Army Moves Into West Coast Port Strike

MIGRATION MISHAP—Julius Vetter, a radio technician, examines several birds found injured along with scores of dead birds near tall buildings and towers in northern cities. Orinthologists agreed that the birds, principally warblers, were killed or injured when they hit tall obstructions while making their seasonal migration. The dead birds laid out in front of Vetter were found at the foot of a radio tower mounted on a tall building in downtown Philadelphia. (AP Wirephoto).

Oil Tieup Hits Gas Deliveries

(By The Associated Press)

THE Army announced Monday night that since most West coast shipping and stevedoring interests have declined or failed to meet contracts to handle Army cargoes, it will hire its own stevedores.

The unions headed by Harry Bridges have offered to load military cargoes at the pre-strike wage and working conditions.

But employers have said they would not handle Army cargo "if it requires dealing with Communist party line labor leaders.

Gasoline Deliveries Cut

Secretary of the Army Kenneth Royall said all but one of the West coast stevedore contractors and charter vessel operators "have declined or have failed within the time prescribed" (4 p m. Pacific time, today) to indicate their intentions to carry out their current contracts to load and transport Army cargo."

The shipping strike has tied up West coast ports 12 days.

Meanwhile, as talks continued to end the CIO oil workers strike, gasoline deliveries to West coast service stations were cut 25 per cent in a conservation move.

The strike over wages involves 16,000 workers and six companies.

Federal conciliators are currently sitting with the union and companies in talks to end the 10-day-old dispute.

The New York truck strike struck a snag over employer and union wage-increase settlement stands.

Five truckers' associations voted to reject the union's 17½ cent hourly raise compromise. The trucking firms offer 15 cents. The associations employ some 70 per cent of the 9,400 AFL teamsters on strike.

In Minneapolis, pickets continued around six struck flour mills. The AFL grain millers demand 15 cents an hour more. The operators are willing to give 12½ cents which was proposed by a governor's fact-finding commission.

Eighty-two composing room and mailing room employes at the New York Journal of Commerce who walked off their jobs in a dispute with management are being replaced, a company official said.

ZERO HOUR SET FOR ARMED PUTSCH

Reds Claimed Plotting To Seize All Berlin After U. S. Elections

By OMER ANDERSON
INS Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—A Liberal Democratic newspaper charged today that the Communists are plotting to seize all Berlin in an armed putsch with "zero hour" set for after the November elections in the United States.

The newspaper Montags Echo said the German Communists have been instructed to touch off a mounting wave of disorders and demonstrations culminating in the final power play.

The newspaper, licensed by the British, added that the Russians are organizing armed groups into action squads on the pattern used successfully to carry out the Communist coup in Czechoslovakia.

Montags Echo claimed that 25,000 former German officers, including 80 generals and 18 admirals, are working for the Soviets, with some on special assignment to stir up trouble.

Other western German newspapers declared that the Russians are deliberately stalling in four-power talks in Berlin and Moscow to gain time for completion of the Communist plot.

(In London, the belief crystalized that the four-power talks aimed at ending the Soviet blockade of Berlin are heading for collapse and that the matter eventually will

BOOST IN BUDGET OKAYED

Lubbock County Tax Rate Maintained At 70 Cents

By R. C. HANKINS
Avalanche Staff Writer

THE Lubbock county tax rate was maintained at 70 cents the $100 of assessed valuation, by Monday afternoon's action of the county commissioners court.

The commissioners also approved the county budget for 1949—$719,491.65. That would be an increase of $104,826.28 over the year before. The county spent $558,211.36 in 1947, when it was still impossible to get much supplies and equipment made scarce during war years.

Totals Are Given

The tax rate was thus broken down by County Auditor Joe Boyd, whose budget figures were adopted by the court:

General fund, .18; jury fund, .055; road and bridge fund, .15; library fund, .03; permanent improvement fund, .01; new courthouse sinking fund, .0075; new courthouse and jail sinking fund (1946), .11; courthouse and jail sinking fund (1948), .0675; permanent improvement sinking fund, .01; road bond sinking fund (1946), .065.

Boyd said the budget was based upon estimated valuations of $46,500,000, an increase of $3,410,613 over last year. That increase is not comparable, however, with the 1947 valuations' increase of approximately $7,000,000 over those of 1946, Boyd said.

Revenue Is Studied

Upon the estimated valuations, the 70-cent tax rate, Boyd estimated, would bring in approximately $292,900 (on the basis of 90 per cent collection). Additional collections of approximately $6,050 would be made from delinquent taxes; and other revenues such as automobile registrations, fines, etc., would boost it another approximate $420,500, the auditor said.

The commissioners also accepted recommendations of S. C. McCarty, district highway engineer, for construction of 16.2 miles of

Three Plains Demo Leaders 'Under Fire'

FORT WORTH, Sept. 13 (Special)—Unless all signs fail, the 30th Senatorial district Tuesday will get a new executive committeeman and a new 19th Congressional district presidential elector.

Outspoken dissatisfaction with the political philosophies of executive committeeman R. M. Kendrick, of Brownfield, and presidential elector James H. Goodman, of Lubbock, flared into the open here late Monday when delegates from seven South Plains counties held an informal and unofficial caucus in the Oak room of the Blackstone hotel.

Both Kendrick and Goodman are here for the convention and likely will be heard at Tuesday's official caucus.

More Opposition Voiced

Various delegates from Lubbock, Crosby, Dawson, Dickens, Hale, Lynn, and Terry counties heard questioned the loyalty to the Truman-Barkley ticket of both committeeman Kendrick and elector Goodman. There was no mention of either support or opposition to Mrs. L J. Halbert, of Plainview, committeewoman from the 24-county 30th Senatorial district at the caucus. However, opposition to Mrs. Halbert was being freely voiced here late Monday night after she voted, in the executive committee, against confirming Lyndon Johnson as the Democratic nominee for the U. S. Senate. Indications are that she, too, will face opposition at the official caucus Tuesday and may be replaced. The 30th Senatorial district reaches from Hale county on the north to the T & P tracks on the south and from the New Mexico line to the eastern border of King county.

Meeting Set Today

Riley R. Wooten, wealthy Dickens county farmer and long a rampant New Dealer, insisted that Goodman's answer to a "loyalty questionnaire," sent all presidential electors by State Democratic Chairman Bob Calvert, had "gone all around Robinson's barn," but didn't answer "yes" to whether or not Goodman as an elector, will

Stevenson Threatens Fight In U.S. Senate

Johnson Wins Dramatic Committee Test; Convention To Meet Today

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Sept. 13.—The state Democratic executive committee tonight voted to certify Lyndon B. Johnson as the Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate. The vote was 29 to 28.

The vote came after speeches by attorneys representing Johnson and his opponent, Coke Stevenson, arguing pro and con the validity of the vote in precinct 13 in Jim Wells county.

Stevenson refused to concede defeat. Asked what he considered the last authority in his contest, he said:

"I am thinking about the United States Senate."

Coke Has Not Given Up

Johnson, surrounded by a pushing throng of cheering well-wishers, said he would stand on his statement that he had confidence that the committee and the convention would be fair.

"Tha's all I ask," the congressman said.

It was being freely predicted that Stevenson would carry his battle to the floor of tomorrow's state Democratic convention. The convention declares the nominee.

Stevenson refused to say precisely what he would do, but said he would be there tomorrow.

"Was this the last step?" the former governor was asked.

"No, of course not," he replied emphatically.

Stevenson was smiling and apparently full of confidence. His friends also crowded around to wish him well.

Convention Can Disapprove Report

The executive committee adopted a minority report of its subcommittee on canvassing the vote in the Aug. 28 second Democratic primary, saying that Johnson had received the necessary votes to become the nominee, and recommending that the chairman of the executive committee and the secretary of the convention certify his name to the Texas secretary of state as such.

The convention may, under Texas law, "approve or disapprove" of the executive committee's report.

The subcommittee's tabulation showed Johnson led Stevenson by 87 votes in Texas' record-breaking close-finish U. S. senatorial race. It showed Johnson's total as 494,191 and Stevenson's as 494,104.

Stevenson's attorneys, charging fraud, claimed that the Johnson forces had "cold-bloodily added 202 votes" to the original count from Jim Wells county.

"Goon Squad" Charge Hurled

Johnson's attorneys categorically denied fraud and charged that "goon squads" had invaded Jim Wells county to obtain statements offered the committee by Stevenson's lawyers.

Stevenson's attorneys contended that the committee had legal authority to enquire into election certificates.

"You don't have to take a certificate when you know it is false," said Clint Small, Jr., of Austin.

Arguing for Johnson, Attorney Charles I. Francis of Houston told the committee he knew it would not deprive Johnson of the election on the basis of a few affidavits gathered by Frank Hamer in Jim Wells county."

Hamer is a special ranger for a private company, and was with Stevenson when he investigated the voting in Jim Wells county.

Meeting Ends In Uproar

It was the wildest, most dramatic and tense session of the executive committee in many years.

The meeting broke up in an uproar when the committee vote was announced.

Unofficial tabulators had noted the lead going to Johnson, then to

Stevenson; then back to Johnson, then into a tie, and finally to Johnson.

Before the vote was announced, one member withdrew and asked to be noted as present and not voting. That tied the result. Then a member who had been absent on the first roll call showed up and cast an aye vote that decided the issue for Johnson.

To Adopt Platform

The committee meeting was a prelude to tomorrow's state convention which was also expected to bring a struggle for control between pro-Truman and anti-Truman factions of the party.

The convention also will adopt a platform for the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, Beauford H. Jester, name a new executive committee, and attend to other party business.

Ed Lloyd of Alice, Jim Wells county, made the final appeal for Johnson before the committee.

He appeared as a member of the state Democratic executive committee, shucking his coat as he brought his fiery speech defending the Latin-American voters of the county.

"You will find them loyal" he cried. "You don't need any guns to get voluntary statements out of them."

He said there was one Latin-American approached by "your goon squad for an affidavit, and

Johnson Wins In First Court Test

ALICE, Sept. 13. (AP)—Judge L. Broeter today granted Lyndon Johnson a temporary injunction preventing the recanvass of Jim Wells county votes in the U. S. Senate runoff.

Attorneys for Coke Stevenson, Johnson's opponent in the Senate runoff race, immediately filed notice of appeal.

At Fort Worth Stevenson declined to comment on the injunction.

The injunction prohibits the Jim Wells county Democratic executive committee from making any change in the tabulation from precinct 13 in the county as reported to the state executive committee.

202 Votes At Stake

Precinct 13 is in Alice. Stevenson has charged "fraud and error in voting and rallying" in the precinct. At stake are 202 votes—201 for Johnson and one for Stevenson—which turned up in the precinct count certified to the state executive committee but which were not included in the unofficial count made public immediately after the election. Returns from the precinct, as reported, showed 967 votes for Johnson and 61 for Stevenson.

Judge Broeter said he did not see how granting the injunction "would interfere in any way with an election contest. He pointed out such a contest has to be filed in Travis county.

The judge told reporters after the hearing that the injunction would be in effect until the case can be heard on its merits or an

Fort Worth Man Dies In Car-Truck Crash

(Special To The Avalanche)

LAMESA, Sept. 13.—One man is dead, two persons are seriously in jured and several more were temporarily hospitalized as the result of a car-truck collision near Ackerly, 20 miles south of Lamesa, about 10:45 a. m. today.

Dead is Joseph William Hammack, 25, of 400 Hammond St. Fort Worth, an employe of the Hughes Engineering company of that city.

John Dorsey Linder, 24, of Dallas, Hammack's companion in a late-model two-door sedan in which the two men were en route to Lamesa, is in a local hospital in a critical condition. His injuries include a brain concussion, possible skull fracture, multiple rib fractures and lung hemorrhage.

Woman Seriously Hurt

Also hospitalized and in a "serious condition" is Mrs. Ascencion Rodriquez, 52, of Taft. One of the occupants of the bob-tailed truck which was bringing a load of cotton-pickers to the area.

Several other persons were brought to local hospitals by ambulances and passing motorists, but were released after treatment for minor injuries.

The driver of the truck was Esteban Rodriquez, 31, of Taft, and riding in it was the family of Natividad H. Carrera of Victoria. About 10 Latin-Americans were riding in the vehicle, according to J. C. Welch and E. B. McKnight, highway patrolmen who investigated the accident.

Torches Used On Car

The patrolmen said the wreck apparently occured as the car driven by Hammack attempted to pass the truck as Rodriquez started to make a left turn off the main highway toward Ackerly. Thinking he couldn't pass, Hammack apparently swerved back and his car rammed into the rear of the truck. Both vehicles were going north on the Big Spring-Lubbock highway.

Patrolman Welch said the car was completely demolished and that the truck, which flipped over

GOP Holds Lead In Maine Vote

(By The Associated Press)

Returns late last night gave the Republicans a top-heavy margin in Maine's election, the country's first in this presidential year.

The state traditionally is Republican but political leaders watched nevertheless the size of the vote for a possible indication of trends.

Unofficial counts showed GOP candidates for United States senator and representative as well as for governor running well ahead of Democratic opponents.

Woman Candidate Leads

Among the leaders was Rep. Margaret Chase Smith, seeking election as the state's first woman senator. She had a lead of five to one over Dr. Adrian H. Scolten (D) in 151 of 621 precincts.

In the same number of precincts, Frederick G. Payne (R) was running far ahead of Louis B. Lausier (D) for governor.

The vote was Mrs. Smith 15,114, Scolten 3,356, Payne 14,249, Lausier 3,971.

Republicans also were ahead in 100-MPH Hurricane Lashes Bermuda Islands; May Miss U. S.

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 13. (AP)—A severe Atlantic hurricane raked the honeymoon and vacation resort of Bermuda today with winds of 100 miles and hour but no loss of life was reported.

The storm, moving almost due north at 16 miles per hour, was centered at 3 p. m. (CST) about 50 miles north west of Bermuda.

Chief storm forecaster Grady Norton said the hurricane apparently had begun a slow recurve to the north and northeast that will take it out to sea without any effects being felt along the United States coastline.

Bermuda, a group of British islands about 600 miles off the South Carolina coast, was buffeted by winds that reached 123 miles an hour in gusts but there was no extensive property damage.

Forest Fire Sweeps Into California Town

OJAI, Calif., Sept. 13 (AP) — A forest fire swept into this valley town of 3,500 inhabitants tonight and firefighters despaired of saving anything more than the main business section of about two blocks.

Firefighters said anything in timbered sections of the Ojai valley was doomed, as flames leaped for 100 yards. The threatened area includes about 20 homes.

Women and children were being evacuated from Ojai and Meiner's Oaks, an adjoining settlement, as buses sent by the Ventura Transit lines arrived to speed their removal.

Big Four Opens Colonies Talks

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Sept 13.—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky today accused the United States and Britain of violating the Italian peace pact by failing to send their foreign ministers to the conference or the future of former Italian colonies.

He got a quick answer from Lewis Douglas, U. S. ambassador to Britain and Hector McNeil, British minister of state. They told Vishinsky they were fully authorized to take decisions on the colonial issues in the name of their respective governments.

Vishinsky said he did not have that authority. He said he could only discuss settlement of the questions.

Fail To Reach Decision

Most of today's meeting therefore became a lengthy argument as to whether or not it was in fact a foreign ministers' council as established by the Potsdam pact.

Vishinsky said it was only a conference of "representatives" of the big four powers to discuss the Italian colonial question.

French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman supported Douglas and McNeil.

Without reaching a decision on the point the conferees adjourned until 11 a. m. tomorrow (4 a. m.

Large Model Plane Vanishes In Area On 'Potent' Fuel

Bob Bryant and Cliff Cocanougher won't divulge the "revolutionary formula" of the fuel they poured into their powerful six-foot model airplane Sunday, but said they "mixed it in a beer can."

What happened was a sky jag beyond their comprehension.

The red plane—constructed for control by ground radio—took a short run, zoomed sharply skyward and, when last reported seen, was swishing along at 60 mph 6,000 feet high in a half-mile-in-diameter climbing circle over Lubbock Army Air field.

Search Is Launched

So completely did the airplane disappear, Bryant and Cocanougher took to the air themselves Monday afternoon in an aerial search for it.

The plane—largest model perhaps ever built here— can be seen a mile up, or a half-mile away on the ground. Bryant, a radio repairman, and Cocanougher, associated with a ttaxicab company, worked approximately four months to build it. They had tested it with radio controls and could maneuver it into loops and other intricate aerobatics.

"If the radio equipment had been on it Sunday we would have been out from $150 to

Rio Grande Flooding In Brownsville Area

BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 13 (AP)—The flooding Rio Grande reached a near-crest height of 22.4 feet at the international bridge at Hidalgo early tonight.

The water was 1.4 feet above flood stage. At Brownsville, meanwhile, the river had risen steadily the last two days. A crest of 18.5 feet was expected for Thursday morning.

Flood stage is 18 feet at Brownsville.

The bed of the river is below the bottom of the gauge at Brownsville and the two-day rise there had totaled over 18 feet. The gauge at noon today, however, showed 16.5 feet as against 1.8 feet last Friday.

Heavy rains at Harlingen and Edenburg caused small floods in those cities today. Sidewalks were covered in Harlingen, where 2.35 inches of rain fell up to 6 p. m.

Indian Troops Drive Deep Into Hyderabad

NEW DELHI, Sept. 13. (AP)—Indian troops with air and tank support swept into Hyderabad from all four sides today and in one thrust were reported possibly within 60 miles of the capital of the rich princely state.

Forces jumping off from Bezwada near the southeast border of the predominantly Hindu state advanced 40 miles across the frontier in a drive toward the capital city of Hyderabad and adjoining Secunderabad, site of army installations and ammounition dumps, Madras dispatches said.

India said the invasion was ordered to prevent anarchy in the state controlled by a wealthy Moslem Nizam.

Dominion forces generally met little initial opposition. The first Indian communique tonight reported "steady progress in all sectors." It said several columns had penetrated Hyderabad territory since the march began at 4 a. m.

(In Karachi, word of the invasion touched off demonstrations demanding that Moslem Pakistan declare war on India.).

HST To Visit With Garner On Campaign Tour Through State

By ROBERT G. NIXON
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—President Truman will hold a "front porch" conference with former vice president John Nance Garner in Texas during his western campaign trip.

This shrewd move in the political chess game was disclosed on excellent authority today as the President's counter-attack on the southern States' Righters.

The chief executive will woo the Democratic party "old guard," of which "Cactus Jack" Garner is the high priest. The strategy is to wean this support away from the younger rebellious southerners bolting the party because of Mr. Truman's civil rights recommendations.

The President, as well as Democratic Party Chairman J. Howard McGrath, are still confident of carrying the South despite the moves to strike his name from various Dixie ballots in favor of States' Righter Candidate Thurmond.

While the President may lose some votes in the popular count, the Democratic high command is still counting on capturing the

Dr. Wiggins Pledges Continued Effort To Make Tech Stronger

TEXAS Technological college was born from struggle and through struggle will eliminate weaknesses so that only strength will stand, President D. M. Wiggins, said in his first address before faculty of the college Monday morning.

He said he is more concerned with struggle than security.

Dr. Wiggins, who began duties at Tech last week, spoke in the first faculty meeting of the fall, held in the Aggie Memorial auditorium.

He was introduced by O. B. Ratliff, member of the board of directors, who said the board was confident in choosing Dr. Wiggins and Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president in charge of academic relations, that it had given Texas Tech the strongest executive and administrative officers in any state school in Texas.

Dr. Wiggins expressed the wish that Texas Tech's one great ideal be "to teach the American way of life through an American institution." He said he wants the staff "to exemplify the basic principles of democratic co-operation."

He expressed belief in "free en-

"SCRAPS OF TIME"

GLANCING over the current copy of "Twentieth Century Christian," religious magazine published in Nashville, Tenn., we read one article, "Use Your Scraps," with a great deal of interest. The author is Mrs. M. Norval Young, wife of the minister of Broadway Church of Christ. The "scraps" to which Mrs. Young refers in her writing are scraps of time and she points out in her well written essay that a habit of utilizing bits of the day can be a rewarding practice.

"Many of us plan some day to take off time to do systematic and thorough Bible study, to read books on church history and Bible geography, and perhaps to memorize portions of the Bible that mean much to us," she writes. "Perhaps you planned to do these and other spiritually developing things last year, but the year slipped by without your taking time. You were so busy."

As the writer points out, most of us can think back over yesterday and recall minutes that were a scrap between two duties. They could have been counted for good or wasted. These minutes come when we are on buses or waiting for an appointment at the doctor's or sitting under a dryer at the beauty shop and if one arms himself with a pocket Testament or one of the 25 cent classics, he may use the time profitably.

Stella Sue Ashley, Mr. Winter Marry In Lamesa Church

LAMESA, Sept. 13.—Mr. and Mrs. Ira L. Ashley are announcing the marriage of their daughter Miss Stella Sue Ashley and Buddy Harold Winter, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Winter, which took place Friday, Sept. 3, at the First Baptist church with Rev. O. H. Tabor of Carlsbad, N. M., officiating.

A double ring ceremony was performed before an altar decorated with baskets of white mums and gladioli standing against a background of woodwardia and cathedral tapers.

Miss Nancy Hollingsworth, organist, and Miss June Whitcomb of Andrews, soloist, furnished wedding selections.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white slipper satin with a veil of imported illusion which was held by a crown of seed pearls. Her bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis was carried on a white prayer book. For something old, the bride wore her mother's engagement ring, and for something new, she wore a strand of pearls given to her by the bridegroom.

