Death March Homma Held

By MORRIE LANDSBERG
Associated Press Staff Writer

TOKYO, Sept. 15. — Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma of Bataan "Death March" infamy and three other suspected war criminals surrendered to U. S. Army authorities tonight and were locked up in Yokohama prison.

The notorious commander of Japan's Philippines invasion professed "surprise" to find his name on General MacArthur's list of possible war guilty who may be forced to face courts martial.

With Homma were Lt. Gen. Shigenori Kuroda, his successor in the Philippines and these two others on MacArthurs "wanted" list:

Col. Kingoro Hashimoto, a Black Dragon society leader who ordered the bombing of the U. S. Gunboat Panay in 1937, and Yoshitaka Ueda, suspected secret leader of the imperialistic geo-political bureau.

They apparently had spent a leisurely day within Kangawa prefectural police station.

Shadows were lengthening over the three-story new concrete prison on the edge of Yokohama when Homma led the three others past steel-helmeted American MP guards.

They filed into the prison grounds in order of rank with Kuroda second and Ueda last.

Others Already Held

Adm. Shigetaro Shimada, former Navy minister who ordered the attack on Pearl Harbor, and possibly others wanted for questioning already were confined in Yokohama prison, it was understood.

Homma, who as a victor in the Philippines once refused to talk to Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright because of his then inferior rank, was escorted from the police station by American soldiers, the highest ranking of whom was a second lieutenant.

"Jail," snorted Kuroda in contempt for his destination as he walked down the jail stairs.

Presumably the prisoners will be confined in ordinary prison cells.

Homma previously had told interviewers that the defense of Corregidor was so strong he had about concluded the Japanese assault a failure when he saw the white flag raised over "The Rock."

In charge of the party that went to get Homma was Lt. W. B. Carrow, Pear Valey, Tex.

Homma denied he had ordered the Death March, in which American and Filipino troops were beaten and stragglers killed by their Japanese guards. He said, "I don't think it was such a tough march."

But in an interview Homma said he was ready to "take full responsibility" for the acts of his subordinates.

Kuroda, who became commander of Japanese forces in the Philippines in May, 1943, after Homma was ordered home and retired, said 10,000 American prisoners were held in the islands during his tenure, to September, 1944. When asked about atrocities against the prisoners, Kuroda replied:

"I never heard of that—never."

Fire Sweeps Navy Blimp Base As Hurricane Rips Southern Florida

(By The Associated Press)

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 15—Over 200 persons were reported injured tonight in a fire at the Richmond Navy blimp base as a violent tropical hurricane that reached a peak velocity of 143 m.p.h. swept inland across the Florida Keys.

Hurricane warnings were ordered hoisted over all of peninsula Florida, 50,000 persons were driven to seek emergency shelter in south Florida alone, and at least one death was reported.

Flames whipped by the great winds threatened to destroy the giant Navy blimp hangars at Richmond, 30 miles from Miami, which were described by the Navy as the world's largest single-arch wooden constructed hangars.

Hospital Patients Moved

Ambulances were called to Miami's municipally - owned Jackson Memorial hospital to remove 70 pregnacy cases to make room for injured from the blimp base.

Mercy vehicles that sped to the Richmond lighter-than-air station carried 200 units of plasma, and 75 additional units were rushed there later. An emergency call was sent to Red Cross officials in Washington for 250 additional units to be sped here by plane.

The extent of the disaster at the blimp base was kept hidden by ripped communications, flooded roads and washed-out bridges.

Started By Explosion

The Red Cross reported that the blimp base fire was caused by an explosion of undetermined origin while heavy winds roared outside. Six doctors reached the scene to treat victims, and some injured already have entered the naval dispensary at Miami.

Wooden structures at Homestead, 40 miles south of Miami, were badly damaged by the storm, the Red Cross said, but no injuries have been reported.

Three hundred enlisted men from the Miami air base at OPA Locka were dispatched as rescue workers and fire fighters to Richmond.

Furniture Plant Burns

Another fire sprang up on the northwest fringe of downtown Miami, destroying a furniture factory and a tile - manufacturing plant and casting a great red glow up against the rain-whipped skies.

Relief workers went into the Florida Keys as the core of the storm raged over the everglades in a curving northward movement. Hundreds of homes were reported damaged in the keys, where the hurricane reached an official recorded velocity of 143 m. p. h. at Carysport Light, 40 miles south of Miami.

Winds of 99 m. p. h. roared over Miami itself but damage was held to a minimum by the tightly boarded up city.

Warnings Widespread

Full hurricane warnings were displayed from Palm Beach around the southern Florida coast to Tampa and at 5:45 p. m. storm warnings were ordered up along the east coast to Fernandina, near the Georgia state line, and St. Marks on the west coast south of Tallahassee.

The hurricane swirled viciously across the Florida Keys and at 5:45 o'clock its center was in Florida bay about 50 miles north of Taxenier ,a little fishing village at the southern tip of Key Largo. The storm was pointed towards Everglades City on the mainland.

Eighty- nine-mile winds roared through Miami and Miami Beach, smashing plate glass, carrying away colorful beach cabanas, lifting roofs off a few buildings, overturning automobiles and flood-

UAW Threatens To Shut Down All General Motors Plants

DETROIT, Sept. 15. (AP)—The United Automobile Workers (CIO) threatened today to strike all General Motors factories to support its demands for a 30 per cent wage increase.

To spark an industry-wide drive for the increase, the union set aside $4,000,000. General Motors was selected for the start of the campaign with the others of the automobile industry's big three—Chrysler and Ford—to follow.

Turbulent Detroit Scene

The turbulent reconversion scene in the vast automotive industry shaped up thus:

1. The UWA announced it would petition for the strike vote in 135 General Motors plants if the corporation does not meet the wage demand. Such a walkout would affect more than 300,000 workers.

2. The union said Chrysler workers would ballot Sept. 23 to decide whether they also would petition for a strike vote later. This would involve from 80,000 to 100,000 employes.

Ford Almost Closed

3. The Ford Motor company's big plants were almost completely closed as the corporation declared it could not continue work because of strikes against suppliers of parts. About 50,000 workers were affected directly, and 75,000 indirectly.

General Motors, employing 325,000 persons and largest producer of the car industry, was singled out by the union as the most strategic spot to launch the wage drive.

The auto workers union, which has contracts with all major producers of the industry, has outlined a plan to strike each company separately in an effort to enforce the 30 per cent wage demand.

Thus the union would exploit the competitive position of one company at a time.

Plans of the AUW-CIO to throw $4,000,000 into the campaign were disclosed by George F. Addes, secretary-treasurer.

The union said it was anxious to bargain with General Motors but that so far the corporation had made no counter offer to the wage boost demand.

Plain Talk Is Used On Nips

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Sunday, Sept. 16.—General MacArthur clamped a tight censorship on Japan's news industry today, declaring the empire was no equal of the Allies but "a defeated enemy which has not yet demonstrated a right to a place among civilized nations."

All but a few of the top sabre-rattling militarists on his wanted list of suspected war criminals were in custody. Those detained included Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma, held accountable for Bataan's terrible "Death March."

Puppet Leaders Held

Jose Laurel, puppet president of the Philippines, his son and Benigno Aquino, head of the puppet Filipino assembly, were arrested by U. S. Army authorities at the health resort of Nara near Osaka and taken to Yokohama.

Meanwhile, most strategic centers of all four home islands were marked for occupation by October in a stepped-up schedule testifying to the smooth spread of U. S. military power across the fallen nation.

MacArthur showed the Japanese the steel fist in his policy of occupation yesterday when the nation's news leaders were assembled to be told that 100 percent censorship was effective at once.

"General MacArthur desires it to be understood that the Allied powers do not regard Japan as an equal in any way," Col. Donald Hoover, chief of censorship told the Japanese newsmen.

Dictate, Not Negotiate

"The supreme commander will dictate orders to the Japanese government. He will not negotiate with it."

The Japanese were informed they had demonstrated they could not be entrusted with "the latitude" provided under the first, benign censorship MacArthur imposed.

"Domei was suspended yesterday at 5:29 p. m. for the dissemination of news disturbing to the public tranquility," Hoover continued.

Domei went back into operation but with censors at its elbow and with its operations limited strictly to Japan. Censors will move into Japanese newspaper offices and radio stations.

The Japanese still were entrusted with the main burden of rounding up the men MacArthur wants for questioning, but the Americans may take over if at least three high on the list are not quickly produced.

These Are Wanted

They are Shigenori Togo, foreign minister at the time of Pearl Harbor; Taketora Ogata, named as a Black Dragon terrorist who holds ministerial rank as secretary of the present cabinet, and Vice Adm. Ken Terashima, "Pearl Harbor" cabinet minister of communications.

The Japanese yesterday turned over a batch of smaller fry, including Dr. Tokuda, suspected of performing experiments on Allied prisoners of war that caused some to die.

But the biggest fish walked in unassisted and gave themselves up to the Japanese police at Yokohama.

They were the hulking Homma and Lt. Gen. Shigenori Kuroda, his successor in the Philippines, both badly wanted by MacArthur. They later were taken by U. S. troops to Yokohama prison and locked up.

Other Suspects Held

With them and locked up at the same time were two other top suspects, Col. Kingoro Hashimoto, suspected Black Dragon leader who ordered the bombing of the U. S. Gunboat Panay in 1937, and Yoshitaka Ueda, named as a secret leader of the imperialistic geopolitical bureau.

Tojo, the leader as war-time premier of all these men, was recovering from a botched attempt at suicide. Most of his prinicpal henchmen either were in American hands or were suicides.

MacArthur's headquarters announced a revised occupation schedule which for the first time mentioned the southern island of Shikoku and called for a speedier movement into Japan's principal cities and ports.

An advance party of Marines was moving in today (Saturday, U. S. time) at Nagasaki, atom-bomb-

HST To Clear Up Rumors Tuesday

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
Associated Press Staff Writer

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 15 — President Truman said flatly today he would tell reporters all about rumored changes in the War department at his press conference next Tuesday in Washington.

He made the statement shortly after he had told an informal press conference he could give a better answer to any question relating to that department upon his return to the capital.

Rumors On Stimson

There have been persistent rumors that Henry L. Stimson, secretary of war, is anxious to retire and that his departure would be followed by that of Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff.

Leaving his office in the Federal building, the President was told his answers concerning the War department had occasioned considerable excitement among reporters.

Mr. Truman replied that he hadn't told them anything specific but that he would tell them all about it next Tuesday.

The President, however, made it clear that he has not decided upon his choice for the Supreme court vacancy.

Look Into Labor Trouble

Mr. Truman, reporting to reporters at his offices in the Federal building on earlier calls on his mother, his barber, and a former habadashery store proprietor, also disclosed:

(1) That he will look into labor disturbances at Detroit on his return to Washington but that he has no intimate knowledge of the situation at the present time.

(2) That he has no knowledge concerning published reports that Major General Patrick J. Hurley, enroute home from China, wants to resign his post as ambassador to that country.

Scheduled Arrivals Home From Europe

Sgt. Roy K. Kerr of 305 College, was due to arrive Saturday on the SS Lucretia Mott in New York. On the General Taylor, docking in New York Thursday were Pfc. Lee D. Elliott, T/5 Wilson R. Wagoner of 2101 Ake, K, both of Lubbock, Pfc. Loyd G. Green of Morton and Pfc. Noel W. Allphin of Tahoka.

Eventual Independence Of Italy's Colonies Said Mapped By Big 5

By JOHN A. PARRIS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 15—A responsible source said tonight the Big Five council of foreign ministers has decided tentatively to divest Italy of her colonial empire and to adopt a trusteeship arrangement giving ultimate independence to Italian colonies.

The informant said the council had accepted the American view calling for an international trusteeship of the colonies "in conformity with the United Nations charter."

The official communique issued earlier said the foreign ministers had referred the Italian colonial question to the council's deputies with instructions to make the "fullest possible use of the plan proposed by the American delegation."

Turkey's Suggestion

This development on the Italian peace settlement followed earlier reports that Turkey had sent the council a note suggesting international control of the bases leading to the Dardanelles, strategic link between the Mediterranean and the Black sea, and of vital interest to Russia.

It was learned unofficially that the foreign ministers have no intention of naming Italy as the administrator of her former colonies. The United States delegation was understood to be anxious to end speculation that this might be done.

Trusteeship Council

Under the American proposal, which presumably now will be included in the draft of the Italian peace treaty, an international trusteeship council, would be set up under United Nations supervision. This council would designate an administrator.

The trusteeship would continue, it was understood only until the colonies were able to show a readiness for self-government.

In turning over the colonial question to their deputies, the foreign ministers cleared the decks for the consideration Monday of the Italy-Yugoslavia border issue in which control of Trieste and the Istrian peninsula at the head of the Adriatic are in dispute.

While the council in a communique issued after the fourth day's meeting, stressed the American plan, it also told the deputies to take into consideration views of the other delegations.

The council said the deputies were asked to submit recommendations two weeks before a date—to be agreed upon later—of a second session of the foreign ministers.

This indicated the council has decided it will be unable to complete the draft of the Italian treaty for several weeks, or perhaps months.

Russias influence was strengthened further in the council with a decision to add Poland, Ukraine and White Russia to the list of countries invited to submit views in writing, if they wish, on the Italian peace settlement.

Gen. Elliott Recounts His Heavy Borrowings And Network Failure

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. (AP)—Brig. Gen. Elliott Roosevelt told government investigators he borrowed over $600,000 to build a Texas radio network.

He said he never knew how Jesse Jones, former Commerce secretary, settled his huge debts until he read about it in the papers.

The House Ways and Means committee today completed reading the 200-page statement of the late President's second son. It expects to make a decision on its inquiry next week.

Elliott, now 35, is leaving the Army with his future employment unannounced. Ways and Means committeemen said his statement indicates he is "broke."

Hammers At One Point

Throughout the account of his business life, young Roosevelt hammers at one point—that the influence of the office of his father, the President, never was used to promote his financial affairs. He gives in detail his own account of how his father was consulted by telephone by John Hartford, president of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company before Hartford loaned Elliottt $200,000.

Elliott's story was obtained by officials of the internal revenue bureau. It was read behind closed doors by the Ways and Means committee.

Committeemen would not discuss it for publication. But today, from many sources, young Roosevelt's own account can be pieced together for the first time, as follows:

In 1938, when 28 years old, Elliott was president of Hearst Radio, which owned stations in Texas. This organization desired to dispose of certain of its stations. Elliott and two other men formed a corporation, known as Texas State Network. Elliott was to purchase 55 percent of the stock, and the other two men to take the remainder.

Asked Uncle For Help

Hall Roosevelt told Elliott that John Hartford, head of the grocery store chain, often made loans to young men starting out in business and sent Elliott to see Hartford in New York.

Hartford asked Elliott whether it would be embarrassing for President Roosevelt if he made the loan. Elliott suggested that Hartford telephone his father, then at Warm Springs.

Elliott did not hear what his father said to Hartford, but the President later told Elliott, according to the son's story, that he told Hartford if he wished to loan money to Elliott he must do it on the merits, that his children were independent to conduct their affairs as they wished .

At no time, the account added, was any suggestion made to Hartford that he or his company would receive any special consideration from government officials as a result of the loan.

Hartford loaned $200,000 to Elliott, taking stock in the Texas State Network as security.

Then, a few weeks following, David Baird, a New York insurance broker, loaned Elliott $50,000, taking stock as collateral. Baird stipulated that the network take a $100,000 life insurance policy upon Elliott, which was done.

Elliott executed promissory

Gen. Bradley Sending Iron Lung To Clower

AN IRON lung will be flown to Muskogee, Okla., from New York in the personal plane of Gen. Omar Bradley, noted former commander in Europe and now head of the Veterans administration, for use by Leroy A. Clower, 25, Lamesa, war veteran who was flown Friday in an army plane from Lubbock Army Air field to the Muskogee veterans hospital.

This was reported Saturday night by the Associated Press.

Replace Lubbock "Lung"

The lung will replace one belonging to the citizens of Lubbock in which Clower has been living for the last 30 days, and which had to be left at Muskogee when it was discover that the lung at the veterans hospital was not useable.

Bradley's plane is due to arrive in Muskogee this morning.

Clower is a victim of paralysis of the respitatory system. He is believed to have poliomyelitis.

Lubbock's lung, which was purchased recently with funds obtained in a campaign sponsored by the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce, is expected to be returned to Lubbock shortly.

Early Return Asked

Assistant Fire Chief Glenn Smith, an expert in operation of the lung who was on the mercy flight, said he had asked officials of the Oklahoma hospital to return the machine by express as soon as a replacement was found.

Purpose of sending Clower to Muskogee was to place him in a hospital where a lung was said available, and also to make the Lubbock lung available for use by

Japs Say Ack Ack Was Only Fireworks

ABOARD U. S. CARRIER HOGGATT BAY, Ominato Anchorage, Japan, Sept. 15 (AP)—The Carrier Kitkun Bay reported to Rear Adm. H. M. Martin today that several bursts of anti-aircraft fire were observed yesterday near Hakodate, Hakkaido island, but that the Hakodate mayor had apologized for "sending up fireworks."

This apology, with an explanation that it was only a celebration of a "Japanese Saint's day," was accepted as plausible, the Kitkun Bay message said.

It pointed out that the bursts apparently were directed at nothing in particular and caused no harm.

