Three-Power Rule Is Set Up For Berlin

Western Allies Organize Own Military Government; Reds Occupy Suburb

By RICHARD S. WEIL
INS Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Dec. 21.—The United States, Britain and France announced a tripartite military government for western Berlin today nearly a half-year after Russia boycotted the original four-power regime.

A few hours earlier armed Soviet troops and Russian sector police occupied the Berlin suburb of Stolpe—abandoned by the French—and sealed it off from the French sector.

The French commandant, Maj. Gen. Jean Ganeval, who made the tripartite announcement, said that the Allies will return to four power rule in Berlin "if the Soviet authorities, either now or at some future date, decide to abide by the agreement to which the four powers are committed."

To Meet Every Tuesday

The building housing the joint military regime, the so-called Kommandatura, is in the American sector. William Babcock, deputy American representative, said the three western nations delegates will meet there every Tuesday.

The Russians walked out of the four-power regime July 1, and the city split has widened steadily ever since.

Ganeval said the three western nations realized that "owing to Soviet obstruction it will only be possible for them to carry out their administration in the western sectors for the present."

Coal Allocated

The Western Allies will work with anti - Communist western Berlin government elected early this month. The Russians are working only with their own creation, the Communist "rump" government set up hurriedly just before the legal elections which the Russians banned in their sector.

One of the first tripartite acts in today's session was to allocate 200 tons of coal and extra electricity to western Berliners for the Christmas holiday. This will not go far in the sector in which more than 2,000,000 Germans live.

The German plight is made exceedingly difficult by the Soviet land blockade. Imposed even before the Russians deserted four-power rule.

Union Demanded

Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, British military governor, told a news conference tonight that presently he opposes admitting the western Berlin German government into the proposed western German regime.

The general said this would be "inconsistent with four-power administration — perhaps I should say a unified administration."

TOKYO, Dec. 21—Preparations were made in Tokyo's Sugamo prison tonight for the executions of "Pearl Harbor" Premier Hideki Tojo and six other major Japanese war criminals.

Gen. Walker, commander of the U. S. Eighth army, said Gen. Douglas MacArthur had given him "certain classified instructions" regarding the details of the hangings.

Walker, who will supervise the executions on Sugamo's four-trap gallows, conferred briefly with MacArthur.

Watch Is Resumed

With MacArthur in receipt of a verbatim copy of the U. S. Supreme court's decision that it does not have jurisdiction to intervene in the case, the secret deaths of the convicted war crimes defendants may come at any time.

They had been found guilty of crimes against humanity by an 11-nation war crimes tribunal.

Reporters resumed their "death watch" at occupation headquart-

FBI Quizzed Fall Victim

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—The FBI announced tonight that Laurence H. Duggan, the former State department official who died last night in a 16-story plunge, had been questioned 10 days ago "on a routine matter."

The disclosure was the first official word that the 43-year-old president of the Institute of International Affairs had been queried by federal authorities.

The FBI gave no indication as to whether Duggan had been questioned in connection with the current spy probe, or on some other matter.

This development followed a flat denial by Whittaker Chambers that he ever had said Duggan, while a member of the State department, passed on to a pre-war Communist espionage ring any government papers.

Chambers issued his statement after the name of Duggan had been linked with those of six persons Chambers is said to have mentioned in regard to "underground" activities.

Speaking at the federal building, where he again was a witness before the spy-probing New York grand jury, Chambers said emphatically that he had said Duggan was among "passers" of State department papers.

Anti-Communist editor and writer Isaac Don Levine was said by Rep. Karl Mundt (R-SD) to have testified before the House Un-American Activities committee that Chambers mentioned Duggan in connection with "underground" persons.

Foul Play Feared

Mundt's opinion is that Duggan may have been a victim of foul play and that "Communist espionage conspirators" might be involved in Duggan's death.

The acting chairman of the Un-American Activities committee expressed this view in Washington after members of Duggan's family insisted Duggan was an accident victim and did not commit suicide.

The feedral jury questioned besides Chambers two other previous witnesses, former State Department Economist Henry Julian Wadleigh and William Ward Pig-

Eire Severs Historic Tie With Britain To Gain Independence

DUBLIN, Eire, Dec. 21 (AP)—Eire cut its last slim constitutional tie with Britain today and cleared the way for proclamation of a full fledged independent Republic of Ireland.

President Sean T. O'Kelly made the break official by signing a bill which repealed the External Relations Act and takes Eire out of the British Commonwealth. Under the External Relations Act Eire's diplomats abroad were accredited by King George.

The final act of proclaiming the Republic will be delayed while representatives of Britain and Eire smooth out questions created by the new relationship. This proclamation probably will come after Jan. 21.

Quentin Roosevelt Is Among Victims

33 Believed Dead In Chinese Plane Crash

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Wednesday, Dec. 22 —Chinese National Airlines said today a rescue party had identified the body of Quentin Roosevelt among those killed in a plane crash near Hong Kong yesterday.

CNAC headquarters also disclosed that Peg Hsueh-Pei, former minister of information; Feng Yu-Cheng, Shanghai manager of Chinese central news agency; and P. L. Fang, noted Chinese movie director, also were on the plane.

Death Is Confirmed

The airline said it still could not say positively that all aboard were killed. Previously it had been reported that all 33 persons on the big Skymaster lost their lives.

The rescue party messaged from Hong Kong that it also had identified the body of the pilot, Charles Sundby, a Danish national. All the others aboard were believed to be Chinese.

(The death of young Roosevelt, grandson of President Theodore Roosevelt, was confirmed in New York by his mother, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, jr. She said she had received word from her son, Cornelius, in Hong Kong, that Quentin's body had been identified as among the victims.)

The plane was a C-54 Skymaster of the Chinese National Airlines corporation, of which 29-year-old Roosevelt was vice-president.

E. L. Allison, CNAC operations manager at Hong Kong, said the Skymaster crashed in the fog of Basalt island, 10 miles east of Hong Kong, as it was within sight of its goal.

"Rescue boats and sea rescue units later removed 31 bodies out of the total of 33, which included the crew," Allison said.

The plane had been reporting its position regularly as it flew down from Shanghai.

The pilot found a break in the clouds over Bias bay, a hangout for Chinese pirates of the south coast, and reported he was letting down ready for the run into Hong Kong. The bay is 40 miles east of Hong Kong.

Then the plane's radio fell silent. Calls from Hong Kong went unanswered. A rescue plane was sent out. It sighted the blazing wreckage. The wreckage still was burning when Hong Kong police arrived.

Roosevelt's wife and three small daughters in Shanghai all but gave up hope that Roosevelt might be safe, a friend said.

Roosevelt has been in China about a year as vice president and a director of CNAC. He was going to Hong Kong on business.

Young Roosevelt was the son of Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt, jr., who died in Normandy in the western front invasion of 1944.

Milk Firms Are Fined $75,000

AUSTIN, Dec. 21 (AP)—District Judge Charles O. Betts slapped fines totaling $75,000 on 10 milk companies today for violation of Texas anti-trust laws.

The 98th District court judge ordered the companies—located in El Paso, Dallas, and Fort Worth—not to enter into price-fixing agreements in the future.

He said he believed most of the violations outlined by the state were unintentional rather than malicious.

Placed Under Injunction

Government controls during the emergency war and prewar years conditioned business men to make agreements without thinking of them as violations of anti-trust laws, Betts said in announcing his decision.

Placed under permanent injunction and fined were the Borden Co., Price's Creameries and Hawkins Dairy, all of El Paso; Borden's Cabel's, Inc., Metzger's Dairies, Oak Farms, Inc., and Tennessee Dairies, Inc., all of Dallas; Boswell Dairies, Alta Vista Creamery Co., and Vandevoort's Inc., all of Fort Worth; and Borden's in a separate suit involving the fixing of retail prices on their ice cream throughout the state.

The companies waived their

Mississippian Kills Sheriff, Three Others, Hides In Woods

LUCEDALE, Miss., Dec. 21. (AP)—A mother and her two month-old daughter were shot to death tonight and the sheriff who went to the slaying scene was killed by a shotgun blast.

Another daughter, who accompanied the sheriff to the scene, was killed shortly afterwards in the wreck of the alleged slayer's getaway car.

Justice of the Peace J. H. Havard said Sheriff J. E. Nelson, accompanied by 18-year-old Gloria Hinton, went to the Hinton home where the bodies of Mrs. Murdock Hinton and the baby were found.

The sheriff was felled as he stepped from the car, Havard said, and the killer escaped in the sheriff's automobile. Gloria's body was found in the wrecked car about 10 miles south of Lucedale. Her neck was broken.

Havard said a posse from two states is searching for Mrs. Hinton's husband for questioning in the four deaths. At Mobile, Ala., 30 miles south of here, the Alabama Highway Patrol reported the killer was believed hiding in a wooded area.

Dutch Land Troops On Coast Of Sumatra; More Towns Taken

By KENNETH LIKES
Associated Press Staff Writer

BATAVIA, Java, Dec. 21 — The Dutch army announced a new landing on the northeast coast of Sumatra and the capture of several more towns in Java today.

A spokesman emphatically denied claims of Indonesian spokesmen in Paris and elsewhere that Republican forces had recaptured Jogjakarta, the Republican capital in south Java. The Dutch army was still broadcasting at 5:10 p.m. tonight from the captured Republican radio in Jogjakarta.

The Dutch apparently were moving ahead methodically though not with the same spectacular success that marked the first hours of their operation when they announced the capture of the Republican capital by parachutists and air borne forces. Secrecy marked their moves, however, and correspondents were permitted to send only what was announced in communiques. The Dutch announced Saturday night they were starting a new "police action" to reestablish "law and order."

U. S. Aid To China Halted

By FELIX COTTEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—Marshall plan director Hoffman said today after a conference with President Truman that long-term aid to China has been suspended because of the military crisis in that country.

The action presumably has the approval of the President. Hoffman called at the White House and reported to Mr. Truman on his recent trip to the Far East, during which he consulted Chinese Generalissimo Chaing Kai-Shek and Gen. MacArthur.

Hoffman said that he and Roger Lapham, administartor of the $275 million China aid program, decided while he was in China to suspend the $70 million long-term recovery phase of the program.

No "Conflict" Involved

Hoffman, who heads the economic Cooperation administration, explained that he mentioned in his conference with the President the matter of "clearing" with him the appointment of all policy-making officials to the foreign aid agency.

It had previously been disclosed at the White House that appointment of persons to ECA jobs paying more than $7,500 a year were to be cleared with the President in the future. But this was described as a matter of "comity" between the ECA and the White House, and no "conflict" was said to be involved.

Hoffman laughingly told reporters who plied him with questions that he had no "orders" from the President to clear policy-making appointees with him, and that he felt he had been doing that anyway.

Situation "Uncertain"

White House sources explained that the practice applied to all government agencies. But officials denied published reports that the decision to have the ECA clear its high-ranking appointees with the White House was reached at a special meeting.

Hoffman declared the Chinese situation is "so full of uncertainties" that no proposal to continue the short-term aid program on a full-scale basis probably will be made until conditions are clarified.

He explained that Congress may be asked to vote a defici-

Trustees Hold Dinner Meeting

While members of the board were present at one spot, they took the opportunity to hold a short business session.

Among other business, the board accepted with regret the resignation of Mrs. Stella Thurman, veteran Lubbock educator, and passed a resolution commending the splendid service rendered the schools during her employment here. Her resignation became effective as of Dec. 17.

J. A. Cottrell Victim In Car Mishap

Littlefield Resident Killed Near Lamesa

(Special To The Avalanche)

LAMESA, Dec. 21.—A Littlefield auto salesman was killed and his companion, also of Littlefield, was slightly injured when their heavy automobile overturned on a curve near here last night.

Investigating officers said the dead man was identified as J. A. "Red" Cottrell, and was the owner of the 1948 Cadillac in which the men were riding when the mishap occurred. The injured man was identified as Davis Crews.

Suffers Broken Neck

Hospital attendants said that Cottrell was dead upon arrival from a broken neck. Crews reportedly suffered cuts and bruises, and possibly a fractured jaw. He was held in a Lamesa hospital for observation and x-rays.

According to officers the heavy car was headed toward Lubbock at the time of the accident. They said it appeared that Cottrell lost control of the car as it pulled into a curve between Lamesa and O'Donnell and it flipped over. The car was badly damaged. Officers said Cottrell was driving at the time of the mishap.

Relatives Sought

Officers here said they were unable to obtain any information on Crews' age or occupation, but that they had informed Littlefield officers of the accident and that attempts were being made to advise Crews' relatives of the accident. Cottrell's wife and son live in Littlefield, they said.

Cottrell's body will be returned to Littlefield for funeral rites. Hammond Funeral home there will have charge of the body. The auto salesman is survived by his wife and a month-old son, Doyle Glenn; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cottrell, of Sundown, and several brothers and sisters.

69th Birthday Of Stalin Is Observed Quietly In Russia

(By International News Service)

MOSCOW, Dec. 21.—Premier Stalin observed his 69th birthday in Moscow's Kremlin today without any press publicity, gun salutes or fireworks that usually attend special Soviet occasions.

The last time Stalin's name appeared in the Russian newspapers was nearly a fortnight ago when he gave a dinner for a visiting Czechoslovak trade delegation.

(Outside Russia Communist leaders and their newspapers lavishly praised Stalin. A special parliamentary session in Prague, the Czech capital, heard speakers laud him as the "greatest and most faithful friend of Czechoslovakia."

Soviet newspapers printed a brief item of the U. S. Supreme court's refusal to interfere in the International Military Tribunal death sentences given Japanese war criminals.

But Pravda at the same time published a long article attacking socalled American monopolists as "destroyers of international law." It accused them of plotting a new World War in which Japanese militarists "will be faithful servants of American imperialism."

Telephone Strike Directors Alerted As Talks Bog Down

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 21—Negotiators for the Southwestern Bell Telephone company and its 50,000 union employes recessed briefly after 11 p. m. (CST) tonight and Federal Conciliator A. E. Johnson said there was "no progress."

The group planned to meet again shortly and continue throughout the night if necessary.

Gus Cramer, strike director for southwestern division 20 of the independent Communications Workers of America, announced that an alert has been sent out to the 12 district strike directors in the company's five-state area to stay on 24-hour call pending the outcome of negotiations here.

"The situation is deteriorating rapidly," said union counsel Everett E. Cotter. He made the statement just before the negotiators convened for a meeting at which Federal Conciliator A. E. Johnson was to make a recommendation for a compromise settlement of the contract dispute.

The union has threatened to strike before Christmas unless some agreement is reached. This would paralyze manual and long distance telephone service throughout Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas and perhaps Missouri.

In Missouri, state officials are prepared to invoke the state's King-Thompson act which prohibits utility strikes. The union, however, contends the state law does not apply to the Southwestern Bell dispute because of the interstate character of the company's operation.

"Christmas is getting closer and we want to be fully prepared," Cramer said in announcing the alert to strike directors.

In St. Louis, strike headquarters have been set up in the Roosevelt hotel by the union, with Joseph Baldwin as local strike director. Assignment cards advising union members where to report for picket duty in the event of a strike were being signed there today.

Red Drive To Yangtze Seen

By TOM LAMBERT
Associated Press Staff Writer

NANKING, Dec. 21 — Besieged Peiping and Tientsin were written off militarily today by observers who believe "the shooting war" in the whole vast region north of the Yangtze is all but over.

Qualified military observers declared the government now lacks the forces to mount an offensive anywhere from Nanking to the Peiping-Tientsin area — once a tower of Nationalist strength—500 miles to the north.

Nor do they believe the government can check any big Communist push to the north bank of the Yangtze, a formidable barrier and the last before this capital, Nanking lies on the south bank.

Communications Cut

(The Communist radio hinted that it won't be long before strong Red forces reach the Yangtze at a point about 30 miles east of Nanking where the Grand canal flows into the river.

(A broadcast announced the capture of Kaoyu, 40 miles north of the Yangtze and 65 miles northeast of Nanking, last Thursday.

(The broadcast, heard by the Associated Press at San Francisco, indicated the next objective would be the Grand canal town of Yangchow. Yangchow is only nine miles from the Yangtze and 43 miles from Nanking.)

Tientsin appeared to be as tightly encircled as the other big north China city, Peiping.

All communication to the sea was cut when the Reds siezed portions of the railway, including the town of Chunliangcheng, 13 miles east of Tientsin.

Army Claimed Surrounded

Government headquarters said the Reds suffered 1,000 casualties before taking the town. This is probably an exaggeration.

The city's airport is under Red artillery fire and the railway leading northwest to Peiping has been cut for days. The Reds are as close as three miles or less to Tientsin.

The government reported "fierce" fighting overnight around the southwest gate at Peiping. The fighting, however, seems to have slackened around the old capital

Warmup Is Seen For Area Today

The weatherman Tuesday night gave up his brief struggle with winter and issued good news to last-minute Christmas shoppers—partly cloudy today and Thursday, with rising temperatures tonight and Thursday.

A cold front which had earlier been forecast to usher winter in (winter began officially Tuesday afternoon) "hustled through" about 7 a. m. Tuesday, earlier than expected.

Minimum temperatures this morning are expected to go to around 27 degrees, with maximum temperatures this afternoon climbing to the high 50's. The warm-up tonight and Thursday should put the low Thursday morning at round 30 and the high that afternoon in the 60's, the U. S. Weather Bureau station north of Lubbock said Tuesday night.

TRUSTEES ACCEPT RESIGNATION 'WITH REGRET'

Miss Stella Thurman, Faculty Member Of Local Schools For Over 30 Years, Retires From Work

MISS STELLA THURMAN, principal of K. Carter elementary school for 24 years and a member of the faculty of the Lubbock Public schools for 30½ years, was retired, at her request, by the board of trustees of the Lubbock Independent school district at the board's regular meeting last night. The board accepted the resignation "with regret" and passed a resolution, presented by Supt. R. W. Matthews, commending the splendid service rendered the schools of Lubbock by Miss Thurman.

Born in Carbon, Texas, on July 22, 1889, Miss Thurman graduated from high school in Sipe Springs, Texas, the town where her grandfather was the first white settler years previously. She graduated from Stamford college, attended Hardin-Simmons and University of Southern California, and received her degree in education from Texas Technological college.

In 1911 Miss Thurman began teaching. She came to Lubbock in 1916 at a salary of $60 per month. The following year she returned to Hamlin, but was recalled to Lubbock in April, 1918, by M. M. Dupre, former superintendent. For several years she taught fifth grade, and then spent three years teaching in high school. Her "teacher load" as a high school teacher consisted of classes in mathematics, English, and history, and coaching of girls' basketball. It was in January, 1924, when the building was completed, that she became principal of K. Carter school, a position which she has held since, with the exception of the school year 1947-48 when she was on leave of absence because of ill health.

As she discussed the fact that her school career was being brought to a close from her bed in West Texas hospital, Miss Thurman said: "Teaching children is like cultivating flowers. Each day

COLUMNIST RENEWS SUGGESTIONS

British Take Exception To Open Letter To Princess And Philip

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—I learn from an unimpeachable source, International News Service, that a British weekly paper, "The People," carried a story last Sunday reporting what seems to have been the royal family's reaction to a mash note I wrote to Princess Elizabeth.

It the letter (and Uncle Jake, who travelled, and knew women, always warned me never to put anything in writing) I suggested to Liz that she and Philip give the kid more rein than reign.

I urged them to introduce him to Churchill rather than Cripps, urged them to send him over to an American state university for a spell, and suggested they uncloister him as much as possible.

Philip Has Own Opinion

Well, sir, it seems that British Comedian Georgie Wood latched on to a copy of the piece and sent it to Philip. Philip replied:

"I admit I have no experience in parenthood but, even so, I think I can do better than Mr. Considine."

How do you like that? How do you like him, and his one, talking disrespectfully to a man who is gradually becoming "the father of his county?"

Sure, let him sprout chest over his boy—and he should, for Chuck seems to be a fine lad.

But let Philip also be warned: The second child is somehow chastening, and the third further bleaches the male progenitor.

I can only guess at what subtle changes take place in the husband after that, but I've seen my multi-blessed pals.

And they're never quite the same. They even seem to wear different suits after each addition to the family. And different ties. Their hats, once rakish, forget the side-saddle and suddenly straddle.

Duke Was Amused

INS's lead read:

"The Duke of Edinburgh was reported today to have been highly amused at the 'impishness' of American Columnist Bob Considine's open letter to Princess Elizabeth."

I can't conceive of anybody with size 12 feet being impish; that is, without being slugged. Didn't mean to be impish. Didn't try. Just couldn't resist giving advice to a new mother and father.

Didn't mean to amuse the Duke. Have had little experience in Duke-amusing, a medieval sport not even mentioned in Frank Menke's all-sport record book.

The piece in "The People" apparently went on to say that if such a thing had been printed during the reign of Queen Victoria, she would have issued a stern warning to the effect that "we are not amused."

That's more than possible. How could an obscure writer from an obscure semi-colony hope to amuse Victoria, always assuming the writer might have been alive at that time and been so hard up for a column that he composed an open letter?

Besides, Victoria's paintings and photographs look as if she had never been amused. She probably would not have been amused by Helen Hayes' amusing interpretation of her great, un-amusing life.

"Oldtimers at the court of St. James's said that the American writer need not worry that the young prince, who might one day rule Britain as Charles III, will be pampered or coddled in his upbringing," the INS story said.

What oldtimers?

My only point was that when Eddie, the Prince of Wales, was exposed to America he lived a life so alien to our norm that he never could have known the low-down.

Chuck has a chance to learn more about us. This will probably annoy our British friends, but the United States, once the poor relation of a mighty and beneficial power, is now, in its charitable independence, that power's prime hope for the future.

We have indicated over the past 30 odd years that we will not stand by, for long, and see Britain molested. We will fight its enemies, sooner or later, and always help sustain it through its inevitable period of wound-licking.

The child who someday will be the royal head of that power should be given the opportunity to know his true contemporaries in this country. And in his own.

End of sermon.

Texas Solon Seeks Demo Party Harmony

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP) — A Texas legislator was reported today to have made a flying trip here yesterday in an effort to settle the controversy among Democrats of that state over their national committeeman, Wright Morrow, of Houston.