Sister Is Attendant

Miss Margaret Ashley, sister of the bride and maid of honor, wore yellow taffeta with a yellow net shoulder length veil and a bouquet of white daisy mums and yellow maline. Bridesmaids, Misses Betty Millican of Petersburg, Donna Hunt of Lovington, N. M., Jonnie Muriel Smith and Beatrice Winter, sister of the bridegroom, of Lamesa, wore blue dresses and veils and carried bouquets similar to Miss Ashley.

Sue Ramsey, of Morton, cousin of the bride and flower girl, wore white taffeta.

Best man was Garland Nix and ushers were Joe Ashley, uncle of the bride, J. D. Borland, Norman English, cousin of the bridegroom, and Ernest Hawkins. The candlelighters were Ray Nell Kayal and Beuford E. Dudley.

A garden reception was given at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. Afterwards, the couple left on a wedding trip to Colorado. For traveling, the bride wore a magnolia and rush wool gabardine suit with brown and magnolia accessories and a gardenia corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Winter, both students at Texas Technological college, will make their home at 2119 Fifteenth. Mr. Winter is employed by the General Geophysical company.

Out-of-town guests were from Morton, Seagraves, Lubbock, Big Spring, Florey, Andrews, Ralls, Shallowater, Merkel, Petersburg, Trent, Seminole, and Lovington and Carlsbad, N. M.

Foreign College Students Are Speakers For WMS Monday; Other Programs Given

Included in programs presented for women's missionary organizations Monday afternoon were talks by foreign students of Wayland college in Plainview, discussions of missions in Africa and Alaska, and reviews of books. Tea hours were held, also.

Dr. Bill Marshall, president of Wayland college, spoke briefly for members of First Baptist Women's Missionary society who met in the church auditorium, and then introduced three students of the college.

Muriel Okamoco of Hawaii gave a testimony for Christ and sang a solo, "My Father Watches Over Me;" Sam Choy of Hawaii spoke; and Julian Molnar of Brazil spoke. The program was attended by 157 persons. Mrs. George McClesky, who was in charge, introduced Dr. Marshall.

Following the program, the guests were served refreshments at the home of Mrs. W. L. Pattillo.

NEW WSCS MEMBERS HONORED AT TEA

Approximately 200 women attended a book review and tea given by First Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service at the church in honor of new members of the society, prospective members and members of the WSCS of Pioneer Memorial Methodist church.

The book discussed by Mrs. J. Sterling Crumpler was "We Gather Together" by Sara Jenkins. To open the program, Mrs. Arthur Earl Gamble presented organ selections and Mrs. Carl H. Casey offered a vocal solo. The opening prayer was by Mrs. C. C. Chambers.

Following the program, tea was served on the church lawn with members of Poland circle as hostesses. Mrs. S. S. Forrest, jr., is circle chairman.

MRS. CECIL MATTHEWS IS GUEST OF WSCS

A book review presented for St. John's Methodist WSCS was by Mrs. Cecil Matthews who discussed "Prayer in the Common Life." Mrs. Matthews, a guest, was introduced by Mrs. Lucile Smith. The devotion for the afternoon meeting was brought by Mrs. A. Holmes.

Members and guests were served tea after the program.

The WSCS will meet in circles next Monday

BLASTS AT SCIENTISTS SCORED

Truman Says Political Group Is Endangering National Security

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. (INS)—President Truman tonight accused a group of unnamed politicians of endangering national security by their "politically-motivated attacks" on American scientists.

Mr. Truman told the American Association for the Advancement of Science that the atomic age is in its infancy and scientists must be permitted to work in an atmosphere free of "unfounded rumors, gossip and vilification" if research is to continue. He added:

"We cannot drive scieuntists into our laboratories, but, if we tolerate reckless or unfair attacks, we can certainly drive them out.

"These are truths that every scientist knows. They are truths that the American people need to understand."

The President's attack was an obvious reference to the Republican-controlled House un-American Activities committee which is presently engaged in a probe of the atomic energy program.

The committee has unsuccessfully sought to have the administration turn over the records of Dr. Edward U. Condon, director of the Bureau of Standards and a noted atomic scientist.

Dr. Condon has been described by the committee as "the weakest link in our atomic security."

Living In Hazardous Times

Mr. Truman made it clear that he regards the continued efforts of the nation's top scientists as fundamental for national security. He said:

"We are still living in hazardous times. It is an unfortunate fact . . . that the peace we hoped for has not come quickly.

"We are required to give unremitting thought to the defense of the United States at a period when defense has become incredibly more difficult . . .

"We have learned the hard and bitter way—that we cannot hope for lasting peace with justice if we do not remain strong in the cause of peace."

The President emphasized that science "has no political affiliation" and scientific research for national security should "certainly be non-partisan." He said:

Secrets Not U. S. Monopoly

"All Americans have a solemn obligation to avoid those methods and procedures which are impeding scientific research—whether adopted mistakenly with good intent, or advocated in the name of security by men with other axes to grind."

The President warned that the United States cannot expect to retain a monopoly of the atom bomb secret. He continued:

"The secrets of nature are not our monopoly. Any nation that is willing and able to make the effort can learn these secrets that we have learned.

"Such a nation may, indeed, discover new facts of nature we have not yet discovered."

Missouri Wabash Cannonball Is Replaced With New Unit

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 13 (U.P.)—The modern era has caught up with the Wabash Cannonball, that perambulating Centralia-Columbia train which many a University of Missouri graduate remembers, although not with affection.

An overhauled replacement coach and full length baggage car replaced the old combination car on the 21-mile link between the university town and the main line of the Wabash.

Gone is the old pot-bellied stove which belched sulphurous coal smoke into the car at the slightest cross current of air.

COLE BROTHERS BIG TOP COMING—Calliope and clowns, tinsel and trapeze artists—they'll all be here Wednesday when the Cole Brothers circus comes to Lubbock for afternoon and night performances. Pictured above are only a few of the host of performers from the sawdust kingdom.

Circus, Old Standby Of America's World Of Entertainment, To Show Here Wednesday

The circus, oldest and most colorful presentation in the field of American entertainment, comes to Lubbock Wednesday.

The Cole Brothers, generally conceded to have the second largest circus show in the nation, are bringing a 30-car trainload of 350 performers and a host of animals to the Hub City for a matinee and night performance on the East Broadway showgrounds, with shows scheduled to begin at 2:15 p. m. and 8 p. m.

Headliners with the circus include the Christiani family, acrobats extraordinary; the Flying Thrillers, aerialists; Hubert Castle, tight-wire wizard; the Aussies and the Wallabys, all-girl troupes of acrobats from Australia and England; the Paul Nelson Liberty horses, and the Great Davisos, said to be the most daring act of its kind in the world.

Tickets for the two and a half hour canvas world of make believe can be purchased at Wylie's Drug store on Wednesday only. Ducats will go for $1.20 and 60 cents, with a reduced matinee rate of 40 cents for the youngsters (under 12) in effect from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Bluebonnets Easy To Grow But Early Start Required

In case you are interested in growing bluebonnets, the state flower of Texas, the extension service advises that the best time to plant them is soon after the seed ripen, but they can't be planted after September for next spring's blooms.

It has been found that bluebonnets have tough little seeds, so it's a good idea to soak them in water 24 hours before planting. After soaking, rake them into the soil at once and give them a good watering.

The plants grow during cold months, and are injured only by very hard freezes. The service has found, however, that winters in the Texas Panhandle are sometimes too severe, making it necessary to protect them some, either in frame gardens or pots for transplanting to the open in early spring.

And don't pick a rich, fertilized soil in which to plant them. There they grow tall stalks, lots of foliage, but few blooms. They do best in light, sandy soils, and require lots of lime. The service suggests two pounds of lime for each ten square feet of heavy soil, and no other fertilizer.

The bluebonnet also needs lots of sunshine and good drainage at all times. They can be transplanted, but do better if left where planted. After a good start, it is a good drouth resistant plant, and is one flower that requires little care. It can take lots of neglect.

Houston Department Store Executive Claimed Suddenly

HOUSTON, Sept. 13 (U.P.)—Fred M. Hirsch, 60-year-old prominent Houston department store executive, collapsed at his home early today and died before reaching a hospital.

He was believed to have suffered a heart attack.

Hirsch was vice president of Levy Bros. Dry Goods Co., coming to Houston in 1920 from Dallas, where he was associated with Sanger Bros.

Surviving are his wife, one daughter, two sisters and one brother. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Postwar problems haven't licked the Lanks!

AMERICAN FAMILY CLOSE-UP
As they go, so goes the nation!

The Lank family of Harrisburg, Pa.: Navy veteran Dick, 28; his wife, Ruth, 27; and baby Deborah.

Back home from service in the Navy, Dick Lank faced a problem. Like so many other veterans with no business or professional training, he had to find a job that would be fun to learn . . . with a good future. He talked it over with his two brothers and his father.

Each put up $1500 of their savings and founded the electrical appliance firm of O. B. Lank & Sons. But even with a promising job, Dick and Ruth still have the problem of getting ahead in spite of high prices on a salary of $65 a week.

Dick met Ruth in this church in 1939! Five years later they were married in this same church by Ruth's father, a minister.

The Lanks love music! A major source of entertainment, their modest record collection costs little. They have fun, too, in church and community work.

Anything electrical interests Dick. Home repair work earns him $15—$20 extra a month.

Ruth saves food money by careful buying, clever cooking. They also save by having Sunday dinners at their family's. Dick's business lunches, too, help keep home food costs to about $55 a month. Rent is $65, clothing costs $16, recreation $10 a month.

Yes, the Lanks are getting ahead . . . making their way toward their goals despite the difficulties and problems everyone has been facing since the war. With their life insurance agents, the Lanks have worked out a program which now includes $15,660 of life insurance protection. They go over this program with an agent every two years to decide whether family circumstances call for any changes to keep it up to date, make it more useful.

They're saving money, too, for the home they plan to build some day . . . already have $1800 in the bank. By working hard, managing their money wisely, enjoying inexpensive things, Dick and Ruth have found one way to happiness.

For travel—a new car some day! Ruth would like to own a children's shop. Dick wants to set up a retirement plan. "They're all on our dream list!"

THE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES AND THEIR AGENTS

BRING YOU THIS STORY BECAUSE... families like the Lanks show us one way that happiness is earned! You, yourself, probably know a family, right in your own town, that is getting ahead in the same typically American way. Such families prove to all of us that we can solve our own problems by our own efforts.... Their example shows too why it is so important for us to hold to our rights to think for ourselves, to work at what we like, to live as we choose. For what this country amounts to depends upon what happens to its homes!

Gold Sox Win 9-1 For Series Lead: Teams Move To Amarillo

Four-Hit Hurling Of Joe Budny Limits Hubbers To Single Tally

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Writer

The Hubbers didn't have it last night at Rosenthal Field before the four-hit hurling of Joe Budny, who limited the locals to a single run as his Amarillo Gold Sox mates pounded out a 9-1 victory to take a 3-2 lead in games in the Shaughnessy playoffs.

The two teams move to Amarillo tonight, where they play the sixth game of the series. For the Gold Sox it will be Jack Schumacher, who won the second game of this series, while Bob Clodfelter, making his first start in the Shaughnessy set, will go for the Hubbers.

Last night's game can be summed up in one word; pitching. The Gold Sox had a suberb job from Cheektowaga, N. Y., Joe, while three Hubber hurlers were unable to stem the tide of Amarillo hits. Bundy was as magnificent last night as he was in his first start in the series. He scattered four hits, one a double by Floyd, Walker, and walked only two.

Bundy Walks Three

In Bundy's first appearance, he walked three and fanned the same number. Last night he fanned six men and walked only a pair and these two walks led to the only Hubber score.

Bundy gave up a home run to Don Moore in the first game; last night he gave up a double to Walker, but the rotund catcher was out trying to stretch it to a triple.

Last Thursday night Budny threw only six curves in beating the Hubbers 8-2; last night he mixed his fast ball with curves and had the Hubbers eating out of the palm of his hand.

Roy Larue, the loser, might have escaped trouble if the fielding of his teammates had been a little sharper, but the Hubbers had one of those off-nights and three of Amarillo's first seven runs were unearned. Manager Buck Fausett earned the last two runs for sure, when he lifted one of Royce Mills' pitches over the rightfield fence with one on in the seventh inning.

Too Late For Hubs

That blow brought on Cotton Russell and he retired the Sox without further damage, but it was too late for the Hubbers to rally. They threatened in the last half of the seventh, a double play bringing rally to an abrupt halt. It was the only Gold Sox twin killing, compared to three turned in by the Hubbers.

Jack Mayfield, weakest hitter on the Sox, started the visitors off in the third when he singled to leftfield. Budny attempted to sacrifice and when Larue threw the ball into rightfield, Mayfield went on to third. He scored from there on Earl Harriman's fly to Red Ramsey.

Three more runs, the winning tallies, crossed in the fourth on one hit. Paul Halter led off flying out, but Bob Crues was walked and went to third on Dick Gentzkow's double to right center. Fausett was given an intentional pass, loading the sacks. Larue had trouble with his control and walked Mayfield to force in Crues. Bundy came up and hit a perfect double play ball to Frank McAlexander, which he threw wide to Manager Jaskie Sullivan at second, allowing two runs in. Harriman ended the winning by grounding to Sullivan, who turned the ball into a double death.

Two More In Sixth

Another run scored in the fifth on Doug Lewis' double, Paul Halter's scratch single to right and Crues' infield out. And two more came across the plate in the sixth. Fausett singled and went to second when Jackie Wilcox booted Mayfield's double-play ball, but Bundy grounded to Mills, who started a double play that erased Fausett at third and the pitcher at first, Mayfield taking second. Harriman singled to left scoring Mayfield and went to second on Jerry Folkman's single to McAlexander, scoring on Lewis' single to right.

The next inning Fausett poked a three and one pitch over the rightfield fence and the game was as good as over.

Walker and McAlexander walked with one out in the seventh and Moore's single through first into rightfield sent Walker across the plate with the Hubbers' lone score of the game. Wilcox hit into a double play to end the threat and the Hubbers went down in order the next two innings.

Every man except Bundy hit safely for the Sox, while only Sullivan, Walker, Moore and Wilcox were able to garner hits for the Hubbers. A strong wind from the northeast hampered fielders.

Hub First Sacker Gets Suspension

The Lubbock Hubbers will finish the West Texas-New Mevico League Shaughnessy playoffs without the use of Virgil Richardson, regular first baseman, who Sunday was placed on indefinite suspension by the Lubbock Baseball club.

Richardson, a popular player with the fans, is said to have used abusive and profane language against Mrs. Sam Rosenthal, owner, and Larry Larsen, general manager, both in the dugout during Saturday night's game and in the clubhouse afterwards.

Yesterday he cleared his locker and is expected to leave for his home in Nebraska, after serving for two years as Hubber first baseman. He was given an opportunity Sunday to apologize to Mrs. Rosenthal and the ball players for his remarks, but failed to do so before the Amarillo-Lubbock game Sunday afternoon and was placed on the suspended list. Larsen said that it was "in the best interests of the club."

Richardson took exception to the announced Saturday night crowd of 3,615 persons. He argued that there were more persons than that present and immediately created a scene in the Hubber dugout.

Later, with several fans in the clubhouse and in the presence of newspapermen, Richardson repeated his charges against the owner and the management. He said that he would make public his accusations.

What caused the usually quiet, taciturn Richardson to lose his control is not known, but the players do share in the first four games of the playoff series. Richardson was said to have felt that the club owner and general manager were not announcing the correct paid admissions.

Following his outburst, Sullivan ordered him to be quiet and later went to Larsen with the story, entirely without Mrs. Rosenthal's knowledge. They decided to give Richardson a chance to continue with the team, to finish the playoffs, and went to him Sunday morning.

Larsen told him that if he would apologize to Mrs. Rosenthal and the players, for his conduct and his abusive language, he would be allowed to return to the club in full status. He was given no specific interval in which to do this, just so long as it was done before the game.

On Suspended List

Richardson did not go to Mrs. Rosenthal and he was not present yesterday afternoon when the Hubbers won their game. As a result, he immediately was placed on the list indefinitely suspended and was told to clear his locker before tonight's game.

The players individually went to Mrs. Rosenthal Sunday, before the game, and said that they intended to win the pennant and that they were remaining loyal. With a patched up lineup yesterday afternoon, they showed their good faith by coming from behind to win.

ALBUQUERQUE BLANKS OILERS 6-0 IN PLAYOFFS

PAMPA, Sept. 13 (AP) — The Albuquerque Dukes used a grand slam home run by Ron Bowen and another circuit clout by Les Muicahy to blank the Pampa Oilers, 6-0, here tonight in their West Texas-New Mexico League playoff series.

The teams shift back to Albuquerque tomorrow night with Pampa leading the series, three games to two.

First Round Winners In Meet Named

First round matches in the annual President's Golf Club tournament were completed Sunday at Lubbock Country Club, pro Herb Schroeder has reported, and initial winners have opened firing in the second round bracket of the tourney.

Most of the favorites chalked up victories in the first round settos, although two or three upsets were recorded. Bruce Kattmann stroked out a 2 and 1 win over Raymond Marshall, while Dick Green took a 5 and 4 decision over Dr. C. A. Rosenbrough.

Other match results included: Jack Stone defeated E. L. Rawlings, 3 and 2; Culver Hill defeated Dr. Don Hatchett, 2 and 1; Guy Brown edged out Orville Stewart, one-up in 20 holes; Olan Stewart topped Paul Pugh, 3 and 2; Walter Granberry bested Earl Ray, 3 and 2; John Kattmann dropped Jack Markham, 2 up; and George Soash won a default from W. G. Alderson.

Haymes Wins Match

J. O. Haymes defeated Lt. Col. K. P. Riordan, 5 and 4; Dr. M. D. Watkins eliminated J. B. McCauley, Jr., 4 and 3; Dr. R. Z. Abell beat Kenneth Leslie, one-up; C. E. Fish defeated Ernie St. Clair, 4 and 3; Wilkie Talbert gained a default from G. E. Taylor; John Raley drubbed C E. Wiginton, 6 and 5; and Charles Whitacre advanced on a bye.

B. E. Adair defeated W. T. Fain, one-up; M. R. Tripp clipped Forrest Lindsey, one-up; Fenner Tubbs defaulted to J. A. Raley, Jr.; Henry Edison nosed out C. R. Skidmore, 2 and 1; E. H. Armstrong topped J. L. Morris, one-up; Chick Trout bested Kyle Ratisseau, 2 and 1; H. H. Holmes dropped H. M. Chick, 2 and 1; and Alvin Allison drew a bye.

Yates Eliminated

Hugh Anderson eliminated Jimmy Yates, 3 and 2; Kay Bradshaw nosed by Clyde Fortune, one-up; K. N. Clapp edged E. J. Ohnemus, one-up; Dr. P. K. Palmer took a default from Cecil Horne; Lawrence Banks advanced by a default from Jimmy Samson; George Carter clipped O. A. Terry, one-up in 19 holes; Jake Warnick took a default win from Melvin Best; and L. G. Raney drew a bye.

Pairing for the second round, which must be played not later than Sunday, were announced as follows:

Stone vs. Hill, Brown vs. Stewart, Gramberry vs. Kattmann, Soash vs. Haymes, Watkins vs. Green, Abell vs. Fish, Talbert vs. Raley, Whitacre vs. Adair, Tripp vs. Raley, Edison vs. Armstrong, Trout vs. Holmes, Allison vs. Anderson, Bradshaw vs. Clapp, Palmer vs. Banks, Carter vs. Warnick, Raney vs. Kattmann.

Officials To Probe Big Nine Player Aid

CHICAGO, Sept. 13 (AP) — An intensive probe into athletic programs in each Big Nine conference school was under way today in a campaign against "improper aid" which already has cost 11 athletes their eligibility.

Conducting the investigations are Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson and two ex-G Men, one a specialist in accounting and the other a specialist in law.

This trio will follow the same pattern used in a one-year survey climaxed yesterday by disclosure by the faculty committee of 11 athletes ruled ineligible to compete in intercollegiate athletics for one year for receiving "improper aid." All were freshmen last year, and five have dropped out of their schools.

Grund Answers Saperstein On Use Of Globetrotter's Name

DES MOINES, Sept. 13. (INS)—Des Moines sports promoter Bobby Grund today filed an answer in federal court to a suit demanding $50,000 damages brought by A. M. Saperstein of Chicago, Ill.

Saperstein charged Aug. 25 that Grund had infringed on the trade name of "Harlem Globetrotters" used by Saperstein's basketball teams. He had also asked that Grund be restrained from using the name.

Grund's petition today declared the name "Globetrotters" is common to many negro basketball clubs, that Saperstein acquiesed to use of "Famous Globetrotters" by Grund's aggregations, and that Saperstein did not file the trade name of his "Harlem Globetrotters" with the Iowa secertary of state until this year.

West Virginia has an 11-game football schedule this season.

Lubbock High Meets 'Cats Friday

Pattison Stresses Westerner Defense

Defense held the spotlight Monday afternoon at Chapman field as Head Mentor C. R. (Pat) Pattison sent his Lubbock High Westerner gridders through a lengthy drill session in preparation for Friday night's non-conference encounter with the heavy San Angelo Bobcats of District 3-AA.

Although Lubbock fans were well-pleased by the Westerners' surprise 7-7 deadlock with Odessa's potent Broncos last week, Coach Pattison was not satisfied with the defensive showing of the local schoolboys "We'll have to get some of the daylight out of our pass defense," Pattison remarked Monday. "Those San Angelo boys are supposed to have a good passer and a couple of good receivers."