World's Supply Of Natural Rubber To Start Flowing In Few Months

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press Staff Writer

Unofficial reports from Malaya and the Dutch East Indies indicate that the world's supply of natural rubber will start to flow again within a few months. It may return to its normal volume in not much more than two years. The plantations apparently have not suffered as much war damage as had been feared.

The subject is of special interest to the United States, the world's greatest consumer of rubber, whose citizens are clamoring for more and better tires. It also interests a great many other nations because it is an outstanding example of the changes which are likely to come about in post war international trade relations.

War Taught A Lesson

The war taught the lesson that no great nation dares to be caught again short of such vital raw materials as rubber and oil, or tin and other strategic minerals.

Development of synthetic rubber played an important part in the Allied victory, just as synthetic oil kept Germany in the war longer than otherwise would have been possible.

Now that the war is over, the dominant powers are certain to build up adequate stockpiles of those materials which they lack naturally, Their motive will be warred upon, because of their preparedness.

Bargaining Points

Such materials therefore will occupy a special position in future world trade. They will serve as bargaining points in mutual adjustments.

Taking rubber as one commodity of that nature, it is interesting to note what a change the war has made in its status. It used to be an economic weapon controlled mainly by the British and Dutch. Now it is a three-handed game because of the prodigious development of synthetic production by the United States. Russia will be able to get into it also, if she finds it necessary.

Rubber, as well as tin, may come into consideration at the British-United States economic talks in progress in Washington. Britain controls a considerable share of the production of both materials at their principal source in the Far East.

Inducement For Britain

However, Britain will be able to offer rubber as an inducement, not as a bludgeon. The days are gone when a British-Dutch trade combination can control not only the world price of rubber but tell any nation how much it can have, merely by controlling production at the source. British and Dutch rubber men visited American synthetic plants during the war and saw what they could do if any squeeze play were attempted on behalf of natural rubber.

For the time being, however, the United States wants all the natural rubber it can get. The British and Dutch, being in need of dollar exchange, will find it to their interest to resume full scale production as rapidly as possible. They will be able to sell it at a good price, without artificial rigging, in such a buyer's market.

Active Competition Later

Later there will be active competition between nautral and synthetic rubber. John L. Collyer, president of B. F. Goodrich Co., has expressed the view that for most of the next two years, the demand will absorb all the natural and synthetic rubber that can be produced.

After that, there is likely to be an oversupply. Prices then will be regulated by quality, economy of production and technical advances which may be made in either the natural or synthetic industries.

The present annual capacity of synthetic rubber plants plus the known natural capacity when it has been restored to the pre-war level is estimated at about 2,800,000 tons.

That figure might be reached before 1948, and it amounts to more than twice the normal pre-war consumption. Rubber men believe the result will be competition between nautral and synthetic which will bring about a fairly stable price and a minimum of fluctuation in supply.

West Texas Farmers Air-Minded? Glider Sales Speculated

LAMESA, Sept. 15. (AP)—Officials handling the sale of surplus gliders at Lamesa Air field weren't sure today whether or not their rushing business was due entirely to the air-mindedness of West Texas farmers.

The gliders were going like hot cakes at $250 each.

The officials, however, had a suspicion that the accessories which go with each unused glider had something to do with it.

The accessories include a brand new steel trailer with four prewar tires and a big tarpaulin cover. All this, and a glider, too.

Insurance Payments On Crop Losses High

Total amount fo losses paid to farmers through crop insurance in Lubbock county amounts to more than three times the amount of premiums, according to Walter Y. Wells, administrative officer for the Agriculture Adjustment Agency here. Farmers have been paid 535,413 pounds of lint after paying in only 176,123 to date, Wells said. This is worth $23.05 per hundred pounds. All farmers in the county have received their indemnity tickets.

Bradley Plans Faster Action And Better Service In Reorganization

By FRANK ELEAZER
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 — Faster action on claims and better medical care were promised veterans today as Gen. Omar N. Bradley put into effect an Army-style reorganization at the Veterans administration.

Bradley, who succeeded Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines as veterans' administrator a month ago, said no miracle should be expected. However he said he hoped the handling of claims would be on a current basis in two months.

Medical Chief Replaced

His shakeup, hitting hardest in the medical section, looked toward improved conditions in hard-pressed veterans hospitals. Bradley removed Dr. Charles M. Griffith from the post of medical director, substituting Maj. Gen. Paul R. Hawley.

Hawley, former chief surgeon of Army forces in the European theater of operations, was named acting surgeon general.

Because "it is impossible to control every action of a whole Army from one headquarters," Bradley ordered 13 new branch offices set up to supervise field operations and eventually to handle death and insurance claims.

Plan New Hospitals

At a press conference he outlined a new construction policy aimed at putting new hospitals in or on the edge of what he called "good sized towns."

"We hope to tie in as many new hospitals as possible with medical and medical training centers," he said. "I believe the shortage of doctors will be so acute in the next few years that no other plan will provide adequate medical care."

The hospital program envisions interneeships and systems of research and teaching. As a stopgap VA will accept whatever hospitals the Army or Navy can spare.

Bradley described his reorganization plans as comparable to the Army chain-of-command. He named Col. Eldon L. Bailey, former secretary to the general staff in the European theater of operations, his executive assistant and said aBiley would serve as his chief of staff.

Relieve Medical Office

A. D. Hiller, for 15 years executive assistant to the administrator, was given an administrative post under Hawley. This step will relieve the top medical official of paper work, Bradley said.

The Veterans administration, creaking under the World war II load, has been widely criticized by veterans groups for delays in handling claims. Last spring a congressional committee aired charges that patients in veterans hospitals were mistreated.

Bradley said the agency was set up to care for 5,000,000 men. "Now we are looking for a load of 20,000,000 men and they're being thrown on us in a hurry," he said.

Dual Functions Split

Bradley ordered dual functions of some offices split, and named 13 top assistants to handle the divided duties. Along with deputy administrators in branch offices—still to be selected—the assistants will probably draw $10,000 a year.

He named Brig. Gen. Henry B. Lewis, his former chief of staff, in the 12th Army group, to a new post as director of organization, co-ordination and planning. Most other top posts were filled by old-line VA officials.

Branch offices will be set up, as fast as personnel can be found, at Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Cincinnati, Dallas, Denver, Minneapolis, New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis, San Francisco, Seattle and Washington, D. C.

White House Yacht Is To Be Replaced By A Newer, Safer Vessel

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. (U.P.)—The White House announced today that the presidental yacht Potomac is being retired in favor of a newer, safer yacht—the 245-foot USS Williamsburg.

The Williamsburg is an offshore cruising yacht which before the war belonged to U. J. Chisholm of New York. It was used by the Navy during hostilities as a patrol vessel-gunboat and flagship for the Atlantic service force.

The end of White House duty for the Potomac was ordered because, in recent years, additions to her superstructure had made her so top-heavy that she rolled dangerously and consequently could not be used in the open sea.

The Williamsburg will be ready for recommissioning as the presidential yacht in late October or early November.

The Potomac will be reconstructed and returned to its original condition as a Coast Guard patrol boat after the after-superstructure is cut away.

Shortage Of Grade A Milk Facing Dallas

DALLAS, Sept0 15. (U.P.)—Dallas today faced a shortage of grade A milk, according to Dr. J. M. Dowis, acting city health officer.

Production in the Dallas supply area is 8,000 gallons short of the 51,000 needed daily to meet the needs of the city and Army and Navy establishments drawing on the same supply area, Dr. Dowis revealed.

Additional supplies of milk will be received this week from Wisconsin to meet what he called an emergency.

The Gallup Poll:

Public Happy Atomic Bomb Discovered; Some Fearful

PRINCETON, N. J.—Six weeks after thes epic news of the dropping of the first atomic bomb on Japan, the American people still consider atomic bombs and atomic energy the most interesting national question for discussion and debate.

That is evidenced in reports sent in by public opinion reporters after making a coast-to-coast survey of national reaction to the atomic bomb and atomic energy—

GALLUP

"It's a big topic of conversation everywhere . . . The public is still steamed up . . . People are speculating about its future, because the thing fires the imagination . . . Everyone is waiting to hear more about the subject."

When the opinions of the American people were collected in the survey, they five important points stood out:

1.—The American people think it was a good thing that the atomic bomb was developed, not a bad thing.

Even though such bombs with their destructive power contain a threat to the security of mankind, in the public's mind the atomic bomb hastened the end of the war and pointed the way to useful development of atomic energy in the future.

Majority Doubts Explosion

2.—The majority do not expect that experiments in smashing atoms will one day set up a chain of explosions which will destroy the entire world, as some powers have feared.

One person in four thinks this is likely to happen, but most people either do not believe it or are reserving their judgment.

3.—Many people are inclined to be optimistic about the comparatively quick use of atomic power for industry.

The weight of public sentiment among people with an opinion on the issue is that atomic energy will be harnessed to supply power for industrial and other uses within the next ten years.

Scientific men disagree among themselves about the speed with which atomic power can be applied in industry, but the survey certainly indicates a high degree of public faith in the ingenuity and progressiveness of American scientists, engineers, labor and business management.

4.—As for the question of whether atomic bombs will make a large army and navy unnecessary for the United States in the future, the present inclination of the public is to think that big armies and navies will still be needed.

5.—The public wants its leaders to be cautious about sharing the secret of the atomic bomb with other nations.

As reported last week, a poll found 73 per cent saying we should keep control of this weapon, rather than give the weapon to the United Nations Security Council.

Five Questions Asked

The way people feel about atomic bombs and atomic energy—a force expected to revolutionize modern life—is shown in the replies to these five questions.

"Do you think it was a good thing or a bad thing that the atomic bomb was developed?"
Good — 60% Bad—17%
No Opinion—14%

"Do you think that atomic energy will be developed in the next ten years to supply power for industry and other things?"
Yes—47% No—19%
No Opinion—34%

"Some people say that some day experiments in smashing atoms will cause an explosion which will destroy the entire world. Do you think this ever likely to happen?"
Yes—27% No—33%
No Opinion—39%

"Some people say that the atomic bomb makes a large army and navy unnecessary. Do you agree or disagree with this?"
Agree—35% Disagree—47%
No Opinion—18%

"It has been suggested that the new United Nations Security Council use the atomic bomb to help keep peace by putting it under control of a special international air force. Would you favor such a plan, or should the United States try to keep control of this weapon."
Put under United Nations.

Borrowers Asked To Return Farm Levels

First there were seven and then there were none.

The Lubbock county agent's office originally had six farm levels, and then supplemented this with one from the Farm Security administration. These were for use by farmers of the county for terracing, etc., on their lands.

These have been loaned and none have been returned, according to the offices report Saturday. An appeal has been issued by Jason O. Gordon, agent, asking farmers who have borrowed these levels to return them as soon as possible.

Stimson Retirement May Be Topic At Truman's Tuesday Press Meet

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 15. (AP)—President Truman told an informal news conference today that he had no information on published reports that Major Gen. Patrick J. Hurley wanted to resign as ambassador to China upon his return to this country.

Hurley, he said, had asked permission to come home to make a personal report to him, he said, but said nothing to him about wanting to resign.

The President also told reporters that he had not found the man he wanted to fill a vacancy on the United States Supreme court.

The President declined to comment on disturbed labor conditions in Detroit where 50,000 Ford Motor company employes were thrown out of work as production stopped in the Ford plant.

Tells of Visiting Mother

The President, calling in reporters to tell them about his visit earlier in the day to his mother, Mrs. Martha Truman, 92, at Grandview ,was asked if he had anything new in the way of appointments to announce.

He said he would have a press conference at the White House Tuesday at 3 p. m. (CWT) when he might have some news along that line.

Mr. Truman indicated he might have something to say upon his return to Washington on reports that War Secretary Henry L. Stimson was considering retiring.

Court Appointee Undecided

He was asked if the filling of the Supreme court vacancy created by the retirement of Justice Owen J. Roberts was any nearer.

No, he replied ,he is still studying that, and trying to find the right man. He said it was a hard thing to find the right man when you need one.

He emphasized that he did not expect to have his decision made by next Tuesday when he will hold his press conference.

The President met the press shortly after his arrival at his offices in the federal building wearing a neat haircut he had obtained at the barbershop of his old friend, Frank S. Spinna, enroute.

Visits Former Partner

Previously he said, he stopped by the haberdashery shop of Eddie Jacobson, his former menclothing store partner.

"I bought myself 18 pairs of socks," he said.

Asked what colors, he said, "all the colors of the rainbow, I think."

He spent an hour with his mother at her white frame bungalow in rural Grandview.

Asked about her health, he asserted:

"She's just as fine as she could be."

Her motherly advice to him was just the usual advice any mother gives to her son.

"She just told me to be careful," he told the reporters. "And I'm trying to follow her advice now."

The President, commenting on Hurley's decision to return home to report, asserted that the Russian recognition of the central government in China had left the Communists out of the picture.

He said he didn't know the nature of the report Hurley would make to him.

The President said he wanted it emphasized that he had all the socks he needed.

He explained that when he went shopping at Jackobsons for shirts last June he got enough to open a store.

Early Price Control Removal Is Doubtful

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. (AP)—OPA officials predicted today that there can be no large scale removal of food price controls before next spring.

They said that so far as they can tell now last night's suspension of price ceilings on white potatoes does not indicate a trend for other market basket commodities.

The action on potatoes was taken because supply is the largest in years and because they have been selling below ceilings in a number of areas.

Controls were suspended for the period through October 25.

The agency expects meat and canned fruit and vegetable prices to hug ceilings for several months, despite improving supply.

Pearl Harbor Probe Is Likely To Force Army-Navy Merger Issue

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. (U.P.)—The congressional investigation of Pearl Harbor scheduled for organization next week seemed likely today to force the Army-Navy merger issue.

House and Senate members of the joint committee were named yesterday. Some informed officers are contending now that development of Pearl Harbor testimony inevitably must raise before Congress the question of a single department of national defense.

They base their judgment on the belief that the basic weakness of United States armed forces on Dec. 7, 1941, was in division of command, authority and defense responsibilities. It appears likely, therefore, that Congress will be dealing at least indirectly with the question of consolidation of the armed services before President Truman submits his special message on that subject.

Truman Promises Message

In a general message to Congress last week the President said a communication on the future organization of our service departments would be sent to Congress shortly. But many Army and Navy officers will be invited to testify before the Pearl Harbor investigators. Army, and especially Army air, officers may be expected generally to give testimony offering grounds for argument that the armed services should be consolidated. The Navy opposes consolidation.

Another question that may well be raised is that of America's military preparedness in late 1941 at Pacific outposts other than Pearl Harbor.

Sen. Scott W. Lucas, a committee member, suggested as much. He said, "if we are going to investigate possible negligence at Pearl Harbor we might have to do on to an investigation of any possible negligence in the Philippines, at Wake and Guam and other places."

The congressional committee is scheduled to meet for organization next week. Almost its first business will be selection of counsel to conduct the inquiry. There was a suggestion that Charles Evans Hughes, retired chief justice, be asked to take that job. His first great step toward national prominence was as investigator of insurance companies in New York. But Hughes is 83 years old.

Pecora Another Possibility

Another possibility is New York state Supreme court Justice Ferdinand Pecora, a 64 year old who looks, acts, and feels about 20 years younger. Pecora hit the headlines in 1933-34 as counsel and chief inquisitor in one of the most spectacular and effective congressional investigations ever undertaken. It was popularly known as the Senate stock market investigation.

Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkeley (D. Ky.,) probably will be committee chairman. The other Senate members are: Walter F. George (D. Ga.) Lucas, Sen. Owen Brewster, (R-Me.,) and Homer Ferguson (R.-Mich.). It is a 3-2 division between Democrats and Republicans, but George never was a member of the New Deal wing of the party he represents.

The House members are: Reps. Jere Cooper, (D., Tenn.) J. Bayard Clark, (D., N. C.) John W. Murphy, (D. Pa.,) Frank Keefe, (R. Wis.,) and Bertrand Gearhart, (R. Calif).

Cole Bros. Circus Coming To City For Showings Sept. 26

Cole Bros. circus is coming to Lubbock on Sept. 26 for a one-day stand at the circus grounds opposite the Panhandle-South Plains Fair grounds, it was announced by C. S Primrose, advance man, Saturday. Performances will be staged at 3 and 8 p. m.

Featured in the giant canvas tent, which has been flame-proofed under federal specifications CCC746, will be such acts as Con Colleano, the greatest of all tight wire stars; Ruth Nelson, spangleland's most daring rider of rearing and high jumping horses; the Orantos, sensational high-perch performers; the Flying Thrillers, breath-taking stars on high and lofty trapese and scores of others from among the 350 men and women arenic stars and performers.

Three great herds of elephants are with the show this season under the veteran superintendent, Eugene Scott Most all of them appear in performances. They are presented in a thrilling "Ballet of Elephants" in which beautiful girls ride the ponderous beasts like jockeys, said to be one of the most outstanding elephant displays in all circus history.

A gorgeous super-spectacle, "The Caliph of Bagdad," featuring Florence Tennyson, the opera star, opens the performances.

36th Division To Be Returned, Deactivated

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. (AP)—The 36th (Texas) division, which holds the record for the longest period of continuous combat in this war, is expected to return to the United States probably late this year.

The division has been transferred from occupation duty in Germany. Army officials said today they thought it would be deactivated as a federal unit, its record and organization returned to the Texas National Guard, and its men transferred to other outfits or discharged, depending on their point scores.

Maj. Gen. John W. Dahlquist of Minneapolis, the division commander, said that by last July about 9,000 men had been discharged or transferred from the 36th division and replaced with soldiers from other outfits to keep the division at full strength.

