'Losers' Win One

By KEN SINER
Associated Press Writer

The "born losers" in Texas' society — children of the poor — are for once winners today after the triumph of an amendment to the state constitution raising the welfare ceiling.

That was the assessment of Public Welfare Commissioner Burton G. Hackney after the welfare amendment proved the biggest vote -getter in Tuesday's statewide voting on nine amendment proposals.

"I am very pleased," Hackney said, and expressed thanks for the support of churches, business and labor groups, and news media. "An awful lot of people became involved and as a result the people of Texas are now better informed about our welfare problems."

The amendment was the only one of the nine at stake to draw more than 400,000 votes, winning by nearly two to one. Hackney had said its defeat would mean "the failure of the state welfare system in Texas."

Tuesday's balloting was the first break in a year of crisis for Hackney's department, starting with a U. S. Supreme Court ruling last year holding that income from the "substitute father" living with a dependent child's mother could not be included in determining a family's grant.

This forced the state to spread the same money thinner, cutting the checks as the number of eligible families increased, and came on the heels of a November voter rejection of a constitutional amendment which would have increased the state welfare ceiling from $60 million to $75 million.

May 1, 2,600 families were cut off the children's program and grants were reduced to another 20,000 families. The $12 per child cuts touched off widespread developments in Texas' major cities.

Today In History

Today is Wednesday, Aug. 6, the 218th day of 1969. There are 147 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, the atomic bomb was used for the first time — in the U. S. bombing of Hiroshima, Japan.

In 1806, Napoleon Bonaparte ordered the dissolution of the Holy Roman Empire.

In 1825, Bolivia gained independence from Peru.

In 1914, an American first lady, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson died at the White House.

Also in 1914, Austria and Russia declared war against each other. The United States offered to act as a peace mediator.

In 1940, the World War II battle of Africa began as Italian forces invaded British Somaliland.

In 1966, Luci Baines Johnson and Patrick John Nugent were married in Washington at a wedding unmatched in size and splendor by any other presidential wedding.

Ten years ago — The Soviet Union was forbidding the display of the World Almanac and a number of other U. S. books at an American Exposition in Moscow.

Five years ago — The FBI seized four men in Georgia in connection with the fatal shooting of Negro educator Lemuel E. Penn.

One year ago — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower suffered chest pains, indicating his sixth heart attack in 13 years.

House Committee OK's Tax Debate

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — With one-year budget plans squelched by the voters, the House leadership moved quickly today to set up full floor debate Thursday on a $328.4 million tax bill composed entirely of new consumer taxes.

The taxes would be in addition to those now being paid.

The House Revenue and Taxation Committee approved the measure, which was set at once for debate at 9:30 a.m. Thursday.

Senators plan to hold State Affairs Committee hearing Friday afternoon on whatever the House passes—unless a senator "tags" the measure and forces a delay in the hearing until Monday.

Speaker Gus Mutscher played a central role in writing the tax bill, which contains these provisions:

—An increase in the state sales tax from 3 to 3½ per cent, to raise an estimated $137.2 million over the next two fiscal years.

—Expansion of the sales tax base to include telephone and telegraph intrastate service, laundry, dry cleaning, repairs of household appliances and furnishings, clock, watch and jewelry rapairs, auto repairs and parking, an estimated $104.3 million revenue raiser.

—Increase in the cigarette tax from 11 cents to 16 cents per package, an estimated $77.8 million.

—Phase out of the chain store tax over six years, starting with a loss of $2 million the coming two fiscal years.

—Reduction of the "occupation" tax on telephone and telegraph companies from 2.3 per cent of gross receipts to 1.99 per cent, the same as paid by gas and electric companies, a loss of $5.7 million over the next two fiscal years.

—A 3½ per cent entertainment tax on the price of tickets to professional sports events, night club cover charges, and admissions to amusement parks and tourist attractions, $16.9 million.

The new taxes would take effect next Jan. 1.

Mutscher and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes had planned to push again for a one-year budget and minimal tax bill if the voters had approved a constitutional amendment Tuesday requiring annual legislative sessions to pass taxes and appropriations.

But the amendment was turned down, and Mutscher made public his tax plans bright and early, and the committee approved them with only one dissenting voice.

The committee was about 20 minutes late in meeting because of a session first in Mutscher's office. A source denied any pressure for unanimity was applied, but there was far less contention than was expected.

Residents in places with 1 per cent city sales taxes would pay 4½ per cent both on currently taxable items and on services the measure would bring under the sales tax.

But the percentage the state comptroller rakes off for collecting the city sales tax would be rigged to keep the cities from getting any added revenue from expanding the tax base to include services.

Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria, one of the bill writers, said the formula might have to be adjusted later if the tax on services turns out to be more or less lucrative than expected.

By withholding from the cities the added sales tax income resulting from taxation of services, $23 million extra would be gained by the state.

"Municipal authorities saw no need for extra money for municipal governments at this time," Mutscher asserted. He added that the cities might later be allowed to keep the sales tax revenue from services if they need the income.

New Car Price Increase Certain

By A.F. MAHAN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — The 1970 car models will hardly have gone on display before the cost of building autos takes three more fast jumps.

Industry sources who decline to be named view a price increase as "inevitable," with some forecasting $100 to $150 as the range.

The industry got the news July 30 that prices would be $6 to $8 a ton higher for most of the steel products it uses.

Next comes a series of hikes in labor costs.

Under current contracts with the United Auto Workers Union, a new fringe benefit is effective Oct. 1 for hourly rated workers at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler: The companies assume the cost of prescription drugs and refills beyond a charge of $2 each.

This new fringe benefit, estimated to cost a cent and a half hourly per worker, goes on top of a company-paid hospital-medical-surgical insurance plan good for up to 365 days of semi-private accommodations for an employe and his dependents.

A cost-of-living escalator, on which wages rise or descend with the index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, will add nine cents an hour on Oct. 27.

On Nov. 24 an automatic so-called annual improvement factor increase of three per cent takes effect.

The current hourly straight-time wage in Big Three factories is $3.83.

With the nine-cent cost-of-living increase and the three per cent annual improvement factor the straight-time hourly wage will go to $4.04 for the final year of current three-year contracts.

OK'S WELFARE HIKE

Texas Voters Nix Water Amendment

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer

The Texas Water Plan went down to defeat in Tuesday's constitutional amendment voting while Texans gave an okay to higher welfare payments.

The Texas Election Bureau, unofficial vote counter for the state, said the latest figures show the water plan trailing by 5,545 votes with only 2,700 to 2,800 votes left to be totaled.

But taxpayers, faced with human suffering, opened their pocketbooks.

They balloted for a $20 million raise in welfare ceilings—mostly to help needy children—by a massive margin of almost two-to-one. And they approved aid to survivors of state workers killed on hazardous duty by a better than 3-2 edge.

Voters turned down a pay raise for state legislators, exemptions from property taxes for non-profit water corporations, and annual legislative sessions.

Also defeated was removal of the interest ceiling on state bonds. The present 4 and 5 per cent ceiling makes them hard to sell.

Approved were an increase in the revolving fund for student loans and a cleanup of obsolete sections of the Texas Constitution.

Constitutional deletions: For 332,140, against 268,052.

Water plan bonds: For 306,619, against 312,164.

Legislators' pay hikes: For 203,935, against 399,054.

Water tax exemptions: For 280,867, against 319,453.

Welfare ceiling increase: For 424,441, against 250,874.

End state bond interest ceiling: For 279,822, against 308,374.

State employes' survivors' aid: For 393,471, against 218,587.

Expand student loan plan: For 373,105, against 244,510.

Annual legislative sessions: For 266,167, against 330,478.

The water plan was only a beginning of the vast project which is designed to bring water from other states and possibly Canada to South Texas, North Central Texas, the Panhandle, the High Plains and on to El Paso via canals.

The state would issue $3.5 billion in bonds as needed, causing some state outlay until water users began repaying the costs. The federal government would spend $5.5 billion under the plan.

Sponsors of the water project say it can be submitted to voters again, and the history of bond issues in Texas is that it sometimes takes two or even three votes for passage.

But the huge opposition Tuesday would be embarrassing to negotiators when and if they finally start negotiating with other states for their water. Opposition already has arisen in Louisiana.

Area Voters Favor 6 Of 9 Amendments

Scurry and Borden County voters were more generous than voters across the state, approving six of nine proposed constitutional amendments in the election Tuesday. Statewide, voters turned down four of the amendments and another one remained in doubt early this morning.

Two of the proposals nixed by Scurry and Borden voters also were frowned on throughout the state — a pay hike for state legislators and annual legislative sessions. The issuance of $3.5 billion in water development bonds and the granting of tax exemptions to non - profit water development organizations was looked upon favorably by Scurry and Borden voters, but both of these proposals were rejected state - wide, although balloting on the former proposal was close.