Cats Have Strong Squad

End Coach Fred Taylor, who scouted the Bobcats last week in their tussle with Denison, warned the Westerners that the Bobcats have a much stronger team than their 25-6 defeat by the Yellowjackets indicated. Denison scored early on the inexperienced 'Cats, Taylor said, but the San Angeloans staged a comeback in the last half and just missed scoring another touchdown.

Bobby Clatterbuck, the quarterback on the Bobcats' potent "T" formation attack, is reportedly a brilliant long passer and the spark of the San Angelo eleven. He is aided in the backfield by speedy left half Cliff Rowland and hard-driving fullback Pat Hall. Walter Schleyer, center and linebacker, is rated as one of the top grid performers in 3-AA.

Coach Pattison reported that pass defense drills will continue through the next three workouts before the Bobcat tussle, with some contact work slated at the sessions this afternoon and Wednesday. The drills this week are closed to the public, officials warned, and observers will not be allowed at the field.

E. J. Lowrey, athletic department business manager, announced that tickets for the San Angelo tilt will be on sale at his senior high school office all this week. Lowrey also emphasized that all Lubbock school children must obtain their ducats through their local school officials. No student tickets will be sold at the stadium Friday night.

Lowrey said that, for the information of fans who are not familiar with the seating arrangement at the new Jones Stadium, tickets for reserved seats in the west stands will be sold from ticket windows under the west stands. The west stands parking area can be reached either by the new hard-surfaced road one block west of the Tech gymnasium, or by the unsurfaced extension of Fourth Street just north of the new stadium. End zone tickets should be purchased at the booths at the north end of the field.

Ezzard Charles Defeats Bivins

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. (INS)—Ezzard Charles, 176, of Cincinnati, won a close ten-round decision over Jimmy Bivins, 178½, of Cleveland, tonight in a heavyweight elimination bout at Griffith Stadium.

A crowd of 12,000 saw the two negro contenders for Joe Louis' title clash in a hard and vicious battle.

Despite the furious tempo, however, there were no knockdowns and both fighters left the ring with only superficial cuts.

It was a close bout all the way but Charles was always in command. His short left jabs at close quarters repeatedly kept Bivins, a 2 to 1 short-ender, off balance.

The stocky Clevelander, however, flashed his best form in the second and fifth rounds when he rocked Charles with a two-fisted attack and made him retreat.

But Charles came back in the ninth to rip Bivins with right crosses and left hooks and gain a unanimous verdict.

Sherman-Denison Beats Austin, 7-0

AUSTIN, Sept. 13. (AP)—Sherman-Denison won a berth in the Big State League Shaughnessy playoff finals against Wichita Falls here tonight by defeating the Austin Pioneers, 7-0.

The veteran John Whitehead limited Austin to eight hits as the Twins clinched the victory in the fifth game of the scheduled seven-game series.

Whitehead was in trouble only in the first inning when he gave up three singles. Fine fielding by Willie Miranda and Ray Taylor prevented Austin from getting a rally underway as the pair pulled two double plays and robbed the Pioneers of two singles with sensational stops. Errors helped send the Pioneers down to defeat.

Sherman-Denison scored in the second as Gilbert Castillo drew a walk and Manuel Mantaras doubled.

Bettye Mims White Captures Medalist Honors In Tourney

PEBBLE BEACH, Cal., Sept. 13. (INS)—Marred by the self-disqualification of one of the prime favorites, qualifying rounds in the Women's National Golf championship ended this afternoon with tiny Bettye Mims White, Texas state champion from Dallas, taking medalist honors over the Pebble Beach course with a 39-38—77.

Dot Kielty of Long Beach, recent winner of the Western Women's crown, unwittingly gave herself an eight on the final hole for an 82. Two hours later she realized that she had forgotten a penalty strike and had actually had a nine. She immediately reported herself to U.S.G.A. officials and automatically disqualified herself from the match play which starts tomorrow morning.

Tulsa Set To Open Against Houston In Texas Loop Playoff

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 13. (AP)—Tulsa's best post-war Texas League club opens the first round of the circuit's Shaughnessy playoff series here tomorrow night against a Houston club that won 15 of 22 games against the Oilers during the regular schedule.

Manager Al Vincent of the second-place Tulsans has, therefore, nominated his hottest pitcher — fireballing Bud Lively—to start against the third-finishing Buffaloes.

Browns Beat Indians, 3-2; Bosox Gain

CLEVELAND, Sept. 13. (AP)—The sixth-place St. Louis Browns dealt a sharp blow to the Cleveland Indians' pennant hopes today by grabbing a 3-2 victory on pinch-hitter Joe Schultz's ninth-inning single after two Tribe infield errors had helped to fill the bases.

The smallest crowd of the season, 7,008 fans, watched glumly as the Browns tied up the score at 2-2 in the eighth and went on to win, battering through four Indian hurlers in the final two frames.

The defeat ended a Cleveland winning string of seven games and cost the home club a chance to gain on the idle Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees. The Tribe is now three games back of Boston and a game behind New York.

Littlefield, Sundown Enter Oil Belt League Title Round

Littlefield and Sundown entered the championship round of the Oil Belt league Shaughnessy playoff with victories over semi-final foes Sunday.

Littlefield edged out Denver City, 6 and 5, to cop the two of three games series, while Sundown downed Slaton, 6-2.

The final playoff will open at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Sept. 19, at the Sundown diamond, officials said.

Red Raiders Hold Skull Session

Buffaloes To Invade Tech Saturday Night

The Red Raiders of Texas Tech, unmarred by a rough two and a half hour scrimmage Saturday afternoon against Abilene Christian College, returned to light work Monday afternoon on the practice football field.

Coach Dell Morgan held a skull session Monday morning, going over faults observed Saturday, as well as outlining defense and offense to be used against West Texas State Teachers college Saturday night.

The Buffaloes figure to give Tech one of the stiffest opening games in a long time. They turned in an easy 28-0 victry over Flagstaff Saturday night in Canyon in which the first string players were in the game for only seven or eight minutes. Most of the work was done by second and third string men and observers termed the Buff squad "remarkable" at this stage of the season.

Buffs Weak In Depth

Coach Frank Kimbrough has 10 of last year's starting eleven back and he has good replacements, although he is weak in depth. He is priming the squad for Tech and the game promises to be one of the best openers Tech has had at home in many years.

Many football followers in Lubbock would not be surprised if the Buffalo eleven beat the Raiders Saturday. They have a fast, heavy line that is experienced and their backfield also is intact. The Buffs have a smart quarterback in Cloyce Box, their 197-pound star, and a rough, bruising fullback in 190-pound Lloyd Johnson.

Kitchens Fast Wingman

Charley Kitchens at right end is a 185-pound wingman who is fast and an able pass receiver. Pete Bromley at right guard and Homer Garrett at center, 195 and 190 pounds respectively, are two of the best linemen in the state and are being boomed for All-Conference.

The Buffs feature Boyd Williams as their main punter and he boots a long ball. Box, Junior Molton and Ray Moore do the Buffalo passing, which is an important part of the West Texas offense.

Everyone knows that the Buffaloes would rather beat Tech than any other team on the schedule and, with one game's experience, the visitors Saturday night will be extra tough to beat. Tech practice this week will stress perfection of the so far ragged offense, as well as a defense against Coach Kimbrough's use of the T formation.

TCU GRIDDERS IN TOP SHAPE

FORT WORTH, Sept. 13. (AP)—With the exception of three backs, the TCU grid forces were in top shape Monday afternoon as they buckled down to intensive polishing for Saturday's opener with the University of Kansas in Lawrence, Kan.

Sunbeamers Beat Boston

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 13. (Special)—Three-hit hurling by Warren (Stringbean) Pope and timely slugging by Willis James and Ray Butler gave the Bluebonnet-Sunbeamers from Lubbock an impressive 4-1 triumph over the Boston, Mass., nine in the second round of the National Softball Congress tournament here tonight.

The Boston crew jumped into the lead in the bottom of the first inning, when Pope walked two batters and gave up a single to the Boston twirler, Joe Faulk. But the Sunbeamers regained the lead in the top of the sixth with a three-run offensive.

James Abbott led off in the sixth with a walk and, after Pope and Roy Butler flied out, James connected for a bingle. G. W. Warden watched a fourth ball go by to fill the bases, then Faulk tied the count by walking Jimmy Reigor.

With the bases full, Ray Butler smashed out a ringing double to push two runners across the plate and give the Bluebonnet representatives a 3-1 margin. Wally Fowler scored in the seventh, knocking a triple and coming in on an outfield fly.

Pope was superb after he recovered from his early inning wildness. The lanky chunker, who pitched for Odessa in the Texas Softball loop this summer, gave up only three scattered hits while striking out 11.

The Sunbeamers will tangle with the Toronto, Canada, nine at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday night in the third round of the double-elimination tournament. G. W. Warden is slated to hurl for the Texans.

The linesscore:

Sunbeamers	000	003	1	6	0
Boston	100	000	0	3	0

Pope and James; Faulk and Andlike.

Felton, Holton Gain Publinx Play Finals

Pete Felton drubbed Carl Nail, 5 and 4, and A. B. Holton defeated Jack Trammel, 4 and 3, to enter the finals of the Meadowbrook Publinx championship golf tournament which will be completed this week at the club layout.

In the first flight Houston Trammel edged by Jeff Jeffreys, 3 and 2, to gain the championship bracket, with Lon Felton nosing out Jim Stahl, 3 and 2, for the other spot.

Jim Black and Monroe DeBusk tallied semi-final wins in the second flight. Black trounced George Hutchings, 5 and 3, while DeBusk clipped Don Nichols, 3 and 2.

Ronald Cannaday took a third flight default victory over M. N. Davidson, with Sloan Fortenberry topping Buck Perry, one-up.

All the final matches must be reported not later than Sunday night, tourney officials reported.

Yale University has had more All-America football players than any other college in the nation.

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

Final roundup on the Lubbock-Odessa tilt last Friday night:

Howard (Bull) Lynch, veteran head mentor of the Amarillo Golden Sandies, reportedly was impressed by the high-geared offensive play in the non-conference tilt. In fact, Lynch reportedly said that the two teams put on one of the best first-game attacks that he had seen in recent seasons. The statistics back up the statement, since both elevens tallied approximately 170 yards rushing, although both teams appeared weak in the air.

Fans who were closer to the sidelines than the press box claim that Odessa Mentor Joe Coleman seemed quite upset during the tussle with the Westerners. He stalked up and down in front of the bench all during the game and reportedly had some heated conferences with several of his players. Coleman also kept looking up and down his line of players on the bench. Could he have been looking for Byron (Santone) Townsend?

We had a lengthy discussion with a San Angelo scout who watched the encounter, and he brought out some interesting facts about the game that may have been overlooked by many of the fans. The San Angelo grid expert believes that the most amazing angle of the setto was the way the Lubbock boys trapped the Bronco guards. The eager Odessans charged in fast on nearly every play in the first half, only to be cut down by trap blocks by Westerner forwards—chiefly Guards Morris Moyers and Jack Hensley. The San Angelo representative was also impressed by the physical condition of the Westerner team. He pointed out that, in the last half, the Odessa gridders "hit the ground" at every break in play. But the Lubbock boys stayed on their feet and appeared ready for action, even though the starters played most of the game.

Reports from the Panhandle indicate that the Sudan Hornets of District 4-A (north half) will have their work cut out for them Friday night when the invade Dimmitt for a non-conference battle with the Bobcats of 3-B. Here's what Jerry Kolander of the Amarillo News-Globe has to say about the Hornets' weekend foes.

"The Dimmitt Bobcats established themselves as one of the tougher football teams in the Region 1-B Friday night when they defeated a strong but shaky Silverton club by the score of 26-7.

"The 21 points difference between these two teams can well be placed on the stocky figure of the Bobcats' superb quarterback, Lonnie Rice, whose running, passing and field generalship was brilliant."

Looks like a rough night for someone.

The Lubbock Cowhands will get their first test of the 1948 season Friday night at Seagraves. And it looks as if the Hub city eleven will have too much size, speed and depth for the 4-A members. The Seagraves gridders have plenty of spirit and hustle, but are extremely inexperienced. But watch out for them next year—they'll have most of these same boys back.

Lubbock fans will probably watch the Cowhands a little more closely this year, since most of the Westerner regulars this fall were Cowhand stalwarts in '47. The local fans have learned that you can get a pretty good idea of the material which will be available for the Westerners the following season by watching the Cowhands.

Chandler To See Dallas Officials

DALLAS, Sept. 13 (U.P.)—Six Texas League baseball figures were en route to Cincinnati, O., today for a conference tomorrow with baseball commissioner A. B. Chandler involving the status of several players reportedly controlled by the Detroit Tigers.

In the party were Texas League president J. Alvin Gardner; R. W. Burnett, owner of the Dallas Rebels, and business manager Bobby Goff of the Rebels; Julius and George Schepps, treasurer and president, respectively, of the Rebels before the club was sold to Burnett, and Jack Zeller, director of scouts for the Boston Braves.

The Schepps brothers were operating the Dallas club at the time the local Texas League entry had a working agreement with the Detroit Tigers.

Nine players have been mentioned in news stories as being involved in a situation whereby the Tigers allegedly held on to them by cover-up deals in violation of their option limit.

CHANDLER'S OFFICE HAS NO COMMENT ON VISIT

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 13 (U.P.)—A spokesman in the office of baseball commissioner A. B. Chandler declined comment today on why general manager Bill Evans of the Detroit Tigers and officials of the Dallas team in the Texas League have been summoned to appear before Chandler.

The spokesman, who asked that his name be withheld, said Chandler was out of town today.

Walter Mulbryy, secretary-treasurer of baseball's executive council, said several weeks ago that Chandler was preparing to crack down on the Detroit team for allegedly "covering up" for some players in the Texas League.

On Sept. 2, Chandler fined the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League $2000 and Ray L. Kennedy, the club's farm system director, $500 for violating the bonus rule.

At the same time, Chandler declared M. Dan Lynch, Jr., of Dallas to be a free agent. The commissioner also voided a contract between Pittsburgh and M. Dan Lynch, Sr., the boy's father, as a scout.

Brown Upsets Long In Tennis Tourney

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 13 (INS)—San Francisco's Tom Brown, Jr., officially given the sniff of disdain by the tournament committee, filed another urgent writ of demurrer in the National Tennis Championships today with a 6-2, 6-3, 6-4 sweep through Colin Long, Australia.

As a result, Brown went into the fourth round of the men's singles and the committee into a slight case of discomfiture.

Briefly, they left Brown, a 1947 semi-finalist, in the stag-line in nominating the 16 players—foreign and domestic—who were to get A. for ability in the seeded lists.

But the manner in which the thus discountenanced Brown rolled over the No. 2 foreign-seeded Long today must have raised a patrician eye brow or two in the clubhouse lounge.

Long went down like a man slugged from behind and never had a chance—though, if anything, his stroking seemed more authoritative than it did in the recent Davis Cup challenge round matches.

Porkers SWC 'Dark Horse'

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 13 (AP) — Consider Arkansas the dark horse in the coming Southwest Conference football race.

A dark horse can finish anywhere from first to last without being over rated or underrated.

Like the 1946 eleven which surprised everyone by winning a co-championship, the Razorbacks this year are big, tough, fast and determined. They're off the spot they were on as defending champs last year and they haven't had costly injuries thus far although Clyde Scott, the backfield star, probably will miss the opening game because of a broken rib suffered in scrimmage.

The only thing the Cardinal and White needs to become a chief trouble-maker is first-rate tackles, which may or may not be developed. Tackles were the only positions weakened by graduation.

In fact all other positions appear stronger than last year. And Coach John Barnhill will spring a more diversified, dangerous offense from his single wing formation.

Added More Passing

Barnhill has added more passing and deception to the ground-gaining maneuvers. Also, a new system of separate teams for offense and defense is giving the offensive elevens more time to develop precision to match their power and speed.

The key man of the Razorback system, of course, is the great Scott, twice all-conference. He'll run, pass, quick-kick and direct the attack from the tailback slot.

But opponents will run into far more trouble than they bargain for if they concentrate too much on stopping Scott.

In Leon (Muscles) Campbell, Arkansas has as good a fullback as will be found in the southwest.

Ross Pritchard will be a constant threat at wingback as a runner and pass receiver. The blocking back again will be reliable Alvin Duke.

Also figuring prominently in the offensive plans are tailbacks Gordon Long, the seasoned aerial ace; Buddy Rogers and Ray Parks, both classy sophomores; Wingback Tracy Scott, Clyde's brother and the most improved player on the squad, and Fullback Gene Mazzanti, another improved holdover.

Guards Are Powerful

Guards are the bright spot of the line. On offense these will be Captain Theron Roberts and Ray Peters, who may be as good as any in the business. On defense the front-running guards now are Frank Lambright, also a letterman, and Jack Rushing, highly-regarded sophomore from Little Rock.

The centers are capable. The veteran Billy Ray Thomas will hold forth on defense, supported by sophomore Harold Stockton of Texarkana. On offense, sophomore John Ferguson of Beebe is crowding out Jim Crafton, a letterman.

Barnhill apparently considers his ends adequate, for he is switching Bud Canada, a starter last year, to defensive safety, where he shone three years ago. Leading offensive wingman are the other 1947 regulars, Jim Cox, and Ed Hamilton, a 1946 starter. They are backed by squad holdovers J. D. Smith and Chester Linebarrier. On defense, Sophomore Jack Richards has earned an assignment opposite squadman Billy Hix. Two other squadmen, Elmer Smith and Ed Henderson, and Bob Ambler, 6-5 Texarkana sophomore, are first line defensive reserves.

SLUGGER—Hank Bauer was brought up by the New York Yankees recently from their Kansas City Blues farm team in the American Association. Bauer was one of the leading sluggers on the Blues and his big bat has been helping the Yanks in the stretch drive.

Cleveland Hurler Suffers Injury

CLEVELAND, Sept. 13 (INS)—Pitcher Don Black of the Cleveland Indians was critically injured today when he suffered a hemorrhage near the brain surface during a game with the St. Louis Browns in Cleveland.

Dr. Edward B. Castle, team physician, said "considerable bloody fluid" showed up in a spinal puncture taken shortly after the hurler was removed to St. Vincent charity hospital.

Black was injured in the second inning of the game when he fouled off a ball pitched by Bill Kennedy. In swinging, Black twisted his neck and then fell to his knees, apparently in great pain. He was helped off the field by his teammates, who believed Black had suffered only a severely twisted neck.

Dr. Castle said the nature of the injury precluded surgery. The hemorrhage occurred in a blood vessel near the brain surface.

Black hit national headlines last year when he pitched a no-hit game against the Philadelphia Athletics July 10.

Big John Lunney, speedy letterman who nosed out Charles Lively, a 1946 All-Conference man, for a starting berth late last season will do a creditable job indeed at one offensive tackle berth. The gap on the other side probably will be filled by either Drexel Atkinson, a squadman last year, or Jim Reichert, who lettered at fullback in 1947.

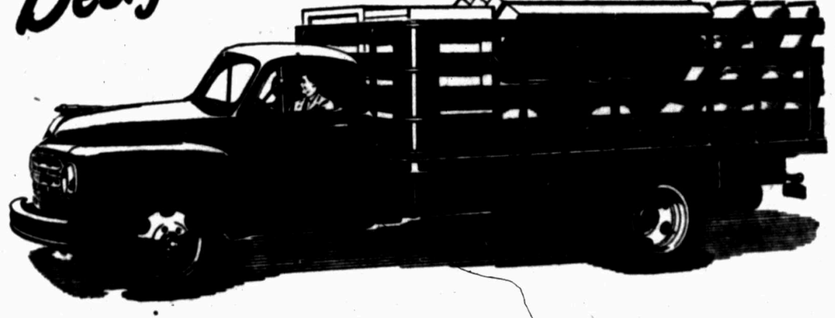

RAMS GET SET FOR GAME

Executive Committee Certifies Johnson In Dramatic Session

he did not run."

Stevenson's attorneys had offered the committee documents described as affidavits of persons listed as voters, but who had said they did not vote Aug. 28.

Executive committee member Josh Groce of San Antonio gave notice he would bring a minority report on the certification to the convention tomorrow.

The subcommittee's tabulation —subject under its resolution to revision by the entire committee —showed this count:

Johnson 494,191.

Stevenson 194,104.

States' Rights Fight Seen

CALVERT FOR JOHNSON

FORT WORTH, Sept. 13. (Special)—If the State Democratic executive committee vote on the Senate contest had resulted in a tie here tonight, State Committee Chairman Bob Calvert told The Morning Avalanche Journal late tonight that he would have broken the tie in favor of Lyndon Johnson.

Calvert said he "had made his mind up to give Mrs. R. A. Thompson, of Goliad, [illegible], vice chairman of the state executive committee, the first chance to break the tie if she wished to do so." Mrs. Thompson, who is a sister of George Parr, valley supporter of Johnson, is widely known as a Johnson supporter.

Calvert said, however, if she had declined this because of her connection and the Jim Wells county case, he would have broken the tie by casting his ballot in favor of Johnson.

which would have flatly certified to the whole committee that Johnson was the winner.

Albert Sidney Johnson of Dallas, Stevenson's representative, offered an amendment to the Wirtz resolution certifying the results as correct except for Jim Wells county.