Sgt. Edmon F. Oden Is Back From Overseas

There's going to be a grand reunion in El Paso next week when Mrs. Edmon F. Oden, 2104 Sixth, and her little daughter, Genevieve Faye, meet husband and father, T/Sgt. Edmon F. Oden, who returned to the States Friday from Europe where he has been for two and one-half years.

It will be a happy reunion for Sgt. Oden and his wife but it will be the first meeting for young Genevieve and her father, for she was born four and one-half months after her father sailed for Africa in May, 1943.

Sgt. Oden served in Africa, Sicily, Italy, Corsica and in the invasion of southern France. He enlisted in the New Mexico ordnance company organized right after Pearl Harbor. He was then employed by Furr Food stores at Hobbs.

Sgt. Oden is a son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Oden of Morton. He arrived at Boston and called Mrs. Oden by long distance Saturday morning.

Mrs. Oden and her daughter are going to El Paso next week where Sgt Oden is to receive his discharge at Fort Bliss.

Recall Of Grand Jury Is Ordered By Judge

Because of "an accumulation" of lawlessness Judge G. V. Pardue has ordered that a 99th district grand jury of which Homer E. Hunt is foreman present itself to him in recall session Wednesday morning.

A formal order was filed last week.

Judge Pardue said justices of peace have not less than 40 formal cases on file for investigation.

Another reason, he said, for calling the grand jury back was found in his belief that bills should be considered against two 17-year-old youths, Hubert O'Pry and Jesse Montague, alias Williams, who broke jail here temporarily several days ago "so that their trials, if indictments were returned, could be set down."

O'Pry and Montague were at liberty less than 15 minutes after slugging Tom Cannon, deputy sheriff. They are under indictment at Amarillo, where they had been taken Friday. A girl, 19-year-old Ruth Wilder of Monahans is charged with them here in connection with armed robbery of two gasoline stations and will appear before a Potter county grand jury in connection with its investigation into hijacking of an Amarillo liquor store

Both the 99th and the 72nd district court of Judge Dan Blair have civil juries reporting Monday, as well.

Red Raiders Play Saturday; Westerners To San Angelo

Southwestern Club First Tech Opponent

Preparations for the home-field clash with Southwestern university's Pirate Saturday night are keeping the Texas Tech Red Raiders busy with "head knocking" and Coach Dell Morgan plans at least three more days of rough and tumble before going on the field to attempt avening a 1944 19-21 defeat at the hands of R. M. Medley's eleven.

The Pirates came up with a 6-6 tie against a heavy, experienced Bergstrom Army Air field team from Austin Friday night in their opening encounter. Reports from the Georgetown clash give that eleven a reputation of having speed and passing with plenty of last-ditch fight. Their lone tally came on a long pass quick in the second half.

Morgan had the Techsans out late Friday, along with another lengthy session Saturday afternoon, working over his pass defense but mixing plenty of ground work for the benefit of a husky forward wall.

Guards Look Good

Russell Birdwell and Floyd Lawhorn a letterman last season, were holding down a lot of ground in the center of their line and onlookers were laying their money on these two to start Saturday night.

Charles Walsh and John Straewen, both freshmen, were dealing out their share of the misery, however, from across the line. Add to this list Reeves Moren with guards, all of good size, three deep.

At the tackle posts Bill Joe Snodgrass, 275-pound letterman of last season, and James Gimmell, 225 pound squodman, are heading the list. Both were smearing opposing line plans with regularity in daily scrimmage sessions.

Clyde Black, 1944 letterman, and Stanley Shaffer are also providing trouble for opposing blockers in scrimmages. Douglas McSwane, San Angelo tackle of the past two seasons and just enrolled at Tech, is developing fast after a late start and may shove some other would-be Raider on to the bench. John Martin, war veteran star from Flomot is also showing up well.

R. W. Moyer heads the list of ends out in Tech stadium and the return of J. E. Branton, 1943 spring squadman just out of service, gives Tech an experienced man who has proved a headache to blockers at the other flank.

Ends Are Plentiful

Frank Ottmers and Lester Hahn, both from Fredericksburg, and Malcolm Mitchell, Bill Kelly and Henry Fischer are pushing and shoving for first-place births and any of the five lankers could be on the field Saturday night at kick-off time.

Otis Turner, letterman, is far in front of the field at the center post. James Cleckler, however, is developing fast to give Morgan one reserve there and Ed Orr, squadman of last season, is battling with Cleckler for the second-team spot.

Jack Dillon, lanky ex-end of 1944, is proving the most promising of blocking backs for the T formation. Dillon, a veteran who exercises his authority as a signal caller with calm, has shown himself to be one of the finest pass-defenders on the team. His passing is also giving him the edge for a starting place.

Gene Hardy, letterman, and Chester Jackson are throwing the ball with promising accuracy and Dillon is being hard-pushed with his defensive play was placing him on top.

Norris Gets Back

Cecil Norris' return from Beaumont with a 1-A classification and an indefinite time before call to service boosted the Raiders temporarily at the half-back spot Friday. Arthur Shahan is due to be first chance at the other slot with Jack Hinson, San Antonio converted guard, showing up far above average. Dick Wiggins is due the No. 2 spot at the other half.

Morgan, however, continues his search for a second fullback. Walter Schlinkman, the honorable All-American, naturally has the spot cinched with nothing in the neighborhood to touch his coattails. But the problem of relieving the Dumas Dynamiter rests on two inexperienced boys, Tommie Dutton and Dan Davis. Both show promise but are coming along slow.

Tickets are on sale in the athletic offices at Tech gym. Athletic Director Morley Jennings has announced that season tickets will remain on sale through Friday.

Southwestern Youths Tie Berastrom Field

GEORGETOWN, Sept. 15. (AP)—Some 3,000 fans packed the stands at Snyder field last night to witness the speed and youth of the Southwestern Pirates pitted against the maturity and experience of the Bergstrom Field Troop Carriers in a football game that went scoreless the first half and ended in a 6 to 6 tie.

Standouts in the hard fought contest were Bergstrom's Goden Dace who intercepted two Pirate passes, and Owen Price whose 70 yard punt threw the Pirates back in the shadow of their own goal late in the game.

The Bucs lone talley came minutes after resumption of play in the second half when the confidence which Coach R. M. Medley has placed in big "Swede" Ruthstrom was vindicated as the youngster took quarterback Rudy Flores' pass to scamper for pay dirt.

The Carriers took advantage of a blocked punt minutes later, when two 5 yard penalties had the Pirates back to their own 20 on fourth down, to run over their six points.

Class A Starts Conference Play

Class A football teams on the South Plains start playing for keeps this week, with the spotlight centered on three conference games over a widely scattered two district front.

Perhaps the feature game of the week will be the conference battle at Morton, where the Muleshoe gridmen will blast the lid on the new season, and open the conference standing at the same time.

Other Conference Tilts

The other conference games announced are in the bulky District 6-A race, where conference games are booked at Tahoka and Seagraves for this week, along with several other top flight games.

A pair of losing ball clubs will tangle at Tahoka, with the Post Antelopes moving in to battle the Bulldogs. Post lost its opener to the Cowhands Gold team from Lubbock, 21-13, Friday night at Post, while Tahoka was absorbing a 37 to 0 defeat at Class AA Big Spring.

The other game sends Slaton to Seagraves for a conference opener. Seagraves opened the season Friday at Wink, but the report on the outcome was never received. Slaton tangled with Class AA Brownfield, and were walloped 44-0 by the Cubs.

The Seminole Indians open the season a day earlier this week, playing Thursday night with the Westerner B team from Lubbock.

Two Top Games

Two games that promise plenty of fireworks, and lots of interest, are a pair of intersectional battles which will send Levelland to Denver City and Floydada to Littlefield.

The high scoring Littlefield Wildcats were established as perhaps the highest scoring team in Texas Friday night when they walloped Dimmitt by a 76 to 6 score at Littlefield last week. Littlefield, defending champions in District 5-A, expects more trouble this week from Floydada, a power in District 4-A.

Denver City showed plenty of class in District 6-A with a 6-0 win over a powerladen team from across the New Mexico line, Lovington, while Levelland held Class AA Lamesa to a scoreless tie last week.

O'Donnell Opens Friday

ODonnell opens the season this week, playing a strong Class B team from Meadow in the opener at O'Donnell. Meadow opened the season last week with a 27-7 win over the Cowhands Black at Lubbock, and is expected to give O'Donnell a tough battle this week.

LAAF-Hondo Battle Here Is Postponed

Lubbock Army Air Field athletic officials Saturday afternoon announced that the fields opening home football game with Hondo Army Air Field scheduled for Texas Tech Stadium Friday night had been postponed to a later date.

The recent transfer of key players and lack of time to build a new lineup was given as the reason for postponing the contest, it was said.

"We regret having to call the game for the time being," officials announced, "but under the circumstances military necessities are still the most important factor." It was announced, however, that the team would be sufficiently rebuilt and in shape to continue the remainder of the Fliers' promising fall scredule which includes games with some of the topnotch college and AAF teams in the Southwest.

The LAAF squad will invade Albuquerque on Sept. 29 to tangle with the powerful University of New Mexico team and will play host to the strong Amarillo Army Air Field Sky Giants at Tech Stadium Saturday night, Oct. 6, in their first home contest, it was announced. In addition the Fliers will meet Blackland AAF in Waco, Amarillo AAF in Amarillo, West Texas State Teachers College in Canyon, and other topnotch college and AAF teams.

Former HSU Star Is Seeking Class A Job

Gordon Wood, former Hardin-Simmons Cowboy star, is looking for a job as a grid coach, following his discharge Saturday from the Navy, he reported to the Avalanche-Journal.

Wood has been in the Navy three and one-half years, and wants to get back in harness with some good Class A school. He coached two years at Rule and two at Spur, and coached Haskell for one game before going into the service.

Wood can be contacted at 2724 Hickory St., Abilene.

Lubbock Faces Big Hurdle In Bobcats

The Lubbock Westerners start this week trying to patch up the holes punched in them by the Odessa Bronchos, and set their sights on the San Angelo Bobcats for this week in the season's second game, played at San Angelo Friday night.

The Westerners came out of the Odessa battle without an injury, and expect to be in better shape for next Friday's battle. The team suffered several bad breaks Friday night, and were beaten before the local youngsters could get their feet firmly planted on the ground and start making a showing.

Boys Get Sick

One of the worse breaks suffered by the Westerners was caused by a touch of food poisoning suffered by the team just before the game. A doctor worked with the players after the game, and all hands were in top shape by the time they returned home.

Looking over the game at Odessa, it was revealed that work is badly needed on a number of phases of the game, and coaches promised plenty of it coming up this week.

The Westerners looked good for the last three quarters of the ball game, and played a smooth blocking Odessa team on even terms through these periods. The Westerners' 91-yard march for a score was carried off in smooth style, and showed much of the power and drive that has been expected of the club.

Bobcats Win Opener

San Angelo established itself as a top team in District 3-AA with a 6-0 win over a strong Denison team in one of the top games of the state schedule for opening week.

Other District 1-AA teams fared rather well over the weekend as Amarillo won from Childress, 12-6; Pampa upset a favored Electra Tiger team, 14-7, and Brownfield showed lots of power in beating Slaton, 44-0. Borger was held to a scoreless tie by Class A Canadian.

Plainview will get the first chance to show what it has, playing the Childress eleven at Plainview Friday night, while Amarillo is host to the powerful Abilene Eagles, favorites in District 3-AA. The Brownfield Cubs stay at home to battle Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes, who were held to a scoreless deadlock by Levelland last week.

The South Plains football slate will be started off a day earlier this week, with the Lubbock B team going to Seminole on Thursday to battle the power laden Indians in an opening game for both elevens.

Both Cowhand clubs are in action this week, Abernathy coming here Friday night to battle the Golds at Tech stadium, while the Blacks go to Ropesville to play an afternoon game.

League Attacks Rule On Layover Athletes

AUSTIN, Sept. 15. (AP)—The Interscholastic League today suggested that it may be desirable to have a football age rule which would tend to place all schools on an equal footing.

This came in an editorial published in the league newspaper, the Interscholastic Leaguer, analyzing the results of a study of 1944 football eligibility blanks and indicating that schools with "old" teams have the best chances of winning district titles in Class AA competition.

The editorial said that the deferring of graduation by failing a course or by refusing to take a course required for graduation "may be bad administrative practice but it is not against any rule of the league. Often the administration can do nothing about it."

League Athletic Director Rodney J. Kidd added his comment that in some instances, pressure was brought on good athletes by local interests in order to stretch out their playing years.

He said the question had been opened by the league to obtain a full discussion.

"One suggestion, that of moving age-date up to Sept. 1 from May 1, was rejected by the schools on a referendum submitted last spring," it said. "Since that was defeated, there is a talk of an eight-semester rule to even things up among competing schools. Maybe some one will come along with a still better suggestion."

O. K. Garage To Play Littlefield Veterans

The Littlefield Old Timers will tangle with the O. K. Garage team from Lubbock in a benefit baseball game next Sunday at Littlefield, it was announced here Saturday.

The Old Timers will be made up of the stars of 1930, a Littlefield nine that was rated as one of the greatest ever known in West Texas. The Littlefield nine will dare the creaking muscles to get together for one last fling at the sport that made them famous in yesteryear.

It was announced that the O. K. Garage nine would send Bob Galey, youthful fireballer with the Lubbock American Legion baseball club during the past summer to the hill against the veterans.

The famous old time battery of "Smiling Newty" Moore and Dick Ratliff has been named as the starting pitcher and catcher for the veterans.

The game is sponsored by the American Legion at Littlefield, and the proceeds from the game, above expenses, will go for the betterment of Littlefield parks.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

THEY LIVE AGAIN—IN MEMORIES—Two of the greatest sports stars in Lubbock High history may be re-enacting a scene like this in spirit as they meet again today where the only memories are good one. Weldon Bailey Chapman, who died at the height of his career as coach of the Lubbock High Westerners, is shown as he shakes hands back in 1938 with Walter "Jumbo" Webster, his great fullback sensation who was killed recently in China. Webster is shown at the right in a Red Raider uniform in which he also starred for three seasons.

Webster's Football Feats Are Recalled

Walter "Jumbo" Webster—one of the greatest schoolboy football stars in the history of the Texas Interscholastic league—has carried the ball for the last time.

And today, somewhere up where the stars of the universe twinkle down, two more stars in the heavens might be reminiscing about some of the "good old days" when they teamed to write football history for Lubbock High and the fighting Westerners — because "Jumbo" is probably talking things over with his old coach, Weldon Bailey Chapman, the friendly guy with the big grin and heart of gold.

"Jumbo" and Chapman are among the immortals of Lubbock High school football for the information of those persons who were not in the state back in 1938 when more people were thinking about a ticket to the annual Lubbock-Amarillo classic than what Hitler was doing in Europe.

And the headlines they wrote in one meteoric season alone shoved Herr Hitler and his capacious legions almost off the front pages.

Killed In China

Strangely enough, both men have now met the Great Scorekeeper—Chapman in the fall of 1939 just as the guns were starting to roll, "Jumbo" on July 28, 1945, just as they were echoing Peace.

"Jumbo"—a flight officer in the U. S. Army Air Forces, was reported missing in action on a flight from India to China on a C-109 gasoline tanker plane he was piloting, and this weekend the War department notified his family that he had been killed.

Webster played two years with Lubbock High in the fullback slot, although he gained his fame in the sensational campaign of 1938, and three years with Texas Tech. But it was in the fall months of 1938 when the Westerners blasted over all opposition that he won his greatest plaudits to lead his mates to the finals of the Texas Interscholastic league.

Won Applause Early

A glance through the now yellowing files of those turbulent times tells a story not only of a guy by the name of "Jumbo," a coach who was to die as his "Cinderella Kids" wrote one of the most fantastic and heart warming stories in the nation's high school sports history, but tells a story that is typical of the young men who quicker than they dreamed were to meet a new challenge on new fields of conquest . . .

JUBILANT WORLD GREETS CRY OF PEACE . . . That was the headlines on Saturday, Oct. 1, 1938—almost seven brief and bloody years ago on the Lubbock Morning Avalanche. Inside on the sports page a story told how a powerful Capitol Hill team of Oklahoma City had edged out a fighting Black and Gold clad team, 14 to 13, but how a guy by the name of "Webster was by far the outstanding player on the field tonight . . . "

Famous For Long Gallops

Under the historical and now hysterical head on the front page was another paragraph . . . Hitler and Chamberlain had issued this statement . . . "We regard the agreement signed last night (the Munich Pact) and the Anglo-German naval agreement (of 1936) as symbolic of the desires of our two peoples never to go to war with one another again . . .

One week later, people again turned to football and the lad story . . . "Capt. Jumbo Webster's 71-yard sprint on the opening kickoff Friday night (Oct. 22, 1938) sparked the Westerners to a 67-13 shellacking of the Borger Bulldogs at Tech Stadium . . ."

Classic Was Payoff

And so the story ran through the next few weeks as the Westerners stunned the critics with one of the most powerful attacks in the state. Then came Thanksgiving, Nov. 24, 1938, and perhaps one of the greatest games ever played in Tech Stadium.

The largest crowd ever to jam the oval on College Avenue overflowed around the field as a warm sun set the stage for the annual Lubbock-Amarillo classic. There were 15,0000 fans in the stands. The eyes of the entire state were on the two great teams and their equally great backs—Wild Walter Webster for Lubbock, "Blazin'" Bill Thompson for Amarillo.