State Senator Jimmy Phillips of Angleton conferred with various Democratic leaders during the day and then left, presumably for home.

McGrath Out Of City

He is understood to have come here primarily to talk with national chairman J. Howard McGrath on Morrow's behalf, but McGrath was out of the city.

Back in the city today, McGrath told a reporter he had been in Rhode Island yesterday and did not know whether Phillips had tried to get in touch with him.

McGrath also declined to comment on the Texas controversy except to reiterate the matter was one for consideration by the Democratic national committee.

A Texas Democratic convention has voted to replace Morrow with Byron Skelton, of Temple.

Morrow has refused to resign, and has denied contentions that he had not been an enthusiastic supporter of the Truman-Barkley ticket.

Texas Justice Of Peace Dies In Crash Of Car, School Bus

RODESSA, La., Dec. 21. (AP)—E. Nelson, about 70, shoe repair man and justice of the peace at Atlanta, Tex., was killed today when the car he was driving crashed into the rear of a school bus three and a half miles north of here.

The bus had stopped to pick up a school child when Nelson's car plowed int othe back end of it, according to sheriff's deputies Virgil Gaines of Vivian and W. T. Prudhomme of Shreveport.

Nelson was believed to have been blinded by the sun.

Only a few children were on the bus and none was injured.

MUNDT ASKS FAIR HEARINGS

Congress To Get Plan Defining Committee Witnesses' Rights

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON Dec. 21 — Rep. Mundt (R-SD) said today he hopes the House un-American Activities committee will change its methods to insure fairer hearings for future witnesses and accused persons.

The acting chairman told reporters that for the next ten days committee members will concentrate on a report to the new Congress on its past accomplishments. He said the report also will contain recommendations for altering procedure at committee hearings.

Although the group plans no further public meetings this year, it scheduled a closed-door session tomorrow with Francis B. Sayre, former assistant secretary of state, and his secretary Anna Belle Newcomb.

Hiss Awaits Trial

Sayre, now a U. S. delegate to the United Nations, formerly headed the State department office where Alger Hiss once worked. Hiss now is awaiting a federal court trial on charges that he lied when he denied handing out secret official papers to Whittaker Chambers, one time Red spy ring courier, some ten years ago.

Sayre, who has promised to do all he can to help clear up the Hiss-Chambers case, was due to appear today before a federal grand jury in New York which has been conducting a separate investigation of Communist espionage.

Friction Eased

The witness question has been a major point in dispute between the House group and the Justice department, with each blaming the other for the way the inquiry has been handled. The friction was eased, however, at a conference yesterday between Mundt and Assistant Attorney General Alex Campbell.

Mundt told newsmen they had reached "complete agreement" on future witness priorities. He said that in deference to Justice department wishes, the committee will not question five of eight witnesses it had hoped to hear before the year ends.

Changes To Be Sought

The other three, he said, will be heard at private sessions. The only one of these Mundt named was Miss Elizabeth Bentley, admittedly a former member of a Communist spying ring, who has appeared previously before the committee.

Mundt, who will join the Senate ranks in the new Congress, said he plans to seek several changes in the committee's procedure. Among these he listed:

1. Allowing witnesses to give the chairman a list of questions to be asked of accusers or other witnesses. In the past this practice has not been followed generally, although Hiss was allowed to turn in a set of questions he wanted fired at Chambers. Mundt questioned Chambers on eight of the requested points.

Condon Case Unreported

2. Questioning witnesses privately before public hearings to avoid "surprise accusations" against persons who may be innocent.

3. Giving accused persons the right to be heard before the committee issues a report.

4. Prohibiting subcommittees from issuing reports until they have been approved by the full committee.

The full committee has never made a report on the Condon case, although a subcommittee openly called Dr. Edward U. Condon, head of the national bureau of standards, one of the weakest links in the nation's chain of atomic security.

Condon repeatedly has denied the charges and has asked for public hearings which as yet have not been scheduled.

Rep. Nixon (R-Calif), another committee member, said last week that he thinks the Condon case was not handled properly and that the scientist should be given a hearing this week.

Funeral Rites Scheduled Today For Lubbock Plane Crash Victim

Funeral services for B. Frank Rutherford, 45, Lubbock real estate agent who was killed Sunday in an airplane crash at South Plains Air Force base, have been set for 2 p. m. today in the First Baptist church.

Dr. J. Ralph Grant, minister, is to officiate.

Burial will be in Tech Memorial park, under direction of Bryan McDonald & Son Funeral home.

Rutherford was killed in a crash in which his nephew, William McKay of Lubbock route 5, Mrs. McKay and the nine-month-old McKay daughter were injured. All members of the McKay family this morning were reported in satisfactory condition in local hospitals where they are being treated.

The crash occurred in the southeast corner of SPAFB, when the three-place plane Rutherford was piloting flew into an electric post 20 feet above the ground at about 6:40 p. m. Sunday.

An investigation of the accident by Civil Aeronautics authority investigators was to be made today. The investigation originally was scheduled Monday, but a local dust storm made it impossible for officials from Ft. Worth to land here. They continued by air to Albuquerque, and were expected to return to Lubbock today.

Former Paratrooper Breaks Army Jail To Be With Daughter

BERLIN, Dec. 21. (U.P.)—Edward J. Lada, lovelorn former paratrooper from Newark, was recaptured today three days after he broke jail. He said he wanted only to be out for Christmas with his daughter and her unmarried mother.

U. S. military police and criminal investigation agents picked him up at the home of Antonia Linduer, German girl friend of Ruth Riecke, the mother of Lada's daughter, Nancy, 2.

He broke out of the Army stockade here Saturday night. He landed in the stockade on a charge of entering Germany illegally. Without papers of any kind he sifted through the Russian blockade and came here to renew his romance with Miss Riecke, or with Ursula Schmidt, or both.

Lada said he went to the Linduer home as soon as he got out of jail. While he was there Miss Riecke visited him every day, and once took along their daughter.

"No matter what I do I get in trouble," Lada mourned after his recapture. "I guess I'll have to renounce my American citizenship and settle down over here with Ruth and the baby.

"I guess I'm just a glutton for punishment. But if it takes me 10 years, I am going to marry Ruth and settle down with my little daughter."

His mention of 10 years meant more than the mere use of a round number as an example. That's the time he could be sentenced for the jailbreak.

He said his efforts to find "peace, happiness and sincere love" in Berlin had cost him all the money he had saved over a period of years.

San Saba Farmers, Ranchers Get $100 Ton For Mistletoe

SAN SABA, Dec. 21. (U.P.) — Mistletoe has been selling for more than hay in San Saba county this year, with farmers and ranchers getting $100 a ton.

W. E. Thies of Georgetown set up headquarters here and purchased the Christmas decoration as it was brought in to town by the truck-load.

Thies is one of the biggest mistletoe dealers in the United States. He packs it in small crates and ships it to 42 states, Canada and other parts of the world. This year, he estimates that he will sell around 40,000 pounds of it.

International Throwing Away Day For World To Cleanse Itself Suggested By Columnist

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK.—You can grow richer by discarding as well as by keeping.

And what the world could well use this time of year is an international "throwing away day."

For years I have had a kind of informal throwing away day during the week before Santa Claus comes. It consists largely by cleaning my desk.

That doesn't seem like much of an adventure. But to me it is an epic task. For I am one of those forlorn folk cursed with a lifelong habit of being disorderly.

Each January the desk starts the new year as clean as the proverbial whistle (although a whistle could really be called clean only in comparison to a well-used tuba).

But the daily snow of letters soon begins to hide its green surface. By spring the top no longer can be seen.

Month by month as the pile grows higher it plagues my conscience more and more. But when I finally gather up strength for my annual throwing away day, what do I find in this self-made hill of debris?

Nothing really very important. Only small problems postponed daily until they have become a great worrisome mound of care. I find that time has made the problems of diminished significance. In half a day I remove this paper tumor that has caused me a year of needless vexation and frustration.

The desk is tidy, bare and new again, and I feel like I've had a nice clean shower. I am full of more virtue than the whole calendar of saints.

And in this mood I wonder why the same formula wouldn't work for mental ills that plague us as well as for this simple task of cleaning a littered desk.

Why shouldn't there be an international "throwing away" day?

Instead of merely getting rid of an accumulation of answered letters, mankind could cleanse itself of all the petty hates and prejudices that set brother against brother, husband against wife, east against west, north against south.

Into Wastebasket

Into the wastebasket with 'em. Yes, all of them—all the useless doubts, fears, grudges, confusions and groundless dislikes that clutter up life and keep us from the spirit of loving kindness.

And there the world would stretch new and clean and fresh again, fair to the eye and lovely to live in. Yes, the lion would lie down with the lamb (with the lamb outside him), and Fort Worth and Dallas—they'd love each other all year round. So would Minneapolis and St. Paul.

TALKED OUT OF TURN

HENRYETTA, Okla., (U.P.)—One Henryetta football fan is considering the virtues of silence. The conversation ended abruptly when the lady said she was Mrs. Marion Anglin. Anglin is the coach.

Suspect In Slaying Held On Guam After Fine Assessed

GUAM, Dec. 21. (INS)—A man suspected of the rape-killing of Ruth Farnsworth on the island of Guam was charged with vagrancy today, fined $50 and held in jail because he couldn't pay the fine.

The man, Terriel Meshew of San Antonio, was picked up last Saturday in connection with the savage assault on the beautiful 27-year old civil service employe.

Police found a blood-stained pair of trousers and a lipstick-smeared shirt in his locker.

Authorities did not make it clear whether Meshew is still suspected of the crime.

Miss Farnsworth died a week ago without regaining consciousness 48 hours after she had been fatally injured, repeatedly assaulted and left for dead in the jungle.

Guam's Assistant Police Chief, Lt. Comdr. Hackett said Meshew had told him he was too intoxicated on the night the San Francisco girl was attacked to remember where he had been.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

WE think we have seen fewer spellings of the word Christmas as "Xmas" this year than at any time we can remember. Incidentally, those who object to the spelling of the occasion as "Xmas" (and that includes the writer) may be interested to learn its derivation:

The early Christian monks used Chi X as a symbol for Christ and so it really has a meaning and is not strictly a lazy man's use of the 23rd letter of the alphabet for Christ.

CHERISHED GIFT

MR. and Mrs. M. O. Stevenson of Dallas, who are to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Cellum, 2122 Fifteenth, are proud of a gift that recently came from Mrs. Eleanor B. Roosevelt, widow of Brig-Gen. Theodore Roosevelt, jr. It is a small, handsomely bound book which contains a memorial to the late officer.

Capt. Stevenson served as aide to Gen. Roosevelt from the time he received his star in 1942 until his death from battle exhaustion on July 12, 1944 in Normandy.

There are one hundred fifty copies of the hand-done book privately printed by a San Francisco house. Contents include articles written by Westbrook Pegler and Clark Lee; statements by Col. Carlton MacNeeley and Col. J. A. Van Fleet and a sketch of Capt. Stevenson and Gen. Roosevelt in their jeep, "The Rough Rider."

DENTAL RULES

ALTHOUGH Americans spend more than 77 million dollars a year for tooth powder and tooth paste, and almost everyone owns a toothbrush, dentists estimate there are 430 million cavities in our teeth.

The three principal rules dentists lay down for dental health are (1) seeing a dentist at least twice a year, (2) brushing teeth properly every day and (3) including plenty of eggs, cereals, milk and fruits in the diet.

For proper brushing of teeth, dentists recommend a brush with only two rows of bristles, six tufts to a row. Horizontal brushing irritates the gums. Bristles should be placed obliquely on the teeth, and brushing done either toward or away from the gums.

RULE NOTES

A NEW high was set this year in the number of organizations that called the City-County welfare office to obtain the name of a needy family to remember at Christmas. Scout troops, women's clubs, service organizations, Sunday school classes and the Acuff Church of Christ were included in the list . . . Theater gift books, redeemable for motion picture entertainment, will be one answer to that perennial problem of "what to give." They are on sale at theater box offices here . . . Thanks to Mrs. L. STEEL MEN FORESEE NO SLUMP

U. S. Industrial Leaders Claim Demand For Steel Is Declining

By H. K. REYNOLDS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 — Top "big steel" executives disclosed to Congress today that demand for steel is slumping but hastened to declare this does not herald a depression.

Benjamin F. Fairless, U. S. Steel president and Irving S. Olds, chairman of the board, were witnesses in the price-profits investigation of the congressional economic committee.

They foresaw a leveling-off of abnormal postwar steel requirements while production of finished steel products in 1949 will boom to a record 68,000,000 tons—seven and a half million tons above the wartime average.

Investigation Is Closed

The investigation was ended after the U. S. Steel officials' testimony. Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) committee chairman, said he is "disturbed" about the "apparently irresistible growth of well-managed big corporations."

Flanders would not say whether he favored a proposed excess profits tax. He did say "a better case was made for the present size of corporation earnings than I expected."

The committee's findings will be available to tax-writing committees and other congressional groups in the new Congress.

Fairless, rejecting suggestions of Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) that the government intervene in the steel industry to obtain expanded production capacity, declared:

"The present demand is not going to continue. It is still very high and beyond our ability to produce, but we are approaching the time—and it is not far distant—when supply and demand will move into balance.

Denies Predicting Depression

"And I am not forecasting a depression. There is a big difference between a depression and a receding to a more normal demand."

Olds denied a charge by CIO officials that he had predicted a depression as inevitable. He read from a statement he made in May, 1947, to inform U. S. Steel stockholders that the day would come when steel operations will be reduced.

Olds told the committee:

"My remark then cannot be fairly interpreted to justify the implication that I predicted a depression."

Fairless drew a sharp distinction between "capacity" and "production in the steel industry." He asserted there had been too much talk of increasing capacity without an understanding of the production problem. He said:

"Inability to meet simultaneously all the extraordinary demands does not mean that the industry is not progressive nor that it will not increase its capacity nor is there any proof that the demand will continue indefinitely at the present pace.

"Whatever develops, I am satisfied that the steel industry will continue to accept full responsibility for steel production in the United States."

Enders M. Voorhees, chairman of U. S. Steel's finance committee, said that the company had kept its prices below the level which the market would bear, and that its profits are neither "record-breaking" or "exorbitant."

Voorhees said 1947-48 profits, on the basis of past experience, would have run around 18 per cent, but actually were only six per cent.

Suspect In Chicago Girl's Death Held

CHICAGO, Dec. 21 (INS) — Hammond, Ind., police said a 31-year-old man who said "my mind was in a fog" confessed to them today that he criminally attacked and murdered 10-year-old Roberta Rinearson on the outskirts of Chicago last Friday night.

The suspect was identified as Herlindo Arias (Perez). He said he did not confess earlier "because I didn't want my relatives to find out."

He waived extradition to Chicago and immediately was taken to the office of Cook county state's Attorney John S. Boyle.

However, many aspects of Arias' confession were discounted by police and Hammond detective inspector Carl McFarland cautioned:

"There is a possibility the man is mentally unstable, but he has confessed the crime."

Arias told police he was fired Friday morning "for loafing" from his job at the Wisconsin Steel Co.

He said he stole a car "somewhere on Maxwell street and drove and drove until I saw a girl standing on a street corner."

Police quoted him as saying he grabbed the girl who struggled fiercely.

Arias said he kept on driving but became frightened. He said he choked the girl and then criminally assaulted her in the automobile.

Arias told police he then ditched the body and later abandoned the car.

The man, a naturalized American citizen of Mexican origin, was very vague on the locations of the spots he allegedly visited and on the girl's description, points which caused police to doubt his confession.

Pioneer In Aviation Field Says Continued Progress Foreseen; Honor Presented Group

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Last weekend three men were awarded the Collier trophy—top aviation honor—for combining to build and fly the first airplane which ever traveled faster than sound. Lawrence D. Bell, pioneer aeronautical engineer and president of the Bell Aircraft Co., which built the Rocket-propelled X-1, was one of the three. In the following article, written expressly for International News service, Bell describes the long, hard battle against almost insuperable obstacles in achieving for the United States victory in the vital world race to crack the supersonic barrier and gain a priceless military advantage).

By LAWRENCE D. BELL
President, Bell Aircraft company, Co-Recipient, Collier Trophy, 1948.
(Written expressley for International Special Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—When we stepped forward to receive the Collier trophy award from President Truman, I felt more humble—and proud—than ever before in my life. Because I realized that in accepting this tribute, actually we were doing so as representatives of the countless men whose efforts made possible the historic supersonic flights of the X-1.

And I couldn't help thinking about the great number of men—some of whom gave their lives—who have toiled for 45 years to make possible such an achievement. Orville and Wilbur Wright made their first flights in 1903. While I first became seriously interested in aviation in 1910 at the time of the first aviation meet, held in Los Angeles in 1910, I count 1912 as the date when I made aviation my life work.

Most people think that aerial bombardment was born of the first World War, after 1914, but that isn't exactly true. I remember working on a Martin 75 H. P. pusher biplane before war began, making it into a bomber for Mexico's Pancho Villa. We fitted out some lengths of gas pipe, which we filled with dynamite and into which we inserted fuses. That was the first bomber. And the pilot was a Frenchman, named Diddier Masson and his mechanic was an Englishmna named Tommy Dean. Quite an international combination!

During World War I, I was vice president and general manager of Glenn L. Martin, where we made history-building bombers, and at the end of the war those bombers pointed the way of things to come. In the late twenties and from then until I organized by own company in '35, I was vice president and general manager of Consolidated, where we pioneered in building flying boats.

Always Seeking Something New

It seems as though all aviation is in pioneering. But sometimes, I guess we all wish that just once we could tackle a problem without having to do something new that nobody else had ever done before, or nobody—including ourselves—really knew how to do.

Up until a year or so ago, a lot of people said that supersonic flight by man-carrying airplanes was impossible. So, in addition to building the X-1 and making it work, we had to keep our courage up in the face of such learned statements. Kind of like the boy who whistles when he goes past the graveyard late at night.

President Truman read the citation for the trophy award, saying in part:

"This is an epochal achievement in the history of world aviation—the greatest since the first successful flight of the original Wright brothers' airplane, 45 years ago.

"It was not the achievement of any single individual or organization, but was the result of a sound aeronautical research and development policy, involving fine teamwork and cooperation between research scientists, industry and the military. . . . A factor essential to keeping America first in the air. Without this teamwork the achievement would have been impossible."

That could be said with equal truth about the growth of aviation since the days of Kittyhawk. We've come a long, long way in 45 years, but my guess is that we're a long, long way from the end of aviation progress.

Vandals Prevent Lighting Of Port Arthur Christmas Tree

PORT ARTHUR, Dec. 21. (AP)—Port Arthur's "Christmas tree of light" didn't light up last night as scheduled.

Vandals stole all of the bulbs.

A large crowd had gathered for the traditional ceremony of illuminating the tree when the theft was discovered.

Nevertheless, the women's clubs and church choirs went ahead with the program—in the dark.

These Dogs Really Are In Doghouse After This Stunt

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Dec. 21. (AP)—Actor Humphrey Bogart and his wife, Laureen Bacall, are fond of their two boxer dogs but after what happened today their affection cooled a bit.

The dogs dragged a skunk into the hallway off the living room of the Bogarts' Benedict canyon home and killed it, right there on the carpet. It was a fully equipped, jet-powered skunk.

The Bogarts won't be home for Christmas; in fact, they've cleared out for at least a week.

Federal Agents Probe Missing 9,000 Mutilated Dollar Bills

CORPUS CHRISTI, Dec. 21. (AP)—It was revealed today federal agents were investigating the mysterious disappearance of 9,000 mutilated one-dollar bills from the vault of the Corpus Christi National bank on Nov. 23.

Bank officials said the money, being prepared for shipment to the federal treasury, was contained in a bag two and one-half feet long and one and one-half feet in diameter.

A teller said he placed the bag in the vault after filling it in midmorning. At 2 p. m., the bag and its contents were reported missing.

Geologist Claims Old Colorado Silver Mine Rich In Uranium Ore Badly Needed By U. S.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The report which hit front pages of newspapers and magazines this week on a rich discovery of pitchblende ore in Colorado said to contain high uranium concentrate, is herewith stripped of all romance and journalistic speculation by the man who found the mineral deposit so much in demand by the United States Atomic Energy commission. The consulting geologist explains that the nation can never be self-sufficient in uranium, but shows why the most extensive pitchblende discovery made in the United States thus far may prove to be a valuable addition to the country's resources.)

By DR. G. C. RIDLAND
Consulting Mining Geologist
(As told to International News Service

DENVER, Dec. 21 — I cannot fairly predict the amount of uranium present in the old Caribou Hill mine of western Colorado which has remained dormant and unworked since the silver panic period starting in 1890.

Neither can I wholly agree with reports that this mine, which is now producing vast quantities of silver, lead and gold, in addition to uranium, will make the United States self-sufficient and independent of foreign countries for a supply of uranium.

World Shortage Seen

I believe the demand for uranium eventually will be so great, since occurrences of the ore are so rare, that no country in the world will have all it wants.

However, discovery of the Caribou Hill mine occurrances have revealed several geological features that place it in a position of importance so far as uranium is concerned.

These features include:

1. The geological environment is very favorable for occurrances of uranium. Before I had even been in the district I was intrigued by the geological description of Caribou Hill because of its similarity to certain uranium bearing areas at Great Bear Lake, Canada.

The country rock is a medium-grained homogenous intrusion which, after examination, turned out to have almost the same appearance as the rocks containing silver and pitchblende at Contact Lake, Northwest territory.

Are Found In Fissures

2. The uranium is found in structures called fissure-veins which are similar to the Canadian and Czechoslovakian deposits. Another pitchblende occurring a few miles north of Caribou Hill, near Jamestown, Colo., is in pegmatite dikes that are highly erratic and it is doubtful if these desposits will be found to be commercial. The Caribou Hill deposits, on the other hand, are of the fissure variety and quite different structurally.

The habits of the Caribou ore shoots are now being studied and it is safe to say they are of sufficient size and continuity to be adaptable to a large scale mining operation.

The uranium occurs in this type of structure, hence the possibility of finding large, continuous uranium ore bodies as the mine is deepened.

