Pratt suggests one having equal amounts of nitrogen, phosphate and potassium for this first application. Apply at the rate of two pounds of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet.

During the growing season, apply nitrogen every eight to 10 weeks at the rate of one to two pounds of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet. Pratt points out that nitrogen is the key element in turf growth. It produces the deep green color homeowners desire.

When watering the lawn, Pratt believes you should soak the soil to a depth of six inches.

"This encourages a deep root system that will utilize plant nutrients more efficiently and be more resistant to diseases," Pratt said. "Light sprinkling produces shallow, weak root systems that encourage weed infestation and disease."

Avocado Skewers

Dip cubes of California avocado in lemon juice and sprinkle with salt. Wrap in strips of luncheon meat, skewer on toothpicks and dip in barbecue sauce for hors d'oeuvres.

Aid To Campers

It's a good idea to include a galvanized steel utility basket on your list of camping supplies. You can use it both as a packing container and, later, for washing, bathing and carrying water or fire wood.

Opening lead: Queen of ♥ Proper use of the "two club convention" produced a crucial swing for one team on a hand taken from a recent team-of-four match.
In the sequence shown above, North's two club bid is artificial and requests his partner to show a biddable four card major suit. South rebid two spades which North cheerfully raised to game.
South won the queen of hearts lead in his hand and laid down the ace-queen of trumps. When East showed out, declarer abandoned the suit temporarily, shifting to king and a small diamond. West discarded on the second lead and the ace won in the dummy. A diamond was returned and East was in with the queen. A heart was led to shorten dummy's trumps. Declarer countered by playing another diamond. West trumped in but could not prevent declarer from taking 10 tricks now.

At the other table, North raised South's opening no trump bid directly to three. Even though they were not using the two club convention, they might have reached the four spade contract, had North chosen a three diamond response for which he had the required 10 points. South could now bid three spades just as a check back on the way to no trump and North, of course, would choose the suit contract.
West opened the deuce of hearts against three no trump. Since this apparently marked him with four of the suit and East with six, declarer felt that if anyone were short in diamonds it would be East. So he cashed the king of diamonds first and, when West showed out on the next lead, the contract was down one.
North contended that his partner should have played spades first but, if East discards properly, South will still have the diamond guess. At four spades he could afford to lose a diamond trick and still make the hand.

The next special series will begin Monday, April 13th to run for eight consecutive Mondays. To be eligible for the silver trophy the winner must compete in at least five games with four different partners.

The April masterpoint game for the Sunday club will be held at the Bridge Studio this afternoon beginning at 1:30 p.m.

Foam Rubber Anchor

If flyweight plastic foam chair or sofa cushions constantly shift out of position, try putting an uncovered piece of sheet latex foam rubber under the cushion. The thousands of tiny air cells in the foam rubber will grip the upholstery fabric and help ease the cushion's wanderlust. Better still, the cushions can be easily replaced with real foam rubber!

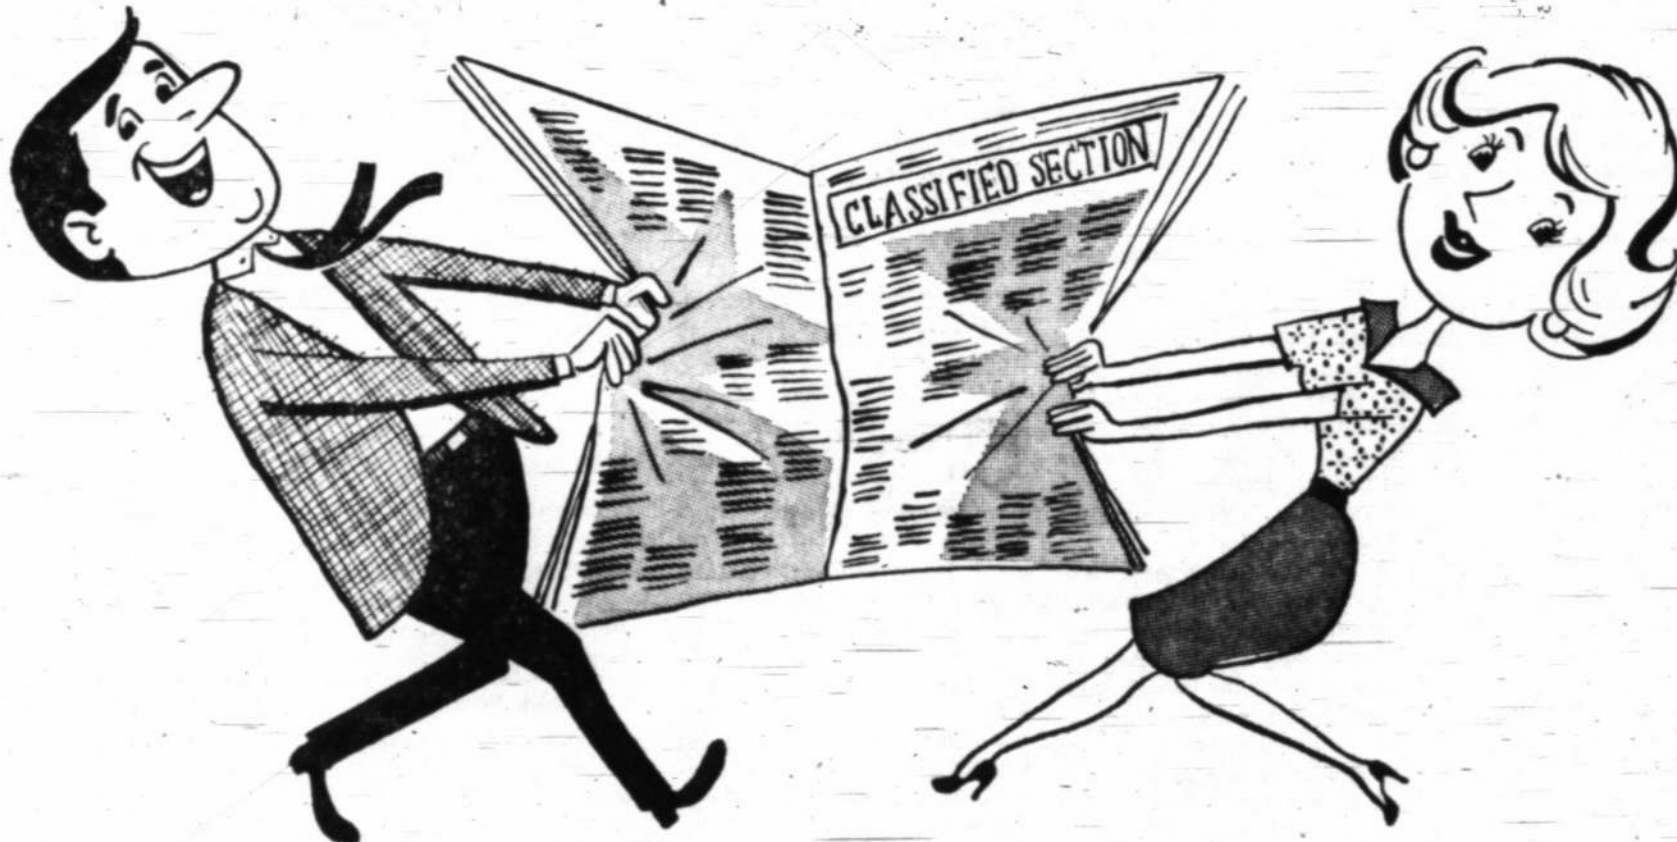

Washing Sportswear?

Washday for the family sportswear? Give heavy-duty laundry a cleaning boost by adding pine cleaner to the wash water. This booster helps remove stubborn grass stains, clay streaks, grime from shorts, shirts and socks. Sneaker hint: scrub on a solution of a pine oil cleaner before putting sneakers into washer or washtub—removes ground-in dirt and tar.

Four WFHS Senior Girls Are Honorees At Party

Four Wichita Falls High School senior girls were honored Saturday morning by Mrs. Dale Dublin at her home, 4414 Nassau.

The honorees were Misses Mary Underwood, Gayle Underwood, Donna Daniel and Jan Gray. Their parents are Messrs. and Mrs. R. Clay Underwood, 2025 Downing; Guy Underwood, 2512 Hampstead; Leroy Daniel, 3400 Glenwood and Wilson Gray, 2012 Keeler. Mothers of the four girls were special guests.

A spring theme was used in decorating for the party for 100 guests. The hours were 10 a.m. until noon. An ornate silver epergne held a bouquet of tulips, jonquils, iris, stock and heather accented with colorful cascades of grapes. Silver appointments completed the table decor.

A large colonial nosegay, also of the spring flowers used on the refreshment table, was placed on the buffet. That arrangement was showered with multi-color ribbons. Each of the honored guests wore a white cymbidium corsage.

Miss Gayle Underwood is enrolled in Texas Tech for the fall term. She has been president of Girls' Club, a member of the annual staff and senior-play cast, the National Honor Society and Goal Post Decorators. She also has been secretary of office assistants, a member of Pink Darlings and a member of the First Methodist Youth Choir.

Miss Gray will attend Midwestern University. At WFHS she was on the Girls Club council, secretary of Girls' Gym Leaders; an office assistant and vice president of her home room. She is vice president of Pink Darlings also.

Miss Daniel plans to attend Baylor University in the fall. She is a member of the National Theatrical Society, the A Cappella Choir, French Club and secretary of the WFHS Honor Society. She has been awarded a scholarship sweater for each of three years in high school. She has a role in the senior play and is active in youth activities at the First Baptist Church.

Miss Mary Underwood was a runner-up for the DAR Good Citizen award and won a scholarship sweater her junior and senior years. She is vice president of Junior Student Sponsors, a library assistant and is a member of the National Honor Society, Latin Club and Girls' Club. She is second vice president of the Junior Forum. Her college plans are undecided.

Each of the four girls will be presented at a Junior Forum debutante May 9.

Clean Foam Rubber Cushions With Vacuum, Soap, Water

How do I clean the covers on foam rubber cushions in my sofa is one of the questions homemakers ask most frequently. Here's the Latex Foam Rubber Council's authoritative answer.

The best thing for upholstery fabrics is a regular going over with the vacuum cleaner. Use the dust brush attachment. Vacuuming keeps dirt, dust and lint from building up in both the fabric and the pores of the cushion. If dirt builds up in fabrics, it is very difficult to get it out again, and causes the fabric to wear quickly.

Normally, vacuuming is enough to keep a foam rubber cushion fresh and clean. If it has been a long time between cleanings, remove the cover before you vacuum. However, if something has been spilled on the cushion, and fabric and cushion are soaked, more drastic measures are required.

Never use cleaning fluids on foam rubber because they can cause it to deteriorate. If you plan to use cleaning fluid, remove the cover first, use the cleaner, and let the cover dry before you replace it.

If the cushion itself must be cleaned, the only safe thing to use is a mild solution of soap or detergent and water. Try not to saturate the cushion—it can take a long time for a big foam rubber cushion to dry—and it should never be placed in a dryer or in sunlight. Just go over the stain lightly.

'64 Prospects Good, Majors Are Advising

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP) — Stockholders of most major oil companies are being advised that prospects for 1964 are good.

Most annual reports are optimistic but warn of continued sharp competition and depressed products prices.

Standard Oil Co. of Indiana summarized the situation:

"Prospects for the industry in 1964 are generally good, even with perennial difficulties with costs, prices and regulations. Even though prices for crude oil and refined products continue under pressure... record levels in industry operations, along with further gains in earnings, appear likely."

Socony Mobil Oil Co. emphasized its forecast of a good year by saying it has earmarked a record $475 million for 1964 capital and exploration expenditures.

Free World Demand
Texaco said Free World demand for petroleum in 1964 should rise about six per cent, from two to three per cent in the United States and eight to 10 per cent in other areas.

Phillips Petroleum said expanding highway systems, trends to suburban living, increasing pleasure travel, and a rising general economy should cause 1963's strong demand for gasoline to continue.

Gulf reported record 1963 earnings but said gasoline prices averaged one-half cent below 1964.

"At Gulf's 1963 level of operations in the United States alone, one-half cent a gallon in the price of gasoline is equivalent to more than $24 million a year in operating revenues," Gulf said.

Price Problems
Standard Oil of California said there is indication of continued progress and growth in 1964 but such prospects are tempered by price and other industry problems persisting from 1963.

"To lessen the adverse impact of the cost-price squeeze on company earnings, management is expanding and intensifying its various programs for controlling and reducing the costs of doing business," the California report said.

Stockholders of Shell were told it is generally predicted 1964 will be another good year for the economy, and the oil industry "although industry earnings may not show the same increases they did from 1962 to 1963."

Sinclair reported another 32 per cent increase in its earnings but said only two per cent of the gain could be attributed to better product prices.

The Sinclair report said virtually all the increase was created by a program to reduce costs, increase profits from existing sources, and create new sources of revenue.

AAODC Parley Is Held Here

Members of the North Texas Chapter of the Association of Oil-Well Drilling Contractors heard a discussion on "Rig Personnel" when they held their second meeting of the year in the Charcoal and Saddle Club at the Town and Country Motor Hotel.

Speaker was Gene Bowman, Big Chief Drilling Co., Oklahoma City, chairman of the AAODC national membership and dues committee.

Bowman said AAODC is experiencing one of its best years and particularly emphasized the need for harmony within the oil industry. He also discussed the economy of the oil industry with emphasis on the relationship between the operator and the contractor.

He also discussed several measures now pending in Congress which would greatly affect the oil industry.

The need of upgrading rotary drilling equipment by replacing worn equipment was stressed by Bowman who concluded his talk with a discussion of the importance of increasing the efficiency of drilling rig personnel. He pointed out the growing need for an incentive plan to cover this group.

Bowman served as moderator during an open discussion session. Attending the meeting was H. D. Paxson, Dallas, member of the national AAODC staff. He discussed the rapid growth of AAODC and the importance of reducing the membership drop-out, particularly in the categories of contractors, producers and supplies.

Presiding was James T. (Bo) Jones, chairman of the North Texas AAODC chapter and owner of the Bo Jones Drilling Co. Other chapter officers attending included H. J. Ritter, G. E. Kadane & Sons, vice chairman; C. W. Fleetwood, Hughes Tool Co., secretary; and Leon Heath, Baroid Division of National Lead Co., treasurer.

SCHEDULED AT SYMPOSIUM Wichitan Author Of Flood Paper

A Wichita Falls resident, J. D. Moyer, petroleum engineer in the North Texas division production office of Cities Service Oil Co., has been selected to present a paper before the sixth biennial Secondary Recovery Symposium in Wichita Falls May 4 and 5.

Moyer will present his paper at the afternoon session May 4 in the Maskat Temple, where all technical sessions will be held.

Title of Moyer's paper will be "Multiple Zone Water Flooding in North Texas."

Born and reared in northwestern Oklahoma, Moyer attended Northwestern Oklahoma State College and Oklahoma State College prior to U.S. Navy service in World War II.

While working for the Caterpillar Tractor Co., he attended night classes at Oklahoma City University and graduated with a B. S. degree in 1953. Since that time he has been with Cities Service on various assignments in Oklahoma and North Texas.

North Texas Floods
During the past seven years Moyer's work has been closely associated with the design, installation and operation of numerous North Texas water floods.

He is a member of the North Texas Section of the SPE.

Following is a brief abstract of Moyer's paper:

"Multiple zone water flooding in North Texas has resulted in reduced costs and increased recoveries through improved economics, and multiple completion of water injection wells has materially reduced development costs."

"Further cost savings have been realized through slim hole and tubingless completions. Odds of getting a perfect hand at contract bridge (all 13 cards of one suit) are one in 635,013, 559,600 deals."

erating cost savings result from reduced overhead, shorter operating time interval and concurrent use of personnel and equipment."

H. Groeneveld, Socony Mobil Oil of Canada Ltd., will be the author of another paper to be presented at the same Symposium session. Title will be "Pressure Maintenance by Fluid Injection in the North Pembina Cardium Unit No. 1."