The amended motion was adopted after chairman W. B. Simmons of Orange broke a 3-3 tie. Voting with Wirtz were Mrs. Alma Lee Holman of Taylor and Holford Russell of Denton. Voting with the Stevenson forces were Albert Sidney Johnson, Mrs. Claude Hudspeth of San Antonio, Mrs. Joe B. Farris of Daisetta.

The senatorial contest held the major interest of delegates arriving for tomorrow's convention, scheduled to begin at 10 a. m.

HAD PLANNED SUIT

FORT WORTH, Sept. 13. (Special)—If the State Democratic executive committee had voted to confirm Coke R. Stevenson, as the Senate nominee over Lyndon Johnson here tonight in their bitter battle for the U. S. Senate, Former Gov. James V. Allred was prepared to fly tonight to Austin and there to file in the Texas Supreme Court a suit seeking a mandumus action against the committee for "acting against the actions of the public at the polls."

Allred told The Morning Avalanche shortly before midnight that he had spent Monday night working on his brief and by the time the committee voted had it in shape to file early Tuesday morning.

There was considerable preconvention maneuvering for favored party offices and prospects were good there would be a rousing fight for control of the convention between pro - Truman forces and States' Righters.

The credentials subcommittee of the executive committee voted to recommend seating of four big delegations dominated by States' Righters, calling for a voluntary withdrawal from those delegations of individuals who would not support the party nominees.

These delegations were from Dallas, Harris, Tarrant and Harrison counties.

Court Injunction

election contest is filed.

Neither Johnson nor Stevenson was here for the hearing today. Johnson secured an order Friday night restraining certification of any new set of election returns from Jim Wells county pending today's hearing.

Johnson won the first round in the hearing when the judge ruled that the court had jurisdiction to hear Johnson's request for the injunction.

Stevenson's attorneys tried to have the application thrown out of court, arguing that the judge had no authority to rule in the case.

"I am not saying there was fraud or that there was not fraud," Judge Broeter said, "I am merely ruling against this exception" (The argument that he didn't have jurisdiction.)

Statute Is Argued

"If it so happens that our laws do not set our adequate means and speedy procedure to correct illegal acts," Judge Broeter continued, "I regret it, but I can't make laws nor can I read into statutes something that is not there."

Wilbur Matthews, San Antonio counsel for Stevenson, had quoted statute 3125 in the election laws saying the judge had no authority "except to issue an order of mandamus instructing the county executive committee to investigate alleged fraud or voting irregularity." Therefore, Matthews argued, the hearing was asking the judge to do something contrary to the only power which the laws give him.

Johnson's chief counsel, Dudley T. Tarleton of Corpus Christi, argued the law providing for a county Democratic executive committee to reconvene does no apply here because the committee which made the original count is out of existence. The new committee, he said, could "convene" but could not "reconvene."

An outgoing Jim Wells county committee certified the vote to the state committee. A new committee headed by H. L. Adams went into office shortly afterward.

Johnson's suit named as defendants Stevenson; Frank Hamer of Travis county; Kellis Dibrell of Bexar county; Adams, the new Jim Wells county Democratic chairman; H. L. Poole, secretary of the committee and 17 members of the committee.

He charged that the defendants entered into a conspiracy with a purpose of causing Adams to alter the returns.

Article 3147 of the Texas election laws provides that "the venue of suits or contests between candidates for nomination for state office is hereby fixed in the district court of Travis county unless the parties shall agree upon some other county."

Berlin Seizure Plot

have to be placed before the United Nations.

(The three western envoys in Moscow conferred twice Monday while waiting for another meeting at the Kremlin.)

Agreements Unwanted

Montags Echo reported that Soviet sector police in Berlin have strengthened and heavily armed Communist cadres assigned to suppress any unrest in the Soviet sector.

Soviet circles were quoted by the newspaper as telling Communist leaders that the Soviets did not want to reach an agreement with the west on Berlin or Germany because this would delay realization of the Soviet plan to transform the Soviet zone of Germany into a "dictatorship of the proletariat."

Montags Echo said the Soviets are counting on a "Communist militia" to take over Soviet territory in Germany some time in the future after the withdrawal of Russian occupation troops.

More Cargo Planes Arrive

The newspaper version of the Communist plot said the "putsch" date was set some time after November 7 to "avoid playing into the hands of the war-hungry Clay group."

The American-licensed newspaper Der Abend charged meanwhile that the Soviets are engaged in a complex plot to drain Berlin of western currency.

The Anglo-American air lift to Berlin roared on amid these developments:

American planes carried 3,608 tons of supplies into the Soviet-blockaded city in 466 flights.

Thirteen more C-82 U. S. planes arrived at Wiesbaden from Greenville, S. C., today and will join the food run later this week.

REDS SENTENCE GERMAN YOUTHS TO 25-YEAR TERMS

BERLIN, Sept. 13. (INS)—The Russians retaliated tonight against anti-Communist demonstrators by sentencing five German youths to 25 years each in a work camp.

The youths had participated in last week's western sector demonstrations which spilled over into the Russian area and climaxed with Soviet soldiers and their police opening fire into the crowd.

A Soviet military court found the four western sector residents guilty of attacking "Soviet citizens' 'and Soviet sector police during the riot.

Two Killed In Blast

Meanwhile anti-Russian gangs operating in the Russian zone of Germany were believed responsible for the bombing today of a Russian airfield ten miles southeast of Berlin.

The Soviets blamed the blast on "carelessness" but observers pointed out that the blasting of the Rangsdorf field — the third explosion in the Soviet zone near Berlin in three weeks—followed an official Russian announcement that "terror gangs" are active.

Two soldiers were killed in the explosion of 15 tons of munitions at the Soviet base. The officers mess and a number of German dwellings were destroyed. The cause of the previous two blasts still is unknown.

City Employes Purged

The Russians are reported to have purged 348 Berlin city employes and to have cracked down on Communist graft and corruption in the Soviet occupation zone.

Deputy Mayor Ferdinand Friedensburg said the purged employes were let out since Aug. 1 for "political reasons."

The Soviet news agency ADN announced that 20 Communists, trade union leaders and directors of the Saxonian textile plants will be tried on charges of large scale corruption.

Outside Help Breaks Into Jail; Frees Man Held At Higgins

HIGGINS, Sept. 13. (AP)—Someone broke into the Lipscomb county jail here last night and released Lester Eglain, only prisoner in the jail at the time, Sheriff Everett Tarbox said today.

Eglain, who gave no home address, was held on burglary charges.

Outside accomplices pried bars off outside windows and entered the jail, the sheriff said. He explained the cell door was designed so that no key was required to open it from the outside, and the prisoner could not reach it from the inside.

Farmer Loses His Temper And Phone

NEW CARLISLE, Ind., Sept. 13 (INS).—Richard Wykoff, a farmer living on Rural Route 2 near New Carlisle, lost his temper, patience and telephone today after trying for an hour to make a call.

Finally he got a clear line on the 12-party circuit. Swiftly he rang seven times to place his call. Suddenly another party rang in on the line.

That was the final straw. Wykoff yanked the 'phone off the wall and hauled it to town in his car. There he smashed it on the steps of the Telephone Co. building.

The operators inside paid no attention. They thought he was one of the laborers unloading a stack of lumber. The ultimate blow was contained in a statement by a company spokesman:

"Mr. Wykoff will be without service now until we can install a new 'phone."

Colonies Talks Open

CST) when the report on the Italian colonies will be considered.

Today's session in the French foreign ministry with Schuman presiding broke up after four and a half hours of discussion.

Unless an agreement on disposition of the colonies is reached by Wednesday the subject will be given to the United Nations Assembly, which convenes here Sept. 21.

Trusteeship Suggested

The colonies are Libya, Italian Somaliland and Eritrea.

Deputy foreign ministers of the four powers have discussed the matter for a year without arriving at agreement

During the deliberations the deputies decided to send an investigation commission to the colonies. The commission recommended trusteeship but there has been no meeting of minds on what kind of trusteeship

France and Russia were said to favor an Italian trusteeship with France bidding for Fezzan, one of the three Libyan provinces. The United States proposed a United Nations trusteeship. The British are reported favoring the freeing of Cirenaica, the Libyan province next to Egypt. They also want French, Britain and Italian Somaliland linked under a British trusteeship in preparation for independence.

Britain also wanted to split Eritrea under British and Ethiopian control but Ethiopia has asked for all of Eritrea.

Area Officials Are Under Fire

cast his ballot for Harry Truman and Alben Barkley if that ticket carries Texas, as most observers believe it will Wooten's stand was echoed by several other South Plains delegates present, including G. H. Nelson, chairman of the Lubbock County delegation, and L. C. Ellis, Lubbock county Democratic chairman.

Goodman, who along with Kendrick and Mrs. Halbert, was not present at today's unofficial caucus, said tonight, "They may try to unseat me but I do not expect their efforts to be successful."

Opposition to Kendrick was voiced by Clarence Whiteside, Lubbock city commissioner, who said Kendrick "had not furnished the aggressive type of leadership needed in the 30th district;" and by Forrest Weimhold, Levelland newspaper publisher, who charged that the 30th district chairman "carries water on both shoulders," meaning that Weimhold questioned Kendrick's loyalty to the Truman wing of the Democratic party. Because the caucus was unofficial, and also because only about 40 of the district's approximately 55 delegates here were present, no definite action was taken on either the executive committee or presidential elector matter. However, delegates agreed to "think the matter over" until an official caucus is held Tuesday morning.

Kendrick's position undoubtedly was strengthened Monday night when, in the executive committee meeting, he voted to confirm Lyndon Johnson as the party's senatorial nominee.

Johnson Group In Saddle

If Kendrick is replaced on Tuesday, his successor likely will be either Weimhold, or Truett Smith, Tahoka attorney. Considerable sentiment is heard for both, largely on the basis of their support of Lyndon Johnson in the U. S. Senate feud, as compared with Kendrick's campaign support of Coke R. Stevenson. That Johnson people "are in the saddle" in the 30th Senatorial district there is no doubt.

If Goodman is deposed, the 25-county 19th Congressional district's presidential elector likely will be one of two delegates who promised the Monday caucus that if chosen, they "will vote the Truman-Barkley ticket straight." They are Homer R. Winston, Terry county judge; and L. C. Ellis, Lubbock banker. Ellis defeated Goodman for Lubbock county Democratic chairman in the primary on last July 24.

Critics of Goodman's "loyalty" pointed out that while the Lubbock lawyer was regularly named presidential elector at the State Democratic convention in Brownwood last May, he can be replaced here as have others before him.

In addition to replacement of Kendrick and Goodman, the delegates also discussed possible selections for convention committees to be appointed Tuesday. Each senatorial district will have one representative on five major committees.

On the convention's credentials committee, the 30th District likely will be represented by District Attorney Lloyd Crosslin, of Lubbock. Harold Lafont, Plainview lawyer, and Riley Wooten, Dickens county farmer, have the edge for appointment to the committee on permanent organization. The resolutions committee will likely draw either County Judge Kilmer Corbin, of Lamesa; Charlie Cobb, Lubbock lawyer; or former County Judge C. H. Cain, of Tahoka.

All of the South Plains delegates expected to attend tomorrow's jampacked convention were believed to have arrived by early Monday night. In the last group to arrive were Ross Woodson and V. Z. Rogers, of Dawson county.

Busy looking in on dramapacked arguments of Johnson and Stevenson proponents before committee meetings today were Homer Grant, L. B. Wright, Bill Collins, Dudley Brumnett, Jim Denton and J. B. Jackson, all of Lubbock; H. A. Brummett, of Dickens; Fred Robb and Roy J. Terrell, of Lorenzo; Sam Floyd and J. W. Elliott, of Tahoka; Hobby Thomas, of Hale Center; Vincent Tudor and Dr. Joe Webb, of Plainview; and Dr. M. M. Brannen, of Spur.

With seats at Will Rogers auditorium, capacity 3,000-plus, expected to be at a premium—even for delegates — Tuesday, South Plainsmen were warned to "get there early."

The convention, at which "anything can happen and probably will," is set for opening at 10 a. m.

terprise and competitive spirit."

He said he would do all in his power to promote research but first with him would come great teachings and a sympathetic understanding of students.

Well Rounded Program

Pointing out that a great many things make up a college program, he said he wants Texas Tech to give a "well rounded program for every man and woman who passes this way."

He introduced Dr. E. N. Jones, who also began duties last week, and said Dr. Jones' area or responsibility will be mainly local, within the school. Dr. Jones, referring to Dr. Wiggins introduction, said he would be concerned strictly with the quality of the college. He said he and Dr. Wiggins were coming to the college "with every feeling of confidence in the school as it now is" and said the college would continue to run in its present vein until better ways are found. "Nothing is quite good enough if we can make it better for our youth" he said.

W. P. Clement, registrar, presided for opening of the meeting. Dr. Alan M. F. Gunn presented a tribute to Miss Lucile Avo Powell Gill, associate professor of English, who died last spring after 20 years as a faculty member.

Registration Plans Pushed

Other events Monday indicated preparations for opening of the fall semester, registration for which will be conducted Thursday Through Saturday.

Approximately 1,500 prospective freshmen met in the gymnasium Monday afternoon to begin their counseling program. W. T Miller, assistant to Dean W. L. Stangel, spoke briefly and Dean of Men James G. Allen outlined the social program. Ernest Wallace, assistant dean of arts and sciences, explained the two-day orientation program and divided students according to divisions they plan to enter. The testing program which is a part of the counseling program opened.

Freshmen Meet

Freshmen met in dormitories with supervisors and counsellors Monday night and later saw a movie, "Boomerang," on the lawn south of the administration building.

At 7:30 o'clock tonight, freshmen are to attend a reception in the recreation hall in honor of Dr and Mrs. Wiggins and Dr. and Mrs Jones.

The registration committee met Monday afternoon to discuss details of registration. Members are registrar W. P. Clement; Dr. Fred W. Sparks, from the arts and sciences division; Charles Houston, engineering division; William Whittington, commerce division; John H. Baumgardner, agriculture, and Mrs. Edna Buster, home economics.

GOP Leads In Maine

three congressional races.

With the Maine election out of the way, politicians today will get a chance to see how the political winds are blowing in seven other states.

These seven, in New England and the West, hold primaries today to name candidates for five Senate, 53 House and seven governor seats.

Senators Ball (R-Minn) and Johnson (D-Colo) are opposed for renomination. Without any opposition are Senators Bridges (R-NH), Saltonstall (R-Mass) and Ferguson (R-Mich).

Long before any returns were announced, the Republicans claimed an easy victory for Rep. Margaret Chase Smith in her race to become Maine's first woman senator.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the Republican presidential nominee, kept an eye on the Maine election yesterday. Associates said he believes the outcome there would be a reliable barometer of his own prospects.

In Minnesota, Senator Ball is opposed for renomination by two candidates, Lenore Irene Bussman and Earl L. Miller. His campaigning, however, has been aimed more at the election itself. Of more immediate interest is the democratic-Farmer Labor senatorial primary. Mayor Hubert Humphrey of Minneapolis, a Truman backer, is opposed by James M. Shields, a Wallace supporter.

Both President Truman and Gov. Dewey are to speak next week in Colorado, scene today of primary races for nomination to the Senate seat now held by Democrat Edwin C. Johnson.

Johnson, who has differed at points with the Truman administration, is being opposed for renominatio by Gene Cervi, former Democratic state chairman.

In the Colorado Republican senatorial primary, the battle is between former Governor John C. Vivian and Will F. Nicholson of Denver.

Primaries of lesser national interest are being held today in Washington, Michigan, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Vermont.

Model Plane Lost

$200," Bryant said. They had spent most of the afternoon and night before overhauling the plane, but had not replaced the radio equipment.

The plane had been filled with six ounces of the new fuel, which would have given it a flying time of from 45 minutes to an hour.

That meant to its builders a possible 45 to 60 miles away that it could have flown in case a gremlin took over or unlocked the rudder controls.

They pointed out the case of a smaller model plane that took off at Hobbs, N. M., not so long ago and flew 90 miles before landing.

The plane is a high-lift monoplane with a 1/5 hp engine. A "worthwhile" reward for its recovery was announced

Youth Injured In Mishap In City

Alton Sproules, about 14, who gave his address as 2012 Thirty-Second, suffered several cuts about the face and head and a fractured left ankle, Monday afternoon when the motorscooter he was riding as a passenger crashed into the side of an auto at the intersection of Nineteenth and Avenue S.

According to police reports Sproules was riding behind Shepherd S. McCoy, 1724 Thirtieth, on a motorscooter going west on Nineteenth when they collided with a car driven by Charles A. Waynne, Route 1, Lubbock. Waynne was attempting to make a left turn from Nineteenth into Ave. S when the mishap occurred. Police said Waynne told them he had come to a complete stop when he saw the motorscooter was likely to hit his car in hopes that the driver might dodge either way and avoid him.

Theft Reports Made

Sproules was given emergency treatment for his injuries and released from Lubbock Memorial hospital.

Theft reports continued to come in to police headquarters Monday night after a series of minor incidents over the week end. These reports had been filed:

Jim Prince, 2323 Walnut, reported a boys maroon Hawthorne bike had been stolen from its parking place at Senior high school. He valued the vehicle at $40. Dennis Hicks, 1505 Ave. J reported a boy's blue Monarch bike had been stolen at Boys Club.

A $42.95 bike from James Crawley of Lubbock route 6; a $30 miniature camera, Japanese manufacture, from the glove compartment of the car of Jimmie Copeland of 2402 Wolfforth; a bike from Jack Gadfrey of 114 Hub Homes; a horse valued at $100 from Ben Lyles of 2103 East Ave E.

Car Reported Stolen

Littlefield authorities reported a car stolen. The report was made by H. G. Rice of Littlefield, who listed description as a blue 1939 Ford coupe, license AM 8324.

District officials were investigating the report of a Lubbock girl that she had been raped. She described two men. The same girl had reported being raped a year or so ago, by a man she accused of blindfolding her and taking her to a park after picking her up in downtown Lubbock.

Fines Are Assessed

County court officials said H. E Whitaker, jr., 25, of Floyd county was fined $1 and costs on a check law violation complaint.

Police said they had fined a negro $50 and costs for reckless driving after they had been outdistanced by his big automobile, but later had located it parked, "its engine still hot."

C. E. Lynn, justice of peace, fined nine persons $23.15 each, including court costs, for gambling.

A man army officials reported was absent without leave from his outfit was jailed Monday afternoon by city police after being arrested in a Lubbock trailer town. Police said the man was dressed and ready to leave when he was nabbed.

A Lubbock man was ticketed for negligent collision after a minor accident on Sixteenth Street near Ave. Q. A Plainview woman was also ticketed for negligent collision after a mishap on Broadway near the Ave. T intersection. No one was hurt in either of the accidents.

In county court, Ray Turner, 27, was fined $50 and costs for check law violation. David Earl Golden, 28, of Lubbock was fined $50 and costs on a drunk driving charge.

Two Sundown men were arrested and jailed for investigation late Monday night after a Lubbock woman had told police she had been criminally attacked by a man on Avenue A near the Lubbock compress. At the police station she identified one of the two men as her attacker, and the other as the driver of the car. She told police she would file charges today.

A 40-year-old Lubbock negro was arrested by law enforcement officers and jailed to await filing of liquor law violation charges.

Wallpaper Trends Discussed By Painting, Decorating Group

Sam Lowe, representative of Globe Mills of Texas, Houston, was principal speaker Monday night at a meeting of the Lubbock chapter of Painting and Decorating Contractors of America.

Thirty-three members and associate members attended the session in the Navajo room of the Hilton hotel.

Lowe told the group that their field should attract more newcomers and apprentices, that more young people were needed in the professions they represented. He pointed out that more artists were employed in the painting and decorating field than in any other industry.

Speaking of wallpaper trends, Lowe said there is a definite move toward darker colors and more elaborate designs than ever before. Solid colors in darker shades also are popular, he said, pointing out that violet was in demand again for the first time since Victorian days.

Lowe said that some firms were producing a suede finish paper and that present walpapers surpass all previous products in quality, color fastness, durability and versatility. In colors he said denuded greens ranked first followed by grays, yellow, plum, brown and blue.

Winston Jones, program committee chairman, had charge of the program. Doyle Jordan made arrangements for the speaker. Visitors were R. G. Webb, also of Globe Mills, Houston, and Vin Higensback, Denver, Colo.

Rev. Fred Lambert Dies Of Injuries

Rev. Fred Lambert, 38, pastor of Eastside Baptist church, who was critically injured Saturday, Sept. 4, in a car-train collision here, died about 10 p.m. Monday at Baylor hospital in Dallas.

The minister was flown to Dallas Sunday afternoon in an ambulance airplane after having undergone treatment at Lubbock Memorial hospital. According to telephone information received here Monday afternoon by friends, a Dallas brain specialist had reported that because of the type of brain injury Rev. Lambert had suffered, he would be unable to operate. Rev. Lambert was in extremely critical condition Sunday night and Monday.

Funeral services will be held at Eastside Baptist church Wednesday afternoon with the Rev. Cecil Ray, Pastor of the Arnett-Benson Baptist church, officiating. Hour for the rites has not been set. The body will be taken to Joaquin, Shelby county, for burial. Rix Funeral home has charge of arrangements.

Talk With Garner

South with a majority of electoral votes.

The President leaves Washington Friday. His train is scheduled to stop at Uvalde, Texas, home of "Cactus Jack," on his way eastward from the Pacific coast late this month.

A celebration marking the Presidents visit to Uvalde, and his conference with Garner, is being planned.

Other Appearances Likely

Appearances at San Antonio, Dallas and Fort Worth, and perhaps Houston, also are tentatively scheduled for the President's stumping tour of the Lone Star State.