Scurry County and Borden County voters rejected removal of the present constitutional limits on the amount of interest that may be demanded for public bonds and other securities. This proposal also was trailing state-wide, but only by a narrow margin. Out of over 593,000 votes tabulated early this morning, this amendment trailed by less than a 700 vote margin.

Four of the amendments carried state-wide, here and in Borden County — 1 (constitutional deletions), 5 (welfare fund), 7 (employe survivor assistance) and 8 (student loans).

The amendment that carried by the biggest margin both in Scurry and Borden Counties was No. 2 — the water development authority amendment. Scurry voters approved the proposal by a 745 vote margin with 984 favoring it and 239 casting ballots against it. In Borden County, 128 approved Amendment 2 and only 30 voted against it.

There also was a similar accord among voters of both counties on the proposed pay raise for legislators. Amendment 3 was turned down in every box in Scurry County except the absentee box with 936 voting against the proposal and 345 favoring it. Borden County residents voted it down, 104-51.

Balloting was close in Scurry County on Amendment 6 (bond rates) and Amendment 9 (annual legislative sessions). Only a 100 vote margin separated the bond rate proposal here with 619 voting for it and 519 voting against it. There was only a 144 vote spread on annual sessions with 660 Scurry County voters casting favorable ballots and 516 voting against it.

The closest balloting in Borden County was on Amendments 7 (employe survivor assistance) and 8 (student loans) with only five and two votes separating the voters on both issues respectively.

According to the unofficial local tabulation, Amendment 2 (water development authority) carried in every local box except one. There were eight votes for and eight votes against the proposal in Box 2 (Loyd Mountain). Similar accord was evidenced on Amendment 4 (water supply tax exemption). This proposal carried in every box except two. Loyd Mountain voters turned down the proposal with 10 voting for it and six against it. There were seven voters for it and seven against it in Box 7 (Bison). Amendment 8 (student loans) carried in every box except three — Loyd Mountain, Box 8 (China Grove) and Box 12 (Inadale). It was turned down, 14-9, in Inadale, but ties existed in Box 2 (7-7) and Box 8 (8-8).

Only one Scurry County box approved annual legislative sessions — Box 15 (South Snyder).

Persons who voted absentee were equally divided over the issue with 18 favoring it and 18 voting against it. Removal of interest limits on public votes was voted down in 13 of the 18 Scurry County boxes. Four boxes where Amendment 6 carried are Box 14 (Camp Springs), Box 15 (South Snyder), Box 18 (Southwest Snyder), and 21 (Absentee). Voters in Box 19 (Crowder) split on the amendment 9-9.

There was a light turnout at the polls with only a little over 1,200 votes cast in Scurry County and about 155 cast in Borden County. In this respect, the voter turnout closely paralleled state trends. The unofficial tabulation for Scurry County was completed about an hour after the polls closed.

The unofficial election returns:

Woman Joins The Isolated Group

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — With a pretty 24-year-old brunette isolated in their quarantine quarters, Apollo 11's astronauts today complete the 10-day task of discussing with experts the details of their moon-landing mission.

The young woman, Miss Heather Owens, and three male technicians were added to the quarters' growing population Tuesday night after they were exposed to lunar material in another part of the lunar receiving laboratory.

On the spacemen's schedule were analyses of many of their moon pictures and a meeting with scientists and geologists on scientific aspects of their historic flight.

That will finish the formal de-briefing period which started when Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins arrived at the laboratory July 27.

During the remaining four days of quarantine, they plan to finish writing their pilot reports and to relax behind their biological barrier.

They and the 20 other persons quarantined with them will be released late Sunday or Monday if no illnesses develop and no harmful organisms turn up in the study of moon samples gathered by Armstrong and Aldrin. So far, nothing unusual has been found.

The astronauts originally shared the quarantine with only 14 persons—doctors, technicians, a public affairs representative and a cook.

Two technicians were added last week when they accidentally contacted moon dust in the adjoining lab.

Tuesday afternoon the alarm rang again in the lab. A leak had developed in a vacuum line containing lunar material, spraying a room like a burst from an aerosol can.

Exposed were Miss Owens, who works with mice injected with moon dust, and three safety technicians, Chauncey Park, Ray Coons and Riley Wilson.

Miss Owen, a shapely 5-feet-7, was assigned a private room and a nearby bathroom that had belonged to the three astronauts.

"The astronauts now use the community bathroom with the rest of us," reported John McLeaish, public affairs officer who was relegated to a dormitory when his room was assigned to Miss Owens.

The three male technicians were placed in a quarantine trailer which housed the spacemen on the trip to Houston from the Pacific recovery area.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: When I married my husband he promised he'd lose 10 pounds. He's only 5 ft. 8 in. and carries all his extra weight in his belly. I told him I couldn't think of anything more repulsive than being married to a fat man, and I meant it, too.

Well, we've been married for nine years, and instead of his losing 10 pounds like he promised, he GAINED 35 more!

Abby, when he starts getting amorous, that fat belly of his just knocks me cold.

He says if a wife really loves her husband, his belly won't matter. I say if a man really loves his wife he'll try to keep his sex appeal. I'd like your opinion.

FAT MAN'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: What some women find "repulsive," other women overlook. I'm sure there are a lot of fat men who haven't suffered any loss of love because their physiques have gone to pot. (Women, too.)

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My brother is being married soon to a girl I'll call Sharon. Sharon's aunt gave her a bridal shower to which my mother and I were not invited. The excuse she gave us was that the place was "too far away and hard to find." How about that?

My mother and I bought a shower gift anyway, and sent it to the shower with my brother. When Sharon's sister saw my brother bringing our shower gifts, she had a screaming fit and refused to give them to Sharon at the shower saying Sharon's mother and aunt would be embrarassed. Our gifts were given to Sharon later that evening after she came home from the shower.

Your thoughts on the matter would be appreciated by my mother and me.

HURT AND UPSET

DEAR HURT: If you were excluded from the shower for what you considered a phony reason, why, then did you send gifts? If your intentions were to humiliate the hostess, shame on you. I don't know the circustamces, but the groom's mother and sister are usually invited to all showers honoring the bride. Strange family your brother is marrying into!

* * *

DEAR ABBY: After many years of marriage I, too, found my husband getting a little neglectful about his person. This can cause an indifference to the romantic part of living together. But I changed things by being the aggressor and making a game of it. I'd slip him a little note which read, "Brush your teeth, take a shower and meet me in the bedroom in half an hour."

Or after dinner I'd run his bath, and lay out his good pajamas and tell him, "Now you relax in a nice tub while I chloroform the kids." And I always tell him how irrestible he is when he's wearing that new lotion or cologne. Let me tell you, it works!

My silly game has made a difference in our marriage. Now sometimes he even writes me a note.

TURNED ON AGAIN.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Please tell the man who wanted to become a registered male nurse, but wasn't sure whether he would be accepted in a school because he had a police record, the following:

Anyone with a police record who wants to become a registered nurse should first investigate the requirements of the STATE BOARD of NURSING, NOT the admission requirements of the nursing school.

I don't know how it is in other states, but in Indiana the applicants for examination and license as a R. N. must sign an affidavit stating that he has never been convicted of a felony or any other crime involving moral turpitude.

Treasures Returned To Texas

GARY, Ind. (AP) — The last of the treasure and artifacts recovered by an Indiana firm from a 400-year-old Spanish galleon was returned to Texas Tuesday afternoon.

Platoro Ltd. of Gary turned over a reported inventory of 251 ancient coins, 12 heavy silver discs, cannon balls, and various pieces of metal, wood and stone to Curtis Tunnell, Texas state archeologist.

The precious metals were loaded aboard a twin-engine plane from the Texas Department of Public Safety and a car was rented to carry 242 heavy, bulky ballast stones recovered from the Spanish ship that sank off Padre Island along the Texas coast more than 400 years ago.

The Texans and members of the Platoro firm kept the objects out of sight and transferred them to canvas bags and padlocked metal boxes for the trip.

The remainder of the treasure, said by some to be worth millions of dollars, is under lock and key in the Texas land commissioner's office in Austin.

A temporary injunction has been issued in a Texas court to stop salvage work on the ship.

US Civilians Missing In Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. officials expressed new concern today for about 40 American civilians missing in South Vietnam. The concern was prompted by the finding of the body of a U.S. agricultural specialist in a shallow grave near the Laotian border.

Announcement was made Tuesday in Washington of the finding of the remains of Thomas W. Ragsdale of Shelbina, Mo., who had been taken prisoner by the Viet Cong during the Tet offensive in February 1968.