Webster Bets Thompson

Then came one of the most thrilling contests ever played in the city, with both teams slugging it out for the District One championship which the Golden Sandstorms had held undisputed for four straight years. As the game entered the fourth from, the Sandies led, 19 to 16. But the Westerners, with "Jumbo" and his mates leading the way, pushed over two touchdowns in a hectice fourth quater and won the title.

Then as the weeks rolled by, the Westerners bowled over Vernon, 26 to 6, as the headlines again screamed the name of Webster—an 80-yard dash for one tally, a pass for another and long runs for two more in the final quarter. Then came Breckenridge's rough machine. The Westerners, with Webster leading the way, won again, the great "Jumbo" making 195 yards on only four gallops! One of those was an 86-yard touchdown ramble on a kickoff.

Masons Were Tough

Masonic Home's plucky little Masons gave the big guy with the No. 77 his worst day the next week-end, but in the final period "Jumbo" and his mates again came through for a 20 to 6 decision and the morning's headlines screamed: WE(B)WESTERNERS HALT PLUCKY MASONS, AND MARCH INTO STATE FINALS. Then in the title game "Jumbo" and his mates met their match in a hard fighting Corpus Christi team. The Westerners went down to a 20 to 6 defeat. But when they picked the All-State team that year one man—"Jumbo"—was an almost unanimous choice, with more than 20 touchdowns to his credit for one season alone and yardage that had every college coach in the nation talking.

Webster went to Texas Tech, played as a freshman and two years with the Varsity before entering the AAF in February 1944, but his performances as a Red Raider never quite equalled those as a schoolboy star, partially because of injuries. "Jumbo" also starred with the Westerners in 1937 and although he accounted for numerous 70 to 80 yard sprints was not the spark he was in '38.

Webster always talked of "coming back" in football after the war, and today perhaps he and the Coach are talking it all over, watching the Westerners of today as another great season gets under way with young men battling in friendly contests instead of dying on foreign soil.

Ladies Tourney Qualifying Set

Women golfers of Lubbock will start qualifying Wednesday for the annual club championship play, which will start next week.

Qualifying will be through next Sunday, it was announced by Mrs. Fenner Tubbs, chairman of the tournament committee. There will be two flights, an 18-hole flight and a nine-hole flight, playing two matches a week until completed.

In the annual men's club championship tournament, final rounds of qualifying play must be completed today. A total of 73 cards had been turned in through last night.

Amos Howard laid down a blistering 71 Saturday to take the lead in the qualifying, dropping Don Mitchel's 74 back to second place.

Snead Continues To Set Pace At Tulsa

TULSA, Sept. 15. (AP)—Sammy Snead, getting warmer as the second round wore on, bagged an eagle and three birdies at Southern Hills today for a sub-par 67 to forge far ahead in the $10,000 Southwest Invitation golf tournament.

Byron Nelson, Toledo, O., winner of 17 tournaments this year, recovered from a first round slump and shot a 69, two under par, with five birdies, to step into a second place tie with Ky Laffoon and a medal score of 142 behind Snead's 135. Snead's 67 was four under par.

Laffoon, Miami, Okla., collected five birdies for a 69 and a total of 142.

Vic Ghezzi, Deal, N. J., who teed off today in second place by virtue of a first round 69, dropped to third with a 74 for 143, matching Herman Barron, White Plains, N. Y.

Tied for fourth at 145 were Ben Hogan, Hershey, Ja., Jim Gauntt, Oklahoma City and John Bulla, Atlanta, Ga.

The 32 professionals and three amateurs will make a day of it tomorrow to wind up a 72-hole grind for benefit of Army hospitals at Chickasha and Okmulgee, Okla.

WAR DATE WINS

NEW YORK, Sept. 15 (AP) — Mrs. Elizabeth Graham's War Date, the favorite, romped to a two-lengths victory today in the $30,000 added mile and one-eighth Beldame handicap at Aqueduct. Letmenow was second and Light of Morn third.

Baylor Tramples Blackland, 40-0

WACO, Sept. 15 (AP)—Baylor university's Golden Bears returned to the gridiron wars with a bang here this afternoon, trampling the Blackland Army Air field Eagles 40 to 0. A crowd of 4,000 saw the game in Municipal stadium.

Baylor racked up 256 yards on the ground and 82 yards through the air and scored in every period. The Baylor line was like a wall and the Flyers lost a minus 13 yards from the line of scrimmage for the afternoon's play.

Sammy Pierce, Vernon High school star, made Baylor's first score as he took a hand-off from Jack Price and ran 46 yards for a touchdown.

Pierce also chalked up another gain of 5 yards that led to another score. Billy Kimbrough of South Park (Beaumont) carried it over.

Ray Comer of Beaumont intercepted an Eagle pass off his shoe tops and sped 79 yards for a touchdown and showed some nifty running. George Sims of Seymour also crossed into paydirt, from the Eagles' two yard line.

Ray Painter, star southpaw pitcher from Gatesville school fired a pass to the La Vega, Tex., speedster, Stoney Cotton, who ran it over.

Price's attempted conversion was blocked but Bobby Griffin, former star of Garland High school, picked it up and ran around end for the conversion.

Price kicked three other conversions.

The game was the first for a Southwest conference team this year.

Baylor coaches sent in second, third and fourth string linemen, but the Eagles couldn't get through.

Entries Opened For Womens Tournament

WICHITA FALLS, Sept. 15. (Special.)—Entries now are being received at the Country club of Wichita Falls for the second annual All-Southwest Women's Golf Tournament to be held here Sept. 24-28 with an imposing assembly of choice merchandise as prizes for all winners and runners-up.

"The Tournament Difference—The War Is Over" is the slogan adopted by Pro Ray Garrett of the host club for the second addition of the new Southwest classic for feminine stars. While last year's event drew ranking players from all over Texas, from Oklkahoma City, and Kansas City, Mo., improved transportation facilities are expected to produce a far larger representation in the coming meet.

Expected for the coming joust are Mrs. Charles Akey, Mrs. Fenner Tubbs, Mrs. T. E. Patterson and Mrs. Cliff Widener of Lubbock, all of whom were prominent in the premier of a year ago. Miss Betty Jameson of San Antonio, one of the nation's top-flight performers, also is expected to appear among the favorites for top honors.

Qualifying rounds are scheduled for Sept. 24, with early arrivals promised practice in foursomes on Sunday, Sept. 23. Match play will begin Tuesday morning, Sept. 25, over the 18-hole course in the heavily wooded, Holliday Creek valley. Finals in both championship and consolation flights are scheduled for Friday, Sept. 28. Handsome luggage, wrist watches, silverware and other dazzling pieces make up the prize list.

All entries will be club guests for the Champions' Dinner, honoring last year's winners, on Monday night, and at a ball Wednesday night with Tommy Tucker's Band on the platform. More than 100 entries already were assured.

Hondo, Ellington Tie In Season's Opener

HONDO, Sept. 15 (AP)—Hondo Army Air field and Ellington field battled to a 7-7 tie in a rough and tumble game opening the season for both teams here tonight.

Hondo scored in the first period when big Bill Huston flipped a pass to Sam Laskin on the Ellington two-yard line. Fullback George Boner plowed over for the touchdown and center Floyd Earl kicked the extra point.

Cubs Break Even With Brooklyn

CHICAGO, Sept. 15. (AP)—The league-leading Chicago Cubs clung tenaciously to their margin over the St. Louis Cardinals today as they divided a unique 10-inning "doubleheader" with their benefactors of the moment, Brooklyn's Dodgers.

The Dodgers, who twice defeated the Cardinals last night, registered a long-anticipated victory, 12-5, in a one-inning continuation of a game suspended in the eighth on July 20, but in the real business of the day the Cubs triumphed, 7-6.

It looked for a while as if the Dodgers would continue their spoiler role against the flag contenders when Pitcher Hank Borowy failed to finish in the regular contest for the first time in 11 starts since the Cubs mysteriously whisked him away from the New York Yankees.

Wilson Rallies To Beat Pettit, 25-20

Wilson High school's six-man football team was clicking in the first and fourth quarters Friday afternoon, and won a 25 to 20 thriller over Pettit.

Roy Lynn Kahlich and Sam Kirby proved a fine passing combination for the winners, and sparked the Wilson club's drive to the victory. Wright, a fine running back for Pettit, was the star for the losers.

Wilson got away to a 12-0 lead in the first period, then were held scoreless until the final period, when two more touchdowns were pushed over.

Pettit staged a great comeback drive in the second quarter, and scored all its points in this period.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers took two tremendous strides toward the American league flag today by soundly whipping their nearest rivals, the Washington Senators, 7-4 and 7-3, in the opening double header of their vital five-game series at Griffith stadium.

The double defeat knocked the Senators two and a half games behind the pace-setting Bengals and rushed the spirits of 22,949 fans who sat through a long, rainy afternoon in hopes of watching the Nats surge into the leadership. Up to today, the Senators had won 14 of their last 14 games. Tonight their pennant hopes were slender, as they were four games behind the Tigers in the all-important "lost" column.

Six pitchers toiled in the opening game—three for each side—with George Caster finally wrapping it up for the Tigers with three and one third innings of slick relief work while his team mates were putting the blast on Senor Alec Carrosquel for the winning run in the seventh inning.

Dizzy Trout outlasted Mickey Haefner in the night cap to rack up his 18th victory of the year. Rudy York socked his 18th homer out into the left field stands with none out in the sixth frame.

Bloodless Invasion Of Japan Is Proceeding Smoothly, On Schedule

By HUGH BAILLIE
United Press Staff Writer

YOKOHAMA, Sept. 15 — The biggest and most unusual military operation in history—the bloodless invasion of Japan—is proceeding smoothly and right on schedule.

Of the Japaness home army of 3,000,000 who were prepared to resist American landings, now only approximately 1,000,000 remain under arms.

Demobilization of Japanese forces is proceeding with the utmost celerity, probably the speediest dismantling and dispersal of such a huge force in military annals.

100,000 Americans In Japan

However, since not more than 100,000 Americans now are ashore, the Japanese armed force still heavily outnumbers the Americans, wherefore the occupation is proceeding quietly and unostentatiously without pomp and circumstance in order to avoid any "incidents."

General Douglas MacArthur, who rules Japan with a power seldom wielded by and czar or potentate, including the power of life and death, may be expected to enforce the Potsdam terms and surrender terms with increasing austerity as American military might within the Japanese islands increases.

One sign of that came yesterday when he suppressed the Japanese Domei news agency, which has been the government mouthpiece similar to Germany's DNB ever since the Japanese military forced the merger of Rengo and Nippon Dempo into one news monopoly as a war measure while preparing for the war, although the forced merger occurred several years before Pearl Harbor.

Domei On Probation

The responsibility of disseminating the truth was impressed firmly on officials of Domei before it was allowed to resume domestic operations 18½ hours later, on a probationary basis.

More arrests of members of the Black Dragon society, no matter how highly placed, can be expected soon.

War criminals who now are being rounded up will be placed on trial before military tribunals without delay. They will be tried singly. They will not be permitted long confinement before the trials, but will be brought to the bar one at a time and their cases dispatched as promptly as justice permits.

Disarmament of the army is being accomplished through stacking arms in barracks and marching men away after the final checkups, etc. Then the arms are assembled by the Americans for the final destruction, or whatever disposal eventually is decided upon.

Devastation Lines Highway

The route to MacArthur's hearquarters, from Tokyo to Yokohama, leads along a via Dolorosa of frightful destruction. Both sides of the extremely bumpy "highway" are lined with acres of devastation where once hundreds of thousands of people dwelt and transacted business.

Most of Yokohama and much of Tokyo now resembles nothing more than overgrowth, weedy pasture lands; or a huge gone-to-seed golf course; or a busted real estate boom with streets leading nowhere. The people are dwelling in dusty, sheet-metal shacks without sanitary facilities. Certainly it's the biggest shacktown ever conceived.

Japs Seem Indifferent

Most Japanese pay no attention to military activities, but a few stand ox-like along the roadway watching the long columns of trucks, jeeps, autos and occasional columns of trucks carrying troops.

MacArthur, who now is the mikado's boss, has his office in one of the modern structures which escaped the Yokohama fire raid. It is an unpretentious layout overlooking the waterfront where Admiral William F. Halsey's Third fleet lies at anchor with Tokyo and Yokohama under their guns.

MacArthur, with his driving energy and magnetism, is keeping close personal track of every detail of the occupation, ranging from troop landings to the manhunt for war criminals and the Black Dragons.

Overhead roar the occupation planes, but there has been no big aerial demonstration since the surrender documents were signed, although the full strength of the heavy bombers which devastated Japan's cities and industry sites is only a few hours flight distant at Guam with the Far East Air force also nearby.

MacArthur has tremendous driving power, but waxes impatient with critics who thing the occupation is not going fast enough or the crackdown is not severe enough.

He bears the heaviest load of full responsibility for carrying through this bloodless invasion so it will continue bloodless.

LONG TRACTOR RIDE—W. B. Burns, Ford-Ferguson tractor dealer in Weimer, Tex., left Detroit at noon on Friday, Aug. 31, and drove his tractor home — a total of 1,574 miles, averaging about 100 miles per day. Burns and his tractor, which has a heavy - duty mower attached, were pictured above as they stopped in Dallas. The trip was officially sanctioned as a test run run by the American Automobile association in order that the roadability of the tractor, which is expected to help solve the farm transportation problem, could be confirmed. Earle D. Bottom, former Ford executive recently moved to Dallas as chief executive of the Bull-Stewart Equipment company, says huge production of the tractors and other implements is being planned for the future, although such machinery available for delivery this year is limited. The Dallas Bull-Stewart concern is the country's largest distributors of Ford-Ferguson tractors and Ferguson implements. (NEA Photo.)

"My personal regards to Mrs. Hobby and Governor Hobby" (Gov. W. P. Hobby, former governor of Texas).

A commendation from Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, came through his assistant deputy chief of staff, Brig. Gen. Henry I. Hodes and was broadcast nationally.

New Producer, Seven New Tests Reported For Garza Field; Ellenburger Wildcat In Floyd Area Slated

ACTIVITY in the Garza field in central Garza county is continuing to increase. During the last week locations for seven new tests were reported for that district and one well was completed.

Extent of the producing area is being gradually widened and most of the completions are fair producers, making between 150 barrels and 200 barrels per day.

Locations were reported in unofficial quarters for an Ellenburger wildcat in southwest Floyd county, and an extension to the Doss field in south Gaines county reported testing for commercial production.

Locations Staked in Garza

Locations staked for the Garza field during the last week include:

Comanche Corporation et al No. 5-A Post estate, to be 330 feet from north line of lease in section 7, block 5, K. Aycock survey, and 1,320 feet west of the same operators No. 1-A Post estate.

Alex McCutchen, Dallas, has filed applications to drill four wells on the Grisham-Hunter Corporation fee in the east 80 acres of the southwest quarter of section 1229, block 5, D&SEHH survey.

The tests will be located:

McCutchen No. 1 Grisham-Hunter, 330 from north an deast lines of the 80 acre tract.

McCutchen No. 2 Grisham-Hunter, 330 from south and east lines of the 20 acre tract.

McCutchen No. 3 Grisham-Hunter, 330 from north and west lines of the 80 acre lease.

McCutchen No. 4 Grisham-Hunter, will be 339 feet from south and east lines of the 80 acres.

To Drill Around 3,000 Feet

All tests will drill to around 3,000 feet for the Garza field, Permian lime pay and are to start soon.

Comanche Corporation et al, No. 3-A Post estate is to be 330 feet from east and 1,650 feet from south lines of the west half of section 7, block 5, K. Aycock survey.

Comanche Corporation No. 4-A Post estate will be 330 feet from the south lines of the west-half of section 7, block 5, K. Aycock survey.

New Producer Completed

The new producer completed in the field was Kenneth Murchison, Dallas, No. 5-A Post estate, located 330 feet from the west and 990 feet from south lines of the lease in section 7, block 5, K. Aycock survey. After treating pay section at 2,850-2,928 feet with 5,000 gallons of acid the well made a 24-hour pumping potential of 198.90 barrels of 35.89 gravity oil.

Union Oil company of California No. 1-C Post estate, in section 29, block 4, K. Aycock survey, 3-500-foot wildcat five miles northeast of Post, in northeast Garza county, had spudded and reached 270 feet, in redbeds and was to drill ahead.

Honolulu Oil corporation No. 1 Altman, slated to dig to 10,000 feet, in section 1255, TT survey, in northwest Garza, had progressed under 8,447 feet, in shale, and was continuing.

Mel Richards, (was Rogers) No. 1 Welch, in section 2, block 4, K. Aycock survey, in northeast Garza, had reached 4,001 feet in lime, and at last report was shutdown to make rig repairs.

Lynn Test Down 5,761

Continental Oil company No. 1 May, northeast Lynn county exploration in section 10, block 7, EL survey, had penetrated under 5,761 feet in lime and shale.

Barnsdall Oil company No. 1 Williams, in section 2, block 8, EL survey, about six miles southwest of Tahoka, had made hole under 3,124 feet in anhydrite, topped at 1,930 feet. Surface elevation is 3,054 feet.

Dickens Test Without Shows

George P. Livermore, Inc., No. 1 Byrd, northwest Dickens county development, in section 288, block 1, H&GN survey, was making hole under 7,995 feet in lime and shale. A core at 7,955-68 feet recovered about 12 feet of lime and shale, without shows of petroleum.