Educated in Holland
Groeneveld was educated in Holland, graduating as a mechanical engineer from Delft University in 1947. He joined Standard Vacuum Petroleum Maatschappij the same year and trained as an equipment engineer in the United States.

After four years in Indonesia as a petroleum engineer he moved to Canada in 1951 where he joined Socony Mobil Oil of Canada Ltd. He was district engineer for Saskatchewan until 1956 and was transferred to the Calgary division office where he is now a staff reservoir engineer in the exploitation section.

A brief abstract of Groeneveld's paper follows:

"The North Pembina Cardium Unit No. 1 pressure maintenance project consists of 33,000 acres under water flood and 12,500 acres under miscible flood."

The Cardium sand, which is sporadically overlain by a conglomerate section, is characterized by severe stratification.

"Basic reservoir data for different areas within the unit are presented. Reservoir performance for the miscible flood as well as for the water flood is discussed. Although the performance history is short it is evident that formation stratification has a dominant effect on the reservoir performance."

The Symposium is being sponsored by the North Texas Section of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of the AIME.

Tales of the Oil Country

Oilmen Challenge Nature, Risk Millions Of Dollars

The world of oil anecdotes is one of the richest and most rewarding any writer could want, due largely to the fact that oilmen challenge nature, risk millions, and always have a chance of hitting a bonanza.

Here are a few such stories I was thinking about today as I sat down to bat out a column:

A Misspelled Word

When John Suman was with Roxana he had to send 10 copies of highly detailed reports every day to The Hague.

One report showed a fishing job on a certain well where the bailer had been lost in the hole. Suman's secretary misspelled bailer.

A few days later a cablegram from The Hague demanded answers to two questions.

(1) How did the boiler get into the hole in the first place, and (2) what methods are being employed to get it out?

Times Changed

Paul Ryan said that in the later part of the last century there was a man in his town in Pennsylvania who had started with the oil industry in its very inception.

Friends wanted him to talk at an oil meeting and compare the old days with the then recent oil industry.

It was a job, but they finally convinced the old codger to say a word or two. They just wanted to have a short comparison. He finally agreed.

He got up and said: "In the beginning the oil industry was run by Indians and crooks. Now the Indians are all gone."

Pipeline Engineer

One day the late Miles Frank Yount called Mike Halbouty into his office. He asked Mike what he knew about building a pipeline. Mike said he knew nothing about the subject.

Yount persisted. He reminded Mike he had finished Texas A. & M. with high honors in engineering and that he should know at least a little about pipeline engineering. Mike was sorry. He didn't know anything. "You're certain. There's no question about it," Yount asked. Mike said he was positive.

"All right, then, you are now my pipeline engineer. I'm building a line from East Texas and I want it built my way, not how some engineer wants it built."

Meant Little

I complimented the late Jack Frazier on a story I had heard about him making $150,000 on a deal.

He said, "Jim, it doesn't mean a thing. When I make $150,000 I merely reduce my debt by that much. When I lose it, I simply add that much to my debt."

Instructions Given

The late O. W. Killam didn't believe in geologists but he was curious about why big companies had them, so he hired a couple. One of them started giving him daily reports.

"We have encountered the pleistocene."

"We have hit the miocene."

"We are approaching the eocene."

Mr. Killam patiently asked the young man to sit down. He complimented him on his knowledge but admitted he didn't know what he was talking about. But he said the reports such as he had been bringing in were not necessary. Just stay on the job, he said.

"But, young man," he said, "you drop everything and come tearing in here and let me know the instant you hit the kerosene."

Stopping Point

When the Port Acres Field was discovered in 1957 in a sand at 10,962 feet, someone was unkind enough to take a log of the well to Glenn McCarthy's office on Main Street in Houston and compare it with a log of the well Glenn drilled only 1500 feet southeast in 1941.

The comparative logs showed that Glenn had stopped exactly 19 feet short of the tremendous sand in the deepest well he had ever drilled in his life up to that time.

McCarthy studied the logs a few minutes, probably suffered over the fact that he had missed a bonanza that probably would have kept him from ever going broke. Then he just leaned back in his chair, looked at his visitors calmly, and said: "Well, a man has to stop somewhere."

JAMES E. SMITH

SPE Will Hear Abilene Man

A paper pertaining to salt pollution will be presented Thursday night when members of the North Texas Section of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of the AIME meet at the Holiday Inn.

Presenting the paper will be James E. Smith, district engineer for District 7-B of the Texas Railroad Commission in Abilene.

Title of the paper will be "Application of Engineering Techniques to Complex Salt Pollution Problems." Co-authors of the papers are two other Railroad Commission employees, Mike Wills and Alvin Roschke, both petroleum engineers.

A 1958 graduate of Texas A&M Smith holds a B.A. degree in petroleum engineering.

Smith joined the Railroad Commission in 1958 and was initially assigned to the Abilene district as an engineer.

In 1962, he was promoted to senior field engineer in District No. 4 at Corpus Christi. In September, 1963, he was promoted to his present position.

Smith is a member of the West Central Texas Waterflood Association, American Petroleum Institute and the AIME.

A social hour will start Thursday night at 6:30 o'clock. Dinner will be served at 7 p.m.

by FRANK O. HALL
OIL EDITOR

"The vitality of local government is the very essence of our progress and freedom," Gov. John Connally of Texas told some 1500 representatives of the petroleum industry the past week in San Antonio.

"When we fail to make state and local government effective—fail to keep it responsive to change and to the needs of the people—we not only invite federal intervention; we encourage it," he said.

Connally spoke during the annual meeting of the National Petroleum Refiners Association.

Sounds Warning

He warned against the tendency to permit the federal government to handle domestic issues and programs which can be better administered from the state or local levels.

"If the duties of the national government continue to mount," he said, "we will soon see the Congress in session 12 months every year, wrestling with every type of domestic problem imaginable, while our state and local governments stand by their hands out waiting to serve as middle men for all of the federal grants."

"It has become too easy to run to Washington for help," the governor said, "and we have only ourselves to blame."

Makes Appeal

"My appeal to you, as responsible citizens of this state and other states, is to ask yourself what you can do to improve your local or state government so that it can properly fulfill its obligations," he added.

Connally pointed out that while the federal government leads the world struggle against communism it would be a grave mistake to forget the multitude of day-to-day services being provided by 50 states, 3100 counties, 18,000 municipalities and 34,000 school districts.

REFINING CAPACITY GAINS PAST YEAR

Refinery crude - charge capacity in the United States increased 2 1/2 per cent during the past year, The Oil and Gas Journal has reported.

Capacity at 288 refineries now totals 10,725,000 barrels per stream day, up 268,000 barrels per day from a year ago - the largest gain since 1958.

Within the next two or three years another 250,000 barrels per day will be added to the nation's ability to charge crude oil.

But most of the 40 current construction projects are for new downstream facilities or will replace old equipment, the weekly business magazine said.

The amount of capital earmarked for new facilities is about 20 per cent higher than last year.

Downstream Capacity
In downstream capacity, hydrogen treating continues to be the big gainer, with capacity up 7.7 per cent to 2,749,000 barrels per stream day. Another 3 per cent gain is due by the end of the year.

Catalytic cracking increased by 164,000 barrels per day in 1963. This is the smallest gain in more than 20 years. At 5,609,000 barrels per day, catalytic cracking has possibly reached or is near its peak.

Hydrocracking jumped from 18,250 to 72,150 barrels per day in the past year. In about two years the capacity should soar to more than 200,000 barrels daily.

Canadian Capacity

Canadian refiners registered better - than - average gains in crude capacity and in all downstream processing facilities, the Journal says.

Present crude - charge capacity at 43 refineries is 1,086,000 barrels per stream day, compared with 1,054,000 barrels a year earlier. This is a gain of about 3 per cent.

The crude - charge increase was due primarily to completion of two new refineries in Eastern Canada in 1963.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN OIL ACTIVITY REPORT ISSUED

The percentage of success in exploration for oil and gas in the Rocky Mountain region in 1963 was a little higher than it was in 1962. This is one of the characteristics of the year's activity which is pointed out in Petroleum Information's "34th Annual Resume of Oil and Gas Activity in the Rockies."

The new volume is a complete narrative and statistical history of the entire year's oil industry operations. It points out that only 3312 wells were completed in the region during the year - fewer than in any year since 1952, but shows that Rocky Mountain activity was in line with the general level of drilling in the entire country.

The 3312 wells drilled in the Rockies included 1323 wildcats. Of these, 93 found oil, 28 were gas discoveries.

Leader among Rocky Mountain states as to total wells drilled, number of wildcats drilled, and number of discoveries completed, was Wyoming. This state also led, as it has for many years, in the production of oil.

The resume points out that total expenditures in the Rockies by the oil industry during the year amounted to just over $800 million, according to best available estimates.

The volume contains more than 210 pages, including numerous graphs, charts, maps and tabulations. It reviews lease activity, refinery and pipeline operations, lists all wells drilled, and the production during 1963 and cumulatively from the oil fields of the region. It is the standard reference work on annual oil and gas industry activity in Rocky Mountain states.

The resume, paperbound, is available from Petroleum Information Corp., 1640 Grant St., Denver, Colo.

Oil producers are viewing with alarm a series of crude oil price cuts which have been taking place in Kansas and Oklahoma during the last two weeks.

A total of 66,300 barrels daily of Kansas' total production of 306,000 barrels daily has been cut by 5 cents per barrel, and a small amount of Oklahoma production has been cut by a like amount.

Informed industry sources advise that the price cuts are the result of unprofitable retail pricing. It is estimated that gasoline price wars during the first quarter of 1964 have cost the industry in subsidies to service station dealers and operators nearly $300 million, which is about $100 million more than the first quarter of 1963.

The average oil producer, who finds and produces crude oil but has no refineries and service stations, observes with consternation that extended gasoline price wars throughout the country can not long continue without having an adverse effect upon him.

It stands to reason that no decent price for the raw material, crude oil, can be maintained when the principal finished product, gasoline, is almost given away at the service station.

Highly Competitive

The marketers insist that the retail gasoline business is so highly competitive that when some "price cutter" starts a gasoline war to get a slight competitive advantage over the station across the street, the war spreads rapidly because no station operator wants to lose any customers.

Each station seems to have a full set of prepared signs ready for posting (or else a paint brush and bucket of paint) and the sign-changing continues until some rock-bottom level is reached.

Regular grade gasoline, normally selling for about 30.9 cents per gallon in our area, sometimes reaches the ridiculously low price of 18.9 cents during the most competitive price wars.

The wholesale gasoline price at the refinery is about 9.5 cents. At Texas stations, the state and federal taxes totaling 9 cents per gallon must be added, so that the real starting price is 18.5 cents.

When gasoline is posted at 12.9 cents most stations couldn't sell enough gasoline, working at full capacity around the clock, to break even on gasoline sales, considering operating costs.

Baskette, Schlumberger Well Surveying Corp., will be assisted by Bill Williams, Socony Mobil Oil Co., as vice chairman of Wichita County. Williams will also be in charge of OIC films and exhibits.

Others Selected

Other chairmen named by Baskette include Don Howard, Texaco, Inc., community programs; Mrs. Jean Jipp, women's chairman; Neal Toler, Texaco Inc., schools program; and Bob McCathren, Chamber of Commerce, special events and public affairs.

OIC speakers appointed by Baskette include R. H. Condon, Glenn Colomb, Roy Lee, Charles Hartwell, Homer Martin, Ken Warren, Don Cook, Lee Kistler, Ron Lenser and Everett Zenker.

Public committee members will be Frank O. Hall, Larry Worrell, Dave Dary, Paul Sanders, Fred Brooks, Don Hughes and Ken Hughes.

Operators Stake 65 Area Ventures

Sixty-five new ventures, including 10 wildcats, were staked during the past week in the North Texas (Wichita Falls) District, according to the Phelps Oil Reporting Service.

This compared with 79 new ventures, including 9 wildcats, staked in the district during the previous week and with 82 new tests, including 16 wildcats, staked in the district during the comparable week of one month ago.

During the comparable week of 1963 operators staked 63 new ventures, including 7 wildcats, in the district.

Operators reported 59 completions in the district the past week, compared with 55 reported the previous week and with 92 reported during the comparable week of a month ago.

Sixty-seven completions were reported in North Texas during the comparable week of 1963, the Phelps report said.

Langdon Cites Demand Law

ODESSA, Tex. — A law limiting Texas oil production to the amount that can be sold each month is absolutely essential to the small marginal operators, Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon told West Texas Chamber of Commerce members at their convention here.

The "market demand law" allows every operator, large or small, to get his proportionate share of the market, Langdon said. Much of Texas' oil reserve is in old or low producing fields where wells can make only a few barrels a day. These "stripper" wells would have to be abandoned as uneconomic if richer wells were not prorated to market demand.

"Ironically, this law is under attack today by people who claim to speak for the very group that needs it most — the small operators of Texas," Langdon said.

Abandoning the market demand law, or ignoring it, would result in "a flood of uneeded, unwanted oil that could not be sold except possibly at panic prices," Langdon declared.

Langdon reminded the West Texans that the Railroad Commission also regulates rates for common carrier trucks and railroads. He termed this an important factor for farmers and ranchers who send and receive heavy shipments by common carrier.

Campaigning for an elective term on the Railroad Commission to which he was appointed last year, Langdon visited Saturday in San Antonio.

IOCC Study Group Slates Conference

OKLAHOMA CITY — Gov. Matthew E. Welsh of Indiana, chairman of the Governors' Special Study Committee and former chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, has announced a meeting of the committee on April 20.

The meeting is being called for 9 a.m. in the IOCC headquarters office in Oklahoma City.

It is expected representatives from the states of Kansas, Illinois, Indiana, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas and Wyoming, members of the committee, will be in attendance.

Welsh expects to be able to discuss all the factual information that has been gathered by the various committees of the compact on the efficiency study, and the committee will decide what information should be included in the report that will be made at the mid-year meeting of the IOCC in Billings, Mont., June 22-24.

"Keystone State"

Pennsylvania is called the "Keystone State" because, as the center of the 13 original states, the early inhabitants proclaimed that their state held together the great arch of the United States.

term on the Railroad Commission to which he was appointed last year, Langdon visited Saturday in San Antonio.

Throckmorton Tests Staked

THROCKMORTON, Tex. — Two deep wildcats have been announced for Throckmorton County.

Deeper of the pair is Noel Pautsky of Wichita Falls No. C-1 J. J. Keeter, slated for 4990 feet.

Location is one-half mile south-west of Throckmorton on a 212-acre lease. It spots 1890 feet from south and 750 feet from east lines of section 258, BBB&C survey.

The other wildcat is A. C. Baker of Wichita Falls No. 1 Patti M. Anderson, six miles north of Elbert, on a 900-acre lease.

Drill site is 330 feet from south and 1980 feet from west lines of E. J. Brumley survey A-1314. Permit depth applied for is 4000 feet to test the Strawn.

Humble Oil & Refining Co. plugged at 4790 feet its No. 1 Jessie Chandler, section 2142, TE&L survey. Location was 1650 feet southeast of Edwards, Herring & Currey No. 1 Chandler, discovery for the Elbert, Southwest (Mississippi) Field.

The Humble project had slight shows of oil and 4759-56 feet. The field presently has two wells.

J. R. Christie of Breckenridge No. 5 T. G. Hendrick, section 13, block M-5, Brooks & Burleson survey, regular field project, was plugged 1308 feet.

The National Education Association has a membership of 900,000 with 92 per cent being classroom teachers.

You cook for pennies...

when you cook electrically

You'll be delighted to find out how little it costs to cook the modern electric way. Surface units cook by direct contact with utensil bottoms, use heat thriftily. The electric oven, insulated all around including the bottom, keeps heat inside where it belongs. And once the oven reaches the temperature you select, it uses electricity about one-fourth of the cooking time. It costs the average family only about 3/4 a meal to cook with flameless electricity. Trash Can Lid Used As Shield

LOS ANGELES (AP) — William Wagnow, a gardener at General Hospital, was lifting the lid from a trash can when a youthful mental patient dashed by.