3. I started to explore the mine from the surface down. I knew there must be uranium somewhere in the mine as I had found evidence of it on the surface dump. In the upper levels of the old mine there were traces, getting more extensive until I reached the 920 foot level. Here I found a much higher concentration. Finally at the bottom of the mine (1,040 feet) I was rewarded by the discovery of the high grade uranium. The fact that each lower level discovery was found to be of higher grade is evidence that uranium should be found in larger quantities and higher concentrations at depth.

4. The association of the uranium with silver is also highly significant, not only from a geological point of view but from the economical. Silver has been found to occur in economic quantities and there are sufficient reserves of silver ore to keep production going for a period of years. Even if there were no uranium present the mine warrants deepening because of the high silver content, but there is good geological reason to believe that the importance of the silver may give way to uranium as the mine is deepened.

(Dr. Ridland predicted that the demand for silver will become increasingly great in the years ahead as reserves are exhausted. He pointed out that production has been cut in half on a world-basis since 1943.)

Expert Says Hydrogen Powered Rocket Ships Could Reach Moon

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 21 (AP)—Rocket ships, fired by liquid hydrogen, could travel to the moon—if a ship existed that could make the trip.

That was the latest word on inter-planet travel today from Dr. H. L. Johnston, Ohio State university's rocket expert. He is a chemistry professor.

Johnston, who says he is the first man to put liquid hydrogen in rockets, said the fuel could propel a ship at a speed of 30,000 miles per hour.

Cost Said Prohibitive

"All we need is a ship to put the liquid hydrogen in,' the scientist commented, "and that's coming."

The almost prohibitive cost of operating a space ship, Johnston said, is the major reason one hasn't been built that could stand the strain of the high-powered fuel.

"One probably could be built right now if someone wanted to spend the money," he explained.

What the ship would look like, Johnston said was "hypothetical." "It wouldn't be anything that could carry people—not for a long time, anyway."

Three Tons Of Fuel Needed

Nor, Johnston said, could it hop around the universe, Buck Rogers style. "Anything like that," he laughed, "is pretty distant."

Liquid oxygen is used to oxidize, or burn, the hydrogen, Johnston explained.

"It's practically the best known oxidizer, just as liquid hydrogen is certainly the best known rocket fuel," he said.

To get a ship to the moon, three tons of the hydrogen - oxygen mixture would be "safe," Johnston said. About 20 per cent of that would be liquid oxygen, he added.

Official Says Segregation Committee Distorts Facts

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)—Maj. Gen. U. S. Grant, III, accused the National Committee on Segregation in the nation's capital today of distorting facts in its recent report on housing and social conditions among negroes here.

Grant is chairman of the National Capital Park and Planning commission.

Denying the committee's charge that negroes are herded into "ghettoes" with set boundaries, Grant said the colored population "has been extending into land formerly occupied by whites in nearly every part of town."

He described as "patently contrary to the facts" a committee assertion that negroes "are forced by government policy behind racial barricades satisfactory to the real estate board."

Coast Guard Reports Distress Call From Vessel Was 'Hoax'

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 21 (AP)—The Coast Guard today said a mysterious distress call reporting a vessel sinking near Cape San Antonio, Cuba, was a "hoax."

"We have established that the call was a 'hoax' and have secured all vessels engaged in the search," a Coast Guard spokesman said.

The distress call, reported Sunday, identified the vessel as the Honduran freighter San Luis and said the crew was taking to lifeboats. A check later revealed the San Luis had been sold to Nicaraguan interests and is now in a Jacksonville shipyard with her name changed.

California Raises Pensions For Aged To $75 Per Month

By THOMAS GOFF
United Press Staff Writer

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 21. (U.P.) — California will pay $75 a month to its needy aged beginning Jan. 1. It is one of the highest old age pensions in the nation.

The boost from the present rate of $65 was ordered in an initiative amendment to the state constitution adopted by the voters at the November election. It also gives the state's blind a $10 raise to $85 a month.

The measure also makes it much easier to qualify for the aged aid, shifts the entire pension burden to the state and puts a "first lien' on all state moneys to pay for the pensions. Those provisions have the state's high officials worried.

Under the program, long-term residents of the state become eligible for pensions at the age of 63 instead of 65. Pensioners may own $1,500 worth of personal preperty, a house assessed at not more than $3,500, a car and $1,000 worth of life insurance. They also may keep any "personal" jewelry they might own.

Relatives Get Break

Relatives of the aged also get a break under the plan. They are relieved of any responsibility for their support.

The main drawback, however, seems to be the determination of how the state is going to raise the money to foot the bill. It just doesn't have the ready money, budget-minded officials say, and won't have without raising taxes, dipping into earmarked reserves, or going into the red.

It has been estimated that the measure will add in the neighborhood of $26,000,000 to present pension costs for the balance of the present fiscal year. And that is enough to put the state into a deficit. It previously was expected to end the year with about a $10,000,000 surplus.

Budget Endangered

Next year, officials estimate, the program will add $100,000,000 to the costs of government and bring the state's budget well over $1,000,000,000.

Gov. Earl Warren and other administrators have indicated they probably will try to meet the added expense by an increase in taxes. Warren went on record as opposed to tampering with the state's special reserve funds and his entire administration has stood for a balanced budget.

But whatever the solution, the pension program probably won't be slighted. The "first lien" clause in the amendment has been interpreted to mean that pensions have an absolute first call on all money in the treasury. That means they would take precedence over schools, highways or any other function of government.

Railroads Claim Rate Hike Will Meet Costs Increases

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)—The railroads said today that their proposed emergency freight rate increase would just about cover prospective wage increases and higher material costs in 1949.

Jacob Aronson, vice-president of the New York Central and chief counsel for the rail industry in the rate case, made the estimate today in a letter sent to the Interstate Commerce commission.

The railroads are asking the ICC for a new 13 per cent freight rate increase. They ask quick authority to put on an eight per cent increase while the question of the larger one is being studied.

Swank Plane To Fly U. S. Officials And Actor To Europe

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21. (U.P.) — Vice president-elect Alben W. Barkley, Air Secretary W. Stuart Symington and comedian Bob Hope will fly to Europe tomorrow in the Air Force's swank and controversial new plane.

Barkley and Symington will spend Christmas with American airmen flying the Berlin airlift. Hope will join a group of entertainers giving a series of Yuletide shows for Air Force personnel.

Published reports have hinted that the plane was outfitted originally for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York on the assumption that he would be the next president. But Dewey denies it. And President Truman reportedly has rejected the plane as "too fancy."

Polio Patients Fly Home For Christmas

SAN MARCOS, Dec. 21 (AP)—Thirty-nine crippled children from Gonzales Warm Springs foundation left here today on an airborne holiday trip home for Christmas.

Five flights took off from the runways of San Marcos Air Force base carrying the polio patients. They ranged from a 21-year-old mother of two, Mrs. Virginia Gaudet, to an 11-months-old Rocksprings infant, Pedro Jimenez.

The trips were made possible by co-operation of oil men, who loaned private planes; Air Force personnel, ambulance operators in four central Texas towns, and others.

Ambulance Ride To Airport

The patients were moved from Gonzales to San Marcos in ambulances from Gonzales, Lockhart, Luling and Seguin.

Red-haired Betty Jo Stock, 13, of Devine, was first aboard. Blond, 17-year-old Bill Heil of San Antonio grinned and waved a cane as he made his way up the steps to one of the planes.

Nurses accompanied each flight.

Destinations included Lampasas, Brenham, Henderson, Terrell, San Antonio, Hondo, Uvalde, Laredo, Harlingen, Brownsville, Houston, Beaumont, Galveston, Wharton, San Angelo, Big Spring, Victoria and Goliad.

Army Airmen Honor Girls As Lackland Graduates 84 WAF's

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 21. (AP) — Women of the Air Force held the center of the stage today at Lackland Air Force base where 10,000 of their brother airmen joined high Air Training command officers in honoring the first graduating class of 84 basic WAF airmen.

Wearing newly-earned private first class chevrons on the sleeves of their neat dress uniforms, the 84 graduates lined up with their higher commanders for the review that launched the graduation exercises.

Former Glider Pilot, Passenger Killed In Michigan Plane Crash

ALBA, Mich., Dec. 21 (INS) — A veteran wartime glider pilot and his passenger were killed today when their private plane crashed in a farmer's field, three miles north of Alba, Mich.

State police identified the victims as Russell J. Herp, the 37-year-old pilot, and his passenger 45-year-old Roy V. Kenyon, both of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Witnesses told police the plane crashed after flying low through a light snowfall.

The 1949 show dates are Jan. 28 through Feb. 6.

Doak Walker Drafted By Pro Browns

CLEVELAND, Dec. 21 (AP) — Doak Walker of Southern Methodist, All-America halfback for the past two seasons, was drafted by the Cleveland Browns at today's fourth annual auction of football talent in the All-America Conference.

Walker, who still has a year of collegiate eligibility at the Texas school, also was picked by the orphaned Boston Yanks in the National league, who in turn traded him to Detroit.

Thus the SMU junior won't become the center of the expected financial tug-of-war between the two clubs until a year from now. By the rules of both circuits, Walker may not be approached until he has completed college play.

Heath Picked First

First man actually picked at today's draft, delayed 24 hours by yesterday's peace conference with the National league at Philadelphia, was Stan Heath of Nevada, the nation's No. 1 passer in the season now closing. He was the choice of the Chicago Rockets.

The Rockets also picked Warren Huey, Michigan state end, and officially announced that their choices in the preliminary August draw were Lineman Bill Fischer and Halfback Terry Brennan, both of Notre Dame.

Jonas Ingraham, commissioner of the A-A, said that 192 players were selected by the eight-club circuit, which National league sources have predicted on the verge of collapse.

"All we have to do now is to kickoff and the 1949 season would be under way," he said.

"And don't think we won't have those kickoffs," he added before leaving for Chicago and his California home.

More Talking Due

"I will meet Ben Lindheimer (owners of the Los Angeles Dons and chairman of the A-A's delegation) in Chicago tomorrow and we may see George Halas of the Chicago Bears and do some more talking."

Halas was one of the National league owners who approved the peace meeting before yesterday's session was announced officially.

Paul Brown, coach of the Cleveland team, said that failure of the Philadelphia peace move would force the owners to pay an average $3,000 more to each player.

"That's almost $600,000 more than we need spend," he explained. Had peace been reached at Philadelphia, a common draft might have been the result. Under it, only one club from the two leagues would have been permitted to draft a player.

Because players now may be drafted by a club from each league, the A-A coaches were reluctant to make their selections known.

Uclans Gain Victory Over Northwestern

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21. (INS)—UCLA maintained its undefeated basketball record tonight by downing Northwestern, 49 to 44, in an intersectional tilt played at Pan-Pacific auditorium.

Trailing 29-20 at halftime, Northwestern put on a scoring splurge to come within three points of the Bruins with two minutes to play but there the Uclans held and went on to win.

High scorer for the Bruins was forward Charles Clutska with 14 points. Pacing the Midwesterners was center Ray Ragelis with 17 markers.

Sudan High School Cagers Win Two Tilts From Tahoka

SUDAN, Dec. 21. (Special) — Sudan High school basketball teams won a pair of victories from Tahoka here tonight, the varsity beating the Bulldogs 43-13 and the B squad winning a 32-11 victory. Don Lance, with 15 points, sparked the Hornets, while Sam Carter, with eight, led the losers, in the varsity game.

LOOK OUT, CHARLIE, THAT'S NOT OKLAHOMA—Charlie "Choo-Choo" Justice, great North Carolina back, is shown holding a 14-inch Spanish mackeral that he caught recently at Wrightsville Beach, N. C. Justice, whose Tarheel mates play Oklahoma in the Sugar Bowl New Year's Day, holds the mackeral as though it might be a Sooner. If he can hold onto them that well Jan. 1, the Tarheels might live up to their seven-point edge in the betting.

Monahans, New Braunfels Meet On Christmas For Class A Title

(By The Associated Press)

The "little fellow" of Texas schoolboy football grows up this week.

Athletically, the coming of age takes place at Odessa Christmas day when New Braunfels and Monahans clash for the Class A state championship.

Class A schools, those in between the tiny ones and the big ones, finish their first campaign for a state title with a record as good as any of the big schools.

New Braunfels and Monahans come up to the Class A finals undefeated and untied. Amarillo and Waco, the finalists in the Class AA race, boast perfect records. And Arlington Heights (Fort Worth) and Lamar (Houstor) reached the title game in the City Conference race unbeaten but tied.

Records Impressive

Class A schools have been a happy hunting ground for college scouts seeking talent, but it took a championship race to focus the average Texan's interest on little school football.

The two finalists in the class A race demand a lot of respect with their records.

New Braunfels has rolled up more than 500 points in winning fourteen games.

Monahans has scored more than 300 in winning the same number of games.

Long Way for Unicorns

Jerome Bindseil is the backfield ace of New Braunfels. Waldo Young is the Monahans star.

New Braunfels had a hard-running ground attack and a big rugged line that has yielded but 69 points this year.

Monahans prefers ground plays but may take to the air this week to try and dent the Unicorn defense.

The championship game site gives Monahans one advantage. Odessa is just 35 miles from the Lobos' home den.

New Braunfels has to travel more than 350 miles to reach Odessa.

Frank Boucher Resigns From New York Rangers Hockey Team

NEW YORK, Dec. 21 (INS) — The cellar-bound New York Rangers of the National Hockey league announced today the resignation of Frank Boucher as coach and appointment of Lynn Patrick as his successor.

Boucher will remain with the team as manager, but Patrick will be in full charge of the bench.

Patrick was called in from a similar post with the New Haven Ramblers, a Ranger farm. He will be succeeded at New Haven by Neil Colville, injured Ranger defense man.

KELLY GETS ELECTED

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 21. (INS)—John B. Kelly of Philadelphia was re-elected president of the Atlantic City Racing Association for the coming year at a meeting of the board of directors today. Kelly, a prominent sportsman, formerly was Olympic sculling champion.

'Pacing' Paul Brown Presented With 16 Pairs Of Half Soles

CLEVELAND, Dec. 21 (AP) — Paul Brown, coach of the Cleveland Browns of the All-America Football Conference paces up and down the sidelines from start to finish of every game his team plays.

At today's civic luncheon in honor of his third straight Conference playoff title, Brown was presented with 16 pairs of half soles—one pair for each of the 14 league games and the two exhibitions on the 1949 program.

Lubbock Five Meets Abilene Here Tonight

Lubbock High's speedy Westerner cagers will tangle with the highly-rated Abilene Eagles, defending champions in District 3-AA, at 8 o'clock tonight at the Senior High school gymnasium. The feature clash of the inter-district rivals will be preceded by a "B" game at 7, officials announced.

The Eagles have played some of improvement this season, following a slow start, and the Abilene five is expected to make a strong defense of its crown in conference competition. The Eagles have looked good in several performances, although Coach Jake Bentley's free substitution policy has reportedly hampered the Abilene boys in several games. Bentley was swamped by a huge squad of candidates when the season opened, and he has used 15 to 20 players in most games in an effort to find his best combination.

Ingraham Heads Team

The Egales have played some of the strong quintets in the state in the early games, including Highland Park of Dallas, Brownwood and Big Spring.

Heading the Eagle scoring machine are big Hub Ingraham, a veteran from the Abilene five of last season, and speedy Scotty Holland. Holland was a stellar gridder for the last two years, as well as a capable performer on the hardwood court. Other Eagle standouts include Bill Galusha and Kenneth Green.

Coach Roy Morris' Westerners, who have won eight games in nine starts this season, are expected to field their usual starting lineup for the tilt. Forwards will be Charles Galey and Jesse Fullerton, with big Jim Wilson at center. Guards will probably include Blair Hankins and Morris (Moe) Turner.

Plenty of seats will be available for Lubbock fans tonight, school officials announced, and ducats will be sold at prices of 30 and 60 cents.

Lou Kusserow Signs With Dodger Eleven

NEW YORK, Dec. 21 (INS)—Lou Kusserow, Columbia's all-time greatest scorer, has signed a contract to play with the Brooklyn Dodgers of the All-America Conference next season.

The 193-pound backfield star from Glasport, Pa., will make his final appearance as a collegian with the eastern team against the west in the annual Shrine Benefit game at San Francisco New Year's Day.

President Branch Rickey of the All-America Conference Dodgers today announced the signing of Kusserow, but would not disclose details of the contract.

Kusserow led the scorers for all major college elevens during the past season with 108 points. He scored at least one touchdown in each Columbia game, although the team won only four games out of nine.

Oklahoma's Sooners Hold Rugged Scrimmage For Tilt

NORMAN, Okla., Dec. 21. (AP)—The University of Oklahoma Sooners put in a rugged day of scrimmage work in their final home practice for their game against North Carolina in the New Orleans Sugar Bowl Jan 1.

A shoulder injury kept second string guard Stan West on the sidelines. He is expected to be ready for action, however, when the Sooners re-convene for practice at Biloxi, Miss., Dec. 26.

Marshall College Quintet Rallies To Drop H-SU Five

ABILENE, Dec. 21. (AP)—The Marshall college cagers of Huntington, W. Va., came from behind in the fading seconds of the game to outscore Hardin Simmons here tonight, 62-59.

It was two fast buckets by Bob Koontz that spelled defeat for the Hardin - Simmons five. Hardin-Simmons had led most of the way, and led at the half 26-20.

Jene James of Marshall led the scoring with 22 points. Pete Golsor racked up 14 points to lead the Texans.

Westerners' 1949 Grid Slate Announced

Lubbock To Open With Childress

Lubbock High's Westerner football team will battle the Childress Bobcats of District 2-AA here Friday night, Sept. 16, to open a rough 10-game schedule in 1949, Athletic Director C. R. (Pat) Pattison announced Tuesday night.

A full slate of six non-conference games, as well as four District 3-AA title clashes, has been completed by the Lubbock High officials, and eight of the game contracts have already been signed. Two tilts, with Amarillo and Childress, have been negotiated, but contracts to the schools concerned have not been returned as yet. The games have been assured as a result of verbal agreements, however.

Six of the tilts, including four non-title games and two district meetings, will be played in Lubbock at Jones stadium, while four clashes will be played on opponents' fields.

Steers Follow Childress

Following the opening tussle with Childress, the powerful North Side Steers of Fort Worth will invade Lubbock on Sept. 23. The next Friday, Sept. 30, the Westerners journey to Plainview to battle their former District 1-AA rivals, then the Hub city schoolboys play host to Vernon of 2-AA on Oct. 7.

Two encounters with strong 1-AA elevens, Pampa and Amarillo, will close out the non-conference slate. The Pampa Harvesters will invade Lubbock on Oct. 14, then the Westerners go to Amarillo Oct. 21 for their most important non-title setto. The Westerner-Sandie tilt has been one of the top clashes in West Texas for many years, and officials of both schools have tentatively agreed on the date and site in order to continue the long rivalry.

Meet Lamesa Oct. 28

The Westerners open the District 3-AA conference race here Oct. 28 against the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes, then the Hub city schoolboys will have an open date the following weekend.

On Nov. 11 Lubbock High's eleven will journey to Odessa for an all-important Armistice day

Herd Is Eight Point Favorite

Tech And Marshall Meet Here Tonight

Marshall College of Huntington, W. Va., and Texas Tech basketball teams will collide at 8 tonight in Tech gym for one of the top exhibition games of the season on the Red Raider schedule.

The Thundering Herd, placed at an eight point favorite, will attempt to notch another victory to an already impressive string. The visitors are known for their smooth-passing, fast breaking, clever ball-handling work, in addition to their ability to make points with alarming ease.

But in the Raiders of Tech they meet one of the finest college quintets in the Southwest. The Raiders broke even in a pair of games against SMU, rated among the top ten of the nation, and they easily beat Rice. Both opponents were members of the Southwest Conference.

Open To Public

The game is open to the public, with students living in Lubbock admitted on activitiy tickets. But primarily, this is for the Raider fans who are unable to see them in action normally. Tickets have been priced at $1, with no reserved seats, and a capacity crowd is expected to see Coach Polk Robison's potential Border Conference champions in action.

So far the Raiders have won six of seven games, maintaining a 55 point average. They have victories over Tempe and Flagstaff in loop play and other victories over the strong North Texas Eagles, Rice, SMU and McMurry.

The visitors bring an attack that is famed throughout the nation for its excellence. Under Cam Henderson's coaching for 13 years, the Herd has piled up 257 victories against 93 losses and have won several invitational tournaments, in addition to the National Inter-collegiate tourney crown, which they won in March of 1947 and again in December of the same year.

The Green Wave, as Marshall also is called, is led by Bill Toothman of Huntington, who last year scored 431 points at his forward position. Harold James of Ironton, O., the center, was second team man in scoring with 405 and Bob Koontz of Huntington was third with 293.

Grove Leads Tech

Toothman is a six footer who weighs 170 pounds. James is six feet four inches tall and weighs 175 pounds, while Koontz is six foot three and weighs 185 pounds. All three are lettermen, while the first two named were regulars last year.

Three other lettermen, Bob Wright, Jimmy Bakalis and Dick Erickson, also are on this year's squad and helping Toothman with the scoring duties.

Tech will counter with a team that includes such stars as Center Don Grove, leading Raider point man; Gene Gibson, rangy ball hawk, and Whistle Banks, play maker and sparkplug, forwards; and Ardis Barton, a stocky, consistently good defensive man, and Chester "Jiggs" Jackson, keen-eyed basket maker, guards.

In reserve will be Wimpy Hill, Wayne Bowles, C. W. Dukes, Charles Pinnell, George Belchef, Bill Edins, Derwood Patterson and J. R. McAnnally, many of whom will see action.

As a halftime feature, the Boy Club Pee Wee League boys will stage an exhibition game.

Sam McMillian Elected To Presidency Of Publinx Club

Other officers elected were Houston Trammell, vice president, and Sloan Fortenberry, secretary and treasurer.

Olsen And Trout At Arena Tonight

Two champions meet tonight in the main event at Sled Allen's wrestling arena, but neither of them will have his title at stake, so they can get down to some plain and fancy wrestling.

Milt Olsen, the Texas Junior Heavyweight champ, and Dick Trout, the Southwestern Junior Heavyweight crown-holder, meet in a two out of three falls main event which has a one-hour time limit. Olsen made a fine impression last week, while Trout has been appearing regularly of late.