An official announcement in Saigon said: "Mr. Ragsdale's tragic death while a prisoner of Communist forces in South Vietnam adds to our great concern over the fate and welfare of other U.S. civilians illegally detained."

About 30 of the missing civilians are believed to be prisoners of the Viet Cong.

The Viet Cong captured Ragsdale in Hue 17 months ago, and South Vietnamese troops found his grave on July 19 in the A Shau Valley 30 miles southwest of Hue. The grave, near an American artillery base, was marked "Tom Ragsdale" and a U.S. graves registration team dug up the remains.

Heat Can Be Health Hazard

With a summer heat wave scorching Texas, there is the possibility you could become a victim of sunstroke or heat exhaustion during the blast-furnace weather ahead, advises the Texas State Department of Health.

The combined effects of the sun, exercise, heat and excessive perspiration with water and salt loss can produce serious symptoms and may even be fatal.

Sunstroke is caused by over exposure to the hot sun while heat exhaustion is due to prolonged exposure to high temperature, indoors or outdoors. In sunstroke the body overheats. Usually the victim has a severe headache and everything looks red to him. Often the victim becomes unconscious.

Heat exhaustion is caused by prolonged heat and high humidity, but it is very different from sunstroke. The victim is usually conscious but weak and dizzy. His temperature falls instead of rises, and he feels cold and clammy.

In either case call a doctor at once. The victim should be moved into the shade and any tight clothing loosened.

Simple, common-sense precautions will nearly always prevent these conditions. During hot weather:

Don't expose yourself to the heat when you don't have to.

Don't go out in the hot sunshine without a hat.

Don't wear heavy or tight clothing.

Don't exercise strenuously in the sun or heat.

Don't exercise just before or after meals.

Don't overeat.

Don't overindulge in alcoholic drinks.

On sultry days, keep the air circulating to help the evaporation of perspiration. Keep shaded windows open and use an electric fan.

If you perspire freely, you may need extra water and salt. Drink water often throughout the day, one glass at a time. The amount of salt needed depends on how much you lose through perspiration. Office workers probably get enough in their food, but others doing heavy labor may need salt tablets periodically or a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt dissolved in a glass of water every hour.

The aging, the very young, alcoholics and people with heart trouble are easily affected by sun and heat.

And Jack got some of the money to pay all those people from us. That's our business. As a matter of fact we finance hundreds and hundreds of homes every year.

So if you are in one of these businesses—and the tight mortgage market is hurting your sales—we have a suggestion:

Invest part of your cash reserves with us. You'll get a good return on your money. And, at the same time, you'll help build your sales by helping more people build more homes.

Where you save does make a difference.

Girls Recreation Program To Conclude This Week

The final week of the Scurry County Girls Recreation program will be conducted with an awards program and play Thursday night and an all-day party Friday. Girls Recreation has been held in the Stanfield, Travis and Hermleigh gyms for the past two months.

The program Thursday night will begin at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. It will be open to the public and admission is free. This will be the first year that parents and friends will be able to be present for the awards presentation.

Art projects that have been made by Instructor Carol Cramer's students in the art and arts and crafts classes will be exhibited in the foyer of the auditorium.

Beginning the program tomorrow night will be the presentation of the Let's Pretend Workshop's play, "Cowboy on the Moon." The play will be directed by Mrs. Elaine Donelson, Sara Trigg and Yvonne Sanders.

Following the play will be a presentation of awards by the instructors of the various activities that have been held throughout the summer.

Presenting the softball awards to the most valuable players of the four Snyder and Hermleigh teams will be Coaches Helen Rios, Luther Mae Braziel, Mary Hudgins and Linda Bollinger. The Snyder and Hermleigh softball teams have practiced throughout the summer and have been in competition with each other weekly.

Results of the tumbling and trampoline contests which were held this morning will be announced by Instructor Patsy Rainwater. First, second and third place awards will be given in beginners and advanced divisions. Tumbling and trampoline lessons have been given by Miss Rainwater twice weekly in each of the three gyms. Girls have worked on form and technique throughout the summer. They presented one minute stunts in the contest. They were judged on coordination, over-all performance and difficulty of stunt.

An award for best actress and best supporting actress will be presented to two girls who have participated in the Let's Pretend Workshop. The award will be presented by Mrs. Donelson. At the beginning of the summer, the girls in the workshop practiced on the fundamentals of speech and drama. The remainder of the summer has been spent applying what they have learned to their practice of their one production, "Cowboy on the Moon."

Tennis tournaments were held Monday and Tuesday. Awards will be presented to Jan Glass of Hermleigh, first place; Gayle Glass of Hermleigh, second place; and Judy Bollinger of Hermleigh, third place. These girls were winners in the beginners tournament. Winner of the advanced tennis tournament was Sue Jane Sullivan. Miss Rainwater, tennis instructor, will present these awards. Also instructing tennis has been Joan Braziel.

Track awards will be presented to members of the track team who have accumulated the highest number of points in track meets during the summer. One trophy will be presented in the 11 and under, junior and intermediate divisions. Ribbons will be presented to each girl who has participated in track this summer. The track team has participated in meets at Lubbock, Denton, Brownfield, Idalou and Dallas. Track coach has been Mr. Winn Talley of Fluvanna.

Activities planned for Friday include baseball games, lunch and swimming. Only girls belonging to Girls Recreation will participate in the activities Friday. Girls are reminded to bring their own sack lunches. Drinks will be provided. Girls should also bring their membership cards in order to be admitted into the swimming pool at 1 p.m. free. Parents must provide transportation for their children.

Director of Girls Recreation is Mrs. Anette Waller, and co-director is Miss Rainwater. The Board of Directors includes Guy L. Sullivan, Mrs. James Wesson, Mrs. Jacquelyn Taylor, Miss Barbara Sojourner, Mrs. Lee Smyth, Doug McGlaun, Miss Ila Ruth Newton and Mrs. Dorothy Miller.

Simplicity Important In Home Design

Because of tight money and the high cost of interest, land and construction, simplicity is increasingly important in home design.

If you keep the plan simple and avoid complexities of line and detail, you can build a larger and more attractive house than you could otherwise afford.

Naturalness and simplicity are desirable from visual and comfort as well as cost standpoints. In fact, they are the chief distinguishing features of some of our more glamorous modern homes.

According to the Southern Pine Association, there are many facets to simple, thrifty design. The first consideration is a plan that makes every inch of the lot livable and usable. By placing the house at the front or rear rather than the center of the lot, outdoor space is concentrated and hence considerably larger than if dispersed. The existence of a spacious, comfortable outdoor living area takes a great deal of pressure off the house itself.

The home should be oriented to take maximum advantage of prevailing breezes and the heat and light of the sun. This can simplify lighting, heating and cooling requirements. Also, the closer the house to water, gas and electrical outlets, the less complex wiring and plumbing systems are likely to be.

Lot features such as hills and promontories can occasionally be incorporated into the design of the building to simplify the structural system.

As for the design of the home itself, the emphasis should be on trimming fat and bulk. Improved modern techniques of lumber framing hold physical parts of the house such as partitioning to a minimum and simplify the composition of wall and roof structures. Not only does this exert a favorable influence on costs but also assures maximum freedom of vision and movement and increases the available space for living and storage.

Further design simplification is achieved when parts of the lumber framework which support the house are left exposed to decorate the interior. This eliminates much of the expense of artificial decor. Exposed ceiling beams and columns of plank-and-beam and A - frame systems are noteworthy examples and ideal media for jointly utilizing the high strength and attractive apparance of pre - shrunk Southern Pine lumber.

The pure beauty of the exposed wood structural form is the most strikingly natural decoration a home can have. It also creates an enchanting blend of interior and exterior design with the surrounding landscape.

Still another highly functional but simple embellishment is the wood patio deck which greatly improves the livability of the outdoor area yet is economical because it has neither walls nor roof. With a wood deck, many of the activities associated with the interior such as informal dining and entertaining can on occasions be performed comfortably outdoors. This, in turn, permits greater versatility of interior areas which can be utilized for other purposes.

Maine Blueberry Pancakes

1 cup unsifted flour, stir to aerate before measuring
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 large egg
1 cup buttermilk
1 tablespoon butter, melted
1 cup fresh cultivated blueberries
Extra butter and maple syrup

On wax paper thoroughly stir together the flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt. In a medium bowl beat egg until thickened and pale lemon color; add dry ingredients, buttermilk and melted butter; stir until dry ingredients are moistened but mixture is still lumpy. Fold in blueberries. Using ¼ cup batter for each pancake, bake on a greased hot griddle; batter will be thick so use a small spatula to help it into griddle, then spread until each pancake is between 3 and 4 inches in diameter. Bake until brown topside. Serve hot with extras butter and maple syrup. Makes about 10 pancakes.