Following the 17-year-old patient were three men in white coats.

Wagnow, 20, joined in the pursuit—still carrying the trash can lid.

After two miles, the flight ended when police officers intercepted the patient outside a station. The orderlies, winded, had left the chase by that time.

"Why didn't you drop the trash can lid?" officers asked Wagnow.

"Because he was throwing rocks at me," the gardener replied.

Election Of Officers Features P-TA Meetings

Crockett
Mrs. Robert Morgan will serve as president of Crockett P-TA with other officers elected Thursday at the school. They are Mmes. J. R. Bradley, Ralph Birk and W. S. Neale, vice presidents one through three; H. R. Hauptman, secretary; and Stanley Kirk, treasurer.

Mayor John Gavin, guest speaker, gave his views on local government projects and things that can be accomplished by united efforts and harmonious cooperation of each agency. He was introduced by Robert Morgan, program chairman.

Fifth grade students presented the program under the direction of Miss Marie Hill. It was based on an original poem, "Wondering," by Miss Charlene Underwood. Mrs. Florence Huffhines' art class furnished stage decorations and Miss Francine James, pianist, accompanied the group.

Mrs. W. C. Winfrey, outgoing president, expressed her thanks for cooperation of P-TA officers and members.

Mary Hammack gave the invocation and attendance awards were won by Miss Ramsdell's first grade and Mrs. Huffhines' fifth grade.

Cunningham
Mrs. Lee Hogle was elected president of the Cunningham Parent - Teachers Association at the Thursday meeting. To serve with Mrs. Hogle are Mmes. C. Marcus Duke, James T. Spray Jr. and W. J. Anderson, first, second and third vice presidents; R. G. Granbery, secretary; Forrest Bebb, treasurer; John H. Davis, City Council delegate; Mrs. Stanley Grover, historian; and Mrs. Fred Jaedicke, publicity chairman.

Mrs. J. R. Lindley conducted the business session during which the group voted to spend proceeds from their fund-raising projects on school needs. Mrs. Lindley appointed David Williams and Mmes. R. W. Harless and Gordon Tidmore as a committee to consult with the school principal, Glenn Hendricks, to determine the needs.

Under the direction of Mrs. J. R. Courtney, Den 10 of Pack 11 Cub Scouts presented the flag ceremony. The devotional was given by Mike Baumgardner and Karen Huff.

Mrs. Spray presented a P-TA life membership to Hendricks. Reports were given by Mmes. W. B. Higgins Jr., Charles R. Parish and Joe Moyer.

"A Visit To Outer Space" was the title of the program given by the sixth grade physical education classes under the direction of Mrs. Betty Harris. Presentations included "Moon Mountain Pyramids," "Mars Pillars," "Satellite Spin," "Mercury Mushroom," "Pluto Pushups" and "Neptune Nitwits." Announcers were Philip Strickland and Kenneth Moorehead, and gym leaders performing were Sherri Goodman, Randy Agnew, Daryl Trylor, Gail Reeves and David Hatfield. Assisting Mrs. Harris were fifth and sixth grade teachers to include L. D. Tindall, and Mmes. Edna Bates, Adele Hammonds, Mary Meyer, Ruby Bevil, Edith DeVaughn and Carole Mueller.

Room count was won in the first and second grades by Mrs. Opal Currin; third and fourth grades, Mrs. Jane Schaeffer; and fifth and sixth grades, Mrs. Betty Harris.

Huey
"The Family: Wholesome and Happy" is the topic of study for the Huey School Parent-Teacher Association. Pupils of the first grades provided the devotional for the Thursday meeting under the direction of Mrs. Alma Dean and Mrs. Vala Jo Moore.

A film on health was shown, and a life membership pin was presented Miss Ruby Martin. Prin. John I. Woodward made the presentation.

Winners of the room count were Mrs. Dean for the lower grades and Mrs. Johnie Baker for the upper grades.

Fain
Mrs. Eddie Lake Buntin, supervisor of public school music, was speaker for the Fain P-TA Thursday in the school cafeteria. An invocation by Mrs. George LeBeau preceded her talk.

"The Family: A Firm Home Base," was Mrs. Buntin's topic. She compared discord in music to lack of harmony in family life. She pointed out that discord is the lack of harmony; discord is an independent or counter melody, which she likened to the individual melody of each life. A descendant is created, she said, when we turn love toward others and away from ourselves.

Mrs. Buntin closed by quoting Peter Marshall, "We have plenty of parents who are popular. We need parents who are pure."

Officers unanimously elected were as follows: Mmes. Jack

Moss, president; Morris Stewart, first vice president; George Tatyrek, second vice president; Sidney Cathey, third vice president; Richard White, secretary; John League, treasurer; Marion Barker, City Council delegate; Edwin Baggett, historian and Carl Pierce, parliamentarian.

Fowler
Mrs. David Bussell was elected to head the Fowler Parent-Teachers Association during the 1964-65 school term at a meeting held Thursday afternoon in the school cafeteria. Mrs. Clarence B. Crow, president, was in charge of the business session. Others to serve with Mrs. Bussell are Mmes. Lee Nelson, Fritz Self and Wesley Karns, first through third vice presidents, respectively; Wiley Johnson, secretary; Douglas Jackson, treasurer; Crow, parliamentarian; R. L. Kidd, publicity; Jimmy Skipworth, historian, and Jack L. Ashcraft, city council delegate.

During the business session reports were made by Mmes. Claude H. Treat and Jack Waddie. Announcement was made of the district conference to be held in Wichita Falls and delegates and alternates were named. They are Mmes. Bob Dickerson, A. R. Munson, Self, Karns, Crow, Nelson and Bussell, delegates, and Mmes. Johnson, Waddle and Sanford Parks, alternates.

Leroy Finkler, principal, announced that books ordered for the library have been received and will be ready for use soon. The P-TA voted to purchase a primary typewriter for the school instead of the record players which were provided for in the budget.

Announcement was made that the pre-school tea will be held May 7.

The program was presented by the first, second and third grade students. The second grade gave the devotional. The first grades presented the playlet "A Day in Spring" and the third grades performed "The Raggle Taggle Town Singers." Room-count awards were given to Mrs. Charles Wilburn, first grade, and Mrs. Kenneth Galyean, fourth grade.

Coffee was served following the meeting.

McGaha
Mrs. Calvin Ashley was elected president of the McGaha P-TA at a meeting Thursday afternoon at the school.

Other new officers are: Mmes. J. T. Johnson, first vice president; Harry Young, second vice president; Dan Cutbirth, third vice president; Curtis Tate, secretary and Joe Cochran, treasurer.

Judge Temple Driver was the speaker. His topic, "The Family: Does Our Love Show?" was emphasized as he said a child must be shown love by his parents.

"The family is the first great training school in behavior or misbehavior. The home is the first classroom and the parents serve as the first teachers for the inspirational education of youth," he said.

He pointed out that a child must learn respect for others, for property, courtesy, truthfulness and reliability in the home. Mrs. Boyd Jones, program chairman, introduced Judge Driver.

ver. Fred Currin gave the devotional.

Refreshments were served after the meeting. Mrs. W. J. Ewalt, chairman, was assisted by Mrs. Jack Whitt and Mrs. Young.

Bonham
Officers were elected and a musical program made up the Bonham P-TA program Thursday night in a meeting held in the school cafeteria.

Those elected were Mmes. Erwin Harrison, president; Gene Love, Dwight Montgomery and Roy Davis, vice presidents one through three, respectively; Mmes. Bob Pack, secretary-treasurer; Bill Williams, City Council and T. R. Moss, parliamentarian.

"A Musical Trip Around the World" was presented by the sixth grade, led by Billie J. Detrick and narrated by Roxie Williams.

In the business session Mrs. Bill Williams reported that new playground equipment has been installed. The school system assumed part of the cost equipment.

On recommendation from the executive committee it was voted to purchase two fans for school rooms, and two 30-cup percolators.

The pre-school children's tea was set for May 1 at 2:30 p.m. The sixth grade musical festival, to be held at Coyote Field House, will be April 27 at 7:15 p.m.

Lamar
The Girls' Tumbling Club of Rider High School gave a physical fitness demonstration for the Lamar P-TA Thursday. They were directed by Mrs. Jackie Plummer. Those taking part were Betty Porter, president, Loreta Albright, Barbara Houston, Carol Sears, Sandra Driffin, Sherrie Grierson, Betsy Engstrom and Brenda Daniel.

The program was opened with a devotional by Paul Bartle, Glenda Criswell, Felicia Miller and Mrs. Lucille Hooker's fifth grade.

Mrs. Garrett Oliver announced a get-acquainted party for next year's first grade pupils will be held May 7 from 9 to 10 a.m. in the cafeteria.

An auditing committee made up of Mmes. L. R. Bearden, B. J. Wise and Charles Adcock was appointed. The room count was won by Miss Caryl Simpson for the lower grades and Mrs. Hooker for the upper grades.

Jefferson
A pre-school tea will be held at the Jefferson School cafeteria May 7, it was announced at the school's P-TA meeting Thursday afternoon.

Joe Stearns, principal, explained the action planned in case of disaster and Mrs. Frank Rogers, P-TA president, conducted the business session.

Third graders presented the program, "See Things Through Children's Eyes." Michael Carlson, Lyndon Cox, David Pappan and Sheila Rogers had speaking parts. Others appearing were:

Robin Bachhaus, Van Barker, Stewart Braddock, Deborah Brooks, Jeana Campbell, Scott Claybaker, Leroy Decker, Helen Eagle, Cordelia Farmer, Jo Ann Pink, Marshall Jones, Cynthia Jump.

James Myles, Brian Neal, Karen Norris, Jackie Schwarz, Maureen Scott, Mary Grace Swanson, Traci Tyler, Vickie Victory, Smitty Walker, David Wise, Kaay Bell, Scottie Cragin, Derek Drake, Steve Flake.

Debbie Gilmore, Jay Green, Ronnie Jackson, Randy Klein, Lynn Longstreet, Gene McKelvey, Colleen McKinney, Janice Moore, Rose Ann Norris, Craig Parkinson, Randall Petty, Steven Shipman, Cathy Smith, Craig Spiers, Jayne Tucker, Susie Weeks, Renee Whitaker, Debra Byrd and Lynda Baird. Mrs. Charles Salter and Miss

Geneva Owens directed the program. They won room count awards in a tie with Mrs. Calvin Hansen and Mrs. Donald Hatch.

Carriagan
Officers were elected and a panel of school and city officials discussed "The Family-Wholesome and Happy" at the Carriagan P-TA meeting Thursday afternoon.

Mmes. Ralph Watkins, president; L. H. Smith, W. E. Dicken, W. C. Locke and M. R. Williams, first through fourth vice presidents; Paul Spangler, treasurer; D. D. Rains, secretary and E. E. Keller, parliamentarian, were officers named.

Mrs. J. H. Jameson and John Germany, visiting counselors for the schools, Howard Large and Frank Grant of the probation department, were the panelists. Mrs. Jameson was moderator and Mrs. Ralph Watkins introduced the speakers.

First graders, directed by Mmes. Elizabeth Blackman and Fannie Griffiths, assisted by Mrs. Michael Uriniak, presented a musical program. Rickey Waddell, Janie Smith, Jimmy Earley, Keith Calloway, Trena Roberts, Darla Turner and Richard Reynolds were announcers. Barry Jones led the first graders in the devotional.

Mrs. R. L. Lancaster, Mrs. Spangler and Charles Hampton were appointed to an auditing committee. Delegates to the district conference will be Mmes. Locke, Spangler, Smith, Dicken and Watkins.

Room count prizes went to Mrs. Miltie Cooper for upper grades and the first grade teachers for lower grades.

Mmes. Art Harper, John Harasimo and E. L. Defer were in charge of the bake sale sponsored by fifth grades.

"How long did it take your wife to learn to drive?"

"It'll be 10 years in June!"

A bus driver entered a small church at the beginning of the service and sat in the very first row. After the sermon the preacher went to the man and asked him why he sat in the first row all alone.

"Well," replied the driver, "I just sat up here to see what you did to make everyone move to the back."

Neighbors were complaining to Mrs. Brown about the racket her husband was making. "All the time he goes around cackling like a chicken," they told her.

"I know," said Mrs. Brown. "We get tired of it around the house, too. Sometimes we think he's not in his right mind."

"But can't you do something for him? Can't he be cured?"

"Oh, I suppose a doctor could do something, but we need the eggs."

Two monks set up a fish 'n chips stand in front of the monastery during the tourist season.

A smart-aleck visitor asked one: "Are you the fish friar?"

"No," was the reply. "I'm the chip monk."

Wife: "The couple next door is so devoted. He kisses her every time they meet. Why don't you do that?"

Husband: "I don't even know her."

"Boss," said the dock foreman, "the moon on the dock is a bit heavy of that new freight handler you hired yesterday."

"How come?" the manager asked. "He checked out well."

"Maybe he did," said the dock foreman, "but this morning he tripped over a crate of sealings and said 'Oh, the poverty of inland-made objects!'"

Advertisement in a newspaper: "Elderly lady with hearing aid wants to meet elderly gentleman with batteries."

A woman with a baby got into a bus. The driver looked at the baby and said: "My goodness, what an ugly baby! I don't think I have ever seen an uglier child." The mother was very upset and told the driver that she would report him to the company.

The woman went to the main office of the bus company and said: "I wish to report driver number 108. He was extremely rude to me."

"Very well, madam," said the inspector. "Write down his number and the complaint you wish to make."

"I haven't any pencil or paper," she replied.

"Here you are," said the inspector, handing her a notebook and a pencil. "You write it down while I hold the monkey."

Beatles Both Bad And Good

BY DICK KLEINER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK — (NEA) — The Beatles, bless their fuzzy heads, may be good for the music business but they are not very good for musicians.

You may have been wondering what genuine musicians think of them. The candid answer comes from King Curtis, a top sax player who is now doing well on his own with such records as the current hit, "Soul Serenade."

"Musically," Curtis says, "The Beatles aren't very much, although their guitar playing isn't bad."

"They are good for the record business — when somebody goes into a store to buy a Beatles' record, he frequently buys another one, too. But they aren't good for musicians."

"A man who has studied for 20 years, without any material success, cannot help but be frustrated and discouraged when these kids make so much money with so little."

"It is envy and jealousy on the part of the musicians, of course, but it is understandable."

It isn't envy and jealousy on the part of King Curtis, however. For many years, the Texas-born musician was a key man in studio recording bands in New York. He admittedly made "piles" of money.

"But it wasn't satisfying," Curtis says. "I had to play all kinds of music. After a long time of playing unsatisfying music, playing the same old, so-so, hot song over and over for hours, it got to be a drag. No money is good enough to pay for that."

King Curtis was receptive when Capitol offered him a $40,000 contract to record exclusively for them. He took it, and now he just records the kind of thing he wants to record.

Money isn't everything — especially if you can get $40,000 to ease the pain.

Beatles Honored On New Stamp

BY VOYLE N. (ARMY) ARMSTRONG
A portrait photograph of the bearded nationalist John Muir superimposed on a background of a redwood forest will be the feature of a new U.S. 5-cent postage stamp scheduled for release on April 27. The design was unveiled during special ceremonies at the University of Wisconsin, the school which Muir attended a century ago.

Muir is being honored as a conservationist who persuaded President Theodore Roosevelt to save the giant redwood trees in California from destruction.

Collectors desiring first-day covers of the Muir stamp are reminded to send their remittances to the Postmaster, Martinez, Calif., prior to April 20. The new multicolored stamp will be vertical. The outside envelope to the Postmaster should be addressed "First Day Covers Muir Stamp."