Canadian Due Here

In the semi-final, Monte LaDue of Toronto, Can., makes his first appearance in a Lubbock ring by taking on the stocky, stubborn Bennie Trudell of Montreal, Can. The two Canucks, if they are typical, should have a delightful time at each other's expense.

The preliminary brings together rowdy dowdy Pat O'Dowdy, the Big Spring promoter-wrestler, and Olan Boynton, the up and coming Amarillo grappler.

Allen, in announcing the card, requested that all persons able to bring foodstuffs or used clothing do so. Both the food and the clothing will be turned over to the Salvation Army to be distributed to the needy of Lubbock and vicinity at Christmas. Allen said that any article would be appreciated, including toys.

Best Card In Weeks

Lubbock mat fans should be treated to a Christmas card that is one of the best in recent weeks. Olsen proved to be a clever, adept wrestler and he won the crowd last week with his ability. Trout has been demonstrating that he can take care of himself and that he also knows his way around in the ring.

Little is known about LaDue, but he comes highly recommended. And if he compares favorably to the other Canadians on the circuit, should be liked by the crowd.

Tickets will be on sale from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. at Wylie's Drug store and the first bout will begin at 8 p. m.

Argentina has taken another step toward nationalizing its merchant and river fleets.

Loss Of End James Garner Hurts Sandies

AMARILLO, Dec. 21. (U.P.) — Anyone wondering why the loss of an end could mean so much to a football team might have a hard time figuring it out—unless that end was Amarillo's James Garner.

The 165-pound end, who suffered a torn knee ligament when blocked out of a play early in the Denison semifinal game last Saturday, will not be able to play against Waco in the Class AA championship game Christmas day at Fort Worth.

With Garner out, the Sandies' chances of victory went glimmering.

From his post out on the wing, the handsome Garner had called the signals for the Sandies, been a defensive terror, turned in exceptional work as a safety man and was the club's top pass receiver.

Just before he went out of the game at Denison, Garner was on the receiving end of a 52-yard pass play for a touchdown—his 16th of the season and his 13th via passes—most of them from far out.

Two of the three he didn't score via passes came at opportune moments. Against Odessa in the quarterfinals, he returned a punt 66 yards for one touchdown and ran back an intercepted pass 55 yards for the other as the Sandies scored a 12-6 victory.

During the regular 10-game season Garner snagged 27 passes for 747 yards and 10 of them were for touchdowns. He failed to catch passes against Woodrow Wilson of Dallas, Brownfield and Lubbock, but got one good for six points against the other seven opponents.

The longest one was for 85 yards against Borger, the shortest for four yards, also against Borger. He also figured in touchdown aerials for 61 yards against Borger, 59 yards against Odessa in an early-season game, 45 yards against Paschal, 31 yards against Plainview, 29 yards against Childress, 27 yards against Paschal, 23 yards against Abilene and two others less than 10 yards.

Is it any wonder Coach Howard Lynch was wailing the blues?

Rocket Owners Are Willing To Continue

CHICAGO, Dec. 21. (INS)— Owners of the Chicago Rockets met today and indicated they may be willing to continue the All-American Football Conference's most maligned franchise another year.

A spokesman for the owners said, however, that they first wished to have "all information" on the so-called peace talks between the A. A. C. and the National Football league.

It is understood any peace move will produce a shifting of franchises which will mean the end of the Rockets.

If the A. A. C. continues as an eight-team league in 1949, with "war" still in evidence, the Rockets must produce $200,000 by February as proof of financial stability.

BEARS PREP FOR TILT

WACO, Dec. 21. (AP)—Coach Bob Woodruff had his Baylor Bear gridders out for a long scrimmage session this afternoon in preparation for the New Year's Day Dixie Bowl contest with the Wake Forest Deacons in Birmingham.

IT'S NOT DONE WITH MIRRORS, BUT IT'S GLASS—Marvin K. Hedge, international fly casting champion, demonstrates the strength of a glass fishing rod conclusively in this remarkable stunt. Hedge, in San Francisco, placed seven men weighing a total of 1,278 pounds, on a table on wheels, to which was attached a 45-pound test line. The rod weighed six and a quarter ounces. Hedge easily pulled the weight, but what made the stunt more impressive is that the initial strain is on the rod and line before the table starts to move.

Hub Fighters Host To Amarillo Team

Jaycee Boxing Bouts Slated January 13

Lubbock boxers will make their first appearance of the season January 13 at Sled Allen's arena on Texas Avenue, when they play host to a strong Amarillo boxing team.

The bouts, which will be under the sponsorship of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be the first of the year in this city and will precede the annual Golden Gloves tournament. There will be 12 to 15 bouts on the card.

Amarillo this year has a stronger team than it had last year, with several outstanding boxers. In fact, the Amarillo boxing squad is so strong that they have three teams of about equal strength. Which one the city will send here is not known, but any one of the three will be strong competition.

Lubbock boxers are getting ready for the fights under the supervision of O. C. Foster, Bill Henderson and Babe Ritchie at Foster's Gym on Main street just off College avenue. Foster has been in athletics for several years, while Henderson still is fighting professionally, after holding the state Golden Gloves featherweight title for two years. Ritchie is one of the former heavyweight contenders and saw almost a dozen years in the pro ring.

Foster said yesterday that if there were any amateur fighters in the area who wished to fight on the Lubbock team, which is not part of the Golden Gloves program, they are urged to come to the gym and work out. Foster is trying to get as strong a team as possible for the Lubbock squad and the experience they gain in these inter-city fights will stand them to good advantage when the Golden Gloves roll around.

Other dates on the schedule for the Lubbock fighters will be a match at Plainview on Jan. 21 and a return match with the Plainview fighters here on Feb. 24. Tentative dates are being set for other inter-city bouts.

Any boxer interested in joining the Lubbock squad should see Foster at the gym, or call 2-4755.

Reds Want To Trade Little Augie Galan

CINCINNATI, Dec. 21. (AP)— Little Augie Galan, the ballplayer everybody likes, appears to have swung his last bat in the major leagues.

The Cincinnati Reds asked waivers on the veteran of 16 years' big time play today after trying to trade him at the recent Chicago meeting.

An ailing throwing arm and legs which began to creak and sag on outfields made hard by mid-summer heat finally caught up with Galan.

The old batting eye is still there, as evidenced by a .286 average in 54 scattered games last year. At the time his arm was so sore he could hardly lift it.

SMU Five Beats Missouri, 59-49

COLUMBIA, Mo., Dec. 21. (INS)— The Southern Methodist Mustangs, hitting 23 out of 31 free throws, tonight evened their two-game series with the University of Missouri by downing the Tigers, 59 to 49.

The Tigers won last night, 52-41.

Jack Brown bagged seven baskets in the second half to lead the Mustangs to victory. He totaled 20 points to top the scoring for the evening.

McFarland-Maisen Bowlers Down Walton Pin Topplers

The McFarland-Maisen keglers moved into first place in the Major Bowling League Tuesday night on the Lubbock Bowling Club Lanes with a clean four point sweep from the Walton pin topplers while the erstwhile leaders, Hemphill-Wells, were splitting a 2-2 decision with Hub Clothiers. In the other match of the night Mission-Orange copped a 3-1 win from the Westerner Cafe.

E. A. Christensen tallied a three game individual series of 650 and Glenn Hennington knocked over a 236 single game for individual honors. McFarland-Maisen also took team honors with 2945 series highlighted by a 1058 single game.

NBA Rates Jersey Joe As Contender

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21. (INS) — The National Boxing Association, in its final rating for 1948, said today that there still are no strong contenders for Joe Louis' heavyweight crown.

The NBA merely listed Jersey Joe Walcott and Ezzard Charles as the only two outstanding boxers in the heavyweight division outside of Louis. It said:

"The logical contenders for Joe Louis' heavyweight title must always include Jersey Joe Walcott and the NBA believes that the final selection for a title match should be Walcott or the heavyweight who is good enough to beat Walcott in an elimination go."

Other ratings by the NBA were:

Light heavyweight division — Gus Lesnevich, logical contender for the title now held by England's Freddie Mills.

Middleweight—Tony Zale, Bert Lytell, and Jake Lamotta, logical contenders for the crown worn by Marcel Cerdan.

Welterweight — logical contenders: Bernard Docusen, Kid Gavilan, Frankie Fernandez. Title held by Ray Robinson.

Lightweight — Enrique Bolanos is logical contender for Ike Williams' title.

Featherweight — Willie Pep, logical contender for title won by Sandy Saddler from Pep.

Flyweight — champion: Rinty Monoghan; logical contender: Dado Marino.

Westerner Schedule

tussle that may decide the district crown. Odessa is expected to field one of the top teams in the state in 1949, and the Westerners are ranked by most West Texas grid experts as the top challenger to meet the Bronchos in conference play. The tilt will probably be an afternoon setto.

The Westerners make another long journey on Nov. 18, when they travel to Midland to tangle with the dangerous Bulldogs, then the Lubbock team will close the regular season against the Brownfield Cubs here Thanksgiving day, Nov. 24.

Good Schedule Carded

Four of the Westerners' opponents in 1949—Amarillo, Pampa, North Side and Odessa — had strong teams this season, and will probably return to the top bracket next season. The other six elevens are recognized as top-ranking teams and should provide Lubbock fans with one of the best schedules in recent years.

The complete schedule:

Sept. 16—Childress at Lubbock.
Sept. 23 — North Side (Ft. Worth) at Lubbock.
Sept. 30—Lubbock at Plainview.
Oct. 7—Vernon at Lubbock.
Oct. 14—Pampa at Lubbock.
Oct. 21—Lubbock at Amarillo.
*Oct. 28—Lamesa at Lubbock.
Nov. 4—Open date.
*Nov. 11—Lubbock at Odessa.
*Nov. 18—Lubbock at Midland.
*Nov. 24—Brownfield at Lubbock.

*Denotes conference game.

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

Lubbock High's schedule for the 1949 football season, as announced Tuesday night by Athletic Director Pat Pattison, should give Hub city grid fans plenty to look forward to. The Westerners will meet at least four or five of the strongest elevens in the state next year, and fans will get to see six good home games. It is unfortunate that the Westerners have to meet two of the top teams—Amarillo and Odessa—away from home, but both cities are close enough to give fans an opportunity to see the games. The Odessa tilt will be played on a holiday, Armistice day, so all Lubbock fans who want to see the game should find it easy to travel to the Permian Basin city.

While the schedule is probably not quite as tough as the 1948 slate, on the basis of all games, the Westerners will still face 10 rugged weekends. Everyone knows the type of teams that can be expected from Amarillo, Odessa, North Side of Fort Worth and Pampa, and several of the other foes could be very rough. Childress was runner-up in District 2-AA this year, and both Vernon and Midland could be district contenders next season. As far as the rest of the slate, any one of the elevens could knock off a highly-rated team on any given day. Just look at the records of Plainview, Lamesa and Brownfield, and you will find quite a number of upset victories during the last 10 years.

And, although it seems far too early for much comment, it is highly probable that the Westerners will have an even tougher slate in 1950. Coach Pat Pattison has some excellent contacts at Wichita Falls, and it is no secret that the Westerner mentor will try to schedule the Coyotes on a home and home basis. There are several indications that Coach Pattison's efforts will be rewarded by a contract in 1950. Then, too, it is very probable that the strong Sweetwater team will be added to the list of Westerner foes in 1950. Only a conflict in open dates prevented a Sweetwater-Lubbock clash in 1949, and both mentors reportedly will make every effort to agree on a date for the 1950 season.

Lubbock fans will immediately notice that several former foes of the Westerners are not scheduled in 1949. San Angelo, the usual second tilt of the year for the Westerners, has been dropped. The Lubbock High officials were not too eager to travel to San Angelo to play before the usual small crowd in the old stadium there, and San Angelo officials—despite several "announcements" by the San Angelo paper—made no effort to renew the Lubbock contract. And, for the information of fans, the home team usually has the responsibility of mailing out the contracts. As far as can be determined, the San Angelo officials announced that they would play Lubbock in San Angelo on Sept. 16, but never mailed a contract to, or negotiated with, Lubbock officials.

Fans will also notice that Lubbock will play every District 1-AA team except Borger. There is no "discrimination" involved, it just so happens that Borger has the worst facilities in the district. Most of the Hub city fans who have ever visited the small, poorly-lighted Borger field can verify that statement. Then, too, Lubbock officials know that there is not as much rivalry in the Borger series as there is in the settos with Amarillo, Pampa and Plainview. The Westerners hated to drop Borger before gaining revenge for the defeat this season, but Lubbock couldn't play every Class AA team in the Panhandle and South Plains.

ALABAMA, TULANE TO MEET

MOBILE, Ala., Dec. 21. (AP)— Alabama and Tulane will meet in a Southeastern Conference football game here next Sept. 24, Frank Thomas, Alabama's athletic director, announced from Tuscalossa today.

Cotton Center To Play New Deal Tonight

NEW DEAL, Dec. 21 (Special)— Toby Waggoner, superintendent of schools here, goes on the spot tomorrow night.

Not that Waggoner is going to lose his job, but he may well wish he were a thousand miles or so away—if the New Deal High school girls basketball team doesn't win.

The New Deal girls team plays host to Cotton Center's girls team in a game that has drawn the spotlight away from the boys game between the two schools.

Last year Cotton Center won district 18, one of the largest in the state, and then went on to the state championship tournament. They had an outstanding record and were considered just about the finest girls team ever developed in West Texas.

So what does that mean to Waggoner? Not much. He merely was the coach of that team last year and, when he moved here, many persons expected him to work the same miracles. Perhaps he has, although he turned the coaching reins entirely over to others.

This year's New Deal team has lost only one game and has won 14 so far this early in the season. And their only loss was by one point. By the same token, Cotton Center has dropped only one contest and appears almost as strong as last year.

Western Allies Set Up New Rule

Lucius D. Clay said the American position on this will not be fixed until a western German government constitution is worked out and approved.

"The position then," said Clay, "will depend on the existing Berlin situation."

Western Berlin political leaders have demanded a union with the proposed western German government.

Reds Seize Mayor

In the Soviet occupation of Stolpe, which cast a 93 per cent vote against Communism in the recent western sector election, the Russians seized the district mayor and took him to the Soviet headquarters under police escort.

The French gave up Stolpe at Russia's demand because the Soviets originally allotted the area to the French as an air base which never was developed.

An airport was built at Tegel, in the French sector. The French then dynamited two transmitter towers of the Soviet-controlled Berlin radio a week ago because they were a hazard to the western air lift.

The Russians followed by demanding the return of Stolpe, and occupied it without French consent and without any resistance.

Gen. Ganeval, presumably referring to the seizure of the Stolpe mayor, termed the Russian occupation "surprising as usual."

The western German press angrily condemned the French withdrawal as a "political scandal and a betrayal of the people."

Phone Strike Looms

strike by St. Louis officials.

A spokesman for the local telephone union said approximately 200 persons would be affected in Lubbock should the strike be called, including both traffic and maintenance workers.

Emergency services will be provided if the strike endangers the public life of the City of Lubbock, and the union will conduct the strike "in full co-operation with the mayor and the city officials" in seeing that the interests of local citizens are served to the best possible manner, Jack Lovelace, the spokesman, said.

Committees Named

The various committees included an emergency service committee to handle any unforeseen emergency which might require return of a number of workers who might be on strike, an organization committee, publicity committee, and other such groups.

Picket lines likely would be established, the spokesman said.

Late last night the group had received no new instructions from St. Louis.

Cecil H. Cale, manager of Southwestern Bell Telephone company here, last night declined to make a statement regarding his company's plans in case a strike was called, but said that it would be a "little bit difficult" to maintain satisfactory operations here if workers are called on strike.

Chinese Aid Halted

ency appropriation to carry on relief from March 31, when ECA funds will be exhausted, until June 30. But while existing conditions last, he said, no relief running beyond the lattter date probably will be requested.

Conditions Given

The ECA chief recalled that he announced in China that aid would be given from stocks on hand should cities fall to Communist forces in the fighting. He said this was only on condition that the new government met required conditions.

These conditions, he pointed out, included safe conduct for American personnel, close supervision of aid by the United States, and full publicity of the fact that relief was being furnished by the U. S.

Hoffman made this statement in an attempt to clarify an announcement in China which caused considerable controversy. He said the arrangement would be carried on until a decision was reached on U. S. policy toward any legal government that should take over in China.

He explained that engineering work had been stopped on all long-term Chinese projects except in a few cases where it was so far along that no money would be saved by suspending it.

The 53-year-old diplomat and his secretary are expected to be called before the jury tomorrow

Sayre, as well as former Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, came to the defense of the 43-year-old Duggan whom they knew in Washington.

Sayre said Duggan "rendered great service to the country while he was in the State department." Duggan, a close friend of Alger Hiss, was with the State department from 1931 to 1944.

Welles declared that Duggan was "one of the most brilliant, most devoted and most patriotic public servants I have ever known."

Hiss himself asserted that his "good friend" died "a victim of persecution."

Duggan died last night in a plunge from the offices of the Institute of International Affairs about the time it appeared he was preparing to leave to go home.

Dutch troops occupied Kalioerang in central Java, a mountain headquarters of a United Nations staff of 18 persons. Dutch officials notified UN representatives in Batavia the 18 were safe. It was the first word on their fate since Saturday.

He said Dutch strategy was to capture the important centers, depriving Republican units of unified direction, and then begin wiping out stray bands.

ATTEMPTS TO CONDEMN DUTCH BLOCKED IN UN

PARIS, Dec. 21 (INS) — Authoritative informants said tonight Britain, France and other Western European colonial powers are blocking American efforts to get a UN Security Council condemnation of Dutch military action in Indonesia.

These Paris informants said the Americans met strong opposition to a proposed resolution denouncing the Dutch "police action" as a threat to peace.

The UN Security Council will meet tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. (3:30 a.m. CST) amid rising anti-Dutch statements from Asiatic lands.

A spokesman of the overrun Indonesian republic said his UN delegation will demand an immediate cease-fire in Indonesia, withdrawal of Dutch troops behind truce agreement lines, and release of captured Indonesian leaders.

Authoritative informants in Paris said the Europeans oppose any strong anti-Dutch action by the council, and want the resolution limited to a cease-fire request.

Refuses To Discuss Rumors

MacArthur's press officer, Col. Marion P. Echols, said he "guessed" the executions were not being carried out on this calendar day. He based this on the fact that "it takes about 24 hours to set up the machinery again."

Echols refused to discuss rumors that the executions would be deferred until after Christmas. He said he'd "heard no ealk" of the reported postponement.

Echols said he didn't think the families of the seven doomed men would be allowed to visit them again. He declared:

"They've had their visitors for this month and so they won't have any more unless the rules are changed."

Young Man's Long Journey From Abyss Of Insanity Ended

(By The International News Service)

DETROIT, Dec. 21 — The courts formally declared 26-year-old Ernest Salisbury's long journey from the abyss of insanity at an end today.

The one-time "skid-row" derelict, whose love for music became his passport to reality, was returned to society with the court's word that he is fully reclaimed.

Judge William F. Cotter acted on the recommendation of Dr. A. S. Church, who followed young Salisbury's recovery from the anguished state of the mentally-afflicted, through the youth's four month "probation" and to his present, valuable role in society.

right of appeal. Defense attorneys said the companies would work out the proportionate amount of their fines.

The El Paso companies were penalized $25,000 on a basis of $50 per day for 500 days of violation beginning about July 4, 1946.

The Dallas and Fort Worth companies were fined $25,000 on a basis of $100 per day for 250 days of violation beginning about April 1, 1947.

Attorney General Price Daniel suggested the penalties. He said it was difficult to arrive at the exact amount and indicated larger fines could have been sought.

"They should be sufficient to take the profit out of matters of this kind but not so large as to be passed on to the public," he told the court.

Successful prosecution of the milk suits resulted in the largest fines yet secured by the attorney general in the trust busting campaign which he promised to wage when he was elected two years ago.

Other anti-trust actions brought by the state have resulted in a $10,000 penalty against the Ford Gum Machine Co., Inc., of New York; $12,500 against Simplicity Pattern Co., Inc., of New York; $20,000 against Warren Petroleum Corp., in connection with butane gas contracts; injunctions against certain bread companies in Gainesville and against the South Texas (milk) Producers association and six Houston milk companies.

Judge Betts called on business me nto change their way of thinking with respect to the setting of prices.

"Business, as such, has gone through a period of war and prewar emergencies the past 16 years. Business men have gone through a schooling as well as an enforcement of laws which has amounted to an abrogation of anti-trust laws," he said.

"It's going to be difficult to get over. Business men are going to have to change their outlook resulting from government enforced actions which are technically in violation of anti-trust laws."

(The Communist radio said the 35th army, one of the main forces of Gen. Fu Tso-Yi, commander in north China, was encircled in the mountains about 60 miles northwest of Peiping. The army was being bombarded with demands to surrender.)

River Line Abandoned

The two islands of resistance in North China, as well as two more on the Suchow front northwest of Nanking, thus developed into holding operations—and none too good at that.

With plenty of veterans from Manchuria, the Communists in the north can leave light forces to watch Peiping and Tientsin and throw the bulk of their strength south into the battle for the heart of China.

Associated Press Correspondent Seymour Topping reported from the east China front that the government was completing the abandonment of the Hwai river line 100 miles northwest of the capital.

He said the move was accepted as a plain indication that all hope was abandoned for the escape of the former Suchow garrison trapped north of the Hwai.

Truman Board Recommendations 'Disapproved' By Rail Unions

CHICAGO, Dec. 21 (INS)—Recommendations of President Truman's Fact-Finding board were declared "not satisfactory" today by the spokesman for one million non-operating union railroad employes.

George E. Leighty, chairman of 16 non-operating unions, said disapproval of the fact-findinig report did not mean that the recommendations were rejected.

In a statement, Leighty said:

"The board of 1,200 (union) delegates disapproved of the recommendations for a 7-cent hourly wage increase retroactive to October 1 and institution of the 40-hour week next September.

"We will meet with railroad management next Jan. 5 in Chicago in a further attempt to reach a settlement."