IN THE SUMMER — Happiness is chicken salad, especially when it's made with pine nuts and real mayonnaise.

Vary That Chicken Salad

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

A small jar of pine nuts, tucked away on a refrigerator shelf to stay fresh, inspired us. With some cold chicken, a jar of real mayonnaise and the other makings for plain chicken salad at hand, we had an urge to add something else as a surprse.

You've guessed right. The pine nuts went into the salad—and a deliciously interesting contribution they made. Here's the recipe we used.

CHICKEN PINE NUT SALAD

½ cup real mayonnaise
¼ cup commercial sour cream
2 teaspoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
2 cups diced cooked chicken, packed down
¾ cup thinly sliced celery
½ cup pine nuts
2 tablespoon minced parsley
Salad greens
Paprika

In a medium mixing bowl with a fork thoroughly beat together the mayonnaise, sour cream, lemon juice, salt and pepper.

Add the chicken, celery, ¼ cup of the pine nuts and the parsley; mix well.

Arrange on salad greens; sprinkle with paprika and then with the remaining ¼ cup pine nuts.

Makes 4 servings — about ¾ cup each.

Floors Too

While wood plank-and-beam construction is popularly associated with roof structures, it's also occasionally used for floor systems.

According to the Southern Pine Association, such a floor structure consists of wood decking over horizontal lumber beams placed on edge above the foundation. The wood deck does double duty as a structural element and comfortable attractive walking surface. With two-story homes, the system provides a ceiling over the first story and floor for the story above.

Honied Apples

1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons honey
1½ teaspoons Dijon-style mustard
1-16 teaspoon salt
2 medium apples (pared, quartered and cored)

In a 6-to 8-inch skillet over low heat melt the butter; stir in the honey, mustard and salt until blended. Add the apples; cover and cook until they begin to get tender — 4 to 6 minutes; turn, spooning glaze over them, and continue cooking covered until they are cooked through — 4 to 6 minutes more. Serve at once, spooning small amount of thick glaze over them.

WOMEN

Annual Way Reunion Is Held

The annual Way reunion, descendants of the late W. M. Way, was held at the Union community center July 26 - 27. Billy Way served as president. A group of musicians played for entertainment.

The oldest person present was C. C. Harris, 77 of Lubbock, and the youngest, Guy Weldon Shipp, El Paso, who was seven weeks. Traveling the farthest was Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Rinehart and sons of San Juan, Tex.

There are 10 of the original Way brothers and sisters still living. Four of them were absent, they were: Mrs. Pearl Harris of Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. Pallie Sanger, Coushatta, La.; Mrs. Bessie Bowen and Mrs. Josiephine Evers, both of Houston. Those present were Johnnie Way, Kerrville; Raymond Way, Colorado City; Andrew Way, Sweetwater; Dorothy Cloud, Goldsmith; Ruth Bell and Dovie Ware, both of Snyder.

The 133 relatives registered were: Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Rinehart and sons, San Juan, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Way, Mrs. Evelyn Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Morgan and children, Mr. and Mrs. Travis Morgan and boys, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Way and boys, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wooley and girls, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kirkland and children, Mrs. Sherry McGehee and children, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Way and boys, Mr. and Mrs. Delwin Way and family, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Way and Mr. and Mrs. Denver J. Way Jr. all of Kerrville.

Mr. and Mrs. Troy Greenfield and girls, Perryton; Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Way, Plainview; C. C. Harris, Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Odis Shipp and family, El Paso; Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Cloud and Janet, Mr. and Mrs. David Way and baby, Goldsmith; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Cloud and son, Mr. and Mrs. Teddy Tooley, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Way and family, Stanton; Rev. and Mrs. Don Way and boys, San Angelo; Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Way, Mr. and Mrs. Mert Way and children, Colorado City; Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Way and children, Baird Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Sanders, Abilene.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Way, Mr. and Mrs. George Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ferris, Mrs. D. P. Griffith, Sue and children, Mrs. Jewell Williams and children, Mrs. Mamie Patterson, Mrs. Ammie Newton, all of Sweetwater; Mrs. Christine Way, Irvin; Mr. and Mrs. Denver J. Way Sr. and Jimmy, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Lewallen and daughter, Ann and boys, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Banks and girls, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Davis and Carolyn, Mrs. Ruth Bell and Mrs. Dovie Ware, all of Snyder.

A host of friends visited but did not register.

The next reunion will be held at the same place on July 25-26, with Ronnie Way serving as president and Wallace Morgan as vice president.

Vacationers May Observe Industry In Revolution

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Vacationers traveling America's highways this summer and eating at the seemingly endless variety of fast food restaurants are obtaining at the same time a rare look at industry in revolution.

Multicolored, airy, clean and pleasant, the new type restaurant—generally part of a franchise or a chain—is rapidly making the old greasey spoon diner obsolete in the same way that the motel replaced the roadside cabin.

Thousands already have been built, and one estimate by the publisher of a food service magazine puts at 20,000 the number of units that may be built in the next two years under franchise agreements.

Moreover, he adds, as many as 20,000 more franchises might be sold in the same period. So explosive is the change that it seems a sure bet that there will be spectacular failures as well as successes.

Almost all the new restaurants—whose menues frequently are built around fish and chips, hamburger, roast beef and chicken—use the symbol of a celebrity, real or fictitious, to sell their products.

Country music singers have lent their names in such abundance, for example, that the country music capital of America, Nashville, Tenn., is now referred to as Franchise City. At least 13 national franchisers are based there.

Despite such visible evidence of the revolution, what the public sees is really only one step—the final one—in a long process for the modern fast food restaurant is often nothing more than the retail outlet for food prepared in a factory.

By preparing in great masses on an assembly line, thus eliminating obsolete and inefficient hand methods, food service companies are able to produce big savings, standardize quality and avoid many of the messier jobs.

The food then may be frozen before being shipped hundreds of miles to the retail outlets, where the primary kitchen chore may be defrosting rather than cooking.

Some idea of how highly developed and specialized is the job of plant rather than kitchen cooking is suggested by the many companies that sell, of all things, breadcrumbs — for fish and chips, cutlets and other fast food items.

One breadcrumb manufacturer, for instance, recently installed a machine in Glendale, Ariz., capable of turning out 3,000 pounds of breadcrumbs an hour so efficiently that the bread-baking process itself is sidestepped.

Industry officials forecast confidently that the precooked and simplified menus that you encounter in such restaurants eventually will be found in the home also. Some, such as "TV" dinners, already have made their appearnace.

Junior Editors Quiz on SPACE ROCKETS

QUESTION: Why do we need space rockets?

* * *

ANSWER: To travel through space. We might ask, too why did men ever yearn to fly like a bird (1), make crazy experiments with flight (2) and then actually find out how to take off from earth's surface (3)? The real answer to all these questions seems to be that man has a restless urge to find out, experiment, take tremendous risks to go to far-off, unknown places. This is a useful urge. It has given us our scientific and geographical knowledge. Actually, it gave us our homeland of America, which we owe to bold explorers and pioneers. Is it any wonder, then, that we insist on building rocket ships which can reach the moon? By now you will have realized what is wrong with our big picture — there is something headed for the moon which is not a modern space craft, but a little old-fashioned train of cars, with the engine puffing out coal smoke. This is fancy, of course, but fancy from over a hundred years ago; it is based on an illustration for a prophetic story by Jules Verne. The author knew nothing of our modern space craft, but the picture illustrates the underlying urge to adventure and explore, which is why we need space rockets.

Remarks A Bus Driver Tires Of

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks a bus driver gets tired of hearing:

"Home, James—and don't spare the horses!"

"Can't you slow down a little? After all, we're not on a race track."

"Can't you speed it up a little? After all, we're not going to a funeral."

"I spent all my money in the amusement park. If you don't let me ride for nothing, my dad will murder me for getting home so late. Honest he will. You wouldn't want a murder on your conscience, would you?"

"They say a sailor has a girl in every port. Do you bus drivers have girls at both ends of your route?"

"Why should I move to the back of the bus? If we passengers have to be packed in like sardines, can't we at least pick which part of the can we want to be smothered in"

"Well, if it isn't old Laughing Boy himself. How many years has it been since you gave the public a great big smile, Harry?"

"What do you mean you can't change a $10 bill? It's the smallest I have. Anyway, it's legal tender, and that means by law you have to take it."

"What do you mean by telling me I have to put my fare in the box. Put on your glasses, Harry. Don't you recognize your own mother"

"Driver, this window is stuck. Can you come back at the next stop and help me open it?"

