Winters Fair Has Attractive Booths

Many attractive booths are to be seen at the Winters "Live-at-Home" Fair this week. The exhibits are divided into classes and kinds, those belonging to the merchants being grouped in a building called the Industrial Hall; the live stock displays grouped in another place, and the community exhibits and booths in a third.

Many merchants of the city have very attractive booths and are interesting in their arrangement. Pretty girls are in charge of most of these, and are cheerful and willing to explain the benefit of their wares to the curious.

A large number of fine bred stock, of all kinds, is to be seen. The judging of this stock took place Friday and the winners are to be announced later. The 4H clubs, girls' canning clubs, and home demonstration clubs held sway Friday.

The community booths are the real attraction of the fair. Much hard work was expended by the builders of these booths. They represent the work of the entire community and are the culmination of a year's planting and growing. Several have picturesque settings and are novel in their arrangement. The booths of each community were judged, and a queen of each community was also on hand. The booth winning first prize will have the queen of that community crowned Friday night as the queen of the entire county.

A banquet tonight will be given in honor of Her Majesty "Queen Runnels," and a large number of people have expressed their intentions of attending the affair.

In yesterday's program immediately after the huge parade an address of welcome was extended the visitors by Mayor Key of Winters, and the response was made by Mayor McCarver of Ballinger.

AGE DEADLINE FOR WORKERS IS HIGHER

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 28.—At some point during working years, every employer ceases to look with favor upon applicants for employment, according to George A. George, appearance psychologist, who listed a few occupational zero years in an address here. Here they are:

Bookkeepers	45
Cashiers	45
Salesmen (general)	35 to 41
Clerks in retail stores	33
Stenographers	28
Ad copy writers	36
Executives ($10,000 class)	47

"As a general rule, the chances for good connections among white collar workers grow constantly more remote after 40 is reached," said Miss George. "Among the trades and unskilled labor, a person's opportunities of obtaining employment begin to decline after 30, and age presents an almost impassable barrier somewhere in the forties, because the physical organism of manual laborers begins to deteriorate after 27 or 28 years of age.

"Youthful appearance is all important for men and women who are seeking new jobs as they approach the age deadlines in their occupations.

"The present occupational age deadlines are in many cases one or two years higher than a decade ago, because the span of life is lengthening and improved sanitary conditions and increasing knowledge of how to keep well, are contributing to a longer period of usefulness for the average worker of both hand and brain."

Two Pilots Killed In Plane Crashes

(By International News Service)

WESTBURY, N. Y., June 28.—An airplane bearing United States army markings crashed on the polo field at the Meadowbrook Club here at 12:30 o'clock last night. The plane is said to have been piloted by Lieut. Maxwell W. Balfour, accompanied by his mechanic.

German Fighter Wins Heavyweight

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 28.—Max Schmeling, Germany heavyweight, is regarded as the man of destiny today by virtue of his victory over Paulino Uzcudun, Spanish slugger, in fifteen rounds at the Yankee Stadium last night.

Schmeling took the last five rounds, battering Uzcudun unmercifully, though not scoring a knock-out.

WYOMING UNIVERSITY MAY DROP FOOTBALL

(By International News Service)

LARAMIE, Wyo., June 28.—Abolition of intercollegiate football was a part of a plan being advocated by the alumni committee of the University of Wyoming.

The committee would do away with football for a year or two; or until an improvement of attitude was evident among the players and the student body in general. The reason hinted at in the revolting plan was that class and school spirit was being forced into the background by excessive athletic and fraternity spirit.

Letters were to be sent to all members of the Wyoming alumni association asking them to express their opinion on the following recommendations:

1. Necessity for cutting down the university social and fraternity calendar.
2. Having compulsory university assemblies of general interest at least twice a month.
3. Having faculty ruling as to the number of organizations to which a student may belong and the number of offices he may hold, varying with class and grades.
4. Having fraternity council and faculty meet at the beginning of the college year and insist that less emphasis be put on fraternity spirit and more on university and class spirit.
5. That the alumni feels that stricter discipline should be enforced in athletic and academic lines.

WILL SIX TURTLES SIT ON ONE LOG AT SAME TIME?

A novel and unique window display is being shown by the D. E. Moody Music Company this week. In their show window is a large vat of water and this vat also contains six small turtles and a board. When the six turtles all get on the log at the same time a reward is to be given to person who first sees it.