Unofficial reports that Livermore has made location for a 10,000-foot wildcat, in southwest Floyd county. It is understood that the project will be Livermore's No. 1 H. A. Krause-Humble Oil & Refining company, and that it will be located 660 feet from south and east lines of section 29, block K, TT survey.

The exploration is slated to drill to around 10,000 feet to test for Ellenburger.

About ten miles south, in the northwest corner of Crosby county, Livermore's No. 1 Wiese, in section 64, block C, D&W survey, was making hole past 8,295 feet in shale and lime. A core had been taken at 8,200-07 feet, but the shale and lime recovered had no porosity and no indications of oil or gas.

Lamb Test Shut Down

Humble Oil & Refining company No. 1 Bagwell, south Lamb county exploration in labor 25, league 673, State Capital Lands survey, about three and one-half miles southwest of Littlefield, reached a total depth of 9,162 feet, in lime and chert, and had no oil at that level. It is plugged back to 4,278 feet, in lime, and was shutdown, awaiting further orders. It is understood that there had been some shows of oil and gas at that point and it is reported that the operator will possible run tests there.

Humble No. 1 Arnold, in section 120, block A, R. M. Thompson survey, one mile west of the closest production in the Anton field, in southeast Lamb, had reached 5,337 feet, and was drilling ahead in dolomite.

Humble No. 1-B Leftwich, outpost to production in the Anton field was drilling under 5,939 feet in dolomite with 4,100 feet of oil in the hole. Operator reported that there was an increase in oil at 5,867-75 feet.

Hockley County Tests

Humble No. 1 Campbell, northeast Hockley county prospector in section 116, block A, Thompson survey, one mile south of the initial producer in the Anton area, had penetrated past 5,323 feet, in dolomite.

Magnolia Petroleum company No. 1 Coble, in tract 34, league 68, Hardeman County School land survey, two miles south of the closest production on the west side o fthe Levelland field, in west-central Hockley county, was bottomed at 4,800 feet in lime, with 7-inch casing cemented at 4,710 feet.

Operator is due to test the uncased section of the hole for possible oil production as as the plug cures and is drilled out.

Hockley Wildcat Spudded

Honolulu Oil Corporation No. 24 Frazier, southwest Hockley county wildcat to test the Clear Fork, lower Permian, on the south side of the Slaughter field, had spudded to 293 feet, and was waiting for cement to set on 13⅜-inch surface pipe set at that point, before drilling out and starting to make hole.

Texas Gulf Producing company No. 2 Slaughter, one-quarter of a mile south o fthe same company's No. 1 Slaughter, discovery for San Andres production, three miles west of the Slaughter field, in central Cochran county and in league 113, Potter county school land survey, had drilled to 4,905 feet, in lime, and was slated to set casing before drilling into expected pay.

Skelly Oil company No. 1 Dorothy L. Slaughter, located 560 feet from south and east lines of a 384.78 acres lease in the northwest corner of league 113, Potter county school land survey, and 1,120 feet west and 560 feet north of the Texas Gulf discovery, is to drill to 5,200 feet for the pay found in the initial producer in that district. It will start shortly.

Cochran County Projects

Gulf Oil Corporation No. 1 Hancock, in southwest corner of the east half of section 5, block L, psl survey, in southwest Cochran and one and one-half miles east and one-half mile north of the discovery for production in that region—Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 1 Edwards—had made hole below 4,273 feet in lime. Top of the brown lime was picked at 3,970 feet, on an elevation of 3,796 feet.

Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1-A, in section 3, block A-6, psl survey, in extreme northwest Gaines county, was running a plastic squeeze job on casing perforations at 11,422-428 feet, in the Devomian, where water had developed, along with a fair amount of oil.

The operator is expected to slea off that section and perforate and test in a higher zone for oil which showed on cores and drilling samples while the hole was being made.

No Shows Encountered

Argo Oil corporation No. 1-A Jones, on the west side of production in the Russell field, in northwest Gaines, was bottomed at 8,285 feet in dry lime, making rig repairs. No shows of oil have been encountered so far. Operator has not revealed hom much deeper the hole is to go.

Shell Oil company, Inc., No. 2, Cox, on the northeast side of the Russell field, had reached 5,759 feet in lime and chert, and was drilling ahead.

The Texas company No. 1-B Parmer county fee, in labor 12, league 317, Parmer county school land survey, in southeast Gaines, had reached 5,228 feet in lime and was going ahead.

Progress In Other Tests

Union No. 1-A Williams, in section 7, block C044, psl survey, also in southeast Gaines, had penetrated below 3,679 feet in anhydrite, and was continuing.

DeKald Agricultural Association, Inc., No. 1 Coltharp, 661.6 from north and 1,991 feet from west lines of section 2, block A-24 psl survey, located one-quarter of a mile south and the same distance east of the discovery well for Clear Fork production in the Doss field in south Gaines, reported to have produced 144 barrels of oil in 24 hours from pay section at 6,970-7,199 feet, after acid treatment.

This project had been shut in for several weeks, and this report is not the official potential report, but a preliminary test gauge.

Shell No. 17-C Baumgart, 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 866, block D, John H. Gibson survey, in the Wasson field in Yoakum county, treated the pay section at 4,860-5,150 feet, with a total of 8,000 gallons of acid, and was completed for a 24-hour flowing potential of 1,990.24 barrels of oil, with gas-oil ratio of 647.1.

Woodley Petroleum company No. 1 Preston, southeast Terry county wildcat, in section 20, block C-41, psl survey, was making hole below 3,625 feet in anhydrite, topped at 2,180 feet, on an elevation of 3,145 feet.

Enrollment At Tech Climbs To 2,360

Fall semester enrollment figures at Texas Tech had reached 2,360 Saturday, showing an increase of 24 per cent over number of students registered first semester last year, according to information released by the registrar's office.

The ratio of women to men is two to one, W. P. Clement, registrar, estimated. Incomplete records of students classification indicate there is a larger freshman enrollment than ever before in Tech's history, Clement said.

Approximately 200 World War II veterans have been enrolled.

Classes began at 8 a. m. Friday and students desiring to register now will be required to pay a late fee. Wednesday is the last day a student may register in the first semester withouts pecial permission.

New Officers Named By Oil Scouts And Landmen's Group

New officers of the National Oil Scouts and Landmen's association, H. F. "Tax" King, Continental Oil Co., Ardmore, Okla., president, F. D. Johnson, Superior Oil Co., Corpus Christi, first vice-president, Hal Walker, Ohio Oil Co., Casper, Wyo., second vice-president, R. M. Knoepfel, Atlantic Refining Co., Carlsbad, N. M., secretary-treasurer, and W. G. Sinclair, Gulf Oil Corp., Wichita Falls, editor-in-chief, will gather at the association's headquarters in Austin, early in October for their first meeting.

With the ending of hostilities and activities fast returning to pre-war status, the officers will endeavor to pick up the association's work and make special plans for an extensive expansion program.

Many complex and difficult problems of the war years will have to be solved and the officers are enthusiastically awaiting the meeting.

The association's publication, the year book, will be given special attention and every effort will be made to have the book ready for distribution at a much earlier date now that war time restrictions have been removed.

E. J. Raisch, business secretary of the association, has been greatly handicapped the past several years in getting the book printed, due to priorities, but once he is given the go sign, the edition will be published on schedule.

The year book is fast becoming known as the Encyclopedia Britannica of the oil industry containing all the answers to the sixty-four dollar questions.

With gasoline rationing abolished and travel restrictions lifted, the officers will also formulate plans for the annual convention, which has been a war casualty.

The convention will probably be held in the late Spring of 1946, but the exact date and place will not be determined until the committee has had an opportunity to work out its plans.

Many problems, mostly those peculair to oil scouting will also be discussed, and members of the board of directors and a delegate from each district are also asked to attend the meeting.

Banker Sees Bright Future For Plains

The potentialities of the South Plains section in the reconversion period are challenging to initiative, said Charles B. Shapard, assistant vice president of Mercantile-Commerce Bank and Trust company, in a visit Saturday to Lubbock and nearby towns.

The very newness of the country as compared with other sections allows for more exploitation of the soil and mineral resources, he said.

"The time undoubtdely is near when those resources will be used to manufacture your own raw products into finished goods, instead of sending raw prolucts north or east and then getting them back as finished products."

He said that the ICC's plans for more equitable freight rates throughout the country would remove an inequality that has affected this section of the southwest and would have a profound importance in future planning for an industrial area in Texas.

Prospects for generalized improvement in West Texas never appeared better, he said.

Japanese Holdouts On Okinawa Surrender

OKINAWA, (Delayed) (AP)—A Japanese officer and 27 men abandoned their last-ditch resistance here when clippings from six American newspapers and a magazine convinced them Japan was defeated.

Captive Japanese who knew where the party was hidden carried a letter there from Marine Captain Theodore H. Harbaugh of Toledo, Ohio, demanding surrender .Captain Honda, the enemy commander, insisted on proof. He said newspaper clippings would be conclusive.

Harbaugh canvassed men of the First Marine division. They produced surrender stories from the New York Times and Herald-Tribune; Baltimore Sun; Austin, Texas, American - Statesman; Greensboro, N. C., Daily News; Washington Post and Time magazine.

Honda gave up.

Re-Recording Of Brands Required

Legal owners of brands or marks for identification of livestock were reminded Saturday by the office of County Clerk Louie F. Moore that all record owners of marks and brands immediately should determine whether they the protected under terms of house bill 170.

Among its provisions, the bill allowed a two-year period from Oct. 1, 1943, during which such owner should have a preferential right to record his brands or marks, but set out that all records of marks and brands heretofore made except all county brands, would become void as of Oct, 1, 1943, and that within the two years allowed the brands and marks would have to be recorded.

Should Examine Status

Which means, boiled down to essentials, that those who have had brands since the early days should move to determine whether they will have the right to continue using them; further, that persons who do not re-record their brands must expect the possibility that someone else may record them under their own names. Such brands and marks under that contingency would be subject to sale, assignment, transfer, devise and descent the same as other personal property.

Action, it was pointed out by lawmakers, was taken because many recorded marks and brands had become out of date and hence had no ownership and had become an unnecessary encumbrance on the records of various county clerks of Texas.

Persons, it was pointed out, will have until Oct. 10 to re-record their brands, since the bill was not passed by record vote in the Senate and, therefore, did not become effective until Aug. 10, 1943.

Such brands or marks must be recorded in every Texas county where owners have such livestock as cattle, hogs, sheep or goats.

HUMOR EFFORT FAILS

LONDON, Sept. 15. (AP)—Prof. Harold Laski, chairman of the Labor party's national executive committee, said today that his recent remark in Stockholm about Britain being a second class power was just "a poor attempt at humor" which some critics had misinterpreted.

Maj. J. M. Wiginton Visiting Brother Here

Maj. J. M Wiginton, who used to be known as plain "Cotton" Wiginton when he wore the scarlet and black of Texas Tech basketball teams in the late '30s, is to arrive in Lubbock with his wife today to visit a brother, C. E. (Dutch) Wiginton family, 3111 Twenty-second.

Maj. Wiginton, who was squadron operations officer and later group operations officer for the 321st Bomber group, 447th squadron, of the Twelfth Air force in Italy and Corsica, returned to the U. S. Sept. 3. He had completed 70 missions prior to V-E day.

WIGINTON

Maj. Wiginton entered service in 1942 and received his wings at La Junta, Colo. He went overseas in December 1943.

Mrs. Wiginton is the former Moy Cocherham of San Angelo, who also attended Tech. She has been residing in Dallas with her parents, while Maj. Wiginton has been overseas. Prior to going into service, Maj. Wiginton was a salesman for a large corporation.

He wears the Distinguished Flying Cross with one Oak Leaf Cluster, the Air Medal with seven clusters, the theater ribbon with five stars and the Presidential Citation with one cluster.

His group was rated by "Stars And Stripes" as having the best bombing record in the theater and in October, 1944, registered 93.5 per cent in bombings, the highest average in the theater.

STOCK LEADERS WIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 15 (AP)—Leading stocks wilted in today's market, after hitting eight-year highs in the forepart of the week, as spreading labor rifts throughout the nation apparently inspired liquidation.

Volume was 650,000 shares against 390,000 last Saturday. Losses of fractions to more than two points were widespread at the close. Steels, motors and rails were in supply.

The Associated Press 60-stock average dropped a full point at 68.1, widest dip since July 26.

Prominent casualties included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Studebaker, Santa Fe, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, Lockheed, Boeing, Consolidated Vultee, Anaconda, Standard Oil (NJ), General Electric, American Smelting, Du Pont and Eastman Kodak.

Bonds fell with stocks.

Among curb sliders were Cities Service, Electric Bond and Share, National Bellas Hess and Utah Idaho Sugar. The aggregate here was 170,000 shares versus 140,000 in the preceding short stretch.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 15 (AP)—Hedging commission house profit-taking and lightning commitments for the week-end depressed cotton futures as much as 45 cents a bale today. Trading was moderately active with dealers attributing some of the selling to an increasing belief that in a short period the new crop movement would broaden.

Futures closed 10 to 20 cents a bale lower.

Man Injured In Mystery Attack

County and city officers investigated Saturday the mysterious attack early yesterday morning on Herbert S. Brown, of Lubbock route 3, on the Plainview cutoff road a short distance off College Ave.

Brown was found slumped over in his pickup. Investigating officers said he had been hit on the right side of the head with a sharp instrument. The wound apparently was inflicted with an axe or hatchet, officers said.

Reported About 2 o'Clock

The injured man was reported to police about 2 o'clock by Fred Topling of Plains Liquified Gas company. A Plains ambulance rushed Brown to Lubbock General hospital.

Brown a few minutes earlier had left his work on a remodeling job at a downtown store.

He was released from the hospital yesterday afternoon. The attending physician said Brown suffered a bad laceration and a black right eye.

No Evidence of Robbery

There was no evidence of robbery. Brown's billfold and money was in his pocket when he was found.

Officers said Brown was unable to give a detailed description of his assailant.

Investigating the incident were Deputy Tom Cannon of the sheriff's departmnet, Capt. Bill Bell and prowl car patrolmen Don Williams and V. D. Stephens.

Friday Night Attack

Capt. Bell reported progress in the probe of a similar case, the beating and robbery Friday night of Dale Eugene Mannix of City hotel in 1600-block Ave. A. Mannix, Capt. Bell said, had identified one of two men picked up yesterday as one of the pair that flailed him with bare fists while Mannix's two female companions looked on. Both men, ages 22 and 49, were held in jail last night.

Also still in custody were the two girls, who were arrested soon after report of the robbery. They were held in lieu of fines of $100 and $50 assessed on vagrancy charges.

Police believed the girls acted as "decoys" in the holdup.

Elliott's Story

notes both to Hartford and Baird, with his wife, Ruth Goggins Roosevelt, a comaker on the Hartford notes.

Network Losing Money

Texas State Network was losing money in 1938 and 1939. Elliott with the owners of state radio stations over the country decided to start a larger network.

Baird loaned Elliott $70,000 for this venture, taking stock as security. In 1939, Elliott repaid Baird $10,000 on the Texas state loan. At the end of 1939 Elliott owed Baird $110,000.

The larger network failed and was put into receivership within a year of its organization. Baird ultimately received about $30,000 upon the liquidation, reducing Elliott's debt to him to approximately $80,000.

Continued To Lose

Texas State Network continued to lose money and borrowed money from Texas banks, running up to $283,000. The notes were guaranteed personally by Elliott.

Elliott entered the Army late in 1940. In 1941, while making hazardous trips by air, he told his father he was worried about leaving large debts for his wife and children.

The President advised Elliott to discuss his affairs with Jesse Jones, saying that in view of Jones' familiarity with the radio business and knowledge of Texas he might be able to suggest a course of action. Elliott saw Jones who said he would see what could be done.

Jones presented a statement of Elliott's financial condition to Hartford and Baird. Hartford settled for $4,000 and Baird for $500.

Not Told of Payments

Jones never told Elliott what he paid to Hartford and Baird, young Roosevelt's story said, although Elliott's lawyer attempted to get the information. Elliott was out of the country on military duty from about the time of the settlement to April, 1945. Neither Elliott nor his lawer ever knew the amount Jones paid Hartford and Baird until the information was published.

Jones received the pledged stock from Hartford and Baird and turned it over to the President's secretary, Miss Grace Tully for safekeeping.

Early in 1944 Ruth Goggins Roosevelt and Elliott were divorced. In the property settlement one-half of the pledged stock went to the wife. The other half was placed in trust for the children. Elliott said he has no interest in the stock and has never received any benefit from it.

The business of the Texas chain is reported to have improved materially and the stock increased in value in more recent years.

The inquiry was ordered when reports were published that Hartford listed the $196,000 he lost in the Roosevelt loan as a bad debt dedcution on his 1942 income tax return.

presumably will be turned over to American occupation authorities by Japanese police.

In the final assault on Corregidor the Japanese lost 28 of their 50 landing boats, Homma told Associated Press Correspondent Al Dopking.

The defense of the fortress was so vigorous he was about to admit Japanese failure, he said, then the white flag appeared. The Americans "would have won" had they been able to take the offensive then, he declared.

Homma, however, admitted that the Corregidor defenders were exhausted after weeks of concentrated pounding when the Japanese started their final amphibious attack on the fortress, which surrendered May 6, 1942.