"Would you mind repeating that, please? I take the No. 5 bus to Arpel Street, transfer to the No. 12 bus to Van Cleef Boulevard, walk three blocks north to the intersection of Walnut and Chestnut streets, and then—how's that again Wait a minute, I'd better write it all down."

"I don't intend to stand here wrangling with a public servant. Just give me your badge number, young man, and I'll take it up with City Hall."

"Bumpety, bumpety, bumpety bump. Bumpety, bumpety, bumpety bump. Tell me, do you get good conduct medal for every 15 potholes you manage to hit?"

"Hold it driver. When you hit that last bump, my false teeth fell out and rolled under another seat."

"What the passengers on this bus need is survival insurance. Does your company sell it?"

"Sure I can read. I know the sign says no smoking. But it don't say nothing about no chewing on a cigar that ain't lit —and this cigar ain't lit, wise boy."

"Do you cash checks?"

"Do you give trading stamps?"

"Driver, some smart aleck in this bus has got cold hands. I want you to stop right now and make him get off."

Jackie Gleason Plans To Wed

MIAMI (AP) — Comedian Jackie Gleason and Beverly McKittrick, 37-year-old Miami secretary, say they plan to marry as soon as he can get a divorce from Genevieve Gleason, his wife of 32 years.

"He's very much in love," said a spokesman for Gleason, who is 53.

Miss McKittrick came to Miami last October when the company she worked for moved its headquarters here from Easton, Md.

Gleason filed a divorce suit against his wife in October, 1968. They have long lived apart.

Can North Snap Streak?

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The North hopes to snap a six-game South winning streak in the Texas schoolboy All-Star basketball game tonight in what is expected to be a free-shooting- high-scoring contest in air-conditioned Memorial Auditorium.

A crowd of 8,500 is expected to be on hand to watch North coach Jake Carter of Dallas Adamson pit his tall and talented squad against the South and its coach Bobby Weise.

Both coaches predict a run-and-shoot affair similar to last year's game in Fort Worth won by the South 95-85.

The North tentative lineup will consist of 6-foot-3 Mike Dukes of Levelland, 6-7 James Lister, Dallas Madison, James Williams of Dallas South Oak Cliff, 6-7 John Mark Wilson of Odessa and either high-scoring Tommy Jones of Crane or Sid Kuykendall of Midlothian.

The tentative lineup for the South will be Walt McCowan of Houston Lee, Robert Bailey of Beaumont Charlton-Pollard, Howard Walker of San Antonio Sam Houston, Wayne Howard of Spring Branch Memorial and either Harry Johnson of Teague or Robert White of Hearne.

Both teams will run from a double post offense and stress the fast break.

Wise of Conroe said "These type games are usually offensive affairs because most of the players here are excellent shooters. It's hard to put together a real good defense in a short time."

Weise and Carter said the scores should reach into the 80s.

The all-time series between the clubs stands a 12 victories each. The most fans to watch the North-South basketball fray was 8,721 in 1965 in Dallas.

Texas Coaching School Officials estimated a crowd of 31,000 for Thursday night's All-star football game in the Cotton Bowl between the South and the North—which has won the last seven consecutive games.

The North received a brief scare Tuesday when heralded Joe Wylie of Henderson suffered a slight shoulder injury. It was at first thought to be more serious, but doctors said it was only a slight separation and he would be able to play.

North coach Truman Nix of Colorado City named his starting and backfield and it strangely didn't include Wylie. At quarterback will be Bra Dusek of Temple, Eddie White of Daingerfield at fullback, Lane Bowen of Brownwood at slot back, and Donnie Joe Morris of Amarillo Palo Duro at halfback.

Travis Raven of Austin Reagan announced his South backfield will include Alvin's Gary Keithley at quarterback, John Harvey of Austin Anderson at halfback, Steve Sanford of Houston Lee at halfback, and Dennis Howell of Port Arthur Jefferson at fullback.

Registration has reached 5,126 at the school—an all-time high.

SPORTS SHORTS

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — The bantamweight boxing match between Brazil's Eder Jofre and Jose Bisbal of Spain, scheduled for Saturday, has been postponed. Sao Paulo fight promoters said the Spanish Boxing Federation informed them that Bisbal would not be able to travel to Brazil because of a problem concerning his manager. They would not elaborate.

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Danny Kochinski, a 20-year-old college student from Erie, won his second World Horseshoe Pitching title Tuesday night, topping a 36-man field with a 35-0 record.

Work Is Done On Fooball Field

The Snyder schools maintenance department is in the process of getting the high school football field ready for the first game, scheduled for Sept. 12. A number of youngsters have been playing on the field this summer, and they are being asked by school officials to stay off of it so that the field can be put into shape for the football season.

The gates to the field will be locked, and those needing a place to play are asked to use the old practice field south of the shop building.

NEUCHATEL, Switzerland (AP) — Lack of wind postponed the opening Tuesday of the world Vaurien class sailing championships on Lake Neuchatel.

A BIRD FOR THE RECORD — Ray Floyd, who won $125,000 American golf classic with a final round of 65 and a course record of 268, waves in the putt that gave him a birdie on No. 16, par 5, 625-yard dogleg water hole and longest hole on course at Akron, Ohio. Injuries Sideline Poke Stars

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys' hospital corps contained an impressive roster today as the Cowboys prepare for their preseason exhibition opener Friday against the Los Angeles Rams.

Coach Tom Landry announced that veteran defensive end Willie Townes will be out for two weeks and running back Danny Reeves, trying to come back from a knee injury, won't see action until about late September.

Landry said Townes, who had calcium removed from his left thigh late last season, hasn't responded and indicated a rest might help.

Townes is expected to play Aug. 23 in Dallas when the Cowboys play the Green Bay Packers in the annual Salesmanship Game.

Reeves, who missed most of last season with a knee injury, hasn't been able to regain his previous form.

Landry announced Tuesday his starting lineup for the Los Angeles game. The Cowboy backfield will include Craig Morton at quarterback, Craig Baynham and Walt Garrison at running backs and Bob Hayes and Lance Rentzel as wide receivers.

In the line will be Pettis Norman at tight end, Tony Liscio and Ralph Neely at tackles, John Niland and John Wilbur at guards and Malcolm Walker at center.

Landry said third round draftee Halvor Hagen from Weber State, a defensive end was the rookie most likely to see action. Rookie Richmond Flowers, of Tennessee is scheduled to return kickoffs and punts.

West Texans Flail Easterners

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It just wasn't a night to shine for the teams in the Texas League's Eastern Division Tuesday night.

Hooked up in games with their four Western Division counterparts, the easterners came away losers in each case.

Shreveport came closest to winning one for the east before falling to Amarillo 3-1 in 13 innings on Bernie Williams' homer over the left centerfield fence.

In other games El Paso whipped Memphis 3-1; Dallas-Fort Worth blanked Arkansas 5-0; and Albuquerque defeated San Antonio 7-2.

Giants Sweep Into First

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants couldn't score nearly as high in two passes against Philadelphia as the Cincinnati Reds did in one, but they still made their point.

After the Reds tossed the Phillies 19-17 Sunday to move into first place in the National League's West Division, the Giants passed them by rolling only 11 for a twi-night doubleheader sweep over the Phillies, 6-2, and 5-3, Tuesday.

The ictories sent the Giants into the lead by one percentage point over the Reds, who beat the New York Mets 8-5 and then lost 10-1.

And right behind are the Atlanta Braves, who made their points the hard way, rolling by the Montreal Expos 1-0 and 4-3 to pull within six points of the top.

The Los Angeles Dodgers and Houston Astros, the other two clubs in the cluttered division race, were thrown for a loss as Pittsburgh bombed the Dodgers 11-3 and the Chicago Cubs topped the Astros 5-2. That dropped the Dodgers three games behind and the Astros four back.

In the only other game Bob Gibson and the St. Louis Cardinals eased by the San Diego Padres 2-1.

In the American League, Detroit nudged Minnesota 4-3 in 13 innings, Baltimore edged Kansas City 7-5 in 10, Oakland whacked Cleveland 8-3 before the Indians turned on the A's 10-4, Seattle hammered Boston 9-2, the New York Yankees nipped California 3-2 and the Chicago White Sox buried Washington 11-4.

The Giants made their first move against the Phillies after an intercepted pass by Philadelphia's Richie Allen. It came with the game tied 1-1 with one out in the fifth inning after Bob Barton singled.

Winner Mike McCormick, 8-5, bunted and when loser Bob Boozer, 1-1, fielded the ball and threw to the second baseman covering first, first baseman Allen reached out and caught the ball instead. McCormick reached base safely and then came successive home runs by Dave Marshall, Ron Hunt and Bob Bonds.