The White House, however, has carefully refrained from disclosing officially any itinerary for the President's return trip to Washington after he leaves Los Angeles the morning of Sept. 24.

There are two reasons for this. One is that plans for the two-week coast-to-coast trip, while more or less fully laid out, are still subject to possible minor changes.

The other is that the Democratic leaders do not wish to tell their Republican opposition of their plans too far in advance of performance.

To do so would give the opposition an undue campaign advantage.

Shortly after President Roosevelt died, Mr. Truman invited "Cactus Jack" to come to Washington. The two had known each other well when Garner was vice president and presided over the Senate for six years of Mr. Truman's service in the upper chamber.

Garner, however, still was angry with Roosevelt over the break that finally came in 1938 when Roosevelt failed to step aside as a third term candidate.

Now, Mr. Truman is going out to see Garner, and hopes to heal the breach and swing the Democratic "old guard" behind him.

'Man Without Country' To Ask UN To Help Solve Problem

PARIS, Sept. 13 (AP)—Garry Davis, 26, citizen of the world, is putting his lack of a nationality right up to the United Nations.

"If the UN can't solve a little personal problem, then it can't save humanity," Davis said.

He moved to the front steps of the UN restaurant in Paris yesterday when France refused to grant him permission to stay in the country any longer. Davis, war-time bomber pilot, surrendered his American passport and nationality last May. He is the son of Meyer Davis, American orchestra leader.

"The Palestine problem, the Korean problem and all the other problems the United Nations is worrying about are caused by a lack of any international law," he said. "They keep saying they have to settle all those little problems first." He added that if an international code were written nationalistic problems would cease.

Dressed in his Army "pinks" and his old leather flying jacket, Davis looked fresh this morning after spending the night in his sleeping bag on the cement porch of the UN restaurant.

"I planned this to bring attention to the fact that there is need for international government," Davis said. "The machinery is all set up. Now if we can just get over the last little hump."

UN officials so far have been non-commital as to what they are going to do about Davis inhabiting the 11-acre tract of land France gave them temporarily for the General Assembly meeting beginning here next week.

President Truman, Marshall Discuss Foreign Situation

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. (AP)—President Truman checked the temperature of the boiling international situation today in a conference with Secretary of State Marshall.

They met at the White House shortly after the State department had announced rejection of Soviet complaints over the cases of two Russian schoolteachers who say they do not want to be sent home.

Nobody doubted that the Berlin crisis and the delicate negotiations with the Russians there and in Moscow occupied nearly all of the time in the Truman-Marshall meeting. The participants, however, stuck tight to a policy of silence stated earlier at the State department.

Six Consulates Will Be Closed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. (U.P.)—The State department has ordered the closing of six American consulates in foreign countries because of congressional cuts in foreign service funds, it was learned today.

The consulates will be shut down within the next 30 days. Department officials said more probably will be closed later.

Consulates at Sarnia, Canada; Matamoros and Agua Prieta, Mexico, will close up by Sept. 30. Others ordered closed within the next 30 days are at Plymouth, England; Antigua, British West Indies, and La Ceiba, British Honduras.

State department officials attributed the action to an overall cut of $1,122,615 in funds authorized by Congress for the foreign service between July 1, 1948, and June 30, 1949. The department requested $52,842,615 for this fiscal year, and received only $51,720,000.

Branded Unforfunate

Authorities described the closing of the consulates as "unfortunate." They said that the six offices "have plenty of business to warrant their continued operation."

Consulates handle passport applications for American citizens, visa requests for aliens, trade matters, and legal services.

Officials reported that several congressmen already have received complaints regarding the closing of the two consulates in Mexico. The department was said to have originally planned to close five consulates in Mexico, but tentatively decided to close only two because of economy moves elsewhere.

Department officials said the decision to close the six consulates was reached after it was found to be inadvisable to cut salaries or living allowances of foreign personnel throughout the world.

Israel Is Ordered To Readmit Arab Refugees, Rebuild Homes

(By The Associated Press)

RHODES, Sept. 13 — Count Folke Bernadotte ordered Israel today to readmit Arab refugees to three villages and to rebuild their shattered homes. He said 8,000 Arabs were driven out and their homes smashed by the Israeli army in violation of the truce.

The villages are Ein Ghazal, Ijzim and Jaba, south of Haifa, along the Haifa-Tel Aviv highway.

Bernadotte, the United Nations Palestine mediator, reported to the security council that Jewish forces attacked the three villages July 18 at the beginning of the second truce. The Arabs were forced to evacuate after a seven-day land and air attack. Later, he said, the Jewish forces destroyed the villages of Ein Ghazal and Jaba.

Bernadotte said his investigators found 8,000 former villagers in the Jenin area. They placed the number of killed and missing at about 130. Bernadotte said "Arab allegations concerning the number killed and captured are enormously exaggerated."

Bernadotte said he had informed Moshe Shertok, the Israeli foreign minister, that:

"Arab inhabitants of these villages who were forced to evacuate them subsequent to the commencement of the second truce must be allowed to return forthwith to reside there in peace.

"The provisional government of Israeli shall do everything possible to rehabilitate the Arab inhabitants of the three villages, restoring at its own expense all houses damaged or destroyed during or after the attack, on the understanding that this ruling shall in no way be considered a precedent . . ."

Negotiation Attempted

Bernadotte asserted the Jews "could not be excused oy the avowed desire to make the Haifa-Tel Aviv highway safe because fighting between villagers and Jews occurred before this truce."

He said the Arab villagers "had attempted to negotiate with the Jewish army."

"I am strongly of the opinion," he continued, "that measures taken involving the systematic destruction of two of the villages were excessive and constituted a violation of both the spirit and letter of the terms of the truce."

U. S. Families Reported Growing Super Rats With Wasted Food

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13 (U.P.)— America is growing super rats because many families descard the most nutritive parts of their meals, city health officer Dr George M. Uhl said today.

"The American garbage can is breeding a husky breed of rats as disease carriers," he said.

More Than 50 High Government Jobs Paying $10,000 Or More A Year Now Go Begging

By LAURENCE GONDER
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 — More than half a hundred government jobs paying $10,000 and more a year are going begging.

Most of the jobs are just a step or two below cabinet rank. They range from undersecretary of labor at $10,330 a year to budget director for the armed forces at $10,000 a year.

Cabinet members get $15,000 a year. That is topped in the executive branch of the government by the President's $75,000 salary and the vice president's $20,000.

Thirteen of the vacant $10,000-a-year-or-more jobs are civilian Army posts. The Navy and Air Force each have 10 such vacancies, the Defense department has eight and the Agricultural department seven. Other vacancies include three in the Labor department, two in the commerce department and one each in the Interior department and the Civil Service commission.

Government personnel officers say mort of these vacant jobs have been unfilled for months. And, they add, most of them probably will stay empty, at least until after the November election.

These officials say there are many reasons why it is difficult at present to draw top men into government service. Chief among them are:

1. Uncertainty over outcome of the election this fall makes it difficult for President Truman to attract men for presidential appointments. Many of those approached undoubtedly are reluctant to give up their present jobs for government positions that might last only a few months.

2. The current congressional spy hearings have frightened away from "top secret" jobs many scientists who would like to work for the government but are reluctant to put their reputations in the hands of congressional committees. Of the 55 vacant jobs 33 are strictly scientific posts.

3. Inflation has made a $10,000 a year salary less attractive than it used to be to men qualified for high government posts.

These men are expected to live well and to do a certain amount of entertaining. Government figures show that living costs are higher in Washington than in any other large city in the country.

One federal personnel officer put it this way:

"By the time a new government official moves his family here, finds and rents a house or apartment, and pays for his first party, big. And he and his family still that first $10,000 doesn't look so have more than 365 days to go before the next $10,000 rolls in."

World's Largest Blimp To Be Built For American Navy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11 (INS)— The Navy announced today that a contract had been let to the Goodyear Aircraft corporation to build a 324 foot blimp, the largest ever planned.

The new ship, to be labeled type "N," will be nearly twice the size of Navy blimps used for anti-submarine patrol in the second world war, and will be capable of long-range patrol over the ocean.

Although it will be the largest of all non-rigid, lighter-than-air craft, it will not compare in size to the old dirigibles, or rigid ships, most of which wound up in spectacular disasters.

Presidential Preferences Among Women No Different From Men

BY GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., September 10—Men and women rarely show difference in political sentiment in national elections and this year there is even less disagreement between the sexes than during previous presidential races.

In fact, the candidate preferences of men and women voters today are almost identical, as the following poll shows:

GALLUP

"If the presidential election were being held TODAY how would you vote — for Truman, for Dewey or for Wallace?"

The preferences of men and women line up as follows:

	Men	Women
Dewey	48%	48%
Truman	36½	36½
Wallace	5	5
Undecided	9½	10½

The above results, together with similar findings in earlier election years, raise the question whether there is any distinct "women's viewpoint" or "petticoat vote" in national politics that is different from the male vote.

Past experience has shown that even when opinion differences do exist between men and women early in a presidential campaign the difference tends to be reduced as election day approaches. Only on rare occasions has it amounted to more than about two percentage points. This year the difference is statistically negligible two full months before election day.

Much more noticeable differences in presidential preferences generally are provided by age than are by sex. But as things stand today, the 1948 campaign is unique in this respect also, in that variations from one age bracket to the next are negligible, as shown in the following table:

Presidential Preferences by Age

	Dewey	Truman	Wallace	Undecided
21-29	46½	35½	7	11
30-49	49½	36	5	9½
50 and over	48	37½	4	10½

Comparisons of this table with a similar analysis before the 1944 elections underscores a major worry facing the Democratic strategists — the defection of young voters to the Republican candidate and also to Wallace.

In recent past elections the tendency was for the appeal of the Democratic Party to be greater among younger people, and for Republican strength to be concentrated more among voters in the older age groups. This is shown in the following table:

Per cent Democratic of Major Party Vote

By Age	1944	1940	1936
21-29 years	58%	60%	68%
30-49 years	53	56	65
50 and over	51	51	56

The delection from the Democratic column from 1944 to today has been much larger proportionately among the younger voters resulting in the narrowing of differences between age groups almost to the vanishing point.

Ohioans Make Possible 'Cheap' Hunting Trips Into Africa

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 13 (U.P.)—Many a man has dreamed about hunting big game in Africa but never figured he had the time or the money for such a trip.

"Airsafari," a concern formed by a group of Cincinnatians, hopes to change these things.

Backers of the enterprise, which includes several veterans who served in Africa during the war, believe they have solved both the time and money problems for a big game hunt.

Herbert Lockwood, director of Airsafari, said regular flights to Kenya Colony, Africa, will begin this month.

The trip to Nairobi takes 38 hours and leaves 26 days for hunting in the Killimanjaro Ngerongoro area. Or if you just want to look, you can spend the same time visiting the Congo or the Mountains of the Moon.

Up to now, Lockwood said, it usually took a month by ordinary means of travel to get there. Many business men get only a month or less for a vacation.

The cost will vary according to what type of safaris each tourist takes, but Lockwood said it will be "out of the millionaire class and down to the level of most business executives."

Carr Brings Story Of Humor, Pathos From Prison Farm

Wagoner Carr, county attorney-elect, brings a story of mixed humor and pathos from his recent tour or Retrieve, a Texas prison farm on the coast. The story was related today at the Jaycee luncheon. In attempting to ascertain actual conditions on the prison farms, Carr drifted away from the main inspecting body, and talked personally to several of the men.

One of these was an inmate who had a bad gash on his leg. He told Carr:

"I've had this cut on my leg for a long time. Last time the doctor was through he told me to stay in the cell and not to go out in the fields and work. But they have me out there working every day, and my leg just keeps getting worse."

"How often does the doctor come through and look at you men?"

"Not very often."

"And isn't there any provision for taking care of your leg except when the doctor makes a visit?"

"No, sir, and you know that's a hell of a way to take care of a man who's going to be here 205 years."

NLRB Orders Union Elections At Port Neches And Baytown

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 13. (U.P.)—The National Labor Relations board today announced that elections to determine proper bargaining units have been ordered in two Texas gulf coast industrial plants.

The two plants were the Jefferson Chemical company at Port Neches, Tex., and the General Tire and Rubber company at Baytown Texas.

At the Jefferson Chemical company, labor organizations claiming to represent employes included the CIO Oil Workers International union, the International Association of Machinists, the AFL Pipefitters' union, and the International Brotherhood of Electrical workers.

The Oil Workers' union brought the petition, seeking a plantwide bargaining unit. The other unions sought representation on a craft basis.

Ashes Of Salesman Found In Home; Relatives Sought

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 13. (U.P.)—A Columbus housewife has just learned that her home was a one-time funeral establishment and the last resting place for the past 24 years of a Pittsburgh salesman.

The discovery came when Mrs. Evelyn Palmore opened a small metal box she found in her basement.

The box contained a small mound of ashes and a death certificate which read, "Henry Hoeflich, 68, Pittsburgh, Penna., died Sept. 26, 1924. Occupation, salesman."

The distraught woman called police, who took the box to headquarters. Pittsburgh police have been asked to help locate Hoeflich's relatives.

West Texas Restaurant Men Meet In City

Talks Slated On Program Today

In Lubbock for a two-day regional meeting are members of West Texas Restaurant Association, area restaurant organization which is affiliated with the State Restaurant Association. The meeting is being held at Hilton Hotel.

It is the first time in the history of the association that such a meeting has been held in Lubbock for members and directors.

The initial event of the meeting was an informal social last night at the hotel, which was attended by association members, their guests, and non-member restaurant men of the area. Approximately 85 attended. Entertainment and orchestra music was furnished by Lubbock Supper Club.

Talks Are Planned

At 9:30 this morning, the board of directors of the State Restaurant Association will meet. Directors attending will be C. B. Carson of San Marcos, Jerry O'Shaughnessy of El Paso, W. Price of Liberty, Bob Shook of Corpus Christi, Leland Petty of Lufkin, Carlo Missina of Dallas, C. W. Horan of Fort Worth, Dave Crowder of Dallas, John Kattman of Lubbock, Roy Bertrand of Waco, and Ernest Winkler of Waco.

Officers of the state association include Carlton Lawler, president, and Pat Moreland, executive vice president.

Following a 1:30 p. m. luncheon today, a general business session will be held, after which the meeting will be concluded. The program includes a talk by Sam McMillin of the Lubbock Health Department, one by Tom Hamm, local insurance man, on "Has Inflation Affected Your Insurance?" and one by C. W. Horan of Ft. Worth on "Cost Accounting For Restaurants."

Officers of the West Texas Restaurant Association are W. E. King, Midland, president; Alton Taylor, Lubbock, vice president; and J. B. McClellan, Odessa, secretary-treasurer.

Mexican Farm Group May Use Airplanes To Cause Rainfall

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 13 (U.P.)—The National Association of Farmers is considering using airplanes to cause artificial rain over dry areas where crops are threatened, Robertos Barrios, secretary of the organization, announced today.

The method, first practiced successfully in the U. S., has been given a trial in the state of Mexico, Barrios said. He said that crops in the state of Mexico will be richer than ever this year as the result of rain provoked by the dry-ice-airplane method.

Road Link To Be Opened Today

LAMESA, Sept. 13 (Special)—The first inter-county connecting link of the Broadway to the Big Bend highway will be formally opened in ceremonies at Kermit Tuesday.

The Kermit Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the event which will include a luncheon meeting of the Broadway to the Big Ben association which will be presided over by state senator-elect Kilmer Corbin of Lamesa, county judge of Dawson county and president of the Big Bend group.

Barbecue Scheduled

Ceremonies opening the road will be held at 6 p.m. at the Winkler-Andrews county line, and a barbecue will follow.

Governors Beauford Jester of Texas and Roy Turner of Oklahoma have been invited to attend the affair, as have the highway commissions of the two states. Many state, county and city officials from towns along the proposed route, which will stretch from northern Oklahoma into Old Mexico upon its completion, have been invited.

Foods Company President Is Named To M-K-T Rail Board

DALLAS, Sept. 13 (U.P.) — Arthur S. Hopkins, president of Mrs. Tucker Foods, Inc., Sherman, today was elected a director of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad company of Texas at a meeting of the board.

Hopkins' election to the board fills the vacancy caused by the death of Adm. Adolphus Andrews, formerly president of the Waples-Platter Grocery company of Dallas.

In announcing Hopkins' election, Katy board chairman Raymond J. Marfa said, "This is a continuation of our policy of bringing into the organization men who are vitally interested in the welfare and progress of the territory served by our railroad."

Hopkins, he pointed out, as a business leader and resident of Sherman, is closely interested in the development not only of the Katy but the southwestern area as a whole.

Production Methods To Be Discussed At Meet In City

Cotton Industry Study Mapped

The American cotton industry will take a long step toward its future destiny here October 14-16 when the nation's leading authorities on cotton production methods representing agriculture, industry and government convene for the second annual Beltwide Cotton Mechanization conference.

Sponsored by the National Cotton Council, the conference will be attended by scientists, educational workers, merchandisers, and members of all branches of the cotton industry. It will bring to the forefront all of the latest developments in cotton mechanization. The spotlight likewise will play prominently on problems to be solved before full mechanization can be achieved across the Cotton Belt.

"Cotton is the least mechanized of all major U. S. farm crops," Jack Criswell, Memphis, educational specialist of the National Cotton Council, in Lubbock for conference planning sessions, declared Monday. "We must overcome the deficit if cotton is to remain competitive with synthetic fibers, paper, and cheaply-produced foreign cotton."

The cost factor will be a big one in the discussions here in October. Some of the Belt's top economists are expected to dwell at length on the savings possible through mechanization.

In the High Plains area, for example, it has been shown that the two-row mechanical stripper is capable of harvesting a bale of cotton in little more than an hour. For a single picker to hand snap the same amount of cotton, he would have to work in the fields for several days.

The Oklahoma Agricultural Experiment Station has found that labor savings of as much as $25 per bale can be realized through mechanically stripping cotton rather than harvesting by hand.

Big Savings Noted

Cotton Council representatives state that in the Mississippi Delta area at a time when cost of weeding cotton by hand was almost five dollars per acre, flame cultivators were doing the job for about fifty cents an acre.

"Such savings as this are tremendously important to the cotton grower," Criswell emphasized. "On a long-range basis cotton cannot hope to compete with mass produced industrial fibers unless it can be sold at a competitive price. To sell his produce for less the farmer must produce it for less. Cotton has absolutely nothing to gain through arbitrary reductions in prices which mean slimmer farm income. Mechanization and other efficiencies will enable the farmer to take a lower price yet realize the same or greater profits than he is getting at present.

Joining the Cotton Council in the conduct of the mechanization conference are the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Statewide Committee for Cotton, and the Plains Ginners Association.

One of the principal reasons for selection of Lubbock and the Lubbock Sub-station as site for the 1948 conference was the fact that the surrounding area leads the nation in cotton mechanization.

Progress Is Made

The Cotton Council specialist said that mechanization had progressed to a vast extent in this area. Today, there is very little man-mule farming remaining in the High Plains, he declared.

"In the Lubbock area farmers have been able to reduce their man hour requirements per cotton acre to under 22 when two-row mechanical equipment and hand snapping are used," Criswell explained. "When full four-row equipment and mechanical strippers are used, the man hour need is reduced to the almost incredible low of 7 hours an acre. This extreme low in man labor needs has been equalled in no other section of the Cotton Belt."

The work done by H. P. Smith, College Station, and Don L. Jones, Lubbock, both of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station system, in the development of the mechanical cotton stripper was praised highly by the Cotton Council official.

"These able Texas scientists have made a major contribution to the mechanization of the cotton harvesting process. Their work has been of value not only to Texas and Oklahoma farmers, but also to the cotton producers in the Coastal Plains of North Carolina where the stripper can be used. Even in the Delta areas," Criswell continued, "some farmers feel that the eventual solution of the harvesting problem is in the combined use of the mechanical picker and the stripper."

When the mechanization conferees assemble here they will discuss other topics of signal im-

Brownfield's Harvest Queen Contest Draws Many Entries

BROWNFIELD, Sept. 13. (Special) — As plans progress for Brownfield's Harvest Holiday celebration Oct. 20, many girls are entering the contest for Harvest Queen with the hope of winning a free trip to Mexico City.

Entrants have until next Saturday to submit their names as candidates, the Harvest Queen committee announced. So far the following candidates have been entered: Frances Rambo, sponsored by Tudor Sales; Jane Wier, sponsored by Alpha Omega study club; Daina Ruth McIlroy, sponsored by the Phi Beta Craesus club; Nelda Brown, sponsored by the Brownfield Theaters; Cynthia Ann Black, sponsored by the Sub-Deb club.

This year's celebration is expected to be one of the largest in the history of Brownfield. It opens with the Rotary club-sponsored second annual Harvest Holiday and Jubilee Wednesday Oct. 20, and is to be followed by the Terry-Yoakum County Free Fair Thursday, October 21, through the following Saturday.

Agricultural exhibits, equipment displays, demonstrations, a carnival and other attractions are being planned.

Last year Miss Glena Faye Winston, daughter of County Judge and Mrs. Homer Winston, was named Harvest Queen and was awarded a trip to Hollywood, Calif.

This year the winner will have a 10 to 14 day tour of Mexico City and other points.