Two Girl Escapees From Detention Home Jailed Here

Two girls—one a 13-year-old estranged from her 17-year-old groom of four months—were held in the juvenile ward of the county jail Saturday after having admitted escaping from a detention home at Houston and making their way to Lubbock along with a third girl by associating with assorted "friendly" male adults.

The 13-year-old girl, described as physically mature despite her age, and her 15-year-old companion were reported to Mrs. Nancy Green, juvenile officer, and Elmer Reed, federal probation officer, by a Lubbock girl, 15, whom they had gone to visit and with whom they had become acquainted in the Houston home. The third escapee, 15, had not been apprehended last night. The Lubbock girl is a former inmate of the institution.

Fled Through Brambles

The girls related they rode from Houston to San Antonio with two real estate men, and from there to Sweetwater with two Mexicans.

They displayed legs covered with ugly scratches received during their flight through four miles of bramble patches near the detention home, Mrs. Green said.

When discovered here the 13-year-old wore tattered and worn parts of a uniform she had "borrowed" from a soldier, the other girl a dirty plaid dress.

Declared Incorrigible

Investigation disclosed the younger girl had been sent to the institution after she had been declared incorrigible, and that last March she had been treated for a venereal disease. She married in Shreveport last April. "I haven't seen him since,' she told Mrs. Green. Her father, a shipfitter, and her mother live in Houston.

The other girl is illegitimate and was taken from a foundling home by a Houston couple. "My foster parents and my mother kept swapping me around and I got tired of it and got to running away," Mrs. Green quoted her as saying.

Florida Hurricane

ing deserted Collins avenue, along the oceanfront.

Grave fears that south Florida's multi-million dollar grapefruit, orange, lime and avocado crops would be destroyed were expressed. Many fruit trees were uprooted. A number of Miami's streets were blocked by fallen trees.

The police department halted all traffic over the three causeways connecting Miami and Miami Beach to prevent motorists from being blown into Biscayne bay. During the great Miami hurricane of 1926 when 327 persons died and 6,327 were inpured, many of the dead were lost by venturing out on the causeways as the storm center passed giving a treacherous lull.

Smokestack Crashes

As the winds rose to 89 m.p.h. in Miami, a 75-foot metal smokestack near Pan American Airways field went down with a crash.

Earl Shugars, Associated Press staff photographer, reported his car was blown three-quarters of a block backward as he attempted to buck the wind in bringing in pictures of the great storm.

August Rizzolla, of New York City, said he drove almost to Key Largo at the height of the hurricane and saw several families cowering in make-shift shelters after their rough wooden homes had been blown away. Trees and palm fronds littered the highway throughout the 40-mile trip, he said.

Public Buildings Opened

All public buildings including schools, police stations, post offices and motion picture theaters were thrown open as emergency storm shelters in virtually every south Florida city. Hundreds were under cover in them, some late arrivals bedraggled and soaking wet.

More than 1,000 Red Cross workers were on the job, some in dangerous spots. Gene Hall of Miami, a letter carrier and Red Cross volunteer, carried an emergency radio transmitter into the storm at Key Largo.

"Cocoanuts were yanked off trees and flew through the air like footballs in forward passes," he reported. "Water covers the overseas highway on Key Largo. I located one family cowering in the storm after most of their house blew away."

According to archeologists, people first began settling in the district around Rome some time around the year 1000 B. C.

Congratulations To:

Lean Navy Pickings For Postwar Cited

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (AP)—The Navy, like many a war worker, learned today that the pickings in peacetime may be much leaner.

This was underlined by two White House developments:

1. President Truman was reported to have told Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, Chairman Walsh (D-Mass) of the Senate Naval committee and others that the postwar Navy will just have to stand in line henceforth when it comes to appropriations.

2. Mr. Truman recommended cutbacks amounting to $11,518,301,253 in current appropriations and authorizations for the Navy, and also of $5,306,252,674 of unspent balances from appropriations for prior years.

Pearl Harbor Inquiry May Call MacArthur

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur may be asked to testify in the congressional investigation of Pearl Harbor.

This new turn developed today as five senators and five House members arranged to meet, probably Tuesday, to organize a three months inquiry into America's greatest military defeat.

Senator Brewster (R-Me) said that if the investigation touches on conditions in the Philippines at the time of the Japanese assault on Hawaii, he will urge that General MacArthur be called to the stand.

Soviet Army Sets Up Sweeping Benefits

MOSCOW, Sept. 15 (AP) — Red Army officers won sweeping new benefits today. Red Star, the Army newspaper, announced the nation had:

1. Raised officers, including reserves, to the second food category. They will receive food free of charge and continue to get an extra officers' ration.

2. Waived future payment of taxes by officers.

3. Re-established the system of providing orderlies for generals, colonels and other officers whose duties make them desirable.

In an editorial explanating the benefits, Red Star said that, with the war ended, troops face the "task of persistent and serious combat training designed to strengthen the military might of the Red Army."

Auto Pricing Plan Presents Many Complex Problems; OPA Plans Test

By SANDOR S. KLEIN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 — The Office of Price administration was worried today that the recent trend toward higher labor and material costs in the automobile industry might endanger its plan to price new automobiles at or near 1942 levels.

Nevertheless the OPA intends to go ahead with a test of its new auto pricing formula.

Because of the current trend of costs, the OPA is going to take up the matter wth Economic Stabilizer William H. Davis.

Steel Wants Price Hike

At the moment the OPA is studying a request from the steel industry for industry-wide price increases. This would have a great effect on the production costs of automobiles. Tied in with steel prices is the demand by labor in the steel industry for a wage increase.

Technically there is no provision at the moment for adjustment of automobile prices after the prices are once determined under the OPA formula. An OPA official said, however, that if it is found by actual experience that cars are priced too low, some method of relief will have to be found. There is provision for readjustment under the OPA's pricing policy for other reconverting industries.

Under the auto pricing formula 1941 costs are used as the base. To these are added increases in basic wage rates and in materials, plus a profit equal either to the manufacturer's own 1936-39 profit or to one-half of auto industry's profit average for the same period.

Companies Perplexed

The automobile companies have been trying to figure out their prices under the formula but none has yet filed its proposed price list with the OPA.

Ford was expected to be the first in with its prices sometime last week. But at this week's end its accounts and other experts were reported still at work on the figures. The OPA has sent a few accounts out to the Detroit area to help any auto maker who might be having difficulty working out his prices.

Most members of the automobile industry believe they could get down to the business of making cars sooner if there were no price control. This view was expressed publicly in Detroit by George T. Christopher, president of the Packard Motor Car Co., who declared that the history of the industry has shown "the healthy effect of competition upon car prices."

One Grants Wage Hikes

One manufacturer, Studebaker, already has granted voluntary wage increases. This, it was felt, may influence labor costs of the other car-makers. There is no bar to voluntary wage increases, provided no increase in prices is asked.

The OPA has removed ceilings on automobile parts in the expectation that competition would keep prices from spiraling. But the OPA ceiling still remains on anti-friction bearings, which are necessary in automobile production.

The bearings industry's OPA advisory committee will meet with agency officials next week to ask for higher prices. Right now the ceiling is at the 1941 level.

Fate Plays Bitter Trick On Freed Duo

CHITOSE AIRFIELD, Japan, Sept. 15. (AP) — American efforts to ease the fate of prisoners of war on Hokkaido island, Japan, accidentally produced one of the war's bitterest ironies.

Liberated prisoners said two comrades were killed Tuesday when struck by a crate of condensed milk dropped into their camp by a carrier plane.

One of the unfortunate men was a survivor of the Death March one Bataan and the other a member of the heroic Marines which defended Wake island.

First New Cars May Not Be Rationed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. (AP)— Contrary to original plans new automobiles due on the market soon may not be rationed.

Along with the development of this prospect today, government officials studied a recommendation of the War roduction board's leather bureau that shoe rationing be ended October 1.

Proposals to abandon plans for rationing the first few thousand new cars have been submitted by the OPA to WPB. The latter agency is giving the idea favorable consideration.

"Plans for rationing were laid," one official explained, "before the war ended, when it looked as though only 250,000 cars could be built this year."

Current prospects are for at least twice that many in 1945. And production is expected to hit the prewar rate of 4,000,000 cars a year early in 1946.

The WPB leather bureau's recommendation that shoe rationing be ended October 1 has been submitted to J. A. Krug, chairman of the agency. He will confer with OPA Administrator Chester Bowles and make a decision in the next week or so.

Campaign Opened On Low Fliers In Dallas

DALLAS, Sept. 15.(U.P.)— Jeeps carrying military policemen armed with field glasses began patrolling residential areas of Dallas and its suburbs today to enforce a new order against low-flying military aircraft.

On orders of Col. W. M. Lanagan, commander of the Fifth Ferrying group at Love field in Dallas, the air over Dallas and Fort Worth residential and business areas last night was declared out-of-bounds for fliers of the ferrying group.

The colonel said his order was designed to end a flood of complaints against low-flying planes buzzing areas to the two cities.

The new order said group planes must stay away from the two cities and their suburbs except on landing and take-offs.

Jeeps were assigned to patrol Dallas and the park cities and the MP's were ordered to spot numbers of any offending planes through their field glasses. Colonel Lanagan said that in addition, airplane spotters will be used.

Laredo Libel Suits Settled Out Of Court

LAREDO, Sept. 15. (AP) — An out-of-court settlement was reached here today in civil libel suits filed against the Laredo Times and its publisher, William Prescott Allen, by a group of Laredo Rotarians.

The cases grew out of publication of statements referring to members of the board of directors of the Laredo Rotary club and the operation of the club's student loan fund.

Plaintiffs filed the suits as individuals. The Laredo Rotary club was not involved.

Horace Hall, attorney for the group, said Allen had agreed to pay $3,500 to settle legal costs incurred by the plaintiffs, who, in turn, agreed to withdraw the civil actions.

"We believe the matter is closed," Hall said.

Allen said 'a settlement has been reached and I'm satisfied."

Howdy folks

So many new things have come into the Decorator's Studio this week that I hardly know where to begin the girls were wading through all the new merchandise that was occupying most of the space in the back of the studio.

New pottery was one of the main things that I noticed while looking around. One table was set with grey blue Winfield. It was used on a charlreuse cloth and the salad plates were white with a fruit design in the center. Another big shipment of Red Wing pottery has made its arrival at the studio. It is a new pattern that the girls have never had before and it is called Britany. It has a large yellow flower on it with touches of green and blue to complete the design.

A story in blue was the set-up used on the light wood dining table. Spodes Gloucester which is to shades of blue was used on a dark blue plate on light blue linen mats. It made a very unusual table setting for those of you that are very found of blue.

New lamps were still pouring into the studio this week. So many new ones have arrived that I can not begin to describe them. There are all shapes, colors, and types, so you will just have to make a visit to the studio to see the new collection.

Those of you that like stunning unusual furniture must see the coffee table that is now in the showroom. It is made of mirror with a glass top. The top is painted with silver and gold leaf and has a scroll design painted in turquoise. Come in and see this table if you need a touch of spice in your living room.

There is no doubt but what Alma is happily married. She is only a week late returning from her honeymoon and she still hasn't said definitely when she will be back. The studio was honored this last week with a visit from Captain and Mrs. Robert Spikes. They are here on several deys leave visiting both of their families.

That is all for this week. See you later with more new and interesting news concerning the studio.

From Lou To Louella

DEAR Louella: You should see the green caps on the campus at Tech this week. Registration was rather crowded in the administration building, but no one minded for, besides the freshmen, there were the upperclassmen to exchange hellos with. I saw Nora McMurray and Joan Yeager standing in very long lines. Then too, there was the freshman who stood in six lines for several hours each and the one who waited and waited for his turn at the desk of some professor and then discovered he was in the wrong line.

Couples who have stopped being couples are Mary Frances Alexander and Jim Warner. She gave him his pin back. Lou Burns, Tech's No. 1 beauty last year, and Arthur Shahan haven't been able to get together again either.

On the married list goes Tenalla King. Francys Peters became engaged this summer. Viola Day and Roger Battistoni have set the day for Sept. 29, and I also hear that Thora Brigance is getting married.

• • •

Here And There

Seen together are Betty Jo Leonard and Charlie Aves. ean Byars, that cadet nurse and former Techsan who has such a sweet disposition may have given priority to a sergeant named Jeff.

Louella, do you remember Pat Crouch who was graduated from Tech last summer? He is doing graduate work in chemistry at University of Texas.

Socii's are returning to Tech this year. Bruce Pipkin has covered a lot of territory and Stevie Payne is here, too. The fellow who seems to be making a wonderful impression is Florien G. Hoefer from Plainview. He is a veteran and 'tis said he goes under the description of handsome and sweet.

CHUCK Fisher is still in Slaton because she has a guest. You don't think it is a lieutenant, do you? Everyone misses Martha Hughes, who is not coming back.

Eleanor Cotton, whom you remember as the girl with the personality, is now in the publicity department at the University of Denver. B. J. Beck is with her, and in case you don't remember B. J., her name is really Billye Jane.

Have you heard that Mary Elizabeth Barker is going to get her degree from Tech this year? She transferred from TSCW last summer and likes it here so well that she came back this Fall. Mary Elizabeth is from Whitesboro.

• • •

Caught On The Fly

Lt. Norman Igo, who was in Tech in '43, is arriving from the European theater. He is an engineer, and you ought to know if he is engaged. I can't inviegle anyone into telling me.

Leaving for Dallas Tuesday is Helen Eagan and I might have some news for you when she returns.

Do you ever think of those midnight feasts and dormitory sessions? If you don't, you should have seen Gina Broyles, the girl who can do so many wonderful things with a tennis recquet, the other day .She was well equipped with frying pans in which to pop corn and I drool to think of the good times those pans represent.

If you want to drink a coke ,or stand in another line, or see everyone you know on the campus, the bookstore is the place for you. Or it was for Ann Hurt, Friday. You might ask her about it.

Love,
Lou.

You Can Write Poetry and enjoy it, according to an article in a current national magazine. "It's fun," it continues, "easier than you think and the sheer joy of creation lifts you out of cares and worries." Please, if you take that advice seriously, submit your poems to a source other than the woman's department We disagree with the author of the article and believe that writing poetry must be a great deal more difficult than most of the writers who send us their compositions think.

Expecting a Baby?
Mother's Friend massaging preparation helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exquisitely prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy... It helps keep the skin soft and pliable... thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin... for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use. Highly praised by users, many doctors and nurses. Millions of bottles sold. Just ask any druggist for Mother's Friend—the skin emollient and lubricant. Do try it.

I Said,

to my insurance agent the other day, 'Look here, Thord Dockray, isn't it a nerve racking job trying to sell insurance all day to a lot of people who don't want it?'

He said—"Why no! I don't try to sell 'em anything they don't want. I show 'em what they need—and they can take it or leave it. Most of 'em see that I'm doing them a real favor."

"Well, sir, I realized then that my agent has done me a big favor in giving me an intelligent picture of my needs, and then letting me use my common sense, without high-pressuring me. That's why I say—'Go to an agent you can TRUST—and be guided by his judgment'."

Lighting Research is "MOVING the SUN"

You'll Enjoy These Benefits of Daylight Indoors in . . .
YOUR POSTWAR HOME

Plenty of light for easier seeing—to guard against eyestrain.

A Sunlamp will supply the healthful ultraviolet that produces Vitamin D.

Germicidal lamps in the nursery and elsewhere can kill harmful germs—guard against disease.

You'd probably like to have the benefits of sunshine in many a room in your home. Science now is planning just that for your home of tomorrow.

Only, instead of moving your bath fixtures outdoors, for example, you'll do your sunbathing in the privacy of your own home. You'll have all of the priceless benefits of sunshine at the snap of a switch, including:

- ★ Softer, more abundant light for easier seeing.
- ★ Ultraviolet that produces essential Vitamin D.
- ★ Short-wave ultraviolet that kills germs.
- ★ Soothing, penetrating heat.

Start planning now for a sun-lit home of tomorrow. The cost of electricity has gone down and down, so that you can enjoy the coming "indoor sunshine" at lower costs than ever before. Any home, old or new, can "move the sun indoors."

Bill Offered To Fix Texas-Oklahoma Line

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (AP)—A bill to settle along disputed Oklahoma-Texas boundary question has been introduced by Sen. Hatch (D-NM) at the request of Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes.

Land totaling 4,900 acres is involved, and it lays in a strip 156 miles in length running in width from a point to 500 feet. It is that area between the old Cimarron base line and the northern boundary of Texas in the Panhandle.

The measure allows the present occupants of the territory, mostly Texas landholders, to receive patents on their property. Because the land lay in a section and some persons contended it was actually in Texas, rather than Oklahoma, the government had withheld issuance of patents until a careful survey and plat had been made. Explaining that this engineering work had been completed, Ickes wrote in a letter Hatch submitted to the Senate: "This strip of land was never a part of Texas, although claimed by Texas landowners."

Rural tenancy declined 1,500,000 or 22 per cent between 1940 and 1944. Rural home ownership in the same period gained by 866,000.

'Splinter Fleet' Used Under Nazis' Noses To Supply Greeks

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. (AP)—An American-directed "splinter fleet," kept in operating condition by piracy, supplied the Greek resistance forces for a year ending last October.

The Office of Strategic services, whose men sailed the tiny vessels literally under German guns, told the story today.

Consisting at the peak of 36 caiques native coastwise vessels ranging from two to 80 tons, the fleet was credited by OSS with:

Deliveries of more than 2,000 tons of war material.