Winner Bob Bolin, 6-7, started the winning three-run rally in the second game that broke a 2-2 deadlock in the seventh inning. He singled and eventually scored on a single by Hunt, and Bonds doubled in Hunt. Willie McCovey singled off Woody Fryman, 8-9, for the third run.

The Reds unloaded homers by Pete Rose, Bobby Tolan and Tony Perez in their victory as Gary Nolan pitched into the eighth inning in his first appearance since May 6 for his first victory since April 12.

But then the Mets rolled, piling up eight runs in the third inning of the second game with Donn Clendenon hitting a three-run homer. Tommie Agee added a two-run shot later as Nolan Ryan, 4-1, breezed with a seven-hitter.

Atlanta ended a five-game losing streak by scoring a run in the ninth inning of its opener on Gary Sutherland's throwing error which decided a duel between winner Jim Britton, 6-2, who allowed six hits, and Gary Waslewski, 2-5, who gave four safeties.

Orlando Cepeda decided the nightcap with one swing, a three-run homer in the seventh inning that wiped out a 3-1 deficit.

Willie Stargell pasted a 48-foot homer onto the right field pavilion roof—believed to be the first ball hit out of Dodger Stadium since it was opened in 1962—breaking a 3-3 tie and sending the Pirates to their victory. Pittsburgh added seven runs in the ninth, three on errors and two on Bill Mazeroski's homer.

Steve Blass, 11-7, who gave seven hits, got the victory despite a three-run homer by Andy Kosco.

The Cubs increased their East Division lead over the Mets to 7½ games as Bill Hands, 13-8, allowed six hits in 6 2-3 innings before Phil Regan saved Hands' fourth straight victory and eighth in nine outings. It was the sixth victory in a row for the Cubs.

Pinch-hitter Phil Gagliano singled in the winning run in the ninth inning for St. Louis as Gibso, 14-8, outpitched Dick Kelley, 4-7, to hand the Padres their ninth consecutive defeat.

Michigan State's Spartan Stadium at East Lansing, Mich., has synthetic Tartan turf for the 1969 football season.

Cardinal-Jet Clash Is A Family Affair

By SHEILA MORAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Jets-St. Louis Cardinals exhibition football game Saturday night will be a family affair for the rival coaches.

Cardinals Coach Charlie Winner is Jets Coach Weeb Ewbank's son-in-law, as well as his protege.

It all started 20 years ago when Winner played halfback for Ewbank, then coach at Washington University in St. Louis, and dated and eventually married his daughter, Nancy.

Ewbank hired Winner as defensive backfield coach of the Colts when Ewbank was head coach at Baltimore, but Winner nailed down his job with the Cardinals in 1965 on his own.

He guided the Cardinals to a 9-4- record last season in finishing ½ game behind the Cleveland Browns in the National Football League's Century Division.

"My granddaughter, Lisa, says she wants the game to end in a tie," Ewbank said.

The Jets cut offensive tackle Ezell Jones of Minnesota, their fourth round draft choice, Tuesday and announced the signing of two more veterans. Ralph Baker, former Penn State linebacker, agreed to terms for his sixth season, and offensive tackle Winston Hill signed for a seventh year.

The Philadelphia Eagles made their third deal of the year with the Los Angeles Rams. The Eagles traded veteran defensive back Algin Raymond to the Rams for defensive back Billy Guy Anderson and a third round draft choice. Raymond led the NFL in punt returns in 1965 and 1966.

New York Giants Coach Allie Sherman indicated defensive end Fred Dryer, the club's top draft choice, will see considerable action in Green Bay against the Packers Saturday in the Giants' first exhibition game. Dryer broke through four times and dumped the quarterback in a scrimmage Tuesday.

Tom Boutwell, free agent quarterback from Southern Mississippi, was acquired by the Miami Dolphins. Boutwell, acquired by the Cleveland Browns in the 13th draft round, was put on waivers last week.

The Kansas City Chiefs have their fingers crossed about the future this season of center Jack Rudnay, their No. 4 draft choice. Rudnay, who chipped three vertebrae in practice for the College All-Star game and didn't play, will undergo two days of physical tests at the Chiefs' training camp to determine if he can play.

Running back Tom Barrington of the New Orleans Saints, described by Coach Tom Fears as one of the "best fifth backs in pro football," has been shifted to the injured list. Barrington hurt his back last week.

Cleveland Coach Blanton Collier said defensive tackle Bill Sabatino, who walked out of training camp last Saturday, is coming back. Collier said the big tackle phoned him, and said he'd changed his mind about retiring.

Crack Scot Driver Fishes For Pleasure

LONDON (AP) — Thirty-year old Jackie Stewart, Scottish heir apparent to the World Drivers' Championship who goes to work at 200 miles per hour, chooses fishing to relax when he is not on the track.

"I love speed, it's in my blood, I suppose," he says, "but for complete relaxation, particularly as part of pre-race preparation, I turn to the rod and line."

Such a revelation is typical of this tiny, mod Scot with the shoulder length hair who has modelled his career on the late Jimmy Clark, a former double world champion and 1965 Indianapolis 500 classic winner.

Married to a stunning blonde girl named Helen who was his boyhood sweetheart, Stew is a non-smoker and a non-drinker. But he can swap bar room tales with the best, wear the wildest clothes and still discourse intelligently on most scientific and technological subjects.

At Cape Kennedy last year he tried out a space simulator, found it great fun but commented on the night of the successful Apollo moon landing: "Not me. You've got to have guts to do that..."

"Wee Jackie," as his auto racing fraternity refer to him, ives in Geneva. It's central for getting around and, very important for someone earning nearly $240,000 a year, it has real tax advantages.

Grand Prix and other track appearances mean travelling up to 150,000 miles a year to Stewart who was born only a few miles from the same valley in which Jimmy Clark grew up.

Like Clark, Stewart is a natural driver. And with six victories out of seven Grand Prix starts this year, the only problem of race followers these days is who is going to be second.

To avoid winning the 1969 World Drivers Championship Stewart would have to fail to score any points in the remaining five races and for someone else to win all of them.

Last Sunday Stewart finished second to Jacky Ickx of Belgium in the German Grand Prix at Adenau before a crowd of 350,000 but this boosted his total for the year to 51 points as against 22 for Ickx, his closest rival.

Before he started motor racing Jackie was a crack shot and in fact was a member of the British Olympic team.

But, typical of Jackie, he gave it all up for motor racing.

Fishing was his first love. And today he turns to it for relaxation.

Not just ordinary fishing, he insists. "It must be salmon fishinr—and the only place to do this is on the River Spey at Aberlour, in the north of Scotland.

TITLE EVIDENCE IN SALES OF SECRETARY-OWNED HOME PROPERTIES AND MORTGAGES

On and after August 1, 1969, and until FHA Form 2384, Standard Retail Sales Contract is revised to reflect such change, such form will be amended prior to execution by FHA by inserting the following language in Item H:

If the mortgage is to be FHA-insured, FHA will not pay for any title evidence as part of closing costs mentioned in item "e" on the reverse hereof, except where the mortgagee is governed by regulation of a governmental agency which require title evidence insuring a good and valid mortgage. If other than FHA-insured mortgage financing is involved, FHA will allow reasonable costs for such title evidence by a credit to the purchase in the closing accounting.

Brokers must complete Item H prior to obtaining the purchaser's signature on offers submitted on or after August 1, 1969. The inserted language shall be initialed by the purchaser.

Mariner 7 Takes Closeup Of Martian South Pole

AP Science Writer

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Mariner 7 streaked into distant orbit around the sun today after televising the first closeup of the Martian south pole—a region loaded with surprises ranging from footprint-shaped craters to what looked like deep drifts of snow.

One scientist said of the pictures, taken as the 850-pound spacecraft swept within 2,000 miles of the planet:

"We may be looking at baby pictures of earth. This is what the earth might have looked like some four billion years ago before it developed an atmosphere and oceans to weather its surface and nurture life."

The scientist was Dr. Robert Sharp, California Institute of Technology geologist, one of a team of experts analyzing the photographs as they streamed across 60 million miles to monitors at Jet Propulsion Laboratory Tuesday night.

One of the most striking pictures showed two irregular craters, many miles across and barely overlapping each other.

Dr. Robert Leighton, Cal Tech astronomer, jokingly described them as "a footprint—the first evidence of life on Mars."

The "footprint" was in ice or snow drifted surprisingly deep. Scientists had believed the south polar cap was a little thicker than frost but the pictures showed it piled up in vast dunes and pocked with deep, steeply walled craters.