JEWEL COLLECTION DISPLAYED—Misses Imogene and Geraldine Wallace, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Pierce, 2706 Thirty-fifth, had the thrill of their lives Monday when they viewed the $2,000,000 collection of diamonds and rare jewels at Anderson's Jewelers. The 17-year-old Lubbock High school seniors are shown wearing approximately a half million dollars worth of the jewels as they viewed the remainder of the collection. Left is Dr. J. C. Anderson, owner of the store and right is W. A. Bullard, manager of the diamond department. The girls, oh, yes, Geraldine is wearing the large 88-carat diamond clip-pin of the collection and Imogene has on a comet diamond clip. In the background are three Lubbock policemen, Harold McInroe, J. O. Tinsley and Capt. Bill Lamb, who are keeping a close guard over the jewels while they are on display in the store. (Staff Photo).

Senior Class Names Officers At Meeting

When senior class members at Lubbock Senior High school met Monday, six vice presidents and two yell leaders were chosen from among the group.

The vice presidents, acting as a committee and representing the class as a whole, will in turn nominate class members to the offices of president and secretary, elections for which are set for the near future, according to H. J. McCabe, dean of boys at Senior High and head senior sponsor.

Elected vice presidents were Frank Poyner, Jack King, Norman Bantz, Edda Lyn Cox, Francene Cox and Katharine Starnes.

Yell leaders are W. J. Blake and Edda Lyn Cox. Joyce Worrell, a third senior yell leader, was named to the office before the close of school last spring.

In addition to McCabe, other sponsors of the senior class are A. B. Reese, Mrs. H. B. Hawkins, Rogers Orr, Miss Irene Armes, Mrs. Ben McGregor, Miss Bessie Bullock, Miss Neville Wren, N. J. Robnett, and J. H. Penn.

$2,000,000 Collection Of Rare Gems Displayed By Store Here

ONE of the largest and finest collections of diamonds and rare jewels in the country, valued at more than $2,000,000 is on display this week in Anderson's Jewelers as a feature of the store's celebration of its 25th anniversary in Lubbock.

Owned by Harry Winston, Inc., of New York, the collection of gems includes several thousand stones, ranging in weight from one-half to 88-carats and from $150 to $200,000 in price.

Hope Diamond Displayed

Star performer of the display is the 88-carat Diamond of Good Hope, set in a clip-pin mounting and valued at $200,000. Another rare diamond in the display is a 14.51-carat pear shape diamond bearing a $110,000 price tag.

The gems were shown in a previue showing last night to several hundred Lubbock people and will be on display for the public to view in the store throughout this week.

Necklaces, made up of platinum and diamonds of various shapes and cuts range in price from $5,000 to $65,000. Bracelets of various designs and sizes are priced from $675 to $38,000.

The pear shape diamond ring is said to be one of the finest stones of its kind in America. Included in the collection are several emerald-cut diamond rings, one 20-carat bearing a $75,000 price tag. The rings range in weight from one-half to 30 carats.

A 37-carat star ruby is priced at $30,000 and a ruby chatelaine watch bears a $7,500 price tag.

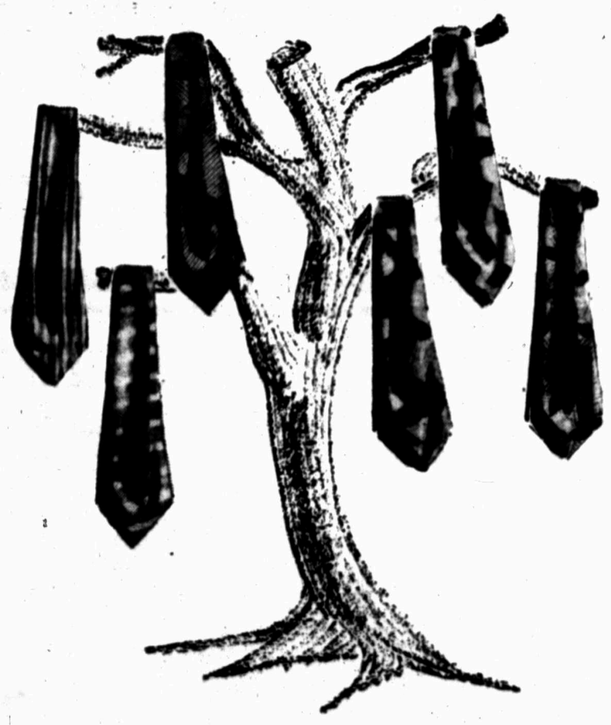

Showing of the gems was arranged by Dr. J. C. Anderson, owner of the store, to mark his store's 25th anniversary in Lubbock. Dr. Anderson and his brother, Clay who sold out to the former last January, came to Lubbock from Electra in 1923 and opened a small jewelry store in the Citizens National bank building, now occupied by the bank's executive offices. Two years later the store moved to a building now comprising a portion of the Woolworth store.

The store moved to its present location at 1012 Broadway, Jan. 1, 1930. In 1923 the store had three employes, now it has 21 employes and is recognized as one of the leading jewelers of West Texas.

In connection with the gems display, Jerome Winston, member of the Winston firm, is in Lubbock. A third generation Belgium dia-

Major Political Parties Spend Over $2 Million On Campaigns

By ALLAN J. FUNCH
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—Reports to Congress showed today the major political parties have spent 2.5 million dollars on the presidential campaign this year.

Only the Democratic party has operated without a deficit.

This is in sharp contrast to deficits reported for the Republican party, Henry Wallace's Progressive party and the CIO's Political Action committee.

The Democrats led the field in the amount spent in the first eight months of 1948, followed by the Wallace group, the GOP and the CIO-PAC.

Official Reports Given

Campaign reports filed with the clerk of the House of Representatives showed the four groups spent a total of $2,456,165.

On the basis of past campaigns, greater expenditures will be forthcoming before the Nov. 2 presidential balloting.

The final pre-election campaign reports to Congress are not due until 10 days before the balloting.

A breakdown showed the Democratic National committee took the lead n spending, with a total of $838,712. Next in line was the national Wallace for President committee and the Progressive party, with a combined total of $737,604.

Other Totals Given

The Republican national committee reported expenditures of $641,351, and the PAC, $238,498.

The Wallace forces reported total receipts of only $499,869, thus showing a deficit of $237,735.

Earlier, in New York, Wallace's campaign Manager C. B. Baldwin, estimated the Progressive party's entire expenditures this year would be about 2.5 million dollars. He estimated about one-tenth of the sum would go for radio expenses.

The Democratic National committee showed a balance on Aug. 31, of $18,529 after reporting receipts totaling $856,841.

The Republican national committee, on the basis of receipts totaling $525,455, was operating in the red to the tune of $115,896 at the end of the eight-month interval

A Republican spokesman said, however, that the deficit for this year would easily be overcome by the large cash balance with which it started the year.

The Socialist party revealed that it spent for its presidential candidate, Norman Thomas and other socialist candidates, $26,256 from Jan. 1 through June 30.

126 Oil Wells Completed In Texas During Past Week

AUSTIN, Sept. 13. (AP) — Oil well completions last week totaled 126, bringing the 1948 figure to 5,085, the Texas Railroad commission reported today.

Nineteen gas wells were completed, hiking this year's total to 490 compared with 427 a year ago.

There were 48 dry holes reported.

Wildcat drillings resulted in three oil wells, no gassers and 20 dry holes.

Forty-nine dry wells were plugged, no gassers, and 50 oil wells.

The total average calendar day allowable as of Saturday was 2,676,800 barrels, an increase of 7,425 from the previous week.

'Beloved Guinea Pig' Pupil Changes Texas Teacher's Mind About Quitting Profession

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 — Some 350,000 schoolteachers have quit since 1940.

And even more would abandon the field—the average teacher gets only $1,850 a year—except for children like "the beloved guinea pig."

Here is the story of one teacher who didn't quit:

Mrs. Marie Morris Rushing, a former Pasadena, Texas, teacher now living at Fayetteville, Ark., had written out her resignation and had it in her desk. It wasn't the matter of low salary so much in her case. It was just a feeling that she wasn't helping solve problems of the maladjusted children in her overcrowded fourth-grade class.

Democracy Begins Work

A query by one student finally convinced her she should toss in the sponge. The query:

"Mrs. Rushing, what does Democracy look like?"

Then she was called to her principal's office and asked to admit a crippled girl to her class.

Mrs. Rushing's first impulse was to say no. But she couldn't refuse the forlorn but proud little figure with twisted limbs who sat there in silence, anxiously waiting.

"So Polly, our beloved guinea pig, took her place in room 4B," said Mrs. Rushing. And the classroom immediately became a Democracy in action.

Girl Was Great Personality

Its focus was the little crippled girl.

"Polly began to make us all aware of our possibilities, both physical and mental," wrote Mrs. Rushing in "The Texas Outlook," a teacher publication.

"Often she did this by referring to her own handicap. She said that in a Democracy the strong protect the weak, that everyone has a voice."

Polly had that gift of truly great personalities—the gift of bringing out the best in those around them.

"I found that little by little she was doing away with even my discipline problems," recalled Mrs. Rushing. "She would reproach an offender and cause public opinion to turn against him."

Fire Made Girl Walk

In their turn the children did everything to help Polly. They carried her packsaddle to the cafeteria. They tried to teach her to walk—and she did learn to take a few halting, fearful steps.

Then the thing happened Mrs. Rushing had feared most. A fire alarm sounded, smoke poured into a hall. Quickly the children marched out of the building. And then the teacher and two girls rushed back for Polly, who had been taken to the rest room just before the alarm sounded.

"here coming toward us in long even strides was Polly, her eyes shining with excitement," said Mrs. Rushing.

"Polly was walking alone! Not one step but a dozen! we paused a moment in awe. Then without a word the two girls made their packsaddle, and I lifted Polly upon it."

This year, opening her desk for another school term, Mrs. Rushing found the forgotten letter of resignation she had written before "the beloved guinea pig" came into her class.

"I burned the resignation," wrote Mrs. Rushing. "I shall always be a schoolteacher. There will always be problems, but there will always be a Polly to help me work them out."

South Plains Engineers Group To Hold Stag Dinner Tonight

Members of the South Plains chapter of Texas Society of Professional Engineers will attend a stag dinner meeting in the Chimayo room of the Hilton hotel at 7:30 p. m. today, it was announced Monday by Max Tidmore, president of the chapter.

Registered engineers from a wide area of West Texas will attend the meeting.

L. J. Roberts of Amarillo and H. P. Mathieu of Pampa will be special guests. Roberts, chairman of the state labor management committee, will be the guest speaker.

Tidmore said many West Texas problems, including water supply, are on the chapter's agenda for discussion this fall.

Rites Slated Today At Bryan For Former Ranch Manager

Funeral services for Virgil V. Parr, about 58, former manager of the Pitchfork ranch near Guthrie, will be held at 3 p. m. today at Bryan under direction of Hiller Funeral home. Burial will be in Bryan cemetery, friends here learned Monday.

Parr died at 2:45 a. m. Monday at his home in Bryan.

He was survived by his wife and one son, Robert V. Parr, a premedical student in Southern Methodist university.

Mr. Parr was a graduate of Texas A. and M. college, where he was colonel of the Corps of Cadets. He was a veteran of World war I.

The percentage of blindness among Indians is about six times greater, proportionally, than among the white population of South Dakota. The state rolls show 439 blind white persons and 192 blind Indians.

Andrews, Garza Wells Holding Oil Spotlight On South Plains

Oil developments in Andrews and Garza counties held interest in West Texas oil circles after news of the developments were announced Monday.

Esperado Mining company No. 1 J. E. Parker, central Andrews county wildcat, one and a half miles northwest of the Parker field, and 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 2, block A-43, psl survey, bailed clean oil at the rate of one barrel per hour, over an extended period from the lime section at 4,682-88 feet in the San Andres-Permian.

No water was developed. The production was natural. Operator is making new hole below 4,743 feet in lime. The venture will be continued to its contract depth of 5,000 feet, and if it finds no better indications of production it is due to plug back and test the zone at 4,682-88 feet.

To Continue Drilling

That section likely will be treated with acid in an effort to make it yield petroleum in commercial quantities.

Honolulu Oil corporation is preparing to run 5½-inch casing and drill ahead in the San Andres-Permian lime at its No. 1 Shelby County School land fee, Northwest Garza county wildcat.

This prospector, located 3,360 feet from north and 440 feet from east lines of the Shelby County School land survey, ran two drill-stem tests above the current total depth of 3,672 feet.

The first was at 3,640-72 feet. The tool was open three hours and 15 minutes. Recovery was 13 feet of oil and 12 feet of oil cut drilling mud.

The second test was at 3,522-3,672 feet. The tool was open four hours. Recovery was five feet of clean oil and 300 feet of drilling mud.

No water has been developed from the formation showing the possibility of production. The prospector is three miles southeast of Southland and about six miles north of the PHD field.

After the casing is run and cement a cable tool unit will be moved in to drill the plug and drill deeper.

RETONGA FAR BETTER THAN HE THOUGHT A MEDICINE COULD BE

Denver Man Tells How He Found Blessed Relief In A Few Days from Distress of Sour, Gassy Stomach, Loss of Appetite, Restlessness and Constipation.

MR. LAWRENCE BLAKE

"I have found Retonga to be far better than I thought any medicine could be," declares Mr. Lawrence Blake, highly respected resident of 1646 Larimer St., Denver, Colo.

"During the past year my health seemed, to be on the down-grade continues Mr. Blake. "I had to watch my diet or I would suffer untold distress from sour stomach and gas pains after every meal. My appetite all but left me and I didn't relish any of my food. I had to take strong laxatives to relieve my sluggish bowels and I slept so poorly at night I just felt as if I didn't want to get up at all.

"The relief Retonga brought me was certainly a blessing. Within a few days my appeite had returned and I now eat anything I want to without suffering. I sleep like a child, get up feeling refreshed, and go about my work feeling better than I have in many years. I no longer have to rely on strong laxatives or relief from constipation. It is a real pleasure to recommend Retonga is intended to relieve did."

Retonga to anyone suffering as 1 distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, borderline Vitamin B-1 deficiency, and constipation. The active ingredients of Retonga are purely herbal, combined with Vitamin B-1. You can get Retonga at all good drug stores.

Woman Is Killed When Truck Overturns Near Sweetwater

SWEETWATER, Sept. 13 (U.P.)—Mrs. Primo Ramon, 17, was killed instantly early this morning when a truck loaded with cotton pickers left the highway south of here and overturned in a deep ravine. The tragedy occurred at 4 a. m.

Her husband, driver of the truck, and about 10 others were slightly injured. The party was en route from San Angelo to Sweetwater.

Early Morning Fire Damages Burton Home In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Sept 13 (U.P.)—An early-morning fire today gutted a 10-room, two-story Fort Worth home and caused damage estimated at $10,000 to $15,000.

The home was that of the late W. G. Burton, who owned the old Burton's Dry Goods Co., here.

Mrs. Emily Fellows, daughter of Mrs. Burton, discovered the fire in an attic and called the fire department. She roused her daughters, two, and they fled to safety as flames spread through the house.

Farm Miss To Continue Music Studies

Miss America Heads For Home In Minnesota To Study Offers

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 13 (AP)—Beatrice Shopp, 18-year-old Miss America of 1948, heads for her Minnesota farm home today. She will spend a few days there before coming to New York to start her new career.

In a breathtaking weekend, the baby-faced brunette, who "loves to clean fish," won $16,000 in contracts and scholarships by outclassing 54 other beauteous contestants.

To Think Over Offers

She says she'll have a few days at the four-acre family homestead to think over all the offers that have come her way as the beauty of the year.

It's all a far cry from the Hopkins Minn farm where Beatrice nicknamed "Bebe," says she tends about 100 chickens, drives a tractor and helps her mother in the kitchen.

"I kill and clean a chicken whenever we have one for dinner" and "I love to clean fish whenever Daddy brings them home," the beauty queen confided.

The five-foot, nine-inch Miss America plans to use some of the scholarship funds to continue to study music.

Her renditions on the vibraharp were among the talents which took the judges' eyes in the week-long shore resort beauty pageant.

The musical education, which Miss Shopp says she'll pursue, will emphasize percussion instruments. She also plays the piano and drums.

She may even wind up in Hollywood, but, says Miss America, there won't be any film appearances unless she can play a vibraharp.

The little girl from the farm, who neither smokes nor drinks, says she won't consider marriage until "I am 24 or 25 years old."

The crown she won Saturday night entitles her to a $5,000 scholarship, a $3,000 automobile and $8,000 in contracts for personal appearances.

Texas-Oklahoma Kiwanis Convention Plans Mapped

FORT WORTH, Sept. 13. (AP)—Plans were mapped here yesterday for the Texas-Oklahoma district convention of Kiwanis International, scheduled here Oct. 3-5.

Walter V. Bowman, Woodward, Okla., district governor and Fred Thompson, Pampa, program chairman, presided at the meeting.

BORDERLINE ANEMIA*

Can Make You Look Pale and "Played-Out"!

You can't hope to be attractive if your face is pale and drawn—if your energy seems on the edge of exhaustion. So remember—these signs can come from blood cells that are faded and shrunken. They may indicate a Borderline Anemia, due to a ferro-nutritional blood deficiency.

Medical studies show that up to 68% of women—many men and children—are the victims of this tiring Borderline Anemia.

If you have this Borderline Anemia, you need Ironized Yeast Tablets! They are specially formulated to help build up faded, puny red blood cells to healthy redness and size, and thus permit your color and energy to come surging back. Of course, continuing tiredness and pallor may come from other causes—see your doctor regularly. But in this Borderline Anemia, take Ironized Yeast Tablets. Take them to reclaim your vitality, your healthy color, your enjoyment of life!

*Due to a ferro-nutritional blood deficiency, a condition for which Ironized Yeast is specially formulated.

Millions In Credit And Relief Supplies Given Korea By U. S.

SEOUL, Sept. 13 (INS) — South Korea received from the United States today more than three hundred million dollars worth of credit and military relief supplies.

The action which included transfers of 11 administrative agencies from the South Korean interim government to the new republic, was completed under terms of an agreement signed this weekend by American and Korean representatives.

Nation Given Jap Property

Included in the transfer was former Japanese-owned property embracing the bulk of South Korea's industrial assets.

Among other things the agreement provides for:

Settlement of a $250,000 loan for liquidation of foreign holdings in South Korea. The loan is to be repaid in Korean currency which the United States will place in an educational fund.

The fund will be jointly administered by the two governments. It will permit American study of the Korean culture and allow Korean students to attend without cost schools in Korea, China and the Philippines.

Settlement of occupation costs listed at $24,000,000 which will be held by the U. S. to the credit of South Korea.

It was pointed out that the agreement is not final since the U. S. will retain control of several interim government offices not yet ready for immediate transfer to Korean hands.

Bodies Of Three American Fliers Found On Formosa

MANILA, Sept. 13 (INS) — The discovery of the bodies of three American pilots in the wreckage of their fighter planes on Formosa island was announced today by the 13th Air Force at Manila's Clark Field.

Ground parties reached the site last night after aerial searchers had located the wreckage near the Formosan town of Fuke.

The missing pilots—sought for four days—were members of a 16-plane formation of P-47's which ran into storms off the northern Philippines during a navigational training flight from Clark Field Wednesday.

Air Force Officials said it was not clear whether the planes had attempted emergency landings or struck elevated ground while being flown on instruments.

Socialite's Marriage To 'Cinderella Girl' Hits Legal Snags

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Sept. 13 (INS) — The path of true love never runs smoothly in fairy tales and the modern romance of socialite Francis Hitchcock and his coal-town "Cinderella" fiancee, Stephanie Saja, is no exception.

New complications barred the marriage of the young couple in Daytona Beach today. The groom-to-be not only is still legally married to his second wife, but the wife has filed a counter action to the divorce.

The marriage license which socialite Hitchcock and pretty Stephanie obtained last week from Judge E. W. Johnson in Bunnell, Fla., may not be legal.

Complications Arise

Plans for the wedding have progressed almost to the invitation point, but Judge Johnson said today that Hitchcock told him he was legally free when he applied for the license.

And in West Palm Beach where Hitchcock filed suit for divorce last April against Marie Grammer Hitchcock, a circuit court clerk said no decree has been issued.

In fact, to add to the complications, the counter motion filed by the second Mrs. Hitchcock must be reckoned with.

Court officials in West Palm Beach privately expressed the opinion that the 39-year-old Hitchcock's marriage license is void, since it was issued while he still technically had a wife.

The 23-year-old Miss Saja, product of the Pennsylvania coal country, has never been married.

Wedding Plans Continue

Preparations for the wedding, meanwhile, continued as if the dark clouds of legal complications did not exist.

The couple plan to be married in a quiet ceremony "Wednesday or Thursday" in an ultra-romantic setting by the sea—the white stucco ocean-front home of Col. Arch Wall, near Daytona Beach.

Mrs. Wall, who is superintending the event, said between 35 and 50 persons will be invited to the ceremony. A lavish party would follow at the swank Sheraton-Plaza hotel.

Bob Hope Plans To Adapot 'Subtle' Comedy To Meet Demands Of 'Thinking' Generation

By RUTH BRIGHAM
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept 13. — Bob Hope has thrown broad brand of comedy out the window.

The famed comedian is going high hat. He's going subtle, at any rate.

That, he says, is his concession to this "new thinking generation" today.

He's visited hospitals, toured the country, talked to you guys and gals, and he knows what you want.

Comedy Must Be Subtle

As he put it during an interview today:

"You no longer want your comedy broad. You want it subtle. It's got to be smooth. It's got to make you think—or you'll turn the dial.

"Why, it's even got to compete with quiz shows? How 'bout that?"