Smuggling into and out of Greece more than 700 agents, saboteurs and resistance leaders.

Only Four Casualties

Sailing 356 missions of more than 60,000 nautical miles, largely through narrow, enemy-controlled Agean waters, with total casualties of four Greek seamen killed and with only two vessels lost.

The piracy element entered when the caiques, mostly powered by ancient Swedish diesel engines, began to need repairs.

It was common practice, OSS said, for one of the little ships to stop and board Greek vessels pressed into Nazi coastal service, strip them of vital parts, and set them adrift. Fuel was acquired in the same way.

Explosives, Gas Transported

Explosives and high-octane gas, the latter needed occasionally for planes flying into Greece on secret missions, were specially dangerous cargo on the "splinter fleet' run. Often the vessels would be under small arms fire from both sides as they negotiated the Samos straits, less than 1,000 yards wide, between Turkey and the Greek island of Samos.

Apparently the Greeks on the island mistook the boats for German cargo carriers and the Turks believed their neutrality was being violated.

Operated Out Of Cairo

The fleet operated out of Cairo, usually making a refueling stop at the British island of Cyprus and sailing to the Dodecanese islands and the Greek mainland.

Two clandestine bases, commanded by OSS and code-named "Boston" and "Key West," were maintained virtually under the Germans' noses in the Aegean islands.

On two occasions vessels of the "splinter fleet" captured small German cargo vessels in close-quarter machinegun battles.

In the first 40 years of this century, the population of the United States 65 years and over increased from 3,080,498, or four per cent, to 9,019,314, or seven per cent.

Filmtown Facts And Fancies

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 16.—Claudette Colbert, the lady who leaps from comedy to drama and back again with the east of the daring young man on the flying trapeze, almost fell off a couch in her living room the other day. It was her own fault—Don Ameche wasn't there to hold her. Or maybe we were to blame.

We were getting the lowdown on her comedy technique and, to prove a point, she went into a scene from her new movie, "Guest Wife," in which she flirts with a preoccupied Ameche.

She flung herself on the coach, lifted herself up on one elbow and fluttered her eyelashes.

With Ameche it might have been good. But in the Colbert living room the balance was wrong or something. She started to fall and, before regaining a lady-like position, looked like a test pilot coming out of an cutside loop.

"That,' she laughed, "is what I mean by broad comedy."

The secret of being funny on the screen, Claudette Colbert confessed, is not to be funny at all.

Comedy, she said, is much harder to do than heavy drama, has more pitfalls, yet receives less praise than a dramatic performance. She was the most surprised person in town, she said, when they handed her an Oscar for a comedy, "It Happened One Night."

• • •

BOUQUET FOR WRITERS

BUT don't forget the screen writers, says Claudette.

"They should be the highest paid people in the business. They're the boys and girls who do the work. Whenever a producer asks me to do a picture and outlines the story, my first question is: 'Who's going to write it?'"

Luckily, she has had directors who appreciated her views on playing it straight in comedy scripts. "They've always let me do it my own way. The only director who ever showed me exactly how to play a scene was Ernst Lubitsch. He's one of the funniest men in Hollywood.

"I had to sit on Gary Cooper's lap and feed him onions, which he hated. Lubitsch said: 'Look, I veel show you how eet is done.' He sat on Gary's lap and showed me what to do, as only Lubitsch can do it. I was hysterical. I copied Lubitsch exactly and it was funny."

• • •

SHE WON'T GAMBLE

MOST big Hollywood stars have formed their own independent film making companies, but she has no such plans.

"When I came into this business I vowed that I would always work for someone, never for myself. I'm not a good gambler."

Golf, she admitted, probably will leave her a nervous wreck. She plays a good game of tennis, she can ski and she's a whiz at archery.

"But golf I can't figure out. I'm always hitting the ground instead of the ball. And when I do hit the ball I never know where it's going. I've hit my teacher in the stomach five times. Jack Benny saw me taking a lesson one

Luncheon With Tom Breneman

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 15.—So you think "Breakfast in Hollywood" with Tom Breneman is a howl, eh? Well, lunch in Hollywood with the same guy can be pretty amusing too.

Tom Breneman

I met this Breneman person on the set of "Breakfast in Hollywood," an epic which is being built around his radio program. I also met Robert S. Golden, producer, Harold Schuster, director, Edward A. Golden, angel, and others of the brain trust on the picture.

Breneman shouted the customary admonition "Keep the budget down!" and we departed for lunch. We went to the eating place owned by Preston Sturges, rather than Breneman's own restaurant. "The prices are too high," he explained.

Tom's Movie Career

"Is this your first adventure in movies?" I asked.

"Yes," he said. But later he recalled that he had once before ventured before a camera.

"I came out here 18 years ago to visit a relative," he recounted. "I had been given the names of a couple of people in pictures, and naturally I wanted to see the movies. One of them told me the best way to see the studios was to get a job. So I went up to Central Casting and they immediately gave me a call to work on 'Ben Hur.'

"There were 4,000 extras working that day and I was just one of the mob. But an assistant director happened to spot me—I was a good-looking man of 25 in those days—and offered me a bit part for $25 a day. I did the part that day. But the next day I sent a friend. Why should I work? I had just finished 105 weeks of vaudeville at $400 a week and my mother had a million dollars. Besides, those sandals I had to wear in the picture were killing my feet."

So the great Breneman scene in "Ben Hur" was reshot at a cost of umpteen thousand dollars the next day. Independent Tom then went into radio which fascinated him. Many years later, he clicked with his "Breakfast in Hollywood," in which he milks laughs by wearing women's hats, exchanges banter with nonagrarians and dishes out his own charming brand of corn.

Modest Assertion

"Isn't it more satisfactory to be a radio celebrity than a movie celebrity?" I suggested.

"Being neither I wouldn't know," he asserted modestly. "But we have played before 600,000 people and you'd be surprised how many people recognize me. Sometimes if I listen hard enough, I can hear them say, 'There goes Tom Breneman.' Of course that never happens when I am in my best deportment. But when I am feeling gay—they all know who I am."

Bubonic plague is transmitted to man by fleas from rodents.

"Young man, this is dangerous. You should take out a big life insurance policy."

Col. Ike Ashburn To Speak At Inter-City Rotary Meet Here

Col. Ike Ashburn, assistant to the president and general manager of the Todd-Houston Shipbuilding corporation, is to be principal speaker at the annual inter-city meeting of the Lubbock Rotary club on the night of Sept. 26 at the Texas Tech stockjudging pavilion, Lamar Forrest, chairman of arrangements, announced Saturday.

Rotarians from the Panhandle-Plains area are to be invited as guests at the meeting, which is featured by a barbecue served by the local club.

Walter Jenkins, minister of music for the First Methodist church of Houston, an outstanding baritone who has led the singing at every International Rotary convention for the past 15 years, will accompany Ashburn and lead the Rotarians here in group singing.

Col. Ashburn, prior to joining the Todd-Houston corporation, was head of the Office of Civilian Defense in Houston and Harris county and prior to that time was manager of the Houston Chamber of Commerce. He formerly served as purchasing agent and secretary of the board of directors of Texas A. and M. college and later was commandant at A and M. He has also served as executive manager of the Texas Good Roads association, manager of the Houston Loan agency of the RFC, chairman of the advisory board of the PWA in Texas, and executive secretary and manager of the Harris County Association for Industrial Peace.

The inter-city meeting is scheduled to get under way at 7 p. m. and attendance of approximately 150 to 200 Rotarians from over the area is expected.

Polish Boy To Visit His 'Foster Fathers'

CAMP SWIFT, Tex., Sept. 15 (AP)—A 12-year old Polish orphan, Joseph Eugene Parema, who stands just four feet in his stockings and has grown plump from American rations, is on his way to Camp Swift to visit the Second infantry division, which he claims as "foster fathers."

The blond boy was found by battery C at Frankenhause, Germany. His parents had been killed. For three months he carried ammunition and ran errands for the soldiers. They remodeled a uniform for him and awarded him the honorary rank of T/5, the "good humor" medal and an ETO ribbon with one battle star.

When sailing time came for the division, Joseph was smuggled into a duffle bag. In order that he might not be classified as a pauper, a $1,000 collection was taken aboard ship.

After considerable trouble at Ellis island, his case was submitted to Atty. Gen. Tom C. Clark. It now appears he will be permitted to remain in stateside.

Cpl. Le Roy Ritchey, former school teacher from Tulsa, Okla., who plans to adopt the boy has been granted a 10-day leave to bring him to Camp Swift.

Supplies Of Beef In Southwest Are Varied

DALLAS, Sept. 15 (AP)—Although an abundant supply of low grade beef exists in Texas, Missouri and Kansas, beef supplies in Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma are only adequate, said B. E. Trigg, regional director of the Office of Price administration.

Following the meeting here yesterday of 22 OPA district food specialists, Trigg said sugar supplies in the Southwest are expected to increase within the next six weeks. No great increase is predicted before some time next year, he stated.

Soap bubbles, or drops of oil on a wet pavement are vividly colored because the film is so thin that its thickness approaches the wave length of light, causing the light rays to tangle up, or interfere with each other.

Nation Questions Occupation Policies; Bungling Adds To Labor Muddle

Our People Are Puzzled

Less "Kid Glove Stuff" Wanted

ASKED if he thought the United Nations in general, and the Americans, in particular, were pursuing an intelligent and practical plan in the Occupation of Japan, a British journalist who resided in the Orient for 40 years, responded: "Constructive criticism from this distance is impossible."

The answer was a good one and one in which The Avalanche-Journal concurs.

It may be that our occupation policies are sound; it may even be that they are the only ones upon which we can operate under current conditions.

But the fact remains that the rank-and-file of our people are puzzled over our actions in dealing with a defeated enemy—not only with Japan, but with Germany, as well.

Most of our people feel that we are being too soft-hearted—and soft-headed.

We can't understand, for instance, why Jap civil officials were permitted to remain in office after we moved into Korea; why the Japs themselves, were permitted to arrest those among them listed by us as war criminals; why American troops in Europe have not been permitted to comandeer the best facilities for food and shelter; why we have moved into both Germany and Japan and conducted ourselves as sort of "embarrassed guests," rather than as the conquerors we are.

Perhaps our "kid glove" methods in the long run will prove to have been best. We are not unmindful of the old saw that "you can catch more flies with molasses than you can with vinegar." Yet when one considers the national psychologies of the German and Japanese peoples; when one ponders their bestiality toward defenseless prisoners and others who lucklessly fell into their hands before their defeat, it is hard to understand why we have not adopted the traditional policy of "moving in" on our beaten foes and cracking down on them at every turn.

As the British journalist with 40 years of Oriental living behind him stated so simply, "constructive criticism from this distance is impossible."

But it is safe to say that the majority of puzzled Americans, no matter how far distance from Germany and Japan, would prefer to see more of an iron heel and less of a kid glove in our dealings with both the Germans and the Japs.

Nobody ever heard of a cornered, full grown wolf, or gorilla, being caged by use of soft words and pats on the head.

A Cure Worse Than Illness

ONLY a few months ago millions of American housewives were looking eagerly forward to the time when they could buy new washing machines, electric refrigerators, and other needed household equipment. They expected such things to be available in large quantities soon after the end of the war.

Merchants were equally optimistic over the outlook. But now the picture has changed somewhat, especially for the retail dealers, and there is a definite possibility that production of civilian goods may be retarded by the Office of Price Administration's policy.

Determined to force retail prices of new products into the 1942 groove, despite increases in labor and material costs, the OPA is planning to proceed with its program for compelling retail dealers to absorb the increases granted manufacturers.

Of course, the object of the program is to curry favor with the consumers, who form the bulk of the nation's voters, and to hold down prices — a necessary safeguard against inflation during the war.

But there is a strong possibility that the OPA proposal will slow up production to such an extent that it may defeat its own purpose. For in slowing up production, through discouraging marketing, it may add to the unemployment problem. This will in turn affect buying. Certainly if enough persons are kept from gainful employment, prices will automatically come down. But most of us do not want low prices by that route.

In trying to force 1945 post-war prices into the 1942 groove, the OPA is playing with economic dynamite. A healthy economy demands elasticity. It cannot be forced into an anchronistic mold.

There are still more dollars than goods in circulation!

The President Is Right

A FEW days ago Rep. Harold Knutson (R-Minn.) declared in the House that American financial aid to Great Britain now would be tantamount to underwriting the "socialization of the United Kingdom."

President Harry Truman later characterized the statement as "silly." The majority of Americans will agree with the President's appraisal.

While the new Labor government of Britain is socialistic, any aid given England at this time cannot be considered a support of a political party. Britain has been our closest ally in the war just ended and her international policy — particularly her relationship with the United States — has not been altered by her change in political leadership.

OUR PLEDGE

We pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States, and to the Republic for which it stands; One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

Re-Birth of a Nation

GOP Puzzled Over "Good Old Harry" Psychology, Even Though:

Truman Will Hew To Roosevelt's New Deal Line

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — Harry Truman has revealed his political philosophy. It is basically New Deal.

Republicans now have something specific at which to strike. It's all there in black and white, in detail, in his message to Congress. It's plain. It's positive. It covers not only the immediate present but considerable of the future.

Yet, despite that, Republicans still are somewhat stumped as how to proceed, now that the political season has opened, and far ahead of time. For there's something more they find they must contend with. It's the man Harry Truman, the sort of fellow he is. In the few months since he's been President a character has been created for the American people. A definite type has emerged.

STOKES

We had that experience once before in fairly recent political history. Calvin Coolidge was a character. It was hard for some people here, watching him as a negative sort of President, to understand his hold on the American people. Yet he had it. Like all such characters he got credit for all sorts of wise sayings and witticisms which he never uttered. But there were enough of them he did say to create the character—a colorless sort of figure, yet with a dry wit, a way of looking at things which made for that saltiness which in normal times strikes the fancy of the American people.

• • •

By, Of And For The People

This is not to compare Harry Truman with Calvin Coolidge. They are different in many respects. But they are identical in a sort of homely quality. And they are identical in that they are strictly American types—"characters."

Democrats were unable to break what they called "The Coolidge Myth." Republicans find they are up against a personality problem as they try to figure how to get at Harry Truman.

Franklin Roosevelt was sort of Jovian, as was Winston Churchill. He stalked through the clouds and tossed the thunderbolts about. There was a heroic quality about him suited to the times, suited to the crisis of a great domestic emergency and the following crisis of war. But the people get tired of that.

The war is over, and now we have "Good Old Harry," as you heard them referring to him fondly in the crowd at the ball game the other afternoon. "Good Old Harry." Or, as a visitor to rock-ribbed Republican Vermont who sounded out the folks there on a vacation reported.

"They like him. They say 'he is one of us'."

• • •

THE President is also helped by the fact that if there hadn't been a fellow a good deal like Harry Truman to succeed the late Mr. Roosevelt, the people probably would have tried to make whoever it was something like that image. For that's what they were looking for after the ordeal of war. Maybe Franklin Roosevelt knew what he was about in picking his successor, as the legend goes around here.

It's hard to get mad at Harry Truman. It's hard to make him the sort of villian some people created for themselves in Franklin Roosevelt. There he is, just "good old Harry," a fellow you can understand.

Whatever he says, whatever he stands for, you just can't get anywhere much by trying to make people believe that Harry Truman is out to destroy the American system, the American way of life. He is its epitome. They got a lot of folks to believe that about Franklin D. Roosevelt.

But the hate that festered about Mr. Roosevelt does not attach to Harry Truman.

Tough Nut To Crack

President Truman, himself, has done much to assist the change of atmosphere and psychology. The "Brain Trust," always a target, has disappeared for more solid and sober-minded gentlemen, many of them from Congress. The President, himself, lived long with Congress. He knows them. He knows how to be nice to them.

Personally as a political figure, he is helped, too, by the fact that Conservatives cannot be boiled up into a great fever about him because they trust that Congress will stop too much New Dealism, while to New Dealers and Progressives he has the efficacy of his own record and beliefs.

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

THERE is a fellow in Springfield, Ill., who is looking for a job.

He looks like Abraham Lincoln, tall and gangling, dresses like Lincoln—even to the stove-pipe hat—and wears a beard like Lincoln's.

"I even try to think as Lincoln would," he said to a reporter. "If the rest of my life can be a carbon copy of Lincoln's, it will be a happy one."

BRANDEIS

You have to give that fellow credit for wanting to live like Lincoln. There is only one thing wrong — he isn't Lincoln.

We all admire Lincoln and revere his memory.

We are proud that he was one of us, and we can do no better than try to be as honest, as patriotic and fine as he was.

But we must not try to imitate him or be carbon copies of him.

I admire Shakespeare and Longfellow and the late Will Rogers and Arthur Brisbane and O. O. McIntyre.

But I shall not try to be any one of them.

• • •

I shall try to be only the best Erich Brandeis I know how to be and I shall neither be a carbon copy nor an imitator of anyone else.

Neither should you try to imitate anyone else, no matter how much you respect and honor them.

Be yourself and be the best yourself that you'd possibly can.

There is entirely too much copying of others.

Some stage or screen star started the red-fingernail fad and now every Flossie and Susie and Madge in the country is aping her.

Some beautiful thing started to wear slacks, and now look what you see in them.

An editor said to me the other day, "Why don't you try to write like Dr. Frank Crane?"

"I don't want to write like Dr. Crane," I said. "Dr. Crane

Too Many Bureaucrats

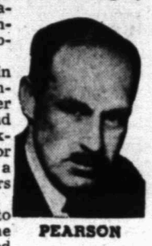

(Washington Merry-Go-Round)

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — The problem of getting war workers back to the farm is becoming one of the most important in the nation.