Turtles are funny creatures, and the point that is puzzling so many is will these turtles all have the same notion at the same time.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Blankenship, of Concho were in Ballinger Friday attending to business. They have just returned from a trip to Del Rio, Eagle Pass and San Antonio and stated that all crops look good throughout the territory covered on the trip.

Capt. Hawk's tries Break Own Record

(By International News Service)

METROPOLITNA AIRPORT, Los Angeles, June 28.—Aiming to smash his own transcontinental non-stop flight record, Captain Frank Hawks took off from here at 3:37 this morning, pointing his slim Lockheed monoplane "Texaco" toward Roosevelt Field, Long Island, his destination. Capt. Hawks said he hoped to accomplish the flight in fifteen hours.

His west to east record is eighteen hours and twenty-two minutes. He arrived here late yesterday after completing the non-stop flight from Roosevelt Field in nineteen hours, ten minutes and twenty-three seconds, almost five hours better time than that established by the late C. B. D. Collyer and the late Harry Tucker.

Pilot and Woman Killed in Crash

(By International News Service)

ROOSEVELT FIELD, New York, June 28.—Miss Viola Gentry, endurance flier, was probably fatally injured today when her plane, "The Answer," cracked up near Westbury, Long Island. Jack Ashcraft, Miss Gentry's co-pilot, died instantly in the crash.

The plane, which had been in the air since 8:49 [illegible] night, in an attempt to establish a new refuelling endurance record, struck a tree when it went into a nose dive from an altitude of 500 feet.

LOST IN N. CAROLINA; FOUND IN NEBRASKA

(By International News Service)

CEDAR BLUFF, June 28.—Laddie, water spaniel pet of Robert Paradise, nine, lost two years ago in North Carolina, has just been recovered here.

The dog had never been in Cedar Bluff before but is believed to have been passing through the town on the road to the old Paradise home at Long Pine near here, when he saw and recognized his young master.

Laddie disappeared May 4th, 1927 about four months after the Paradise family had moved to Asheville, N. C., from Long Pine. A year later they moved here.

The shaggy spaniel greeted "Bobby" as the latter was on his way to the local postoffice recently. Mrs. Paradise believes the dog was stolen and only recently released.

BOSTON & MAINE "NAVY" IS ONE 16-FOOT VESSEL

BOSTON, June 28.—One sixteen foot motorboat has seldom, if ever, along the Atlantic seaboard been called a "navy" but that is exactly the term employed by the Boston and Maine Railroad in reference to its small boat, used as a fire-fighter for a blaze beneath a trestle deck.

Profiting by the serious trestle fire sometime ago which badly damaged a trestle in Yard No. L, here, the B and M. equipped a small boat as the fire fighting unit. A fire beneath a trestle is one of the most difficult places to reach even at low tide.

For that reason, the Boston and Maine railroad equipped a 16-foot boat with a motor and a gasoline pump.

Judge and Mrs. J. W. Powell, of this city, and Mrs. A. M. Miller, of Dallas, will leave here on July 1st for a two months sightseeing trip to Long Beach, California.

Endurance Fliers Still Remain Aloft

(By International News Service)

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., June 28. — "The Three Musketeers," bearing Martin Jensen, Mrs. Jensen and William Ullrich, was still soaring over this airfield today after having been in the air for thirty-nine and a half hours at 11:02 this morning. The aviators are trying for the endurance record.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 28.—Owen Haugland and Charles Johnson, pilots of "Miss Minneapolis," out to establish a new endurance air record, passed their 124th hour aloft this morning.

Another contact was made with a refuelling plane in which the avaiators recieved 100 gallons of gasoline and five gallons of oil.

The bill provides for an inspection committee to make a survey of the prison system and possible other sites.

PICK PERFECT GIRLS FOR ELEVATOR JOBS

(By International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, June 28.—It has been a general custom among people of the United States to find the "perfects" of everything. The perfect wife, the perfect home, the perfect husband, and the like are always set up as ideals to which one hopes to attain. And even elevator girls are not exempt from such a classification for the perfect elevator girl has been discovered here.

She will not be a model of sophistication in flashy make-up nor will she be the vamp type which inspires masculine attention. She will be plain and simple—both in dress and in personal attire.

She must weigh around 100 pounds, be five feet, two inches tall (of course, one may deviate a little) be a brunette, can do without cigarettes during waking hours, and can refrain from talking!