Beatles Honored On New Stamp

BY VOYLE N. (ARMY) ARMSTRONG
A portrait photograph of the bearded nationalist John Muir superimposed on a background of a redwood forest will be the feature of a new U.S. 5-cent postage stamp scheduled for release on April 27. The design was unveiled during special ceremonies at the University of Wisconsin, the school which Muir attended a century ago.

Muir is being honored as a conservationist who persuaded President Theodore Roosevelt to save the giant redwood trees in California from destruction.

Collectors desiring first-day covers of the Muir stamp are reminded to send their remittances to the Postmaster, Martinez, Calif., prior to April 20. The new multicolored stamp will be vertical. The outside envelope to the Postmaster should be addressed "First Day Covers Muir Stamp."

KAYCEE, Wyo. (AP) — The old Indian rainmaker has nothing on the Kaycee and Gillette water buffalo, sebra and a member of the antelope family.

Papua and New Guinea have issued a new set of stamps honoring the first "Commonwealth" election to be held in that territory. There are two stamps in the set of identical "designs but different dimensions." Featured on the stamps is a dark hand placing a ballot in a ballot box. The inscription atop the adhesive reads "First Commonwealth Election 1964."

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

Modern Ranch Suited For Lot

By JULES LOH
No one can deny the convenience of one-level living. Ranch style homes not only are up to date in appearance but are in keeping with modern living trends.

Trouble is, most of them require such wide lots that their prices can be sky high, land costs being what they are nowadays.

Today's House of the Week was designed by architect William G. Chirgottis to solve this vexing problem. It is design H-24 in the weekly series.

The house is so constructed that you can tailor it to suit your own lot — even if it's as narrow as 50 feet. By leaving off the garage and breezeway (the garage can be placed in the rear) the width of the house is less than 31 feet.

WIDE OR NARROW

are on all sides of the house. There is no formal foyer, but a vestibule with a coat closet serves the function nicely if needed.

The living room has wall area treated, eliminating congestion and providing a convenient hub well suited to furniture arrangements, and features a wood-burning fireplace. Architect Chirgottis suggests use of pine paneling around the fireplace.

The dining room adjoins in an open plan which is ideal for entertaining. Outside the dining room is the patio, convenient for outdoor dining; in fact the food can be cooked right there in the built-in barbecue which shares the same chimney as the living room fireplace.

The kitchen is arranged for step-saving convenience with the appliances in an L-shaped plan. Double windows over the sink provide plenty of natural light and air, besides affording a clear view of the backyard.

Full study plan information on this architect-designed House of the Week is included in a baby blueprint which you can obtain by simply filling out the attached coupon and mailing it with 50 cents to this newspaper.

House of the Week plans and the handy booklet offer builders and home owners valuable information concerning costs, designs and trends in modern homes.

You can also order for an additional $1.00 on the same coupon a booklet called "Your Home — How to Build, Buy or Sell It." Included in the booklet are small reproductions of 16 of the most popular House of the Week issues.

This outdoor living area is located on the side of the house, just outside the door of the living room. The built-in barbecue shares its chimney with the living room fireplace inside.

FLOOR PLAN

The basic house contains 1,352 square feet of living area. If the breezeway and garage were left off, the house would be less than 31-feet wide including the side patio — narrow enough for a 50-foot lot in many cities.

Additional Details

The exterior features a low-pitched double gable, brick veneer, hand split cedar shingles and a decorative covered entry. The roof is asphalt shingle.

The outdoor living facilities are nicely arranged in this house — a feature which will be more and more appreciated as warm weather arrives.

Both the breezeway and side patio are covered, and the breezeway could even be screened. Behind the breezeway and right outside the kitchen door is a somewhat private nook ideal as a play area (because of the supervision from the kitchen) or as an open patio. Opportunities for creative plant arrangements are plentiful.

CLASSIC TWISTER—This tornado which ripped through Wichita Falls Friday was described by the Weather Bureau here as a "classic tornado" in that it followed the standard pattern in width, length and direction of movement. (Photo by George Smiley)

CLASSIC COURSE—The multi-million dollar tornado which smashed through Wichita Falls on April 3 was "classic" in several instances in that it occurred amidst extremely humid conditions and traveled in the generally known, although by no means only, accepted direction — to the northeast. This map shows the path of the storm, from its formation at a point near the Seymour Highway and Farm Market Road 369 (bottom left); to the first structure destroyed, a barn; to the KNIN control towers, also destroyed; across the Iowa Park Road, down Fell Lane and Borland Lane to the mutilated Sunset Terrace addition; then across open country; smack through Lincoln Heights and on to Sheppard Air Force Base where it passed just east of the North Gate before lifting skyward.

By KATRICA COCHRAN
A step-by-step report on the devastating tornado which churned through Wichita Falls April 3, including a plotting of its path, has been compiled by the U.S. Weather Bureau.

The seven weather bureau officials who were either on duty that fatal day, or who voluntarily reported for work when the storm developed, had a ringside view of the tornado. Their comprehensive warning of the advance of the twister earned for them a commendation from the chief of the U.S. Weather Bureau in Washington, D.C., Dr. Robert M. White.

He notified L. W. Stankewitz, meteorologist in charge here, that "All information here shows forecasts and warnings on Wichita Falls tornado of April 3 excellent. Congratulations and thanks to you and your staff."

Weather Bureau employees at the airport station during the disaster were Stankewitz, Joe Dobry, Robert James, Billy She-son, John Kihler and Alan Johnson. Working in the observation side, which was only a matter of a few blocks from the path of the twister, was Leroy Cookingham.

According to the weather bureau maps the twister traveled on the ground for a distance of 5.6 miles. The first structure hit by the tornado was a barn which ironically—was owned by E. A. Moore, former chief meteorologist at the bureau here.

The barn was located on Wellington Lane, about half way between the Iowa Park Road and Farm Market Road 367.

Unofficially, the last object which felt the wrath of the twister was an airplane at Sheppard Air Force Base.

The width of the tornado ranged up to 500 yards. Total destruction was recorded from 100 to 300 yards with lesser damage up to 500 yards.

It took about 30 minutes for the tornado to vent its wrath on the ground. The storm was first officially classified as a tornado at 2:35 p.m. when the weather bureau advised it had developed at a point approximately over the Seymour Highway and Farm Market Road 369.

The following is a chronological resume of the tornado:

11:35 a.m. — Severe weather forecast No. 67 entered on local loop teletype circuit to two television stations and three radio stations.

12:25 p.m. — Direct radio broadcast gave the severe weather forecast.

12:55 p.m. — Several small echoes on weather bureau radar within 20 miles of station.

1:45 p.m. — Large thunderstorm developing about 10 miles southwest of Wichita with expected movement to the north-northeast at 30 miles per hour.

2:20 p.m. — Large thunderstorm about 8 to 10 miles in diameter located between Electra and Iowa Park moving east and east-northeast about 30 m.p.h. Radar now indicates the possibility of hail and strong winds within this thunderstorm.

2:25 p.m. — Reports of hail up to three fourths of an inch at Iowa Park.

2:30 p.m. — Strong thunderstorm near Iowa Park 10 miles in diameter moving toward Wichita Falls at 30 m.p.h. Large hail in Iowa Park. Large hail

THE DOCTOR SAYS Breathing Ailment Is Quite Common

By DR. W. G. BRANDTADT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—For six months, I have had spells of what my doctor calls hyperventilation syndrome. What causes it and what can I do to get rid of it?

A—Your condition is much commoner than we doctors used to think. The person who hyperventilates gets spells of breathing too fast and too deeply. This is usually due to nervous tension and is more common in women than in men. When there is an emotional crisis the hyperventilation does not occur until the crisis has passed.

The breathing, which is sometimes so slightly increased in depth and frequency as not to be noticeable, wastes too much carbon dioxide out of the blood, thereby creating a condition known as alkalosis.

Hyperventilation is hard for a doctor to recognize because it may cause a wide variety of symptoms. In some persons it causes a severe chest pain that may be mistaken for a heart attack. In another, it may cause pains similar to those of gall bladder, colic or arthritis.

It may cause muscular twitching and fainting and be falsely labeled epilepsy or it may cause a victim to talk loudly and stagger as though drunk. The manifestations are often limited to one side of the body, usually the left side in right-handed persons.

No drug is required to relieve the attacks but prompt relief can be had by breathing into a paper bag held tightly over the nose and mouth or by merely holding your breath as long as you can. You should train yourself to avoid yawning or sighing. In- cidentally fainting, when it occurs, automatically stops an at- tack.

Q—Is there any medication for hyperventilation, especially in the waterlogging, especially in the ankles?

A—Your edema can be due to various causes. If a leaky heart

Q—What can I do to relieve a burning sensation in my feet? I am 32 years old and stand on a cement floor about 10 hours a day.

A—It is often hard to get rid of this complaint. In some vic- tims multivitamin preparations have been helpful. You should, if possible, get off your feet for five or ten minutes every hour. Make sure your shoes are not tight in any dimension. Wear socks of a soft fabric and change them daily. Foot powder on the skin and dusted into your shoes may give some comfort.

Please send your questions and comments to Dr. Wayne G. Brandtadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandtadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future col- umns.

Tariffless Tea

BERNE, Switzerland (AP) — Bernese authorities in agreement with the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade and the European Trade Association recently announced the abolition of all duties on tea so that Switzerland may soon be the country serving the cheapest "cuppa" ever.

The Indian Embassy in Bern lately launched a campaign pro- moting Indian tea, with young Indians in national costumes distributing leaflets and free samples. Lovers of China tea were expected to get the same service.

Mystery Solved

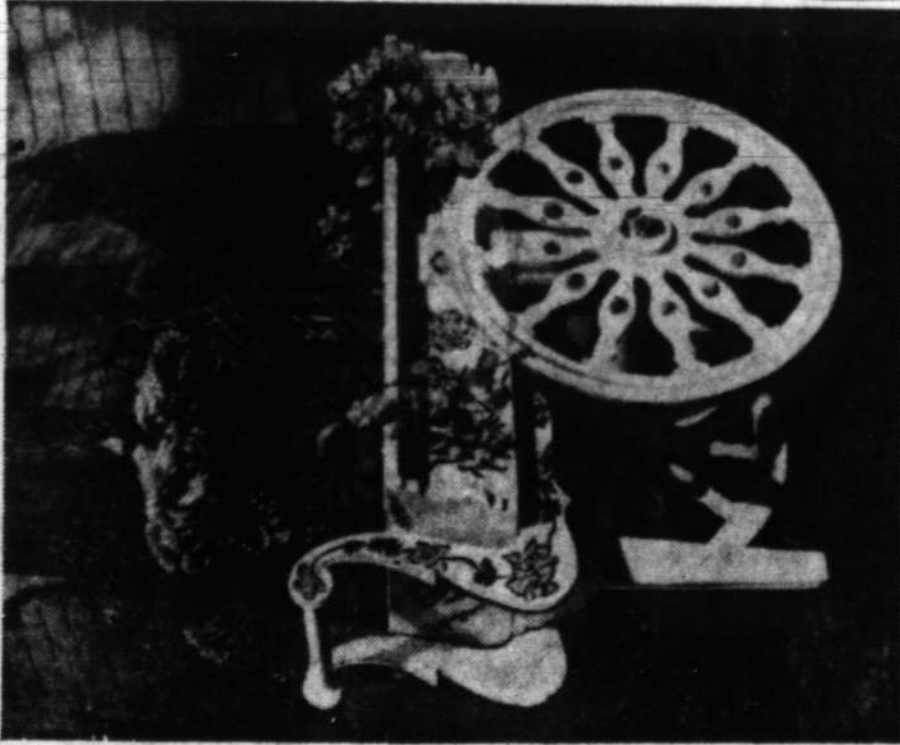

NEW YORK (AP) — An at- mospheric fluke caused a rash of runs in women's flyovers in the city recently, according to the Department of Air Pollution Control. The guilty agent was nitrogen dioxide gas released during blasting operations by a construction company working in the downtown area. Because of the damp, heavy air on that day, the gas hovered near the sur- face instead of being dissipated. When a sufficient pocket of it touched a stocking, it dissolved some of the chemical elements and "laddered" the stocking.

Flower Cart Rolls Your Favorite Flowers into Sun

By BILL MEYERIECKS
Here's how to make the hap- piest efforts of your spring and summer planting a joy to behold. Display them with the help of the Sketchbook design S-158, the Garden Flower Cart. It is some- thing that can be one of the most satisfying and decorative ad- juncts to your garden. And it al- lows you to shift the growing flowers from shade to sun in a jiffy.

The cart, standing about 28 inches high and about 32 inches long, is constructed primarily of exterior plywood and pine lum- ber. You can make it and deco- rate it in fancy or simple style as you wish. The plans, available for 50 cents through this news- paper, show all full-size cutting patterns for the more elaborate parts and step-by-step instruc- tions on building the cart.

Also included are suggested paint-on designs should you want to decorate it. The flower cart, incidentally, makes a handy stor- age bin for your plants and bulbs during the winter. It also can be put into service during the win- ter months as a portable bar or server.

WARREN LESLIE
Author of "Dallas Public and Private"

BOOKS

In Brief Review

I TRY TO BEHAVE MYSELF: Peg Bracken's "Etiquette Book," Harcourt, $2.75.

Mrs. Bracken approaches etiquette in an irreverent manner as she approaches cooking and housekeeping in her two previous, highly successful books, "I Hate To Cook Book" and "I Hate To Housekeep Book."

She doesn't hate etiquette, however; she does think that many current pronouncements in more formal manners books are impractical and even absurd.

"For the big thing I have learned," she writes, "is that etiquette — which was invented to keep people out of one another's way — is now dedicated mainly to keeping people comfortable. Once only a proof of your breeding, manners are now an indication of your warm heart and good intentions as well."

Mrs. Bracken devotes considerable space to "minor wounds and abrasions: how to avoid or assuage them." Amusing, practical, original, different, and fun to read. Young people and just-marrieds should especially enjoy this commonsense approach to getting along and entertaining informally.

YOGA FOR WOMEN: by Nancy Philan and Michael Volin. Harper & Row, $3.95.

An adaptation of an ancient physical culture system to the needs of western women. The authors make extravagant claims for their suggested system of exercises for mind and body; that it delays aging, rejuvenates various organs, improves appearance, increases suppleness and vitality. Control of breath is emphasized. Photographs, diagrams, and directions show how to do the exercises. Yoga, say these authors, "does not affect anyone's religion unless to develop and intensify the capacity for religious experience and feeling." It has become a popular cult — "it's whole aim is to help man reach his highest state of development."

BLACK AMBER: by Phyllis A. Whitney. Appleton, Century, $4.95.

Devotees of the romantic novel of suspense by such authors as Mary Stewart and Daphne du Maurier and those who have enjoyed Miss Whitney's other novels of this genre — "Seven Tears for Apollo" and "Window on the Square" — will not want to miss this latest story set in exotic Istanbul.

Young Tracy Hubbard, an attractive girl who works in a New York publishing house, wangles an assignment to Turkey to help a distinguished author whip his manuscript into shape for publication. Her half-sister, from whom Tracy had long been alienated, had died in Istanbul under mysterious circumstances. Into her story of intrigue, sinister threats, baffling characters, and romance, the author weaves, most effectively, the sights, sounds, smells, and customs of a foreign land. Good entertainment for both young people and adults.

Science Study Series

Doubleday's "Science Study Series" now includes studies in all the sciences and their applications. These surveys are geared to young people and laymen and grew out of a school curriculum revision project in physics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1956.

Two new titles have just been released in Anchor Paperbacks: WAVES AND BEACHES: The Dynamics of the Ocean Surface, by William Bascom, $1.45.

FARADAY, MAXWELL, AND KELVIN, by D. K. C. MacDonald, $1.25.

What's Wrong With Dallas?

DALLAS PUBLIC AND PRIVATE, by Warren Leslie. Grossman, $4.50.