FORGETFULNESS FORGIVEN

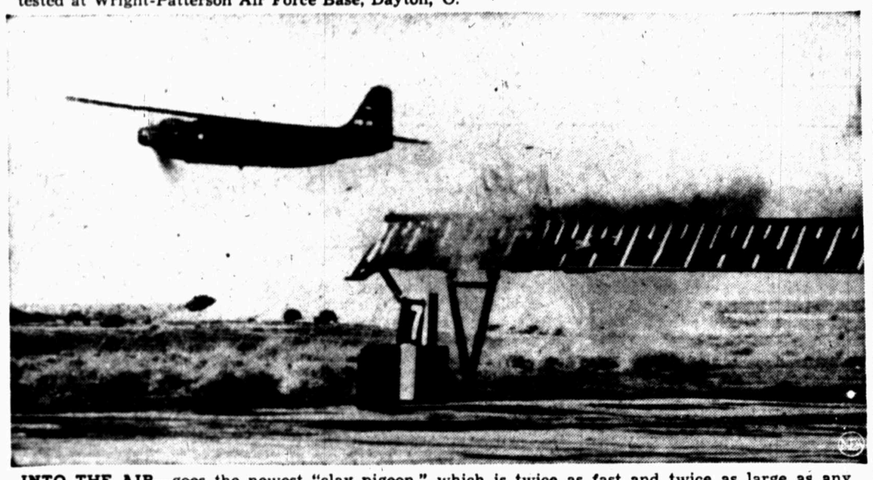

FORT WORTH, Tex. (U.P.) — An absent-minded policeman offered to pay a $2 parking fine for a woman motorist because he had forgotten to put in the nickel she gave him during the time she was in a doctor's office. Instead, the judge commended him for his honesty and dismissed the ticket.

AIR FORCE POPS AWAY AT 220-MPH 'CLAY PIGEON'—Taxiing along a 60-foot catapult, before a rocket launches it into the air, is the Air Force's new remote-controlled target plane, the OQ-19A. Shot into the air at a speed of 80 miles an hour, the tiny plane is capable of doing 220 miles an hour and performing intricate aerial maneuvers and high-speed dives. The plane was tested at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, O.

INTO THE AIR—goes the newest "clay pigeon," which is twice as fast and twice as large as any previously developed pilotless flying target. The OQ-19A weighs 300 pounds, is 10½ feet long with a 12-foot wingspan. At a 200-yard range, it looks like a normal-sized pursuit plane 500 yards distant. With a four-cylinder engine, it can be controlled from ground or air.

LANDING IS ACCOMPLISHED—by means of a cargo type parachute, which can be released by the operator, or which automatically releases if the radio carrier wave, controlling the flight, is interrupted. Another device releases the parachute as the plane lands, so it can't be dragged along the ground, which might damage it. It will fly for an hour without refueling.

Ingenious Wrappings Add Bit Of Charm To Yuletide Gifts

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Wrappings don't make the gift, but they can make it look expensive and exciting.

This year you can have more fun and use more originality with your gift wrappings than ever before. It is not necessary to rely on the counter with the matched ribbons and papers and cards. You can branch out and pick novelty gadgets to top your gifts.

Instead of struggling to get a ribbon around a tiny perfume bottle, you could tuck the bottle into a small white cardboard sleigh from a notion counter. You might add a tiny Santa and miniature Christmas tree to the sleighload.

Gleaming Christmas papers are beautiful, but for a clever change you could try wrapping a gift in an ordinary road map for the man who travels a great deal. Tie it with bright red ribbon and attach a toy car or a key ring to the bow.

Something For Sewing

The woman who likes to sew will be thrilled with a package wrapped in a length of fabric that can be used for an apron or a child's dress. Tie it with ribbon which can be used later to trim the fabric.

Small costume jewelry, like the popular scatter pins, can be placed in a tiny box and put into Santa's pack instead of in a regular wrapping. An ordinary little muslin sack with a drawstring top will do. Substitute red ribbon for the drawstring and tie the bag to a miniature Santa.

After the package is finished, you can still add thoughtful "extras" which will give a very personal touch. Colorful knitting needles can be tucked in a bow for the knitter; a sachet bag added to a lingerie or handkerchief gift, or a baby rattle on a gift of a baby's blanket.

Colors Important

It is well to choose simple and effective color combinations for the gifts that boast only ribbon and paper wrappings. A very wide ribbon can be used effectively on a large carton, or two or three narrow ribbons of different colors. Tie the ribbons around the package first and knot the ends securely. Then make the bow separately. The bow is secured to the package with the ends of the tying ribbon.

Once you get accustomed to securing the folded ends of the wrapping paper with tiny pieces of transparent gummed taps, you'll find it's easy and fun to experiment with fancy tying. Try tying a large square package around the middle instead of over the top. Or a long narrow package separately at either end, with the bows in opposite corners.

For mailing, a flat bow, with no ornament, is best. Just form a loop with the ribbon, holding it firmly between the thumb and forefinger, and with the other hand make a second loop the same length on the opposite side, cut the end of the ribbon and fasten the bow at the center by wrapping a piece of matching ribbon around it. Then attach the bow to the package—and your gift is ready to go beneath the Christmas tree.

Stars Of Showtime Program To Be Presented Tonight

Approximately 850 persons attended the Stars of Showtime program at Lubbock Senior High school auditorium last night. The show will be repeated at 8:15 p. m. today.

Highlights of the program, sponsored by the American Legion here, were Bobby Winters' expert juggling; Tom and Jerry, skaters; Fred Ketch and his two dummies; and Hubert Castle, wire performer. The Durwald Cline orchestra furnished music. Rus Byrd is mc of the show. Prices are $2.40 and $1.85, and balcony seats $1.20.

you see them grow and unfold, leaf by leaf, and each has something beautiful within if you will only look for it and help develop it."

Build Self Confidence

In discussing bringing out the best in children, Miss Thurman had this advice for teachers: "Let the child believe that it is there; build up a self confidence in him and let him know that you believe in him."

"I have spent the happiest part of my life teaching the boys and girls of Lubbock. Nothing makes me happier than to walk into K. Carter school and have those little faces alight with love and happiness and say, 'Good morning, Miss Thurman.' Or to walk down the street and have some man or woman wave and say, 'Hello, Miss Thurman,' and know it is one of my boys or girls of yester-year."

Numerous benevolences to needy children within her school were recalled by patrons and teachers of K. Carter. Even this year Miss Thurman used a trunk she kept filled with clothes secured from former patrons when she found a child in need. She would take the child to the bookroom and unlock the trunk, find suitable clothing, and have the child call by the office after school to get the clothes. "I always tried to be careful in giving a child clothes, because I never liked to break the pride of a family," she said. Often her social work meant she must take her own money to help a family, teachers said.

Used Paddle Rarely

All former students at K. Carter school recall the whistle which Miss Thurman wore and used when youthful enthusiasm outgrew normal bounds. As one former patron said, "She wore that whistle as some women wear pearls, and it never ceased to get results." Although she is known as a strict disciplinarian, fellow teachers say she resorted to the paddle on very rare occasions.

Teachers in K. Carter summed up their principal's success thus: Miss Thurman knows every child in our school personally. Her wholehearted interest in the individual child results in a triangle of close cooperation between principal, parent, and teacher.

Comments of a few Lubbock citizens and former pupils contacted this week follow:

Mrs. George Wolffarth, first president of K. Carter Parent-Teacher association, organized in May, 1925: Miss Thurman taught all my children. She is truly a Christian person and there is no place where we need that spirit more than in our schools. She always gave us perfect cooperation and used her executive ability to help in P-TA work.

Was Always Impartial

Ragan Little, building contractor and former pupil: She was always impartial. Rich or poor, brilliant or just average were all the same to her. But, disobedience and misbehaviour somehow just didn't agree with her. Most of us loved her, some of us feared her, but all of us minded her.

Miss Margaret Turner, former pupil and Woman's Editor of Avalanche-Journal: She was my teacher from grades five through eight—those most difficult, turning years when one is changing from a child to an adolescent. I shall always be grateful for having her. She is a wonderful woman as well as a wonderful teacher.

Dr. Ewell Hunt, surgeon and former pupil: Miss Stella Thurman taught me mathematics in the fifth grade and was my room teacher and teacher of history when I was a freshman in high school. Throughout all of my 19 years of schooling I have always considered Miss Thurman as one of, if not the most, outstanding teachers. She was a true teacher and not merely someone trying to hold a job. She was kind, yet she commanded the respect of every student. If I were asked to comment on the outstanding quality of her teaching, as I remember her in the schoolroom, I would say immediately that the almost perfect organization of her material and the very systematic way in which she presented it to her students made it exceptionally easy for us to learn and remember what she was attempting to teach us.

Mrs. Gordon Sanders, present president of Parent-Teacher association at K. Carter and mother of two children attending that school: Miss Thurman is a woman who is truly 'wise with the wisdom that right living brings.' Her strength seems to reach out and gather in all the little children.

Floyd Honey, former pupil and principal of Senior High. Miss Stella Thurman was a great teacher and a greater friend. Through friendship, kindness, and warm human understanding, she won the love, the respect, and the best efforts of her students. She kept unruly over-age boys in school when no one else could have. She taught by both precept and example. Her influence has remained with me through the years in relation to such simple things as brushing the teeth as well as in relation to the great, fundamental things of life.

Mrs. Mamie I. Neal, friend and director of First Methodist choir: Of course, everybody knows how faithful she is to her church, her Sunday School class, and the choir. But, I believe her ability to handle boys everyone else thought incorrigible, to gain their love and confidence, and thereby keep them in school and mold their lives was truly outstanding.

HST Pledges Study Of Program To Hike West's Water Supply

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21 (AP)—President Truman has promised to consider creation of a National Water Resources committee to study means of correcting a water shortage, particularly in the West and Southwest.

The promise was made in a letter to John A. Kennedy, editor and publisher of The San Diego Daily Journal. Kennedy suggested such a committee be established after conferring with the President recently in Key West, Fla.

Would Coordinate Functions

Their exchange of letters was made public today by the Washington office of the Journal, on the 20th anniversary of the signing by President Coolidge of the Boulder canyon project act.

Kennedy wrote that a short time ago "you indicated you had in mind the setting up of some agency to study suggestions that have been made looking toward a solution of the increasingly serious water problem we have here in the West and Southwest."

He suggested that the proposed committee or commission coordinate the related activities of the Bureau of Reclamation and other federal agencies and be empowered to:

1. Determine the feasibility of bringing to the southwest excess waters from the Pacific Northwest.

Scientific Study Asked

2. Investigate the practicability of diverting certain headwaters from the Pacific Northwest to the Southwest.

3. Study the application of atomic energy to processes of conversion of salt water into fresh water.

4. Study re-uses of water to restore underground water levels.

Discussing the water shortage on the west coast, Kennedy said:

"In the West the crisis is most acute and in some localities the table has fallen more than 50 feet in five years. This is alarming especially because the population of the Pacific and Mountain States is increasing nearly ten times as fast as the rest of the nation."

Replying to Kennedy, the President wrote:

"It was a pleasure to see you the other day and to receive your suggestion about the water situation in the West. You may rest assured it will receive consideration."

Ford Foundation To Expand Its Activities In 'Human Welfare'

DETROIT, Dec. 21. (AP)— The $2,000,000 Ford foundation is setting out to expand its activities in serving "human welfare."

Henry Ford II, president of the board of trustees, said the foundation hopes to make "significant contributions" in "problems confronting people everywhere."

"While important efforts to solve these problems are being made by government, industry, foundations and other institutions, the needs far transcend the present total effort," Ford said.

A committee of prominent men in medicine, education, social science, business, political science and the natural sciences has been named to advise the foundation on use of its funds.

They include Peter Odegard, University of California, for political science; Thomas H. Carroll, Syracuse university, business; Donald G. Marquis, University of Michigan, and Francis T. Spaulding, New York state commissioner of education, for social sciences and education; Dr. T. Duckett Jones, Harvard, medicine, and Charles C. Lauritzen, California Institute of Technology, natural sciences.

The late Edsel Ford created the foundation in 1936. As of last Nov. 30, the foundation owned 2,803,908 non-voting shares— or 81.2 per cent—of the stock of the Ford Motor Co.

Michigan Labor Rioters Draw Jail Sentences For Contempt

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Dec. 21 (INS)—Three Michigan CIO members were sentenced today for contempt of a grand jury investigating the recent labor violence at the Shakespeare company plants in Kalamazoo.

The three men, Harry Worrell, Ralph Barbigian and Gordon Barnard were sentenced to 60-days in jail after they reportedly refused to answer grand jury questions. All are members of the United Steel Workers-CIO.

They were sentenced by Circuit Judge John Simpson of Jackson, who is conducting a one-man grand jury probe of the December 1st raid on the Shakespeare plants. Seven persons were injured and company property was damaged when about 250 men invaded the plant grounds.

A spokesman in the Kalamazoo County Prosecutor's office pointed out one of the purposes of the grand jury is to determine who ordered the destructive raid.

Lions Club Places $556 In Salvation Army Christmas Fund

The Lubbock Lions club, which passed up its weekly luncheon yesterday to help out in the Salvation Army Christmas cheer fund, enriched the fund by a total of $556, Capt. W. T. Gregory of the Salvation Army said.

Of this amount, $376 was actually collected at the Salvation Army's Christmas kettle campaign hut on Broadway, and the remaining $180 was donated by the club as the equivalent to an average weekly total spent for lunches.

One-hundred and twenty-five Lions worked in 30-minute shifts of five to 12 men per shift during the day. The work was carried out under the direction of Harry Urguette, chairman of the Lions Club Christmas Activity committee.

316 Ask For Baskets

The Lions contribution to the fund brought the total to $2,789—just a few hundred dollars short of the goal of $3,000. The kettle campaign hut will be in operation through today and Thursday, Capt. Gregory said, while the street kettle stands will continue through Friday.

Volunteers from the various civic clubs in the city will solicit funds for the campaign today, and the work will be done by Lubbock 20-30 club on Thursday.

Of the 316 applications for Christmas baskets received to date, more than 300 have been found that would not have baskets without the Salvation Army fund, Capt. Gregory said. Today will be the last day for receiving applications, he added.

The Salvation Army is scheduling a Christmas party for families of applicants on Friday at the SA headquarters, 1112 Seventeenth, Capt. Gregory said.

Jap Rail Union May Strike Despite Ban

TOKYO, Dec. 21. (INS)—A strike of 112,000 Japanese rail workers was in prospect tonight despite Allied warning that strikes in private industry may be prohibited.

The executive committee of the Federation of Private Railway workers voted 13 to 1 for a staggered two-day strike today just one hour after an appeal to organized labor in Japan to stay on the job as a "patriotic duty."

The appeal was made by Chester E. Hepler, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's labor division chief, who made it clear that if the appeal is ignored, American authorities will outlaw all strikes as part of the United States' sponsored economic stabilization program for Japan.

Earlier, Hepler had asked the electrical workers to call off a scheduled walkout and they promised an answer by tomorrow. Hepler demanded to know whether "they wanted to shoulder the responsibility of being the only major union in Japan that refused to contribute to a solution of present problems."

Hepler said that other unions representing 812,000 members had already agreed to a no strike pledge similar to that asked of American unions during the war.

The labor chief said other strikes are in hand but he added:

"The Communists are dominant among the electrical workers and we do not know yet how that's coming out."

He said a no-strike edict may be forthcoming in the event the electrical workers refuse to call off their strike scheduled for next Tuesday.

Son Of Famous Film Producer Now Making Hit In Own Right; Irene Dunne Honored

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 21—I had a talk with Mr. Samuel Goldwyn, Jr., director of "Until I Die." I had to restrain myself from calling him Sammy, because I knew that is no way to address an important director. It wasn't easy either, because I first knew Sammy, pardon me, Sam, when he was two weeks old!

He tells me that Martin Mooney, who is producing "Until I Die," and whose picture it is, has signed Thomas Mitchell. Now that's not bad. If all goes well, the picture will start about January 15.

When I see what a fine boy Sam has developed into, and when I remember what a mischievous youngster he was at the age of seven, I think that no famous parent has any need to worry. And, believe me, it has not been any picnic for Sam, Jr., to be the son of Samuel Goldwyn, Sr. Any junior always has to work five times as hard to succeed.

Irene Dunne Honored

We are all pleased in Hollywood that Irene Dunne was named the person who has done the most in 1948 to promote better understanding among people of all faiths, by the national conference of Christians and Jews.

Her portrayals of women of sympathy and understanding helped win this for her, and of course, that means "I Remember Mama," for which Irene undoubtedly will be nominated for an Academy Award.

Chief Tuffle, who became governor of the Samoan people when Uncle Sam's Navy took over the mandate of these south sea islands, is in Hollywood with a color movie.

Aided by George Tahara, Hawaiian artist and cameraman, the chief used 3,000 native residents of his personally-owned islands, the Manu-a group, in his movie "Tagaloa", which he describes as "a primitive love story."

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 21. (INS) — Private funeral services were held today for Sir C. Aubrey Smith, grand old man of the screen and acknowledged leader of Hollywood's British colony. Sir Aubrey died early yesterday following a brief illness.

Texan Is Located Safe In Indonesia

KILGORE, Dec. 21 (AP) — The parents of James Harvey Fleming were overjoyed today by the good news that their son had been freed by Dutch authorities in Java.

The U. S. consulate announced that the Texan and two companions who had been held overnight by Dutch authorities for questioning had been released.

They were taken into Dutch custody shortly after Fleming landed a Catalina plane from the Philippines at Jogjakarta airport that had been captured by Dutch parachute troops.

Officials said they would be permitted to fly back to Manila via Bankok. They were detained because they did not have Indonesian visas.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Fleming, reside here.

"Thank God, he's safe!" exclaimed Mrs. Fleming when told that her son was safe.

Slaton Child, Parents Looking Forward To Merry Christmas

By BILL CLARK
Avalanche Staff Writer

SLATON, Dec. 21.—It promises to be a very merry Christmas for 14-months-old Linda Kay Jones of Slaton, and for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Jones too.

For Linda Kay, who started life with the odds way against her, is now well on her way to complete recovery after a series of operations. Her parents have spent more than $10,000, and when Linda Kay and her mother returned from Dallas at 6 o'clock this morning, they brought back good news from Dallas specialists.

Fed Through Tube

When Linda Kay was born in St. Mary's hospital in Lubbock nearly 14 months ago, X-ray pictures showed that her esophagus was divided, the top part running down and ending in a blind pouch, and the lower part running up from the stomach and joining the trachea or windpipe, instead of the top part of the esophagus.

She was unable to take food. She was immediately placed in an incubator and given oxygen treatment.

When she was three days old Lubbock doctors performed an operation, running a tube through an incision in her chest to the stomach. It was a temporary arrangement, but for seven weeks it was the only way she received food.

Operation Was Performed

Her parents decided to take her to a Dallas specialist. Leaving by automobile at 10:10 p. m., they arrived in Baylor hospital in Dallas at 4:20 a. m.

There doctors performed an unusual operation, removing a rib from the back of her chest, opening the blind pouch at one end of the divided esophagus, removing the other part from the trachea and joining the two parts into a single tube. Later, though, the esophagus closed and they had to perform the operation again.

Since then Linda has been a healthy youngster and lived a normal life, except that her mother has to take her to Dallas every two or three weeks to have her esophagus dilated as scar tissue develops. This involves no incision, and she no longer requires an anaesthetic.

Her doctors, who say they have performed similar operations upon four other patients, were optimistic when they saw Linda Kay Monday and say it won't be long before her treatments are finished.

And Linda Kay is feeling fine, eating normally, and looking forward to Santa's visit soon.

Federal Government Opens Fight For Tidelands

Texas, Louisiana Coasts Affected

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—In a move involving millions of dollars in potential oil wealth, Attorney General Clark asked the Supreme court today to rule that the federal government has jurisdiction over the tidelands off the coasts of Texas and Louisiana.

Only last April, the Navy and Interior departments announced jointly that new explorations indicate the existence of salt dome geological structures—similar to those which have proven flush oil producers inland—in the Gulf of Mexico seaward from Sabine Pass, Tex., to Grand Cheniere, La.

Private oil companies have been busy exploring the shallow water areas closer to shore.

Clark's move today was a new link in the government's continuing action to gain title to the tidelands, now claimed by the states. The fight has been long and bitter, involving Congress, the courts, the executive branch of the federal government, the states' legal departments, and the oil companies.

The Supreme court ruled in June, 1947, that the federal government has a "paramount" interest in the marginal sea off the California coast.

Clark now is trying to have the same principle extended to Louisiana and Texas. The attorney general, incidentally, is a native of Texas.

He asked the court, first, to accept the suits against the two states as original actions, without trial in the lower courts. Then he filed copies of the proposed suits which ask a declaration of primary federal rights over the "lands, minerals and other things underlying the Gulf of Mexico adjacent to the coasts, seaward of low water mark."

Bays, rivers, lagoons and other inland waters would be exempted from the federal claim.

If the court should rule in favor of the federal government, then it rather than the states could claim the royalties due from the oil companies on the oil they produce from wells offshore, or slanted down and outward from drill rigs on the beach by a process known as whip-stocking.

In 1946, when the California case was pending, Congress voted to declare the tidelands the property of the states. President Truman vetoed the bill. In the 80th Congress, now about to pass out of existence, the House passed a similar bill sponsored by the National Association of State Attorneys General. The Senate never acted on it.

Rep. Thomas Faces Court Trial

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21. (AP)—A federal judge ruled today that Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) must stand trial for alleged conspiracy to defraud the government by "padding" his congressional office payrolls.

Thomas is Chairman of the House Un-American Activities committee, though he has not been active in that role since he was indicted by a grand jury on Nov. 8, six days after his re-election to Congress.

The 53-year-old legislator's trial has been set for Jan. 10.

Judge Henry Schweinhaut rejected Thomas' plea for dismissal of the indictment on the grounds that the grand jury was improperly constituted. Defense attorneys had contended that the presence of federal employes on the jury violated the constitution.

Court Ruling Cited

But Judge Schweinhaut cited a Supreme court ruling, made only yesterday, upholding the legality of a trial jury composed entirely of government employes.

The judge also turned down a defense motion that the conspiracy count should be ruled out under the normal three-year statute of limitations. He said the charge of conspiracy to defraud the United States is "clearly covered" by the wartime-amended statute and "may be brought within six years."