Personal research made by Sen. Owen Brewster of Maine has revealed some amazing red tape. For instance, the U. S. Employment Service cannot recruit workers for farms. They can recruit workers from the farms, but can't send them back. This is handled by the Agriculture department.

Result is that, while workmen are unemployed in Portland, Me., one of the distress areas of the nation, the Agriculture department is sending 3,000 German prisoners, 2,500 Canadian workers, and 1,500 Kentuckians into Maine to harvest potatoes.

PEARSON

Part of this was revealed in hearings before the Senate Finance committee, when Brewster cross-examined R. J. Thomas, head of the United Automobile workers, who was testifying in favor of the Kilgore bill granting $25 a week to unemployed war workers for 26 weeks.

"Why can't some of your auto workers help harvest the Maine potato crop?" Brewster asked Thomas.

"You don't pay enough," countered Thomas.

"Twelve dollars a day," replied Brewster.

"That certainly is all right," admitted the UAW head. "I'd like to have one of those jobs myself."

"Picking potatoes would also give you sylph-like proportions," joked Brewster, eyeing the bulky build of the union leader.

• • •

POTATOES VS. STONES

BREWSTER then told the Senate Finance committee how it had been necessary to import outside workers, including 1,500 Kentuckians, to help harvest the Maine potato crop. This seemed to disturb Senator Barkley of Kentucky, who accused Brewster of trying to convert Kentuckians into "Oakies."

"Why not pick up the potatoes with a machine?" asked Barkley.

"We can't invent a machine that can distinguish between a potato and a rock," replied Brewster.

"That's what's the trouble with your Maine potatoes," shot back Barkley with a grin.

Beneath this persiflage, however, all committee members and several witnesses admitted the serious difficulty of getting war workers back to the farm. UAW Chief Thomas testified that about 4,500,000 war workers would be thrown out of jobs, and that most of them had been recruited from the ranks of unskilled labor, chiefly farmers and women. While the return of women workers to their former homes is not expected to be difficult, no real movement back to the farm has yet started.

NOTE—Assistant Secretary of Labor Carl Moran informed Senator Brewster that some 30 agencies outside the Labor department deal with labor, and that the U. S. Employment Service, supposed to find jobs for unemployed, cannot recruit farm labor. During the war it recruited war workers from the farmers, but now, since the war is over, it can't send labor back to the farms. This is up to the Agriculture department.

TRUMAN OUTDOES ROOSEVELT

PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S message to Congress which some thought out-Roosevelted Roosevelt, brought this comment from Rep. Malcolm Tarver of Georgia:

"The pastor of a colored church in my district died recently, and the congregation was holding the first service to be led by his successor.

"The new preacher started off by saying: "Brethren, I'm not going to give you a sermon today, out of respect for our dear departed leader. Let us pray.'

"Well, sir, they prayed and prayed and prayed for 25 minutes. When they got up and left the church, a member of the congregation, previously critical, was asked how he liked the new preacher.

"'I take it all back about that new preacher,' he said. 'The old pastor sure could pray, but I never saw anything like this man. He prays for everything the old pastor prayed for—and then he goes on and prays for things even God never knew He had.'"

LOANS FOR VETERANS

SEN. ED JOHNSON of Colorado, who is pushing the Army on quick discharges, has proposed a 14-man special committee of both Senate and House members to make an overall study of government machinery for handling veterans' problems.

Johnson who doesn't receive as much publicity as Rep. John Rankin of Mississippi, chairman of the House Veterans committee, maintains that there are 31 different federal agencies dealing with veterans—so many that the veteran gets confused.

At a secret meeting of senators recently, Johnson flayed Congressmen Rankin's proposed new bill for liberalizing government loans to veterans.

"This bill," he said, "which passed the House without even a hearing, placed a huge burden upon the United States Treasury and at the same time relieves the Veterans bureau of responsibility for approving the loans to be made veterans. I believe in helping the veterans all we can—we owe them that—but this bill will not help them.

"It provides only for 'local approval' for government-insured loans to veterans. That could mean approval by the local banker who makes the loan, or the real estate board or anyone else. Many of these loans will be for the purchase of real estate at inflated values, and it is because of the inflated real estate values mainly that there should be a federal agency responsible for the clearance of the loans.

"This is a bankers' and real estate brokers' bill," he said, and "it's object is to make it easier for the bankers and the real estate sharpshooters to 'goldbrick' for the veteran, to sell him real estate at highly inflated values when he is not as careful as he might be because he knows he can get loans from the government.

"This bill will not go before the Senate without a hearing. Of that I can assure you."

SUPREME COURT PROTESTS

THOUGH TRUMAN had definitely decided last week to appoint under Secretary of War Patterson to the Supreme court, a lot of undercover opposition has been piling up against him. Some of it is coming from those who don't want a Felix Frankfurther man on the court, some from those inside and outside the Justice department who recall Patterson's firm stand against anti-trust cases.

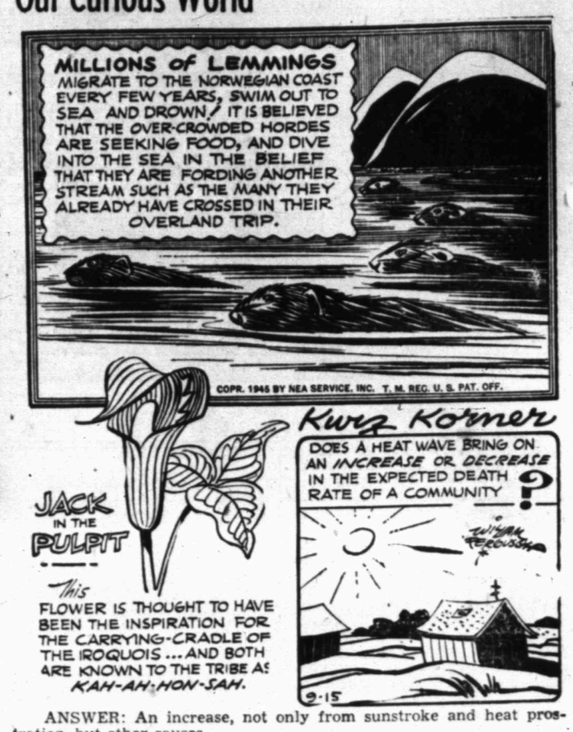

One incident in this connection has just leaked out which occurred when Sen. Homer Bone of Washington (now U. S. Circuit court judge) was conducting his patent hearings. He telephoned Patterson at the War department and requested his file on anti-trust cases.

Patterson had informed the Justice department that there were a great many protests against proceeding with anti-trust suits in wartime. So Senator Bone said he wanted to see them. Patterson demurred.

"All right," countered Bone, "then we'll have to subpoena the file."

Patterson then agreed to have the file examined, and a representative of the Senate patents committee called at the War department to examine the file. In it he found the record of just one telephone call against proceeding with the anti-trust cases. The call was from Thomas D. Thacher, Wall Street attorney for General Electric and other business firms which were being prosecuted by the Justice department. That was the only protest. Yet Patterson demanded that a whole series of anti-trust actions be stymied.

"The White Tower" Is Month's Book Choice

James R. Ullman Writes Of Adventurous Mountain Climb

NOVELIST James Ramsey Ullman confesses that he would not make a good window-cleaner. He is afraid of high places. In spite of which, he has climbed, with pick and rope, some of the most famous and formidable mountains in the world, and incidentally, written three books and many short stories about mountain climbing. His latest novel, "The White Tower," is the Book-of-the-Month Club selection for September.

ULLMAN

The White Tower of the title is a terrifying immensity of rock and ice, in the Swiss Alps, whose peak has challenged and has never been reached by the most experienced climbers in the world. Five men and a girl, brought together by chance, determine to conquer it, and Mr. Ullman's extraordinarily exciting novel is their story.

Each of them has a personal and characteristic reason for wishing to make this climb. For Martin Ordway, a young American bomber pilot who had been forced to bail out over Switzerland, it is a test of himself, of his belief in comradeship and courage. For Andreas Benner, the Swiss guide, it is a test of his professional capacity—and also it is the mountain which his father died trying to ascend. The English geologist, Dr. Nicholas Radcliffe thinks of the climb as a restoration of his youth, and for Paul Delambre, the mountain is a serene pure challenge to the sickness in his nihilist soul. To the German officer, Siegried Hein, the ascent is an example of the German will, merely another form of war and a proof that he is superior, stronger than the others. And finally for the girl, Carla Dehn, a Viennese, who has fled from her Nazi husband to the little Swiss village, the mountain is a kind of escape from the hateful memory of Nazi Germany.

There is a romance in this novel, but the real story lies in the climb and the manner in which these six people are compelled by the emerging face of death to show the shape and color of their souls.

STARTED NEW VOGUE

INCIDENTAL bit of information we picked up from "The Mode in Hats and Headdresses" by R. Turner Wilcox: Beards were in favor in ancient Greece up to the time of Alexander the Great. Fearing that a soldier's beard might serve as a handle to the enemy in warfare, he ordered clean-shaven faces for his army—and thereby started a new vogue.

"Thunder Gods Gold"

"THUNDER GODS GOLD," by Barry Storm; (Southwest Publishing Co., Tortilla Flat, Ariz.)

AN amazing cavalcade of exploring Spaniards, savage Indians, reckless miners, prospectors, adventureres all madly seeking since pioneeer times—and as madly seeking still!—lost gold, hidden gold is unfolded in "Thunder Gods Gold," by Barry Storm, an epitome of a fabulous fabric of dreams that forever will blend over wild Western lands the romantic flavor of many centuries many peoples, many traditions.

For where did the ill-fated Peraltas find eight bonanza mines but where they buried a year's fantastic production in raw, glittering gold—in America's greatest unfound treasure horde! Why wouldn't "The Dutchman" bring in his burroloads of incredible ore more often but because there wasn't anywhere to spend it faster in the raw frontier villages. Who "discovered" the Lost Wheelbarrow Mine in Idaho, the Lost Dutch Oven in California and many other marvel of wealth but today's treasure hunters nosing along musty Western trails. Then what of the Lost Cabin Mine in Wyoming, the Lost Padre in Texas, the Lost Squaw Mine in Oregon, the Lost Breyfogle in Nevada, the fabulous Adams Digging in New Mexico and all those uncounted others known to be in every state west of the Mississippi—and in many states to the east?

Here is the eternal truth about them by a writer-adventurer who has been on trail, the truth indeed about lost treasurers—natural and man-made—everywhere that the subtle jingle of lost gold quickens man's blood.

And from desert dust and mountain haze, from the trackless course of empire here, too, is all a sanguine crew come to thrilling life with tales of strange adventure more fantastic than any fiction, with exciting clues to phantom mines and treasure troves now sometimes refound—a veritable saga of all those incredible frontier fortunes cached along secretly marked trails, which stirred the turbulent backwash of much Western history.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

IN THE HOUR OF

TRIUMPH

Behind us lie 3½ years of deadly struggle in which, with God's help, we have prevailed.

So, today, we celebrate a victory.

After the celebration, what lies ahead?

For most of us, the outlook is a bright one. If we will simply use the brains, the will, the energy, the enterprise . . . the materials and resources . . . with which we won our war, we can't fail to win the peace and to make this the richest, happiest land the world has known.

For most of us, the years ahead are bright with promise. But for others of us ---and, ironically enough, their part in bringing victory was a major one---the years to come must bear a different look.

In America today are hundreds of thousands of injured men. Men with neatly pinned-up sleeves and trousers. Blinded men. Men with clever iron hooks instead of hands. Worst of all, men with hurt and darkened minds.

These men need our help. Helping them will cost a great deal of money. We can help them best by buying Victory Bonds.

Far away from America today are millions of Americans. As we would be, they're on fire to get back--to their wives, to the children some of them have never seen, to their jobs.

These men need our help. Helping them will cost a great deal of money. And we can help them best by buying Victory Bonds.

This is our day of triumph. But it is theirs too--the injured men, the men who are still far away.

Let's not forget them, in our just rejoicing. And the one way we can help most to care for our wounded . . . to bring our veterans home . . . to give them a fresh start in the country they fought for . . . to care for the families of those who died before the victory was won . . . is simply this:

Buy all the Bonds you can. Keep all the Bonds you buy.

VICTORY BONDS—to have and to hold

American War Dads To Meet

Lubbock chapter 42, American War Dads, will meet at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday night in Shallowater club house, and it is expected that a proposal that women's auxiliary be organized will be discussed.

Officers are J. H. Farmer, president; Freelan W. Groce, secretary; A. F. Reese of Shallowater, first vice president; K. L. Scudder of Slaton, second vice president; J. A. Raley, jr., third vice-president; A. H. Hughes of Wolfforth, fourth vice president and L. C. Ellis, treasurer.

Charter Membership 152

Charter membership of the club was 152, and membership has increased steadily, officials said.

The club, having set as a purpose the "backing of our sons and daughters who are fighting for freedom and justice and to promote service on the home front to help win the war," now has switched into remaining goals, "as demobilization proceeds to aid our sons and daughters in their employment needs and their rehabilitation program."

Plan Aid For Veterans

In various parts of the country, the American War Dads have pointed up service by devising plans for productive and profitable activities for disabled veterans of World War II, established servicemen's centers and canteens, set aside memorial plots for war dead buried in this and in foreign nations, organized concerted drives to "give servicemen a lift on the roads," demanded more ration points and gasoline for soldiers temporarily at home, and sought jobs for veterans.

The organization also has been outstanding in warning against "unscrupulous promoters who are projecting purely money-making schemes, capitalizing on ideas which may appeal to parents who desire to perpetuate the memory of those cherished and now gone."

It has asked that "all such schemes be checked by local officers of the American War Dads."

Kaiser's New Car Is Out-Of-Ordinary

VANCOUVER, Wash., Sept. 15 (AP)—A few persons today glimpsed Henry J. Kaiser's new automobile, and reported it definitely out-of-the ordinary.

The car was driven, without fanfare, to a downtown weighing station, then returned to its building site in the Kaiser yard here which still is completing ships.

Persons who saw the model said it appeared to have a box-type aluminum frame, front-wheel drive and a four-cylinder French-type motor carried in front of the front wheels. The fact that much aluminum was in evidence in frame and body raised hopes that manufacturing would be done in this aluminum-producing area.

Edgar F. Kaiser, general manager of the Kaiser yards, said work had been under way for about 60 days and would continue for another 60 days before any definite conclusions could be released.

"This may not be the final design, and it may not be the car that the Kaiser interests plan to build in the west," he said. "Frankly, I don't know what it is all about, because the work is under the direction of our Oakland, Calif., engineering staff. I know only that we are building the model and studying it for weight distribution."

Scrawny Jap Bull's Troubles End--He Joins U. S. Marines

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

YOKOSHUKA NAVAL BASE.—He was just an ordinary Japanese bull. He worked all day in the prison camp at Narumi, a suburb of Nogoya, hauling heavy loads, and although he got better physical treatment his lot wasn't much better than that of American Marines imprisoned there.

Feed was scarce and the old bull's ribs stuck out like clothes pins on a laundry line. Nobody made him stand at attention for hours in the hot sun, or rubbed hobnailed shoes on his muzzle, but the old bull was pretty unhappy. He never knew where his next oat was coming from.

That old, tired cinnamon bull would have made a horse snicker at the American royal livestock show at Kansas City, but to the Marines he was the most lovable animal in the whole world.

"Here Comes The Steaks"

When the bull plodded past them as they were downing mouldy rice the Marines would holler, "here comes the steaks," and they would go out and talk kindly to the bull. Some of the Marines would stroke his sides, their fingers lingering fondly on some rib that seemed less bleakly bare than its neighbors.

The bull would roll his eyes at the false friend and move quickly on. It didn't take more than ordinary bovine acumen to see that these hungry, meat-starved Marines already mentally had staked out their claim on him and reduced him to a jigsaw pot pouri of savory soup, stews and pot roasts.

"We decided that the first day we were free we would have that bull for our victory dinner," said Pfc. Edward M. Fechwaliski, of East Chicago, Ind., a former prisoner at camp Narumi. He told the story of the bull at the banquet for released Fourth regiment Marines.

Decided To Buy Bull

So the hungry Marines decided to save their money and buy the bull from its Japanese civilian owner the day of their liberation.

"He didn't want to sell the bull, at first," Fechwaiiski said. "But finally he agreed to part with him for 3,000 yen. That was about $100.

The prisoners immediately began to pool their slender earnings. They were paid only 10 sen per day and it takes 100 sen to make one yen. That meant 800,000 sen—or 80,000 days of work for one man. It meant almost 300 days of work for the 275 marines in the camp—the better part of a whole year.

Worked And Scrimped

The Marines worked and scrimped. As their funds grew larger and the day of freedom drew nearer, they became more and more solicitous over the health of the bull. They would halt the owner and inquire as to the animal's welfare.

And as the old bull pulled his burdens uneasily through the camp a strange silence fell over the Marines. There was the quality of a mirage about him. When the prisoners looked at him now they saw, instead of the sleepy, tired old bull, a series of scummy beefsteaks.

Finally the Japanese officially admitted defeat and as soon as the Marines knew they'd be free they plunked 8,000 yen into the hands of the surprised Japanese farmer. They surrounded the bull and he was given the American version of hara-kiri. Years of bondage were over for the old bull of Narumi.

He joined the United States Marines.