By MARGARET W. REID
Times Book Editor

"HOW CAN YOU blame a whole city for the act of one disturbed man? The assassination could have happened anywhere. It is the frequent rejoinder both in Dallas and elsewhere when someone casts aspersions on Big D for the tragic events of last November. Hundreds of articles have been written condemning Dallas people, most of them by outsiders who feel qualified, after a brief visit, under abnormal circumstances, to write about the city. 'Dallas Public and Private,' however, is written by an insider, by a young man who has spent 17 of his 36 years in Dallas. For four years, after graduating from Yale, he was a reporter for the Dallas News. For the last eleven, he has been an executive at Newman's where he often wrote clever comment on the world of fashion in advertisements signed 'Wales.' (He resigned before the storm this book will evoke could break over the store.)

WRITES MR. LESLIE: "The Assassination focused the world's attention on Dallas and its dreary history of political extremism and violence. I write in the hope that the general implications of these particulars will be obvious and I write in the strange mixture of love and pain many people of Dallas feel today. For this city, not nearly so black as the world press has painted it, was nevertheless not innocent in these matters." This book is sure to be controversial; a Dallas bookstore has sold 3000 copies.

A Pictorial History Of Style

COSTUME THROUGH THE AGES, by James Laver, Simon & Schuster, $4.95.

The one thousand costumes pictured cover styles from the first century through 1920-30. The aim has been to preserve the essential lines while giving due attention to detail. (Such as shoes, hair, dress, neckwear, hats and various other accessories.) The artist, Edward Klopfer, has drawn from sculpture, illuminated manuscripts, paintings, engravings, caricatures, lithographs, fashion plates, photographs, and illustrated magazines, to insure authenticity and to present a complete picture of the faces of his models. Sources are listed in the back of the volume.

In an introductory essay — which is the sum total of the text — all the rest is devoted to plates — Mr. Laver comments on the slowness with which fashion changed before 1300: "A woman, swathed from head to foot in draperies, with her hair might pass her life concealed, might pass her life from girlhood to old age in garments essentially the same."

Burgundy changed everything — "Female costume, at least in Western Europe and among the upper classes, was launched upon a process which has continued with ever increasing acceleration until the present day."

Basically a pictorial history, the book should be of value to art students, illustrators, and designers.

Both books achieve, most handsomely, what they set out to do. —J.B.

TOP ATTRACTION—The aserradero ride in the Spanish section has been rated by guests as the top attraction at Six Flags Over Texas. Guests travel in fiberglass logs along a winding course at 10 feet per second, through a sawmill, ending with a spectacular dash down a 45-degree flume from a height of 44 feet.

Six Flags Over Texas Starts New Season April 18

By ROGER SWANSON
DALLAS-FORT WORTH.—The six bright flags that flutter above the rolling Texas prairie midway between Dallas and Fort Worth herald a success story rare in the U.S. amusement business.

But, indeed, more than that, they symbolize a unique vacation delight for any American family—an experience in fun that is equally rich in the history and tradition that helped build Texas and all of the nation.

Beginning April 18, SIX FLAGS Over Texas will open its fourth season. The three previous years have seen a story of development and public acceptance practically unparalleled in amusement parks and youngsters have visited SIX FLAGS. Daily attendance frequently has hit 20,000 to 24,000. And, even so, this "park" still now only is beginning to become known to new patrons in distant areas of the country.

The new season looks like another record-breaker. On a warm summer weekend last year, my wife and I and our three youngsters (age 11, 7 and 4) climbed into a Cessna Skylane and flew south toward SIX FLAGS. I landed the craft after a few nonstop hours aloft at mass Greater Southwest International Airport. Hardly had I cut my master switch when a buzzing Volkswagen bus (painted with THE INN of the Six Flags of course) rumbled over to our plane.

This was a welcome mat many flying vacationists receive at SIX FLAGS. We had chosen to stay at THE INN of the Six Flags, operated in conjunction with the Park by the same management of Angus G. Wynne Jr., and generally accepted as the most luxurious of the Texas Republic, the Texas Republic of America and the present regime in Washington (which quite appropriately for SIX FLAGS has a "Yankee or Confederate" deserters. In the Mexico part of the Park, you can eat the tastiest enchiladas this side of Vera Cruz. The Wild West, so much a part of Texas tradition, obviously must be omnipresent. There are shoot-em-outs in the "High Noon" style, plus bank and post office robbery maneuvers. On the modern side, a tightly variety show of collegiate talent ranks with professional productions.

Many rides
SIX FLAGS rides are grand, too. New last year was the 155-foot Sky Hook that formerly was featured at the Brussels World Fair. But SIX FLAGS officials are proud of the Aserradero, a unique log flume ride built at a cost of $900,000. Passengers "board" an 8-foot hollowed-out log for a thrilling trip along a sawmill operation that stimulates a water course that stimulates a sawmill operation. New rides constantly are being planned at the 115-acre site that is located on the Dallas-Fort Worth Turnpike (exactly 16 miles from each city).

Texas summers have a reputation for being downright awful in the heat-and-humidity department. But the enterprising folks at SIX FLAGS have conquered even this challenge. There's outdoor air conditioning at SIX FLAGS. Yes, outside. If you have to wait in line for a ride, cool usually rough-and-ready history, Texas lived under multiple administrations. The six most useful and generally accepted are the governments of Spain, France, Mexico, the Texas Republic, the Confederate States of America and the present regime in Washington (which quite appropriately for SIX FLAGS has a "Yankee or Confederate" deserters. In the Mexico part of the Park, you can eat the tastiest enchiladas this side of Vera Cruz. The Wild West, so much a part of Texas tradition, obviously must be omnipresent. One-Price Admission

"We started out with one goal," explains Wynne. "That was to make this the finest theme park in the country."

Travel and Resorts
This determination includes a zealous endeavor to please the customer. As an example, you find the one-price admission policy. Buy one ticket at the gate when you enter, and you can ride all rides and visit the numerous attractions all day as many times as you like.

With that kind of courtesy, it's no wonder that SIX FLAGS is doing an amazing repeat business on customers. And with all those Texas dollars and determination behind this enterprise, who can say it won't become the best of its type in the world

Curtain Currents

"Compassion..." says Webster, "is sorrow or pity excited by the distress or misfortune of another." And the hearts of our town have been deeply moved by the losses of the tornado victims.

Beyond the loss of life and houses goes the destruction and disappearance of the thousands of "little things" ... the sentimental mementos, the tokens of love which, kept through the years, bring the smiles or chuckles of remembrance. These things are irreplaceable.

When the Balas family (remember Fred and Ivy?) were fleeing from bombs in Budapest, they had left all their belongings in their home. A friend was braving the dangers of bringing back some of his own belongings and was persuaded to secure a certain trunk in which the Balas family had changes of clothing for each family member.

In the excitement and pressure of their friend's picking the trunk and when Mama B. opened it she found, instead of the clothing they had such dire need of, family photographs, clippings of Fred's early career and performances ... the dear ... and less ... things.

But safety here in America, she said, "It was wonderful. At that time HOW we wanted clean clothes! But now I have so much family history. I'm glad, now."

Although the aftermath of nerves and worry about the storm cut the crowd at MU for the faculty recital to a mere fifty (and how MERE can you get for such a performance?) the artists gave glowing and proficient account of themselves and their various instruments ... voice, clarinet, flute, violin and piano.

One of the most unusual combinations was that of trio using voice, Charlyn Babinski, clarinet, Dr. Walter Weber, and flute. The three varied qualities were superb, the interplay of dominance leading from one to another and the exact pitch a delight to hear.

The last offering posed Werner and Miss James with Tom Greer on violin in a pleasing combination for a suite by Milhaud.

Then came the rains, and more timid souls were scared away from the excellent and sprightly concert of the Wichita Falls High School Symphony, Achilles Ballabanis conductor.

The program was light to the airy point, but the selections were well within the scope of the young players and made for a most enjoyable evening.

The tone of the ensemble is truly symphonic and the stage department worthy of an auditorium filled to the back walls. This is a fine group of well-schooled young artists.

One of the families whom many of us loved and lost (to Dallas) was that of the Paul Peders. A note from Mary recently was the epitome of birthday greetings ... a warm and touching birthday salute which took all the sting out of that old ... OLD feeling. I realized a visit from their beautiful daughter Jane ... now living in Fort Worth ... and riding herd on a lively young son who

ON WITH THE SHOW

Although no concert details are available, the U.S. Army Field Band of Washington, D.C., will come through with a whopper of a program at Memorial Auditorium at 8 p.m. Tuesday. It possibly will be as musically entertaining as the Fred Waring visit this season.

"Service" musical groups are usually blessed with the musician-ship of some of America's best-trained talent and the U.S. Army Field Band is no exception to the rule. That the concert is "for free" should enhance attendance figures.

And high school band toppers of the North Texas area should draw double enjoyment from hearing the crack service band which spares no brass to be a shining representative for the Department of the Army. Its much-travelled bandmen are known as "The Kings of the Highway" and Wichita Falls will be no whistle stop but a major one on their current itinerary.

The special events action group of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce had a hand in corraling the Army Field Band for an appearance here and deserve a big hand for their efforts.

A Wichita Falls public will have only to sit back and enjoy itself as best it can Tuesday night amidst the Memorial Auditorium remodeling project. It will get the full treatment from the band under the alert baton of Major Robert L. Bierly.

Major Bierly, of Silver Spring, Md., is commanding officer and director; and Major Wilmont N. Trumbull, of Arlington, Va., is executive officer and assistant director.

The Army Field Band is composed of approximately 160 of the Army's finest musicians. A number have studied at the country's best conservatories and schools of music and some had played with symphonies and leading dance orchestras before entering the service.

All have been specially selected for assignment to the band. The band's concert repertoire includes classical, semi-classical and popular selections, choral arrangements, novelty numbers and military marches. On its tours abroad the works of American composers have been stressed as an example of our culture. Compositions by natives of the country where the band appeared were included in salute to that country's heritage.

The Soldiers' Chorus, an integral part of the band which combines the voices of a group of instrumentalists, is directed by Sergeant Eugene W. Coughlin, of Detroit Lakes, Minn. This group is featured on every program and presents its own arrangements of well-known compositions.

The Army Field Band has appeared in all 50 states, Mexico, Canada, the United Kingdom, Europe and the Far East. Concerts in small communities as well as large cities have brought the world's great music to many areas not toured by other major bands.

The band won considerable fame outside the country as the tries to help them finance economic development. A total of $4.3 billion has been loaned.

The United States expects in time to get this money back—with better customers for its food and industrial products.

This country also has made grants totaling $1.8 billion for economic development. Some projects financed by these loans and grants include rehabilitation of run-down transportation systems, construction of vocational schools, construction of sanitary and water systems, building of bridges and roads.

This country has used $1.7 billion of the foreign currencies to pay its obligations, such as expenses of embassies. This has saved dollars.

It has loaned $179 million to private U.S. concerns to develop new industries in the developing countries. Included have been factories to make soap, pharmaceuticals, flashlights, chemicals, tires and tubes, electronic equipment, fertilizers, steel tubes and pipes and refrigerators.

Money from the program has been used to the extent of $79 million to help develop new markets for U.S. farm products by financing trade fairs, research on consumer demands, food-processing schools, cooking demonstrations, merchandising clinics and advertising.

A total of $485 million worth of food has been used to finance common defense facilities in 15 friendly countries. Nearly $4 million has been used to build military housing abroad. A total of $14 million has been used on U.S. information programs, including translation of periodicals, translation of books, distribution of motion pictures and radio and television programs to tell the American story.

Nearly $45 million worth of food has been used to finance educational exchange programs which bring foreign students to this country and send American students to other countries. Slightly more than $16 million has been spent on scientific research performed for this country by scientific institutions abroad.

More than $18 million has been used to help promote medical and health education in other countries.

Some of the foreign currency received for the food is sold to American tourists. Such sales help reduce the flow of dollars abroad.

The food-for-peace program will be 10 years old in July. Originally conceived largely as a measure for disposing of farm surpluses in a constructive way, the program has developed, say the government sponsors, "as an instrument that is also effective in support of our trade and foreign policy goals, and a major tool in the worldwide struggle for freedom from hunger."

The administration has asked Congress to extend the program three more years. No strong opposition is indicated.

Valley Water Meet Planned

Members of both the Kanam and Valley Farms organized communities will meet Tuesday in a joint meeting to discuss the Wichita Valley water situation, announced B. T. Hays, county agent.

The program will start at 7:30 p.m. in the Valley Farms Community house.

First to be presented on the program will be Charles M. McGilvary, supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration for Archer, Clay and Wichita counties. McGilvary will introduce Michael B. Watson, area supervisor for the FIA from Weatherford, Tex.

Watson will explain rural water loans available through the FIA. The area supervisor will discuss who is eligible to borrow and what the terms are.

Hays urged residents of the area who are not members of either of the communities to be present for this important meeting.

Punishment Fits

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — When youngsters act like children they get treated like children here. The sheriff's youth center recently sentenced 10 boys to three days on baby food, plus loss of television privileges, for beating up another youth.

Three more years. No strong opposition is indicated.