The indictment charged that Thomas conspired "to defraud the United States of its money and property" over a five-year period from Jan. 1, 1940, to Jan. 30, 1945. It cited 34 "overt acts" in a joint complaint against Thomas and his former secretary, Miss Helen Campbell, 63. Both have pleaded innocent.

In addition to the conspiracy count, Thomas alone was accused on three other counts of filing alleged false claims against the government by setting up a list of "fictitious" employes in his office on Capitol Hill.

If convicted on all charges, Thomas would face a possible maximum sentence of 32 years in prison, $40,000 in fines, or both. He is free under $1,000 bond.

Miss Campbell, now under $500 bond, is also scheduled for trial Jan. 10.

Ginnings Over 560,000 Despite Drouth

Plains Cotton Crop Still Above Normal

South Plains cotton production this year is better than what has been accepted in the past as a normal crop, but effects of the drouth that has become progressively worse for the last three years are emphasized in the official ginnings report released by the Bureau of the Census of the Commerce department showing 561,026 bales ginned in 15 counties prior to Dec. 1.

Reflecting the growing drouth, ginnings this year compare with 675,849 bales in the 15 counties to the same date last year, and with 961,742 bales in the same area which represented the complete 1947 crop.

Irrigation Effects Noted

The effects of irrigation on cotton production in the area also are sharply reflected, and two counties where irrigation is relatively heavy also show heavier cotton production than in the past, with the exception of 1947. The two af Floyd and Hale counties, where ginnings on Dec. 1 was close to the total production in 1947.

Irrigation benefits were noticeable also in Lubbock and Lamb counties, where watering has gained sharply, but both counties are still far under the total 1947 production, despite the fact that both, particularly Lubbock county, is well ahead of late season estimates for the 1948 crop.

Drouth had telling effects in Crosby, Hockley, Lynn and Terry counties, where irrigation is used moderately. Other counties in the area are similar, on a percentage basis, but cotton production has not been as heavy as in those listed.

Most of Crop Harvested

There was no estimate on unharvested cotton in the 15 counties as of the Dec. 1 ginnings-report date, but it was probable that not more than 10 per cent of the total crop remained in the field at that time, leaving the total 1948 crop well under 600,000 bales.

Still far above what has been accepted as a normal crop approximating a half-million bales in the area, the 1948 crop, however, is about half the anticipated production set by agricultural sources early in the season. This varied from about the same 961,000 bales produced in 1947 to well over a million. The estimate was reduced as the season wore on and drouth continued.

Lubbock county was well out in front among the 15, and the only county where 1948 production went into six figures, compared with four in 1947. Lamb was the only other county in the area where it was considered possible this year's crop would reach six figures, and that was not probable.

Shown below are ginnings figures to Dec. 1 this year and last, and the total production by counties from the 1947 crop:

Eastern Youths Face Burglary Charge In Fifteen Cent Theft

HUNTSVILLE, Dec. 21 (AP)—Two 16-year-old boys from Apollo, Pa., who admitted holding up 30 filling stations on a foray from their home to Texas, were arrested here today.

They were captured by the use of dogs after a 25-mile chase in an automobile they said they took from a motor company in Apollo.

The boys had robbed a filling station here of 15 cents and a pair of glasses. Officers said they would charge the youths, both with reformatory records, with burglary.

Payroll Checks Are Stolen Here

Fifty-eight payroll checks totaling approximately $1,200 that had been signed by Furr Food stores officials for distribution to employes were stolen from a truck in 1700-block Ave. G late Tuesday morning, Cliff Cummings, office manager of the stores, reported to police.

Payment on the checks was immediately ordered stopped at banks.

Cummings told Capt. of Detectives Pat Davidson of the police that the checks were numbered 3819 to 3867, inclusive, and 4161 to 4169, inclusive.

Investigation Underway

The checks were in a semi-trailer parked in front of the company's warehouse at 1720 Ave G, police were informed in an 11:58 o'clock call.

No suspects were named. Police commenced an investigation.

The sheriff's department sought clues in the burglary of an irrigation well house of C. E. Newton, one and a half miles east of the Liberty community.

Three batteries were taken, Newton said.

Also under investigation was a complaint of Mrs. Dean C. Lay of Lubbock that an unknown man had snatched her purse Monday when she was downtown shopping.

She was about to enter a store near the postoffice when a man bumped into her, she explained. She discovered loss of the purse too late to call on the sidewalk crowd to stop the suspect, who had hurried away eastward.

Mrs. Lay said the purse contained from $11 to $21.

The sheriff's department arrested a 37-year-old man of Lubbock route 1 for Seminole authorities who said they held a warrant for him charging child desertion. F. H Bolen and Earl Francis of the sheriff's patrol made the arrest a few hours after the pickup was authorized.

House Burglarized

The police said they held for identification of owner a camera and one brown glove that Thomas White of 2119 Sixth found and turned over to them.

Texas Officials Assail Action

(By The Associated Press)

Government action to obtain federal control over the oil rich tidelands of Texas and Louisiana brought outright indignation tempered somewhat by relief in some circles that the move had been made.

Generally, oilmen said that U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark's action Tuesday in petitioning the Supreme court to establish federal control was not unexpected.

The suit may serve to clarify the situation and end the muddled dual claim, oilmen in Dallas pointed out.

Jester Sees Danger

In Austin, state officials pointed out that the action was in direct conflict with the terms under which Texas joined the union 103 years ago.

Comments over the state included:

Governor Beauford H. Jester—"If the federal government can nationalize the 'land, minerals and other things' along the coasts of the states of this union, it can nationalize them in the interior."

State Attorney General Price Daniel—Texas "will fight this case with the same spirit that caused our predecessors to win these lands by blood and valor at San Jacinto."

Action By Congress Urged

Land Comissioner Bascom Giles—the attorney general is apparently "afraid to trust Congress to perform its constitutional and traditional duties."

Walace Hawkins, general counsel for Magnolia Petroleum company, which has a big financial stake in offshore oil development—"The California case did not settle the controversy. The Texas-Louisiana cases will not settle it. Neither will any other judicial decision. It's a matter for Congress now."

(Hawkins referred to the states' quit-claim title bill which is before Congress. He added that he felt litigation would drag out for years unless Congress did act).

Federal Scheme Charged

D. Harold Byrd, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of Texas — "The government's plan to grab the tidelands, its spending of Marshall plan funds for development and purchase of Middle East oil are parts of a long-range scheme to throttle, then nationalize the petroleum industry."

R. L. Foree, Dallas independent and vice president of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners association—"federal red tape will choke an operator to death."

Dean A. McGee, executive vice-president of Kerr-McGee Oil Industries, Inc., said from Oklahoma City the action would not cause any change in company operations

'Christmas Present' For Overseas

Iowa Farmers Dedicate Food Train For Overseas Relief

WATERLOO, Ia., Dec. 21. (INS)—A 73-car train, loaded with food for the starving peoples of the world was enroute tonight to New Orleans for shipment overseas.

More than 200 persons stood in the raw Iowa wind earlier today during the dedication of the American farmer's "Christmas present" to their fellows.

The ceremonies marked nationwide observance of food shipments by the Christian Rural Overseas program, appropriately lettered CROP.

Several Trains In Program

The Waterloo train is only one of several which left from various points of the country today at the conclusion of the nationwide drive.

The ceremonies were conducted by Kirk Fox, Iowa CROP chairman, who presented the "gift" train to the Rev. John D. Metzler of Chicago, National Chairman of the CROP Cabinet.

In accepting the trainload of foodstuffs, Rev. Metzler said:

"This is a very significant thing in the world today. This food will be distributed on the basis of each country's needs to aid in restoring to its people hope, life and health."

World Wide Distribution

He said the food will be distributed by Christian forces to 43 countries, including Japan, China, India, Germany and Austria.

Contents of the train included wheat, lard, honey and corn from Iowa, lard and milk from Minnesota and Kansas, wheat from Nebraska and canned goods from South Dakota.

Texas Union Leaders Ask Jester To Urge Labor Laws Repeal

AUSTIN, Dec. 21. (AP)—Texas labor leaders today asked Gov. Beauford H. Jester to urge repeal of restrictive labor legislation.

They also voiced strong opposition to the possible appointment of former state Sen. Ben Ramsey of San Augustine, as secretary of state.

Joe T. Steadham, state representative of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, issued a statement outlining matters discussed by labor leaders and the governor.

Jeff Hickman, secretary of the Texas State Industrial Union council, CIO, said organized labor wants Jester to carry out the provisions of the platform adopted at the state Democratic convention in Fort Worth last September.

The platform said in part: "Ill-considered laws unduly encumbering labor-management relations should be repealed that the legislature may start with a clean slate to pass such necessary and constructive laws as may prevent overreaching by either labor or management . . ".

Hickman reminded other labor leaders that Jester had recommended enactment of a conciliation measure by the last legislature.

The labor leaders said it has been rumored that Ramsey may receive the appointment as secretary of state.

Oppose Appointment

They objected to his appointment because, they said, "throughout Mr. Ramsey's career, he has not missed an opportunity to gouge organized labor. His record in the House of Representatives and the Senate . . . proves beyond any reasonable doubt that he is not only biased against the right of wage earners to organize and bargain collectively, but he is personally prejudiced against them."

It was signed by Steadham, Robert Eckhardt, Communications Workers of America; Robert H. Wood, Brotherhood of Railway Clerks; Harry W. Acreman, Texas State Federation of Labor; James A. Shields, Order of Railway Conductors; H. L. Reynolds, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; J. H. Gibson, maintenance of way employees; and Hickman.

NOSE HIGH—Getting the world's largest bomber out of Consolidated Vultee's assembly plant at Fort Worth, Texas, is a problem. The 230-foot wingspread won't clear the 200-foot wide door and the 47-foot tail is too high for the door. The solution: turn the B-36 sideways and jack up the nose, which drops the tail. This one has just cleared the doorway. (AP Wirephoto).

Texas Veteran Makes Insanity Plea To Armed Robbery Charge

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Dec. 21. (AP)—A former Army flier pleaded innocent "by reason of insanity" to a charge of armed robbery here today.

Sheriff Bruce Crider identified the defendant as Hubert Baugh, 31, of Dumas, Tex., and said he had served in both the Canadian and U. S. armies.

After the plea, Circuit Judge Maupin Cummings sent Baugh to the state hospital at Little Rock for mental examination.

Crider said Baugh made a written statement admitting the robbery of three persons in a grocery here last Thursday night and the theft of an automobile at Hot Springs, Ark. Approximately $110 was taken in the grocery robbery.

Baugh's mother flew here from Texas for his arraignment. Judge Cummings said she told him her son had been suffering from a nervous disorder since leaving the Army.

Crider said Baugh served two and a half years as an officer in the Royal Canadian Air Force then transferred to the U. S. Air Force as a first lieutenant in the Air Transport command.

Sen. Taft Appears To Have Good Hold On GOP Despite Rumblings

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.— Despite threats of party revolt, Senator Taft of Ohio appeared an almost sure bet today to resume his familiar role as chief Republican policy maker in the new Senate.

The senator was said to have received such assurances of support as to make his re-election as chairman of the GOP policy committee an almost foregone conclusion.

This would mean, colleagues said, that so far as the Senate is concerned President Truman again will find opposing many of his proposals the same man who clashed bitterly with him in the past over such issues as price controls and labor legislation.

Compromise Likely

Taft's grip on the policy making post seemed unlikely to be retained, however, without some kind of compromise with self-tabbed liberals who have been demanding a greater voice in charting the party's course.

Senator Ives of New York, long time supporter of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, predicted at a news conference yesterday that a dozen senators from the northeast, the Pacific coast "and a few from the interior" will make their weight felt in party caucus.

More Conservative

He said they represent a forward-looking viewpoint, and implied that those who have been running the Republican Senate show have views which are "a little more conservative."

However, Ives himself admitted that if the insurgents can muster only 12 or so of the 42 Republican votes in the new Senate they haven't much chance of upsetting the leadership applecart.

Best bet at the moment was that the veterans in the driver's seat will enlarge the policy committee and offer the insurgents places on it.

Ives put part of the blame for the Republicans' election defeat on members of Congress who he said failed to "keep abreast of popular demand."

Failure Is Cited

As an example, he cited the 80th Congress' failure to provide for public housing and slum clearance projects — measures which Taft unsuccessfully advocated, along with administration Democrats. Taft's position also may be close to Mr. Truman's on the issue of federal aid to education.

However, he is expected to fight the administration's public health plans—which he has called "socialized medicine"—with his own proposals for a voluntary public health program.

Unless Taft reverses his field, he once more will oppose any plan to give the President standby price controls. He may go along—but probably only part of the way — with promised White House suggestions for broadening of social security coverage.

Lubbock County Democrats Thanked For Contributions

Lubbock county Democratic along with those of the 30th Congressional district are receiving letters of thanks from Treasurer Joe L. Blythe of the National Democratic committee for their contributions to the recent "Victory Dinner," staged at the Hilton hotel.

Facial Plaque Of Renner Is Ordered

An order for a bronze facial plaque of the late Professor Kenneth M. Renner has been placed through the Texas Technological college bookstore, the Renner Memorial committee has announced.

In November of 1947, alumni and other friends of the Texas Tech dairy manufacturers department appointed a committee to arrange for a memorial to Professor Renner.

The plaque will hang in a hall of the Agricultural building. The amount in the memorial fund, above cost of the plaque, will go into the Kenneth Renner Memorial Loan fund, to be administered by college personnel for loans to dairy manufacturers students.

Red Kidnappings Belie Apparent Four-Power Harmony In Vienna

EDITORS NOTE: Austria is cited frequently as the one occupied nation in which Russia and the western powers have continued to co-operate. Four-power patrols are pictured amicably policing the city of Vienna. Is this outward peace more than surface-deep? The United Press sent Robert Musel of its London staff to Vienna to seek the answer to this question. His dispatch follows.)

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press Staff Writer

VIENNA, Dec. 21.—This lovely city, with its long traditions of music, gaiety and peace, takes no pride in its reputation as the only place in the world where Russian-Western cooperation seems to work.

Its people have the feeling that the apparent good fellowship of the occupying powers here merely masks the same Kremlin policy that blockaded Berlin, engulfed Czechoslovakia and is restlessly pushing Communism both in Europe and the Far East.

Allies Patrol Together

Allied officials are inclined to agree with the Austrians. But they do so regretfully, for here in the ancient capital of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy there is at least the semblance of that brave new world for which Russia and the West presumably fought Hitler.

American, Russian, French and British soldiers assigned to the international patrol tour together in fellowship, friendly Russian officers nod pleasantly to the Viennese, in sharp contrast to the aloofness of the Russians in Berlin.

In the Allied council building on Stalinplatz, four-power decisions frequently are reached with a dispatch that underlines the incessant haggling which used to take place in the now-abandoned Allied kommandatura of Berlin.

Brawls between Russian and Allied soldiers, which would be international incidents if they occurred in Berlin, are quickly and easily settled by the provost-marshals, who fix blame and assess punishment.

Kidnappings Frequent

At first glance, it all seems so cozy that the fact the main dish on the luncheon menu of the American mess in the Bristol hotel is beef stroganoff, a Russian specialty, seems only a fitting reminder of this four-power amity.

But the picture doesn't stand up under closer strutiny. It takes only a little talk with Austrian and Allied leaders to discover that only a velvet glove conceals the Russian brass knuckles here.

There are ,for example, frequent Russian kidnapings of Austrian officials, scientists, and other leaders. More than 600 Austrians, authorities say, have disappeared into what Socialist newspapers grimly call "the long silence."

Some abductions have taken place in broad daylight on the main streets—a jeep pulling up, men jumping out to seize a victim, forcing him into the jeep and driving away with him.

Others have heard a knock on the door in the dead of night, have been forced to dress quickly at gunpoint, and have disappeared into the silence.

Austrians usually sum up the whole story by mentioning three cases. There was Paul Katscher, deputy minister of transport, who let it be known that he would complain to the international railroad conference in Geneva against Russian seizure of Austrian railroad equipment. He was abducted as he packed his documents to go to Geneva. There has been no word of him since.

There was Anton Marek, police inspector who was celebrated as the man who stopped the 1934 putsch after the Nazis had assassinated Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss. He got a phone call from a man he believed to be one of his agents, kept a street corner rendezvous, and disappeared.

More recently there was Margareth Ottilinger, 30, section chief of the ministry of economic planning. Her section handled the European recovery program, which Russia has been fighting all over Europe. Russians took her from her car, claiming that her papers were "not in order." Now informed Allied sources hear that they have tried her for alleged "espionage in behalf of the United States," sentenced her to a 20-year term.

Two top Austrian officials do not bow to the Russians, however. They are Chancellor Leopold Ficl and Interior Minister Oscar Helmer. Both have said "no" to Soviet requests so often that their friends have begun to fear for them.

Beale To Head AP Washington Bureau

NEW YORK, Dec. 21. (AP)—William L. Beale, jr., for 12 years news editor in the Washington bureau of the Associated Press, today was named to be chief of bureau in charge of AP's operations in the national capital.

Beale will succeed Belman (Pat) Morin, who has been appointed an AP general executive. Both appointments were announced by General Manager Frank J. Starzel, to become effective January 1.

Morin, who became chief of the Washington bureau in 1947 after filling a series of important assignments in the foreign service, joins a group of five executives selected to undertake special AP membership work.

Four other general executives, all reporting directly to Starzel, are: Marion J. Sheen, chief of bureau at Chicago; Frank H. King, chief of bureau at Dallas; Robert J. Cavagnaro, executive representatiye in the west, with headquarters presently in San Francisco; and John H. Colburn, of the general office staff in New York.

Their tasks, Starzel said, will be "to stimulate and intensify membership interest and co-operation in activities of the Associated Press."

INDIANS STRIKE IT RICH

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz., (U.P.)—Some 500 destitute Navajo Indians in the Chinle area have been helped out of a tight spot by a Hollywood movie company. The film troupe, shooting outdoor scenes for "When a Man's a Man" in northeastern Arizona, paid the Indians a total of $12,500 for five days' work as extras.

Dutch Seek Political Stability In Rainbow Country Of Java

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

Java is a rainbow country, a fair and smiling land, fruitful, productive, and infinitely beautiful. From the air, it seems all jewel-green, slashed with scarlet, orange and silver that turn out, at closer range, to be frangipani and tea and slow-moving streams.

It is an island, set in the deep blue of the Java sea.

The other islands in the "emerald belt"—as they call the Netherlands Indies—have their own rich beauties. Bali is mountains and mist. Celebes looks like a withered orchid on the map. Sumatra is still mainly jungle, but not such a thick and savage jungle as Borneo. The Moluccas and Halmahera are straight "South Sea islands," Hollywood version.

Republic Controls Small Post

This is the scene of the newest political turmoil.

Together, the archipelago, long under Dutch rule, has become known as "Indonesia." But the present Dutch quarrel is not with all the 70,000,000 people in all those islands. It is with a single government, which took the name of the "Republic of Indonesia."

The republic does not represent all the people, by any means.

On the contrary, it had its capital in Jogjakarta, smack in the center of Java, and its authority reached only through a nearby radius and into portions of Sumatra.

There are 10 other governments set up in the remaining islands. They were formed by their own people. The plan, eventually, is to unite them all into "the United States of Indonesia." The Dutch would continue to play a certain administrative, but not the controlling role.

Political Stability Delayed

Charges and counter-charges are flying, apace, between the republic and the Dutch. They have culminated, now, in "police action."

It would seem significant that the Dutch have been able to achieve a working agreement with the other Indonesian regimes, but that one remained outside the proposed framework. Without the republic, located as it is in the most fertile and strategically central part of Java, the "United States" cannot come into existence.

Meanwhile, political stability for the whole archipelago has been kept waiting.

The Dutch assert that direct action was finally essential. They have taken it, on the grounds that this is an "internal matter," beyond the scope of the United Nations.

Large Tumbleweed Gets Pretty Rough During High Wind

HALE CENTER, Dec. 21 (AP)—Vic Lamb has been reporting news of his town for a good many years.

Here is his latest story to The Associated Press.

"Folks have been talking this fall about how much bigger tumbleweeds have grown than usual, but—

"W. E. Fewlem, farmer west of town, came to Hale Center this week with the biggest tumbleweed story. He said a big tumbleweed sailed across a pasture near his house during a high wind one day last week and enveloped a mule.

"The wind carried the farm animal two miles and a half before the mule could kick himself loose.

Ancient Nazareth Church Site Of Christmas Eve Broadcast

TEL AVIV, Israel, Dec. 21 (AP)—The voice of Israel will broadcast the Christmas Eve service from the Church of Annunciation in Nazareth.

This was announced by an Israeli government spokesman.

The broadcast by the Tel Aviv Radio KOL Israel (Voice of Israel) will be the first in history from the church in the town in Galilee where Jesus grew to manhood.

Vatican City, with a population of 1,025 and an area of 108.7 acres, is the world's smallest state.

U. S. Opens Fight

Louisiana was prompt and pointed.

Texas Attorney General Price Daniel said at Austin that Texans would fight the action like they fought at San Jacinto. He called Clark's move a "direct violation of the annexation agreement by which Texas entered the union," and added:

"I don't believe the United States would give this kind of treatment to an enemy foreign nation and certainly I think it should not be given to a sovereign state of the nation."

Senator Connally (D-Tex) asserted his state has absolute title to its tidelands and cannot be deprived of them.

Louisiana's Attorney General Bolivar Kemp announced that Louisiana's jurisdiction over the Gulf lands will be "defended vigorously all the way."

"We will fight at every step," he promised. "The best legal talent in the state will be conscripted to help."

Entrance Condition Cited

Louisiana's state mineral board estimated a few days ago that the state has received more than $34,000,000 in bonuses and rentals on leases of offshore oil properties, including the tidelands as well as such locations as bay and inlet bottoms.

In combatting the suit, Texas and Louisiana are expected to contend, among other things, that those two states came into the union under entirely different conditions than did California, where the issue has been resolved in favor of the federal government.

Anticipating this argument, Clark told the Supreme court today that Louisiana became a state in the same manner as California, and that the California decision should apply there automatically.