Perhaps all those qualities may be hard to discover among the more modern girls, but those characteristics are required of the perfect dozen elevator girls who begin work in the Southeastern Bell Telephone Building here.

A set of rules is to be followed. All the girls will be in uniform dress, even their hair must be cut here closely to the mentioned rules in uniform style. And if they ad- what good training they will have for future housewives.

GLASS IN ICE CREAM IS CAUSE OF LAWSUIT

(By International News Service)

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 28.—Charging that the cherry ice cream sundae she purchased in a Yonkers candy store during the summer of 1926 had contained a portion of glass in addition to the cherry, Miss Alina Hinkanen of Yonkers is shortly to sue the candy store and the manufacturer of the ice cream for $6,000.

The Yonkers girl contends that her health was impaired by the glass, according to papers on file in the county clerk's office here.

FOUR FOOT SEA BEAN IN CHICAGO MUSEUM

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 28.—One of the largest beans in the world, the huge sea bean, has been obtained by representatives of the Field Museum here. This type of bean which grows to a length of more than four feet, is the fruit of a large woody climber of the acacia family and is a native of tropical regions.

Ballinger Boosters Storm Winters Friday

Ballinger stormed Winters at 11:30 Friday morning with a 30-piece band, 68 cars and about 200 people. A parade was formed at the edge of town and the delegation paraded through the streets. Following the parade, the Ballinger band assembled in the streets and played a short concert. After the concert the Ballinger delegation broke up and went to view the different exhibits.

The fair opened at 10 o'clock Friday morning with a contest between the teams of the Crews and Maverick girls clubs. Crews won first place with a salad-making contest and were awarded $25 by the Winters Chamber of Commerce. Maverick won second and came in for a prize of $12.50.

The big parade at 2:00 o'clock Friday afternoon showed many delegations, clubs and communities in the line of march. Bands were at the head of the delegations from Ballinger, Abilene, Bronte, Cisco, Sweetwater, Rowena, and Winters. Between 500 and 600 club members also marched in the parade, carrying banners showing their community and club names.

The parade ended at Tinkle Park, where a short program was held, with A. Krauss, E. A. Shepperd, I. N. Wilkinson, C. E. Nicholson, Carl Henslee, Ed Shumway of Abilene, and J. D. Motley of Ballinger, appearing for talks.

The afternoon sports were comprised of a baseball game between two college teams, a game between the fats and leans of Winters and Abilene, and a junior baseball game between Ballinger and Sweetwater.

The big feature of Friday will be in the evening when a banquet will be served. One thousand plates have already been reserved for the occasion, and R. W. Haynie, of Abilene, will act as toastmaster.

Fifty-odd cars carrying about 200 Ballinger boosters left here Friday morning at 10:30 for Winters to visit the "Live-atHome" Fair and advertise the Runnels County Fair. The delegation was scheduled to parade into Winters at 11:30 and to enter the big parade at 2 o'clock in which the clubs of the county will be featured along with the delegation from San Angelo, Ballinger, Coleman, Bronte and Abilene.

The Ballinger band loaded in the baseball bus led the line of march out of Ballinger and will lead the delegation into Winters. At the last minute a large number of ladies joined the Ballinger boosters for the trip to Winters.

A number of Ballinger people went to Winters Thursday night to witness the big musical comedy "Help Yourself," given by Winters talent at the high school auditorium. Those going report a very enjoyable play and a large crowd.

Thursday afternoon and night the exhibits were crowded at Winters as country people flocked to town to see the displays. The Alamo Shows playing there during the fair had large crowds on the mid-way to see the attractions offered by them.

Judging of the exhibits were made Thursday afternoon and night and each display was supposed to be marked by ribbons Friday showing the places won by each display.

The attack on the validity of the order is based on the claim that the boks sold at a lower price elsewhere than in Texas.

NEW YORK DRIVERS OBSERVE LAWS CLOSELY

NEW YORK, June 28.—Your New Yorker is evidently learning to drive an auto with more skill or is more cautious, for a sharp falling off has taken place in the volume of business being done this year by Manhattan traffic courts as compared to last.

Up to June 19, of this year, only 35,379 persons have been arraigned as compared with 48,000 in this period last year.

Jessel Cries Without Benefit of Glycerine

George Jessel is the terror of all the make-up men, for he won't save his face when he acts. His smiles are broad and hearty and he cries the real article, without benefit of glycerine, and when his sympathies are touched the tears must flow, whether or no. Flow they did in many scenes for "Lucky Boy," in which, as a famous entertainer, he had to sing several heart-touching songs. Others wept, too—from Director Norman Taurog to the extra sitting in the farthest corner—and despite the ravishing effects on make-up, no one wanted George to stop singing.