Leighton said this indicated the snow was probably frozen carbon dioxide—dry ice—because there wasn't enough water on Mars to make that much real snow.

The pictures showed the polar cap heavily pocked with craters and much darker than the desert regions to the north, as plowed ground looks darker than surrounding fields.

Another finding exciting to scientists was the lack of craters in a bright desert area far to the north of the polar cap. The circular desert, called Hellas, had been presumed to be a giant crater some 1,200 miles across.

Sharp suggested the "crater" might instead be a natural sink or collapsed area.

The floor of the desert was strangely free of the meteorite impact craters which pock most of Mars. Sharp said they might be there but possibly had become filled with dust over the ages. Whatever the reason, the craterless desert now becomes one of the many mysteries of Mars.

Mariner 7 followed its sister craft, Mariner 6, which flew past the Martian equator a week ago, into orbit around the sun. Both spacecraft will continue to send signals back to earth until mid-August when they pass beyond range of their transmitters.

Zsa Zsa Faces Spain Imprisonment

PALMA DE MALLORCA, Spain (AP) — If Zsa Zsa Gabor ever comes back to Spain she faces two months imprisonment and a $71 fine for incidents arising from a row with a policeman.

These sentences were imposed in absentia after a court found the Hungarian-born film and TV personality guilty Tuesday of hitting the cop during a discussion last November of disputed hotel and dress bills totaling $1,440.

Miss Gabor's version at the time was that she had been beaten by five policemen at the Palma airport. She vowed she would never set foot on Spanish terrain again, declaring: "I wouldn't spit on Spanish soil."

Cher Ami, a homing pigeon, won the Croix de Guerre for carrying a message that saved an American battalion in World War I. The badly wounded but gallant bird had flown 25 miles in 25 minutes.

3 Local Men To Graduate

WACO — Three young men from Scurry County will be among more than 200 graduates taking part in commencement exercises at James Connally Technical Institute in Waco tomorrow night.

David P. Redwine, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. P. Redwine of Snyder, will receive an associate degree of applied science in electronics technology. He is a graduate of Snyder High School.

Jimmy D. Hess, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forest Hess of Hermleigh, will receive an associate degree of applied science in Automotive Technology. He is a 1967 graduate of Hermleigh High School.

Terry L. Sowell, son of G.T. Sowell of the Lamesa highway will be awarded an associate degree of applied science in electronics technology. He is a graduate of Snyder High School.

Speaker for the event will be E. D. Redding, assistant to the president of Brown and Root, Inc. Aside from his business duties, he is chairman of the 21-member governor's advisory committee for vocational education in Texas.

SECOND FIRE IN SEVEN YEARS — Joyce VandeHei weeps as flames destroy a barn on her parents' West De Pere, Wis., farm. The $30,000 fire destroyed the barn and a large quantity of hay. The barn was built in 1962 after another fire destroyed a barn on the VandeHei farm. (AP Wirephoto)

Arizona's Hopi Indians have found wealth through oil leases and mining concessions. The Tribal Council now operates a clothing plant and is planning a combined motel, restaurant, and crafts center, says the National Geographic Society.

The United States regained the world record for payload-carrying July 30, 1939, when Maj. C. V. Haynes and Capt. W. D. Old flew a Boeing B-15 to 8,200 feet with a payload of 15 and one-half tons, at Wright Field, Ohio.

Nixon To Seek National Minimum Welfare Standard

WASHINGTON (AP) —President Nixon is expected to tell the nation Friday he wants a national minimum standard of welfare, a new subsidy for the working poor, a shift in manpower programs and state sharing of federal tax revenues.

High administration sources say the broad outline of the message is complete, but Nixon called his cabinet together today at Camp David, Md., to go over the program. There have been no indications of timing, extent and dollar cost of the welfare changes he will propose.

Sources in the executive branch and on Capitol Hill say the President in his nationally broadcast speech will ask Congress to:

—Impose a federally-financed minimum of about $30 a month for each of the 6.5 million persons who receive aid to dependent children, the largest and most costly welfare program.

Monthly minimums now range from a low of $9.50 in Mississippi to almost $70 in Massachusetts and New York.

—Guarantee an income of $1500 a year to the average family of four. The amount of guarantee would depend on family size.

This Family Security Plan would pioneer federal payments to wage earners who make below subsistence salaries.

—Take Washington out of the manpower training business and turn the programs over to the states.

—Give states an automatic share of federal tax revenues. Assured revenue would be about $1 billion in the first year and push upward later.

The President is also expected to request a minimum benefit of $50 a month in all adult welfare programs—such as old-age assistance, aid to the blind and aid to the disabled. The federal minimum would supplement the present sliding scale of matching funds provided by Washington.

All but seven states now pay average benefits of more than $50 and the average federal share is around $40. The new federal minimum probably will save the states money but not appreciably increase individual benefits.

The President also will stress work incentives that he hopes will move people off welfare and into jobs.

One would increase the money that can be earned without a decrease in welfare payments. The second provides a bonus, probably around $30 a month to aid recipients who enroll in job training programs. The third is low-cost child day-care centers that will free welfare mothers for work.

President Nixon also will announce an executive reorganization of the antipoverty program. It will shift money and emphasis from community action efforts to experimental programs and income maintenance and work incentives.

Miami Has Two Hour Blackout

MIAMI (AP) — A baby was ushered into the world by flashlight and exiles in Miami's "Little Havana" joked about a Cuban invasion Tuesday night as a power plant explosion left two million South Floridians in darkness.

It was hot and stormy at 6:08 p.m. when lights from Miami to north of Fort Lauderdale—with a solid strip of beach resorts in between—flickered and went out.

The blackout covered Dade and Broward counties for two hours and spotty failures hopscotched along a 200-mile strip from Marathon in the Keys to Fort Pierce until midnight.

At 6:17 p.m. Mrs. Geraldine Frusterie gave birth to a 9-pound, 11-ounce girl under an emergency room spotlight hooked up to an emergency generator at Holy Cross Hospital in Fort Lauderdale.

But the generator failed and at 7:03 p.m. Mrs. Linda Hayes delivered her 8-pound, 6-ounce daughter under a nurse's flashlight.

Cuban exiles crowded into streets of Miami's "Little Havana" as the lights went out. Bus driver Mario Lazaro walked out of a bar and said, "Maybe it's Fidel on his way over."

Francisco Perez, once a sergeant in the Cuban army, said, "It reminded me of the days of the Bay of Pigs invasion when I was in Havana and we had blackouts."

Bartender Herb Maxfield said, "Everybody sat here and drank until the lights came on. It was hotter than hell."

The power shutoff came after a routine power loss at a generating plant 50 miles to the north, said Fred Brown, assistant manager at the Florida Power & Light Co. plant south of Miami where the blast occurred.

Usually the turbines at his plant automatically shut down, he said. But one didn't because of a malfunction and "took an overload of work and blew," he said.

FP&L officials said it would take a full probe to verify Brown's theory.

A million-kilowatt generator failure Jan. 28 blacked out the Fort Lauderdale area and caused some power losses across central and south Florida.

HAVANA (AP) — Lester Perry, who escaped from two U.S. marshals by hijacking an airliner to Cuba last week, has probably exchanged his prison cell in the United States for one in Cuba.

There has been no announcement of the whereabouts of the hulking 32-year-old convict who diverted a TWA jetliner to Havana on July 31. But if the usual pattern is being followed, he is still in a cell in Havana undergoing questioning.

Perry, under sentence of more than 25 years for two robberies, was being taken to Los Angeles for another robbery trial when he held a razor blade to a stewardess' throat and forced the plane to turn around.

The Cubans are expected to give him his choice between remaining in jail or accepting some government rehabilitation program including hard agricultural labor.

The Cuban government has yet to force the return of any hijacker—criminal or political—to the United States against his will. But "it's obvious the Cubans don't want undesirable criminal elements running around their country," said a non-Communist diplomat.

The government has never announced final disposition of any hijackers' cases. But recent treatment is reported as not as good as before. The bulk of those finally determined to be legitimate political refugees are allowed to integrate into Cuban society. This usually means plenty of hard work; some Negro hijackers have complained about being sent to the sugarcane fields under the hot sun.

Privileges for hijackers now appear few, if any. Thomas George Washington of Philadelphia, who came to Cuba to get his child away from his former wife, is living off a regular Cuban ration book.

Before Perry's exploit, the last time a hijacker with a criminal record came to Cuba from the United States, the Communist Party newspaper announced he had been put under arrest. It was the first such announcement. He was identified as Anthony G. Bryant, and the newspaper said he had trafficked in narcotics and had been in trouble for robbery in the United States. There has been no information on him since.

He hijacked a National Airlines jet last March and robbed the passengers of $1,700 while en route to Cuba. The Cuban authorities made him return the money.