Texas, he conceded, entered the union under different circumstances (it was an independent republic). Nevertheless, he declared, "to the extent that any of those differences are relevant at all, they point even more clearly to paramount rights in the (offshore property) in the United States."

off the Louisiana coast pending settlement of the ownership. He added: "This suit is not unexpected."

Seven producing fields have been discovered in deep water in the Gulf of Mexico since 1947. All are confined to the Louisiana coast. Only one drilling rig now is active of the Texas coast, where at least two previous wildcat attempts were abandoned.

By last May Texas had sold leases along its continental shelf on 379,594 acres for $7,201,666.28. At the same time the state of Louisiana had leased 2,117,582 acres for $18,688,914.32.

Argentina plans to spend about $19,000,000 on a dam across its Colorado River, in the Huelches region, to prevent floods and irrigate a large area.

90-Year-Old Lubbock Man Wants To Leave 'Farewell' Christmas Message To Friends

Ben L. Walters, whose eyes have seen the passing of 90 years, has a message he wants to send to his friends and relatives both in West Texas and farther back east.

BEN L. WALTERS

The aged man, who came to Lubbock shortly before the founding of Texas Technological college in 1923, has operated the Stockyards cafe at 305 Fifteenth street since he came here to live. He explains that it no longer operates as a cafe but a few boarders eat there regularly. He lives in a room at one side of the small frame building.

He saw the Lubbock area when Indians roamed it: he remembers vividly the herds of buffalo, antelopes and mustangs that used to move freely where irrigated farms now lie.

"It's my last roundup," he told The Morning Avalanche. "I'm looking at the 90's now. I wish to say to my friends and relatives that I am growing weak and am hardly able to get about. I would be glad for you to call and see me during the Christmas holidays. I would be glad to shake hands with you once more and bid you farewell."

Born in Alabama, Walters came to Texas with his parents when he was seven years old. They settled in Smith county, about 10 miles east of Tyler, where they lived for three years before moving to the Henderson-Kaufman county line.

He took up the cattle business at an early age and drove many cattle from southeast Texas to the then lush grazing lands of Northwest Texas.

In 1876 and 1877 he joined the Texas Rangers and with the Rangers he travelled over West Texas. Of the men he was associated with in those days he knows of only two who are still living—Tom Eubanks of Wilderspoint and Mont Spikes of Knox City.

After his service with the Texas Rangers, Walters went to Oklahoma. There, at Anadarko, he made contracts with the government to provide cattle for the Indians. He continued this work until the settlement of Oklahoma began.

Then he went back to Kaufman county. He lived at Munday immediately before coming to Lubbock.

His Stockyards cafe has been at the same location for 26 years. He calls it the oldest restaurant in this part of the country.

His advice to youngsters is this: "Never drink, gamble or carouse. I never did drink or gamble, and although I am not a church member, it can lead only to woe."

Checks Are Stolen

up a "leaking" butane bottle that fell from a truck at East Nineteenth and the railroad tracks, police said. They did not stop.

A woman arrested by police at a local drugstore on a charge of shoplifting was assessed a fine of $25 in corporation court after entering a plea of guilty to stealing a cigarette lighter priced at 98c, police reported.

A bicycle was reported stolen from Bennie D. Lanehart of 3523 Ave. R from the 1100-block of Texas Ave.

Mrs. E. J. Holmes of 2103 Sanders said that a billfold containing a $20.50 check, a $26 postal money order and about $11 in cash had been lost or stolen from her.

U. S. Denounces Latin American Military Coups As 'Deplorable'

By NORMAN CARIGNAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21—Alarmed by revolutions in Latin America, the United States today denounced as "deplorable" the changing of governments by military force.

The State department said in a statement that such military coups are "increasingly a danger to all the countries of this hemisphere."

The United States went into consultations with all but two of the Latin American governments to get their ideas on "legitimate and appropriate actions" that might be taken to "strengthen the democratic and constitutional framework" of the hemisphere governments.

Two Not Consulted

Roger Tubby, department press office, said Venezuela and El Salvador were the only ones not consulted. Military regimes have recently come into power in Venezuela and El Salvador.

Later the State department disclosed that the specific questions or recognizing the military junta in Venezeula, and reaction to recent fighting in El Salvador, had been discussed by U. S. ambassadors with the various foreign offices.

Tubby told reporters these topics "might logically be expected to be included in discussions with these countries, except in Argentina, Paraguay and Peru, which already have recognized Venezeula."

Costa Rica Invokes Pact

The U. S. announcement of policy and actions followed a series of armed upheavals during the past few months in which three Latin American governments were overthrown and eight others threatened. In almost all instances the reported purpose behind the movement was installation of military-controlled governments.

Througs use of force, military regimes have already come into power in Venezuela, Peru and El Salvador.

Similar unsuccessful attempts were put down or uncovered in Uruguay, Chile, Bolivia, Ecuador and Paraguay. Panama and Colombia both experienced attempted civilian-dominated coups.

Costa Rica invoked the fledgling Rio mutal defense treaty nine days ago, charging an armed invasion from Nicaragua to overthrow the existing regime. A special commission is now investigating the situation.

Collective Action Hinted

"In the view of the government of the United States," the department's statement said, "the use of force as an instrument of political change is not only deplorable but is usually inconsistent with the acknowledged ideals of the American republics and increasingly a danger to all countries."

Hinting that collective hemisphere action might be sought, the statement said:

"If this use of force continues, it cannot fail to become a sufficiently serious issue to engage the attention of the American republics as a whole."

The department said many Latin American governments agree with the U. S. It also cited statements in the Rio treaty and in the charter of the organization of American states championing democracy.

Arabs Reject Plan For Opening Old Route To Pilgrims

JERUSALEM, Dec. 21 (AP)—The Arabs refused today to open the traditional route from Jerusalem to Bethlehem to Christmas pilgrims.

Instead, the pilgrims will have to use a circuitous, muddy route about two and a half times the direct distance. Bethlehem is the birthplace of Jesus Christ.

Col. Moshe Dayan, Israeli commander in this area, said Jewish authorities were willing to give the Christians all facilities in his area, including transport. The Arabs insisted that only Christians—no Moslems or Jews—will be allowed to cross into Arab lines.

The Arabs occupy the old city of Jerusalem and its many Christian shrines, and also Bethlehem. The Jews hold most of the area in between.

Two Convicts Missing From Harlem Prison Farm Detail

SUGARLAND, Dec. 21. (AP)—Two inmates at Harlem prison farm near here were reported missing today from a work detail at one of the farm gardens.

J. C. Roberts, chief of the prison records bureau at Huntsville, identified the man as Jose Hernandez Martinez, 24, serving two years from El Paso county for burglary, and Francisco Hernandez Diaz, 20, serving a five-year burglary sentence from Hidalgo county.

Christmas Decorations Are Placed On Slaton Streets

SLATON, Dec. 21. (Special)—Slaton's lamp posts are sporting Christmas decorations due to the efforts of the boys in Slaton High school's vocational agriculture class.

Under the direction of A. C. Strickland, sr., the boys obtained cedar boughs and ribbons and clothed each lamppost to look like a growing Christmas tree.

RED CROSS WORKERS ARE CLAIMED KILLED

SAN JOSE Costa Rica, Dec. 21 (AP)—The mangled bodies of six Costa Ricans declared to be Red Cross workers killed by rebels invading the country from Nicaragua were brought to San Jose today.

Government informants said the group had gone to set up a hospital in northern Costa Rica, and were surprised and killed. The wounds indicated they had been slain by bullets fired at close range into their heads.

Giant Radio Towers At Dallas Collapse

DALLAS, Dec. 21. (AP)—Radio station KRLD tonight was sending out its programs over an improvised antenna after its two regular giant towers near Dallas toppled from some unexplained reason.

The towers, one 492 feet and the other 472, fell with a crash that was heard for more than a mile at 3:30 a. m.

Manager Clyde Rembert said he had no idea why the structures collapsed, but that a preliminary study indicated that one of the towers toppled and jerked the other to the ground with it.

The station, owned by the Dallas Times Herald, was back on the air at 11 a. m., transmitting over an antenna stretched from poles erected hurriedly by the Texas Power and Light company.

KRLD suffered a similar accident in 1939 when a tower crystalized and fell to the ground.

Rembert said new towers have been ordered and would be rushed to Dallas by fast freight.

A new company formed in Chile to produce pipe, steel sheet and tinned sheet, will start early in 1950 to build pipe for the 70-mile pipeline from the Cerro Manantiales oil field to Port Peasy, Santiago reports.

LABOR ACT BATTLE SHAPES UP

Taft-Hartley Law Supporters Willing To Back Some Changes

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Backers of the Taft-Hartley labor law were ready today to support some changes in the act. But their proposals fell far short of the demands of the administration or organized labor.

A series of amendments was developed by supporters of the law in preparation for the battle that will come next year when the new Democratic leadership in Congress presses for Taft-Hartley repeal.

Ives Disapproves Report

The defense of the law, charted by the House-Senate Labor committee, is contained in a report to be submitted to Congress Dec. 31. Sen. Irving M. Ives, (R., N.Y.), a committee member who played an important part in framing the law, announced that he would not "go along" with the report because it was "an obviously partisan" document and because he disagreed with parts of it.

Seven Republican members and one Democrat on the committee approved the report yesterday at the group's first post-election meeting. Democratic foes of the Taft-Hartley act and Ives were absent. Until the new Congress convenes Jan. 3, Republican backers of the law will control the committee.

In only one of its proposed amendments did the committee accept a major demand of critics of the law. It approved a recommendation calling for dropping the present requirement that an employer may not grant a union shop until a majority of his employes approve it in a government-conducted election.

Anti-Red Pledge Backed

That provision has placed a heavy burden on the National Labor Relations board. Nearly all elections have resulted in votes favorable to a union shop.

In another proposal, the committee went as far as the AFL position on the provision requiring non-Communist affidavits from officials of unions using the labor board machinery. It agreed to propose that the provision also be applied to employers, as the AFL has demanded. The CIO wants the entire provision scrapped, although many CIO unions have complied with it.

Committee chairman Joseph H. Ball, (R., Minn.), who was defeated in the Nov. 2 election, said he believed the non-Communist affidavit provision was "a cinch" to stay in whatever new law is written.

The committee also agreed that the provision should apply to all "policy-forming and governing bodies (of unions) and anyone who exercises administrative, disciplinary or negotiating authority." The requirement now applies only to elected officers. Some unions have complied with the law by replacing officers who have refused to sign and then giving those officers, responsible, non-elective posts.

Students Suspended After Prank 'Holdup'

AUSTIN, Dec. 21. (AP) — Two University of Texas students were suspended today after a "prank" off-campus holdup of another student shortly before midnight here last night.

Roger Chapman, victim of the "prank," told police his car was forced to the curb by another car north of the universty. One of the occupants of the car jumped out, gun in hand, and ran over to Chapman and demanded his money.

Chapman said two $1 bills were taken from his billfold and the car was then driven off rapidly.

Picked up later by police, the men—both University students — produced a water pistol which police described as looking convincingly like the real thing. The pair said the incident had been nothing but a college prank that followed several beers.

Police Chief R. D. Thorp saw nothing funny in the "prank."

"They stood a good chance of getting shot," he said. He turned the students over to university officials for "appropriate action" after Chapman declined to prosecute.

Arno Nowotny, dean of student life, said immediate suspensions for the pair are without prejudice. If the students wish to stand trial before the dean and are acquitted, they will be readmitted to the university at a later date, he said.

Labor's right to strike was confirmed by Belgium in a recently passed law.

Rites For New Mexico Boy Set Today At Throckmorton

William R. McGuire, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. McGuire, jr., of Taos, N. M., died at 8:30 p. m. Monday in Lubbock Memorial hospital, after an illness of about two weeks.

Funeral services and burial are to be conducted today in Throckmorton, where the body was taken Tuesday by Hudman Funeral home of Post.

Survivors include the parents; a sister, Mattie Joyce; a brother, Walter; the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Kelley of Throckmorton; and the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. McGuire, sr., of Post.

Phone Firm Studies Apology Request For Radio Wire Mixup

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 21. (U.P.)—The telephone company here considered a request today for an apology over a wire maintenance mixup which resulted in profanity being broadcast during a church program.

Station KITE threatened to sue if the telephone office doesn't apologize. The station was broadcasting its regular church service Sunday when profane language was broadcast instead of scripture, as had just been announced.

The station owner said KITE had received numerous protests from listeners. He added that an inquiry had narrowed the source of the profane language to three men who were testing telephone lines.

NEW POLICY HEADACHE ARISES

Hundreds Of Russian Deserters Enter Allied Zones Each Month

By WALTER RUNDLE
United Press Staff Writer

SOVIET-AMERICAN ZONAL FRONTIER, Dec. 21 — Hundreds of Russian deserters per month are crossing into the American and British occupied areas of western Germany and Berlin, the United Press learned reliably today.

So many of these Russians seeking asylum in the western zones have slipped past the iron curtain in the last six weeks that the problem of handling them has become a major Anglo-American policy headache.

Some Officers Deserting

The deserters are enlisted men and officers of the Soviet army, and civilian employes of the Soviet military administration, some of them with their families. Some are officers of such rank as Col. G. R. Tokajew, who went over to the British 10 days ago. One check point reported that nine field grade officers passed through in one week.

"What a few weeks ago was a trickle of deserters has become a sizeable stream," one reliable source said. "If the western powers should state openly that such deserters will be treated as political refugees, it would become a flood."

Men closest to the problem believe the time is near when the western Allies must:

1. Openly declare their policy in the matter.

2. Provide adequate funds for screening, quartering and eventual placement of the fugitives.

Refuse to Return Fliers

The problem now is handled on an ad lib basis.

This startling increase in Soviet desertions, particularly to American-occupied territory, dates from the refusal of U. S. officials in Vienna to surrender to the Russians two Soviet pilots who deserted in October in a stolen Russian plane.

Until then, most if not all uniformed deserters had been turned back to their commands under an agreement made during the "honeymoon period" of Soviet-western relations immediately after the war.

"We had several attempted suicides among the Russians we took back," an American officer revealed.

The Vienna action "advertised the possibility of getting political refugee status" to thousands of Russians who wanted to get out, another American officer said.

Red Deserters Shot

"Before that they were held in check by the knowledge of what happened to those who were sent back—they were shot and their names posted on bulletin boards as a warning to others," this officer said.

Officially the Army won't say how many "take a chance." Officially U. S. authorities "know nothing" about Russian deserters. But authentic information assembled piecemeal shows, for example:

"Well over 40 a month" go through another check-point.

"A very substantial increase" is reported at still another.

Escape Is Fairly Easy

How do they come over?

Substantially by the same routes taken by 25,000 to 40,000 Germans who flee the Soviet zone each month—by night through the numerous forest areas along the zonal boundaries. In Berlin, it's much simpler. A Russian soldier who wishes to desert simply gets off the Russian-operated subway or elevated line at a station in the American or British sector.

Why do they desert?

Bitterness—"my mother and younger brother were arrested. No reason was given. Nothing has been heard of them for eight months." With variations, that is one of the most frequent explanations.

Disillusionment—"they promised us alarm clocks and other goods before the war. Then they said the factories must produce only to destroy facists. Now they say the factories must produce only for defense against capitalist imperialist warmongers. In 30 years the Russians have got nothing from all their plans and all their sacrifices."

Soviets Ignore Desertions

Fear of another war—"The people don't want war——but everywhere in Russia there are preparations for war."

Disgust—"I have no soles on my shoes. My uniform is so torn and old I cannot wash it, but there are no new uniforms to be had."

What is the Russian attitude?

Publicly, they ignore it. There have been no formal protests. That would provide wonderful propaganda material for use against Russia.

"When they find I'm gone they will post on the bulletin board that I was court-martialed for some imagined offense and sentenced to 25 years," a deserter said. "I've seen it happen. We learn the truth in whispers."

Russian border guards have been doubled, and stern warnings have been given army men that their families will suffer reprisals if they desert. Still they come.

It's a matter for major concern of officers closest to the situation.

"We haven't men or facilities to screen them properly," one said. "It's not so much that spies may get through in this way. They're a small minority and usually easy to spot. What I'm afraid of is that we'll fail to get valuable information they may have. Some really important people are bound to be passed over too easily as things are now."

HST Invites Buddies To Early Breakfast

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 21. (U.P.)—Battery D buddies of President Truman's World War I artillery command will fall out for reveille at Washington, Jan. 20, the day of Mr. Truman's inauguration.

But the groans which usually accompany extreme early rising among war veterans were expected to be held to a minimum because Mr. Truman has invited his buddies to be his breakfast guests at the Mayflower hotel.

130 Get Invitations

Fred J. Schmidt, secretary of the battery's arrangements committee, said the President's invitation for breakfast has been forwarded to some 130 members of the Battery D association now living in various sections of the country.

Schmidt expected more than 100 members of the now-famous group would answer reveille call.

The battery will parade as legionnaires, wear distinctive arm bands and carry canes in emulation of their former captain's walking equipment.

At the President's request, his buddies will march as an honor guard, a function the battery has filled on various occasions when the President came back to Kansas City for Armistice or reunion parades.

The battery was a part of the 129th Field artillery in the first world war.

A WEIRD ROLE

Franco, Peacemaker

THE SOURCE from which they came should forbid any favorable consideration of the "fundamentals of world peace" attributed Sunday to Francisco Franco, Spanish dictator. If it were possible to credit him with sincerity of motive, it would be inconceivable that democracies could accord a position of leadership toward peace to a tyrant who symbolizes all that is bad to freedom-loving people.

Documentary proof has established beyond question that Franco did not become a fighting ally of the Axis powers chiefly because he could serve them better as a "neutral" through whom critical supplies could be obtained. He did more than give the Axis moral support. Some of his divisions fought with the Nazis on the Russian front.

On at least two previous occasions, Franco pretended the role of advocate of peace when his own interests might be served thereby. After the Nazi aerial blitz spent its force and air supremacy shifted to the Allies, he urged a "gentlemen's agreement" among the belligerents to refrain from bombing each other's cities. After the Axis had been driven from Africa, and even they recognized their impending doom, Franco urged a stalemate peace which, in actual fact, would have given the Nazis the victory.

Franco would have much to gain in many ways, including personal security, from a position of recognized world leadership for peace. He and various groups which would profit have endeavored to create a popular sentiment which would tolerate resumption of relationships with him. All such efforts have failed. A similar reception should repel this latest effort to restore Franco to the company of decent peoples and nations.

Slice Up The Pork!

STAY-AT-HOME Americans will be few who do not envy the fortunate individuals aboard the 50 or more special trains which, it is announced, are being arranged for the trip to Washington for the Presidential inaugural ceremonies.

Making full allowance for the curiosity, loyalties and legitimate business which will inspire many to make such trips, the fact remains that many of those on board will be hoping, if not expecting, to make personal raids on the federal treasury during the next four years. They will be taking no avoidable chances that official Washington will lack reminders of their party loyalty.

Even so, it is good that so many Americans can be witnesses to a historical ceremony. Nothing like it would be possible for so many people in any other nation upon earth.

But still somewhat ominous are the attempted treasury raids which are portended by pork-barrel special trains in such numbers.

The Long-Playing Kind

Waltz Into Darkness

By WILLIAM IRISH

Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: Durand, having succumbed once more to his wife's fascination, tells her they can't return to New Orleans because Downs is now on her trail. They had best go to another large city, where they can lose themselves.)

XXX

MOBILE, then.

They went to the finest hotel there, and like the bride and groom they were in everything but count o' time, they took its finest suite, its bridal suite. Chamber and sitting room, height of luxury, lace curtains over the windows, maroon drapes, Turkish carpeting thick on the floors, and even that seldom-met with innovation, a private bath of their own.

Bellhops danced attendance on them from morning to night, and all eyes were on them every time they came and went through the public rooms below. The petite blond, always so dainty, so exquisitely dressed, with the tall dark man beside her, eyes for no one else. "That romantic pair from—" Nobody knew just where, but everybody knew who was meant.

Every sprightly supper resort in town knew them, every gay and brightly lighted gathering place, every theater, public ball, entertainment, minstrelsy. Every time the violins played, somewhere, anywhere, she was in his arms there, turning in the endless, fevered spirals of the waltz. Every time the moon was full, she was in his arms there, somewhere, in a halted carriage, heads close together, sweetness of magnolia all around, gazing up at it with dreamy, wondering eyes.

Mobile, then, in the flood tide of their romance; and all was rapture, all was love.

INCREASINGLY uncomfortable, and extremely bored in addition, feeling that all eyes were on him, he paced back and forth in the modiste's anteroom, and at every turn seemed to come into collision with some hurrying young girl carrying fresh bolts of goods into a curtained recess behind which Bonny had disappeared an interminable length of time previously.

He could hear her voice at intervals, topping the rustles of unwound fabric lengths and carefully chosen phrases of professional inducement.

"I cannot decide! The more you bring in to show me, the harder it becomes to settle on one. No leave that, I may come back to it."

* * *

SUDDENLY the curtains parted, gripped by restraining hands just below the breach, so that it could not spread downward, and her head, no more, peered through.

"Lou, am I taking dreadfully long? I just remembered you, out there."

"Long, but not dreadfully," he answered gallantly.

"Why don't you leave and then call back for me again?" she suggested generously.

"How soon shall I come back?"

"You had best give me a full hour and a half, I shall need that much. Or if you tire in the meantime, go straight back to the hotel, and I'll follow you there."

He took up his hat with alacrity, glad to make his escape.

Her bodyless face formed its lips into a pout.

"Aren't you going to say goodbye to me?"

She touched her lips to show him what she meant, closed her eyes expectantly.

"In front of all these people?"

"Oh dear, how you talk! One would think you weren't my husband at all. I assure you it's perfectly proper, in such a case."

He stepped over to the curtains, coloring slightly, pecked at her lips turned, and got out of the place.

Strangely, in spite of his embarrassment, he had a flattered, self-important feeling at the same time; he wondered how she had been able to give him that, and whether she had known she was doing it when she did. And secretly decided that she had.

She knew every cause, she knew every effect, she knew how to achieve them. Everything she did, she knew she did.

He set out to enjoy the afternoon sunlight, and the blue Gulf reaching to the horizon, and the crowd of strollers drifting along the shoreline promenade.