"Lucky Boy" and George Jessel will be at the Palace Theatre for two-day run Monday of next week. It is a Tiffany-Stahl special feature (with talking, singing, sound effects and orchestration), and the cast includes Margaret Quimby as the heroine; Gwen Lee, Richard Tucker, Rosa Rosanova, William Strauss, Gayne Whitman and Mary Doran.

Extras Take Six Weeks Growing Film Beards for "The Trail of '98"

It took six weeks for the extra players to get ready for their roles in "The Trail of '98," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's northern film epic, directed by Clarence Brown and synchronized with sound and with a surrounding sound program, which is now being shown at the Palace Theatre. Practically all this time was taken growing beards because the men of today are smooth-shaven and the men of a quarter of a century ago, especially the prospectors of the Klondike, were bearded.

These beards were grown as a protection against the bitter cold of the near Arctic and also because most of the miners did not have the time or facilities for shaving.

"The Trail of '98" is a film adaptation of Robert W. Service's story of the Klondike gold rush and the leading roles are taken by Ralph Forbes, Dolores Del Rio, Harry Carey, Karl Dane, George [illegible].

The new equipment will be delivered in November and opera-

"MYSTERY RIDER"

Elegance Again Rule for Paris Society Balls

By Alice Langelier
(International News Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, June 28.—Another sign of the return of the good old days before the war is to be seen in the posters announcing the approaching Bal du Grand Prix, the most important of the great Opera balls, held after the grand race of the season. Those who have received cars of invitation or those who care to buy them at the usual high prices are gently reminded that they must dress all up in their very best bib and tucker or they will not gain admittance.

In pre-war days, this ball was undoubtedly the most magnificent of all Europe and every person attending represented the maximum of elegance. H. R. H. Princess Murat, who is organizing the affair this season, has decided to refuse all persons not living up to the old standard. The return to elegance marks a date in after-war days.

In the future, a system of stop and go lights will warn the very talkative French deputies of the passing of time. Installed on the speaker's table, two lights will flash whenever the speaker presses a button and politely tell the Deputy on the floor that his time is up. One will indicate that he has five more minutes to go, and another will flash when he really must sit down.

It is expected that the new plan, patterned after the traffic system, will save many a fist-fight and boxing of ears which is a usual part of the program in the Chamber of Deputies.

Certain Frenchmen are doubtful if the scheme will work, fearing that the lights will go absolutely unnoticed by most of the young Deputies and feeling certain that nothing short of a crane will hoist them from the platform. Only time will tell.

Another modern installation is that of a convenient calendar placed in a prominent corner of the street near the Place de l'Opera. It tells the month, the day and the date and is changed every night by the night watchman when he makes his rounds.

And in the meantime, the picturesque little tradesmen of the streets are fast disappearing. The old man with his herd of goats is seen but rarely and the knife-grinder, busy with his foot on the pedal, making the sparks fly from his wheel, while his wife and children gather in the knives, has found a successor. He is a smartly-dressed man, looking much like a clerk and manipulates a very modern machine, with the stone connected to a small internal combustion engine. All he has to do is guide the knives over the surface.

Robbing the roof of the cathedral at Moulin (Allier) took a deal of courage and cleverless on the part of two French thieves. They walked away with eight hundred kilograms of lead and some copper iron, committing the theft during the night and nearly one hundred feet from the ground. The next morning they went to a dealer to sell their booty. His suspicions were aroused and pretending to go to his cash-box to get the money to pay the thieves, he called in the police who took them to the station.

HURLS POWDER-PUFF AT COP; IRISHMAN IS ARRESTED, FINED

(By International News Service)

BALTIMORE, June 28.—Nicholas Flaherty admits "he's Irish," but whether the rest of his clan will consider him eligible to be classed as "an Irisher" remains to be seen.

Mr. Flaherty selected a powder-puff to hurl at a policeman in violation of the "Irish creed." Veteran Celtics admitted in confidence "Flaherty should have thrown nothing if he couldn't find a brick."

But Flaherty threw the powder-puff and admitted it. Patrolman Klingel agreed he was struck in the eye with the powder-dauber—the only copper on the force to be assaulted with such a missle! Flaherty was fined $2.45.