But don't worry, Hope's not going to ask you questions and he's not going to give away a pot of gold when he takes to the air Tuesday night and every Tuesday night thereafter.

He's merely going to give you a streamlined evening of laughs, and some new thought-provoking gags.

Hope has a brand new show, new writers and a new product.

To Comment On News

Hope, in fact, is selling soap, although that familiar tooth paste may "ooze out of his ears" for a while.

The comedian's new format will bring his listeners up-to-the-minute news flashes—from the wires of International News Service.

The flashes will be on the level, but Hope's comments won't. They'll be strictly for laughs.

For instance, when the announcer reads a legitimate news bulletin about Henry Wallace speaking in Dixie, Hope will chime in with:

"Yeah, there's a big scramble for campaign songs this year. Naturally, Truman's using the 'Missouri Waltz,' Dewey's picked 'Now Is The Hour,' and Henry Wallace is humming, "I'm A Fella With An Umbrella.'"

Misses Old Gang

Bob Hope, a sentimental soul who put in more mileage entertaining American troops than any other man, says he misses the old gang on his show—Jerry Colonna, Vera Vague, and he even misses the old gags.

"But," he explained, "people wanted something different. Regardless of how our script varied, everybody knew what to expect—Colonna's 'Who's Yehudi?' Vera's squeals and my monologue.

"We have to give 'em something different today. We've got a new set of kids. They're thinking. They're hep. Those hysterical years, when entertainment was the only release, are gone

"But, gee, I miss Colonna. And Vera. They're great performers, and will have great shows of their own, which they deserve."

When Hope turned over a new leaf, he went the whole way—and brought in a new staff of writers. So if an old gag creeps in, it will be entirely coincidental.

Australian Engineer Given Job Of Rebuilding Atom-Bombed City

By EARNEST HOBERECHT
United Press Staff Writer

HIROSHIMA, Sept 13. (U.P.) — Major S. A. Jarvie has the task of putting this atom-bombed city back together—and his job is to see that it gets built right.

Hiroshima, like all other oriental cities, grew from a village to a city with no planning. The streets were narrow, there was no sanitation system.

Since the slum-clearance work of the atomic bomb, which also cleared the better section of town, too, the opportunity has arisen to do a little scientific planning. That is what Major Jarvie is doing now.

Work Together

The major, an Australian army engineer, works closely with Major Shinzo Hamai and Yutaka Terada, chairman of the city council.

The major draws up the plans, Hamai and Terada, who are real go-getters, pound the ideas into the heads of the other city officials and the residents of the city.

They make up a three-man team that is determined to make Hiroshima the most modern city in the Far East.

"It may take 20 years," says Jarvie.

"About 50," says Hamai. "It is rather hard at times to get all the money we need."

"Never mind," puts in Terada, "we'll do it—sooner or later."

Plan Is Broad

The plans being worked out by Jarvie call for broad highways, modern sewage facilities, parks and all the other latest western civic developments.

Here are some of the things the new city will have:

1. A modern civic center.
2. A first class water system.
3. Modern transportation facilities.
4. Western style house numbering and street names.
5. Zoning to keep the factory section confined to one area.
6. An atomic bomb memorial park.

The major is eager to have plenty of places for flowers and trees in the new Hiroshima. He wants the Japanese to learn to paint the outsides of their houses, instead of leaving the natural wood exposed to the elements.

"Not only will paint make their houses last longer," he pointed out, "but a little color will go a long way toward giving these people a better outlook on life."

Oklahoma Publisher Dies Of Heart Attack On Fishing Trip

ENID, Okla., Sept. 13. (AP)—M. C. Garber, editor and co-publisher of the Enid Publishing company and a former congressman, died last night at an Alexandria, Minn., summer camp, the family was notified.

Garber, 81, was fishing with a companion when he became ill but piloted the motor boat to the dock. He died of a heart attack before a doctor could arrive.

Garber, a Republican, served as Oklahoma's eighth district congressman from 1922 to 1932. He has been co-publisher of the Enid Publishing company since 1922 and before that was part owner of the Enid News. The News and Enid Eagle merged to form the Enid Publishing company.

Early Pilgrim Home To Be Reproduced In Massachusetts

PLYMOUTH, Mass. Sept. 13. (U.P.) —The Pilgrim's first homes at Plymouth were frame houses with vertical plank siding and not log cabins as popularly supposed.

That was disclosed by research preparatory to the building of an authentic reproduction of one of the early houses near historic Plymouth Rock.

Gilmer-Aiken Group Favors $2,400 Minimum Teacher Pay

KERRVILLE, Sept. 13 (AP)—A minimum pay of $2,400 for Texas teachers and a state school officer appointed by an elected education board has been recommended by the Gilmer-Aiken committee.

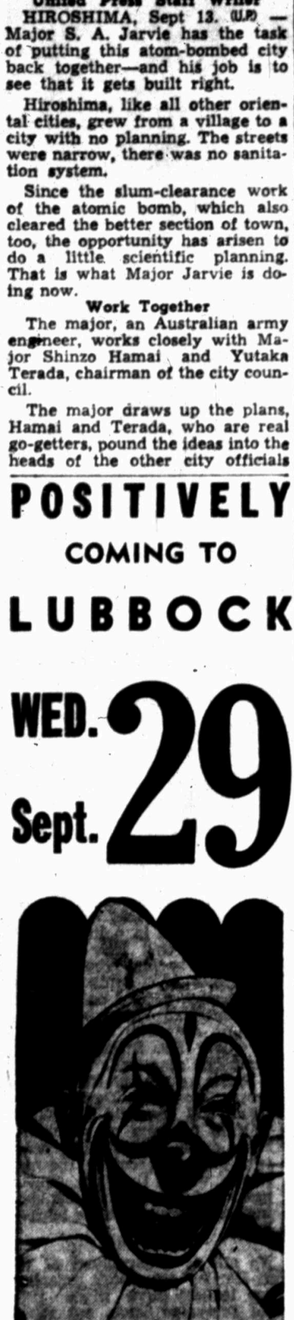

The committee, an advisory group to the legislature, wound up two days of meetings here Saturday.

It also recommended a proposal that county school finances be supplemented on an economic factor basis.

The proposal will be sent to advisory committees in each county for approval, then will be presented to the legislature when it convenes next January.

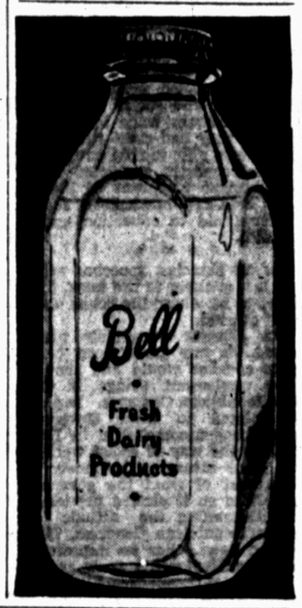

Minimum pay of $2,400 for teachers would be on a 10-months basis. The point was included in a provision for a minimum foundation program of education was proposed to be elected by the people in nine districts to be designated. The board would appoint a chief state school officer, who would be administrator of the state school system.

SANITARY CAFES

Good For Everybody

THE restaurant business as a whole will promote its own interests if it aggressively adopts as a basic operating policy the condemnation of insanitary eating places, as voiced the other day by Patrick D. Moreland, of Austin, executive vice president of the Texas Restaurant association.

Mr. Moreland's declaration was anent activities of the State Health department aimed at dirty eating places. Operators of some of the places affected apparently had sought help and consolation from the association executive officer. They didn't get it. "You should keep your place clean, or you should be closed," was the gist of what he told them.

Responsible restaurant operators everywhere, including those currently conventioning in Lubbock as members of the West Texas Restaurant association, undoubtedly share Mr. Moreland's views. Eating places of the "greasy spoon" type are a liability to a reputation for immaculate cleanliness. Restaurants as a whole could not do many things which might do more to inspire public good will and confidence than to support actively, as Mr. Moreland has done, the efforts to insure maximum sanitation in all such places.

Filthy eating establishments are the worst liability the restaurant industry can have. The industry helps itself more than anyone else through efforts which tend either to force such places to clean up or, preferably, to eliminate them entirely.

Democratic Split

THE Louisiana State Democratic committee took action which accords with the thinking of millions of real Democrats when it barred the names of Truman-Barkley electors from the November election ballot in favor of those of the Thurmond-Wright States' Rights ticket. The committee took the position that it had to decide whether the Truman-Barkley or the Thurmond-Wright represent the preferences of the true Democratic party. Members of the group decided that Messrs. Thurmond and Wright are the real Democrats. Their action in authorizing the printing of the names of their electors on the ballot followed automatically.

The decision is one that many individuals in many states—probably including Texas—will have to make for themselves in November. They will be told that they will make themselves "outcasts" from the Democratic party unless they vote for the Truman-Barkley ticket. They will be told that they will be violators of a "solemn pledge", unless they support the New Deal electors.

But it is safe to say that many true Democrats will refuse to submit to the dictation of machine politicians, who presume to sit in judgment of those who are and those who are not loyal members of the party.

Those who chose to support the State's Rights candidates will do so with the feeling that, only in this way, can they register support of the principles upon which the Democratic party was founded. They will feel that their vote will be an affirmation of true Democracy, not the repudiation that machine politicians with personal axes to grind will attempt to make their action appear.

Down Memory Lane

(From the files of The Lubbock Morning Avalanche of Sept. 14, 1928.)

Educational facilities apparently were being taxed then as now. Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Tech college, issued a statement seeking to quiet reports that the college would be so swamped it would not be able to care for those seeking entrance. He said facilities had been enlarged at the college, and that the city was better equipped than in the past to take care of student housing needs.

At Lamesa, J. A. Dunn, who lived seven miles southwest of there, had brought in Dawson county's first bale of cotton for the season. The bale weighed 416 pounds. It was purchased by S. L. Forrest at an auction sale at 25 cents. With a premium of $200 paid by the chamber of commerce Dunn received $312.80, equivalent to 75 cents a pound, for the bale.

XXXVIII

THE nurse could not suspect that he was a police officer. He identified himself simply as Mr. Talent. Mr. Sterling, he explained, had asked for him.

"He's really too low to talk to anyone but it can't greatly matter," the nurse said.

Talent sat at the bedside, close. He doubted that he would have known the emaciated yellowish face on the white pillow. Sterling's eyes stared at him . . . made an effort to grin. "Fine of you to come, Lieutenant," he said.

"Take it easy, Sterling, and if there's something you think you ought to tell me, let me have it in your own way."

Sterling struggled for breath. "Yes, there is," he said. "That burglary, Lieutenant, that was a fake. I faked it, all of it. I was in a bad spot for money. I needed my wife's necklace to tide me over. So I took it, and made it look like a burglary."

A series of coughs shook Sterling. For a moment he turned his face away. When he turned back, Talent said, "And you left those lights in the library and the front door unlocked?"

Sterling needed a moment to grasp that. Then his lips moved slowly. "No, I didn't leave those lights. I may have left the door unlocked, unintentionally. But not the lights."

Talent decided to risk a question. "Don't you want to tell me, Sterling, about what happened up in your wife's room? Was it an accident? You didn't mean to hit her so hard, did you?"

"Hit her? I didn't hit her, Lieutenant. She was asleep. I drugged her drink. She was still asleep when I tiptoed out of her room with the necklace."

"YOU see, Lieutenant, that's why I couldn't tell you about the burglary. You never would have believed, would you, that I didn't kill my wife? You would have convicted me for that, wouldn't you? So I had to keep that secret."

"What did you do with the necklace, Sterling?"

"Oh, that . . . I never got it back."

"How about the money?"

"'Money!" Sterling's eyelids fluttered. The once firm chin suddenly sagged. "I've got a lot of it, Lieutenant. My will. Steadman's got it. You'll check with him about it, won't you?" The words had come slowly.

"I mean those $100 bills. What about them?"

"Now you know what I did . . . I'm glad I've had a chance to tell you . . . I'm on the way out, Lieutenant . . ."

The voice had tapered . . . died. The eyelids dropped. Sterling was breathing heavily, a gurgling, choking sound in his throat.

Talent bent down in a desperate effort, his lips almost at one of Sterling's ears.

"Listen, boy," he said pleadingly. "Tell me if you can. Have you any idea who did kill your wife? I believe you, boy. I believe you didn't kill her. Do you know who did?"

Talent waited without moving. Sterling was mumbling thickly. Talent leaned half across the bed. He caught barely coherent phrases: ". . . last thing she said . . . just before she drove away . . . last thing . . . she couldn't have, no, she couldn't have . . . she didn't do that . . . but did she . . . last thing . . . have it out with Miriam . . . have it out . . . cards on the table . . . last words . . . drove away . . . last words . . . have it out . . . but that way . . . did she mean that way . . ."

TALENT minced through his dinner. Later he sat for an hour holding his newspaper without reading. The type was blotted out by a haggard, suffering face on a pillow . . . lips trying to form words.

Twice Talent called the hospital, to be told each time that Sterling was in a coma. It was past 11 o'clock when he called a third time. He was told Marcus Sterling was dead. A Mr. Steadman and a Miss Wilson had been at his bedside when he died.

Talent tossed in his futile effort to sleep. Over and over, Sterling's mumbled raving was running through his mind.

At 3:30 Talent got up and dressed. He stopped in his kitchen for a cup of coffee. Before 4:30 Talent was at his deck at Police Headquarters, bent over the contents of the Sterling file.

He found a memorandum in his own handwriting. It was one that had flashed into his memory during his sleepless wrestling with Sterling's delirious mutterings. It was the notes on what Richard Trapgood had telephoned him that Sunday night after he had been to Edgecraft.

Talent studied his bold scrawl.

On Thursday night of Miriam Sterling's murder Sterling and Janet Weirhaven had drinks at Edgecraft Country Club. Sterling walked out with her to her car when she started home. That was around 1:30. Miss Weirhaven told this to Dick at the club Sunday night, 5-19-40, three days after the murder.

Talent picked up a small envelope . . . tapped its contents out on his desk . . . a dried, almost brittle cigaret butt, with its now faint ring of lipstick . . . a photograph of two faint fingerprints found on the butt, a slender forefinger and thumb.

If they should turn out to be actually the prints of Janet Weirhaven! It was a stupefying thought! Then something else hit Chris Talent with even more electrifying force. No longer Janet Weirhaven! For almost two years now she had been Janet Trapgood . . . Dick's wife!

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

"THE iron brooms are sweeping . . through the hungry, rubbled streets of Berlin . . . down Macedonian hillsides into beleaguered Greek mountain towns . . into Tito's steel-fenced backyard . . . now in China, then in Burma, in Mukden . . . across thresholds, nations, continents.

"But as the red dust blows into men's eyes . . ."

You can imagine my excitement when I got this far into a letter that came in the mail this morning!

BRANDEIS

I hadn't noticed any iron brooms sweeping around our neighborhood, and the dust that blew into my eyes wasn't red at all, but just the usual dust-colored dust.

But here was this letter, all dotted with dots and interspersed with asterisks.

It was done in deep black ink, with the heading in red, the signature in blue, some of the paragraphs underlined, one of them with double marks on either side.

Here was drama. Here was suspense.

Could it be a threatening letter?

Could it be that Stalin had read a few of the uncomplimentary remarks I had made about him and had ordered Consul Lomakin to bump me off before he went on his return trip to Russia?

By now my head was swimming with excitement, with fear—and also with the heat, it being 96 in my study this forenoon.

But I mastered my excitement and my fear and skipped down to one of the underlined sentences, a sentence which looked, by its emphasis, as if it might be not only a very important sentence, but perhaps even my death sentence.

TYPESETTER: Please leave those three rows of asterisks in my copy, as well as this explanation I want to keep my readers in suspense, just as the writer of the mystery letter wanted to keep me in suspense.

This is what the sentence said: But your subscription is about to expire

I wiped the perspiration off my face and my neck.

And I threw the letter into the wastebasket, together with the subscription card that offered me a "Special Old Timers' Rate" of only $13 for the next three years.

I shall not renew my subscription. With my heart in a rather delicate condition at the moment, I cannot stand these shocks of iron brooms sweeping and red dust blowing into my eyes.

In other words, I can't stand too much baloney I am supposed to watch my weight.

After that elaborate piece of promotion, what a relief it was to read the modest little postcard, which addressed me as "Dear Friend and Car Operator" and pleaded with me to let them have my old tires on which they are making "Terrific! ALLOWANCES!"

Nothing fancy about that, but good advertising. And I shall let them have my old tires.

Funny Business

"It sounds better than just 'groceries' with prices the way they are."

'HST MAY IGNORE BOSSES

Demos Are Confident

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — President Truman will resort to another Rooseveltian technique by appealing for reelection over the heads of the regularly constituted Democratic bosses and several prominent labor leaders who did not favor his renomination before Philadelphia, and are still indifferent to his November fate.

TUCKER

The sensitive and dougty Missourian, who owed his substitution on the 1944 ticket to the Flynn-Hague-Kelley combination, is still bitter toward them for their pre-convention opposition to him. National Chairman J Howard McGrath, unlike James A. Farley, has only a passing acquaintance with them.

DEALS: The ancient bosses, or their successors, seem to be sulking or to be afraid to show their faces before the man they dared to defy in favor of General "Ike" Eisenhower or Associate Justice William O. Douglas. They may fear that he has heard rumors of deals to sacrifice him in return for local Republicans' promises to lie down and roll over in forthcoming Congressional, gubernatorial and mayoralty contests.

They may also have been frightened off by James Roosevelt's account of the tongue-lashing he suffered when he paid a call on Mr. Truman after Philadelphia. F.D.R.'s eldest son showed courage in making the visit, for he had tried to deliver the California delegation to somebody other than the President.

HEIR: Recalling that he had been Franklin D. Roosevelt's choice for the vice-presidency, and that he was F.D.R.'s political heir, Mr. Truman asked how James could have the nerve to head a revolution against the White House incumbent. According to "Jimmie," who has his father's sense of humor, he wondered when "the boss" was going to use a whip or a razor strop on him.

In view of the fact that they forced the presidency on him, and the further fact that he has played the "organization game," Mr. Truman is even more resentful toward the "ungrateful" heads of the big city and state machines. Even "Old Tom" Pendergast, he points out, showed more loyalty and allegiance to the accepted political code than the Flynns, Hagues, Arveys etc.

The lonely man in the White House also notes, somewhat wistfully, that Mr. Farley, who owes no debts to the Roosevelt-Truman crowd, has been more faithful.

MESSAGE: The fact is that certain Truman advisers have urged him to give no quarter to the organization's local leaders, especially as they have not done so well for him or for themselves in local struggles during the last few years. Even the appearance of cutting loose from these ties, they feel, will erase memories of the President's early and late association with the notorious Pendergast machine.

This anti-boss role, wnether it becomes a reality or a political pretense for campaign purposes, is only one of the assets which the Democratic strategists rely on for reelection of the President.

The principal advice given to the White House by Senate Liaison Officer Leslie Biffle, on his return from a scouting tour, was that Mr. Truman should run as a "people's" rather than a "politicians'" candidate and hope.

Mr. Truman struck that note in his Labor Day speeches before audiences of workingmen in important industrial centers in Michigan. He will stick to it when he carries his popular message to metropolitan areas in the East and West, and when he and Senator Barkley, vice-presidential offering, hit the stage of crossroads theaters in rural sections.

PROSPERITY: Despite the general expectation that the Dewey-Warren forces will win easily and overwhelmingly, the Truman-McGrath-Biffle board of strategy figure that they have other assets which will make themselves felt before the last vote is counted on that fateful day in November.

Rarely, in American history, they point out, have the voters turned out a White House incumbent in a period of high wages, high prices and general prosperity.

Despite political and popular concern about inflation of the dizzy and dangerous variety, as of the moment the people are eating, drinking, night-clubbing and spending money as they have not been able to do—or were not so foolish to do—since the pre-depression days.

And in 1928, they recall, despite the same fears of a boom-and-bust experience, the voters preferred the Hoover-Curtis ticket to the Smith-Robinson combination. The Trumanites are looking and preparing for a repeat performance.

FACTORS: Here are the other principal factors which make for at least an air of confidence at Democratic national ehadquarters and the White House:

1. The apparent crackup of the Wallace, Third party movement, which may mean that there will be a smaller falling-off of the Truman vote in the great cities.

2. The Democratic plan to pin the blame for high prices and housing shortages on the recent Republican Congress, with their flanking strategy of trying to force Governors Dewey and Warren to praise or repudiate Capitol Hill leaders of the G.O.P.

3. The lack of enthusiasm of a personal kind for Governor Dewey, even among those who ache to vote for him.

4. The support of more than 2,000,000 federal workers who want to retain their jobs. This can be discounted, in part, because about 80 per cent of federal employes are under Civil Service, and will retain their jobs, anyway. But there are numerous key ofifcials who would walk the plank under a change of Administration, and they have considerable local influence.

5. President Truman's plan to wage a "street to street" battle, in which he will make a flamboyant and violent appeal to the masses and paint Governor Dewey as an Aldrich-Grundy puppet.

6. The martyr and sympathy vote, consisting of independent and non-politically minded voters, who may be led to think that the humble, modest, hard-working and conscientious Harry S. Truman has been given a "raw deal" by both his erstwhile friends and enemies.

7. The New Deal bloc of heterogenous do-gooders, who may not think that Mr. Truman is worthy to run at F.D.R.'s heir, or even acquaintance, but who figure that he is the best they got.

Bad government is another thing that comes high.

Some people have an idea that a modern convenience is a friend.