The slow baking warmth of the sun was pleasant on his shoulders and his back, and occasionally a little salty breeze would come, just enough to temper it. Clouds that were thick and unshadowed as egg white broke the monotony of the sky, and on everyone's face there was a smile—as there must have been on his, he at last realized, for what he was seeing was the unthinking answer to his own smile, offered by face after face in passing.

He had money enough now for a long while to come, and she loved him—she had shown it by inducing him to kiss her in front of a shopful of girls. What more was there to wish for?

After two complete circuits of the walking space provided, he stopped at last by the wooden rail flanking it, and rested his elbows on it, and stood in contemplation with his back to the slow-moving ambulators he had just been a member of.

He had been at rest that way for perhaps two or three minutes, no more, when he became conscious of that rather curiously compelling sensation that is received when someone's eyes are fixed on one steadfastly, from behind.

There was no time to be warned. The impulse was to turn and seek out the cause, and before he could check it he had done so.

He found himself staring full in.to the face of Downs, the St. Louis investigator, just as Downs was now staring full into his.

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

THIS column is written on Sunday.

I don't usually work on Sundays—but this isn't work; this is reminiscing about the most vivid lesson in practical religion I ever had in my life.

As I have told you several times, I believe in practical religion. Or let me put it another way. I believe that religion is not worth anything unless it is practical.

Yesterday morning a friend of mine called on the phone and invited us to go to a church supper with him and his wife.

BRANDEIS

My wife took the call and after she had heard the invitation she asked the friend to hold the wire a minute.

We had a quick consultation.

A church supper?

Didn't sound very exciting.

But those people who invited us are very good friends and we like them a lot. So we accepted, somewhat reluctantly and all ready for a somewhat boring evening.

However, the evening turned out to be one of the nicest we ever had and, as I told you, it certainly was a lesson in practical religion.

The fellow who invited us is a devout Roman Catholic.

He is happily married to an Episcopalian.

They had with them a house guest who was born in Russia and is Greek Orthodox.

My wife is Presbyterian, I am Lutheran and we first went to the home of other friends who, I think, are Congregationalist on her side and Methodist on his—or vice versa. At any rate, they have been married more than thirty years and still love each other.

WE went to the Grange Hall in Redding, one of Connecticut's oldest towns.

There were more than a hundred people at the hall.

They called it the "Men's Dinner," because the women had done all the work.

It was a buffet affair and you should have seen it.

There were stuffed eggs prepared by a Lutheran lady.

There were meat balls cooked by a Catholic.

There was a delicious pickled herring about which a Unitarian was extremely proud and had a right to be.

We all received mimeographed sheets with the words of Christmas hymns printed on them. I noticed that my Catholic friend sang "Oh come all ye faithful" just as enthusiastically as he sings "Adeste Fideles" in his own church.

After the supper and the singing there was dancing.

Malcolmn McAfee, the twenty-three year old minister, a graduate of Yale Divinity School, danced the first fox-trot with his lovely wife.

I saw Methodists dancing with Presbyterians. I saw Episcopalians laughing with Lutherans.

It seemed to me that a young Baptist was getting quite a crush on the pretty Greek Orthodox who is my friend's house guest.

I am sure God was looking on and, for once, felt happy over His children.

SPENDING CHANGE SEEN

Economic Study Made

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The current lag in retail sales of soft goods has been attributed to the customers' resistance to peak prices in almost every consumer field. But this explanation impresses federal and private economists as only partially satisfactory, in view of official reports that purchasing power remains at a peak among most classes of workers.

Government statisticians seeking more fundamental reasons for the amazing decline think that they have hit upon the answer. Their year-end studies indicate that the nation's spending pattern has shifted radically since the early postwar days. They cannot tell yet whether the change is permanent or not, but they will pursue their inquiry for the light it may throw upon necessary readjustments in manufacturing, pricing and selling practices.

TUCKER

The survey, which tried to discover where the buying dollars go these days, covered selected years in the period from just before the 1929 crash through the first half of 1948. The same trend has persisted to this moment, however.

FOOD: The American people, for one thing, are spending far more of the family budget on food than ever before. Even allowing for inflated costs, the proportion of income going into the market basket tops all previous records, due to higher wages and better educated appetites.

Expenditures for food in the first half of 1948 amounted to 17.1 per cent of personal income, as against less than 16 per cent in 1946 and about 13 per cent in 1929.

People are also eating out more than in prewar years, although the rush to restaurants and night clubs has dropped. About 8 per cent of father's pay went for dining abroad in 1946, whereas the figure now is only 6.8 per cent.

It was only 2.6 per cent in 1929, and although prohibition was a deterrent factor then, the increase reflects the change in habits which World War II produced. A large part of the increase is due to the number of women who work, as well as to housewives who could get good meals only at unrationed hotels in scarcity days, and continue the custom so as to escape the kitchen.

GOODS: Still another reason for a drop in department store and mail order buying is the return of durable consumer goods to the market—automobiles, radios, television sets, furniture, kitchen equipment etc. With consumers incurring instalment debt for these articles, they must cut down on other purchases.

In the first half of 1946, for instance, only 3.3 per cent of disposable income went into automobiles and accessories, an abnormally low figure. The percentage has climbed to almost 9 per cent a ratio exceeded only in 1941, and it will go higher as more cars become available. Outstanding automobile credit is now almost $1,000,000,000.

Other outlets for cash or credit have been homes, house repairs, farm implements—goods or services unobtainable until a short time ago in any volume.

DURABLES: It is believed that the demand for durables will persist for at least several years, meaning a long-time shift of purchasing power from competing products.

Many families now feel the need of two cars. New household devices—storage refrigerators, deep freezes, modern stoves and sinks, air conditioning, cabinets, garbage disposal units—lighten housewives' drudgery to such an extent that they have become essentials. Even the smallest homes will have them.

DEMAND: The growing demand for "consumer durables"—not factory or industrial stuff—is a postwar phenomenon whose effect is yet undetermined. Heavy goods bought by individuals totalled only nine billion dollars worth in 1929 and only ten billions in 1941. From 1930 through 1946 the annual average of purchases was about six-and-a-half billions.

The estimated 1948 purchases will be twenty-two-and-half billions, with demand still unsatisfied. As a result, such retail lines as clothing, textiles, leather goods, jewelry, drugs, liquor, entertainment and other essential articles have suffered severely even during the holiday season.

CLOTHES: A curious trend has been the increased amount of money, percentagewise, which women spend on clothes.

It is attributed largely to the fact that many former stay-at-homes entered business and service trades during the war, and have not returned to the homes, schoolrooms and rural hamlets whence they came. Naturally, they must dress better.

On the other hand, men learned to dress more carelessly and comfortably during the same period, and the prejudice against a shiny trouser seat—or even a patched square—disappeared.

Whatever the reason, the two sexes spent about the same amount on finery in 1929—1.6 per cent for the men and 1.8 for women. Now, papa hands out only 1.3 per cent, while milady's "new look" requires 2.4 per cent of the budget.

PATTERN: While these percentage changes may seem small in themselves, it must be remembered that they apply to more than a hundred billions of dollars of disposable income, and represent marked changes in our living habits.

Though each individual family's expenditures may not follow this pattern exactly, these statistics represent, too, what American men and women are doing with and getting for their money today.

"I am worrying over what the world may be like 1,000 years from now," asserts a historian. We've worrying over what it may be like tomorrow.

"What is the most important word in the English language?"—From quiz column. We'd say it is the little two-letter word that begins with an "n" and ends with an "o."

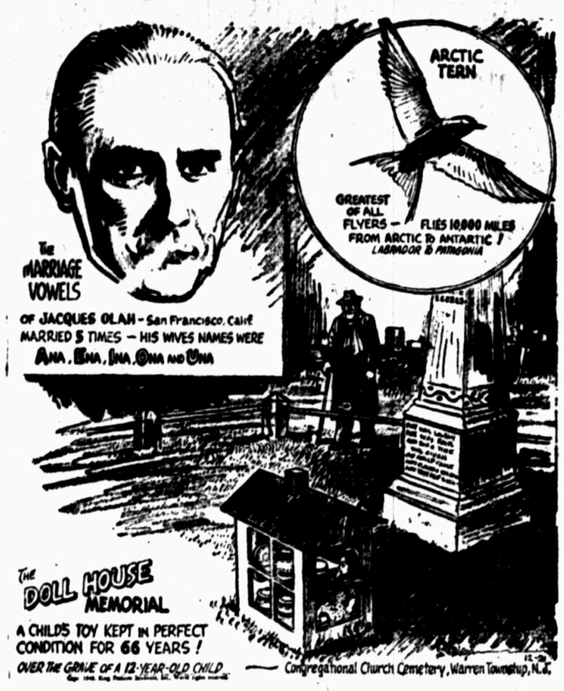

There's a bit of fascinating left-handed logic in this statement some one recently overheard: "The reason I favor myself so much is because my parents are first cousins."

Don't allow yourself to be worried by the many predictions that the world will soon end. The chances are thousands to one that the world will last longer than you will have any need for it.

"Liberalism" consists mainly in taxing money away from provident Peter and giving it to prodigal Paul.

Believe It Or Not - - By Robert Ripley

TARGET DATE SET BY SOLONS

Demos To Push New Legislation

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — It is the intention of the Truman administration to move swiftly and energetically in Congress with the President's program. The object is to strike while the election and its mandate are still hot, in order to get as much of the program on the statute books as quickly as possible.

Around the White House these days you hear talk of "ninety days," which is reminiscent of the famous "first hundred days" of the first Franklin D. Roosevelt administration in 1933. The "ninety day's" is a sort of target and, as a matter of fact, if there is energy in the drive it could be possible to get a good deal of the social welfare program through Congress fairly promptly.

STOKES

There are, of course, differences in the present situation and that of the famous "first hundred days," when so much was done.

Situation Is Different

The "ninety days" slogan does not mean anything like what Republicans used to call "the blank check" of the early Roosevelt era.

The times are different and the objectives are different. Those were days of dire emergency and measures had to be slapped together quickly to patch up an economy badly shattered by the depression — to salvage banks and businesses and homes and farms and put people back to work and feed those who couldn't get jobs. It may be recalled that a bank rescue bill was put through in one day, before many members had a chance to even read it.

These are not days of domestic emergency, except for inflation, and the inflation control bill is in the emergency category. Aside from that, however, what is at issue now is a program of expanded service to the people through their government. This program has been long in the making, has been carefully prepared, and has been discussed exhaustively for years. It was discussed again in detail by the President in the recent campaign, in which it became the major issue, and was approved by the people on November 2 in an election in which they also chose a democratic Congress to back up the President. Governor Dewey endorsed the same general social welfare objectives, so what the people want is clear and unmistakable.

It is not a new program at all. It is the program that President Roosevelt had laid before Congress and which President Truman has submitted time after time. Every measure included in it has been considered before by committees of Congress and two of them, the long-range housing bill and the federal aid to education bill, have been passed by the Senate, the former on two occasions.

Opposition Still Active

The time of debate is over. Now is the time for action.

It is the aim to move promptly because the forces still determined to check this program, and they are powerful, are again active. They have pulled themselves together since the election and are busy sending out the alarm and laying their lines here. The President and his advisers are very conscious of that.

They have been surprised, if not shocked, by evidences that some big interests did not learn a thing from the election, which is found not only in White House mail, but in attitudes taken by business groups since the election which the White House has observed with misgiving.

Their antagonism is directed at anti-inflation legislation because of necessary controls, as well as at the social welfare program embracing housing, aid to health and education, minimum wage increase, social security expansion, among others.

While this part of the program will be fought vigorously, the administration expects greater resistance to another phase, civil rights legislation, from a minority bloc, the southerners. But this will be pushed ahead early, too. Priority will be given to the less controversial measures, such as anti-lynching and anti-poll tax bills, with the fair employment practices commission, FEPC, held back for a time. The President's advisers believe that, once a beginning is made at getting civil rights laws on the statute books, a majority of the southern people will realize that nothing revolutionary has been done, that bitterness will die down, and that there will be general acceptance.

STOCKS LOSE SLIGHTLY
NEW YORK, Dec. 21 (AP)—The stock market got into a holiday grocery at the start of trading today and stayed there throughout the session.

Closing prices showed only fractional changes for the most part.

Selling became a little more insistent during the final hour and faint downward tendencies developed.

Turnover amounted to an even 1,000,000 shares.

Tax selling continued to dribble into the market and was counterbalanced by reinvestment and speculative purchases. Switching out of one stock into another accounted for a substantial part of the activity.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined .2 of one point to 64.1, erasing yesterday's average gain of the same amount.

Du Pont calmed down after an 8½ point sprint Monday and closed ¼ down at 179⅝. The price advanced sharply after news that the company had proposed a stock split up.

Skelly oil showed one of the widest swings, moving up 2 to 12⅛.

Closing lower were U. S. Steel at 70⅛, General Motors 38⅝, Packard 4, Sears Roebuck 38½, J. C. Penney 43½, Caterpillar Tractor 53¼, American Telephone 149⅜, Phelps Dodge 52¼, American Can 80¼, Allied Chemical 178½, U. S. Gypsum 101, Santa Fe 100⅛, Southern Pacific 46½, Texas Co. 53⅝, and United Air Lines 10⅝.

Nudged ahead were Studebaker, U. S. Rubber, National Distillers, North American Co., Philip Morris, American Tobacco, Northern Pacific and Oliver Corp.

Mineral Lease Bids On State School Lands Are Awarded

AUSTIN, Dec. 21 (AP) — High bids totaling $2,055,707 by bidders in the Dec. 7 mineral lease sale of state school lands were awarded today.

Bascom Giles, commisioner of the general land office and chairman of the state school land board, said the board is withholding action on high bids of $101,315 on a 140-acre tract in Crane county pending outcome of litigation.

The board was granted court approval today for the awarding of mineral leases on 12,321 acres of Laguna Madre land to which private individuals had laid claim. The suit was dismissed and a temporary restraining order against the board dissolved. High bids on the land had amounted to $739,255.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT
NEW YORK, Dec. 21 (AP) — Cotton futures turned steady today, following early easiness, as mill buying and scattered New Orleans and local buying met only limited offerings.

The market earlier had sagged on scattered liquidation and hedging.

The lagging demand for cotton goods and temporary quietness in the export situation restricted trading.

Futures closed 40 to 85 cents a bale higher than the previous close.

Pretty Writer's Body Found In Office Of Woman Psychiatrist

NEW YORK, Dec. 21. (INS)—The body of a pretty Greenwich, Conn., writer was found tonight on a couch in the swank office of Dr. Flanders Dunbar, prominent woman psychiatrist.

The body of the girl, identified by police as Beatrice Smith, was discovered following a farewell party for Dr. Dunbar who left for a vacation in Cuba.

Miss Smith, who had been collaborating with the psychiatrist on a new book, was found by Priscilla Houston, also of Greenwich, who had come to Dr. Dunbar's apartment to take care of her dog.

Police said Miss Smith had arranged to occupy the luxurious 12-room office-apartment while Dr. Dunbar was away. Dr. Dunbar left on the liner Nieuw Amsterdam at 4 p. m. for Havana, an hour before the body was found. She is due to arrive in Havana at 2 p. m. Friday.

According to police, a bottle of pills was found near the couch and also a note reading, "I can't finish this book. I can't see."

Police under acting deputy chief Inspector Conrad Rothengast began an investigation.

Dr. Dunbar, author of many books on psychiatric subjects, recently wrote "Mind and Body," dealing with psychosomatic ailments.

She is a graduate of Bryn Mawr and studied at Yale, Columbia and other colleges. She also worked in several American and European hospitals.

CHICAGO REPORT
CHICAGO, Dec. 21 (AP) — Stimulated by ghost covering in the December contract, all grain futures advanced on the board of trade today. Urgent short covering in wheat pushed prices up and absorbed all profit cashing. There was some exchange of the expiring contract for the May delivery.

The demand in the corn pit was not as strong as in wheat. However, prices advanced. The nearby oat contract led the advance in that grain.

At the finish wheat was 1½ to 2⅛ cents higher than the previous close. December $2.38¾-2⅞. Corn was ½ to 1 cent higher. December $1.41¾-⅞. Oats were ⅝ to 1⅜ higher, December 84⅜.

NASHVILLE, Mich. (U.P.)—Nashville residents don't let a few obstacles like high construction costs and the lack of money stop them when they want a new athletic field for the school. The townspeople saved money derived from tapping maple syrup trees in the city and bought a 14-acre tract. Volunteers are doing the rest with tractors and bulldozers.

Entry Restriction On Tourists Scored

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21. (U.P.)—The American Automobile Association wants Congress to eliminate entry restrictions for tourists who visit this country from "friendly nations" and stay less than six months.

Michael Frome, assistant public relations director of the AAA, told the staff of a Senate judiciary subcommittee that the association feels "no more genuine demonstration of sincerity to other nations could be made than through a willingness to meet them halfway on the elimination of entry requirements."

Frome endorsed a bill which Sen. Owen Brewster, R., Me., introduced in the last Congress. It would set up branch offices of the State Department's passport division and authorize the waiving of visa requirements for temporary business and pleasure visitors.

The AAA spokesman pointed out that 11 nations of Europe already have waived their visa requirements for American travelers "without demanding reciprocity" and that many Central American and Caribbean countries "ask no more than a tourish card."

Frome said the AAA felt "we cannot forever be advising other nations to tear down their barriers while maintaining our own at their present near-insurmountable heights."

Tobacco-Chewing Dallas Boy Amazes Recreation Workers

DALLAS, Dec. 21. (INS) — A small tyke in the Dallas municipal recreation hall had a large lump in his jaw. It wasn't a toothache; neither was it candy.

When questioned the youngster spewed out a brownish stream and answered:

"Terbacer."

What did his parents think about it?

Well the youngster pulled a hunk of cut plug out of one hip pocket.

"Paw gave me thus 'un," he said.

He pulled a can of snuff from his other hip pocket. Yes, that's right—Maw had given him "that 'un."

He warned recreation workers not to start fussing at him, spat some more brown juice and walked away.

A new kind of fever thermometer, virtually unbreakable and as easy to read as a watch, has been invented, according to The American Magazine. It's made almost entirely of metal uses no mercury, and requires no shaking down after use. The unit has a bimetallic control which expands with heat and activates the pointer on a watch-like dial.

Santa Claus Postmaster, Aides Fight Deluge Of Christmas Mail

SANTA CLAUS, Ind., Dec. 21 (INS)—Postmaster Elbert Reinecke and a big staff of assistants were hard at work today digging themselves out of a deluge of Christmas mail.

Reinecke estimated that about six million pieces of Christmas mail bearing the popular Santa Claus postmark would be handled this year.

The deluge included around 75,000 letters addressed just to "Santa Claus." American Legion members have been working night and day answering the children's mail.

Also, an estimated 200,000 visitors have come to the village in the last few weeks to view its world's largest statue of Santa Claus, candy castle, wishing well and other attractions.

Although most of Indiana was blanketed with six inches of snow last Saturday, none fell on Santa Claus.

Scientists Warn Of Increasing Threat Of Radiation Injuries

(By The United Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Atomic scientists warned today that exposure to neutron radiation—such as may be costing the sight of five physicists—will become an increasingly greater hazard as atomic energy is put to work.

However, they pointed out that the use of X-rays and radium was also a great hazard at first and medical science managed to find the necessary precautions.

Three Scientists Named

Neutrons along with protons are the component parts of the nucleus of the atom. When an atom is split, neutrons fly out at great speed and are the bullets that strike other atoms, setting up a chain reaction. The principle applies either to an atomic bomb or a peace-time atomic energy pile, from which power may be obtained one day.

Three of the physicists losing their sight because of radiation were identified as P. Gerald Kruger, University of Illinois; Gerhardt Groetzinger, University of Chicago, and Lloyd Smith, now at the University of California. They are believed to have been over-exposed while working on the Illinois cyclotron, an atom-smashing machine.

Danger Long Known

Atomic scientists here said that the dangers of neutrons long had been known to physicists and that in recent years better means of protection had been developed. Improved instruments for the detection of neutrons also have been developed.

Neutrons differ from other parts of the atom in that they have no charge and are not influenced by magnetic or electrical forces. It is for that reason that they can plow into an atom, split it and cause other neutrons to be released, thus making the chain reaction. They carry so much energy that sometimes they can cause an atom to split just by passing.

Research Underway

Numerous types of animals, including mice and rats, have been exposed to neutron beams and over exposure kills the animals.

In the various atomic laboratories today, research programs are under way to learn more about neutrons and their behavior. Many medical scientists believe that a neutron beam may be a powerful weapon in cancer treatment, particularly for the deep-seated cancer which radium and x-rays can not reach without damaging normal tissue.

Larger Spring Hog Crop Seen

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21. (U.P.)—The Agriculture department today forecast a spring hog crop of 56,500,000 head, about 3,500,000 less than the government asked farmers to raise.

Nevertheless, the number will be 10 per cent above this year's spring crop.

The department had called for a goal of 60,000,000 spring pigs in an effort to bring meat consumption up to 150 pounds per person in late 1949 and 1950, when spring pigs will be ready for market. Average meat consumption this year has been about 145 pounds per person.

Fall Pig Crop Up

Of the spring estimate, 43,500,000 head were forecast for the corn belt states. The department reported the number of sows farrowing at 9,086,000 head, 14 per cent above last year. Of these, 6,899,000 were in the corn belt states.

The department reported the total pig crop for 1948 as 85,281,000 head, an increase of about one per cent over last year. The increase resulted from a fall pig crop of 33,995,000 head, up eight per cent from 1947. The 1948 spring crop was three per cent smaller than last year.

Record Litters Reported

The number of sows farrowing this fall was set at 5.169,000 head, five per cent more than last fall and also five per cent above farmers' intentions reported last June. Of this total, 3,335,000 were reported in the corn belt states, an increase of eight per cent over last year.

The number of pigs per litter this fall was 6.58—the largest on record for the fall season. The fall crop did not quite reach the total of 34,400,000 urged by Agriculture Secretary Charles F. Brannan.

The government now is supporting the price of hogs at $15.25 per hundred pounds in Chicago. However, since hogs are selling at about $21 in Chicago, the price support program is not now operating.