Swiss authorities, who represent U.S. interests in Cuba, say the Cuban government has not objected to requests of hijackers who want to be returned to the United States. They are given Swiss safe conduct visas via Mexico to the United States where they face prosecution on hijacking charges.

The Swiss report two such cases, but both men were accused of hijacking small charter or private planes rather than commercial airliners.

Cuban officials have indicated they are not overjoyed by the rash of hijackings but they remain uncommitted to returning hijackers.

Murder Suspect Knew Six Coeds

By LOWELL McKIRGAN

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A police source says John N. Collins, charged with the murder of a university coed, may have known all but one of six other girls slain in this area in the last 25 months.

Meanwhile, police in Salinas, Calif., said Roxie Ann Phillips, 17, strangled near there June 30, was a close friend of a girl Collins had given a ride in his car the day before.

Collins, 22, remained in the Washtenaw County Jail awaiting court proceedings Thursday on the charge of strangling Karen Sue Beineman, 18, an Eastern Michigan freshman last seen alive July 23 riding away from a Ypsilanti wig shop with a young man on a motorcycle.

Police say the motorcycle rider was Collins.

The police source said Collins had at least brushed elbows with all the slain Michigan girls except Jane Louise Mixer, 23, a University of Michigan law student who was shot to death last March.

The source stressed that nothing had been uncovered to link Collins with the deaths of the five other women, but cited these circumstances:

—Collins and Mary Fleszar, whose body was found two years ago, worked in close-together offices near the Eastern Michigan University campus where both were students.

—Collins and Joan Schell, found dead in July 1968, both worked in the McKenney Union, an Eastern Michigan student lounge and soda shop.

—Maralynn Skelton, a 16-year-old high school dropout slain last March 24, and Dawn Basom, a 13-year-old junior high school pupil killed April 15, both were known to frequent campus soda shops, including the McKenney Union.

—Alice Kalom, a University of Michigan graduate student last seen alive April 15, and Collins have been said by witnesses to have visited an Ann Arbor restaurant, Rubiyat Continental Dining, on special nights set aside for young single men and women.

The Rubiyat is less than two blocks from the Depot House, a rock 'n' roll rehearsal hall, where Miss Kalom was last seen alive.

The search continued for a friend of Collins, Andrew Manuel, 25, who has been charged with stealing a house trailer which has been impounded by California authorities investigating a series of killings near Salinas.

Manuel, also known as Richard Diaz Jr., has been named in a federal warrant charging him with unlawful interstate flight to avoid prosecution.

Police say Manuel and Collins, who lived in the same Ypsilanti rooming house, traveled to California together in mid-June.

In California, local authorities and Michigan State Police are checking possible links with the death of Miss Phillips, whose home was in Milwaukie, Ore.

Capt. Darol V. Smith of the Monterey County Sheriff's Office said Collins picked up Nancy Ann Albrecht, 17, a close friend of Miss Phillips, the day before the Oregon girl was strangled with her belt.

Grayson County Has Cholera Outbreak

DALLAS (AP) — Authorities said Monday a herd of 100 hogs in northwest Dallas County will be destroyed this week because of cholera.

More than 400 hogs have been infected with the disease in Grayson County (Sherman-Denison) in the worst outbreak in the country's history.

Moon Station Envisioned

By VERN HAUGLAND
AP Aviation Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The leader of the nation's manned space flight program envisions a nuclear-powered shuttle service for lunar explorers.

The strategy described today by Dr. George E. Mueller involves two space stations—one orbiting the earth, the other circling the moon.

The nuclear vehicle, he said, would lower operational costs to about $200 for moving a pound of material from the earth to the moon and back, against about $100,000 a pound spent under today's techniques.

In remarks prepared for delivery before the National Space Club, Mueller said similar reductions in the cost of transportation to the earth orbital station would permit the nation to consider processing materials in space.

Mueller, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's associate administrator for manned space flight, said reusable moonships could travel from the lunar orbiting base to the moon and leave six explorers on the surface for up to four weeks.

He said the men would then return to the station, analyze the material they had gathered and resupply their craft for the next visit.

"I would expect by the end of the 1970s we would find so many uses for operations in synchronous orbit, both for observing the universe and for observing the earth, that we would have established a space station synchronous orbit which would be regularly supplied by a nuclear shuttle system," he said.

"This would provide us with direct television broadcasting and direct radio broadcasting to the homes of all people in the world as well as with great stellar observatories and a viewing platform for air traffic control, navigation and for a permanent weather watch."

He said that this approach to the use of space could be readily extended, once the shuttle capability has been developed, to a matching approach for exploring the planets.

E. L. Short Elected Tuesday

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Voters in the 73rd District elected farmer-businessman E.L. Short to the legislature Tuesday. He beat Andrews attorney Jim Clack handily in the runoff, winning all six counties in the district except Clack's home county.

Short got 3,699 votes, or 62.4 per cent of the 5,927 votes cast. Clack polled 2,085.

The seat at stake belonged to State Rep. Randy Pendleton of Andrews, named by Gov. Preston Smith to head a federal-state relations office in Washington.

Short led Clack in an indecisive, nine-candidate election earlier this year after Smith called a special election.

Clack won Andrews County 994-272, but Short won his own home county, Lynn, 1,001-208. Short's margin in the other counties: Dawson 1,043-277; Gaines 657-363; Martin 245-61; and Yoakum 408-155.

Short farms and ranches 4,500 acres and runs a firm processing cottonseed for planting.

An estimated $115 a year is spent on each of the 26 million canine pets in the United States — a total of about $3 billion—according to the National Geographic Socitey.

CAREER CORNER

By F. J. LAIN

Miss Lain awards a Mercury portable, courtesy of the Royal Typewriter Co., to Anne Herring, Wenatchee, Wash.:

"What possibilities exist in the paramedical field that would be feasible for a girl to succeed in?"

A. — There are at least 200 different professional career oportunities in the health field. One area that's radiant with employment opportunities is radiologic technology.

Physicians have long used X rays, and now radioactive isotopes to reveal the presence of such ailments as ulcers, tuberculosis, tumors, malfunctioning internal organs and heart disease. X-ray are also used extensively in dentistry.

THE RADIOLOGICAL team is headed by a radiologist, a physician who specializes in the use of X-rays and other forms of ionizing radiation. Among those assisting him in this rapidly spreading branch of medicine are X-ray technologists, radiation therapy technologists, and isotope (or nuclear medicine) technologists. There are more than 72,000 of these radiologic technologists sometimes called technicians), and in most parts of the country the demand exceeds the supply of trained personnel.

INSIDE JOB. Most technologists perform diagnostic work, using X-ray equipment to take pictures of internal parts of the body. They may prepare a prescribed "opaque" substance which the patient swallows to provide visibility of organs in the radiograph (film). The technologist adjusts X-ray equipment to correct settings, positions the patient and determines the right voltage, current and exposure time. He or she is responsible for keeping equipment in top working order, and sometimes processes film and keeps patient records.

DEEPER THAN SKIN. Some technologists, who may be called therapy technologists, are concerned with therapeutic treatment: regulating special radiation producing equipment used for treatment of diseases — certain types of cancer, for example. They also assist the radiologist in preparing radium or other radioactive materials.

NUCLEAR. Still other technologists work in the relatively new field of nuclear medicine in which radioactive isotopes are used to diagnose and treat. Assisting the radiologist they may prepare and administer the prescribed radioisotope and operate special equipment for tracing and measuring radioactivity.

SAFETY. Technologists must work with great precision and care although safety procedures have largely reduced or eliminated radiation hazards. Those with a tendency toward anemia should avoid this field.

TRAINING. After high school you need 24 months of training in an American Medical Association-approved school, which is usually conducted by hospitals or medical schools and often affiliated with college or university programs. Some schools have longer (three-four years) programs and offer a bachelor's degree or an associate of arts degree. After all professional qualifications are fulfilled, a technologist may use the title "Registered Technologist, R. T. (ARRT)."

Those in radiation therapy or nuclear medicine must have completed an additional year of study and experience to become certified in these areas.

EARNINGS. Salaries in this field are increasing. The American Society of Radiologic Technologists last March proposed a recommended minimum starting salary of $6-7,000: and top jobs classified as "administrative assistant" at $15-20,000.

FOR MORE INFORMATION —If you would like the Society's brief pamphlet, "Careers in X-Ray Technology," send me a stamped, self-addressed, long, white envelope in care of this newspaper. Write "X-Ray" on outside of envelope.

NEW DEVELOPMENT. The use of ultrasound for diagnostic purposes in radiology is being researched now, and could emerge as another career opportunity in the future.