A typical family of four needs $3,004 a year to live on says a story from Washington. But more than likely it will continue to be a typical need

CONGRESS' ACTION SOFT-PEDALED

GOP Campaign Ignores Old Guard

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—This is about the witching hour in a presidential campaign for Republicans to dig out that old cliche about "setting class against class" and "stirring up class hatred" which became so familiar to the point of boredom in the Roosevelt years.

And sure enough, in accordance with custom, Harold Stassen came through perfectly in the kickoff-speech for the Republicans and for their candidate, Governor Thomas E. Dewey, in his widely advertised reply to President Truman's opening campaign address on Labor Day. Mr. Truman, so the Republican campaign keynoter says, is setting class against class, and so that is that, and may now be filed away in the "ho-hum" department.

It's not possible to go the step further in the case of Harry Truman, as with Franklin D. Roosevelt, and accuse the President occupant of the White House with "betraying his class," for Mr. Truman is not the squire of Krum Elbow or any other place, but just one of the rest of us. So we'll be spared that this time.

Congress Also To Blame

Mr. Stassen, of course, was just making a campaign speech, as did President Truman, and altogether a pretty good speech as campaign speeches go.

But, to keep the record straight, it is probably permissible for a close observer of the 80th Congress to suggest that the "setting of class against class" had its origin right there. For some who represent such "class" as we have in this country, which still means those who control great aggregations of capital, moved in on the 80th congress to try to hamstring labor and to break down existing statutes for the protection of the average citizen, such as our long-established public power policy and social security and minimum wage laws, in which they had some success, and were able to stop entirely such proposals, endorced by Republican platforms of 1944 and 1948, as public housing and federal aid to education and health.

So, all camaign speeches aside and just sticking to the facts, that seems to be where the "class warfare" started.

Mr. Stassen completely overlooked, as any Republican campaign speaker would and should, these unpleasant things in the 80th Republican Congress. Instead he pointed to what Governor Dewey has accomplished in New York in the way of social welfare and labor measures, obviously as a forecast of what the governor intends to go if elected president, notwithstanding the attiude of the last Republican Congress. That is good news. For an impressive list of achievements it is as recited by Mr. Stassen—public housing, a state FEPC, improvement and expansion of the workmen's compensation board, of state minimum wage laws and of the apprentice training program. That bespeaks a forward-looking attitude.

Has Own Program

Mr. Stassen's speech, in which Governor Dewey collaborated, is a good preview of the Dewey campaign tack, which is usually called in politics "the master speech." The over-all approach is for "the sound principles of a truly liberal philosophy, carried on with a humanitarian emphasis in the highest American traditions," to quote Mr. Stassen. The campaign plan calls for:

Playing down the 80th Congress. Governor Dewey, instead, will advocate a special welfare program of his own based on his New York record which apparently means things which the 80th Congress refused to do, including some form of public housing.

No all-out endorsement of the Taft-Hartley act which organized labor leaders have made their chief campaign issue, but rather a receptive attitude toward some amendments, judging from what Mr. Stassen said, which was that the law should be amended in some respects.

Repudiation of Republican old guard conservatism and adherence to the Republican platform which, as Mr. Stassen phrased it, was "a forward looking document developed under the chairmanship of Senator Lodge through the insistence of millions of the younger and more liberal members of the Republican party."

The campaign accent, in short, will be on youth rather than on the party elders who had so much to do with the 80th Congress and who, despite all Mr. Dewey's intentions, will be back here come January. But that, if the governor is elected, is of course another problem.

Legion Members Approve Plan To Increase Dues Of Post

A brief business meeting, followed by an entertainment program was held Monday night as members of Allen Bros. post No. 148, American Legion, met at the post home.

Members passed on first reading a resolution which, if carried, will raise the post dues from $4 to $5 a year.

Wayne D. Groce, first vice commander, presided in the absence of J. R. Eagan, post commander.

Jack Hall, Legion service officer, outlined activities of the post.

Following the business session an entertainment program of songs was presented by Mrs. G. P. Cunningham and Mrs. Robert Dennis.

"Young man, I was driving up and down this street when you were in a baby buggy—and you mean to tell me you had the right of way?"

TUNNEL-BAKED

MEAD'S FINE BREAD is the pace-maker in purity because it is untouched by human hands throughout the baking process. This is made possible by use of the air-conditioned, tunnel-shaped oven pictured below. Specially designed and built for Mead's Fine Bread Company of Lubbock, this massive oven bakes MEAD'S FINE BREAD with five different temperature stages. Each stage is thermostatically-controlled for baking accuracy. "Hands-off" tunnel-baking gives MEAD'S FINE BREAD active flavor and ripple-soft texture. Air-conditioned tunnel-making is another advance in the art of making a better MEAD'S FINE BREAD.

LARGEST OVEN WEST OF FT. WORTH

This tremendous oven, 75 feet long and man-height, has a daily capacity of 96,000 loaves. Bread enters at one end, basks and bakes in five graduated heat levels, and comes out well done with perfect flavor.

Extension Service Urges Early Cleanup Of Cotton Stalks

Early plowing under of cotton stalks yields a two-way profit for the farmer, in that it helps greatly in insect control and adds organic matter to the soil, according to records of the extension service.

Setting out that it is a job that must be done sooner or later anyway, the service points out that the earlier the stalks are turned under, the more weevils, bollworms and other pests will starve out during the winter, laying groundwork for more profits from next year's crop.

Cleanup Records Cited

No records were cited in the South Plains area, where weevils are no problem and worms have not been bad except in small areas, but in the lower Rio Grande valley cleanup campaigns ranging from very poor to excellent have been conducted since 1943. After a poor cleanup in the fall of 1944, 51 per cent of the squares on the following season's crop were punctured by the boll weevil. But when they had an excellent cleanup in early August of 1946, only three per cent of the squares were punctured the following season.

In Williamson county (central Texas) a county-wide stalk cleanup program (plowing under), was completed last September 30. This year on July 16 only nine per cent of the squares were punctured. A week later the county total was 12 per cent punctured, and on July 30 there was a 27 per cent puncture total.

Adjoining Milam county did not have a county-wide stalk plowunder campaign last year. This year a July 16 check showed 45 per cent of the squares punctured, and on July 23, a total of 59 per cent had the tell-tale weevil holes. One week later the county total had increased to 63 per cent.

The service emphasized that in addition to pest control, the plowunder practice returns badly needed organic matter to the soil following an era of too much "piracy" farming.

Roswell Man Still Seeking Answer For Puzzling Query

ROSWELL, N. M., Sept. 13, (U.P.) —Frank Kaufman of the Roswell chamber of commerce is still trying to think of the answer to a question put to him by a telephone caller.

"What is the altitude of Roswell?" asked the feminine voice, in an obviously Eastern accent.

"Three thousand feet," Kaufman told her.

"And how often does that change?" she asked.

Yale's quarterback, Robert (Tex) Furse, had a passing average of .619 last fall. This was the best mark in the nation, including collegiate and professional circles.

MARKET HITS SKID

NEW YORK, Sept. 13. (AP)—Persistent weakness in the stock market today carried the list to the lowest point in nearly a month.

Only rails and utilities tried at any time to move against the current, but they soon gave way. The downward drift was a continuation of last week's market.

As measured by The Associated Press average of 60 stocks, the market was down .5 of a point to close at 67.5, the lowest level since Aug. 16. Industrials edged off by the widest margin, .5 of a point, and rails lost .4 and utilities .3 of a point.

There were 680,000 shares traded today. Of the 924 issues traded, 204 ended higher and 529 lower.

U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic all were off ⅝, and Youngstown Sheet & Tube lost 1½ at 80. Chrysler lost a point at 58⅞, and General Motors and Studebaker dropped ⅝.

Metals as a group showed especial weakness with Kennecott off 1⅞ at 56, Phelps Dodge down 2⅛ at 51¼, and American Smelting off 1¼.

Western Union and American Telephone and Telegraph, each up ¼, were among utilities gaining fractions.

Bonds were narrow and quiet, and stocks on the curb market were irregularly lower. Kaiser Frazer was off ⅝ at 10⅞, and cities service lost 1⅜ at 48⅜.

In the two seasons that the All-America Football Conference has been in operation, the Chicago Rockets have scored exactly the same number of points—263—in their 14 annual tilts.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP) — Commission house and New Orleans selling depressed cotton futures moderately today. The selling partly represented profit taking and was also influenced by prospects of heavier hedging when ginnings reach full peak.

In early dealings the market advanced almost $1 a bale on aggressive trading buying.

Futures closed 90 cents a bale lower to 60 cents higher than the previous close.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 13 (AP)— Cotton futures declined here today under hedge-selling and profit-taking from the long side.

Closing prices were steady 45 cents to 85 cents a bale lower.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 13. (AP)—Average price of middling 15/16ths inch cotton today at 10 designated southern spot markets was 60 cents a bale lower at 31.17 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days 32.20; middling ⅞ths-inch average 28.52.

Grain

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Sept. 13 (AP) — Wheat No. 1 hard 2.38¾-2.43¾.
Oats No. 2 white 89¾-90¼.
Corn No. 2 white 2.33-2.37.
Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo per 100 lbs 2.60-2.65.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 13 (AP) — A good part of early gains in grains was lost toward the close on the board of trade today. Profit-taking, easiness in securities and expectations that the visible supply figures would show an increase in corn stocks caused some late selling.

At one time September corn advanced more than 3 cents.

Wheat closed 1½ lower to 1 cent higher, September $2.23¾-$2.24, corn was ⅞ lower to 2¼ higher, September $1.74½-78, oats were ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, September 72.

U. S. Informs Red Government School Teacher Case Is Closed

By GEORGE DURNO
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—The United States has informed the Soviet government that the Russian school teachers case is a "closed" international incident.

The State department made public today what obviously is its final rejection of Russian contentions that:

1. The teachers should be returned to Russian curtody to be shipped back to their homeland.
2. That New York City police failed to give Soviet diplomatic representatives free access to the teachers.
3. That the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Tolstoy Foundation to shelter Russian refugees took part in "kidnapping" the teachers.

Two Wanted Freedom

The case revolved around the Russian teachers Mikhail Samarine and Mrs. Oksana Kosenkina who sought refuge in the U. S. upon their decision not to return to their homeland.

Mrs. Kosenkina was severely injured last month in her leap to freedom from the Soviet consulate in New York City where she had been taken after her "rescue" from the Tolstoy foundation home by former consul Jacob Lomakin.

This was the latest development in the precarious relations between the United States and Russia.

Officials On Alert

State department officials remained constantly on the alert for any news of action at the Kremlin between Stalin and envoys from the U. S., France and Great Britain over the critical Berlin situation.

Department spokesman Michael McDermott refused to make any comment on either the Russian or the Berlin situations at his news conference.

Neither Secretary of State Marshall nor Undersecretary Robert Lovett had any appointments on their schedules which might deal with European conditions.

The western powers kept trans-Atlantic telephone wires humming Sunday as they mapped plans for a final appeal to develop a way to lift the blockade of Berlin.

The department, meanwhile, in a note published today, formally rejected Russian protests which charged New York police failed to give Soviet diplomatic representatives free access to see the school teachers who refused to return to their homelands.

PLASTIC HANGER

A new fur coat hanger made of light-weight celanese, broad on top and tapered on the sides, is designed to fit coats by following contour of neck and shoulders. The smooth surface, it is said, will not snag linings, and coats slide easily along the hanger to be adjusted into place.

Dewey Asked To Aid Reece In Tennessee

ALBANY, N. Y. Sept. 13 (INS)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey received an SOS call from another hard-pressed Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate, former national chairman Carroll Reece of Tennessee.

Reece interrupted his own campaign to lay before the GOP presidential nominee an urgent plea that he arrange his itinerary to permit at least one speech in Tennessee. Reece said:

"The governor told me he would like to come, but that he did not yet know if limitations of time would make is possible."

Border States Shaky

Tennessee is the second border state Dewey has been asked to visit during the last week.

National committeeman Walter S. Hallanan of West Virginia called upon him in New York City Friday to urge that he visit that state and help the senatorial candidacy of Sen. Chapman Revercomb, who is having a sharp contest with former Sen. Matthew Neeley, Democrat.

Reece told Dewey he believed the governor has a good chance to become the first Republican presidential candidate to carry Tennessee since Herbert Hoover beat the late Alfred E. Smith there in 1928.

Evidence Melts; Man Pleads Guilty After Theft Of Ice

There was no evidence in this case—it had melted.

Police announced this afternoon that a 64-year-old man booked as Ben Flentge had pleaded guilty of theft under $5—a chunk of ice he had found in front of a store here. He was fined $25, which he paid.

Police said the man was observed to have picked up the ice. He ran, dropping the ice, but pleaded guilty upon his arrest, official reports said.

Natural Gasoline Plant To Be Built In Todd Ranch Field

PONCA CITY, Okla., Sept. 11 (U.P.) — Continental Oil company has been selected to operate a natural gasoline plant which is to be constructed as part of a petroleum conservation project in the Todd Ranch field, West Texas, the company announced today.

The plant, which will be built within the next 12 months by Refinery Maintenance Co., of Compton, Calif., will handle all of the gas produced at the field.

Lubbock, (Tex.) Morn. Avalanche, Tues., Sept. 14, 1948 Sec. III, rg. 7

The refinery will have a capacity of 10,000,000 cubic feet daily and will recover approximately 60,000 gallons of liquid hydrocarbons each day.

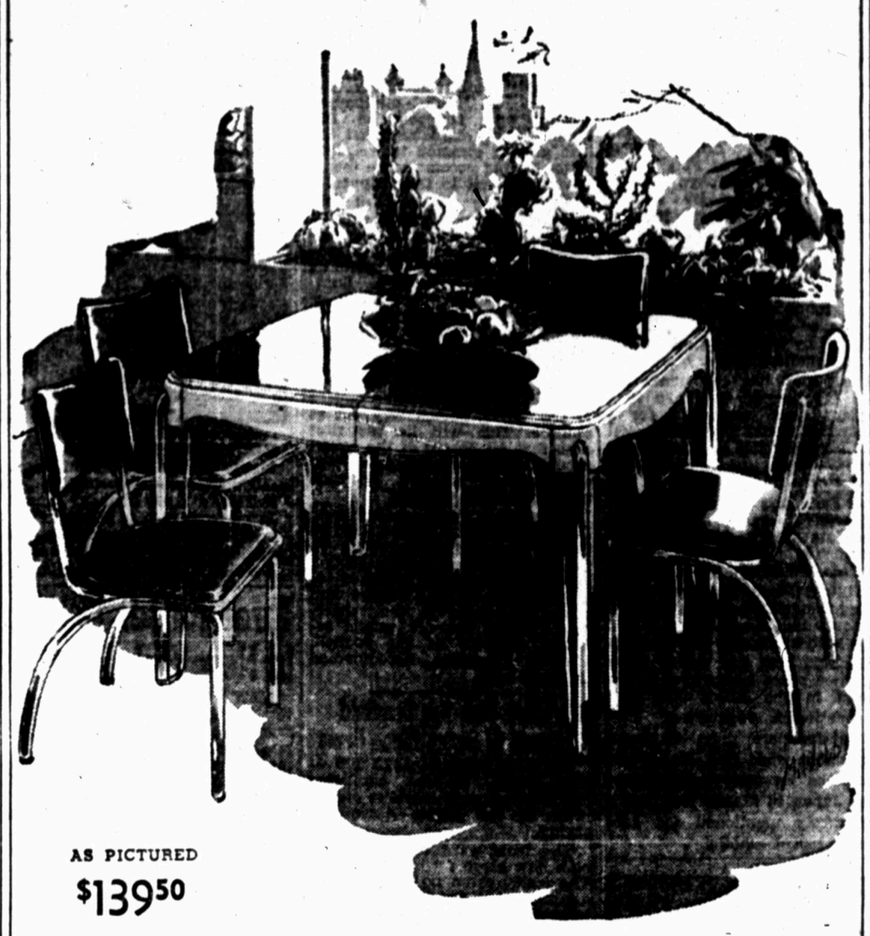

There are 23 participating operators in the Todd Ranch field which was discovered in April 1940. Twenty-three wells in the Ellenburger pool and 16 wells in the Crinoidal pool are operated by Continental Oil.

Leftists Group In Tokyo Pushes Demands For Jap Peace Treaty

TOKYO, Sept. 13 (INS) — A leftist propaganda campaign for an early peace treaty and withdrawal of occupation troops from Japan gained momentum in Tokyo today.

American officials voiced the suspicion that the so-called "independence" drive was Moscow inspired but Russian officials in Japan were silent on the subject.

This newest move in what observers believe could develop into a Far Eastern "cold war" was launched Sept. 1 with a nine-point peace plan printed in the Communist party's official newspaper Akahata ("Red Flag"). The article appeared in Tokyo one day following a reportedly similar discussion in Moscow's Pravda, Russian Communist newspaper.

Immediate Treaty Asked

The plan, pressed hard by Japanese Communist and other left-wing groups calls for an immediate Allied-Japanese peace treaty followed by withdrawal of American occupation troops.

It opposes what the Communists term "conversion of Japan to a military base" and calls for a treaty that would give Japan what is called "complete independence."

Virtually the same plan was repeated in appeals sent to the Allied Far East commission and Progressive party presidential candidate Henry A. Wallace by the Japanese League for Protection of Democracy two days ago.

William Sebald, chairman of the Allied Council for Japan, expressed doubt that the Russians would raise such a proposal in that body.

He said that any action on a Japanese peace treaty must be initiated in the Allied Far East commission in Washington.

The Japanese press displayed excitement when Gen. MacArthur advocated an early peace treaty with Japan in March 1947 but it has rarely mentioned the subject in recent months.

portance to the High Plains among which are the effects of irrigation on mechanization, the use and development of defoliants, and the ginning of mechanically-stripped cotton.

Constant increases in irrigated cotton acreages in this area may eventually make necessary the adoption of both mechanical pickers and strippers in the Plains. It was explained that the lush growth common to irrigated cotton do not accommodate themselves too well to the stripper.

Among key features of the mechanization conference will be the actual use of all machines required for producing cotton mechanically in special test plots at the Lubbock substation. Supt. Jones and H. P. Smith are in charge of plans and arrangements for this phase of the program.

On the second day of the meeting, delegates will see the cotton which was mechanically stripped on the previous day being ginned at the W. O. Fortenberry gin at Monroe. This will be the first time that all phases of the cotton production cycle have ever been demonstrated at the Beltwide mechanization gathering.

During his stay in Lubbock, Criswell is conferring with George A. Simmons and J. N. Caviness, Lubbock Cotton Oil Co.; Jones Fortenberry; officials of Texas Technological college and others interested in the conference. Ernest Stewart, public relations director of the council, also of Memphis, accompanied Criswell here.

Pittsburgh Club Has Cornfield As Result Of Spring Bingo Game

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 13 (U.P.) — The bingo players carelessly tossed away their markers on the lawn of the Eagles Aerie last spring.

The front yard of the Eagles' club now blooms a healthy green. The stalks came up by the hundreds. In fact, it takes a tall man to see the club house through the corn.

The strange harvest resulted from a carnival the Eagles held last spring. The bingo players were provided with corn to use on their cards.

Man-Of-The Month Is Given Jaycee Award

Members of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting for luncheon Monday at the Hilton hotel witnessed the presentation of the August Jaycee Man-of-the-Month award to Dr. P. K. Palmer and heard a talk on the deplorable conditions of the Texas prison system by Waggoner Carr, county attorney-elect.

The award, presented to Dr. Palmer by A. B. Watkins, American Business Club president, was made on the basis of Palmer's chairmanship of the Jaycee-sponsored Miss Lubbock contest and his supervision of concession arrangements at the recent motorcycle races at Buffalo Lake.

Carr, who toured the central prison at Huntsville and two of the prison farms near Houston on Tuesday, Sept. 7, told cold, unpleasant facts about the Texas prison set-up.

Carr pointed out as highlight "sore points" of the system the following: antiquated buildings and poor equipment, no incentive for the men to work, a high ratio of sex crimes and murders, deplorable crowded sleeping conditions no facility for separation of criminals and insane men, no medical facilities, lack of clean clothing and lack of proper food.

He stressed that all of the major faults were caused by lack of sufficient appropriations afor the at Darrington and Retrieve farms, prison system, and not by faulty supervision. Guards in the prison, for example, are paid $133 a month, Carr said.

The group also heard reports of committee chairmen, including one by inter-club relations chairman Allan Todd regarding an informal inter-club dance to be held Thursday night in Hotel Lubbock.

Dog Finds Way Home After Jaunt Through Four States

CHICAGO, Sept. 13 (U.P.) — Skippy, a small, rust-colored terrier, traveled 400 miles through four states to rejoin his master.

Lock Albertsen, 49, left his home in Chicago to visit relatives in Louisa, Ky. He took Skippy along and left the dog there, planning to return for him later.

Thirty-nine days later Albertsen heard a joyful bark outside his door and opened it to admit Skippy, tired and worn from his trip, but glad to be home.

Three Killed, 10 Hurt In New York Blast

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—A terrific gas explosion resulting from an apparent suicide wrecked two floors of a Manhattan apartment house before dawn yesterday. Three persons died and ten were injured.

A veteran fireman said the 17-story building at 200 West 108th street looked as if a bomb had hit the fourth and fifth floors.

Police said the explosion apparently was caused by Eugene Hurley, 35, who they said had threatened suicide after estrangement from his wife. Four gas jets were found turned on in his wrecked apartment where he lay dead of gas asphyxiation.