Puccini Opera Last Metcast

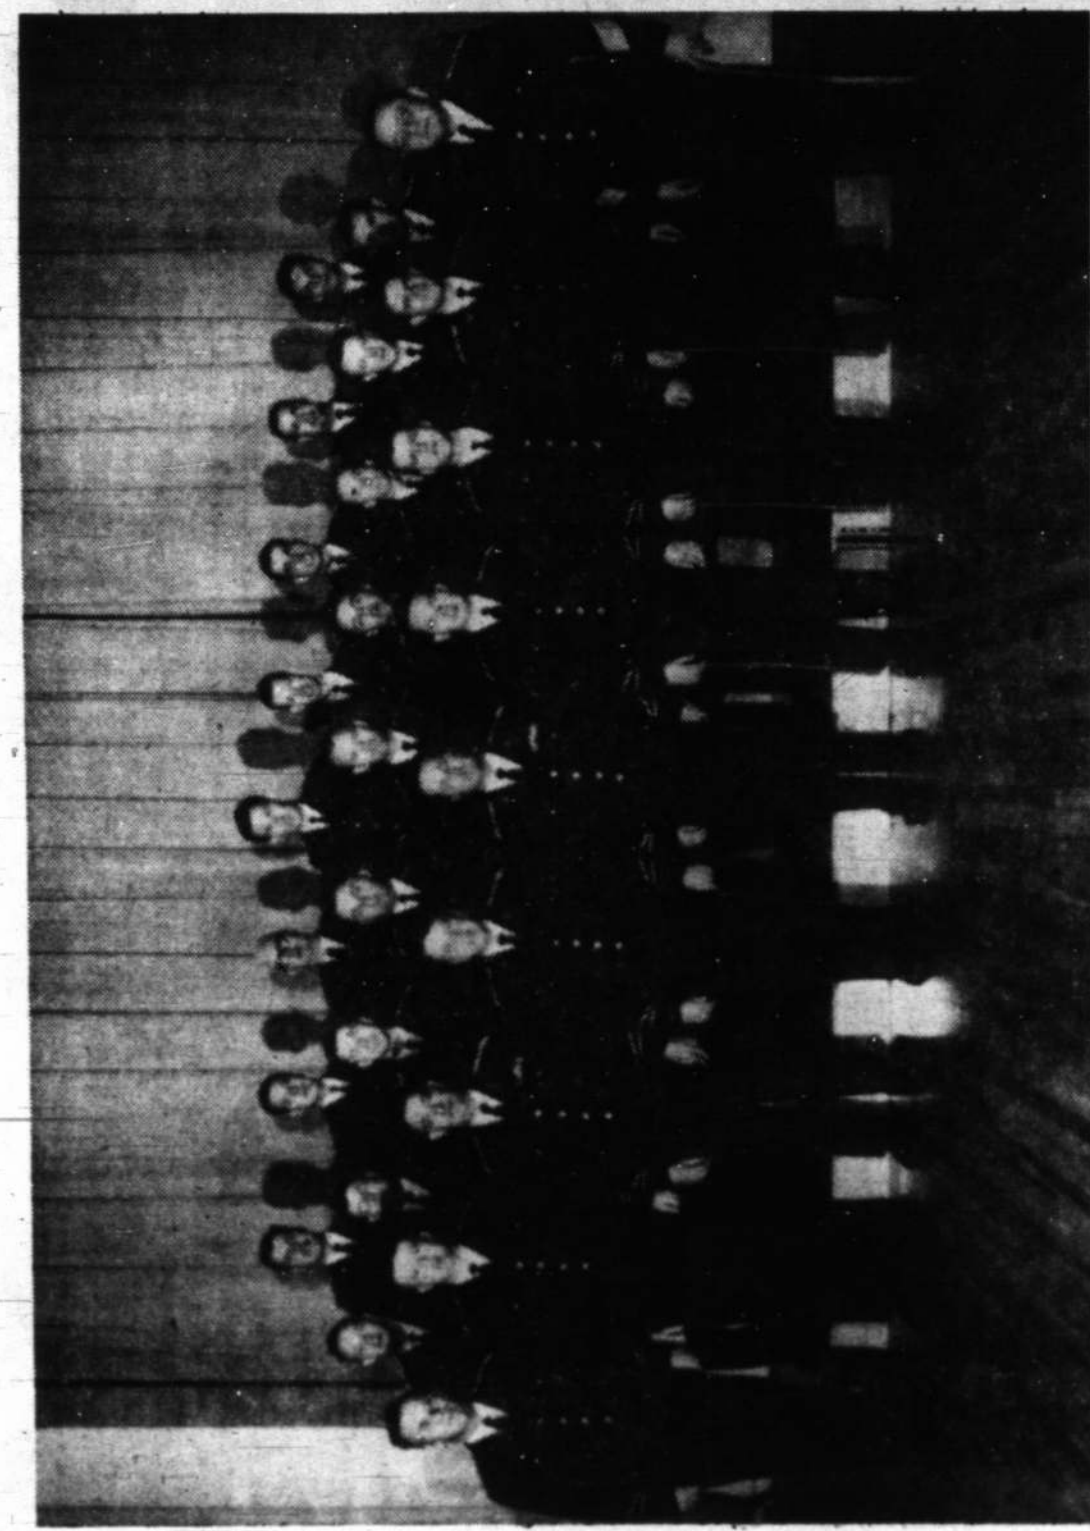

The last Metropolitan Opera broadcast of the 1963-64 season will be Giacomo Puccini's popular three-act opera, "Tosca," which will be given Saturday at 1 p.m. EST over the Metropolitan Opera Radio Network.

The broadcast will originate from Boston where the Metropolitan Opera is performing during its annual spring tour.

In the cast will be soprano Birgit Nilsson as Tosca, tenor Franco Corelli in the role of Cavaradossi, and baritone George London as the villain Baron Scarpia. Fausto Cleva will conduct.

For this final broadcast, the first intermission will be devoted to Opera Quiz. Facing Quizmaster Edward Downes will be Mary Ellis Pells, archivist of the Metropolitan Opera; musicologist Boris Goldovsky; Terry McGowan, manager of the classical division of London Records; and author-actor Walter Szekel.

During the second intermission, Rudolf Bing, general manager of the Metropolitan Opera, will make his traditional end-of-the-season radio talk.

KNOW YOUR SYMPHONY

Playing oboe for the Wichita Falls Symphony Orchestra this season is Jennifer Huskey, a senior at Olney High School.

Miss Huskey receives coaching from Dr. Walter Weber, Midwestern University music department chairman, under the Symphony Scholarship program for high school students.

She has played in the Olney Band and her other activities include school choir, basketball, drum majorette and library club. She is also a member of Future Homemakers of America and Future Nurses.

She plans to attend Midwestern University upon her graduation this spring from high school.

A favorite use is for storage. People keep Christmas decorations, suitcases, lumber and paint in them.

And a retired optometrist has turned his shelter into an underground laboratory where he does "a little charity work for my friends."

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Hardesty, 1603 Christine, Donna studies with Benny Spencer, a violinist and student at Midwestern University.

She began the study of violin while a student of Barwise Junior High School.

New Movie Comedy Star Off 'Real McCoys' Farm

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A new movie comedy star is in the making, although it will come as no surprise to television audiences.

Richard Crenna, once the oldest living teen-ager on the "Our Miss Brooks" show and later Luke on "The Real McCoys," plays the title role opposite Shirley MacLaine and Peter Ustinov in "John Goldfarb, Please Come Home!"

It's the wildest movie script in years—budgeted by 20th Century-Fox at $4.5 million and mostly shot on a harem set complete with badroom that has 56 levels marked "hers" and one marked "his."

Crenna plays a Jewish U2 pilot who crashes in a mythical Arabian kingdom ruled by Ustinov. (The Brantly flying machine is a product of the Wichita Falls area. They are manufactured near Frederick.)

The always changing face of agriculture was reflected last week in a U.S.D.A. report. On January 1, both livestock and poultry on the Nation's farms was valued at $11.7 billion, down 9 per cent from one year ago.

Cattle and calves numbers set a new record with 108.5 million head counted. This was 3 per cent above the same date in 1963. The number of beef cows increased 6 per cent.

Milk cows, two years old and older, also set a new record. Their numbers decreased 3 per cent and totaled 18.1 million head, the lowest figure since 1965.

Hogs and pigs totaled 56 million, a decline of 5 per cent. The smallest inventory since records began in 1907 showed up in sheep and lambs. They totaled 28.2 million head, down 6 per cent.

Chicken numbers were the only figures that showed an increase, they jumped one per cent to 270.5 million. The number of turkeys decreased 2 per cent to 6.3 million.

That idea is funny enough but Goldfarb is a former Air Force Academy football star known as "Wrong Way" Goldfarb.

He has a choice of being turned over to the Russians as a spy or else coaching a Bedouin football team. It seems Ustinov's son went to Notre Dame and didn't make the team.

Ustinov wants the U.S. State Department to bring the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame over to play Fawzia U.—else there will be no U.S. air bases in the mythical kingdom.

The State Department wants Notre Dame to throw the game. The Irish refuse. The football game is the climax of the wacky script with harem beauties as cheerleaders.

Producer Steve Parker and director J. Lee Thompson both rave over Crenna's comedy timing.

RURAL RAMBLINGS

Grasslands Need Time

By NEAL JOHNSON

LOOKS ARE DECEIVING!

It was a few short weeks ago that the five scared faces of Clay County's grassland was showing its blackened areas. Now, the greenest spots in North Texas are the same sections of the county.

Here is where the "looks are deceiving" phase of the idea are the overall picture. The green, lush growth that is now showing up will naturally encourage operators to turn their cattle in for a good meal.

In most cases the rancher has made his first mistake when he thinks about grazing the burned lands. The vegetation that is growing is vital to the land's future production success record.

If a plant count was taken it would show a higher percentage of invader type plants compared to last year. The rancher who has been conducting a program of good range management would probably be disturbed if he could learn about the increase in undesirable forbs. The desirable plants that were managed properly in the past few years will be somewhat lower in number following the fire.

Heavy grazing at this time will cause a slower return to the original state. If deferred, the grassland will recover faster and will give the rancher maximum production quicker.

The fire's effects will be felt for several years. This year's top growth was destroyed; however, a great loss was suffered on the part of each plant's root system.

The new green growth showing up is sapling strength from the root system. This recovery process is producing tender blades of grass.

from the local county agent or from Texas A&M University department of agriculture.

In a fertilization program, Randolph suggested that the first application be made as soon as possible. After determining if trees are going to produce a crop, the owner can apply 500 pounds of 10-20-10 per acre with a grain drill attachment. The re-sprouting is not a problem. If properly spaced in a commercial orchard this will allow about 10 pounds per tree. The 10 pound figure will also fit well in the single tree application.

Handolph noted that the application of potash is important to develop a deep color in the fruit.

Management Plan Observed Of Fruit Tree Owners

FERTILIZER—Clarence Newsom, left, Bowie, Tex. orchard owner, is seen with Brooks Smith, Montague County agent, center and Dwight Whitaker checking fertilizer application on his commercial trees. Both Newsom and Whitaker are working closely with the newly organized Fruitland U.S.A. Co-Op designed to aid the Montague County orchard owner.

results. Another problem that often occurs is that proper spraying techniques are not followed in the first spraying. If the commercial orchard owner is both covered, explained Randolph. It was also pointed out that a complete spray program, in most cases, should be placed on a new schedule if a hard rain falls shortly after a spraying.

Asked about when the trees should be sprayed first, Randolph said, "Normally we spray about this time of the year or when 75 per cent of the bloom petals have fallen, however, the freeze earlier has forced us to wait until 100 per cent of the petals have fallen."

First Spray
The first growing season spray is designed to combat caustic insects (stink and lygus bugs), and the peach twig borer. Proper insecticides are, one-half pound of 50 per cent wettable DDT or four pounds of 50 per cent wettable DDT. Either of the two should be added to 100 gallons of water after being mixed in a paste solution. For brown rot, six pounds of microfine wettable sulfur can be used in 100 gallons of water.

The second spraying, or the shock spray, should take place about 10 days following the first.

Mixed
The insecticide being used in the spray program must be mixed properly," the researcher explained. "A small cup can be used to form a paste substance out of the insecticide prior to placing it in the measured amount of water."

In too many cases, the orchard owners fail to purchase insecticides that contain quantity or strength recommended. Therefore he fails to obtain the desired

HELEN KELLER DRAMA OPENING AT MUMMERS

One is Mrs. Spadlin's grand-daughter, Wendy Spadlin, thus completing a three-generation Mummer's family: G. D. Spadlin, Wendy's father, was in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof." "The Miracle Worker" will run through May 10.

The well-known story of Helen Keller's learning to understand and talk has been put on stage by William Gibson, but with such on-stage violence "The Miracle Worker" is both absorbing and disturbing. The physical violence is inherent in the struggle between Annie Sullivan, the teacher played by Carolyn Ellis, and young Helen, The Mummer's Helen is 12-year-old Helen Melton, a sixth grader at Millwood School.

Each of the protagonists has done one play before at the Mummer's. Mrs. Ellis, a native New Yorker, as the Conjurwoman in "Dark of the Moon," and Helen as the young Anna in "Summer and Smoke."

Others in the cast, many of them Mummer's favorites, are Maurice Eaves and Jackie McEhan as Helen's parents. Max Weitzenhoffer as her brother James, John Pittman as an early teacher of Annie Sullivan, Sullivan Stevenson as a doctor, Laverah Spadlin as Aunt Ev and Olga Alfieri and Stanley Zenor as servants. Several children are in the cast as blind students, and the Keller children and servants.

ALL-STAR CAST OF PIONEERS — Some 20 stars who have roles in the epic historical adventure film of early Americana, "How The West Was Won," now in the third week of a special run at the Strand Theatre, are shown here in montage, including Gregory Peck, Debbie Reynolds, James Stewart, Carroll Baker, John Wayne, Richard Widmark, Raymond Massey, Thelma Ritter, and Agnes Moorehead.

Call From Above

MIAMI (AP) — The sonic boom from jet planes breaking the sound barrier gets an enthusiastic response from the bull alligators in the Everglades swamps lying outside town. The alligators roar back, in a chain reaction chorus. Naturalists speculate that the boom from the plane is on the same frequency as the alligators' mating roar; the "gators" mistake the boom for a challenging male; boom back, causing others to get into the act, and so on till the swamp is all in an uproar.

Concert Pianist In Oklahoma City Recital

prodigy exploits; however, once he did start playing concerts, he has not gone through the teenage slump many such musicians endure.

His interests have been those of a normal teen-ager, with serious hobbies as a "ham" radio operator and a sailboat enthusiast. He lives with his family on Long Island, where he can indulge those hobbies; he also is a baseball fan and a skier.

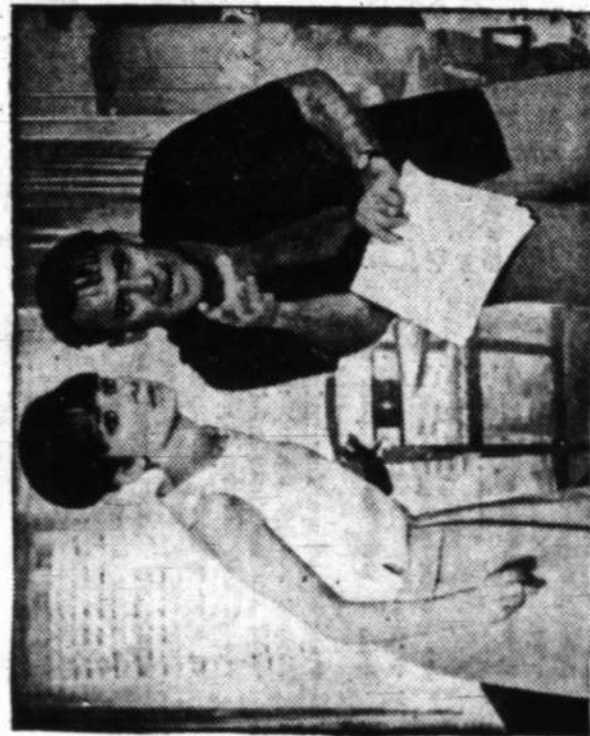

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (Special)—Larin Hollander, sensational young American pianist, will present a piano recital Thursday, as the final Great Artist Series attraction of the 1963-64 season sponsored by the Women's Committee for the Oklahoma City Symphony. Time is 8:30 p.m., in Municipal Auditorium.

Only 19, Hollander has been performing with major symphonies and on television programs since he was 11. His New York fame dates from his substitution, when he was 12, for the indisposed Nicole Harriot, when Hollander played the Ravel piano concerto with Thomas Scherman and the Little Orchestra Society.

He also "subbed" for Van Cliburn in San Antonio in 1959, with great success. Earlier he had played as a "regular" on the Telephone Hour, Harold Schonberg, New York Times critic, called him both "a formidable technician and a superior bravura player" in 1962.

Hollander has attended the Juillard School of Music during his teen years, combining academic studies with his music. He is the son of Max Hollander, violinist who was concertmaster of the NBC Symphony under Toscanini. Although he started piano study at 5, he was kept from childhood.

Folk Singer In Recital On MU Artist Series

Eugene Jemison, a folk singer in the concert halls and a painter and printmaker in art galleries with several one-man shows to his credit, will appear here in recital at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Midwestern University Auditorium on the MU Artist - Lecture Series.

The Jemison recital of folk music will be a public event for which tickets will be sold Wednesday night at the door.

In his capacity as an artist and printmaker, he is also scheduled to give a slide lecture on "The Creative Process in Art" on the MU campus at 2:30 p.m. Thursday in the arena theatre.

He studied folk singing under John Jacob Niles and other folk music studies with Willard Rhodes at Columbia University. Other studies in the ballad, music, voice, and guitar were done at Washburn University, where he received his Bachelor of Fine Arts degree and at the Kansas City Conservatory of Music.

A member of the faculty at the Kansas City Art Institute, Jemison has studied at the Art Students League in New York, Columbia University, the Hambrovi Stained Glass Studios in New York, the Institute Politecnico Nacional in Mexico City, and the New School for Social Research. The artist - folk singer holds a Master of Fine Arts degree from the Kansas City Art Institute.

As an artist, Jemison has employed such contemporary media as plastics and waxyite and has been helpful in the development of new painting materials.

He has distinguished himself as a painter and printmaker of folk themes, going to folklore, folk songs, and folk poetry for his inspiration.

Through these he has come to recognize and utilize the interrelationship of the folk arts with the other fine arts.

Caught With Goods

MIAMI (AP)—A pair of button shoes trapped two men in a theft case. They managed to sell 42 pairs of pants and 55 shirts. But the fancy, three-button shoes didn't move and they were caught with them. The owner of the store said he'd been trying to sell the same shoes for 10 years.

THE WORRY CLINIC

Sound Advice For Women

By GEORGE W. CRANE M.D.
CASE S-496: Martha T., aged 38, is the wife mentioned yesterday.

After 18 years of apparently happy marriage, she discovered that her husband was cheating around with a young "doll" from his office.

And she blamed him 100 per cent for this offense.

Wives, you are generally 50 per cent to blame for divorce even though you may think you are 100 per cent innocent.

For you predispose yourself to divorce by your sins of omission more than any sins of commission.

The average wife is a one-man woman.

But the average male is polygamous by inheritance.

Monogamy is only a recent innovation in human history. It is much superior to polygamy on many counts, if.

And that big "if" means, if the wife realizes her husband is still polygamous in the erotic realm.

So a smart wife must function as a one-woman harem to her mate and thus keep interest on many occasions just to keep his ego up to par.

Otherwise, he may look elsewhere for some more cooperative partner.

Women Warned
And don't blame me for giving you those scientific facts.

"Dr. Crane, you always side with the men," is the curt retort of many wives like Martha.

But I do NOT side with the men all the time. However, I do give you wives a jolt when I warn you that your own inertia in the boudoir is what drives your mate into the arms of a designing siren.

Women, get help! There aren't enough men to go around. So there is an army of millions of females who are just waiting to snare your mate.

And if you wish to keep him, both for your mutual happiness and the greater emotional security of your kiddies, then listen to some sound medical advice.

You are married to a man who potentially needs a harem. So, for heavens sake, then act as a one-woman harem!

For God created man to have a harem. Ancient Jewish patriarchy thus had many wives and arches thus had many wives and

DON E. WALKER

Telephone Man Gives Blood

The secretary-treasurer of the telephone credit union and a switchman for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. in Wichita Falls, Don E. Walker has been admitted to the Red Cross Gallon Club. He gave eight pints of O negative type blood to transfuse others through facilities of the Red River Regional Blood Center, Fifth at Baylor.

Walker and his wife, Jean, are the parents of Van and Terry. They reside at 2915 Lawrence Road. Walker, a Baptist, spent two years in military service with the Signal Corps.

From the Wichita Falls Times and Record News, Walker received a certificate of appreciation for his service as a blood donor and the Red Cross presented him with a Gallon Club pin.

Medley of Mirrors

It's All Done With Mirrors

It's all done with mirrors and the effect is an image of beauty. Mirrors are more than something to see a reflection in. They are a part of decor in any home, and they can add to the good looks of any room.

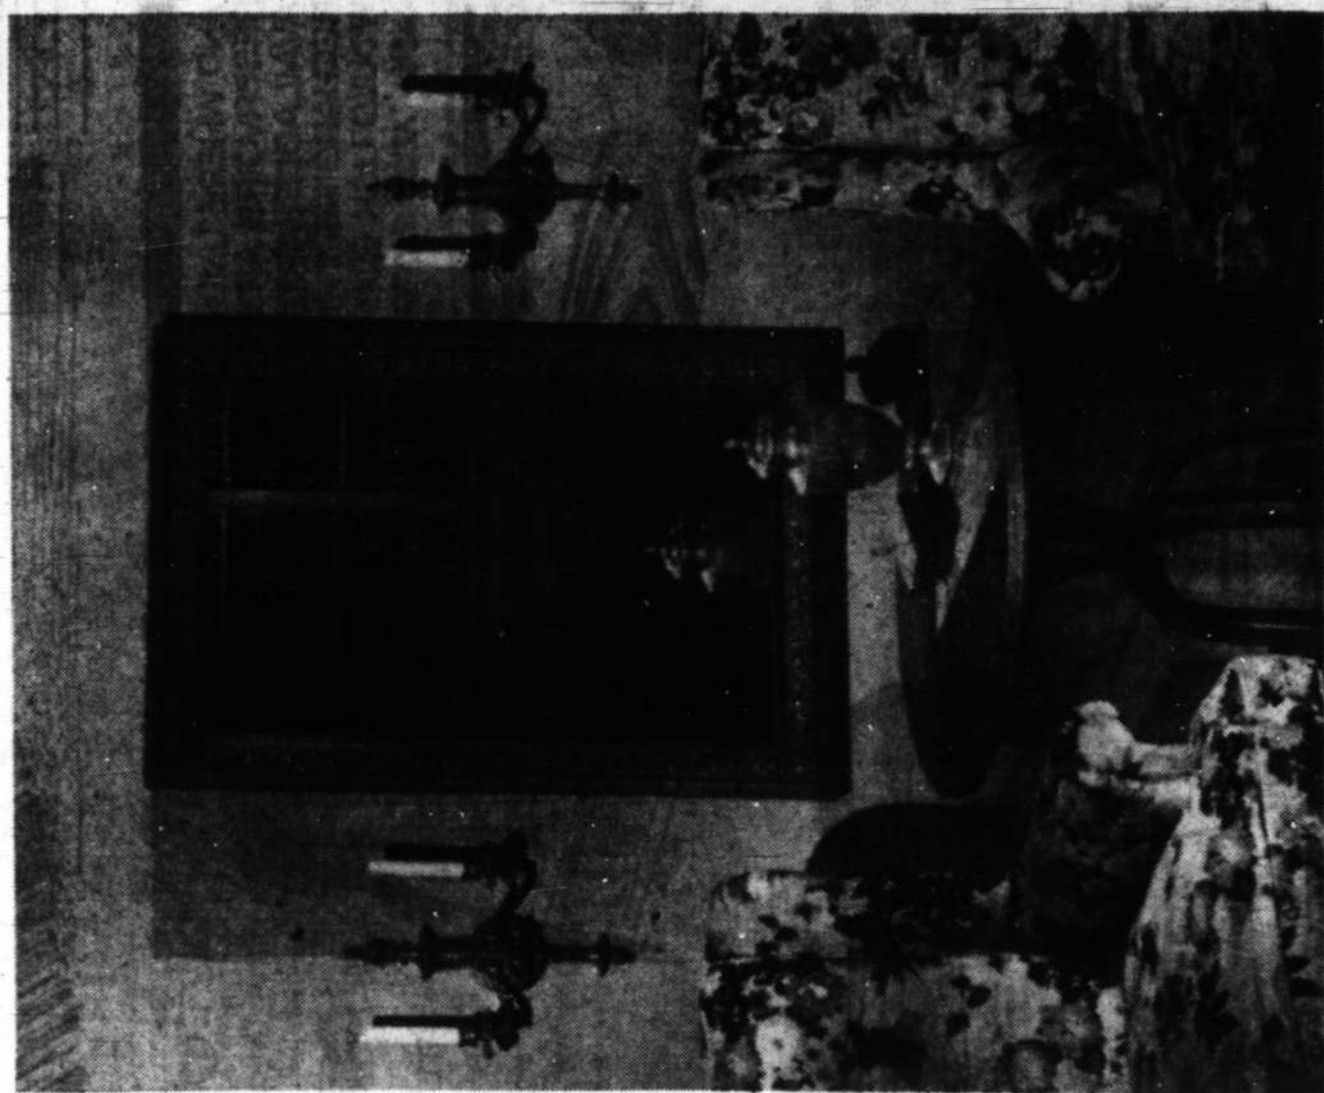

Placement of a mirror over a table calls double attention to the handsome accessories placed thereon. Lower left, the mirror is framed in natural walnut which goes beautifully with furnishings of nearly any wood or period. A plain border surrounds the delicate rosette and ribbon design.

A perfect oval is as graceful a shape for a mirror as for a woman's face. This lovely example is ready to reflect many an attractive face as well as attractive room, giving them both added sparkle. The gold frame has a ribbon and rose motif with a carved rose bouquet clustered on top. It measures 18x24 inches.

Take a medley of mirrors to combine imaginatively with prints and objects d'art to create a handsome gallery wall for a traditional home. The three miniature mirrors are intricately framed in antique gold and white. All mirrors shown are by Masterpiece Mirror Corporation.

Also important in mirrors is a new style which has a gently curved gold frame decorated with cross-hatching and ornamentation at the corners. The traditionally styled mirror is the most important part of a wall grouping that includes pictures because it makes this part of the room center of attention.

When in doubt about your decor, let your mirrors reflect your good taste.

Reflecting Good Taste

Mrs. James H. McNamara is shown stirring up a French dish for guests.

Sheppardite Enjoys Preparing Gourmet Dishes French Style

Mrs. James H. McNamara of Sheppard Technical Training Center has a culinary repertoire that includes recipes from all over the world; but she and her family are particularly fond of foods that she learned to cook while she lived in France.

"Practically all I know about cooking," Mrs. McNamara explained, "I've learned since I married. I knew how to cook Mexican food then, but that is about all."

"My mother realized that I would need other recipes so she subscribed to the 'Gourmet' magazine for me. Since then I've become intensely interested in the native foods of any locale where I live. Of course, through the years, I've collected a number of magnificent cook books as well as a file of recipes," the Sheppardite said.

Some places overseas proved to be troublesome, however, to this enthusiastic cook, because her husband as a base veterinarian would not allow her to use certain foods since the sanitary conditions under which they were sold did not meet the Air Force specifications.

The McNamaras came to Sheppard from a four-year tour overseas in Scotland and France. While in Europe they visited many other surrounding countries including Switzerland, Spain and Italy.

"But I learned that the French, who are known for their rich food, are in reality more thrifty than the Scots because they use all the foods and make such good dishes," Mrs. McNamara related. In England and Scotland the McNamaras particularly liked lemon sole and trifle; but it was cooked with wine when the water's purity was questionable. Here she added recipes for la fondue bourguignonne, French onion soup, and snails encroutés.

She collected a winner schnitzel recipe in Germany; glühwein, a sking hot drink, and cheese fondue in Switzerland; paella, a seafood dish with rice; sangria, a drink; and gazpacho, a cold soup in Spain; spaghetti and pizza in Italy.

A Dutch couple they knew in Europe taught Major and Mrs. McNamara how to make curry by a recipe from the Dutch West Indies which is different from the way the English make it. The family also likes octopus and squid dishes that Mrs. McNamara makes.

One of her favorite meals is the La Fondue Bourguignonne with complementary sauces and a green salad. She has the dishes on which to serve: The plates feature divided sections for the sauces.

Among her favorite recipes are La Fondue Bourguignonne and French onion soup, given below.

La Fondue Bourguignonne

To prepare the meat: Have the butcher cut a good quality of meat such as sirloin steak 1 inch thick. Allow a pound per person. Then cut in 1 inch cubes. Use several plates of meat at the table. An alcohol burner and a metal fondue pot is placed in the middle of the table. Not more than four people should use the same pot. Each person cooks his own meat.

Several sauces are prepared, such as:

Bordelaise

Cook until golden, 2 tablespoons of chopped shallots or onions in 2 tablespoons of butter. Add 2 tablespoons of red wine, salt and pepper to taste, a small lump of sugar, a sprig of tarragon, and a few thyme leaves. Bring to a boil and let simmer for five minutes. Add this to whipped butter.

Bearnaise

Divide ½ pound butter at room temperature into three parts. Combine 3 sprigs tarragon, 3 sprigs chervil, 2 shallots, all finely chopped, 4 crushed peppercorns, and ¼ cup white vinegar and ¼ cup white wine in the top of a double boiler. Cook over direct heat until they are a thick paste. Allow to cool slightly. Put the pan over hot water and add 3 egg yolks and 1 tablespoon water. Stir until light and fluffy. Add the butter, one part at a time, stirring until mixture is thick and smooth after each addition. Season with salt and cayenne to taste. Strain. Serve immediately.

French Onion Soup For Four

Slice 4 onions. Brown in 3 tablespoons butter. Sprinkle 2 tablespoons flour over mixture. Add 2 cups beef bouillon. Toast 8 slices small French-type bread in the oven. Place bread in the bottom of a casserole, cover with 1 cup grated Swiss cheese. Pour soup mixture over the bread and top with more cheese on top. Add 1 glass (1 cup) white wine. Place in the oven (450 degrees) for 10 minutes until the cheese is melted. Serve from the casserole.

Cheese balls for fruit salad. Mix canned apple sauce and cream cheese. Form into tiny balls and roll in ground peanuts.

Our research scientists at Phillips 66 are, by and large, pretty conservative fellows. They're not apt to go overboard about anything.

But when they developed present Trop-Artic, they said it was the greatest motor oil they'd ever seen. No ifs, and's, or but's. The greatest. So we had it tested against six other great long-mileage oils that cost up to $1.00 or more a qt. These recognized tests included established standards set by the Automotive Manufacturers Association.

As you can see in the chart, Trop-Artic won hands down. In over-all performance, none of the other oils were in the same league.

So it really adds up to this: You can pay more for other motor oils—a lot more. But why? Trop-Artic is in a class by itself.

Go first-class... go Phillips 66!

Remember When 'Red Hot Burns' Walked Through City?

By JIM KOETHE

A Dallas man who some 30 years ago promoted one of the most talked-about marathon walks ever held in this area says a 50-mile walk is "too much for most people" and recommended short strolls such as those now being promoted by the YMCA.

Bill Hancock who lives at 1402 Beaumont in Dallas has lived through the late President Kennedy's "50 mile" craze but maintains a walk of anything less than from Dallas to Chicago "is nothing."

Like the late President Mr. Hancock never made such a walk—it was just his idea.

And, it happened 30 years ago—not too many years after President Theodore Roosevelt made the original hiking suggestion to Marines.

Recalling the events of the marathon walk that jammed Dallas streets and cities from here to Chicago, Mr. Hancock said he first got the idea in Oklahoma.

He was staging a cotton queen contest in Frederick, Okla., for Texas and Oklahoma cotton interests. During the show he had used a full-sized fake bale of cotton in which the queen hid and then jumped out at the right moment.

When the show was over, he was stuck with a fake cotton bale, no more show job and it was right during the depression. Then he decided why not have someone carry the bale on their back from Dallas to the Century of Progress fair in Chicago.

He talked a former Frederick football star, Cecil Burns, into making the trip and then set out to find financial support—which, he recalls, was almost impossible to find. Mr. Hancock, who was 25 years old at the time, promptly renamed his 23-year-old walker "Red Hot Burns."

They were able to get some money for the trip from chambers of commerce and individuals in Frederick, Wichita Falls and Dallas and, on the way, sold pictures and made appearances in movie houses, nightclubs and any street corner where they could raise a crowd.

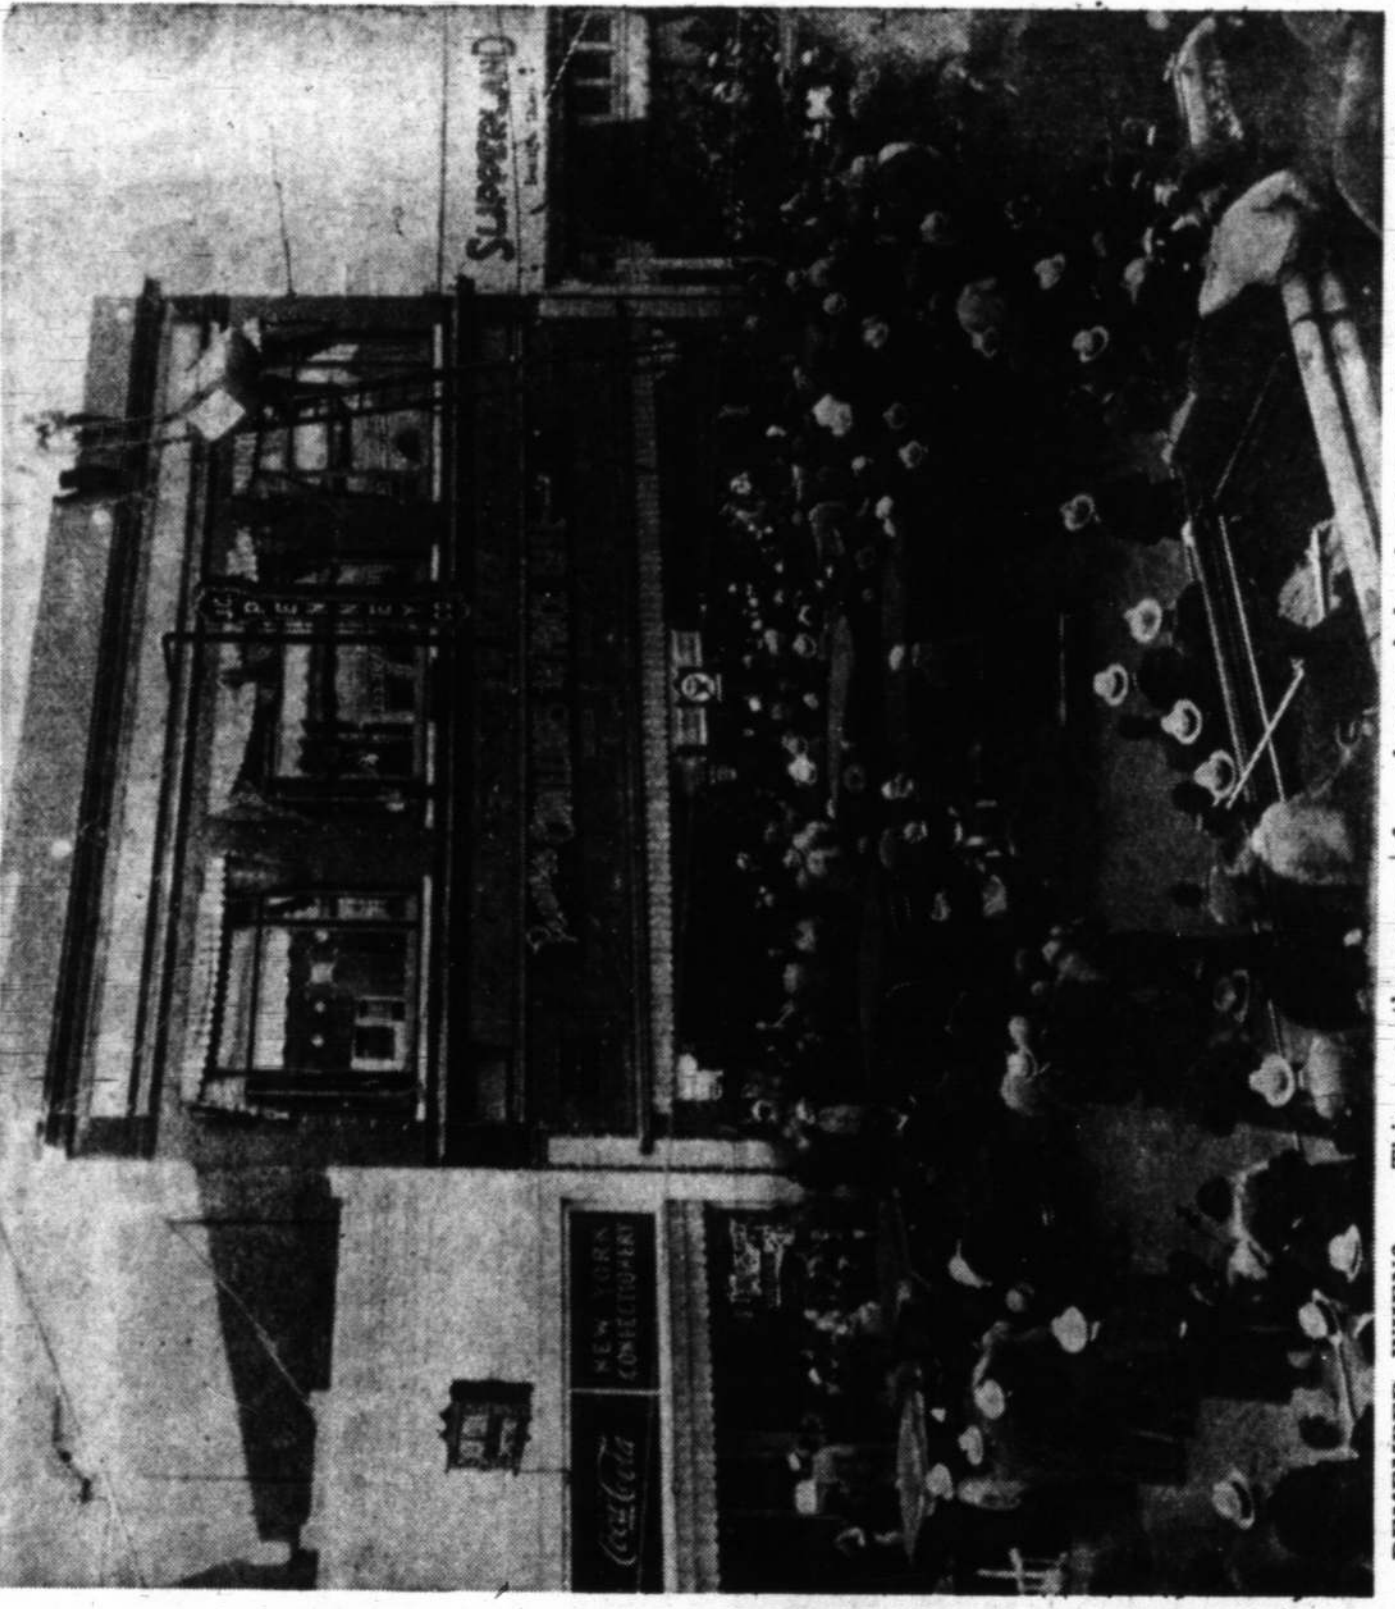

Started At Dallas
"I suppose it was the only time anyone ever did it for a stunt," Mr. Hancock noted, "but after three days of arguing I was able to get Dallas' only ladder truck."

He ran the ladder eight stories up the Baker Hotel and Red Hot Burns, carrying the 150-pound fake cotton bale, climbed to the top. It jammed the streets and the fire department said never again.

From there, Burns started his walk, with Mr. Hancock following in a car, to Chicago, covering 15 miles a day, walking seven days a week with the heavy bale. Three months later they arrived at the fair.

The closer they got to Chicago, the bigger the crowds and follow ers got and by the time they entered Illinois, it took a police escort to get them through the state.

Highways were jammed for miles in Illinois, he recalled, and several major wrecks occurred

REMEMBER WHEN? — This was the scene of Indiana Street, some 30 years ago when "Red Hot Burns," a former Frederick, Okla., football star made a marathon walk from Dallas to Chicago carrying a dummy bale of cotton as a promotion stunt for a cotton queen contest. The event was held in connection with a cotton buyer's convention.

MY ANSWER

BY BILLY GRAHAM

Thoughts Are Not Sinful Themselves

QUESTION: I would like to know if there is any difference between being tempted and one's thoughts?—J.D.

ANSWER: Temptation usually comes through one's thoughts. As we have often heard said: "An idle mind is the devil's workshop." However, though evil suggestions often come to mind, they need not be expressed in overt action. Often, temptation goes for other kinds of sin as well. We all have flashes of envy, pride, anger, and hatred. The human mind is a spawning place for these. But, we have been given the power of choice, and we can throw them out of our minds. The Bible says: "There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man . . . but will make a way to escape." 1 Corinthians 10:13.

While we all have to power of choice—too few of us exercise it rightly without Christ in our lives. Paul said: "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me."

when motorists tried to watch the walker.

"All the girls followed him," Mr. Hancock said, "and it became one of my jobs just to keep the girls away from him— they would cry when he would walk out of a town and I guess he could have married any girl between here and Chicago."

Eventually the crowds got so bad they had to travel at night and in one town 10,000 people jammed the streets and they had to spend the night there after walking only a few miles.

Crowds Grew Along Way
The walk got nationwide publicity and just about everybody knew exactly where Red Hot Burns was all along the way.

Mr. Hancock recalled that foot blisters almost ended the trip at Gainesville. "They were so bad by then that it looked like Red Hot could not go on," he said. But, Mr. Hancock drove on into town and got several pairs of light weight socks and heavy socks. For the rest of the trip Burns wore the heavy socks over the light ones and, Mr. Hancock feels, this was the secret of the walk.

The socks slipped as he walked and kept him from getting anymore blisters," he said. When they finally reached Chicago, Red Hot had lost 20 pounds, and, Mr. Hancock noted, "was pretty proud over his accom-

U.S. Sleuths Always Looking For Trade Abroad

By WILLIAM F. CLARK

U.S. Department of Commerce It was a stifling hot subtropical evening in the newly independent nation, and the U.S. Embassy commercial officer found himself wishing he were home in Missouri instead of at an official reception in a far-off land. Then he heard a guest remark that the prime minister planned to look over some highway-building machinery on his forthcoming trip to Europe and the United States. The prime minister, the guest said, was going to do some "comparative shopping."

Within hours, officials at the U.S. Commerce Department in Washington were studying the commercial officer's cable. A few weeks later, as the prime minister was being driven along a U.S. super highway, a detour sign directed the car to a construction site where huge earth-movers and other heavy equipment were working on a new inter-change. Net result: some of the same type machines are now building highways in his country.

This, probably the softest sell in the history of the roadbuilding industry, was not exactly a typical case. But each week, 149 Foreign Service posts send to Washington hundreds of similar sales leads which alert U.S. firms to millions of dollars worth of work hours for American labor. Moreover, the new-found gap in the Nation's international balance of payments.

One Of Oddest

Although little known to the average American, these business sleuths belong to one of the oldest corps of U.S. Government servants. The State Department's first sent commercial officers abroad 171 years ago, and their reports were posted on harbor masters' bulletin boards for the Yankee Traders of old. In recent years, the State and Commerce Departments, through the latter's Bureau of International Commerce (BIC), have worked together to develop a commercial service that provides U.S. businessmen with a wider range of trade leads than ever before.

Commercial officers never close a sale, but each year they bring together thousands of American salesmen and foreign trade opportunities abroad. And when American businessmen journey to a foreign nation in search of sales, their prime contact is often the resident commercial officer, who can provide both vital data on the nation's companies and access to the right people, whether in business or government.

Always on the lookout for ripe trade plums, commercial officers visit the docks and industrial areas, get to know the leaders of the business community, monitor developments in the financial district, and sift through every scrap of business news available in local newspapers and government reports.

Opportunities Listed
Most of their trade leads are printed in International Commerce, a weekly magazine of commercial intelligence published by the Department of Commerce. Each issue carries from 10 to 15 pages of "World Trade Opportunities," often listing as many as 700. Reflecting the continuing expansion of overseas markets, trade leads have increased 370 per cent since 1960. Beyond any doubt, the leads mean business, literally so. A majority of them result in sales. A Baghdad company, for example, requested literature and prices on U.S. washing machines. Five months after the notice was published in International Commerce, the company wrote in to say it had bought $20,000 worth of the machines from four of the American firms that replied. Again, a Los Angeles firm answered a request for a certain type of pump; the foreign buyer states it has since purchased $1.5 million worth of them.

Not all the many trade tips are published. Some foreign firms seeking U.S. suppliers don't want any publicity for one reason or another. Such requests are usually turned over to the Commerce Department's Business and Defense Services Administration (BDSA), which maintains close contacts with industry groups. BDSA then distributes the requests to business firms on its mailing list.

No trade lead is taken lightly by BIC, but the temptation is sometimes rather strong. A German firm, for instance, wanted to buy "bathing sand for chinchillas." Although it seemed like a trans-atlantic jigsaw puzzle at first, a search turned up several U.S. firms that actually do sell such a product. Evidently, the little unprocessed fur coats like to dry wash themselves each morning in a mixture of Fuller's earth and sand. This, happily enough, greatly improves the quality of their fur.

Detailed Knowledge
In addition to potential buyers, companies competing in export markets must have detailed knowledge of economic conditions abroad and of the duties, tariffs, laws and regulations of other nations. Consequently, commercial officers funnel this type of information into BIC's Office of International Regional Economics where a staff, composed in part of commercial officers on home tour in Washington work up special "Overseas Business Reports."

More than 150 of these book-lets were published in 1963. (Example: "Basic Data on the Economy of Libya.") Of the more than 20,000 titles since 1955, U.S. businessmen have bought over three million copies from the Government Printing Office. The Commerce Department also publishes a much sought-after series of Trade Leads, which range in subject matter from "Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Dealers in Nicaragua" to "Zinc Importers in Pakistan." The Commerce Department's Division of International Commerce brings out several hundred of these each year.

Last fall, at the White House Conference on Export Expansion, the Nation's business leaders recommended that the Commerce Department be reinforced to meet the increasing needs of U.S. business for information on growing foreign markets. The diplomats of business in the Commerce Department agreed. From long experience, they know there are countless opportunities for profits overseas, and obviously, the more sales scouts we have doing legwork abroad, the greater will be the gains for American business in the competition for export markets.

TRADE TALKS — Commercial officer of the U.S. Department of Commerce assists two Libyan businessmen in their quest for information on American-made tractors in the U.S. commercial and industrial library for the U.S. Commercial Office, Tripoli. The United States Government maintains libraries of industrial catalogues, business directories and trade publications in embassies and consulates around the world to assist local businessmen in buying from the United States.

FORT SILL, Okla. — Breakfast is in shifts, the family gravels by station wagon and the three bedrooms are furnished with bunkbeds.

But except for those minor adjustments, a family of 11 children is not much of a problem for Sgt. Charles D. Marshall of Fort Sill.

In fact, Marshall says it is usually a relief to get back to the relative calm of his 11-year-old household after a day's work as platoon sergeant in Battery D, Third Training Battalion at the Army Training Center.

"It is usually pretty quiet for me at home," he said. "The children play in their own rooms with the doors closed."

While people he meets express surprise and wonder about the size of his family, the ATC sergeant is no more worried about the number of his children than he is about the amount of his income tax bill.

Does his experience as an Army sergeant help him handle his squad-size brood?

With a laugh, Sgt. Marshall said it does, "especially the idea of breaking people down in groups."

The 11 children range in age from four months to 16 years. The oldest five are his wife's by a previous marriage. The oldest, Jerry Lee, works part time and all the other have chores at home.

Besides Jerry Lee, the youngsters are Brenda Lou, 14; Otis Ray, 13; Doris Jean, 12; Donald James, 11; Charlene, 8; James Michael, 7; Reginald, 6; Peggy Lee, 4; Charles Ray, 18 months, and Alexander, four months.

Monument To Potato

HIRSCHORN, Germany
(AP)—One of the only vegetables honored with a monument is the potato, which is commemorated here with a plaque that reads: "To God and Francis Drake, who brought to Europe the potato, for the everlasting benefit of the poor, the Potato."
The potato, acknowledged as a native of the Americas, was known as a staple in the Indian diet long before white settlers set foot there.

Stop In Again

JOHNSON, Kan. (AP)—Ora Carter of Lark, Kan., was headed home from a school house dance when he passed through Johnson.

He stopped at a stable to get feed for his horse and since there was no attendant he fed the animal and forgot about paying for the feed.

Carter stopped in Johnson again recently and recalled that he still owed Lee Williams a feed bill.

He found Ira Williams, Lee's son, who told him to forget the 26-year-old debt.

In the far east, the dragon has managed to retain its prestige and is known as a beneficent creature. In China it appears as the national symbol and was the badge of the royal family. In Chinese art, the imperial dragon can be identified by its five claws. The ordinary Chinese dragon has only four. The Japanese dragon has three claws.

The Celts of ancient Britain delighted in beauty of form and detail and plant and animal motifs. In this way they are akin to the Vikings of the Middle Ages, since for both, love of beauty was mixed with a feeling for the fantastic and the grotesque.

Portable "Sun God"

FARMINGDALE, N.Y. (AP)—A unit which resembles a flashlight on a stand with a small sun lamp attachment and produces instant direct-ray heat at the touch of a switch without electricity now is on the market. It utilizes a small core which glows instantly with its heat produced by the reflection of a flashlight throws a beam of light. Claimed to be windproof, the unit can be used to heat, cook, defrost, and dry hair, clothes, or paint. It also can be used to kill worms and larvae.
